THE DIRIGIBLE R-34 REACHES NEWFOUNDLAND

LONDON NEWSPAPERS APPROVE SPEECH MADE BY MR. LLOYD GEORGE

Majority Say He Gave Good Answer to Treaty to Extremists of Both Hues; Only a Few Papers Comment on Trial of ex-Kaiser

London, July 4.—With one or two exceptions, the newspapers here express satisfaction with Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons yesterday. Several, including some most friendly to the Prime Minister, refer to its "defence" of the peace treaty, but there is a general agreement that he gave a good answer to those clamoring for more drastic terms as well as those objecting to the oppressive features of the peace treaty.

The Herald, Labor, alone sweepingly condemns the speech, asserting it to be unsatisfactory to most of the Labor and Liberal members of the House.

The Daily News, Liberal, however, while continuing to criticize certain terms of the treaty, says the validity of many of the Prime Minister's arguments are incontestable and warmly praises his declaration of faith in the League of Nations. Only a few comment on the announcement of the trial of the former German Kaiser, saying that the Allies are honoring Britain's reputation for fairplay, which has been lived up to.

A Surprise.—The only surprise of the report made by Mr. Lloyd George on the work of the Peace Conference to the House of Commons yesterday was the news that the former Kaiser would be tried in London. The Prime Minister has a habit of launching news in speeches, a notable previous instance being his address in which he said that three German submarines had been sunk in one day.

That advice came at a time when the submarines were the most menacing factor in the war situation. The decision to bring the former Kaiser to London with other prominent accused persons had been a well-kept secret. It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George was responsible for the proposal. Holland, however, has yet to be reckoned with, it is reported.

Dutch public opinion has seemed strongly to support the ex-Kaiser's flight of asylum there, and there are many predictions that Holland may refuse to give up the monarch and that the powers will not coerce her.

A Commission.—Great state trials in the United Kingdom, of which there have been none for many years, have been held in Westminster Hall, but it is believed that Wilhelm Hohenzollern will be given that honor. The procedure for this trial will be laid down by a commission which the Allies will soon set up to execute the provisions of the peace treaty. Five judges will be chosen by the British, American, French, Italian and Japanese Governments, an dit is expected they will constitute the court. In that event the Earl of Reading, Lord Chief Justice of England, will sit for Great Britain and the Supreme Court of the United States, is regarded as the logical choice of the United States Government.

Parliamentary gossip holds that the former Kaiser certainly should not be given a privileged position in court, but should be put in the dock like any other man charged with a crime.

In the Autumn.—The trial is looked for this Autumn, if it takes place, and steps for the Kaiser's extradition are expected to be taken soon, if not already begun. Dutch newspapers have discussed Hohenzollern's extradition ever since he took refuge in Holland and the general sentiment appears to be that it would be a humiliation for Holland to surrender the former monarch at the demand of the powers, which demand would be untenable under the law, since the ex-Kaiser's case does not come under extradition treaties and the charge of "a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties" is not covered by existing laws.

Guarantees Asked.—The Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant, in an article which is reported to have been inspired, recently said that the Dutch Government might be prepared to make the necessary changes in its constitutional law on being given certain guarantees as to the constitution of the court and the character of the trial. The guarantees specified by the newspaper were that impartial judges who would not be of accusing nationalities, would preside and that the former Kaiser might be given the right to produce all available evidence in his defence.

No Authorization.—The Handelsblad, of Amsterdam, recently said regarding the former Kaiser and the former Crown Prince: "Both of them have been admitted to this country as a matter of fact, not as a matter of right, for no authorization to travel or reside in Holland has been issued to them in accordance with the law of 1843 relating to foreigners, nor are they interned as dangerous foreigners under the temporary law of 1898, which requires that a foreigner, to be interned, must be deemed dangerous to

WILLARD IS NEW WORLD CHAMPION

Willard Quit at End of Third Round in Toledo Fight

Riague, Toledo, July 4.—The Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight Willard was knocked down twice in the first round, taking the count of six.

Willard quit at the end of the third round.

The first preliminary was called at 11 o'clock, a six-round go between Tommy O'Boyle, of Toledo, 116 pounds, and Solly Epstein, of Indianapolis, 114 pounds. Tom Bodkin, of Pittsburgh, referee, decided the contest a draw. The crowd continued to gather but slowly; only a few thousand spectators being present when the first preliminary started.

Second Preliminary.—Just before noon, scheduled to go six rounds, between "Wop" English and Battling Wendt, both of Toledo, ended in the first round, English winning by a knockout.

At noon the crowd was rapidly gathering in the arena being about one-third filled. Among the thousands of cool-less and collarless spectators was a good sprinkling of women.

The third preliminary, a scheduled six-round contest between Tommy Long, of Detroit, and Johnny Lewis, of Toledo, ended in the third round with a knockout victory for Lewis.

A member of a big party from Toronto, whose train was yanked near another special from California, reported meeting the last word in fight on Peru last May, the result of which has been in dispute. Augusto B. Leguia, the Independent Party candidate, claimed election by a substantial majority. The claim, however, was disputed by Antonio Caspiaga, candidate of the Civil Party.

No Reports.—Washington, July 4.—No information of a revolutionary outbreak at Lima has been received since the State Department. The Legation received several communications to-day from Lima and as none from the Legation in that city, Legation officials said they strongly doubted that a revolutionary movement had been undertaken.

Some Tall Stories.—The exposed part of a ham sandwich became toast in time. It was perfectly good toast.

An apical writer from New York averred that a green peach purchased upon entering ripened in half an hour on the fitting bench. Although the process seemed possible his story was received with reserve.

At 1:30 o'clock many seats in the better sections were still vacant, and row occupied in the far bleachers were unoccupied.

Two hours before the start of the big bout ticket speculators in the downtown district still had big bunches of un-sold tickets, which they were offering at an average of ten per cent.

Tickets were quoted at $50, forty at $33, and $15 at $12. Even these reductions failed to reduce the surplus supply and it was evident that the speculators would have to cut their prices still further if they were to sell out. The only thermometer in the press stand rose straight up to 120 degrees, which was at the top of the tube. A place was found for it under the flooring away from the sun. Here it dropped back to 100.

Johnny Rose, of St. Paul, and Battling Belair, of Brooklyn, went six rounds in the fourth preliminary. Rose was declared the winner on points by the referee.

Dempsey Confident.—Dempsey reached his dressing room at 2:50 p.m. He was smiling and apparently confident.

At 2:30 o'clock, within an hour of the big fight, a careful estimate by men familiar with big crowds placed the attendance at 25,000. Nor was the crowd pouring in. They came in small groups, in small groups, and it appeared doubtful if more than half the 30,000 seats would be filled.

At 3:20 p.m. the crowd had stopped coming, and the arena was apparently a little more than half full. The last preliminary was still running.

Peace Pact Before the German National Assembly To-morrow

Zurich, July 4.—The peace treaty will come before the German National Assembly at Weimar for ratification to-morrow, according to the Zurich Nouvelliste-Gazette. It is said the assembly probably will approve the treaty unconditionally.

GERMAN ASSEMBLY ADOPTS A NEW FLAG FOR GERMAN REPUBLIC

Copenhagen, July 3.—Via London, July 4.—The German National Assembly, according to Weimar dispatches, adopted new national colors and a commercial flag to-day.

Black, red and gold were made the national colors. The commercial flag approved is black, white and red with a black, red and gold jack in the upper left-hand corner.

SOVIETS CONTROL SOME ITALIAN TOWNS AFTER DISORDERS

Rome, July 4.—The Giornale d'Italia says: "Reports from Imola and other towns in the Romagna district of Central Italy say the relative calm has been restored, in a sense. The authorities have virtually handed over their administrative powers to Socialist, Syndicalist and Anarchistic organizations, which have taken control of the region as soviet."

Imola is 170 miles north-northwest of Rome, in the central part of the northern area of Italy.

LEGUIA IS CALLED PRESIDENT OF PERU

Two Regiments in Lima Make President Pardo a Prisoner

Lima, Peru, July 4.—Two regiments of the military and a force of police rushed on the palace at 3 o'clock this morning, and took prisoner President Augusto B. Leguia, President of the republic. Only a few shots were exchanged and there were no casualties.

Colonel Gerardo Alvarez and General A. Caceres, former President, were the leaders of the military movement.

A Presidential election was held in Peru last May, the result of which has been in dispute. Augusto B. Leguia, the Independent Party candidate, claimed election by a substantial majority. The claim, however, was disputed by Antonio Caspiaga, candidate of the Civil Party.

No Reports.—Washington, July 4.—No information of a revolutionary outbreak at Lima has been received since the State Department. The Legation received several communications to-day from Lima and as none from the Legation in that city, Legation officials said they strongly doubted that a revolutionary movement had been undertaken.

DEINKINE STATES FORCES ADVANCING

Cossack Leader Says His Army Moving Toward Heart of Russia

New York, July 4.—General Denikin, the Cossack leader, has issued a proclamation to his army announcing that Southern Russia has been freed from Bolsheviki and he is moving "toward the heart of Russia," according to a cablegram from Vladivostok to the director of the Russian Information Bureau in the United States.

The proclamation says that General Denikin has subordinated himself to "Admiral Kolchak as the supreme Governor of Russia."

To California.—San Diego, Cal., July 4.—Diplomats internationally known and engineers who have been studying transportation conditions in Russia and several Canadian, United States and French army officers were passengers on the steamship Nanking, which brought 1,100 wounded Czech-Slovak soldiers here yesterday from Vladivostok to recuperate at Camp Keene.

The liner also brought a $200,000 cargo of Russian sable furs, coffee and wool.

COST-OF-LIVING COMMITTEE NOW IS PREPARING REPORT

Ottawa, July 4.—The investigation by the Commons Cost-of-Living Committee is over for this session. The Committee is now deliberating upon a report which it is supposed to submit to the House.

Tanners were to have been here yesterday to give evidence, but they were unable to be present, and as there was doubt as to whether they could appear before the committee, it was decided to go no further in the matter.

John F. Reid, of Mackenzie, who was not present on Wednesday when the managing director of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company was examined, said he had seen in the press that Mr. Macfarlane, the managing director, had been asked to state how and among whom the five per cent. commission on the net profits of the concern were divided, but the committee did not press the matter to a conclusion. He asked why, if the report was correct, this had not been done.

G. B. Nicholson, the chairman, said he was not present, but he did find that J. L. Davis, of Neepawa, stated that he had come in late, but while he was

G. W. V. A. Wants Act to Apply to Returned Men in Cities

Vancouver, July 4.—Housing problems and the question of the treatment and disposition of the aliens in Canada were discussed at the session of the Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association here last night.

In connection with the former a resolution was presented recommending that the terms of loaning under the Soldiers' Settlement Act now applying only to farms should be extended to dwellers in towns and cities for the purpose of enabling them to improve existing homes of erected ones. The first clause of the resolution requested the Dominion Government to abandon its present housing scheme as "cumbersome, unpractical and undesirable."

Schemes Denounced.—Denunciation of the housing scheme was voiced by Comrade Martin Martinson, mover of the resolution, who declared that in Winnipeg it had been found as useless for housing the soldiers as the vacant lots around the city. It had been passed from the Government to the municipalities, which were practically unable to use it because it interfered with their borrowing powers.

Comrade Irwin, of Edmonton, declared that the scheme had simply resolved itself into a game of "passing the buck," while Comrade Law, of Winnipeg, stated that men who had lived in dugouts at the front did not want to come to live in dugouts here, which was about all the scheme provided for.

On motion of Comrade Dace, however, the clause asking for the abandonment of the housing scheme was struck out and the clause asking that the terms of the Soldiers' Settlement Act be extended to returned men in cities and towns was inserted in its place.

Alien Question.—The alien question proved highly contentious. When a series of resolutions dealing with aliens resident in Canada was moved by Comrade Allen Irwin, secretary of the Alien Investigation Board, there read a long statement setting forth the "Manitoba veterans' view on the question. He declared there were over 240,000 male enemy aliens in the Dominion over sixteen years of age, and of these 23,000 were in Manitoba, 24,000 of them being there in Canada but were undesirable.

Comrade Mansfield declared that he had come with a mandate to get the convention to stress the Dominion Government to take some action in the matter, or otherwise they would do so themselves. He said this because he had received a letter from Hon. Arthur Meighen in which the minister said he saw no reason for getting rid of the aliens.

No Subsidizing.—A resolution "that steps be taken to prevent the use of alien languages in the schools, pulpits and press throughout Canada" was referred back after considerable discussion. A resolution (Concluded on page 4.)

On board were 80 officers, 14 nurses and 2,353 other ranks. The only unit aboard was the 23rd Battalion, of Montreal. It returned under command of Major F. J. Delaune, of Ottawa. The remainder of the troops were made up of details from the various dispersal areas.

Olympic on Way.—London, July 4.—(Reuters).—The steamship Olympic sailed from Southampton yesterday, carrying to Halifax 118 officers, sixty-one nurses and 5,200 Canadian troops who are returning to their homes, and 200 civilian passengers and 754 bags of mail. Nearly all the troops assembled on the dock or in the rigging and it was an imposing sight as the band of the First Leinster played airs, many of which were sung by the soldiers and civilians. The Mayor of Southampton made a farewell address of thanks to the Canadians for their timely aid in the great war and wished them Godspeed.

BIG BRITISH AIRSHIP REACHES CONTINENT AFTER LONG VOYAGE

Reached Notre Dame Bay This Morning After Flying From East Fortune, Scotland; Is Expected to Reach New York To-morrow Morning

St. Johns, Nfld., July 4.—The British dirigible R-34 reached Notre Dame Bay at 6 a. m., it was announced, and was to pass over St. Johns at noon, when it would come sufficiently near the ground to be seen by citizens and drop a mail bag for the Governor.

The airship, it was said in earlier wireless advices, had been obliged to take a northerly track because of an atmospheric depression here due to a heavy rainstorm and a thick fog. The fog, it was believed, would lift by noon.

New York, July 4.—After reading Associated Press dispatches announcing the arrival of the British dirigible R-34 at Notre Dame Bay early to-day, Lieut.-Colonel F. W. Lucas, of the Royal Air Force, who has general supervision of the reception of the R-34, stated that the dirigible probably would reach New York early Saturday morning.

