THE papers calendared in the present volume show the conclusion of the fruitless warfare entered upon by Charles I. with Spain. The expenses of the expeditions to Cadiz, Rhé, and Rochelle, had thrown the finances of the country into the deepest embarrassment. Supplies could not be obtained from Parliament without concessions, to which the King would not submit; the proceeds of the unusual levies, to which the Government had had recourse—"lawful," as Sec. Dorchester contended, in an explanatory letter to the English Ambassadors abroad, "but extraordinary,"*—were insufficient to discharge even the arrears due for past services; and coming receipts had already been largely anticipated. Such was the want of money that present offensive operations had ceased to be possible. It was with the greatest difficulty that a few ships, not worthy to be called a fleet, could be kept afloat for the guard of the Narrow Seas; and even partial defence of the coast and the coasting trade was not accomplished, in the cases of the fishermen of the eastern coast, and the foreign trade of the ports in the west, except at the cost of the sea-towns principally benefited. Under such circumstances, the idea of peace naturally presented itself. To abandon the cause of the Palatinate was equally repugnant to both

King and people ; but after a little decent hesitation, Charles submitted to what he deemed a hard necessity, and the officers of the outports were warned, that however unpopular a Spanish Ambassador might be in England, it was their duty to protect him from insult.*

The treaty was rendered more palatable to the King by the character of the Ambassador who was employed in the preliminary negotiation. In a subsequent eminent instance, which will be in the recollection of every one, national humiliation was brought about by the fascination of a female emissary. Charles I. was altogether unsusceptible to such seductions. With him Art led the way instead of Beauty, and the gorgeous pencil of Rubens consecrated a peace which, to the Queen of Bohemia, seemed to be a personal desertion, and to the people of England, an abandonment of the cause of Protestantism, at the very time when, under the leadership of Gustavus Adolphus, it appeared likely to achieve success.† Elizabeth's feeling is thus cautiously expressed, in a private letter to "Honest Thom," as she was in the habit of terming Sir Thomas Roe, calendared in the present volume. "Our Ambassador, ‡ is now here, and hath brought a message I looked not for, which doth not a little trouble both the King § and me. You know I was very confident [in] my dear brother's promises ; yet, though I see he hath altered his mind in

† The presence of Rubens in England is but slightly noticed in the following pages ; but the State Papers on the subject of his mission have been lately published in the "Original unpublished Papers illustrative of the Life of Sir Peter Paul Rubens, as an Artist and Diplomatist, preserved in H. that, I hope his good nature will not suffer him quite to abandon us, though a peace with Spain be very dangerous to us and all the public. The King of Sweden doth still prosper, which I hope God will continue. If he may have the least encouragement, you know my mind in all this.*

From the time when peace became inevitable, the place which was occupied in the collection of State Papers by details full of the stirring interest which is attendant upon naval and military expeditions, is mainly given up to legal proceedings against the restless and dissatisfied. Many valuable documents in connexion with this portion of our public history will be found in the present volume. The state prosecutions against SIR JOHN ELIOT and the other members of the House of Commons, who took the lead in opposition to the Court in the last session of Parliament, receive very important illustration. The points aimed at in these proceedings, as stated by Sec. Dorchester, in the letter to the Ambassadors before referred to, † was “to let the world see that Parliament-men must be responsible for their words and actions in other courts, and so they will be more moderate and circumspect hereafter, and the King, when he finds good, may meet his people with so much the more assurance that they will never transgress in the point of due respect and obedience.” Another series of cases here treated of, and of scarcely less public importance, are the prosecutions against the merchants, who, in obedience to a resolution of the House of Commons, refused to pay tonnage and poundage. Another curious case is that against the EARL OF BEDFORD, SIR ROBERT COTTON, AND OTHERS, for circulating from hand to hand, among themselves, a copy of a manuscript tract, said to have been derived from Sir Robert Cotton’s library, which professed to teach the King how he might bridle the impertinence of his Parliament by measures of undisguised absolutism. The case of ALEXANDER LEIGHTON, in the Star Chamber, for a libel upon the Bishops, and many cases in the High Commission Court, or personally before Bishop Laud, for the repression of non-conformity in doctrine or practice, constitute another important branch of the contents of this volume.

Among legal proceedings may be classed a case of considerable interest, from the subsequent fortunes of the remarkable man to whom it relates. One of the measures which were had recourse to, for the repression of popular feeling, was the alteration, whenever possible, of the municipal constitution of parliamentary boroughs. Instead of a governing body of bailiffs and burgesses, or town council, elected annually by the residents, the change now introduced vested the municipal government in a mayor, aldermen, and recorder, all elected for life. This change, of course utterly destructive of popular self-government, had recently been effected in the borough of Huntingdon, mainly by the exertions of Mr. Robert Barnard, a practising barrister who resided in that town, held the office of feodary for the county, and had lately acquired an estate at Brampton, in the immediate neighbourhood. He was supported, we may well believe, by all the old influence of Sir Oliver Cromwell, son of the Golden Knight, who, until very lately, had possessed Hinchinbrook, and not less so, by that of the new made Earl of Manchester, the Lord Privy Seal, who had succeeded the splendid but unthrifty Sir Oliver in the possession of his princely seat. But this abandonment of popular rights in Huntingdon had not been effected without much contention, and the adverse party was headed by no less a person than "MR. OLIVER CROMWELL," nephew of Sir Oliver, who had been born and bred in the town, had resided there up to that time, and had been one of its representatives in the last Parliament.

The reception given by a part of the people of Huntingdon to the new charter and the officers whom it created was anything but cordial. Strong expressions were hurled by Oliver Cromwell against Mr. Lionel Walden the new mayor, and Mr. Barnard who had been elected recorder, and ultimately the Council was appealed to on behalf of the new made dignities. Ever anxious to support constituted authorities, the Council gave a ready ear to the complaint, and despatched a messenger to Huntingdon, with a warrant for the apprehension of "Oliver Cromwell, Esq.," and another person described as "William Kilborne, gent." The warrant was duly executed, and on the 26th November 1630, Oliver Cromwell made his appearance in custody before the Lords of the Council. His presence was entered on the Council Register, and he was remanded to the custody of the messenger.

After five days detention the case was gone into. "Both sides," in the words of the entry on the Council Register, "had a long hearing." There was "much contrariety and difference" in the allegations of the adverse parties, and ultimately the Council got rid of the troublesome matter by referring it to—of all persons in the world—the Earl of Manchester, the owner of Hinchinbrook.

Here, up to the present moment, our information upon this subject has come to an end.* What were the proceedings of the Earl of Manchester, or his recommendations; what award he made between his contending neighbours, and probably tenants; how far he inculcated or excused the rough energetic man whose participation in this incident gives it almost all its interest, has been hitherto unknown. One of the papers calendared in the present volume gives the sequel of the story. It is the report or award of the Earl of Manchester, and tells us far more of the matter than we knew before. It explains what were some of the fears or grievances of the people, and what the uncourtly conduct of their fiery advocate, whilst it exhibits also the ease with which his hot temper was appeased, and the willingness with which his hand was extended to one whom he had recently opposed with might and main. The paper runs as follows:—

“Whereas it pleased your Lordships to refer unto me the differences in the town of Huntingdon, about the renovation of their charter, and some wrongs done to Mr. Mayor of Huntingdon, and Mr. Barnard, a counsellor-at-law, by disgraceful and unseemly speeches, used of them by Mr. Cromwell, of Huntingdon, as also the considerations [sic] of divers abuses and oppressions complained of against one Kilborne, post-master of Huntingdon, and Brookes, his man; I have heard the said differences, and do find those supposed fears of prejudice that might be to the said town, by their late altered charter, from bailiffs and burgesses to mayor and aldermen, are causeless and ill-grounded, and the endeavour used to gain many of the burgesses against this new corporation was very indirect and unfit, and such as I could not but much blame them that stirred in it. For Mr. Barnard’s carriage of the business in advising and obtaining the said charter, it was fair and orderly done, being authorized by common consent of the town to do the same, and the thing effected by him tends much to the good and grace of the town.

“Some doubts were propounded, especially three:—As that the mayor and aldermen might now alter the rate of their cattle in the commons; secondly, that the mayor and aldermen alone, without the burgesses, might dispose of the inheritances of their town lands: thirdly, that it was in the power of the mayor and aldermen to fine men that might be poor at 20*l.* for refusing to be aldermen. These things, though they cannot be warranted by the new charter, yet, to satisfy fears, I have directed that there shall be amongst their constitutions for the good government of the town three constitutions made to these purposes. First, that the number of men's cattle of all sorts which they now keep, according to order and usage, upon their commons, shall not be abridged or altered, but to common as they have anciently done, both for number and kind. Secondly, for disposing the inheritance of any their lands; no inheritance of houses or lands to be disposed of but by consent of the burgesses, as hath anciently been used and accustomed. Thirdly, for the fining of refusers to be mayor or aldermen; the fine of him that refuses to be mayor not to exceed 20 marks, the fine of him that refuses to be alderman not to exceed 20 nobles, if he be a burgess resident that is chosen.

“For the words spoken of Mr. Mayor and Mr. Barnard by Mr. Cromwell, as they were ill, so they are acknowledged to be spoken in heat and passion, and desired to be forgotten; and I found Mr. Cromwell very willing to hold friendship with Mr. Barnard, who, with a good will, remitting the unkind passages past, entertained the same. So I left all parties reconciled, and wished them to join hereafter in things that may be for the common good and peace of the town.

“For the particulars concerning Kilborne and Brookes, his man, for their oppressing the country by colour of his office as post-master,* though some particulars were affirmed by two or three, yet because it so much concerneth the country in general, and the abuse so great, if it prove true that is affirmed, I have thought best to write my letters to some justices of peace of the county, to make precise inquisition, and certify me how this office of post-master is used for the service of the King, and how abused to the injury of the country, and of all other points contained in the petition exhibited.

“H. MANCHESTER.” †

“December 6th, 1630.”

The conclusion of this little history may be shortly stated. Within a few months after the Earl's award, Cromwell sold his property at Huntingdon and removed to St. Ives, with such feelings towards the constituted authorities as would be engendered in such a mind by his arrest under a warrant addressed to a King's messenger, by his imprisonment and the payment of his fees, and by the consciousness that, under the new municipal constitution of Huntingdon, there was little probability that, when another Parliament should be called, he would again be returned as a representative for his native town. Of Mr. Barnard it may be noted that he received during the civil war two very peremptory letters from his old opponent, which are printed by Mr. Carlyle; that he lived to see the man whom he had contended with before the Council at the height of his power; and to receive the degree of serjeant at law, and finally, on the 1st July 1662, a baronetcy, from the restored Sovereign. Sir Richard Barnard's eldest son, and successor in the baronetcy, became a connexion of Oliver Cromwell, by marrying a daughter of the celebrated Oliver St. John.

* There does not appear to have been any connexion between the complaints against Cromwell and Kilborne, except that they were made at the same time.

Whilst the name of Cromwell is before us it may be mentioned, although the document is not comprised in the present volume, that in the Domestic series of papers in the State Paper Office, under the date of 28th April 1631, there occurs a letter which presents another fact hitherto unnoticed in the biography of the same memorable man.

Among the measures "lawful, but extraordinary" which were had recourse to at this time for raising money, one was that of enforcing the payment of a composition from all persons who, having 40*l.* per annum in freehold lands, did not attend at the coronation to receive the degree of knighthood. The levy of this composition was turned over to Commissioners whose head quarters were in London. But persons resident at a distance from the metropolis were inclined to disregard the monitions of a body of Commissioners with whom they never came into personal contact. To stimulate their activity commissions were issued into all the counties of England.* The principal gentry were appointed Commissioners, and the ordinary county machinery was put in motion, both to ascertain who possessed 40*l.* per annum in land, and to bring such persons before the Commissioners. It appears, from the paper to which allusion has already been made, that the Cromwells of the county of Huntingdon were not forgotten on this occasion. Henry Cromwell, senior, of Upwood, son of the Golden Knight, and uncle of the future Protector, attended the Commissioners in London and entered into a composition with them, taking back into the country the tally of his payment into the Exchequer, which he subsequently exhibited to the local Commissioners as his discharge. Henry Cromwell, junior, of Ramsey, son of Sir Philip Cromwell, and a cousin of the Protector, compounded with the local Commissioners at the sum of 10*l.* The third person of the family whose name occurs in these papers is "Oliver Cromwell of Huntingdon." Equally disregarding the London and the local Commissioners, Cromwell was returned with various other persons of his own county to the Council as a defaulter. Two measures were taken by the Government almost contemporaneously against these Huntingdonshire defaulters. Writs were sent to the Sheriff of the county for summoning 33 or 35 † of them to appear in the Court of Exchequer, in the succeeding Easter term, to answer for their default. At the same time a fresh commission was addressed to the former local Commissioners, and whilst the terror of the Exchequer summons was still recent and its penalties were hanging over the defaulters, they were again summoned to appear at Huntingdon. The Commissioners enlarged to them upon his Majesty's grace and favour in renewing the commission once more for their ease and benefit, and also upon the inconvenience which would ensue to them if they were left to the law. Meetings were held by the Commissioners at Huntingdon on the 20th and 28th April 1631, and finally, 11 of the defaulters are reported as not having appeared at all, 15 as having appeared and made excuses, principally that they had not an estate in freehold of the required value, and seven others as having paid their composition money to the Commissioners. Among them, at the head of the list, stands "Oliver Cromwell of Huntingdon, Esq., 10*l*." The name stands as I have remarked, at the head of the list, but it does so with a peculiarity. It is obvious that it did not form part of the list as it was originally framed and added up. The intention was to have returned the list without it. It was clearly added afterwards, and was apparently inserted at the top of the list because in that place there was the largest vacant space, where it could be most easily written in. Does this indicate a yielding at the last moment to the friendly persuasions of his aged uncle and godfather Sir Oliver Cromwell, who was the chief Commissioner present at both the final sittings? Or did the uncle, as has been suggested, shield the unyielding nephew, by paying the amount, and directing the insertion of his name? The other Commissioners were the Earl of Manchester, who was not present, Sir Sydney Montague, brother of the Earl, Robert Bevill, probably the eldest son of the K.B. of that name, and Robert Osberne. The sums paid for composition money varied, it may be remarked, from 10*l*. to 20*l*., the former being the lowest sum paid by any one.

It is from similar incidental notices of celebrated persons, to be picked out with studious care from the great mass of papers here brought before the reader, that much of the information contained in them is to be gleaned. The Compiler of the Calendar has done what he could to bring prominently forward all the information that he deems important, but they who know the most of the actions or persons of any particular period are painfully aware that, even in relation to that period, no one's knowledge is sufficiently extensive or sufficiently minute to embrace all objects of research. Inquirers must be encouraged, therefore, to search for themselves. It is frequently by the light which is thrown upon these papers from a searcher's own mind that their great value is made apparent.

In the preface to our last volume, some remarks were made on the troubles of ALEXANDER GILL, schoolmaster of St. Paul's, and a friend of Milton from his boyhood. In a youthful frolic in a college cellar, and under the influence of college ale, Gill uttered some audacious speeches which, but for their folly, would have been treasonable. Wonder-struck at his daring sauciness, his hearers heard the silly fellow with contemptuous laughter; all but Chillingworth, who drew wide inferences from the words spoken, and forgot that they were really the utterances of excitement and folly. Chillingworth communicated the facts to Bishop Laud, who saw nothing in them but awful treason. The young man's rifled pockets, and those of his college companions, furnished matter sufficient not only to condemn him, but also to implicate one of his friends named Grinkin. The terrors of the Star Chamber were invoked against them both. All that we have hitherto known of the result has been derived from the tittle-tattle of a news-writer.* The sentence was one of degradation, fine, pillory, imprisonment, and all the then customary excess of judicial vengeance in political cases, but the particulars have not been known with any certainty as to

* Mead to Stuteville. Court and Times of Charles I., Vol. i., p. 431.

Gill, and scarcely at all as to Grinkin. The superabundance of these vindictive sentences rendered it almost impossible to carry them out. The resolute generally escaped some portion of the intended infliction, but in the case of a weak, cowardly spirit, such terrifying denunciations crushed the wretch who was the subject of them, and drove him to sue for mercy with the abject submissiveness of terror. Gill had several powerful intercessors. His aged father, the influential Earl of Dorset, and even Laud's feeling in favour of the immunities of the clerical order, were all enlisted in his behalf. It appears, by a letter from the King to Attorney General Heath, calendared in the present volume,* that before the writing of that letter, directions had been given to prepare a pardon for Grinkin, but, "forasmuch," the letter proceeds, "as we are graciously inclined to extend our mercy to them both, their cases not much differing," the Attorney General is directed to prepare a pardon for them both. This was on the 18th October 1630. On the 30th November following (p. 393), we find the sign manual for the pardon, which has peculiar value, as setting forth authoritatively the actual sentence of the Star Chamber. Gill was committed to the Fleet during the King's pleasure, and was to pay a fine of 3,000*l.* If at any time he were released, he was to be bound for good behaviour during the remainder of his life. He was remitted to the High Commission for degradation from the ministry, and to the Vice-Chancellor of Oxford for similar deprivation of his academical degrees; after which he was to stand in the pillory one day at Westminster, with a paper on his head indicative of his offence, one of his ears being fixed to the pillory and there cut off; on another day he was to stand in the pillory in a similar manner at Oxford, and there to lose his other ear. From Oxford he was to be remanded to the Fleet. Grinkin was in like manner committed to the Fleet during pleasure, and fined 1,000*l.* He was also, at a time and in a manner to be fixed by the Court, to make a humble confession of his offence, and, if ever released from prison, was to find a surety for his good behaviour for life.* Of these sentences,

* The following is an abstract of the pardon :—“CAROLUS R. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. salutem. the pillory and the fines were escaped, the degradations and imprisonment for about two years, were the only parts that were carried into execution.

Gill had enjoyed his pardon about two years, when, with his accustomed folly, he attacked BEN JONSON on the failure of his play of the Magnetic Lady. The memory of the great poet's former efforts ought to have restrained a bitter pen, but restraint was the last thing that Gill ever dreamt of. In Jonson's scornful reply, he alluded to Gill's pardon in terms which would have been overwhelming, if Gill's punishment had been just :—

“ Shall the prosperity of a pardon still Secure thy railing rhymes, infamous Gill,
At libelling ? Shall no Star Chamber peers,
Pillory, nor whip, nor cart, nor want of ears,—
All which thou hast incurred deservedly,—
No degradation from the ministry,
To be the Denis of thy father's school,
Keep in thy bawling wit ?” *

Recent disclosures seem at the present time to make the character of Ben Jonson to hang, as it were, in the balance. Every atom of information respecting him is, therefore, of moment, and it may be worth noting that the present volume contains a notice of the first quarterly payment of his annuity of 100*l.*, kindly granted to him by Charles I., in lieu of his father's gift of 100 marks †, and a contemporary copy of CAREW's poem addressed to Jonson, in reply to his “ Come, quit the loathéd stage.” ‡ This copy exhibits several important variations from the text printed in Carew's Poems.§

Of THOMAS RANDOLPH, another poet, who addressed Jonson on the same occasion, we catch a glimpse just at the outset of his brilliant but brief career. The wit which attracted Jonson shone as conspicuously at Cambridge as at the Mermaid. He was in his 24th year when Bishop Mawe, the Master of Trinity, thus writes of him to Lord Holland, the Chancellor of the University :—

“Before I leave that place* I humbly crave leave to move one suit more unto you. As I have had a care to set the College out of debt, so I have had desire to furnish it with the best and choicest wits, amongst whom I presume to commend this bearer, Thomas Randolph, a Bachelor of Arts, as one of those extraordinary parts of wit and learning, and so approved by the whole University, that scarce an age doth bring forth a better or the like. If he had been capable of a fellowship, by reason of his degree, at the last election, I had certainly provided for him then in the first place; but being not a Bachelor of Arts at that time, and fearing to have him left to future uncertainties and so the University and College deprived of one that may prove so singular an ornament to both, I humbly desire your Lordship to procure for him his Majesty’s mandatory letter for his admission into a place which shall be void next after them that are now elected. He hath no friends to solicit for him but my Lord Bishop of Lincoln, under whom he was bred at Westminster, and myself, under whom he hath lived now these four years in Trinity College. I understand my Lord of Lincoln hath already begun to move your Lordship to this purpose in his behalf, and I pray give me leave to join my best wishes and desires for the effecting and perfecting of it. So shall your Honor cherish a toward wit, add a light to a flourishing College, and do an acceptable act to the whole University, and for myself, who seek nothing herein but the gaining of an ornament to the College, you shall ever bind me (which already you have done) to be your Honor’s true and faithful servant.” †

The accounts of Randolph’s college life given by his biographers are scarcely consistent with the preceding letter, but they state that he obtained the desired fellowship. His genius, however, led him to London, and its excitements hurried him to an early doom. He died in 1634.

HERRICK, another contemporary poetical genius, and author of some of our sweetest lyrical poems, appears in this volume as having been chaplain to the Duke of Buckingham in the Isle of Rhé, a character in which he has not been known to his biographers.‡

‡ Vol. clxxiii., No. 93.

One letter of BISHOP CORBET has stamped upon it the true mint-mark of the witty Dean. The conclusion is noticeable. What was the particular mode in which he designed to make apparent his gratitude to Sec. Dorchester?

“My honoured Lord,—I have now a suit on foot which needs a patron near to his Majesty in place, and not far distant from myself in love. In the first I am not mistaken in writing to your Lordship, and in the other not disheartened, but have many reasons to encourage me.

“Sir, the Bishop of Oxford hath been twice an humble suitor to his Majesty for release of his first-fruits, and is not yet so gracious as all his predecessors, all preceding kings having granted so much favor to all preceding bishops of that see. The reasons are the same as ever they were for the continuance of the like grace, only that mine are stronger, because my fortunes are weaker (having less in my commendam than ever any bishop had), and the Act of Parliament is the same as it was at first, exempting universities and all ecclesiastical livings within the verge from any such payment. It stands of force for the dean and canons of Christ Church. It is yet so charitable to all the vicars in the town. The bishopric of Oxford is no less founded in Christ Church than the deanery, and hath more need of that privilege than the poorest vicar in the town.

“My noble Lord, I humbly beseech you to move his Majesty once more in my behalf, that I may not complain as that old Roman did, Duas res diversissimas conjunxi, invidiam et egestatem; the envy of a bishop and the wants of a poor curate. If your Lordship shall effect this for me (which I had rather receive from his Majesty out of favor than equity, and lay aside all reason or precedent that makes for me), though the conscience of so good a deed would pay you liberally, yet your Lordship shall see that I shall find a truer way of gratitude than by truly subscribing myself your Lordship’s poor friend and servant,

Notices of other literary persons are not unfrequent. HERBERT THORNDIKE appears as the travelling companion and tutor of the eldest son of Lord Treasurer Weston,* a connexion which may explain his subsequent preferment and his ejection during the puritan ascendancy from the mastership of Sidney Sussex College. There are letters of DU MOULIN, BIONDI, VOSSIUS, and a curious notice of GERVASE MARKHAM. In August 1629 he was described as a "weak bed-ridden gentleman, not able to take any journey." Papistry had been imputed to him, and the question arose whether on that account he should be deprived of his arms. It is satisfactorily shown that he was a communicant in the Church of England, and for his own part he protested "that he was no more a papist than an atheist or cannibal." Can this weak bed-ridden man be the person who is said to have assumed his armour in the Civil War on the part of the King.

Many others of the persons whose works constitute our literature, and their lives its history, will be found referred to throughout the volume. The few now named are selected merely as examples to stimulate inquiry. Equally numerous are papers of importance referring to persons of other classes.

One of the problems of our legal history has been the disgrace of LORD CHIEF BARON WALTER. A servant of the King before his accession, and intimately connected with the administration of the revenues derived from the Principality of Wales and the Duchy of Cornwall, Sir John Walter was deemed a favourite, or rather a personal friend, of King Charles, and was selected for legal promotion immediately upon his accession to the throne. After a short period he was suddenly dismissed, or rather commanded by the King no longer to execute the functions of his office. Why was this? The most diligent and accurate of our legal biographers† could obtain no precise information upon the point, and even among the Chief Baron's descendants it would seem that all tradition upon the subject has died out. The papers before us show the manner of his dismissal and its formal or assigned cause. The Lord Chief Baron had in the summer of 1629 gone the Western Circuit. It was usual in those days for the Government to give directions to the judges to enforce on their circuits, in their charges to grand juries, or otherwise as might seem expedient, any particular subject or measure which the Government was desirous to have attended to. On the present occasion "the business of arms" had been commended to the care of the judges, which probably meant that they should announce and enforce the propriety of a meditated appointment, by Royal Commission, of certain persons to survey and maintain in order the arms kept in every county for the use of its trained bands. Information seems to have reached the ears of the King that the Lord Chief Baron had been slack in the performance of what was required of him on this point. His Majesty deemed his conduct so reprehensible that he directed the Lord Keeper to suggest to the erring functionary that he should resign. The result appears in the following letter :—

"May it please your most excellent Majesty, According to your commandment I have this evening spoken with the Lord Chief Baron of your Exchequer, and propounded to him that he should become a petitioner to your Majesty to be disburthened of that place. I found him much troubled with the sense of your displeasure towards him, protesting that it afflicted him more than the loss of any place could do. But to the particular propounded he could not so suddenly answer it, depending not only upon the leaving of the place, but on the manner thereof, and upon what ground to petition your Majesty. But he promised to consider of it, and to return me his answer, which I required to be speedy, and I will present the same to your Majesty as soon as I shall receive it. I did of myself, and not as from your Majesty, ask him how he carried the business of arms in his circuit. His answer was that in all places of the circuit he had conference with the gentlemen about it, and did put it forward by such ways as he found most expedient; and in Somersetshire and Cornwall, where only he found some doubt of opposition, he gave it publicly in charge. This is the sum of that which I received from him, whereof, according to my duty, I held it fit to give you a present account, as also that this afternoon I have had with me all the rest of the judges about settling the government of the Inns of Court, in which I find them forward, and do not doubt but they will satisfy your Majesty's expectation therein. And so I humbly rest,

"Your Majesty's most bounden servant,

"THOMAS COVENTRY, C. S."*

"Durham House,

"12 October 1629."

This report was not satisfactory to the King. The Lord Keeper had been more sensitive and considerate towards his legal brother than his Majesty deemed appropriate, and Sec. Dorchester, by the King's command, immediately admonished the Lord Keeper that it was the King's pleasure that he "should speak more plainly and clearly" to the Lord Chief Baron, and understand his purpose whether he would "submit himself to his Majesty, or stand to his trial; in which case his Majesty's resolution is to call him to it." The letter concludes, "And this his Majesty's requiring your Lordship to make known unto him, and to understand thereupon his categorical answer [being stated], there rests no more than that your Lordship please to govern yourself accordingly, and that you make known with the soonest to his Majesty my Lord Chief Baron's purpose." †

The Lord Keeper, thus tutored, hastened to obey the royal mandate, and reported to Sec. Dorchester that all that his letter required had been performed "to the full." "In the end," he stated, he had pressed upon the Lord Chief Baron the required "categorical answer," and, to avoid mistake, had required that it should be in writing. The result appeared in an inclosed paper, from the contents of which his Majesty would “perceive upon what resolutions the Lord Chief Baron standeth.”* The paper, wholly written by the Lord Chief Baron, runs as follows :—

* Vol. cl., No. 47.

“Being required by the Lord Keeper to make a categorical answer whether I will submit myself to his Majesty or stand to my trial, my humble answer is, that I trust his Majesty will hold it sufficient for me, to show my obedience and humility, to submit myself to whatsoever his Majesty shall do concerning me. But I desire to be pardoned for making a surrender of my patent, for that were to punish myself. I do with confidence stand upon my innocency and faithful service to his Majesty, and thereof will abide any trial. Nevertheless, I humbly beseech his Majesty’s gracious favour towards me, and that he will turn his heavy displeasure from me.

“JO. WALTER.”*

Within a few days the Lord Chief Baron was suspended from the exercise of his functions by royal command. He abstained from taking his seat, but remained Lord Chief Baron until his death, which occurred on the 18th November, in the following year. Sir John Walter is remembered, both in his profession and in our history, for a saying which seems to point to his possession of some of those qualities which were not unlikely to bring him into trouble at Court. When a brief was sent to him against Sir Edward Coke, he instantly declined it. “Let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth,” was his exclamation, “when I open it against Sir Edward Coke !”

The King’s personal attention to public business, and the watchful care which at this time he exercised over the movements of professional and official persons, is exemplified in a letter in the present volume, which contains an important allusion to Sir EDWARD COKE. Dorchester was at this time, 24th January 1631, unwell, and therefore not in attendance upon the King, who was at Newmarket. The Earl of Holland was occasionally employed to convey the King's commands by letter to the absent Secretary, and in one of the letters written by him in that character, he thus expresses himself:—

“I am commanded by his Majesty to tell you that you must send to my Lord Keeper about a book that Sir Edward Coke is setting forth, in the which the King fears somewhat may be to the prejudice of his prerogative, for he is held too great an oracle amongst the people, and they may be misled by anything that carries such an authority as all things doth that he either speaks or writes, for the prevention of which the King thinks it fit it should not come forth. His Majesty hears that Sir Edward Coke, though he be in no present danger, yet, they say, through a late indisposition he is not likely to last long. He would have you choose some person that you may trust to inquire after his health, and, if he be in any present danger, that care may be taken to seal up his study, if he dies, where such papers are as use may be made of them (having passed through so many great places in the State), for his Majesty's service, and some suppressed that may disserve him. His Majesty is resolved likewise that the papers and despatches that my Lord Conway hath left should be recovered, but he leaves the manner of it to your Lordship, to do it in what fair form or way you please, but have them he will; they are his own words.”*

The information which Dorchester obtained respecting Sir Edward Coke convinced him that, although the great lawyer was, in his own words, afflicted with a disease which “all the drugs of Asia, the gold of Africa, the silver of America, nor all the doctors of Europe could cure—old age,”† there was no immediate expectation of his death. The King's purpose remained therefore at this time unexecuted. But it was not forgotten. In September 1634 the inevitable hour approached, and the Council, within a few hours of Coke's death, granted a warrant to Sir Francis Windebank to take possession of all his papers. The authority was executed in the very spirit of the above letter. His house, probably even his very dying chamber, was entered, and his last will and above fifty manuscript volumes, with his title deeds, and a multitude of private papers of every kind, were carried off. Among the articles taken away was a trunk locked, which Windebank did not think himself authorized to break open. The King directed it to be sent to him, and himself opened it. Besides marriage settlements, it contained a few articles of jewellery, relics perhaps of her whom he termed his "first and best wife," some old gold and silver coins, and among a variety of private papers "one paper of poetry to his children." All the papers seized were retained for many years. Upon a motion made respecting them by one of Coke's sons in the Long Parliament, the King directed them to be given up. "Such as could be found" were delivered, but his will and many others were never recovered. A copy of Littleton's Tenures which Coke used to call his Vade Mecum, and in which he inserted a variety of autobiographical and genealogical memoranda, which was one of the books seized, is now in the British Museum.*

What Dorchester did with reference to LORD CONWAY'S official papers does not appear. They were not recovered at that time, but it is worthy of remark, that a large portion of them was ultimately, in the year 1858, restored to the Crown in the way mentioned in the preface to the first volume of this series of Calendars of Charles I., and is now preserved in the State Paper Office.

* Harl. MS. 6687 ; and see Collect. Topog. and Genealog., vi., 108.

The whole volume might be gone through in this manner, and would furnish the subject of an illustrative comment, not less interesting than instructive. The King's laudable encouragement of the national anxiety for discovery and colonization; the curious insolence of the salt-petremen, who, in abuse of their authority to search for the natural salt, used in the manufacture of gunpowder, carried on their operations in all places without distinction, as "in parlours," according to the report of referees appointed to inquire into the facts, "bed chambers, threshing floors, malting floors, and shops, yea, God's own house they have not forborne, but have digged in churches, hallowed chapels, and churchyards, tearing men's bones and ashes out of their graves, to make gunpowder of, and placing their tubs as well in the bodies of churches as in churchyards, divers weeks together;"* the royal and other patronage given to those great works of drainage in the fens in the eastern counties, which have so wonderfully increased the productiveness

* Vol. clxv., No. 38. "And as they dig in all places, so they respect not times or seasons, digging and working in the breeding-time in dove-houses, continuing also much longer and working more hours in a day than they need, or by their commission they are authorized, oftentimes three weeks, sometimes a month or five weeks together, seven or eight hours in a day, sometimes from sun-rising to sun-setting, whereby the flights of doves are destroyed; and without respect of harvest time, in barns, to the hindrance of the poor husbandman's inning of his crop, in or near malting time in malting floors, even when green malt is upon the floor; in working shops three weeks together, where the poor tradesman should earn his bread; in mercers' shops, in market towns, in the midst of the market time, the shops full of customers; and in bedchambers, and under the very beds, and placing their tubs by the bedsides of the old and impotent, sick and diseased, of women with their children sucking at their breasts, and even of women in childbed, and of sick persons lying on their deathbeds, with so much barbarous cruelty to their persons and their goods, and with so base and uncivil language, as is hard to be believed any could have done that professed themselves Christians, or had been bred in a civil government." Ibid.

of that part of the kingdom; the provision made by the Government against an anticipated period of alarming scarcity; the views of men of medical science, respecting the treatment of the plague; the mission of the Earl of Denbigh to the East; the endeavour to establish a fishing company, whose principal station should be in the Isle of Lewis, with the view of opposition to the encroachments of the Dutch; the ceremonies attendant upon the birth and baptism of Prince Charles, the future Charles II.; these and innumerable other subjects, treated of from page to page, offer themes for almost inexhaustible note and comment. But enough has been done, it is hoped, to effect the object aimed at in these prefatory remarks, which is merely to stimulate inquiry, and to give some faint idea of the value of this addition to the materials for English history.

Since the publication of the last volume, the Editor has been deprived of the valuable assistance of Mr. Impey, who has been promoted to another branch of the public service. The Editor has still the advantage of the co-operation of Mr. William Douglas Hamilton; and other arrangements have been made, in lieu of Mr. Impey's services, which it is hoped will tend to expedite the publication of the volumes which remain.

On taking the King's sign manual to the office of the Privy Seal information was given to the Duchess of Buckingham, who pretends that Sir Robert Pye had given notice to stay it. This does not agree with her promise to fulfil all the late Duke's intentions with respect to Gerbier. All that he gave Gerbier for twelve years' service was this annuity, the old house in which Gerbier lives, and the keepership of York House. Sir Francis Cottington informed Gerbier that Sir Robert Pye contended that Gerbier was unable to possess these gifts, not being a denizen. 36. Lord President Conway to Sir John Hume. His opinion of the worth of Sir John and his son, has been his special motive to endeavour the match. In his answer to the terms propounded by Sir John's son and the Earl of Kellie, he had weighed well the circumstances of both parties, judging it improper in a contract of marriage to treat as in a bargain of merchandise. If he accepts the offer, begs him to give order for the assurances, if not, prays him to break off the treaty wholly.

July 7. On board the Red Lion, before Margate Road, going to the Downs. 37. Capt. John Pennington to the Lords of the Admiralty. Reports a cruise after Dunkirkers, his falling in with the Adventure, having on board Sir Thos. Roe, whom he escorted to the Brill, where he landed in rough weather and considerable danger. Solicits fresh supply of provisions, new sails of French canvas, and clothing for his men, with authority to cruise to the southward.

- July 7. Linlithgow. 40. Marie Montgomerie to the same, described as the "Earl of Karloun." Reminds him of the love he bore to her brother, Lieut. Montgomerie in Holland, and intreats him, if her husband has any good design at Court to let him have his assistance.
- July 7. Aboard his ship the Red Lion. 41. Capt. John Pennington to Nicholas. Recapitulates the narrative contained in his letter to the Lords of the Admiralty of this date. Desires he may know the reason of the contradictory warrants he receives. Thinks "their lines are not with that respect and kindness" that he was wont to receive in the late Duke's times, and that other men continue to receive. Appeals to Nicholas, who has ever been his true friend, to open these riddles to him.

In the meantime no election of new bailiffs is to take place until the King be first made acquainted therewith, and the names of all the aldermen be sent to the King, with choice made of eight who are fittest for the place, out of whom the King will recommend two to be bailiffs for the year ensuing.

Forbore to sign the certificate sent to the Lords of the Admiralty touching the Pelican, claimed by Mr. Cotton, because Sir Guilford Slingsby omitted thereout the great charge which his Majesty had been at in the repair and setting of her forth on the last expedition to Rochelle. Incloses account, which shows that the amount expended by the King in setting that ship to sea was 132*l.* 17*s.* 11½*d.* Inclosed,

Downs. circumstances between himself and Sir Henry Mervyn mentioned in his letter of the 13th inst., (Vol. cxlvi., No. 70.) Begg that he may be speedily called thence, and leave the charge of the ship to the master. For though he is like to suffer in his poor fortune unless relieved by the Earl's means, he would not willingly suffer in his reputation by an unprofitable consumption of time when the coast is daily infested by enemies.
- July 16. 3. Orders of Dep. Lieuts. of co. Devon for the better accomplish-

Whitehall. 8th May, in the 17th year of his reign, granted to the merchants of London trading in French wines, license to sell the same wines, wark. These merchants having petitioned for a confirmation of Levant, the King is to be moved to grant them such confirmation and extension, with power, also, to prevent the abuse of sophisticated wines.

- July 17. 10. Petition of divers lame and distressed mariners to the Lords of the Admiralty. On their reference to Sir William Russell and Sir Sackville Crow, for payment of the money due on their tickets, those that were hurt in Sir William Russell's time have been paid; but Sir Sackville Crow delays on account of an inaccuracy in their tickets for 1627 and 1628. Pray that the same may be directed to Sir Sackville Crow, and that he may pay the same without any more delays.
- July 17. 11. Sir Archibald Acheson to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for procuring a debt due to the writer's brother, to be transferred into Scotland, to be paid there. July 19. Treemeer.
[Tresmere.] 14. Sir Barnard Grenville to Sir James Bagg. Being doubtful of finding him in London, writes not what he desires to acquaint him with ;—the foulness of sundry ill dispositions, poisoned by that malcontent faction of Eliot, so much as all is out of order, the deputy lieutenants being either fearful or unwilling to do their duties. Reports progress in taking the musters. Small numbers of some regiments. The lieutenancy is grown into such contempt, since the Parliament began, as there be that dare to countermand what they have on the Lords' commands willed to be done. They have certified many ; but it is observed that nothing is done in it, therefore, they put on greater liberty. He is weary of the lieutenancy.
- July 19. 15. Relation [by Dr. John Cosin] of part of the discourse that Judge Yelverton had this day with certain of the prebendaries of Durham, being the Sunday before the Assizes. The prebendaries desired him not to admit of certain frivolous indictments against some of their own body, to be preferred by Peter Smart, being the same which Judge Whitelock had rejected last year. His answer was, that if they were according to law, he must admit them ; that he thought Smart's sermon, which had been burned at York by order of the Archbishop, a very good and honest sermon ; that he disliked the singing of the service, because he could never understand a word of it. He objected also to organ-playing, which he termed whistling. Asserted that the bishop could not order them to stand up at the Nicene Creed, and that they must stand only at the Apostle's Creed. The judge remarked that he had always been accounted a Puritan, and he thanked God for it, and that so he would die. There is added a note of the judge's charge to the jury, who thereupon found the indictments preferred against Dr. Cosin and Mr. Burgoyne.
- July 20. 16. Petition of the wardens and commonalty of the Mystery of Mercers of London to the King. Richard Fishborne, a member of their mystery, deceased, and other deceased benefactors, having left money to be bestowed in lands for the maintenance of pious uses, petitioners have entered into communication with Anthony Crofts, for the purchase of the manor and lands of Chalgrave, co. Bedford, holden of Lord Berkeley, as of his manor of Melton Mowbray, by Knight's service ; Melton Mowbray being holden of the King by Knight's service, in capite. Pray that the King would accept a grant of that manor from Anthony Crofts, and re-grant the same to the petitioners, notwithstanding the statute of Mortmain. [Referred to the Attorney General to prepare a bill accordingly. Denmark House, 1629, July 20.]
- July 20. 17. Attorney General Heath to Henry, Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal. Mrs. Sutton, keeper of the Mitre tavern in Fleet Street, and John Marshall, keeper of the King's Head tavern, have drawn up petitions [to the Council.] Their doors are shut up, and themselves restrained of their liberty. In the examinations there does not appear any crime against either of them. If they had their liberty on security, it would be a work of mercy and justice.

Underwritten,

The Downs.

18. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Having run northward as far as Yarmouth Road, and seen no enemy, he put into Harwich to press men, and was there windbound, and at length was forced to warp out of that dangerous harbour, contrary to the opinion of the pilots there. He succeeded, and brought his ship to the Downs. The officers of the Fort at Harwich commanded him to strike his flag, which he refused to do without order from the Council or Lords of the Admiralty. They threatened to sink him. He replied that he was able to beat their paper fort to pieces. From this they fell to worse words, and then to some blows, in which they had nothing the better. Begs him to certify the Lords and especially the Earl of Dorset of the truth of this passage. Capt. Pennington being discharged, the writer begins to fear that he is not long-lived. If Nicholas knows of any preservation against this disease of casting begs that it may not be concealed. Has served the king in every action of his reign with hazard of person and to his great impoverishment. Except he be continued in service or protected he must quit England or take up his lodging in a jail.

20. Peter White to Sir Henry Mervyn. The Lords of the Admiralty called him from Portsmouth, to take charge of the Red Lion for a five months voyage, by a warrant which he has shown to Sir Henry's son. Begs him to procure a warrant for White to give over the charge to the master Sir Henry shall make choice of, without which he cannot safely leave his place.

July 21.
Westminster.

21. The King to Lord Treasurer Weston. On the disafforestation of Hatfield, the king granted to Sir Cornelius Vermuyden, the Lordship of Hatfield, paying yearly for ever the ancient rent of 195*l.* 3*s.* 5½*d.* and one red rose, and an improved rent of 425*l.*, from Christmas 1630. There were also granted to Sir Cornelius lands in Wroote, co. Lincoln, at the ancient rent of 8*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* and a pair of gloves, or fourpence, with an improved rent of 60*l.*, from Christmas 1630. The king, knowing that it was the intention of his father that all the benefit of the improvement of that chase should be to the use of the late Duke of Buckingham, is pleased to make good his father's intention, and directs that the improved rents before-mentioned should be granted to the Duchess of Buckingham and Sir George Manners, either for the use of the now Duke of Buckingham, for the payment of the late Duke's debts, or for the preferment of his other children unprovided for. The Lord Treasurer is to give direction accordingly. Underwritten,

- July 21. 24. Sir Henry Palmer to Nicholas. Begs him to move the Lords for a warrant for his pay from Feb. 17 to June 2, when Sir Henry Mervyn received his instructions. Hopes to be paid as an Admiral, not as a Captain.
- July 21. 25. John Ellzey to the same. Solicits an answer to his letter of the 7th inst. (Vol. cxlvi. No. 42). Has received for tenths from Riscamore, a Cornish man, certain French wines which he is not able to sell, the country being overlaid with all sorts of wines.
Southampton.
- July 21. 26. Dr. Wm. Osbern to Dr. Bowle, Dean of Salisbury. Delivered his Majesty's order to the Bishop of Sarum, but had little thanks for his labour. The Bishop objected that the order was not directed to him, that he was no under-sheriff to put any man in possession, and charged Dr. Osbern with equivocating. Keeping his distance, Dr. Osbern replied that he as little equivocated as himself. The Bishop remarked that he understood not what the words meant "by way of provision," and Dr. Barnston, Dr. Seward, and Mr. Lee adhered to the Bishop. Lord Dorchester will not take it well that his words are so wrested and misunderstood. Never was such a combustion in their church as about these poor places.

- July 21. 27. Information of Howell Jones of Rilth, co. Salop, against Stephen ap Evan. Jones states that ap Evan said that the King would lose the hearts of his subjects by reason of charging them so deep with loan money and subsidies; and also, that the King was the "poolingest" King that ever reigned, and that the end of it would be that he would be hunted out of the land, and that the Palsgrave would be crowned in his stead. - July 22. 28. Petition of John Medley to the King. In addition to the facts stated in the petitioner's previous petition (Vol. cxlvi. No. 44), he mentions that the King had ordered Sir Francis Cottington to put him into the place of ordering and making clean the armour in the Tower, to show his skill and workmanship; but as yet the same is not done. Prays a reference to the Earls of Carlisle and Holland to hear the objections to his having the said place. Underwritten,

28. I. Reference to the Earl of Holland, Secretary Coke, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, calling to them Sir John Heydon, to take into consideration the pretensions of the petitioner. Greenwich, 1629, July 22.
- July 22. 29. Sir John Bingley to Sec. Dorchester. Since he perceived he Westminster. was "made a stranger to the passages of this establishment" he endeavoured to be a stranger to it; but cannot but impart to the Sec. the impropriety of continuing the pension of 8s. per day to Sir Edward Fisher, when worthier men are omitted. The pension was originally 8s. Irish, which was surreptitiously made sterling. Sir Edward never did anything memorable unless it were running away in time of fight; but the great Lord Mount Norris's son is to marry Fisher's daughter or grandchild, and so Fisher has wrought this. Sir John desires that the King and the Lords may not be abused.
- July 22. 30. Grounds of the judgments given by Sir Henry Marten for and against Sir Kenelm Digby, in various suits in the Exchequer respecting prize goods taken by Sir Kenelm, chiefly from Spaniards and Venetians.
- July 22. 31. Petition of Nicholas Snedall of Stroud, co. Kent, fisherman, to Wm. Burrell and others, Commissioners for sale of decayed ships. Prays them to move the Lords of the Admiralty to bestow upon him one of his Majesty's pinks which are to be sold, in recompense for his ketch, the George of Stroud, pressed to serve in the expedition to Cadiz, but captured by the Turks, with petitioner's son and his two servants aboard, all of whom were made slaves.
Underwritten,
31. I. Recommendation from the Commissioners above mentioned that the Lords should bestow on the petitioner a new ketch not half built at Stroud, which is at a stand and will come to nothing.
- July 23. 32. Certificate of Richard Broshall, Gilbert Rolleston, and Thomas Cole, to the Council, that William Holgate, summoned to appear before the Council, was so infirm that he could not travel without danger.
- July 23. 33. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. His unhappiness in Hinton. having the keeping of a forest half ruined. To the reprehensions received heretofore, restraint is now put upon him, as if his discretion were not to be trusted with the few deer which remain. Beseeches the King not to make him the Commissioners' keeper, but to trust him with the game as heretofore. Mons. de Soubise has his hounds and huntsmen in the forest, entered against his coming, which is appointed for Monday next. Poulett has returned from Week to meet him, having left his wife at the Wells, at Bristol. Begs to know the King's pleasure whether he shall permit Soubise to hunt there or not.

July 23. 34. Sir Thomas Stafford to Dorchester. Solicits a recompense for the troop of horse now taken from him, and payment of an arrear of two years and more to himself and his company. Would have waited upon him, but the Queen's removing that day requires Sir Thomas's attendance. Wishes his recompense may be a pension in Ireland.
Greenwich.
- July 23. 35. Account of an interview between Judge Yelverton and the Prebendaries of Durham, in which he effects a reconciliation between Smart and Cosin, and the rest of the Chapter. Smart's son-in-law, Ogle, standing by, was heard to say, "And is it come to this? Did we rely upon the Judge for this? Hath my father spent 300*l.* for this?" Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "Judge Yelverton's milder speeches to the Prebends of Durham after the Assizes there."
- July 24. 36. Statement of facts concerning Mr. Langhorne's ship, the St. Augustine, stayed by the Earl of Warwick, with underwritten opinion of Dr. Thomas Rives.
- July 25. 37. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. According to their Lordship's warrant they appointed sundry able men to take a second review of the remainder of Mr. Harby's cordage, which they have done, and returned a certificate of the several parcels chosen. Solicit order for sending it to Deptford to be weighed at the King's scale, and received into store. Inclose,
37. I. Kenrick Edisbury and 17 others to the officers of the Navy. Have selected out of Mr. Harby's storehouse at Rotherhithe 83 cables fit for his Majesty's use, and inclose particulars. 1629, July 17. Inclose,
37. I. 1. Certificate of Thos. Austen and others of parcels of cordage taken out of Mr. Harby's storehouse at Rotherhithe. In the whole there are 84 cables, weighing by estimation 80 tons.

37. II. 1. Another certificate of Thos. Austen and others, of cordage taken out of Mr. Harby's storehouse at St. Saviour's Dock:—44 cables, weighing by estimation 50 tons.
- July 25. 38. Francis, Earl of Bedford, to Sec. Dorchester. In obedience to the King's command has signed a Deputation of Lieutenantcy to Sir James Bagg for co. Devon. Thanks for a whelp which the Earl is learning to draw and to be a scent hound.
Woburn.
- [July 25.] 39. Sir James Bagg to the same. Sent his letter to the Earl of Bedford, which was received with much honour, and his Majesty's will observed. Sends him the preceding letter from the Earl, and prays him to take the Earl's compliance kindly when he shall first see him.

July 25. Northampton. 40. Dep. Lieuts. of co. Northampton to Wm. Earl of Exeter, Lord Lieutenant. Have sent their warrants for the forces of their division to be before them on the 1st Sept., to be trained and mustered. The authority of Dep. Lieuts. touching warrants for collecting money to be expended at musters, or for the entertainment of the officers, having been of late publicly impeached, they have forborne to make mention thereof, leaving the same to be levied by such other course as the Earl shall think convenient.
- July 26. 41. Petition of the Mayor and Jurats of Folkestone, and others well-disposed to that place, to the King. Folkestone, which heretofore flourished by fishing and trade by sea, is fallen into great decay by means the sea has of late fetched in and carried away their ancient stade or station, so that they are deprived of means to secure their barks, and the sea has approached within seventy paces of the church, which stands upon the undermined cliff. Pray for licence to build a pier, to be passed by immediate warrant. Underwritten, 41. i. Direction to the Attorney General to prepare a grant accordingly. Theobalds, 1629, July 26.
- July 26. 42. Dr. John Cosin to Bishop Laud. Mr. Smart being questioned at York preferred indictments at Durham against Mr. Burgoyne and the writer before Judge Yelverton, who in opposition to Judge Whitelock declared that as some men had been punished for refusing ceremonies commanded in the church by law, so others are as punishable if they dare to use rite, ceremony, ornament, or order, which is not appointed in the Book of Common Prayer. But these indictments, how frivolous they proved even in Judge Yelverton's own judgment, what conference he had with the prebendaries, what his reprehension of such smart, fierce, and unchristian courses, and what Cosin's temper and behaviour the bearer, Mr. Dunkon, and Mr. Dean of Lichfield, at his return, may relate. In the meanwhile, the Judge has stayed the indictments until he has consulted with the Bishop addressed and those of Durham and Winchester.
- July 27. 43. Robert Earl of Warwick, to the Council. The weavers of Leez [Leigh.] Bocking, Braintrec, and other places, have been with the Earl to complain that their masters cause them to make their cloths longer than they were wont without increase of wages. If by proclamation or letter to the Justices of Peace they would have the haize all made of one length, and have reasonable wages set upon them, it would be a means for settling peace among the people.
- July 27. 44. George Lord Goring to [James Earl of Carlisle]. Sends to him this new married man [George Goring, his son], to be presented to the King that he may attend him in what condition soever until it please him to call him to the place the writer now holds, or any other. He will fit George up to attend the King this present progress, and so on the whole progress of his life after, for all the writer has is due there first. To-morrow shall return from Tunbridge to see Lord Cork, kiss his Majesty's hands and receive his

- commands. Begs him in the meantime to contrive with the Lord Treasurer about the councillor's place for Andrea de Norio. Is to return that night to his gracious mistress upon her especial strict command.
- July 27. 45. Wm. Earl of Exeter, Lord Lieut. of co. Northampton, to the Worthorpe? Dep. Lieuts. of the Western Division of that county. By their letter of the 25th conceives their unwillingness to send out warrants for levying monies for the musters according to directions from the Board. All the wisdom of the land is not merely in Northamptonshire, and seeing other places far and near, have already levied money in this behalf, especial notice will be taken of their disobedience. Desires them to answer whether they will send out warrants or not, and he will send their letters to the Board for his discharge. [Mem. underneath that a similar letter was sent to the Dep. Lieuts. of the Eastern division.]
- July 27. 46. Sir Barnard Grenville to Sir James Bagg. At the recent Tremeer. muster at Bodmin, where there have been frequent musters in past [Tresmere.] times, when the parish wherein Tristram Arscott dwells was called he presented a petition, as he said, at the request of all the country, although got up only by his earnest labour. The writer told him he would consider of his petition. Presently after he came with a throng of people and demanded an answer. Fearing a mild cold answer might embolden his accomplices and "our busy headed Parliament men, with whom Arscott is a great sider," the writer answered roughly that his Majesty should see his petition and he would then receive his answer. He has since ridden to London to anticipate the writer's complaint, and depending on his cousin Meautys, and his master the Earl of Bedford. The writer has been a Dep. Lieut. two or three and thirty years, and never met so ill affections as now. Begs him to oppose this foul demeanour or to free him from the Lieutenancy.
- July 27. 47. Return by Capt. Wm. Naper of defaulters at musters taken for co. Dorset on June 15 last, and on this day.
- July 28. 48. The King to Sir Robert Heath. To prepare grant to Richard Oliver for life of the keepership of Hartwell Park, co. Northampton, and after his decease to Charles Porter, the King's godson, second son of Endymion Porter, one of the grooms of the Bedchamber, for his life.
- July 28. 49. Petition of Dorothy and Ann, the two daughters of Edmond Neville, commonly called Earl of Westmoreland, to the King. Petitioners being destitute of any livelihood, pray that the pension of 600*l.* per annum, which the late King granted to their mother, may be divided so that 100*l.* per annum may be granted to each of them for their lives, and 400*l.* per annum remain to their mother, whereunto she has most willingly condescended. 50. Sir Thomas Wiseman and four others to the Council. Having been appointed referees to accommodate a difference between the officers of the worsted weavers of Norwich and the sellers of worsted yarn in Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, and Cambridge, they state their proceedings at a meeting held at Bury St. Edmunds. The difference arose out of a new regulation of the worsted weavers, which imposed penalties on persons bringing to Norwich any yarn not of a certain length and number of threads. Terms of accommodation were proposed, but were rejected by the weavers of Norwich.

51. John Marquis of Winchester, to Sec. Dorchester. Solicits the Sec. to move the King for warrants to hunt a brace of stags this summer with the Marquis's hounds in Windsor Forest, after the King has left the Forest.

Dreadnought.

52. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to the same. Landed the Venetian ambassador at Calais the 27th inst. The ships of war of Dunkirk and Ostend are all laid up in harbour, for want of money to set them out; only two or three small sloops of Gravelines pester the narrow seas between Blackness and Dungeness, and take English and Hollanders daily. Calais merchants dare not pass their goods to Dover for fear of them. Suggests that one of the Whelps should be commanded to ride in Calais-road and ply between the forenamed places.

54. Bishop Williams, of Lincoln, to Sir John Lambe. If he shall keep his "Alliesman Allen," that has so demeaned himself towards the Bishop, he will acknowledge that Lambe has affections, but towards whom will leave it to him to judge. The Bishop will favour Sir John's new proctor, but unless Sir John's patent has more in it than that of the Bishop's chancellor, surely Sir John cannot admit him a proctor in the commissary's court. The Bishop will do it on Sir John's recommendation.

factions opposition to the course adopted by the Attorney General on the direction of the King, and of procuring the dismissal of Mr. Hardware, and threatening the like to Benjamin Cooper, who had opened the corporation evidences to the Lords referees, and desired to submit to the King's intended reformation.

[July 29.] 57. "Objections and Allegations against Mr. Benjamin Cooper, which will be very credibly proved."

[July 29 ?] 58. Statement entitled "The original cause of the pretended faction and misgovernment in Yarmouth, by the complaint of Benjamin Cooper, whereas in truth, there is not any other than some disturbances which the town suffereth by his false complaint."

July 29. 59. Order in Council on a Complaint made by Benjamin Cooper, Whitehall. Bailiff, and George Hardware, Alderman, of Yarmouth, against Wm. Buttolph, the other Bailiff, for having with violence opposed the course which his Majesty had appointed for redressing the disorders of the government there. After hearing both parties, it was ordered that Geo. Hardware having been disfranchised, should be forthwith restored, and that both parties should live together quietly, attending the issue of the course appointed by the King. Mr. Attorney General was also ordered to proceed with his quo warranto with all expedition.

July 29. 60. Officers of the Ordnance to the Council. Having received Ordnance Office. their order that such iron ordnance as might be spared, without disfurnishing the store of the proportion necessary for service on all occasions, should be sold for the King's benefit, they return a particular of all the iron ordnance. The proportion necessary for service on all occasions is a matter which they cannot determine, who neither know, nor are able to conjecture, what his Majesty's occasions may be. They therein therefore desire to be excused. Number of pieces of iron ordnance, 344; weight 449 tons.

July 29. 61. Sir Wm. Courtney to Sec. Dorchester. Understands order is Saltash. given for payment of some of the Officers. Is confident he shall not be forgotten. Reminds the Sec. of the nature of his service, and his Majesty's promise that he should have a recompense.

July 29. 62. Copy opinion of Wm. Babington and John Wightwick on the will of a testator unnamed. The persons alluded to, are an eldest son, who is the heir, and a widow. The only estates mentioned, are the Manors of Newstead, Cadney, and Howsam.

July 30. 64. Petition of James Foster, convict, in the jail of the White Lion in Southwark, to the King. 65. Petition of Robt. Herring, barber-surgeon, to the King. Has served the late and present King for ten years past, in Denmark, the Palatinate, and at Cadiz. During his absence, one John Stanford being killed, the Coroner's quest found one Robert Herring, a person unknown to petitioner, guilty, who was thereupon indicted and outlawed. Petitioner fearing to commit himself into the power of law, prays for a reference to the Attorney General to prepare a pardon. Underwritten, July 30. 67. Petition of the parishioners of St. Mary, Colechurch, London, to Bishop Laud. About a year and a half past, in the decaying age of Mr. Cowdall, their old parson, who is almost four score, and at his request, they hired, at their own charge, Mr. Nalton, M.A., of five years standing, to be curate to Mr. Cowdall. By reason of the sickness and weakness of the old man, Nalton has sometimes performed the whole service, both of reading Divine Service, preaching on Sundays, and at funerals, and administering the Sacraments, wherein he has demeaned himself reverently, and according to the canonical constitutions of the Church of England. Yet for an act committed immediately after his first coming to London, and before he was acquainted with the customs of these parts, he has been convicted before the Bishop, and by him forbidden the exercise of his ministry, until the Bishop be further satisfied concerning him. Being a quiet, peaceable man, learned and painful in his ministry, of honest life, conformable to the Church, and sorry for his fault, they pray that he may be restored to his ministry.

- July 30. 68. Petition of Richard Turner to the Council. Sets forth the circumstances under which he refused to serve as a trained soldier at a muster held at Hatherleigh, co. Devon, and the proceedings which had since taken place between himself and Capt. Weekes and his lieutenant, and prays that the cause may be referred to Francis Earl of Devon, the Lord Lieut. of that county.
- July 30. 69. Certificate of George Bingley and John Wotton, Deputy Auditors, of a sum of 97*l.* 4*s.* due to Sir Francis Willoughby.
- July 31.
From the Dreadnought. 70. Capt. Richard Plunleigh to the Lords of the Admiralty. Has received order from Sir Henry Mervyn to sail with the Dreadnought and two Whelps for Guernsey and Jersey, to take aboard 400 soldiers, and to transport them for Flushing, and thence to return to the Downs, touching on his way to the Channel Islands at Portsmouth, to take in Mr. Younger, who has command to fit the soldiers with provision for transport. Reminds them that his provisions end on August 24, and hopes they will send a supply to Portsmouth.
- July 31.
Tunbridge. 71. Sir Robt. Aiton to Sec. Dorchester. By the Queen's express command recommends the bearer to the Secretary. The Queen has both spoken and written to the King in his favour, and now conceives that his despatch is altogether in the Secretary's hands.
- July 31. 72. Richard Cowdall to Bishop Laud. Mr. Nalton's judgment is clear for the use of the ceremonies, and the writer doubts not but his practice will henceforward be answerable.
- July 31. 73. Letters of Administration to Sir Thomas Wilson of St. Martin's in the Fields, deceased, granted to Margaret Wilson his widow, by Geoffrey Swalman, LL.D., official of the Archdeacon of Middlesex.

July 31. 74. Oliver Viscount Grandison to Sir Thomas Roe. Roe's despatch hither was very well accepted, and himself esteemed a very able minister. The peace with France is towards a conclusion, and that of Spain in good forwardness. The French, Venetians, and States are thought to interrupt it, for the writer's opinion as affairs stand he wishes a peace with both, but he shoots at rovers as one that knows nothing. Yesterday the King began his progress. The Habeas Corpus men remain where Roe left them, where they may feed themselves with popular applause; whereas if they did ground their opinions on religion and the true rules of government they would not become so dangerous instruments to those that hearken after them and to themselves. A rescue in Fleet-street, wherein Capt. Dawson was slain, and ensuing thereupon a fray about a sword, and one or two slain, for which Stanford, late of the Duke's chamber, and Capt. Ashurst, were condemned and executed. The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs had much ado to appease the tumult, men being grown so bold as to give public affronts to government. Subscribes himself "your loving uncle."
- [July ?] 75. Dr. J. Nicholas to the King. The death of Bishop Hanmer, of St. Asaph, has filled the writer with sorrow, he having just come out of Wales with letters from that prelate. Prays that out of the livings to be vacated by the person to be named as the Bishop's successor, or which may fall during the vacancy of the see, the writer may have some preferment according to his Majesty's promise. Refers to letters addressed by the late prelate to Sir James Fullerton (see Vol. cxlv. No. 6) and Sir Theodore Mayerne.
- July. 76. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To prepare grant of offices of High Steward of the Honour of Grafton and Master of the Game there to Sir Francis Crane, Chancellor of the Order of the Garter.
- [July ?] 77. William Shaw to Sec. Dorchester. Acquaints him of a purchase whose title and tenure are without exception. It is a fair lady, an Earl's daughter, whose virtues are extant and her person present to be seen. Her father is a Scottish Eari, her mother, daughter, and sister of Nottingham house in Surrey. The Howards there are all her friends, the King is pleased to honour her, the Marquis Hamilton and other northern lords are all on her side, Lord Monmouth is her uncle. If the Sec. would be pleased to question the writer, Mr. Carpenter, the Sec.'s servant, may find him in Westminster.
- [July ?] 78. Minute of application to the same, to give a decision in the case of a ship of Lubeck, taken by a ship of war; set out by Capt. West and others, and on which case Sir Henry Marten had made a report, by order of the Council. Reasons are stated why the case of this ship differs from that of other prize ships taken from the Hanse Towns.

July. 79. Commissioners for subsidies in co. Kent, to Philip Earl of Montgomery, Lord Lieutenant. On the urgent importunity of the billeters of the east parts of Kent, they represent to him that the last of the five subsidies is now called for, and they pray that thereout the billeters may receive satisfaction, which will supply their many great necessities, and give encouragement to as humble, faithful, and loyal subjects, as any within his Majesty's dominion.
- July. 80. Names of such as are returned defaulters at musters in co. Essex, delivered in by the Earl of Warwick.
- July. 81. List of defaulters at musters in co. Lancaster, returned by the Dep. Lieuts.
- [July?] 82. Names of such as were defective at musters, in co. Hertford.
- [July?] 83. Petition of the trained bands in the Hundred of Stratton, co. Cornwall, to the Dep. Lieuts. of that county. They are more charged with arms than any county in England, certainly more than Devon, Somerset, Dorset, and Hants, and more burthened in the unequal manner of laying on that charge. "Now you, gentlemen, who sit in the rooms of your noble predecessors, whose memories are yet fresh among us, in their pious standing for the good of their country, be pleased to take it into your breasts, how honourable it is to protect us against such a common grievance, in what you may, and so be patrons to your native country; and, in what is above you, to marshal and present this our just complaint" to the Lord Lieutenant and the Council. They pray that their arms may be brought to the condition of 1586, or if that may not be, that they may have contribution from other parts; that no man be drawn to muster at such a distance from his home that he is put to heavy charge, besides being compelled to travel on the sabbath day; and that a rule be published for a supply of arms proportioned to every man's estate. [Copy.]
- [July?] 84. Petition of Robert Thorne to Sec. Dorchester. King James granted the petitioner the office of taking oaths before the Council of Wales, after the death of Fulke Lord Brooke. Petitioner has been admitted to the office, but Sir Marmaduke Lloyd, Sir Nicholas Overbury, and Mr. Justice Waties debarred him from receiving the fees, whereupon the King, by letter, inhibited them from intermeddling with the same fees. On delivery of the same letter, the justices used many threatening and bitter speeches to the patentee, and threatened to petition the King against him. Prays him to inform the King of the "incurious course" held by the justices, that they may be commanded to use the patentee with the respect befitting his Majesty's sworn officer.
- [July?] 85. Statement of the inconveniences which will ensue if any patent for taking oaths should be granted. Increased delay to suitors, and loss of dignity to the Court, Thorne being but a clerk in

5. Henry Lucas to the same. Reports what letters had arrived for the Sec. on Saturday and that day. Sir Francis Nethersole gave the writer an abstract of a letter from the Hague, which seems not to favour the former report, inclosed in a letter to Mr. Weckherlin to show the Sec., nor does it seem built upon any certain advertisement. In sending back the stag, was overruled by Margaret, who knew not what to do with it in Mr. Carpenter's absence. To-morrow morning is appointed by Sir Henry Marten, to hear the French merchants concerning the restitution of their goods. One difficulty arises out of the space of time which intervenes between the day of the peace and that of its proclamation. Prizes taken between those days having been since distributed through many hands, it will be as impossible to restore them all as meat eaten and digested. Another difficulty depends on the proclamation for prohibited goods. The French ought to be subject to it as well after the peace made as before peace was broken.

6. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Dorchester. Reports the nature of the French causes heard before him that day. In two doubtful cases terms of composition were rejected by the French with strange insolency and scorn. "Remember me to the King as you have opportunity, and let me know how his Majesty stands affected in my cause."

Westminster.

7. Joshua Carpenter to the same. Sends a packet arrived by express messenger from the Hague. He makes no relation of the retirement of the enemy, but of their intrenchment, although in great want of victual. Grave Ernest has a great army to withstand them. Some speech of Tilly's army coming down, but it does not much trouble them. Mr. Lucas and the writer have been with Mr. Varne about Imbercourt, and are to meet him to-morrow at Sir Thos. Fanshew's [Fanshaw's], and after at the Commissioners. Hope to give him account on Wednesday.

8. Certificate of the Mayor of Plymouth that Tristram Browne, owner of the Endeavour of Plymouth, had made before him a recited affidavit relating to the circumstances of the capture of his ship by Captain Lassany, a Frenchman, and the amounts paid by Browne for redemption money.

Aug. 4.

9. Attorney General Heath to the King. On a complaint made by Mr. Bethell, one of the King's servants, he made a warrant against Southcot Hewes, and delivered it to King, one of the messengers of the Chamber. He found the gentleman in Lincoln's Inn walks. Out of respect to the place, he forbore to attach him; but when the messenger was quietly gone out of the gates into the streets, about thirty gentlemen fetched him into the house violently, pumped him, shaved him, and disgracefully used him, after they saw his warrant. Purposes to proceed roundly against the offenders, but thought it his duty to acquaint the King with the truth thereof. They are busy in examination of the late tumult, on the heels of which this comes over unseasonably.

10. Report of Sir Henry Marten to the Council on a petition of of Luc de la Roche, referred to him by their order (see Vol. cxlv., No. 49.) The petition prays for restoration of the John of Marennes, on security. Sir Henry reports that the ship was adjudged good prize in August, 1628, and was disposed of into many hands and small parcels, wherefore it cannot be restored. Annexed, Drayton. 12. Sir John Bingley to Sec. Dorchester. His wife has written very effectually. Heard a letter read that Sir P[aul] B[ayning] has left to his son, now fourteen, 8,000*l.* per annum in land, and 100,000*l.* in money at use, and 60,000*l.* to his four daughters. This estate requires a good guardian. The lady esteems very highly the Earl of Dorset, who is her cousin, and one Kirby, an Alderman's fellow in London, who was servant to old Mr. Bayning, is of great trust in the estate. Immediately the writer's wife hears from the lady she intends to go thither with her sister Goring.

- Aug. 4.
Fulham. 13. Bishop Laud to Bishop Dove, of Peterborough. The late Bishop of London sent him a number of printed briefs for making a collection through his diocese for the poor distressed ministers of the Palatinate. Prays him to advance the pious work, and return the moneys collected. [Copy.]
- Aug. 4. Nicholas to John Ellzey. Sir Henry Marten says that if the Dutchman sold goods to supply himself with victuals, he ought not to pay tenths, but only custom and impost; but if he sold them to defraud his adventurers, tenths ought to be paid by the man-of-war and not by the buyer. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 79.]
- Aug. 4. 14. Certificate of Sir Francis Willoughby and others that a person, whose name does not appear, having been employed by commission from the Earl of Holland in commanding 100 recruits at Exeter for eight weeks, may deserve an allowance of 10*l.* [Imperfect.]

According to their order have made a collection of the number of all iron ordnance brought into the stores of that office since the commencement of his Majesty's reign. As to the number of all ordnance made and sold within the kingdom during that time they have given notice to George Hooker and the gunfounders to report thereon. Inclose, 16. i. Certificate of cast iron ordnance brought into the stores of the ordnance. Total of pieces 931, of weight, 1,143 tons, 8 cwt. 2 qr.
- Aug. 5. 17. Henry Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal, to Sec. Dorchester. Did not delay the business committed to him from the Board. Sent for others of that inquest and discovered the packing of all that business. Bonys, that made himself so innocent, was the man that promoted the business against the King's Chaplains for non-residency, and Fish of Stevenage was the party that penned the petition concerning the Muster-master, which was debated upon amongst the Grand Jury. It was their purpose to have indicted those high constables who made out warrants for levying money for the Muster-master, but they changed to go by way of petition, which they caused to be openly read in the Assizes time, where the first error was that it was let pass without a check. That they may feel the consequences of it he has put them into Mr. Attorney's hand. Should not have troubled him at such length, but perceives that the King looks for a [report].

- Aug. 5. 18. Lord Keeper Coventry to Sec. Dorchester. His letter of the 4th from Woking came to his hands that evening at seven, on his return from the Council board. Will give notice to the Lord Chief Justice and Mr. Attorney, and his own readiness shall not be wanting to accomplish his Majesty's commandment. Sec. Coke and the Master of the Wards join with the Lord Chief Justice and the King's Counsel to sift out the truth of that outrageous fact, and of another great outrage lately committed at Lincoln's Inn. They daily proceed, and hope to bring the matter to an issue with speed.
- Aug. 5. 19. Philip Burlamachi to [the same?] Is there [in London] to transact business, which comprises the 2,000*l.* of the person whom he addresses. Reports the continuance of the siege of Bois le Duc and other incidents of the war in the Low Countries, partly derived from a letter of Capt. Floyd. Hopes to be at Court on Sunday next, when he will let him know what farther news may arrive. Those who have the pearls in pledge, lose patience, and tease Burlamachi's brother for power to sell. Fr.
- Aug. 6. 20. Sec. Coke to the same. Ever since his departure the Master of the Wards and Sec. Coke have attended the Lord Chief Justice and the other Commissioners in the examination of the disorders in Fleet Street, the extravagant burial of the two persons executed, and a new insolvency in Lincoln's Inn. They are near a conclusion, and he shall receive a particular account for the King's information. The Council have given order to the City for a more careful supply of powder and shot. They have also taken care to secure the highways about the city, which began to swarm with robbers.
- Aug. 6. 21. The same to the same. Hastens an account to his Majesty of all their examinations. The grant to the French merchants sent therewith is recommended to the King by the Lord Treasurer and Council.
- Aug. 6. 22. Petition of Wm. Boswell, vicar of the parish of St. Lawrence, in the Old Jewry, London, to Bishop Laud. Sets forth a variety of complaints against his parishioners, principally for usurping authority in parish matters which he contends to be rightly within his jurisdiction. Prays the Bishop to cause the parish book of acts and orders to be looked into, and that he may be allowed to remit himself for the reformation of the abuses complained of, wholly to the Bishop.

Aug. 6. 23. Certificate of parishioners of St. Lawrence in the Old Jewry, London, to Bishop Laud, in behalf of William Boswell, their vicar for twelve years. Never heard of any objection to him greater than this, that for the reformation of disorders in the parish meetings he procured from the late Bishop an act for a selected vestry, for which they have taken from him 40*l.* per annum, by what power or equity the subscribers leave to his lordship's wisdom.
- Aug. 6. 24. Wm. Boswell to the same. Statement of his particular desires in reference to his above-mentioned complaint.
- Aug. 7. 25. Charles Lord Lambert, Sir Reginald Mohun, and Sir Bernard Grenville to Lord President Conway. Capt. Robert Rous and Thomas Hippisley having deposed that William Brookings had spoken some disgraceful words against his Majesty, they have sent up the depositions by William Wrey, who is also ready to certify the truth thereof.
- Aug. 7. 26. Warrant from Lord Treasurer Weston to Sir Edw. Wardour, Clerk of the Pells, to certify what had come into the Exchequer yearly for the last ten years of the reign of King James, for respite of homage and fealty, reliefs, primer seizin or mesne rates, and marriage for the king's widows.
- Aug. 7.
London. 27. Sir James Bagg to Christopher Earl of Anglesea. The Red Lion, French prize, is about 120 tons, with six pieces of ordnance. Her tackle and hull are much impaired. Her value is 260*l.*
- Aug. 7. 28. Petition of George and Henry Bray [to the Lord Keeper?]. Henry Williams, of Truro, being lunatic, they pray for a grant of his custody, being his kind friends, and their endeavours only to "reduce him to his former temperature," and to preserve his estate. [Underwritten is the answer; a commission of lunacy has been awarded, and the petitioners are allowed to be competitors, and are to attend at a sitting named.] [Copy.]
- Aug. 8. 29. Petition of the Masters or Governors of the Mystery of Barbers and Surgeons of London to the King. On a former petition the King gave order for renewal of their ancient charters, with such further privileges as might conduce to the purposes mentioned in that petition. Petitioners have, by advice of the Attorney General, found that the further privileges mentioned in the schedule annexed are requisite, wherefore they present them for the King's allowance. Annexed,
29. I. Statement of fourteen particulars to be provided for in the new barber-surgeons' charter, with a clause substituted and one added by the Lord Keeper.
- Written under the petition,*
29. II. Order for the Attorney General to prepare a bill for a new charter as desired, the King being informed that the differences between the physicians, apothecaries, and barber-surgeons are agreed by the Lord Keeper. Oatlands, 1629, Aug. 8.

 Aug. 8. 30. Lord President Conway to Richard Jolliffe, Deputy Vice Admiral of the Isle of Wight, excepting Cowes Castle. The keeping of Admiralty Courts having been long neglected there, whereby many offences are daily committed, he is required to keep that Court, at fitting times and places, according to ancient custom. [Underwritten is a memorandum that a similar letter was written to William Towerson for co. Hants, 1630, May 14.] [Copy].
- Aug. 8. 31. Sir Thos. Gardyner to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for former noble favours to his son in Italy, and for his promise to remember his Majesty for his wonted favour in sending the writer fat venison in melon time. Sends four melons, and when he shall send to the King, will not fail Dorchester.
- Aug. 8. 32. Sir Francis Nethersole to [Sec. Dorchester]. When he took Westminster. leave of the King at Theobald's, his Majesty said he would give the Lord Treasurer command to dispatch Sir Francis and Burlamachi with all speed. Finds it will be above a week or a fortnight before Burlamachi be dispatched. The writer beseeches Dorchester to procure him the King's letters, that he may at last go hence.
- Aug. 9. 33. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Waiting yesterday on his Majesty, he left for the Sec. the draft of a letter to the Governor of Virginia, Sir John Harvey, which he prays may be sent. Now incloses a warrant to put the great seal to a sale of lands of the crown to Sir Allen Apsley. Prays him to procure the King's signature.
- Aug. 9. 34. Bishop Laud to the same. Dr. Owen, named to the Bishop [ric] of St. Asaph, leaving his living in Northamptonshire to the King's disposal, and having no commendam but the Archdeaconry, which has for so many years gone with the Bishop [ric], the King grants that he may have the corn now upon the ground, being the tithe of the Archdeaconry. Prays him to take care that no other suit come between to defeat Dr. Owen.
- Aug. 9. 35. Sec. Coke to Lord Chief Justice Hyde. Being sent for to the Tottenham. Court at Oatlands, he gave account of the three businesses which they examined at Sergeant's Inn. For the first [the tumult in Fleet Street], both the King and the Lords hold it strange that it is found but a riot, considering that after proclamation by his Majesty's lieutenant, resistance was made, blood shed, a barricado raised, and capitulations required, all which have ever been found capital offences. The King commanded the Sec. to tell the Lord Chief Justice, that his eye is not on any man for revenge of his particular offence, but on the duty of a King and the ministers of his justice, for the preservation of government. He will not prosecute a matter of this nature in the Star Chamber, and so publish to the world that his government may be opposed without further danger or penalty than a fine; but if our laws admit no other proceedings, his Majesty will have it prosecuted no further, rather than make such a precedent to encourage rebellion. He is to take the case into consideration, and confer with the Lord Keeper, that his Majesty may receive a full answer. The second offence, the pompous burial of the persons executed, and the third case, that of Lincoln's Inn, the King requires to be carefully prosecuted in the Star Chamber.

