Berlin, Nov. 18 .- All the morning papers discuss the end of the crisis with varying degrees of satisfaction according to party affiliations. With the exception of the Socialist papers and one or two extreme radicals, all and one or two extreme radicals, all express great gratification of the pledge of the Emperor given to the chancellor and the German people. Even some of the conservative newspapers temper their rejoicing with reflections upon the serious work which still remains to be done before the relations between the Emperor and the neember can be restored to the old even. can be restored to the old cor-which existed under the first

Berlin, Nov. 18.—The results of the representation made to Emperor Willam yesterday by Chancellor Von Buelam yesterday by Chancellor Von Bue-low and the consequent imperial pledge to keep both the speeches and the acts of His Majesty within close constitu-tional bounds, are measured in colder mood by the people of Germany to-day. The Emperor is still much isolated from the sympathies of both the upper and lower levels of society and lower levels of society.

The talk among the friends of the Chancellor and the ministers to-day is that they must wait to see how the Emperor acts when the next keenly interesting public question comes up. Doubt exists as to whether, at the age of 50, the Emperor's impulsive and candld disposition can be so deeply modified by the events of the past forting that he will depart from a practice he has followed during the twenty agreement to the continued on page 2.

DE SAGANS HAPPY.

No Truth in "Cruel" Reports of Approaching Celebration.

Paris, Nov. 18.—Prince and Princess de Sagan—the latter was Miss Anna Gould, of New York—were seen at their residence in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne yesterday and authorized the denial in most emphatic fashion of the reports recently current in Paris and America that they intended to separate. They intimated that these reports have been spread by Count de Castellane, who, they said, was doing everything possible to make their lives uncomfortable. "We are happy," said the Princess, "and all we ask is to be let alone."

Judge Lampman this morning gave judgment under the Overholding Tenants' Act in Martin vs. Stern. Rev. Dr. Macdonald of Antigonish, N. S., is Prominent in Church.

een received at the bishop's palace bishop Orth in the diocese of Victoria is the for granted that Rev. Dr. Macdonald of Antigonish, N. S., is to be the next head of the diocese, Church papers published in the east have contained the notice that Dr. Macdonald was to be the new bishop of Victoria and it can be taken as an assured fact.

In Bishop Macdonald, according to all reports, the diocese will have a sees storing successor to the long line of eminent dignituries who have pre-ceded him here.

Bishop Macdonald is a native of Canada. He was born at Malian, Cape Breton Island. His education was begun in his native sec-tion, continued at St. Francis Xavier's College, Antigonish, and in the Pro-paganda, Rome, where he was or-dained to the priesthood, on March, 8, 1854 by Cardinal Parcebi, when he became a Doctor of Divinity. Soon after his ordination he was appointed one of the professors of St. Francis Xavier's College, and took charge of the advanced classes in English, Latin, Philosophy and Christian Doctrine, In 1903 he took charge of the parish of St. Andrews, where he has remained up to the present. In 1900 he was appointed vicar-general of the diocese, and St. Francis Xavier's College conferred on him the degree of Lit. D., in 1996. He was appointed two years

In his transfer to Victoria it is anticipated that Bishop Macdonald will be able to give a good deal of attention to his theological studies. He is a finished scholar and a residence at bishop's palace in Victoria should give him wonderful advantages. The light him wonderful advantages. The li-brary at the palace is excelled by few if any theological libraries on the continent in its wealth of ancient works. It may be of interest to Vic-

The foundation of this library was laid by Bishop Segars, who was a great lover of books. He visited Eu-rope and picked up unusual volumes at low figures, placing them in the li-

He has been vicar general to the bishop of Antigonish and as such has had considerable experience in admin-

While no official notice has been received here as to the diocese of New Westminster either, it is generally conceded now that the centre will be made in Vancouver with an archbishop in charge. The work in Vancouver is a growing one. The church accommodation is not at all equal to the demands. There is hard work for the new head of the diocese for many years to come.

Bishop Dontenwell, as director gen-eral of the oblate fathers, will have his head warters in Rome. Who the successor will be is a matter for specu-lation purely. Father Walsh, the parish priest of Vancouver, it has been thought may be raised to the position.