Lost in Fog.—St. Johns, Nfld., July 4.—At 6:30, Greenwich time, the British naval station here reported that the dirigible R-34 was lost in a dense fog north of Trinity Bay. The time of the arrival here of the dirigible was uncertain. The huge balloon was unable to reach Cape Race with its wireless but gave its position to the warship Cornwall in Buena Vista Bay, whence it was relayed to the wireless station here.

TROOPS LANDED BY SS. MAURETANIA

At Halifax; Massey, New Zealand, to Sail From This Coast

Halifax, July 4.—The Cunard liner Mauretania arrived here last night with nearly 4,000 returning troops, of whom about 1,200 were for Nova Scotia. The Mauretania was capt. by Sir Joseph Massey, Prime Minister of New Zealand, and his wife and family, and Sir Joseph Ward, Finance Minister of New Zealand. Mr. Massey was advised on board the Mauretania that the steamship he will take at Vancouver will sail on July 15.

Mr. Massey signed the peace treaty with Germany on behalf of New Zealand and immediately thereafter went by motor car from Versailles to Havre, where he boarded a British destroyer and speeded for Spithead, where the Mauretania was waiting for him, and on which Mrs. Massey and family had embarked at Southampton.

General Brutinel.—Among the distinguished officers aboard the Mauretania was Brig.-General Brutinel, who was in command of the Machine Gun Corps and was the originator of the motor machine gun idea which was adopted by the Allies.

Western officers who arrived on the ship were: Lieut. J. C. Armour and Capt. A. J. Duff, Edmonton; Lieut.-Col. M. A. Germain, Moose Jaw; Capt. G. A. Petrie, Vancouver; Capt. E. E. Rogers and Capt. F. R. Coy, Vancouver; Capt. R. Sargent and Lieut. G. A. Macdunn, Victoria.

43,565 CANADIANS STILL IN BRITAIN

Mewburn Says Demobilization Will Be Completed Early in August

Ottawa, July 4.—Major-General Mewburn announced in the House this morning that from the date of the signing of the armistice up to the end of June, 339,827 men had been demobilized.

There were still in England at a close estimate 43,565, included in which were 5,362 hospital cases. That number of 43,565 would have been reduced by at least another 20,000 had not been for the shipping strikes which had taken place on the other side. The demobilization was proceeding rapidly. It was expected that the demobilization would be completed early in August.

Ottawa Strikes.—Mr. McKenzie referred to press reports of an apparent deadlock between the Labor Department and the street car men on strike in Ottawa. He asked if it was correct that the demobilization of the board of conciliation had been suspended.

Sir Robert Borden: "While the board of conciliation was carrying on its investigations, the men went on strike."

A PEACE MEMENTO.—Paris, July 4.—The instrument used at the signing of the peace treaty with Germany was presented yesterday to the City of Versailles by Premier Clemenceau.

HORSE-RACING STILL BARRED IN CANADA

Ottawa, July 4.—In the Commons yesterday Mr. McKenzie, the Liberal Leader, referred to advertisements that horse-racing, with betting, was to be resumed in Canada on July 15. He asked if the Government had given its permission.

Sir Robert Borden replied that applications had been made to the Government for modification of the Order-in-Council prohibiting race-track betting. He personally had received a delegation on the subject. The applications had been considered and the delegates informed that no change could be made in the Order-in-Council.

OTTAWA HAS NOT FIXED WHEAT PRICE

Ottawa, July 4.—In the Commons yesterday A. B. McKeig asked if anything had been done in regard to fixing the price of wheat.

Sir Robert Borden replied that the Government had given a great deal of consideration to the question and to questions intimately associated with it. Up to the present time the Government had not reached the conclusion to fix a wheat price for this year.

VETERANS RE-ELECT PURNEY AS CHIEF

Halifax Man Dominion President of G. W. V. A. For Third Term.

Vancouver, July 4.—W. F. Purney, of Halifax, is beginning his third term as president of the Dominion Great War Veterans' Association. He was re-elected at the end of yesterday afternoon's session of the Dominion convention here.

Three other names were put before the convention yesterday for nomination—those of Comrade Stafford Toronto; Comrade E. E. Aikens, Montreal, and Comrade Maxwell, Winnipeg. All three asked permission to withdraw their names later in the day, stating that they had no desire to contest the re-election of Comrade Purney to the presidency. Comrade Purney was then declared elected.

The convention rose to its feet and cheered President Purney most enthusiastically. The president responded briefly.

No Party Affiliations.

The determination of the Association to keep clear of party affiliations was demonstrated yesterday when the delegates unanimously rejected an invitation from D. L. McKenzie, the Liberal Leader, to send delegates to the National Liberal Convention in Ottawa in August. There was very little discussion of the invitation, which was shelved with a resolution of the Association's constitution, showing its standing on such questions.

Questions of constitution and membership were debated. After several alternative proposals it was decided that the qualification for membership should remain as it is, namely, confined to those who went for service overseas.

A proposal that the membership be enlarged to include those who had joined up but had not left Canada found some support, but not sufficient to carry. Less support was given a proposal that a log and get up in the morning, like a log and get up in the morning, feeling fine and ready for a good day's work. That tired feeling has left me, and I have also gotten back my lost weight and strength. I don't believe there was ever anything in a drug store that can come up to Tanlac for stomach trouble and a run-down system. I have recommended it to a number of my friends, and I think everybody ought to know about it.

Constitution.

Comrade R. Calder, of Montreal, explained that the association at present was working under two constitutions, though they were practically identical. One of these had been drawn up when it was practically a voluntary body, and the second had been made necessary when it was incorporated under the Companies Act. A few alterations would bring one to the level of the other, and he moved that the Association adopt the latter constitution. This proposal was carried without discussion.

The same old sins and sinners occupy the stage of life, but they furnish a multitude of variety shows.

W. W. MARSHALL WAS ON VERGE OF GIVING UP, HE SAYS

So Run-Down He Could Hardly Keep Going—Gets Wonderful Results From Tanlac

W. W. Marshall, warehouse man for the Campbell Moving & Storage Company, living at 1537 Keefer Street, Vancouver, is still another who has caused to be glad he was induced by the high endorsements of Tanlac to give the medicine an honest trial.

"I have been in the worst kind of a fix for several months," said Mr. Marshall, while discussing his case with a Tanlac representative at the Owl Drug Store, recently, "but I have taken this medicine for a few weeks and the results have been wonderful. It is almost impossible for me to describe how badly I have suffered from indigestion. Soon after eating my stomach would get as sour as vinegar and the gas from it would rise up into my chest causing intense pain and such a beating and fluttering of my heart that I get right dizzy. I also had blinding headaches and my nerves were in such a fix that I could never get a good night's sleep. I would get up in the mornings all tired out and hardly had strength and energy to walk through the day. I was losing weight and getting weaker all the time and had gotten to where it was an effort for me to keep going."

"Really, I was right on the verge of giving up entirely when Tanlac came my way. As this medicine was being so highly recommended by the people of Vancouver I concluded to see if it would help me, and it certainly has put me perfectly, for I am never troubled any more with gas, palpitation or any other signs of indigestion. My headaches and nervousness have disappeared entirely. And sleep, why, I simply sleep like a log and get up in the morning feeling fine and ready for a good day's work. That tired feeling has left me, and I have also gotten back my lost weight and strength. I don't believe there was ever anything in a drug store that can come up to Tanlac for stomach trouble and a run-down system. I have recommended it to a number of my friends, and I think everybody ought to know about it."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas.

SPOKE OF TRIAL OF W. HONENZOLLERN

Lloyd George Dealt With Treaty in Speech in Commons

London, July 4.—Of the numerous statements made by Mr. Lloyd George during his speech in the Commons yesterday afternoon explaining the treaty with Germany, the announcement that the former German Kaiser would shortly be placed on trial before an Inter-Allied tribunal sitting in London was cheered the most. His presentation of the Anglo-French convention, providing for British aid if Germany should attack France unprovoked—a convention analogous to the one between the United States and France—was also greeted with unrestrained approval.

Discussing the plan to try the ex-Kaiser as the man held chiefly responsible for the war, he declared that if such a course had been followed after other wars "there would have been fewer wars." It was the intention to make such an example of Germany as to discourage others from "ever again attempting to repeat this infamy."

Two Bills.

The Prime Minister began by introducing two bills, one to ratify those parts of the general peace which in-clude the League of Nations, and particularly those which concern commercial and financial obligations, and the second to obtain approval for the separate treaty whereby Great Britain and the United States agree to protect France against unprovoked aggression by Germany.

League of Nations.

There was a significant passage when the Prime Minister first mentioned the League of Nations. Many of the members cheered, but seemingly nearly an equal number burst into laughter. "I beg of you to try it. I beg of you to try it seriously," the Prime Minister protested. Proceeding, he declared, "If it should save only one generation from the horrors of war it would be a great achievement."

One member shouted: Nobody wants it.

"Let us earnestly try it," exclaimed the Prime Minister. "Had it been in existence in 1914 it would have been difficult for Germany and Austria to make war, and if they had, the United States would have been in the first day of the war instead of two years after."

The Prime Minister argued that it would have been a mistake to let Germany into the League of Nations, for the League was not intended to be a permanent institution, but a temporary one to settle the date of her entry, by showing that the fire of war had purified her soul. The sooner she entered, the better it would be for Germany and the world.

Reparation.

Speaking of the reparation clauses of the treaty, Mr. Lloyd George said: "I do not think that anyone can claim that the terms imposed constitute an injustice to Germany, unless they believe justice in the war was on the side of Germany. Having regard to the uses Germany made of her army, there is no injustice in scattering and dismantling it. If the Allies had restored the colonies to Germany after the evidence of ill-treatment of the natives, and the part the natives have taken in their own liberation, it would have been a base betrayal."

"Then take the trial of those responsible for the war. If wars of this kind are to be prevented, those who have taken part in plotting and planning them, should be held personally responsible. Therefore, the Entente decided that the man who undoubtedly had the primary responsibility in the judgment of the Allies should be tried for the offences he committed in breaking treaties he was bound to honor, and by that means bringing on the war."

Trial in London.

"It was an exceptional course, and it's a pity it was, because if it had been done before there would have been fewer wars. The Allied countries unanimously decided that a tribunal—an inter-Allied one—should sit in London for the trial of the person chiefly responsible for the war."

"Those guilty of such outrages, he said, ought to be punished, for the officers should have known that they would be held personally responsible for offences against the laws of war."

Protection of France.

After referring to guarantees in the treaty, such as disarmament, which he declared should not be a "scrap of paper," the Prime Minister spoke of the bill dealing with the British and American guarantee in the event of an unprovoked attack on France, saying he did not suppose any section of the House would oppose that.

"It is entered into with the approval of the League of Nations," he asserted. "Within living memory France twice has been invaded by Germany. With her population of 40,000,000 facing a hostile population of 60,000,000 or 70,000,000, France had legitimate reason for feeling nervous apprehension as to the primary responsibility of the League of Nations. After all, the League would have no value

ALLIES ADVANCE IN NORTHERN RUSSIA

London, July 4.—The following communication was received from Archangel yesterday:

"On the right bank of the Dwina the Allied front has been advanced to the river Selmensa. On the left our troops occupied Yakovievskoe. Forest fires forced us temporarily to evacuate the front line on the railway (Volodga) front."

"In Murmansk the enemy's positions on the railway were assaulted and captured. The enemy retreated, burning the bridges. The enemy's losses on the Ithanga peninsula are reliably estimated at 600."

Copenhagen, July 3.—Via London, July 4.—Estonian warships have captured the fortress of Boldera, at the mouth of the Dwina (Southern) River, and have cleared the river of German-armed vessels as far as the Muchigrabe Canal.

An Estonian official statement containing this announcement says that four of the German vessels were destroyed.

The Estonian Press Bureau points out that this means that Riga is invested from the west as well as from the east and north, and that the cord on is tightening about the city.

London, July 4.—Ukrainian troops after a sanguinary battle, occupied Odessa, according to a Berlin wireless message. The Bolshevik force fled.

ROUMANIA RULES MUCH OF BESSARABIA

No Action by Council of Five on Dispute With Russia

Paris, July 4.—(Associated Press.)—It is considered unlikely the Council of Five will take any action concerning the dispute between Russia and Roumania, over Bessarabia, the greater portion of which Roumania has virtually annexed and is now administering.

The Russian Ambassador to France raised the question before the Council this afternoon. The Conference, who recognized by the Conference who have authority to make agreements respecting the disposition of Russian territory and members of the Council agreed that the Bessarabian question is in no way connected with the Austrian peace treaty or the peace negotiations, as Russia is not at war with the Allies.

The Roumanian Premier showed no disposition to submit the question of Bessarabia to a general vote in Bessarabia in from two to five years, as suggested by several members of the Conference.

MANY HONORED STEELE'S MEMORY

Remains of Late General Were Interred Yesterday at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, July 4.—No more impressive military funeral has ever been witnessed in Winnipeg than that of the late Major-General Sir Sam Steele, K. C. M. G., C. B., M. V. O., yesterday afternoon. Official representatives of the Dominion, the province, the city and numerous public organizations joined with the military in paying solemn tribute to the warrior whose death has been mourned on three continents.

The service began at All Saints' Church at 2.30 p. m. At its conclusion the casket was carried by the pallbearers between two lines of the firing party standing at attention with arms presented to the gun carriage. Six members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police acted as pallbearers, followed by six honorary pallbearers, Brigadier-General H. D. B. Ketchen, C.B., C.M.G.; Brigadier-General Hugh Dyer, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.; Brigadier-General H. M. Rutan, C.M.G.; Brigadier-General R. W. Patterson, C.M.G., D.S.O.; Brigadier-General J. A. Kirkcaldy, C.M.G., D.S.O., and Lieut.-Colonel J. R. Mitchell.

The family mourners, including Lady Steele, two daughters and Captain Harold Steele, followed the pallbearers. At the gate of the cemetery, the firing party again presented arms while the casket was carried through. During the interment the boom of guns came from a squad of the Light Battalion, C.F.A. Thirteen shells were fired at one-minute intervals. Three rounds were discharged over the grave by the firing party, and then came "Last Post," sounded by the buglers.

SAYS PAROLE SYSTEM WORKS SPLENDIDLY

Judge in Charge of Dominion Penitentiary Scheme Tells of Success

Winnipeg, July 4.—"There are so few cases of men breaking their parole that the prison parole system adopted throughout Canada has proved conclusively that it is a great redemptive force."