- ✓ Aug. 10. 36. Order of the King, on a petition of the Bailiffs and Magistrates of Yarmouth, praying that they may be allowed to proceed, according to ancient custom, in the election of their bailiffs. The King consents for this year, because the time fixed by charter, being the 29th inst., will not permit the trial of "this cause;" but the Attorney General is to continue his proceeding. [Draft.]
- Aug. 10. 37. Account of payments ordered to be made in anticipation of the ordinary revenue, total 206,698*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*
- Aug. 11. 38. James Earl of Carlisle, to Sec. Dorchester. Baroccio and Size are very instant to procure the dispatch of his Majesty's own letters, with which the Earl begs the Secretary to oblige them, and also to remember little Oliver, that he may be sent away to his employment. His industrious faithful service will yield the Secretary good satisfaction.
- Aug. 11. 39. Lord Keeper Coventry to the same. States his proceedings between the Barber surgeons, the College of Physicians, and the Apothecaries. No just exception can be taken to the book, as it is now penned, which he certifies to give his Majesty satisfaction.
- Aug. 11. 40. John Hassall, Dean of Norwich to the same. Something Great Bircham. exemplary done upon this place [Yarmouth] may prove of great consequence with all great towns corporate, upon whom, though Amsterdam do not breathe so hot as it does upon Yarmouth, through vicinity and continual intercourse of trade, yet the same faction, even amongst them, being more generally prevalent than were to be wished, perhaps the instance of Yarmouth reduced may prove very medicinal. The course intended by his Majesty is incomparably the best that could be conceived, for settling a peaceable government in that distracted town, and he submits that his Majesty, in nominating the next bailiffs, should make choice of such as have been most zealous of that course, amongst whom is the now bailiff, Benjamin Cooper.
- Aug. 11. 41. Bishop Mawe, of Bath and Wells to Henry Earl of Holland. Trinity College, Cambridge. Thanks for communicating to him that the King dispenses with his personal residence in one of his episcopal houses, for recovery of his health, and that it is his pleasure that the Bishop should quit Trinity College at the time prefixed. Recommends Thomas Randolph, B.A., one of extraordinary parts of wit and learning, and so approved by the whole University that scarce an age brings forth a better or the like. If he had been capable of a fellowship at the last election the writer had certainly provided for him, but not being so he begs the Earl to procure for him His Majesty's mandatory letter. He has no friends to solicit for him, but the Bishop of Lincoln under whom he was bred at Westminster, and the writer under whom he has lived four years in Trinity College.

 Aug. 12. 42. Thomas Viscount Wentworth, Lord President of the Council of Wentworth the North, to the Council. Having been required to suppress some Woodhouse. supposed riots near to Hatfield Chace, in disturbance of Sir Cornelius Vermuyden's work there, he reports that no disturbance has been given him in that county: so that if Sir Cornelius has informed any such thing he has abused the Council with an untruth and deserves reprehension. If any such were it happened in Lincolnshire, forth of the limits of that Commission.
- Aug. 12. 43. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. William Jones, who has lived long in the Court, on the recommendation of the Duke of Richmond was taken into the service of Lord Conway, who afterwards transferred him to Sec. Coke. There is owing to him 147*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* from the King, for satisfaction whereof he is suitor for a Star Chamber fine. In Sec. Coke's absence the Lord President recommends his suit to Sec. Dorchester.
- Aug. 12. 44. Henry Earl of Holland to Sec. Dorchester. At the request
 Bramshill. of the King of Sweeden, Capt. Carmill Douardt has leave to levy 300 men in Ireland for the service of that King. Urges expedition in his dispatch.
- Aug. 12. 45. James Earl of Carlisle to Sec. Dorchester. The King expects London. the French Ambassador at Oxford, which he requests the Sec. to make known to the Vice Chancellor, that they be not surprised, but provided to give him such entertainment as becomes his quality and the honour of the University. Begg him to dispatch the bearer to his ancient humble servant, Lord Wake. Will not stir out of town till he has acquitted himself of the trust which the Sec. has reposed in him for his particular service.
- Aug. 12. 46. George Earl of Kildare to the same, his kinsman. Thanks Lennox House. him for giving his helping hand in passing the writer's wardship to the Earl of Cork. Seeing my lady Duchess [of Lennox] is willing to part with him, he thinks she cannot put him into a man's hands that can do him more good. Desires that he may continue at Oxford to enjoy the company of the Earl of Cork's son.
- Aug. 12. 47. Thomas Viscount Wentworth to Attorney General Heath
 Wentworth There is "cumd" into his hands a paper spread abroad by a re-Woodhouse. cusant of great consequence to the effect that the Attorney General had declared that the Northern Commission for recusants was in the nature of a sub-commission to that in the South. This will do great prejudice to the service, the recusants hoping to scape better where their estates are not so well known as they are there; and they have reason, for Mr. Gascoigne of Barnbow, a man of 1,000*l.* a year, has compounded for 60*l.* a year after he had compounded with Lord Savile for 100*l.* a year. Philip Anne, a gentleman of 500*l.* per annum compounded for 20*l.* a year, although his father ever paid 80*l.*, and Mr. Chomley, a man of 800*l.* a year, compounded for 25*l.*, although he has all his brother's land, who paid 120*l.*, a year during his life, and all his own to boot. Begg him to declare this point that they may disprove the scattered paper. If when they hold them to it there, the recusants may "have that back-set to chop up and compound above," the writer will instantly deliver up his interest in the Commission.

- Aug. 12. 48. Certificate of George Wilson and two others of the sufficiency of Richard Cook, son of William Cook, one of the Masters of Attendance, to be boatswain of one of the King's smaller ships. [Under-written is a further certificate of Wm. Burrell and Phineas Pett, of Richd. Cook's competency to be boatswain of the St. Claude, or any ship of that rank. 1630, May 1.]
- Aug. 12. 49. Certificate for Sir Edward Wardour, Clerk of the Pells, that 6,411*l.* 10*s.* 2*d.* had been paid into the Exchequer for respite of homage during the last ten years of the reign of King James.
- Aug. 12. 50. Similar certificate that 1,306*l.* 10*s.* 10½*d.* had been paid in for reliefs. No moneys paid in under the heads of primer-seizins, mesne rates, and marriages of the King's wards.
- Aug. 12. 51. Vow made by Edw. Nicholas that he would give to the poor and for pious uses, a certain per centage of his income, varying according to the nature of the source whence it was derived; five per cent. from his official income, six per cent. out of any leases for years or lives; eight per cent. out of profits of land or interest of money.

- Aug. 12. 52. Inventory by Richard Dike of Admiralty Tenths of goods brought into the port of London by Captain John Greene, of the Revenge of Dover, taken out of two prizes, one a Spanish vessel, and the other a French vessel called the St. Mary of St. Giles.
- Aug. 12. 53. ——— to Mr. Sherrington. Reports the sale of certain goods, and requests instructions as to the disposition of the proceeds.

- Aug. 13. 54. Henry Lucas to Sec. Dorchester. Received the inclosed from Burlamachi that night. It contains the assurance of the news of which Mr. Dacres brought first advertisement. Put it into the post's hand the same hour it came. Sends also the establishments for Ireland, old and new, with a letter from Mr. Bingley. Incloses,

54. i. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Dorchester. Rumours are not always false. Amersfort has been surrendered in a cowardly manner by the governor and burgomasters. Wesel was taken by Count de Styrum and Mons. van Diedem, with 1400 musketeers and 600 horse, who, having passed the ditch and rampart, were repulsed, but rallied, re-charged, and were successful, taking the governor prisoner and cutting the garrison in pieces. 1629, August 13.

- Aug. 13. 56. Copy of Letters Patent whereby various rents and lands were Canbury. granted to Queen Henrietta Maria in augmentation of her jointure and dower. The lands comprised the parks, amongst others, of Greenwich, Oatlands and Isleworth, and the manors of Edmonton, Twickenham, Holdenby, co. Northampton, King's Norton, co. Worcester, Rowington and Hampton in Arden, co. Warwick, Spalding, Holbeach, Grantham, and Barton upon Humber co. Lincoln, with many others. The lands were conveyed to Henry Earl of Holland, High Steward of the Queen's Revenues; Edward Earl of Dorset, Lord Chamberlain of her household; Thomas Viscount Savage, Chancellor and Keeper of her great seal; Sir Robert Aiton, her principal Secretary; Sir Richard Wynn, her Treasurer and Receiver General; Sir Thomas Hatton, her Surveyor, and Sir John Finch, her Attorney General.
- Aug. 14. 57. Petition of Henry Miles and Capt. John Mason, Treasurer for the late army, to the King. The late King on 9 Oct. 1617 granted to the petitioner Miles and to John Ferroure and John Freind, for their lives, the office of General Remembrance of divers Records for the ease of the King's subjects in their searches. The Parliament after investigation voted that the same was no grievance, but the establishment thereof has been neglected by reason of the absence of petitioner Miles and the death of the other two patentees. In consideration of Miles's past expenses in connexion with this grant, and that Mason has forborne since 1610 the sum of 2,238*l.* disbursed in the Hebrides or Redshanks Islands for reducing the inhabitants to obedience, petitioners pray for a renewal of the late King's grant to them and John White. Underwritten, Yarmouth. aldermen of Yarmouth to the Council. On presenting the order of the Council for restoring George Hardware to his place of alderman, divers of the assembly refused to obey the same, and denied either to restore Hardware or to put out Thomas Crane unduly placed in his room. Pray the Council to take some course therein. They send a list of the principal ringleaders of the opposition.

- Aug. 14. 59. Foulke Reed to Lord President Conway. Reports arrange-Ragley. ments respecting Lord Conway's horses and preparation of beer in anticipation of a visit he was about to pay to Ragley. The payment of a mortgage of 1,000*l.* in London on the 22nd inst. on account of his brother may occasion the writer to be absent.

 Aug. 14. 60. Benjamin Cooper bailiff of Yarmouth to Sec. Dorchester. In Yarmouth. compliance with the King's letter (1629, July 10., Vol. cxlvi., No. 54.) sends names of all the aldermen with the names of those eight which in their esteem are fittest to be bailiffs, humbly attending the recommendation of such two as his Majesty shall hold most worthy.
- Aug. 14. 61. Benjamin Cooper bailiff and four aldermen of Yarmouth to Yarmouth. the same. Beg him to solicit the King to recommend for election as bailiffs George Hardware and Thomas Meadowe, than whom none are more forward to do what may be available for effecting his Majesty's course. The factious side has grown so audacious refractory as to resist the Council's order for restoring Mr. Hardware. The Attorney General and the Dean of Norwich will second the Sec's. solicitation to the King on their behalf.
- Aug. 14. 62. Katherine Duchess of Lennox to Sec. Dorchester. On his Drury Lane. suggestion and by the good liking of the Earl of Kildare, the King's ward, and Lady Joan Boyle, one of the daughters of the Earl of Cork, that Earl and the Duchess have entered into an agreement for their marriage. There will be no impediment unless Mr. Richard Talbot of Malahide and the other feoffees of the Earl of Kildare's estate shall be refractory. That this agreement may take the better effect, solicits his Majesty's letters to the Lord Chancellor of Ireland in a form inclosed.
- Aug. 14. 63. Henry Earl of Northumberland, to Sec. Dorchester. Is sorry Petworth. of the Secretary's "invalidyte" but hopes it prognosticates riches towards him, for so the common proverb runs. Sorry it has put by the occasion of their meeting. Hopes time will bring it about again that they may "rememorate" some old passages and laugh at what is past, joy at the present, and hope for better to come, which none shall be gladder of than his old master.
- Aug. 14. 64. Sir Francis Nethersole to the same. Shall have the Lord Westminster. Treasurer's dispatch to-morrow. Begg that he may presently receive his Majesty's letters to the King and Queen of Bohemia.
- [Aug. 14 ?] 65. Philip Burlamachi to the same. The warrant for the convoy does not come. Longs to be there and back again. Sends a draft of the warrant to the Attorney General for the patent, which he begs the Sec. to communicate to the Lord Treasurer, and expedite the affair, in accordance with his message by Mr. Lucas.
- Aug. 14. 66. Sir John Walter, Lord Chief Baron, and Sir John Denham, Taunton. Baron of the Exchequer, to the same. Being at the Assizes, co. Somerset, they found James Priest, committed for speaking words concerning his Majesty's person. They took the examinations of John Hooper, his accuser, and also of Priest, and send the same for grave consideration. Priest is a very miserable poor man; he has been in prison since March last; he can neither read nor write. Inclosed,

66. I. Examination of James Priest, taken before the writers of the preceding letter, and Sir John Stowell, Sheriff of the county. Served as a soldier in the Low Countries; said in the house of John Hooper, two miles distant from Wells, that if the Duke had lived there would have been alteration in religion; and if that should come to pass there would be no expectation for the Puritans of any thing else but fire and faggot; denies that he spake more of the King than that if the Duke had lived he would have been ruler of this kingdom. Taunton, 1629, August 14.
- Aug. 14. 67. Sir Francis Cottington to [Sec. Dorchester]. Sends him papers of Lord Antrim, and some others from the Lord Treasurer, amongst which he will find Lord Wimbledon's letter. Explains the nature of the grant to Lord Antrim. The half of felon's goods is granted him on an increased rent of 20*l.* per annum. He or his son will attend the Sec. about it. Very probable advertisement that the States have surprised Wesel. Burlamachi is dispatched.
- Aug. 15. 68. Nicholas to the same. Sends account of what ships are now at sea and in what employments. The Lion and two other ships were appointed to convoy the cloth ships for Hamburg. They have sailed without notice to the King's ships, and now some malevolent persons amongst them give out that the King's ships could not go with them for want of victuals. So apt are all men to lay scandals on the King's services in these bad times. Incloses,
68. I. List of ships at present at sea, and in what employments
- Aug. 15. 69. The same to the same. Capt. Duppa, (brother to the Dean of Christchurch) has desired the writer to acquaint the Secretary that, on the 30th May, three French men of war took the James, a new English ship, of 200 tons, and 20 pieces of ordnance, whereof Capt. Duppa and others are owners, on the Coast of Barbary, the ship and goods being worth about 24,000*l.* The owners desire that letters may be written to Sir Thos. Edmondes, Ambassador in France, and the like procured from the French Ambassador here, that as soon as the James shall be brought into France she may be sequestered for the English owners. One Fantres of Guernsey, also reports that five French men of war on 17 June, took, off the Canaries, an English ship of 200 tons with 14 pieces of ordnance, called the Bride, notwithstanding our mariners told them of the peace. The taking of Wesel still reported with confidence.
- [Aug. 15 ?] 70. Sec. Dorchester to Lord President Conway. Lord Conway's "ungracious son" whom Lord Dorchester "loves so ill," parted yesterday from Bagshot with the Sec's. letters, because he could tell Lord Conway the first news of the capture of Wesel. Sends him a copy of the dispatch, it being a success which must be taken as the blessing of God. The town was formerly a nursery of our religion, and the recovery of it is salus negotii. Aug. 16. 74. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Comments on the refusal of the town of Yarmouth, to comply with the order of the Council to restore Mr. Hardware. The writer was directed to mediate between them touching their next election, but could not prevail at all. There is a great party in the town of sectaries, adverse to all government but their own popular way, which must be reformed. Beseeches him to take it into his care. The government of the whole stands but upon the well ordering of the parts.
- Aug. 16. 75. Philip Burlamachi to the same. Urges the despatch of his instructions. The Sec. will see what they write from Amsterdam. Fears that everything will be lost by delay.

- Aug. 17. 77. Henry Lucas to the same The Duchess of Lennox sent for him, and stated to him various reasons why the Earl of Kildare should not settle at Oxford. The bargain with the Earl of Cork depends upon a third party's consent; and she ought not, therefore, so soon to dispossess herself of the person and care of her ward, especially to Lord Cork, whose near alliance with Lord Digby, "a concurrent with that Earl for his honour and fortunes, and heir unto them both," is not balanced with any relation to Lord Kildare. Mr. Randolph and his brother think she speaks reason.

John Parker and Richard Brett have divers times attempted to build on a little close called Old Witch, which has always lain open, free to all persons to walk therein, and sweet and wholesome for the King and his servants to pass towards Theobalds. Parker and Brett have formerly been imprisoned for these attempts, but now they have pulled down the bridges and stiles, and carried great store of bricks thither, and give forth threatening speeches that they will go forward. Petitioners would take a lease of the close, and set the same with trees, wherefore they pray that the meditated buildings may be stopped. [Referred to the Commissioners for Buildings. Windsor, 1629, Sept. 1.]

Had not forgotten what passed at Putney, but finding the noble bearer's promise passed to Lord Lumley to acquaint him before he finished the business, and that he had gained the young lady to reside with his own friends, he durst not press, neither did he think it needful; whilst she continues constant there is no danger. Loves Nicholas for his love to his brother Ashburnham, and his fidelity to the memory of his dearest lord, Nicholas's master.

- Sept. 4. 16. Petition of the Governor, Assistants, and Society of the Mineral and Battrry works to the same. This Company has been a corporation for almost sixty years, and many thousands of poor subjects have been set on work by means of the iron wire made with water engines first invented by petitioners, and whereby the kingdom has been provided with wire to make wool cards, knitting needles, and other things. An attempt to bring in false and deceitful wool cards by Dutch and Germans, about the end of Queen Elizabeth, occasioned an Act of Parliament forbidding the sale of foreign wool cards, but of late years strangers have evaded the Act by bringing in iron wire not made into cards. Pray that such importation may be prohibited, the petitioners offering to pay yearly the seven years' average of the customs duties received thereon. [Referred to the Lord Treasurer to give such order as shall be most behoveful for the benefit of the Commonwealth. Windsor, 1629, Sept. 4.]
- Sept. 4. Plymouth. 17. Mayor and others of Plymouth to the Council. For a month last past seven sail of Dunkirkers have lain on their coast, who have taken near 20 sail of ships, whereof four or five belonged to that harbour. The most part they sunk, putting all the men on shore, except the masters, but proffering those who would serve them 20s. a month, the residue they carried for Biscay. Most of their company were English and Scots, who said there were twenty other sail building at Dunkirk.
- Sept. 4. University College, Oxford. 18. Dr. John Bancroft to Sec. Dorchester. Concerning the map of the projected Piazza Literaria, now sent by Mr. Dacres, hopes it will give full satisfaction. A perfect account of the valuation cannot be made out till Mr. Vice-Chancellor's return from an absence on business that nearly concerns him.
- Sept. 4. Christ Church, Oxford. 19. Dr. Brian Duppa to Sec. Dorchester. Dorchester has given a fair testimony that noble intentions cannot be slow of growth when the royal breath of a King gives life and motion to them. Usually there, there is a long parenthesis between talking of a good deed and doing it. The University thinks herself happy in having so active a son. Others have provided for her necessities, Dorchester is the first that ever thought of ornament and delight for her. The liberal sciences had a being before; but they are now likely to have a breathing too, as soon as those buildings shall be removed that stifled them. Their society, of which they glory that Dorchester was once a part, will yield a ready obedience to his Majesty's commands.

Sept. 5. The King to the Lords Justices of Ireland, to call before them Sir Thos. Butler, a baronet of that kingdom, and to take order that he either give speedy satisfaction to Philip Proger, one of the grooms of the Privy Chamber, of 250*l.*, which he was to pay to Mr. Proger for procuring the said dignity, or make his personal appearance before the King. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 5. The King to the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex. Warrant to deliver Edward Okyn, alias Shocke, and 16 other convicted prisoners to Lieutenant-Colonel Rainsford, to be employed in the service of the United Provinces. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 5.
Wells. 20. Dep. Lieuts. of co. Somerset to Wm. Earl of Pembroke. They have taken a view of all the trained forces of that county, and have caused the same to be made fully complete according to the modern fashion. The officers and soldiers are all men well-affected in religion, and have willingly taken the oath of allegiance.
- Sept. 5. 21. Dennis Fleming to Nicholas. Sends letter of Robert Kitchen, one of the persons appointed to sell the Phoenix at Bristol, proposing questions respecting the sale of her anchors and some of her sails. They are now at Deptford paying off the extra men of the Second and Seventh Lion's Whelps, the Charles and Miniken, and in expectation of more money for the like payments aboard the Rainbow, Bonaventure, and Seven Stars. Begs him to procure warrant for appointment of some ship for guard of the river. Has given order for victualling the Dreadnought. Incluses, 21. 1. Robert Kitchen to the Officers of the Navy. The Phoenix is in Hungrood, they must have her up to the city to sell her. Suggests a stay of the sale of some of her anchors, and inquires whether it be intended to sell her new sails. Bristol, 1629, August 27.
- Sept. 5. 22. Certificate of the Mayor and others of Faversham, at the request of Edw. Grace, merchant of London, that the best wheat was sold in Faversham market that day at 29*s.* 8*d.* per quarter.
- Sept. 6.
London. 23. Sir Francis Willoughby to Sec. Dorchester. If Dorchester be inclining "that way," there is no doubt of his success, and he shall find a far better estate than Sir Francis related, as to which he refers him to Mr. Parker his neighbour. Begs the Sec. to procure Sir Francis some of the money due to him for his services. The journey he is to undertake into Ireland with his family is both great and difficult. Begs to be helped forward with as much speed as possible.
- Sept. 7.
Welbeck. 24. Wm. Earl of Newcastle, to the Council. Incluses a letter and certificate respecting Gervase Markham, and doubts not that on perusal thereof they will give order respecting Mr. Markham's serious importunities for his arms sequestered. Inclosed,

24. I. Archbishop Harsnet of York to William Earl of Newcastle. Gervase Markham is a bed-rid gentleman. He has been a constant Protestant from his youth. It is marvelled by what hand any information has been suggested otherwise. Could not rest satisfied but that some smoke had arisen that way until he talked with the minister of his parish, whose certificate is inclosed. Southwell, 1629, Aug. 12. Inclosed,
24. I. I. Certificate of Walter Cary, vicar of Dunham, co. Nottingham, to Archbishop Harsnet. Ever since the writer has been at Dunham, which is eleven years and upwards, Gervase Markham has usually resorted to church, and is very free from all imputation of papistry. Had Markham been able to ride he would have attended the Archbishop. 1629, August 8.
- Sept. 7. 25. Henry, Earl of Worcester, to Lord Treasurer Weston. Ragland. Wishes a warrant sent to him amended. The men are not Spaniards but a pack of pirates, French and other nations, and unless it be one Spanish boy, not a Spaniard amongst them. This mistake would not have occurred but for the pretended authority of Mr. Herbert of Swansea, who charged the constables who were about to carry them to Sir Thos. Mansell, to forbear until he had examined them. The Earl explains his title to certain escheats. They were not enemies' goods, but goods of those who had committed felony in robbing the King's subjects on land, and therefore no Admiralty cause.
- Sept. 7. 26. Mayor and others of Dartmouth to the Council. The Dunkirk Dartmouth. and Biscayan men-of-war and French pirates infest that coast more than in former times. They have taken five ships of that port within a short time, and many others of other ports. Men resolve to keep their ships at home, whereby the King's customs are impaired and a great number of poor people deprived of their maintenance.
- Sept. 8. Grant to Katherine Duchess of Buckingham and Sir George Manners of rents of 425*l.* and 60*l.* reserved out of the Lordship of Hatfield and the Manors of Thorne, Fishlake, and other manors and lands in cos. York, Lincoln, and Nottingham, to the use of the now Duke of Buckingham, or for payment of the debts of the late Duke, or otherwise for the preferment of his other children. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 8. Grant to Robert Brett of lands in Herne and Tuddington, co. Bedford, accrued to his Majesty by the attainder of Wm. Brett, his brother for felony. [Docquet.]

- Sept. 8. 28. Warrant under the Privy Seal to Lord Treasurer Weston and Westminster. Sir Francis Cottington, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and to Edward Lord Newburgh, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, authorizing particulars and grants to be made to Henry Earl of Holland, of the manors of Drayton Basset and Stoindelf, cos. Stafford and Warwick, and Wakefield, co. York, reserving the old rents and passing the same to the Earl at 28 years purchase, in part satisfaction of his debt of 29,000*l.*

30. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Peter Pamer [Palmer] comes up to make complaint against William Rowe of Stonehouse, a man of a most disobedient spirit, for taking a French bark since the peace, and converting her to his own use without adjudication or acknowledgement of any duties to his Majesty.
- Sept. 8.
31. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. Sends copies of papers to enable him to prepare a discharge to Lady Villiers of an arrear of 437*l.* 10*s.* on her rent of the duties of imported gold and silver thread. Prefixed,
31. I. *Petition of Dame Barbara Villiers, widow, to the King. On 29 June 1627 the King granted her a lease for 21 years of the duties on gold and silver thread imported, under the yearly rent of 200*l.* By reason of embargoes and disturbances she has not received enough to pay the rent, and is now in arrear 437*l.* 10*s.* Prays discharge of the arrear, and permission to receive the duties in future without rent.*
31. II. Reference to the Lord Treasurer for effecting the petitioner's desire. Whitehall, 1629, April 18.
31. III. Lord Treasurer to the officers and farmers of the customs in London, to certify what quantities of gold and silver thread have been imported from Michaelmas 1627 to Lady Day 1629, and what money Lady Villiers has received clear. 1629, May 29.
31. IV. *Officers of the Customs of London to the Lord Treasurer. In the time mentioned Lady Villiers has received clear 257*l.* 0*s.* 7½*d.* Conceive that these duties will decay, for the invention of making Venice gold and silver within the kingdom is come to that perfection that it will be made here much better cheap than it can be brought from beyond seas. In Sir William Garway's time the duties received by him amounted to 1,246*l.* per annum. Custom House, 1629, June 9.*
- Sept. 9.
- Grant to Christopher Sands (at the nomination of Humphrey Rogers,) of his Majesty's interest in the estate of Miles Sands, outlawed for killing John Birkehead. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 9.
- Warrant for repayment to Jeffery Kerby of 4,000*l.* which he had lately paid into the exchequer by way of loan. [Docquet.] employed in the business of clearing the passage between St. Mary's church and the public schools use all diligence. No man is unwilling to obey his Majesty's pleasure, but there are many intricacies, and many doubts to be cleared, which will require longer time than at first imagined. Hopes to give him a more particular account within ten or twelve days.

Sept. 9. 34. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Certifies to the sufficiency of Thos. Burleigh, for Master Gunner.

Sept. 10. Warrant for payment of 1,000*l.* to Sir Rob. Karr, keeper of his Majesty's privy purse, for present supply thereof. [Docquet.]

Sept. 10. 35. Certificate of Inigo Jones, Lawrence Whitaker, and four others, commissioners for buildings, to whom the petition of Drury Lane and other places adjoining (see 1629, Sept. 1,) was referred, to the King. They have viewed the place called Old Witch Close on the back side of Drury Lane whereupon Sir Kenelm Digby desires to erect new buildings. The inhabitants still purpose to plant it with trees for wholesome and pleasant walks. The erection of buildings there would tend to defeat the King's intention declared in his proclamation and commission for buildings.

Sept. 10. 36. Copy of the same.

Sept. 10. 37. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Sends inclosed the draft of that letter which the Lord Keeper, the Lord Privy Seal, and the Sec. yesterday agreed upon, to be sent to the Justices of the King's Bench, if his Majesty shall please, for bailing as many of the prisoners as his Majesty shall nominate. The two Lords will take it into their thoughts to advise unto how many it is best to extend. There is much difference between the faults of three of them and the rest, yet he is afraid there will be many inconveniences if there be a difference made. His desire is that the King's honour may not suffer nor his power be lessened, and yet that be done which may stand with his justice. Has moved the Lord Treasurer for the new Plantation on his own petition. He will give way to it, but there must be no freedom from payment of customs. Prays Dorchester to move the King therein and make a reference to Mr. Solicitor.
Inclosed,

37. 1. The King to Lord Chief Justice Hyde and the rest of the Justices of the King's Bench. A., B., C., and D. stand committed to the Tower for notorious contempts and seditions. The King being now resolved of a course of proceeding against them, is pleased that, in the meantime, they be bailed, with very sufficient sureties, for their appearance in the King's Bench on the first day of next Term.

- [Sept. 10 ?] 39. Copy of the same with one paragraph omitted.
- Sept. 10. 40. Wm. Shaw to Sec. Dorchester. As his former suggested fair purchase in Westminster was of too little value, suggests another of more weight, being 2,000*l.* a year land, and 20,000*l.* stock in Aurum potabile, and the owner aged 40. If this be acceptable, he will produce the particular and party.
- Sept. 10. 41. Wm. Lake to Nicholas. Sends, by the Lord Treasurer's command, a note of things to be mentioned to the Lords of the Admiralty at their next meeting. They relate to payments for timber supplied at Chatham by Mr. Goddard and Mr. Wall, and other timber needed for repair of the Victory, Garland, Antelope, and Mary Rose.

The writer's Captain had died, and by the help of Sir Thomas Roe he had got the Company.

By order of Sir Henry Mervyn he convoyed three small ships to the Brill, and put to sea for the Downs that same night, with the Tenth Whelp. Both ships were forced into Yarmouth by stress of weather, where being informed of injuries committed by the Dunkirkers on that coast, they resolved to stand to and again to assist the poor fishermen till they had a fit wind. - Sept. 20. 68. Sir Thos. Button to the Lords of the Admiralty. Prays to be allowed to keep his Dunkirk prize in his own custody until he himself comes to Bristol, which must be as soon as wind and weather will allow, for he is to return into Ireland with 6,000*l.* from the Earl of Cork. The Ninth Whelp is at Chester, or passed over with the Earl of Cork. Sent the Fifth Whelp to convoy a French ship and two Englishmen about the Land's End. Much crying out of many Dunkirkers and French that lie on those parts.
- Sept. 20. 69. The same to Nicholas. Recapitulates with some enlargement Aboard the Convertive, Milford. the application in the preceding letter. In a P. S. dated the 21st inst. he announces the finding of letters and certificates of the Dunkirk ship which he sends up. Begs his favour, which he will not find bestowed on an unthankful man.
- [Sept. 20 ?] 70. The same [to Sec. Dorchester ?]. Details many of the facts mentioned in the preceding letters to the Lords of the Admiralty and Nicholas, and begs him to mediate with the King that the prize Dunkirker, being of much less value than what is due to Sir Thomas, may be given to him, to prevent the utter ruin of his estate, which having been mortgaged has been forfeited ever since Michaelmas last, and all for money spent in his Majesty's service. Sends, as desired, estimates for five ships and also for the present number. Five are the fewest that ought to be in those parts. Inclosed,

Also to strike a tally for 2,500*l.* for a looking-glass set with diamonds, bought of his Majesty by him, as part of money due upon former privy seals. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 22. 77. Petition of Henry Holt, Mayor of Portsmouth, to the Council. The Gift of God was sold on the last day of August last by the burning of a candle to an end, to Francis Brooke of Portsmouth Dock, for 164*l.* Sets forth payments by the petitioner; about the sale 2*l.*; for furnishing the Spanish captain with victuals by order of Endymion Porter 20*l.*; for victuals for the Fortune, prize, 39*l.* 4*s.*; all which he prays may be paid out of the purchase money of the ship, and the remainder be charged on Sir Allen Apsley, in part of debt due to petitioner for the King's service.

Margate Road. Arrived at Flushing the 15th and landed Mr. Burlamachi. Left Flushing on Sunday last and with much labour has gained Margate Road. His Excellency [the Prince of Orange] following his fortunes is now on foot with a new design. A great fleet of Hollanders put to sea, some for the West Indies. They are manned with almost as many English mariners as natives. They give great entertainments and the rumour of their success entices the English. Fears, without speedy prevention, his Majesty's and the merchant's ships will want men.

- Sept. 23. 80. Petition of Richard Herbert to the Council. Having by order of their Lordships of 15 May, 1626, prosecuted a suit in the Court of Admiralty [against Sir John Eliot], he was forced to be from his dwelling place at Kidwelly for three years. During his absence his office of town clerk was sold by the townsmen to William Davis, and certain houses, lands, and mills, belonging to him were taken possession of and are kept from him. Prays a reference to Justices of the Peace on the spot to certify the facts. [Reference to Sir Walter Mansell, Maurice Bowen, John Gwyn and David Vaughan accordingly.]

81. I. *Deputy Lieuts. co. Stafford, to Robert, Earl of Essex. Such is the decay of gentlemen of worth among them, and the lands are so divided, that the number of their trained bands is not so full as could be wished. 83. Capt. Richd. Plumleigh to the Lords of the Admiralty. According to their order commanded his company to set sail for Portsmouth, which, being in distress for victuals they utterly refused to do. In spite of all persuasions they haled the boats from the ship's stern and resolved to run on shore. Was forced to make use of his sword, and by wounding the most forwardest repressed the insolency of the rest. Has since attempted to gain Portsmouth, but being forced back into the Downs by weather, found an order from Sir Allen Apsley for seven days victual. Begg that there may be sent to Portsmouth all things necessary for "so long a voyage, especially towards winter."

84. The same to Nicholas. Repeats a little more fully the particulars mentioned in the preceding letter. Incloses a letter which Nicholas may dispose of as he thinks fit. Begg that the carpenters and storekeepers may be pressed to send down waist-clothes, flags, and pendants. As soon as the ship is ready will see him and give him his thanks. Inclosed,
84. I. The same to Sir Francis Cottington, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Proud that he has been chosen to transport Sir Francis and his train. Suggests certain changes to be made in the ordnance of his ship, and the erection of cabins for the accommodation of his followers. Dover, Sept. 24.

Sept. 24. 86. Capt. John Dymes to Nicholas. Understands by Capt. Mennes that a victualler had been sent down to supply the Dreadnought (which is gone for Portsmouth) and the Third Whelp, but no mention made of any other ship. If there were a likelihood of their returning to Yarmouth, a small supply would serve.
- Sept. 24. 87. Capt. John Mennes to the same. Capts. Plumleigh and Gibbon sailed for Portsmouth on Monday last. The Whelp was driven back, but he imagines the Dreadnought got through. Knows not who complains on his behalf. He has no just occasion. Reports the state of his ship. Thinks Sir Henry Mervyn will be in the Downs that day.
- Sept. 24. 88. Address to Henry Earl of Holland, Chancellor of Cambridge, being present this day at the Philosophy Act.
- Sept. 25. Restitution of temporalities of Bishopric of St. Asaph to Dr. Owen, now bishop there. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 25. Warrant to pay to James Marquis of Hamilton, Master of the Horse, 200*l.* for repair of the stables at the Mews. [Docquet.]
- Sept. 25. 89. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Desire to be directed whether the Victory, Garland, Antelope, and Mary Rose are only to be repaired so as to be kept from further decay, or to be made fit for the seas. If the latter they request money.
- Sept. 25. 90. Sir Henry Mervyn to the same. Last night came into the Downs where he found the Dreadnought, Adventure, and Three Whelps. Capt. Gibbon has no victuals but what the writer can supply him with from day to day. Capt. Dymes's men have drank water three days, and want has put his company in a mutiny. Beseeches them for the honour of the state not to suffer the service to become a scandal. Foul winter weather, naked backs and empty bellies make the common men voice the King's service worse than a galley slavery. It were profit for his Majesty, and as much for his honour, to have no ships abroad unless more certain course be taken to supply them.
- Sept. 25. 91. The same to Lord Treasurer Weston. Refers to the statements in the preceding letter. Though his Lordship has but his share therein, yet the acclamation of the multitude cried him down as only guilty, and amongst all their clamours none speak louder than the ill management of maritime affairs, and that especially of the Narrow Seas.
- Sept. 25. 92. The same to Edward Earl of Dorset, Lord Chamberlain to the Queen. Sets forth the necessities of the ships in the Downs. The shore affords a soldier relief or hope, the sea neither. With what confidence can punishment be inflicted on men that mutiny in these wants? What scandal these neglects throw upon their Lordships at home, and how much the honour of the state suffers abroad!

VOL. CXLIX.

- The necessity of the times can be no reason that ships are neither supplied nor called home when their victuals end. These neglects are the cause why mariners fly to the service of foreign nations. Without better order, his Majesty will lose the honour of his seas, the love and loyalty of his sailors, and his Royal Navy will droop.
- Sept. 25. 93. Speech of the University Orator at Cambridge, in the Regent House, to M. de Chasteauneuf, Ambassador extraordinary from France, when he was incorporated D.C.L.
- Sept. 25. 94. Copy of the preceding.
- Sept. 25. 95. ——— to Mr. Gilbert. To go to Hampton Court and inform [Lord Dorchester] that the writings have been received from Mr. Pennington, and that they are now ready for a hearing before the Council, in the dispute with the Gentleman Porter of the Tower. Wish that Sir John Borough should send a copy of the first patent of the upper porter of the Tower, that he can find in the Rolls, and that Mr. Wackerley [Weekherlin] should speak to the Lord President to appoint a day.
- Sept. 26. 96. Statement respecting the right to a pirate vessel driven ashore at Oystermouth, co. Glamorgan. It had been claimed by Wm. Herbert, for the King, and by Thomas Mansell for the Earl of Worcester. [Referred by the Council to the Judge of the Admiralty, and the Attorney General, to certify the facts. Hampton Court, 1629, Sept. 26.] [Copy.]
- Sept. 26. 97. The Council to Henry Earl of Worcester. Inform him of the above reference. They think the ship alluded to should be sequestered into the custody of two persons, one to be named by Mr. Herbert, the other by himself, and request him to nominate some one accordingly. [Copy.]
- Sept. 26. 98. Petition of Thomas Ghiau and John Thomas, owners of the John of Portelieu, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Wm. Rowe, notwithstanding the peace between England and France, captured their vessel on the 12th May, 1629. Carried her into Stonehouse, and made away with her without adjudication. Pray for reference to Sir James Bagg to compel Rowe to make restitution.
- Sept. 26. 99. Sir Thos. Button to Sec. Dorchester. Being driven back by contrary winds, has received letters for his employment on the Western parts of England. Although unseasonable in respect of his particular occasions, having been two years absent from home, and contrary to directions of the Lord Treasurer to fetch over 6,000*l.* from the Earl of Cork, he will follow the new employment with all the diligence that wind and weather will give. Refers to his letter to Mr. Nicholas, of this date, for various requests. Begg that out his recent prize he may have 1,400*l.* to free his engaged lands, and if any reinforcement be intended that Capt. Edmund Button, whom he has sent in captain of the prize, may be appointed.

Send lists of defaulters.

Milford. 104. Sir Thos. Button to Nicholas. Prays that the whole of his Dunkirk prize, instead of the half, may be allowed him towards satisfying his arrears, or that if he is only to have the moiety, he may buy the King's part at the appraisement, and expend the amount in the supply of his ships. Suggests that the prize ship is well suited for employment in the present service, and that his relation, Edmund Button, might be appointed her Captain. Prays that he may not be tied to continual personal attendance aboard, having been a stranger in his home these two years.

Sept. 28. 107. Petition of the Muscovia Company trading to Greenland to the King. In the year 1618, petitioners fishing in their harbours in Greenland, were surprised by the Hollanders, and their ships and goods taken, to their loss of 50,000*l.* On complaint to the late King, he ordered 22,000*l.*, the value of their goods, to be paid by the Hollanders in three months, and their other damages be respited for three years. No satisfaction having been made, his said Majesty ordered that any ships of the Hollanders might be arrested until satisfaction were made for the 22,000*l.*, and a letter was written to the Lord Admiral that some of his Majesty's ships might be made ready to seize some of the Hollanders, but no seizure has been made. Pray that the course intended by the late King for their redress may be revived. [Referred to the Lord Treasurer and Sec. Coke to report what is fit to be done. Hampton Court, 1629, Sept. 28.]

- Sept. 28. 108. Dr. Samuel Brooke to Sec. Dorchester. Regrets his absence from Cambridge. Things were passed over in good mediocrity. Their Chancellor seemed pleased, and so did the Earl of Carlisle, who has a very accurate judgment in things of this nature. How the Ambassador liked what he saw and heard, the writer was not near enough to perceive. Cannot please themselves in any advantage gotten above Oxford in this entertainment. Hopes if the King have any purpose to command them in that kind they shall be better provided. This care shall be a part of the writer's thankfulness for the place he now holds by his Majesty's favour. Will provide a pastoral and a comedy against Shrovetide, if his Majesty shall think good. Will be careful of Dorchester's kinsman.—P.S. Sir John Carleton was not there, but his letters were sent to Cheveley.
- Sept. 29. Warrant to pay to Sir Henry Vane, appointed ambassador to the Low Countries, 4*l.* per diem, and 500*l.* by way of imprest, with money disbursed for transportation and intelligence. A former warrant of July 29, for these allowances, made void. [Docquet.]

Mynne.
- Sept. 30. 112. Henry Holt to Nicholas. Has received 300*l.* to victual the Portsmouth. Dreadnought, which is but two month's victual, for any time beyond that there must be ready money; also for the Third Lion's Whelp, which for two months will be 140*l.* Holt's credit is lost, and the country undone. Oct. 1. Cambridge. 2. Commissioners of Sewers for the Great Level of Fens to the King. At a meeting with Sir Anthony Thomas he presented to them his Majesty's letter of the 16th June (see Vol. cxliv., No. 84), whereupon they desired Sir Anthony to acquaint them with the particular project of his intended work, that they might judge to what persons benefit was to accrue. But he refused to do so unless they would first set a tax of 10s. on every acre, which would amount to near 150,000*l.*, which course they held unwarrantable, and that they had no power to bind the country to so unsupportable a charge. Besides they were at the same time offered to have the work done for 35,000*l.*

Oct. 1. 3. Sec. Dorchester to Lord Chief Justice Hyde. The King no way approves the latter part of their letter. His Majesty doth not intend that the prisoners should take the benefit of his letter after they have once refused it, till after submission and pardon for it; wherefore before he will sign his letter he desires to know how the Lord Chief Justice and his brethern will govern themselves, if, after refusal of his Majesty's grace, the prisoners move for bail, because his Majesty on such a refusal is resolved they shall neither have their liberty by his letter, nor by other means, till they acknowledge their fault and demand pardon. Sergeant's Inn. Jones agrees in opinion with the yesterday's letter. Thinks it not possible the prisoners should be so absurd as to stand upon terms of refusing his Majesty's grace. They shall never be bailed by the writer and his brethren but according to the King's letters. If they carry themselves insolently they shall not escape punishment. But if they should be so gross as to refuse to put in bail, and should after desire bail without acknowledging their fault, though the Judges may forbear bailing them for a time, yet bailable they are by law, which the Judges are bound to observe, and they hope they shall do it by his Majesty's favour. They make no doubt but matters shall be carried, both in this and the other business which his Majesty gave in charge to them, to his good contentment.

The King having seen their letter, has signed the letters both to himself and the rest of the Judges of the King's Bench, and to the Lieutenant of the Tower, and has commanded the Sec. to let the Lord Chief Justice know his further resolution, that, in case the prisoners refuse his grace, he will recall his letters and rest on that which the Sec. yesterday advertised to be his Majesty's pleasure; that they shall neither have their liberty by his letter, nor by other means, till they acknowledge their fault and demand pardon. Questions the legality of this. Prays the King's directions what return he shall make. 15. Account of dispatches received from the Secretary of State, and sent, by Matthew de Quester, to various foreign countries from the 29th May; total charge 103*l.* 16*s.*
- Oct. 3. Aboard the Lion in the Downs.
16. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. In favour of Thos. Rabanett to be one of the four Masters of Attendance in place of Mr. Wilson, deceased. Wishes a larger proportion of victuals appointed for them when they go for Holland; fears they may be stayed for an easterly wind.
- Oct. 3. King Street.
17. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. The Dreadnought came into Portsmouth on Monday last. She has been lightened for careening, which will be dispatched in two days. Has come to London to know the Ambassador's pleasure about his provisions, but dare not be seen in Court till he has some accoutrements made.

[Oct. 3. ?] 18. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Sir John Heydon. The Dreadnought being appointed to transport Sir Francis Cottington into Spain, begs him to give warrant for the exchange of eight demi-culverins of iron in the Dreadnought for so many of brass out of any of the ships which lie at Portsmouth. The Warspite is the best able to spare them. [Dated Oct 4, probably by mistake.]
- Oct. 3. 19. Sir John Heydon to Capt. Richd. Plumleigh. His best means to effect the exchange of cannon desired is to solicit the Lords of the Admiralty for a warrant. They only have power in that behalf.
- Oct. 3. 20. The same to Nicholas. The King in the writer's hearing said that he would give order to restrain the sale of any iron drakes. On the 2nd of this present month a warrant received for transport of four iron drakes of the lesser sort to the Amazons for the use of that company ; but for any further freedom of sale of that kind of ordnance can hardly conceive that his Majesty would be induced thereunto.
- Oct. 3. 21. Articles to be inquired of by the jury of the Court of Admiralty of the Cinque Ports, their verdict being returned at St. James's Church, in Dover, on the 5th November next.
- Oct. 4. 22. Lord Chief Justice Hyde to Sec. Dorchester. He and his Sergeant's Inn. brethren being at the Sessions House on Friday, his letters were thither brought to them, and they took present order for bringing the prisoners before them the next day. Their behaviour was temperate and without offence. They objected not to being bailed, but desired to be spared of the good behaviour, thinking it would tend to their disgrace, and might prejudice their cause. The Judges resolved never to bail them without binding them to good behaviour. Long was so bound, and is delivered, and the residue remanded. The Judges desire the King to command the Lieutenant of the Tower to bring them to the Court at the term according to the writs granted at the end of the last term. They shall be sure of no other terms than now are offered to them, which, if they refuse they will make all men witnesses of their insolent spirits, and show themselves to be fitter to be where they are than abroad. [Mutilated by damp.]
- Oct. 4. 23. Copy of the preceding, made before the mutilation.
- Oct. 4. 24. Sir Allen Apsley to the same. Gives account of his taking The Tower. the prisoners above mentioned before the Judges, and of their answers. Only Mr. Long, whereof he seemeth extremely to repent him, was bound. In the condition of imprisonment they now stand, the counsel and solicitors liaving access from one to the other, and their diet and lodging without charge, he thinks some of them know not where to be better if they were at liberty.
- Oct. 4. 25. Information of John Medley, complaining of ill-usage received by him from the armourers at the Tower.

Oct. 5. York. 26. Thos. Viscount Wentworth, Lord President of the North, to Lord President Conway. Being misinformed, he applied for a warrant for naming cornets and other inferior officers, but being rectified by his Lordship he shall go on in the strength of his Commission of Lieutenancy to do it, as one who desires no other rule for his justification than the practice of former times, which should preserve us from crime if not from blame. Presents his humble service to "my lady," and all his fair cousins. [Modern copy of original formerly among the Conway Papers.]
- Oct. 5. 27. Half of the sheet whereon the original of the above letter was written, and containing the direction.
- Oct. 6. 28. Archbishop Harsnet, of York, to Lord President Conway. Thanks for his noble farewell given him at Court. Their northern cold climate is barren of occurrences worthy his eye or ear. The King has made a noble choice of his great commander there, the Lord President of his Council, who will give a worthy account of his stewardship. The Church is infested with the men of Dan and Bethel, whose hearts are over seas. Wishes their hearts and bodies were confined together. Has spent not hours but days in endeavouring a reconciliation betwixt Sir Richard Hawkesworth and his lady, but there is a venom in the wound which will hardly heal. Will shortly return an account of his doings.
- Oct. 6. 29. Copy of the preceding.
- Oct. 6. Yarmouth. 30. Bailiffs of Yarmouth to the same. The state of the town and fisherfare depends chiefly on the speedy vent of fish and herrings salted and prepared both for foreign markets and the provision of this kingdom, and if they have not their accustomed vent to strangers, (the English taking but very few herrings off their hands,) it will be the ruin of the town. Pray him to favour a petition to the Council for licence to export in stranger's bottoms as many herrings as they were allowed to export last year.
- Oct. 6. 31. Mayor and others of Exeter to Sec. Dorchester. Send copies of the indictments found against William Roe (see 1629, Nov. 9, Vol. cli., No. 36.) They have caused a stay of prosecution against him according to his Majesty's pleasure. Underwritten,
31. I. Note [by Weckherlin ?] of the contents of the indictments above mentioned. Annexed, 31. II. Direction to Sec. Dorchester to require the Attorney General to prepare a pardon for William Roe.
- Oct. 6. On board the Adventure, Yarmouth. 32. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Arrived at Yarmouth on the 29th with the Tenth Whelp. Found the town willing to supply them for three weeks. Five men having stolen a bark from Southampton, bound for Jersey, were forced by contrary winds into Yarmouth Roads, where they were discovered by their simple carriage, and sent to prison. The lading of the ship is worth 1,000*l.* The son of Capt. Gibbon's master is one of them.

Oct. 6. 33. Articles to be answered by the constables and churchwardens of every parish within co. Oxford, set down by the Justices of Peace at their Sessions. Answers were to be returned to these articles every three weeks.
- Oct. 6. 34. Certificate by Dep. Lieuts. of co. Cambridge, of musters in that county, containing the names of the officers and the number of trained men. Total number for co. Cambridge and Isle of Ely, 1,000 men, of whom 461 had corselets, and 539 muskets.
- Oct. 6. 35. Account of the present condition of Shotover and Stow Wood, and reply of Robert Earl of Lindsey, to objections to his grant of all the trees therein, save 4,000 for the present use, and 10,000 for the future use of the Navy, made on behalf of the University and town of Oxford.
- Oct. 6. 36. Opinion of John Whistler on the validity of a commission to John Bancroft, William Smith, Robert Treswell, and Phineas Pett, whereby they are directed to set out the trees for the Navy in Shotover and Stow Wood, excepted from the grant to the Earl of Lindsey. [Copy.]
- Oct. 6. 37. Minute of the number of trees for the Navy in Shotover and Stow Wood, set out under a Commission sent by the late Lord Treasurer.
- Oct. 6. 38. Particulars of a collection made in Bermondsey Street, and in various parts of London, for a purpose which does not appear. The sum contributed by each person was ordinarily 2s. "Mr. Colton, Esquier," and Sir Robert Cotton, gave 6s. each. The total sum wanted was 38*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.*; that collected was 24*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*
- Oct. 7.
Hinton. 39. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Offers of service. Mons. de Soubise has visited the writer. Finds him plus gaillard que de coutume, though his pension which his Majesty gave him be behind, as he says, for a year. He likes the peace, though troubled at first at the conditions. People are quiet and in peace without complaint, save for want of money, which everybody is sick of, and not without cause, for people live at such a height that the loss of a coach horse is able to make a man break.
- Oct. 8. 40. Sec. Dorchester to Attorney General Heath. The King has commanded the Sec. to let the Attorney General know his pleasure touching the Star Chamber cause for censuring the Jury which acquitted Sir William Withypoll. It should be one of the first handled next term, and therein the Attorney is to take special care that no time be lost, because his Majesty esteems it a matter of ill example that so foul a crime should be suffered to pass so lightly. [Copy.]
- Oct. 8. 41. Notes by Sec. Coke of answers of the Lords of the Admiralty to various applications; amongst them, to a certificate of the officers of the Navy, respecting Philcott, gunner of the Prince; to a letter of Sir Edward Rodney respecting the claim of Admiralty rights by the City of Bristol ; to a petition of Sir Thos. Walsingham against Philpot, Bennet, and others, of Faversham ; of the Earl of Suffolk, concerning the pretence of Admiralty jurisdiction by the Bishop of Durham ; to Robert Tokely's petition, and to that of Jacob the diver, against the Mayor of Dartmouth.

Oct 9. 42. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. On Oct. 9. 43. Dep. Lients. of co. Devon to Francis Earl of Bedford, Lord

Exeter. Lieut. Send various orders issued by them relative to the musters. Think the oath of supremacy necessary, but are unable to tender it without a special commission. Send some cases of stubborn defaulters in the horse. The muster master will send rolls of the foot. Send also examinations concerning the complaint against one Turner. Inclosed, 43. I. List of defaulters in muster of the horse.

Oct. 9. 44. Deposition of John Breon as to the lading and circumstances of the capture of the ship Our Lady of Conception, carried into Dartmouth by Capt. Smart and there condemned as a prize. The deponent details acts of torture used towards the crew.

Oct. 10. 45. Wm. Willett to Nicholas. The St. John of Dunkirk, taken
Bristol. by the Convertive, had come into that harbour. She has been attached by some of Calais, where she belongs, as they report, which if they prove, Sir Thomas Button will be a great loser, therefore he is requested to order Mr. Wyan to be very careful in the prosecution of the suit.

Oct. 11. Proclamation for preventing the decays of churches and chapels.
Hampton Court. All persons to whom it may appertain are to take special care as to the keeping of churches and chapels in repair, not relying upon churchwardens' presentments, but personally inspecting the same, and using the power of the ecclesiastical courts. No letters patent for collections are henceforth to be granted except in case of casualty by fire or tempest. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 114.]

Oct. 11. 46. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Lady Heale, who Hinton. was Sir Francis Heale's wife, and is now the richest widow in that part of the world, is coming to London with her mother, Mrs. Rogers, respecting a dispute with the Earl of Berkshire as to a lease of King's Curry and Penard, held by Mrs. Rogers's late husband for the lives of his wife and Sir Francis Rogers his son. The daughter is said to be worth 50,000*l.* at least, and has a son fit for a wife that is the greatest man of land and estate in that part of the kingdom. Will make the best of his interest with them if Dorchester chooses to employ it.

 Oct. 12. Hampton Court. The King to the Lord Treasurer, the Lords of the Admiralty and others. The late king permitted the East India Company to export 100,000*l.* per annum in foreign gold. Having enlarged their trade into Persia they are licensed to increase that amount to 120,000*l.* per annum, with permission to export 40,000*l.* thereof in English gold, if they cannot procure foreign: of which last sum 10,000*l.* may be exported in the Star which they purpose at this time to send to the East Indies. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xi., No. 30.]
- Oct. 12. Durham House. 47. Lord Keeper Coventry to the King. Has spoken with the Lord Chief Baron and propounded to him that he should petition to be disburthened of that place. Found him much troubled with the sense of the King's displeasure, protesting that it afflicted him more than the loss of any place could do. To the particular propounded he could not suddenly answer, it depending not only on leaving the place, but on the manner thereof. But he promised to return an answer. The writer of himself asked him how he carried the business of arms in his circuit. His answer was:—that in all places he had conference with the gentlemen about it, and in Somersetshire and Cornwall, where only he found some doubt of opposition, he gave it publickly in charge. The writer has had with him all the Judges about settling the government of the Inns of Court, and does not doubt they will satisfy his Majesty's expectations.
- Oct. 12. Congregation House. 48. University of Oxford to Sec. Dorchester. Intreat his assistance to prevent the destruction of the woods in their neighbourhood.
- Oct. 12. Nicholas to Sir Henry Marten. Sends a letter from Sir Pierce Crosby, who having a prize taken by letters of marque which was brought into Ireland, is desirous to have her tried in the Admiralty there, and labours to procure a Commission to authorize the Judge of that Admiralty accordingly. Wishes him to set down his opinion thereon. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 80.]
- Oct. 12. 49. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to Nicholas. Wm. Crompton was placed cook in the Triumph, by the late Duke. Now that she is a ship-royal another has been put into her. Begg his assistance for their old master's sake.
- Oct. 12. 50. Thos. Frewen to Endymion Porter. His lord [Lord Keeper Coventry] having revived the King's memory, he encloses a petition to the King for some preferment for the writer's brother. Their desire is, by the death of one Spanish chaplain to fix a badge of the King's favour on another.
- Oct. 12. London. 51. Wm. Calley to the same. Understands that the Lord Keeper and Mr. Frewen have recommended to him a suit for preferment of Mr. Frewen's brother, Dr. Frewen, Vice-Chancellor of Oxford. He was tutor to the writer's son. Begg him to put his best forces to it.

resolution or stand to his trial, in which case his Majesty's resolution is to call him to it. [Copy.]

Oct. 13. 53. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. The Lord Chief Justice thinks the best way will be to leave the prisoners in their present or some other prisons, as men neglected, until their stomachs come down, and not to prefer any information at all. The writer dare not subscribe totally to this opinion, nor could he conveniently alter the Chief Justice's opinion with reason lest he should discover too far the King's intentions. The Lieutenant of the Tower says if they have the liberty of the Tower they are out of the King's charge, and he can see there shall be no extraordinary resort to them, and their charge will be deeper than in other prisons. The Clerk of the Crown states there is a necessity for those three against whom the information is prepared—Sir John Eliot, Denzil Holles, and Benjamin Valentine—to be sent to the King's Bench, otherwise they cannot be compelled to answer. This may be done by a warrant from the King to Mr. Lieutenant to carry them before one of the judges, and then on a sudden, and in the evening, they shall come to Sergeant's Inn, and be turned over to that prison and charged with the information.

nature of the business not permitting neglect. And touching the remove of the three prisoners against whom the information is prepared, if there be necessity, his Majesty likes the course propounded, but it is not there comprehended how there should be necessity, because such as are in process are bound to answer from all places. If he has pregnant reasons for the remove from the Tower to the King's Bench, he will do well to set them down in writing for his Majesty to consider of. [Copy.]

Oct. 13. 56. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Thanks for writing to him.
Aboard the Lion. It is one of his chiefest comforts to know how things are taken and resolved on. Wishes Dymes's victuals might come to them, for he fears he shall stay long at Flushing for an easterly wind. Begg him has been.

Oct. 14. 57. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Have

61. Thos. Visct. Wentworth, Lord President of the North, to [Lord President Conway.] Begg pardon for a few days for not sending up the muster roll of the county. In the meantime he has bound over one Newett to appear before their Lordships. His case is that for these seven years, he has not only refused but scornfully contemned the finding of arms. Being of a whining nature he will make a fair semblance to their Lordships, but in that county where one which finds private arms is of better, there are ten of worse estate. Is a humble suitor that this peevish fellow may be made an example. Unless there be a severe hand held over men of this disposition, his Majesty's ministers shall never be able to effect this important service, there being an universal defection, nay shaking off this duty, almost in every corner of the kingdom. "An age, wherein I wish, with all my heart, men knew less and practised more."

- Oct. 15. 65. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Their month's victuals arrived that day when they were so short that they were fain to give their company their meal in part out of it that day. Sir Henry Vane's being at Dover is deferred until the 20th. A month's provision is but a small proportion at this time of the year. These penurious supplies bring in no profitable account of his time.
- Oct. 15. 66. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Explains the reasons of the necessity for the removal of the prisoners in the Tower into the custody of the Marshal, in order that they may be charged with the information about to be filed against them. They shall not appear in Court where they may have opportunity to vent themselves, but the Lord Chief Justice shall send for them on a sudden to Serjeant's Inn, where nothing shall be done but commit them to the prison of that Court, and charge them with the information; bailed they shall not be if they would offer it. The information is ready and to be filed that day. The Lord Chief Justice is resolved that they, if they relent, shall not be bailed until the King be first made acquainted therewith, and the writer will take care that the entry thereof upon record shall be per mandatum Domini Regis and not as if done mero jure.
- Oct. 15. 67. Sec. Dorchester to Attorney General Heath. The King Hampton Court. would have him follow the course indicated in his letter of this day's date, and likes very well of his care in the whole business, as likewise of the Lord Chief Justice's resolution in case any of the prisoners should relent and desire to be bailed. [Copy.]

Repeats information contained in his letter to the Lords of the Admiralty of this date. Surely our country martyrs are in love with sufferance and make religion of it, and having no other virtues will leave to memory that they were of the coppersmith's crew to fire the temple of Ephesus. Wishes them more wit, himself more money, and Nicholas all happiness.

- Oct. 16. 72. Sec. Dorchester to Lord Keeper Coventry. His Majesty is informed how the plague approaches on both sides of this kingdom, as well in Holland, where Amsterdam is much infected, as in France, where the port towns in Brittany, and Rochelle, have it universally amongst them, and that the contagion has been brought over to Scilly. It is to be made a special matter of consideration at the Council, and letters are to be written to the Lord Mayor of London and magistrates of merchant towns.
- [Oct. 16 ?] 73. M. Crofts to Sec. Dorchester. Begg that a gentleman whose name will be made known by the bearer may be knighted. [In the margin is written, "Mr. Christopher Addy."]
- Oct. 16. 74. Sir Barnard Grenville to Ralph Bird. Complains of the conduct of his co-deputy lieutenants of co. Cornwall, and begs him to speak to the writer's father, Porter, to get him exempted, or to procure a reformation by the king's command. All these disorders have sprung from the humourous actions of the two late Parliaments.
- Oct. 18. 75. Sir Henry Mervyn to Capt. John Mennes. As soon as his ship and the Tenth Whelp have performed their present service of guarding the fishermen at Yarmouth, they are to repair to Chatham, and give notice of their arrival to the Lords of the Admiralty.

- Oct. 19. 78. Nicholas Spicer to the same. Sent to Sir Thomas Button the Exeter. letter he received from the Lords of the Admiralty, since which there is no news of the Convertive and Whelps, and the Dunkirkers are so thick about Torbay, and also pirates of our own nation since the peace with France, that no ship can pass free.

Oct. 20. 80. Bishop Corbet of Oxford to Sec. Dorchester. He has twice been a humble suitor to the King for release of his first fruits. All preceding kings have granted so much favour to all preceding bishops of that see. The reasons are the same as ever they were, an Act of Parliament exempting universities and all livings within the verge from any such payment. Beseeches him to move his Majesty once more, that he may not complain as that old Roman did, “Duas res diversissimas conjunxi, invidiam et egestatem:” the envy of a bishop, and the wants of a poor curate.
- Oct. 20. 81. Account of Sir Thos. Walsingham for the Vice-admiralty of Kent, from the 23rd August 1628, to this day.
- Oct. 21. 82. Lord Chief Justice Hyde to Lord Treasurer Weston, Edward Sergeant's Inn Earl of Dorset, and Sec. Coke [Lords of the Admiralty.] They had Fleet Street. desired to know the reasons of the prohibitions granted in two cases, one between Cremer and Tokely, and the other touching Sir John Heyward. The former was an action on a contract concerning land, sued in the Admiralty contrary to a statute of 2nd Henry IV.; the latter touched the title of wreck, which by the 15th Richard II. is to be tried in the King's Court, and not by the Admiralty Court. Prohibitions have not been more numerous of late, and if the officers of the Admiralty will be as careful to contain themselves within their proper jurisdiction, as the judges will be of encroaching upon that which pertains to them, their Lordships will not be troubled with complaints of this kind. [On the back of this letter are notes taken by Nicholas, of proceedings in the Court of King's Bench, apparently on a motion to quash the prohibition in Tokely's case.]
- Oct. 21. 83. Copy of the preceding letter.
- Oct. 21. 84. Foulke Reed to Lord President Conway. Answers complaints

- Oct. 21. 85. “Relation how the Judges of the King's Bench have proceeded

- [Oct. 21 ?] 86. Petition of divers Freemen of London using the art of jewelling, to Edwd. Earl of Dorset, Lord Chamberlain to the Queen. Her Majesty referred to the Earl a dispute between Francis Simpson, her jeweller, and the petitioners, touching his employment of strangers to do the work of the petitioners. The Earl gave petitioners leave to take a course against Simpson, after a time now expired. But Simpson, on 31st August, obtained an order from the Council to impress workmen for the Queen's service, under which he protects all strangers, and employs none of the petitioners. Pray for redress.
- Oct. 21. 87. Petition of the same to the Council. State the circumstances above mentioned, and pray either that the Earl of Dorset's order may stand, or that petitioners may be left to their rights as subjects.

- Oct. 22. 89. Sir Wm. Gardyner to Sec. Dorchester. Begg him to go on Minories. with a business, in which he procured a reference from his Majesty. The writer's brother-in-law, Sir John Heydon, a true servant to Dorchester, will furnish the necessary information.
- Oct. 22. 90. Henry Earl of Northumberland, to the same. This last good Petworth. fortune is more to the States than either the taking of Bois le duc, or the surprise of Wesel. The Earl's son Henry is going to travel as a younger son, and not in pomp. Begg Dorchester to advise him.
- Oct. 22. 91. Sir Edward Bagshaw to Endymion Porter. Thanks for pains taken concerning the fees due to the writer and Mr. Cave. Mr. Cave had served in his office these 20 years and upwards, and the writer ten, and they had increased the customs of that port from 600*l.*, per annum to 5,500*l.*, in nine years.
- Oct. 22. 92. Note of the proceedings against Peter Smart, clergyman, of Durham, principally with the view of shewing how far Sir John Lambe had been mixed up therein.
- Oct. 22. 93. Another similar paper of notes, but fuller than the preceding.
- Oct. 23. 94. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. The Adventure having been fifteen months at sea is said to require cleansing and repair. Submit the propriety of calling her in for that purpose.
- Oct. 23. 95. Francis Brooke to Sec. Coke. Has received Order of Council Portsmouth. to deliver the Esperance to Nicholas Braunt. Shall obey the order, but suggests that it ought to have come through the Lords of the Admiralty, the ship having been kept long at great charge.
- Oct. 23. 96. Note of cordage aboard the Martha and the Ann, newly arrived from Russia.
- Oct. 25. 97. Lord President Conway to Patrick Hume. Articles received from his father, touching the motion between his brother and the writer's daughter, so far differ from what was formerly treated, as give cause to think his father has taken up some dislike, and makes use of that way to break the treaty. Lord Conway will not vary from the former conditions, and has so written to Patrick Hume's father.
- Oct. 26. 98. Henry Earl of Marlborough, to Sec. Dorchester. The Heywood. Secretary's affection was the chiefest legacy left the Earl by his father. Would have waited on him but for a long sickness. The bearer has been kept out of a small office which the Earl's father gave him. A word of the Secretary's mouth would restore him, if the memory of the writer's poor old father may move him to it.

- Oct. 26. 99. Officers of the Navy to Nicholas. To move the Lords of the Admiralty for a letter to those whom it may concern, to forbear to trouble the officers of the yard at Deptford respecting bearing arms, or executing parish offices.
- Oct. 26. 100. Article 6, of Instructions for Capt. Richd. Plumleigh, of the Dreadnought, employed to the southwards with the Third Lion's Whelp. He is to receive aboard Sir Francis Cottington, ambassador extraordinary to Spain, with his followers, and to transport them to such place in Spain as the ambassador shall direct. After landing them he is to return to the Downs with the first opportunity. [Copy].
- Oct. 27. 101. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. Among all the parliament men and others that have been prisoners there he finds none to parallel these prisoners. The Earls of Oxford, Arundel and Lincoln often and humbly petitioned his Majesty. Sir Robert Phillips and Mallory besought the King's mercy, and Sir Edward Coke did the like, setting down "MERCY," in great capital letters, but these prisoners will not so much as petition that they are sorry the King is offended with them, although in discourse they cannot deny but he is a traitor that is not so. Has drawn such a warrant as he thinks fit for the present occasion. The ordinary warrant is simply that A. B. now close prisoner is to have the liberty of the Tower.
- Oct. 27. 102. Names of such persons "as were refractory," that is, made default in attendance at a muster this day, at Bridport, of Capt. Hoskyns's company of the trained band for co. Dorset. The first person named is "Paul Dewes, Esq."
- Oct. 28. 103. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Leaves the Fourth Whelp to come after him, for she has no sails or cables to keep sea this weather. In the great storm on Tuesday night a new ship came on ground on the Long Sand. The mariners all perished. The men of Ramsgate put off and found nobody on board but a dog. She is laden with copper and goods for Spain. The Ambassador has chosen the Brill or Maes for his landing, whither no man who knows the danger would hazard such a ship at this time of year; but the writer's command is to land him where he pleases. Hears the Marie of the East India Company has put into Scilly and has lost most of her men. If the Company desire a convoy the writer begs Nicholas to think of him. Intends to sail that night.
- Oct. 29. 104. William Larder to Capt. John Prust at Suffolk House. Sends a book of his company of trained bands for co. Dorset, with list of defaulters. "Let Sir Henry Rosewell rest until the next return, for some reasons best known to myself."
- Oct. 30. 105. Capt. Edmund Button to Nicholas. The Frenchmen have procured a commission out of the Admiralty to sequester the ship, and one of the commissioners wished the writer to give up possession to the Frenchmen, but he declined until he had order and a discharge.

Yarmouth. Next day he arrived at Harwich where he expects a fair wind. The Whelp has lost his company. Extremity of foul weather. Loss of several States men of war. The Dunkirkers are very quiet. Had met only three, which he had chased.
- Oct. 31. 108. The Council to the Officers of the Customs of the port of conferred on his servant as soon as can be, without wrong to another ; so the Bishop has signified to Dr. Sutton and Dr. Baber, his chancellors. If the latter should want Porter's help at Court, he will find him a very honest and thankful man.

deep and dangerous. Hopes his Majesty will not deny him his

- Oct. 31. 111. Account of John Griffith, Vice-Admiral of North Wales, concerning wrecks happened from Michaelmas 1628, to Michaelmas 1629. This account relates principally to the wreck of a ship coming from Ireland, in "winter last," in which ship the Earl of Desmond was lost. The accountant mentions the finding of a trunk belonging to the Earl and the recovery of his writings. David Prythergh, a pedlar, and his son were committed to prison for rifling the trunk, and were still lying there in much misery and want.

VOL. CLI. NOVEMBER 1—16, 1629.

- Nov. 1. 1. John Dinley to [Sec. Dorchester ?]. Sir Francis Nethersole and Leyden. the writer being both aspirants for the office of Master of Requests have come to a mutual understanding that, on the first vacancy, Sir Francis shall be put forward for that place, and the writer be suggested as his successor in the post of Secretary to the Queen of Bohemia. Dorchester is requested to concur with the Earl of Carlisle in promoting this arrangement.
- Nov. 1. 2. Bill of services and disbursements of Sir John Finet, Master of the Ceremonies, for attendances upon Ambassadors from 1st April 1629 to this day; total, 229*l.* 12*s.*
- Nov. 2. 3. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. On the On board the Lion, before Gravelines. 29th Oct. put over for Holland with the Ambassador. The next day came to anchor before Goree. Next morning the ambassador went into the Miniken, and so for Brill. The 30th the writer stayed a ship of Hamburgh laden with deal board and pipe staves bound for St. Lucar. Incloses her papers, and has sent her into the Downs. To-morrow will stand in before Dunkirk to wait for Don Carlos.
- Nov. 2. 4. Report of Sir Walter Mansell, Maurice Bowen, John Gwyn, and David Vaughan to the Lords of the Admiralty on the petition of Richard Herbert (see Vol. cxlix. No. 80.) Find that he was put out of his office of Town Clerk of Kidwelly solely on account of his absence, and the office sold for 10*l.* to William Davis. The Mayor and his brethren are so obstinate that they will not yield to any reasonable end.
- Nov. 2. 5. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to Sec. Dorchester. An St. Bartholomew's. unkindness has arisen between herself and the Earl of Peterborough by reason of some intrusions and imperious carriages in the exercise of hunting warrants in the forests of Moorehay and Westhay, which lie round about her house at Apthorpe. She thinks such warrants ought to be forborne. They gratify but a few, and are grievous to many, not as they are in themselves, but as they are by high spirits commonly executed. No man needs to have them but such as desire to insult over others. Solicits the King's protection against the Earl, and his favour to her son.

6. Sir Thomas Button to Sec. Dorchester. On the 2nd October stood for the Land's End. On the 4th was crossed with so extreme a storm that he was forced, after six days beating in the sea, with much danger, and great damage to the ship, to bear up for Ireland. On the Friday following arrived in the harbour of Cork, and on the 20th in that place. Has sent the Fifth Whelp to scour the Western ports; but is forced himself to apply to the Lords Justices for victuals. If they supply them not, they are like to starve or disband, for neither butcher, brewer, or baker will give them credit for a groat, and answer that the last time they did it, they were driven to come to England for their money, and to attend three quarters of a year there, and some of them to spend all they had in the world before they could get their own. If these businesses be not better settled, the King's service will be much dishonoured. Loud complaints of his gunner, boatswain, and carpenter of the shortness in quantity and badness in quality of their stores. These inconveniences did not exist in former times. Thanks for his favour in reference to the Dunkirk ship.

7. The same to Nicholas. Recapitulates the account of his movements and want of victuals given in the last letter. Will be thankful for his pains in the business of the Dunkirk ship. Desires to be remembered to the Lords Steward and Chamberlain, with his love and service to noble Sir Benjamin Rudyerd, and his love to Mr. Oldisworth, and Mr. Thoroughgood, and various others, and entreats Nicholas to be his buckler towards the Lords of Admiralty for not doing more than the elements will give leave. Let Sir William Killigrew know that his son is well, but so sick a man at sea as the writer's eyes never saw the like.

9. Petition of Sibell Aley, widow of Capt. John Aley, who with his two only sons perished on the retreat from Rhé, to the King. By the death of her husband and sons she and her four daughters are left in extreme want. She has found out that Thomas Emerson deceased, took a lease of the late King of lands in co. Durham, at the rent of 550*l.*, in which lease were two clauses of nomine pœnæ, one for not enrolling the lease at 20*l.* for every year's default, which continued ten years, to the forfeiture of 200*l.*, and the other of 26*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* for every year's default in payment of rent at the times reserved on which there is a forfeiture of 160*l.* Not being willing to be chargeable to the King she prays for a grant of these forfeitures. Underwritten,

It seems at first sight an extremity to require so great a sum nomine pœnce, where the rent itself is since paid, but when he considers that anciently under such circumstances the estate was forfeited, and this of late years reduced to a pain, he conceives that where there is negligence the pain should be paid when the King requires it, and it will be a good means to quicken the tenants. 1630, Jan. 1.*

- Nov. 3. 10. The Council to Nicholas, as Clerk of the Council extraordinary. Whitehall. Warrant to repair to the house of the Earl of Clare, and there to seize his books and papers, and the same to seal up in safe rooms, taking order that the doors be made fast.
- Nov. 3. 11. Richard Brawne to Endymion Porter. Was sorry to hear Alscot. that his and his lady's wilfulness was so rewarded, but glad he scaped so well, on his last parting from them. When the name of sheriff crosses his way begs him to think of the writer.
- Nov. 3. 12. Dr. John Browning to Bishop Laud, at his house near St. Rawreth. Paul's Church. Mr. Hooker, lately in question before the Bishop, still continues his former practices. Begs the help of the Bishop's authority, if not to the suppressing and rooting out such an one, at least to the defending those who live in obedience. The renowned Bishop of Winchester [Andrewes] stated to the writer that one Mr. Hooker was silenced in his diocese on the complaint of King James. Begs Bishop Laud to consider whether this be the same man or no. It is thought the people thereabouts being over much addicted to "hearing the word," as they call it, to the neglect of God's service and worship, great heart-burnings may arise against the suppressors of this man and his lecture. Offers his service for quieting the people on Hooker's removal.
- Nov. 3. 13. Note of such persons as were at St. Winifred's Well upon St. Winifred's day. Lord William Howard, the Earl of Shrewsbury, Sir Cuthbert Clifton. Sir John Talbot, Lady Falkland, and with her Mr. Everard the priest, are among the persons enumerated. The total number of knights, ladies and gentlemen is said to have been 1,400 and about 150 priests. It is stated that "Mr. Arrow-smith's clothes, and the knife that cut him up, are at Sir Cuthbert Clifton's house."
- Nov. 4. Warrant to pay to John Bland of London, merchant, 145*l.* 13*s.*, Westminster. interest on 2,000*l.* lent to the King.

