L. H. Platter, a Well-Known Attorney, of Spokane, Shot and Instantly Killed.

Desperate Battle Between Sheepmen and Cattlemen—Bryan Coming to the Coast.

The Customary Lynching Incident in Arkansas—General U. S. News.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 1.—L. H. Platter, the well-known attorney and Democratic politician, was shot and almost instantly killed in the corridor of the court house last night by Henry Seifert, a restaurant proprietor and sporting man. The tragedy arose from remarks made by Platter in court, which Seifert construed as a reflection on his character. When the court adjourned the two men met in the corridor and Seifert claims that Platter struck him with a cane. Seifert then drew his revolver and fired, the shot passing through Platter's heart.

Fossil, Wash., Aug. 1.—J. M. Smouth, who arrived here to-day from Canyon City, brings news of a desperate battle between sheep men and cattle men on Shale mountain, southwest of Canyon City, in Grant county, which took place about a week ago. Smouth was at Mr. Smith's station when Mitchell Antelope, the sage driver brought word to Mr. Smith, the manager of the Prinsville Sheep & Land Co., that Mr. Kitchen, one of the company's employees, was one of the three sheep men killed. Two of the cattle were also slain. Another sheep man killed was Ernest Shearer, nephew of Joseph Shearer, a well-known wool grower and buyer. For years young Shearer had been buying and shipping sheep for his uncle, and on the occasion of the battle he, with several others, including Mr. Kitchen, was driving a band of sheep across the country to the railroad, presumably Huntington, for shipment. Many "sheep fights" have been reported this year which had no foundation in fact, but the story which Mr. Smouth tells is generally believed. There has been a hard feeling for a long time between the cattle men and the sheep men in Oregon, and a number of disputes have taken place over the possession and use of the ranges, the cattle men asserting that sheep drove cattle from the range.

Tacoma, Aug. 1.—After his nomination at Chicago, Mr. Bryan told Secretary Thomas Maloney, of the Washington state committee, that he intended making a campaign tour, which would include every state in the Union. It was his desire, he said, after visiting New York and New England to come through the northern states to the coast, reaching at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane.

Clarendon, Ark., Aug. 1.—One hundred and fifty men took Godfrey Gould from the officers at this place as they were attempting to spirit him away and hang him to a tree. Gould is the man who committed an assault on Florence White, a white woman, in Brinkley a few days ago. The mob is after Fred Booker, who also committed a similar crime more recently, but the officers smuggled him away, and Gould was just caught in the nick of time. None of the mob were masked.

FROM MANY POINTS.

Shanghai, Aug. 1.—News of a terrible disaster involving great loss of life has just reached here. A tidal wave, estimated to have been about five miles in length, swept in from the sea on Saturday last, inundating the coast of Kin Chiu, in the northeast province of Kiang Su.

The damage done is very great. Many villages have been destroyed, and it is estimated at least 4,000 people are drowned, and in addition an immense number of cattle is said to have perished. The rice fields are submerged and almost totally destroyed, with the result that a famine is feared in the district during the coming autumn.

It is improbable that the exact number of casualties will ever be definitely ascertained. It is believed, however, that at least 4,000 persons lost their lives, and as pestilence will likely be bred by the putrefying remains of unburied victims, it is difficult to say where the list of casualties may end.

The disaster seems to have occurred without the slightest warning, the waves of the sea rushing suddenly inland with all their fury, engulfing villages in an instant, sweeping away thousands of human beings, houses, cattle and horses for many miles along the coast line.

As a result of this awful visitation the sites of the once prosperous villages are now barren waste, wherein heaps of festering corpses and levelled debris mark the places where many homes once stood, and these present a spectacle of inconceivable desolation.

There is a wide divergence of opinion in regard to the height of the wave; in velocity it varied in different places and many places consequently suffered more seriously than others.

Hai Chiu is situated opposite Yu Chiu island, on the coast of Kiang Su province, which is on the Whang Hai in the Yellow sea.

The surface is mostly level, which may account for the great loss of life. Kiang Su is one of the most fertile provinces in the empire and exports more silk than any other part of China. The Yang Tse Kiang enters China through this province, the principal city which is Nang Kiang.

TO BE BROUGHT HOME.

Remains of the Late Miss Field to be Interred at New York.

Honolulu, July 23.—Per steamer Monowai to San Francisco, July 30.—No final disposition of the remains of the late Kate Field has been made. A Miss Lillian Whiting, of New York, has written a letter expressing a wish that the casket containing the body be forwarded to New York and buried by the side of her father and mother in Mount Auburn. The letter states that George Biddell, the abolitionist, is the only living relative Miss Field had. The supposed friends of Miss Field living in the United States, to whom in her dying moments she requested that letters be sent, have not yet been heard from. Neither Consul Mills nor any of Miss Field's friends in Hawaii had had letters from them that would warrant action being taken. Miss Field left an estate and died in debt. It is said that somewhere in Washington are numbers of her trunks containing personal effects but no one seems to have taken interest enough to ascertain the value or character of them.

A Delegate to the Silver Convention Loses His Reason.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1.—Geo. E. Fall, a delegate to the silver convention lately held in this city, and his eleven-year-old daughter Julia, were found sleeping in a vacant lot last night. They are from Lynn, Mass. The girl will be sent home and the father examined as to his sanity.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

The trial of the Kaskaskia Stone Quarry Co. vs. the Queen was continued to-day before Mr. Justice Walker. The evidence was all of a technical character as to the quality of the Kaskaskia stone. Architects John Sweeney and P. C. Butler gave their evidence that the stone was good, as did also Alexander Stewart and J. E. Phillips, a practical stone-cutter and expert for the stone in Victoria. The trial will go on again Monday morning and in the meantime Mr. Justice Walker, Archdeacon Mathewson and Kirby and the counsel in the case, Messrs. Stewart and Smith, will also be back over the parliament buildings.

Crows Nest Pass Railway Company to Apply for an Act of Incorporation.

Erroneous Reports Published in Press—Re-Election of Ministers Gazetted.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Application will be made at the ensuing session of parliament for an act to incorporate the Crows Nest Pass Railway Co., with power to build, construct, equip and operate a railway from a point at or near Leithbridge, Alberta, through Crows Nest Pass of the Rocky mountains, to connect with an existing railway near Nelson, Kootenay, British Columbia.

Reports published in the press to the effect that a member cannot be re-elected for North Grey until the speaker is elected is erroneous. Five members of parliament can notify the clerk of the crown in chambers regarding the vacancy and give him the warrant for an election. A member can also resign in the same way to two members if there is no speaker, so that it was quite unnecessary for Mr. Forbes to have accepted a petty office as he did or to have resigned. Reference to chapter 11 of the revised statutes regarding the house of commons shows this.

The re-election of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Malock was gazetted to-day.

VANDEBILT-WILSON.

Some Doubt As to When the Wedding Will Occur.