These numbers are incidental to the intensely interesting story of love and wartold in verse and action by the two hundred young people who take part. It takes two hours in the telling and there is not a dull moment in it. The grotesque make-up of the pixies, brownles and goblins never fails to create roars of laughter at their every appearance, while the fortility weetness and naive innocence of the little fairies form a picture never to be forgotten. The knighthood conferred upon Mr. Hugh Graham, the proprietor of the Montreal Star, is, we believe, the first instance in Canada in which the Sovereign has recognized the services of a newspaper man, irrespective of his work as a politician. B. LERRINGWELL IN VICTORIA

ARCTIC EXPLORER PAYS SHORT VISIT HERE

He Expects to Return to the North Again and Prosecute Researches.*

Ernest Leffingwell, one of the principals in the Anglo-American Arctic expedition which left here in 1906, is in Victoria. Mr. Leffingwell was the last member of the party to leave the Arctic, coming to San Francisco, as announced in the Times, a few days ago by a whaling schooner. Yesterday afnounced in the Times, a few days ago by a whaling schooner. Yesferday af-ternoon he arrived in Victoria for the purpose of getting personal effects left here in charge of Capt, Otto Buckholtz, when the Duchess of Bedford carrying the expedition left for the north. He of the family in Southern California and will take his collection of fossila,

Arctic to the University of Chicago With which Mr. Leffingwell was connected before leaving on the expedition. Far from being dismayed by his experiences in the north. Mr. Leffingwell is well satisfied and expects to return and take up his work. With respect to pushing out over the ice into the Beaufort sea in search of land, he says that he is prepared to again try that if any scientific organization is willing to bear scientific organization is willing to bear the expense of the expedition. He does not, however, feel like doing it at his own expense. The dash which was made by his in company with Etha own expense. The dash which was made by him in company with Ejnar Mikkelsen indicated that there was no least. There is, however, the possibility that they might have been close to it. The depth of water, close on 500 fathorns, would indicate open sea and he is inclined to think that; there is a large body of water north of the continent. The dash taken over the ice carried them about one hundred miles due north of Alaska, although many times. times that distance was of course cov-ered by them. It was found that with-in a comparatively short distance after leaving the continent the water be-came deep. This continued and with a depth of from 300 to 500 fathoms the same conditions prevailed, and the search was discontinued. Mr. Leffingsearch was discontinued. Mr. Leffing-well points out, however, that in Baffin Bay, adjoining Greenland, great depth of water is found very close to land. The same conditions might, prevall in the Beaufort sea and land might exist close to the limit to which they went.

While in the Arctic region Mr. Lef-fingwell made interesting explorations which will be of value to the scientific world. Thoroughly familiar with the scientific side the information obtained by him is of inestimable value. Three lands of the United States there are many burning beds of coal also.

The Duchess of Bedford, the schooner specially fitted out here for the expedition, is resting easily on the heach. She is in no way damaged, except that the masts and deck work was taken off in order that a house might be built on shore for the party. The vessel is in good shape, and only requires caulking to enable her to go into commission. When the Duchess of Bedford froze in the ice adhered to the caulking. With the drop of the water, the

At Flaxman Island Mr. Leffingwell lived along side the natives, and had an opportunity of studying their manner of life. He acquired a knowledge of their language, a matter of necessity as they spoke no English, With ity as they spoke no English, nothing to base his study on he to frame his own rules as to the lan-scientific side the information obtained by him is of inestimable value. Three rivers were explored well up to the divide which separates the Arctic slope from that drained by the Yukon. These rivers were explored for about 100 or 150 miles from their mouths. There are in that country a few prospectors who have spent years searching for gold. Their efforts have been attended with but small success. Colors have been obtained but nothing to indicate gold in quantity. Mr. Leffingwell thinks the geological formation is against the like ilhood of gold being found there.

During his investigations he found ash beds where lignite coal had existed, but had been destroyed by taking fire by spontaneous combustion. This is common in the north and burning coal fields are often referred to by travellers. But while this is true it seems to have been forgotten that in the bad lands of the United States there are many burning beds of coal also.

Mr. Willard Mack and Miss Maude

Mr. Willard Mack and Miss Maude Leone will appear in this city on Thursday evening, and the company selected for them by Mr. C. A. Marshall is said to be a most capable one.

"On Parole" is a beautiful story of 1855. The seenic arrangementa, costumes, retoarsals and all preliminary details, which received Mr. Mack's personal attention in New York, is a guarantee of their perfection. Both press and public bave received the production most cordially. Mr. Willard Mack and Miss Maude Leone have been greeted by crowded dially. Mr. Willard Mack and Miss Maude Leone have been greeted by erowded houses wherever they have appeared. The part of "Major Daie" in this play affords Mr. Mack splendid opportunity to display his superb talents. It is not often that the local management cares to unqualifiedly endorse an attraction in advance, but, in this instance, it is done-both from personal knowledge and from reports received from managers in other cities. "On Parole" is a splendid military drama, and in it Mr. Mack is a great success. This will be the first presentation of the play west of Chicago.