- Nov. 4. 15. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. The writers sold one of his Majesty's four pinks to John Delabarre for 118*l.*, and the other three to Benjamin Stone for 318*l.* 10*s.* These sums were agreed to be paid on the 11th of August last, but still remain unpaid.
- Nov. 4. Portsmouth Road. 16. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. That day they are clear of the harbour of Portsmouth; to-morrow morning they shall sail for Lisbon. The officers of the navy have been slack. Their surgeon's chest and new cables came on Saturday last. Ever since the wind has hung contrary. The ambassador [Cottington] thanks him for his letter.
- Nov. 5. 17. Petition of Wm. Boswell, M.A., one of the Clerks extraordinary to the Council, to the King. The King's father passed the hospitals of St. Leonard's and St. John's, in Northampton, to certain patentees with whom the petitioner has dealt for their estates. Prays the King to re-incorporate St. John's as a lay hospital, confirming the petitioner as the first master, according to the ancient foundation, and to settle St. Leonard's on petitioner and his heirs.

- Nov. 5. From the Tenth Whelp, Chatham. 18. Capt. John Dymes to the Lords of the Admiralty. Has brought his ship to Chatham. They are altogether destitute of victuals. His men have neither meat, drink, nor money till order be taken for them.
- Nov. 5. 19. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To prepare grant of baronetage for Alderman Robert Drury, with discharge of money usually payable for that dignity.
- Nov. 5. Pendennis Castle. 20. Sir Wm. Killigrew to Sec. Dorchester. This morning there arrived in Falmouth two Dutch ships, which have brought 24 Englishmen found at sea, planters in the islands of St. Christopher, who have related to the writer the taking and rifling of those islands by a Spanish fleet. About the 15th Sept. there came four Spanish ships into the haven of Mevis, who were followed by 30 others; nine English ships fought with them a day and a night, but were taken, with the Islands of Mevis and St. Christopher. In the latter island 400 English fled to the mountains and were succoured by the Indians.

- Nov. 6. On board the Lion in the Downs. 21. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Recapitulates the circumstances stated in his letter of the 2nd inst. (No. 3). On the 4th stood in for Dunkirk for Don Carlos, and sent in his boat with his lieutenant. Don Carlos was at Brussels, but his provisions and servants were at Dunkirk. A messenger was despatched away to him, but the wind blowing stiffly, and they not acquainted with the road, put to sea and came into the Downs, where they hear no news of the stayed Hamburgher. On the next change of wind they will stand over for Dunkirk.
- Nov. 6. Yarmouth. 22. Bailiffs of Yarmouth to Sec. Coke. The fishermen have had a greater abundance of herrings than in any year for twenty years past, which for their encouragement the corporation of Yarmouth has taken off their hands. Cannot hear that the Turkey merchants intend to take them, therefore pray for licence to export 1,000 lasts in strangers' bottoms.
- Nov. 6. The Downs. 23. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Repeats the information contained in his letter to the Lords of the Admiralty of this date. Put twelve of his men aboard the Hamburgher and therefore thinks her safe enough. Begs the remainder of his three months' victuals may be ready on his return from Dunkirk, that he may not have farther cause to displease.
- Nov. 6. London. 24. Archbishop Harsnet, of York, to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador at the Hague. "God send you to miss your errand, and a speedy return," and yet prays for as good success of his employment as his own heart. Is in London insperato, inexpectato. On Tuesday evening were sent Mr. Vice-chamberlain and others to seal up Sir Robert Cotton's library, and to bring himself before the Council. There was found in his custody a pestilent tractat, which he had fostered as his child, and had sent abroad into divers hands, containing a project how a Prince may make himself an absolute tyrant. This device he had communicated to divers lords who, on his confession, are questioned and restrained; the Earl of Somerset to the Bishop of London, Lord Clare to the Bishop of Winchester, and Lord Bedford to the writer knows not whom. Cotton himself is in custody. God send them well out! Has no place to retire himself to so far as to put on his rochet. Begs the use of Sir Henry's lodgings at Court.
- Nov. 6. 25. Affidavit of Michael Meysey, one of the Messengers of the Chamber, that Samuel Vassall, on the 29th October last, by one of his servants, drew out a staple of a door post of a warehouse at Chester Quay, where one of the King's locks was hanging to keep possession of certain currants until the duty should be paid thereon, and carried off certain butts of the same currants before any part of the duty was paid. [Not sworn.]

Nov. 6. 26. Information of Michael Meysey to the same effect as the preceding, but addressed to Attorney General Heath, and sworn before Baron Denham.
- Nov. 7. 27. The King to Sir Thomas Croke and others. Commission out of the Court of Admiralty to inquire for, and take into their custody, a Spanish galleon captured by ships of the East Indies, and lately cast away at Castlehaven, in Ireland, with all goods on board the same, and to make a return thereof to the Court of Admiralty of England sitting at the Guildhall in Southwark.
- Nov. 7. 28. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. Sent for the Frenchman prisoner in the Marshalsea and heard his relation, since committed to writing, and now inclosed. The principal points are, that an officer of the King should make himself a pensioner to a foreign prince in the way of intelligencer; and that he should receive and dispense money for the benefit of the party of the Papists. The disobedience of the proclamation for arresting Bishop Smith, is, with the others, a subject fit for his consideration.
- Nov. 7. 29. Copy of the same, much damaged by damp.
- Nov. 7. 30. Sir Thomas Canon to Lord Treasurer Weston. Reports the shipwreck of a small Spanish vessel in Milford Haven, laden with wheat and tent wine. Cargo taken possession of and sold by David Gwyn.
- Nov. 7. 31. Sir John Peyton to Sec. Dorchester. Accounts it among his ill fortunes in his length of days not to be personally known to the Secretary. Thanks for favours to the writer's son, and for having graced his grandson, Robert, with a letter to Lord Tilbury.
- Nov. 7. 32. Walter Covert to Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey, and Slaughterham. Edward Earl of Dorset. A pinnace, of Dunkirk, driven ashore at Worthing by the States men-of-war. The crew of 66 men betook themselves to the land, and were conveyed by Capt. Poole to Shoreham. The country people, according to their inhuman custom, took the goods out of the Dunkirker and cut and spoiled the same.

He has written to her to solicit the Secretary to speak to the King or the Lord Treasurer. Has sent this letter by Sir Maurice Berkeley, a nephew of her husband's. If he cannot comply with her request, she must come up to petition the King.

Nov. 10. 38. Petition of the King's poor and distressed tenants of the manor of North Wheatley, co. Nottingham, belonging to the Duchy of Lancaster, to the King. The King having sold the manor to the City of London, and they to John Cartwright and Thomas Brudenell, the tenants complain of various invasions upon their ancient rights. Underwritten, [Nov. 10 ?] 40. Petition of Katherine, daughter of John Gerrard, of New Sarum, gent., to the King. Petitioner, by seduction of Sir Edward Baynton, of Bromham, co. Wilts, and promise of marriage on the death of his wife, had had two children by him, and now was left by him without means. Prays the King to call Sir Edward before him, and command him to take a present course for her relief.

Nov. 10. 41. Brief of articles objected in the High Commission Court against Sir Edward Baynton and Katherine Gerrard.

Nov. 10. 42. Petition of Robert Prickett, preacher of the town and garrison of Portsmouth, and to the King's Ordinary for his ships there, to the Lord Treasurer and the other Commissioners for the Navy Royal. By reason of the forbearance of pay to the garrison and ordinary petitioner is brought somewhat behind. Some of his creditors have taken out execution against him for debts already paid, and he cannot leave home to get the same remedied by law without danger of arrest. Prays that he may not be arrested for debts without leave first obtained.

Nov. 10. 43. Sir John Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. Formerly was stayed from waiting on the Secretary by indisposition of the wife of Sir John Cutts. She is miraculously recovered by drinking of wormwood beer. He is now stayed because there is antipathy between him and the mists of London. Hears of abridgements at Court. If anything of this kind concerns his poor place, desires his assistance.

Nov. 10. 44. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Will set sail for Dunkirk that morning. Presumes the Spanish ambassador expects the King's ship. When at Dunkirk he was desired to solicit that the men driven ashore by the Hollanders near Margate, being now in prison at Dover, might be released. They use our English more courteously, giving them money to carry them to Calais without imprisonment, which they will not do hereafter if their men are hardly dealt with here. The fly-boat of Hamburgh is at Dover. Desires order to send her up, or release her, on his return.

Nov. 10. 45. Beneficed clergy in co. Essex to Bishop Laud. Have heard that he has been informed that the conformable ministers of those parts desire the removal of Thomas Hooker, preacher at Chelmsford. 73. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. On the 11th went for Dunkirk to attend the Spanish Ambassador, but he had not obtained his dispatch on all points. Complains of the insufferable neglect of the captain of the Minniken [Bamford], who, since he landed the Ambassador at the Brill, has lain loitering about Gravesend, employing the ketch to his own ends. Begs to be allowed to turn him out of the ketch, and put in some other. They might restore him on submission, for he is an able man; a little punishment would make him know his duty, and leave sharking. Will observe their directions respecting the Nightingale of Hamburgh.

Nov. 15. 74. John Giffard to Nicholas. When William Richardson the younger was discarded from being saltpetreman, the writer was appointed for seven years. - Nov. 16. 80. Archbishop Harsnet, of York, to Sir Henry Vane. Yesterday his Majesty sat in the Council and commanded that devilish project found upon Sir Robert Cotton to be read over. The writer never heard a more pernicious, diabolical device. The King declared his intention to have the parties released, but prosecuted in the Star Chamber. They were severally called in before the Lords, the King having risen. Two never spake word expressing any thankfulness. Two expressed much thankfulness, which were the Earl of Bedford and Sir Robert Cotton. St. John and James are still in prison. Is of opinion it will fall heavy on the parties delinquent. Viscount Falkland reseated of the Council; he had been

The appointment of Archbishop Harsnet, of Viscount Wentworth, and of the Earl of Northampton, as Privy Councillors is also mentioned; also the arrival of Viscount Falkland from Ireland, being met, as he came into town, by his friends in about thirty coaches; his gracious reception by the King, and appointment as a Privy Councillor; the capture of St. Christopher's by the Spaniards, and anticipated arrival of an ambassador from Spain, are also stated.

- Nov. 17. 5. Report of Dr. Wm. Juxon, Dr. John Bancroft, and Dr. Gamaliel Bridges to the Council, on certain differences between the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church, Oxford, and the students of that house. The disputes turned principally on the amount of allowances made to the students. The report states fully the several allegations of the students, the answer of the Dean and Chapter, the replies and rejoinders of the students and the Dean and Chapter, and the observations of the Commissioners, who confined themselves to ascertaining the facts, and referring them to the consideration of the Council.

The town has been once burnt by the French, and the inhabitants are afraid what mischief these Frenchmen intend.

writer prays that the Lord President and Sir Humphrey May would appoint some person to measure the ground and report to the King.

Nov. 27.

51. Sir Sackville Crow, Sir Thomas Aylesbury and Dennis Fleming to the Lords of the Admiralty. The matters laid to the charge of George Nusom [Newsom,] keeper of the house in London where the officers of the Navy meet for dispatch of business, are most of them proved to the contrary, and the poor man has already suffered beyond the quality of any offence objected, having been beaten by Sir Guilford Slingsby's man, and by Sir Guilford, felled with a pocket pistol, his head broken and he left for dead, his hair tugged off, suspended from his place, and at last turned out of doors; for redress whereof the writers would reinstate him but Sir Guilford threatens to thrust him out again, which wilfulness they leave to the judgment of the Lords.

Nov. 28.

56. Chevalier de Bois Gaudry to Sec. Coke. Sir Thomas Wolseley and Sir Robert and his lady have been with the writer, desiring him that if ever he wishes for liberty he should deny the information which he had given against them. Indignantly refuses to do anything of the kind. Lord Coventry will be astonished when he finds

- Nov. 28. 57. Prospectus in the hand-writing of Sec. Coke, and apparently Suffolk House. agreed to at a meeting held this day at Suffolk House, for the institution of a Company of Adventurers for competing with the Dutch in their fisheries. A stock of 11,000*l.* or 12,000*l.* was to be raised; preparation to be made for building, as a commencement, 40 busses; and a committee was appointed, which comprised Sir John Wolstenholme, Burlamachi, Sir William Russell, Peter Rycaut, and others.

- Nov. 29. 59. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Daily
On board the complaints of English taken by Dunkirkers have given him cause to Lion in the consider the redress thereof. The Hollanders have many brave Downs. ships in our seas, and when the winds are such that the Dunkirkers cannot come out, they lie close to their town, but when the wind gives them an outlet, the Hollanders stand over for the English coast, and as soon as they have intelligence that they are gone, they ply to the westward, a day after the fair, with such a noise as if they intended wonders. Complains of the Hollanders victualling their ships with 1,400 or 1,500 men from Sandwich, which differs not from transporting victuals. If the Lords would let him have 6 ships with a pink and a pinnace, the charge for which would be 18,347*l.* 6*s.* per annum, he should hope to do the state some acceptable service.
- Nov. 29. 60. The same to Nicholas. Sends the above letter, and prays him
On board the to put the Lords in mind of their victuals. Has written to Sec.
Lion in the Downs. Coke, who haply will be more careful therein than some others. Is weary of complaining of pursers who disorder by their cheating the whole service.

- Nov. 30. 62. Dr. Walter Balcanquall to Sec. Dorchester. The next month

Secretary to excuse his absence to his Majesty by reason of having broken his leg.

Nov. 30. 63. Description of the Island of Lewes, with narrative of the endeavours of the Dutch, countenanced by the Earl of Seaforth, to establish a fishing station in that island; in the handwriting of Sec. Coke, and by him derived from conference with Mr. Hay, agent for the Burghs of Scotland, sent to London to oppose a patent obtained by the Earl of Seaforth for erecting Stornoway into a free burgh.

[Nov. 30 ?] 64. Minutes in the handwriting of Sec. Coke of the course to be adopted with the patent to the Earl of Seaforth mentioned in the last article, which had been stayed in Scotland, and was then in the custody of Sir William Alexander.

[Nov. 30 ?] 65. Clauses out of the Earl of Seaforth's patent deemed specially objectionable; certified by Sir William Alexander, Secretary for Scotland. [Copy.]

[Nov. 30 ?] 66. Capt. John Mason to [Sec. Coke.] Suggestions for settlement of the difficulties respecting the island of Lewes by establishment of a Company of adventurers of naturalised Scottishmen, who should purchase the island, and establish fishing stations thereon with privileges similar to those about to be granted to the Hollanders.

[Nov. 30 ?] 67. Suggestions by Sir William Monson how to proceed in the establishment of a fishing about Orkney, Shetland, and Lewes. Besides the granting of privileges to fishing adventurers, he proposes the institution of a government in every island, the erection of a principal town in each, the instruction of every child of the islanders in the English or Scottish language, with other education according to their abilities, and the hindering correspondence between the inhabitants of the islands and the Highlanders, considering the danger of their too great friendship, "who are naturally the most dangerous and worst people living."

[Nov. 30 ?] 68. Copy of the same.

[Nov. 30 ?] 69. Further suggestions of Sir William Monson concerning the advantages to be derived from the encouragement of fishing. The paper contains many particulars of the comparative amount of trade in the hands of England and Holland.

[Nov. 30 ?] 70. Calculation by Sir Wm. Monson of the loss which results to England from the employment by the Dutch of sixty ships in exporting fish caught on the coasts of England.

[Nov. 30 ?] 71. Statement of advantages which the Dutch will derive from the possession of Lewes.

Nov. 30. 72. Brief of Sir Robert Harley's Accounts of the Mint, from the 27th November 1626; from which it appears that his receipts for

- Nov. 30. 73. Account of armours and pieces of armour delivered into the Office of the Armoury since 13 May 1620, being the remainders returned to the office after the expeditions to Cadiz, Rhé, and Rochelle, and suits purchased in the Low Countries or manufactured by the armourers of London.
- Nov. 74. The King to Sir Henry Vane, ambassador to Holland. The late King granted the ministers of the English congregations in Holland liberty to assemble as is used in the Walloon churches, but assuming to themselves the power of creating ministers and framing new liturgies, the present King forbade their further assembling. In case, seeing their error, he finds them, as stated by John Forbes, minister of the English merchants at Delft, more moderate, and that they can hold themselves to the first intention, the King likes well that Sir Henry should allow their meetings yearly, giving account thereof to the ambassador.
- Nov. 75. Copy of the same.
- [Nov. ?] 76. Petition of Henry Moore, prisoner in the New Prison, to the King. Has been prisoner full eight months, on suspicion of being a priest. The Council referred him to the Archbishop of Canterbury, who persists in his disfavour upon some private dislike. Prays that he may be discharged on sureties.
- Nov. 77. Sec. Dorchester to Sir Wm. Uvedale, Treasurer of the Chamber. Form of warrant to pay to Matthew de Quester the sum due to him for conveyance of packets from 1 April to 2 Oct. last. [Underwritten are memoranda that similar warrants were signed successively for similar accounts up to 4 April and 25 Oct. 1630, and 11 November 1631; also for Robert Francis, postmaster of Chester, from 1 April to 30 Sept. 1630, and from 1 Oct. 1630 to 31 March 1631.]
- [Nov. ?] 78. Richard James to Sec. Dorchester. He wants not pen and paper if it were possible for him to recollect anything more whereby to clear himself or blemish Mr. St. John. About July last the writer came into Sir Robert Cotton's great chamber and found him and St. John viewing coins. He was willed by Sir Robert to take Mr. St. John into the upper study, and there let him search among some bundles of papers for business of the Sewers. If, in turning those, he mentioned the projecting pamphlet there pretended to be found, the writer entered into no further consideration of it. Believes it was never in keeping with them, nor ever seen by Sir Robert Cotton, until he received it from the Earl of Clare. Beseeches the Secretary to mediate for his freedom.

[Nov. ?]

83. Answer of the Commissioners of Sewers for cos. Northampton, Huntingdon, Cambridge, &c., to the proposition of the Undertakers for Draining the Fens. The undertakers demand as recompense for their intended work that lands should be assured to them in fee simple. The authority of the Commissioners is only to levy a rate, and they cannot procure any such preposterous assurance beforehand. But if the undertakers will be constant to their first proposition, which was to receive a moiety of the profit of their work, the Commissioners will be ready to give them all lawful furtherance. Among the signatures are those of Bishop Dove, of Peterborough; Thomas Cotton, Sir Frances Fane, Sir Miles Sandys, Sir Oliver Cromwell, H. Cromwell, J. Cromwell, William Fitzwilliam, Francis Quarles, Thomas Glapthorne.

[Nov. ?]

84. Similar answer of the Commissioners of Sewers for co. Suffolk. They have no surrounded grounds that lie long under water, but only such as are sometimes overflowed for a short time, which overflowing much enricheth those grounds, so that more draining would be very hurtful to them. These grounds are worth 13s. 4*d.* an acre, and cannot be spared or bettered by the industry of the undertakers.

The petitions are all for arrears of pay due for service.
- Dec. 5. 19. Helen Lady Wolseley to Sec. Coke. Can now satisfy him in some things which he asked her concerning Sir Robert Wolseley. He is very bold to affirm anything that is false, if it be for his own ends, and very insolent to deny things against him. He is very malicious, and will hide his defects with a smooth tongue. Will come up if he will write to her husband to that purpose, but without letting him perceive that she has written.

Dec. 5. 20. Petition of the Inhabitants of Hammersmith, in the parish of Fulham, to Bishop Laud. Pray his assent to their endeavours for erecting a chapel of ease in Hammersmith. Beseech him to consider the length and foulness of the way between Fulham and that place, in winter most toilsome, sometimes over ploughed lands, and almost unpassable. They also pray that they may recommend for the bishop's approbation a minister to whom they will give a competent maintenance, and likewise pay and perform all duties to their parish church. Annexed,
20. 1. Roll of contributions towards building a chapel in Hammersmith, and paying the stipend of a minister.
- Dec. 5. 21. Edmund Earl of Mulgrave to Bishop Laud. Has joined with Hammersmith. his neighbours in the preceding petition to the Bishop for his consent to the building a chapel in Hammersmith. Thought to have attended him, to have moved him in that particular, and also to have congratulated him on his recovery from long sickness, but the Earl is himself suffering from dangerous disease. Urges the proposed building as necessary for reformation of much irregularity and ill expending of time on Sundays and holidays.
- Dec. 6. 22. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to recall Whitehall. a grant to James Quarrier of 500*l.* out of the greenwax not in farm, and to prepare a like grant to the same James Quarrier and Thomas Moncrief.
- Dec. 6. 23. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for his information that he is engaged another way and wishes him good success. Begs his favour to Sir Philip Carteret, and to that poor island, and to Mr. Loveraine the preacher, now in England; also to one more of that island, the Sec's. servant, Mr. Nicolls, some of whose countrymen conjecture that he has less credit with the Sec. than he used to have. Did not expect to hear the things his letter mentions of those persons of quality who have been in trouble, and is grieved to see the practices to beget jealousies between the King and his people. Another copy of a paper sent by the Sec. came to the writer's hands by the same man who presented it to his Majesty. States circumstances which tend to show that the man had been driven mad by certain opinions of Armianism. Complains of his having been suffered to preach in Oxford since his madness.
- Dec. 6. 24. Information of — Matthews concerning Sir Thomas Wolseley and his endeavour to pass over his land to his brother Sir Robert Wolseley. It was said that Lord Mountnorris had bidden 1,000*l.* more than the land was worth, but it was only the malice of Sir Thomas Wolseley's lady which occasioned any other to deal for the land than Sir Robert.
- Dec. 6. 25. Will of Michael Gardiner, Rector of Greenford, co. Middlesex. Legacies to his sons Henry, Michael, Thomas, John, and George, and to various grandchildren of the names of Waterfield and Gardiner.

- [Dec. 7 ?] 29. List of officers who left their places in the Low Countries to come into his Majesty's service. Underwritten is a note from Capt. John Mason to [Sec. Dorchester], sending him the above list before it was presented to the Council of War.
- Dec. 8. 30. The King to Lord Keeper Coventry, Lord Treasurer Weston, and the rest of the Commissioners of Sewers for co. Lincoln.
Approves their statement in their answer to his letter, that they conceived his resolution for draining the surrounded grounds to be very honourable, and profitable for the country, and informs them that, having at first fixed his resolution upon just reasons, he is still constant therein, and requires them to appoint a day for a meeting at Boston, at which Sir Anthony Thomas and the other undertakers shall attend them with their propositions. A view is to be presently made of the surrounded grounds, and a tax to be imposed thereon, and upon all lands that may receive benefit by the draining. They are not to give ear to those who out of a froward and cross nature shall endeavour to retard the conclusion of a general bargain with the undertakers. [Attested Copy.]
- Dec. 8. 31. Henry, Earl of Kent, and Thomas, Earl of Cleveland, Lord London. Lieutenants of co. Bedford, to the Council. Return account of the musters of the trained bands of that county. Complain of divers citizens, and some companies of London, who, having purchased lands in that county which were heretofore charged with horse, excuse themselves as not being resident, or as being charged with lands in other places. Inclose,

32. II. *Order of the Court of Delegates in the cause between Eric Turgessen and Company and John Delabarre and Edward Cock, respecting the Mary of Masterland. Dec. 9. 38. Ingleby. 39. Sir David Foulis to Sec. Dorchester. There being a number of felonies in his hands, to be tried at the next Quarter Sessions and Assizes, he cannot leave them at random, but will attend him about Twelfthtide, and will bring with him such papers as are in his possession, touching the matters which he wrote of.
- Dec. 9.
Lambeth. 40. Archbishop Abbot to Sec. Dorchester. Thinks certain particulars are very wholesome and helpfull to the government of the Church, and testify a gracious zeal in his Majesty. Wishes that in the 9th Article, there were put in "nor cut any wood nor timber," in which kind not long since, in the Northern parts, was a great transgression. The Bishop of Durham, notwithstanding the King's letter, has remained here all last summer, and, while he is in London, most unseemly lieth in an inn. If such things be not severely censured, all their labour will be in vain.
- [Dec. 9 ?] 41. Draft of the paper alluded to in the above letter, and which was ultimately published under the title of "Instructions to the Clergy." This draft contains a final clause in the handwriting partly of the King, and partly of Bishop Laud, which was substituted for another clause, apparently struck out at the same time. The suggestion of the Archbishop as to not cutting wood was adopted, and words of the same effect inserted, but not in the place which he indicated.
- [Dec. 9 ?] 42. Fair copy of the same paper, incorporating the alterations above mentioned with some others.
- [Dec. 9 ?] 43. Draft of two suggested headings to the above-mentioned paper.

London House. 44. Bishop Laud to Sec. Dorchester. Was with his Majesty on Tuesday, and, after speech about some businesses of the Church, it pleased his Majesty to think of revising the Injunctions of Queen Elizabeth, set forth in the beginning of her reign. At the Secretary's next address, he is to put his Majesty in mind of it.
- Dec. 10. 45. The same to Edmund Earl of Mulgrave. The relics of his fearful disease have stuck so close, that he has not been able to visit his Lordship. Finds the contributions for building the chapel at Hammersmith amount to 24*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*, besides materials and an East window. For the minister, the allowance written down comes to 28*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* Shall look that the chapel be built as other churches are, east and west, without tricks. Stipulations in reference to the rights of the mother church. Dr. Cluet, the vicar of Fulham consents. Some men under the title of "able and conformable

What the subscribers give is for their own ease, and not that they should dispose of the bishop’s office. Wonders much at one passage in the roll, where a man that gives nothing to the minister, prescribes to the bishop and the inhabitants that they shall choose two conformable ministers, and the bishop shall take one of them. [Draft.]
- Dec. 11. 46. The King to Charles Earl of Nottingham, vice-admiral in co. Sussex, Wm. Marlot, Henry Hobbs, Owen Jennings, Humphrey Gratwick, and Nicholas Bell. Commission out of the Admiralty, to search for wreck of the St. Peter of Horne, lately cast ashore near Arundel, and to deliver the same to James Janson Raet, and others, the owners. [Copy.]
- Dec. 11. 47. Order of Council that William Gamull, alderman of Chester, Whitehall. give personal attendance on the board, to answer a complaint against him of William Edwards and others, of breach of trust, in reference to procuring licences for export of calves’ skins. [Copy.]
- Dec. 11. 48. Order of Council referring a petition of, or against, one Whitehall. Higgenson, to Sir Edward Dering, Lieutenant of Dover Castle, and Sir Thomas Culpeper, who are to certify the facts and their opinion.
- Dec. 11. 49. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. To pre- Wallingford House. pare a bill for the disafforestation of the forest of Selwood, alias Frome Selwood, co. Somerset.
- Dec. 12. 50. Archbishop Harsnet, of York, to Sec. Dorchester. Has weighed the points set down in this draft, and returns them without alteration, conceiving them to be just, pious, and necessary for the public welfare of the church.
- Dec. 12. 51. Bishop Laud to Sec. Dorchester. It is true that some of Queen Elizabeth’s Injunctions reflect upon the beginning of her reign, but notwithstanding conceives that they are one of the best authorities for the proceedings of those times. He cannot find that King James made any particular ratification or revivor of them. In those times the best lawyers were of opinion that these injunctions were as ecclesiastical laws in force, though the Queen were dead: of what judgment the lawyers of the present time are he does not know.
- Dec. 13. 52. Sir Francis Cottington to Lord Treasurer Weston. Capt. Lisbon. Bardsey came with them in the ship. He has served the King on many occasions. Recommends him for employment.
- Dec. 14. 53. Sir Charles Cornwallis, Sir Wm. Denny, Sir John Hobart, and Sir Peter Gleane to the Council. Give account of the meeting at Bury St. Edmunds with the gentlemen of Suffolk, Essex, and Cambridgeshire respecting the disputes between the weavers of Norwich and the yarnmen. They state the case on the part of the former. In selling short lengths to the weavers the yarnmen take advantage of the spinners' fraud and their own neglect. Submit that it is not equal that upon the weavers there should be taken continual advantage, and that those who serve them with false yarns should escape without punishment.

54. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Sir John Stowell took that place in his way homewards, whither he is returned the most contented man in the world. Before Sir John came out of London he and Sir Robert Phillips were made friends by Lord Chief Baron Walter, to whom their differences were referred; but Sir Robert liked better to go by the Star Chamber way first, where he received such satisfaction that he likes the name of a Lord the worse ever since. His Majesty's gracious usage to Sir John much encourages his servants to persevere zealously to do him service.

56. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. The dilatory payments to the Ordinary at Chatham not only increase the King's charge needlessly, but are an inevitable cause of many a poor man's undoing. The bearer, Philip Pollard, cook of the Ann Royal, for want of money to supply his wants is forced to sell his place, and presents William Fisher, to whom he wants to put it off.

58. Petition of Capt. David Scott, with Henry Carleton and Thomas Jeffreys, his Lieutenant and Ensign, to the Council of War. They had petitioned the King, setting forth that on their return from Rochelle their ship was cast away on the coast of France, that they saved their lives by swimming, but were kept in prison in great want and misery from the 4th Nov. 1628, and were beholden for support to strangers, whom they had promised to repay. The King referred them to the Council of War. They pray payment of their entertainment to the present time. Underwritten,

- Dec. 16. 61. Sir John Bingley to Sec. Dorchester. Sends extract from a letter received from Dublin on delays in payment of 1,200*l.* ordered to be paid to him out of the revenues of Ireland. Solicits his aid therein.
- Dec. 16. 62. Minutes by Sec. Coke, apparently the result of an inquiry into the offices of the Great Wardrobe, and the Wardrobe of Robes, with resolutions setting forth new arrangements for their mode of keeping accounts.
- Dec. 17. 63. Examination of John Cooke, concerning an accusation against Capt. John Jones, of the St. George of Bristol, for taking away a French prize from the townsmen of St. Ives. [Much damaged by dump.]
- Dec. 18. 64. Order of Council on the petition of Henry Lane, of Norwich, and John Seaman of Yarmouth. Petitioners having long traded for Bordeaux, their agent, John Peronyne, had, contrary to their directions, laden wines for them in the Good Intention of Dieppe, which had arrived at Yarmouth. Although by a proclamation these wines cannot be imported until the 1st February next, the Council permits them in the mean time to be landed and placed in cellars at Lynn. [Copy.]
- Dec. 18. 65. Speech of Mr. Thomas Bewly at the Council Table, complaining in behalf of the French company of the importation of French wines into Rochester, contrary to the proclamation above mentioned.
- Dec. 18. 66. Mary Percy, Abbess of the English Convent at Brussels, to the Catholics of England, in reply to accusations against her, by J [ohn] P [ont], chiefly turning upon the right of the Convent to elect their own Confessors.
- Dec. 19. 67. The King to the Keeper of the Clink. Warrant to receive into his custody Edward More, and him to keep until the person addressed received the King's further pleasure.
- Dec. 19. 68. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Has given order for convoy of the alum ships. The Fourth Whelp has been victualled for six weeks instead of two months. She has 200 leagues to sail, and if she has to wait for the ships, or be detained by contrary winds, she may be distressed.

- Dec. 20. 70. Provisoers in favour of the Mother Church of Fulham, stipulated by Dr. Clnet, the vicar, on the erection of a chapel at Hammersmith, among them, "that all churchings in the chapel be at the altar, and in veils, for otherwise it may be a means to break off that laudable custom in Fulham, which is now at last settled, with much ado."
- Dec. 21. 71. The Lords of the Admiralty to Kenrick Edisbury. Instructions to pay off and discharge the seamen and officers of the Convertive, and the Fifth and Ninth Whelps, under the command of Sir Thomas Button, lately returned from the coast of Ireland, and now riding at Hung Road, near Bristol.
- Dec. 21. 72. Lord President Conway to Patrick Mall [Maule.] Prays him to make his excuses to the King for not waiting upon him, on account of indisposition of his crazy body. By advice of Dr. Mayerne he keeps within doors. [Draft.]
- [Dec. 21.] 73. Bishop Mountague of Chichester to Sec. Dorchester. Must never forget the memory of Sir Henry Savile, who was the first means of his advancement. In just recompense whereof, and of Dorchester's courtesies of 23 years' standing, he has now an occasion presented of expressing his grateful acknowledgment. On coming to his bishopric he took a view of its affairs, which he found miserably depopulated, especially by his two last predecessors; amongst the rest, all things but one leased for lives, and all burthens laid upon successors. Thereupon he began to pick holes in the leases to void them, and found many of them liable to forfeiture in not reserving the old rent, but less, and one was payable at two feasts only, instead of four. Hereupon he represented to his lessees their states in hazard, and offered them new leases, altering the conditions and increasing the rent. Some are come in. Mr. Bishop, who has the most unreasonable lease of all, after three-quarters of a year, refuses. The writer is resolved he shall never enjoy it. It is a park of 150 acres, with a fair house, formerly the bishop's residence. Will never make any lease of the bishopric to his wife or children, therefore offers the Sec. a lease of Henfield for 21 years, without fine, except he will voluntarily give what he pleases when he is in quiet possession.
- Dec. 21. 74. Sir Edward Bagshaw to Endymion Porter. Acquaints him with the payment of the bill of 555*l.* directed to Sir Matthew "Decenzie," and begs Porter's discharge.
- Dec. 22. 75. Sir Henry Marten to the Lords of the Admiralty. Reports on the disputes between Sir Thomas Walsingham and John Philpot respecting the Admiralty jurisdiction at Faversham. States various violent actions and threats of Philpot and his agents, but because they were done under a claim of right, submits that a commission should issue to inquire thereof.

Dec. 22. 76. Copy of the same.

Dec. 22. 77. Wm. Weld to Edward Lord Conway at Lisneygarvey. Is thankful to be employed in his service. Will send his watch to Sir John Conyers, who is at Delft seeking remedy for an ague. Burlamachi has come from thence, but Lord Vere comes not yet. Hopes he will get to like the country better, and wishes success to his gardening and his iron-works. Sir Francis Willoughby will inform him how vain that report was that the Lord President was among the committed lords. He keeps within doors from ill health. His chambers in Court are given to Lord Dorchester, and in lieu thereof he has those that were Lord Lindsey's. The diet is gone, but he has a compensation. Lady Carlisle is commanded from Court, some say upon a difference between her and the Countess of Holland. A ship has been three times at Dunkirk for the Spanish Ambassador, and is to go again on Thursday next. A P.S., written about the 10th Jan., 1630, intimates that the letter had been delayed in consequence of the non-departure of Sir Francis Willoughby. In the interim Don Carlos had arrived, and had had audience on Twelfth Day. The Lord President now goes out every day. Sir Thomas Conway is at Sir Roger Townshend's in Norfolk. Lady Smith has lost her little daughter, and to comfort herself comes to the Lord President's for a time.

Dec. 22. 78. Edmund Earl of Mulgrave to Bishop Laud. No contributor
Hammersmith. to the chapel at Hammersmith desires to derogate from the rights of the Mother Church, so that the Bishop may prescribe whatsoever liberty he shall please, in that respect. The ground shall in due time be signified to him, and the chapel shall stand east and west, without tricks, as was ever intended. For the maintenance of the minister, he prays the Bishop not to put back so good a work, under a doubt that the maintenance will fail. They who disburse their moneys for the erection will not, nor will those who come after them, deprive themselves of so great a good by withholding so small a matter. For the nomination of the minister, none of them distrust the Bishop, but who knows how he may be succeeded. Craves that some few of the inhabitants may present one or more to his approbation, who, giving him good testimony of life, doctrine, and conformableness, will, it is hoped, be as acceptable to the Bishop as if he had made the election. Suspects that some one has possessed the Bishop with an opinion that some of them aim to bring in some busy-headed or factious man; the earl has never observed the least disposition that way. He who subscribed the roll in that singular way has, by his own letters inclosed, plainly declared that he had no ill meaning therein. Inclosed,

79. Sir Wm. Russell to Endymion Porter. Is made believe by the best of their country chirurgeons that his sister Wintour's eldest boy has the king's evil, and that there is no cure, but from the King, for it. Yet before he presumes to bring him up, inquires when he may best trouble Porter with him, conceiving that there are only certain times prefixed when the King admits such unto his presence. Such mighty floods in those parts that he could get no carriage for Porter's cider.

80. The King to the Judges of the King's Bench. Certain articles were resolved on at the Council Board, and subscribed by all the Judges, amongst which it is provided, that if, upon a habeas corpus, any of the matters in those articles be the cause of the imprisonment, the party should be remanded. This rule having been contravened in the case of Francis Frogg, and he taken out of the custody of the Marshal of the Admiralty, it is the King's pleasure that those articles be kept, and Frogg be remanded to the Marshal's custody. 81. Francis Earl of Bedford, Lord Lieut. of co. Devon, to Lord President Conway. The case of Ambrose Roope, who has been brought up for default at musters, was referred to Sir Edward Seymour, Sir Edward Giles, and Sir Richard Reynell. In sending for him so long and chargeable a journey, there has therefore been some slip or mistake. Hopes he will be dismissed with favour by the Board.

82. Sir Thomas Button to Sec. Dorchester. Will perform their directions for careful laying up the Convertive and Fifth Whelp, and dispatching the Ninth Whelp to Ireland. In the spring, fears the sea will be full of pirates. If the Sec's cloak is his own, or the writer's house that he dwells in is his, so sure is that ship a lawful prize, if her being a Dunkirker may make her so. Begg him to send for Francis Morice and Mr. Reynolds, the master gunner of England, unto whom he has 400*l.* land a year forfeited for 1,200*l.*, and to pray them to give him longer time. If this ship be not adjudged prize, solicits the king to give him the making of a Baronet. Is unwell, and not able, therefore, to attend upon him.

Dec. 23.

83. Bishop Mountague of Chichester to Endymion Porter. Has a lease loose in the hinges worth 120*l.* per an. ultra the rent. Offers Porter a grant of it, if he will try its validity. States the objections. 1. Sir Edward Coke says that where rent is payable at four terms, it voids the lease if it be made payable at two terms. The lease he speaks of is such. 2. It has no certain commencement, being

Dec. 24. 84. Petition of Capt. Adrian Anthony and Company to the Lords of the Admiralty. In the war with France petitioners took a ship named the Henry and with concurrence of Mons. de Besna sold the goods therein at an appraisement. The ship and goods being ordered to be returned to de Besna he refuses to receive the amount of the appraisement in lieu of the goods. Pray that he may be ordered to do so. Annexed, Dec. 24. 85. Sir Thomas Button to Nicholas. Contends that the ship sent into Bristol should be adjudged prize. Necessity for maintaining a guard on the coast of Ireland and his own claims to the command. Could not have come sooner from Ireland had it been for the saving of the kingdom. In a P.S. acknowledges receipt of order to discharge the Convertive and the Fifth Whelp, but for the Ninth Whelp there can be nothing done till money be sent down.

Dec. 24. 86. Order of the Court of Exchequer in Scotland for entering on Holyrood House the records of that Court a protestation of John Earl of Mar, Treasurer of Scotland, that a royal order for payment of 5,000*l.* to George Lord Gordon for the sheriffships of Inverness and Aberdeen, should not prejudice the treasurer in reference to payments for preparations against his Majesty's incoming to that kingdom.

[Dec. 24?] 87. Robt. Long to Endymion Porter. Sends draft of an agreement between them. Would depend on his virtue and worth could he be assured of his life.

Dec. 26. 88. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. Sends him copy of a warrant from the King to the Lord Treasurer, for renewal of the Commission of Grace, with such instructions as in the Commission of the third year. The Commission is to be followed by Robert Tipper, the King's servant, as in former times, and the King's part of the compositions is to be received by the Earl of Carlisle towards debts of 28,000*l.* and 14,000*l.* which the King owes him. The Attorney General is to prepare the Commission accordingly.

90. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Sends his lieutenant, Capt. Lydiard, to beg warrants for William Wade, and John Jacob, for imputing to the writer a base action which Capt. Lydiard will explain. Besecches them also to give him leave to follow the settling of some private affairs explained in an inclosed letter from Sir Wm. Ryves, Attorney General in Ireland. Prays that his wages from the king may be paid, and that anything attempted to his prejudice by Capt. Lee, may be stayed until his coming up. [The letter inclosed is among the Irish papers, under its date, 1629, Nov. 8. It was written at the request of Lady Christian Mervyn, Sir Henry's wife, to apprise him that in consequence of failure in passing the patent and paying the fines for certain lands in Ireland, and also because the articles enjoined on the Earl of Castlehaven, his brother, had not been performed, Sir Henry's lands were all forfeited to the Crown, and that Capt. John Lee, brother of Sir Daniel Lee, who held lands under Sir Henry, was going for England to procure a separate grant from the King.]

91. The same to the same. Has attended Don Carlos at Dunkirk with whom he is come to anchor in the Downs, the wind blowing so that he could not land him at Dover or Margate. Has sent to get, if he can, some coaches in the country to accommodate him to Canterbury. His goods and horses, the Minniken wafts to London. Has taken from the Dunkirks a French bark, which they took yesterday morning, laden with chestnuts, prunes, raisins, and some provision, as they say, for the Queen's Majesty.

Dec. 28.

92. Lord President Conway to Sir George Hume. Did not mean to have moved him to such a kind of reply, nor intend any disadvantageous comparison. That which induced him to hearken to the first motion of treaty with Sir George, was the person and virtue of Sir George's father, well known and esteemed in that court. Has ever conceived honour to be, active virtue employed in service, and knowledge taken of it by the King or State, and mark [?] set upon it accordingly. Never had other measure for the portion, but according to the state offered, and his own ability, and if they should conclude, would give all the powers of his credit for the advantage of the beloved, which he intended as a work of freedom, but when it is pressed as an article, it is no more freedom. This is not a time to ask, nor a time for the King to give. Will perform his promise touching portion, when Sir George's father shall perform his assurances. Has desired opinion of counsel on his last articles. When he receives it will answer his father, and will acquaint Sir George with it. [Draft.]

Dec. 28. The Tower. 94. Sir Allen Apsley to Sec. Dorchester. The Lord Keeper having declined to fix the great seal to Apsley's grant of the reversion of the office of Custos Brevium of the Common Pleas, unless the king directed him, the king was twice applied to by the Lord Keeper, and his answer was, both times, "Not yet." If the King has any end therein for his own benefit, if he would let Apsley know it, he doubts not to advance it more than any that proposeth or opposeth the same. Has waited twelve months for answer; begs him to procure one as soon as may be.
- Dec. 28. London House. 95. Bishop Laud to Sec. Coke. Received letters lately from Dr. Dee, the ambassador's chaplain in France, who inclosed three others from an English gentleman there imprisoned. Why the doctor sent these letters the Bishop does not know. The gentleman is altogether unknown to him. Sends them to the Sec., partly because he is named in them, and there are some things in them which a Secretary of State may make use of. Incloses,
95. I. John Fincham to Dr. Dee and Mr. Neve. His afflictions most cruel and unjust. If the Ambassador would request his liberty it would be granted. Was sent into France by a person of state and authority in England for the King's service. Was assured of his safety by the Queen mother, as Cardinal Berulle and Count de Tillieres informed him. Ought to have been set at liberty on the peace. He is well known to the Archbishop of Canterbury and Sec. Coke. If he remains in that hell upon earth after their departure, intreats them to beg the Archbishop and Secretary to procure his liberty, and advise his wife, who may be heard of at his brother's, in Paul's Churchyard, at the sign of the Castle, a woollen draper, or at his sister Gravenor's, in Lombard Street, at the Three Swans, her husband being a mercer. Bas Bastille, 1629, Dec. 15. P.S.—Has neither woollen, linen, nor money, if he had he would not be so importunate.
95. II. The same to [Dr. Dee.] Beseeches him to solicit the Ambassador to move the King of France or Cardinal Richelieu for his liberty. Has written several letters to the Ambassador, and sent into England by Sir Thomas Dishington and Mons. le Roque, his fellow prisoners. He and his man are almost naked, and what is worse, without any relief or hope thereof, and are ready to starve with cold. 1629, Dec. 18.
95. III. The same to his wife and children. Admires at their silence during his imprisonment of nineteen months. All other English, Scotch, and Dutch are set at liberty by reason of the peace. Protests his innocence. He is punished upon the base informations of certain traitorous and malicious English priests and Jesuits. Conjures them to petition the King and Queen of England, for whose cause he suffers, and to intreat the Bishop of Chalcedon, Mr. Willson and Mr. Muskett, to have pity on him. Did the King of England know how needful his liberty was for his service, he should not remain there one month, and so she may tell the King, but is not to shew that letter to any creature, or impart that clause to any priest or Roman Catholic as she loves him or his liberty. 1629, Dec. 21.

Dec. 29. 96. Mayor of Southampton to Sec. Dorchester. Has conferred Southampton. with various persons from St. Malo, but cannot learn that there are any preparations at sea in those parts more than ordinary. Will be careful of the speedy convoy of his letter to Sir John Peyton, governor, or deputy, of Jersey.

Dec. 29. 97. Bishop Laud to Edmund Earl of Mulgrave. Advises him to have a consultation of two physicians. Since the 23rd the Bishop has had a relapse. The Earl's letters have given him abundant satisfaction as to the plot of ground, the manner of building, and the reservations for the mother church. Is not satisfied on the other points. As to the maintenance, he has taken advice as to the ecclesiastical law, and finds there must be a perpetuity. It would be a shame for successors to deprive themselves, but how many do we daily see do those things which impudence itself would be ashamed of, and as the education of this age is, he cannot conceive how the next should be better. But he will deliberate further, and will yield to the judgment of persons he shall name, and the Earl shall like. For the maintenance [appointment] of the minister, shall never give way to a popular nomination. Forgot to express in his last letter that the parsonage of Fulham is in the gift of the Bishop, upon which depends the vicarage, of which this chapel must be a member. No township shall upon any pretence, make him give away the least hair of the inheritance of his bishopric. Knows Mr. Aldworth, and he is a little kin to the Bishop; therefore took his subscription to the roll so much the worse; but he shall be no hindrance, so the business may be rectified. Hopes ere long to be able to take the air for an hour at Fulham, and will return by Hammersmith, and see the Earl. [Copy.]

[Dec. 30 ?] 98. Henry Earl of Holland to Sec. Dorchester. They are all rejoiced at his good news, and it came most happily to one of their society who was much afflicted before with a loss of 5*l.* at bowls. He told them that the news consoled him, protesting that he did not till then find that anything of the public could have been so considerable to him as to have countervailed his particular loss. Dorchester would joy to see the admiration and contentment the ambassador receives at his entertainment, and he may well do so.

Dec. 30. 99. Dr. Samuel Brooke to the same. It was his course to Trinity College, wait at Court this January, but has made an exchange with a friend, Cambridge. having many businesses in that troublesome place, and having been much subject to the stone. Prays the Sec. to excuse him to the King, if he observe his absence. His Majesty much notes the order and service of his chaplains, which makes the writer afraid of his displeasure. Another thing is, if the King be not very forward to take their offer of comedies, that the Sec. will spare them that way this year, he and those whom he had set on being much troubled to see Shrovetide fall so soon. It would be hard to provide for the acting, and other preparations.

100. Archbishop Abbot to Bishop Laud. Sends copy of Instructions received from the King for the better government of the Church and Churchmen, that he should put in execution those things which pertain to his own person, and do the like to the clergy committed to his care. He is to report thereon at the end of Michaelmas Term, and let the Archbishop understand from time to time whether there be due obedience to these commands. Incloses,

100. i. The King to the Archbishop of Canterbury. Instructions concerning certain orders to be observed and put in execution by the several Bishops in his province. Bishop Laud, in his indorsement of the preceding letter, describes these instructions as being "about the Bishop's residence, and the lecturers, &c." The copy professes that the original was signed at the head by the King, and at the close by Sec. Dorchester. [Copy.]

[Dec. 30.] 101. Another copy of the Instructions above mentioned, but without the signatures of the King and Sec. Dorchester.

[Dec. 30.] 102. Another copy of the same, without heading or signature but intended for the Archbishop of York.

[Dec. 30 ?] 103. Instructions for the clergy in the diocese of Lincoln, 1629; being a modification of the Instructions mentioned in the preceding articles. It contains those items which affect the Bishop in relation to his clergy, without those which affect himself individually.

The King had referred the cause between the Dean and Chapter of Christchurch and the students there to the Lord Keeper, Lord Privy Seal, Lord Steward, the Earls of Dorset and Holland, the Bishop of London, and the Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench. The Bishop of London not being certain of his presence by reason of indisposition of body, petitioners pray that two or three Bishops more may be joined with the referees, and that order be given that the royal charters of the Cathedral may not be argued by Council.

Dec. 109. William Earl of Northampton to the Council. Certificate concerning a petition of John Williams, alias John ap William, ap Richards, ap David, against Sir Thomas Williams, referred to the Earl by the Council. He finds the petitioner's complaints false and clamorous. Directs Sir Thomas to allow him 3*l.* per annum for three lives, if the petitioner yields up certain lands, and pays certain arrears. The petitioner is also to acknowledge his offence, and ask forgiveness in the parish church.

[Dec.] 110. Petition of William Richardson the younger, to the Lords of the Admiralty. His petition to be restored to his place of salt-petre work in divers counties not having taken effect by reason of articles exhibited against him by John Giffard, who by sinister means has supplanted him, he prays that they would make further trial of him.

Dec. 111. Paper indorsed by Sec. Dorchester, "Sir Ralph Freeman's memorial touching the advowson of one of the elected Bishop of Rochester's livings." It is a request that the next presentation of the living of Tilehurst, for which Bishop Bowle, of Rochester, was a suitor, that he might continue to hold the same in commendam, might be granted to George Ashton, kinsman to Sir Peter Vanlore, the patron.

Regrets the war with Spain, enlarges on the enmity of the Hollanders, and urges at great length the revival of the ancient league between England and Burgundy.

12. Attorney General Heath to the King. Reports on the petition of the Widow of William Kennaday, deceased. William Kennaday, with the money of the petitioner, bought leases at Newington in Surrey, which he left to her by will, and died. The Attorney General certified the facts.

13. Declaration or petition of Capt. John Mason, treasurer of the army, to the same. In the years 1610 and 1611 was employed by the late King with two ships of war and two pinnaces, conjointly with Andrew Knox, then Bishop of the Isles, in subduing the rebellious Redshanks in the Hebrides and settling the laws of Scotland there, which took effect. In payment the late King granted the petitioner the King's assize-herring due from all fishers on those coasts, but that grant was relinquished in 1611 on the marriage of the Queen of Bohemia, and the petitioner never since received one penny. Annexed,

Pray for repair of their fortifications and other measures of protection.

17. Petition of David Ramsay and Richard Hunt, esquires, and Thos. Forster and Anthony Etherington, gentlemen, to the same. By the statutes of the kingdom usury is forbidden, but 10 per cent. for some time past, and 8 per cent. since Midsummer 1625, is permitted as a thing of policy. Covetous persons taking advantage of that permission employ their estates in lending money upon usury,

In answer the King signified his pleasure to give the matters audience in his own person. Prays that a time for such bearing may be prefixed.

22. Petition of Sir Henry Marten, Dean of the Arches, to the same. On complaint of the clergy and laity of the diocese of Oxford, against the Bishop of Durham, for money taken by him when Bishop of Oxford, under colour of an episcopal visitation where none was executed or intended, it seemed necessary to the Archbishop of Canterbury that a course should be followed in the Court of Arches to procure restitution. Three terms having passed without any satisfaction, petitioner prays the King to signify his pleasure whether the cause in the Arches may not proceed.

29. Petition of the King's tenants, inhabitants near the Tower of London, to the same. Having been disturbed in their estates by William Bold, late Gentleman Porter, on whose resignation Mr. Cary had now been appointed, they pray that the question in dispute may be referred to the Council for final determination.

34. Draft, in the hand writing of Sec. Coke, of an Order of Council against resort to persons restrained by his Majesty's commandment. The order is founded on the great offence which his Majesty had taken, at the confident and frequent resort of men of all sorts to those under restraint by commandment from himself, for causes not expressed, but which are to be presumed important and just. Persons visiting them in future, without licence, were to be proceeded against as accessories to the fact for which the persons visited were under restraint.

35. Lords of the Admiralty to Sir Henry Marten. He is to cause process to be issued directed to every Vice-Admiral, commanding them to bring in exact accounts of the profits of their offices since the death of the Duke of Buckingham. John Harrison with moneys to the amount of 37*l.*, for which a security was given by him on certain household goods. On petitioner's enforcing his security, Capt. Harrison procured him to appear before the Council. Prays that he may be discharged, and keep the goods, or have his money.

42. Petition of Humphrey Slaney and Wm. Clobery to the same. Sir Heneage Finch and Sir John Finch have endeavoured to effect an accommodation between the petitioners and the Guinea company, but in vain, in consequence of the opposition of that company, and especially of Nicholas Crispe, who seeks the overthrow of petitioners by enhancing the price of red wood, which he has engrossed into his own hands. Pray relief.

43. Petition of Walter Allewyn of Leyden to the same. When the Hope was taken into Dover, petitioner had therein 300 French crowns and 200 crowns in ryals, which were taken away by Sir John Hippisley, then Lieutenant of Dover Castle. 57. The same to the same. Has had acquaintance with several persons of that faction, who designed to seize the King and to take him across the sea, so to exempt the kingdom from the subsidies, and authority which his Majesty assumes without the consent of parliament.

58. Walter Montagu to Sec. Dorchester. The King's pleasure is that the Sec. should command any of his Majesty's ships on the coast to conduct the Marquis of Longemeau [?] over into Holland.

59. Bishop Davenant of Salisbury to the same. When his Majesty's pleasure was signified touching the putting of Tomkins into possession, and the order was brought him by Dr. Osbern, his answer was that he would no way oppose the same. The widow of the late Master of the Choristers, being mother to Holmes, who stands elected by the Bishop and three of the Canons, as Tomkins does by the Dean and three other, is loth to yield possession to the prejudice of her son, (the cause depending in the Arches undecided), but the Bishop will, without disturbance, give way to the Dean in ordering anything he is directed, saving the liberty of a legal trial hereafter.

60. Colonel Thos. Morton to the same. Sir Robert Morton the writer's brother, relinquished to him a company in the Low Countries. On the King's promise to intercede with the States he entered the King's service and has continued therein since the beginning of the wars. On the death of his brother, Secretary Morton, he received many gracious expressions from his Majesty.

61. Endymion Porter to the same. The King directs that Mr. Delamain should have the sole printing of the book and making of the instrument which he delivered to his Majesty. The Secretary is to give order to the seals.

Pray that the St. Denis alias the Device of Olona, taken by the petitioners during the late war between England and France, and condemned and divided under sentence of the Court of Admiralty, may not be inserted in the Treaty of Restitution between the French and English.

64. Remonstrance of George Rookes, for himself and three other merchants, interested in the James and the Bride, taken by French men-of-war since the conclusion of Peace, addressed to Sec. Dorchester. The reason alleged for this capture was that Capt. Kirke and other Canada merchants had taken goods from Capt. De Cawne and Company, whereupon 3,000*l.* worth of the goods of the remonstrants had been sold in France and the money paid to De Cawne. The remonstrants suggest that Kirke should be ordered to pay them the 3,000*l.*, and that letters should be written to the French King and Cardinal for delivery of the remainder of their goods and the ships.

70. Lettice Countess of Leicester to her grandson James Earl of Carlisle. Perceiving that he has no great use of the house he has so long held of her, she requests him to leave it and deliver up his leases, that she may now dispose of it. Requests him also to pay the two years' rent behind that she may have it repaired. Prays God to bless him and her noble daughter.

71. Henry Regnolds [to the same ?] Not only what he can do, but even what he can write to his Lordship, proves his enemy. Intreated his kinsman to re-deliver his Lordship's bond whether he paid the money or no, thus desiring to show that he more relied on his nobleness than on any legal obligation.

Portsmouth. masters of French barks from Normandy, finds that in those parts there are no ships of war in readiness, but the master and owner of that neighbourhood, not less than 200 ships are preparing, but knows not what store of land soldiers are to be put aboard or how many months' victuals.

- Jan. 1. 2. Estimate of the ordinary charge of the navy, being reduced to forty ships, besides two old ships moored to the barricado [at the hands of the officers in July 1620, and what were omitted in the survey then taken.

- Jan. 2. 4. Petition of Thomas Romney to the Lords of the Admiralty.
Petitioner's father, John Romney, having been accidentally killed on board the Adventure, petitioner being competent, as appears by certificate, prays to be appointed in his father's stead.
- Jan. 2. 5. Bishop Laud of London to Sec. Dorchester. His second letter took off the malignity of the contents of the first, but not the Bishop's care to prevent the spreading of the libels. Has sent to all that he can use to inform him of them. For the second business, prays God to perfect this great mercy begun. The thanksgiving cannot be done to-morrow. There must be a prayer made. The Archbishop Whitehall. Holland. Has received two of his letters, the first very Ambassador like, without date. Knows not whether the business in the Star Chamber concerning the Lords will hold this next term. Woolwich. Romney, and certifies his competency to succeed his father.

Jan. 3. 11. Answers of James Bowle [Bold] of London, Stationer, to articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. In his absence 40 copies of the book articulate were left at his house with his maid servant by a porter, one half whereof before his coming home were sent away to some chapmen in the country. Finding the book to be scandalous, he would not suffer any more of them to be vented, but brought the residue into this court. Protests that he neither knows nor has heard who was the author or printer.

Jan. 4. 12. Henry Earl of Manchester and Oliver Earl of Bolingbroke, Lord Lieutenants of co. Huntingdon, to the Council. Return Certificate of musters in that county. Inclose, 12. I. Certificate above mentioned. Valentine Wauton was Captain of one of the Companies of Foot. Totals: corselets, 160; muskets, 240; lances, 20; light horse, 30.

Jan. 4? 13. Affidavit of Michael Meysey, one of his Majesty's messengers. On the 16th Oct. 1628, Wm. Taylor, servant to Mr. Wright, and John Luntlow and Henry Gregg, servants to Mr. Hunt, partner with Wright, by command of Wright, broke open one of his Majesty's locks and entered a warehouse and rolled away certain barrels of currants. Deponent arrested them all, but Taylor and Luntlow broke away: Gregg remains in custody. [Copy.]

The Marshalsea. deposition respecting a conspiracy in which the chief undertaker is John Allain, an Englishman and a Jesuit. Fr.

Jan. 5. 18. Bishop Laud to Sec. Dorchester. Has been prevented giving London House. an answer about the Injunctions partly by his infirmity, which will not give him leave to be busy with his books, and partly because he finds there are divers other canons and constitutions made in the Queen's time which must be taken into consideration. Concerning the two libellous writings, finds that they are not ready to come over as yet. Finds great defects for want of warrant, which he will acquaint him with. By the King's command, the Vicarage of Broad-Hempston, co. Devon, is to be granted to Nathaniel Delaune, M.A., in recompense of his father, Peter Delaune, having left a benefice of greater value to his Majesty's disposal.

Jan. 5. 19. Mayor of Plymouth to the same. The Masters of two barks Plymouth. which came from St. Malo at the end of December did not perceive any warlike preparations there, but sends examination of Arthur Ley, lately from Bilboa, who was by contrary winds put into Morbien, on the west coast of Brittany. Inclosed, 19. i. Examination of Arthur Ley above mentioned. At Bilboa saw 300 chaloupes, built about a year since, and now hauled up into a creek some four miles from the town. At Morbien saw six sail of the French King's ships, all ready, save that they had not their masts but expected them daily from Holland. Heard there were other ships at other places on that coast. 1630, Jan. 5.

Jan. 5. 20. Sir Henry Marten to Nicholas. Recommends Thomas Squire for Registrar of the Admiral's Court in the North, in place of Joseph Fish, deceased. The Archbishop of York has recommended Squire for Registrar of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for that province.

Jan. 5. 21. Examination of Richard Wright, of Southwark, grocer, taken by Attorney General Heath. In September, 1628, bought five tons of currants of Nicholas Leate, being in a warehouse in Dice Quay. About a month afterwards being denied his currants by Michael Meysey, he caused the same to be taken away. Did not know that the duties to the King were not paid, which concerned the merchant and not him.

Jan. 5. 22. Similar examination of Felix Hunt, partner of the above-named Richard Wright. Has brought actions against Humfrey and Ward in reference to this transaction. When the Council shall have heard the case, will submit to their pleasure. [Written on the same sheet of paper as the preceding article.]

Jan. 7.

25. Sir Robert Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Does not forget the charge he received from the King concerning the business of the knights, the commission for fees, the information in the Star Chamber against the Lords, and the misdemeanours of Mr. Rolls, the merchant, in Parliament. Cannot be fully ready till Saturday. Sends his second petition concerning the ship, and prays him to speed it as a fair occasion to do the King service.

Jan. 7.
Bristol.

26. Sir Thos. Button to Nicholas. Must impute it to his unhappiness that the business of the prize has continued so long unresolved. States reasons for its condemnation and begs him to solicit Dr. Rives, the King's Advocate, to give it an end some way or other. Commends his best love to Jack Pennington.

Jan. 9. Carleton, near Penrith. 29. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. Wrote last week with a letter inclosed to the Earl of Northampton, concerning his stewardship in that county held by Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who being much above fourscore, was reported to be dangerously sick, and the packet coming to Penrith from Sir George Dalston to Lord Stanhope, post-master, increased his opinion of the truth thereof. He is now recovered, therefore apologizes for troubling him.
- Jan. 9. Littlecote. 30. Thos. Grove to Endymion Porter. Have been very merry. Porter's health has made the writer's pate many times ring noon before the bell rang to prayers. Mr. Popham has a desire to be sworn a gentleman of the privy chamber. Conceives that she is not undervalued, and by means of her much play the estate her husband left her not increased. For her favour and person knows not what improvement time has made since he saw her, but an oath he once took to protect the beauty as well as the cause of fair ladies puts him to silence. Incloses,

Her plate, linen, and other household stuff cannot be less worth than 1,000*l.* to 1,500*l.* Her age is 42 or 43; her personage not to be disliked of, kind, affable, and provident, and worth the having if she have not got too much out of her son's estate, for which she may be called to an account. 1630, Jan. 9. Incloses,*
31. i. 1. *Thomas Crosse to Richard Warre. Langford Lester belongs to the heir. She has in Warwick and Leicestershire 300*l.* a-year in jointure, besides Bradford, Moore, Halswey, and Mr. Smith's land. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Isle of Ely, Huntingdon, Northampton and Lincoln, on the south side of Gleane. These are renewed and altered propositions. The previous course of the negotiation is here set forth and an explanation given of the opposition raised against Sir Anthony Thomas, by Sir Thomas Crooke, and William Burrell. [Printed.]
- [Jan. 12.] 35. Petition of Edward Powell to the Lords of the Admiralty. The Dolphin of Shoreham being set out with letters of marque, the captain thereof turned pirate and robbed petitioner of 600*l.* out of a small bark between Wales and Ireland. The Dolphin coming into Cowes was seized and condemned to his Majesty and Lord President Conway, the Vice Admiral. Petitioner besought the King to bestow upon him his part thereof, which request was referred to the Lords of the Admiralty. - Jan. 14. 39. Draft of the preceding reference in Nicholas's handwriting.

Was informed by some masters of ships lately arrived from Bordeaux and thereabouts, of ten ships called Dragon's Whelps, which lie on the French coast, and also of six great ships well near ready to be launched, but for what service they are bound they cannot conceive.

Norwich. on an interview, which having received, with the noble eunuch in the Acts he went on his way rejoicing, and the rather that he found that the true original of the late passage at Yarmouth was merely a miscarriage in some inferior instrument. His offer to further the writer's advancement was God like, for God will be good without desert. To speak in the sacred style, begs to find grace in his sight.
- Jan. 15. 46. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Council. Has received from The Downs. Mr. Burlamachi their commands to waft ordnance from Lewes to Holland. Purposes to send away the Whelp to-morrow accordingly. Begs them to hasten the supply of her victuals.
- Jan. 15. 47. The same to Nicholas. This morning about three received
The Downs. the welcome warrant of his liberty. Hopes one day to give him some testimony of a respectful, honest gratitude, quod jam Fata negant. Has appointed the Whelp to convoy the two barks of Ordnance to the Low Countries. Yesterday, three leagues off Calais, the Whelp met seven sail of Dunkirkers. She gave them a broadside, whereupon they presently run her out of sight. She is so foul she is not fit for service.
- Jan. 15. 48. Balthazar Gerbier to [Lord Treasurer Weston]. A sudden fever prevents his waiting on the Lord Treasurer at Roehampton. Has sent the carpenters to measure their work. Has been with the maker of the vases for flowers. If not taken they will be sent to More Park. Advises him to take four of the largest for the four corners, and the rest of the smallest size like those which the Queen has at St. James's. Le Sueur will go to Roehampton to settle a place for CAROLUS MAGNUS. An arrangement suggested for the garden, which would make the King's statue appear to the best advantage. The paintings for the chapel advance.

Jan. 15.

49. Answers of Michael Sparke, of London, stationer, to the articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. When he was in the country, 41 of the books articulate were left with his servants, and were sent to divers of his chapmen in Oxford and Salisbury, and other parts. On his return received a note to place "Christ's Confession and Complaint" foremost, whereupon, perusing the book, he found it dangerous, and, as he believes, unlicensed, and thereupon brought the residue of the same into the Registry of this Court. Does not know the author of the book, nor can tell what to believe who is the printer or author.

Jan. 16.
Westminster.

51. Petition of Isaac Montaigne, Executor of George Montaigne, late Archbishop of York, to the King. The Bishop of Lincoln has sued petitioner for dilapidations of Nettleham House, belonging to that see. 51. I. Reference to the Bishops of Winchester and Lincoln, who are to certify what they think convenient. Whitehall, 1630, Jan. 16.

51. II. Report of Bishops Neile of Winchester, and Williams of Lincoln to the King. The house at Nettleham is altogether unnecessary and useless for that see. It will be more profitable to the Bishops that it be demolished.

Jan. 16.

52. Petition of Thos. Caldwell, the King's servant, to the same. There is due to the King a rent charge of 22l. 10s. per annum, payable from the Marshal of the King's Bench, which has been detained for many years. Prays for a grant thereof for 31 years. [Copy.] Underwritten, loss of his service, he may have the share of the same prize which will fall to the Admiralty. Underwritten,

54. Balthazar Gerbier to [Lord Treasurer Weston.] Incloses form of agreement brought to him by Le Sueur, respecting the statue of the King to be executed for Roehampton. Number of flower vases which will be necessary, 30 at 5s. a piece, and four at 10s. P.S. Walter Montagu is to return immediately. The Chevalier du Jarre has heard it in a letter from Montagu himself. Inclosed, 54. i. Instructions for the scrivener for an agreement between the Lord Treasurer and Hubert le Sueur, for casting a horse in brass with the figure of his Majesty. In making his model Le Sueur was to take the advice of the King's riders of great horses for the shape and action both of the horse and his Majesty's figure on the same. For the complete work Le Sueur was to be paid 600l. in various sums during the prosecution of the work. It was to be completed in 18 months.

Jan. 16.
London.

55. Archbishop Harsnet of York to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador to Holland. The other virtues of their noble, dear lord, the Earl of Bedford, appear to the King so clear and spotless, as his Highness is likely to pass over this petty aberration, but there is likely to be a public proceeding with the rest in the Star Chamber. The gallant ancient composition of our glorious state is much declined, and is like a body without blood and sinews. How the vital spirit should be restored, hic labor, hoc opus est. We are consumed, we do consume, and we have but one true Æsculapius (God bless him) that takes care of the common. For their gracious Josiah's sake, hopes God will relieve them. Begs him to enforce patience upon their most noble Lord Marshal. His great and noble spirit is not well weightied with the plummetts of ancient magnanimity, which was ever more glorious in suffering than in doing. He must be called upon to expect, expect, and expect, and do everything rather than fall upon suddenness or abruptness. There is no medium. He must either be patient, vel actum est: he is undone. Thanks for the kind allowance of the use of his chamber.

Jan. 16.

56. Verdict of John Calverley and his fellows taken at a General Session of Sewers held at Boston. They have no surrounded grounds, but such as are sufficiently drained, and in convenient time made fit pasture for cattle. They are so far from deriving damage by the surrounding with waters, that in divers years they have been constrained to be at great charge in bringing in waters for the preservation of their cattle into their lowest grounds. English merchant of a very civil and beloved carriage, the other an Irish gentleman, and neither of any dangerous spirit.

Brussels. "one of your order," a testimony of the writer's marriage with Elizabeth Downes, which Preston made on 13th Sept. 1617, in the Clink. The writer sought no testimony at the time, because Preston said that some noblemen were bound that he should not exercise the function of a priest, and the writer was desirous to have the marriage kept secret, fearing the King, whose physician he then was, should get notice that he was married by a priest. His wife is dead and has left one child, a daughter.

Received letter from Mr. Michelson Much Leighs. requesting the writer, in the name of their diocesan, to preach in Chelmsford Church, for re-establishing the Lecture there. Has refused to do so. He and others are very willing to hold up that Lecture, but thus to be thrust upon the people, without any desires on their part, they are unwilling, as foreseeing the disrespect which will follow, and the small success of their preaching to a people nothing desiring it. So they found it in former times, and must much more expect it, when they succeed their much-affected single lecturer.

Feb. 14. 1. Sir Francis Seymour to Sec. Coke. The saltpetremen care not in whose houses they dig, threatening men that by their commission they may dig in any man's house, in any room, and at any time, which will prove a great grievance to the country. In the town where the writer lives they have digged up some malting rooms, and threaten to dig more. They dig up the entries and halls of divers men. If any oppose them they break up men's houses, and dig by force. They make men carry their saltpetre at a groat a mile, and take their carriages in sowing time and harvest, with many other oppressions. Hopes some course may be taken that these men may not strain their commission beyond what the Lords of the Council have enjoined. The saltpetreman's name for Wilts is Hellyer.

- Feb. 16. 10. Sir Thos. Button to Sec. Dorchester. His letter of the 14th January, with Luke Fox's petition, came to hand the 14th inst. Has looked into his journal and papers, which he thought would never have been made use of, and proceeds to answer his Majesty's two questions respecting the north-west passage. His opinion is now as it ever hath been since his return thence, that being undertaken in a fitting way and a due season, he makes as full account of the feasibility of it as of any channel best known to us in those northern parts. When he waits on his Highness, will do his best to further it, and prevent the evils that pretending men of little experience may suddenly bring upon it. Thrice since he was there it has been attempted, and little or no advancement given to the business. To the question whether the discovery may prove of such benefit as is pretended, he answers that the received opinion of former ages, as well as of modern times, makes good that point. Were his years suitable, or his purse, he should be loath any man living should adventure it sooner, or more towards it, than himself. What he suffered by his wintering satisfies all reasonable men that either the passage will be found, or be not to be hoped for, the first year. From the west part of Nottingham's Island the adventurer should direct his course according to the set of the tide which he will find there. That is the way, and the only way, to find the passage, in which he as confidently believes as that there is a passage between Calais and Dover, or Holyhead and Ireland.
- Feb. 16. 11. The same to the same. In his other letter has given a full account of what he required touching the north-west passage. Reminds him of a former patent granted by King James, and thinks it would not be amiss to talk with Sir John Wolstenholme or Sir Dudley Digges, who were chief under Prince Henry for managing the business. Begs leave to deplore to the Sec. the present condition of the writer's miserable estate, after his service in the north-west, the West Indies, and all other journeys and voyages for 37 years past. For five years he has received neither pension nor pay, and yet has continued in perpetual attendance and employment, so much to his charges that he has been driven to borrow, and has mortgaged and forfeited near 500*l.* lands per annum. All his endeavours to procure anything on account have failed, even to the grant of the moiety of the Dunkirk ship he

- Feb. 17. 15. Petition of Wm. Gamull and others, merchants of Chester, to the Council. By an order of this board dated 5th Dec., 1627, it was ordered that the Company of Merchants of Chester should permit William Edwards, merchant there, to have a reasonable proportion and part adventure with the merchants of that City in every ship freighted by them. Petitioners conceive that the meaning of their Lordships was otherwise than the same is entered, it being not agreeable to the course of trading that any merchant should be forced to take a partner against his own liking. Pray them to explain their said order.
- Feb. 17. 16. Warrant of the Lords of the Admiralty. The King having given Capt. Richard Plumleigh two sums of 150*l.* and 90*l.* formerly imprested to him, warrant is to be given to the Treasurer of the Navy to take off those sums from his entertainment, and to give him bills for the same, as a reward from his Majesty. [Copy.]

John St. John avows that name, but a paper in Italian calls him, if the writer errs not, John Evered. Alexander Ramsay, the pretended servant of Underhill, is now Sir Ferdinando Audeley. In the same company came Adriano Calisto, who has surveyed England, Scotland, and Ireland.

Feb. 20. 39. Anonymous letter to Bishop Laud, addressed by mistake as The Temple. John not William. The world concludes that his aim is at the suppressing of the Gospel and the supporting of idolatry, and indeed they may well so do, for what stratagems are not in execution for the bringing in of Popery by Arminianism, a most damnable opinion; and by whom is it brought, but by his Lordship and Neile, with their adherents. If one Salisbury, Coventry, or such like as Leighton, do but cross their way, by a sermon or book, they send for him, and give him or them a pill, and stop his passage, that he come not to David as a Jonathian, to show him the way to scape from the fury of his enemies. Warns the Bishop that if some be not released before long, he shall not see the end of his expectation.
Signed "Not yours, but every true Christian's friend, to die for the Laud—"A threatening letter, without name, for the imprisonment

- Feb. 26. Battersca. 56. Oliver Viscount Grandison to Sir Thos. Roe, ambassador to the Eastern princes. Congratulates him on the success of his negotiations, and comments on two observations he had made in the court of Poland: 1. The opposition of that free people in their Parliaments, and the advantages the King had made through patience and giving way. 2. The cunning course of the same King for establishing and increasing popery, whereby he has gained so many to his party and lost none. The writer is about to make a step into Ireland, to settle those things he has there, being the better part of his estate.

His Majesty's answer was that if Sir Paul resigned, he would make choice of a fit man to succeed him, being resolved not to permit any sale of offices upon pretence of surrender. March 1. I. Bishop Howson of Durham, to the Council. His Deputy Durham House. Lieutenants of the County Palatine have informed him that during their remembrance there was never any muster master in that county. About 16 years ago Thomas Hodshon intruded himself into that service, but the present Bishop of Winchester, then of Durham, did not admit of him. The officers, as they conceive, are able to discharge the duties themselves, and any such new officer would be very distasteful to the country.

March 2. 9. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. Having received advertise-
Westminster. ment that above a dozen young women and boys attended at the ports to get passage under the protection of the Spanish ambassador's son-in-law and Mons. Rubens, Sec. Coke gave notice to the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, by whose ministers they were stayed. The Spanish Ambassador asserts that they are an English gentlewoman going over to be married, and her servants. Sec. Coke offered if he would make known their names to move the Lords for a passport for them ; but he purposes to send to his Majesty. Is informed that these women are sent over with good portions to be put into nunneries, and the boys into the schools of the Jesuits.

March 2. 10. Francis Brooke to Sec. Coke. Reports arrangements for safety
Portsmouth. of the Henrietta Maria and the Spy. A French vessel which brought home Capt. Duppa when his ship was taken from him, and a Spanish bottom which brought passengers from St. Christopher's, ought to be confiscated to the King, although it is pretended they belong to the passengers. The prize ship, the Notre Dame, is at Cowes, very carelessly neglected.

March 2. 11. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Recommends Mr. Hooker as purser of the Reformation for this voyage.

March 2. 12. Answers of Nicholas Bourne, of London, stationer, to articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. A porter left with a servant of his 30 of the book articulate, all which, save three which he has brought into court, were sold. Knows not the names of the purchasers, nor can tell what to believe concerning the printer or author.

March 2. 13. John Carnaby and John Blomfield to Edmund Button, Ipswich. master of the Violet of Ipswich. There are five or six Dunkirkers about the Naze or Speets [Spits ?] which have taken the Margaret. If these dangerous times continue the cheesemongers must take some better course. Pray him to have a care.