This is the opinion of Judge Archibald, of the Department of Justice, Ottawa, administrator of the Dominion parole system, who was in Winnipeg last night. Judge Archibald had returned from a visit of inspection to Stony Mountain Penitentiary, and late last evening left to visit penitentiaries farther west on the prairies and at the coast.

Judge Archibald said that of the 748 persons released on parole from the penitentiaries in Canada during the past fiscal year, only one-half of one per cent. had committed offenses. This was a remarkable showing, and entirely justified the adoption of the system by the Dominion.

During the twenty years in which the parole system had been in operation, 11,345 prisoners had been released conditionally. Of that number 10,434 had earned their full liberty, and 701 were

FORTY-THREE AT BUDAPEST EXECUTED BY THE COMMUNISTS

Vienna, July 3.—Via London, July 4.—The execution of forty youths of the Budapest Military Academy and three officers was ordered by the Hungarian Soviet Government as a reprisal against anti-Communists who attempted to seize the telephone and telegraph stations, and who bombarded Soviet headquarters, according to delayed dispatches from Budapest.

Bela Kun, head of the Communist Government, issued a proclamation that since proper appreciation had not been shown of the mild treatment of the past three months, "blood shall flow henceforth, if necessary, to insure the protection of the proletariat." Many were killed and wounded during the disorders, and a hundred of the counter-revolutionists were arrested. Three of the anti-Communist officers were executed. The disorders began June 24. Three monitors in the Danube River, whose officers and crews aided the counter-revolutionary forces, bombarded Soviet headquarters.

Fifty youths from the Military Academy, who held the central telegraph station, surrendered to the Government forces after the anti-Communist had failed to send aid. Forty of these youths were executed. Immense gallows were erected for the hangings.

Lieutenant-Colonel Romanelli, of Italy, the only Allied representative remaining there, wrote to Bela Kun that the Allies would not tolerate ruthlessness against hostages or anti-Communist prisoners. Bela Kun replied that the Soviet could not permit interference with its internal affairs. Colonel Romanelli protested against the hangings, but was unable to save the colleagues.

"So y'see," explained the bookie, "if the horse starts at twenty to one, you get twenty quid and your own back; ten to one, ten quid and your own back. Now y' understand?"

"Oh, yes," piped Clarence, "I quite see that; but supposing the horse starts at quarter to one, what do I get then?"

BOARD OF COMMERCE DEBATED AT OTTAWA

Cost of Living and Need of Lowering of Tariff Level

Ottawa, July 4.—Discussion of the bill to create a Board of Commerce occupied the House during the greater part of last evening's session, criticism of the bill being based largely on the ground that the cost of living should be handled through a reduction of the tariff. The point was raised, too, that the Board of Commerce and the Combinations and Fair Prices Bill relating to it, had been brought down too late in the session. Hon. W. S. Fielding took the view that if rushed through the Government would find them imperfect owing to lack of proper consideration. Mr. McColig, Kent, claimed that the bill had been in draft before the Cost-of-Living Committee was formed. He would have a public prosecutor. The record of the proposed Board Mr. McColig thought, would simply be a repetition of the Food Board.

Live Railway Board.
Hon. Arthur Meighen said the plan was to establish the Board along the lines of the Railway Commission. The powers would be parallel to those of the Railway Board. Instead of six members, however, as on the railway Commission, the Board of Commerce would consist of three. The purpose of the Board would be to administer the Combinations and Fair Prices Act, already before the House.

It was generally recognized that the Dominion authorities should do something to control what was commonly known as profiteering. The Board of Commerce would be empowered to lay down rules and principles in regard to combines, fair prices and other details. Violation of those rules, once they were made by order of the Board, would constitute an offence and be punishable.

Dr. Clark thought the way to deal with the cost of living was by reduction of the tariff. The United States had a Board of Commerce, but the cost of living had not been lowered in the United States on account of the Board of Commerce, but owing to its lower tariff. Under the Underwood tariff seventy per cent. of the goods entering the United States was free of duty.

The Finance Minister, said Dr. Clark, had told the people of Canada to practice thrift, but he was not profiting by his own advice. The Canadian tariff, he said, was a monstrosity when compared with that of the United States, and was responsible for a large part of the trouble now prevailing in the country.

H. H. Stevens stated that one of the main objects of the Board which the bill would create was to deal with the high cost of living. The whole country was crying out for action by the Government along this line.

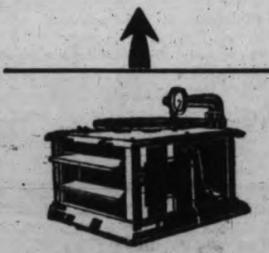

Combines at Work.
D. D. McKenzie, the Liberal Leader, said that the Opposition had been advocating a step similar to this ever since the beginning of the war. They had always been told, however, that nothing could be done. If the bill would help in lowering the cost of living and breaking existing combines it should be passed. There were combines at present in Canada fixing prices and legitimate competition was practically dead. He said he was in accord with the views expressed by Dr. Clark.

G. B. Nicholson, East Algoma, chairman of the Cost-of-Living Committee, argued that there was immediate need for the appointment of the Board. There was a cry for action from end to end of the country.

Liquor Question.
In an effort to reach an understanding on the question of prohibition, the House, on motion of Sir Robert Borden, sent a message to the Senate asking the upper House to agree to a conference.

Business Profits Tax.
Ottawa, July 4.—The new business profits tax bill of the Government was given third reading in the Senate yesterday.
Senator Power moved non-concurrence in the report of the Committee recommending the application for divorce by Margery Berridge Grey. Senator Power said that the evidence was insufficient. The Senate divided and voted to sustain the recommendation of the Committee that the divorce be granted.

THOSE RAIDS.

Obviously the suppression of revolutionary movements in Canada is the imperative duty of the Canadian Government, and the failure of the authorities of Ottawa to act sternly in that direction long before this has come in for much deserved criticism.

For example, the Mounted Police had no authority under the warrant exhibited by them to raid the premises of the Semi-Weekly Tribune or its editor.

The proper course for the authorities to pursue is to arrest those suspected of being associated with revolutionary movements and bring them to trial in the usual way.

THE SENATE OBDURATE.

The decision of the Senate to adhere to its original attitude regarding the bill to confirm the Orders-in-Council prohibiting the manufacture, importation and transportation of intoxicating liquors, finally disposes of that measure.

measure went back to the House of Commons for its ratification of the amendment made by the Senate and the Commons, of course, declined to ratify it.

Then, as always is the case when the two Houses come into conflict, a conference was held between them in the hope of finding a way out of the deadlock.

The Government may proceed under the Orders-in-Council, which the bill just disposed of was designed to confirm, but it clearly is doubtful of the constitutionality of such a course.

TO BE TRIED IN LONDON.

Mr. Lloyd George's announcement that William Hebenszelen will be tried before an international tribunal in London for a "supreme offence against humanity and international law" foreshadows the adoption of a striking departure from tradition and custom, and one which should be a warning that never will be forgotten by patentees in the future.

PRaise FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Even if some of the policies of the Provincial Department of Public Works have failed to meet with the approval of the Leader of the Opposition and his small band of followers in the Legislature, it is satisfactory to note that the engineering profession of Canada is of the opinion that British Columbia has done well in this and other departments during the past two and a half years.

Mr. Keith's own wide experience in the engineering world very naturally discourages a return to the old system of road foremen whose invariable qualification for appointment did not go beyond a particular political stripe.

THE VISITING VETERANS.

For the first time since its inception a Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada has taken place in British Columbia.

This particular event has given British Columbia a closer view of a vigorous body of returned Canadian citizens. Moreover, it is not difficult to realize that the Great War Veterans' Association can do much for the Canada of the future.

To-morrow morning the visiting delegates will arrive in Victoria to spend the day. It should be a unique event and one in which every Victorian ought to take a hand.

VOTE OF $50,000 FOR CANADIAN PRESS

Commons in Committee Approves Appropriation For Dominion-wide Service.

Ottawa, July 4.—An item of $50,000 for the Canadian Press, Ltd., was approved yesterday afternoon on the supplementary estimates.

Hon. R. L. Richardson, Springfields, Manitoba, agreed with Mr. Lemieux that newspaper proprietors should publish their names. As far as the subsidy to the Canadian Press went, he explained that for a great many years news furnished to Western papers had come through United States channels.

Sir Thomas White stated that in his view the grant had not the slightest influence on the attitude of newspapers. He doubted very much that they were receiving the grant at all.

The subsidy helped also to link up the Maritime Provinces with Ontario and Quebec. The grant had no influence whatever on the attitude of the papers and politics did not enter into the administration of news service.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the Government, in giving this subsidy was carrying out a policy begun by the party which he was a member of.

MEAT INVESTIGATION IS NOW PROCEEDING

Board of Trade Committee Is Inquiring of Prices in Vancouver and Seattle

Investigation of the meat prices in this city by a special committee of the Board of Trade has been started. This information was issued in reply to a question from C. T. Cross at the regular meeting of the Council of the Board this morning.

Last April at the annual meeting Mr. Cross introduced a motion which asked for an inquiry into the alleged discrimination in meat prices to the disadvantage of Victoria over adjacent cities.

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Board to be held next Friday afternoon the matter of the high cost of living will be dealt with in detail. A communication from Vancouver Board of Trade, which had been endorsed by over forty labor unions, was read this morning and referred to the general meeting, when it will be fully discussed and action taken.

was passed after amendment to the effect that "no steps shall be taken by the Government to subsidize immigration at any time." A resolution suggesting that in future more care should be exercised over immigrants coming into Canada, and that immigration from agricultural districts of the British Isles should be encouraged, was carried.

In addition to concurring with the principles of law and order, the minimum wage legislation, old age, illness and unemployment insurance, improved conditions for labor, proportional representation, restrictions upon immigration and naturalization of aliens, and equal opportunities for children, the convention passed the superannuation of the industrial committee disclaiming sympathy with the "factions controlled by extremists who strive by all means to overthrow British institutions and incessantly breed discord and advocate riot or revolution."

Other principles approved by the convention were public ownership of cold storage plants, the superannuation of a certain number of civil servants whose positions "could very easily be filled" by returned soldiers, and a longer period of training in the vocational training system, with proper qualified craftsmen in charge of every department.

A resolution was passed affirming "that steps should be taken at once to establish the Canadian air service under national ownership, control and operation, with the workers sharing in the management."

A resolution also was passed petitioning the Dominion Government "to appoint a permanent commission composed of representative producers, manufacturers and wage-earners and such experts as may be necessary to investigate and fix the cost of production, of manufacture, of transportation and sale of all the essential commodities of life, and to prepare a schedule of such costs, profits and wages for the sanction of Parliament, such schedule to be embodied in a statute with heavy penalties for the violation of same, this schedule to be revised from time to time, as changing conditions may warrant."

A resolution was passed following discussion of a report, which amongst other suggestions provides that returned men should be allowed to abandon homesteads which proved unprofitable and retain their homestead rights. Clause 3 of the resolution reads: "That all lands, patented or unpatented, held by undesirable aliens, Doukhobors, Hutterites, Menonites (and by 'undesirable' is meant alien of enemy origin, nationality or extraction) shall be declared settlement areas under the bill."

This resolution covers the field of land settlement for soldiers very exhaustively and asks that certain amendments be made in the Dominion Lands Act and homestead regulations, exactly defining what constitutes service in the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

The convention passed by a standing vote a resolution expressing to the nurses now in convention in Vancouver, the deep appreciation of the veterans of the service rendered to them by the nursing profession, adding that the nurses could always rely on the veterans for support if needed.

The election of officers, apart from the president of the first business of importance transacted at this forenoon's session of the Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association here, was made by the re-election of W. P. Purney, of Halifax, unanimous yesterday afternoon, but there were lively contests for the first and second vice-presidencies. The slate as completed, with the exception of two members of the Dominion executive, stands as follows: President, W. P. Purney, Halifax; first vice-president, E. E. Maxwell, Winnipeg; second vice-president, S. Talford, Toronto; Dominion executive—British Columbia: C. E. Doherty, New Westminster; Alberta: I. H. Edmondson, Saskatchewan: H. H. Bamford, Moose Jaw; Manitoba: G. W. Andrews, M. P. Winnipeg; Ontario—R. D. Ponton, Belleville; Nova Scotia—W. D. Tait, Halifax; Newfoundland—D. E. Palmer, Charlottetown.

Mr. Maxwell was declared elected by an overwhelming majority on the first ballot, five of the original eight candidates having withdrawn before the ballot was spread, leaving as his opponents only Comrades A. MacKenzie Forbes and R. L. L. Calder, both of Montreal. The popularity of the convention's choice was attested by the whole body of delegates rising to their feet, according him musical honors and giving three rousing cheers in a most uproarious fashion.

The delegates will be entertained at Victoria to-morrow by the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia and the Victoria branch. A special boat will leave here for the capital at 3.30 to-morrow morning and begin the return journey at 5.30 p. m.

Since that time we have been staunch advocates of the Edison and conscientiously recommended it to our patrons and the general public.

For twenty-five years it has been a pleasure to sell Edison Phonographs, because they give absolute satisfaction to our customers. Many of the old type Phonographs, with horns, sold by us twenty-five years ago are still in use.

Does Not This Mean Something to You?

BRIDGE PLAYER. S.P.C.A.

To the Editor: It is a long time since

I read a more interesting article in connection with animals than the finding of little Thelma Lang by the bloodhounds of Mr. Morrison, of the Provincial Jail. First, I want to offer my most hearty congratulations to the parents of little Thelma—but my main object in his writing is to call the attention of the public to the Society for prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

A story of such a find in forty minutes which human skill and diligence had failed to do in seventeen hours, and might never have accomplished, is surely sufficient evidence to bring from us all the love and kindness due the dumb creation.

Let this be an incentive to any man or woman who is applied to in behalf of our Society to give it who's hearty support, and assist our Inspector in his work of preventing cruelty. Sunday, July 13 has been appointed "Animal Sunday," when the duty of kindness is asked to be brought before our congregations and coming at this time. This great work of the above mentioned bloodhounds might well form the key which will open the flood-gates of kindness. We speak for those unable to speak for themselves.

A BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily and Jackie's Tail.

"Please, I want another drink of water."
"All right, Peetie, you shall have it," answered Mrs. Bow Wow, the dog lady. "But don't drink too much."
"Oh, but mother, I'm so hot! I have to drink water all the while, and I wish you would fan me. That makes me cooler!"

