BERLIN IS INFORMED COLOGNE NOT EVACUATED. BECAUSE GERMAN ARMY CHIEFS ACTIVE

Note Presented To-day by Ambassadors Says Allies Have Proofs Germans Have Not Lived up to Terms of Treaty of Versailles; Secret Stores of War Materials Found; Germany Has a General Staff.

London, Jan. 5.—The note of the Allied Ambassadors to Germany on the postponement of the Cologne evacuation, the text of which was made public by the Foreign Office this afternoon, asserts that the Allied Governments are already in a position to inform Germany they have obtained proof showing Germany has not yet fulfilled and can not possibly fulfill by January 10 the conditions laid down in the Versailles Treaty so as to enable her to define the clause of the treaty relating to partial evacuation of the occupied zone.

The note gives six instances why the zone has not been evacuated: First—That the general staff of the German army has been reconstituted in another form. Second—Short service volunteers have been recruited and trained. Third—Transformation of war material factories has not been completed. Fourth—A surplus of every kind of war material has been found and illicit stocks discovered. Fifth—Reorganization of the state police has not been started. Sixth—The German Government in far from having taken the legislative and administrative measures demanded by the Allies in their note of September 29, 1922.

SIGNED YESTERDAY Paris, Jan. 5.—The Allied ambassadors in Berlin met at the British Embassy in the German capital Sunday and signed identical notes, announcing the refusal of their governments to evacuate the Cologne bridgehead January 10, according to an announcement by the French Foreign Office.

It was arranged that the British Ambassador, Baron D'Abernon, in the presence of his four colleagues, the French, Belgian, Italian and Japanese Ambassadors, should present the note to Chancellor Marx to-day.

THREE MEN SAID TO HAVE SHARED IN PORTLAND CRIME Harry Stone, T. H. Johnson and George Bagley Identified in Seattle

They Are Held in Connection With Robbery of Bank in Nanaimo

Seattle, Jan. 5.—Three of the five men held here for British Columbia police in connection with the $42,000 robbery of the Royal Bank branch in Nanaimo, B.C., December 12, were identified Sunday, according to the police, by witnesses from Portland, Oregon, as members of a gang of five bandits who held up the George W. Bates & Company bank in that city on October 15 last. J. S. Birrell, cashier of the Portland bank, and two young women employees, brought to Seattle by Portland officers, were there pointed out Harry Stone, T. H. Johnson and George Bagley as three of the men who had held them up.

SHIVELY NOT IDENTIFIED The witnesses were unable to identify Clarence Shively, former Seattle policeman, who, one of those held for extradition proceedings in connection with the Nanaimo robbery, an one of the Portland bandit gang. They did not see Watson, also a Nanaimo suspect.

A MORNING CRIME The Portland bank was entered by bandits early on the morning of October 15, while the janitor, John Spitzberger, was sweeping out. One of the robbers knocked on the door and when the janitor opened it four men pressed in, leaving one of their number sitting in an automobile outside. Spitzberger was bound and gagged and taken into the basement. The bandits then waited for the other employees to arrive, when they burst out of the basement and ordered all to throw up their hands. Slow to obey, Birrell was slugged by one of the bandits.

The car Pretchel was driving was the Santa Rosa police patrol and the man sitting in the car whom Pretchel did not see was Chief of Police George Matthews.

Sweeping over the city at a height of a thousand feet, descending rapidly to within a few feet of the choppy water off the Ogden Point breakwater and eventually making what appeared to be a perfect landing, a big grey aeroplane yesterday struck a submerged piece of driftwood, punctured a pontoon and began to sink rapidly a short distance from Brotchie Ledge shortly after 4 o'clock. The single occupant of the plane came very near to death. With the crashing of the first pontoon the entire weight of the craft was put on the other, and this eventually gave way.

Of the fourteen cases now on the list for the Victoria sittings that of Rex versus Boak, an appeal by Dr. Eric Wesley Boak from a conviction for manslaughter, in connection with the death of the late Alexander David McLachlan and David Ballantyne on the Saanich Road, commands wide interest.

WAR CLAIMS. The reply of the United States to the last note of Great Britain on the subject of reparations and war damage claims was presented by Foreign Minister Chamberlain at a cabinet meeting.

INTEREST IS GREAT. Paris, Jan. 5.—Final arrangements for Wednesday's conference of finance ministers are being made and as the day draws near interest in the subject to be considered is growing more intense.

DELEGATES OF U.S. Announcement of the appointment as delegates on the United States, Ambassadors Kellogg and Herrick, as well as James A. Logan, the regular Reparations Commission observer for the United States, has served to strengthen the public belief that the debt problem will be a subject of unofficial conversations and it is believed these will help bring a solution nearer.

REPARATIONS DIVISION. The hardest problem before the conference proper is that of the share of the United States in the Dawes plan yield. While France and Belgium admit the United States has a right in equity, if not law, to a share in the proceeds, Great Britain denies such right.

BEFORE COURT. Should the British refuse to modify their attitude, it is thought probable the dispute will be sent to the Hague Court for final decision. This solution would not be welcomed in French circles, which believe that while the United States would consent to submit its case to the court ruling, it would do so reluctantly.

gression at 10 o'clock in the morning at Rome after my address at Monte Rotondo—an address which was perhaps the most pacific delivered by me during two years of government.

FOUGHT VIGOROUSLY. "You may remember my speech of June 7," continued the Premier. "You will perhaps readily recall those weeks of burning political passions in which the majority and minority in the chamber fought each other daily, making it almost impossible to bring about a semblance of order, and causing despair of reuniting them and re-establishing the necessary limits in the political life of the two opposing parties. On that day I made a speech which cleared the entire atmosphere. I informed the opposition that I recognized their ideal right and their contingent right.

CLAIMS GREAT COURAGE. "How could I, after such a success—yes, such a striking success, admitted even by the opposition, the chamber then reopening in an almost hostile atmosphere—how could I dream, unless stricken by furious rage, of having such a crime committed, or even an insignificant one against an adversary who thinks that because he has a certain blustering courage, it resembles my courage, my ardor in support of certain things in the energy in not looking

OF GREAT IMPORTANCE. "The question presented is one of the utmost importance," the decision continued. "This matter, by a constitutional amendment and appropriate legislation, declared that intoxicating liquor should no longer be sold or distributed here.

BEYOND THREE MILES. "The Supreme Court of Canada," the decision continued, "has held that even irrespective of any treaty, the Dominion had the right under the law of nations to pursue and take a vessel beyond the three-mile limit when that vessel was charged with infraction of her laws.

DUNCAN RATEPAYERS FORM ASSOCIATION

Will be Consultative in Character, and of Assistance to City Council

Special to The Times

Duncan, Jan. 5.—The City of Duncan "Property Owners' Protective Association" was formed at a representative preliminary meeting held in the Agricultural office on Friday evening.

K. F. Duncan took the chair and E. W. Cresswell acted as secretary after the association was formed.

Mr. Duncan, in addressing the meeting, said that he, with a great many others, had thought such an organization was necessary, and he had taken the initial step in calling this meeting. It was not intended to form an association which would be antagonistic to the Council, but rather to be of assistance to them by all means in their power. He could not conceive of a Council being elected, which would not be glad of some association such as this, that they could confer with regarding any matter involving the expenditure of large sums of the ratepayers' money, or for the general welfare of the city.

During the past few years the Council had incurred very large obligations, and in his opinion money had not been spent to the best advantage, and such an organization might have advised the Council and been the means of putting the affairs of the city in a better condition than they were to-day. Other large cities such as Vancouver and New Westminster had these property owners' associations, and their advice carried great weight in civic affairs.

Mr. Duncan said he had no personal axe to grind in taking this step as he did not want any office, but would only be too glad to help in any way he could.

In reply to a question asking what advantage such an organization would be to the city, Mr. Duncan said that it would be made up of property owners in the city, all of whom are called upon to contribute to the expenses of running the city, and the association would hold public meetings and discuss any important questions that came up and advise the Council.

F. H. Price pointed out that before the present water works scheme was undertaken which has proved rather a failure up to the present time and involved the expenditure of large sums of money, including a law suit taken by a committee, of which he was one, had been formed to look into things and advise the Council, but their advice had not been taken, and if they formed this association he doubted whether it would be of any use.

Mr. Duncan, replying, said that Mr. Price's experience was, he felt, another argument in favor of forming such an association, as if that committee had had a powerful organization to uphold their views they would have been in a much

USEFUL WORK IS CARRIED ON IN RURAL HEALTH AREA

Special to The Times

Metehosin, Jan. 4.—The dental work among the children in the district covers by the Equilateral Rural Nursing Service has been carried on successfully through the Langford section during the latter months of last year, when another clinic was held for the benefit of that section. The children have been transported into Victoria each morning by the nurse in charge of the service until all children requiring treatment have received attention. The service covers a large area, Colwood, Luxton and Happy Valley, Albert Head, Langford and Goldstream comprising the health district. Clinics will be held from time to time in order to keep the children's teeth in condition, and so keep the foundation to good health unimpaired.

