NEW-ORLEANS. Tuesday (Morning,) March 3, 1831.

The northern and eastern mail that should have been received on Saturday, and that due yesterday both failed. Mr. Barry's contractors are, we suppose, still inthralled in snow drifts.

The Monroe Meeting took place agreeably to previous notice, at the exchange last evening; and, we are happy to state, was very numerously attended.

B. Marigny, Esq. was called to the Chair, meeting were briefly stated by the Chairman, who also added some feeling and highly appropriate remarks in relation to the claims of Mr. Monroe upon the people of the United States, his observations by offering smadry resolutions recognising the high claims of the venerable dopted for his relief, which were passed by ac-

THE MENAGERIE.

On the eve of separating and leaving the city. the proprietors of that fine collection of living animals now exhibiting in Orleans-street, have determined to reduce the price of admission to 50 cents, during the remainder of their stay. Many, it is presumed, who are not sufficiently aware of the large amount of capital invested in the animals, and the heavy expenses incident to exhibiting them in this city, have thought the price heretofore demanded too high. We have good reason to think, all circumstances considered, it was quite moderate. It has, however, been suggested that an increased number of visiters would doubtless justify the reduction that has been made. We hope the proprietors will realize this expectation. The collection is unquestionably one of the most interesting that has ever been exhibited in the United States.

The Mails .- We are willing to make all al lowances for the effect of uncommonly deep enouse, on the operations of the Department by we do not think they will furnish a valid reason for our receiving at one time, papers of the 23d, 26th and 27th ult. from the capital of Indiana. Louisville Focus, Feb. 10th.

THE OFFICIAL.

It seems to be now considered that the Globi is the government official, at Washington. -Duff Green is no longer a Cabinet Minister .-The Globe assails, with much violence, the systems of protecting duties and internal improvements, and wages open war against the Sapreme court and the Bank of the United States .- It doubtless proceeds in the spirit of the administration, and presents the singular phenomena of the Executive department of a nation attacking most of its established systems and principal in stitutions. Congress itself has not escaped its castigations, and it growls angrey at the adquitunittal of Judge Peck. Is this indirect Executive interference, with every thin; that relates to public affairs, in the true spirit of Republicanism and democracy! - Cincinnate Gozette, time, is a disposition too prevalent to pay homage to men instead of principles. Boast as we will of personal freedom, there never has been more personal subserviency in any country, than we now hold in this Republic. The difference is, that here it is voluntary, and elsewhere compalsory. In other lands men are subjected by force to the will of other men, here they freely subject themselves. This no doubt is freedom. but what a degrading kind. Liberty to be a slave!

Well, let those who love such liberty, cherish it. Let them choose their master and obey him. If they are politicians of a certain sect, they must do this, or renounce their hopes. There are but two divisions, leaders and follow ers. The leaders give the nod, and their followher receive it. Is not this truth, humiliating Does not the whole esuree of things at hington prove it! of truth and warning. We cannot abut air eyes to the fact that political aspirants are becoming man usorshippers. They sind their rean power, or striving for power. As he rises, they expect him to drag them up after him; and to purchase this favor, they adopt his opinions. He gives the hint, they take it. He makes an assertion, they defend it. If they take a step without consulting him. and it happens not t please him, they must recaut, explain, equivocate, to get out of the difficulty. Is not this a sent moment? Do the majority of politicians at this moment speak and act independently? Are their opinions the result of examination, of adopting after being weighed? No! There is a and D. Bouligny and J. A. Cincinnati American. POLITICAL MAGNANIMITY. The Presid at of the United States has been raciously pleased to approunce, through the Globe, that he is willing to serve the people another term, if the resple wish him to. We have waited to see this salf sacrificant spirit placed by his sattellites side by side with that of Washington. Some of them have had the effrontery heretofore to call him another Washington. But in the present instance they have had the wisdom to desist. They fear the effect of contrast. It s not safe to bring such pictur s into proximity. Jackson appears best when he stands alone Place him by the side of any one of his predebe marked.—They governed; he is governed. They never give out to the world before election that they would not be a candidate twice; he, or his frien's for him, did. They never recommend, in the middle of their first term, such an alteration of the constitution as to make the President face of this recommendation, he now announces himself as a cand date! He does it under the mask of patriotism, public spirit, condescension to the general good. He is willing to serve Aye indeed-But whom does he serve! The stratagem is too shallow to deceive any one not blind.