New York, Aug. 1.—The Vanderbilts' wedding is reported this morning to be "off" again. Now the bride is said to be over the pastor to marry them. Rev. Dr. John Brown, of St. Thomas' church, is sick and the Rev. John Hall happens to be at St. Luke's, of Killbuck, for his health. All the Wilsons came to town yesterday for the wedding. Young Vanderbilt was with Miss Wilson yesterday all day and last evening. Yesterday afternoon young Vanderbilt called on Mrs. Deane, at his office, but he was out. He is said to be out of town. In a nervous way young Vanderbilt went around among the clerks of the New York Central office, bidding them good-bye, and then disappeared in the direction of the railway depot, and it is believed by many still that the wedding will come off some time to-day. The one at St. Thomas' church would not be this morning as neither he nor the wedding of Miss Grace Wilson to Corwin Vanderbilt, Jr., would take place to-day or in the early part of next week. There were no indications about the house of the bride, which would indicate that the ceremony was to take place to-day.

THE TRAIN WRECK

Number of Unidentified Bodies Among the Victims of the Great Disaster.

Responsibility Thought to Rest Upon the Dead Engineer, Edward Farr.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 1.—There are still five unidentified bodies among the victims of Thursday night's wreck. They are lying in the shops of the various undertakers, and unless friends or relatives of some of the missing excursionists appear soon to make claim to the corpses, they will be buried in the potter's field at the county's expense.

Several of the injured are still lying in a critical condition at the Sanitarium. A young woman about 19 years old, who has been lying senseless at the hospital since the accident, recovered consciousness for a few moments this morning, but is too ill to admit of questioning on the matter of identity.

The impression prevails that the responsibility for the accident rests upon the dead engineer, Edward Farr. There can be no dispute but that the signal "come ahead" was given to the West Jersey excursion train, and if so the danger signal must necessarily have been given to the Reading track by an automatic arrangement. The signal then becomes locked and cannot be released until both trains have cleared the point. Before the signals are manipulated, however, there is, under ordinary circumstances, when no trains are in view, a red signal constantly displayed on both tracks. Thus, by experience alone, all engineers know they are at least obliged to stop on approaching the crossing. The theory is, however, that Farr did not stop up and could not do so when he saw the West Jersey train approaching. He said he had been laid off for two weeks no long ago for not making good time, and it is supposed he was trying to make up for this by running at a high rate of speed. The truth of the matter will probably not be known until the end of the coroner's inquest.

This will begin at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, and E. W. O'Houlahan, of the Reading train, who saved his life by jumping, will be the principal witness.

THE SILVER PROPOSITION.

Its Effect on the Financial Situation in the States.

Henry Clews says in his circular of July 25:

During the past week Wall Street seems to have reached the acute stage of the excitement connected with the silver issue to be fought in the approaching elections. Unquestionably, the situation is, at the moment, regarded here as serious. The Chicago convention has produced a deep impression as to the earnestness of the South and West in respect to free coinage. The country has been taken by surprise also by the revolutionary sentiment expressed in the platform. A sharp shock at the financial centre is nothing more than might have been expected from such occurrences. In addition to a serious question of finance, the situation now includes some political problems new to our people, exciting in their nature, and calculated to produce unexpected disturbances of confidence.

The first feeling suggested by such a concurrence of circumstances is one of distrust. None of these things have been anticipated or prepared for; and, as with all ill-omened surprises, the worst features and possibilities of the case are chiefly or alone considered, and consequently there is a general surrender to a degree of alarm exceeding any political occasion. That is the stage of this Wall Street in now passing. The attendant unsettled feeling is intensified by the absence of definite knowledge as to how far the proceedings of the Chicago convention represent the real feeling and sentiments of the people of the West and South. The intensity of the denunciations of the platform strikes the people of this section as the first note of a revolutionary pronouncement; and throws off their guard, the hasty and timid resort to defensive measures which only increase the public distrust.

This, however, is not the worst form of artificial aggravation of the situation. There are professional speculators who do not hesitate to turn apprehension into danger and thereby precipitate a great fall in prices. Others are struggling the position of the treasury by exchanging legal tenders for gold, for the purpose of decreasing the public distrust. These are the kind of elements that have been brought into play by reckless speculators during the past week. The case was made more serious by an unexpected increase in the exports of gold, under which the treasury gold balance fell below ninety millions. That fact, together with increasing denunciations on the Stock Exchange, brought the banks to the rescue. On Monday informal consultation among the managers brought an agreement to contribute the declining gold reserve of the treasury, and during the week $15,755,000 of gold coin was placed for exchange at the sub-treasury for legal tenders. To be paid in as needed. This course was a defensive action was an unmistakable expression of the confidence of the banks in the situation and in the ability of the government to maintain gold payments. It is also evidence that the banks are satisfied that the outcome of the elections will be to establish the gold standard upon a permanent basis. Some such action by men best situated to judge of the situation was the one thing needed to help timid and pessimistic holders of investments, to hold their own against their fears; and the course taken by the banks has materially contributed to the restoration of public confidence. It is much to be hoped that there will henceforth be a cessation of hoarding of gold. It is that most unworthy form of capidity which seeks to enrich self at the expense of the country. At present, there is no danger of gold going to a premium, except such as may arise from those very attempts at hoarding; for the banks will certainly take care of the treasury. There is one other situation in which course is being taken, while our business prosper, if there are any speculators who liberally best upon forcing gold to a premium, they must count upon backing against the banks of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other large cities who know a good many ways in which such gambling against the nation's credit may be made very profitable.

The true attitude for the moment is to wait for fuller information upon the factors that are to determine the future. At present all is a chaotic in the field of politics. The young Goliath from the far West occupies such a large place in the public imagination that all people of the timid sort are beginning to tremble for the crisis of silver money. The best thing that financiers can do, both for themselves and the country, is to be themselves up and keep their tongues still, until sufficient is known about the strength of the opposing forces to form the basis of an intelligent judgment on the outcome. The present estimates of the probable results of the election are based largely upon political bluff, deliberately gotten up by party managers. Upon the one essential question—how far the spirit and letter of the Chicago platform represent the majority of the West and South, we have as yet no trustworthy information. If we can result in the claims of the Berranite politicians we must be prepared to abandon all we have ever known or believed as to the locality and common sense of this particular form of millions of our citizens. This is a free, free which we know something; we have seen it subject to conventions of fact, and we have reason for putting some confidence in it. But when a set of sensational politicians come forward with pretensions which call upon us to abandon all we have ever known about the people of the West and South, it is simply contrary to all principles of sound judgment to accept testimony so full of irresponsibility.