- 1630.
- March 3. 14. Petition of John Sutton to the Council. Three Dutch ships are lading corn of all sorts to the number of eight or ten thousand quarters to be transported by Peter Coxe for Lucas Jacobs, who has already transported great quantities of corn under a pretended license of this board. Two of the ships are at Chichester, the other at Arundel. Pray for a warrant to stay the ships.
- March 3. 15. Copy of the same.
- March 3. 16. Order of Council referring the preceding petition to Solicitor General Sheldon, and if he finds it a cause fit for the Star Chamber, that the Attorney General and he shall prosecute the same. [Copy.] Whitehall.
- March 3. 17. Petition of John Brooke, Clerk of the Cheque at Portsmouth, to the Lords of the Admiralty. By extraordinary occasions during these times of war divers of his Majesty's ships have been and are repaired at Portsmouth, whereby petitioner has been forced to keep clerks for his assistance. Prays such extra allowance as was given by the late Lord Admiral to his predecessor. Underwritten,
17. I. Reference to the officers of the Navy to certify what allowance had been made by the former Commissioners or the late Lord Admiral. Whitehall, 1630, June 8.
- March 3. 18. Sec. Dorchester to Oliver Fleming, Ambassador in Switzerland. Since his departure time has bred no small alteration, all to the better, in settling the disquiet of men's minds after the heats kindled by the disorders of the last Parliament. Three of the chief authors are fined and imprisoned in the King's Bench for refusing to answer; whereby the world sees that Parliament men must be responsible for their words and actions in other courts, and so they will be more moderate hereafter, and the King may meet his people with assurance that they will never transgress in the point of due respect and obedience. One is censured in the Star Chamber for his presumption in quitting the personal service of sheriff, whereunto he was obliged by oath, to play the busybody in Parliament. The rest will have their turns for their trials. Meanwhile trade which suffered some interruption returns to its wonted course without dispute about entries or custom, and his Majesty finds some help in the country, for the business of no-Knights goes roundly forward, no man disputing the legality of it in general; so as by this and other lawful but extraordinary ways some good sums are likely to be raised, till his Majesty shall see his own time to help himself again by subsidies. [Extract.]
- March 3. 19. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Sends appraisements of two prizes of Capt. Scras; one supposed to be of Calais and conjectured to be called the Estridge, the other of St. Giles in France.
Southampton.
- March 3. 20. Answers of Henry Overton, of London, stationer, to articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. A packet of the book articulate to the number of between 20 and 30 was left at his shop in Pope's Head Alley, near Lombard Street, by a strange porter, most of which he sold to persons coming to his stall and the

He asked who sent them. They said that was all one. Examinant replied that he was in trouble about the said books and would not pay for them unless he knew who sent them.

- March 4. 24. Sec. Dorchester to ——. Gives account of the means taking for settling men's minds after the heats of the last Parliament. Similar, but not so full, as the same writer's letter to Mr. Fleming, of the day preceding. See No. 18. [Copy.]
- March 4. 25. The same to ——. Another extract from a similar letter to Newmarket. the preceding. [Copy.]
- March 4. 26. Capt. John Dymes to Sec. Dorchester. The weather was so St. Malo. tempestuous that it was the beginning of March before he could get into Brittany. Is now at St. Malo, where he finds great store of merchant ships, but none of the King's, nor any taken up for his service. On the coast of Normandy there are only the ten "Draggones," which were built at Havre de Grace, in imitation of the Lion's Ten Whelps. Ships at Nantes, Bordeaux, and Bayonne cannot be soon ready. Guernsey and Jersey very much annoyed by a French pirate harboured at Sark.

- March 4. 28. Sir Thos. Walsingham to the same. Incloses affidavit of his London. waterbailiff. Hopes that when these men return they may be sent for to answer their contempt, and that he may have a new warrant to search all such ships. Inclosed,
28. i. Affidavit of George Fyler, of Gravesend, waterbailiff of Sir Thomas Walsingham, of his being prevented going aboard a bark believed to be bound for Dunkirk. (See 1630, Feb. 19, Vol. clxi., No. 30.) [Copy.]

- March 4. 32. Bishop Howson of Durham to Bishop Laud. Hears that the Archbishop of York intends to obtain a Commission from the King to visit the diocese of Durham. They have endeavoured to persuade him to stay his proceedings, but within an hour after his departure from London he sent to the writer's house an inhibition while the seal was yet hot, although the writer alleged it was against their most ancient and most ample privileges, and that it would trouble the peace of the country. Sends copies of letters and records to prove that the Archbishop has no such right of visitation. The people now, on the first motion, proclaim that they know none but God, the King, and Saint Cuthbert, which is their Bishop, to whose government they submit.
- March 4. 33. Copy of the same.
- March 5? 34. Cyrille de Fiennes, Viconte de Fruges, to Sec. Dorchester.
 Dover. Begg the Sec. to procure him an interview with the King respecting a project of the Lords of the Low Countries for driving out the Spaniards and restoring the King of Bohemia. Does not come to solicit anything, but to offer his Majesty 20,000 men levied by the writer's relations and friends. Fr.

- March 6. Wanting. [Wantage?] 40. Gabriel Dowse, Edward Clarke, and Charles Wiseman, to the Lords of the Admiralty. The complaints of wrongs committed by Stevens the saltpetremen are so great that they had not been able to reduce them into method. Pray a respite of their certificate for a fortnight or three weeks.
- March 6. 41. Petition of the Cheesemongers and Fishmongers of London to the same. That by reason of the many Dunkirkers that lie on the Norfolk, Suffolk, and Essex coasts, no bark can pass between Yarmouth Roads and the Thames; London cannot be served with provisions; and butter, cheese, and fish, which have lain long at sea, will decay. Pray them to send one or more of the Lion's Whelps, or the King's ketch, or some other safe convoy, that the provisions may come in safety.
- March 6. Blackfriars. 42. Sir John Borough, Norroy, to Sec. Dorchester. Delivered a patent for ennobling Paul Vander Nieustat to Mr. Lucas, to be sent to the Sec. By the Lord Marshal the writer is drawn out of town for ten days. The painter may limn the coat and bordure the patent. An alteration must be made in the crest.
- March 6. The King's Fort, near Plymouth. 43. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Complains of Nicholas's neglect of his letters. Shall not be in London these twenty days. Has sent Abraham Biggs with 1,000*l.* for the Duchess, and has given various businesses in charge to him. Let it be punishment sufficient that they have lost the best Lord, without afflicting each other by mutual neglect.
- March 6. 44. Sir Thos. Walsingham to the same. Corn, victual, and other prohibited and uncustomed goods are daily transported out of Kent to the enemy. If their Lordships let him have a new warrant to search suspected ships, he shall do the King and State the best service he can.
- March 7. Whitehall. - March 7. Newcastle upon Tyne. 45. Mayor and others of Newcastle upon Tyne to the Council. Advertise them of a late spoil to the value of 7,000*l.* done to the merchants of that town by Dunkirkers. Three hundred sail ready to be laden for London and other places, but dare not adventure to sea till some course be taken for their safety. Recommend to their consideration the petitions of the merchants of that town, and of the masters and mariners now in that port, and the informations of mariners in the ships taken by the Dunkirkers, and pray them to take course for safe passage of merchant ships for foreign trade, coal ships, and ships bringing corn to that port, of which at that instant they are in great necessity. Inclose,

45. I. Information of Gregory Hunter, master's mate of the Endeavour, of Newcastle, and of John Turner and others, mariners. Their ship, in company with three others, coming from Middleburgh, fell in with two great ships of Dunkirk, by whom, after a fight, they were all taken. Met with other Dunkirkers besides the ships that took them, and were told there were six and twenty ships of the King of Spain at sea. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 1630, March 5.

45. II. The like of Thomas Watson, of Berwick-upon Tweed, servant to Mr. Wilkin of the same place, merchant. Having been captured at sea by Dunkirkers and taken into that place, he gives account of the number of ships they now have at sea. Besides various ships of the navy of Spain there were about 40 sail of freebooters. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 1630, March 7.

March 7. 46. List and account of the prisoners now lying in Dover Castle. Among them are enumerated Anthony Britton and Thomas Tancke, sent from Douay with the news that St. Gregory's College there had chosen William Robinson to be their president, who is now going over with much treasure; and Mr. Eustace, an Irish harper, sent over to Brussels to serve the Prince of Portugal.

March 8. 47. Mayor and others of Newcastle upon Tyne to the Council.
Newcastle upon Tyne. On complaint that Giles Abraham, who says he was born at Ostend and is master of a ship supposed to belong to Ostend now in that harbour, was a spy, they had taken certain informations which they inclosed, and had stayed his ship.

March 8. 48. Petition of the Bailiffs of Colchester on behalf of the merchants, masters of ships, and mariners there, to the Council. Five or six Dunkirkers have lien up and down the coast there by the space of two months and have captured divers ships. Pray that some course may be taken for prevention of this daily robbery.

March 8. 49. Sir Thomas Barrington to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks the Sec.
Hatfield Broadoak. for visiting him and his wife, and hopes that he arrived safely at the Court, although by a tedious way then at its worst.

March 8. 50. [Nicholas] to the several Vice Admirals. His Majesty having Wallingford House. received notice that an Ambassador is very shortly to arrive from the King of Spain, has given command that no insolences or uncivil behaviour be offered to him. Each person addressed is to see that no just cause of offence be given.

March 8. 51. Bishop Williams of Lincoln to Sir John Lambe, Commissary Buckden. of the Archdeaconry of Leicester. Sends him printed copy of the King's Instructions to the Clergy and directs him how to communicate the same to the Lecturers, and what return he shall expect from him relating thereto. Lastly, he explains the orders concerning the lecturers upon the presumption that they have no intent to take away preaching or tire out preachers, and therefore he allows the preacher to a mixed congregation, instead of catechising, to explain the catechetical heads of doctrine from the pulpit, and shows how the prayers may be read partly by the lecturer and partly by the parson of the place before preaching.
- March 8. 52. Edward Lake to the same. By Bishop Williams's directions Buckden. sends the above letter with 250 copies of the Instructions to the Clergy. The rate for them is to be 2d. apiece.
- March 8? 53. Petition of Clement Cotton to the Council. The King having bestowed upon petitioner a privilege for printing a small Concordance with the Bible of the last translation, petitioner had been constrained to assign that privilege to one Nicholas Bourne for a sum of money, being the only means to support petitioner and his wife in very aged and sickly estate. The Council having lately restrained the binding of the Concordance with the Bibles, petitioner prays that those who desire to have the same may not be forbidden.
- March 8. 54. Petition of the same to Bishop Laud. Two small treatises of the History and Doctrine of the Bible have been bound up with the Bible to the prejudice of petitioner's grant as to the Concordance above mentioned. Prays him to signify his pleasure concerning a clause of restraint to be inserted in the grant to the petitioner, whereby books unless they have the allowance expressed in the said clause are to be prevented. Underwritten, 54. I. Note by Bishop Laud that the grant above alluded to may now pass, so that the clause annexed be inserted therein as interlined, and that any one may buy the Bible with or without the Concordance as he shall please. Annexed, 54. II. Clause to be inserted in the grant above mentioned, altered and interlined by Bishop Laud.
- March 8. 55. Certificate of John Tyas that he had assigned to John Potter his place of cook in the Seventh Whelp.
- March 9. Proclamation for restraint of excessive carriages, to the destruction of the highways. In partial conformity with a proclamation of the late King of August 6, 1622, it was commanded that no common carrier or other person should travel with any wain or cart which should have above two wheels, nor that upon any wain or cart there be laden above 20 cwt., nor be used above five horses.
Such extraordinary carriages as of late years have been used have been held by the Judges to be general nuisances, wherefore the Attorney General is to prosecute them in a legal course in the court of Star Chamber. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 119.]

- March 9. 56. Bailiffs of Colchester to the Council. Complaints have been Colchester. made by the merchants who trade into Holland, and also those who go from port to port, that by reason of the Dunkirkers they dare not stir out of harbour. Two ships in that port laden with goods to the value of 10,000*l.* for Holland dare not go to London to seek a convoy. Pray that some speedy course may be taken for clearing the coast.
- March 9. 57. Remembrances for Mr. Nicholas of warrants to be procured from the Council or Lords of the Admiralty for certain reductions of men and sales of ships no longer needed.
- March 9. 58. Katherine Dowager Countess of Suffolk to Henry Earl of Suffolk House. Holland. The late King commanded the late Earl of Suffolk's house upon the treaty of the Queen's marriage, intending it for ten days, but used it above a year. Also ambassadors came to Audley End at several times, whom the late Earl spared no cost to entertain, beside store of stuff sent to Cambridge to receive them there. It is well known what havock in the house and gardens was made, and what spoil of stuff torn and wasted by riotous and disordered servants. In compensation, the Countess beseeches the King for preferment of her grandchild Bess Howard, to give her the fine for the wardship and marriage of a ward under the degree of a baron.
- March 9. 59. Paul Greensmyth to Abraham Dawes. Had sent a note of Cliff near the goods brought ashore from the Dunkirk man-of-war. Mr. Stone Lewes. has shipped three barks with ordnance to London. Is he to suffer more to be shipped by the same warrant?
- March 10. 60. Order of Council that all directions and warrants for any Whitehall. cause in the cognizance of the Lord Admiral, be addressed to the Lords of the Admiralty, and not to any inferior officer.
- March 10. 61. Order of Council that the Merchant Adventurers should revoke Whitehall. an order that all cloth sent to Holland should be tared only at the mart town, which is Delft. Between this and the next shipping a course shall be taken to remedy their grievance in the point of tare.
- March 10. 62. Order of Council prohibiting the open repair to the houses of Whitehall. foreign ambassadors for the purpose of hearing mass, and authorizing the Messengers of the Chamber to arrest persons who go thither, and bring them before the Council. Secs. Dorchester and Coke were to wait upon the ambassadors to explain this order to them. [Copy.]
- March 10. 63. Translation of the same into French.
- March 10. 64. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Report Chatham. the state of preparation for sea in which they found the Reformation, and other ships appointed for present service. The principal wants were of victuals and ordnance.

- March 10. 65. Sir Ferdinando Audeley to Sec. Dorchester. Having been arrested at Dover, and since brought to "this town," the Council referred his case to Sec. Dorchester and the Earl of Suffolk. Prays the Sec. to appoint a time for the writer to attend and answer objections against him.
- March 11. The Lords of the Admiralty to Capt. Thomas March. Instructions on his being employed in the Fourth Lion's Whelp, to convoy and guard the ships of King's Lynn, Boston, Wells, Burnham, and other adjacent creeks. [See Vol. clvii., fo. 103 b.]
- March 11. 66. Sir Wm. Pelham to his father-in-law, Lord President Conway. Brocklesby. Their journey to London advances fast; he gets seed-corn into the ground, and his wife is now furnished with four coach geldings and mares, and he hopes will that day be provided with a coachman. Hopes for a new coach by Lady Conway's favour. For paying for it, and the first payment for his father's tomb, he has a bank at London. Fears for the safe passage of the coach by sea. Losses suffered by the northern merchants are, according to their own phrase, "unsupportable." Many men of Dunkirk attend almost at the mouth of the Humber, so that eleven ships laden with cloth dare not stir forth of harbour. Selected men sent from the companies of Newcastle, York, and Hull, with complaints to the Council board. Loss of a delicate lure falcon. Falconers sent to all the country round to seek for her, but in vain.
- March 11. 67. Francis Lady Pelham to the same. Further particulars as to Brocklesby. the way and time in which her new coach is to be paid for. Fears lest the Dunkirkers should meet with it. By his last she had a better feast in the knowledge of his health than either Lincoln's Inn or the Temple made, or the Lord Mayor could have feasted the Ambassador and Lords with. The physician deferred coming to Franke till to-morrow, because the sun entering into the equinoctial is the fitter time to give physie in.
- March 11. 68. Geo. Robinson to Stephen Alcock. He and others sent for Roch[ester.] before the Officers of the Navy to resolve them what the ships wanted of their victual. Explains the deficiencies. [In the margin are explanatory memoranda by Alcock.]
- March 11. 69. Bond of John Vicars, Rector of St. Mary, Stamford, John Smith, of St. Dunstan in the West, London, leatherseller, and John Baily, of St. Anne, Blackfriars, brown-baker, in 500*l.* conditioned for John Vicars within one week finishing his answers to articles objected against him by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and personally appearing before the same Commissioners, at Lambeth, on the 15th April next, to receive such direction as to justice shall appertain. [Copy.]
- March 11. 70. Account of anticipations of the Revenue as they now stand charged. Total, 221,837*l.* 3*s.* 1*d.*

- March 12. 71. Order of Council that Edmund Harnham, who professed an Whitehall. intention to infringe the privileges of the Eastland Merchants, contrary to the order of the 19th of last month (see Vol. clxi., No. 25), be expressly charged to conform to that order, or make his repair hither to answer his contempt. [Copy.]
- March 12. 72. Thomas Lord Wentworth to the Council. Reports the cir-Westminster. cumstances of a dispute between the tenants of the demesne lands of Barwick in Elmet and Mr. Cæsar, which had been referred to him by the Council. The tenants surrendered their estates to Mr. Cæsar, in order that he might obtain a new lease from the King's Commissioners, being then prince, upon an agreement that every tenant should afterwards have his own back again, paying a rateable proportion of the sum paid for the new lease, which agreement Mr. Cæsar repudiated. The writer holds that Mr. Cæsar had dealt very badly with the tenants, and that he and Mr. Goodrick, to whom he alleged he had sold, ought to assign to the tenants on payment of the amount originally agreed, with interest "after six in the hundreth."
- March 12. 73. Petition of Thomas Chaworth, a poor distressed prisoner in the common gaol in the King's Bench prison, to the Council. Order made by the Council in February last for Capt. Mason to pay petitioner the remainder of his pay as Lieutenant under Sir Francis Willoughby in the expedition to Cadiz. On petitioner's wife's going to receive the amount she was prevented by Sir Francis Willoughby, who alleges against petitioner debts owing in Ireland of which he is ignorant, and cuts off three months' pay due by the King's allowance. Prays redress. Underwritten, 73. i. Order for Sir Francis Willoughby to make answer without delay. Whitehall, 1630, March 12.
- March 12. 74. Petition of Jane, widow of Capt. Evan Watkins, Sergeant-Major of Sir Thomas Morton's regiment, to the Council and Council of War. Her husband killed in the Isle of Rhé. She has continued in London for $2\frac{3}{4}$ years to receive the moiety of his entertainment and a part of his estate withheld by James Morgan his executor. The latter having now agreed that she shall receive the same, she humbly prays speedy payment of the moiety above mentioned.
- March 12. 75. Sir Henry Marten and Attorney General Heath to the Lords of the Admiralty. Are of opinion that the town of Dartmouth have the office of water bailiffs there. As to the right of taking up ordnance sunk in the sea, within the mouth of the haven, they are not able to determine that point, the rather because the invention of getting such things out of the sea is but of few years continuance, far short to ground a prescription upon. Think the point should be argued next term.
- [March 12 ?] 76. Cyrille de Fiennes, Vicomte de Fruges, to Sec. Dorchester. Three days having passed since he spoke to the Sec., imagines either that the multiplicity of his business has made him forget the writer's proposal, or that the King does not approve of their design. If the latter be the case, begs to be informed of it that he may immediately set about his return. French.

- March 12. 77. Sir John Hippisley to Nicholas. The Lords have appointed
The Mews. his business to be heard on Tuesday next. Begs him to let Pawson and the rest know.
- March 13. 78. Petition of Cornelius Dreble and Abraham Kuffler to the King. Petitioners were employed in the last expedition to Rochelle, but have never been able to obtain debentures out of the office of Ordnance. Pray for order to the officers of Ordnance that petitioners may have such debentures. Underwritten, 78. I. Reference to the Lords of the Admiralty.
- March 13. 79. Petition of Capt. John Mennes to the Lords of the Admiralty. In his employment in the Adventure was put to extraordinary charge in transporting ambassadors and sending home a prize. Afterwards seized into his hands wools to the amount of 10*l.* or thereabout. Prays that the wools may be bestowed upon him, or that he may have them in lieu of wages for five gentlemen, who served on the same occasion, but are denied the ordinary entertainment.
- March 13. 80. Petition of John Smyth, Captain of the Fort at Gravesend, to the same. Has served in that place 14 years, and was at 150*l.* expense to make the fort fit to live in. Has but five gunners and a porter. His own pay 26*l.* per annum; that of his gunners, 8*l.* a piece per diem, all which is behind for six years. Has been forced to sell great part of his lands, the Lords having given his creditors leave to take their course by law. Prays payment of his arrears or withdrawal of the leave given to his creditors.
- March 13. 81. Petition of Nicholas Stevens, deputy for making saltpetre, to the same. Prays copy of the charge and examinations against him.
- March 13. 82. Petition of bailiffs and inhabitants of Great Yarmouth, and inhabitants of the coasts adjoining, to the same. About this time of the year petitioners have set forth for Iceland, Westmony, and the North seas, about 300 sail of English fishers, which consist of about 5,000 seafaring persons. By reason of the Dunkirkers the poor fishermen are so terrified that they are resolved not to go out. Pray for two or three ships of war to defend the fleet during the fisher season.
- March 13. 83. Susanna Reeve to her brother Matthew Reeve. Hopes he will find contentment on leaving his trading and turning countryman. Family news.

- March 14. 85. Petition of Philip Burlamachi to the Lords of the Admiralty.
 Charles Steltius, Johan Smesters, and others, of Calais, being indebted to petitioner since 1626 and 1627, by reason of the wars he has been enforced to forbear the recovery of his debts, and now they deny to pay him, but assign parts of two ships, the St. Claude and the Anne, which, in 1626, were adjudged to them, but have ever since been employed in the King's service. Pray for delivery of the same to him. [Underwritten is a memorandum in another hand that on the war with France these ships became lawful prize.]

March 19. 17. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Dorchester. Concerning the rescue From his house. pretended by the Portugal owners, it is true that he used this qualified kind of phrase; viz.: It seemeth upon proof to fall out otherwise than was alleged by them. Having resolved Westminster. upon a course for composition with recusants, and committed the same to the President of the North, the Bishop is to cause the parsons of every parish to acquaint him with the true values of lands of recusants within their charges, so that he may report the same to York before Trinity Sunday next, with a view to which service his residence in the meantime at Chester is dispensed with, and he is permitted to reside at Wiggen [Wigan]. [Copy.]
- March 21. 29. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Desired Sir Edmund Hinton Prideaux, the writer's brother, to be the Sec.'s deputy, and named St. George. his little servant, Elizabeth. Thanks for the great present he sent her. Is glad to hear that his house is threatened with a mistress, one of long acquaintance with the writer, though discontinued. - March 22. 35. Provost and Fellows of King's College, Cambridge, to Sec. King's College, Dorchester. - March 22. 36. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to the same. Complains of Apthorpe, the conduct of Capt. Slauter and other servants of the Earl of Newport, in preventing her son following a hare in Fotheringay Park. Her son asserts that a letter written by him to the earl was merely in fair terms to know if he justified his servants, but mothers are apt to be deluded in such cases, and she is afraid that he intends a duel.
- March 22. 37. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Nicholas. To assist Francis Kitchin to procure the appointment of gunner of the Fortune, pink.
- March 23. 38. Elizabeth Countess of Banbury to Sec. Dorchester. Will do Twickenham. him all the service she can. Lord Vaux will be there on the morrow. Will send one to Sir George Symonds. Hears he has tied himself on a forfeit of 100*l.* if the bargain goes not on.

- March 23. 40. Thos. Bond to Nicholas. Understands that the Lords of the His lodging. Admiralty have referred the collection of the proofs against the saltpetremen to two knights, to which the writer and other complainants humbly submit. Hears that the saltpetremen make their vaunts that they will get their liberty and carry themselves in the country as formerly. Is sorry that his diligence in attending such a business could not bring it to better perfection. If the saltpetremen go down without redress of wrongs it will strike despair into the heart of the country. Suggests that the Solicitor General, or one of the King's serjeants should be joined in the reference to Sir Wm. Russell, &c.
- March 23. 41. Sir Francis Willoughby to Francis Morice. Sends the other certificate concerning that ill-tongued creature, Chaworth's wife. Annexed,

On the motion of James Huitly, petitioner's uncle and late the King's servant, the King remitted the fine of John Maud, a carrier, who for rash words was fined in the Star Chamber, for which Huitly was to receive 100*l.*, but the poverty of the carrier was such that he could not provide the same, whereupon the business was not perfected and Huitly died. - March 24. 44. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Dorchester. Our men-of-war meeting French ships at sea laden with ammunition bound for Spain, knowing the favourable inclination of our state towards the French, daily consent for restitution to be made. The Virgin of Bristol having taken a French ship, the St. Christopher, yielded to restitution, but the writer propounding to the owner that he should give caution to repay the value if our ships were not restored in France, he refused the same with indignation and departed with threatening words. Prays the Sec.'s direction.
- March 24. 45. Dr. Robt. Aylett to Bishop Laud. Was yesterday at Chelmsford lecture, where Mr. Browning of Rayleigh read the whole service both first and second in hood and surplice and made a sermon accommodate to the time and occasion. - March 25. 46. Petition of Michael Andrewes to the King. The late King granted him 1,000*l.* out of arrears of a subsidy detained in Wales. 800*l.* has been brought in and 200*l.* more to be brought in. - March 25. 47. Francis Earl of Bedford and Henry Cary to the Council. In reply to a letter wherein they were required to cleanse and make passable the way called Long Acre. That way was of late years by their predecessors laid out of their lands adjoining in hope to procure fair and spacious buildings to be there erected, and for that purpose they granted long leases. But by reason of his Majesty's and his father's proclamations for restraint of building, the tenants have made small benefit and the charge of repairing the way is so great that the tenants are unable to undergo it. Request them to think of some other way of amending the same. If the King will give them leave to build they will pave and keep it as well as any other street in London.

March 25. 48. Petition of John Vicars, parson of St. Mary, in Stamford, co. Lincoln, to the Council. Poultry Compter.

March 30. 55. Petition of John Bruckshaw to the King. Has found a fountain or spring of water issuing from a high rock adjacent to the sea, in the western part of the kingdom, which cures many diseases far beyond any known bath in the kingdom. It lies between high water and low water mark. Prays licence to make a wall between the spring and the sea, and to search and dig in the rocks for minerals. Underwritten, 55. i. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a lease of the premises, with licence to make the wall and to dig for minerals. Whitehall, 1630, March 30.

March 30. 56. Petition of Jeffery Le Neve, the King's servant, to the same. The inhabitants of Yarmouth have yearly obtained an order for the exportation of 600 lasts of herrings in strangers' bottoms, which order was evaded, the herrings being merely sold to strangers who exported them in their own ships. In 1624 and some other years, the Council made a stay of granting the order for export, whereupon the town sold the herrings to strangers who put them aboard English ships, and as soon as they went out to sea transferred them into strangers' ships. Prays licence to export 600 lasts of herrings in strangers' bottoms for 21 years at 50*l.* per annum. Underwritten, 56. i. Reference to the Council. Whitehall, 1630, March 30.

March 30. 57. Capt. Thomas March to Nicholas. In that harbour is a great fleet of betwixt two and three hundred sail of brave ships, the greatest part of them unrigged, and in expectation of wafters. Is persuaded in his conscience if his Majesty did know but half what the writer has seen, he would not suffer the daring enemy so to domineer upon his shores. There are two great ships of 30 brass pieces, that keep this part of the world in awe. Solicits allowance of a bill of 37*l.* 14*s.* 9*d.* for emptions, and permission to exchange four of the guns in his ship, the Fourth Whelp, for four which have been lent to King's Lynn.
Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

The Lord Treasurer understanding that Sir Henry's ship, and the rest appointed to waft the colliers from Newcastle, are still at Lee or Tilbury, has commanded Nicholas to signify the command of the Lords of the Admiralty that he presently put to sea. The cry of the people of London for want of coals is very great. They have been with great clamour and noise to the Lords. Hears Capt. Gibbon, without leave, is come to town. If he suffers captains to abandon their ships at their pleasure, the Lords will think he carries no command among them.

[Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 82.]

- March 31. 58. Petition of Jean Poincteau to the King. Petitioner is a son of the celebrated juriconsult John Poincteau, who was a native of St. Andrews in Scotland, but died in France, after having long professed letters in Paris, Saumur, and at Angiers, where petitioner was born. Being desirous to see the place of his forefathers he prays permission to pass and repass to the same and to show and distribute to the public certain remedies of his invention. French. Underwritten, 58. I. Reference to Mons. de Mayerne, the King's principal physician. Whitehall, 1630, March 31. Fr.
58. II. Report of Sir Theodore Mayerne. The petitioner having been by profession a mountebank, both in France and England, was last year sent from Hampton Court to the College of Physicians of London, by whom his remedies were rejected. His petition should be refused, and if he persists in asserting the excellence of his medicines he should prepare them in the presence of persons skilled in the art. London, 1630, April 1. Fr.
- March 31. 59. Petition of the merchants of York, Hull, and Newcastle, to the Council. - March 31. 60. Oliver Viscount Grandison to Lord President Conway. The Battersea. order they made on the King's reference to them of Capt. Franck's complaint against John Wells is despised. Wishes Wells laid by the heels. Whatsoever he will do farther therein the writer will join with him.
- March 31. 61. Geo. Cotton to Lord Keeper Coventry. Sends informations Combermere. respecting certain fearfully ill-advised words concerning the King spoken by one Hall, a tailor, on his late return from London. The first raiser of the report is John Deueres, and from him his brother Robert Parsons, of the very lowest and basest rank and conversation.
- [March ?] 62. Petition of George Gardner, prosecutor on the King's behalf of the business respecting exacted fees in the Fleet prison, to the King. The Deputy Warden having debarred the petitioner from coming into the Fleet to confer with witnesses, and put such witnesses as have already given evidence "from the charity," the Attorney General and the Commissioners for exacted fees ordered that the witnesses, John Cranfield, William Elinott and Ellen Underwood, should be re-admitted to the charity, and that the petitioner should have free access into the Fleet, but the Deputy Warden contemns the said order. Prays that these abuses may be examined.

March? 63. Petition of Robert Leman, of Hemwicke [Hemyock?] co. Devon, to the Council. Robert Rudge, of Clehidor, co. Devon, about 17 years ago died, and by his will appointed Agnes Lentrow his grandchild, an infant daughter of Alexander Lentrow now deceased, his sole executrix, and petitioner and John Rudge his administrators. Differences having arisen about the said estate, petitioner prays a reference to Sir Thos. Drewe and Henry Ashford, justices for Devon, to mediate the said differences.
- [March?] 64. Petition of Thomasine Clee, widow of Thomas Clee, to the same. Sir Allen Apsley contracted with petitioner's husband to brew for his Majesty's service at sea, beer to the value of 1,998*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*; 798*l.* 9*s.* 8*d.* remains due and she can obtain nothing from Sir Allen but delays and harsh language. Ever since the loss of her husband with the Sixth Whelp in his return from Rochelle she has been a suitor for the entertainment due to him, but being a stranger, far from her friends and unacquainted with the proceedings of this country, she has been very much turmoiled and unable to procure the 106*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.* due. Prays him to stand her friend with the Lord Treasurer.
- [March ?] 75. Petition of Henry Davis, one of the forty Messengers of the Chamber in ordinary, to the same. 9. Capt. John Dymes to Sec. Dorchester. At this place has seen so many good ships of the King of France's navy, that unless he had been an eye witness thereof he should hardly have believed that in so short a time that King could have been so strong in shipping. Has seen 40 ships of good force, besides pataches, but there is no appearance of any naval preparation. Desires to see what ships that King has in the Mediterranean, but unless he can get some supply of money must return home.

Gives account of his examination into the circumstances of the appointment and removal of Alexander Udney, B.D., and one of the King's chaplains, who had been lecturer at Ashford, co. Kent. The Vicar of Ashford is reported to have the outside of a man and little more; for ignorance, he has sufficient for any one person; for indiscretion, enough for the clergy of a whole diocese; and thereby running into contempt of his people, who being about 800 communicants, most of them understanding men, well read in the Scriptures, desired to have assigned to them some learned conformable man who might teach them the way to heaven: they paying their minister all his dues, and entertaining a lecturer or coadjutor.
- April 5. 15. Examination of George Strettley, George Cutler, and Richard Poole, respecting the description of a person who calling a porter from the bench adjoining the church of St. Lawrence in Cateaton Street, was answered by George Strettley, to whom he delivered a letter, directed to Mr. John Cordwell of Lad Lane, together with four farthings for his hire; and having delivered the letter cast his cloak over his shoulder and went his way.

In reply to accusations of negligence in the government of his see, and especially of having admitted divers persons into the ministry without subscription to the orders of the church. Vindicates his general care in reference to ordination and subscription, but finds lately that some three or four ministers who do not reside within his diocese, by the neglect of his chaplains, escaped without subscribing. Protests that hereafter he will keep his book of subscriptions himself. Has expended 60*l.* in repair of his cathedral; has planted grave and learned preachers over all his diocese, three or four preaching ministers for one he found; has taken care that catechising be duly observed; has suffered none to preach but such as are conformable, and has preached himself every Sunday until he became impotent. He and his clergy have provided armour for 100 men ready for the King's service. He takes pains in visiting, confirming, and keeping synods where all his clergy give him an account of every man's life and doctrine. Keeps hospitality above his means, and all his actions tend to the well governing of his diocese.

There is due to him for his entertainment and disbursements about 4,000*l.*, the want whereof has driven him to contract so many debts that he is at the very height of misery and ready to perish. Regnold, who kept back the letter and suggested that his ship and goods were still detained, although they had been restored and sold. Whereupon, and on new complaint petitioner was ordered to attend their Lordships. He received the order on Sunday the 4th instant, in Cornwall, and now attends. He prays that Capt. - April 14. 54. [Andrew Pitcairn, Master of the Hawks?] to [Sec. Dorchester?] Begs him to acquaint the Council that the King had commanded the writer to complain to them when the commission for hawks' meat was not obeyed. Lately sent warrants into Herts. to that purpose, whereof he had no other return but that the gentlemen of the county, namely, Sir Richard Lucy, Sir Robert Chester, and Sir Thomas Dacres, intreated forbearance until the Sessions. April 26. 27. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to Sec. Dorchester. The noise of the sickness in London has altered her purpose and her son's from coming up at this time. Begg that if his Majesty be moved for any hunting warrants for that country, that he would except out of them Moorhay and Southay, the "games" there not being so fair as they have been by reason of the improper conduct of Lord Peterborough.

April 26. 28. Dr. Brian Duppa to Bishop Laud. Feared his election as Chancellor of Oxford would not at first sight please him. First, because of his earnest desire that they should have elected the Lord Treasurer, and next in relation to the malice and envy of the age, that thinks no honour well placed, if conferred upon the clergy. For the former, the writer hopes the Bishop has received satisfaction from others, and for the latter he can give himself satisfaction. Multiplicity of business detains the writer from the Bishop's inauguration. He will see that some of the company bring bodies there that bring no hearts, and conceives he will sooner pardon the writer who sends his heart thither though he cannot convey himself.

- April 29. 33. Sir John Wolstenholme and Sir Kenelm Digby to the Lords of the Admiralty. Report on the petition of Thomas Thornhill, (see 1630, March 20, Vol. clxiii., No. 23.) Think Mr. Thornhill should be restored to his place and freed from the molestation of suits.

- April 29. 37. Examination of Thomas Walker in the handwriting of Sec. Dorchester. On Friday, the day after the finding the letter at Wilson's door, Thomas, a drawer to Wilson, said the finding the letter might be as good as 1,000*l.*, for it concerned a man's life, and that he had rather have given five shillings than that it should have lighted on the examinant.
- April 30. Lords of the Admiralty to John Rockwell, appointed Commander and Master of the Fortune. Instructions to him to ply up and down about Tilbury Hope, Leigh, Queenborough, and Sheerness, for the guard of the Rivers Thames and Medway. [Copy. See Vol. clvii., fo. 110 b.]
- April 30. 38. Sir Wm. Russell, Sir John Wolstenholme, and Sir Kenelm Digby to the Lords of the Admiralty. Report on consideration of the complaints and examinations sent in against Mr. Hilliard and Mr. Stephens, saltpetremen, and their servants. According to the proofs there is no part of their commission which they have not extremely abused. As in digging in all places without distinction, as in parlours, bedchambers, threshing and malting floors, yea, God's own house they have not forborne; so they respect not times, digging in the breeding time in dove-houses, and working sometimes a month together, whereby the flights of doves are destroyed; and without respect to harvest time, in barns and in malting houses, when green malt is upon the floor; and in bedchambers, placing their tubs by the bedside of the old and sick, even of women in childbed, and persons on their death beds. They have undermined walls, and seldom fill up the places they have digged. In taking up carts they observe no seasons, and charge more carts than are needful, discharging some again for bribes, and overload the carts they employ. They do not pay the prices for carriage required by the commission. They take up coals not only where they are sold, but from those that have fetched them 20 or 30 miles by land for their own winter's provision. Recommend that the offenders should be punished, and that the commission be taken in, and a new one made out, with restrictions designed to put an end to the abuses complained of.
- April 30. 39. Colin Earl of Seaforth to Sec. Coke. Being in a continual course of physic under Dr. Mayerne, cannot wait upon him. Intreats to know if he will remain in the City on Monday and Tuesday that the Earl may conform his diet to that of the Sec., and in the meantime would be glad that nothing should be done in the matter of fishing.

He was not Treasurer to Count Mansfeldt's troops, but had money put into his hands to make over to him, which he did. Divers officers who had notes of Mr. Dalbier, obtained a privy seal in June 1627, for payment of 5,835*l.* 6*s.* 7*d.*, which the writer paid. Capt. Ouseley is not mentioned in that privy seal, but only his Lieutenant, who was paid.
- May 14. 65. Petition of Wm. Bagwell to the same. The Lords having referred a complaint of petitioner to Sir Maurice Abbot, Aldermen Heylyn and Garraway, and others, they cannot make an end thereof, for that the parties complained of are refractory. Prays that his complaint may receive a final end without further suits in law, [Referred to the Lord Keeper. Reg. Concil., Car. I., Vol. v., p. 808.]
- May 14. 66. Petition of Sir Edward Bishop to the same. The difference between Thomas Sherley and the petitioner is concerning an annuity, the truth of which cause is here annexed. Mr. Sherley confessed to the Lords that he had a late resolution to have killed the petitioner, nor is he yet safe. His wife, hourly expecting her delivery, prays that he may depart into the country for the present. Annexed, 66. I. *Statement of the case between Sir Edward Bishop and Thomas Sherley, who claims an annuity of 40*l.* given by the late Sir Thomas Bishop to Henry Sherley, deceased. When Sir Edward was under trial for the death of Henry Sherley, he promised to continue this annuity to Thomas Sherley. The present disputes arose out of the non-performance of that promise.*

- May 14. On board the Convertive. 67. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to the Lords of the Admiralty. Relates his chase of a Dunkirker. He stood after them thirty-two glasses, and got upon them, so that by Tuesday morning, 3 o'clock, he was within less than a league, and of necessity she must have been either his or the seas, taken or sunk, had she not rescued herself by running into shoal water at the mouth of the Somme. She had been his had he had ten leagues more of open chase, or a Whelp to have plied betwixt the land and her. Prays that the Tenth Whelp may attend him. In Calais Road met with two French ships riding with their flags aloft, which he took down for them with a bullet. On Monday intends to sail for the Land's End.
- May 14. Weymouth and Melcombe Regis. 68. Certificate and petition of the Mayor, Aldermen, and others, of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis, on behalf of Robert Blake, of Dorchester, merchant, to Lord Treasurer Weston. Robert Blake being at Middleburgh on 15 February last, freighted the Tessal [Texel?], of Medenblick, with masts for that port. The officers of the Customs have refused to enter the same ship by reason of the proclamation of 7 March last, prohibiting the importation of such commodities in other than English bottoms. The commodities being much wanted in that town, petitioners pray that they may be landed.
- May 14. Stanstead Mountfitchet. 69. Wm. Lord Maynard to Edward Lord Howard. Thomas Melborne, a printer in Cambridge, having a house in Great Chesterford, has brought his own wife with two other married women and their children thither, whose husbands come every Saturday from Cambridge, and return thither on Monday, which puts the inhabitants of Great Chesterford in great fear, by reason of the grievous plague that now is at Cambridge. Repeats orders given to the constables, and desires him to procure directions from the Council.
- May 14. Mermaid tavern. 70. Thos. Grove to Endymion Porter. Had given attendance before the Lords, but to no effect, Scott being out of town. Begg him to move some of the Lords to free him from this extraordinary charge, and fear of the plague.
- May 14. Exeter. 71. Bishop Hall of Exeter to Bishop Laud. Will attend the appointment of Bishop Laud and the Lord Keeper for hearing the difference betwixt him and Mr. Nansog, although the journey is long and his body weak. Sent him an account of the cause, in any clause whereof, if he be disproved, let him suffer shame and censure. Before he received any letter from Bishop Laud had given an advowson of the Archdeaconry to one more worthy than Mr. Nansog.
- May 14. Colchester. 72. Bailiffs of Colchester to the same. Richard Madden, B.D., and general preacher of that town, was licensed to preach in the churches of St. Botolph and St. James, but having now accepted St. Peter's, according to his Majesty's late orders, they signify that St. Peter's is a convenient church for the people to assemble in, and desire that their weekly sermons may be there.
- May 15. 73. Petition of George Deakin, of Cavendish, co. Suffolk, yeoman, to the Council. John Frier, on 22 March, coming into a wheat-field of petitioner's with his piece, two setting dogs, and a net, took a brace of partridges, one whereof he let fly again, but pulled the neck of the other. Petitioner, with the rest of the inhabitants, having received strict charge for preservation of the King's game, prosecuted Frier in an action of trespass, not knowing him to be authorized for his Majesty's service. Shortly afterwards petitioner received by Frier a letter from Sir John Carleton, Master of his Majesty's Game there. He was pressed for an immediate answer, but taking till the next morning to consider of it, notwithstanding order was given next day for stay of proceedings, petitioner has been brought up by a messenger. Prays his discharge. [Ordered this day, Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. v., p. 800.]

May 15. 74. Justices of the Peace for Kent to the Constables of the Hundred of Westgate, in that county. Warrant, in obedience to an order of the Council, to put in execution the laws against rogues, vagabonds, and idle wandering persons, as a principal means to prevent the dispersing of the plague. [Copy.] Annexed,

74. I. Articles to be observed and executed within the said hundred. [Similar articles were sent to the hundreds of Bleansgate, Ringelow, Bridge, and Petham, and the borough of Langport.]

May 17. 75. Petition of Sir Francis Cottington, Sir Richard Tichborne, Sir Harvey Bagot, George Walker, and John Draycott, to the King. Draycott being seised of lands in cos. Stafford, Salop, Derby, and Leicester, in marriage with his eldest son Philip Draycott, conveyed said lands to the other petitioners for the lives of John and Philip and their wives. Since the making of the said conveyance petitioners understand the estate to be incumbered by the recusancy of said John and Philip. Pray the King to grant the petitioners all debts by reason of the same recusancy, and to release his title for that cause, John Draycott having a grant from the late King under a yearly rent for his life, the payment whereof he is most willing to continue. Underwritten, 75. I. Direction to the Attorney General to prepare the grant and release desired. Whitehall, 1630, May 17.

May 17. 76. John Lord Poulett to his cousin, Sec. Dorchester. Thanks
Hinton. for favours conferred on the writer's cousin, Sir Philip Carteret. Has long entertained a strong hope of the Sec.'s good success in the business he mentions, though his letter makes the writer apprehend difficulties in it. Thinks he is but in jest with him.

May 17. 77. Edward Viscount Wimbledon to the same. Understands
The Strand. by Mr. Woder that the Sec. has stopped his business at the Privy Seal. The writer was the reviver of the business of the extorted fees in the Lord Duke's time, and Mr. Woder the first that brought that project to the writer. He was the clerk that followed it until supplanted by Dibble, whom Woder himself brought in to assist him. Woder has received a great deal of wrong.

May 17. 78. Capt. Wm. Yong to Nicholas. Dr. Rives tells the writer he must have patience till the holidays be past, and then he will be ready to speak to Nicholas concerning the dollars. Prays a loan of 40s. in the meantime. The ships that have taken this Brazilman had no letters of marque.
- May 17. 79. Dr. John Tolson to Bishop Laud, Chancellor of Oxford. On the return of Mr. Tucker from London, the writer intreated Dr. Bancroft and Dr. Prideaux to be assisting to him. By reason of Mr. Tosor's absence, Mr. Tucker only appeared. The sum of his answer was, that he was so far from abetting those differences which had so much disturbed the peace of our church as that it was his whole drift to silence them. He thought his Majesty's proclamation would prevail more than the late synod. When it was replied that naming them in public was to revive or add new strength to them, and therefore that from thenceforth he should beware of such dangerous consequences, he promised to do so. So much for Mr. Tucker. When the other returns, will endeavour somewhat concerning him.
- May 18. 80. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Detained by hard Convertive in south-west winds. Has watched the Straights merchants and the Downs. lighted upon some goods of Peter Ricott's [Rycaut's], as a letter inclosed will show him. Begs him to see that no post entry or other cunning trick be put upon them. Will not be forgetful of his care in this behalf. Till he hears from Nicholas will not deliver them, though he should now bring cockets.
- May 18. 81. Wm. Towerson to the same. The Spanish bark Mr. Littleton
London. is to have. Lord Carlisle wrote for the delivery of the bark. Towerson answered that he must first have a discharge from the Lords. Prays that in the order for discharge, provision may be made for payment of charges disbursed by Wentworth, Towerson's son-in-law.
- May 18. 82. Sir Lionel Tollemache to the same. Gave his account to a Fakenham man of his to write it fair, and he is gone away. Cannot therefore Magna. deliver it by the day. Prays Nicholas to get him a longer day of the Lords.
- May 18. 83. Edmund Earl of Mulgrave to Sir Henry Marten. Has Hammersmith. received his letter requiring an account of profits within the Vice-Admiralty of Yorkshire. The Judge of the Admiralty Court at York absolutely debarred the Earl's officer from executing anything belonging to his place, and gave for reason that where there was not a Lord Admiral there could be no Vice Admiral.
- May 19. 84. The King to Sir James Bagg. Warrant to seize for the King's use a Portugal or Spanish ship brought into Plymouth by the Expectation and the Unity, having been surprised without any commission. [Draft much altered by Nicholas, and indorsed by him as "The Draft of an irregular warrant presented by Sir James Bagg

- May 19. 86. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. This morning the merchants brought certain inclosed cockets, but he keeps the goods until he hears from the Lord Treasurer. A pinnace of the Earl of Warwick's, Daniel Hurry, master, came into the Downs, to stop a ship of John Slaney's laden with serges, and bound, as the skipper says, for Bayonne, but it may be for Spain. Understanding the purpose of Hurry, the writer, out of bounden duty to the King, and great good will to the worthy Earl of Warwick, saved his people that labour, and stayed her for his Majesty till she bring a discharge. Learned the news by a Leigh hoy which came out of the Thames with the pinnace, and prevented his Lordship by two or three hours. Begg advice.
- May 19. 87. Note by Capt. John Mason and Matthew Brodley, of speeches uttered by John Griffin, late a trooper under Sir William Cunningham, in the Isle of Rhé, who accused Capt. Mason of cozening the King.
- May 20 ?
Carleton
near Penrith. 88. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. The bearer, his noble friend, has done service in apprehending several of the most notorious malefactors that have been there these many years, whereof eighteen have been executed at Carlisle. In this he has got much ill will, both in England and Scotland, from men of higher pitch than malefactors; wishes him to move the Earl of Holland on the writer's behalf for a poor Stewardship of Penrith courts, which the writer has renewed four times from several princes. P.S. Is advertized that this place is procured over his head by Mr. Tomkins, attendant on the Earl of Holland. He must offend Tomkins or suffer the writer to stand disgraced.

- May 20.
Mary Rose, in

VOL. CLXVII. MAY 21-31, 1630.

- [May 21 ?] 1. Petition of Sir Francis Browne to the King. Prays a renewal of his protection for two years. During the past year has been afflicted with grievous sickness. To satisfy his creditors is his only desire.
- May 21. 2. Lord President Conway to Wm. Trumbull, on a mediation between James Morgan, executor of Serjeant-major Watkins and Jane Watkins the widow, it was agreed that the widow should sue for the moiety of the entertainment due to the deceased Sergeant-major, the executor laying no claim thereto.
- May 21. 3. Mayor and others of Kingston-upon-Hull to the Council. Thanks for their care and his Majesty's grace and goodness in affording their merchants a convoy under Sir Henry Mervyn. It will be necessary to have a constant convoy on those coasts during time of hostility. Sir Henry Mervyn departed on the 18th May instant with 16 sail of ships for Holland, Hamburg, and Eastland, laden with cloth and lead.
- May 21. 4. Capt. Lewis Powell to the Lords of the Admiralty. According to their commands have given at and about Newhaven road since the last spring. The place is very difficult, and seldom they get opportunities of coming forth. On Wednesday three of the five barks got forth in one tide. One of the barks being careless in the stowing of her guns, narrowly escaped upsetting. Solicits order whether they shall remain in the Downs, till the other two can be got forth, or be convoyed over without them.
- May 22. 5. Mayor and others of Southampton to the Council. There came lately to that town three strangers of Dunkirk, Anthony Carpenter, George Cowper, and John Abella, who being at sea in a man-of-war of Dunkirk, and chased by three States men-of-war, put ashore about Portland, as they say; the rest of their company being gone to London another way. Present them to be disposed of as their Lordships shall think fit.
- May 22. 6. Memorandum that Mr. Stone, counsellor at law on behalf of the City of London, and Francis Zachary and others, had attended at the Council Board, ready to defend the liberties of the City, which the Earl of Holland claims in St. Bartholomew's; but by reason of the Earl's absence, they were discharged of further attendance.

- May 22. 7. Mayor and others of Kingston-on-Hull to Thomas Viscount Wentworth, Lord Lieutenant, and President of the Council in the North. On Tuesday the 18th inst., Sir Henry Mervyn departed in the Reformation with sixteen sail of ships, bound for Holland and the Eastland, all laden with cloth. According to his Lordship's advice, they have written letters of thanks to the Council and the Lord Treasurer. In a P.S. it is announced that some of the ships which had sailed with Sir Henry Mervyn for Holland had returned, on the ground that Sir Henry stood not a direct course for Holland, but more to the North. The Master of the Reformation, on being remonstrated with, said, if they would not go his course they might go their own. These ships have this day gone to sea again without convoy.
- May 22. 8. Capt. Sidrack Gibbon to Nicholas. Understands that the Lord Ambassador comes overland. Begg supply of provision. Mr. Slaney had a bark come by to-day that came from Malaga with fruit. She was chased into Dartmouth by three Dunkirkers. As soon as he receives his victuals shall go to the westward with Capt. Plumleigh, who stays for his company.
- May 22. 9. Richard Gybs to Endymion Porter. Is there, lame. Begg a warrant from Lord Suffolk for a buck out of Somersham Park. There are good young does at Rising of the Earl Marshal's. Has tried the largest soles that ever he saw, fried them, and pickled them as Porter taught him; but the oil was bad and hurt them.

That day being past, and nothing by Mr. Edwardes performed, petitioner prays for a final order. 15. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Has discharged all things that were stayed. The winds are so strong at S.S.W. that they cannot possibly get to the Isle of Wight. May 24.

16. Capt. Lewis Powell to the same. On Friday wrote to the Lords concerning the Newhaven barks. Gives a particular report of the state of his victuals, much of which was bad. His ship sprung a leak coming from Newhaven. His master always beastly drunk.

19. Sir Henry Marten and Attorney General Heath to the Lords of the Admiralty. Are of opinion that, as farmers to the King in right of the Duchy of Cornwall, the town of Dartmouth have no right to any droits belonging to the Admiralty; to wrecked goods they have right, but for goods sunk in the sea they have no right. It is just that they whom his Majesty shall appoint may quietly proceed in gaining ordnance and other things specified in the commission to Jacob Johnson, the diver.

Windebank's brother Reade was with the writer last term, about his business in the High Commission. It was resolved to refer the case to the writer as the ordinary, but his counsel said he desired it should be proceeded in by the Commission. If it come to be censured, Reade will have the worst of it. Admit he has other matters against Parson Whistler, what will he gain when both shall be punished by fine and imprisonment?

- May 26. 28. Sir James Cambell, Lord Mayor of London, and others, to the Council. They conceive that the excessive prices of victual at this present chiefly arise from the causes thereafter mentioned. Amongst them are the unseasonableness of the spring of 1629 and

VOL. CLXVII.

1630. the smaller store in consequence of hay, straw, and stover, which discouraged the butchers from making provision of fat cattle; the immoderate rains of the last winter and spring, and the murrain that has ensued. Of late years there have been brought to Cheap-side market upon a Saturday seventeen or eighteen hundred "veals," and this spring not above two or three hundred. The people which are lately gone for New England and other plantations have carried with them great store of victuals. Great scarcity of fresh fish, the fishermen not being able to venture to sea for fear of the Dunkirkers, and for the like cause, corn, butter, and cheese are not brought out of Norfolk, Suffolk, and other parts as formerly.

This man was never out of their county, but only when he was in service.

May 27. 36. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. In a late private Carleton, near conference concerning the Star Chamber bill against the Earl of Penrith. Bedford and others, for publishing a pamphlet projecting means to enrich his Majesty and bridle the impertinence of Parliaments, one then suggested that his Majesty should call into the Mint all the gold, silver, and plate in the three kingdoms, and make every 10*d.* to be by the new coin current 12*d.*, not by embasing but by enhancing the value. Every man bringing in his moneys to have 13*d.* back again in the new coin for his old 12*d.*, so as his Majesty should have a full twelfth part of all the gold, silver, and plate in his three kingdoms, and the subject the same proportion more than he hath, only the merchant will protest against the fall of his commodities, which being examined, will not prove so. - May 31. 58. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to Sec. Dorchester. Understands that the commission for the office of Justice in Eyre, granted to the Lord Privy Seal and others, was but got out for finishing a business which Lord Dauby prosecutes against hunters in Cornbury Park, and that when that cause is censured the Lord Chamberlain is likely to be Justice in Eyre. On the 27th April, an old chest was opened by the Churchwardens of St. Mary, in Lichfield, belonging to the Dean and Chapter there, and found to contain many ancient writings which concern, as well the state of the church of Lichfield, as many private men's inheritances, which chest the Bailiffs and Town Clerk of Lichfield, although warned by the Bishop and others, took out of the church. Pray that they may be sent to to restore the chest until such time as it appear to whom the evidences appertain.

[May ?] 65. Petition of Sir Robert Cotton to the same. His Majesty's displeasure is the greatest unhappiness which can befall a loyal heart. It heartily grieves him to have given occasion of offence. To a prince that vouchsafes his favour and grace, with all humility he most humbly offers his life and future services.

May. 66. Lord President Conway to Foulke Reed. Complains against Purser that he left the house to Mary Smith very much out of repair, that he has encroached upon the land belonging to the house, and that he has committed great spoil in Lord Conway's woods. Anne Cooke is to be informed that it was not Lord Conway who drew her out of the Low Countries, but the importunity of her husband that procured Lord Conway's consent. [Copy.]

 June 1. 6. Ja[mes] Rosse [?] to Bishop Laud. Understanding from St. Julians, Mr. Robert Mainwaring, vicar of Winslow, that upon the petition near St. Albans. of Dr. Brett and others for the Bishop's approbation of the lecture at Winslow discontinued by reason of his Majesty's late Instructions, the Bishop answered that the state of that place was best known to the writer, being official of the archdeaconry of St. Albans, and that the Bishop could give no answer until certified by the writer what was meet to be done. Certifies that the minister of the place is able and diligent, and all the lecturers beside him are of Lincoln diocese and not subject to the writer's visitations. He

 "Mr. J. M." The alterations suggested principally affect the administration of Baptism, and the Lord's Supper, and have for their aim the restoration of passages in the first Liturgy of Edward VI. One example will suffice to show the spirit and nature of the suggested alterations: "In the Exhortation to the Communion;—"Dearly "beloved, for as much as our duty, &c., for otherwise receiving, &c.," "all things to the end are far better in the first [liturgy] than the last:
 "private confession and absolution better and more expressly uttered."

June 3. Docquet of the same.

There are in the city 34 parishes, and there have died of the plague only nine in five houses and three parishes, such deaths being more than 14 days since, and some of them more than a month. State many reasons why the feast should not be postponed, and pray that the holding the same may be left to their care as in the year 1626.

Aboard the Since May 29 had been expecting Sir Philip Carteret. The bark of Convertive at the Coves. ammunition spoken of in their warrant is a non ens, not to be found in rerum naturá, unless one small falcon and four barrels of powder be worthy of that name; all which will not amount to half the charge of convoy. The winds are southerly, and the weather extreme.
- June 6. 23. The same to Nicholas. Is heartily sorry and partly
The Convertive, ashamed that the State can find no more considerable employ-at Coves. ment for the Convertive and the Tenth Whelp than the waftage of Sir Philip Carteret. Incloses copy of a letter that he may see in what sort the writer was forced to quicken him. No greater misery can befall an active man than an employment of this nature, in which there is neither honour nor profit, nor service to be done to the country. Rather than be thus pitifully set a-work would desire to stay at home. Shame he takes to hear the cries of the subject for want of aid against the enemy. Small amount of the ammunition sent, a fitter charge for a patch than a King's ship to convoy. God amend this, or end his employment! Has written to Mr. Alcock about renewal of provisions, and desires his answer may lie at Plymouth, where he will call for it. Intends not to take any harbour till his present supply be spent. Incluses,

23. 1. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Sir Philip Carteret. The State is much abused by his stay and himself much slighted. The West Country is plagued by Dunkirkers, and it were better that Sir Philip should suffer than the generality of the kingdom exclaim. Has expected him six days. If he comes not on the morrow, farewell. The writer is no man's servant but the King's. Convertive, June 4. [Copy.]

June 6. 24. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. The news that her Majesty was delivered of a prince was brought by a gentleman that came from London Tuesday last, so that the writer was the first that had notice of it in that country. Presently gave signs of joy to his neighbours by bells, bonfires, and public thanksgiving. They followed his example in expressions of gladness. Recommends to him the application of the bearer, Mr. Abraham, a relation of Lady Poulett. He has been bred in Flanders from a child, and had his brother slain in Rhé.

June 7. Protection from arrest for John Fowler for one year, from the Westminister. expiration of a former grant. Lat. [Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 9.]

June 7. Grant to John Duncumbe, the King's servant, of the bark of Westminister. trees fit to be barked in the Forest of Dean, and to be cut down by virtue of grants to the late Earl of Pembroke for 21 years, rendering to his Majesty 16*l.* per annum. [Ibid., No. 10.]

June 7. 25. Certificate of William Adams and others to the Lords of the Admiralty, for James Branford to be cook of the Antelope.

June 7. 26. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. According to the order of the Lords, has set down the proceeding between David Robertson, of London. Scotland, and the Hamburgers. Robertson having complained that Alexander Lonek and Michael Utenhove, shipmasters of Hamburg, had robbed him at sea, and not having immediate redress, had procured in Scotland letters of reprisal. The Council deem the grant of such letters premature, and submit certain reasons to his Majesty, why this free rough people should not be provoked, especially against the English, who have goods in their power.

June 7. Bargain and sale of certain household furniture by William Hunton of Bushton [Bishopston?], co. Wilts, gent., to Henry Jay, of Westminister, gent., in consideration of his having undertaken to pay to Edward Nicholas and Richard Dike, both of Westminister, two sums of 50*l.*, which Hunton owes them. Westminster. of the King's gift. [Ibid., No. 12.]
- June 8. Pardon to 18 persons condemned on the Oxford Circuit, some Westminster. having been reprieved because the evidence was not pregnant against them, and others because their offences were small. [Ibid., No. 13.]
- June [8 ?] 27. The Mayor of York to the Council. Thankfulness of the York. citizens of York, for that in their great extremity, after sundry losses by pirates, when they had no power to help themselves, his Majesty, at his own costs, was pleased to furnish a strength of his own navy, to secure their adventures at sea.

Whitehall. from the grounds of Mrs. Mary Thompson of certain masts, part of the lading of the St. Peter of Horn, driven ashore near Arundel, and ordered by the Court of Admiralty to be restored to Jacob Johnson, Ralt, and others of Amsterdam. [Copy.]
- June 9. 30. Report of the Lords Chief Justices Hyde and Richardson to the Council. They find that by an Act of Parliament, made in the first year of Edward III., it was enacted that none which claim to be of the mystery of goldsmiths should keep shop, save in Cheap, to the end that men might see that their ware be good and covenable.
Other act than this they find none, to enforce the goldsmiths to plant themselves in Cheapside and Lombard Street.
- June 9. 31. Henry Earl of Holland to Sir Francis Knollys, Sir Charles Court at Howard, Francis Windebank, John Fettiplace, Henry Powle, and St. James's. Thos. Haward. His Majesty finding his game of deer in Bearwood Chase much impaired, and being desirous to have it speedily replenished, gave order for the remove of a good number of deer to be brought thither, out of some of his parks lately sold; but, because those deer coming into wild grounds could not be stayed, unless some place were fenced to keep them together, it was his pleasure that a hedge should be made about a quantity of ground, since which time the inclosed petition has been presented by some of the inhabitants, who complain against Richard Arrowsmith, the keeper, as also for the preservation of their right of common. Refer these complaints to be examined by them, and a certificate to be made of their proceedings. Annexed,

- June 16. 70. Samuel Vassall to Sir John Wolstenholme. Apprises him of the arrival of the ship from Virginia mentioned in the letter of Nathaniel Musgrove (15 June 1630, No. 63). She was laden "with that drug called tobacco." The quantity to which Vassall was entitled he determined to send to Holland, "to avoid further contention of that pretended duty" which Sir John Wolstenholme demands by way of custom. Having been hindered therein, and the ship stayed for custom, which the writer conceives is not due, he must seek damage for the stay of his ship and goods. If the ship had come up to London he would have paid no more than should have been found due by law, but he would rather lose all his tobacco than pay what Sir John pretends.

10. I. John Moseley to the Council. Taking to heart the differences between the King and his people, which are an evident symptom of the utter ruin of the kingdom, and being a preacher of the Gospel of Peace, he had urged the Lord Treasurer to incline the royal heart to think towards his people thoughts of peace, as hoping that the present disunion proceeds from his misapprehension of their good intentions. - June 18. 11. Henry Smith to his cousin Nicholas. The Lord Treasurer ordered the writer to go with Mr. Gibbons to Mr. Dickenson, to set down a composition for the writer's uncle, Smith's appearance for knighthood, at 50*l.* Gibbons not being at leisure, he begs Nicholas to pay the amount.

The common speech has been that he was mad; none of his friends for a great while were suffered to speak with him. The King went yesterday to Theobalds, and will be back again to night. The Bishop of London will be here to morrow. Begs counsel what the Bishop may solicit on the writer's behalf from the King. Nineteen died of the plague this week.
- June 19. 19. John Heigham and nine others, being, with John Perratt, the garrison at Portsmouth, to John Perratt. Give him power to prosecute their petition to the King.

Pray for a reward.

daily, and the Vice-Chancellor and others, and any persons whom they may license, may repair into the country and return back again from time to time. [Copy.]

June 25. 41. Attorney General Heath to the Council. Reports the past proceedings on the petition of Christopher Bainbridge and others with the Armourers of London, in reference to a grant by James I. to Lawrence Lisle, for the sole dressing of the common arms of the kingdom. The grant to Lisle was condemned in Parliament, because it appropriated the mending of arms to a few, which was fit to be communicated to all men bred up in that trade. It is just and legal for the King to see that these arms are provided and repaired, and he may employ whom he pleases to make his survey, and may forbid tinkers and smiths, and other botchers of arms, to meddle with them. If by these means the armourers may win employment the country shall not want them in time of need. Annexed,

June 25. The same to Sir Robt. Pye. A private gentleman who discovers an enemy's ship, and gives advertisement to an officer, whereby it is seized, may deserve a reasonable reward, but if such a person of himself stays any such ship, in any of his Majesty's harbours, he can claim nothing for his pains, for if such seizures brought advantage to the seizer no vessel would escape, to the discouragement of merchants and prejudice of trade. In the first year of his Majesty's reign he repaired to the Castle of Bristol, and found the ruins exceeding great, and the circuit thereof inhabited by mean inhabitants in little cottages piled one on the head of another, used by many of them as a kind of sanctuary from arrests. The King had no rent, but since it has been leased for three lives at 100*l.* per annum, but that rent is not likely to be maintained, wherefore he does not conceive the grant prayed for by the Corporation will be much prejudicial to the revenue. 1630, July 14. cos. Stafford, Derby, Chester, Lancaster, and other the northern counties, omitting Sir David Foulis, Sir Thos. Posthumus Hobby, Sir Wm. Sheffield, Sir Henry Anderson, and Sir John Lowther, and inserting Richard Dyot.
- July 3. 21. Officers of the Navy to Nicholas. Certain masts lying at Feltham [Felpham], near Arundel, were contracted for, for his Majesty's use, and order given to transport them to Portsmouth, which was resisted by Mrs. Mary Thompson, who hauled them on her own ground and detained them as wreck, notwithstanding a decree to the contrary in the Admiralty. Request him to move the Lords of the Admiralty that she may be sent for to answer her contempt.
- July 3. 22. Sir Euball Thelwall to Bishop Laud. Explains how Jen-Minories. ning's debt concerns him and the college. Denies that there is any cause for clamour against either of them. Upon the Bishop's former letter had done somewhat for the man, which he explains.
- July 4. 23. Charles Harbord to Endymion Porter. Has satisfied the Attorney General of the way the writer has found out to put Porter in possession if the King and the Lord Treasurer hold their intentions therein. For settling the business of Hartwell Park,

Monday next.

All brokers, broggers, hucksters, and others are commanded to register their purchases, or the receiving in pawn of any plate, jewels, apparel, household stuff, books, bedding, or remnants of silks, velvets, or of linen or woollen cloth, in an office instituted for that purpose. - July 5. 25. Minutes by Nicholas of business to be transacted this day by the Lords of the Admiralty: among them, matters indicated in various previous letters; the supply of cordage; Mrs. Thompson's refusal to give up the wrecked masts; Capt. Plumleigh's journal; order for settling two Whelps on the coast of Ireland; a letter from Sir Thos. Button concerning his employment, &c.
- July 6. Proclamation for ease of the subjects in making their compositions for not receiving knighthood according to law. It being inconvenient, chargeable, and at this time dangerous, to draw persons living in parts remote to London to make their compositions, the King has resolved to send Commissions to the several counties. [Coll. Procs., Car. I., No. 129.]
St. James's.
- July 6. 26. The King to the Justices in the Marches of Wales. Understanding by the report of the Lord Keeper and of the late Lord President of Wales, that the letters patent granted to Robert Thorne are void in law, it is appointed that thenceforth the Judges [in the Court of the Marches] shall take the oaths and have the fees for that service. [Copy.]
Westminster.
- July 6. 27. Another copy of the same.
- July 6. 28. Justices of Peace for co. Surrey to Lord Keeper Coventry. Send a petition from the inhabitants of the west part of co. Surrey. A restraint of the use of waggons contained in a late proclamation is greatly detrimental to the inhabitants who dwell "near the wild of" that county. Wains and carts with two wheels are unfit for their employment, especially at this time of year, when they continually employ waggons in fetching chalk from the Downs.

July 6. 31. Wm. Batten to Nicholas. The writer, Richard Bemond, and Owen Jennings went to Mrs. Thompson and demanded the masts. She refused to give them up, alleging that she had sold them, and would avouch the sale. The next day they sent men to dig them out of the shingle, but she was there ready with her tenants with staves and pitchforks, and told them they should not touch a mast there, and that she would indict them for coming on her land. So they went no further in the business.

July 6. 32. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to the same. The weather is so unseasonable for the saving of victuals that he is forced to stay there longer than he had hoped. Capt. Gibbon is supplied with beer and to-morrow puts to sea, to scour the coast about the Land's End.

In October 1628, 28 masts were driven ashore on the lands of the petitioner in Sussex, and were taken by her as wreck of the sea, which she has under a grant of Queen Elizabeth. The owners claimed the same in the Court of Admiralty, but their suit was dismissed with costs. By subsequent proceedings in the absence of the petitioner, a warrant was obtained by the Commissioners [officers] of the Navy for seizing the said masts for his Majesty's use. Prays that the same warrant may be recalled, or that if the navy have occasion for the masts she may have reasonable allowance for the same. Underwritten,

- July 7. 38. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. His voyage has produced neither news nor service. Had brought his ship into Lee Road to be supplied with victuals. Has sent up the Miniken and also the Niver, which he wishes may be allowed to continue with him. It is reported that there is a cessation of arms with Spain, and that the Dunkirkers take nothing from the English.
- July 7. 39. Capt. John Mason to the same. Sec. Coke calls for the warrant for delivery of the Pied-cow to Mason. There is no need of any session of the Lords for that matter.
- July 8. 40. Proposal by Mr. Bartley to make known a secret whereby 4,000 infantry in a level country might defeat 5,000 cavalry.
- July 9. Grant to John Spencer of a gunner's room in the Tower of London, with a fee of 6*d.* per diem for life. Lat. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 14.]

[Draft.]
- July 9. 42. Capt. John Mason to Sec. Dorchester. Hearing of the Secretary's displeasure against the writer, for that the moneys petitioned for by Lieut. Carleton are not paid, he explains that the sum in question is 59*l.* 14*s.*, a gratuity for the time of the Lieutenant's imprisonment in France. Has entered the Lieut's name, and intends to pay him from the first moneys received out of 7,800*l.* appointed to have been paid at Midsummer last. The greatest part of Mason's estate lies in his Majesty's hands for 4,000 suits of clothes furnished to the soldiers two years since.

[Ibid., No. 17.]
- July $\frac{14}{24}$. St. Martin's Lane. 53. [Sir Thomas Roe] to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. His grief at not receiving some further appointment on his return from foreign employment. Loves the King, his religion, the good cause, and his country, and cannot believe but God will look on them; for himself it is sufficient that he observes all men's advancement before him and above him, as astrologers do comets; for the most fixed stars and the highest are least observed. The King of Sweden has landed ere now in Germany, for he was to put to sea in June. Upon anything within England Mr. Comptroller, who is of the Cabinet, and one of those that can read whispers, is much abler to inform her what is thought in the Court than the writer can tell her what is done in Paul's.
- July 14. Whitehall. 54. The Council to all Mayors, Sheriffs, and others. Robert Barker, his Majesty's printer, having informed the Council that some persons have of late secretly printed and imported many English bibles, testaments, liturgies, and other church books, of right belonging to him, and which also tend to corrupting the text, and fostering heresies, the persons addressed are to aid Barker in making search for persons probably suspected to imprint or import such books.

- July 16. Norwich. 4. Mayor and others of Norwich to the Council. Received their order for speedy payment of 166*l.* collected for defence of the Palatinate, and brought into the city treasury. Again inform them that the amount had been disbursed for his Majesty's service. If enforced to pay the amount they must make a tax upon the inhabitants, which will be against right, and grievous and inconvenient in this time when taxes for the relief of the infected are so frequent.
- July 16. 5. Henry Earl of Holland to Sec. Dorchester. Nothing happened since his departure of change there [at Court], or great news from abroad. The despatches he sent, the King has given to the writer to keep until the Sec. returns, which he expects to be at Windsor. He will then review them, and reply. Presents humble service to the Sec.'s noble lady.
- July 16. On board in Tilbury Hope. 6. Sir Henry Mervyn to Capt. Dawtry Cooper. Would appoint him his Lieutenant were he not already engaged to Capt. Fogg. Advises him to apply for Capt. Fogg's Whelp.
- July 17. Ludlow Castle. 7. Sir John Bridgeman and Sir Marmaduke Lloyd, Justices of Chester, to the Council. After the last Assizes they heard the matter between Sir Randall Crewe and the City of Chester. It appeared that the tolls in question were enjoyed by those from whom Sir Randall derives his title, and that the city had taken them for some time, paying a yearly rent of 10*s.* The writers pressed the citizens to show by what title they received the tolls, but none was produced. The writers were fully satisfied that the tolls belonged to Sir Randall Crewe.
- July 17. Dover. 8. Anthony Percival to Nicholas. Sir William Russell having sold the pipe staves which lie at Dover, to one who he fears will not currently pay for them, has desired the writer to demand the same for his Majesty's use, or to receive the money before the purchaser take them into his possession.

corn and victual daily transported to the impoverishing of the kingdom. Hears there be some Lords and new Privy Councillors this day to be made, if there be, prays him to send word.

- July 19. 11. [Lord President Conway] to Sir Ralph Freeman. Requests Langley. him to present a certificate enclosed to the King. The Lord Marshal and the writer are of opinion that it would be royal justice and bounty to pay the arrears due to the person interested, and in lieu of pension to give him 300*l.* more, 600*l.* in all. Secretary Coke differs from them, whereupon they refer the matter to the King's bounty. [Draft.]
- July 19. 12. Justices of Peace for co. Cambridge to Sec. Dorchester. On Saturday last, Cambridge being full of country people, the ostler taking or delivering their horses fell down dead of the plague. The writers renew their suit that the Cambridge people may not spread the infection by leaving the town, and that the markets may be held only on three days, or in the open air.
- July 19. 13. Capt. Francis Hooke to Nicholas. Took, right against Waterford. Waterford. an English bark from a Biscayan man-of-war, which he had captured three days before. Sent 21 Biscayners to Waterford, where they are in the gaol, and has sent the bark to Bristol to the charge of Mr. Kitchen, clerk of the cheque there. There was one Englishman in her, John Tutchin, who is part owner.
- July 20. 14. Exemplification of Letters Patent of Queen Elizabeth, dated 20 April, in the 28th year of her reign [1586] whereby she gave commission to Archbishop Whitgift and others to compound with the creditors of poor prisoners in the King's Bench and Fleet, and upon such composition to set them at liberty: exemplified on the requisition of George Hudson and — Smyth. [Copy.]
- July 20. 15. Capt. Rich. Plumleigh to the Lords of the Admiralty. Has The Convertive in Plymouth Sound. lighted upon a Portuguese taken without a commission by an English Rocheller, bound for Canada. Had left her in Catwater. Her lading is sugar, Brazilwood, hides, and tobacco. The coast is now clear of Biscayners as far as the Land's End, but they are shot up into the Severn. If their Lordships will let him have the sloop and ketch, they shall easily drive them away. The Whelp has spent her foretopmast. Is setting sail to waft the sugars to the Downs.
- July 20. 16. The same to Lord Treasurer Weston. Relates particulars The Convertive in Plymouth Sound. of the capture of the Portuguese vessel above mentioned. Has delivered her to Sir James Bagg's officers until the Lord Treasurer shall determine respecting the property of the goods.

- July $\frac{20}{30}$. 19. Peter Du Moulin to the Duchess Dowager de la Tremouille. Undertook the defence of the late King against Cardinal Perron, and has dedicated his book on that subject to the present King. His Majesty has thanked the writer by Sec. Dorchester, who has assured him of his Majesty's inclination to gratify the writer on any occasion which may arise. Being old and with ten children, he would like, if possible, to obtain from the King the survivorship, for his son Cyrus, of his prebend at Canterbury, which brings him in 1,000 francs per annum. When he was in England he intended to propose this to the late King, but his illness prevented it. As the Duchess is now in England, begs her to intercede with the King on his behalf. Fr.
- July 21. 20. Capt. Sidrack Gibbon to Nicholas. Reports the capture of the Brazilman by "the French man-of-war inhabited here in Aboard the Tenth Whelp." Wants victuals, that he may sail again for the Land's End, whence he makes no great question to bring in another Biscayner. Wishes the Lords would give him the Biscayner he had taken.

Since he was at Nonsuch, where he ended with Sir John Finet before the Lord Chamberlain, a little quietness of mind has begot the inclosed verses on the Prince's birth. His sister and he are thinking of Northamptonshire.

Their Lordships sent for Nathaniel Cox, of Yarmouth, to appear, and on the 7th inst. it was ordered that he should put in caution in the Admiralty Court to pursue his right without delay. Recent foreign intelligence. Proposal of the Emperor that the King of Bavaria should renounce his pretensions. Fears that the Diet at Ratisbon will conclude before the arrival of Anstruther. Anger of Wallenstein against those who talk of a reformation of religion. The King of Sweden having refused an accommodation of the business of Stralsund, his invasion is to be opposed. Wallenstein is desirous to carry succour to the Duke of Savoy. Fr.

July 24. 28. William Willett to Nicholas. Will convey the letter of the Bristol. Lords of the Admiralty to Sir Thomas Button. The Fifth Whelp is at Waterford, with a command from the Lords Justices to waft over the Irish fleet to the Bristol Fair. Many Irish and English barks have been taken by the Biscayners, which makes men fearful to trade for those parts. Wishes an end could be put to the charges respecting the salt prize sent in by the Convertive. They will take away a good part of the principal.