The executive committee of the association was gratified to receive a letter of appreciation from the parents of a boy who had the misfortune to fall and sever an artery just prior to the Christmas season, whose life was probably saved by the prompt service given by the nurse in charge. This letter stated that "the district nurse is a blessing to those who are remote." The service has now been established for five years, and each year sees its foundations firmer and more friends to support it.

Preparations for a health pageant to be presented in the Spring by the school children of different sections are now in progress under the direction of the nurse, the teachers and school boards giving their services and co-operation in the best possible way. The executive committee, consisting of R. I. Van der Byl, president; A. S. Burgess, vice-president, and E. P. Ashe, are strongly behind the nurse in her efforts to promote better health among the children by properly supervised play.

RECOUNTS ACTS OF FRIEND OF LINCOLN

Book Published in Illinois Tells Life Story of Stephen A. Douglas

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—Tracing a staunch friendship that continued, in spite of their political differences, as long as they both lived, the Illinois Historical Society has published a life of Stephen A. Douglas, which forges a new link together the memories and fame of Lincoln and Douglas. It was prepared by Frank E. Stevens of Bycamore, Ill.

Mr. Stevens related that when Lincoln was to be inaugurated in Washington the first time, "it was intimated that Mrs. Lincoln was to be snubbed by Washington society absenting itself. Douglas, a social favorite, let it be known at once that the Douglasses would undertake to spoil the little plot, and to the utmost of his ability he did, by escorting Mrs. Lincoln to the ballroom upon his arm.

"But the crowning manifestation of that sincere friendship was exhibited quietly, almost innocently, at the delivery of Lincoln's inauguration speech, when Lincoln, ascending the rostrum steps awkwardly enough, was looking for a place to lay his hat. Douglas, who had seen all the embarrassment, and as though expected of him, he reached for it and held it during the delivery of the speech, to which he listened intently.

MODERATE APPROVAL

"It was the speech of his friend and neighbor, his great and successful rival, and in it he felt an interest which he manifested by frequent nods of approval and such exclamations as 'Good!' 'That's fair!' 'No backing out there!' 'That's a good point!'

"What a reversal of fortune! Lincoln in 1854 sneered, pathetically, alluding to the 'big game' which had reached—now Douglas held the hat of his humble rival of other days!

"It was a tender little tribute which could come only from a friendship, strong and enduring, born amidst the happy hardships of rude pioneer life, whose friendships are as strong as the mortar which build states."

DOUGLAS MONUMENT

Upon his Oakenwald estate, within a few feet of the Illinois Central Railroad, which he projected, Douglas stands to-day in bronze, high in the air. Facing the east, he is made the first to welcome with outstretched hands the dawn of each new day.

"Patiently, Douglas has been waiting to greet the sun's first rays and ask their blessing upon the land behind his back; the land he loved so well," Stevens continues. "How well time has observed that request, sixty-three years have answered in growing crops, banks full of money, great institutions of learning and beautiful churches. And then at dusk the sun stops long enough to stoop in homage and kiss the grave of the martyr senator, Edward D. Baker, the early friend of Douglas."

MAN WAS DROWNED IN THE PITT RIVER

W. J. Lloyd Was Getting a Drink of Water Near Port Coquitlam

Vancouver, Jan. 5.—Walter J. Lloyd, forty, insurance agent, formerly a Methodist minister and high school teacher, was drowned in the Pitt River near Port Coquitlam yesterday while attempting to get a drink of water. Endeavoring to fill a cup, he slipped into the water and was carried away by the current before aid could be rendered him.

Mr. Lloyd was a graduate of Victoria College, and was for one year in charge of the Methodist Church at Hazel Bluff, Alberta.

He was on the teaching staff of King George's High School at Port Grey, resigning in June last because of ill-health.

Suicide Followed Lonely Farm Life

Kamloops, B.C., Jan. 5.—Anton Corenson, forty-two, whose body was found hanging by the neck from a tree in a thicket ten miles east of here, had spent sixteen years on a lonely farm in Saskatchewan, and since coming to this district last September had shown signs of being mentally unbalanced, according to evidence furnished at the inquest Saturday.

Before the body of the deceased was cut down it was observed that his were the only tracks leading to the tree. Hay wire was found on the hanging. Corenson was a bachelor.

Archdeacon Forester Bliss, who died at his home at Port Elmsley on Wednesday last, in his seventy-first year, was held here Saturday afternoon. A large number of church dignitaries, town officials, parishioners and personal friends attended. Fr. Rev. J. C. Roper, Bishop of Ottawa, and Rev. D. Clayton, local rector, officiated.

Improvement of Honey is Planned

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 5.—A proposal to unite the various apitary inspection services of the United States to co-operate with the Government in the eradication of foulbrood, from honey, is being considered by the American Honey Producers' League. The Government would supply half the inspection funds under the plan contemplated.

B. P. Kindig, president of the league, said the prevalence of foulbrood had been the greatest menace to successful honey production. "The proposal considered calls for a thorough inspection and cleanup in each county," Mr. Kindig said. "Federal funds would be available when the state appropriation and the training of inspectors were satisfactory to the Government. Limitations would be provided against the shipment of bees on combs into areas already inspected."

AIR DISARMAMENT PRESENTS PROBLEMS

Commercial Development is Closely Related to Military Aviation, Says Thompson

New York, Jan. 5.—Commercial air development is so closely related to military aviation that any international conference on aerial disarmament will have to deal with a country's commercial air needs, Eric-General Lord Thompson, former British Air Minister, said in an address before the Foreign Policy Association's "Gowers" on Saturday.

"The acid test of a nation's sincerity toward a permanent world peace was aerial disarmament, he said, adding that military aviation moved forward step by step with commercial aviation.

"The next war was pictured by the speaker, not as a war between professional soldiers, but a conflict between peoples; in which huge cruising airships and planes would use chemicals and explosives for the extermination of cities and non-combatant populations. This war would not be settled by a great aerial battle, he said, but by a general destruction of the behind-the-lines territory.

"The best air defence is to go at once to the enemy's larger cities and munition plants and destroy them," General Thompson said.

To Honor Memory of Benjamin Franklin

Indianapolis, Jan. 5.—Printers in the United States are being asked to observe the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, January 17, in a statement issued by James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, which has its headquarters here.

President Lynch will address a banquet of the Old Time Printers' Association in Chicago on that date, and he urges associations in other cities to plan suitable observances.

"Franklin, as a historical figure, is deserving of a larger share of attention than he has received in the past," Mr. Lynch said. "It is proper that printers should pay tribute annually to their patron saint. Franklin's life and philosophy offer a splendid model for his fellow craftsmen. His career as a printer, business man, writer, statesman, man of science and diplomat reveals the heights to which a journeyman printer may rise."

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston in 1706, and took up the printing trade at an early age.

RETURNING FAMILY FOUND HOME AFIRE

Firemen in Wilkesbarre, Pa., Thought People in Building Until They Arrived

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 5.—Returning to their home in Wilkesbarre this morning after spending the evening with relatives, Frank Dasta and his family found their home wrecked and in flames, the result of a gas explosion. The fire spread from the two-story house occupied by the Dasta family to the adjoining buildings on each side. The Dasta home was practically destroyed and the other two buildings badly damaged.

When neighbors failed to see any members of the Dasta family following the explosion it was feared they had been trapped in the building. The firemen were making frantic efforts to penetrate the heavy smoke when the family arrived on the scene. The damage is estimated at $50,000.

A NEW QUALIFICATION

SOME PEOPLE IN VANCOUVER are objecting to the appointment of Mr. F. A. Pauline as Agent-General for British Columbia in London.

Insistence upon residence in Vancouver as an indispensable qualification for the post of Agent-General in London is both new and novel.

Curiously enough also, the duty of the Agent-General is not solely to promote the interests of Vancouver, but to advance those of British Columbia as a whole.

Mr. Pauline, through his long business associations which extend back to a period when Vancouver was little more than a cluster of huts, has sufficient knowledge of the requirements of British Columbia for the successful discharge of his duties as Agent-General.

GERMAN FILMS

AT LEAST ONE VANCOUVER man finds it difficult to understand why German theatres do not get more German films.

There are in Germany two or three very clever producers of films whose work could be welcomed to this or any other country.

time Canadian or American censors had finished with them. It is an open secret that uncensored films from the United States go into Germany at present and appear on the screen in their original form.