Mrs. Bow Wow took up the fan, made from a big green leaf from the grape vine, and, though her paw was quite tired from having fanned Peetie nearly all day, still she did not say anything. She waved the green leaf to and fro, and made a cool breeze for the little puppy dog who was ill.
"Peetie Bow Wow was quite ill. He was hot all over, and even his nose was hot, and when a dog's nose is hot and dry, instead of being moist and cool, you may know that dog is not feeling well."

Peetie Bow Wow had a fever, and all he cared about was drinking cool water and being fanned. Dr. Fossom said that was the best they could do, besides giving him a little grass medicine.
"Peetie will be better in a few days," said Dr. Fossom, "but, meanwhile, keep him as cool as you can."
"Fan me! Fan me!" barked Peetie, in a weak little voice, as he tossed on his straw bed in the kennel house.

And, though she was very tired, Mrs. Bow Wow waved the green leaf fan some more. Pretty soon Mr. Bow Wow came in, and then he was his turn to fan his little, ill puppy boy. But even Mr. Bow Wow's paw ached as it wove the big leaf to and fro.
"Oh, please keep on fanning me!" begged Peetie, when his father stopped for a moment.
"I was just changing paws," said Mr. Bow Wow. But finally he grew tired in both paws, and the fan went more and more slowly.

"Oh, I'm so hot!" half sobbed Peetie. "I'll call in Jackie and have him fan you," spoke Mrs. Bow Wow.
Peetie's brother Jackie was outside the kennel, playing with Willie Wag-tail, the goat chap. Jackie gladly left his play to come in and fan his little brother.
But even Jackie's paws grew tired, after half an hour or so, and the leaf fan went so slowly that Peetie cried: "Oh, make me cooler!"

"Now something must be done!" said Mr. Bow Wow. "We are all tired from fanning you so much, Peetie, but still we want you to be cool. I wish we had an electric fan, then we could all rest while the electric fan cooled you."
"Oh, I know what we can do," barked Jackie. "Uncle Wiggily Longears has an electric fan on his airship. It goes around whizzie-zizzie, and that fan will cool Peetie."
"Good!" exclaimed Mr. Bow Wow. "I'll go get Charlie Wiggily's electric fan!"

Over to the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow hurried Peetie's father. Uncle Wiggily was talking to Nurse Jane Fussy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper on the porch.
"Take my electric fan? Why, certainly!" said Mr. Longears. "But have you any electric wires in your kennel house, Mr. Bow Wow?"
"No," answered the dog gentleman, "we haven't."
"That's too bad," said Uncle Wiggily. "Then we cannot use my electric fan. But I'll come over and see if I can think of some other way of fanning Peetie and making him cool, without tiring you all. Ill come right over."
Uncle Wiggily hurried back to the kennel with Mr. Bow Wow. As they went in Mrs. Bow Wow was fanning Peetie very slowly, for she was very tired. Jackie was so glad to see Uncle Wiggily that he wagged his doggie tail as fast as an automobile. And as soon as Uncle Wiggily saw Jackie's fast-wagging tail, the rabbit gentleman exclaimed:
"Now I know what to do! Your tail never gets tired of wagging, does it, Jackie?"
"I could wag it all day long and all night, too, and never get tired," answered Jackie. "I was my tail almost without knowing it."
"That's what I thought," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Now we'll just fasten the grape vine leaf fan to Jackie's tail. He'll stand beside Peetie's bed, and as fast as Jackie wags his tail he'll fan Peetie's hot nose."
"Oh, that's fine!" he said. And soon he fell asleep. Jackie kept on wagging his fan-tail, and it did not tire him so much as it had done to use the fan in his paw. And the next day, after having been fanned all night by Jackie's tail, Peetie was much better. And wasn't the doggy smart to think of a tail-fan? I think so.

And if the horse chestnut tree doesn't run away with the pony cart when the rag doll is taking a ride in the cat's erandle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the wollypog.

HOME FOR GIRLS IS FORMALLY OPENED
Miss Crease Performed Function in Presence of Many Well Wishers

Yesterday afternoon a most enjoyable house warming was held at 1242 Fort Street, the premises of the Home for girls, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. This house on Fort Street will become the home of girls who are friendless, in need of the protection of a home; those who have been sick, or out of work, or for any reason unable to meet the expense of respectable board and lodging in this city.
It is to be distinctly understood that this home is not a charity, or an "institution." It is just an ordinary, every day home, where the girls will have every privilege belonging to a well ordered household. There will be accommodation for from eight to ten girls, with all facilities for sleeping, eating, washing, ironing, comfort and social intercourse. The house is neatly and comfortably furnished, and is furnished heated, with a fine basement fitted with laundry appliances.
As there must be a responsible head to any household, Miss Blackwood, who by inclination and experience is eminently fitted for it, will fill that position, having taken over her duties on Tuesday.

The girls who make this house their home will be charged according to their income, and it will be left to them to decide on a proper name for their habitation.
Mrs. Schofield, Miss Crease and Mrs. Williscroft were hostesses yesterday afternoon, tea was served and the visitors shown over the house.

Miss Crease, in welcoming the visitors, and formally opening the club spoke briefly of the necessity in Victoria for a home for girls whose limited purses and need of protection forbade the ordinary boarding house or private room life, often with meals outside.

Amongst many prominent women present were Mrs. Spofford, Mrs. R. S. Day, Mrs. Gavin Burns, Mrs. Capt. Grant, Mrs. Major Beison, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Hiscocks, Mrs. Ritsdale, Miss Wark, Mrs. McIvor, Toronto; Mrs. W. K. Jackson, Toronto, and Mrs. Sidney Houlton, Calgary.

The event took the form of a tea and miscellaneous "showers," and many visitors, including members of the council and interested friends—called during the afternoon to leave their contributions towards the furnishings of the new club, which has been instituted to fill a long-felt want.

The tea arrangements were directed by a committee, comprising Mrs. H. B. Robinson, Miss Gregg and Miss Eagles. The proceeds from the garden party held recently at Government House under the convenerhip of the Catholic Ladies' Aid, amounting to $356.73, will be used principally for the maintenance of the club house.

Don't think that a bluff is a good substitute for an education.

HE SOLD IT.
Many rude persons referred to it as a bladder of lard. Certainly hair was scarce on Mr. Wearwig's head, but that was no reason why people should be insulting over it. At length the gibes he received became so unbearable that he hid himself to a hair-restorer's establishment.
The counter, unlike Mr. Wearwig's head, was literally covered before he was finally satisfied. He was on the point of leaving the shop when he turned round and subjected the shop- assistant to a careful scrutiny.
"Oh, by the way," he exclaimed, "if this preparation is what you say it is, why, in the name of all that's wonder- ful, don't you use it yourself? You can't say you possess a head of bushy hair, can you, now?"
"Well, you see, sir, that privilege is denied me. I misn't, on my account, use that preparation for, you see, I'm the Before Using assistant. The After Using assistant is now having his lunch. Therefore, thoroughly to appreciate the value of this commendable hair restorer you should see him, sir!"

FAT FEES.
Law is a costly luxury. And well it might be, for the finest profession from a money making point of view is the law. In a recent case Sir Edward Carson and Sir John Simon had a trifling fee of five thousand guinees on their briefs, each being assisted by a small army of juniors, who were paid in proportion. There are a round dozen leading lawyers who will not read a brief without a preliminary fee of one thousand guinees, while a leader of minor eminence how expects one hun- dred guinees a day as a refresher.
The Bar is the strongest trade union in the country. It has forced legal incomes up by leaps and bounds, as may be gathered from the fact that Jessel, the one-time Master of the Rolls, looked upon twenty-five guinees a year as something exceptional, while Edwin James, chronicled as ex- traordinary two hundred guinees on a brief when he was the leading Queen's Counsel.
The biggest fees on record were those of ten thousand guinees which Ser- jeant Ballantine and Mr. Baillour Brown, K.C., each received for con- ducting cases abroad. And yet Ballan- tine only made four and a half guinees during his first year at the Bar, thirty guinees in the second, and seventy- five in the third.
Lord Birkenhead and Lord Reading have each made enormous fortunes at the Bar. The former, it is said, made a sacrifice of £10,000 a year when he became Lord Chancellor. And when he gets "the sack" a grateful country will give him an out-of-work pension of £2,000 a year. Which calls to mind the fact that Lord Halsbury, now in his ninety-fourth year, has drawn more public money than any living subject of the Crown. His modest earnings have been roughly £170,000 as Lord Chancellor for seventeen years, and £20,000 as ex-Chancellor for sixteen years—a total of £250,000.—Tit-Bits.

SEAWEED AS CATTLE FOOD.
Investigations of seaweed with cer- tain species as food for cattle have recently been carried on at the Royal Agricultural Station for the Control of Cattle Food at Wageningen, Holland, says the Scientific American. The gen- eral conclusion reached is that, in the absence of other roughages, seaweeds may be fed to cattle when the sodium chloride has been sufficiently removed. In Ireland, Scotland, and the Faroe Islands dried seaweed is used as a winter feed for cattle and horses. In southern Sweden it is fed to swine. In Germany, during the war, special in- structions were issued concerning the gathering and preparation of seaweed for use as fodder. The weed was to be spread out so that the rain could wash out the sodium chloride; then dried and baled in a press.

GARDEN FETE AND CONCERT PROVIDE NOVEL ATTRACTIONS

Elaborate Plans Made For Gala Day by Ladies' Musical Club

An afternoon in the out-of-doors under the most delightful of conditions is the least attraction which will be offered to the one who sets aside tomorrow afternoon, to attend the garden party and concert arranged by the enthusiastic members of the Victoria Ladies' Musical Club. The beautiful grounds of Mr. and Miss Agnew,—"Schuhum"—1322 Rockland Avenue, at present abloom with the choicest flowers of the season, will be an appropriate setting for the various features of the entertainment provided.

Heavy Season's Losses. As many know it necessary for some such endeavor on the part of the Musical Club was made by the losses incurred during the past season in concerts which, unfortunately, were not patronized sufficiently well to make it possible to pay the expenses of them. That the public generally was not alive to the advantages given to them in thus making possible the appearance of these world wide musical figures is in a sense deplorable, and any criticism that was made of the action of the Musical Club for their better music for the city, to their subsequent loss, falls flat on the ears of those who realize what splendid courage they showed. Now, with a large debt hanging over them, they are handling the situation in a heroic manner, and, by the presentation of this out-door entertainment, are giving the people of Victoria another chance to show their appreciation of the work of the Musical Club.

The Principals. The fete will open at 2.00 and continue until 6.00. The concert, which will take place on the tennis lawn, is under the management of Mrs. D. B. McConnan and Miss Delise Harris, and will have some especially fine features. Miss Maude Scruby, the gifted violinist, has graciously given her assistance and will play several solos. The Red Cross Orchestra will play a number of selections, and the pierrot show will afford much amusement.

During the afternoon, tables for bridge and five hundred will be in readiness indoors, and this part of the entertainment will be under the management of Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Love and Mrs. Hoard. For the devotees of the card table, tea will be served in the dining room at the house, while those who prefer to remain outdoors will have dainty refreshments served after the concert by Mrs. Richard Nash, President of the club, assisted by Mesdames Gideon Hicks, R. Bristol Bennet and Hamlet.

A Surprise Tent. Dotted here and there throughout the grounds, stalls of all kinds have been arranged. The Turkish "Surprise" tent, presided over by Miss Agnew and Miss Macdonald, will prove a veritable surprise to those who visit it. The fittings will be Turkish in character and the attendants will be garbed accordingly. Here Turkish coffee and Turkish delight and a real Turkish fortune teller will be the main drawing cards. Nor will it be necessary to have one's fortune told here for, in secluded but accessible spots there will be three other witches of the cards and teacups.

The culinary department of the home has been thought of, and in the home-cooking booth, Mrs. J. O. Cameron and her assistants will dispose of really home-made jams, cakes, biscuits and bread. The candy stall will be full of delicious confections—with Mrs. E. H. Griffith and Mrs. Ernest Miller in charge. In the ice cream stall, where the choice will run from intricate sundae-down to cones for the children, Mrs. Umbach will preside. In connection with that, there will be a butterfly stall for the children where the little ones will have an opportunity to demonstrate their art by painting butterflies. The "Flower Stall" charming with the beauties of the garden will be cared for by Mrs. Macdonald Fahey and her assistants. The approach to the grounds may be made by car either at Craigdarroch Road or, Moss Street.

DELIGHTFUL GARDEN FETE AT ST. GEORGE'S

Women's Auxiliary of Army and Navy Veterans Stage Attractive Affair

The beautiful grounds of the St. George's School yesterday afternoon formed the setting for a delightful garden party held by the Women's Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Veterans. Large numbers of people enjoyed the varied attractions offered, and while they have not yet been able to estimate their profits, the ladies are confident that a round sum was added to their funds.

The grounds were delightfully decorated with flags and banners by Mrs. Spavan, while stalls dotted it here and there. Captain Martin, R.N., formerly declared the affair open. Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, President, and Mrs. F. M. Wood, Convenor, Missin and Sennott accompanied Captain Martin at the opening. A stream of people passed in the big gate, which was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Watson in the afternoon, and Major Routinson during the evening.

The stalls, which were set out in the big field beyond the tennis court offered for sale delicacies of all sorts. The musical stall, supervised by Mrs. Seymour Green, Mrs. Clark, and Mrs. Eilers dispensed ready-made parcels in which the purchaser found many unexpected but useful things. Home made candy was sold by Mrs. Wardour and Mrs. Wright, while Mrs. Clarkson and Mrs. McVie had no difficulty in selling the contents of their groceries booth, which was filled with goods mostly donated. The home-made cooking stall, conducted by Mrs. Trickett and Mrs. Phillips, was also a mecca for many visitors. Fancy work, sold by Mesdames Henry, Slavin and Sennott was disposed of early in the day. Young and old partook of in copious quantities of ice cream sold by Mesdames McDonagh, Wright and Robson. A fortune telling booth, in charge of Mrs. Randall, also did a rushing business.

Tea tables were set on the front lawn, under the direction of Mrs. Chapman, convenor of the refreshment committee, and Mrs. Speasen, convenor of the afternoon tea arrangements. Assisting them were Mesdames Stockman, Williams and Ogden. A notable gathering of artists for the entertainments in the afternoon and evening had been brought together by Mrs. Rickdale. Accompanied by Mrs. Warn, Miss Edwards delighted the visitors with songs while the graceful dances by Queenie Ball, Berenice Ruddock and Mamie Ruddock were a great attraction.