July 24. 29. W. Sanderson to ———. At last the indictment of those

July 25. 30. Francis Earl of Bedford to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador at Woburn. the Hague. The Fen business is so feasible, and may be so profitable, the extent of the drowned grounds by fresh waters being 360,000 acres, that the Earl is very willing to force Sir Henry into such an adventure. Means to venture some part of his own shrunk fortune, and expects some persons of quality and judgment to be there from Sir Henry to join with Vermuyden, by the 14th of August. The Earl being to send and settle two of his younger boys in the Low Countries, his wife has pressed Mr. Blechenden to go with them to see them settled there. Hopes this will not be a cause of misunderstanding between him and Mr. Blechenden.

- July 27. 34. Draft of the preceding.
- [July 27.] 35. The same to the Lieutenant of Dover Castle and Mayor of Dover. Being informed of notable abuses at this time in licences for travel, some under pretence of going to the Spa, and others upon other occasions, the King stops licences which have been granted since the beginning of the present progress, that is, from 14 July inst. [Draft.]
- July 27. 36. Sec. Dorchester to Sec. Coke. Informs him that the King had thought fit to stop all licences for travel as above mentioned, and especially desires him to stay one granted to Lord Chaworth, or if it be delivered, to let his Lordship know that he is not to make use of it till his Majesty's further pleasure be known. [Copy.]
- July 27. 37. Lord Keeper Coventry to Sec. Dorchester. Incloses letter from the Justices of Assize for co. Nottingham concerning scandalous words alleged to have been spoken by one Buller, town clerk of Newark. The report may be brought to the Court in other terms than upon due examination thereof could be maintained by proof, therefore he sends the letters themselves, that he may make use thereof as there shall be occasion. The Clerk of the Assize, whose name is Glover, dwells at Highgate, and has the several examinations in his custody. Inclosed,
37. I. Sir Richard Hutton, Justice of the Common Pleas, and Sir George Croke, Justice of the King's Bench, to Lord Keeper Coventry. When at Nottingham, one Thomas Buller was charged to have said at Newark after Christmas last, that my Lord of Holland had got a great office, and he prayed God he had not sold his conscience to get that office; that the King himself was no divine; and that all or most of his Majesty's Council were Arminians or Papists. This is supposed to have been spoken to one

James Levett. After hearing the matter privately, the writers committed both Levett, who had omitted to inform the Mayor of the words spoken, and Buller, to prison; the former was afterwards discharged on his bond to appear, and Buller was ordered to give sureties for good behaviour and to appear at the next Assizes.

- July 27. 38. Anna Lady Wake to Lord President Conway. Begg his [Chirk ?] favour towards a kinsman of hers in recommending him to Sir James Scott, to make him an officer in his regiment that is now designed for Venice.
- July 27. 39. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. Sends for the King's London. signature a letter for the Lord Chancellor of Ireland, for delivery of the St. John of Hamburg. The goods are left to the ordinary course of justice. Begg that it may be sent to Dorchester's servant Lucas, to be delivered to Fulwood, Coke's secretary, or by post to Coke himself, who proposes to take his journey on Thursday. Increase of the sickness is apprehended.
- July 27. 40. The same to the same. Has sent the bearer to take back from Tottenham. Lord Chaworth's agent the pass and safe conduct which were delivered to him.
- July 27. 41. Attorney General Heath to the same. Sends for the King's signature a privy seal to give warrant to the Lord Treasurer to perfect a contract with Sir Cornelius Vermuyden, also a form of warrant to the Clerk of the Signet, for preparing the letters he mentioned to the Sec. yesterday.
- July 27. 42. [Sec. Dorchester] to Sir Wm. Alexander, Sec. for Scotland.
Nonsuch. Letters of reprisal against the Hamburgers, granted in Scotland, to David Robertson, for a robbery committed at sea by Alexander Lonck, and Michael Utenhove, are to be recalled until justice has been demanded of the Hamburgers. If Sir Robert Anstruther be yet at Hamburg, he can procure Robertson a quick dispatch; if he be at the Diet at Ratisbon, Sir William should write to Joseph Avery, secretary of the English merchants, who has charge of the King's affairs in the Ambassador's absence. The King and Queen are there well, and were both yesterday at St. James's to see the young prince, who prospers exceedingly. The season of the year which ripens affairs as it does fruits, will produce somewhat ere long in foreign parts worth his knowledge, whereof Dorchester will not fail to advertise Sir William and the Lord Chancellor. [Draft.]
- July 27. 43. Wm. Willett to [Nicholas]. Sir Thomas Button came from Waterford with the Irish fleet. The Lords Justices have commanded him to free the passage between Dublin, Holyhead, and Chester, which is infested by a pirate. He needs a supply of victuals. Willett has learned that the Dunkirk ship is adjudged prize to the King. If the commission for sale be addressed to those persons whose names he set down it will be more available to the King.

The petitioners replied to are Jacobs, Godfrey of Rochelle, Mr. Hilliard, Thomas Banister, (Cox ordered to be sent for), and Sir Sackville Trevor. There is also a draft minute of a letter from the Lords of the Admiralty to the officers of the Navy directing them to accept the offers made by the gentlemen of Kent (1630, July 20, Vol. clxxi., No. 18.), concerning the carriage of his Majesty's timber from Badsell to the Medway.

[Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 18.]
- July 28. 45. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. When the writer attended the King at St. James's, he acquainted his Majesty with an inclosed examination, and the general desire of the country that so foul and abominable a fact might not escape punishment. The King was far from thinking such a murderer, a fit subject for his grace, and commanded that execution of justice should not be stayed by any directions from him. Begs the Sec. to give order accordingly. Inclosed, 45. 1. Examinations taken at Thornton, co. Chester, of Edmund Durning and William Grismond, both of Lainterden [Leintwardine], co. Hereford, relating to the murder of Margaret Clarke, who was found in a broom close with her throat cut. 1629, Nov. 1.

Himself, the Seventh Whelp, and the Niver, having put over my Lord Duke for the coast of France, purpose to follow after the Convertive, and to employ himself to and again as occasion shall serve. Begs allowance of men and victuals for the Niver.

July 28. Aboard the Mary Rose in the Downs. 51. Capt. Francis Sydenham to Nicholas. Landed the Lord Ambassador [Sir Henry Vane] at the Brill on the 22nd inst., and made as much of Mr. Samuel Abbot and Mr. Richard Gowlend as he could for Nicholas's sake. Sent the letter to Mr. Mason by Robert Andrews, one of the Ambassador's gentlemen.

July 29. Woking. 52. The King to the Vice-Chancellor, the Mayor, and other Justices of Cambridge. Having received credible information of the dangerous effects produced by the licence for residents in Cambridge to go into the country during this time of danger, and divers Justices of the county having been humble suitors for the re-establishment of the former restraint, the King, in the recess of his Council, interposes his own royal care, and directs that the markets be kept only three days in the week, or that they be held in the open air, and that persons who have removed into the country be forbidden to return to Cambridge unless to abide there, and those in Cambridge be not allowed to go into the country. [Draft.]

July 29. 53. Petition of Thos. Dumvill, one of the poor knights of Windsor, to the King. Sets forth a long series of services in connection with the navy, extending from the voyage of Sir Thomas Candidge [Cavendish] to the South Seas to the building of the Lion's Whelps. Having had a suit in the Exchequer against Nicholas Perkins, bailiff in Dunstable, the sheriff would never arrest Perkins, whereupon the Court amerced him in 78*l.* for contempt. Petitioner prays that the said amercement may be bestowed upon him. Underwritten, 53. I. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a grant accordingly. Woking, 1630, July 29. Annexed,

53. II. *Extracts from Records of the Exchequer evidencing that fines amounting to 78*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* had been set upon Michael Grigg, Sheriff of co. Bedford, for not returning a writ against Nicholas Perkins, in a cause in the Exchequer at the suit of Lucy Colman.*

July 29. Tottenham. 54. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. Sends a letter for the King's signature to be sent into Ireland on behalf of Mr. O'Kith. It is in accordance with the report of Judge Jones and the writer. News from Hamburg that the King of Sweden has taken in Stettin, and that the difference between the King of Denmark and the Hamburgers is not yet composed. Doubts not he has received the pass and safe conduct for Lord Chaworth.

July 29. Wimbledon. 55. Edward Viscount Wimbledon to the same. The King had bestowed on the writer the government of Portsmouth. Requests him to get his Majesty's hand to a warrant drawn by the Attorney General.

perfected, there having been yet no Great Seal. If the Lord Keeper scruples, the writer must trouble my Lord of London to get the Lord Treasurer's mark. He cannot stay longer, Lord Westmoreland having sent his coach half way, and his money likely to fall short.
- July 29. 57. Sir Francis Willoughby to [Capt. John Mason, Treasurer and Dublin. Paymaster of the Army?]. Has found backwardness in procuring the notes of such moneys as have been paid there for the officers.
The Irish regiment is discharged, which will make the ways something unfree for a while, but the country's purses will find ease by it, and have a great deal of other content. Prays him to forget not his suit for Capt. Lewis Williams, by whom a great deal of money is due there. Lady Willoughby brought to bed of a son.
- July 30. Grant to Edward Viscount Wimbledon of the office of Keeper and Captain of the town and Isle of Portsmouth and castle there, as William Earl of Pembroke enjoyed the same. [Docquet.]
- July 30. 58. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to prepare Woking. a licence to Sir Thos. Badger, master of the old Harriers, Sir Timothy Tyrrell, master of the Buckhounds, and Thos. Potts, master of the Privy Harriers, to transport to any parts beyond seas, all manner of hounds, beagles, and hunting dogs, with a special command to the officers of the ports not to admit any other person to transport any kind of hunting dogs.
- July 30. 59. The same to Horace Lord Vere, Master of the Ordnance. War-of the same castle, to be converted into bells for the use and ornament of the church there.

- July 30. 60. Draft of the preceding.
- July 30. 61. Sheriff and Justices of Peace of co. Worcester to Lord Worcester. Treasurer Weston, Lord President Conway, Henry Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal, Edward Viscount Newburgh, and Sec.
Coke. In reference to the Order of the Council for delivery of the castle of Worcester to Giles Clutterbuck, they state that, to gain possession of the same, Clutterbuck lately brought a suit in the Exchequer against George Clarke, the under-keeper of the county gaol, that being the purpose to which the castle has been put time out of mind. The Court dismissed the suit to the Common Law.
The writers pray that the possession may remain with them until they be evicted by due trial at law.
- July 30. 62. Copy of the same.
- July 30. 63. Sec. Dorchester to Lord President Conway. Acquainted his

68. Petition of William Ryley to Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey, Earl Marshal. The Earl having procured the petitioner the place of Rouge Rose, a pursuivant of arms extraordinary, and directed his warrant to the Signet Office for drawing a bill for delivering a coat to petitioner; the bill being now drawn, petitioner sends it to the Earl Marshal to be offered by him according to custom to the King for signature. [Mutilated.]

[July ?]

69. Petition of Edward Goddard to the King. By the death of William Hide a Wiltshire Fellowship became vacant in Exeter College, Oxford. Petitioner's son, Francis Goddard, was chosen on the last day of June last, but Dr. Prideaux, Rector of the College, misled by an untrue certificate, has rejected the election, disfranchised ten of the Fellows of the College, and proceeded with the rest to the election and admission of Thomas Hide, who has 80*l.* per annum left him by his friends. Petitioner not having obtained redress by appeals to "Josua," Bishop of Exeter [Joseph Hall?], and Bishop Laud, the Chancellor of the University, prays the King to refer the business to Bishop Laud. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud.]

[July ?]

70. Petition of Capt. William Killigrew to the same. Sets forth his past services for fourteen years in the wars abroad, and prays that if the Venetian Ambassador obtains licence to levy men in the King's dominions, petitioner may receive such place of employment therein as the King shall think fit.

[July ?]

71. Petition of William Lee to Lord President Conway. Notwithstanding Conway's endeavour to procure Sec. [July ?] 72. Petition of Roger Widdrington to the Council. Being confined to the town of Grantham, but there being special business to be transacted during September in Northumberland, concerning his own poor estate, and the estate of his nephew, son and heir of the late Sir Henry Widdrington, petitioner prays that during that month he may be allowed to repair into his own country.

[July ?] 73. Petition of Thos. Bird, prisoner in Dover Castle, to the same. Sets forth an injustice done to the petitioner by Thomas Higgenson, of Rolvingden, co. Kent, clerk, in obtaining a conveyance of petitioner's lands without payment of the consideration money. Both parties being now prisoners in Dover Castle, petitioner prays the Council to give warrant for bringing Higgenson into the Chancery Court of Dover, petitioner being so impoverished that he cannot follow justice against him elsewhere.

July. 74. John Morris to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks him for promoting the augmentation of the professorship of Hebrew in the University of Oxford. Honour conferred on foreign Universities by their Hebrew scholars, as Mercier at Paris, Drusius at Franeker, Erpenius at Leyden, and Buxtorf at Bale. Lat.

[July.] 78. Account of fees received at the Signet Office during the present month.

[July ?] 79. Petition of Thomas Hilliard, one of the saltpetremen, on behalf of himself and his servants, to the Lords of the Admiralty. By commission, dated 28 April, 5 Car. I., his Majesty authorised their Lordships and their deputies to work for petre in the houses of any of his Majesty's subjects, and within privileged places. About January last, petitioner's workmen endeavoured to dig in the pigeon house of Thomas Bond, who disobeyed the commission, and complained against petitioner, and in February last procured him and his workmen to be sent for by warrant. They have ever since remained prisoners. The articles against them, if stripped of untrue circumstances, are justifiable by the Commission. Pray to be dismissed to their charge and labour in his Majesty's service.

Aug. 1. Proclamation prohibiting the keeping of Bartholomew Fair, Nonsuch. Sturbridge Fair, and Our Lady Fair in Southwark, on account of the plague which threatens London and Southwark, and has much afflicted Cambridge. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 131.]

Aug. 1. 1. Petition of the West India Company of the United Provinces Nonsuch. to the Council. A Spanish galleon, captured by a ship of the petitioners, was about December 1628 cast away at Castlehaven in Ireland. By an Order of Council of 5 Sept. 1628, free passage was granted to all ships of the petitioners, with right to all wreck of their vessels cast away in his Majesty's dominions. They have ever since laboured for recovery of their wrecked goods at Castlehaven, but Jacob Johnson has lately come thither, and has taken away wrecked goods, made ready for removal by the petitioner's workmen. Pray that he may be restrained from interfering. Underwritten, Aug. 1. 2. Edward Viscount Wimbledon to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for Wimbledon. granting his request, especially in a hunting time and a progress. That which stayed his going to Portsmouth was only his commission.

Aug. 1. 3. Edward Lord Newburgh to the same. Sends inclosed Lord Belhouse. Deincourt's answer to Lord Dorchester. The writer applied all the power of his interest and persuasions to bend him to the Sec.'s desires. Inclosed,

3. i. Francis Lord Deincourt to Sec. Dorchester. Is infinitely sorry that it is not in his power to pleasure the Sec. by letting him have his house. The many occasions that draw him to London, with his wife's unwillingness to part with it, disable him from giving his consent. Sutton, 1630, July 21.

Aug. 1. 4. Capt. Lewis Powell to Nicholas. Hears that a charge is to be The Downs. brought against him, said to be in reference to a dead pay. Desires to know what the matter may be, and to come up and meet it. The whole fleet is now in the Downs, except the Tenth Whelp. The Hollanders are in hand for blocking up Dunkirk.

Is come to town to attend this August, but finds none of the Lords in town but the Lord Marshal and Lord Falkland, and none near the town but the Lords Keeper and Treasurer, and no business to do. If the plague increase, solicits permission to retire awhile into the country, leaving one there to receive directions. Sends three warrants to be signed by the Lords at the Court.

7. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Has given leave to Captain Powell to come for London for two or three days, to have conference with his physician, and also to speak about victualling his ship. Unless course be taken for supply of the Seventh and Second Whelps, they must come in. Is going that instant to attend the Duke of Lennox, and purposes to be in the Downs again by Thursday. The Convertive and other ships will go to the West with the first wind. Thanks for his congratulation of Sir Henry's forsaken kindred. His purpose is not to fall from bad to worse. The sense of a resolved sin woke him from that lethargy wherein he saw at hand the shipwreck of reputation and salvation. Hopes the want of grace will never more expose him to such a slumber.

9. Officers of the Navy to Sir George Fane [Vane]. John Wall, their purveyor for timber in those parts, is instructed to bring in 500 loads of timber during the present year, and 300 loads in the year ensuing. 10. [Sir Thomas Roe] to Charles Viscount Wilmot. Is newly arrived from a hard journey. Gives account of the truce he had effected between Poland and Sweden. By it the glorious king of Sweden was set at liberty, and had landed in Pomerania, and taken Rugen and a pass near Wolgast. If he be not supported he will make peace with advantage, and return full of glory. Gives a brief glance at the state of affairs throughout the continent of Europe. The English court is a labyrinth of which he has not the clue. The way to heaven is strait and narrow, and in this only the court is like it; there is but one entrance. He expects little there. If anything falls it must proceed from the goodness of the King, who professes to take care of the writer. No show of altering the government of Ireland. Lord Falkland stands stiff to return, or to have recompense, so that the king's service is become a burden which was

13. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Has received a letter from the Earl of Bedford about the sessions of Sewers for the Great Fens, which much concerns the King's service. Begg him to procure the King's signature to a letter thereon.

Aug. 3.

14. Lord Treasurer Weston [to the same]. Is commanded by his Majesty to send for him with all speed, to confer about some business of importance, of which the writer is to give his Majesty an account upon Saturday at Farnham. Begg him to tell his Lady that it is not the writer's fault so soon to call him from his ease and pleasure.

15. Sentence passed in the Court of High Commission at York upon Peter Smart, for publishing and preaching a factious, scandalous, and schismatical sermon in the Cathedral of Durham on 27th July 1628. He was to make public submission in the Cathedrals of York and Durham, and at the High Commission Court in Durham, to be suspended from his ministry, to pay a fine of 400*l.*, to be condemned in expenses, and to stand committed until he give caution to perform that order. 19. Capt. John Mason to Sec. Coke. On 28th July the three estates convened, and before their rising that day was granted payable in four years 400,000*l.* Scottish money, which makes 33,333*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* English coin. On the 30th, into the Lord Chancellor's chamber, he lying sick of the gout in his bed, were gathered the Council to hear read the King's letters and instructions touching the fishings. They were afterwards represented to the three estates, and a committee was agreed upon which should give a resolution to the propositions; but little can be done until they have returned home, and have treated with their people, and then commissioners will be sent to London to give resolution. John Hay violently opposes and accuses the Earl of Seaforth for bringing in the Hollanders. The Lord Chancellor and others labour with great ferventness to set forth the work. As touching their woods, is confirmed in his opinion that masts and ship timber may be served from thence, a sample whereof he hopes to present to the King in London if he be not disappointed in the St. Anne.

Aug. 4.
Scadbury.

20. Sir Thomas Walsingham to Nicholas. If there be still transportation of corn and victual will make it known to the whole Council. Lord Thanet, in the writer's absence in Norfolk, wrote to his father that Sir Dudley Digges gave out that he should have a new commission of Vice-Admiralty that would drown that of the writer. For the value of the place he does not care, but for Sir Dudley to come over his head he should be very loath, neither would he endure it. For all his great words will not forbear to execute his place within Sir Dudley's hundred of Faversham that he has newly purchased.

[Farnham.]

21. Officers of the Navy to the same. Now that they are met at Farnham, they find no warrant for their proceedings. It is showed to them that it was Sec. Coke's direction that Nicholas should get the Commission dispatched. If the stay arise from there not having been an order for payment of the fees, pray him to lay out what is needful, and send the commission to them at Portsmouth.

London. 23. Alexander Feris to Sir John Heydon, Lieutenant General of the Ordnance. Reports interviews with Sir Kenelm Digby on the subject of the contract for supply of gunpowder. Sir Kenelm said that "my Lord's" [Lord Treasurer's?] mind was altered, because Mr. Evelyn had offered to serve in all the powder at $8\frac{1}{2}d.$ the pound. Sir Kenelm would not bring the writer to see "my Lord" unless he was prepared to make a lower offer than Mr. Evelyn; the writer desired to have speech with "my Lord" in order to advise a better course for the King.
- [Aug. 5 ?] Sir John Heydon to the King. Letter or petition praying him to give directions for a speedy prosecution of the Commission for inquiry into the state of the Ordnance, that so those that are delinquents may receive their just censure, and such as have faithfully acquitted themselves may no longer have to endure indignities beyond patience, nor remain obnoxious to indirect aspersions and malicious scandals. Wimbledon. 25. Edward Viscount Wimbledon to Sec. Dorchester. When the Lord Mayor waited on his Majesty at Whitehall for his confirmation, his Majesty commanded him that when he went his visitation of the river Thames he should send word to the Court, his Majesty on account of past neglects having resolved to send some of his Council to visit the river with the Lord Mayor. The King appointed the writer, Lord Falkland, Sir Thomas Edmondes, and his Majesty's surveyor, Inigo Jones, as Commissioners, but the visitation was left to under officers, and the Lord Mayor neither went himself, nor sent to the Commissioners.

Arundel House. 26. Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey to the same. Sir Robert Mansell conceiving that a Patent lately signed by the King might be prejudicial to him, the Earl is willing that the words "glass and "glassworks only excepted" may be inserted into the bill signed.

London. 27. Philip Burlamachi to the same. Sends foreign letters. Signor Daniel Nys has sent a man express hither to intreat the King that he may be satisfied for the statues, but without paying Burlamachi the money he has disbursed for Nys. Hopes his Majesty will not allow him to lose this considerable amount, expended in a business in which he had no interest, except to fulfil the King's command to procure the statues to be sent to England. On taking to the Chancellor the parchment for the exiled ministers of the Palatinate, it has been found that it wants the order to pass by immediate warrant. The ministers of the Flemish Church have requested Burlamachi to send it to the Sec. for rectification. Fr.

Aug. 6. Bristol. 28. Robert Kitchen to Nicholas. About 20 July there came in there a small English bark which had been taken by a Biscayner that did much spoil in that channel, and was retaken by Captain Hooke, of the Fifth Lion's Whelp. She is not worth above a hundred marks; four poor seamen own her, and she is their whole living. Capt. Hooke has disbursed 8*l.* for her.

- Aug. 7. Farnham. 34. Sec. Dorchester to Lord President Conway. The affairs of the world, like fruits, are grown ripe with the season. The Duke of Mantua has capitulated for himself and a few more, the rest of his town being sacked after a long siege. Death of the Duke of Savoy after having seen Saluces lost before his eyes. The King of Sweden has entered Germany with a powerful army, which diversion is like to make the peace of Italy. Now the great ones have eaten up the less (the Austrians the Mantuan, and the French the Savoyard), a pill composed of plague, famine, and war being ministered to them by Mazarin, a Spanish doctor, they are ready to vomit all again. At Farnham their tents are set up like Tartars, and they hunt before and after noon like Indians, as if they should dine and sup on nothing but what they kill.
- Aug. 7. 35. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Sir Thomas Frere [Fryer] and Colonel Hakluyt have brought a reference to the Lord Treasurer concerning a parcel of coppice wood enclosed in the Forest of Dean. Sir Alexander Hume has petitioned for the same thing, and the Lord Chamberlain claims an interest. Besides which there is a decree in the Exchequer that the King should make no improvements in that forest without the commoners' consent. Sir Thomas and Colonel Hakluyt hope the Sec. will find some way to help them.
- Aug. 8. Farnham. 36. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to prepare a commission to Philip Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, to be the King's Lieutenant within cos. Somerset, Wilts, and Cornwall.

38. Philip Burlamaqui to Sec. Dorchester. Understands that the man sent by Signor Nys has gone direct to the Court. Explains therefore the actual state of the affair. The King has caused several letters to be written that he wished to have the whole collection, and the Lord Treasurer, in the King's name, is bound for the payment. Believes the King continues in the same mind, but if there be a change in that respect, and Nys and the writer are left to proceed against each other, the letters of the writer, Mr. Carey, and others who signified the acceptance of the bargain, and that of the Lord Treasurer, promising payment, will be produced. Wishes him to consider the consequence to the reputation of his Majesty. Is obliged to say this, although in favour of a wicked man, who deserves a stroke of a poignard from the writer rather than any favour. Begs a word of explanation as to what Nys's agent has negotiated. Both master and servant act towards Burlamachi with all kinds of falseness. Fr.

40. Sec. Dorchester to Bishop Corbet of Oxford. When the progress proves a regress, it may very well fall out that the Sec's. wife will meet him at Brightwell, with some good company out of Suffolk, where she now is with her friends. In the interim desires a fit seat in the church may be made for her at his charge. There was one anciently for the Mistress of Brightwell in the chapel where his father's and grandfather's tombs are, but that is in decay, and too much out of hearing. The place where a woman's pew already stands were the fittest for a divided pew, one for herself and the other for her women, and it would be more convenient if the pulpit were removed to the other side of the church, with the pew made for Mrs. Howson, whereby all would be well accommodated both for the Sec. and the Bishop, against he returned to have women in it as the Sec. had done.

victualling of the several vessels under his command. Begs they may be supplied at Portsmouth. What service can they expect, or how can they keep the sea, when at every turn one ship or other must run in to supply some wants. The King loses his charge, and the writer his esteem in their opinion. Fourteen sail of Spanish ships of war are coming out of Dunkirk. Has promised the Hollanders, who have but ten ships, his aid, and hopes that want of victuals will not make him worse than his word.

42. Sir Henry Mervyn to Nicholas. Plumleigh went to the westward on Saturday last. He was before at sea, and made stay of a French ship. Sir Henry found him in the Downs, magnifico like, when he returned from Dieppe, where he landed the Duke of Lennox on Friday last. Could find no colour for his bringing the ship out of her way, and therefore discharged her. The gentleman loves to make a noise of nothing. He has Captains that know neither how to command nor how to obey. Intreats him, if he loves the honour of the service, to solicit that their ships may be victualled at Portsmouth for so long time as it is intended they shall stay forth.

Roe knows that she was very confident in her brother's promises, and though he has altered his mind in that, she hopes his good nature will not suffer him quite to abandon them, though a peace with Spain be very dangerous to them and all the public. The King of Sweden still prospers, which she hopes God will continue.

49. Thomas Earl of Haddington to James Earl of Carlisle. Thanks for a letter in which the Earl addressed had urged the writer to bend his full endeavour to further the King's designs for applying the benefit of his fisheries to the commodity of his subjects and strength of his monarchy. In the late convention the writer exhibited his zeal to advance that project in a way which should be an answer to malicious reports. Since the death of the late King never presumed to beg any recompense from the heir of his blood, crown, and virtues. Sends this letter by Lord Traquair.

Hopes the lines are strong enough to bind Robin Maule and Jack Crofts from ever more using the phrase. Sends a cast of merlins, and will not tie him to so strict conditions as Sir William Brownlow did the writer when he gave him a goshawk, and desired him to accept her as if she were better. Has received a letter written by his son to the Sec., in which are declared some passages of business in those parts of the world, but the writer will shew him of wonderful things which are like to come to pass before the year 1666, when the beast of propheticall Scriptures, whom he interprets to mean the Eagle with three heads, namely, France, Spain, and the Emperour, is to be no more. The particulars of these things which God had given him he was about to present to the King in a book which he had in hand, but could not finish by reason of his employment for his Majesty's and the Queen's fruits.

- Aug. 13. 54. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Had orders from Sir Isle of Wight. Henry Mervyn to go for the westward, and take with him the ketch and the Tenth Whelp, but they are not ready, so that he must along alone. Has put in there to take in some water to drink, for all their beer stinks, and he hears nothing from Alcock. His men are all in an uproar, but he feeds them with fair words till he can get to Plymouth, where, if he finds no order for beer, he shall be sure of a plain mutiny.
- Aug. 13. 55. William Willett to the same. Has given his letter to Sir Bristol. Thomas Button, to the purser of the Fifth Whelp, which is still in that river staying for a wind. The part victualling of the King's ships there and in Ireland hinders the service. Mr. Drake, according to the Lords' order, had sold the writer the sugars. Most of them are very coarse, and must to his city. They will not vent at Bristol. A cask of two cwt. will be sent him from the Three Cups in Bread Street, which Mr. Drake and himself present to Mrs. Nicholas. No good news from sea; not a prize these three months. Shall be glad to receive an order for sale of the St. John.

His intended journey would be too tedious and dangerous overland; they are therefore required to give orders that he and his followers be received for his passage into the said countries into such one of their ships as he shall make choice of, and that the great cabin be allowed for himself and his train, consisting, at the most, of six persons. Having the commodity of the Lord Traquair, he sends the Sec. his thanks for his continual demonstrations of love and respect, and assures him that if it were in his power to do otherwise, he would not die so deeply indebted to any as he is to Dorchester.
- Aug. 15. 67. Dr. James Chambers to the same. Arrangements in the nursery of the young Prince, on one of his nurses being seized with ague and threatened jaundice. He thrives well. He has neither sucked nor wakened but once all that night, and is yet asleep. His favour and complexion amend daily. Agues are sharp and frequent. The Lady Governess has had two smarting fits. Aug. 16. 72. Sec. Coke to Sec. Dorchester. For the great business of the Tottenham. Irish plantation of the Londoners, Sir Thomas Phillips sent him such a load of writings, that the perusal has spent all his time till now. But if he and the rest will peruse his collections, they shall find them well worth the labour. The Londoners are powerful, and have many advantages; the business is also very intricate, but he hopes the King and they will see that he has not spared endeavour to make it plain, that if his Majesty may have right, which without strong resolution will hardly be obtained, he may break the confidence of the times that have encroached upon him, and increase his royalties and revenue. Is thoroughly tired with this work, and the sickness of his son is some distraction to him; is, therefore, glad to have his Majesty's leave to see his house in Derbyshire, and take some fresh air.

Aug. 16. 73. William Earl of Salisbury to the same. Apologises for not Hatfield. before returning thanks for the speedy dispatch of his late favour received from the King. By Dorchester's letter to Lord Doncaster, perceives that in this time of progress he can write to his friends. Intreats that when ordinary occurrences come to his knowledge, which are fit for the Earl to know, he will make one of his secs. send the same to Salisbury House, indorsed to the Earl. Will not fail to make Lord Denny partaker. The Earl's daughter is a mother of "a female animal," and the Earl a grandfather.

Aug. 16. 74. Sec. Coke to Nicholas. Sends a warrant signed. Takes his Tottenham. journey towards Derbyshire to-morrow morning. Wishes him to let the Lord Treasurer know that he has been delayed by the business of the Irish plantations, and that he shall return within a month, or sooner, if necessary.

- Aug. 17. 77. John Ellzey to Nicholas. Expected Nicholas there, and to take a hard lodging with him, when the King was in the New Forest; but he had been there four nights. Sends account of tenths received out of the Phoenix, of Homflett [Honfleur?], taken by Capt. Chantre. Wishes order for the sale of these tenths, and those of Capt. Scras's prizes.
- Aug. 17. 78. Colin Earl of Seaforth to James Earl of Carlisle. Commends his care for the welfare of Scotland, as exhibited in his recommendation to his noble friends to go forwards in the association with the English in the enterprise of fishing. The Lord Chancellor and the Earl of Morton left no argument unuttered, which might induce their countrymen, and especially the burghs, to concur therein. Disinclination of the burghs to admit any association either of countrymen or strangers. They like not that noblemen or gentry should understand matters of industry. They will do what they can to move the King to delay. If he will look to the good of his kingdoms, or his particular profit, he will presently establish a burgh as he intended in Lewis.
- Aug. 18. 79. Foulke Reed to Lord President Conway. Philip Clough comes up about the park pales. Edward Hughes is gone towards Lord Conway with a spar-hawk. A brickmaker has found good clay at Luddington. A brick or two shall be sent to his Lordship. Desires to know what quantity of land is to be drowned for the fish pond.

them the same favour. Pledges himself that this is desired only to prevent any interruption that may be given them to prejudice his proceedings.

jecturing what effects such a loss may produce, but compassionating so great a prince's extreme and unexpected miseries. The estates of Scotland assembling in as great a number as usual yielded all that was demanded by his Majesty, either for his own supplies or for the

89. Sec. Dorchester to Attorney General Heath. On the decease of the late Earl of Pembroke, two places of command became vacant in that country; the Captainship of Portsmouth and the Constableness of Porchester, with the Lieutenancy of the forest of Southbere. The first having been given to Viscount Wimbledon, the King is pleased to bestow the latter on Sir William Uvedale, Treasurer of his Majesty's chamber, during pleasure. Lord Wimbledon uses authority in Porchester as if it were passed to him in his grant, but his Majesty having called for the docquet thereof finds no mention therein of Porchester. It was ever the King's purpose to sever these commands, the Attorney General is to prepare a grant to Sir William Uvedale accordingly. [Draft.]

His Majesty has commanded the Sec. to let the Lord Mayor know, that the Commissioners were not appointed to be feasted, but to see that service effected the neglect whereof his Majesty takes very ill.
- Aug. 25. 96. James Earl of Carlisle to Sec. Dorchester. Regrets that they

- Aug. 26. 98. Bre. [?] Lady Underhill to Sec. Dorchester. Regrets the inability of her knight, her sister, and herself waiting upon him at Brightwell, on account of being disappointed of the coach she trusted to. Her sister will no more come so far out of the way that she cannot hear from all her friends, for nothing else will give her content. She wishes to see Dorchester and Brightwell, because both places receive their honour from him, which she may do at her return in her journey to London. The writer will accompany her in order to present her respects to the Sec. and his lady. Thanks for warrants for venison.
- Aug. 26. 99. Richard Lord Lovelace to Francis Windebank. Since the Blountesdon. writer came from his house at Hurley, Sir Edward Clarke, of Arding-

The writer's wife regrets that she had not the honour to welcome the Sec. to her country house.

Aug. 28. 102. [Lord President Conway] to Robert Greville. His tenant Clough has been with him about a wrong done by a keeper of the person addressed, and has requested Lord Conway's permission to seek a remedy by law. He refused until he had acquainted the person addressed therewith, and received from him or Lord Brooke such satisfaction as he is assured they will give. Wonders at his having advised Clough to seek satisfaction by calling out the keeper. Has intreated his cousin Reed to shew him the informations Lord Conway had from Clough. [Draft.]

The winds being contrary for the westward he had wafted into the Downs the London, an Indiaman, of 1,000 tons, from Bantam. Fourteen sail of Dunkirkers "gotten out." Twelve Biscayners lie at the mouth of the Channel to intercept the poor people ready to come in from Newfoundland. The Lords should command some other ships down, or revictual the Convertive for six weeks longer, by which time the Newfoundland ships will all be at home.

- [Aug. ?] 111. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for a letter of the 9th inst. respecting Nys. Protests that if it were not for the writer's respect for the honour of his Majesty, he would run the risk of ruining Nys, even although the writer lost all that he was out of pocket. Has solicited the Lord Treasurer for him, but ready money there is none. The Lord Treasurer wishes the Sec. to solicit the King as to what instructions he would give Burlamachi respecting his demanding the remainder of the dower, and that the Sec. would inform him what were the objections which the French made when the amount was formerly demanded. Dorchester's secretary Nicolls had reminded Conway of the business of Jersey, and furnished him with the return made by him and Sir William Bird. - Sept. 1. Audley End. 2. Theophilus Earl of Suffolk to the same. There is stayed at Dover, John Good, a gentleman who had a pass from the Council Board to travel for three years. John Langton and William Pitt, who pretend to be merchants, and Edward Barton who subscribed his mark but is a ready scholar, are stayed for the same cause.
- Sept. 3. Reformation in Stokes Bay. 3. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. The Holland men-of-war have been ranging to and again to the northwards after those Dunkirkers which were on that coast, so as those parts are by that means cleared. Till some better course be taken they can expect no service to be done of any consequence. Suggested change of the Swiftsure for the Reformation. The supply of powder obtained at Portsmouth was that taken out of the mine ships from Rochelle. Usefulness of the St. Claude.

Prays the release of the prisoners. Annexed,

- twenty or thirty thousand pounds. Will keep the sea until his victuals be ended, and if no more come, carry his ship into harbour. Vows to God he is ashamed of so much neglect. Admits, in answer to a question from Nicholas, that he has had conference with Sir Kenelm Digby, about parting with his place, on condition to get in his arrears of 10,000*l.* from his Majesty; or 5,000*l.* of his arrears and 3,000*l.* for his place, which was the sum it cost him, but this was never in the way of serious treaty. Lord Dorset had written to him on the subject.

- Sept. 10. Wanstead. 16. The King to Bishop Davenant of Salisbury. Understands by the petition of Andrew Bird, schoolmaster of the Free School of Reading, that the inhabitants of that borough have long enjoyed one free school, without any molestation of any other attempting to teach grammar in that town, but such only as have been tolerated to initiate children for the public school. Yet of late there has been a licence granted by his Chancellor to one to teach grammar there, which tends to the prejudice of the borough and school. It is the King's pleasure that he cause that licence to be revoked. [Draft.]
- Sept. 10. St. Cross. 17. Dr. William Lewis to Sec. Dorchester. The Warden of Winchester is now dead. He took his sickness in overheating himself. Prays for his Majesty's letters to the College on behalf of Mr. Robinson, whom the Sec. heard preach at Beaulieu. He was King James's chaplain, and was sworn chaplain to the present King at Beaulieu. He was schoolmaster at St. Cross for 14 years. Notwithstanding the great name of St. Cross, the writer's income is not 300*l.* per annum. Requests Windebank to write to Moore to the same purpose, "as from my Lord," also to Mr. Terry to the same purpose, and to Windebank's kinsman, Reade, that so he may answer his friends who press him for Dr. Robinson.
- Sept. 11. Aboard the Constant, in Dover Road. 20. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Also, of 14 sail of Dunkirkers and their prizes, which set sail from under Beachy, and were lost in the dark. Suggests fit ships to go for Spain and others to remain in the Narrow Seas.
- Sept. 11. Dover Road, under sail. 21. The same to Nicholas. Purposes to be in the Downs about Thursday next at farthest, where he would gladly hear how he should be disposed of. The seas begin to swarm with Dunkirkers. While his victuals last will keep the sea until he has met with some of them or made them seek another haunt.

[Draft.]
- Sept. 13. 25. Justices of Middlesex to the Council. Suggestions on printed orders sent to them for regulation of the price of provisions. Dare not advise them to fix the prices of corn and victual, but that such as buy to sell again should be proceeded against as engrossers at the common law.

Asks his advice as to writing to his Majesty, whether he should write often or only on particular occasion. Would have followed his advice in going to Ratisbon, but for the sudden alteration in Germany.
- Sept. 13. 27. George Tayler, purser of the Assurance, to Nicholas. Had assigned his place over to the bearer John Hart. Requests Nicholas to assist him to procure a warrant for the same.
- Sept. 14. 28. Theophilus Earl of Suffolk to Sec. Dorchester. Incloses a Audley End. petition and pass sent to him. Has been pressed to take bond for the petitioner's appearance at the Council board, yet because of his refusal of the oath of allegiance has forborne.
- Sept. 14. 29. Sir John Carleton to the same (his uncle). The Commissioners of Sewers have agreed with Sir Cornelius Vermuyden for the draining of the fens. The King for his favour is to have 30,000 acres. If Lord Dorchester would speak, he could not miss to have thereout 3,000 acres. If he does not get a grant of the King immediately, he will be prevented by others.

For Maidstone itself, various excuses are put in ; that they are the King's servants, that they dwell in the Cinque Ports, that they are not seized of 40*l.* per annum, or that they had so much then, but are decayed since. Send the names of the most backward, with their answers, and beg to know whether these answers be allowable.

Return particulars of berths proposed by them for the King's ships at Chatham and Portsmouth, the situation chosen at the latter place being that branch of Portsmouth water that goes up to Fareham, as most convenient for depth of water and safety from storms and surprise of enemies. They also report on the number of ships proper to be kept at Chatham and Portsmouth, which are the ships fittest to be kept ready for service, and what are their wants in cordage and rigging. Inclose,

- Sept. 17. 35. Capt. Dawtry Cooper to Nicholas. Since writing the inclosed Aboard the [his letter of the 12th inst., No. 23?], he had met with his Admiral Seventh Whelp, [Sir Henry Mervyn?], who said that it belonged to him to complain in the Downs. of contempts of such a high nature as that against Mr. Mellow, and that his opinion was that Nicholas would not undertake to close a business of that sort for any gain. If it be so, prays Nicholas to accept Cooper's intentions. If he hears of a Spanish voyage, prays him to put Lord Dorset in mind of his promise that Cooper should be one.
- Sept. 18. 36. The King to Edward Earl of Dorset, Sir Heneage Finch, Re-others, Committees for relieving and increasing skilful workmen of the Company of Workmen Armourers and Gunmakers, to Attorney General Heath. To draw up a commission to certain persons under named for making and repairing all arms of the trained bands throughout England and Wales. [The persons named are Christopher Bainbridge, and various others indicated as Commissioners and Assistants, Armourers, and Gunmakers.]

- Sept. 18. 38. Duplicate of the preceding, omitting the names of the Commissioners and Assistants, signed by Viscount Wimbleton.
- Sept. 18. 39. Alice Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. The bills of the sickness induce a fear of a winter plague, which will not suffer her to return so soon as she determined. Harkelos Undrill [Sir Hercules Underhill] affords her good welcome. He holds his determination to bring his lady to wait on the Sec. at Brightwell. Thanks for venison, which has caused many merry meetings. Is glad that Lady Dorchester is coming to Imbercourt, that she may be near the Court. Family matters, in which she mentions her brother Underhill and her sisters Gleemon [Glemham] and Williams.
- Sept. 18. 40. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. This day arrived in 1630. claim. Desires order to dispose of them. Delabarre has offered a gratuity to the writer's wife, imagining the writer to be as corrupt as he thinks Delabarre is.

- Sept. 18. 42. Thomas Viscount Wentworth [to Bishop Howson, of Durham ?]. Mr. Smart, resolved against that which conscience and good discretion might persuade him to, is willing to resign his prebend's place at Durham to Mr. White, of York, a good preacher and very honest man. Begs the favour of the person addressed on White's behalf.
- Sept. 18. 43. Peter Smart to the same [?]. His troubles have been great, and of long continuance. He has wasted all his estate in law, into which he has been violently drawn by his adversaries. But his heart is not dejected, and his conscience is clear that he has not offended against any point of doctrine or discipline of the Church of England, whose conformable son he is, and a persuader of others to conformity, as he purposes to make good in his Apology. Is threatened that he may be deprived of his livings and degraded. To the intent that he may not be capable of either, he desires to resign his prebend to Miles White, a M.A. of 16 years' standing, one of the best preachers in York, of good conversation and esteem. He is a Durham man, and in time past was Smart's scholar. His benefice of Bowdon he also resigns into the Bishop's hands, but desires that out of charity his successor would allow him to dwell in the house this winter, and enjoy the benefits for one twelvemonth.
- Sept. 18. 44. Depositions of John Paine, Richard Rusten, Thomas Witham, and Cuthbert Kid, that good bail was offered for John Baker when he was arrested by Thomas Smith, but that the same was refused, and that Baker was violently assaulted and ill-used by Daniel Smith, father of Thomas Smith. The parties were of Barlowe, [Barley, co. Herts.] [See Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. vi., p. 49.]
- Sept. 19. 45. Sir Henry Mervyn to the Lords of the Admiralty. Has ordered the Mary Rose, Seventh Whelp, and Miniken to range the northern coast between Newcastle and Orfordness, so that colliers and fishermen may follow their employments. When the Second Whelp returns from Holland, will send her to the northward, and recal the Mary Rose, bringing the Reformation into Chatham, and sending the Convertive to Portsmouth for further orders. The complaints he made to the Earl of Dorset at Tichfield, touching the abuses of pursers, are the same presented in his letter to the Lords of August 10. Will give them a more particular account, and is joyful that they purpose to redress such inconveniences.
- Sept. 19. 46. The same to Nicholas. Wonders what ale is now brewing. Never made complaint at Tichfield to the King in presence of Lord Dorset, only my Lord and the writer had some discourse of neglect of his Majesty's service, by straggling receipts of victuals and abuses of pursers, in general terms. The Earl's zeal has carried him further than Mervyn intended, but he will give account, and is glad their Lordships are so sensible thereof. If the resolution to fit out certain ships continues, prays early notice. Would have Henry Palmer to go in the Adventure, though as a private captain, to bring himself again into the service on any terms, and after work himself more right. Wishes the St. Claude to be one, and that "Mints" [Mennes?] had her, that he might once more have some captains that had passed their a, b, c. Wishes John Vinckley to be her boatswain, unless Nicholas desires any one for his particular advantage. As for the peace with Spain, he is indifferent. As soon as the Constant comes in for Chatham, shall have time to see him. Recommends Robert Toope and William Bower for survey of lands.

Oxford. leaving them to the freedom of election, take advantage thereof, and are like factiously to prefer the man of their choice before him whom his Majesty commends to them. Suggests another letter that the King expects their conformity.

Sept. 20. 48. Lord President Conway to the same. When he was at Langley. London last recommended to him a suit for his Majesty's letters to the Emperor of Russia for some provisions of corn to be made in his country. Left the paper with Dorchester's secretary, Mr. Lucas. Begg him to give the petitioner a speedy dispatch, the time of year being far spent.

Sept. 20. 49. Sir Thomas Roe to Henry Earl of Holland. Has bought a Stanford. cell to spend the latter part of his age to his own use. His great affection for the Earl. Intreats him to cast his nativity, and counsel him whether he may be acceptable to the King and fit for these times, if not, there is no man who can retire with more ease or live in a less circle. Drake's ship, which was docked up at Deptford, had more honour than if she had gone to sea and perished. Shall come up this winter to look on awhile, and if then he may receive any mark of his Majesty's grace, he will not run from the sunshine; otherwise he will seek it on a green bank, where poor men enjoy it as warm as kings' favourites. If Holland will help the cripple at the pool's side, he shall be his good angel. Contents of letters from the King of Sweden. From Holland hears that our Ambassador has moved the States to make peace with Spain. How unseasonable and impolitic such a proposition. Puts him in mind of the King of Denmark. We can make no fruitful confederacy but in the north, nor recover our reputation but in our own element, the sea.

Sept. 20. 50. Petition of William Dawes, boatswain of the yard at Deptford, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Being in the King's yard, Robert Ingoe served a warrant upon him to appear before Justice Allabaster, at the suit of John Carter, and not long after Carter caused Nicholas Collins to arrest petitioner. Prays that Ingoe, Carter, and Collins may be brought before the Lords to answer their contempts.

- Sept. 22. 54. Capt. Henry Skipwith to Sec. Dorchester. Paris. for the winter, where he is much taken notice of, and not suffered to live within the compass of his small means. Begs Dorchester to persuade the Duchess to be content with the Duke's expences. He pays 50 crowns a month for his house, buys a coach and four horses, and maintains them, has ten servants, whereof five are gentlemen, has bought new liveries for a coachman and three lackeys, all which, with five or six several exercises, cannot be defrayed at 2,000*l.* a year. 500*l.* a year addition is solicited. The apprehension of his expences being beyond his income will clog and dull his spirit, which wants quickening. Here are a great many Englishmen under his quality who live at higher rates.
- Sept. 23. 57. Certificate of Phineas Pett and others in favour of Henry Hall, of Poplar, to succeed John Neale, late anchor-smith at Chatham. [Underwritten is a recommendation of Kenrick Edisbury, that Hall should rather be appointed to make great anchors at Deptford, where there is a great forge purposely built at his Majesty's charge. 1630, Oct. 1.]
- Sept. 24. 58. Petition of Thomas Kynaston, one of the yeomen ushers of the chamber, and Richard Batten, one of the ordinary yeomen of the same, to the King. By Acts of Parliament of 1 Elizabeth and 28 Henry VIII., penalties and forfeitures are imposed upon persons

Prays that they may enjoy the general pardon granted on the birth of the Prince. Underwritten,

Sept. 25. 63. Sir James Cambell, Lord Mayor of London, and others, to the Council. In reference to their letter respecting the prices of victuals, fuel, and corn, they reply, that flesh is, at this time, at reasonable rates, and the butchers pray leave to satisfy the Council that they are free from practice for making victuals dear. For fuel, they find coals to be at reasonable rates; and for corn, such has been their desire to keep down the price, that they have much wasted the city's provisions. They have yet remaining in store about 1,500 quarters, and are giving present order for providing 10,000 quarters from remote places.
- Sept. 25. 64. Capt. Francis Sydenham to the Lords of the Admiralty. Gives account of the capture of a Dunkirker, which had been very unfairly endeavoured to be taken from him by a Dutch man-of-war, the Rue Basse of Enckhuysen, Capt. John Bleker. During the contest the Seventh Whelp was accidentally blown up and lost, only ten of her crew being saved, of whom the captain was one. Aboard the Dunkirker Sydenham had captured 23 men belonging to the Dutch vessel, whom he had sent ashore until he had order for their release.
- Sept. 25. 65. Sir John Francis Biondi to Sec. Dorchester. Mons. de London. Mayerne informed the writer two months ago, that on occasion of presenting to the Sec. a letter to Biondi from a friend in Italy, Mayerne had spoken to the Sec. about Biondi's affairs, and that he had promised, that on a future occasion, if a letter on the subject were written in a proper manner, he would lay it before his Majesty. Incloses a letter written with that intention, and solicits him to favour the application. Ital. Inclosed, 65. I. The same to the same. Sends a letter from a friend in Venice which reports the death of the Marquis Spinola. Takes advantage of the opportunity to beg a favour of him. Relates the course of his life and state of his affairs from 1609, when he came to England and the late King granted him a small pension. The death of the Earl of Devonshire has deprived him of an income of 100l. per annum; and his pension of 200l. is so badly paid that he has fallen into great need. Prays the King to add 100l. per annum to his pension, with an order that he should be paid. London, 1630, Sept. 25. Ital.

- Sept. 27. 68. Sir Henry Mervyn to Sec. Coke. The sea was never so pestered with Dunkirk freebooters. Which way Mervyn's ships hold their course they cannot miss the chase of three, four, and five together, and his ship being very foul they run them out of sight in one watch. The best service Mervyn's ships can do is to keep such shipping as they meet with from their assaults. Since Monday they have preserved English and Scottish ships of the value of 100,000*l.* which fled to them from the chase of the Dunkirkers. Understands the Garland and Adventure are to be made ready for that service. Begs to have the Bonaventure instead of the Adventure.
- Sept. 27. 69. Sir Guilford Slingsby to Nicholas. Complains of the Vanguard being let out by the great for repairing to one Eliott, an insufficient person, who is putting in improper timber. [Nicholas has endorsed upon this letter a memorandum that he showed it to the Lords of the Admiralty on the 28th inst. at Hampton Court. They thought fit that Capt. Pett should be spoken with to know if this be true.]
- Sept. 28. Proclamation for preventing the dearth of corn and victuals. Hampton Court. The Book of Orders on this subject set forth in the time of Queen Elizabeth, and renewed in that of the late King, having been revised and reprinted, magistrates are charged to see the same put in execution, so as to suppress the offences of engrossers and to cause the assize of bread and beer to be truly kept. Fish days, and especially Lent, are to be duly observed; "the ancient and laudable custom" of abstinence from suppers on Fridays and the "eves of feasts commanded to be fasted" is ordered to be kept in all taverns and ordinaries, and commended to all private families; the usual feasts in the halls of city companies are to be forborne, and half the charge to be given to the relief of the poor; foreign ships are not to be allowed to victual themselves in English ports for long voyages; with other minute regulations. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 134.]
- Sept. 28. 70. Minutes in Nicholas's handwriting of business to be transacted by the Lords of the Admiralty at their meeting at Hampton Court this day, with brief notes of the orders made in three cases. Peppercorn, having petitioned for payment of 40*l.* and upwards for fish supplied by her late husband for prisoners in the Tower, on the order of the late Sir Allen Apsley, and the Board having been often troubled with suits of the like nature, Sir John Wolstenholme, Dr. Rives, Auditors Povey and Phillipps, Edward Nicholas, and Capt. - Sept. 29. 78. Thomas Earl of Arundel and Surrey to Sir Henry Vane. Hampton Court. The Countess and himself are well, and have received the addition of another little boy, whom the King was pleased, of his own motion to make a little Charles, coming privately with the Queen one afternoon when he was in London to Arundel House. Is glad of the return of Lady Vane, and hopes he will not be long absent, since the business of Spain is so forward and Sir Francis Cottington has his revocation, especially, also, since there is no great likelihood that the States will make use of his Majesty's power to treat for them with Spain.

Sept. 29. Buckden. 79. Bishop Williams of Lincoln to Sir Thomas Roe. Mr. Boswell and Mr. Osbeston gave the Bishop assurance that Sir Thomas would call at the Bishop's house, which he expects, the rather because he lies on Sir Thomas's road to London, and was an host to his predecessor, Mr. Coniers. Has ever loved his good parts which were so well esteemed by his late sovereign that, had he used no other hand than his own, to help men up, Roe had been fixed in a more constant orb than that of an Ambassador.
- Sept. 29. 80. Estimate for trimming and supply of stores for the Convertive for four months longer at sea. Total, 1,490*l.* 2*s.* 1*d.*
- Sept. 29. 81. Assessment of the inhabitants of the precinct of St. Mary Bothaw, in the Ward of Walbrook, London, made 25 March 1629, towards the Raker's wages, of 1*l.* 14*s.* for one year, with payments thereout up to this day.
- [Sept. 29 ?] 82. Another assessment of the same precinct, slightly differing from the preceding, and declared in an indorsement to be "not a true note."
- Sept. 30. 83. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Report on a referred petition of Sir John Chudleigh for moneys claimed by him as Captain of the Bonaventure; 1, as appointed to convoy ammunition ships and victuallers to the Isle of Rhé; and 2, as Vice-Admiral under the Earl of Holland. He also claimed, 3, Captain's pay for his ship after she was sunk at Plymouth. The officers report that 73*l.* and 3*l.* 10*s.* were due to him on his first and second claims; as to his third claim there was no precedent of the like allowance. Inclosed,
83. i. List of ships convoyed by Sir John Chudleigh to the Isle of Rhé.
- Sept. 30. Fulham. 84. Bishop Laud to Sec. Dorchester. Sends materials of letter to be sent to New College. Concerning Dr. Bancroft's brother Richard Bancroft, and his unhappy business, he had given bond in the High Commission, and was now prosecuted for being in the company of a certain woman contrary to his bond. He solicits a pardon of the presumption of law arising from his having been in the woman's company. The Bishop supposes a pardon will be agreeable to his Majesty's grace, though if a crime had been in question in the High Commission it might be thought unfit to pardon it.
- Sept. 30. Bristol. 85. William Willett to Nicholas. Certificate shall be sent of the produce of the St. John of Dunkirk. If the captain and other officers receive not as they usually do, they will not be satisfied. Sir Guilford Slingsby had the refusal of the ship at 440*l.* The captain that came from Sallee in the Speedwell is named John Browne. Capt. Harrison who is lately come from Sallee can inform Nicholas of a conversation they had about that ship.
- Sept. 30. Dover Road. 86. Sir Henry Mervyn to the same. His foremast and his victuals have made an end together; both will do no more than bring them into Chatham. Since Monday se'nnight they have kept the sea ranging to and again, Dunkirk men-of-war before, about, and on every side, but they would not come to Sir Henry nor could he get at them. He plied where he thought he might most prevent damage, and saved and rescued ships of great value. From Chatham will come to London to understand the Lords' further resolution. Forwards letter to Sec. Coke, written from Stokes Bay (see No. 68), but the enemy lying in sight and locking in all merchant shipping, he put to sea and had not leisure to send it on shore. If speedy course be not taken to send out ships fears much mischief will ensue.

- Sept. 30. Aboard the Mary Rose, in North Yarmouth Road. 87. Capt. Francis Sydenham to Nicholas. Recapitulates the circumstances of the capture of a Dunkirker and misconduct of a Dutch vessel, as detailed in his letter to the Lords of the Admiralty of the 25th inst. (See No. 64.) He intreats Nicholas to procure him an order what to do with the 23 Dutchmen, and that he may keep his prize out for the time his ship is victualled, he not having any other ship with him, in consequence of the loss of the Seventh Whelp.
- Sept. 30. 88. Certified list of those gentlemen who appeared at Oundle this day, and "made gree" with the Commissioners for composition for knighthood for co. Northampton, also of such as sent answers. The list contains the names of 17 persons, of whom eight offered to pay sums varying from 10*l.* to 25*l.*; the others sent excuses or refusals. Annexed, 88. II. Francis Nicolls to the same. Is ready to answer in the Exchequer. 1630, Sept. 30.

88. III. *Walter Kirkham to the same. Offers 25*l.* 1630, Sept. 30.*
88. IV. John Miller to the same. Desires his appearance may be excused, not doubting but he shall acquit himself in the Exchequer. Draughton, 1630, Sept. 29.

Warrant to pay to the children and administrators of Abraham Abercromby, deceased, late sadler to Prince Henry, 1,193*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, being the remainder of 2,003*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*, for wares delivered for the service of the late King and Prince, for payment of which a former warrant was granted in the second year of His Majesty's reign. [Docquet.]

- [Sept. ?] 92. Petition of Sir John Bridgeman, Chief Justice, and Sir Nicholas Overbury, Sir Marmaduke Lloyd, and Edward Waties, Justices of Wales, to the King. Vindicate their past proceedings in reference to the erection of an office of Clerk of the Billets, within the principality of Wales (see Vol. clxvi., No. 51), and pray that such office, being a great inconvenience and charge to the poor subjects of those parts, his Majesty would set down such directions as would stand with justice, and conduce to the peace of that long established Court.
- [Sept. ?] 93. Petition of Robert Herick, chaplain to the late Duke of Buckingham in the Isle of Rhé, to the same. The King having bestowed on the petitioner the vicarage of Dean [Prior], by the removal of Dr. Potter to the bishopric of Carlisle, petitioner prays that the commendam to the Bishop having expired, the grant to himself may be dispatched. [See 1629, Sept. 30. Under the petition the petitioner has written, "cetera mando Deo."]
- [Sept. ?] 94. Petition of John Barker to the Council. On complaint of the Levant Company, that petitioner had unlawfully taken a ship from the subjects of the Great Turk, whereupon their goods were seized in Turkey, petitioner had suffered a year's imprisonment. Having present employment offered, he prays for his liberation on security.
- [Sept. ?] 95. Petition of Sir Robert Cotton and Thomas Cotton to the same. The studies of petitioners were sealed up on the 3rd November last, and so yet remain, whereby many of the books are almost utterly lost for want of airing, and petitioners are deprived of the use of the books and the best rooms of the house. Pray to be admitted again to the use of the said rooms and books.
- [Sept. ?] 96. Petition of Capt. William Bust and Company to the Lords of the Admiralty. Having, under letters of marque, taken a Spanish carvel, and sent the same home to Southampton by some of the company, the petitioners' man-of-war coming on the French coast near Brest, was forcibly seized and broken to pieces, and the petitioners subjected to great ill-usage. Pray redress.
- [Sept. ?] 97. Minute of application to the Lord Treasurer Weston by Nicholas. The King said he would allow Nicholas 200*l.* per annum, during his attendance on the Lords of the Admiralty; but a privy seal was granted only for 200*l.* for the year then ended. - [Sept. ?] 98. Brief on behalf of Thomas White and Company of the Renew, in a cause against the Lanier of Rouen, taken in June last sailing towards Spain, with a great quantity of prohibited goods.

Oct. 1. Hampton Court. 1. The King to Attorney General Heath. Sir Cornelius Vermyden being to pay 5,000*l.* for the purchase of Malvern Chase, co. Worcester, 4,000*l.* thereof had been directed to be paid to Philip Burlamachi, in discharge of debts owing to him. The Attorney General is to prepare a bill for the other 1,000*l.* to be paid to Theophilus Earl of Suffolk, towards laying dry the copper mines, co. Cornwall.

Oct. 1. Hampton Court. 2. Sec. Dorchester to the same. To prepare a pardon for Richard Bancroft, of Willesden, co. Middlesex, for misdemeanors objected against him before the Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

Oct. 1. Mincing Lane. 3. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Sends names of shipwrights, to whom warrants for survey of the reparations performed by special contracts made by Mr. Burrell and Capt. Pett may be directed.

Oct. 2. 4. Petition of Nicholas Briot to the King. On a proposition about the fabrication of the King's moneys, a warrant was sent to the Officers of the Mint, on 2nd February last, to place petitioner in such lodgings as should be requisite for trial of his proposition. But he has never been able to obtain sufficient lodgings for his instruments and workmen thereby to perform his promise. Prays for a commission to some persons to put him in possession of sufficient lodgings in the Tower, where he may work. Has already lost six years since he first came into England. Underwritten,

4. i. Reference to the Attorney General to call to the Officers of the Mint to have perusal of the warrant of February above mentioned, and thereupon to draw a commission to the purpose desired. Hampton Court, 1630, Oct. 2.

Oct. 2. 5. The same to the same. Complains that he has been hindered by the Officers of the Mint, upon the pretext that he is not of their body or corporation. John Gilbert, joint patentee with Edward Greene, in the office of Chief Graver of the Irons in the Mint, is willing to surrender that office. Petitioner prays that he may be joined with Greene. Underwritten,

5. i. The King being well acquainted with the abilities of the petitioner, directs the Attorney General to call for the joint patent for Chief Graver of the Irons, and if he finds that his Majesty may without prejudice grant the petitioner's request, he is to prepare a bill accordingly. Hampton Court, 1630, Oct. 2.

Oct. 2. 6. Copy of the preceding petition and reference.

[Oct. 2?] 7. Nicholas Briot to the King. Observations on the present objectionable character of the copper coinage. The farthing token is of excessive lightness and price (the value being at the rate of 26*s.* 2*d.* the pound, of 16 oz. of copper), and is of an ugly and deformed stamp, easily counterfeited. Suggests that the weight

VOL. CLXXIV.

1630. ought to be increased by two-thirds, and that the coinage should be made in the Tower, and wrought by mill and engines, which will prevent counterfeiting. Suggests also a coinage of halfpennies of pure copper.
- Oct. 2. 8. Minutes by Nicholas of business to be considered by the Lords Hampton Court. of the Admiralty at their sitting this day, with marginal memoranda of the results. The Miniken, the Fortune, pink, and the Convertive, were ordered to be victualled for actual service.
- Oct. 3. 9. Thomas Viscount Wentworth to Bishop Laud. Through York. Smart's wilful folly it is likely he will be degraded within these fourteen days, whereupon his prebend at Durham will fall void. Mr. Carr, who is at this instant gone to Cambridge to take his degree of Doctor, has lived in the writer's house near twenty years. He has been infinitely happy in his conversation, and desires to place some good upon him. Not having an advowson in his gift, is a suitor that Bishop Laud would recommend Carr to my Lord of Durham for that place. There is not a learned man on the north of Trent, nor a priest of a better temper and life.
- Oct. 3. 10. Sir Thomas Roe to Sec. Dorchester. Sends letters forwarded Stanford. to him from the Duke of Courland for his Majesty. The restoration of that family concerns his Majesty in honour, religion, and reason of state. Makes no question that Mr. Gordon has written to him on the business, as well as of the other great controversy between the English merchants and the stubborn town of Dantsic. Instructions may still be sent to Mr. Gordon before the breaking up of the next assembly at Warsaw. Roe has bought a cell in that country, not to retire from service, but because his blue coat has wanted a badge, some mark to be known whom he has served. Will wait upon him this winter, to take his leave of London. [Copy.]
- Oct. 3. The same to Henry Earl of Holland. Repeats the information in Stanford. the preceding letter, and states the grounds on which the confiscation of the family of the Dukes of Courland should be endeavoured to be averted. [Written on the same sheet as the preceding. Copy.]

The prices of corn are higher in their market than usually at that time of year, by reason that some have attempted to export corn, whereof they have stayed one bark laden. Others have contracted to do the like. Pray them to stay any licence for carrying corn out of that country.

Penryn. 14. William Carran to Sir Robert Killigrew, Vice-Chamberlain to the Queen. Received at Exeter of Mr. Tickle 70*l.*, and made up 125*l.*, which has been paid to Sir William Killigrew for his quarterage to Michaelmas. At least 10,000 bushels of wheat have been taken up in the west part of Cornwall by several merchants, whether for home or foreign use is not known. Their bushel is 20 gallons. The result has been that the price of wheat has risen from 8*s.* to 12*s.* per bushel, and before Easter will be 20*s.*
- Oct. 7.
Chilton Foliat. 15. John Packer to Francis Windebank. The land he had at the coronation was in Berkshire. If Windebank thinks he ought to pay in that county, and not in his present county, where then he had nothing, begs him to lay down the amount for the writer. He understands it is two subsidies and a half for land, according to the rate in the subsidy book. His proportion will be 12*l.* 10*s.*, which he will repay through his brother Hawkins, who is now at Westminster.
- Oct. 8.
East Retford Sessions. 16. Justices of Peace for co. Nottingham to the Council. At the sessions at East Retford there were certified four recognizances taken before Sir Hardolph Wasteneys, of John Molanus and three others, workmen of Sir Cornelius Vermuyden, to keep the peace towards Francis Thornhill, and all others. Send copy of the information against these persons. Inclosed,
16. i. Copy of Information of Mary Thornhill, wife of Francis Thornhill, and Edward their son. On fifth of August deponents going into a close of Francis Thornhill, where John Molanus, a Dutchman, with eight others, had wrongfully entered and digged, after divers speeches Molanus struck at the said Edward, and offered to strike the said Mary, and afterwards used wrongful and un-decent words against Sir Francis Thornhagh.
- Oct. 8. 17. Certificate of William Man and Peter Heywood. Joan Price was complained of to William Man, one of the Justices for Westminster, that she was a person of loose life, out of service, vagranting, idling, and shifting from place to place, lodging in "heymoughes," or haystacks, in a field near Tyburn, and sometimes in outhouses upon the bare boards in Petty-France and Longditch, and many times scraping trenchers at tents and other places for scraps. She was sent to the House of Correction in Tuthill fields, and afterwards by pass to Tewkesbury. Ten or twelve days afterwards she and another woman brought an accusation of bigamy against Henry Shelton. Having been put upon his trial at Newgate he had been acquitted.
- [Oct. 9.] 18. Mayor and Recorder of Oxford to Sec. Dorchester. Appeal to his connection with the University and county of Oxford, and the advice of the Earl of Danby, as reasons for addressing him. Send inclosed examination, relating to a person of comely personage, well-spoken, and very penitent, whom they detain in prison until the Sec's pleasure be known. His accusers are strangers or residents usually found in alehouses situate in suburbs.

18. I. Separate Informations of Francis Thornton, Methuselah Flower, Henry May, and Walter Powell, who deposed that on the last day of September John Langton, at a victualling house in the suburbs of Oxford, uttered words in derogation of the King's soldiers as compared with those beyond seas, and also of the King's treatment of them in respect of pay. He moreover asserted that the Gunpowder Conspirators were no traitors, which he offered to maintain with his sword. To these informations are added two examinations of the person accused. He was a native of co. Lancaster, who had served in English regiments abroad. About three weeks since landed at Dover, and came through London to Oxford, where he had kindred. Does not remember the words imputed to him. Was in drink at that time.

Oct. 10. 19. Order of Council. Prejudice being done to his Majesty's HamptonCourt. service in the business of compounding for knighthood, by reason of partial and negligent returns made by Sheriffs, the Attorney General is to proceed against such of the Sheriffs as had been most delinquent in that kind, of which number the Sheriff of co. Northampton is conceived to be one.

Oct. 10. 20. Sir Thomas Walsingham to the Lords of the Admiralty. The Seadbury. Justices of Peace for West Kent find that transportation of corn is one of the chief causes of dearth and scarcity. The searchers of London, and some other parts in Kent, having molested his officers for doing their duties in that kind, he cannot get them to look after this service without some further warrant.

Oct. 10. 21. Sec. Coke to Nicholas. His Majesty this day required a particular account of what ships had been employed at sea this year, for HamptonCourt. what times, under what commanders, and what accounts the captains had given of their employment, his Majesty's reason being that information had been given him of much negligence in the Narrow Seas, both by absence of commanders, and by lying in harbour or in the Downs. Sec. Coke is charged to deliver these particulars next Sunday. Requests Nicholas to furnish him with the papers and information. The King's end is princely. If they can give him satisfaction for the present they will for the future put things into a due form of account, both for better government and his Majesty's better contentment. He begs Nicholas to deal freely in all he knows. Nicholas is aware that the Lords have referred to the Earl of Dorset, Sec. Dorchester, and the writer the examination of that tumultuary complaint with which his Majesty was troubled at Tichfield. Which of the masters or boatswains were with Sir Henry Mervyn at that time? The purser of Sir Henry's ship to be sent to Coke at Twick-

- Oct. 10. 22. Sir Thomas Walsingham to Nicholas. Sends his letter to the Scadbury. Lords of this date to be delivered if not disliked. The clamour is very great for transportation of corn. All the wheat that this year grew in Erith marshes is a-threshing, to be transported, only under colour of sending it into Essex. If the Lords will give him authority he will stay it when it is waterborne. Sent a restraint of transportation of oysters, but in the Hundred of Faversham and the King's channel, of which Sir Dudley Digges claims to be Lord, there is no restraint. Urges the grant of a new warrant which may extend over that jurisdiction.
- Oct. 10. 23. John Packer to Francis Windebank. Thanks for his friendly Chilton. offices. The Commissioners for that county have returned the writer's name, notwithstanding the constable had no warrant to warn him, but made answer that he had no land in that county at the coronation. Thinks the surest way will be to pay in Berkshire, and desires his friendship to compound as he thinks fit.
- Oct. 10. 24. Account of moneys due to the Queen of Bohemia out of the Exchequer; total 9,950*l.*
- Oct. 11. 25. Sir Henry Mervyn to Lord Treasurer Weston. Has fallen London. lame and cannot wait on him. Cannot fit another Whelp to strengthen the convoy of the ordnance, the Whelps being all at Portsmouth. Suggests that they should go under guard of the Second Whelp and the Miniken to Yarmouth, whence the Mary Rose can stand over with them for Holland.
- Oct. 11. 26. John Hassall, Dean of Norwich, to Sec. Dorchester. The Bircham. bearer is recommended to the Sec.'s favour, and the writer humbly requests that he would descend so low as to accept from him a patent of the High Stewardship of his Cathedral Church, with the yearly stipend of 20 nobles thereunto belonging. If the writer shall ever be transplanted from this barren to a better soil, he shall not, like the accursed fig tree, frustrate his planter's desert of better fruit. The late King named the Earl of Northampton in their charter as the first steward; the Earl of Pembroke succeeded. If he pleases to "succenturiate," sic ab Jove tertius Ajax. As soon as the church-audit is passed he will present this service in person.
- Oct. 11. 27. Augustin Bright, master of the Second Whelp, to Nicholas. Aboard the A French bark, the Jane of Caen, having been brought to with Second Whelp difficulty and after firing many shots at her, is found full of English in Margate Road. goods with various cockets all from London, but without a discharge from Gravesend. Requests instructions what he shall do with her.

 Oct. 11. 29. Dr. John Prideaux to Bishop Laud, Chancellor of Oxford.
 Exeter College, Oxford. The Vice-Chancellor had acquainted them with the Bishop's dislike of accumulating degrees. Is ready to conform, but submits that sufficient notice should be given before execution be urged. Mr. Bayly and Mr. Hodges have been at great pains and charge to perform their exercises before any intimation given of stopping accumulating, which if it presently take place, their hopes, travels, and expenses are all frustrated.
- Oct. 11. Lease from Mary Allanson, of Fleet Street, widow, to Thomas Beadle, of Shoe Lane, London, "coque," of a messuage called the Crown in Shoe Lane, in the parish of St. Bride's, for two consecutive terms of seven years, if the lessor or her son Edmund Allanson should so long live, at the yearly rent of 30*l.* In a schedule of fixtures attached are enumerated, "a pipe of lead that bringeth "Middleton's water, with a cock belonging to it," and "the sign of "the Crown hanging in the street." [Case A., Charles I., No. 12.]
- Oct. 12. The King to Sir Kenelm Digby, one of the gentlemen of the Privy Chamber. Appointment as a principal Officer of the Navy, especially in making estimates, taking up provisions, giving instructions to inferior officers, in rating wages, signing books for payments, and all other things which concern a Commissioner or principal Officer. [Copy. See Vol. of Admiralty Collections, Dom. Eliz., end of 1590, fo. 94 b.]
- Oct. 12. 30. Estimate for victualling 410 men, to serve in the Garland, St. Claude, First Whelp, and Third Whelp, for guard of the Narrow Seas, for three months, and of victualling the Convertive for 200 men for 28 days: total, 1,454*l.* 5*s.*
- Oct. 13. 31. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. In conformity with the King's desire to have a certificate from the Judge in the case of Grismond, before the reprieve should be revoked, the writer applied to the Judge who tried him, and received the inclosed. Has no inclination to spill blood, but is moved by a zeal to the King's justice, and to vindicate it from such aspersions as the pardoning of so foul a murder would cast upon it. Thanks the Sec. for refusing to accept a suit from Lord Conway's cousin, Sir Fulke Greville, until he understood it had his approbation, because it concerned a principal place in the government of the Isle of Wight. Inclosed,
31. i. Mr. Justice William Jones to Lord President Conway. William Grismond was arraigned for murdering Margaret Clarke, a young woman whom he had gotten with child, and who was found in a broom-close with her throat cut. Sends copies of examinations which were given in evidence against him at his trial. The whole Bench conceived him to be guilty. Inclosed,

- [Oct. 13 ?] 36. Certificates of Kenrick Edisbury and Stephen Alcock, of the sufficiency of Nathaniel Busher to be purser of the Constant Reformation in the place of John Paltock.
- Oct. 13. 37. Minute of a recognizance entered into by Edward Greene before Sir Robert Rich, Master in Chancery, whereby he acknowledged a surrender formerly made by John Gilbert of the office of Graver of the Irons for the moneys of the late King, held by him jointly with Greene.
- Oct. $\frac{14}{24}$ 38. James Duke of Lennox to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador at Paris. Either himself or his son shall freely command the Duke. His son need not call upon Sir Henry to disengage him; he is rather a creditor than a debtor. The Duke's resolution for his place of abode was agreeable to Sir Henry's advice. In the matter of exercises, no place in France is considerable in regard of Paris. The best masters are to be found where most money is stirring. Sir Henry's son gives him example to be diligent. Has followed his advice in writing to the Queen of Bohemia.
- Oct. 14. 39. Report of Sir Robert Chester and W. Ayloffo on a cause in difference between Agnes Grenill, of Barley, co. Hertford, widow, and Daniel Smyth, of the same place, yeoman. The question in dispute related to the titles of the several parties to lands called Mr. Johns in Nether Chishall, co. Essex. The right was reported to be in the widow, but Smyth was in possession, and resisted all terms of accommodation.

- Oct. 15. 41. Sec. Dorchester to the Mayor and Recorder of Oxford. The King is pleased with their care in making stay of Langton, whose unwary tongue durst meddle with the censure of things so much above him, but considering his denial, person, and penitency, and the slight condition of his accusers, his Majesty is content to think his imprisonment has been a sufficient punishment. [Draft.]
- Oct. 15. 42. Officers of the Ordnance to Nicholas. The Lords of the Ordnance Office. Admiralty having advertised Lord Vere, that his Majesty's pinnaces employed on the coast of Ireland are to be victualled upon the Revenue of Ireland, and required him to order such an increase of the proportions to be sent thither as should supply the said ships, they inclose a schedule of what provisions of munition may be made conveniently in Ireland, and what must be supplied from hence. Beg him to move the Lords to signify their pleasure thereon. Inclosed, 42. i. The schedule above mentioned.
- Oct. 15. 43. Thomas Forster to the same. By his Lord's command intreats Arundel House. his favour on behalf of Mrs. Harpur, who is brought so low by Mr. Ward's vexatious suits that she can scarce find bread. He cannot or will not bring forth Mr. Howell, to whose oath she was content to submit her cause. She intreats Nicholas to make a speedy certificate to the Board.
- Oct. 15. 44. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the same. By an inclosed letter from Capt. Gibbon, he will perceive how his gunner has misbehaved, and that the captain's resolution is, not to carry him to sea with him. If he have a warrant for his place, it is not reason he should be dismissed until he have answered for himself. If he have no warrant, another may well be put in his place for his presumption. In that case Sir Guilford will recommend an able, sufficient, and honest man.
- Oct. 15. 45. Bishop Laud to Dr. Prideaux. Thanks for his readiness to Fulham House. join in upholding government in that famous University, whose flourishing shall ever be with the first and at the highest, in the Bishop's desires. For the particular de accumulandis gradibus, thanks him for his interposition. His desire is to propose nothing but what is just and honourable, and in such manner as no man of quality may have cause to except against. Mr. Bayly has forgotten himself to Mr. Vice-Chancellor, and not spared the Bishop, who pities his passion and shall pass it by for his father's sake. Hopes Bayly will make this his warning, else he will quickly make him know that the Bishop's proposals are far from tricks to catch him or others. Prideaux should chide him into better temper. P. the Bishop's own hand. Begs him to be more careful of the Act Questions. The late question about the sickness was unseasonable. His Majesty took great distaste at it, and commanded the Bishop to write to Prideaux about it. This is a private advertisement which none knows but himself. [Copy.]