The enactment of a free, independent silver dollar would work out its own destruction by the following means, even independent of others: At the present time the Mexican silver dollar brings in this country only about 54 cents in exchange, for our silver dollar, although it contains a larger quantity of silver than ours does. It is simply taken here at its commercial value whereas the United States silver dollar goes to Mexico in its purchasing power for two of its dollars. It is quite evident, therefore, if the United States government should issue a free and independent $1 to silver coin, the Mexican government would, if they are smart, immediately pass a law to adopt the United States dollar as the money of their country, in substitution of their present standard, and make it mandatory for all Mexican silver dollars to be forwarded to the United States mint to be converted into United States dollars. The Mexican dollar, now only worth by four cents after being melted down by the United States mint and coined into a United States dollar, would be worth double its present value, having twice the purchasing power and would carry as well a credit of two cents, that being the billion value of the Mexican dollar above the United States dollar.

If this be possible for the Mexican government, the European nations will be apt scholars, and follow the example of Mexico in the conversion of their silver money, of which they hold $1,500,000,000 in amount. They will want back in exchange however, our gold, of which we have $500,000,000 altogether in this country, which will only provide for 33 1/3 per cent. of their silver holdings, and to get that amount they will have to be quick to act so as to capture it before it goes into other channels. The competition for our $500,000,000 of gold would be with the swift.

So far as respects transactions in securities, we counsel our friends to follow moderation in their operations. Already, prices have fallen much below what the facts and probabilities of the political situation warrant. Speculation based on political factors and political manipulation is especially uncertain; and the present tendency seems to be towards the market falling under that sort of control.

Be Well and You Will Be Happy.

Paine's Celery Compound Nature's Avenue to Health.

Many ladies who have been deceived by the imitation dyes so often sold by some dealers and druggists ask the question: "Why will these merchants persist in selling us dyes that are positively worthless?" This question is easily answered. The dealers who sell these common dyes do so for a very selfish object—big profits. They buy these crude and poisonous dyes for much less than the celebrated Diamond Dyes cost, and they are sold to the ladies at the same price, ten cents per packet. The dealers in this way make long, big profits, while the deceiving consumer must suffer loss at every time of using.

Dealers know well that the Diamond Dyes are the only true and warranted colors, but the love of gain is too great to allow them to treat the public honestly. The ladies can soon compel dealers to do what is honest and right if they insist every time upon getting the Diamond Dyes. You can always find one dealer in your town that is anxious to sell dyes that will give entire satisfaction.

HOW THE RUSSIAN SOLDIER PARES.

The Moscow correspondent of one of the London papers writes that the troops of the czar get about a farthing a day pay; otherwise they have everything provided for them. The bread is brown, or rather black, with a large proportion of rye, without which the man of muffled origin would not care for it, as he likes it a trifle sour. His allowance of meat is about half the English army allowance, and that not of the best quality—and that often comes to him practically always in the form of soup with vegetables in it, and with more or less of the meat in each portion, so far as it can be made to go. However, if he does not get much to masticate, he at any rate gets all there is of good in it, bones and fat together, especially fat. The days are long here when the mujik of the towns had an opportunity of swarming up the lamp posts to drink the whole or seal oil with which the streets are to be lighted; now the streets are lighted, where not with electric lamps, with kerosene, and that is a trifle too strong even for the stomach of a mujik. But he still likes his fat, and the soup he consumes furiously in grease. It would not be palatable soup to him else. With this and his black bread he thrives on two meals a day, and he can go and do a long day's work without waiting for a meal at all. In a word, he is a gross feeder and a hard worker. He is also fairly quick at picking up drill, and even shows intelligence in the extension movements when he has been put through the hard grind, first, of barrack parade. He is smart, too, with the manual exercise, and he is now to be better trained in shooting. The correspondent predicts that in the next campaign the Russian soldier will be a better shot than he has ever been before, and this not only in the infantry, but in the cavalry.

—My little boy, when two years of age, was taken very ill with bloody flux. I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and I bought a bottle. I carefully read the directions and gave it accordingly. He was very low, but slowly and surely he began to improve, gradually recovered, and is now as strong and stout as ever. I feel sure it saved his life. I never can realize the remedy half its worth. I am sorry everyone in the world does not know how good it is, as I do. Mrs. E. R. ATTEMPTED HOLD UP.

Highwaymen Stop a Mail Stage in New York State.

Waterbury, N. Y., Aug. 1.—At nine o'clock yesterday morning an attempt was made by highwaymen to hold up the stage that carries the mail between Roscoe and Gouverneur, in St. Lawrence county. When nearing a long swamp the driver, Everett Sayer, saw two men walking in the road slowly in front of him. As he drew near he spied a third one among the bushes, who grabbed the lines and attempted to stop the team. The driver grabbed the whip and began to ply it over the man's head. The driver hit him a heavy blow between the eyes with the butt end of the whip, felling him to the ground with the blood streaming from his nose. He was picked up by his comrades and taken away. The driver proceeded on to Gouverneur and reported the affair and the country is now being searched for the men.

No Rest but Lots of Pleasure.

Work in the country during spring and summer is more arduous and plentiful than at other times, and yet the men don't seem to mind it nearly as much as the tasks which fall to their lot during the autumn and winter. To be out in the fields while nature smiles, glancing in her renewed emerald robes, is always a pleasure, but October's leaden skies and piercing winds, followed by winter's bitter gales make everything a hardship. The best known antidote against the present tendency seems to be towards the market falling under that sort of control.

NATIVE ATTAR OF ROSES.

Philadelphia Times: At the Atlanta exhibition quite a variety of American perfume made in the Southern States was exhibited and attracted considerable attention. New efforts are being made toward manufacturing the famous attar of roses. The "damask" rose bush, the Rose De-Inde, of the Balkans, has been introduced in the "mountain" belt, which are not only the rose from which 90 per cent. of the attar is made. It is an ancestor of the attar which derives a large part of their perfume from the attar of the hybrid from which the attar is made. It is an ancestor of the attar which derives a large part of their perfume from the attar of the hybrid from which the attar is made. It is an ancestor of the attar which derives a large part of their perfume from the attar of the hybrid from which the attar is made.

But within the last three years another experiment has been made with the rose, and this proved so successful that the conclusion was reached that similar conditions as those prevailing in the Balkans can be found in this country. Extensive plantations of the rose bushes were made in the neighborhood of Leipzig, Germany, and the roses yield such an amount of attar that an enormous quantity has suddenly grown up. The manufacture near Leipzig treats during the season three million roses a day and extracts from them about 500 pounds of attar per year. As the attar sells for about six dollars per ounce, the value of this new industry can readily be estimated, although about sixty thousand roses are required to make one ounce of the attar. The distillery is placed in the middle of the rose garden, so that the flowers reach the stills within a few minutes after they are cut. Although the mention of the attar of roses carries us back to the East and suggests immediately its Persian origin, the manufacturers practically died out here years ago, and the centre of the business has been for a long time in the country about Kessanik, on the south side of the Balkans, close to the Shikok or Wild Rose Pass, made famous in the history of the Russo-Turkish war. The rose belt extends to a length of about seventeen miles and with an average breadth of two miles. On this ground are produced annually from five to six thousand million rose blossoms. But now that the Lepetit distillery is in full operation, the business in the Balkans has been seriously injured. The only question remains to be solved by the history of this industry is to find out whether it can be transferred to this country. From practical indications it seems as if it could, and instead of importing hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of perfume, our dealers will find the supply right at their doors.