In the evening a more elaborate concert programme was rendered in the big school room by Mrs. Gould, Miss Taylor, Miss Palmer, Miss Ruddock and Messrs. Hawker and Rylands. The accompanists were Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Wainwright. Ridgway supplied the music for dancing.

CAPT. GEORGE BLACK

turned there as Commissioner for the Yukon.

KAISER'S ART TREASURES.

The former German Emperor owned hundreds of paintings, coming from the brushes of the world's greatest masters, which hang upon the walls of the sixty-five palaces that belonged to him. What will become of these masterpieces? There is a possibility of the pictures coming into the open market, the new democracy in Germany feeling that one of the first sources of revenue to meet the financial claims of the Allies may well come from the properties of the Hohenzollerns, the nobility and the Junkers.

Included in Wilhelm's collection are no fewer than anniteen, undoubtedly genuine works by Rubens, acknowledged as the greatest of Flemish painters. £500,000 would not purchase these pictures under ordinary conditions, indeed their price might well run to nearer £1,000,000, for among them is that wonderful "Holy Family," now in the Palace of Sans Souci, near Berlin, also "Mars and Venus," hanging on the walls at Koenigsberg.

All of his galleries are rich in examples of the French Romantic school, many of these works having been collected by Frederick the Great, who was no deep a lover of everything French, from art to philosophy. There are at least fifty of the finest of this French school, and their price might run to almost any figure. Some rare examples of the older German art and mosaic of the Netherlands and Italian masters fill out the spaces on the walls of the many palaces. It may be that out of the downfall of the Emperor will come another great boon to mankind, in that pictures which none save a favored few have been able to admire and study will now be given to the world.—Tit-Bits.

YUKON COMMISSIONER RETURNING FROM WAR

Capt. Black, Who Organized Yukon Machine-Gunners, Expected Next Week

After several years' service with the Machine Gun Corps, Capt. George Black, formerly Commissioner of the Yukon, is returning with a party of Canadian on the Coronis. Captain Black is expected to arrive here next week and after a short holiday will return to the Yukon.

Captain Black brought a party of machine gunners from the Yukon to Victoria late in 1916 and trained at the Willows camp, departing for overseas early the following year. On reaching England the party was absorbed into the Fifth Division and remained in training with that unit until it was broken up in January, 1918, and sent to France.

Captain Black was wounded on August 15 last during the offensive in front of Amiens. At that time he was in command of "C" Battery, of the 2nd Canadian Motor Machine Gun Brigade.

Captain Black was born in New Brunswick, fifty-six years ago and went to the Klondyke in 1898. Following a few years among the "pay dirt" he practiced law in Dawson and entered political life. For nine years he was a member of the council there and in 1910 came south to Vancouver to practice and a year later he re-

Raspberry pickers are urgently wanted in the Mission-Hatzic area, Lower Fraser Valley. Two hundred can be accommodated from the Island at once, and registration should be made at the Government Labor Bureau to Miss Marlett.

Those who have picked berries in that section are naturally anxious with regard to the mosquitoes, and the assurance comes that there are fewer insects this season than usually, owing to the low spring water.

Raspberries—70 cents per crate, with 15 cents bonus, for fresh fruit; 4 cents per crate with 1 cent bonus, for jam fruit.

Black currants—60 cents per crate, with 15 cents bonus, for fresh fruit; 4 cents per crate with 1 cent bonus, for jam fruit.

Loganberries—40 cents a crate, with 5 cents bonus, for fresh fruit; 2 cents per crate with half cent bonus, for jam fruit.

PARTY OF VETERANS ARRIVES TO-MORROW

About 700 Delegates to G. W. V. A. Convention Will Be Well Entertained While Here

In order to see Victoria, the city which they have heard so much about, about 700 delegates to the Dominion Convention of the Great War Veterans' Association which has been in progress in Vancouver for several days this week, will arrive here about 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon on a special steamer from the Mainland.

The local G.W.V.A. branch is making active arrangements to entertain the large party in a most fitting manner. At the boat they will be met by Major-General Leckie, G.O.C., and Capt. Martin, R.N., and a large party of local veterans. The delegates will immediately proceed to the Empress Hotel, where they will lunch. All members of the Women's Auxiliary are asked to meet at the wharf at 12.15. Banner bearers are requested to be at the rooms at 12 o'clock.

Later the party will be taken for a drive around the city. A reception has been arranged at Government House and about 3 o'clock the numerous delegates will gather in the palatial gardens to be welcomed by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Barnard, Premier Oliver and members of the Cabinet, as well as Mayor Porter and the aldermen, who will be present and assist in welcoming the delegates.

It is not known at present when the party will return to the Mainland. They may remain over until Sunday, in which event the local veterans are quite ready to extend them further hospitality.

This will be one of the largest parties to visit Victoria for a number of years. The delegates are from all parts of Canada and most of them are on their first trip beyond the Rockies.

The newly married couple will make their home in Victoria.

CIVIL SERVANTS WANT THE BONUS INCREASED

Desire Statement From Provincial Secretary to Put Before Convention

Further discussion of their claims for an increased bonus took place at a meeting of the Provincial Civil Servants held at the Belmont Building last night under the chairmanship of A. Manson. Mr. McKenzié presented to the civil servants a report of the interview with the Civil Service Commissioner, and it was announced that little hope was held out to them of an increased bonus being granted.

The following resolution, proposed by G. Vallance and seconded by Mr. Smith was carried unanimously: "This meeting is interested to hear indirectly of the action of the Deputy Ministers in presenting the claims of the service for an increased bonus, and desires to go on record as appreciating their efforts to impress on the Provincial Executive the inadequacy of the present bonus, and in view of this action by the Deputy Ministers, the Association requests the Presidents of the Province and Victoria Associations (Messrs. McKenzié and McNeill) to wait upon the Provincial Secretary and obtain an official statement in time to lay before the annual convention in Vancouver on July 25."

Association Growing.

Secretary G. Pilmer reported that the membership of the Association had now reached 415. A branch of the Provincial Civil Service Association had just been formed at Prince George, competing for the organization all over the Province.

TO CLOSE DISPERSAL STATION AT WILLOWS

Military Consider Work Has Now Been Practically Accomplished

U Dispersal Station at the Willows Camp will be closed to-morrow. Announcement to this effect was made to-day, and the reason assigned is that the duties for which the camp was established have been accomplished, as demobilization has almost finished so far as the Island returns men are concerned. The Revelstoke sub-station has already been closed. In future men to be demobilized for the Island points will receive their discharge at Hastings Park, Vancouver.

The sub-depot work which deals with casualties will be done in future from Work Point Barracks. It is stated that the officers engaged at the dispersal station will all now be absorbed in civil life.

WILL INVESTIGATE BURNING QUESTION

University Committee Will Be Urged to Extend College Course Here

To consider the reasons why such an extraordinarily small number of Victoria students attend the British Columbia University, which is supposed to meet the needs of the whole Province, a committee of the University Senate will meet the principals of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt High Schools on Monday night.

The Senate Committee will consist of Professor Killam, William Burns, Registrar Paterson, of the University, and E. B. Paul, Municipal Inspector. Representatives of the School Board will also be present to present a resolution urging the extension of the present college course at the High School from one to two years. Delegates from various public bodies, such as the Canadian Club, the Rotary Club, and the Board of Trade will support these contentions. The meeting, which will be public, will be held in the School Board offices at 8 o'clock.

DANCE AND BANQUET

Timber Wolves Plan to Hold Two Re-unions Affairs, One on July 16 and Other on July 23.

Arrangements are now being made by the 102nd Timber Wolves Association to hold a re-union dance in the Alexandra Club on July 16, commencing at 8.30 o'clock. Heaton's orchestra has been engaged and a thoroughly enjoyable time is anticipated.

On July 23 the Timber Wolves will hold their grand re-union banquet in the Dominion Hotel. Most of the former 102nd Battalion boys are home and it is expected that both re-union affairs will be largely patronized. The Timber Wolves Association now has a membership of about 200 and is one of the strongest organizations of its kind in this city.

BANTAM OFFICER HOME

Capt. W. J. Cox Has Returned From Three Years Overseas.

Capt. W. J. Cox, who recently returned to Victoria, took an active part in the organization of the 143rd Battalion. After serving with the Western Scots, Capt. Cox returned to help in raising the battalion which had a splendid record and received great praise from the military head overseas. On reaching England the Battalion was sent to Purfleet Camp as Railway Troop but only 150 men were transferred to the Railway Corps, the balance of some 800, being transferred to the Infantry, and sent to Seaford Camp, reinforcing the 47th Battalion in France. Captain Cox was afterwards appointed to the Forestry Corps as District Quartermaster in the Haute Marne Section.

Finer for Speeding.—For speeding on Quadra Street, Peter McCarter was fined $10 in the Police Court this morning.

Liquor Confiscated.—Six bottles of whisky were this morning declared confiscated by Magistrate Jay in the Police Court. It appears that a Chinaman was carrying the whisky in a satchel and, seeing a police officer approach, made his get-away without the bottled goods.

Passes Examinations.—Omitted from the list of High School students who will be promoted from the first to the second year, is the name of William Henderson, who secured 87 1/2 marks.

Bishop of Columbia's Message.—Instructions have been issued by the Bishop of Columbia to his clergy in the diocese to make special reference to the Peace, at the Thanksgiving services on Sunday. Special prayers will be offered.

Two lacrosse teams more evenly matched than the Victoria (Foundation) and Vancouver (V.A.C.) teams would be hard to find anywhere in Canada. Last Saturday's game at Vancouver, in which the local boys succeeded in winning after the hardest kind of a battle, was the finest exhibition of amateur lacrosse ever staged in the West. Old Vancouver fans were positive as to this, and congratulated the Capital City on fielding a team as strong as Ed. Eyrnjolfsson's stick-handlers had further hoped that Victoria would continue to support the game in the future as splendidly as it had done in the past.

Saturday's Game.
In Saturday's game at Vancouver there was not a slow moment during the entire four periods, with the rubber continually battering either one goal or the other. The fine combination work of both teams was an outstanding feature of the contest, and the fact that but two penalties were handed out proves that the game was remarkably free from vicious checking.
To-morrow's game will undoubtedly be as fast, for the local boys are determined to keep in shape for the season, and the Mann Cup, for the first time in its history, will make its home in Victoria, for a time at least. Those who expect to see lacrosse of a high grade are looking for the support of all the fans in the city at to-morrow's game.

SPEED MEN OUT FOR THE AMERICAN TITLE

De Palma Will Try to Reverse Indianapolis Decision Over Wilcox

New York, July 4.—The 100-mile Independence Day automobile derby was the feature of to-day's card at the Sheepshead Bay speedway with the special match race between Ralph de Palma and "Howdy" Wilcox as an added attraction. Wilcox beat de Palma in the $50,000 race at Indianapolis on May 31 and the latter was confident that he could reverse that defeat to-day in the three ten-mile heat match for the American championship. Fourteen drivers were entered in the big event.

Tacoma Races.
Tacoma, July 4.—Five well-known automobile drivers are to compete on the Tacoma Speedway this afternoon for a prize of $15,000 in three short races designed to bring out the greatest possible speed from the cars entered. The races this year are an innovation from the 300 and 500-mile events of the past. To-day's events comprise forty, sixty and eighty-mile contests.

OLD COUNTRY CRICKET.

London, July 3.—The cricket match between Lancashire and Surrey was drawn. Lancashire made 243 in the first innings and 159 for five wickets in the second. Surrey made 318, Hobbs scoring 100.
The Yorkshire and Kent game was also drawn.

Miss Cotsworth, one of the surprises in the tournament, has by consistent strong play reached the semi-finals of the singles, defeating Miss Taylor both —15. Wyles and Blake again made progress, reaching the semi-finals of the men's doubles by defeating Major Taylor and Westwood.

TORONTO REGATTA HELD AFTER SEVERAL YEARS

Toronto, July 3.—Canada's greatest annual aquatic carnival, the Dominion Day regatta, was resumed here after a lapse of several years owing to the war.
Johnny Durman, son of Edward Durman, the latter professional champion of the United States and Canada, made his debut and won the junior sculling event from Carter and Moran, who, rowing double, had previously beaten Durman and Atwood.
The seniors' event was an easy win for Lieut. "Bob" Dibble, of the Dons, former holder of the Canadian and American amateur championship.

Get Soiled First

EVERYONE knows that the cuffs are the most exposed portions of the shirt. They get soiled first.

If you turn the cuffs you can wear the shirt a day or two longer before sending it to the laundry.

But if you turn an ordinary cuff it bulges and looks unsightly. You wouldn't be seen with it.

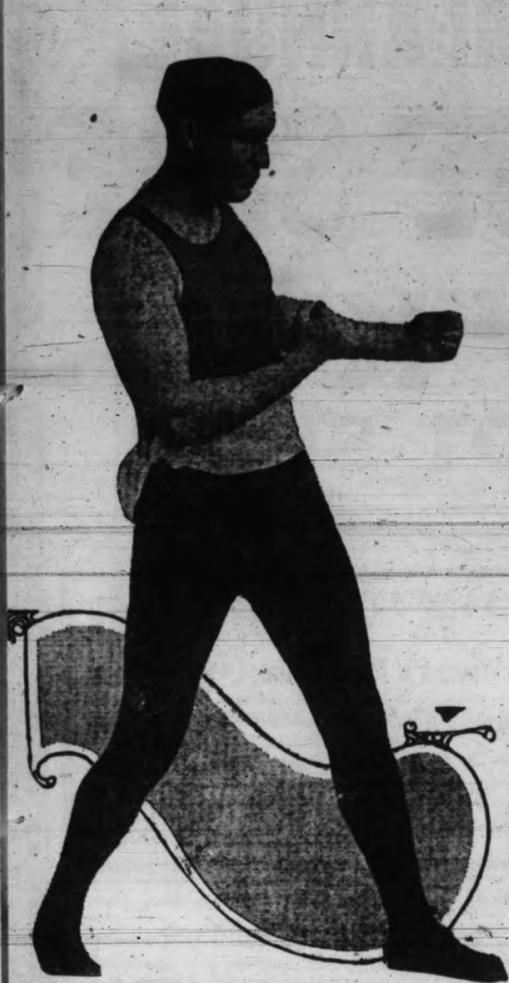

The new "Double Wear Cuff" is different. It folds just as neat and flat when turned in as when turned out. Your friends cannot tell which side is turned out.