Oct. 15. 46. Bishop Laud to Dr. William Smith, Vice-Chancellor of Oxford. States his objections to the cumulation of degrees, but he thinks a time should have been prefixed before his views were put in execution, that so no man might be taken upon the sudden as Mr. Bayly and Mr. Hodges are reported to be. A long custom, though never so bad, should have a warning peal before its dissolution. Recommends him to call the heads together and settle everything as statute requires. [Copy of a portion of the letter.]

Oct. 16. 47. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Dorchester. Sends a packet of foreign letters. Two of them are for the King, one from Ham-burgh, the other from Amsterdam. No one has written to him. Spinola is at last dead, and his secretary for foreign languages has returned to Brussels. He had fallen into a frenzy. Fr.

Oct. 16. 48. James Earl of Carlisle to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador at the Hampton Court. Hague. The progress and want of conveniency of sending to him has made him thus long defer. They have had much discourse there of his negotiation and carriage, and both his master and friends are very well satisfied and acknowledge his dexterity, zeal, and judgment. He will find but little alteration in Court, and they expect to find none at all in him.

Oct. 16. 49. John Knight to Francis Windebank. Has perused, apparently, Wokingham. the draft of a lease to be granted by Windebank to Mr. Halsted. He is to pay "17s. 6d. for an ancient custom of Eyle silver."

Oct. 16. 51. Answer of the Officers of the Mint "to the calumnies of The Mint. "Nicholas Briot, delivered in a petition to his Majesty, and referred to "Mr. Attorney General." They deny the truth of his allegation that they had not provided him with sufficient lodging for his instruments, workmen, and household, and pray that when he shall give notice to be fitted with his instruments, some judicious persons in those businesses may be joined with the officers of the Mint, to make report on the trial undertaken by him to be made.

Oct. 17. 52. Sir Charles Vavasour to Sec. Dorchester. Reminds him of a

Oct. 17. 53. Minutes by Nicholas of business to be considered at the next Hampton Court meeting for affairs of the Admiralty. The business comprised the dealing with the 23 Hollanders brought into Yarmouth by Capt. Sydenham; instructions for Capt. Plumleigh; Sir Thomas Walsingham's application for a new warrant; the intended sale of the St. John of Dunkirk to Frenchmen [ordered to be prevented]; Capt. Cooper's complaint against Mellow; Sir William Killigrew's complaint against Hum. Bonithon, Lieut. to Sir Francis Vivian, Keeper of St. Mawes' Castle; to consider of repairs of the forts at Milton and Gravesend.

Oct. 17. 54. Copy of part of the preceding.

Oct. 18. 55. The King to Attorney General Heath. He was heretofore Hampton Court directed to prepare a pardon for William Grinkin, of a censure imposed upon him and one Gill in the Star Chamber. The King is now inclined to extend his mercy to them both, their cases not much differing. He is to prepare a pardon for both accordingly.

Oct. 18. 56. The same to Sir William Balfour. Appointment as Lieu-Hampton Court tenant of the Tower void by the death of Sir Allen Apsley. [Copy.]

Oct. 18. 57. The same to Henry Earl of Manchester, Oliver Viscount Hampton Court Grandison, Henry Viscount Falkland, and Edward Viscount Newburgh. The Lieutenantcy of the Tower being void, the King has made choice of Sir William Balfour, one of the gentlemen of the Privy Chamber, to commit the same to him. They are accordingly to repair thither, and on view taken of such things as were in the late Lieutenant's charge, to deliver the same over to Sir William, with the present letters, and also to publish the King's pleasure to all inferior officers of the Tower, and command them to be obedient to him, and namely [especially] the gentleman porter to deliver him the keys. [Copy.]

Oct. 18. 58. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. The bill for a grant to the widow Kennedy (see Vol. clxiii, No. 22.), has been ready for the King's signature, but stayed at the instance of Sir James Fullerton, on behalf of one William Kennedy, who for name's sake made a claim. Since that time the young man has committed so great a fault that Sir James desires he should be sent out of the kingdom, but the Attorney General has mediated that he should have 40*l.* to defray his charge. Begs him now to prefer the bill to the King for his signature.

Oct. 18. 59. William Thomas, purser of the Convertive, to Nicholas. The Aboard the Convertive. Convertive has been ready to grave ever since the 5th of this month. Having no money the shipwrights could not proceed. They have lost the benefit of two springs. The next will be the 25th. Prays him to hasten the money. The victualler has paid 300*l.* towards their four months' victuals, so far as the money received Mr. Holt will go and no farther. The King is at charge of 240 men every day on the Convertive and Tenth Whelp.

- Oct. 18. 60. William Willett and Robert Kitchen to Nicholas. Mr. Bristol. Wright, one of the Commissioners for sale of the St. John of Dunkirk, is now in London, and will impart to him the whole particulars. Send an account of what has been taken out of the ship. It was done by those that long since went out of the ship, and are not to be found. What salt Sir Thomas Button had, they presume he will give a fair account of. The quantity landed out of the ship will be testified.
- Oct. 19. 61. Edward Johnson to [the same]. Recommends—— Williams, gunner of the Esperance, for gunner of the Tenth Whelp, if the present gunner be dismissed.
- Oct. 20. 62. Sir Edmund Verney, Robert Tirwhitt, and Edward Sydenham, Hampton Court. to Lord President Conway. The King had on their intercession agreed to show mercy to William Sneade, who for an unfortunate act has been banished his country these 17 or 18 years. Find that three or four years ago the Lord President stayed such a pardon. Pray him to withdraw his opposition.
- Oct. 20. 63. Thomas Windham to Edward Earl of Dorset, Lord Chamberlain to the Queen. Derrick Popley, of Bristol, sent down one Kensford. Yeomans of the same place along Severn, on the English side, to buy up all the salt he could get. At Barnstable Yeomans pretended he had a fishing voyage, and went from merchant to merchant, and bought up above 700 bushels. At Watchet he and Jacob Andrewes of Bridgewater bought up the lading of two French ships. Salt has in consequence risen from 4s. 8*d.* to 15s. the bushel, to the great grievance of all people, and ruin of many poor fishers for herrings.
- Oct. 20. 64. Bishop Howson, of Durham, to Bishop Laud. Sends papers Oxford. from which he may guess at the reason that moved the Lord President to solicit Bishop Laud for that prebend. (See Vol. clxxiv., No. 9.) The straight the writer is in arises from his desire to yield his poor kinsman some comfort for his many sufferings for the writer in body, estate, and good name, wherefore he gave him a promise under seal of his first prebend; again, there are his Majesty's letters, procured by Mr. Gib, for one Maxton, a Scottishman, who has already obtained a good benefice by the like letters, and is a very rich man, having increased his estate by secular means, as by farming Sherborne, and managing Mr. Gib's lands. But cannot deny Bishop Laud any contentment, especially this which may also give contentment to the Lord President. Leaves the matter in the hands of Bishop Laud, but begs he may not be pressed with the King's letters for the next prebend. Has sometimes pitied Smart on his protestation of future conformity. Conceives that so many innovations in Church service superstitiously urged, and displeasing to other men well affected, drove him into the most intolerable actions, for which it is reported he shall not be deprived, if the writer shall have power to dispose of his livings.
- Oct. 20. 65. Kenrick Edisbury to Mr. Gibbou. Begs him to advertise "my Lord" that all the money to defray charges at Portsmouth for

- Oct. 20. 66. Inventory by William Drake, of tenths of the Gabriel of St. Giles, taken by the St. George, John Cooke, captain, and brought into Bristol, June 1629.
- Oct. 20. 67. Presentments made by Thomas Steavens, alias Tincker, and John Godfrey, Churchwardens of Caerwent, co. Monmouth. They charge John Dowle, D.D., the vicar of Caerwent, with various omissions of clerical duty, and acts of immorality with many of his female parishioners.
- Oct. 20. 68. Certificate of John Reynolds, master gunner of England, of the competency of Thomas Williams to serve gunner in any of his Majesty's ships.
- Oct. 21. 69. Exchequer account of Receipts and Issues from the 14th October to this day. Among the payments are, Ja. Bradshaw, 25*l.*; Sir Stephen Lesieur, 25*l.*; Sir John Peyton, 196*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.* Total receipts, 1,348*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*; payments, 2,739*l.* 0*s.* 7*d.*; remain, 738*l.* 17*s.* 11*d.*
- Oct. 22. 70. Archbishop Abbot to Sec. Dorchester. Praises God for the King's care for the residence of Bishops and others, whereof he purposes to give account at the time appointed, which is in the beginning of January. Being to have a consecration of the Bishop of Peterborough, he has been put to all his shifts to get Bishops thither, and what will become of it he cannot promise until Sunday next. Has been constrained to put it to the last day of the twenty, and has sent messengers from man to man, to require them on their canonical obedience to assist at that service. The fear of the pestilence and the dislocating of the Term, has so far put things out of order.
- Oct. 22. 71. John West to the same. Thanks for favours to himself and his nephew, Capt. Sibthorpe. Begs him to further the latter with the King. He is the Sec.'s "vowed creature."
- [Oct. 22.] 72. Petition of George Tayler, purser of the Assurance, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Being very infirm, prays that he may resign to Laurence Fisher.
- Oct. 22. 73. George Tayler to Nicholas. Formerly wrote to him concerning the placing of John Hart as purser in the Assurance, in the writer's stead. Hart having relinquished the same, he now desires Nicholas to further the appointment of Laurence Fisher.
- Oct. 22. 74. Kenrick Edisbury and Stephen Alcock to the same. Recommend Laurence Fisher to succeed George Tayler.
- Oct. 23. 75. Sir James Bagg to the Lords of the Admiralty. On the Fort near Plymouth, 21st inst., six Dutch men-of-war cruising from the east Plymouthward, off Arme, a small port within three leagues of Plymouth,

- espied a Dunkirker at anchor. The Dunkirker, seeing the Dutchmen, put into Arme, where Mr. Pollexfen went aboard, and seized her to the King's use. After the ship had been divers hours aground, on the flood, the Dutchmen sent in three boats, turned ashore the English, and put to sea with the Dunkirker. Conceives they will think this an act of great boldness and unjustifiable, and will require satisfaction.
- Oct. 23. 76. Sir James Bagg to Nicholas. Sends him the above letter, and Fort near begs him to press it as much as he can. The Dutch are bold both in Plymouth. doing wrong and seeking right. The Dunkirker was five hours in possession of his Majesty. The name of the Dutch captain is thought to be Quaster. The Dunkirk ship is the George, about 80 tons, six pieces, and four murderers, with 100 men.
- Oct. 23. 77. Margaret Lady Savile to Sec. Dorchester. Incloses a letter Hurst. with a suit in behalf of her brother's daughter, Sir Thomas Dacres' sister. If he will join with Judge Jones, they are assured to obtain the place. If her nephew Dacre come home before the Sec. goes from Theobalds, he will be a suitor on his sister's behalf.
- Oct. 24. 78. Petition of Daniel Gorsuch, merchant in London, to the Council. Petitioner shipped into Barbary, in the Harry of London, bound for Tetuan, ten tons of iron. Giles Penn, who carried letters from his Majesty to the Governor of the town, agreed to sell the iron, but it was afterwards sold by others, and the money made thereof returned in the same ship to London. Richard Berrisford, who had obtained a royal protection for Penn, pretending the produce of the iron to be the estate of Penn, has attached the same in the hands of the factors. Prays that Berrisford may be called before the Lords, and commanded to withdraw his attachment. Underwritten, 78. I. Order for Berrisford to attend the Board on Friday next, Hampton Court, 1630, Oct. 24.
- Oct. 24. 79. Capt. Henry Skipwith to Sec. Dorchester. Being unwell, begs him to cause the writer's cousin, Matthew Carleton, or Dorchester's secretary, Mr. Lucas, to call upon him for the case and questions respecting the suit which he had lately preferred, and to carry them to Mr. Hadsor, of his Majesty's Council for Irish causes.
- Oct. 24. 80. Sir Thomas Button to Nicholas. On Thursday last arrived From his house in Cardiff. in the road of Pennarth, having been ever since the last of September coming from Dublin, and so much beaten with storms that he has neither cables, sails, ropes, or ought else, and so much out of health as to be unable to travel. Hopes in ten days to deliver to the Lords a letter from the Lords Justices of Ireland, desiring that the pay of both Whelps and their supply of stores may be paid and furnished here, the pay until Michaelmas, and the stores for some months to come. Begs immediate order for graving and trimming his ship. Was stayed at Dublin three weeks, to waft over a ship which 1630. belongs to his Majesty, and whereof one Mr. Demetrius had the care. She was insufficiently supplied, and in a gale of wind she lost Button's ship, and bore up for Dublin. Begs speedy dispatch that he may haste back to Ireland. Hears that the Dunkirk ship that he brought in has been bestowed on others.

- Oct. 24. 81. Robert Earl of Liecester to James Earl of Carlisle. The Penshurst. Earl of Carlisle is so noble in his favours, that if a man be not well provided of gratitude, there is danger in making a request to him. Thanks for his recent favour in giving the Earl of Leicester a lodging, both in his house and his heart. The Earl of Leicester has but one heart. There is but one room in it, and there come but few guests to be lodged there. They who are entertained are so at home as they may do what they will, and "as we say, [may] throw the house out at the window." The Earl of Carlisle is there.
- Oct. 24. 82. Distribution among the servants of Archbishop Abbot of 4*l.*, given by Dr. Piers, Bishop of Peterborough, at his consecration.
- Oct. 25. 83. Account of Matthew de Quester for carriage of packets from foreign countries for his Majesty's service, from 7 April 1630 to this day. Total, 150*l.* 10*s.* [*Underwritten is a memorandum that on the 2 Nov. 1630, 135*l.* was allowed thereupon.*]
- Oct. 25. 84. Sir Thomas Walsingham to Nicholas. Is glad to hear the Scadbury. Lords' resolution. Hereafter, let things go which way they will, he will not meddle. The 3rd of this month there was a great wreck of a Rotterdam ship, bound for Venice, on the coast of Kent, near the North Foreland, two miles from shore. Goods from this wreck, taken up by men that dwell in the writer's jurisdiction and presented in his courts, have been claimed by the Court of Admiralty, by which means the Duchess and himself shall lose their shares and the right of his place. Wishes advice thereon. All wrecks are granted to him in his patent.
- Oct. 25. 85. Dr. John Prideaux to Bishop Land. Thanks him for un-
Exeter College. deserved favours, and trusts his future expressions will justify his thankfulness. They are all bound to praise God that the Bishop sets his thoughts to reform what is amiss among them. For cumulations, sees not what could be more deliberately set down than his last advertisement. Mr. Bayly accounts himself made by the Bishop's goodness. He has been well chid, and acknowledged his folly. That untoward question at the last Act was never approved by the writer in those terms it passed. Will take care that hereafter no such occasion of exception be given. Tenders to his consideration the neglect of divinity disputations for term these five years past, and the proceeding of divers in law of late to the prejudice of divinity.
- Oct. 25. 86. Inventory and appraisement of goods taken up by John Snedall and Richard Punnett out of a wreck within the Vice-Admiralty of Kent; total value, 50*l.* 5*s.*

- Oct. 25. 87. Indictment found at a Sessions held at Pool [Welshpool], in co. Montgomery, against Charles Griffith, for the murder of John Owen, at Newtown, in that county.
- Oct. 26. 88. Petition of Thomas Ivett, late master gunner of the Crane, to the Lords of the Admiralty. The Crane being sold, and he the ancientest gunner that belongs to his Majesty, prays that he may be continued in pay until some other place fall void. [Indorsed, "Thos. Ivett to be gunner in Warham Sconce."]
- Oct. 26. 89. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. Moved his Hampton Court. gracious master for leave to put himself into the hands of Dr. Mayerne, to finish the course of physic he was in, which having obtained, he is going to Langley. If there be occasion for his service, hopes he shall be able to come at a short warning. Good wishes for the Sec. and his noble lady.
- Oct. 27. 90. William Thomas, Purser of the Convertive, to Nicholas. The Portsmouth. Convertive and Tenth Whelp cannot be victualled for four months, according to the order to Mr. Holt, because the money remitted is only for three months. Begs him to let the Lord Treasurer know so much, if his captain be not in town, to whom he has written.
- Oct. 28. 91. Petition of Edward Boys, of Bunnington, co. Kent, to the King. Petitioner's son and heir, John Boys, being at Canterbury, one Thomas Alcock, "an infirm person, resorting ordinarily to strangers' company," most uncivilly provoked him with such insufferable language as young men who have seen the wars can very hardly digest, and which incited petitioner's son to give him a blow on the head, of which he died. The coroner's inquest has found petitioner's son guilty of manslaughter. Prays that he may taste of his Majesty's clemency, dispensed on the birth of the Prince.

91. I. Reference to the Mayor and Recorder of Canterbury to certify the truth of the circumstances. Hampton Court, 1630, Oct. 28.
91. II. Report of the Mayor and Recorder of Canterbury. They send copies of the coroner's inquest and grand jury, whereby it appears that John Boys is guilty of manslaughter. Canterbury, 1630, Nov. 4.
91. III. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare the solicited pardon. Whitehall, 1630, Nov. 15.
- Oct. 28. 92. Petition of Ralph Killinghall, ensign to Capt. William Halls, to the same. A little before the last voyage to Rochelle petitioner was married to Mary Hutchins, he not remembering that he was contracted to Elizabeth Pressith [Presick]. Since his return, Elizabeth Pressith had so prevailed with him, by reason of the pre-contract, that he had made her his wife, whereupon Mary Hutchins had prosecuted the law against him, and he is now convict and condemned.

1630. In consideration of his services, and his descent from the house of Manners of Rutland, prays for a pardon. Underwritten,

- Oct. 28. 93. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a pardon
Hampton Court. for John Hurst, late of the Inner Temple, Esquire, convicted by his own confession of manslaughter in killing Bartiue [Bertie?] Haselrig.
- Oct. 28. 94. Petition of William Daynes and Roger Daynes, his son, to the King. Roger Daynes had the loan of 10 drakes, with their carriages, belonging to the King, which came to 229*l.*, for which petitioners gave bond for 300*l.* By means of these drakes petitioners brought in three prizes, of the value of 7,000*l.*, the benefit whereof came to the King, but by casualty of the sea petitioners lost their two ships and the said drakes, to their utter undoing. Their whole estate is now extended, and Roger Daynes is in durance in consequence of his inability to return the borrowed drakes. Petitioners pray that under the circumstances they may be freed from their said bond. Underwritten, 94. I. Reference to the Master and Lieutenant of the Ordnance to certify what they think fit for his Majesty to do. Hampton Court, 1630, Oct. 28.
- Oct. 28. 95. Henry Earl of Kent and Thomas Earl of Cleveland, Lord Lieutenants of co. Bedford, to the Council. The plague has been so generally dispersed through that county that they have hitherto forborne the training of the companies of horse and foot.
- Oct. 28. 96. Archbishop Abbot to Sec. Dorchester. Reports what became Lambeth. of their consecration at Croydon on Sunday last. The Bishop of Winchester took the pains to see them, and Oxford also, the latter being called from home by authority. Rochester was in the summer time beat from his house at Bromley by the plague, but the Archbishop sent for him up out of Berkshire. St. David's also, being in London, was sent for, but had like to have sunk down in a swoon in the chapel. Has no return from the Bishops but that his Majesty's Injunctions are well observed. The Bishop of Ely is very sick of the dropsy in London, whither he is forced to come up for help of the physicians. Durham will be accounted for by the Archbishop of York.
- Oct. 29. 97. Abstract of a Commission [from the King] to Anthony Wither Whitehall. and Samuel Lively to repair into the cos. of Gloucester, Wilts, Oxon, and Somerset, and the several places there where white cloth is usually made, and there to notify the Commission and inquire in a manner therein directed how the statutes for true cloth-making are executed.

Oct. 29. 98. Petition of Sir William Saunderson to the Council. A few years since, petitioner being not well stored with ready money, was forced to take up of Richard Mawdet [Mauduit?], silkman, certain wares at an unconscionable rate, to the value of 46*l.*, for which he gave bond. Afterwards, petitioner assigned over to Mawdet two debentures of greater value than the debt, but Mawdet would not wait until his Majesty's occasions could permit the debentures to be paid, but arrested and imprisoned petitioner, although he knew he was the King's servant. Mawdet was thereupon committed by the Marquis Hamilton, but petitioner, on Mawdet's entreaty, procured his release on his delivering up petitioner's bond and executing a release. Mawdet having lately petitioned the Council, and petitioner having been ordered to show cause, he now prays to be dismissed from further attendance. Underwritten,
98. i. Order of the Council that if Mawdet shall further petition, the Clerk of the Council shall put the Lords in mind of this answer of Sir William Saunderson.
- Oct. 29. 99. Certificate of proceedings of the Mayor and Aldermen of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, as Commissioners for conservancy of the Tyne, from Easter to Michaelmas 1630.
- Oct. 29. 100. Lord President Conway to William Weld. Directs him to use all the Lord President's influence to procure Sir Giles Bray and the Lord President's cousin Maxwell to be omitted from the bill of Sheriffs. Prays him to examine the houses, the Lady of Orgilles [Argyle's?] and the Lady Davesses [Davis's], and help the writer to resolve which to prefer. Will send a coach to Richmond on the morrow for money business. Weld knows his distress. Wishes to be informed whether he will have the leases for Ireland sent by the next opportunity.
- Oct. 29. 101. Sir Thomas Roe to Sir Robert Anstruther. It is thought that our peace with Spain is made. The articles sent from hence [thence?] were corrected by his Majesty, and returned signed with a peremptory order to change nothing. Believes the success of the war or peace in Italy will guide them. Discussion in Court on an article of the treaty of Ratisbon between France and Spain, that the French have renounced their alliances, and by name the King of Sweden. That King does not rely upon the French, and it matters not much what they do, for a bigotry governs them, and Roe is persuaded that all leagues with any papist-blinded estate are Egyptian reeds, and that all their inward counsels are directed to root out our religion. Our Court is constant. The Lord Treasurer only is able to open and shut. He is Anstruther's friend, and will be publicly obliged to him if he will make peace. Roe himself has let fall an anchor in the country, and has as little belief of preferment as ambition. These are not times for him and his rules. [Copy.]
- Oct. 29. 102. The same to the Queen of Bohemia. Knows now less than when he thought he knew nothing. Next year will be a blab and tell all, and we shall know who is cozened. Now the jugglers are in high action at Ratisbon, where he wishes they may not

1630. mistake the medicine of peace and make rat's-bane for us all proscribed heretics. No plays these six months, and that makes our statesmen see the good use of them. If our heads had been filled with the loves of Pyramus and Thisbe, or the various fortunes of Don Quixote, we should never have cared who had made peace or war, but on the stage. Now every fool is inquiring what the French do in Italy, and what they treat in Germany. Perhaps Sir John Finet, as Master of Ceremonies, can say more to her Majesty. Roe finds it safe enough to be her Majesty's fool. If she laughs at him, it is all he asks.
- Oct. 29. 103. Sir Edward Bagshaw to Endymion Porter. Sir James Ware, his Majesty's auditor, has informed the writer that no sum being set down in the estimate of the customs for Porter's "tenth and a half from his Majesty," he must expect no more thenceforth, although the customs should improve.
- Oct. 29. 104. Particular of the first works intended to be done for repairing the Vanguard at Woolwich, according to a schedule dated 1st of May last. Sum agreed for doing the work, 530*l*.
- Oct. 29. 105. Exchequer account of Receipts and Issues from 21 Oct. inst. to this day. Among the payments is 118*l*. 12*s*. 6*d*. paid to Colman, Brown, and others, in all 13, knights of Windsor, in sums of 9*l*. 2*s*. 6*d*. each. The receipts amounted to 3,038*l*. 7*s*. 7½*d*.; the payments to 2,964*l*. 16*s*. 2*d*.; there remained in hand 812*l*. 9*s*. 4½*d*. [Damaged by damp.]
- Oct. 30. 106. Statement by Roger Langford of the office and duty of the Clerk of the Prick and Check at Deptford, as the same was executed by Philip Ellis.
- Oct. 30. 107. Copy of the preceding, with an underwritten confirmatory certificate of Edward Dalton, who served from 1577 to 1599, as clerk to William Holstock and William Borough, Comptrollers of the Navy. [Copy.]
- Oct. 30. 108. Another copy, similar to the preceding.
- Oct. 109. Petition of the distressed prisoners in the King's Bench and Fleet for debt, to the King. Queen Elizabeth granted a commission to the Archbishop of Canterbury and other dignified officers and their successors for release of poor prisoners for debt. In July last the King caused her said act to be exemplified, but the said Commissioners have not yet executed their commission, although moved to do so by the prisoners. Prays that they may be commanded to do so.
- Oct. 110. Petition of Robert Kemp, of Chenston [Chaunston], co. Hereford, to the same. Petitioner being young, and having occasion to resort to London, was seduced to marry Elizabeth Cooke, a woman of mean condition, his former wife being yet living. Prays a pardon.
- [Oct. ?] 111. Petition of Sem Whitton, Innholder of Bristol, to the Council. For many years the house where petitioner dwells has been resorted to by carriers, with a great number of horses. Prays, that notwithstanding the proclamation of 28 Sept. last, he may have liberty to buy in cos. Somerset and Gloucester 50 lasts of wheat, oats, and beans, he giving security to expend the same in his own house.

[Oct. ?]

112. Dr. John Moseley to the Council. Having discovered some special means whereby the differences in Church and State might be composed, his desire was to have opened himself to the King, but his Majesty having referred the matter to the Council, the writer scruples about revealing his proposals to that body, considering from its nature that to do so would ensure the frustration of his scheme. Before another Parliament be called the King should enjoy a public fast.

[Oct. ?]

113. [Lords of the Admiralty] to the Officers of the Navy. To enter John Johnson as boatswain of the Nonsuch, in the room of Henry Place. [Draft. Indorsed are notes by Nicholas, apparently with a view to the preparation of some paper relating to an encroachment on the King's sovereignty of the Narrow Seas.]

Whitehall.

1. Minute of application of Samuel Avery, one of the Merchant Adventurers at Delft, for a warrant for payment to Richard Bateman, his partner, of the sum of 120*l.*, taken up of Avery in the year 1627, by Edward Clarke, since deceased, to defray the charges of certain engineers sent from the United Provinces into England, according to his Majesty's direction.

Nov. 1.
Fonthill.

2. James Lord Audley to his father, Mervin Earl of Castlehaven. Remonstrates with him on his parental unkindness. The Earl's own dear branches hang down their heads to see their sap and livelihood conferred upon another. In this monstrous change of a father into an enemy the writer craves pardon if he appeals from the Earl to the father of their country—the King's Majesty. The writer never went about to abridge the Earl's bounty to a well-deserving follower, but desires him not to strike out the difference betwixt a servant and a son. 'Tis a fearful judgment to be a prisoner to bestial affections and lusts, or to think to blot out lesser sins by writing greater in their places. Prays that God will give him grace to love himself, and then the writer doubts not to share therein; till then he despairs.

Westminster.

3. Justices of Peace for Westminster, and among them, Inigo Jones, to [the Council]. Report the steps taken by them to prevent the spread of the disease. They describe the several measures of shutting up, indicating, and guarding the houses of sick people; the burial of the dead by night, or at very early morning; and the visitation of the houses preparatory to their being reopened. They also return a list of persons who have been disobedient to authority; that is, have uttered reproachful speeches against the Justices for shutting up houses, or have broken out of houses closed on account of infection. Inclosed,

3. I. Note of the conduct of Ellen Fauster since the preceding letter was signed. She went abroad with a rising upon her which was adjudged to be the plague, and was set in the stocks for a punishment.
- Nov. 2. 4. Petition of Capt. Thomas March to the Council. His Majesty having lent the Fourth Lion's Whelp, for securing the trade of King's Lynn, Boston, Wells, and Burnham, petitioner prays payment of certain extra disbursements, made by him whilst in command of that ship, and also the Council's letters on his behalf to the Mayor and others of Boston.
- Nov. 2. 5. Copy of the same petition, with a statement of reasons on its behalf.
- Nov. 2. 6. Henry Earl of Holland to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador to the States. Anxiety of the writer to deserve his favour and remembrance. Shortly expects his return, when he will find "the Sheualier" ready to reproach him for the intelligence concerning the ill conditions of their peace, which he conceives to be much for their advantage.
- Nov. 2. 7. Sir Robert Aiton to the same. Whatsoever he is doing abroad, they have made a universal peace at home. In Court he will find none of those jars between great ones that either were when he went away, or have been begun since; all are quieted, and, as they hope, extinguished.
- Nov. 2. 8. Thomas Blechenden to the same. On 17th October, the Earl of Bedford countermanded former directions for the writer to see his two sons to Leyden, because the Lord Treasurer had made some alteration in the business of the Fens, which reason of delay is to the writer a mystery. Would have waited upon Sir Henry as chaplain, but was informed from "my Lady" that Mr. Vane had gone over in that capacity. If Sir Henry commands the writer to attend him in the States, begs the favour of a previous letter to the Bishop of London. Congratulations on the birth of a son. P.S. dated the next day adds, that a fresh letter from the Earl of Bedford explains that the stoppage in the business of the Fens arises out of a misunderstanding of Vermuyden's former proceedings; but he is well esteemed here, and the business of draining is now conceived so feasible, that the Earl will have sharers sufficient in England to carry him through that vast undertaking. He will reserve a considerable quantity of acres for Sir Henry.
- Nov. 2. 9. Certificates of Leonard Thompson and Kenrick Edisbury in favour of Robert Hall, formerly cook of the Triumph, and afterwards of the Rainbow, to be cook of the St. Claude.
- Nov. 2. 10. Bill in Chancery of Sir John Lambe of Rothwell, co. Northampton, against Richard Stockwell and Margaret Randes, for the delivery over to Sir John of a security taken by Stockwell from Thomas Randes, deceased, for 30*l.* advanced by Sir John. [Copy.]
- Nov. 2. 11. Draft of the Bill in Chancery above mentioned.

Nov. 3. Whitehall. 12. Orders set down by the King and Council to be observed in assemblies of Council. Among the regulations it is provided that the Lords are to be warned to meet by order of the Lord President, or one of the Secs. of State. When warned, every councillor is to attend or send his excuse. The councillors of ordinary course are to meet on Wednesdays and Fridays, in the afternoon, for dispatch of business. When three Lords are assembled the room is to be cleared. Petitioners are to be admitted to deliver their petitions at the upper end of the table, kneeling. When the Lords are set, the Lord President, or one of the Secs. of State, is to acquaint the Council with the cause of meeting. In debate there is to be freedom and secrecy, everyone is to speak with respect to the other, and no offence to be taken for any free advice, but as little discourse is to be used as may be. The Lords are to speak uncovered. In voting, the lowest councillor in place is to begin; no publication is to be made how the particular voices went. Only two clerks of the Council to be present at the sittings of the Council, whereof the clerk whose month it is to wait is to be one, and the clerk that waited the last month to attend with him the first week at least, and the clerk next in succession to attend one week before his waiting. When the King is present, no clerk of the Council is to be present except he be called, or unless it be at the hearing of a public cause. [Entered on the Council Register under date of 1630, Nov. 8; Reg. Car. I., Vol. vi., p. 152.]
- Nov. 3. 13. Sir Richard Harrison to Sec. Dorchester. A motion for good marriage for the writer's son having been set on foot in London, the writer intreats the Sec.'s favour with Mr. Attorney, who is a principal man that may strike a stroke in that business, but it is said he is like to speak one word for Sir Richard and two for his own son. Mr. Trumbull has promised to solicit this business, having good acquaintance with the friends of the young gentlewoman.
- Nov. 3. Lisneygarvey. 14. Edward Lord Conway to William Weld. Lord Cork does not scoff at Weld, but like a good workman considers every material that is good for his building. The writer wishes he could find out a good design for an iron work. Will put Mr. Richardson on making one. Begg him to remember the legend for the Lord Primate. John May is not yet come.
- Nov. 3. 15. Petitions of allowances demanded by Matthew Francis, feodary of co. Lancaster, for four years ending at the Feast of St. Martin the Bishop in winter, [Nov. 11] 1629, allowed this day, with many deductions, by Sir Robert Naunton. The charge for finding an office after death varied from 40s. to 60s., apparently in proportion to the property which came to the Crown; the allowance for an annual journey to London to pass the accounts, which in this case occupied eight days, was 3*l.*
- Nov. 4. Westminster. Licence to William Smyth and Thomas Lewin, his Majesty's coachmen, during their lives, to import from abroad coach-horses, duty free. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 19.]

VOL. CLXXV.

Nov. 4. Grant to David Ramsey, for 14 years, of the exclusive privilege Westminster. of extracting gold and silver out of other metals by a newly-invented process, paying to the King one-third of the profits after the first year; as also a grant of the Mines Royal in cos. York and Somerset and part of Devon, for 21 years, yielding to the King a tenth of the profits after two years. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii.,
No. 20.]
- [Nov. 4?] 16. Mayor and others of Exeter to the Council. At Rouen, being their principal place of trade in France, a multitude of 3,000 people endeavoured to seize upon the Cloth Hall, where the English goods were, and being prevented seized upon a ship laden with woollen cloth, and burnt and spoiled their lading to the value of 3,000*l.* The rule and government in those parts so much regards justice that the writers are emboldened to acquaint the Council with an accident which may tend to the prejudice of trade. A pinnace of Exeter has taken a ship of Rouen bound for Lisbon. She is brought into Topsham, where her goods have been embezzled, the company stripped of their clothes, and their moneys taken from them, which they estimate at 300*l.* If this course be permitted it will so greatly incense the French as to stop all trade.
- Nov. 4. 17. Petition of Henry Drayton to the Lords of the Admiralty.
Served gunner under his late father, who died gunner of the Honour.
Had been gunner of the Phoenix. Prays for a similar appointment in the Triumph.
- Nov. 4. 18. Certificate of John Reynolds, the master gunner, that Henry Drayton was an able man to serve the King by sea or land.

decease of Thomas Burley. Annexed,
19. i. *Certificate of John Reynolds, the master gunner, that
- Nov. 4. 20. Affidavit of John Williams, of Topsham, mariner, that Mr.

Limbery was master. She was laden with corn for Limerick or Galway, but was taken between the Lizard and the Land's End by a ship of the Governor of Brest, and carried into that harbour.

21. Justices of Peace of co. Devon to the Council. According to their directions, on behalf of Edmund Yeo, his wife and children, had called before them Leonard Yeo, the younger, Digory Penfoun, Arthur Arscott, John Yeo, and Leonard Treys, but at a first meeting they brought their accounts imperfect, and at a second meeting made answer, that they would give in their accounts in Chancery, whence they might receive a discharge. Edmund Yeo claims under a conveyance made by Leonard Yeo, his father, to the gentlemen before named, in trust to pay his debts and provide for the maintenance of his son Edmund and his family. Recommend Edmund Yeo to their commiseration. Inclosed,

- Nov. 6. 27. Dr. John Moseley to Sec. Dorchester. Has deeply pondered on London. his doubt or scruple, and cannot resolve otherwise than he had done already. Could have wished that by the Sec.'s means he might have obtained that favour from the Lord Chamberlain that he has so often desired, and for which the Lord Treasurer has been a suitor. Great discouragement to him that he cannot prevail. Hopes he may now take liberty to leave the City and return home.
- Nov. 7. 28. Orders of the King in Council to be observed in assemblies of Whitehall. Council. [These are the same orders which are already calendared under the date of Nov. 3 (No. 12). In both cases the dates are quite clear, whilst the date in the Council Register, as before observed, is Nov. 8. Co. Reg. Car. I., Vol. vi., p. 152.]
- Nov. 7. 29. Copy of the preceding.
- Nov. 7. 30. Another copy, indorsed by Sec. Coke. In this copy the order No. 22, which is the last but one in the preceding copies, is not inserted. The same order was also subsequently inserted in the copy entered in the Council Register. It is to the effect that councillors appointed on a Committee, and being absent thrice without sufficient excuse, are to be put out of that Committee by his Majesty's order, and he requires one of the Secs. to give him notice of such default.
- Nov. 7. 31. Sir Henry Mervyn, Stephen Alcock, Kenrick Edisbury, and Sir Kenelm Digby to Nicholas. Certify that the sufficiency of Richard Hooker to be purser of the Adventure, is without exception.
- Nov. 8. Warrant to pay to Agmondesham Pickayes, his Majesty's goldsmith, 68*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.* for fine gold and silver for making spangles for Westminster. the coats of his Majesty's footmen, eight in number, and whose names are stated. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 26.]
- Nov. 8. Confirmation to George Holme, clerk, of the Rectory of Bredshall Westminster. in the diocese of Lichfield and Coventry, to which he was presented by two of the Committees of Sir John Harpur, during his wardship. Lat. [Ibid., No. 27.]
- Nov. 8. 32. Capt. Henry Skipwith to Sec. Dorchester. On behalf of his son. The reference from his Majesty may question his adversary beyond the writer's desire, experience telling him that a paymaster can hardly stand clear, if an indifferent eye look upon his actions. He may blemish the writer's son with the name of a promoter, which he is not, but distracted through poverty and disgrace undeserved. Mr. Calandrini might render him his right, and so silence all further noise, but that cannot be done without the Sec.'s power.

Nov. 8. Mincing Lane. 33. Officers of the Navy to Nicholas. Information being made by the Clerk of the Check at Woolwich, that the ships and stores there are without means of defence, as halberts, bills, or other weapons, pray a warrant to the Officers of the Ordnance for supply of the same.
- Nov. 8. 34. Inventory by Sir John Drake, of Tenths of prize ships brought into Minehead, co. Somerset, Lyme Regis and Weymouth, co. Dorset.
- Nov. 8. Whitehall. The Lords of the Admiralty to Capt. Richard Plumleigh, Captain of the Convertive. Instructions for him in his employment to the southward, together with the Tenth Lion's Whelp, under Captain Gibbon. He is to repair in a straight course to Cadiz, and thence to bring Sir Francis Cottington and his train to England. Having landed Sir Francis he is to repair to Portsmouth or the Downs, and give the Lords speedy notice of his arrival. [See Dom. Car. I., Vol. clvii., fo. 111 b.]
- Nov. 9. Hall. 35. Justices of Peace for Cornwall to the Council. Having lately received the proclamation and book of instructions for restraining forestallers, they had called the country before them and acquainted them with his Majesty's commands. Being informed that before the receipt of the proclamation there had been carried away out of the county about 5,000 bushels of corn and wheat, which had caused a great dearth, and that Richard Snelling and Thomas Snelling were offenders in that kind, they had bound them to appear before the Council, and inclosed their confessions and recognizances. Inclosed,
35. I. Separate examinations of Richard Snelling and Thomas Snelling, both of Plymouth, brewers. Richard admitted having bought 1,000 bushels of corn, and Thomas 500 bushels, before the same had been brought into any market. 1630, Nov. 3.
35. II. Recognizance entered into by Richard Snelling and Thomas Snelling conditioned for their appearance before the Council on the 22nd inst. 1630, Nov. 3.
35. III. Reasons that the ingrossers and forestallers of corn and salt in Cornwall give for their purchases, with answers thereto. They alleged that the purchases were made for the shipping of Plymouth in the Newfoundland voyage. It was replied that that shipping might be fully supplied in their own county of Devon, where all things were plentiful, and that the result of these purchases had been to raise the price of salt in Cornwall from two or three shillings a bushel to 14s., so that people could not have wherewith to save their fish or flesh; and the price of corn, which within three months was sold for 6s. a bushel, to 12s.

turbed by indirect practices. They have framed a petition to his Majesty, which they pray him to present and support, and to hear what Mr. Love can say therein. The Earl cannot express his love, and care, and zeal, more behovefully than by bringing to some certainty their litigious titles. It might easily be done if his Majesty with the advice of his judges would make an interpretation concerning those titles.

Nov. 10. 38. Petition of Dame Lucy Apsley, late wife of Sir Allen Apsley, to the Council. By order of 29th September last, Sir John Wolstenholme and others were authorized to call before them the creditors of Sir Allen Apsley, and to consider how they might be satisfied. The accounts of Sir Allen for five years cannot be stated, in respect that Mr. Burrell, who was to do the same, as Comptroller of the Navy, is lately dead. Prays that Sir Richard Sutton, one of the Auditors of the Imprest, and a Commissioner of the Navy, with the assistance of George Bingley, may be authorized to prepare the same. Underwritten,

Nov. 10. 39. Petition of the poor Fishermen of Faversham in Kent, to the same Petitioners and their families to the number of 400 have no other means of living but by fishing and dredging of oysters in the river belonging to the town. For 70 years and upwards it has been usual for Flemish vessels to come into the said river to buy oysters. By reason of a newly exacted sum of 20*s.* by Sir Thos. Walsingham, from each Flemish vessel lading oysters there, petitioners have been much impoverished, and now a total restraint of such trading has been procured. Prays to be allowed to barter their oysters as formerly. Underwritten,

Nov. 11. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Richard Bateman, partner with Samuel Avery, Merchant Adventurer at Delft, 120*l.* for money taken up of Avery by Edward Clarke, and by him disbursed to certain engineers who were to be brought out of the Low Countries for the King's service. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 28.]
- Nov. 11. 42. Order for the apprehension of Alexander Leighton, a Scottish man born, who was lately sentenced by the Court of Star Chamber to pay a great fine, and to undergo corporal punishment, for publishing a very libellous book against the King and his government, and had this day escaped out of the Fleet. He is of low stature, fair complexion; hath a yellowish beard and high forehead, and is between 40 and 50 years of age. [Printed.]
- Nov. 11. 43. Account of moneys in arrear to the posts. Up to the end of December 1625, the amount due was 12,204*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*, and from thence to the end of Sept. 1630, 16,332*l.* 13*s.* 1*d.* From the first of these sums there had been paid, under a warrant to Lord Stanhope, master of the posts, several sums amounting to 3,001*l.* 15*s.* 5*d.*, which left the total arrear at this time 25,535*l.* 10*s.* 2*d.*
- Nov. 12. Whitehall. 44. The Council to Bishop Laud. The King, foreseeing the present scarcity, by a late proclamation, required that there should be an abstinence from flesh on Fridays, and no suppers kept on fasting nights in inns and victualling houses. That proclamation contains no new thing, but points directly to laws in force for keeping of fasting days, as in 2nd and 3rd Edward VI., cap. 19, and 5th and 6th of the same King, cap. 3, and certain statutes of Queen Elizabeth. The King's care in that behalf is so much contemned in inns and such like places, as seems very strange to his Majesty and this Board; for reformation whereof the Council have given directions to the Mayor of London, and the Justices of the Peace of Westminster and the nearest counties, and it is his Majesty's pleasure that the ecclesiastical court shall take effectual order that the offenders be punished in the manner expressed in the last-mentioned statute of Edward VI.
- Nov. 12. 45. List of the Master Printers of London, with a sum placed against each of their names in the handwriting of Bishop Laud, and headed, "To S. Paul's;"—to the repair of Saint Paul's. The sums assessed run from 6*l.* George Miller, to 20*l.* Felix Kingston, Adam Islip, and Bernard Alsop, and 40*l.* William Jones.
- Nov. 13. Westminster. Charter of Incorporation of the Borough of Leicester, confirming all their ancient chartered privileges, and extending the same to several parts of parishes near adjoining. Lat. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 29.]
- Nov. 13. 46. Petition of Sir John Wentworth to the King. The King conferred on petitioner a prize ship and pinnace, called the Notre Dame and the St. Peter, with all their ordnance and furniture. Before the grant passed the seals, the Commissioners for sale of Prize ships sold the Notre Dame for 200*l.* Prays that the

47. i. Dep. Lieuts. of co. Chester to William Earl of Derby, Lord Lieutenant. They had mustered and exercised the trained soldiers of that county for several days, in the hundreds in which they lived. Had taken special care to observe the directions of the Council. They had done what in them lay to augment the number of the horse; they cannot find any other gentlemen to charge. 1630, Oct. 18.
- Nov. 13. 48. Petition of Hugh Grove, one of the Deputies for making Saltpetre, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Bought a great quantity of sea coals at Ipswich for his Majesty's service, and found in the same town certain empty outhouses and yards, which he desired to hire to bestow his coals therein. The owners refused to let the same, and the Bailiffs thought it concerned them not to meddle. Prays them to take order concerning the parties contemning his Majesty's and their authority.
- Nov. 13. 49. Petition of the Shipwrights in ordinary at Chatham to the same. Some of the petitioners have served 30 years, some more, some less, and are "the necessariest men belonging to the Navy," yet are they now put from their employment, and turned to seek a new, and their means likewise unpaid them. Pray that they may have their former constant employment, and their year's arrear of pay due at Lady-day last.
- Nov. 13. 50. Petition of John Wriothesley, purser of the Vanguard, to the same. The difference between petitioner and John Wright being referred to the Officers of the Navy, Wright taking advantage of petitioner's long sickness has procured a certificate against him without any deliberate hearing. Prays the Lords to hear the business or order a Commission out of the Admiralty Court to examine witnesses on oath, and then proceed to censure as shall be deserved.
- Nov. 13. 51. Petition of Robert Smyth, messenger attendant on the Lords of the Admiralty, to the same. Has attended the late Lord Admiral and the Commissioners these five years and never received any reward for the same. Prays them to bestow upon him the purser-ship of the Adventure, it being an employment in which he is experienced, as by the annexed certificate may appear. Annexed,

Among the subjects mentioned are the following: the Commission concerning the harbour of Portsmouth, the wafting ordnance into the Low Countries, pay of the two Whelps employed in Ireland, discharge of the Miniken, what shall be done with the Fourth Whelp lent to Lynn, petition of Blachford, appoint purser in the Lion and gunner in Warham sconce, defects of the forts at Milton and Gravesend, complaint of Capt. Cooper against Mellow.

- Nov. 13. 53. Sir Thomas Walsingham to the Lords of the Admiralty. Answer to a petition exhibited against him and referred to the Lords of the Admiralty. In October 1629, at an Admiralty Court at Milton, the jury presented divers Flemings for transportation of oysters, and set a penalty of 10s. [?] upon each of them. The Flemings were content to pay the fine, so that they might continue to transport, but knowing this transportation to be prejudicial, Sir Thomas sent a warrant, in December last, to restrain them until the pleasure of the Lords of the Admiralty was known. This warrant was renewed in October last in consequence of the complaint of Sir Edward Hales and others of the dearness of oysters, and that under colour of oysters other victual was transported.

Is glad he accepted her present so well. Her hinds are now fat and cannot do her so good service as in serving her friends.
- Nov. 14. 55. Sir John Carleton to the same. Is sorry that anything should hinder him and my Lady from coming to the writer's house. His wife and all her children are well. Would have waited upon him but for his troublesome office. No sooner his back is turned but an inundation of greyhounds, hunters, and falconers come down upon him. He almost despairs to discharge his office to the King's liking.

Their suit is that Gernon may succeed a judge in that country, who is lately dead.

Nov. 15. 57. Petition of Ellen Charlton to the King. Having two sons cast at Assizes at Newcastle for pretended theft of two mares and three cows, and petitioner in danger to be questioned for an accessory, in Sept. last she petitioned for a pardon on account of the birth of the Prince, and his Majesty, on the certificate of Mr. Justice Davenport, was pleased to pardon petitioner and her two sons. Notwithstanding which the clerk of the assize and others seek to procure a warrant for the execution of her sons, and to prosecute petitioner to outlawry. Pray warrant to Mr. Justice Davenport that he grant no order for execution of her sons, but order the indictments to be delivered over to the Attorney General to prepare a pardon. Underwritten, 57. II. Baron Trevor and Mr. Justice Davenport to the Lord Keeper. John Charlton, alias Barr, and Thomas Charlton, mentioned in the above petition, are notorious offenders, and amongst those for whom they received his Majesty's direction for execution to be done upon them. They have given direction accordingly. 1630, Nov. 18.

- Nov. 15.
Whitehall. 58. Petition of David Ramsey to the same. Has found out new inventions to make saltpetre in an open field of four acres, to serve all his Majesty's dominions; to raise water from low pits by fire; to make any sort of mill to go on standing waters by continual motion, without wind, weight, or horse; to make all sorts of tapestry without any weaving loom; to make boats and ships go against strong wind and tide; to make the earth fertile more than usual; to raise water from low places and mines and coal pits; to make hard iron soft, and copper "tuffe" and soft; to make yellow wax white, and to multiply the same. Prays patents for the sole using these inventions for 14 years, paying to his Majesty 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* rent for the same. Underwritten,

Nov. 16. Langley. 61. Lord President Conway to Sec. Dorchester. It has been the misfortune of the writer's son, Sir Robert Harley, to receive an affront by an Order of the Council of the Marches of Wales, procured by Mr. Samson Eure, his Majesty's Attorney there. John Jervis, servant to Mr. Eure, came into Bringwood Forest, with a piece charged with hail shot, killed a brace of hares there, and would have killed the keeper. Jervis was brought before Sir Robert, as keeper of the game, and he committed him to the gaol at Hereford, and seized on the piece in right of his Majesty. Mr. Attorney, by authority of the Council, quickly got his man out of gaol, and then preferred a bill against Thomas Adams, Sir Robert's Deputy Ranger, alleging that the piece was his own proper goods, and has imprisoned Adams for not delivering the same, although he knows it is in Sir Robert's hands, who has justified the taking thereof in his Majesty's right. In lieu of applying for a prohibition or Habeas Corpus, Sir Robert offers the proceedings to his Majesty's consideration, craving order for his deputy's release. The Lord President's weakness keeping him from attendance on his Majesty, he puts the business in the Sec.'s hands.
- Nov. 16. Manor of St. Mary, near the walls of York. 62. William Ellis, Thomas Tyldesley, and Richard Dyot, Commissioners for compounding with Recusants in co. York, to Attorney General Heath. They have compounded with Richard Heaton, of St. Clement Danes, co. Middlesex, for his Majesty's two-third parts of the lands of Dame Grace Babthorpe, widow of Sir Ralph Babthorpe, under the yearly rent of 66*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, and desire that a lease may be made to Heaton accordingly.
- Nov. 16. 63. Paper indorsed by Bishop Laud, "The City censures concerning Leighton's escape." It is an unsigned paper of information on the subjected alluded to, communicated to some one about Bishop Laud. The manner of Leighton's unpremeditated escape, in the hat and cloak of one Leviston, a tailor, who called upon him late at night, about a surgeon, as they supposed, for the next day's work [Leighton's punishment], is detailed. The multitude rejoice at his escape, saying it was 'long of the Bishops he had that cruel censure, because he writ a book against them, and not one of a thousand dislikes him for it, the report being generally received that most of the Bishops took part with the King and Duke against the Commons. The Puritans are of opinion that the main end of his book was truth, but they would not have had him disgrace the truth by flying. He has lost credit with his own party by flying. They had hoped his suffering would have been a great glory for the truth.

- Nov. 17. 65. Petition of the Mayor and Aldermen of Bristol to the Council. Bristol, consisting of 18 parishes, and being very populous, has heretofore had provision of corn brought into it from Devon and other neighbouring counties; but the late furnishing of a ship for New England has in some measure unfurnished their markets, and since the late proclamation the Justices of the surrounding counties have stopped ships from coming thither with provision of corn, so that the inhabitants are likely to fall into great distress. Pray order to the Justices of the said counties that provision of corn for Bristol may be had. Underwritten,
65. i. Order of Council for the parishioners to attend the Lord Treasurer. Whitehall, 1630, Nov. 17.
- Nov. 17. 66. Petition of John Kynne to the same. Last year the counties of Carmarthen and Pembroke wanted both barley and oats, and being not able to make any drink that would stay on any man's stomach, but work as poison, they were supplied out of Gloucester, to the saving of their lives. This year those counties abound with wholesome grain, and Gloucester is in want, whereupon petitioner, before the proclamation came forth, bought 200 bushels of barley and 100 bushels of oats in cos. Pembroke and Carmarthen, which still lie there ready to be spoiled. For the truth of the abundance of corn in those counties, refers to the Justices of Assize. Prays for a warrant for fetching home the purchased corn.

- Nov. 17. 67. Petition of Edward Wollascott to the same. On a complaint of his wife Ann Wollascott, he was sent for by warrant. The Lord President on the 10th August last appointed petitioner to attend again on 12th November inst. Prays speedy hearing of his cause.

VOL. CLXXV.

Begs him to entreat the King to excuse the writer for his next months waiting at Court. Near upon 20 years since he was first called into Prince Henry's service, and has been continued by the late and present King ever since. Among other reasons for excusing him, he states that he cannot read by candle-light without a glass, and is often troubled with the stone. Dr. Micklethwaite, who waited for the writer last year, desires to continue his attendance, and the rather by the King's favour to be strengthened against his enemies, the lawyers, who love not the Church. If the Bishop does not like the writer's book, he will never make the least means to have it further seen. Got the King's disfavour by the book which some of his friends persuaded him to present. But whatsoever his fortune, no man extols the King's virtues more than he among the misled and unthankful people. This land is not worthy of such a King, whose virtues and character the writer very highly praises. Recommends Dr. Micklethwaite as forward for the good discipline of the Church, for which he has lately suffered both at St. Mary Overies and in the Temple.

[Nov. 18 ?] 70. Petition of Derrick Popley, merchant, one of the Sheriffs of Bristol, to the Council. Petitioner has for many years brought into Bristol and other western ports 5,000 bushels of salt yearly. Has at present the like quantity in a ship newly arrived from France, and expects another ship daily from the Straits. Having a ship bound for a fishing voyage, he also bought six or seven hundred bushels in the western parts. On an information that petitioner by William Yeomans, his agent, did engross salt in the western parts, petitioner and Yeomans are fetched up from Bristol, and are in custody of a messenger. Pray that they may be discharged.

Nov. 18. 71. Bailiffs of Yarmouth to Sec. Dorchester. The Trinity Masters and the Turkey Company having petitioned for restraint of transportation of herrings in strangers' bottoms, by which they intend their own private lucre, the writers entreat that the Turkey Company may be ordered either to take the herrings on hand at a competent price, or else that the writers may be permitted to transport as formerly.

Nov. 18. 72. Mayor and others of Southampton to the same. On presenting a petition to the King for repayment of money disbursed for billeting soldiers, the Sec. promised that a course should be taken for their satisfaction, and directed that some should attend this present term to receive order therein. They have accordingly sent Nathaniel Mill, one of their society.

Nov. 18. 73. Petition of the Four Masters of Attendance on his Majesty's Navy Royal to the Lords of the Admiralty. By an estimate lately sent down (made as they conceive only by the Officers of the Navy) petitioners are cut off 21*l.* apiece per annum, being more than a third part of their means. Having the broad seal for their allowance, which if shortened they cannot do their service, they pray that their full means may be continued.

Bristol. 80. Mayor of Bristol to the Council. Cannot be informed of any who have bought up salt, save two young salters, Richard Tovy and Miles Dixon, who bought about 19 tons in Wales, sold 3 tons to a shopkeeper in Wales, and carried the rest to their own shops to sell by retail. Touching the ship of corn from Padstow, is informed by merchants of good estimation there, being the owners thereof, that the Endeavour was sent down to that place for wheat, which was bought at 3*s.* a bushel. She was detained there by contrary wind, but was ultimately brought to Bristol, where the corn was sold to bakers at reasonable prices.

as heirs to their father, have had verdicts in several suits for recovery of certain premises lying in Wotton and Hordley, in the demesne of Woodstock, but the same being in the possession of one William Castell, who pretends a right thereto, he being a rebellious fellow, and despiser of government, has defended the premises by force, killing one man and hurting more, who came to execute warrants for delivery of possession, and being encouraged by Francis Gregory, a counsellor at law, who has purchased great part of the premises from Castell, the Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, the High Steward of the Manor, is unwilling to attempt the delivery of the same by force. Pray the Council to send for Gregory and Castell, to the end that possession may be delivered to petitioners. Nov. 24. 96. Sir Henry Marten to Sec. Dorchester. There are seven causes depending before him, concerning ships laden with prohibited goods, and bound for Spain, taken from the French by the English. - Nov. 24. 99. Dr. John Prideaux to Bishop Laud. Yesterday, the Vice-Chancellor convented them concerning the reviving of Term disputations. Petitioners have for many years maintained 1,400 poor people in spinning of wools, weaving, working, dying, fulling, and dressing of cloths called Hampshire kersies, and have sold the same to Samuel Vassall, merchant, who vented the same beyond seas. Vassall being restrained of his liberty, and no other merchant taking upon him that trade, petitioners are utterly disabled, and enforced to take to some other course for their maintenance, and the poor people, with sobs and tears, in this time of scarcity pitifully importuning the petitioners, are now clean without work and ready to starve. - Nov. 29. 113. Petition of William Bardwell, of Aldborough, Under Marshal for co. Suffolk, to the Council. Under various recited authorities of the Council and Sir Lionel Tollemache, petitioner had seized certain masts, and also a ship wrecked on the coast of Suffolk, and the same had been sold under authority of the Court of Admiralty. Sir William Withypoll had commenced a suit against petitioner concerning the same masts. Prays that he may be saved harmless.

- Nov. 29. 115. Brief state of the account of Dame Elizabeth Moryson, executrix of Sir William Harrington, who was executor of Sir Richard Moryson, late Lieutenant of the Ordnance, as well for an old debt of Sir Roger Dallison, formerly Lieutenant of the Ordnance, as also for sums charged against Sir Richard Moryson up to 17 July 1625. There remains due to his Majesty on this account 382*l.* 13*s.* 8½*d.*

- Nov. 30. 117. William Willett to Nicholas. What return had been made Bristol. to an order of the Lords of the Admiralty that the proceeds of the sale of the St. John, of Dunkirk, should be paid into the Exchequer. Prays his assistance in procuring a discharge. Sends a particular of the quantity of salt. Understands Sir Thomas Button is questioned for a surplusage of salt embezzled. They have returned 30 tons taken out by him, but they presume not half came to his hands. The ship never took above 120 tons, and some was thrown overboard when the Convertive chased her. Mr. Popley has been 14 days in London, sent for by the Council. He hopes to clear the ship before he comes down.
- Nov. 30. 118. State of Sir William Heydon's Ordnance Account. The charge against him was 66,150*l.* 10*s.* 10½*d.*; the discharge, 60,529*l.* 0*s.* 5¾*d.* Of the remainder it was stated that the account could not be clearly made out until the accounts of Sir William's predecessors were audited. Mr. Morice's dealings, as deputy to Sir William, are called in question, and finally, Sir John Heydon, as administrator of his brother, Sir William, adduces items of account amounting to 4,972*l.* 8*s.* 4½*d.*, which he desires to set against the balance of 5,621*l.* 10*s.* 4¾*d.*, before left unaccounted for.
- Nov. 119. Serjeant John Hoskyns, one of the Justices of Great Sessions in Wales, to the Council. It appeared by examination of the Justices of the Peace for cos. Carmarthen and Pembroke at the Great Sessions in September last, that there is this year extraordinary great plenty of corn there, and that there may be uttered whole ships full to England. The said plenty still continues by report of Lord Vaughan and other gentlemen that late came from thence.
- [Nov.?] 120. Petition of the Burgesses and Townsmen of Alnwick, co. Northumberland, to the Council. Robert Brandling, a gentleman of great estate, is extremely turbulent and contentious. He is bound to good behaviour in the Crown office, and excommunicated at Durham, notwithstanding which it is his daily practice to abuse the church, and churchmen, and to make violent assaults on divers men with armed troops. Pray for protection against one who has several times laboured to take the life of his own children, and at this present has exhibited a bill in the Star Chamber against sixteen of the burgesses of Alnwick, intending to deprive them of their means and livelihood. That he may put in practice his wicked inventions he has procured himself to be Sheriff this year, which will be the utter undoing of many of his Majesty's subjects.

the States. Beresford was never a soldier, and his father is the great delinquent of all the London plantation. Met Sir Thomas Phillips this afternoon, and it grieved the writer's heart to see him so much dejected, having spent all he had in doing the King high good service, and disrespected. Fears if he receive not speedy comfort he will not live much longer. He is worn out of means having obeyed the command of his late Majesty and spent his own means, and not one sixpence of the King's.

122. Philip Burlamachi to Sec. Dorchester. Sends letters from Germany, with an answer from the Emperor, and an account of the army of the King of Sweden. The writer has received letters from Rowlandson at Venice, in which he defends himself against the imputation which Nys had brought against him. Nys has done the writer the greatest wrong that he has ever received in the whole course of his life, and he knows not how to procure redress. Awaits the return of a privy seal sent to Dorchester [for the King's signature] two or three weeks ago. It is most important for his accounts. The 200*l.* has been paid at Amsterdam to Mr. Carleton. Burlamachi wishes to know how he is to be reimbursed.

128. Sir Thomas Gardyner to the King. His inability to appear before the Council on account of bodily infirmity. Understands the warrant against him was procured by Endymion Porter, on the complaint of one widow Porter, late the son's wife of Giles Porter, about his return from Jerusalem some 50 or 48 years ago. It is alleged that Sir Thomas then entered into a bond with his eldest brother, which he denies, and asserts that if it were so he was not then of age. Nevertheless, to avoid clamour, he was willing to give the widow the 50*l.* she claimed, and sent the same by his nephew Ralph Skipwith, a clerk in the King's "avery;" but he conceiving it was too much, offered her 40*l.*, and she was pleased and satisfied with 40*l.* 10*s.* It is now asserted that Sir Thomas is rich, and a hard man and covetous. In reply, he enters into long family explanations, and gives the history of several of his children, especially of his eldest son. After being at Magdalen College, Oxford, and the Inns of Court, this gentleman went abroad, and on his return married to his father's dislike; and going to Spain with Sir Francis Cottington, died there. His fourth and youngest daughter, without her father's consent, mounted up to the top of Paul's, and there was married to Sir Henry Mainwaring. His only surviving son served in the Low Countries under the Earl of Oxford, and in Denmark under Sir Charles Morgan; and now he is come home, and lies at Sir Thomas's no little charge, "for soldiers will not be pleased nor contented without money and gilte." [Copy forwarded to Sec. Dorchester, with a request for his favour in the business alluded to.]

Dec. 1.
Norwich.

1. Mayor and others of Norwich to the Council. There is little store of corn in any of the granaries in that city, but the markets on Wednesday and Saturday are well supplied, though at dear rates. Wheat is at 50s. the quarter; "meslyn," 40s.; rye, 36s.; barley, 30s. At the last Sessions they suppressed all the maltsters who use brewing of beer, and also ordered the price of strong beer at 6s. the barrel, and small beer at 4s.; they also appointed the wages of servants and labourers. The brewing maltsters find out cautelous devices to frustrate the order of suppression.

2. Dr. Samuel Brooke to Bishop Laud. Has written to the Lord Chamberlain, and his secretary, Mr. Taverner, to put Dr. Micklethwaite in the writer's place; and if the writer may be forgotten, let him be so. The tract [on predestination] is almost done already. Fifteen years ago he determined in the Schools, after Cajetan's way, that these questions were unintelligible in this life, or, as the Bishop says better, unmasterable. But, since, the writer thinks he has found an issue out of that wood and wilderness in which we have been lost all this while. If the Bishop of Norwich, the Dean of Lichfield, the Dean of Christchurch, with his friends at Oxford, and Dr. Beale, with others, cannot commend it as a thing so indifferently written as might content Arminius and Gomar, and not a new way so much as the making the old even and clean against stumbling hereafter, or sticking fast, he has done.

6. i. Reference to the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas to certify concerning these delinquents and their crimes. Whitehall, 1630, Dec. 2.
- Dec. 2. 7. Justices of the Peace for Westminster to [the Council]. Set forth the names and descriptions of 42 persons, chiefly cooks and innholders, whom they have fined to the poor according to the laws, and for breach of the King's late proclamation for abstinence from flesh, and against dressing any meat in victualling houses on fish days.
- Dec. 2. 8. Phineas Pett and others, Masters of the Navy, to [the Lords of the Admiralty]. In pursuance of their directions to examine whether the worm had come into his Majesty's ships at Portsmouth since they came into that port, or by any quality in that place, or whether the same was brought in by ships from other parts, they report their proceedings. The jetty head of the King's yard is much eaten and perished on one side thereof with a small worm close by the ground. At the mouth of the harbour a round tower and palisadoes have stood time out of mind, and have not the least touch of any worm. Inclose testimony of sundry seamen of Portsmouth who never heard of any worm bred there. Find the Triumph eaten by the worm, but other ships not touched therewith. The Triumph rode there between three Flemish East India ships which remained there above two years, from which they conceive it probable the worm might come. The Eighth Whelp and Henrietta, which have been there two years, are quite free. Are of opinion that the worm bred in the harbour is not dangerous to ships, and that if ships are seasonably careened they may ride at Portsmouth in as great security as in any other place. Inclosed,

S. I. Separate certificates of John Deal and 12 others; Samuel Smith, Lambert Peachy, and Jonas Day, in relation to the above subject. Day states that there is a certain worm called a sand-worm which eats by the ground and touches plank or timber lying near the same, but the art-worm which eats dangerously into ships is not bred there.

Dec. 2. 9. Copy of the same, with the inclosure.

Dec. 2. 10. Henry Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal, to Mr. Keeling, Clerk to the Commissioners [for disafforesting Waltham Forest]. Mr. Alford, dwelling near the sea coast in Sussex, his claim to the Manor of Pinest is now to be received.

Dec. 2. 11. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to [Sec. Dorchester].
Apthorpe. Understands that his Majesty has detained the licence he signed for the Countess, conceiving it to be a warrant for inclosure. She explains that she does not desire to inclose any whole manors, neither will she depopulate or decay any one dwelling house, but only in two manors she desires to inclose the demesnes to the manor house, and that for housekeeping, the late Earl, on the late King's command, having straightened them by putting 300 acres of his demesnes into his red deer park. Has the consent of most of the inhabitants of both parishes.

Dec. 2. 12. William Herbert to Nicholas. If Nicholas disallows the Swansea. certificate of the Commissioners respecting the disputed seizure of a ship by Mr. Mansell, begs him to suppress it. Mansell's seizure was for the Earl of Worcester, and Mansell's servants declared that the Earl would protect them. Has sent a certificate to the Lord Chamberlain, and written to Mr. Oldisworth to attend to this business.

Dec. 2. 13. Certificate by Justices of Peace for Cornwall of the number
St. Columb Major. of persons in every house in the hundred of Pider, in that county, with the quantity of corn of every inhabitant, and what corn every inhabitant is to sow this year to come, and also what every maltster, baker, brewer, and tippler malts, bakes, and brews weekly, and what corn has been sold out of the markets since the last harvest. Totals of wheat within the hundred, 11,144 bushels; of barley, 11,217 bushels; of oats, 1,919 bushels.

countries, so as our merchants will be much disadvantaged if they be debarred of them, and for other reasons presented to the Council, and by them allowed and recommended to the King's consideration, the King permits his founder of iron ordnance to cast and make sale of Drakes to the King's subjects, the former warrant remaining in force only against aliens.

Dec. 3. 15. Petition of William Willett, Thomas Wright, William Cann, Richard Vickris, and Robert Kitchen, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Petitioners received commission out of the Court of Admiralty to sell the St. John of Dunkirk, taken by the Convertive, and return the proceeds into that Court. They sold the ship and goods for 1,000*l.* Having been required by their Lordships to make inquiry for the remainder of her lading, the inventory returned by petitioners coming far short of what was in her when she was taken, they find that 30 tons of salt were put aboard the Convertive by Sir Thomas Button, and that the ropes and other things wanting were taken away by some of the mariners unknown. Having also been required by their Lordships to pay the 1,000*l.* into the Exchequer, they pray that they may be discharged from the Court of Admiralty, and be permitted to do so, being allowed the charges mentioned in the note annexed. Annexed, 15. i. Account of moneys paid about the St. John of Dunkirk.

*Total, 120*l.

Dec. 3. 16. Petition of William Dayyle to the same. The sentence in the Admiralty respecting the St. John of Dunkirk has been stayed by an order of the Council concerning the claims made by the French. By advice of his Majesty's Advocate presents unto them the brief annexed. Annexed, 16. i. Brief ex-parte the King for the St. John of Dunkirk, taken by Capt. Thomas, employed under Sir Thomas Button.

Dec. 3. 17. Capt. Sidrack Gibbon to Nicholas. On the 1st inst. set sail Falmouth Road. with his Admiral from the Sound of Plymouth. After eight hours sprang a leak, and was in danger to founder, for he pumped 800 strokes every half hour. Bore up for Falmouth. The carpenter assures him that he has found the leak, and that she will yet be serviceable for the voyage. She is a very weak vessel.

Dec. 3. 18. Justices of Peace for the Division of Milverton and the Wellington. Four Western Tithings of Kingsbury, in co. Somerset, to Sir Francis Dodington, Sheriff of the same county. There is sufficient plenty of corn in their division for the relief of the inhabitants, and the prices are, wheat 7*s.*, rye 5*s.*, barley 4*s.* 4*d.*, beans 4*s.*, peas 3*s.* 8*d.*, and oats 2*s.*, per Winchester bushel.

Dec. 4. 19. Petition of James Jeffreys, marshal to Sir Francis Willoughby in the expedition to Rhé, to the Council. On the return from Rhé petitioner was commanded to billet divers gentlemen soldiers of the regiment for a long time, among whom was Lieut. Stanhope, Lieut. to Col. Norton, who remains indebted to petitioner

- Dec. 4. 21. Minutes of various petitions and reports upon petitions, prepared with a view to the sitting of the Committee of the Council of War referred to in the preceding article. Among the petitioners mentioned are Lieuts. Stephen Hussey, John Disney, and Matthew Mainwaring, Richard Bond, administrator of Capt. Bond, and Thomas Lowther, James Jeffreys, mentioned in the preceding article, John Cornewall, Richard Hill, Cpts. Deacons Bull, Walter Fowke, and George Heigham, John Brooke, Henry Heigham, Jane Bell, and Mary Stamford.
- Dec. 4. 22. Petition of Ambrose Groome, cook in the Assurance, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Being stricken in years he prays permission to assign over his place to John Greene. Annexed, 22. I. Certificate of Philip Ward, Stephen Alcock, and others, of the sufficiency of John Greene. 1630, Dec. 4.
- Dec. 4. 23. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. Has written to Sir Carleton, near Penrith. Richard Graham as the Sec. directed concerning the enhancing of moneys. Concerning the postages, a constant payment hereafter, with a year's pay in hand, and liberty to dispose of their places, living or dying, without check of the postmaster, would give most of them content.
- Dec. 4. 24. Dr. John Moseley to the same. Hoped to have had opportunity to have spoken with him and the Lord Treasurer, how it would redound to the advancing of his Majesty's honour, and the promoting of peace with his people, to release those gentlemen that are restrained without the expected submission. There is now a very fair opportunity offered in the solemnity of the peace with Spain. Beseeches them not to let this opportunity slip.
- Dec. 4. 25. Sir John Bridgeman, Sir Nicholas Overbury, Sir Marmaduke Ludlow Castle. Lloyd, and Edward Waties, Council of the Marches of Wales, to Sec. Coke. Have lately received his Majesty's letter, of which they inclose a copy, occasioned, as they conceive, by some misinformation, whereby, being deeply wounded in their justice and integrity, they thought it their parts by petition to present their grief for his Majesty's displeasure and their humble defence, which they send inclosed. Pray him to present the same when the Lord Keeper shall be present, whom they have desired to assist them. Inclosed,

25. I. The King to [the Council of the Marches of Wales]. Declares his resentment and dislike of their proceedings in reference to Thomas Adams, deputy ranger to Sir Robert Harley, Master of the Mint and of the King's game in the Forest of Bringwood. Requires reparation to be made to Sir Robert Harley, not only in the release of his under officer, but in the punishment of Jervis. [See 1630, Nov. 16, Vol. clxxv., No. 61.] Westminster, 1630, Nov. 21. [Copy.]
25. II. Petition of Sir John Bridgeman and the others of the Council of the Marches of Wales before mentioned to the King. They have released Adams in obedience to the King's directions, but set forth the circumstances, which show that Sir Robert Harley had never complained of any affront, and that the proceedings had all been in due course of law.
- Dec. 4. 26. Minutes in Nicholas's handwriting of business to be dispatched this day by the Lords of the Admiralty. Mr. Bond desires the papers concerning the abuses of the saltpetremen may be sent to the Attorney General, without which a bill in the Star Chamber cannot be prepared against Stevens and Hilliard; letters to Vice-Admirals to notify peace with Spain; instructions to the Captain of the Garland now peace is agreed on.
- Dec. 4. 27. Colonel Robert Farrer to the Council of War. Gilbert Ware, formerly ensign-bearer to Capt. Stephen Countrey, in May 1627, resigned his office to John Farrer, petitioner's brother, and authorized him to receive all moneys due to Ware. Nevertheless Ware received and detained 22*l.* of the same moneys. Petitioner also lent moneys to Capts. Countrey, Hinton, Reynolds, and Paddon, in the Isle of Rhé, who all died in that service. Prays order for Ware to pay petitioner for his brother, and the treasurer and paymaster to discharge the other debts before mentioned. Underwritten, 27. I. Reference to Sir William Courteney to examine the business and require Ware to pay or appear before the Board; and to Capt. Mason to pay the other debts on proof.
- Dec. 4. 28. Petition of William Browne, serjeant to Capt. Meautys in the late Cadiz action, to the same. Capt. Meautys received on account of petitioner three sums, amounting to 11*l.* 18*s.*, payment of which petitioner has solicited these two years past. Prays order to Capt. Mason that petitioner may receive satisfaction out of the arrears due to Capt. Meautys. Underwritten, himself, some of his friends have been with the writer, signifying that he has left a widow and six children, and an estate of 2,000*l.*, with many desperate debts; also that there is a deed of gift made by him to the Lord Keeper's brother, and another gentleman. Before the jury has returned a verdict, his friends offer 300*l.* composition. Begs his advice as to accepting the offer. Knows there will be a loud cry at Court, as lately, in one Burgess's case, of Norfolk, where, because of the noise, having refused an offer, he has got nothing, but is put to a chargeable suit in the Star Chamber. At his first coming down into his diocese had been visited with a tertian, and 24 of his household had been sick. Finds his diocese in as good order as most places are. His suit with Sir John Hubberd [Hobart] concerning Brant Fen continues, and because of Sir John's power is very chargeable and dangerous, but the Bishop will do what he can to maintain the right of his Bishopric. Desires to resign his Almonership, and to retire wholly to his diocese.
28. I. Order for petitioner to bring certificates from the Clerk of the Company's book, or other sufficient proof of his debt, to Capt. Mason, that he may certify their Lordships. Whitehall, 1630, Dec. 4.

Dec. 4. 30. Grant and confirmation by Sir John Borough, Norroy king-at-arms, of certain armorial bearings of Thomas Chedley, and Roland his brother, as representatives of the ancient family of that name in co. Chester. Lat. [Copy.]

Dec. 4. 31. Receipt given by Robert Chambers, servant to Auditor Hill, for certain letters, books, and documents respecting the accounts of the late Duke of Buckingham, and the jewels belonging to him pledged for the public service.

Dec. 5. Westminster. Proclamation that his Majesty has renewed the ancient amity and good intelligence with Spain, whereupon not only all hostility is to cease, but the former trade and commerce, as settled by the treaty made in the reign of James I., is restored. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 137.]

Dec. 5. Apthorpe. 32. Mary Countess of Westmoreland to Sec. Dorchester. Particularizes the loss and dishonour which she shall sustain if the stop given to her design of inclosing be not removed.

Dec. 5. Kingham. 33. Certificate of George Morecroft, H. Elysnge, and others, to Henry Earl of Danby, in behalf of Simon Hathaway, complained of by the Bailiffs of Chipping Norton, for buying corn to make malt in this time of restraint. Believe that Mr. Cornise [Cornish], in regard of a suit between him and Hathaway, has out of mere malice caused him to be accused.