Canada is getting an excellent assortment of films. Nobody would rave about all of them. For the most part they are of a high order.

SOME DIFFERENCE

ON DECEMBER 8, 1887, this paragraph appeared in The Canadian Gazette of London: "We learn that a space of fifty feet by fifty feet has been secured for the Canadian Government exhibit at the Glasgow International Exhibition of next year."

On April 23 last year the Canadian Government exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition occupied just a little less than six acres and represented an outlay of something like $2,000,000.

Canada's export trade in 1887 amounted to $35,515,011. Last year it passed the $1,000,000,000 mark by a substantial margin.

PLAYING THE GAME

VERY FEW PEOPLE stop to think of the value of the frequent athletic competitions which take place between the young people of this and other communities.

The playing field for the young generation is as important to national life as are legislative hall and conference table to the parliamentarian and diplomat.

These interchanges, unknown to quite a large number of people, are continually taking place between sportsmen in many realms from Canada and the United States.

Taking golf and world peace as his text, a distinguished American jurist said the other day in Chicago that the game is more potent than any alliance to prevent international discord, because it is played everywhere under the same rules.

Canadian scullers cross the Atlantic; Canadian tennis players do the same; and there is everywhere a tendency to allow the friendly competition to play its part in making people better sportsmen.

A big Newcastle sardine firm made a $250,000 gift to its employees last Saturday to mark the twenty-first birthday of the business. This looks like little fish and big profits with a vengeance.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON "WOMEN IN POLITICS"

A REMARKABLE feature of the recent elections, both in England and the United States, has been the number of women that were chosen to office.

In the United States, Mr. Ferguson was elected Governor of Texas. Another woman was chosen Governor of Wyoming, and Mrs. Knapp was returned to the office of Secretary of State in New York.

Women are naturally Conservatives. They do not have the adventurous spirit of men, and are more inclined to conserve what we have than to go after things that we have not.

Woman will never succeed in business, or in the creative arts, for those are things that require initiative and adventure; but for governing and law-making, she is admirably adapted.

True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends, but in the worth and choice.

Encourage such innocent amusements as may disengage the minds of men and make them mutually rejoice in the same agreeable satisfactions.

It isn't your position but your disposition that makes you happy or unhappy.

A graceful presence speaks acceptance, gives a force to language, and helps to convince by look and posture.

Employ your time in improving yourselves by other men's documents, so shall you come easily by what others have labored for.

All is but lip-wisdom which wants experience.

All who joy would win Must share to happiness was born a twin.

Honors achieved far exceed those that are created.

Whatever enlarges hope will also exalt courage.

He that places himself neither higher or lower than he ought to do exercises the truest humility.

AGENT-GENERAL IN LONDON

SAANICH MUNICIPAL ELECTION To the Editor:—In the issue of your paper of December 30, under the heading of "Saanich Election," I notice a letter by the name of "Ad Item," who after stating that Ward Four Ratepayers' Association have reason to congratulate themselves on the action of the council in electing Mr. MacNicol as Reeve for the past year and endorsing his candidature for a second term, he goes on to say that this association has nominated Frank Metlor to represent them for their councillor for 1925, and that one of the most important questions to be considered will be transportation, and asks me if I will kindly tell them whether I will insist upon the insurance of passengers by the owners of vehicles paying for hire in the Saanich municipality.

With your kind permission, I would like to inform "Ad Item," that at a meeting called for the discussion of transportation for a brief session, I pointed out the necessity of compulsory insurance by owners of buses, etc., of the traveling public, and also again at the Royal Oak, and again at a later meeting, I pointed out the absolute necessity of the council framing a by-law giving them power, as far as possible, to make and enforce time schedules, thereby preventing the clashing of times made by competitive bus owners.

FRANK MELLORE, 614 Grand Avenue, Saanich.

MR. HADFIELD'S CANDIDATURE

To the Editor—Would you kindly allow the use of my name to explain my reasons for my candidature at the forthcoming council election in Esquimalt. Before proceeding I wish to thank you heartily for the courtesies you have extended me on previous occasions.

As I am at present a member of the Board of Police Commissioners, I may appear to some that I have sufficient public duties to attend to, but I wish to say that only after mature consideration have I come to the conclusion that I should accept of the duties of both offices; in fact the duties of these offices at times overlap to such an extent as to make it impossible to abolish either office. I now hold and consolidate those duties with the duties of councillor.

I would strongly recommend that certain duties now being performed by our police officers be taken over by the council; this would not entail any increase in cost, but would be a very desirable rearrangement in certain departments, leaving the police more time to devote to purely police affairs, and enable the police commissioners to make reductions in their estimates.

There are certainly good grounds for reductions in police estimates, which may easily and safely be made by close co-operation between the commissioners and various council committees.

I have given careful study to various phases of council work during the past two years and feel confident that, if elected, the knowledge I have gained may be of service to the municipality and will result in reductions of public expenditures.

The works department has been functioning in an efficient manner, and with minor changes could be made still more efficient.

In the matter of fire-fighting, broad changes can be made. I would advocate the formation of a volunteer fire brigade, to be properly drilled and instructed in fire fighting, avoiding the costly manner in fire-fighting which has been in vogue in recent years in Esquimalt. In this matter, at one fire alone during the past year, the money spent to pay men picked up casually would have covered the expense of a properly trained volunteer brigade for one whole year.

I much has been said, pro and con, during the past year on the subject of public parks and playgrounds that have been provided in the municipality. Whilst possibly more has been spent on the park than some people care to admit, I contend it is a paramount duty of public men to provide some place suitable for the younger generation may take their play and pastime. As a police commissioner, I have had many complaints made to me of children annoying residents by playing on the streets. As a result, it becomes the duty of all and especially those who object to children playing on public thoroughfares, to support to the utmost the candidates who are striving to provide playgrounds for the children.

If elected I shall do my utmost to advance the best interests of the municipality as a whole and at a minimum of expense.

C. Coussard M. C. McNeil and Secretary W. M. McNeil left Sunday night for Calgary, where several witnesses have been subpoenaed. From there they will proceed to Drumheller for a brief session. Statements read from the Winnipeg evidence of C. Courtney, coal dealer of that city, to the effect that shipments to him from the Rosemount mine at Wayne had been cut off following complaints by the trade at his price-cutting were dubbed a mere "subterfuge" by James K. Patterson, broker of that city, who remarked that it was wholly a matter of credit.

Several disheveled cabbages and drabs which originated in Winnipeg were placed in the hands of the commission as an ample answer to specific charges in Winnipeg of discrimination.

Commissioner Campbell remarked at the close that it was quite evident that producers and shippers had troubles aplenty of their own, including high freight rates, to contend with, in reaching the Manitoba market.

IT TOOK a long time for the very literary essayists to discover the art that lies behind vaudeville clownery, comic strips, jazz bands and the like. Then, one day, Gilbert Seldes wrote the "Seven Lively Arts" and told New York what every vaudeville goer and comic reader in the rest of the country had known for years.

For years "the four-leaf wildcat" has been rambling his good natured, darkey way through Wiley's short stories. Now he appears in a new volume of tales, "The Prowler (Knopf)," in which effort of plot invention often becomes too apparent, but in which something like justice can be done the character of the Paul Bunyan school with a character that could be interpreted in a full education is thought in her land to be only for the poor clerking classes. Her tutor brings the heart complications that draw the story to a most colorful crisis.

Sooner or later someone was bound to write the story of the conflict of Germanic and American bloods in an Anglo-German at the time of the World War and Robert E. McClure has done it in "The Dominant Blood" (Doubleday, Page). The mother is Teuton, the father is American and the result shows in some admirably written scenes of his adolescence and childhood. He is surely an uncomfortable combination—although his surveyor has seen many such mixed ones who took it in no manner so hard. We understand that Booth Tarkington has referred to it as "a big, fine piece of work," and who are we?

Jack Bethea, for some years managing editor of "The Birmingham Post" is another newspaperman to turn novelist, his first work being "Red Rock" (Houghton, Mifflin), which already has been sold to the movie. The novel is set in the coal-mining belts where the young hero decides to come up from the ranks by wedding the daughter of the company president. Then he succeeds in doing, but the girl learns his motive, her love turns to hate and there is melodrama to burn in the strike excitement that takes place before he has "fought his way back."

Meeting them at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning to make a tour of the building which the two men said they wished to convert into a billiard parlor, Simonitch conducted them to the basement of the place. Once in the basement the two men bound the real-estate man, tied him to a pillar and relieved him of $2,000 in cash, which he carried on his person, as well as a diamond ring and a watch. Then they went to the upper part of the building, where, in a room, $5,000 more was obtained by the robbers.