ORDER DISCHARGED

Judgement Given by the Chief Justice in the Case of Elworthy vs. the City.

Workmen and Tradesmen to be Paid for Labor and Material Supplied.

Chief Justice Davis yesterday afternoon delivered judgment in the case of Elworthy vs. Corporation, discharging the injunction in so far as it refers to material and labor supplied. The judgment follows: "This is an action brought by the plaintiff as a ratepayer of the corporation to restrain the mayor and aldermen from paying any moneys of the corporation to any person or persons for and in respect of work done on, or material supplied for or in connection with the erection of a pile bridge at Point Ellice, in the city of Victoria, and the present motion is an application on behalf of the plaintiff (upon notice) to continue until the hearing an injunction granted by me on the 28th instant restraining the defendants until a time which is now just from paying any moneys of the corporation to any persons in respect of work or materials on the Point Ellice bridge, or from paying to any person the sum of $5,200 appropriated by the resolution of the municipal council on the 24th June, 1896, or in any part thereof."

"As the matter is one of which urgency, I shall at once state the conclusions which the limited time at my disposal has enabled me to arrive at."

"The facts giving rise to the proceedings, as detailed in the affidavits, show that a bridge over a portion of Victoria harbor, between York street and the Indian reserve, Victoria West, and over which a large traffic passed daily, collapsed on the 20th May last by the breaking away of one of the spans, and that since the collapse of the bridge, until recently when the E. & N. railway bridge was by arrangement with the company brought into requisition, it has been impossible to take vehicles between the city and the town of Esquimalt except by a circuitous route of several miles."

"It appears that nothing was done by the corporation to restore communication until the 24th June, when the council passed an appropriation of $5,200 for the purpose of replacing the defunct bridge with a temporary structure upon piles to be driven in rows at every seven feet. This work being immediately commenced, was objected to on behalf of the Dominion government as being an obstruction to navigation, and unauthorised under Stat. Can., cap. 32, which enacts that no bridge, etc., shall be constructed so as to interfere with navigation unless (as was not the case) the site thereof has been approved by the governor-in-council and the plans approved by the government."

"The corporation, notwithstanding the notice from the resident engineer, went on with the work, acting upon the contention that the new pile bridge did not impose a greater obstacle to navigation than a former bridge did, which had been wholly removed and had ceased to exist upwards of ten years ago."

"On the 24th July, inst., upon the complaints of the attorney-general for Canada, an injunction was granted by this court restraining the defendants from further proceeding with the objectionable structure, on the ground that its erection is unlawful."

"The present action is now brought to prevent the corporation paying out any portion of the $5,200 voted by them for the construction of the pile bridge, or any other moneys of the corporation in connection therewith."

"Whilst it is clearly settled in law that a corporation will be restrained by injunction from applying its moneys to unlawful purposes or in purposes not authorized by law (Carter v. Galt, 5 App. 2d 2, 2 M. & C. 613; Atty. Gen. v. Mayor of Norwich, 2 M. & C. 403, yet other considerations arise here. The officers of the corporation, wrongfully as it may be assumed, have given contracts for the work, which have been partially, and in some cases wholly, executed. These contracts were undertaken and executed by those engaged therein in good faith, and as valid contracts for the building or repair of a bridge with a body corporate which has under the Municipal Clauses Act, sec. 50, subsec. 122, abundant power to provide for making, repairing, repaving, etc., roads, bridges and highways. The persons contracting with the corporation were not supposed to know, neither were they concerned to inquire, whether, in their plans for restoring communication, the corporation intended to impede navigation, or whether they had or had not obtained the permission of the Dominion government so to do. Consequently it seems clear that the injunction, so far as it restrains the corporation from using for work and contracts already done and executed, must be discharged. The corporation cannot be restrained from paying its debts."

"The injunction, however, will be continued to restrain the defendants from entering into or further renewing with any contractors or works in possession of 'held' protected pile bridge."

"It may be well for the plaintiff to consider what form of remedy he should seek in this action. His grievance would appear to be not so much against the corporation as against the members thereof. The mayor and aldermen are trustees of the civic property and funds, and would seem to be liable for wasting and squandering the property entrusted to them the same as private trustees would be for wasting trust funds. Since the passage of the 'English Corporation Reform Act, 1835,' the individual responsibility of aldermen and members has been clearly defined by that act and subsequent local decisions. 'Before that act, as pointed out by Vice-Chancellor Estlin in Patterson vs. Bowers, 4 Grant's Chancery Rev., 183, a corporate body could dispose of its property as it pleased. It could have wasted, alienated or destroyed it. The 'Corporation Reform Act,' however, defined the purposes to which corporate property was in future to be applied in such a manner as to impress it with a trust which the Court of Chancery jurisdiction to prevent its misapplication; and a number of cases almost immediately arose in which corporate property which had been applied in a manner inconsistent with the provisions of the act, was reclaimed on the ground of trust, and the jurisdiction of the court to compel the restitution of such property was established. 'The directors and other officers of the corporation, though constituent members and composing the governing body of the corporation, are regarded as its agents, and if they are acting wrongfully may be severed from the corporate body and proceeded against by the corporation itself for the purpose either of prevention or correction. 'And the same right attaches to any ratepayer suing on behalf of himself and the other ratepayers when it is impracticable to use the name of the corporation.—See also Newcastle v. A.G.R. (1862) App. Cas. 508A. G. v. Newcastle 25, Q.B.D. 402. 'It will be necessary also to consider the frame of this suit. Whilst Patterson vs. Bowers decides that the Attorney-General is not a necessary party it would seem that the plaintiff should sue on behalf of himself and all other ratepayers, and the corporation as well as the members of the corporation in their individual capacity would seem to be necessary parties.—see Morrow v. Cantor, 11 Ont. Prac. 423.) As the defendant aldermen are of course themselves ratepayers it follows that they cannot sue in their individual capacity. The action therefore should be by the plaintiff on behalf of himself and all other ratepayers, except the defendant aldermen. 'The order therefore will be to discharge the order for injunction so far as it restrains the payment for materials or work already delivered or done, with leave to plaintiff to amend in the manner suggested. 'The costs will be costs in the cause.'"

ACUTE DYSPEPSIA.

A TROUBLE THAT MAKES THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS MISERABLE.