Dec. 6. 34. Henry Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal, to [the Council]. Their Lordships having referred to him the differences in the town of Huntingdon about the renovation of their charter, and some wrongs done to the Mayor and Mr. Barnard, by disgraceful and unseemly speeches used of them by Mr. Cromwell, of Huntingdon, as also certain complaints against one Kilborne, postmaster of Huntingdon, and Brookes his man, the Earl reports that the supposed fears of prejudice to the town by their late altered charter from Bailiffs and Burgesses to Mayor and Aldermen are causeless, and the endeavour used to gain many of the burgesses against this new corporation very indirect and unfit, and such as he could not but much blame them that stirred in it. For Mr. Barnard's carriage of the business, in advising and obtaining the charter, it was fair and orderly done, and the thing effected by him tends much to the good and grace of the town. Three constitutions, or local regulations, are suggested for the removal of doubts. For the words spoken of Mr. Mayor and Mr. Barnard by Mr. Cromwell, as they were ill, so they are acknowledged to be spoken in heat and passion, and desired to be forgotten, and he found Mr. Cromwell very willing to hold friendship with Mr. Barnard, who with a good will, remitting the unkind passages past, entertained the same. "So I left all parties reconciled, and wished "them to join hereafter in things that might be for the common good." As to Kilborne and Brookes, has written to some Justices of Peace of the county to make precise inquisition.

Dec. 6. 35. Sir Gabriel Dowse to the Council. Being given to understand Avington, near that the Lords had received information of disorders committed near Hungerford. Newbury, upon carts going from thence to Reading laden with corn, and desired speedy punishment of the offenders, the writer and Thomas Fettiplace, in the presence of the Mayor of Newbury, convened before them as many of the offenders as they could have notice of, twelve or thirteen poor ragged women, many of them very aged. Seven were committed to the house of correction, five others were whipped, and directions given for watches to be kept for preventing the like tumults. Want of Justices of the Peace for the Newbury division of the county. The writer the only one. Humphrey Dolman, Roger Knight, and Thomas Nelson are recommended for the service.

Dec. 6. 36. Sir Thomas Jervoise to Lord President Conway. The com-
Freefolk. plaints of the poor so fill his ears with their miserable wants, being at this present like to perish for want of work, as he is bold to present the same to his Lordship. The King's orders do not the good supposed. Though there be corn appointed to be brought into the market, the poor have no money to buy. The only means they have to subsist is the work from the clothiers, which trade is now wholly falling, their cloths lying upon their hands, and the merchant refusing to buy. Many of his neighbours that are clothiers will present a petition, testifying their griefs. Beseeches him to assist them.

Dec. 6. 37. Separate depositions of William Tyler and Thomas Rodman, in support of the claim of William Browne, preferred against Capt. Meautys, in his petition, calendared, 1630, Dec. 4, No. 28.

nights a bark, riding close by the dock, was surprised by two boats well manned, who robbed her of goods to the value of 40*l.*, and escaped undiscovered.
- Dec. 7. 39. Justices of Peace for divisions of Williton, Free Manors and Watchet. Carhampton, in co. Somerset, to Sir Francis Dodington, Sheriff of the same county. There is sufficient plenty of corn for the relief of the inhabitants of their divisions, and the prices are, wheat, 7*s.* 6*d.*; rye, 5*s.* 6*d.*; barley, 5*s.*; beans, 4*s.* 4*d.*; pease, 5*s.*; and oats 2*s.*, per bushel.
- Dec. 7. 40. Certificate by the officers of the Garland, that 483 pieces of Aboard the their ship's sea-store of beef are utterly unserviceable. Garland.
- Dec. 7. 41. Memorandum that certain papers relating to the misdemeanors of the saltpetremen were sent to Mr. Bond. On the same paper are memoranda respecting the previous sending of other papers relating to the same matter to the Attorney General.
- Dec. 7. 42. Letter of Attorney whereby Edmund Meire, merchant tailor, of London, appoints Charles Franckland, of Westminster, gentleman, to demand and recover of William Gomeldon 80*l.*, for non-payment of 41*l.*, secured by obligation of William Gomeldon and Richard Hamby.
- Dec. 8. 43. Lords of the Admiralty to Lord President Conway as Vice-Whitehall. Admiral of Hants. Send him proclamation of the peace with Spain, to be notified in all parts of his Vice-Admiralty, and to all owners and officers of ships within the same. No ship is to put to sea unless the captain take with him one of the same proclamations, or some other authentic signification that the peace was proclaimed on the 5th of this month, O.S., and that thereafter no ships are to be lawful prize on either side. Inclosed, 43. 1. Printed Copy of the Proclamation of Peace with Spain. 1630, Dec. 5.
- Dec. 8. 44. Thomas Carleton to Sec. Dorchester. In defence of his Carleton, near scheme for a re-issue of money at a greater nominal value. [Considerably mutilated.] Penrith.
- Dec. 9. 45. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Have examined the differences between Capt. Rowland Walters, of the Report, of Ipswich, and Daniel Cooper, purser of the same. Capt. Walters improperly ordered 96 men to be victualled upon 80 men's victuals; he occasioned an arrear of victuals upon the Anthony, of Ipswich, and his present ship to the value of 160*l.*; and he received shirts and shoes for his ship's company which are unaccounted for.
- Dec. 9. 46. Passage of a letter of [Bishop Laud] to Dr. Samuel Brooke, respecting his intended tract on Predestination. Likes well that he means to have the judgment of such men upon it. Is yet where he was, that somewhat about those controversies is unmasterable in this life, neither can he think any expression can be so happy as to settle all these difficulties. Doubts whether the King will have these controversies further stirred, which now begin to be at more peace, and the rather because should that he calls smoothing the old way, raise any new doubt in opposite judgments, it would make more noise than ever.

- Dec. 10. 47. Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Serjeants' Inn. Pleas, to the King. Relates the circumstances of a quarrel and scuffle in which John Morgan, Thomas Throckmorton, Anthony Morgan, and John Minton were engaged, and in which John Minton was killed. John Morgan and Thomas Throckmorton had been tried and found guilty of manslaughter, and the writer thought that Anthony Morgan's offence was the same.
- Dec. 10. 48. Order of Council. The mariners who served in the expedition Whitehall. to Rhé shall be paid only until the 31st of July past, for that they appeared not at Portsmouth, before the departure of the fleet for Rochelle. ["Copia vera," attested by Dennis Fleming, but it is dated in 1630 by mistake for 1628. This is clear from internal evidence, and also from another copy, Vol. clxxvii., No. 57. I.]
- Dec. 10. 49. Petition of John Wright to the Lords of the Admiralty. Served purser in the Swiftsure for ten years, but having been suspended these three years, has wasted his estate, run himself in debt, been lain in prison, and is still forced to keep close. Prays them to take his miserable estate into their charitable consideration.
- Dec. 10. 50. Petition of William Drake to the same. The Francis, of Calais, and the St. John Baptist, were about six weeks since taken by petitioner's ship, the Swan, of Lyme Regis, but by stress of weather, the Francis was driven into St. Ives, and the St. John Baptist into Dartmouth. Prays warrant that they may be brought about to Lyme Regis.
- Dec. 10. 51. Officers of the Navy to the same. Return their opinion on London. the estimate of the yearly charge of maintaining the Ninth and Fifth Lion's Whelps on the coast of Ireland, presented by Sir Thomas Button. They conceive that 60 men is a full number; and that the victual being provided in Ireland will not require above 6*d.* a day, whereas 8*d.* is demanded. Sir Thomas's demands for boatswains' and carpenters' stores are higher than will be needful. For gunners' stores, an estimate obtained from Sir John Heydon is not half as much as Sir Thomas Button's. Inclose, 51. I. *Estimate of Sir Thomas Button above mentioned; the number of men being calculated at 80 for each vessel, and 8d. per day charged for victuals. Total, 5,124*l.* 10*s.
51. II. *Estimate of the Officers of the Navy. Total, 3,534*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.
- Dec. 10. 52. The same to the same. A difference has been of late between London. Mr. Wells, keeper of the stores at Deptford, and Mr. Faulkener, 1630. clerk of the cheque there. Mr. Faulkener contracted with Mr. Burrell to take in and issue out the outstores at 12*d.* per ton, and now desires to make this contract reach to the instores. After considering Mr. Wells's objections, they think the contract will be a moderate and fitting one, but deem it not right to conclude without acquainting their Lordships.

- Dec. 10. 53. Referees for investigation of Sir Allen Apsley's accounts to Peter Apsley and Stephen Alcock. To send to the referees on Wednesday, the 15th inst., at Sir John Wolstenholme's house, a schedule of all the moneys imprested and received by Sir Allen out of the Exchequer, or by any other way. [*Draft. Appended is a list of 76 claimants against the estate of Sir Allen, and a memorandum that there appears to have been received by imprest by Sir Allen Apsley 303,292*l.* 7*s.* 10*d.]
- Dec. 10. 54. William Drake to his noble friend ——. Does not remember that the person addressed desired to hear when Drake went to London, nor that Drake promised to stop the payment of his friend's moneys until the time of his payments. Will not do anything that will do him prejudice. Has received from Mr. Ratt, 400*l.* on his account.
- Dec. 10. 55. Certificate of the Justices of the Peace for Martock, Tintenhull, and various other hundreds, in co. Somerset, as to the quantities of corn found in those hundreds, and their proceedings in abating the number of alehouse-keepers, regulating rogues and vagabonds, and relieving the poor. Salt and oatmeal, with which the poor people were wont at an easy rate to relieve themselves, are now grown to very high prices, by reason the merchants monopolize the salt, and the clothier in the making of his mingled cloths, consumes an infinite quantity of oats.
- Dec. 11. 56. Justices of Peace of co. Leicester to the Council. Excuse the tardiness of their certificate, they having been prevented holding a sessions on two occasions by the absence of the Clerk of the Peace, whose father is a maltster. Stratagems of the holders of corn to raise the price of the markets, and the inability of the Justices to prevent them. Some of them refuse to be bound to appear before the Council, "and then we know not what further to say unto them, " more than a terrifying threatening, which some for fear value, " others not at all." Return the prices of corn, similar to some before mentioned.
- Dec. 11. 57. Sir John Roe, late Sheriff of Cornwall, to the same. By Bodmin. reason of due respect had by the Justices to the orders of the Council, the markets have been plentifully furnished, and the export of corn is carefully reformed. But the price of corn still increases, from the report of scarcity in some parts of the kingdom. Wheat is 9½*d.*, barley, 5½*d.*, and oats at 2½*d.* per gallon. Rates it by the gallon, because the bushel in that country is uncertain. Has delivered their last letter to Sir John Trelawney, his successor.

Dec. 11. 58. Minutes by Nicholas, of business to be considered by the Lords of the Admiralty. Among them divers petitions and references that have lain long, some of them half a year, in Nicholas's hands. The attention of the Lords was to be drawn to a grant made to David Ramsey, of two parts of all pirates goods happening in Ireland for 21 years. This was objected to, the like never having been granted to any one but the Lord Admiral. From a marginal memorandum, it appears that the Lords disapproved of this grant, as a thing unfit to proceed, but resolved nothing, because the rest of the Lords were absent.
- Dec. 11. 59. William Herbert and others to the Lords of the Admiralty.
Swansea. Under a Commission from the Court of Admiralty, dated the 2nd inst, for seizing the St. Michael to his Majesty's use, they repaired on board that ship, and read their commission, but by Henry Mansell, a Justice of the Peace, with divers other unruly persons, were forcibly ejected, and have been unable to recover possession. Mansell and Matthew Francklyn have embezzled and daily diminish the merchandize of the ship.
- Dec. 11. 60. The same to Philip Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, Lord Swansea. Chamberlain. Relate the circumstances mentioned in the preceding letter. The ship is of great value; but such as now possess her being men of desperate fortunes, are likely to embezzle her lading. Thomas Mansell is gone to Court with some pretensions of service to his Majesty, but the truth is, that he seized on her to the use of the Earl of Worcester.
- Dec. 11. 61. Lords of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mennes, of the Garland, Whitehall. appointed to guard the Narrow Seas. He is to ply to and again between the Downs and the West of the Isle of Wight, to defend all ships belonging to his Majesty's subjects and friends from the spoil of pirates and sea-rovers.
- Dec. 11. Copy of the same. [See Dom., Car. I., Vol. clvii., fo. 114.]
- Dec. 12. 62. Captain John Mennes to [Nicholas]. Has brought the Aboard the Garland. Garland from Chatham to Gillingham, and purposes to-morrow to come into the Hope. Is victualled for six weeks, with an order for beer at Rochester, and is ready to sail when their Lordships shall order.
- Dec. 13. 63. Questions and Answers upon theological subjects given by Mr. Archer, extracted out of his sermons preached in Allhallows, Lombard Street, on Sundays, in the afternoon, with this indorsement by Bishop Laud, "Mr. Archer's catechism, for which I suspended him," and this memorandum, also by Bishop Laud, in the margin; "not catechising according to the Catechism in the "Common Prayer Book."
- Dec. 14. Grant to Henry Earl of Holland, of fines due to the King for admittance to copyhold lands within the Lordship of Wakefield, co. York, whose fines are yet arbitrable and uncertain, by being 1630. excepted out of a composition made with the rest of the copyholders in 9 and 10 Jac. I., all which fines accrued between 5 Jac. I. and 28 July last, when the whole Lordship was passed in fee-farm to the Earl of Holland. [Docquet.]

- Dec. 14. Warrant for delivery of stuff to Henry Whittingham, for his livery as Groom of the Privy Chamber, in the place of Robert Levinston, deceased. [Docquet.]
- Dec. 14. 64. The Lords of the Admiralty to the Officers of the Navy. Whitehall. The Lords are informed that on sale of the St. Anne, Capt. Mason got into his custody, besides the tackle and furniture of the ship delivered by indenture to the Lord Chamberlain, the tackle and furniture bought by his Lordship. They are to examine what tackle has been delivered to Capt. Mason.
- Dec. 14. Minutes of answers to Petitions given by the Council of War. Among the petitioners are the Rochelle Captains, Lieut. Hussey, Capts. Fowke, Deacons Bull, and George Heigham, Giles Williams, and Andrew Grandie. [Written on the same paper as Vol. clxxvi, No. 20.]
- Dec. 14. 65. Brilliana Lady Harley to her father, Lord President Conway. Brampton. Her long sickness has kept her from writing. Has some hope now that God will spare her life. Prays for his long and healthful life, and begs his blessing for Ned, Robin, Tom, Brill, and Doll.
- Dec. 14. 66. William Herbert and others to Philip Earl of Pembroke and Swansea. Montgomery. The messenger with their former letter, meeting one that came with letters from Mr. Taverner, returned again, the messenger assuring him that Thomas Mansell had wholly submitted himself to the Earl. Such as retain the ship for him acknowledge no such submission. Such of the malefactors as they could surprise they sent towards the gaol at Cardiff, but by the way they were set at liberty by Sir Thomas Mansell. The chief offenders are Henry Mansell, Matthew Francklyn, and Rowland Vaughan. The names of others may be seen in the examinations inclosed. Inclosed,

Dec. 14. London. 70. Thomas Hutchins, post of Crew Green [?], to "his loving friends and fellows in office between London and Berwick." Had had conference with the Lord Treasurer for relief of their post wages. He confidently promised that they should have relief before the 15th inst. Sec. Coke hoped to procure twelve or sixteen thousand pounds in part, and to take a course for the residue, and that their wages should be better paid in future.

VOL. CLXXVII. DECEMBER 15—31, 1630.

- Dec. 15. Serjeants' Inn. 1. Sir Thomas Richardson, Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, to the King. Edward Marlyn was convicted for being bail in the Common Pleas by the name of Thomas Simpson, which offence is felony; John Clarke, Joan Moore, Jasper Laxton, and Thomas Phillips, were severally convicted of various thefts. All of them are capable of the King's pardon, especially Marlyn, who offended out of ignorance.
- Dec. 15. Whitehall. 2. Order of Council. His Majesty's pinnaces the Henrietta, the Maria, and a prize vessel called the Niver, being of no further use, the Lords of the Admiralty are to give order for their sale.
- Dec. 15. Whitehall. 3. Order of Council. Lands having been granted by letters patent to certain persons to be sold for the satisfaction of debts due from his Majesty to Sir Allen Apsley, and persons also appointed to examine the true state of the said debts; it is now ordered that the patentees make stay of sale until further order, and return an account of what they have sold, and at what sums, and of what remains unsold.
- Dec. 15. Newbury. 4. Mayor of Newbury to the Council. Relates what he had done in reference to two assaults upon carts carrying corn to Reading, the one at Stroud Green, Greenham, in the parish of Thatcham, and the other in the parish of Speen. In conjunction, first with Thomas Fettiplace, and afterwards with him and Sir Gabriel Dowse, various persons had been ordered to be openly whipped, and others had been committed to the house of correction. A daily strong watch was kept for prevention of like outrages.
- Dec. 15. 5. Certificate of William Flood, John Young, Ambrose Long, and Ralph Carter, to the Council of War, in support of the petition of James Jeffreys. They state that Lieutenant Stanhope was billeted at the house of Jeffreys on the return from Rhé by command of Lieut. Colonel Morton. Underwritten,

Dec. 15. 6. Colin Earl of Seaforth to Sec. Coke. Has received a letter Edinburgh, from his Majesty to repair to Court with diligence, as he conceives for the matter of fishing. Will endeavour to hasten the Commissioners, and will be at Court before the last of the holidays. Recommends that the King hold firm in erecting a royal burgh in Lewis.
- Dec. 15. 7. Thomas Austen to Nicholas. There are certain sloops that Aboard the have taken six or seven hoys and crayers as low as Harwich, which Fortune, pink. is farther than his warrant gives him leave. Also divers Englishmen in small boats in the Thames rob hoys as they go to and again.
Wants supply of powder.
- Dec. 15. 8. Dr. Samuel Brooke to Bishop Laud. Predestination is the Trinity College, root of Puritanism, and Puritanism the root of all rebellious and Cambridge. disobedient intractableness in Parliament, &c., and all schism and sauciness in the country, nay in the Church itself. This hath made so many thousands of our people, and so great a part of the gentlemen of the land, Leightons in their hearts. Beside, where nothing is done the weeds will overgrow the corn, as they do. For last Parliament they left their word "religion," and "the cause of "religion," and began to use the name of "Church," and "Our "Articles of the Church of England," &c., and wounded our Church at the very heart with her own name, and by pretence of putting down Arminianism, and defence of that Church against which indeed they took up arms. They who hold the very same opinions of Penry and Wigginton, of Hacket and Coppinger, in their beginning, cry out now "The Church of England!" and will have the Church of England to be theirs. Thanks for the Bishop's promise to read over his tract. His dictates against Fisher is one of the most novel, pure, lively, and yet substantial, judicious, and learned pieces that ever he read in his life.
- Dec. 16. 9. Petition of John Smart, Captain of the Adventure, of Dartmouth, to the Lords of the Admiralty. By letters of reprisal he took the Lady of Conception, of St. Lucar, which, in the Admiralty Court, was sentenced to be lawful prize. Since which time he has been constrained to disburse above 300*l.* in defending the claims made by the French, which are not yet fully decided. Prays that the parties whose names are annexed should be called upon to contribute proportionably to petitioner's loss of time and charges.
Annexed,
9. 1. List of names above alluded to.
- Dec. 16. 10. C. Coventry to Anne Viscountess Dorchester. Begg her to send by his faithful porter, Rubro, five pounds, which must be layed out about her brother Glemham's business. The Attorney of the Wards has played the knave most notoriously, but they have brought him about again.
- Dec. 16. 11. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. Warrant Wallingford to prepare a grant to Thomas Caldwell, of certain arrearages of House. rent.

VOL. CLXXVII.

Dec. 16. Bristol. 12. William Willett to Nicholas. The Eagle of that place, a fortunate ship, has brought in a Brazilman, with about 300 chests of sugar and some hides. The ship, the Ark. The prize belongs to Mr. Hooke and his partners, the only happy man that way. The prizes this ship has taken have not been so little worth as 40,000*l*. She was taken the 27th of last month. The owners are very fearful because it was taken so near the conclusion of peace. They allege the ship is leaky, and therefore will discharge to-morrow, before the Court of Admiralty be made acquainted with it. A letter from the Lords for that presumption would beget two or three chests of sugars.
- Dec. 16. Westminster. 13. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. Petitioned the Lord Treasurer to be enrolled in the list of the King's servants that receive wages, but there has been no opportunity of presenting it. Christmas approaches, and the Lord Treasurer is altogether without money. The Cardinal Richelieu has won most of the great ones from the Queen Mother's party. Espernon shall be made Constable, Vendosme is set at liberty, Condé called to Court. They speak here of 15 ships to be set forth to put the Dutch from fishing on our coast, and to be commanded by Sir Kenelm Digby. The writer much fears the event if it should be put in execution. On Monday the Spanish Ambassador feasted the Lords Treasurer, Arundel, both Chamberlains, Carlisle, Holland, and Conway. The gout would not suffer Lord Dorchester to go thither.
- Dec. 16. Cholmondeley. 14. Tom Legh to Sir Thomas Smyth, at Ashton, co. Somerset. The writer's unfortunate sister is not married, although there was a jointure drawn and a licence gotten. Strange reports were made of her, which caused the marriage to swerve. Jack Legh's wife is brought to bed of a daughter, and his father avers he will be married. He seeks to destroy his house. The writer has a petition in hand to Lord Strange, signed by Lord Cholmondeley and Sir George Booth, and is well assured he shall have Sir Richard Wilbraham and the rest of the nobility and gentry. Nominates Sir Thomas in it to prove that the writer's brother promised to alter the conveyance. There is a prince at Knowsley, the Duke of Tremouille's son; Lady Strange is his aunt. But the best news is that Lord Gerrard's grandmother is dead, and he has 500*l*. a year fallen to him. Wishes him to write to Lord Strange about the writer's brother's promise.
- Dec. 16. Swansea. 15. Separate examinations of John Russell the younger, John Smith, and William Dunce, as to the original seizure of the ship at the Mumbles by Thomas Mansell for the Earl of Worcester. Russell, the Earl's Reeve at Oystermouth, came on board to demand "killadge" for the Earl, and was present when Mansell took possession.
- Dec. 17. 16. Petition of John Wriothesley, purser of the Vanguard, to the Lords of the Admiralty. The difference between the petitioner and one Wright, late purser of the Swiftsure, touching the embezzling of provisions, is now through Wright's false suggestions certified by

1630. the principal officers. Prays that before censure upon that certificate he may have a copy thereof.
- Dec. 18. 17. Petition of Robert Throckmorton to the King. The consideration of another petition of this petitioner, [once annexed], having been referred to the Lord Treasurer and Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer, petitioner now refers to a certificate annexed, and prays a confirmation of old liberties and grant of new. Annexed,
17. I. Lord Treasurer Weston to the King. The Attorney General had certified that he had seen charters whereby the manors of Samborne and Oversley, with leets, &c., were granted to Mr. Throckmorton. He had also seen Court Rolls of a leet held in the manor of Weston Underwood. Mr. Throckmorton desires to have these privileges confirmed, also to have courts leet in his other manors, and to have de novo goods and debts of felons and outlaws, &c. It is conceived that he may have courts leet and goods of felons, but not goods of outlaws, nor fines, unless restrained to his own courts. Written under the petition,
17. II. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a bill according to the Lord Treasurer's certificate.
- Dec. 18. 18. Lords of the Admiralty to Jacob Johnson, the diver. About two years ago Sir Thomas Freke's ship, the Leopard, of Weymouth, was cast away near Castlehaven in Ireland, with 18 pieces of ordnance, and soon after most of the ordnance were taken up by Sir Thomas's own servants; since which time Johnson has recovered three or more for his Majesty's use. Sir Thomas Freke's ship having been used as a man-of-war, Johnson is authorized to deliver to Sir Thomas all such ordnance, he first giving Johnson reasonable content for his pains.
- Dec. 18. 19. The same to Sir James Bagg, Vice-Admiral of South Cornwall. A small vessel of Dunkirk being seized for his Majesty's use at Arme, was afterwards, by some Holland men-of-war, claimed and carried away as prize; after which, being forced into Falmouth, Bagg's officers arrested her. At the request of the States Ambassador, and in favour of their men-of-war who ply on the Western coast, the said Dunkirker is to be delivered to such person as the States Ambassador shall direct. [Copy.]
- Dec. 18. 20. Minutes by Nicholas of business to be considered by the Lords of the Admiralty, with marginal notes of their determinations. Neither Capt. Mennes's brother was approved for his lieutenant, nor Bamford for his master; Sec. Coke will speak to Edisbury about supplies for the Fortune pink; the Lord Treasurer and Sec. Coke will speak with the King and Mr. Ramsey about the grant to the latter of two parts of all pirates' goods.
- Dec. 18. 21. Robert Salmon, Anthony Tutchin, and James Moyer to Sec. Coke. They find no great cause of exception to the beef returned from the Garland. It is fitting for men to eat, and the pieces are a fair allowance for four men.

- Dec. 18. 22. Captain Richard Plumleigh to Nicholas. Yesterday they arrived at Cadiz and were extremely welcome. They keep their flag out as in the Downs, for the Spaniard is overjoyed with this peace. They fear the Fleet of Nova Hispania is taken by the Hollanders. The Armada for Fernambuck [Pernambuco] is ready to set forth from Lisbon. The Fleet of the Terra Firma arrived at St. Lucar last week with eleven millions of ducats. A ship of London for St. Lucar taken by the Turks.
- Dec. 18. 23. Archbishop Abbot, Bishop Laud, and Dr. Thomas Turner, Commissioners for Causes Ecclesiastical, to Nathaniel Humfrey, John Cockaine, Roger Tudor, Thomas Ekins, yeoman, and Thomas Ekins, clerk, of co. Northampton. Letters missive to appear before the Commissioners in the Manor house of the Archbishop of Canterbury at Lambeth, on the sixth day after sight thereof.
- Dec. 18. 24. Information of Mary Wast, late servant to Samuel Castleton, of Thames Ditton, co. Surrey, and deposition of George Holding, also of Thames Ditton, farmer. John Grange in the middle of the night brought a deer to Castleton's house, where it was dressed and divided between them. The skin was thrown into Holding's yard, and Wast buried the feet, and washed out the blood and threw it into gravel pits.
- Dec. 19. 25. Petition of Sir William Morgan to the King. Anthony Morgan and John Morgan, petitioner's unfortunate sons, together with Thomas Throckmorton, were by Coroner's inquest found guilty of murder for the death of John Minton, who was casually slain in the street; but John Morgan and Throckmorton, being arraigned at the Sessions of the Verge of the Household, were found guilty only of manslaughter and suffered the penalty. Anthony Morgan fled, and is like to spend his days in exile unless relieved by the King's grace. Prays pardon. Underwritten, 25. I. Reference to the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas to certify the nature of the offence. Woking, 1630, July 29.
25. II. His Majesty, having seen a certificate by the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, is pleased that the Attorney General prepare the pardon desired. Whitehall, 1630, Dec. 19.
- Dec. 20. 26. Sir John Wingfield, Sheriff of co. Rutland, to the Council. There is scarce corn enough in this county to sustain the families of the inhabitants, and seed the land. Wheat is 6s. 8d., rye 5s., barley 4s. 4d., malt 6s., oats 2s. 6d., by the strike.
- Dec. 20. 27. William Earl of Newcastle to the same. Many parts of Nottinghamshire were and are yet so extremely visited with the plague that he could not with safety take musters therein. For Derbyshire, he sends certificate of musters and requests consideration touching some gentlemen who refused to contribute for granges whereof they are seised within the township of Brassington.

Dec. 20. 28. Attorney General Heath to Sec. Dorchester. Received warrant for drawing up a patent for Mr. Wigmore for a place in the Marches. Without a fee it will not be good in law, but the warrant mentions none. Therefore he must draw it with a blank, to be filled up with his Majesty's own hand. Some late patents of a like nature have passed by the late Lord President's means with 20*l.* fee. The gentleman was a servant to the Duke of Buckingham, whose memory the writer shall ever honour, but he must not take upon him to set down anything.
- Dec. 20. 29. Justices of the Peace for the hundreds of Anderfield, North Petherton, and others, in co. Somerset, to Sir Francis Dodington, Sheriff. There is sufficient provision of corn in their division to maintain the inhabitants and their markets for this year. The prices hold up somewhat dear in regard of the multitude of buyers.

Broadoak. 31. Sir Thomas Barrington to Sec. Dorchester. In eight hundreds of co. York they have followed the directions respecting the sale and price of corn, and have taken care that the poor may be provided for, by laying in corn in every town sufficient to satisfy them for this year, at such rates that the scarcity and dearth of these times will be the less bitter unto them. The markets have fallen, wheat being at 7*s.* and 6*s.* 6*d.*, where lately it was at 8*s.* 6*d.*
- Dec. 21.
Witham. 32. Justices of Peace for the hundred of Lexden and half hundreds in those parts of co. Essex to Sir Thomas Bendishe, Sheriff. Report their execution of the directions of the Council respecting the sale and price of corn. - Dec. 22.
Westminster. 37. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. Thanks for his offer in money matters, but is put in hope of receiving some before the end of Christmas. Is assured there is not 100*l.* in all the receipts. The King went on Tuesday to Theobalds, and will be back tomorrow or Friday. The first Monday after Twelfthtide his Majesty goes to Newmarket, and the Queen will not stay behind. She is not with child, although the contrary was sent into France two months since by young Goring, for which he received a very good present. He is lately come over, and is appointed one of the masquers. Dispute at Verdun between the Governor and Toirax. The Marshal de Marillac and his brother both arrested at one time. Walter Montagu in great favour with Monsieur. Some think he shall be the next Ambassador, Sir Isaac Wake not being acceptable to the French King. Affairs of Italy will be compounded. James Elliot and Jo. Colborne are set at liberty, but deprived of their places and banished the Court. This day the Duchess of Tremouille has gone from hence. The ship that carries her brings Sir Henry Vane out of the Low Countries.
- Dec. 23. 38. Edmund Howes to Nicholas. Two days since spoke to Sir Robert Pye, and briefly signified Nicholas's continuing integrity, and what had passed betwixt the writer and Nicholas for more than two years. He promised speedily to excite Nicholas to dispatch. The writer cannot stay forty days longer, for the whole work is already in the press. Prays him to listen "to this noble knight." Howes found him more faithful and forward than any other since the death of their worthy, renowned, noble friend.

VOL. CLXXVII.

Dec. 24. 42. Sir Robert Ducie, Lord Mayor of London, to the Council. Reports that the sickness is assuaged; that the price of victuals is not altogether so dear as hath been at this season in former years, whereto has much conduced his Majesty's care for the strict keeping of fasting days; and that the water-bailiff has caused to be plucked up all the stops and stakes that appeared in the Thames above water.
- Dec. 24. 43. Justices of Peace for the Hundreds of Dunmow, and the neighbouring parts of Essex, to the same. The markets well supplied at present, The principal inhabitants have assented to lay in corn for their poor.

- Dec. 25. 45. New year's gifts to the Royal Household, given by Lord President Conway, at Christmas 1630. Total, 22*l.* 2*s.*; but it appears by marginal notes subsequently written, that several of the gifts, amounting to l. 19*s.*, were not paid, "because my Lord died before " they were demanded."
- Dec. 26. 46. Justices of Peace for co. Surrey to the Council. The price of wheat in the markets of Guildford and Farnham somewhat under 7*s.* the bushel, and much sold for 6*s.* 6*d.*; other corn proportionably abated.

[This paper has been scratched across with ink, as if intended to be cancelled.]
- Dec. 26.
Whitehall. 48. Minute by Sec. Coke of the King's pleasure to make the grant above mentioned. There is also added the office of Bailiff of Burley, in the New Forest, and the walk called Inneslow Lodge and Clipson Shrogges, in the Forest of Sherwood. All these offices had been held by the Earl's deceased brother, the Earl of Pembroke.
- Dec. 26.
Whitehall. 49. Sec. Coke to Sir Edward Moseley, his Majesty's Attorney for the Duchy of Lancaster. Direction to prepare a bill to the same Earl for the Stewardship of Monmouth and Grosmount, with the constableness of the castles of Monmouth, Whitecastle, Grosmount, and Skinfrith. [This paper has been scratched across in the same manner as the direction to the Attorney General, No. 47.]
- Dec. 27.
Chipping
Wycombe. 50. Thomas Lock, Mayor of Chipping Wycombe, to the Council. Took order on Friday last, being market day, that free liberty should be given to all licensed badgers for the city of London, to buy wheat, for the use of that city, at such prices as by the Lords he was directed. But he found great unwillingness in the badgers, by reason that for two weeks past their meal had been taken from them, by direction of the Lord Mayor, at so low prices that they had lost at least 10*l.* on every 20 quarters; which, with exactions of officers, had discouraged them to deal any more in that trade. The market price was 8*s.*, but some of the farmers were persuaded to sell to the poor at 7*s.* Great failing of grain in the vale parts of this county. The market at Wycombe supplied out of Oxfordshire and Berkshire, where the commission of the writer does not extend. The badgers decline any longer to make a customary allowance to the poor, by reason that they cannot go on in their course of trade. Mr. Hackwell, Mr. Hampden, and Mr. Lane, Justices of the County, were eye witnesses of the proceedings on Friday.

Dec. 27. 51. John Harrison to Sec. Dorchester. His sister and himself not long since delivered two petitions to his Majesty, desiring him to give them to Dorchester, to put him in mind thereof, which his Majesty said he would. Incloses now another shorter petition. Is ashamed to make known his distressed estate, but is compelled by necessity now come to extremity. If no further occasion of employment for him, prays leave to seek it elsewhere. Seven times employed and twice recommended to the Lord Treasurer, from whom he yet never received one penny. Never poor gentleman that did service to a state was so slighted and neglected.

Dec. 28. 52. Certificate of Justices of Peace for the division of the Hundreds of Kintbury, Faircross, and Compton, with the Mayor of Newbury, co. Berks, to the Sheriff of that county, concerning their execution of the orders of the Council for the regulation of the supply and prices of corn. The poor of Newbury have their dependency on the clothiers, who forbear to set them on work, having no vent for their cloth. They are at present in a miserable condition, so that the writers fear what the event may be.

Dec. 29. 53. Justices of Peace for co. Gloucester to the Council. Have inquired in parts about Tetbury of such as have used oatmeal in the thicking of cloths. The clothiers, fullers, tuckers, and others who have dealing in the manufacture of cloth much admire that any should possess the Board with such information. The greatest clothiers protest they have not used a peck of oatmeal in a week, and most of them none, but the medley clothiers about Kingswood, co. Wilts, use some, but none above a bushel in a week. The clothiers are not able to undergo the great burthen of the poor supported by that manufacture, unless their Lordships take some course with the merchants that their cloths be taken off their hands. The markets are well furnished with all sorts of corn, and prices rather fall than rise.

Dec. 29. 54. Petition of John Potter to the Lords of the Admiralty. Served cook in the Seven Stars and in the Seventh Lion's Whelp. In the loss of the latter was one of those who were preserved with

Norwich.

55. Mayor and others of Norwich to the Council. The scarcity and dearth of corn and other victuals lies so heavy upon the poor, whose number, by reason of want of trade, does so increase as the Mayor, Sheriff, and Aldermen are enforced to set themselves at a treble weekly rate, and to tax all the other citizens to pay twice as much as they formerly paid. The Minister and Elders of the Dutch congregation complain that many of the better sort of that congregation, finding that these necessitous times will draw on extraordinary rates for their own poor, threaten to depart from that congregation, and hold themselves to the parishes wherein they dwell. By that means their poor would be left to the oversight of the English overseers, who are already overburdened, the congregation must be dissolved, and the ministry of God's word amongst them must cease. Suggest that such an order should be sent to them as was sent to the Walloon congregation under similar circumstances in 1621.

Dec. 30.

56. Justices of the Peace of co. Surrey to the same. Having examined into the truth of the petition of the clothiers of Godalming and Wonersh, they find that in those parishes very little cloth is made, and that the number of poor people depending upon their work, and at present in distress, is 1,100 in Surrey, besides a great number in the county adjoining. By the inclosed petition it appears that the clothiers are ready to be ruined, and shall be enforced utterly to give over their trade, except course be taken for sale of their cloth. Touching the great number of poor, the writers conceive that the parishes will not be able to undergo so great an addition of charge. Inclosed,

56. I. Petition of distressed clothiers of Godalming and Wonersh to the Justices of the Peace of co. Surrey. Set forth their miserable estate, having no market for their cloth, and being perplexed with the woeful cries of the poor work-folk ready to be famished, whilst the creditors of the petitioners are pressing hardly upon them for their debts. Pray them to afford petitioners help and furtherance with the Council.

Dec. 30.

57. Officers of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. The companies of the Primrose and the Timothy of London, were paid to the last of July 1628, and no longer, for which they received express Order of Council, of which a copy is inclosed. Inclosed,

57. I. Order of Council that the mariners who served in the expedition to Rhé should be paid for no longer than until the last of July 1628, for that they appeared not at Portsmouth before the departure of the fleet for Rochelle according to order. Whitehull, 1628, Dec. 10. [Copy.]

Dec. 30. 58. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Received the Duchesse de la Tremouille on board and landed her at Calais, whence he returned that morning at seven, and at nine came to anchor in the Downs. Four Dunkirkers came up with him and gave good respect by "selling" their topsails. Fight between them and a States man-of-war, who being too weak for them, placed himself under command of the Castle of Calais, who shot at the Dunkirkers.
- Dec. 31. 59. Order of Council. Commissioners of Delegates appointed in Whitehall. a cause between the Earl of Warwick and others, and Francis Massola, of Genoa, touching a ship and lading, whether lawful prize or not, having giving judgment that the same were lawful prize, his Majesty, having been informed that the proceeding in that cause stood not with a direction given by him for a standing commission for appeals out of the Admiralty, intimated his pleasure that the parties should be called before the said standing commission to make an end between them, which was ordered accordingly. William Langhorn, agent to Massola, was much blamed for not having informed the Lord Keeper or the Commission of Delegates of such standing order.
- Dec. 31. 60. Order of Council. On a petition from the Mayors of Reading Whitehall. and Newbury, complaining that the manufacture of mingled and coloured cloths was much decayed since a late order restraining the transportation of the said cloths to Delft and Emden, it was ordered that merchants not free of the Company of Merchant Adventurers, as well as the said Merchant Adventurers, might trade in dyed and dressed cloths of all sorts, so as they brought the same to the mart towns where the Merchant Adventurers reside.
- Dec. 31. 61. Certificate of Justices of Peace within the Rape of Arundel to Sir William Walter, Sheriff of Sussex, to be delivered to the Council. They state what orders they had made for regulation of the markets at Arundel and Petworth, and reduction of the numbers of badgers, maltsters, and alehouses.
- Dec. 62. Petition of Tryamore Sparkes, prisoner in the Fleet, to the Council. Having unadvisedly let fall words whereby he had incurred their Lordships' displeasure, for which he had suffered imprisonment for 20 days, he acknowledges his commitment to be just, and is heartily sorry for his offence. Prays speedy enlargement.
- Dec. 63. The same to the same. States more particularly the occasion of his uttering the words which had displeased the Council. Being free of the company of Clothworkers, and as such entitled to choose his trade, he had employed himself in brewing, and had always submitted to the regulations of the company of Brewers, but because he would not, or rather could not, be translated to that company, a multitude of them, with a constable, came to his house and carried him before a magistrate. This treatment moved him to utter the words complained of. Humbly begs pardon and prays deliverance Has been in custody three weeks.

- Dec. 64. Richard Aldworth to Lord President Conway. Craves his aid against some imputations upon his loyalty which had been communicated to the King out of Ireland. By his services in that country being utterly undone among all his papist friends, prays that the King will bestow some place upon him fit for a gentleman, or else a piece of money to help maintain him in his declining years, and that the Lord President will make some addition of his own free bounty towards the writer, his trusty instrument.
- Dec. 65. Thomas Malet to the same. States certain objections to an intended legal assurance of the Castle of Montjoy. Reminds him to call in his statute remaining in the hands of "my Lord Richardson." If he will send the writer the patent of the government of the Isle of Wight, he will inform him what will be considerable in respect of its surrender, and for the Lord President's discharge.

- Dec. Whitehall. 67. Officers of the Navy to Edward Faulkener and Francis Sheldon, Clerks of the Cheque of his Majesty's yards at Deptford and Woolwich. John Rawson, master carpenter in those yards, being dead, they are to entertain William Smith in that capacity.
- Dec. 68. Notes out of a Sermon of Mr. Nye, preached in St. Michael's, Cornhill, at the morning lecture, on Jeremiah, xxxi. 18. The doctrine preached was, "that the sense of sin, if the heart be turned against it, should not drive us from, but rather encourage us to go to God, and lay a claim to Him." This was enforced by a variety of examples. It is added, "These things, and such like, delivered by Mr. Nye, were so foul and so much disliked that Mr. Dr. Dennison, an able and worthy divine, did preach divers sermons against them." Indorsed by Bishop Laud.
- Dec. 69. Note of moneys paid to certain enumerated persons within the last three years, it does not appear on what account. Among the payments is, "My brother Covert, 16*l*." There are several other payments to persons in eo. Sussex. The total amount is 11,113*l*.
- Dec. 70. Liberties claimed by Lady Vanlore within the Honour of Tunbridge, with note of such as were allowed.
- Dec. ? 71. Petition of the Saltmakers of North and South Shields, on the river Tyne, to the Council. The officers of the Customs of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, by commandment of the Lord Treasrer, have prohibited the export of salt to foreign parts, and exacted security that all salt laden in that port should be delivered in this kingdom. The dearth of salt, and the fear of want of old salt for the fishermen, have prevailed with the Council to send forth this order, which not only trenches on the poor estate of the petitioners, but on the customs and the welfare of the whole kingdom. Pray that their answer annexed may be heard, and the order revoked. Annexed,

71. I. Answer of the Saltmakers to the reasons laid down in the order of Council of 8 Dec. 1630. They assert that there is no want of salt in the hands of the makers, but that the dearth arises from the buyers not fetching it away, in order to beat down the price at Shields, and to raise it to the country.

Dec. ? 72. Copy of the preceding petition, with the answer annexed.

Dec. ? 73. Another copy of the same, with the answer.

[Dec. ?] 74. Answer of the Saltmakers to an offer of certain projectors to supply the kingdom with white salt at 2s. per bushel. Salt is offered at 10*d.* per bushel by the saltmakers, and has been sold at Shields for many years together at 9*d.* per bushel. The projectors will sell but eight gallons to the bushel, and will gain 100,000*l.* per annum, although they give the King 10s. per way, being 10s. out of every 40 bushels.

[Dec.] 75. Petition of Edmund Ludlow and Elizabeth his wife to the Council. On their former petition the board referred the complaint of petitioners against Henry Ludlow, father of Edmund, to the Judges of Assize for Hants, for settlement. They are informed that the same payments have not been completely made, and that for lack of the same, the said Edmund is still detained in prison, and his wife is in much distress. 1630, Nov. 22.*

[Dec.] 76. Sir Thomas Canon to Nicholas. Reminds him to give direction for a Commission to inquire respecting a ship wrecked within the parish of Castle Martin, co. Pembroke, and seized by Henry Lort, as Lord of the Manor.

1. "A Second Present to the King's most excellent Majesty," being a treatise by William Saunderson, on Commerce, with the use and employment of a State Merchant, forming a second part to his former treatise of Exchanging. [See Vol. xliii., No. 13.] The views of the writer may be judged from the following extract:—"Freedom of trade, great privileges and small customs, mightily increase trade in other countries, yea, where they have almost nothing of their own but their wits to beget trade, much more would it do in these your Majesty's Kingdoms, which God has blessed abundantly with so many rich and useful commodities, to beget, maintain, and enlarge trade with all."

2. The original draft of the preceding.

3. Propositions submitted by Sir Robert Heath to the King, for stopping the growth of Popery, making his Majesty loved, honoured, and feared, and dispelling the apparitions of fears and jealousies in the people. The principal recommendations are the enforcement of the laws against recusants, the countenancing the King's Judges, who have of late been much undervalued, the observance of the petition of right, and the punishment of offenders in the Court of Star Chamber.

4. Another copy of the same; both are in Heath's handwriting.

5. Two treatises on Taxation; one affirming that it is expedient for a state to impose such taxes as are of little burden to the people, and yet are extremely beneficial to the public, illustrated by the tribute on sealed paper in use in the United Provinces; the other, that those taxes are most to be approved which are not imposed so much upon the pretence of public necessity as for amendment of evil manners, illustrated by the tax levied in the same country on frivolous or malicious suits.

Being authorized by letters patent to issue such farthing tokens as should be in use in England and Ireland, and bound to recharge the same, some persons have counterfeited great quantities of them. Prays the Lords to direct their letters into Durham for apprehension of divers offenders, and to signify the course they think fit to be taken with these and other similar offenders.

15. Petition of Hugh Morrell, merchant, to the King. Of late English gold is greatly risen in France, pieces of 20*s.* to 25*s.*, and those of 22*s.* to 27*s.*; and not only our own, but Spanish gold also, as pistoles and ryals, so that great quantities are daily brought out of our kingdoms in secret and "insensible" manner. Prays that his charge may be given him in writing, and he be permitted to answer.

Pray his assistance to the King for the ease of this and the like service.

22. Petition of William Langley to the King. On 18 July 1628, the King granted him all roots and stumps of trees in any of the King's forests. servation of banks, to defend the same from the overflowing of the Witham. By neglect of the banks the river has of late greatly annoyed the fen, and in the dead of winter, 1628, Sir Anthony Thomas and others of the undertakers obtained that 4,000 acres were, upon view by the Commissioners of Sewers, adjudged to be surrounded, and a fourth part allotted to the undertakers for draining. Prays a reference to such as may interpose for an accommodation, or may report the truth to the King.

24. The King to the Commissioners of Sewers for co. Lincoln. By former letters the King signified his pleasure to have the whole level of fens in that county fully drained, and for that purpose recommended several persons, who have proceeded with that part of the level which lies on the north-east side of the river Witham, and being now resolved that the other part of the level, not mentioned in the former commission, wherein Sir Anthony Thomas is an undertaker, shall be proceeded withall, his Majesty recommends Robert Earl of Lindsey, Sir Robert Killigrew, and Robert Long to be undertakers for draining thereof, with other their friends and adventurers, provided they may have such proportions of land assigned them as shall be sufficient to defray so great an expense, and recompense them for their risk; wherefore the Commissioners are to proceed forthwith to make a contract with them. [In the indorsement it is stated "this letter was never delivered."]

25. Articles objected by the Commissioners for Causes Ecclesiastical against John Angell, preacher at Leicester, Wm. Sherman, of Newark, near Leicester, and [Thomas Nurse?]. For inviting Dr. Leighton to Leicester, riding to Loughborough to meet him, and bringing him to Leicester with great joy and jollity, as if he were some great man, and there holding a disputation with him, as to the lawfulness of the Book of Common Prayer, in which Leighton was admitted to have the victory. They are also charged with having given out contemptuous words against Sir John Lambe, Commissary to the Bishop of Lincoln, and official to the Archdeacon of Lincoln, with having held irregular meetings for religious worship, omitted to kneel at the communion, and procured children to be baptised without the sign of the cross. Six months past they surprised a ship bound for Spain, laden with corn, which is so impaired by long lying, that it is not vendible. Pray permission to carry it to Sallee, or some other port in Barbary.

48. Petition of the Drapers of London to the Council. After divers references of the business of the hot press, the Council appointed to hear it at a general sitting. As nothing is desired but

48. I. Proclamation of James I. for ordering the use of the hot press. Westminster, 1619, March 22.

49. Petition of the Eastland Merchants, resident in London, Ipswich, York, Hull, and Newcastle, to the Council. Complain of the many difficulties in the way of their trade, arising from losses at sea, the burdens of war seated in Prussia, the trade of clothiers and mariners outward, and the interference of interlopers, who daily import Eastland commodities, not only through the Sound but from Hamburgh and Amsterdam. Hoping the late truce will settle their trade beyond seas, they pray that their privileges may be confirmed at home.

50. Minute of the particular regulations desired by the Eastland Merchants in the above petition.

51. Petition of the Eastland Merchants to the King. On a former remonstrance of the pressures and discouragements which lay upon their trade, his Majesty authorized their Commissioner, with the assistance of the King's agent, to seek redress. Their Commissioner had consequently agreed to certain articles with the Danskers, but the Chancellor of Sweden pretends that he wants a commission to reduce the high duties on cloth at that port. Pray for his Majesty's assistance in procuring such reduction.

52. Petition of Alexander Fellowes to the Council. Formerly presented four several petitions concerning certain clay for making tobacco pipes seized by Mr. Kirk and Mr. Maxfield. On the last petition a day was appointed for hearing the cause before the board, but that had been prevented by more weighty matters. Another bark load had now been seized. Pray hearing and restitution. [Underwritten, --"Nill."]

53. The same to the same. Another similar petition.

54. Petition of the Farmers of the custom of French wines to the same. Notwithstanding they have advanced to his Majesty's use divers great sums of money on rents to grow due for some years to come, there is owing to them among the merchants on last year's account, 15,000*l.*, for part of which they have been forced to take 150 tons of French wines. The Vintners make a combination not to buy these wines unless at their own rates. Pray that the Master and Wardens of the Vintners Company may be dealt with to take off the 150 tons at reasonable rates.

55. Petition of Richard Greene and Edward Cadbe to the King. Although it is the King's pleasure they should receive reward for their service done in the malting business, yet they are by strong hand hindered. Pray order for their sudden dispatch.

56. Petition of Gregory Jenner, baymaker in Colchester, to the King. Abuse is committed by vintners in selling sugar to be drunk with wine in the taverns, as in a paper annexed is expressed, with a remedy. Prays for sole right of applying the remedy for such term and at such rent as the King may think fit. Annexed,

56. I. The paper above mentioned. The abuse is that vintners buy the sugar they sell to be drunk with wine vented in taverns at 18d. or 19d. the pound, which they make up into 18, 19, or 20 several papers, and selling each for 2d. a paper, make of each pound 3s. and upwards, whereby the King is hindered in his customs, in respect that less sugar is spent with wine than would usually be if it were sold at a reasonable rate. The remedy proposed is for the grocer to divide the pound into 16 ounce packets, for which he is to charge 2s. per lb., out of which he is to pay 3d. per lb. to the King, while the vintner, paying 2s., is to sell his 16 packets at 2d. each.

57. Petition of Thomas Long, Thomas Low, William Davy, and Charles Lynsey, Wardens of the Company of Worsted Weavers of Norwich, and Peter Barrett, late Warden, to the Council. Set forth orders for government of their trade sanctioned by order of the Council of 16 May 1617, by one of which any artificer of the same trade might seize yarns exposed to sale which were defective in length or number of threads, and upon trial so many "hespes or rolstaves" as should be found defective should be forfeited. Clement Francis exposing to sale 12 dozen of yarn, the same were seized by Peter Barrett, and nine dozen thereof being found false were forfeited. Whereupon Francis commenced, and notwithstanding notice of their Lordships' order, is prosecuting a suit against Barrett in the King's Bench. Pray that Francis may be sent for to answer the premises. [Indorsed on this petition occur the following words. "Mr. Cromwell and Mr. Kilboure [Kilborne], Huntingdon," with reference to which, see Vol. clxxvi., No. 34. Clement Francis was sent for by warrant on 8 Nov. 1630. Co. Reg. Car. I. Vol. vi., p. 157.]

58. Petition of Masters and owners of ships trading to Newcastle-upon-Tyne for coals to the Council. Some of the Hoastmen being lately questioned for short entries of coals paying custom, have endeavoured to procure their discharge by propounding to yield to his Majesty a new payment of 12d. per chaldron on coals shipped, and thereby to procure a grant that some few of them might have the sole vending of coals at Newcastle, and the only lading of ships. Ships have ever heretofore had a free market, to buy of any free hoastmen, of whom they might have best coals and truest and justest measure. Set forth the inconveniences which will ensue from such monopoly, and pray that they may be left to their ancient liberty.

59. Answer of the Fellowship of Hoastmen of Newcastle-upon-Tyne to the petition and alleged grievances of the owners and masters of ships of London, Ipswich, and other coast towns trading to Newcastle for coals. The petitioners had prayed for a free market. The answer is that all proper freedom exists, and that absolute freedom would be to his Majesty's great loss, and to the utter undoing of many of the hoastmen.

60. Note of the misconduct of Walter Thomas Rive, towards the Justices of Peace of co. Glamorgan in their execution of the Council's letters respecting the restraint of unnecessary consumption of grain. [Underwritten is the fiat of the Earl of Manchester, Lord Privy Seal, that Rive should be sent for by a messenger.]

61. Petition of Roger Pettyward, Samuel Gott, and Thomas Pettyward, of London, ironmongers, to the Council. Had laden the Matthew, of London, with bar-iron at Bristol, to be delivered in London. The Mayor had stayed it. Pray that on bond not to transport the same iron, warrant may be granted for its discharge.

62. Petition of Daniel Skinner, merchant, to the same. Hoping to do good service, he had imported 200 quarters of wheat and maslen, from France, into Dover; but, having bought at a high rate, and the price of corn having much fallen at Dover, he prays leave to transport it to some other port which stands in greater want.

63. Petition of the same to the same. Petitioner had caused to be laden at Gottenburgh, aboard the Elizabeth, of Leith, 55 lasts of tar, and consigned the same to James Fletcher, of London, being ignorant of the proclamation prohibiting the importation of Eastland commodities by any other than the Eastland merchants. Prays that he may be suffered to land the said tar, promising never again to offend in the like kind.

64. Petition of Bailiffs and Burgesses of Tewkesbury to the same. Last year Tewkesbury, being situate on the Severn, and having vessels called trows built there, supplied the wants of Pembroke and Carmarthenshires with 2,000 quarters of corn, part thereof being still unpaid for. Several of petitioners have bought corn in those parts, where the same is plentiful, in great part for relief of the poor of Tewkesbury, above 500 in number. Pray permission to transport the same.

65. Petition of Thomas Thornhill, of London, merchant, to the same. Petitioner having in Ireland near 4,000 quarters of corn, which he is desirous to bring for relief of London and Westminster, he prays letter to the Lords Justices of Ireland to give way for his doing so.

66. Statement of the advantages which would result from the formation of a magazine of corn.

67. Suggestion that if the King would inquire by Commission, of forestallers and others, forestalling contrary to the proclamation of 28 Sept. 1630, and grant power to the Commissioners to compound with delinquents, good sums of money might be raised. [Copy.]

68. Form of warrant given by the Lord Mayor of London and two Justices of the Peace, for the person named therein to buy corn for the supply of the city. Underwritten are the names of 14 persons to each of whom a warrant had been given.

69. Reasons of the Merchants Adventurers against the taring of cloth by an office in London, with answers thereto.

70. Petition of the Company of Weavers of London to the Commissioners for Trade. For better strengthening them in right managing the manufacture of plushes, satins, damasks, and such like, they pray that their ancient charter may be renewed with larger powers, and that no patent may be granted to Mr. Bushell and Mr. Carleton for preventing the dying of silk heavy.

71. Specification of abuses in the trade of clothing, with suggested remedies. Some of the abuses can only be remedied by a parliament; in the meantime, various suggestions are made of remedies by proclamations.

72. Defence of the Merchants Adventurers to as much of the certificate of the Mayor and Burgesses of Reading as concerns the vent of their coloured cloth, addressed to the Council. The certificate alleges that since the restraint of liberty of venting, their manufacture is reduced from 100 cloths a week to 40. The answer is, that this is the result of the liberty granted to interlopers in the 18th year of the late King.

73. Answer of the Eastland Company (signed, William Greene) to Articles propounded by the Hanse Towns. The Hanse Towns solicited liberty of establishing houses in London, Boston, and Lynn, with a variety of peculiar privileges. The answer is, that no such privileges are given to English merchants within their cities.

74. Remonstrance and Petition of the Governor and Company of Merchants Adventurers to the Council. Refer to their many past complaints of the losses they sustain by abatements made by cloth buyers in the Low Countries, under the name of tare, for the defects in their cloth. Regulations were made that tare should only be taken at the staple town. These regulations have been frustrated by the great advantage taken in the Netherlands of the false making of the English cloths, which affords a ground and colour for the tare. About 12 years past, the late King, by proclamation, gave new life to the statutes on this subject; but the searchers and overseers now appointed are such as have no understanding of the matter, and pass over, or connive at, a great deal of wrongful dealing. Pray the Council to send some skilful person into the clothing counties of Gloucester, Oxford, Wilts, and Somerset, authorized by their letters to see that the clothiers do their duties according to the statutes, and that the petitioners may present to them a proper person for this work.

75. Complaint of the Drapers of England, presented by the Drapers of the City of London [to the same]. Set forth the great decay of the cloth trade, and the reasons to which they attribute the same, and suggest various remedies. Among the reasons assigned by them are, the export of wools “whereby the stranger’s wheel is “set going;” ill regulations of the mint, which destroy the balance of trade; impositions laid on cloth in foreign parts as well as here; loss by pirates; unskilful and dishonest manufacture; burials in the night; and discontinuance of wearing gowns and petticoats of cloth by women.

76. Proposals of Sec. Dorchester for rectifying the abuses in the mode of taring English cloth in the Low Countries.

77. Breviat of the reasons given to the Council by the New Company, against the proposed removal of the mart for English cloths from Middleburgh to Hamburg.

78. Proposal for measuring and marking of cloths in England as they come out of the mill wet, by sworn measurers appointed by the sheriffs of counties.

79. Proposition of some Dutchmen much approved by the English at Delft, for settling the controversy about the taring of English cloths, by their being sealed in England as they come out of the fulling mill, the length and breadth being expressed upon a great lead, having the King’s arms on one side and the numbers of yards on the other.

80. Petition of the Company of Merchants Adventurers to the Council. The edict of the States General for taring English cloths at the houses of the merchants buyers, and not according to ancient custom at the Staple or Mart town of the Company, had led to impositions which had drawn from petitioners more than the whole profit of their trade. They had represented the same to the late Parliament, and the House of Commons petitioned the King to deal with the States for redress. His Majesty referred the same to the Commissioners for Trade, who had reported that the tare ought to be brought back to the Mart town. Pray for the King’s letters to his Ambassador with the States to deal effectually therein with their Lordships.

81. Articles of a new edict of the States General for regulating the tare of English cloth, wherein the objections made by the English clothiers were removed.

82. Remembrances touching the import duty upon English cloth into Flanders, tracing its history from the earliest period.

83. The town of Middleburgh to [the Company of Merchant Adventurers?]. Set forth what they have done in accordance with the agreement between them for the accommodation of the English cloth trade, and allege their willingness to allow the merchants all the privileges they desire, so that the mutual friendship between them and that town may be continued. [Translation ?]

VOL. CLXXX.

[1630 ?] 84. Francis Williams, John Richardson, and Robert Tailer, to Anne Viscountess Dorchester. Pray her to intreat Sec. Dorchester to stay a patent for making salt for Essex, now to be granted to Mr. Motte and Mr. Stricson, who intend to ingross the whole trade into their own hands and lay waste salt-pans on lands of Lady Dorchester, and some lately constructed by the writers on land of her son, the young Lord Bayning.

85. Particular of the requests of Francis Williams, John Richardson, and Robert Tailer, above mentioned. They desired that the patentees should allow them the money they had disbursed in erecting their salt-works, and add the amount to the general stock of the patentees for the benefit of the petitioners.

86. Person unnamed to some one addressed as Right Honourable. Some three or four rich silk dyers in dying raw silks use slip of grindlestones and dust of iron and steel, and keeping the same 30 or 40 days in working, the silk draws into it the dross of the said stones and iron, so that of 16 oz. they make 36 oz. The writer prays that he, and such as shall employ their endeavour about the reformation of this abuse, may have some reasonable consideration for the same.

87. The King to Attorney General Heath. Warrant to prepare a pardon for John Trott, of London, silkman, fined 3,000*l.* by the Court of Star Chamber for false dying of silk, on payment of 2,000*l.* by way of composition. [Signed, but not dated.]

88. The Eastland and Muscovia Companies, who are bound to supply the kingdom with hemp, leave the State to procure it from Holland. The writer suggests that a new patent be granted to persons who, under his directions, may bring all the hemp in Europe into the kingdom, and work it here into cordage. Proposes a primary reference to, amongst others, Sir Thomas Roe and Mr. Cradock.

89. Complaint of the flax and hemp dressers, on behalf of themselves and many thousands of poor people very much distressed for want of employment. The Eastland merchants have obtained a restraint for bringing in those commodities by any but themselves, to the great hindrance of many formerly employed in spinning and making cloth, thread and bone lace, and many other things. Pray that rough flax and hemp may be suffered to be brought in by any in English bottoms, and that all wares made of flax and hemp beyond the seas might pay an impost on importation.

90. Proposal for increasing the employment of the poor by sowing flax, with a statement of the great advantages to be derived therefrom. Annexed,

90. I. *What the poor man may earn forth of the crop of an acre of flax, assuming that one acre may commonly yield 500 lbs. of flax when it is dressed before it comes to the hackle. The amount for labour on the land and the flax is stated at 33*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* per acre.*

91. Statement of an unnamed person, addressed probably to Sec. Dorchester. The writer sets forth the advantages which England derives from her trade with Poland and the countries on the Baltic, carried on by the Eastland Company, and urges the policy of endeavouring to effect a peace between the Poles and the Swedes.

92. Project for a trade to be made from England to the lower parts of Germany, Hungary, Bohemia, Slavonia, Croatia, Carinthia, Styria, Tyrol, Morlacca, and other countries.

93. Means whereby the Italian merchants may resolve themselves to come and dwell for trade in England. The means suggested are, the grant of liberty of religion, equality in payment of customs and subsidies with Englishmen, and freedom to bring in or transport out of the land any goods without impediment. The paper concludes thus ;—“ the true means to benefit the commonwealth and to enrich “ and enable the King’s revenues, is to give liberty that every one “ may trade wheresoever it pleaseth them, as well in transporting “ goods from hence, goods not prohibited by the laws, as also in “ importing from all places whatsoever, whereby the labouring men “ here will get their living, and the King his custom ; and for such “ goods and merchandise as are imported into the land, the King “ likewise shall have his custom, and the cities and country will “ plentifully be maintained with everything, and at a low rate.”

94. Petition of Richard Barnes, of Great Yarmouth, fisherman, to the Council. About Michaelmas last the Bailiffs and Burgesses of Great Yarmouth ordered that every fisherman should contribute 20s. for victualling two ships, sent to waft the fisher boats from pirates, of which fisher boats petitioner was owner of one. Before that order, he had made his assurance in London, in the Assurance office, upon the said fisher boat, and paid 5*l.* for assurance for that fishing season. Having previously lost three boats from the Dunkirkers, prays to be discharged without payment of the 20s.

95. Petition of certain fishermen, unnamed, to Sec. Dorchester. Complain of the size of the trawl used by the Barking boats, and suggest various new regulations for correction of abuses in fishing.

96. Discourse of Sir Henry Mainwaring, addressed to Sec. Coke, on the inconveniences and abuses which result from licences given to the French to fish upon the Zowe, a fishing ground which lies betwixt Rye and Dieppe. He suggests that the licences should be withdrawn, and that the King should appoint boats of his own subjects to attend the French King’s service.

97. Brief description of the Isle of Lewis, one of the Hebrides, wherein is contained the nature of the soil, the manners of the people, the several fishings, and their seasons, also the places most commodious for a free town or mart for traffic, according as it was ordered to be done by certain Lords of the Council, and performed in 1630, by Captain John Dymes.

102. Secretary Coke to Captain John Mason, employed by his Majesty to treat with the Lords of the Council of Scotland, about the erection of a general fishing. Instructions to lay before the Council at Edinburgh the propositions which have been approved in England. A stock is to be raised by the contributions of adventurers; 200 vessels of between 30 and 50 tons are to be built, and supplied with necessaries, and the profits are calculated at 165,414*l.* per annum. Lewis is to be established as the seat of a continual fishing along the west coast of Scotland.

This practice was condemned by their Lordships two years ago, but is still continued in contempt.

Nottingham, had never been inclosed, but of late Edward Munk, William Sampson, William Kayworth, James Barker, Thomas Kavy, and William Barker, freeholders of the said manor, had inclosed sundry parcels, and were about to inclose 200 or 300 acres more. Prays the King to call for the report of the referees, and give order for the petitioner's relief or his punishment.

In consideration of that debt his present Majesty granted to William Hinton an annuity of 500*l.*, but the King being now desirous of satisfying that debt by granting Hinton lands for the same at 20 years' purchase, Bingley is to calculate the sum due for the 3,000*l.* and interest, deducting the amount paid on account of the annuity. Chancery Lane. 56. — Delamain to the same. Begg him to signify to the Attorney General the King's pleasure touching his grant to the writer about his Ring. Beseeches him to be a furtherance to learning and a help to a poor scholar; and, if he has any occasion to use the writer in any parts of the mathematical studies, he will find him ever ready to attend. If Mr. Attorney had a warrant, the writer has a friend, Mr. Noy, that would go with him to Mr. Attorney, both to avoid charge and hasten the bill. The book on a further use of the Ring is ready for the press, and should be printed this term.

Prays that a commission may be granted to examine witnesses, and proceed to judgment.

Had also received one from her son d'Aubigny, wherein he wished the Sec. to be informed how prejudicial it will be for him to come over as yet for one year, in which time the Duchess believes his grandmother will be departed (considering her great years and weakness), and his course at the academies will be finished.

69. Petition of Walter Long, prisoner in the Tower of London, to the King. Since his censure in the Star Chamber, he caused his former petition to be delivered to the King, whereby he represented his humble acknowledgment of his offence and his hearty sorrow, with his resort to the King's clemency. Prays that it may be confirmed to the end of the short time he has to live here. The petition concludes, "God bless you and all your actions."

74. Elizabeth Lady Moray to Sec. Dorchester. Is happy that her petition is come a second time into his hands. When her husband died he left her so destitute that she durst not meddle with her own clothes for fear of being liable to his debts. If the Sec. knew her case, he would fall down on his knees to his Majesty to grant her suit. She has a precedent in Sir John Bath, who obtained the King's letters to pass his business in Ireland. The Earls of Arundel and Suffolk have spoken to the King for her.

75. The King to Dr. Pink, Warden of St. Mary Winton College, [New College], Oxford, and Dr. Love, Warden of St. Mary Winton College, Winchester, with others of the latter College. 83. Petition of Captain John Pennington, Gentleman of the Privy Chamber, to the King. Sets forth all his services during the present reign, and especially his capture of the great French prizes in the year 1627, worth more than 100,000*l.* There is now due to him, for bare pay and disbursements, 728*l.* 19*s.*, and he has never had any other reward than a Privy Seal for 1,000*l.* on taking the great prizes, given him by the King, with a promise that he should be rewarded for that service in a greater measure, in regard that he had preserved his prizes from pillaging, and had not taken that which was due to him by the law of the sea. That 1,000*l.* he was enforced to take land for, which will not yield him that sum. Prays for a reward for his services, and that he may have present satisfaction for the same and the other moneys due to him.

84. Certificate of Nicholas Pescod, prisoner in the Marshalsea, to the Council. That George Rutlish, a prisoner in the common gaol aforesaid, is a man of so turbulent a spirit that he daily raxseth quarrels to the great disturbance of the other prisoners; and he says that he cares not for the Council Table, or what the Lords can do to him.

85. Petition of William Radcliffe to the Council of War. Petitioner standing engaged for Sir John Radcliffe, deceased, in the Isle of Rhé, on the renunciation of his lady, children, and friends, took out administration to Sir John. Petworth, Thursday night.

90. William Earl of Salisbury to Sec. Dorchester. Desires to revenge himself on the Sec. for his many favours. The family at Petworth are very sensible of his respect towards them. Perceives he is able to remove from Bramshill to Bagshot, which makes him hope that the Sec.'s lameness is not a formed gout, which makes men sit all day at cards. The writer's wife and daughter remember their best respects. Hopes to meet him at "Casom" [Caversham ?] on Monday.

91. Petition of Ellen Scafe, widow, to the Council. Henry Sherley, at his death, was indebted to petitioner for his diet thirty odd pounds. Sir Edward Bishop, being in arrear of an annuity due to the said Henry Sherley, promised to pay petitioner 20*l.*, but now refuses, the arrear having been claimed by Thomas Sherley. Prays an order that she may be satisfied the 20*l.*

92. Petition of Stephen Smith, fishmonger, to the same. Having been committed to Newgate, he still remains there a prisoner. Prays order for his enlargement.

93. Petition of the same to the same. Being in the gaol of Newgate he has divers days been very heavy laden with such intolerable bolts and shackles that he is lamed, and, being a weak and aged man, is like to perish in the gaol, he having always lived in good reputation, and been a liberal benefactor where he has long dwelt. His house has been shut up for five months. Is heartily sorry if he or his servants have displeased the Council. Prays order for his enlargement on security.

VOL. CLXXXI.

95. Petition of Sir Thomas Stepney, one of the Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber, to the King. Had served the King and his father 20 years, and had the good fortune to save the late King from the danger of water, in Theobald's Park, when his horse fell upon him, for which service, and the rest of his time and means spent, which came to about 5,000*l.*, the late King promised petitioner on his marriage 3,500*l.* Before the performance of that promise the King died. Has neither wages nor pension, nor anything to support himself, his wife, and four children. Prays the King to confirm his father's promise.

98. The King to William Earl of Denbigh, Master of the Great Wardrobe. Warrant dormant to supply Abraham Vanderdort, appointed one of the Grooms of the Privy Chamber, with the parcels following for his livery annually during his life ; that is to say, one gown of damask or satin guarded with velvet and furred with budge, one coat of velvet, one doublet of velvet, one coat of marble cloth guarded with velvet, and one other coat of green cloth guarded with velvet ; and that the Master of the Wardrobe should pay for making and furring, and for lining-silk and buttons. 100. Request of Sir Thomas Walsingham to the Council. 101. Sir John Wentworth [?] to Endymion Porter. Is over the way, under the Exchange, with a choice piece of Canary, and invites Porter to join him. The Earl of Holland still concludes that some business alluded to shall be done, but the favour will come too late if the effect follow not speedily. It is not fit the Commission for sale of prize ships should shew an eternal neglect of the King's service with an everlasting patience for his warrant.

102. Jane Marchioness of Winchester to Henry Earl of Holland. Thanks for his most noble and good lines. Has ever found him a worthy friend and kinsman. As his goodness is above all men's, so shall her desire be ever to do him and his service.

105. Sir Henry Wotton to the same. Presents a little foretaste of a work long intended and much pressed by his friends, who overween his weakness, which, if it may receive from the royal judgment the least encouragement, will be so far from fearing vulgar censures, that his Majesty may easily make it bold enough to be dedicated to himself. The King is the common parent in his regal capacity, and in his natural, one of the virtuousest examples in the highest place, so as there cannot but stream from his sovereign person many sweet beams of goodness into the public nurture, which is the theme he handles. After this will wholly apply himself to the story of our Church and State, from the beginning of Henry VIII., which my Lord St. Albans left imperfect. Annexed,

105. I. Preface and distribution of a book entitled "A Philosophical Survey of Education."

110. Rules and examples of sums in the first five rules of arithmetic.

111. A jocular paper, perhaps written with an intended personal application, entitled "To the Prince de l'Amours, his highness, "certain Queries of State worthy the consideration of your highness privy Council." The following are two of the queries:—
 13. Whether would the Queen of Sheba (if she were now living) sooner have come to hear your highness say nothing, or King Solomon's wisdom? 14. Because mirth is the best sauce to meat, and that princes by long sitting and feeding at table are subject to surfeit, whether, as well for the preservation of your highness' health as to take away the imputation of your reserved silence, branded by some with folly, by others with pride, it were not convenient that some selected wits at such times be appointed to discourse some philosophical questions, or otherwise to retain some fool or jester as in like case is used.

112. Translation of Psalm cxix. into English verse. It commences,—

1. Blest is he that spotless stands
 In the way of God's commands,
2. Blessed he that keeps his word,
 Whose entire heart seeks the Lord.

And concludes,—

175. Let my soul live by their aid,
 And thy praise shall be displayed.

 Though he strayed, thy laws forgot.

113. Complaint of a Worm. A poem in nine stanzas. It commences,— Thou Height of Things that framest every kind,

 And makest them breathe according to thy will,
 That sense of reason cannot choose but find
 The true assurance of thy perfect skill,
 Give thou but leave unto my simple suit ;—
 If Bees do speak, a Worm may not be mute.

114. Plot of a contemplated fort 200 feet square, besides a half moon, wherein a minion may be so placed as to command some particular channel; submitted to Sec. Dorchester.

115. Map of the coast of Hants and Dorset from Christchurch to the Isle of Portland and Chesil Bank.

116. Warrant [suggested to be] published according to the Statute 33 Henry VIII., whereby every father and governor is directed to bring up his children and all other persons of tender age under his authority in the practice of shooting, and for that purpose to see that everyone be provided with a bow and arrows.

117. Petition to the King on behalf of his Ambassadors and Agents with foreign princes. By the slack payment of their entertainments out of the Exchequer, they are often forced to take up money on their credits, which produces great loss in interest beside the hindrance and prejudice of his Majesty's service. Pray that express order may be given for their arrearages, and for the future that an assignment may be settled on the Alienations and Hanaper.

118. Petition of Henry Holaly, Captain of the Trained Bands in the Palatinate country, to the Council. Having formerly lived at Frankendale he was obliged, after the Spaniards had taken the same, to take refuge in England. On his late return thither, the Prince of the country had bestowed upon him a company of the natives. He prays for a pass for himself and his family to return.

119. Petition of Henry Mitchell to Sec. Dorchester. Heretofore, in time of peace between France and England, money and bills, the produce of goods of petitioner sold at Rouen, were attached in that place, and ordered to go to the satisfaction of French merchants who pretended to have received losses at sea by depredation of the English. Prays him to represent these wrongful proceedings to the resident French Ambassador.

120. Petition of the owners, adventurers and assurers of the Bride, the James, and the Benediction, of London, to the King. Since the conclusion of peace, those three ships had been surprised by French men-of-war. Two of them had been brought into Dieppe, the third not being yet come in. On account of the intricacy of the laws of that kingdom, and a suggested connexion between divers of their Admiralty courts and the surprisers, petitioners pray his Majesty's letters to the French King for their restoration.

121. Petition of James Duppa, Nathan Wright, and the rest of the owners of the James, to the Council. Since peace proclaimed with France, Capt. Bontemps took the James, at anchor in the road of Saphy, trading on the coast of Barbary, and brought her into Dieppe, where she lies sunk and spoiled, neither can they get any right in France although they have long sued. Pray that a course may be taken for the restoration of their ship.

122. Petition of divers poor widows and fatherless children, whose husbands and goods were burned by fire and taken by the French in Guinea, in the Benediction, of London, long after the peace was concluded, to the Council. Their former petition having been lost, pray for speedy relief.

123. Petition of inhabitants of co. Pembroke to the same. Pembroke was last year much infested with Irish beggars landing about Milford Haven. Now again they purpose to pursue the same course, three barks' loading of them having been landed at Milford suddenly in the night. Pray that letters may be sent into Ireland to restrain the passage of these beggars, and to punish those that transport them.

124. Petition of Gawin Pollard, of Burlington Quay, co. York, to the same. Having suffered great loss of ships and goods taken by the Dunkirkers, prays licence to travel to Dunkirk to ransom the same.

125. Petition of Anne, wife of Thomas Audelley [Audley], to the same. Her husband coming by sea from Suffolk was taken by the Dunkirkers, where he now lies in woeful misery. Prays them to give present order for his releasement.

VOL. CLXXXII. JANUARY 1-20, 1631.