Simonitch had inherited the $7,000 some thirty years ago. The entire amount, in currency, was frayed and worn, and when he attempted to cash it in at the local bank with which he did business, he was told it was necessary to send the paper to Washington for exchange. He neglected to do this and kept the money generally in some secluded spot.

It is believed the men, whose names were not learned by Simonitch or the authorities, in some manner learned the whereabouts of the money.

Police declare the fact that the paper was badly worn may help to apprehend the men.

VICTORIA COUPLE WED IN NANAIMO

Thos. S. Moffat of Princess Patricia Weds Late Captain's Daughter

Nanaimo, Jan. 5.—An interesting wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Church by Rev. Sebastian Ryall, Saturday at high noon when Amy Kenworthy Gilchrist, daughter of Mrs. Amy Gilchrist, Chapel Street, and the late Captain William L.W. Gilchrist, formerly of 5th Princeps Patricia, became the bride of Thomas Stewart Moffat of Victoria, and a member of the staff of the steamer Princess Patricia.

Both bride and groom were born and have lived in Victoria, where they have many friends. To the strains of the bridal march of Wagner, played by Mr. Alexander Dunsmyr, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Hector Gilchrist, wearing a lovely gown of white silk, crepe, by Grecian lines. Rows of narrow knife plaiting of the material fell from the shoulder on both sides of the front neck-band, and a narrow yoke, trimmed with narrow knife plait, formed a cape in the back. A braided girde finished with orange blossoms marked the waistline, and long flowing sleeves accentuated the ancient design.

She wore a bridal veil of silk Brussels net, beautifully embroidered and arranged in a Juliet style, and mounted with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was composed of Opheelia roses tied with a profusion of narrow white satin ribbon adorned with tiny roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Jean Gilchrist, sister of the bride, dressed in a lovely frock of peach crepe over satin. The skirt was slashed at one side to show a panel of silver lace. She wore a white shawl and a hat mounted with ostrich feathers completed the costume. She wore a band of silver leaves on her head and carried a shower bouquet of pale yellow roses and white carnations.

Mr. John Moffat, brother of the groom, acted as best man. During the signing of the register, Miss Jean Patterson sang "My Prayer."

Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, only intimate relatives and relatives were guests at a luncheon which followed the ceremony at the bride's home, after which the couple left for Victoria en route to Vancouver.

The bride traveled in a smart coat of silk velour with a beached beaver collar and a chic brown hat. Her dress was of nigger brown canton, trimmed with large moire blocks of the same hue.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—Joseph Sparrow, retired jeweler, brought suit against his wife here Saturday asking separate maintenance and $300 a month. He alleges cruelty and says his wife has a large income from property left her by a former husband. This is the first suit in the state of the kind since the legislature at its last session enacted a law enabling a man, as well as a woman, to sue for separate maintenance.

Friendly Help.—The monthly meeting of the Friendly Help Association will be held to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 10.30, in rooms upstairs, Market Building, Cormorant Street.

Mr. N. B. Lloyd, who has been spending the past few days in a few days in Victoria, is returning to Vancouver yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Arthur Aylard, who was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Aylard, Elliott Street, over the Christmas holidays, has returned to Vancouver, to resume his studies at the University of British Columbia.

CATHOLIC PRODIGES AT CHRISTMAS TREE

Women's League and Knights of Columbus Hosts Saturday

The annual Christmas tree for the children of St. Andrew's Cathedral Parish, was given by the Catholic Women's League assisted by the Knights of Columbus in their hall on Saturday afternoon. By a clever arrangement with Mr. Leonard, Santa Claus appeared as an energetic and bountiful as at any of the earlier trees and delighted the 375 happy children who crowded around him as he distributed gifts from the gaily decorated tree. In addition to these presents each child received a fat little stocking filled with goodies. Delicious meals were served in the billiard room and among the grown-up guests were several members of the clergy from St. Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father Anselm Wood, Rev. Father O'Brien and the Rev. Father Pascal Deacy. A musical programme arranged by Mr. L. J. Burdon-Murphy of the cathedral school of music was delightfully carried out by the following clever students of the school: Gertie Hunt and Lucille Kinsinger, piano-duo; Katherine Roberts, reciter; Roy Thomson and Brian Burdon-Murphy, violin duo; Desmond and Brian Burdon-Murphy, piano solo; Opal Day, recitations; and Brian Burdon-Murphy, violin solo.

Those directly responsible for the success of the afternoon's entertainment were Mrs. W. McKanus and Mrs. W. V. Baines, assisted by Mrs. Plumb, acting president of the league; Mrs. Kinsinger, Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Devereaux, Mrs. Hurst, Miss Madigan, Miss O'Brien, Mrs. Hartnell, Mrs. Sealing and Mrs. DeLahunty, who made all the stockings for the tree. Mr. F. L. O'Connell rendered invaluable aid to Santa Claus in distributing the gifts.

Scenes, Mr. Page and Mr. Harris are shortly going to start clearing the land. Miss May has gone to Vancouver for the school holidays. Mrs. Rose and Stephen spent Christmas with Mrs. Stewart.

The assembly hall was the scene of an exceptionally jolly dance on Wednesday when nearly 100 guests of the Royal Club were under the happy conditions. "I want to make special mention of the Chopin sonata. It was played as a depth of tone and an interpretation that at times seemed uncanny. The writer is not in the habit of reviewing recitals, having done so on rare occasions, but for its sake, those of Pietro Von, Marcel Dupre and others. But in this instance it is a privilege for him to be allowed to say a few words. Mrs. Green unquestionably ranks among the greatest pianists of the century. COURBOIN PRAISES MRS. GREEN'S WORK Pianist Compared With Godowsky and Paderewski By Organist

One of the most interested listeners in the audience attending the piano recital by Gertrude Lucy Green in Plymouth Congregational Church, Seattle, Friday, December 5, was Charles M. Courboin, famous Belgian organist, who is to play in Seattle to-day. The great organist, who was intensely enthusiastic, contributed to The Seattle Times the following review of Mrs. Green's performance: "The writer is not in the habit of reviewing recitals, having done so on rare occasions, but for its sake, those of Pietro Von, Marcel Dupre and others. THE SLEEP OF PLANTS

A Fascinating Study Which Reveals Amazing Devices Used by Growths of All Sorts to Protect Themselves
From Atmospheric Conditions

By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

To take a ramble around the garden at night is to open up a strange and fantastic chapter of plant life, for so essential is light to healthful vegetation that scarcely a tree, shrub or blossom, but in some way changes its aspect when daylight fades. We find ourselves in "drowsyland," where familiar plants have assumed the most whimsical postures, or even changed their aspect altogether.

One form of the acacia seems, at night, to be covered with little bits of string instead of leaves; while a bank of nasturtiums presents a still more peculiar effect—every slender stem bent at the top so that each round leaf is tilted on its side. We see balsams with each leaf sharply declined, lilies and escholtzias with closed cups and hanging heads; the lupin, the sad lupine of Virgil, its blue spike of blossom quite erect, as in daytime, but with every wheel-shaped leaf drooping against the stem like a closed umbrella. The bean family, Lima, kidney, French and scarlet runners, all seem to be withered; all the leaflets nod, as if broken at the joint with the stem. The flowers of the potato plant, saucer-shaped by day, now pucker their white rims around the center column of stamens and the partridge pea (Chamaecrista fasciculata) presents a picture of drooping listlessness.

Poppies, "lords of the land of dreams," are most somnolent of all soon after sunset, their four daisy-like petals curled within each other above a tiny crowned head, while the outer pair enfold all in the bivalve embrace. Anyone may easily note that all the clovers are at very sleepy family, and keep early hours, like that daisy, which Chaucer poetically tells us, "fears and hateth darkness."

The sleep of plants is so conspicuous a phenomenon that it excited discussion as early as the time of Pliny, as many explanations were offered, in those early times, which have since been disproved.

EARLY RESEARCH
Linnæus, the great Swedish botanist, was the first to give the subject special study. He wrote a work called "Sleep of Plants" one hundred and fifty years ago and in it he tells us that he found that night changes were determined by temperature and the daily alterations of light and darkness.

Movement is not actually caused by the difference in the amount of light—the plant recedes during the night and day. Many plants, especially the nasturtium, unless brightly illuminated during the day, will not sleep at night. If two plants were brought into the center of a room,

YOUR HEALTH

WHY SCHOOLS OF MOTHERHOOD ARE BEING ESTABLISHED
By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Not long ago I talked with a famous educator in Detroit. He told me about a department they are establishing in his school, to study the problems of motherhood.