The Only Rational Treatment is the New, Safe, and Sure Cure, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

The life of a dyspeptic is beyond any doubt one of the most unhappy lots that can befall humanity. There is always a feeling of over-fullness and distress after eating, no matter how carefully the food may be prepared, and even when the patient uses food sparingly there is frequently no cessation of the distressing pains. How thankful one who has undergone this misery and has been restored to health feels can perhaps be better imagined than described. One such sufferer, Mrs. Thomas E. Worrell, of Dunbar, N. B., relates her experience in the hope that it may prove beneficial to some other similar sufferer. Mrs. Worrell says that for more than two years her life was one of constant misery. She took only the plainest food, and yet her condition kept getting worse, and was at last seriously aggravated by palpitation of the heart, brought on by the stomach troubles. She lost all relish for food and grew so weak that it was with difficulty that she could go about the house, and to do her share of the necessary household work was simply impossible for her to take food as every mouthful produced a feeling of nausea, and sometimes brought on violent fits of vomiting, which left her weaker than before. She had taken a great deal of medicine but did not find any improvement. At last she read in a newspaper of a cure in a similar case through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. After using three or four boxes there was a great improvement in her condition and after the use of eight boxes Mrs. Worrell says, "I can assure you I am now a well woman, as strong as ever I was in my life, and over my present condition entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have proved to me a wonderful medicine. Mrs. Worrell further says that Pink Pills were one of the greatest benefits to her husband, who suffered greatly with rheumatism in his hands and arms. At times these would swell up and the pains were so great that he could not sleep and would sit the whole night beside the fire in order to get a little relief from the pain he was enduring. Seeing how much benefit his wife had derived from the use of Pink Pills he began their use, and soon drove the rheumatism from his system and he has since been free from the terrible pains which had formerly made his life miserable. Both Mr. and Mrs. Worrell say they will always strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ailing friends."

"These pills are a blood builder and nerve restorer, and there is no trouble whose origin is due to either of these causes that they will not cure if given a fair trial. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, 'Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.' There are imitations of this great medicine, also colored pink, which are offered by the dozen, hundred, or ounce, or in boxes, without the directions and trade mark. Always refuse these imitations, no matter what the interested dealer who tries to sell them may say."

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest, home cure by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak sunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but, thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy, and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

OBEDIENCE TO RIGHTFUL AUTHORITY.

A bit of candy or cake, surreptitiously given to a child, from whom these unnecessary are usually kept, not only disturbs the stomach—that would be the least part of it—but suggest a course of conduct which is unlimited in its possibility of evil, for a luxury, harmless and even advantageous in itself, given in disregard of rightful authority, becomes an evil. Reverence for law, obedience to rightful authority, and most necessary in these days of independence, and anything which disturbs such reverence and obedience, however harmless in itself, should be scrupulously avoided. So far as an outsider is concerned parental rules for the child are absolutely inflexible, and obedience to his father's and mother's directions should be made as easy as possible to him. A similar principle should be recognized in regard to teachers. Parents are too careless in speaking disrespectfully of school rules before their children. A mistake in method of discipline is not likely to be so mischievous in its results as a spirit of rebellion against authority nourished in the child's heart. Discipline of teachers and their measures should be held in private; if they are thoroughly wrong the child should be removed from the school; if on the whole good, the errors should be excused.—Mrs. Lillian Abbott in August Ladies' Home Journal.

INFANT MORTALITY.

Lactated Food Saves Babies' Lives. The frightful rate of infant mortality in Canada shows plainly that there is something lacking in the knowledge of how to care for babies. When a physician is called to attend an ailing infant, he invariably finds that the infant must be better fed. Too many infants are crammed with heavy indigestible foods that ruin the digestive organs. Too many are fed from day to day with mother's milk, impure and often diseased. Mothers should endeavor to find out at once if they are using the proper food for their babies. If the babies are not healthy and not growing as they should, they ought to be fed at once on Lactated Food, which is as healthful as the purest breast milk, and as cheap as the most ordinary food. Lactated Food is a life-saving diet for all infants and children, and receives the heartiest approval of the best medical men.

HALL CAINE ON BOOKS.

In opening the new free library at Eastbourne, Mr. Hall Caine made a speech, in which he said that the interest of a man who lived by writing books that he might sell them appeared to conflict with the interest of a library that lived by lending books to people that might otherwise say, "He did not, however, take the view that the public library and the trade of book-selling were in any serious degree antagonistic. He had found that in the great centres of population, both here and abroad, the public library and booksellers' shop kept pace together. Intellectual apathy would lead to sure and speedy consequence to the decline of literature, and the decline of literature would mean the decline of the nation, for, as Goethe said, 'the two go pace and pace together.' He did not think that the signs of the times pointed in that direction. There never had been a period when books played so large a part in the life of England as now. Never before had so many books been published, or so many copies of books been sold. Many excellent people nowadays, Mr. Caine said, were alarmed, perhaps properly alarmed, at the tendency displayed by certain authors, who had not hitherto been considered proper to literature. It was true, as Fielding said, that we were as liable to be corrupted by books as by companions, and it was also true that at the present moment the author without a conscience was a moral anarchist, armed with dynamite that ought perhaps to be called dynamite. There was no mischief he might not do; but he (the speaker) thought there was a disposition to exaggerate most terribly the mischief that was actually done. Taking the whole of the literature of the time together, he thought it might with truth be said that English books had never been so free from offense as they are now; at least he could recall no period in which books of more evil tendency had not been accepted by some good men and some good women. Therefore he wished to plead with all for liberty and for toleration. At least they might remember that in the long run it is only the good book that could live and that the evil book carried within itself the seed of corruption, whereby it came to its sure and speedy end.—London News.

A BY-LAW.

To Authorize the Sale of Lands Within the City of Victoria Upon Which Taxes Have Been Due and in Arrear for Two Years.

Whereas it is expedient that all lands or improvements or real property within the limits of the Corporation of the City of Victoria, upon which municipal taxes have been due and in arrear for two years, shall be sold, and the proceeds applied in the reduction of such taxes:

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

1. The Collector of the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria is hereby authorized and directed whenever taxes on any land or improvements or real property have been due for two years preceding the current year, to submit to the Mayor of the City of Victoria a list (in duplicate) of all the lands or improvements or real property liable under the provisions of this by-law, to be sold for taxes, with the amount of arrears against each lot set opposite to the same, and the Mayor shall authenticate such list by affixing thereto the seal of the Corporation and his signature, and one of such lists shall be deposited with the Clerk of the Corporation, and the other shall be returned to the Collector with a warrant thereto annexed, under the hand of the Mayor and the seal of the Corporation, commanding him to levy upon the lands or improvements or real property for the arrears due thereon, with his costs.

2. It shall not be the duty of the Collector to make inquiry before effecting a sale of lands or improvements or real property for taxes, or ascertain whether or not there is any distress upon the land, nor shall he be bound to inquire into or form any opinion of the value of the land or improvements or real property.

3. The Collector shall prepare a copy of the list of lands or improvements or real property to be sold, and shall include therein, in a separate column, a statement of the proportion of costs chargeable on each lot for advertising and for the commission authorized by this by-law to be paid to him, and shall cause a copy of such list to be printed for a period of one month preceding the date of such intended sale in some newspaper published in the City of Victoria.