W, hall, Since the match was finally arranged ten days ago there has been some little talk of the merits of the two men, who have both gone—into training quarters. McNamee is at a little farm house away out near Swan Lake, and is keeping strictly to business through the day. He is taking his regular course of training and has now dropped several pounds of flesh through his efforts. Mortimer also is keeping busy, and morning sessions with the punching bag are part of his routine, while sparring matches with his partner, W. Allen, form his occupation during part of the afternoon. Weather permitting, both men are out on the road for long spins, and both are earnest in their endeavor to get into top condition by the day of the event. Both men look well from reports to hand, and a good match is suire to be the outcome when they meet. arranged ten days ago there has been stitute hall, soccer match between Vancouver and Victoria, December 5th, Mr. Jones' letter is to the effect that there may have been some influence used to disuade Hail from competing, although what that supposed influence could be the letter fails to state. For one second he relaxed his efforts, but that second was fatal. Quick as a flash Queen Bess and El Hakim had drawn up alonegide, and held their own pulckily that Prioress could not gain an inch on them, and had to consent to a verdict of a dead heat. When the race was run over agoin, however, Prioress' jockey was much too wide awake to be caught napping a second time and won by a length and a half. Passengers on the Craigflowe Have Thrilling Forty Mile

(Special Correspondence).
Prince Rupert, Nov. 16.—A thrilling experience fell to the lot of 120 passe ers on the steamer Craigflower, which perates on the Skeena river. It seem operates on the Skeena river. It seems that last Wednesday morning the Craighower left a point on the Skeena about forty miles aboye Essington, named "Hole in the Wall." The river was in a bad condition and shortly after starting the boat commenced dipping water and the fires were extinguished. At this point a panic among the passengers occurred. The Italian passengers, numbering about thirty, passengers, numbering about thirty,

Many of the passengers considered that their end had come as the boat was now taking in water rapidly, and with the wheel out of order the Craigiflower was simply drifting down stream. This boat was only intended to the contract of the contract o cut the canvass to pieces in order to make holes to escape through should and twisting along down stream with some two feet of water in her cabin, the Craigflower finally drifted alongside of the wharf at Port Essington and friendly hands threw a line to the boat which was pulled up to the wharf. Eye witnesses, some of whom are old sallors, affirm that it was the very worst forty-mile ride that they ever experienced.

Mr. G. D. Colwell of Walkerville, Ont., and employed by the Canadian Bridge Co., Walkerville, Says: "When I began using PSYCHINE in October, 1966, I was all run down and bordering on consumption. I could not sleep nights. I had night sweats trequently and coughed the greater part of the night. I was very week and nervous. Proposition worked marvels and made a new man of me and I have been it good health since. Since then there used PSYCHINE each winter for La Grippe, and it has put me right in no time. INDIA'S NEW ERA IS FORESHADOWED

STRIKING MESSAGE FROM KING EDWARD

Obliterating Distinctions of Race-Country Nearing Home Rule.

The King-Emperor has been pleased to address to the princes and peoples of India the following message which was read by his Excellency the Viceroy in Durbar at Jodhpur some days ago. It is now fifty years since Queen Victoria, my beloved mother, and my august predecessor to the throne of these realms, for divers weighty reasons, with the advice and consent of parliament, took upon herself the government of the territories theretofore administered by the East India Company. I deem this a fitting anniversary on which to greet the princes and peoples of India. In commemoration of the exalted task then solemnly undertaken. Half a century is but a brief span in your long annals yet this half-century that entry to day will steed amid the foods of your historic ages a fait-shining land-mark. The proclamation of the direct supremacy of the crown sealed the unity of Indian government and opened a new era. The journey was arduous, and the advance may have sometimes seemed slow; but the incorporation of many strangely diversified communities, and of some three hundred millions of the human race, under British guidance and control has proceeded steadfastly and without pause.

Drought and Plague.