The atmosphere of Michigan appears to favor thought along this line. I recall that Mrs. Thos. W. Palmer left a fund to endow the Merrill-Palmer School of Motherhood—the job of motherhood, the exact name of the foundation but this expresses the idea.

Why shouldn't this object be taught to high school girls? What can be more important than to have every prospective mother taught how to care for babies, how to feed them, and how to bring up children?

I have often thought that day nurseries have not been made so useful as they might be. The Detroit idea solves the problem. The nurseries can be made laboratories, where young women are taught the most important of all callings in the world—the job of motherhood.

Now, Grandpa, don't you sneer at this progressive suggestion. Don't you tell about "them times" which you imagine were so much better than these new-fangled times.

If you do, I'll remind you that in the old, old times many a mother buried her children before she herself had time to get to bed. Endless numbers of little graves give silent testimony to the necessity of teaching the greatest of all lessons—how to care for children.

I have tried to spread the gospel of good health, particularly the prevention of disease, if we can mass up one generation of mothers, fully instructed in all things which make for sturdiness of body, all our health teachers would be out of business. I devoutly pray, that this most important of all teaching, may so permeate society, that every prospective mother will have first-hand information regarding the intricacies of child rearing.

When everybody knows the kinds and quantities of food a child should have at every age, the conditions under which it should sleep, the proper proportions of rest and play, and how to deal with its moods and whims, the doctors will be without visible means of support.

I know the heart and soul of my professional brothers. I know they will rejoice and be glad when the blissful day arrives that ignorance has been swept out. The power of knowledge, they will agree, is the one thing capable of freeing mankind from its present submission to the evils of sickness.

SALTS FINE FOR BRACING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. (Adv.)

ORIGINALS COME BACK WITH NEW FEATURES IN "STEPPING OUT"

Will Occupy Boards at Royal Victoria For Three Nights. With Attractive Entertainment; Old Favorites Return

Something extraordinary in theatrical entertainment, the season's biggest laugh, is coming to the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night for a three-day engagement when Canada's celebrated soldier performers, "The Originals," will present "Stepping Out," an entirely different conception of entertainment, on their annual visit to the city. Theatregoers of Victoria look forward to the boys' engagement here each season and are assured of a rare treat in "Stepping Out." They have a comedian who is without a peer on this continent. Bob Anderson is one of those talented Lancashire funmakers who is just naturally funny, his every appearance on the stage is the occasion for riotous laughter. They have a comedian who is without a peer on this continent. Bob Anderson is one of those talented Lancashire funmakers who is just naturally funny, his every appearance on the stage is the occasion for riotous laughter.

Gene Pearson, the owner of one of the most extraordinary male soprano voices before the public, and who created a sensation here last season with "Her" singing, has added greatly to his stage wardrobe, and also his vocal repertoire. In the new show he plays the role of a dashing prima donna in a one act operetta which has been specially written for him; sings and dances in an elaborate carnival scene, and plays the part of Lady Violet Sudds, the daughter of the Duchess of Dishwater, in the new and screamingly funny burlesque, "The Duchess Performs."

The singing of the Originals has invariably been a joy, and their voices are strengthened even more by the addition to the cast of Thomas Dunn, brilliant new baritone, and Gus McKinnon, a delightful new tenor; Bertram Langley and Jerry Bradford, as always, add much to the musical and to the humorous excellence of "Stepping Out." Alan Murray, the old favorite, blossoms forth this season in a quite new line of characterization which is a surprise and delight to those who know him only as a graceful dancer and an attractive young man. His portrayal of the Apache girl, Lady Elizabeth Sudds, and as a dancer with both Jerry Bradford and Thomas Dunn, are all features of the show, and it is quite evident that these latest Originals Revue is surpassing its immediate predecessor, "Rapid Fire" in its uproarious comedy and beautiful music, all of which qualify for the characteristic that supplies this clever troupe with its trade name.

Incidentally, many of the specially written song numbers sung by Bob Anderson and Gene Pearson, are distinct hits, and are sweeping the country along with their delightful refrains. Bob's greatest hits are "With My Turned Away," and "That's Another One Gone," all old "Country" numbers with that unusual "swing" the type which Bob knows so well how to dispense. "Love Will Come Back," the beautiful waltz ballad sung by Gene Pearson, was written by the Canadian composers, Handy and Harrower. Another instantaneous success is "The Love Trail," written by Willard Crocker.

AT THE THEATRES

Royal Victoria — Originals in "Stepping Out."
Capitol — "Wine," That Never Sleeps.
Coliseum — "Tilly of Bloomsbury."
Columbia — "Captain Blood."
Playhouse — "A Wife's Romance."

The well-known Montreal tennis champion, but these days, tennis have been specially arranged for Gene Pearson.

When "The Duchess Performs," the final setting of the show, players again witness the first and original "Duchess," Leonard Young, who delighted thousands four years ago as the aristocrat in "The Duchess Entertains," and who now brings new laughter at "her" equally ill-advised attempts to "perform." Lionel Broadway, the company's brilliant new juvenile, is a young Canadian artist of distinction and has already become a big favorite with the many admirers of the Originals. His snappy new song hits and magnetic personality stamp him as a musical comedy artist of splendid ability. Norman Blume and Jimmy MacDonald are two new comedians who have jumped into immediate favor with the Canadian public. There are nearly a score of melodious hits in "Stepping Out," and it is an offering that everyone should see to fully appreciate.

Capitol to Present "Wine" as Lesson of American Law

Film is Based Upon Enforcement of Prohibition Laws in United States

A picture remarkably in keeping with current events is showing at the Capitol Theatre. It is the filmation of William MacHarg's startling story, "Wine," published in the Cosmopolitan magazine.

It is the story of an American family, wealthy, well established in society, respected for position and standard of living, and the melting of its social status and weakening of its principles. The story is that of a big business man on the verge of ruin, who cast discretion and principles to the winds by allying himself with illicit liquor distribution to save the family home and his own financial position. His wife forgets her pride of social position, and their pretty daughter falls into the clutches of a younger set that travels too fast a pace for her welfare.

There may be sceptics who will doubt the veracity of the theme of the film play, but the facts, in the knowledge of newspaper reporters and federal liquor sleuths will vouch for its credibility. It reflects a condition prevalent in many parts of the United States since the enactment of the national prohibition law.

The moral tone of the film is good and it should be valuable as a pictorial legend of conditions in regard to liquor handling and the breadth of its effect as they now exist.

It is well cast, the leading players doing exceptional work, and the direction by Louis Gasnier is adequate. The cast is headed by Clara Bow, Forrest Stanley, Huntley Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Robert Agnew and Walter Long.

"Next day" reaction to a day spent on one of the Southern California beaches, delayed production of "Wine," Universal-Jewel to be shown on the screen this week at the Capitol Theatre. The picture has many scenes where cafes are peopled by women in full evening dress; also there is a scene where these same women are at a beach resort, and it was after this scene had been filmed that the delay took place.

The "reaction" was detected by the director, Louis Gasnier, when his stylishly gowned women appeared for a ballroom scene. When the lights were turned on many sunburned shoulders, backs and arms were revealed beneath the powder as red as beet.

"Wine" is an all-star production, the screen version of the short story by the same name, written by William MacHarg and published in Cosmopolitan Magazine. The story was acclaimed as the most sensational expose of bootlegging and its attendant conditions ever published, and announcement that Universal Pictures Corporation had purchased the screen rights was the subject of much comment.

The leading feminine juvenile role in the all-star cast is taken by Clara Bow, who has gained rapid recognition as a screen star. Others prominently featured in the cast are Forrest Stanley, Huntley Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Robert Agnew, Walter Long, Grace Carlisle and Leo White.

The story is constructed around events in the life of an aristocratic family, father, mother and daughter, after the father has consented to place family honor and tradition aside and become the leading figure in a ring of bootleggers, that by so doing he may avert bankruptcy.

"Where did the car hit him?" the coroner asked.
"At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," replied the medical witness.
The burly foreman rose from his seat. "Man and boy, I've lived in these parts for fifty years," he protested, "and I never heard of the place."

"Blossom Time" To Make Pleasant Return to City

Favorite Viennese Opera to Be Presented on Thursday Here

Those who saw the Messrs. Schubert's lovely production of "Blossom Time" last season, are surely going to see it again at the Royal Victoria Theatre, where it has scored the most solid success in years and where it returns for an engagement of one night beginning Thursday, January 8.

The title of this piece indicates its delightful qualities. No more agreeable musical piece has been seen in America in years than this charming and diverting Viennese opera. Dorothy Donnelly indicated her splendid capacity as adapter by her re-writing of the original book and supplying a new set of lyrics. In the original this musical play was by A. M. Willner and H. Reinert. The score is made up of music from the melodies of Franz Schubert, new music by H. Berke of Vienna, and the entire production made under the personal direction of J. J. Schubert. The Messrs. Schubert have gone to great lengths to provide a fitting production for this charming piece and singing and acting company of the first quality.