4. The advertisement shall contain a notification that unless the arrears and costs are sooner paid he will proceed to sell the lands or improvements or real property for the taxes, on a day, a time, and at a place named in the advertisement.

5. The Collector shall, at least two months before the time of sale, also deliver to or deposit in the postoffice to the address of the owner of such property which is to be sold for taxes as aforesaid, or to the agent of such owner, a notice in writing of the amount of taxes due, and that the property is to be sold for or near to due, and to cause the address of the owner or agent to be posted upon the land intended to be sold, and also, at least two months before the time of sale, post a notice similar to the above advertisement in some convenient and public place, that is to say, at the Council Chambers, Victoria, and in the Post Office Building, Victoria.

6. The day of sale shall be the thirty-third day after the first publication in a newspaper of such list, exclusive of the day of such publication, except in case of a Sunday or holiday, in which case such sale shall take place on the following day at the Council Chambers, in the City of Victoria, and shall begin at twelve o'clock noon.

7. If at any time appointed for the sale of the lands or improvements or real property no bidder appears, the Collector may adjourn the sale from time to time, if the taxes have not been previously collected, or if no one appears to pay the same at the time and place appointed for the sale, the Collector shall sell at public auction so much of the land or improvements or real property as may be sufficient to discharge the taxes and all lawful charges incurred in and about the sale, and the collection of the taxes, selling in preference such part as he may consider best for the owner to sell first, and in offering such lands or improvements or real property for sale it shall not be necessary to describe particularly the portion of the lot or section, which shall be sold, but it will be sufficient to say that he will sell so much of the lot or section as shall be necessary to secure the payment of the taxes due, and the amount of taxes stated in the advertisement shall in all cases be prima facie evidence of the correct amount due.

8. If the Collector fails at such sale to sell such land or improvements or real property for the full amount of arrears of the taxes due, he shall at such sale adjourn the same until a day be publicly named by him, not earlier than one week nor later than three months thereafter, of which adjourned sale he shall give notice by advertisement in the newspaper in which the original notice was advertised, save on such day he shall sell such lands or improvements or real property for any sum he can realize. Provided that in event of the price offered for any lot or section at such adjourned sale being less than the amount of arrears of taxes due in respect of such lot or section, the Collector shall have power, if he think fit so to do, to purchase such lot or section in the name of and on behalf of the said Corporation.

10. If the purchaser of any property or portion of such property immediately before the Collector the amount of the purchase money, the Collector shall forthwith apply up to the property for sale.

11. Immediately after every sale the Collector shall return a list of the arrears satisfied by such sale to the Clerk of the Corporation, and shall at the same time pay in the proceeds to the Treasurer of the said Corporation.

BY BOOK POST.

A volume lately issued from a Canadian press will be of interest to all followers of the late political campaign. Its author is the notable caricaturist, J. W. Beigouche, whose cartoons have been appearing in the Times for many months past.

"Dead! Dead! And now before The threshold of bereaved Earncliffe stand In spirit, all who dwell within our land, From shore to shore!"

A BALKAN FLUTTER.

A fraternalization of the august rulers of Serbia and Montenegro, which has just been celebrated with becoming pomp and circumstance at Belgrade...

The Prince of Montenegro is a much older man than the King of Serbia, and it is only reasonable to suppose that he has given his young Serbian cousin the full benefit of his mature experience.

The manifold symptoms of restlessness reported from the Balkan peninsula admit of no doubt as to the impatience of those who consider themselves the legitimate heirs of the moribund Turk.

There seems to be at present quite a flutter in the various Balkan capitals in premature anticipation of the break-up of the Turkish Empire.

Would not bring happiness to the person suffering with dyspepsia, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many thousands of cases of this disease.

TO CURE HEADACHES.

A hot bath, a stroll in the fresh air, shampooing the head in weak soda-water, or a timely nap in a cool, quiet room, will sometimes stop a nervous headache, writes Dr. B. F. Herrick in August Ladies' Home Journal.

He will doubtless be criminally prosecuted. He has served a term in jail in British Columbia and has a most savory record in California."

A good criterion of the necessity for a general traffic bridge across the Victoria Arm is found in the number of vehicles that cross the E. & N. railway bridge. Messrs. Blackwood and Munro, who have been kept busy regulating the traffic on the bridge, have kept a record of the teams and find that as many as 250 have crossed in one day from 6 in the morning until 10 o'clock at night. The aggregate for the week will reach nearly two thousand.

Messrs. Smith and Pearson, J. P.'s, who presided in the police court this morning, had a number of cases to deal with. John H. Robbins, charged with assaulting W. Lambert, was bound over to keep the peace. Thomas Roberts, charged with assaulting George Edmonds, was similarly dealt with. The charge against Louis Black of a breach against the street by-law was dismissed. The case was brought about by Mr. Black leaving a trap door in the sidewalk open. The magistrates pointed out that owners of such doors were liable to imprisonment for any accident that might occur through the doors being left open.

ELECTION PROTESTS

A Petition Against the Return of Messrs Earle and Prior in Victoria.

The Seats of Mr. McInnes and Mr. Maxwell Attacked by the Conservatives.

Retraction petitions were all the rage this morning in the office of the registrar of the supreme court, where no less than three petitions were filed against the returns of members elected on the 23rd of June last.

The petition recites all the allegations both possible and probable—such as buying votes with money, offers of employment, procuring of loans for voters, treating undue influence, and paying travelling expenses and buying tickets for voters.

Next came into the registrar's office representatives from the office of Messrs Drake, Jackson & Helmsken, with a petition against a Liberal, Mr. W. W. B. McInnes, of Nanaimo. They left $1000 as security for costs.

It was also stated around town to-day that Mr. Bostock's election had been protested, but nothing was filed in the registry office here against him, although a petition may have been filed at Kamloops.

JUICE OF THE LEMON.

Lemon juice rubbed on the cheeks before going to bed and allowed to dry...

Those who lead a sedentary life find the circulation feeblest about the nose, lips and temples, and these parts of the face should be energetically rubbed...

In all the West Indies a lemon bath is almost a daily luxury. Three or four times or lemons are sliced into the water...

As a hair wash and tonic it has no rival. For the purpose a large juicy lemon should be cut in half, the head dipped into a bowl of water...

If well dried at once with energetic towelling there will never be the smallest danger of cold. No soap is needed.

The acid of the lemon absolutely removes all grease and dirt, and the hair, after such a bath, is soft, glossy and clean.

For manicuring the lemon is absolutely indispensable. A teaspoonful of juice in a cup of tepid water whitens and supple the nails...

It is also most beneficial in removing the skin around the nail edges, which should never by any chance be cut with scissors.

Finally the lemon upon the toilet table is a great aid to health. The juice of the lemon squeezed into a large breakfast cup of water, drunk without sugar...

No one should form the habit of taking even the mildest alternative, but if the head feels heavy and dull, or one is conscious of languor and discomfort upon rising, his lemon draught is one of the best and simplest methods of clearing out the system...