Drought and Plague. Difficulties such as attend all human Difficulties such as attend all human-rule in every age and place, have risen up from day to day. They have been faced by the servants of the British-crown with toil and courage and pa-tience, with deep counsel and a resolu-tion that has never faltered nor shaken. If errors have occurred, the agents of my government have spared no pains, and no self-sacrifice to correct them; if abuses have been proved, vigorous hands have labored to apply a remedy, abuses have been proved, vigoroushands have labored to apply a remedy.

No secret of empire can avert the scourge of drought and plague, but experienced administrators have done all that skill and devotion are capable of doing to mitigate those dire calamities of Nature. For a longer period than was ever known in your land before, you have escaped the dire calamities of war within your borders. Internal peace has been unbroken.
In the great charter of 1858 Queen war within your noverspeace has been unbroken.

In the great charier of 1858 Queen Victoria gave you noble assurance of her earnest desire to 'stimulate the peaceful industry of India, to promote works of public utility and improvement, and to administer the government for the benefit of all resident thercin. The schemes that have been diligently framed and executed for promoting your material convenience and advance—schemes unsurpassed in their magnitude and their boldness—bear magnitude and their boldness bear witness before the world to the zeal with which that benignant promise has

The resolution dealing with the cur-few by-law was considered by many as the most important before the council. It was as follows:

Proposed by the Ladies of the Macca-Proposed by the Ladles of the Maccabees. "Whereas, it is a well-known fact, frequently commented upon by the press and openly acknowledged by those in a position to know, that girls and boys are permitted to be on the streets, not only late hours of the hight, but into the early hours of the morning, and that this evil is aiarmingly on the increase, a condition much to be deplored; and whereas, unless a misdeameanor is committed by such, the authorities have no power to deal with these cases; "Resolved, that the Local Council of "Resolved, that the Local Council of

It was agreed after hearing the paper on the subject read by Mrs. Andrews, that it was more than time that action was taken in this matter. As some one remarked, if the curfew by-law were no use why have it on our law books?

It was suggested by Mrs. Cooper that when children were found breaking the by-law their parents should be fined, and if need be the fines go to swell the extra cost entailed in the enforcing the curiew by-law.

rious questions and difficulties which from time to time arise to perplex us as we view the treatment accorded to these almost humane companions of mankind, the dumb animals. We cannot help contemplating with regret and apprehension the dog laws which our anti-canine city fathers are about to enact and enforce, realising that these liberty-loving animals will undoubtedly suffer by these restrictions. A member of the S. P. C. A. recently wrote to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, London, England, for some hints and assistance to enable the law-abiding citizens of Victoria to comply with the law, which forbids dogs within the city centres, and received in reply to the question the following lines: 'I may tell you at once that we have no laws in London, or in England, in fact, to keep dogs from business centres.'

"It, therefore, remains to be seen what these by-laws will mean to the city as a method of attracting new residents, or otherwise; also the effect upon owners of dogs who can neither give their pets the delight of a free run in one direction for the other. All are aware that there exists culpable negligence amongst dog owners in the matter of securing their necessary license, cise were the pound not overcrowded with splendid animals often, evidently pets whose owners either could not or would not pay the $2 fee to render them exempt from such a fate. Could not our influence be used to good advantage in urging those whom we know are not dealing fairly either with the city or their dogs in this matter, to comply with the laws in this respect. To animal lovers it was a very real pleasure to read during the recent fire chief's convention in Victoria their interesting discussion on the care and attention necessary to big animals, and also hints on the training of horses, their remarks proving most decisively the fallacy- of the argument that in the training of young horses their remarks proving most decisively the fallacy- of the argument that in the training of young horses their remarks proving most decisively the fallacy- of the argument that in the training of young horses their remarks proving most decisively the fallacy- of the argument hat in the training of young horses their remarks proving most decisively the fallacy- of the argument of the palmer of this auxiliary was shocked and palned by witnessing a splendid young horse being literally thrashed by a man, and on his being asked to try the better method of kindness, received the reply from him that women knew nothing about training horses; therefore the following statements of Chief Smart, of of method of kindness, received the reply from him that women knew nothing about training horses; therefore the following statements of Chief Smart, of Calgary, are pleasant reading, as he remarked 'that for breaking in horses he kept two men with the horses four times a day, and forbade the use of the whip altogether, substituting a plece of sugar.' Two survey parties will be started in a few days to do some final revision work on the mountain section, while offices for the accommodation of the permanent staff are in course of erection.

General confidence in the early construction has been established and is already reflected in the improved demand for land in acreage and town lots. It is anticipated that early in January will see a start made at actual grading of the line from the Albert.