G B SAMUELSON Presents "TILLY OF BLOOMSBURY"

HILARIOUS ENGLISH COMEDY-ROMANCE

From Ian Hay's Famous Novel HAPPY GO-LUCKY

The romance started on a rainy day on top of a Piccadilly Bus. A poisonous Bounder with an umbrella was trying to put his arm around Tilly's waist; and of course Dicky couldn't stand by in silence with a lady in distress and all that. So Dicky chased off the Bally Sportsman, took the Bounder's seat, and in twenty minutes Dicky was putting his own arm around Tilly's waist. Absolutely irresistible waist—Tilly's. WHAT-HO!

THURSDAY—THOMAS MEIGHAN IN "TONGUES OF FLAME"

Will Tell Picture Fans of Famous Spanish Hero

"A Wife's Romance" Now at Playhouse, Introduces Early Castilian Warrior

"A Wife's Romance" which is now playing at the Playhouse Theatre offers at least one point of educational interest which might well be taken up by the schools and the children instructed in some wayward bit none the less culture fact. Miss Clara Kimball Young is seen at various times at work on a painting of "Le Cid" and mention of it is made several times in the subtitles. Few people in the audience probably knew whether "Le Cid" was a nillfloor bowl or whether after the fashion of the little girl and why was sent to the library to fetch Dickens's story of the French revolution and asked the librarian to give her "A Tale of Two Cities" (A Tale of Two Cities)—the painting was one of little Coogan in his first picture, "The Kid". Everything is possible. "Le Cid" then, for the benefit of the uninitiated, is the name of the legendary hero of Spain. He holds the same position in literature and in the hearts of the Spanish people as does King Arthur of the Round Table among the English, and the legendary heroes of other countries. "Le Cid" is the epitome of courage, military and political, and a Spanish people. He was exiled from his country and then asked to return to Spain in the many enemies which needed her Arthur. After performing heroic service in many ways he was finally made king of Castile and after his death was enshrined in the and as the greatest of the great heroes of Spain. "A Wife's Romance" is under the direction of Thomas Heffron. The adaptation of the novel "La Rubia" by H. W. Roberts for the screen was completed by Frank Beresford. Art direction by Joseph C. Wright and it was photographed by Charles Richardson. "A Wife's Romance" is a Metro Pictures Corporation production.

Fine Programme is Given by Students of Columbia School

The Columbia School of Music had particularly interesting and busy evening on Friday last, when forty students in the Junior grade gave a programme consisting of pianoforte, lutes and solos, and some violin solos and duets in all of which there revealed a general standard of intelligence and efficiency, upon which the principal, Mrs. Burdon-Murphy, together with the members of her staff and the participants concerned were entitled to compliments. Trustee H. O. Litchfield, who has in previous years officiated at prize-giving functions connected with the school, was again present on this occasion and distributed the gold and silver stars distinctions to the prize winners. Trustee Litchfield said "he was glad of the opportunity afforded him on the present occasion to express hearty congratulations to all concerned in this music school, in sustaining at the Summer examinations of the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, the highest honors and the largest number of passes, assigned to the Victoria City centre. Such results must surely inspire both teacher and pupil," he said, "to even a higher and closer study of the divinest of all arts, namely music."

Those taking part in the evening's programme were: Pianoforte department: Laverne Lefley, Muriel Walker, Phyllis Boden, Dorothy D'Connell, Stella Wilkinson, Horace Peck, Ruth Windan, Phyllis Grant, Edda Graham, Katherine Roberts, Marguerite Lockwood, Francis Biggin, Roma Trudel, Essie Sama, Opal Day, Patsy Brooks, Florence Warren, Ruby Aldred, Douglas Wyndham, Muriel Wyndham, Peggy Gelling, Evelyn Dawson, Mary Moga, Edna Graham, Roberta Bosnaw, Patsy Brook, Kenneth Whitworth, Josephine Reid, Weldon Reid, Gertrude Hunt, Lucilla Kessinger, Mary Plummer, Winnifred Plummer, Violin department, Athea Patterson, Myrtle Hoy, Roy Tommonson and Brian Burdon-Murphy, Desmond Burdon-Murphy accompanying on the piano in a violin duet, played by the last two mentioned. Contrast was represented in some cleverly executed recitations by Katherine Roberts and Opal Day of the elocution department.

Those receiving the gold and silver stars in the different classes being the first in their respective grades were: Mary Leith, Tom Ross, Marjorie Henderson, Kenneth Bonner, Lucille Klasinger, Josephine Reid, Roma Trudel, Francis Biggin, Weldon Reid, Stella Wilkinson, Ray Thomson and Dorothy O'Connell. Second in their respective grades were: Wanita Aldred, George Leith, Jean Floweright, Katherine Roberts, J. Dawson, M. Lockwood, Essie Sama, Opal Day, Florence Warren and Edda Graham. Third in their grades were: Margorie Oliver, Kenneth Whitworth, Henry Campbell, Gertrude Hunt, Muriel Walker, Myrtle Hoy, Mary Plummer, Ruby Aldred and Winnifred Plummer.

"Captain Blood" Introduces Thrills of Piracy on Spanish Main at Columbia

Movies have been described in such glowing terms that there scarcely seems to be words left to describe a really good picture. It is not until the reviewer sees a production like Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood," which is the attraction at the Columbia Theatre to-day, that he wishes he had been more conservative in describing other photoplays. There is art, acting, action and merit in "Captain Blood." It is different from other films and contains a wealth of those features that have made the photoplay a chief factor in the world's amusement attractions. After witnessing a score of average film productions it is as refreshing as an oasis in the desert to see one of the calibre of "Captain Blood." From the first when Peter Blood is arrested and sent a slave to be sold at Barbados, to the final scene when, as Governor of the island, he wins the hand of Arabella Bishop, there is not a dull moment. The slave market, the insurrection of the slaves, the attack on Georgetown, the capture of the Arabella by Blood and his fellow-rebels-convict, the encounter with the French fleet, duels between Blood and a pirate chief, and with a Spanish officer, the burning of a ship and the sinking of the Arabella are a few of the spectacular highlights in the production. These follow each other in rapid succession. The love interest is well handled, the major thread being carried in commendable manner by J. Warren Kerrigan as Peter Blood and Jean Faigan as Arabella Bishop. Sabatini's famous love story has been closely followed with the result that the author's hand is revealed in every sequence. This tends to prove that the closer a company adheres to the original story the better the resultant production.

Suitor—Pardon me, doctor, but last night your daughter accepted my proposal of marriage. I have called this morning to ask if there is any insanity in your family. Father—There must be!

How Tilly Bridged Social Gulf is Theme of Picture

Coliseum Offering is Somewhat Different Type of Usual London Portrayals

When Ian Hay wrote "Happy-Go-Lucky," he probably did not realize that his novel, in play form and rechristened "Tilly of Bloomsbury," was destined to become one of the biggest drawing cards on the English-speaking stage. Victoria audiences are familiar with the version of "Tilly" as presented in the spoken drama, and will no doubt receive with pleasure the announcement of the screen version, which is to be the attraction at the Coliseum Theatre this week. The plot unravels itself quickly, and the action is fast. Tilly is the daughter of a Bloomsbury boarding house mistress, and her romance with "Dicky" Mainwaring, member of one of the best titled families, forms the plot of the play. The eventual bridging of the social gulf between the two lovers by the ingenuity and levity of Tilly is both mirth-provoking and touching in pathos.

Rare judgment has been shown in the selection of Edna Best for the role of "Tilly." Miss Best is heralded as one of England's most talented actresses. In type she answers the requirements for the part—of the Bloomsbury milliner's assistant perfectly. The part of "Dicky" Mainwaring, the persistent and generous lover, is ably handled by Harry Kendall.

Tom Reynolds, who will be remembered for his admirable work in "The Game of Life," acquits himself admirably; his every appearance within the focus of the camera being the signal for laughter. His present characterization, that of Samuel Stillbottle, the hall's man, affords him one of the best comedy-parts of his career. Others of the cast who contribute notable work are Fred Lewis as Abel Mainwaring, "Dicky's" father; Leonard Tregon, as Lucius Welwyn, the father of Tilly; Campbell Gillian, as Tilly's brother Percy; and Helen Hays in the part of Lady Adela Mainwaring.