THE QUESTION ANSWERED. The Reason why some Dealers Sell Poor Dyes.

If you are sick and out of sorts, it is within your power to make yourself healthy and strong.

There is not the slightest reason why you should go through the hot summer weather feeling miserable, languid and melancholic.

To be well, means happiness and true joy, and this is the season that you should be bright, hearty and glad.

Let us, with sincerity and honesty, direct your attention to Paine's Celery Compound, nature's avenue to health and perfect physical strength and robustness.

Paine's Celery Compound is suited for all ages and conditions; it is purely vegetable, pleasant to use, and prompt and efficacious in the most dangerous and subtle cases.

If you are a doubter, and have not any friends that can vouch for all that is said about Paine's Celery Compound, send for our book of convincing cures, mailed free to any address.

KIPLING IN INDIA.

The Famous Novelist's Apprenticeship to the Press.

Any authentic information relative to the life of Rudyard Kipling when a young man in India, he was laying the foundation of his literary fame...

Journalism in India is uncommonly hard labor for the few Englishmen who constitute an editorial staff...

There was one peculiarity of Kipling's work which I really must mention; namely, the amount of ink he used to throw about.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

The steamer Kilkonan brought two cow loads of salmon from the Point Roberts traps on Thursday.

The reports from Canoe Pass, of the catch there on Wednesday night, are very encouraging, all the way from 150 to 200 fish to the boat.

It is just ten years ago that the salmon were seen in vast quantities in the neighborhood of Texada Island, but that year the catch on the Fraser river was a total failure.

From reliable sources it is learned that the sockeye pack this year on the Fraser is likely to be from fair to middling, and in any case fully double the pack of four years ago, with which year this year corresponds. There are a great many fish in the Gulf and they will soon be ready to ascend the Fraser.

The largest individual pack believed to have been made by F. Buttler & Co., of this city, about 5,000 cases. Even & Co., and the Victoria Cannery Co., have also put up a good many cases. None of the Steveston packs are large.

Through the efforts of the member for the district, Mr. Anlay Morrison, the steamer Capilano has been put in commission to replace the buoys at the sand heads, under the superintendence of Capt. John Robinson.

VERNON.

Vernon News.

The wheat crop throughout the Okanagan and Spillimacheen valleys is now being harvested, and a considerable quantity of it is already in the stacks. Threshing will commence in a few days. The price starts this year at $20 per ton.

The dwelling house of Mr. Cameron, of White Valley, was destroyed by fire on Sunday afternoon, and very little of the furniture and other household effects were saved. The origin of the fire is attributed to the usual defective flue.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Lequime, of Okanagan Mission, were visitors to the city this week. Mr. Lequime thinks that the average yield of grain and hay will be up to that of former years in most parts of the Mission valley, though in some sections the crops have suffered considerably from the protracted period of heat and drought.

A number of placer claims have recently been staked out on Whitehorse creek, about two miles from the Indian reserve on Okanagan lake. Mr. A. V. Parsons was in town on Saturday with a quantity of coarse gold which he had washed from a bench claim on this creek. The dust, which was obtained from 51 pans of dirt, weighed a little over $11. A number of prospectors left the same day for the creek and will probably all stake claims before returning.

Large quantities of small fruits continue to be shipped from this station to points along the main line. The Coldstream ranch makes almost daily shipments of raspberries, currants, etc. to the C.P.R. dining cars and hotels, and Messrs. Denison, Streetfield & Turner and others send frequent consignments to Calgary and other eastern points. Mr. H. F. Denison on Monday made a first shipment of currants and raspberries to Anacosta, in the Boundary creek district, and if the fruit stands the stage journey from Pentiction in good shape other shipments will follow until the close of the season.

A very favorable assay was received last week by Messrs. Morden & Co., owners of the Morning Glory mineral claim, situated on the west side of Okanagan lake, a few miles from this city. The ore assayed: Lead, $25.00, silver, $42.00, copper, $11.57, total $88.57. They are now in about 25 feet on the ledge, which is large in extent, with both side walls well defined. The rock is well mineralized throughout though of course it will not all carry as much as the piece from which this assay was obtained. Efforts are being made to organize a company to work this mine, and it is probable that before many months it will be shipping ore in large quantities.

MIDWAY.

Midway Advances.

The Morrison Gold Mining company are making preparations for the sinking of a shaft upon their claim the Morrison in Behlwood camp.

Some more promising large deep made near Rock creek. Messrs. Thomet and Bevan who returned a few days ago brought in some fine milling quartz taken from a claim they located and called the Metallic.

Vancouver parties, who purchased some time ago the Gold Dollar claim in White-Atwood camp, have started a force of men to work to develop it, and as far as known its appearance is very encouraging.

Mr. Stevens, of Spokane, took a force of men into Long Lake camp a few days ago, and will put them to work on the Alfox claim, which property he purchased some time ago from Mr. Bonermon.

The Spotted Horse and the Boundary Falls mineral claims have found new owners the past week, Vancouver parties being the purchasers. As the terms have not as yet transpired, it is impossible to state them. The Spotted Horse is a silver-lead proposition carrying a small percentage of gold, is situated at and adjoins Greenwood City, and was the property of Mr. James Sutherland and Mr. Covett. The Boundary Falls is situated near the town of that name, and is a similar proposition to the Spotted Horse.

During the extremely dry weather crops will be light this season in our immediate neighborhood, and as they have matured quickly hay is now in full blast. Quite a number of ranchers have hit upon the plan of sowing both seeds and as regards hay, by cutting and putting up large quantities of bunched grass, which in this district grows luxuriantly. Good timothy hay stands even now at a premium, and what the price will be before spring begins anyone to guess.

A day or two ago Mr. James Atwood and Mr. T. Wake returned to town after a two weeks' sojourn up the main Kettle river. They had intended to remain out some time, but were forced to return owing to the flies being so extremely severe upon themselves and their horses. They made a couple of locations, one of which ledges was discovered on the east branch of the west fork of Kettle river, a distance of 70 miles from Midway, or about due east from Pentiction. The ore in this claim is silver-lead galena, and the ore body is about 1 1/2 feet in width. The principal location however, was made near Midway, and consists of a ledge of galena, well defined, carrying silver and gold, with signs of copper stain, and of a width of 3 feet, and is traceable for quite a long distance on the location. The samples of ore brought down would tend to show that a very valuable strike has been made.

When a month or two ago a claim was staked out on Pass creek, very few had any idea that this claim would form the nucleus around which a camp of large proportions would grow, and yet such is the case, for already a number of claims have been recorded, and still every day finds new discoveries made, until many are beginning to wonder whether or not the largest of the Boundary creek camps is not now in course of development. Heavy boning is characteristic of the camp, beneath which at a few feet depth, development work shows a splendid sulphide ore. Communication is being furnished by the building of a good trail, and should the Columbia & Western railway ever be built through the district, no doubt it will pass right through the camp, as it is by way of Pass creek the route of the railway is gaged. No less than eleven claims located in this new camp may be found in last week's record. The new camp is bordered on the south by Summit camp, on the west by Long Lake camp, on the east by the North Fork of Kettle river, and on the north by a yet unexplored region within the confines of which there is plenty of room for prospecting and discovery of other new mining camps.

