Vandalism

Existing cross-project or local policies on vandalism ...
I want to ask, what is defined as "vandalism" as written in section 4? RXerself (talk) 15:37, 5 April 2023 (UTC)

Any action consciously and deliberately done to harm the project. Long5563 (talk) 19:37, 6 April 2023 (UTC)

Is that your definition or the definition mentioned somewhere in the Terms of use? RXerself (talk) 05:20, 20 May 2023 (UTC)

Vandalism is not defined expressly in the terms of use. What is and isn't vandalism is mostly defined by project specific policies: https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Vandalism. What is acceptable on one wiki may be unacceptable on another. Should an action be of no concern to the community it affects, it'd be unlikely to merit reaction at the terms of use enforcement level. I hope that answers the question about the definition. SSpalding (WMF) (talk) 06:50, 21 May 2023 (UTC)
3.3 – Content vandalism and abuse of the projects

Deliberately introducing biased, false, inaccurate or inappropriate content, or hindering, impeding or otherwise hampering the creation (and/or maintenance) of content. This includes but is not limited to:

- The repeated arbitrary or unmotivated removal of any content without appropriate discussion or providing explanation
- Systematically manipulating content to favour specific interpretations of facts or points of view (also by means of unfaithful or deliberately false rendering of sources and altering the correct way of composing editorial content)
- Hate speech in any form, or discriminatory language aimed at vilifying, humiliating, inciting hatred against individuals or groups on the basis of who they are or their personal beliefs
- The use of symbols, images, categories, tags or other kinds of content that are intimidating or harmful to others outside of the context of encyclopedic, informational use. This includes imposing schemes on content intended to marginalize or ostracize.
On Wikipedia, vandalism has a very specific meaning: editing (or other behavior) deliberately intended to obstruct or defeat the project's purpose, which is to create a free encyclopedia, in a variety of languages, presenting the sum of all human knowledge.

Wikipedia has no firm rules

Wikipedia has policies and guidelines, but they are not carved in stone; their content and interpretation can evolve over time. The principles and spirit matter more than literal wording, and sometimes improving Wikipedia requires making exceptions. Be bold, but not reckless, in updating articles. And do not agonize over making mistakes: they can be corrected easily because (almost) every past version of each article is saved.
sepertinya tiada yang meributkan "WBI pro-komunisme!". Ketika artikel Marylin Monroe ditayangkan, sepertinya tiada yang meributkan "tokoh ini terlalu seksi..."