"City That Never Sleeps" is Film of New York City Life

Dramatic Scenes in Photoplay Based on "Mother o' Day" Story

It is safe to assume that there isn't a man, woman or child who would be unable to give the correct answer to the question: Which is "the city that never sleeps" at the Dominion for three days. And because everyone does know the answer, James Cruze's latest Paramount picture that bears the stirring title, is swathed with more than ordinary interest by local film fans.

New York—wonder city of the world—in the good "old days" before the war and before prohibition, with its notorious Bowery, East Side gangsters, cheap saloons and free lunch:

and New York in 1924, with its jazz-band Broadway, its gay White Way, its glittering night life and its fast set—against these two contrasting backgrounds, "The City That Never Sleeps" unfolds its poignant story of mother-love and sacrifice. The picture is an adaptation by Walter Woods and Anthony Coldewey of Leroy Scott's famous story, "Mother o' Day." The action centres about two women, mother and daughter. The mother keeps a cafe and dance hall in the Bowery section of New York. To make sure that her little baby girl will get the proper care and attention, she arranges to have the child adopted by an impoverished but socially prominent society woman to educate and bring up as her very own. The girl grows up in an age when to "have to be spent and the female of the species tries to outdo the male in marry-making. How the mother saves her daughter from her companions and herself, provides a gripping drama. From start to finish the screen play is chafed full of all those elements that go to make rich entertainment.

Director, Virginia Lee Corbin, Kathlyn Williams and Ricardo Cortez, who are featured, need no introduction, and the supporting players are equally well known. The fact that the picture was made by the producer of "The Covered Wagon" is a guarantee of its worth from a directorial standpoint.

Dancers, Be Up to Date! Learn the Newest Steps
I have just received from New York, where they are now all the rage, three new steps, i.e. THE TANGOLINA and RAGGIBBY ANN fox-trot and THE SHILLBOTTLE waltz. These three fascinating steps are not of the hesitation variety but are of continuous forward movement, pre-eminently suited to crowded ballrooms, and are simple and easy to learn. I guarantee that once you have learned these steps you will never wish to go back to the old and commonplace again. I repeat they are easy to learn, easy to dance and easy to follow by any really good partner without previous instruction. No dancer's repertoire should be without these new steps. Let me show you one of these steps free. Call any evening, no obligation. Private lessons, afternoons and evenings. Private classes formed from among your own friends at specially reduced rates.

"MILLIONAIRE ORPHAN" AND FORMER FIANCEE—The second chapter in the story of William McIntock, "millionaire orphan," is now being written in Chicago, where an investigation is in progress into the circumstances surrounding the death of the twenty-one-year-old youth on December 4. Shortly before that date he had inherited a fortune valued at $2,000,000 and reputed to have brought ill luck and early death to its every possessor. His will left this estate to his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Shepherd, making provision, however, for a life annuity of $8,000 for his fiancée, Miss Isabelle Pope, who is also shown above.

THEIR MAJESTIES OPEN PARLIAMENT—Their Majesties, the King and Queen, are shown above in the magnificent state coach—escorted by outriders—as they appeared immediately after they had opened the British Parliament last month. COLLEGIANS RETURN HOME AFTER A MOST SUCCESSFUL VISIT

Victoria's Varsity Rugby team returned home after a most successful visit to the Victoria College and University of Victoria teams. The Varsity team, under the leadership of Coach H. G. H. G., returned after a successful tour of the West Coast. The team played several matches, including a victory over the Victoria College team and a draw with the University of Victoria team. The team's success was due to their excellent teamwork and individual skills. The team's visit was a most successful one, and the team is well satisfied with their performance.

The final event of the programme took place in the Y.M.C.A. swimming tank in the form of races and diving.

All the events were keenly contested, and the Victoria stars carried off the honors with a total of 50 points to Varsity's 58. The events, both in the ladies' and men's events, were won by local swimmers, the former making 41 yards, while the latter came out victorious with a total of 46-28.

Mrs. Steele headed a party of water nymphs in a demonstration of fancy diving, which was greatly enjoyed by the spectators. Tom Smith also drew the applause of the crowd in his long distance performance. He plunged the whole length of the tank in 55 seconds and had a fine second margin to spare over the usual allowance when he touched the other end. The results were:

1. Men's sixty yards (free)—1, Tommy Whittier (Victoria); 2, Miss Gignac (Varsity); 3, E. Squires (Victoria); 4, McDonald (Varsity).

SERIAL STORY THE MARRIAGE SCALES

By MILDRED BARBOUR

Copyright 1924, Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.

MARIANA IS PIQUED

Before he left the Page's that night, Craig Cullum was dated up for several more engagements.

Mariana had said smilingly: "Charles is anxious to arrange a little supper party for you here some night after the performance, Mr. Cullum. Just a few interesting people. Couldn't you manage it?"

He looked rather helpless.

"Oh, I say," he protested, "this was so pleasant this evening—just the three of us—couldn't we—"

"Great idea!" broke in Charles heartily. "Craig doesn't like functions, Mariana. Let's cut out the party and arrange to have dinner together again next Sunday instead."

Cullum had no alternative but to accept.

"I can't blame you for not wishing to do society after your performance," Mariana said. "You work very hard, don't you? I fancy your role is difficult."

"You've seen the play?" he asked.

"I'm going again soon, too. The music calls me. Charles is to take me," she flung her husband a laughing glance. "Hasn't he seen the play, even though he's become very fond of the player?"

"Really?" Cullum turned to Charles. "You won't like it. It's distinctly a woman's type of show. But we have an excellent comedian who'll hand you a lot of laughs. Why not arrange to go Thursday night. If you have no other engagement, I'll have seats reserved for you and perhaps you'll be good enough to share a bit of supper with me afterward in my rooms."

Charles accepted enthusiastically and on Thursday night, from a box which Craig Cullum had provided, Mariana witnessed again the performance which had thrilled her so unaccountably.

Charles was sincerely admiring.

"Lord, what a voice Cullum's got! I don't wonder you women are nuts about him in that role, either. Women fall for the everman stuff, all right, and in that uniform with his slim waistline—" Charles looked down at his own slightly rounded figure, ruefully. "I guess you're right, Mariana, about my needing to diet."

Cullum had ordered a delectable little supper served in his hotel sitting room. There were lighted candles in tall carved silver centers, sticks on the table, and a centerpiece of creamy roses. A copper bowl of the same flowers occupied the top of the piano, over which a scarf of an exquisite brocade was flung. A few good books, showing signs of familiar usage, were tossed carelessly under a shaded lamp on a reading table, which was further adorned by a large silver-framed portrait of an aristocratic, white-

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily and Jillie's Trap

(By Howard R. Garis)

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, looking for an adventure, he saw, near a clump of bushes, Jillie-Louise, the little mouse girl. Jillie had on her furcoat. Her long tail was tied in a ribbon so it wouldn't take cold, for there was snow and ice on the ground.

"I wonder what Jillie can be doing out in the woods all alone?" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I must ask her. All alone as she is, the Big Owl might pick her up and fly away with her."

So the bunny gentleman hopped over to the clump of bushes and there he saw Jillie put a stick under the edge of a box to prop the box up in the air. Fastened to the stick that held the box was a long string.

"What are you doing, Jillie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm making a trap to catch something," explained the little mouse girl.

"And what do you hope to catch, Jillie?" asked the bunny.

"Some cheese," answered Jillie. At first Uncle Wiggily thought she was joking, but Jillie never smiled, and the bunny asked:

Oh, I have it! squeaked the little mouse girl.

"How do you expect to catch cheese in a trap, Jillie?"

"Why not?" inquired the mouse. "Don't people put cheese in traps to catch mice? Then why can't a mouse set a trap to catch a bit of cheese, I'd like to know? Besides, I don't want the cheese for myself. I want it for my brother Jollie, who is sick."

"Oh, that is very kind of you to want to trap some cheese for your sick brother," said Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know he was ill."

"He is," squeaked Jillie. "Jollie is quite sick and he keeps crying for a bit of cheese. There is none in our hole house so I thought I would come to the woods and see if I could trap any."

"But where do you think the cheese will come from to be trapped, Jillie?" asked the bunny. "Cheese is sold in the six and seven per cent. store, you know."

"Yes," answered Jillie, hiding in the bushes with the string to pull the stick from under the box so it would companion following the discovery of the six bodies in the gas filled house resulted in the finding of a broken man, evidently heaved up by the severe frosts of recent days, from which the deadly fumes entered the house.

So strong were the fumes remaining in the space which served as a form of cellar for the house that in their search the employees of the commission were obliged to wear masks and were given a supply of oxygen to prevent them from being overcome.

SOMETHING FOR WORKING MAN

Pat—This is the first time many of these corporations have done anything to benefit the working man.

Mike—How's that, Pat?

Pat—It is this raising of the tram fares. I hev bin walkin' to and fro from me work, and saving sin-pence; and now I kin save nine-pence, as they've raise the fare two-pence more!