ROSSLAND.

The Rosslander.

The name of the Rosslander has been changed to the Prospecter.

An excavation for the foundation of a compressor plant for the Le Roi mine is being made on the Black Bear.

Le Roi mine is grading for and building a flume, carrying it around the base of Red Mountain to bring water to the mine from Sheep Creek.

In excavating for the foundation of the mill which is to be erected on the Mine, at the foot of Red Mountain, a fine ledge of ore was uncovered last week.

The Buckeye, about 2 1/2 miles east of Rosslander, has a shaft down 32 feet. There is a very fine showing of ore and heavily mineralized ledge matter.

Excavities made at the Le Roi mine failed to substantiate the statement published in the Miner last Saturday that the mine was under bond for $2,500,000. It was emphatically denied by a prominent member of the company that the mine was under bond at all, and he also stated that the property is held at a much higher figure than $2,500,000.

The Spokenston Review is agitating for a commission of expert surveyors to ascertain if the boundary line between British Columbia and Washington is accurately drawn. The Review claims that the 49th parallel is further north, and that Rosslander and the rich mining country surrounding it are really in the United States. The immense value of such a slice of territory as the Trail Creek district is worth kicking up a row about.

The Imperial Gold Mining company closed a deal last Saturday whereby they became owners of the Boies, which is a full claim adjoining the Imperial on the northwest. The Imperial-Sercher vein has been traced through the entire length of the Boies. This gives the Imperial company 1500 feet additional length on the vein. The company are having both claims surveyed for crown grant.

The shaft on the Curlew is down 43 feet, mineralized the whole distance, and showing a good streak of pay ore from six to ten inches wide. There are two ledges crossing the claim, and there are also several outcroppings of iron, copper and silver, which no work has yet been attempted. The ledges are both well defined and have been broken into pieces, samples of the ore assaying from $6 to $25 in gold and 47 ounces to 230 ounces silver.

Eric and Charles Chaplin, son and nephew of Mr. Henry Chaplin, president of the local government board in the British government, are in the camp, being on a tour of observation through the mines. They have visited most of the leading mines, and have been down several of the deepest shafts.

The city was thronged with Italian laborers this morning, who had come in from the camp on Cobble's Red Mountain railway, which is being built between Rosslander and Northport. Such an influx naturally excited considerable comment, and an investigation disclosed the fact that the men had struck work after a conference last evening at the camp, a few miles west of here. They have been paid $1.50 a day, and the conclusion arrived at at the meeting was that this was not enough. They demand $2 a day, and until this is granted they have decided to lay down the pick and shovel and take things easy in this city.

The Britte claim, just east of the court house, Columbia avenue, bids fair to do credit to the great mining metropolis after which it is named. During the past three weeks two men, under direction of Manager Walters, have been running surface crosscuts along the supposed course of the vein east and west of the discovery shaft. Almost everywhere the vein was covered with a heavy gravel wash, and the work was necessarily tedious and called for a big amount of faith. Last week this work was terminated. A strong well mineralized vein was found to traverse the Britte ground from east to west.

Merit in medicine means the power to cure. The great cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla proves its unequal merit.

AN ELECTROLYTIC TREATMENT.

The Salt Lake Tribune describes a new process for the electrolytic treatment of low-grade auriferous ores as follows: "The ore being finely ground, is at once leached with a hot solution of cupric chloride in a rotating barrel, through which a slow alternating current of electricity is passed. The cupric chloride solution is mixed beforehand with a saturated solution of calcium or magnesium chloride of salt, so that the combined action, chemical and electrical, extracts all the copper from the ore. The clear solution is run through a barrel containing copper oxides of hydrates, which remove all iron and other impurities from the solution, leaving it only pure copper. The copper solution is now passed into rectangular vats containing porous asbestos partitions with electrodes for conveying the current to the solution as it passes in the vat. The copper is deposited, and the solution is pumped back to a reservoir for treating more stuff. Once the solution is made it lasts indefinitely, a little water being added to make up for evaporation and losses by leakage, etc. Thus there is no cost after the preliminary expenses for running, working the dynamo, etc. The process is clean, and, under good management, extremely economical. Thus the copper is saved, and as the average market is 400 per ton, it will pay with even a 1 per cent. ore, and lower, for its own extraction. The ore, after being treated, is chemically bleached, is in an excellent condition for treatment by cyanide or other suitable reagents. If there are silver sulphides in the ore they are dissolved and are precipitated before the copper, so that the silver deposit may be stripped from the cathode, and the residue is allowed to deposit, or it may be separated by chemical means."

John Stoen, mason, Agulville, Ont., had Salt Rheum so severe that for seven years he wore crutches. He writes: "I used a quarter of a box of Chase's Ointment. It cured me. No trace of Salt Rheum is now." Chase's Ointment cures every irritant disease of the skin, always itching instantly, and is a sterling remedy for piles. Avoid imitations. 60c. per box.

THE AURORAL ARCH.

I have just finished reading the little booklet, "Astronomy and Meteorology," which are some interesting particulars concerning the probable height of the aurora in the arctic regions, says a writer in the St. Louis Republic. The author makes the mistake which the editor of "Notes for Curious" generally manages to avoid, and assumes that the aurora is a phenomenon of the auroral arch, while the facts are that scores of meteorologists have made such calculations. The March observations were on aurora observed in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maine, during January and February, 1895. The idea of the aurora's height has been a matter of long standing. It is more than thirty years old when we have had experiments in the same line made by competent scientists since the opening of the present year!

The three auroras March observed were according to his deductions, 57, 80 and 57 miles, respectively, above the surface of the earth. This would give a mean altitude of 78 miles. Taking his conclusions on the above, the author of "Astronomy and Meteorology," sagely remarks "the average height of the aurora is now known to be about 75 miles, as seen when do the modern authorities say: Prof. Paulsen, of the Royal Danish Academy, finds that the aurora extends to a height from one-third of a mile to about 40 miles. Floze estimates the height of the aurora observed by him at 50 to 210 miles. Helander found a height of at least 500 miles for one aurora observed by him and Nordenfjeld declares that the most average height of aurora is 150 miles. The general opinion of the up-to-date scientist is that the height of the aurora depends more on latitude; in other words, that they frequently appear at a height of over 400 miles in the temperate zone and at less than 50 feet in the Arctic regions."

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches a victim of the trouble for several years. South American Nervine effected a complete cure. In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On several occasions, he has been the strong man of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do his work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery, and a second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing its own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and gave built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not depreciate the good our countrymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives them health and vigor; and then their cure is through the system strong, healthy, unobscured blood, and nervous system of every variety are the result of the cure.