One trip to the laundry is harder on a shirt than two days' wear. Every time you turn your cuffs you save laundry money and get more wear out of the shirt. Get the habit—turn your cuffs—it pays.

ALL TOLEDO TO-DAY ON EDGE FOR BATTLE

Fighters Awoke This Morning Ready and Fit For the Big Clash

Toledo, O., July 4.—Everybody had a bed last night, it was said, largely for the reason that every Toledoan who could, went into the lodging house business for the occasion.

In the arena carpenters were still busy putting on the final touches to the vast amphitheatre with its 30,000 seats. Every row leading into the city saw automobiles bringing their loads of fight enthusiasts from nearby cities and from a distance.

Willard remained favorite in the betting. One man paraded the streets with a sign on his automobile; "I will bet this machine against $1,000 on Dempsey."

The original hour for the championship fight to begin, namely, 3 p. m., remains unchanged, but promoters and managers all have agreed that on account of announcements and other delays it probably will be 3.30 before the bout begins.

The crowd gathered slowly to-day for the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship twelve-round contest.

Her Fault. Jones was one of those men who grumble at everything and everybody. He was once attacked by inflammatory rheumatism, and was carefully nursed by his wife, who was devoted to him, in spite of his fault-finding disposition.

QUARTER OF CANADA IS STILL UNEXPLORED SAYS CHAS. CAMSELL

Few people realize that about one-quarter of the area of Canada is unexplored. This is the estimate of Charles Camsell, director in British Columbia of the Geological Survey for Canada, in an article in the May issue of Mining and Engineering Record, on Canada's Unexplored Territory. He says in part: "In 1908 Dr. George Dawson made an estimate of the area of unexplored territory in Canada, exclusive of the islands of the Arctic. His results were obtained in this way. All lines along which reasonably satisfactory exploration had been made gave a width of fifty miles, that is to say he assumed that the explorer learned something of the country twenty-five miles on either side of his route.

Recently I had occasion to revise this estimate, but believing that the fifty-mile strip was too wide, I took a strip fifteen miles on either side of the explorer's route; and reduced the explored lines to a width of thirty miles, which, I think, is quite enough. The result is that I find in Western Canada there are areas aggregating 460,000 square miles in extent which must still be considered as unexplored, while in Northern Ontario and Quebec there are about 240,000 square miles more, making an aggregate of 700,000 square miles in all Canada.

Comparing the present unexplored area with the total area of Canada, which is computed at 3,470,257 square miles, we see that the unexplored territory covers over one-quarter of that area. Of course it would not be correct to say that no traveller has ever penetrated any of these areas. For that is only true of some of them. But even when travellers have appeared in the region of unexplored territory they have made no reasonably accurate sketches or left written records of the geography, life or general character of the region traversed.

Area of Unexplored Territory in North-Western Canada, Exclusive of the Arctic Islands. Table listing areas like North of Porcupine River, Hudson Bay, etc. with square mile measurements.

In commenting upon the area of unexplored territory that we had within the borders of the Dominion, Dawson remarked that it might be considered a reproach upon Canadians as indicating a lack of justifiable curiosity on what our country contains. That reproach still remains an-undue and will continue so long as such a large proportion of our country remains unexplored.

WITHIN THE EMPIRE Scope for Settlement in Canada

The urgent necessity of confining migration in the future as much as possible within the Empire, to which allusion has been made lately in The Times, and the unfavorable conditions of the labor market in the United States so far as immigrants are concerned, described in an article printed yesterday, were discussed in conversation with a representative of The Times yesterday by the Hon. F. C. Wade, K. C., Agent-General for British Columbia, says The London Times.

Since the opening of Manitoba in the early eighties, followed by Saskatchewan and Alberta, and now being followed by the settlement of the Mackenzie River country and the Great Peace River country, he said, Canada finds that she has at her disposal whole empires of which she knew nothing before. The Western plateau alone presents a wheat field 1,200 miles long and 600 miles broad, and ordinary cereals grow successfully as far north as Fort Macpherson, formerly regarded as part of the American continent.

There is still bound to be a certain amount of exodus from Canada southwards, but there has for a long time been a very distinct "trend" of Americans to Canada. Of 76,000 immigrants who entered Canada during the war, 70,000 came from the United States, 8,000 from the British Isles, and 4,000 from other countries.

A Great Step Forward. The policy which the representatives of the Dominion and of the various Canadian Provinces and Australian states have been discussing with Lord Milner and Colonel Meyer for several months past on Lord Milner's Overseas Settlement Committee, said Mr. Wade, "is a great step forward. The Government now propose to allow ex-service men and women their choice of settlement in any part of the Empire, and to pay the cost of transferring them with their household goods to new homes overseas. Not a penny, however, is to be allowed to help to transfer anyone to any point outside the Empire. This most distinctly is a great step in advance. Mr. Lloyd George promises to make the United Kingdom a fit place for heroes to live in. It is part of the same policy, I take it, to find homes and larger scope for the heroes who wish to join their brothers and sisters in the Dominions. The Empire will not receive its proper development by improving conditions within the small compass of the British Isles. Clearly the best way to improve the conditions of the people is to find homes for them in Canada which claims the twentieth century for her own, and in Australia."

tralia, New Zealand, South Africa and other portions of the Empire."

It is very difficult to estimate what the flow of settlers to the Dominions is likely to be now that the war is over. For the next twelve months at any rate, there will be no ships available to carry any great volume of migration, and the Dominions themselves are not likely to be prepared to absorb many settlers until they have resettled their own fighting men. Before the war, the outflow, roughly speaking, was about a quarter of a million per annum. For four years that outflow stopped. It might therefore be supposed that there are about one million people awaiting the opportunity to go to the Dominions. But, as an official of the Overseas Settlement Office points out, this by no means follows. The war has completely revolutionized conditions. Industrial wages in this country are very much higher than they ever were before. The immigrants whom the Dominions most desire—namely, agricultural laborers and domestic servants—are just the ones whom this country cannot supply in any very great numbers at present. There is undoubtedly a widespread desire to go to the Dominions. This appears to be chiefly due to the large amount of information, some of it accurate and some of it rather fanciful, concerning them which people have gained from thousands of Dominion soldiers in this country during the last two or three years. No doubt, if ships in plenty were available at once to convey would-be settlers to the Dominions, there would be a very large outflow, but whether the desire to emigrate to anything like the same extent will survive twelve or eighteen months hence is another question altogether. Several experts believe that it will not. "It is a thousand pities," said the secretary of one state government in London yesterday, "that we cannot take advantage of the feeling at the present moment. We badly need population. It is badly needed all over the outer Empire, and this problem of how adequately to populate our Dominions transcends, to my mind, all other Imperial problems in its importance and urgency."

Week-Old Corns Should Be Unthinkable

These positive facts are now known to millions. The pain of a corn can be instantly stopped, and forever. The corn itself can be ended completely, and usually in two days. The method is scientific. It consists of attaching a Blue-jay plaster, forgetting the corn, and letting things take their course. The results have been proved by experience.

They have been proved to so many people that corns are now comparatively uncommon. Corn aches are needless. Paring corns is folly. Old-time harsh and mussy treatments have no place today. You will know these facts, and quickly, if you'll try a Blue-jay on one corn. Do it tonight, and the whole corn question will settle itself forever.

CIVIL SERVANTS AND CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Wholesalers May Refuse Orders, Speaker Reminds Organizers

A large part of the time of the members at the meeting of the Provincial Civil Servants' Association at the Belmont Building last night was taken up with a discussion on the United Co-operative Association, Ltd., provisional directors for which have already been chosen from delegates appointed by the Great War Veterans Association, Dominion Civil Service Association, British Campaigners, Comrades of the Great War, Provincial Civil Service, Farmers' Co-operative Association, Limited, and the Army and Navy.

The provisional directors are as follows: J. Food, W. F. Winsby, E. C. B. Bagshaw, J. E. Tilly, J. C. Banks, C. E. Whitney Griffiths, E. Raper, and Thos. Birch.

J. C. Banks asked the civil servants for their support for the association, and mentioned that a temporary office has been opened at Room 3 Imperial Bank Chambers, and a secretary program had been appointed.

Difficulties With Shares.

He was unable to report encouraging progress, stating that the rate the shares were being taken up, it would take four years and twenty-two weeks to raise the capital of $25,000 they had decided should be in the bank before they opened for business.

Although he explained that he was not opposed to cooperative associations, W. H. Stokes quoted experiences of similar associations in Saskatchewan, which had resulted in failure for the projects. They had found that the wholesalers had refused to accept their orders, and as a result they had been unable to carry on business. In Victoria they would have to find a way to guard against such a possibility. Being a seaport town they could possibly arrange to get goods imported, in case the wholesalers of Canada refused to fill their orders.

Mr. Banks thought that in such an event they would have no difficulty in obtaining the goods from Seattle merchants. He did not anticipate trouble in obtaining supplies from Canadian wholesalers, and mentioned the quarterly dividend as one of the advantages of a co-operative association more than a cheaper price on goods sold. In answer to the chairman he stated that none of the associations which had pledged themselves in favor of a co-operative association were committed to any financial responsibility. The directors were the only men responsible.

Once Sufficient.

J. Food also anticipated no trouble in obtaining the stock for the association. "If we have to get it from the first supply the wholesalers will not let us go for a second" he stated. Talking on the price of meat he said a beast could be landed in Victoria at a cost of about $110, and the same beast was sold over the counter at $225. If they had any trouble with their meat supply they could import their own from the prairies, have them kept on a ranch near Victoria, and kill them as they wanted them. He quoted from the prospectus which stated the objects were to carry on a Wholesale or Retail Grocery Business, or any labor, trade or business, by wholesale or retail.

The Association would not start unless they secured $25,000 and if that amount was not subscribed the money would be refunded to those who had purchased shares.

A committee of six was appointed by the association to help advertise the co-operative movement among civil service employees.

RUSSIA'S NEEDS AFTER BOLSHEVISM

Dr. Goldstein Figures Country's Requirements at $56,450,000 in Ten Years

Dr. Joseph M. Goldstein, Professor of Political Economy at the High Institute of Trade and Economy of the University of Moscow has prepared a survey of the condition of Russia, which had been issued by the Russian Bureau of Information here, to show the financial assistance which will be required to rehabilitate Russia after Bolshevism has died out, says The New York Times.

He calculated that for the ten years beginning with the death of Bolshevism, expenditures of $56,450,000 will be needed, of which approximately half will be furnished by Russia herself during the ten-year period. The restoration of the country, however, depends largely on assistance from the Allies.

"When the war began," Dr. Goldstein wrote, "Russia gave, for the benefit of the general cause, the lives and health of millions of her sons, as well as the resources of the country and her citizens. Although almost legions, Russian bore expenses no less great than the richest countries.

"As a result of this unswerving loyalty to the obligations which Russia took upon herself, poor, exhausted by suffering and hunger, she underwent the Bolshevik catastrophe brought about as is well known, to a great degree, by the German General Staff.

"What the war failed to do in the way of decreasing productive work in Russia, Bolshevism nationalization and socialization succeeded in doing.

"To exist without producing is impossible for even the richest country. The accumulated wealth of Russia, which we have seen to be poor country in this respect, is too insignificant to enable the Bolshevist Government to continue long in power.

"It will not be long, therefore, before a stable government will be re-established and the Russian people will again arise as a mighty nation.

"When that moment arrives the Allies, to secure interest on their old loans and to prevent Russia from again becoming a German colony, will have to take measures for upbuilding the productive forces of the country. It is clear that only in this way will the comparatively undeveloped country of Russia be able to avoid new Bolshevist disasters and economic and political

GOING SOME.

A white man took his negro servant to an unoccupied house on the plantation and, finding the gas out, told him to wait until he went back to the house for a light. When he returned the negro was gone, and for two days no trace of him could be found. On the third day Washington returned, his clothes all torn to pieces. He was mud from head to heel.

"Why, Washington," asked his employer, "where in the world have you been since I left you at the old house there?"

"Well, yo' see, Mars John, when yo' went away for dat light, Ah sat down in de cheer, com'fo'ble like, an' Ah put ma feet on de table, an' Ah fill ma pipe, an' took a drink out ob de bottle. An' jest dat minit de do' open a-t-1-1, like de hinges was greased, an' in walk a cat—a big cat, sah, all uv six feet high—an' hah eyes was big as saucers, an' dey shined like brass; an' she hop husselt upon de

GREAT TIME NEXT AUGUST.

(From the Springfield Republican.)

The prospective visit of the Prince of Wales to the United States next August will recall to many of the older citizens the visit of his grand father, afterwards Edward VII., in 1880, when he was 19 years old. The reception which the young prince received in New York city has gone down in history as one of the big events in the city's life.

IMPARTANT CHANGES IN NEW ORDINANCE

Trades License By-law Is Much Altered After Aldermanic Debate

Various changes to the new Trades License By-law were effected by the City Council last night, following the withdrawal of a large delegation of merchants who earlier in the evening made numerous suggestions regarding the ordinance. The aldermen practically concluded their deliberation, and among other important decisions determined exactly what a "department" store was under the by-law—a question which has been causing much vexation of late.

In the first place all retail stores, for the purposes of the by-law, were put into four classes instead of in two classes, as was provided in the original draft. The first-class of store in which a trader does not employ more than six months will be levied, includes all stores in which are employed one or two persons. The second class includes stores, which employ three to five persons and which must pay $10 every six months. The third class, on which the semi-annual tax is $15, are those which employ six to ten workers. The fourth class includes all establishments employing over ten workers. On this the tax is $20 every six months.

Department Store. As a result of long deliberations the Council finally determined that a "department" store will be one which employed more than four workers and which sold three or more of the following lines of goods: Dry goods, boots, clothing, stationery, furs, millinery, groceries, glassware, musical goods, toys, notions, photographic supplies, ice cream, meats, refreshments, sporting goods, jewelry, optical goods and hardware.

The objection that a little general store, which carries a variety of goods, should not be classed as a department store is thus met. Any store employing four or less workers has been placed by the Council into three classes according to the number of employees, the license fees being respectively $5, $10, and $20 every six months.

While the Council has received not a little criticism from the various business men, no complaints have been voiced by members of the professions whose semi-annual business taxes will be increased from $5 to $20. The Council decided to reduce the tax to be levied on contractors and plumbers from $20 to $15.

The by-law is thus almost ready for final passage. The aldermen will meet a delegation of merchants on Monday morning when the whole measure will be considered again, and perhaps materially altered.