"Here's a nickel, dear, for doing that errand for me."
"Make it five pennies, please, auntie."
"Why, child, the amount is the same."
"Yes, but a nickel comes in too handy when mamma wants to go and telephone somebody."

"Bert, do you still love me? You haven't asked me to marry you for two weeks."
"Why, Marion, I wouldn't ask anybody to marry me for two weeks."

"Yes, Mr. Henderson," said the head mistress of the young ladies' school, "you ought to be proud to be the father of such a large family, all the members of which appear to be devoted to one another."
"Large family! Devoted!" gasped Mr. Henderson in amazement. "What ever do you mean?"

"Why, yes, indeed," said the head mistress with a smile, "no fewer than eleven of Doris's brothers have been here to take her out for walks, and she tells me she expects the tall one with the blue eyes again to-morrow."

Mrs. Newrich, "I don't like this portrait you've painted. It isn't a good likeness."
"Sister: "If you wish it to look like you, Madam, let me have your vanity case and I'll touch it up a bit."

Mary: "Poor May—a hundred and sixty and she hopes to grow thin!"
Mary: "She's got a fat chance."

Conrad was playing with some other little boys when his mother called him in to study his lessons.
"Aw, shucks!" he said, "I wish all the schools were bankrupt."

Teacher—Who can tell me the meaning of the words "opprobrious"?
Small boy—Please, sir, when you're eatin' your' appy and when you're finished you're tight.

"I suppose when you told Mrs. Pudge that her daughter is just the image of her when she was that age, she looked pleased."
"Yes, but the daughter looked scared."

"So Kate and Agnes are not speaking to each other."
"Not to, but about."

Mrs. R. M. writes: "Not long ago I remonstrated with my colored maid for openly encouraging the attentions of the janitor next door, 'Mary,' I said, 'don't you know that he is a married man?'"
"Yes'm," she replied, "I know it, but'm—he's dissatisfied."

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6

A fairly active day is forecast from the rather neutral planetary operations. It is probable that business may move along in the accustomed groove, although the disposition will be enterprising and aggressive. There is a figure of Neptune in aspect with Sol which may produce some peculiar or eccentric occurrence when the disposition will be permitted to interfere with the orderly trend of routine engagements.

Those whose birthday it is are under a ruling which is likely to manifest in a rather routine way, although the forces and faculties will be keyed up to the customary enterprising and initiative. Irregular experiences or a peculiar state of mind should not interfere with current affairs. A child born on this day may be enterprising and forceful, but may not have a particularly active career, unless well and carefully trained.

TIMES CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

You'll find nearly every two or three-letter word in the dictionary here. But there are a few longer terms.

Cross-word Puzzle for To-day
HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of to-day's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

BREAK IN GAS MAIN CAUSED SIX DEATHS

Heavy Frost Led to Tragedy in House in Brockville, Ont.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 5.—Illuminating gas which penetrated the interior of the house in which they lived from a leaking main in Water Street is stated definitely by L. A. Farquharson, manager of the Public Utilities Commission, to have caused the tragedy which took six lives and all but exterminated the family of Jesse W. Gray here some time during Friday night.

The victims were Jesse W. Gray, a middle-aged laborer; his wife, Mary S. Gray; and their sons, Harold, sixteen; Purdie, sixteen; Cecil, eleven; and Kenneth, eight. The sole survivor of the family is Mrs. Henry Yelden, a daughter, who lives in Syracuse, N.Y.

CURE FOR BABEL OF TONGUES OVER TELEPHONE WIRES

Official of British Company Has Supervised Automatic Installations in Orient
Tokio Will be One-third Normal on Wire by End of Year

That the problem of cosmopolitan conversation in many tongues, which naturally has proved so large an obstacle to intercommunication in the Orient, has been solved by the automatic telephone is the assertion of Harry J. James of the Far East International Automatic Telephone Company of London and Liverpool, England.

It is now only necessary that the subscriber should be familiar with the Arabic numerals, so that he can make immediate connection. The value of this installation is shown by the fact that twenty-two recognized tongues are used in Shanghai alone, Mr. James pointed out.

The same system has been installed in Harbin, where during the past four years 3,000 telephones have been installed, and at Dairen during the past two and a half years 8,000 connections have been placed in position, Mr. James stated.

He pointed out in connection with the Tokio disaster, so great was the dislocation of service that 60,000 subscribers were deprived of service as a consequence of the great fire.

Private installations of the automatic telephone have been made in Tientsin, Shanghai and Hongkong, Mr. James stated. In Shanghai the system already has sixteen branch exchanges.

He expects to return to China and Japan after making the necessary visits to the factories where supplies are manufactured, Mr. James accompanies him.

1923 tonnage, however, was chiefly crude ore, and the 1923 tonnage largely the same. The past year's tonnage is mostly the Sullivan concentrates.

Customs shippers for the year totaled eighty mines, the Slocan-Alsaworth-Lardeau supplying by far the greatest number with 41, the Nelson-Arrow lakes shipping from ten mines, the Boundary-Similkameen from nine, other districts from seven, Washington from six, East Kootenay from four, and Rosland from three.

The heaviest shipper in the Slocan was the Silversmith, which to December 21 had sent 4,205 tons of lead concentrates, and 4,572 of zinc concentrates to Trail. The Standard was another heavy shipper with 220 tons lead and 344 tons zinc concentrates. This receipt for 1923 shows that these two groups were heavy shippers all through that year as well. Much of the Slocan smelter feed was concentrates, representing a much larger tonnage of ore mined.

BRITISH BUSINESS GOOD IN ORIENT

Rapid Growth of China and Japan, as Potential Markets, Found by Manchester Man

That the British textile trade has no reason to be afraid of the competition in the Orient is the opinion of Chester Haworth of Richard Haworth and Company, Manchester, England, who passed through Victoria yesterday on the liner President Jefferson.

Mr. Haworth has made an extensive investigation into conditions in China and Japan, and believes that the British firm are holding their own. If the country were free from brigandage and political agitation leading to internal strife, such as disturbed the country during 1924 in the Northern Chih Kiangsu-Cheking area, and Canton areas, Mr. Haworth believes that the demand for manufactured articles would see a tremendous advance, one which would stimulate the import trade in a very remarkable degree.

He was assured that by February there would be a marked improvement after the Chinese New Year, which is still celebrated at that date by some of the more conservative

MINING NEWS

With the ore receipts of the last ten days of December still to be added, ore receipts reported by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada at the Trail smelter show that the total tonnage of ore and concentrates shipped for the year was 442,890, of which 405,807 tons was from the company's own mines, principally the Sullivan at Kimberley, says The Nelson News.

Allowing an average of 9,000 tons for the last ten days brings the total, to more than 450,000, or 451,890 tons. The final total for the year of 1923 showed 458,950 tons sent to the Trail smelter, and 1922, 411,727 tons. The William Tompkins, Albert Carlson and John Frantz for continuing No. 1 tunnel on the Silverado another 100 feet. The contract for 100 feet just completed gives a total lateral depth in the tunnel of 364 feet. The new contractors are all experienced miners, according to The Portland Canal News.

ESPERANZA, ALICE ARM
The Esperanza mine, which has been a steady shipper for a number of years, of high grade silver ore, and from which metal its revenues were obtained, will no longer be dependent exclusively upon the white metal for the success of its operations if predictions come true, says The Alice Arm Herald.

It appears that the mine carries a considerable amount of sheetite, a rich tungsten ore. This fact was first brought to the notice of the management by F. D. Rice, whose curiosity was aroused regarding it. He sent a sample for assaying to Anyox, and it was proven to carry tungsten.

CROW'S NEST STRIKE

Coal Creek mines have resumed operations after being idle for nearly nine months—to be exact, eight months and twenty-one days—the longest idle period in the twenty-six years which the company has operated.

The first cheering news of the week was that the C.P.R. had ordered thirty cars for immediate delivery, says The Fernie Free Press. The company will make every effort to secure a permanent order from this company and now that they are able to get down in price to something reasonable there is every reason to believe that a portion of their business can be secured. Present orders will keep the mines working at capacity for a month, and it is hoped by that time that sufficient new business will be secured to keep them running at capacity.

"We understand it is the intention of the company, if sufficient coals business can be secured, to start the coke ovens at an early period. These ovens have now been idle for nearly four years, and it will be a joyful day for Fernie when they are put in operation again."

The ore is of yellowish brown color, and is found throughout the mine, and was formerly considered worthless. Further tests will be made and information gained regarding treatment.

Tungsten is used for electric lamps, it is also used to harden and toughen steel. It has always been considered a valuable metal, but at