PARCELS TO GERMANY. Washington, July 4.—Food parcels may now be sent from the United States to individuals in Germany, it was announced to-day.

A SHOOTING CAMERA. One of the most remarkable inventions of the war is the Hythe gun-camera, or camera-gun. Its object is to show pilots the results of their machine-gun fire when manoeuvring in training. By means of this contrivance a cadet after firing a volley of imaginary shots at another aeroplane manoeuvring close to his own, is able to tell, on descending, exactly where his shots would have hit had his bullets and the enemy been real. The handle he presses releases negatives only, by means of a process which allows for wind speeds of all kinds as the respective currents are kept as the respective speeds of the opponents; the result of the shots is registered with the most minute accuracy. —Till-Bitt.

SIR, HAIG HOAXED BUT EVENS THE SCORE

Local Autograph-Hunter Gains Object, But Pays Five Dollars For It

"That the strategical talent of Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig is not limited to great military operations is shown by the following interesting communication received by The Times from a subscriber: "Many are the wiles of the autograph hunter to trick an autograph from the grudging great. Every stratagem is legitimate, being rated as literary cleverness—and, when success is scored, the winner incontinently parades his triumph and looks around for applause."

"A Cedar Vale man, although not a regular autograph hunter, became seized with a desire to possess the autograph of Sir Douglas Haig, of whose prowess he is patriotically proud, halting from the same side of the Tweed as Sir Douglas.

"Washington Irving records that in a tour round the south of Scotland with Sir Walter Scott the latter traced out for him, chiselled in the stone wall of the ancient seat of the Haigs, the lines attributed to Michael Scott, the Scottish wizard: "Come weal, come weal! What'er be-tide Haig shall be Haig of Bernesayde."

"On this text the local aspirant wrote Sir Douglas a letter purporting to be from a lumber camp, in Missouri, and to the P.O. B.C., somewhat suggesting the wooded hinterland, and he strove to lend to his epistle something of the aroma of the primeval forest with its men rather more than of its mind. The letter ran, substantially: "General.—There is an old Scotchman in the camp here, an old fellow who has been a soldier in the wars of religion; when he is in liquor, and one time they were going to bring him out for a minister, but they feared him because he says 'though he is not imbued with a true spirit of devotion.' He says 'It was all because they blamed him for what another fellow did.'"

"This old fellow says that the two lines on the wall of the old Haig house are only half the prediction. He says there are two other lines, and that the whole thing is: "Come weal, come weal! What'er be-tide Haig shall be Haig of Bernesayde; And when a far-off day shall come A bonnie Haig shall strafe the Hun."

"The latter two lines were the offspring of the writer's own muse. "The old fellow says that the lowland Scotch are of pure German ancestry; that the word 'strafe' has its origin in a dialect among them and that the Huns were as well known in Michael Scott's time as to-day. He says he has often sat and read the lines when he was herding sheep.

"Now, none of us believed him, but he kept on saying it was true, and he offered to let us write and ask you about it; and then he said that he would pay $5.00 to get the letter when it came, so that he could talk to you about it if you went against him, when he went back to Scotland.

"He evidently proved a source of innocent merriment to the Field-Marshal, who, with a strategy in-keeping with his great record in the field, fought shy of a decision which would discomfit the forces of his 'brither Scot' of the Von Tirpitz whiskers, and, in his reply, he facetiously suggests that the inoffensive Secretary of the Congress lay down the law himself. The letter, though typewritten, bore the veritable signature of the great man himself, to the high content of his correspondent here, who, unwilling to deny Sir Douglas the satisfaction of seeing his name in his "Times," that his rearguard shot as to the $5.00 was effective.

"The reply of the general is as follows: "G.E.H. the Forces in Great Britain, Horse Guards, London, S.W.I., June 12, 1919. "Dear Sir,—I am afraid that I am not really qualified to decide your bet, but if the two additional lines quoted by your friend are not inscribed beneath the two which are better known, I venture to think that they ought to have been in fact, on the principle that the spirit should always prevail over the letter, I will go so far as to give my decision in favor of your friend. In view of this decision I take it for granted that you will put the $5.00 into the Red Cross fund yourself. Yours very truly, "D. HAIG "Field-Marshal."

Accompanying the foregoing communication was the $5.00 note in question, which the writer requested The Times to turn over to the Red Cross. This has been done.

WHEAT HARVEST PROBLEM. "Harvesting a two hundred million bushel wheat crop is a serious problem which Kansas faces, to be accomplished within a few weeks, says the Topeka Capitalist cutting channel. The State Farm Labor Director Frisell of Larned calls for 225,000 men to harvest the crop, more than half of this immense army of workers to be brought in from other states. They are still in the army, unavailable for harvest hands, more than twice as many Kansas men as a year ago, and Kansas therefore is short-handed to an extent that it has never been before. With high wages in other occupations it is not easy to induce men to come into the wheat harvest. The pay is good enough, but the job does not attract men who have permanent employment."

MAY AFFECT BRITISH COLUMBIA'S MEASURE

Premier Oliver Will Digest Privy Council's Judgment in Direct Legislation

Until he has had an opportunity of digesting the judgment of the Privy Council in connection with the Manitoba Direct Legislation Act, Premier Oliver stated this morning that he was unable to say whether the British Columbia measure, which passed to the statutes, during this year's session, would require little or much modification in its provisions.

Manitoba's direct legislation act, passed at the 1918 session of the Provincial Legislature, in implementation of a pre-election pledge made in 1915 by Hon. T. C. Norris and the Liberal party, is unconstitutional. A decision declaring the statute to be "ultra vires" was handed down yesterday in London by the Privy Council with its supreme tribunal the matter was referred for constitutional interpretation.

The decision means that the statute lies on the statute books moribund and incapable of being utilized for the purpose intended. Before Manitoba citizens can avail themselves of the principle of legislation and compulsory referendum—the act will have to be remodelled to suit constitutional requirements and be again passed by the Legislature.

CANADIAN COAL PRICES.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

Mr. J. L. Payne, in the latest of his series of articles in the Globe, quoted figures which cannot be reconciled with the legend of a coal shortage in Canada in the past few years. Importation of anthracite in the fiscal year 1917, ending March 31, were larger than in any preceding year, and in the year 1918 were much larger than in 1917. The volume moved by the railways in Canada in 1917 was 566,246 tons greater than in 1916, and in 1918 it was 1,499,193 tons greater than in 1917. Shortages of coal and cars in the United States in 1917 and 1918 were officially proclaimed, but Mr. Payne's statistics show that Canada received in those years more than the average 1913-14-15. The average cost of coal imported in the fiscal year 1919, ending March 31 last, was $5.51 per ton, or only 70 cents greater than in 1912, before the war. Mr. Payne says that the retail price in Ottawa advanced in the same time from $3 to $12 per ton. It is no secret that a few railway corporations have monopolized the anthracite coal fields and coal production of Pennsylvania and can dictate to Canadian dealers, but this fact would not explain an advance of 50 per cent in the retail price of coal in Canada if the import price had increased only 14.6 per cent in the same period. A parliamentary committee has been appointed to ascertain, if possible, the causes of the high cost of living. Mr. Payne's allegations with respect to the prices of coal and food, supported by figures drawn from official sources, might profitably engage the attention of the committee.

HOW INTEREST GROWS.

Some people may think that the investment of interest from Victory Bonds does not amount to much. In this they are quite mistaken; for if the $75,000,000 that will be paid to Victory Bond Holders during 1919 were reinvested in War Savings Stamps those holding these stamps would, at the end of five years, draw about $94,000,000. This shows the importance of making a really good start in saving. Very few persons who bought Victory Bonds they did so to cut off a few unnecessary expenditures while they paid for the bonds. In doing so they provided themselves with a new source of income.

Fairly in 1914 some people thought that the interest on the National Debt was considerable, but it was only equal to two-thirds of the amount that Victory Bond interest paid during the present year, will earn within five years, if put into War Savings Stamps.

HUGE AMOUNT OF GOLD IN STATES

Trade Balance Has Created Greatest Stock in World's History

Washington, July 4.—"Already possessed of the greatest single stock of gold in history, the United States could lay claim to-day to most of the remaining free gold of the world in payment of its favorable merchandise balance." The Federal Reserve Bulletin will say in its July issue. "The balance approximated $9,000,000 in the last three years and bids fair to continue at the same rate this year, affording a problem to arrange payments without bankrupting debtor nations and still further enhancing the cost of living here through the importation of more metal. Under the gold embargo, which recently was lifted, making the United States practically the only free gold market in the world, the Federal Reserve Board issued 1,142 licenses for the export of $152,328,976 of gold and 1,506 licenses for the shipment of $502,175,093 in silver. A NEW ENGLAND

Changes the War Has Brought About in the Spirit of the People

By Philip Gibbs in The London Daily Chronicle.

Like many other men who have been in exile for something like five years, with seven days' leave, or a bad illness now and then, I have been exploring London again, and rediscovering its types, with fresh eyes and a spirit that has changed because of things seen and remembered.

It is with a queer sense of emotion that one goes to old haunts, like a Rip Van Winkle back from another life, because those five years of war seemed so long—so long!—and now one walks the streets with memories of England before the war, when peace seemed secure in the ways we knew, and human nature to be jogging along in the old familiar tracks, not knowing that forces were driving it on to a world conflict, in which civilization itself was threatened with downfall.

"The name, old London!" said a friend, back, like myself, from the other side, and then, after a long silence, he added: "But with a different spirit in it. Somehow I feel that I don't know the people. They are a different crowd from those we used to know in the old days when you and I used to watch Royal processions, suffragette rows, and the latest sensation at the Law Courts. I suppose it is because one misses the faces of old pals."

The Spirit of London.

He was right. There is a different spirit in London, because the life of the people has been altered in a thousand ways by the influence of war, and old

London has adapted itself to new social conditions.

At Euston Station the other day I saw one little scene which would have been incredible in pre-war times, though familiar enough during the war. The interest to me was that it should be happening nearly six months after the last shot was fired in Armageddon. There was a wild turmoil of luggage on the platform, and the passengers were sorting out their own trunks and searching for them in the luggage-van. A Brigadier-General hoisted a heavy bag, and carried it down the platform. A Rear-Admiral winked at me because he had been lucky in capturing a trolley for his own bags. A young woman sitting behind the deck of the cloak-room was scornful with a foreigner who asked, "Are there no porters here to carry my baggage?"

The young woman patted her front hair and sniffed loudly. "There's been a war," she said. "All our men have been killed. Haven't you read about it in the papers?"

Old Friends in New Guise.
She exaggerated a little in her bitterness. Not all our men have been killed. On the contrary it is comforting to see great numbers of young men walking about the streets of London, crowding into the trains and tramcars; young men in civil clothes, though I notice that they still wear their trench coats on cool days and brown socks under their serge suits. They are well-set-up fellows, and stride down the street in a soldierly way, and have a keener, more alert look than the boys who used to play dominoes in tea shops in the luncheon hours of the days before the war.

They are the fellows I met along the roads in France and Flanders before they were taken prisoner in the March offensive or before a Blighty wound saved their lives in the Flanders fighting. Many of them do not seem to have settled down to any job yet. They sit in the sunshine of Hyde Park listening to the music of a red-coated band. They make long lines with their girls in the queues outside the matinee theatres. They line up for boots in the Serpentine. They seem to have all their time on their hands in these days of armistice. Plenty of time for talking about the new conditions of their life, as I hear them when they sit, with straw hats tilted back, over marble-topped tea tables. "Found anything to do yet?"

"No, I'm looking round. It isn't easy. What's your plan?"
"Not a ghost of an idea. What can I do? I'm a pretty good machine-gunner—do you remember that stunt outside Le Chateau?—and I'm not bad as a bayonet instructor. But I've no trade, and there's a kind of unskilled labour. I shall sit tight awhile, on twenty-nine bob a week. I did my bit all right. Now it's up to the country."

The women have taken our jobs. "Oh, well, I don't grudge it to them. There are women on the tramcars, and women ticket collectors at the stations. This morning I saw two women billstickers, and very smart they were, in light linen skirts. I watched them putting up the posters in the Underground Railway, with nimble fingers, making a clean job of it, and remembering the old secret, to wipe the dirty, beery, old fellows who used to have this job before the war."

Women Doing Men's Work.
I have watched the women window-cleaners polishing up the panes of London houses so that the sun shines through them. There was a group of land-girls at Victoria Station a few days ago, strutting and in linen smocks, strong-limbed young women, indifferent to the glances of discharged soldiers, none too friendly, it seemed to me.

This arrival of women in the Labour world stares in the face of the man who has come back to London after years of exile. It was all during the war. It was splendid, and helped to win the war, and the men in the trenches were proud of the spirit of the women, and gained strength through it. But now—after the war? Are they going to say: "Well, there you are, boys. There's the job. I'm going back to the little kitchen and the wash-tub—or me for a maid-servant in a semi-detached villa; with one evening a week, and no visitors?" Women are not going back, I imagine. They have come out into the open, on equal terms with men; and the same wage for the same work, or they will know the reason why. . . .

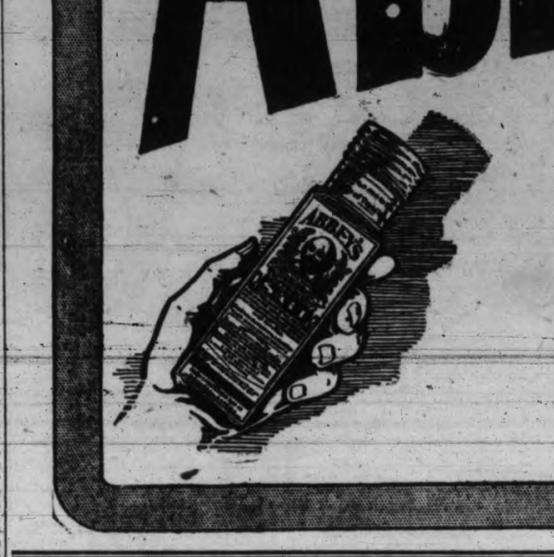

But the war are not all dead, in spite of the young women in the cloak-room and the memory of a million dead boys in the homes of England, and in the sadness of England's heart. There are many idle brothers, with working sisters in this strange new London of ours, and I see a frightful problem coming when there is no 29s. for a soldier who has done his job, and wants another.

So far there is plenty of money about in London. The war—which corrupted the fields of Europe, and made a wide track of desert land through France and Flanders, and a graveyard where thousands of white crosses rise above the cratered earth as memorials of youth's great sacrifice—cleansed the London slums and brought prosperity and a new sense of well-being into little homes in mean streets. It was a well-being with a daily apprehension of tragedy at the bang of the postman's knock, which struck at the heart of many a woman waiting for her mate or her first-born. But it has changed the aspect of back streets in London, down which I used to wander with a heart stricken by so much human misery among those poor, grey, cheerless lives.

The ragamuffin children are gone. They wear stockings now and lace-up boots. Their frocks hold together without rags and tatters. The frowny, blousy women of Poverty Court are smartened up. They wear "summer blouses," and furs if the wind is shrewd. The young girls come out in the courtyard of an evening with silk stockings and bows on their shoes, and new skirts short enough to show the neatness of their ankles.

A great wind has blown through Poverty Court—the wind of war—and in spite of the groans of dying men borne on its breeze, and heard o' night by sleepless women, it has blown the old fifth out of these courtyards and blown in paper money, good to spend—while it lasts.

New Life in Old Places.
There are flowers in windows which used to be stuffed up with rags; and gramophones in rooms which used to be almost bare of furniture, with pawnshop tickets in the cupboard drawer,

In these districts there is a new life in old London, and there is hope in it for people who knew nothing but hopelessness. They will not go back to the old conditions without a desperate struggle, fierce as escaped animals thrust back to the cage.
As yet I do not see the drift of things. I see a kind of restlessness in the spirit of London—as of people waiting for something else to happen after one act in a sensational drama. In all classes and in all places there is this sense of waiting and expectancy, a kind of hanging-about in the corridors of life before the Messenger comes with a new announcement.
So it seemed to me when I went into a club for officers in Pall Mall. It is a great rendezvous in halls where all day long there is a seething crowd of young men—mostly young, though with senior officers among them—who a few weeks or a few months ago were with the Army of Occupation, pulling every string to get demobilized.
Many of them are in civil clothes now and greet each other with laughter, because a fellow looks so different in a grey suit and straw hat, after years in khaki. But others still wear their "war-paint" with chevrons and wound stripes and ribbons and all, with mental badges and Scottish tartans.

Those Struggling Industries.
(From the Toronto Star.)
How poor, struggling Canadian industries require to be bolstered up by high tariffs is illustrated by the case of the Dominion Textile Company, which figures in the Cost of Living enquiry as last year making 216 per cent on the half million dollars paid for its common stock in 1905. General Manager Daniels, who gave evidence before the committee, was also a witness at a recent session of the newspaper enquiry, and what he said about the concern's protection on that occasion is taken from the records, as follows:
Mr. Tilley—"From what to what does the protection run?"
Mr. Daniels—"It runs from 25 to 32.1-2 per cent."
Mr. Tilley—"And is the United States your only competitor?"
Mr. Daniels—"No, against Great Britain we have a protection of from 15 to 25 per cent."

The Commissioner—"Does that include the 7.1-2 per cent war tax?"
Mr. Daniels—"No, that is additional." And the poor consumer wonders why textiles are high.
GET NEAR THE CREATOR.
(From the Haverhill Gazette.)
Summer is here. Most of us are inactive or have a desire to be inactive at this season. But summer is the most active time of all life. Most of us are inactive to avoid heat; but heat is the very element that renders animate every cell of creation. Some day when the thermometer is about 95, let us go out into the orchard or garden—any place where we can get near the Creator. Let us look around. All our senses—seeing, hearing, feeling, smelling, thinking, will give evidence of life—activity. The leaves and twigs are soft with new growth. The air is filled with pollen, the germ of plant creation. Blossoms are forming into fruit. The fruit is forming and casting seed. Every cell is life—activity. Nothing is dormant. The chances are that we man—are the most inactive creature in the whole display. Summer is the active time of man, both in mind and body. All the resting in the garden or orchard is done in the winter. Summer is the time of new birth of thought and ideas and the time of action in their growth and development. Why should we man—be inactive in summer, seeing that all nature is active? Let us seek even a brief change and contrast from our shut-in, year-around occupation—in the garden—in the fields, nearest the Creator.

ROTARIANS HEAR OF RECENT CONVENTION

Great Work Was Accomplished by International Gathering at Salt Lake City

Their impressions of the recent international Rotary Convention in Salt Lake City were described by the delegates of the Victoria Rotary Club to the local Rotarians assembled at their weekly luncheon Thursday. That the delegates and incidentally the club had profited by the convention was proved by the speeches delivered, and the applause with which they were received. The full programme of the convention was described to-day by James Adam, who had taken copious notes of the whole proceeding. Judging from his remarks the convention, while flavored with various social events, was largely devoted to serious rotary work, and to preparations for the coming year. Such questions as labor problems, child welfare and other questions of an equally weighty character were discussed by the convention and plans for work along these lines were formulated.

The work of the international resolutions committee, on which he had the honor to serve, was described by ex-President J. D. O'Connell, who outlined some of the most important resolutions which passed by the convention, will have a great deal to do with the activities of International Rotary in the future. The resolutions dealt both with individual clubs and with the status of the international association on such problems as the relation between employer and employee.

E. A. Harris, Victoria's other delegate to the convention, was warm in his praise of the hospitality accorded him on the other side of the line, where he and his companions had been entertained royally during their whole stay. The meeting to-day being the first since the strawberry feast at Cedar Hill, the Rotarians joined in thanking the ladies of St. Luke's Church and others who supplied the luscious berries which played such an important part in the recent festivity.

The death occurred Tuesday at the Jubilee Hospital of Joseph Price, at the age of eighty years, a member of the Welsh Society. He has no relatives in the city. The deceased has been a resident of Victoria for the past twelve years, and was born in Brecon, South Wales, and was a gardener by trade. The remains are reposing at the B. C. Funeral Chapel, from whence the funeral will take place on Saturday at 10.30 o'clock to Ross Bay.

MOVIE ACTRESS FLIES OVER CITY AT NOON

Priscilla Dean Enjoys Flight in Pathfinder; Machine Going to Friday Harbor

Flying is forming a delightful part of Miss Priscilla Dean's visit to British Columbia. While in Vancouver the popular movie actress was one of the main figures in the grand aerial meet held on Tuesday. She chartered one of the machines and then took part in a flight and the Aerial League gave a ball at the Vancouver Hotel in her honor. Thursday Miss Dean went aloft again this time flying in Pathfinder No. 2. She went up for the express purpose of seeing the beauties of the city from the clouds and also to drop prize pamphlets for the Variety Theatre, where one of her popular pictures is being shown this week. She enjoyed the flight.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who were the principals in the aerial wedding which took place at the Vancouver meet on Tuesday, are in this city on their honeymoon. The wedding was the first of its kind held in Canada. It was impossible to marry the couple in the air, so two aeroplanes were engaged and a number of ex-R. A. F. flyers formed a guard of honor. The parson tied the knot and then the bride and groom each entered a machine and took a "flip." Mr. Taylor is president of the Vancouver Aerial League.

DOPERS OF THE WORKSHOP

One result of the restrictions on the sale of intoxicating liquors is that lately there has been a great increase in dope among workers. Essences and other products containing alcohol, methylated spirit, certain ethers used in industry—these and other commodities are all consumed for the same reason that the idle and dissolute indulge in cocaine.

To some people a particular essence, as essence of lemon, is as seductive as "smoke" is to the habitual drug-taker. Not long since a man employed by a firm of wholesale chemists died from the effects of a dope of this kind. He had a breakdown, through indulgence in the stuff, about a year back, and was then warned by his doctor that if he did not abandon the habit he would certainly die; but, though for a time after his return to work he eschewed his favorite tipples, he ultimately succumbed to temptation, and then the end quickly came.

Methylated Spirit Drunkards. Others—and these form the majority of industrial toppers—are addicted to drinking that villainous preparation, methylated spirit. In polishing, felt hat-making, and other shops where it is used, many men cannot safely be trusted with it, and some will drink it even if it is made specially innocuous.

A remarkable case in point happened in a London workhouse. One of the men employed in the furniture repairing shop of the institution drank so much of the ratapaters' methylated spirit that in the end, as a last resource, a big dose of sassafoida was added, to the supply in hand. The medical officer, who was responsible for this stratagem, was highly sanguine as to the result; but, much to his surprise, the old doper drank the awful stuff just as before.—Tit-Bits.

TRULY RURAL

The seventeen-year-old daughter of a city man was visiting a farm for the first time. She immediately became interested in the prize cattle, and asked many questions. One evening, just at dusk, as the girl was standing at the open door of the farmhouse talking to the manager, there came the low, mournful note of a cow.

"Just listen to that poor cow," said the girl, "mewing for her colt"—Tit-Bits.

CLUB LUNCHEON ON MONDAY AT NOON

Dominion G.W.V.A. President Will Speak Then, Instead of Following Day

The Canadian Club luncheon to the new president of the Dominion G. W. V. A. will be held on Monday next, instead of Tuesday, as first announced.

It was found that the Empress Hotel ballroom was engaged for Tuesday and following days of next week by the B. C. Hospital Association Convention, and an inquiry by President Cochrane of the Canadian Club, brought the information from President Purney of the G. W. V. A. at Vancouver to-day that Monday would be quite as suitable.

GARDENING IN WINDOW BOXES

Just because you happen to be unfortunate enough (or fortunate, as the case may be) to live in an apartment with no portion of terra firma included with the rent, does not mean you can't raise some vegetables of your own. Many vegetables will grow in pots and porch or window boxes just as well as they will grow in a regular garden, and usually they will grow better because they will be better cared for. The close attention which is sometimes lacking in the garden. The window boxes are likely to be in a place where they themselves upon your notice and it's a very simple matter to care for them.

Window boxes should be placed where they will have plenty of sun. Windows, porches and roofs can be used upon the right conditions. Boxes or trays are generally used; they are easily constructed or some of the narrow boxes which come from the grocer can be used, and they are not so liable to get broken as the wooden boxes. A good vegetable box, some half-inch holes should be bored in the bottom of the box to provide drainage. The potting in the window box should be thoroughly enriched with fine well rotted manure and a little wood ashes will help. Do not use coal ashes which have no value in window boxes, though sometimes useful to loosen and make friable a stick soil. Not much soil is required in a window box, so it's well to have the best. Boxes should be well fastened or held firmly in place. Seeds may be planted the same as in a regular garden and looked after in the same way. Keep the soil well watered and after the plants are up it is well to keep the surface of the soil in a crumbled condition. Radishes, lettuce, spinach and onions can all be easily grown from seed in boxes, and dwarf butter beans should also do well. Cucumbers will give good results if the vines are trained on supports of some kind. Tomatoes, too, can be planted to good advantage in boxes if pruned and trained to supports. It will be necessary to watch the plants for insects and to spray if any of these are found.

The big secret of success with window boxes is to have the soil rich and to keep it well watered. The soil will have to depend for its moisture upon what it gets from above as it has no subterranean source of supply as in the case of the garden. It is very important therefore not to let the soil in the window boxes dry out; it should be kept moist at all times.

"Live and let live" is a good motto for all men, with the exception of undertakers and butchers.

MERCHANTS PICK HOLES IN BY-LAW

But Will Co-operate With Council in Framing Satisfactory Ordinance

Having picked numerous holes in the new Trades License By-Law at a lengthy session with the City Council last night, Victoria merchants will co-operate with the aldermen in drawing up an ordinance satisfactory to them and at the same time calculated to bring into the corporation the revenue deemed absolutely essential by the civic authorities.

No definite result was achieved by last night's meeting, but many suggestions, praise and criticisms regarding the by-law were voiced by the merchants present.

Drastic Advice. "It doesn't matter how much revenue you have," declared Howard Chapman, who had some drastic suggestions to offer, "the School Board or some other body will gobble it all up. You should sweep out some of your experts from the various departments and put in new blood," he advised. "There is a large amount of public money that has never been collected. People outside the city are enjoying everything the city has to offer, and are paying nothing to the city. If you had capable officers at the heads of your departments they would be able to look after these things. If private businesses were run like the city," declared Mr. Chapman, "they would be bankrupt long ago."

Mr. Chapman complained bitterly of the way in which stores run by aliens were allowed to stay open at all hours, and suggested that at least they pay an additional license fee for this privilege. Again, drug stores were allowed to handle photographic supplies after the photographers had closed for the day. This, said the speaker, was discrimination.

"Well, this by-law is only framed as a temporary measure to be enforced for six months or so," observed Alderman Johns. "We hope that at the next session of the Legislature we will be given powers which will enable us to frame a more equitable by-law."

"We have seen in the past that once a tax is put on it sticks for good," replied W. W. Ballard, Manager of Gordon's, Ltd. "And when you go to the Legislature," urged Mr. Chapman, "why not get the power to charge higher license fees to those who stay open at all hours?"

Departments in Question. Mr. Ballard took strong objection to the provisions of the by-law which closed every section of a store as a department and charged a separate tax on each. This, Mr. Ballard declared, was working an injustice upon many establishments.

"In other words," answered Alderman Sangster, "you want to get rid of department stores altogether, eh?" "My contention is," replied Mr. Ballard, "that a basic tax should be charged on all businesses, and after that they should be charged in proportion to the number of people they employ. As a matter of fact we want to give you the money."

"Yes, and we will get it, too, never fear," interjected Mayor Porter. "It has been unable to do that in the past," Mr. Ballard reminded His Worship.

"And that's why we are trying now," remarked Alderman Sangster.

"It should be remembered," added George Bell, M. P. P., that the Council has to make up a deficiency. The Council is changing a bad system which means that the big man has to pay the same as the small dealer, and it is to be commended on its work."

In reply to Mr. Ballard's suggestion Alderman Sangster stated that the city had no power to levy a license fee according to the number of workers employed.

A petition said to have been signed by 296 householders protesting against the by-law was presented by F. White, representing the Chinese peddlers who are called upon under the present draft to pay double last year's trade tax. The Mayor promised that this would be thoroughly considered before definite action was taken.

It is proposed under the by-law to make hawkers pay $40 every six months, while in Vancouver, City Comptroller J. L. Raymer reminded the meeting, the yearly tax was $100.

It was stated by City Solicitor R. W. Hannington that it was proposed to create six different classes of merchandise establishments under the by-law: A. class, two or less employees; B. class, three to five employees; C. class, six to ten employees; D. class, eleven to twenty employees; E. class, twenty to fifty employees; F. class, over fifty employees.