Jan. 2. 1. Petition of Sir Richard Graham to the King. The want of education on the borders of Cumberland is so great, that the poor inhabitants cannot say the Lord's Prayer, and their ignorance of God draws them to robbing, stealing, and all other manner of lewd vices, insomuch that at the last gaol delivery, those felons that were going to be hanged begged that their children might be brought up in the fear of God, the want whereof brought them to that untimely end. There is no church within nine miles' compass, but only the church of Arthuret, that of Kirkandrews having been taken down when the borders were in disorder, and a house builded of it. Prays that the King will re-establish the parish of Kirkandrews and Nichol Forest, "as an extent [extant?] parish by themselves," and give directions for briefs to assist the parishioners in finishing the work. Annexed,

1. I. Petition of Cuthbert Curwen to Sir Richard Graham, landlord of the barony of Liddell, in the parish of Arthuret and Kirkandrews. Prays him to make the above application to his Majesty. Subscribes himself as being the Minister and having the cure of souls under Sir Richard. Underwritten,

1. II. Reference to the Attorney General to prepare a grant as desired.

Jan. 2. 2. John Toppe, Sheriff of Wilts, to the Council. Sends certificate from Justices of Peace for that county. Their markets plentifully supplied; buyers have been rather wanting than corn. Prices decrease. Inclosed,

2. I. Sir Thomas Sadler and Anthony Wilkes to the Sheriff of Wilts. Report their proceedings in regulating the sale and price of corn throughout the county. Explain why the other magistrates had not taken part in the inquiry; Lord Gorges was obliged to repair to London, Mr. Henry Sherfield, the Recorder of Sarum, was lame from a fall, and the rest absent or unwell.

Jan. 3. 3. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. Advises him not to take physic for the gout. The writer's daughter, Smith, has a daughter born, which has been christened Elizabeth. Great dearth of all kinds of grain. Prices rise by little and little, which he attributes to the great care to prevent dearth having given umbrage to the corn-masters, that something is to be feared which they see not. Wheat is between 8s. and 9s. the bushel; other grains, 5s.

Jan. 3. 4. Certificate of the Rector and others of Exeter College, that Exeter College, since Mr. Perryman and Mr. Hayter have been teachers of the High School of Exeter, as many well-grounded grammarians, both in Greek and Latin, have come from thence to that college as ever have done, or may be expected. They esteem it one of the chief bursaries for supply of their western students.

Jan. 3. Dovercourt. 5. William Innes to the Mayor of Harwich. Excuses himself for not coming to the Mayor to-day, being unwell. Would not come into speech with those the Mayor mentions, except in the presence of those who could bridle their tongues. Mr. Webb knows what was accorded in London on Baron Vernon's motion. The writer will rest satisfied with that.
- Jan. 4. 6. Petition of Joseph Harrison and Henry Goodwin to the King. The late King granted to Richard Hooper and William Rands an annuity of 30*l.*, in consideration of their clearing the roads and harbours in the Narrow Seas of all anchors and cables, slipt or lost. The patentees being dead, petitioners pray for a renewal of the grant to themselves. Underwritten, 6. 1. Reference to the Lords of the Admiralty for consideration. Whitehall, 1631, Jan. 4.
- Jan. 4. 7. Justices of Peace for middle division of Surrey to the Council. In Kingston market they have brought down the price of wheat from 9*s.* and 9*s.* 6*d.* the bushel, to 7*s.*, and they see the poorer sort served with rye at 5*s.* Prices are kept up by the bakers.
- Jan. 5. 8. Commission to Archbishop Abbot, the Lord Keeper, Archbishop Harsnet, the Lord Treasurer, Lord President Conway, the Earls of Manchester, Lindsey, Arundel and Surrey, Pembroke and Montgomery, Suffolk, Dorset, Salisbury, Exeter, Bridgewater, Carlisle, Holland, Banbury, Danby, Morton, and Kelly, Viscounts Wimbledon, Dorchester, Wentworth, Grandison, and Falkland, Bishops Laud and Neile, Lord Newburgh, Sir Thomas Edmondes, Sir Henry Vane, Sir Thomas Jermyn, Vice-chamberlain of the Household, Sir Robert Naunton, Sec. Coke, Sir Francis Cottington, Sir Julius Cæsar, and Sir William Alexander, appointing them to be Commissioners for inquiring into the execution of the laws which anyway concern the relief of the poor, the binding out of apprentices, the setting to work poor people, the compelling the lazy to work, the maintenance of houses of correction, payments for relief of soldiers and mariners, punishment of rogues and vagabonds, repressing drunkenness, keeping watch and ward, and how other public services for God, the King, and the Commonwealth, are put in practice and executed.
- Jan. 5. 9. Lords of the Admiralty to Capt. John Mennes, of the Garland. Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador extraordinary to the States of the United Provinces, is to return to England by Calais, where he will be on the 7th inst. Capt. Mennes is to repair thither and transport him to Dover, or as he shall direct, and having performed this service, is to pursue his former instructions.
- Jan. 5. Collection of the rates of payment allowed to Admirals on the coast of Ireland, from the 22nd Elizabeth to the 1st year of King Charles, attested by Sir Richard Sutton, Auditor. [Copy. See DOMESTIC, Eliz., 1590, Vol. of Admiralty Collections, fol. 94 b.]
- Jan. 5. Another copy of the same, with an explanatory supplementary note by Sir Richard Sutton. [Ibid, fol. 142 b.]

Jan. 5. 10. Colin Earl of Seaforth to Sec. Coke. His delay in coming to Court is occasioned by the dangerous illness of his wife. The business of the fishing will suffer delay this year as before, if the King interpose not his authority, as he may both legally and justly.
[Canongate, Edinburgh.]
- Jan. 5. 11. Statement of the employments of Mr. Cartwright in the Third Whelp, and afterwards in the Fifth Whelp, from 2 Aug. 1629 to 28 Dec. 1630.
- Jan. 6. Proclamation concerning Tobacco. Notwithstanding previous Whitehall. proclamations, tobacco continues to be planted in great quantities in several parts of the realm, and a vast proportion of unserviceable tobacco to be brought from Virginia, Sommers Islands, and other English plantations, besides an incredible quantity of Brazil and Spanish tobacco, imported secretly. Our foreign plantations lingering only on tobacco, are in danger to be ruined, the bodies and manners of the people of this country to be corrupted, and the wealth of the kingdom to be exhausted by so useless a weed as tobacco. All persons are, therefore, forbidden to plant, or, save with the King's licence, to import tobacco. No tobacco from the English plantations is to be brought into any other port than London, nor any greater quantity than the King shall declare to be competent, his Majesty not thinking it fit to admit of an immeasurable expense of so vain and needless a commodity, which ought to be used as a drug only, and not so vainly and wantonly as an evil habit of late times has brought it to. [Coll. Procs. Car. I., No. 138.]
- Jan. 6. 12. The King to Phineas Pett. Letters patent appointing him to be one of the Officers of the Navy, with a fee of 200*l.* per annum, and an allowance of 8*d.* per day for his clerk. [Copy.]
- Jan. 6. Another copy of the same. [See DOMESTIC Eliz., 1590, Vol. of Admiralty Collections, fol. 99.]
- [Jan. 6 ?] 13. Petition of William Belou to the King. His Majesty granted him three years past letters patent for levying 5,000*l.* out of felons' goods due to the Duke of Holstein, and 5,000*l.* for himself, in consideration of his long services to the late King and Queen. But petitioner has as yet received nothing at all, for felons of any value have been begged by particular grants, which draws petitioner into law suits. To put an end to this, prays that a grant of the King's third part may be made to Mr. Porter and Mr. Murray.
- [Jan. 6 ?] 14. William Belou to Endymion Porter. Sends him the above petition for presentation. It is 40 years since he entered the late Queen's service, and either as servant, pensioner, or dependant he defies the earth to lay any blot on his fidelity.
- Jan. 6. 15. [The Council] to the Officers of the Custom House and Farmers of the Customs. Send them the proclamation against planting tobacco. For further suppression of that overgrown abuse of this drug, whereby the minds and bodies of his subjects are disabled and

These rates they are to collect for his Majesty's use. No tobacco is to be brought into any other port than London. [Copy in the handwriting of Sec. Coke.]

- Jan. 6. 17. Justices of Peace of co. Somerset to the Sheriff of the same Wells. Return for the hundreds of Wells, Whitstone, Glaston, and the Twelve Hundreds, of the quantity of corn in store and the measures taken to supply the markets and keep down the price.
- [Jan. 7.] 18. Petition of Ellen Charlton to the King. Formerly petitioned for a pardon for her two sons, who were condemned and lost their lives. For entertaining her sons, she is in danger of her life. Prays a pardon. Annexed,
18. i. Attorney General Heath to [Sec. Dorchester]. If the suggestions of Ellen Charlton's petition be true, she is very capable of his Majesty's pardon. Even if she knew her sons' offences, he inclines far to favour a mother in such a case. 1631, Jan. 7.
- Jan. 7. 19. Lord Treasurer Weston to Robert Kirkham, Clerk of the Whitehall. Signet, now attending. To prepare a bill for the King's signature for payment to Edward Nicholas of 200*l.* per annum, for his attendance and service in his Majesty's affairs of the Admiralty. [Copy.] Annexed,

- Jan. 7. 20. Sir Thomas Barrington to Sec. Dorchester. Has sent to his Sec., Mr. Lucas, the certificate of the Justices for that division of Essex, respecting the sale and price of corn. Much advantage from laying in stores in every parish, with the abatement of 18*d.* and 2s. in the bushel to the poor. Exportation prohibited, and the meaner sort provided for, the prices will of themselves fall.

23. Petition of the poor condemned prisoners in the several gaols of England to the King. On the happy birth of Prince Charles, petitioners were reprieved from death, but have continued in prison in great misery, suffering hunger, thirst, cold, and all other discommodities incident to poor prisoners. Petitioners are so poor as to be unable to sue out the King's pardon, and the Clerks of Assize and Town Clerks will not be suitors for them unless they had means to gratify their pains. Pray for order to the Lord Keeper to give directions to the Judges to prepare their pardons. Underwritten,

25. Sir Guilford Slingsby to the Lords of the Admiralty. Conceiving that they have determined to decide the controversy touching superiority of place between Sir Thomas Aylesbury and Sir William Russell, the writer sends them his collection of precedents, which although chiefly applicable to the former similar dispute between Sir Richard Bingley and himself, indirectly concern the present question. Inclosed,

Jan. 8.

27. Officers of the Navy to the same. State the various allowances made to Admirals on the coast of Ireland, varying from 20s. per diem to 3s. 6d., according to the quality of the person employed, nature of his employment, and size of his ship. Submit

- Jan. 8. Another copy of the same. [Ibid., fol. 142.]
- Jan. 8. 28. Sec. Coke to William Trumbull, Clerk of the Council. The Lord Chamberlain understands that Bartholomew Bullinger, who is a chief witness in the business wherein his Lordship is engaged, is detained by Mr. Mansell, who lodges at the house of one Thomas, in Chancery Lane, over against the Rolls. This afternoon the Lords of the Admiralty have appointed a meeting. Trumbull must send a messenger to Mansell to require him to be there.
- Jan. 8. 29. Justices of Peace for co. Lincoln to the Constables of the wapentake of Yarborough. By reason of a general restraint for the boating of any corn at Barton for exportation, there is stop made of corn long since bought for provision of Sir Thomas Monson's house. They are to allow the same to be brought away. [Copy.]
- Jan. 8. 30. William Belou to Endymion Porter. Yesterday Mr. Weckerlin, Secretary to Lord Dorchester, told the writer that Mrs. Harrington was importunately instant to have the King's third part of the suit his Majesty had granted the writer. Begg him to intercede with his Majesty to prevent it. His Majesty promised not to give it to any but William Murray or Porter. To be joined with a party from whom he can expect nothing but crosses and thwarts, will be worse than death.
- Jan. 9. 31. Orders by the King for reformation of certain irregularities in the Court. 1. That precedency be duly observed in going to and coming from Chapel; 2. That none wait upon the King to Chapel in boots and spurs, or enter booted into the presence or privy chamber; 3. That no man come into the inner closet under the degree of a baron; 4. Jan. 9. 32. Petition of Sir William Russell, Treasurer of the Navy, to the King. Petitioner trading as an adventurer in the Muscovy Company, and being dissatisfied with the management, withdrew his share in their stock at a great loss. The Company afterwards became greatly indebted. A reference was made to certain aldermen and others to find out a means to satisfy the debts, which they directed to be done by levying great part thereof on former adventurers, and among them on petitioner. He, with Sir Richard Smith and William Cater, took legal proceedings thereon, but considering the importance of the cause as a precedent, petitioner prays that it may be referred for determination to the Commissioners for matters of trade. Underwritten,

On board the Garland. 12 at night, received command to stand over to Calais to attend the coming of Sir Henry Vane. At 6 next morning anchored in Calais Road, but hearing no news of Sir Henry, and finding a packet directed to the Sec., he stood over to Dover, and delivered it to a boat of the town. Is on his return to Calais.
- Jan. 10. 34. The King to Attorney General Heath. To prepare a licence to Francis Earl of Bedford, to build upon the premises called Covent Garden and Long Acre, with a pardon to the Earl, and such persons as he shall name, for offences committed against the proclamations for restraint of building upon new foundations.
- Jan. 10. 35. Capt. John Mennes to the Lords of the Admiralty. Stood On board the Garland. over to Calais on the 7th inst. to receive Sir Henry Vane, but could hear no tidings of him. The road being dangerous, he is plying between Dover and Calais. The King of France is building a fort near Calais, which will command the town. They talk much of a fleet that King will maintain in the Narrow Seas all this summer. The seas are full of Turks, as every sail that comes home certifies.
- Jan. 10. 36. The same to Nicholas. Repeats the information in the pre-

- [Jan. 10 ?] 37. Sec. Dorchester to two Lords in attendance upon the King, perhaps Lords Carlisle and Holland. Hopes the weakness which his sharp pains have left behind them will be an excuse for a joint letter. Begg them to get his Majesty's hand to a safe-conduct for two such persons as the King of Bohemia shall think fit to send hither to advise of the dispatch to be made to Vienna. May hope for their arrival against the return of the persons addressed from Newmarket. Removes that day to his house at Westminster, leaving Ladies Killigrew and Carey in the hospital, but both well recovered. 38. Sir William Elyott to [Sec. Dorchester?]. The poor people of Godalming and Wonersh, who depend on the clothiers, amount to 1,100, besides others in neighbouring parishes to the number of 3,000 persons. Prays him to take the state of the clothiers into his consideration.

39. Justices of Peace for Hants to the Council. By their letter of the last of December see that the Lords have received information that there has been neglect in performing the orders for regulating the markets. This seems very strange to the writers. They have carefully followed their directions. The markets are plentifully furnished, and the prices under the rates their Lordships proposed to be reasonable, viz., 6*s.* 8*d.* or 7*s.* for wheat, and other corn in proportion.

40. Justices of Peace for co. Hertford, acting for the hundreds of Edwinstree and Odsey, to the same. Report their performance of the orders for regulating the price of corn. Grain sufficient within these hundreds, both for supply and sowing, with a surplus. Prices at Royston market on the 5th inst., wheat 7*s.* 6*d.*, and other corn in proportion.

Jan. 11.

41. Anne Lady Glemham to her daughter Anne Countess of Dorchester. Sends a paper, which was sent to the writer since her noble father died, to show how much Lord Treasurer Salisbury favoured the Hollanders, and what plea they made at the Council table to maintain their right in fishing. Believes that now they will rather resist in another way, since they want such a powerful friend as Lord Salisbury, and since in his place is one that will put them to it, as common fame says. [Attached is a paper, on which is written, in another hand, "This was sent to me after my father died."]

42. Lord Henry Percy to his brother James Earl of Carlisle. Thanks for favours. Does not offer at news, knowing of Mr. Montagu's packets. The Earl's requests, the one in respect of the writer's body, the other on the part of his reputation and honesty, shall not be denied.

43. Philip, Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery to Attorney General Heath. Has heretofore acquainted him with the King's pleasure, that the patent granted to Sir Robert Douglas, of the keeping of Richmond, and that granted to Theobald Piers, of the keeping the wardrobe there, should be settled, so that there might not be two grants of the same place. Sir Robert Douglas is well contented to resign his patent, and take a new one without the keeping of the wardrobe. The Attorney General is to have a patent passed accordingly.

Justice Hyde and other Justices of the Peace for Hants. They heretofore made in Basingstoke 30 broad cloths and 100 kersies which employed the poor of 80 and 20 kersies made weekly and their cloth lies on their hands, the merchants refusing to buy, whereby the petitioners are discouraged and the poor daily increase.

Pray relief.*
- Jan. 12. 46. Justices of Peace for Berks to the same. Have considered Reading, at the their letters in favour of James Senior, Ensign. The public stock Quarter Sessions for this year will not equal the charges thereon, but they have bestowed upon Senior 20s., with promise of the first pension that shall become void.
- Jan. 12. 47. Sir Robert Killigrew to Mr. Nicholls [Nicholas]. The Earl Whitehall. of Dorset tells the writer that the Lords [of the Admiralty] are content to write another letter to Sir Francis Vivian, wherein Nicholas must express how ill they take it that he has suffered his Lieutenant [Bonithon] to transgress their commands. If he shall again stay any ship at St. Mawes, they will take it as a high contempt. The Lords are content to write a sharp letter.
- Jan. 12. 48. Receipt for 10*l.* from Nicholas, rent to Mr. Caldwell at St.

Jan. 14. 52. Sec. Dorchester to Philip Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain. Was sorry not to find Dr. Steward in the bill of the preachers for this Lent, he being as fit a man as the writer knows for a place in Church government. Study and industry have taken so much out of the good honest man, that there is little left to continue him in this world, unless he be kept in life by encouragement in well doing. Begg that the bill may be changed. The King has always declared good satisfaction in hearing Dr. Steward. [Copy.]
- Jan. 14. 53. Henry Earl of Holland to Sec. Dorchester. The King has sent word by Mr. Cofferer what is his opinion concerning the desire of the King of Bohemia for the place of the negociation of his affairs. His sense was according to Dorchester's and so also of the letter to the King of Spain, that they desire should be sent over. The King thinks also that, according to the wish of the town of Geneva, Dorchester should draw a letter to the French King; and also that our merchants should be advised to give such satisfaction as may secure the Turkey Company from danger at Constantinople. The King wishes him not to adventure a journey thither [to Newmarket].
- Jan. 14.
Morpeth. 54. Justices of Peace of Northumberland to the same. Mr. Brandling, the High Sheriff, having been commanded to appear at the Council Board, to answer some informations for taking that office upon him to undo and oppress the country, the writers certify that this gentleman executed the office formerly with good approbation and without public complaint. His absence out of the county will be prejudicial to the public service.
- Jan. 14.
The Hague. 55. William Lord Craven to the same. Thanks for favours, and wishes for his safe recovery.
- [Jan. 15 ?] 56. Petition of Sir John Wake to the King. For enabling petitioner to sell lands for payment of his and his late father, Sir Baldwin Wake's debts, the King took him and his sureties into his protection. Has sold lands and raised 9,000*l.* but by reason of the sickness certain referees have been unable as yet to compound with the creditors. Prays renewal of his protection for a year longer.
- Jan. 15. 57. Petition of John Wriothesly, late purser of the Vanguard, to the Lords of the Admiralty. By being displaced is utterly undone. Prays that the matter against him may be reviewed, or that he may have a legal trial.
- Jan. 15.
Deptford. 58. Kenrick Edisbury to Nicholas. Reports the services of Sir Francis Stewart, in the year 1625. He desires Nicholas to move the Lords for his allowance. The office cannot right him beyond 8*s.* per diem, which is the ordinary captain's pay without ship.
- Jan. 15.
Trewent. 59. George Ellis to Sir Thomas Canon. A miserable wreck took place at Boshoston, in November last, of a ship from Ireland. All the people and cattle perished. The wreck which came ashore was

- seized by Mr. Lort, alleging that he had title; but he has proved only a right within Combe Martin, where this did not occur. The dead bodies still lie stript naked upon the rocks and sand, unburied. A Commission from the Admiralty has been inquiring about this and other wrecks; but Mr. Lort is sick, and the chief actors keep out of the way. One of his sons is in London, to get, as is reported, a new patent for all wrecks between the two fresh waters.
- Jan. 15. 60. Answers made by John Davenport, B.D., and Vicar of St. Stephen's, in Coleman Street, to objections devised against him by Timothy Hood, sometime his curate. The articles refer to the reading of the Litany on Sundays, the use of the surplice, issue of tokens for admission to the communion, administration from pew to pew, signature of the cross in baptism, and personal disputes between the vicar and curate. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud.]
- Jan. 16. 61. Drs. Augustine Lindsell and John Cosin to Eleazar Dunkon, chaplain in house to Bishop Neile, of Winchester. That which they related at Farnham concerning the reading of the Nicene Creed and the common singing of psalms by all the people together, instead of the Quire Anthems, in Durham Cathedral, was no more than they heard with their ears and saw with their eyes. That "my Lord" [Bishop Neile] should be assured to the contrary is no little marvel to them. For better satisfaction, they relate the whole circumstances in reference to those departures from previous custom in Durham Cathedral, the alterations having proceeded from the then Bishop Howson, and being in accordance with his directions. [Underwritten, is the further attestation of William James, one of the prebends; William Smith, the sacrist; and Richard Hucheson, organist.]
- Jan. 17. Grant to Sir Arthur Ingram, enabling him to recover 725*l.* 3*s.* 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. out of the estate of James Jackson, deceased, late Receiver of his Majesty's revenues in co. York, when he was Prince, which sum had been paid into the Exchequer by the said Sir Arthur and Ambrose Beckwith, as sureties of the said Jackson. [Docquet.]
- Jan. 17. Grant to Humphrey Jones and Evan Jones, of the offices of Receiver of his Majesty's revenue in cos. Anglesea, Carnarvon, Merioneth, Denbigh, Flint, Montgomery, and Chester, during their lives successively, on surrender of Thomas Trafford the elder, and Thomas Trafford the younger. [Docquet.]
- Jan. 17. Licence to David Ramsey, Thomas Parker, and others, for the sole use for 14 years of a new engine for raising water out of mines and coalpits. [Docquet.]

- ✓ Jan. 17. 62. Bishop Davenant, of Salisbury, to the Council. Lord Gorges has received from them a paper signed by the Earl of Castlehaven, wherein he desires that certain particular goods of his may be sent up to him in the Tower, and they had willed the same to be sent, with a trunk wherein the Countess of Castlehaven's apparel is locked up. The trunk was delivered by the Bishop to Edward Dudley by a former order of the Council, and he has given the keys to Lord Gorges to send up the remainder. Knows not how the case stands with the Earl, but submits that by ancient charter his predecessors and himself have hitherto enjoyed all goods in the city [Salisbury] which happen to be forfeited.
- Jan. 17. 63. Sir William Killigrew to Sec. Dorchester. Prays him to be a Pendennis Castle suitor to the King for setting up the Lizard light again, which heretofore his kinsman Sir John Killigrew had by patent from King James, but which had been forbidden at the request of the Trinity House. The writer has compounded with Sir John Killigrew, and desires a new patent. 'Tis a thing all seamen desire, but most, [the] strangest, who wonder by what unjust complaints so great a benefit is lost; every year many ships are wrecked for want of it.
- Jan. 17. 64. Margaret Lady Savile to the same. Glad he is so well Hurst. pleased with the picture of her husband, who living so much respected him. Wishes him to make use of some other physician than Dr. Mirne [Mayerne]. Sir Henry Neville, and the writer's nephew Levingstone, assured themselves that his physic shortened their days. Shall not bring her daughter Harrison to London with her, but her son. Shall not be able to remain long unless the Sec. can make a way for her to procure her 80*l.* from Mr. Dickenson.

72. Order of Council. On petition of Robert Jarman it appeared that he had taken a house within the Palace of Westminster, intending to make a tavern of the same, but that he was opposed by Sir Abraham Williams, who had obtained an order to suppress the same tavern. After consideration and perusal of the Stat. 38 Hen. VIII., whereby the limits of the said palace are set forth, it is ordered that the former order should be ratified, and directions given to Sir William Slingsby and Peter Heywood to compel Jarman to remove his wines, or stand committed.

Jan. 19.

73. Petition of Robert Barker, his Majesty's printer, to the Council. In July last a warrant of assistance was granted to petitioner to search for prohibited books. (Vol. clxx., No. 54.) Petitioner sent to Bristol and York and found out and seized divers Bibles printed beyond seas. Since which Michael Sparke, the most capital offender in the premises, has arrested one of petitioner's agents and declared against him for execution of the said warrant. Prays that Sparke may be brought before their Lordships to answer the premises.

'Tis with confidence affirmed that Cumberland and Westmoreland have paid in these fines above 30 subsidies, yet no man complains in respect of his fair carriage of the business; sed cum strepitu maximo.
- Jan. 20. Whitborne. 79. Bishop Godwin, of Hereford, to the King. His answer to the Commissioners for disafforestation of Malvern Chase no way proceeded from any coldness or backwardness to do the King service, but from a desire to certify his Majesty of the estate of the Bishop's Chase as distinguished from the other, that having notice thereof, according to his wonted care of his episcopal sees, he might favourably dispose of that small parcel belonging to the Bishopric of Hereford.
- Jan. 20. Combe Sydenham. 80. Sir Francis Dodington, Sheriff of co. Somerset, to the Council. According to the proclamation and directions respecting the price of corn and regulation of the markets, he and the Justices of the Peace had diligently done their endeavours, as appears by two certificates of the Justices inclosed. [Perhaps the inclosures were the papers calendared in Vol. clxxvi., Nos. 18 and 39.]
- Jan. 20. 81. Justices of the Peace for the Hundreds of Reading and Theale, in co. Berks, with the Mayor of Reading, to the same. Report their endeavours to abate the price of wheat, notwithstanding which it had risen 12*d.* the bushel since Christmas, which they attribute to the price advancing in London. The corn masters set apart a sack in every load to serve for the poor at 12*d.* per bushel under the market, which the writers cause to be housed, and the poor served therewith by pecks and half pecks.

Jan. 20. 82. Commissioners appointed to inquire concerning certain wreck HaverfordWest. lately found near Bosheston, co. Pembroke, to Sir Henry Marten, Judge of the Admiralty. Certain persons necessary to be examined have wilfully made default in appearance, or have so obscured themselves that the messenger could not summon them, by reason whereof the writers were forced to give over the further execution of the commission. Inclosed, 82. I. Schedule of the names of the witnesses above mentioned, the chief of them being Henry Lort, of Stackpoole Court, co. Pembroke, with Judith his wife, Anna his daughter, and others of his family.

Jan. 20. 83. Minute of application of Kenrick Edisbury, that the Lords might be moved concerning the Christopher, bought of Mr. Coombes, of Southampton, on terms that if burnt in the service of Rochelle she was to be paid for, if she returned, he was to have freight. She sprang a leak and put into Penzance, where she lies rotting, her provisions being in the hands of Capt. Polkinghorne.

Jan. 20. 84. Philip Burlamachi to William Boswell, or "Sig. Morits," to move the Council of War that Capt. Ouseley and the writer may have a day appointed to be heard, in a matter in which Ouseley throws blame and uses scandalous speeches against Burlamachi.

Jan. 20. 85. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. Colberg taken
Westminster. by the King of Sweden, Magdeburg blocked up by Tilly, towards whom the King is gone with 12,000 foot and 4,000 horse. Sir Thomas Roe says that the King desires nothing in the world more than to meet Tilly. The French King makes preparation for Italy, but the Pope has sent a nuncio into France for an accommodation. The Queen mother and the Cardinal are in show well reconciled, yet some say, Sir Henry Vane came last week out of the Low Countries. He went from Gravesend to Newmarket, and came on Tuesday hither. The Commissioners of Spain and the Low Countries meet 1 February. They say the Hollanders have farmed the gabelle of salt of the French King, wherein they have cut the throat of our fishing project, for we cannot furnish ourselves elsewhere with salt. Their Majesties will be here on Wednesday next. The Groom of the Stool's place is between Sir Francis Cottington and James Maxwell. Both are rich and able to lay down the 8,000*l.* promised to Sir James Fullerton. Lord Denbigh went last week to the East Indies.

VOL. CLXXXIII. JANUARY 21-31, 1631.

Jan. 21. 1. The King to Patrick Young, William Boswell, and Inigo Jones.
Westminster. Warrant to put into order the King's ancient coins and medals, both Greek and Roman, in gold, silver, and brass. [Copy.]

Jan. 21. Docquet of the same.

Jan. 21. 2. Motives presented by Sir William Russell to advertise the Lords of the Admiralty that the Treasurer of the Navy ought to have precedency of place among fellow officers, notwithstanding their quality otherwise. The dispute lay between Sir William and Sir Thomas Aylesbury, who claimed the precedency as an ancients Baronet and a Master of Requests.

Jan. 21. 3. Copy of the same.

[Jan. 21 ?] 4. Estimate of the ordinary charge of the King's ships in harbour and service for the year 1631 ; total, 34,233*l.* 15*s.* 8*d.*

[Jan. 21 ?] 5. Observations of Nicholas on the preceding estimate, so far as it relates to the fleet in the Narrow Seas.

Jan. 22. 6. Petition of Henry Mansell, Thomas Mansell, and Rowland Vaughan to the Council. On some information that petitioners should disobey a Commission for delivery of a ship, petitioners have been long in custody, together with Rowland Pewe, Thomas Lloyd, Henry Watkins, and Morgan Vaughan, poor men who have not wherewith to give themselves food, much less to pay messengers' fees. Pray that the four poor men may be discharged, and have liberty to go home, and that petitioners may be freed on security to attend for a full hearing.

Jan. 22. 7. Petition of Sir Sampson Darrell, Surveyor of Victuals for the Navy, to the Council. Divers years since Sir Allen Apsley and petitioner entered into contract with the late King to provide victuals for the Navy at 8*d.* per man at sea and 7*d.* in harbour. In respect of the great price of all provisions prays an increase of these rates.

Jan. 22. 8. Affidavits of Matthew Hancock, Nicholas Bowes, and George Raymond, of words used by Triamore Sparkes, formerly a seller of stuffs in Paternoster Row, and now a brewer. He said to the Master and Wardens of the Brewers Company that they ought to have gone to the Lord Mayor and not to the Lords of the Council, for they had nothing to do with the question between him and them. He also threatened to sue them for coming into his house by virtue of a warrant from the Lords, and said he would brew in spite of the Company's teeth.

Jan. 22. 9. Minutes of business to be transacted by the Lords of the Admiralty. 1. Resolve on the guard of the Narrow Seas and charge of the Navy for this year. 2. Case of the Christopher, (see Vol. clxxxii., No. 83.) [The Lords conceived that since Mr. Coombes had notice of the ship's being at Penzance, it is at his own peril if he let her perish.] 3. Disposition of the Ninth and Fifth Whelps. 4. Complaint against Capt. Hooke. 5. Letter of Sir Philip Carteret. 6. John Delabarre attends their pleasure. 7. Sir William Russell's Motives to shew his right of precedency.

Jan. 22. 10. Petition of William Herbert, Deputy Vice-Admiral to Philip Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, in his Vice-Admiralty of South Wales, to the Lords of the Admiralty. Offers four particulars proved against Thomas Mansell and the others, and prays them to refer the legal determination of the matter to the Judge of the Admiralty.

Jan. 22. 11. Mayor and Burgesses of St. Mawes to the same. Certificate that the commanders of the castle there have required all shipping to make their repair to the castle for 40 years, and they have heard that the like course was used ever since the castle was finished.

Jan. 22. 12. Similar certificate of inhabitants of St. Just, Philleigh, and Anthony, co. Cornwall.

Jan. 22. 13. Philip Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, Lord Chamberlain, to Sec. Dorchester. There is not any of his Majesty's chaplains whom he more esteems than Dr. Steward, but the King has many more able chaplains than can preach in one Lent. The King approves Dr. Steward well, but if he should be always planted on the list, would it not savour of partiality? Neither King, nor Towers, nor Hackett, nor Browne, nor Gillingham, nor divers other eminent men are on the bill, shall it therefore be thought that they are laid aside with disrespect? It is too late to alter the bill. Shall be sorry if Dr. Steward afflicts himself with ill-grounded mistakings.

Jan. 23. 14. Petition of Ellen Charlton, of Bower, co. Northumberland, to the King. States the execution of her two sons and her own danger for harbouring them. She formerly petitioned the King, and the judge certified that her sons were fit for mercy by the pardon for the birth of the Prince, yet they were cut off. Her own fitness for pardon having been certified by the Attorney General, she prays that order may be given for drawing the same up. Underwritten, 14. i. Order that if the Attorney General find the poor petitioner capable of grace he should prepare a pardon. Newmarket, 1631, Jan. 23.

Jan. 23. 15. Petition of Attorney General Heath to the King. Petitioner has purchased of Patrick Maule the manor of Collyweston, co. Northampton. In the grant to Mr. Maule there is a covenant that he shall keep 100 deer in the park. The now park is but 108 acres and has no covert, but there are wood lands much fitter for a park. Prays leave to dispark the old park and make a new one out of the wood lands, not exceeding 500 acres. Underwritten,

18. Henry Earl of Holland to Sec. Dorchester. Is commanded by the King to tell him, that he must send to the Lord Keeper, about a book that Sir Edward Coke is setting forth, in which the King fears somewhat may be to the prejudice of his prerogative, for he is held too great an oracle amongst the people, and they may be misled by anything that carries such an authority as all things do that he either speaks or writes; for the prevention of which the King thinks it should not come forth. His Majesty hears that Sir Edward, though he be in no present danger, yet through a late indisposition, he is not likely to last long. The King would have the Sec. choose some person whom he may trust to inquire after his health, and if he be in any present danger, that care may be taken to seal up his study, if he dies, where such papers are, as use may be made of them (having passed through so many great places in the State) for his Majesty's service, and some suppressed that may disserve him. His Majesty is resolved likewise that the papers and dispatches that Lord Conway has left should be recovered; he leaves the manner of it to Dorchester, but have them he will; they are his own words. The writer regrets the continuance of the Sec's. pain and distemper.

19. William Earl of Denbigh to Nicholas. George Rookes is a petitioner to the Lords of the Admiralty, concerning a ship of his appraised at 600*l.*, which was taken up by the Earl and employed at Rochelle for a fire ship, for which he has had no satisfaction. Begs Nicholas to give him assistance.

Jan. 29. Hertford. 37. Justices of Peace of co. Hertford to the Council. Report their execution of the orders respecting the supply and price of corn. They greatly fear that, unless corn come in out of foreign countries, to furnish the City of London, there will not be sufficient corn in that county to support the people. The chandlers who buy up corn in their markets, shew testimonials from the Lord Mayor that they are purveyors for the City.
- Jan. 29. 38. Petition of Edward Faulkener, Clerk of the Check at Deptford, to the Lords of the Admiralty. The late King, in his ninth year, gave to petitioner his office, and he and those that previously held the same performed certain duties in connexion therewith, until John Wells, late clerk under Sir Robert Mansell, late Treasurer of the Navy, obtained a grant for keeping the out stores, by force of which petitioner is interrupted in his office, in certain specified particulars. One of his Majesty's servants, John Le Neve, has been there with a patent directing the execution of the Statute of 33 Henry VIII., for shooting with the long bow. The Statute has long slept, and is very penal; since the use of muskets, the use of bows and arrows is quite gone out; the town and country are utterly destitute of bowyers and fletchers, and bow-staves and all other necessaries, and are charged with muskets, pikes, corslets, and other arms. They desire that, if this patent is to be put in execution, time may be given to provide necessaries, and that the Council would send them bowyers and fletchers from London, and take course to provide them with bow-staves.
- Jan. 30. Southwell. 42. Archbishop Harsnet, of York, to Sec. Dorchester. Now the cloud of his drowsiness is a little lightened, he is able to call to mind the Sec.'s private letters, for which he returns thanks in very emphatic manner. the Lord Treasurer, which were untrue.
- [Jan. 31. ?] 47. Information that [Hugh Branham], Mayor of Harwich, with Council or the Messenger, being so unjustly troubled; and that, if the Messenger kept them in custody, they would complain to the Council against him and the clerk.

- [Jan. ?] 59. Brief on behalf of the King against the ship the St. Michael, and her lading, and Michael de Haze claiming the same. After the ship had been taken possession of by Thomas and Henry Mansell, the latter examined the Captain as to his papers. Bartholomew Bullinger, a passenger, advised a search under the capstan, which was accordingly taken up, and "searching the sole thereof, they [discovered] therein a hollowness, wherein they found a white latten box with divers writings;" which being shewn to the Captain, he was very pensive and wept, and exclaimed against his company for discovering the same. He said, he had only one butt of sack aboard, which if they would give him, they might take the ship and the rest of the goods, all being lost and forfeited.

VOL. CLXXXIV. FEBRUARY 1-14, 1631.

- Feb. 1. 1. Notes taken by Sec. Coke, upon conference with Mr. Dickenson concerning the management of the Royal Stables. Great overcharges and frauds committed by the officers, especially in buying remnants, and old stock at brokers, and selling them to the King at excessive rates. The two Riplinghams had thus got great estates. One of them gave 3,500*l.* to Sir Henry Appleton, of Essex, with his daughter. 11,000*l.* remains in arrear in King James's time to Bingham, the then squire-sadler since deceased, whereof the greatest part was got by buying things "up and down" and selling them to the King, as also a great estate which he left, being [at first] but a poor sadler.

There has not been any want of corn in their market, but during December the price of wheat was 8*s.* 6*d.*, the beginning of January it was 9*s.*, and last week 9*s.* 6*d.* Measures taken to reduce the prices.

Feb. 14. Exeter College, Oxford. 85. Dr. John Prideaux to Bishop Laud. The elections of their Fellows is limited to no particular school. Those which they have of Exeter school have attained it from the conceived hope of their abilities. Sir John Acland gave 800*l.* to the building of their hall, and at his death remembered the College with 16*l.* yearly for two poor scholars from Exeter School, but these pensions are cut off. Two poor youths have the title of Sir John Acland's pensioners, but not a penny of maintenance. Reasons (they hear) the city has for it, which they have omitted to acquaint the College with.
- [Feb. 14?] Petworth. 86 Henry Earl of Northumberland to James Earl of Carlisle. Will pass some of the night watches in perusing some book alluded to [perhaps Heylyn's Life of St. George]. Whether St. George were a saint or no saint, the order is like to continue honourable so long as it shall be continued at a certain number. Is glad to hear of his health.
- Feb. 14. 87. Depositions respecting four several contempts made by Capt. William Crase [Scras?] and his company of the Dolphin against warrants out of the Admiralty for arresting that ship, and also against John Bewley [Beaulie], Lieutenant of Cowes castle. The ship was ultimately arrested, but not without considerable resistance.

Feb. 15. Whitehall. 1. The Council to the Mayor of Plymouth. John Willett, of Midhurst, was lately committed to the gaol at Exeter for refusing to take the oath of allegiance. The Mayor is to cause him to be set at liberty, taking bond with such sureties as he is able to procure, to render himself to Sec. Dorchester within 14 days.
- Feb. 15. Nayland. 2. Petition of the inhabitants of Nayland, co. Suffolk, to Lord Treasurer Weston. Their distressed estate, for want of corn, is so great that most of the inhabitants are ready to perish. Pray him, for Christ's sake, and the love he bears the town, to take some course for their relief. [Appended are the signatures of John Hankin, clerk, and 14 other persons.]
- Feb. 15. 3. John Harrison to Sec. Coke. Has sent the bearer to know his pleasure, concerning the references from his Majesty and the Lords concerning Sallee and the persons and goods of the King's subjects there. Four months were given him to return with an answer, and he has been here almost five months to his great charges. Is no longer able to attend, for want of means. Finds himself neglected, as never was poor gentleman who did such services for a State; first, in the wars of Ireland in the days of Queen Elizabeth, three years; in the Court, a servant to Prince Henry 10 years; in the Palatinate in those wars ; in the Sommers Islands, Governor there ; and seven times employed as agent in Barbary, settling that peace, and redeeming captives. His Majesty stands engaged in honour to return them an answer.

- Feb. 15. 4. Petition of William Sedgewick, his Majesty's brewer, and John Benjamin, of Ipswich, maltster, to Sir Thomas Edmondes, Treasurer, and Sir Henry Vane, Comptroller, of the Household, and the rest of the Officers of the Green Cloth. Pray letter to the Justices of Ipswich that Benjamin may be tolerated in his former malt-house, to convert 300 quarters of barley into malt for the King's service. [Licence given this day. Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. vi., p. 347.]
- Feb. 15. 5. Sir Thomas Colepepper to Sir Francis Nethersole, at the Hague. Everybody is busy about the performance of the Queen's mask on Shrovetide next. All the Court ladies are daily practitioners. The report goes on of the Lord Marquis's journey. The King has engaged himself to send 10,000 men to the Swedish army. Rumour that "Mase the Boor" [?] has been beaten and sunk by the Dunkirkers. On Sunday last the Lord Ambassador's four pictures were brought to Whitehall for the King and Queen to see. The King sent for Sir Henry Wotton to give his judgment of them. They are exceedingly commended, and will continue courtiers at Whitehall. Cheney Colepepper is to go over. If it be for good, begs him to recommend him, as the writer's nephew, to the Queen of Bohemia.
- Feb. 15. 6. Justices of Peace of Surrey to Sir William Walter, Sheriff of the same county. Report measures taken by them for supplying the markets, and reducing the price of corn in the eastern part of the county. Wheat had been at 8s. the bushel, at which price the poor people were not able to buy.
- Feb. 15. 7. Petition of John Powell and Eleanor James, relict of Edward James, to Lord Treasurer Weston. Trees have been and are felled in the Forest of Dean, whose roots remain in the ground to the hurt and hindrance of the soil. Pray for a lease of such roots for 21 years, paying 18*d.* per cord to his Majesty. Annexed, 7. I. Reference to Sir Thomas Fanshawe. 1631, Feb. 15 [?]
 7. II. Report of Sir Thomas Fanshawe to the Lord Treasurer. The petition is reasonable, subject to certain provisions.
 7. III. Attorney General Heath to the Lord Treasurer. Concurs in Sir Thomas Fanshawe's opinion, but directs attention to a petition of William Langley (see Vol. clxxviii., No. 22), who sought confirmation as to the Forest of Dean of a former similar general grant which was not legally operative for that forest. He recommends that the offer of Powell and James should be accepted, as being the best for the Crown.
 7. IV. Lord Treasurer to the Attorney General. Directs him to prepare the recommended grant to Powell and James. 1631, March 19.

8. Petition of Clais Cornellison Bours and Company, merchants, of Horne, in Holland, and owners of the Young Swan, to the Council. They let that ship to George Rookes and Robert Grove for a voyage to Ireland, and thence to the Canaries, and back to London. On her return, petitioners demanded the freight and demurrage due to them under their charter party. A suit ensued in the Admiralty Court, which stood for determination, when Rookes and Grove procured a prohibition out of the King's Bench. Petitioners set forth the inconvenience of this course, and pray an order for the Judge of the Admiralty to proceed to sentence.

Feb. 16. 9. Duplicate of the preceding.

Feb. 16. 10. Petition of George Wey to the Council. There is such scarcity of corn at Bristol and Weymouth that the poorer people are ready to perish. Petitioner has contracted in Cornwall, where there is great plenty, for certain quantities. Prays licence to transport the same from Padstow. [Licence given. Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. vi., p. 355.]

Feb. 16. 11. Petition of Robert Barker and Martin Lucas, his Majesty's printers, to the Council. Under a warrant for searching for Bibles and other privileged books printed contrary to the patents granted to petitioners, divers Bibles printed beyond seas were seized and taken from Michael Sparke and others, and left in the custody of the Mayor of Bristol. Sparke has prosecuted a suit at common law for seizing the said books, and is ready to proceed to trial therein. Pray that he may be ordered to appear to answer his contempt. [Sparke was sent for by warrant this day, and entered his appearance the day following. Co. Reg., Car. I., Vol. vi., pp. 345, 348, 353.] Annexed, 11. 1. Declaration in an action of trespass for taking and carrying away sixty Bibles; Michael Sparke versus Philip Waterhouse.

Feb. 16.
The Downs.

12. Capt. John Mennes to the Lords of the Admiralty. Shall not fail to obey their directions for the conduct of Don Carlos de Coloma, but shall be very ill provided of victuals, having but seven days' victuals left. Has received order for Mr. Carteret to be his lieutenant, and will do him the best offices he may. His brother has constantly served during all the late wars; hopes he may not be altogether discouraged. There are two pirates (Nutt and Downes) to the westward, by Plymouth. Prays that he may have the Niver; she would be of great service in discovering bays which these pirates frequent.

Feb. 16. 13. The same to Nicholas. Has sent his purser up about victuals. They have had very foul weather; two Frenchmen cast away near Sandown Castle.

Feb. 16. Nicholas to Francis Earl of Rutland and Thomas Viscount Savage, Commissioners of the late Duke of Buckingham's estate. Explains a transaction in reference to 1,000*l.* (being the payment for a six

- clerk's place), given by Sir Julius Cæsar, Master of the Rolls, to the late Duke of Buckingham, The Duke promised the amount first to Nicholas and afterwards to Sir Henry Hungate. In the end it was received by the latter, but he paid Nicholas 480*l.* as compensation. This amount he now claims against the estate of the Duke as a debt. [Copy. Nicholas's Letter Book, p. 89.]
- Feb. 16. 14. Christopher Conway to William Weld. Sends him a copy of the patent concerning the impost of tobacco. If it might be effected, the writer is willing to augment the rent 10*l.* If he has not otherwise disposed of the copy, prays him to deliver it to Mr. Varendell, who says it may be brought to pass. Desires love and service to Lord Conway.
- Feb. 16. 15. Affidavit of Capt. Roger Bradshaw in support of Henry Skipwith's claim, disallowed by Julian Calandrini.
- Feb. 17. 16. Petition of Edward Waters, alias Hierne, to the King. Petitioner has stolen two horses, and other things, for which he is now to be condemned in Newgate. Being sorry, and it being his first offence, he prays pardon. Underwritten, 16. I. Reference to the Recorder to certify the state of petitioner's offences. Whitehall, 1631, Feb. 17. Annexed,
16. II. Sir Heneage Finch, Recorder, to the King. Prisoner has been convicted of stealing two horses belonging to Sir Edward Marrow and Humphrey Parrit. He has been reprieved. 1631, April 9.
- Feb. 17. 17. Petition of John Tichborne to the same. The King promised petitioner his bounty in lieu of the Ranger's place of the Holt, granted to Robert Tirwhitt, the King's servant for life. Thomas Carr, late Sheriff of Northumberland, having in his custody John Charlton, alias John of the Bower, sentenced to death for horse-stealing, allowed him to go at large on bond. Prays grant of the benefit of any forfeiture for the said escape. Underwritten, 17. I. Reference to the Lord Treasurer that he may give order according to the petition if he shall not find it inconvenient. Whitehall, 1631, Feb. 17.
17. II. Report of Attorney General Heath. The grant solicited is fit for his Majesty to bestow at his good pleasure. 1631, March 5.
- Feb. 17. 18. Petition of the Master, Wardens and Company of Makers of Playing Cards to the same. The King having incorporated petitioners, and granted them power of seizing cards put to sale without his Majesty's seal or stamp, divers of the King's subjects offend for want of notice. Pray for a proclamation setting forth the liberties granted to petitioners. Annexed, 18. I. Reference to the Attorney General to draw a proclamation in such sort as he thinks fit. Whitehall, 1631, Feb. 17.

Feb. 17. 19. John Laugharne, Sheriff of co. Pembroke, with the Justices of the Peace, to the Council. Report the fulfilment of directions respecting corn and markets, whereby the market has been brought to indifferent rates; but notwithstanding all their endeavours, wheat has been as high as 6s. a strike of eight gallons, which has been occasioned by Tewkesbury, Gloucester, and Bristol men, who have bought under licences for supply of those places granted upon misinformation that this county was supplied by them last year. They have transported 2,000 quarters out of that little county, and intend to proceed farther, which, unless the Council prevent by calling in the licences, the poor will doubtless perish.
- [Feb. 17 ?] 20. Notes out of the Council Book of licences to transport corn to Bristol, Gloucester, and Tewkesbury, out of the counties of Pembroke, Glamorgan, and Carnarthen.
- Feb. 17. 21. Petition of the principal Masters of the Navy to the Lords of the Admiralty. Similar to that presented on the 12th inst. (Vol. clxxxiv., No. 71), with some slight alteration in the prayer. In this case they pray for a continuation of all their former allowances, ordinary and extraordinary.
- Feb. 17. 22. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. His Majesty has agreed to demise to Sir Paul Pindar, Sir John Wolstenholme, Abraham Dawes, and John Jacob, his general customs and subsidies from 24 Dec. next coming, for one year, at the rent of 150,000*l.* Allowance is to be made, out of the rent, of 20,000*l.*, advanced by the lessees beforehand, with interest thereon at 8 per cent. with various other payments and deductions. Mr. Attorney is to prepare a lease accordingly.
- Feb. 17. 23. Rowland Woodward to Francis Windebank. The King of Westminister. Sweden has passed towards Silesia, whither Tilly has marched to impeach his proceedings. Don Carlos took his leave on Tuesday, and goes away on Saturday, in discretion, it is thought, not to have any more competition with the French about invitation to the Queen's mask on Shrove Tuesday, otherwise it is manifest that he much desired to have seen Sir Francis Cottington before his departure. He was yesterday sumptuously feasted at the cock-pit by the Lord Chamberlain. Sir Henry Vane has all his plate and furniture taken by the Dunkirkers, with which Sir Charles Morgan is also taken. It came in a Hollander with a convoy which is missing, and is thought to be sunk. Concerning "that" with Lady Beauchamp, leaves it to Windebank. Would not have so good a stomach to it if he thought hereafter she would be governed by such an old shaver and ruffian as Bolton? Yesterday, before the Lords, when his Majesty was present, a difference was heard between the Earl Marshal and the Lord Chief Justice. The case is full of unprecedented passages too long for a letter.

- Feb. 17. 24. Dr. Michael Jermyn to Sir Francis Nethersole. To know if he had found an opportunity to present Bishop Lake's works to Elizabeth Queen of Bohemia. S. M. [Ludgate

- Feb. 18. 25. Sir Sampson Darrell to Nicholas. Understands of the Lord Treasurer's wish that the Garland may be provided with one month's victuals to carry over the Ambassador. Though money be exceeding scarce with him, he has borrowed so much as will perform that service. Knows my Lord will consider his endeavours and losses in the King's service.
- Tower Hill.
- Feb. 18. 26. Lord Treasurer Weston and Sir Francis Cottington, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to Sir Robert Pye. Send him assignation of the funds, out of which 34,233*l.* 15*s.* 8*d.* is to be paid for the charge of the Navy in 1631.
- Feb. 18. 27. Justices of Peace for co. Hertford to the Council. Return of their proceedings in reference to the regulation of markets and price of corn. Wheat is at 8*s.* per bushel.
- [Feb. 19.] 28. George Lord Dupplin, Lord Chancellor of Scotland, to Sec. Dorchester. A complaint has been made by Nathaniel Uduart [Edwards?] and his partners, patentees for the Greenland trade of Scotland, that their liberties have been violated by the Greenland Company of London, their goods seized, their persons troubled, and their ships impeded, so that they have returned empty, which has bred a general grievance for want of oils, and consequently of soap. Begg him to take measures for repairing the complainants' losses.
- [Feb. 19.] 29. Copy of the preceding.
- Feb. 19. 30. Council of War to Sir William Courteney. Refer to him a petition of Colonel Robert Farrer for payment of 22*l.* due to his late brother by Gilbert Ware. If Ware refuses to make satisfaction, he is to be commanded to make his appearance before the board. [Draft.]
- Whitehall.
- Feb. 19. 31. Deposition of William Shamlard the younger as to the arrest of William Manfield by George Herne, with, underwritten, another deposition dated the 26th inst., of Joseph Galpin, respecting a warrant also in the hands of Herne for the arrest of John Bewley [Beaulie], Lieut. of Cowes Castle.
- Feb. 19. 32. Opinion of Sir Humphrey Davenport, Lord Chief Baron, with Barons Denham and Trevor, that a licence to retail wines in Plymouth, granted by Queen Elizabeth on the 10th Nov., in the 41st year of her reign, to George White, is void in law; no part of certain indentures therein mentioned having been delivered into the Court of Chancery. Annexed, 32. I. Case upon which the above opinion was founded.

Feb. 20. 33. Petition of George Rodolph Weckherlin to the King. Trusts that the King will vouchsafe him some gracious acknowledgment of his service, lest he undo himself and his family thereby. Meanwhile he is enforced to crave some refreshing in this hard time. The late King in the 11th year of his reign granted licence to one of his footmen for 21 years, to cause to print the following books:—Catonis Dysticha, Terentii Comediæ, Æsopi Fabulæ, Virgilio Opera, Ciceronis Opera, Ovidii Opera, Corderii Colloquia, Pueriles Sententiæ et Confabulatiunculæ. That term being almost expired, he prays for a patent in reversion for 31 years for printing the same books, and also, Lud. Vives Colloquia, Eclogæ Mantuani, and Epistolæ Sturmii, whereby he may get some small recompence, as the footman did, by letting the same grant to the Stationers' Company.
Underwritten,
- Feb. 20.
Whitehall. 34. James Earl of Carlisle to Sir Henry Vane, Ambassador to the United Provinces. Wishes he would communicate his thoughts with the same freedom as the writer, and not return him a recapitulation of his own with malicious comments. His enigmatical state-style leaves the writer in doubt that Sir Henry scarcely received the writer's testimony as authentical for the good satisfaction his Majesty received in his despatches. For his better assurance intends to procure him a certificate. Sends him a problematical discourse of some of the occurrences of these times. If he is delighted with it shall oftener furnish him with such divertissemens.
- Feb. 20. 35. Reasons by William Bardwell to induce "their Lordships" [Lords of the Admiralty?] to procure Sir William Withypoll to withdraw his action against Bardwell (Vol. clxxxiv., No. 19.), and to proceed in the Admiralty.
- Feb. 20. 36. Another copy of the same.
- Feb. 20. 37. Sir Thomas Aylesbury to his son Nicholas. Explains how the question of supply of the Fifth and Ninth Whelps stands. Sir William Russell gave the officers notice that they were to be provided for otherwise than out of the office.
- Feb. 20. 38. Inventory by William Drake of tenths taken out of the St. Anthony captured by the Eagle, Capt. Richard Taylor, and brought into Bristol.

Westmoreland his Majesty should delay the licence she has solicited she knows not, unless she has some ill office done her. Begs him to appoint a time when the King's Attorney may attend his Majesty about this business.

- Feb. 23. 43. Deposition of John Raynie of Wrotham, co. Kent, made before the Clerk of the Council, as to the circumstances under which he entered into recognizance as collector of the fifth and last subsidy granted to his Majesty in a late Parliament, and how it came to pass that certain recusants therein were taxed at the single subsidy.
- Feb. 23. 44. Petition of John Smart of Plymouth to the Lords of the Admiralty. Licence has been given to Sir William Alexander, son of Sir William Alexander, principal Secretary of Scotland, Jarvis Kirk, Robert Charlton, and William Berkeley to trade in the river and gulf of Canada. Petitioner prays for licence for discovery of a further plantation not contained in the before mentioned grant, on the north side from the Gulf, within 12 leagues of Todisack.
Underwritten,
44. I. Reference to Sec. Dorchester to examine whether the voyage intended by petitioner be not comprehended within the commission to Sir William Alexander and the rest of the Company of Canada, and if not, the Lords think fit the petitioner should proceed. Wallingford House, 1631, Feb. 26.

- Feb. 24. 46. Margaret Lady Savile to Sec. Dorchester. Thanks for his noble courtesy shewn to Mr. Greaves, though it took no effect from a change of the design. Is now a suitor on behalf of Mr. [Peter] Turner, chosen to be one of the writer's husband's professors [Savilian Professor of Geometry]. Wishes to petition the King for continuance of his Fellowship with his lecture.

- Feb. 26. 53. Sir John Ashburnham to Elizabeth, Queen of Bohemia. Has at last obtained from the Lord Treasurer a promise of 6,000*l.* of her arrears, to be made over to Burlamachi, and he also says he will undertake to her creditors there to give them satisfaction, and will pay her pension henceforward every quarter. Hopes with the return of the long expected ship of De Boore, to repair again to his attendance on her Majesty. Delivered her commands to Lord Dorchester. Their effect was to give him power to sit up that night at the Queen's masque. Sir Henry Vane received also her favour with the like thankfulness. Mr. Elviston is upon employment to the King of Sweden. Lord Carlisle on Shrove Tuesday was made Groom of the Stool. If he had refused it, Mr. Maxwell, who returned out of France but a day before, would have had it. He and the Lord Treasurer's sons came then to Court full of the turmoils of France, which would not be believed by the Queen until her masque was solemnized. The King goes on Monday to Hampton Court for that week, but leaves the Queen here, where they mean to spend the rest of Lent. Will bring her gloves, garters, and roses, with stockings, and what else he can provide.
- Feb. 26. 54. Petition of the Mayor, Jurats, and Commonalty of Hastings, to the Council. That town is in great distress for want of corn. Pray them to authorize John Brett and William Lovell, purveyors for the town, to buy and embark corn within the county of Sussex.

But now Lady Teynham, widow, Mr. Painter, Mr. Milton of Gillingham, and others, pretend right to these fishing places, and appropriate them to their own particular uses. Pray for protection in their ancient liberties, and that the persons named may surcease their suits. Underwritten,

 March 9. 62. Sir Thomas Barrington to Sec. Dorchester. If there be not some speedy course taken for prevention, extreme scarcity and want are likely to fall upon the kingdom and that county in especial. Suggests, 1. Fixing the price of corn; 2. Few are able to reach the prices of wheat; barley is the chief sustenance of the general body of the kingdom, and that sells at 6s. 4*d.* per bushel; 3. - March 10. 68. Thomas Coteel the younger, Sheriff of Hants, to the Council.
Steventon. Has sent two certificates on 20 Dec. and 11 Jan. in obedience to the Book of Orders. On the 5th inst. at the Assizes at Winchester the Justices required him to shew to their Lordships that there is not anything more to inform them of, the prices of corn being still the same.

- March 10. 70. Lord Treasurer Weston to Attorney General Heath. The Wallingford House. offices of Avenor, Escheator, and Feodary of the Duchy of Cornwall are by inquisition found void, for not accounting for such money as Robert Langdon, who enjoyed the same, received by virtue thereof. He is to prepare a grant of the same offices to Stephen Smyth, he putting in security to account.
- March 10. 71. Capt. John Mennes to [Nicholas]. Has plied to and again

- March 10. 73. Thomas Viscount Wentworth to ———. In the business Westminster. wherewith he has made the writer acquainted, will do him the best offices he possibly can : takes it as an opportunity offered to lay the materials of a hearty, true friendship. Moved the Lord [Treasurer] on his behalf either for present payment or a good assignment. His answer was that upon the sudden he could not tell where to settle the business. The writer told him that after he had thought upon it a day or two the writer must put him in mind to let him have a determinate satisfaction, which he says he will do. "I shall not fail to refresh his memory, and told him, seeing you had put it into my hand, I must not leave him till I got you a good issue of your business, as the beginning of friendship and confidence betwixt us, and surely he shall find me as good as my word." Has had all this morning a violent fit of the "migram" with such dimness of sight that he hardly sees the letters as he writes.
- March 10. 74. Certificate of the Mayor of Maidstone as to the quantity and price of corn, and supply and employment of the poor. The town has provided for the poor twopenny loaves of bread made of wheat and barley, of a greater weight than the baker's bread, every loaf weighing 9 or 10 oz.

The preacher described a Court, in the words "of a late reverend divine," as "altogether for money," "a mint of fashions," "an exchange of compliments," and alleged that there was "a kind of necessity for courtiers to accommodate themselves to all companies," "like the herb tripolium, which changeth colour thrice every day, being sometime white, sometime violet, and sometime carnation." [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, "Mr. Mady. The Courtiers."]

- March 14. 93. Capt. Richard Plumleigh to the Lords of the Admiralty.
 Portsmouth. Would readily obey their order to bring the Convertive to Chatham, and by the way to put a bark into Dunkirk; but he has now on board but 16 days' provision, and the wind is come up northerly.
 The readiest way will be to fit up the Henrietta or the First Whelp, either of which he would see furnished with 8 days' victual out of the Convertive. But if they pitch on the Convertive, they must give order for 14 days' victual at the least.

 review. He has provided for uniformity of service according to the ancient use of that Church, before the late alterations which have bred all these quarrels. Has just received a letter from Bishop Laud. Reserves himself for a further answer.

- March 17. Grant to Richard Ledesham of the keeping of the King's ward- Westminster. robe, at Greenwich, with the fee of 8*d.* per diem for himself, 4*d.* for his servant, and 3*l.* per annum for wood and coals for airing the stuff. [Ibid., No. 73.]
- March 17. Warrant to pay to Sir Henry Vane, Comptroller of the House- Westminster. hold, 400*l.*, for secret service during his late embassy to the United Provinces. [Ibid., No. 74.]
- March 17. 103. Sir Henry Marten to the King. Reports the facts relating to a Portuguese prize brought into Dartmouth by a ship of Middleburgh, acting under a commission from the Prince of Orange. The owners alleged that she had been rescued by a Dunkirker, but the proof seems to be otherwise, and they now rely on a clause in the last treaty with Spain that no favour is to be yielded to the enemies of that country. The writer reminds the King that in the treaty of Southampton, of 1625, there is an express clause that the States may bring their prizes into the King's harbours. It may be thought hard to deprive them of that liberty without notice.
- March 17. 104. Petition of Sir George Paul to the King. On surrendering the office in the King's Bench, which he held under the late Duke of Buckingham, he was put in hope of obtaining a dispensation to exempt him from shrievalty and other services. In consideration whereof, and of his infirmities, being about 68 years of age, he prays for a grant of such dispensation. Underwritten, 104. I. Reference to the Attorney General to certify whether the petitioner was freed from the services mentioned by his former office. Whitehall, 1631, March 17.
- March 17. 105. John Lord Poulett to Sec. Dorchester. The bearer is Mr. Hinton. Mayes, who comes to solicit his own affairs, and to convey a sick child of the writer, whom he has sent to wait that good hour when, amongst others, she may receive the grace and benefit to be touched by his Majesty's blessed hands, which, if it may be hastened, may be the preservation of a poor weak child, and a great obligation to the writer's wife and himself.
- March 17. 106. Sir William Alexander to Sec. Coke. His Majesty a month ago directed a Privy Seal to be drawn up, with a blank for a sum to be filled in by his own hand, for the Earl of Angus, in consideration of a Privy Seal which he has for part of the portion given to his son by his Majesty with the Duke of Lennox's sister.

- March 17. 107. Bishop Howson, of Durham, to Bishop Laud. Gives him an historical narration of the innovations in the service in Durham Cathedral, which began with the omission of the prayers at six in the morning, intended especially for householders and servants, and usual in other cathedrals. This alteration giving great offence, at the suit of Justice Hutton and many others, the six o'clock prayers were restored, whereupon "the innovating part" ordered the customary Morning service so, by reading more than is usually read, and by a great variety of music, that they wearied the congregation with extraordinary long service, beginning after eight of the clock, and continuing till after eleven. To remedy this the Bishop conceived that the Nicene creed might occasionally be read instead of sung, as also the petitions of the people after the ten commandments. These alterations gave general content, the people, after their own parochial services, which were early, coming by troops to the cathedral, there being no set sermon in the morning in the whole city.
- March 17. 108. Observations concerning the uniformity of Common Prayer and Service in the Church of England, and administration of the Sacraments. Collected by Bishop Howson, of Durham, for his own use, and sent by him to Bishop Laud. They relate principally to the distinction between the services for Sundays and week days, and the propriety of dividing the Sunday Morning service prescribed by the Prayer Book into several parts to be read at different hours in the forenoon.
- March 17. 109. Copy of the same.
- March 17. 110. Estimate for the new range of buildings to be erected by Bishop Laud, at St. John's College, Oxford; total, 1,055*l*.

- March 18. Westminster. Warrant to pay to Francis Longston, merchant, 200*l*. due to the citizens of Stade for 16 lasts of Dantzic rye, taken up by Sir Charles Morgan, General of the forces under the King of Denmark, during the siege of that city. [Ibid., No. 76.]

Had been petitioned against by Sir Thomas Jay, Master of the Armoury, and not having been supplied with money had been unable to execute the works he undertook to do. Had received only 50*l.* of the expenditure, of which he incloses an account. 112. I. *Account of expenditure of 54*l.* including 5*l.* which Sir Thomas Jay constrained Medley to lend to him.*

March 18. 113. George Rookes, Robert Grove, Robert Tockley, Elias Jurdan, and Robert Woodroffe to the Council. Complain of the capture of the James of London, and the Bride, taken by Capt. Bontemps after the peace with France, and carried into Dieppe. Solicit restitution.

March 18. 114. Notes by Nicholas of information derived from Sir Henry Marten, respecting the conservancy of the Thames, and the inefficient way in which it is managed under the Lord Mayor by the Water Bailiff. The right below bridge is in the Lord Admiral. Lord Admiral Nottingham sold his right to the City for 600*l.*, but could only sell it for his own time. [It appears from memoranda by Nicholas, that he had been directed, probably by the Lords of the Admiralty, to make inquiries which solicited the above information.]

March 18. 115. Petition of Captain Henry Hastings and the master and company of the Dove of Minehead to the Lords of the Admiralty. Under letters of reprisal petitioners took a Spanish carvel on the 3rd Dec. last. She was sent home, but by foul weather was driven into Limerick, where she was seized and the crew treated as pirates. Pray warrant for redelivery of the carvel and restitution of her cargo.

March 18. 116. Petition of Capt. William Scras to Lord Treasurer Weston. Has made contempt by disobeying two warrants out of the Court of Admiralty and approving the arrest of the Lieutenant and gunner of Cowes Castle of which the Lord Treasurer is Governor. Craves pardon and discharge.

 March 21. Warrant to the Commissioners of the King's revenue while Prince Westminster. of Wales, and to Francis Phillips, Auditor, and Aden Parkens, Receiver General, of co. Northampton, to pay to Sir John Wake 60*l.*, an arrear of 40*l.* per annum, assigned to him by the late Duke of Buckingham, together with the office of Lieutenant of the forest of Salcey, co. Northampton. [Sign Man. Car. I., Vol. xii, No. 83.]
- March 21. Grant to the town of Tenby, co. Pembroke, of a confirmation of Westminster. their ancient charters, with an enlargement of the privileges thereby conferred. [Ibid., No. 84.]
- March 21. 12. Justices of Peace of co. Suffolk, to the Council. Their regulations have lowered the price of corn in those parts, but most unhappily Samuel Puckle of Norwich, falsely pretending great plenty of buck and small use thereof made by the poor, has got a licence for transporting 100 lasts, by which they understand 1,100 quarters of buckweed, or buckwheat as it is termed in their Lordships' order, to be laden at Yarmouth for Rotterdam. To see their bread thus taken from them and sent to strangers has turned the impatience of the poor into licentious fury and desperation. They come in great troops to the writers telling them they must needs starve if this corn, which only they were able to buy, be taken from them. The knowledge of it has raised the price to 6 or 7 shillings a quarter, and brought up wheat and rye to the old rates. Pray a restraint of the meditated export, and punishment of Puckle for his false pretences.
- March 21. 13. Bailiffs of Yarmouth to the same. Samuel Puckle, mentioned Yarmouth. above, had applied to export his 100 lasts of buckweed, but the writers having received strict command by the Book of Orders, and late directions from the Lord Chief Justice, to be careful to make provision for the poor, and not to permit exportation, and since then the scarcity having been discovered to be far greater than was expected, so that many families of good scrt have no other bread than such as is made of buckweed, and that not plentiful, yea and the poor people laying violent hands on boatmen suspected of bringing in corn for exportation, the writers have forbore the lading of the said grain, until their Lordships were acquainted therewith.
- March 21. 14. Dep. Lieuts. of Devon to the Council. Ambrose Roope, of Totness. Little Dartmouth, in that county, serves with arms proportionable to his estate.
- March 21. 15. Officers of the Navy and Masters of the Trinity House to the Lords of the Admiralty. Having conferred on the propositions of Sir Thomas Button, they think that above 60 men are not fit to be allowed in the Whelps. They should incline to reduce them to 50.
 It may be useful to have four murderers in each of these vessels, and to change two of the demi-cannons into light minions.
- March 21. 16. Bishop Howson of Durham to Bishop Laud. Begg him not to conceive that he is so wickedly base-minded as to wrong any man for his friend's quarrel, and that he is of the same constant

- March 21. 17. Differences between the hatred of God and man, signed "John Archer," and, indorsed by Bishop Laud, "Mr. Archer's "second part of his catechism, as himself avows it." [See 1631, March 9, Vol. clxxxvi., No. 64.]
- March 22. 18. Form of renewed commissions sent into all the counties in England and Wales, to compound with such persons as are to make fine for not appearing at the coronation, to receive the order of knighthood, with lists of the commissioners to whom the commissions were severally directed. [Copy.]
- March 22. 19. Petition of Charles Griffith, prisoner in co. Montgomery, to the King. On 13 Oct. last, there happened an affray at Newton between John Owen and a stranger. Petitioner did his best to part them, but John Owen was killed. Petitioner being indicted for murder, the jury could not agree, whereupon the judges discharged them, and bound some of the prosecutors and jury over to appear in the Court of the Marches, where they were fined for their malicious prosecution. Prays that the judges may certify the facts, and the petitioner be relieved. Underwritten, 19. I. Reference to the Judges of Assize to certify the nature of the offence, and whether they consider the prisoner capable of mercy. Whitehall, 1631, March 22.
19. II. Sir John Bridgeman and Sir Marmaduke Lloyd, the Judges of Assize before whom petitioner was tried, to the King. Report the circumstances as above stated, with addition that, during the second night the jury were locked up, two brothers of the party slain, and others of his friends delivered cloaks, burnt sack, &c., to the jurors who were inclined to find petitioner guilty, adding that they would have blood for blood.
- March 22. 20. Sir John Cæsar to the Council. Report of facts proved in reference to the complaint of John Baker against Daniel Smith and Thomas Smith, of Barley, co. Herts. The case being referred to arbitration, the umpire ultimately awarded 25*l.*, to be paid by the Smiths to Baker on the 1st Dec. last, which they had refused to pay.
- [March 22.] 21. Certificate of Sir John Cæsar and various persons resident in and near Barley in Herts, that Daniel Smith is a very contentious and inquiet person, to the great trouble and vexation of his neighbours.

- March 22. 23. Certificate of Justices of the Peace for co. Dorset, that the markets for the division of Dorchester have been generally supplied with corn; wheat is now 7*s.* or 7*s.* 6*d.*
- March 22. Minutes of proceedings of Committee of Council of War. The cases dealt with were those of Serjeant William Tyler, Capt. Emanuel Gilpin, and Capt. Richard Ouseley. In the last case, the Committee recommended Burlamachi, if he had not yet made up his grand account to his Majesty for those monies, in charity to the petitioner to procure him payment of 130*l.*, certified by Dalbier to be due to him. [See 1631, March 7., Vol. clxxxvi., No. 47.]
- March 22. 24. Samuel Dores and others to the Lords of the Admiralty. Certify that Henry Cowdall is able to take charge as master of one of the King's ships. [Sec. Dorchester recommended him by an indorsement for master of the St. Claude, but he was appointed boatswain of the Convertive.]

Westminster. Purse. [Prepared in blank. The sum inserted by the King. Sign Man., Car. I., Vol. xii., No. 85.]
- March 23. Protection to Sir Thos. Bludder for one year. [Ibid., No. 86.]
Westminster.
- [March 23.] 26. Petition of Sir Guilford Slingsby, Comptroller of the Navy, to the King. The King has signified his pleasure that petitioner should be relieved. The prize ship he first sued for was previously disposed of. The St. Claude, moved by his late petition, is found serviceable for the Narrow Seas. He now states that it has been the ancient custom for all his predecessors, until Sir Henry Palmer, to be Admirals of the Narrow Seas. That has been conferred on Sir Henry Mervyn, but the Vice-Admiral's place is void. Prays a grant of the same to himself and his son.
- March 23. 27. The same to Sec. Dorchester. Prays his support to the preceding petition. It has been a custom, or rather a privilege of his predecessors, ever since Sir David Port, the first Comptroller of the Navy, until Sir Henry Palmer, his immediate predecessor. They have all, or the most part, been Admirals of the Narrow Seas. The place he now seeks for is so mean that his Majesty cannot but conceive that necessity has compelled him to embrace it.
- March 24. Capt. John Mennes to Nicholas. Sends him copy of a MS. written by Sir William Monson, relating to certain transactions be-

[Draft.]

- March 25. 32. Richard Jolliff to Nicholas. Received a letter from Mr. Goodwin, one of the Masters attendant at Portsmouth, that there was lost one of his Majesty's long boats at the Isle of Wight, in relieving a Dutch man-of-war. For satisfaction thereof the writer has detained certain goods of the Dutch ship. Prays him to acquaint the Lord Treasurer therewith, he being Governor of the island, that when the States Ambassador sends his warrant for the goods, the writer may know what to demand, and by what warrant, he not being now Deputy Vice-Admiral as he was in the time of Lord Conway.
- March 25. 33. Captain John Mennes to the same. Has received order to intercept the St. Peter of Rotterdam, but is altogether unprovided of victuals. Prays supply, and desires to know whether he may go in search of the St. Peter to Gouries Gatt, on the coast of Holland.

term.
- March 26. 43. John Grymesdych to Sir Francis Cottington. Having con-

Sir Francis to propound to the Lord Treasurer, that if it be his Majesty's pleasure that the writer should go on with the service for one year, he will undertake to bring the expense within the compass of the 16,000*l.* a year, to give all men satisfaction, and reduce the office to its former splendour, provided he may be enabled to

- [March ?] 79. Petition of William Innes, Vicar of Dovercourt with Harwich, to the Council. Their Honours having lately heard the misdemeanors of the gentlemen, and given directions to Sir William Beecher and Mr. Meantys for the examination of John Peck and Thomas Webb, who are the agents and prosecutors of the business to his Majesty against the petitioner, petitioner conceives the misdemeanors are fully proved, and therefore prays that he may have satisfaction without further suit.
- [March ?] 80. Petition of Sir Thomas Burton, owner of most part of Frisby, co. Leicester, to the same. Frisby is a small village, never anciently consisting of above 10 or 12 houses. The Council has been certified of two yard land converted from arable to pasture, and that there is likely to be a depopulation. Petitioner has let the land with the houses, and the same shall so continue, and there shall be no depopulation. Only one poor house built of earth is fallen down.
- [March ?] 81. Certificate of Sir John Skeffington to the same, in answer to their letter for laying open certain inclosed grounds of Sir Thomas Burton. Sir Thomas stated that if he could not satisfy the Council, he would speedily throw the lands open again. [Underwritten is a minute of the preceding petition of Sir Thomas Burton.]
- [March ?] 82. Similar certificate of Sir John Skeffington, in reference to an inclosure by Montjoy, Earl of Newport.
- [March ?] 83. Statement by Sir John Skeffington, of the conditions upon which the Earl of Newport's inclosure was effected.
- [March ?] 84. Draft in the handwriting of Nicholas, of order of the Lords of the Admiralty for Sir William Withypoll and Andreas Clench, to stay proceedings against William Bardwell, until the Lords of the Admiralty have conferred with the judges thereon.
- [March ?] 85. John Nicholas to his son Edward Nicholas. Letter for the most part of family details and country news. Mrs. Hancock is lately dead in Sarum, of the stone. Edward Nicholas's mother more at ease from bathing her face in the grounds of beer. Nicholas's sons are well at Dinton. Sir Robert Pye's mother was a Rogers and not a Bodenham. Dr. Alexander Hyde to marry Bishop Towlson's [Townson's] youngest daughter, the Bishop's jewel. The writer's cousin, Young, is thankful for Edward Nicholas's care of his young kinsman.
- [March ?] 86. Petition of Henry Skipwith to the Council and Council of War. In consideration of his great want, petitioner was contented and so ordered by their Lordships to take from Julian Calandrini 10*l.*, for 13*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.*, to be paid the next day, which order Calandrini has broken, to petitioner's great prejudice. Prays a strict order for payment of the 13*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.*

- [March ?] 87. Petition of John Medley to “the Lords and Commissioners of the Ordnance.” States the arrangement made with him on his appointment to the armoury, and prays that the same may be carried out. [Nearly in the same terms as in his petition to the King of 18 March 1631, Vol. 186, No. 112.]
- [March ?] 88. Notes by Sec. Coke of accounts to be required from Nash, the Clerk, and Butler, the Surveyor, of the armoury, as to armours received into the office since the entry of Sir Thomas Jay, at Christmas 1628.
- [March ?] 89. Account by Joshua Butler, of armours received into the armoury of the Tower since 1 Sept. 1629.
- [March ?] 90. Account by John Cowper, of armours received since Sir Thomas Jay came to be master.
- [March ?] 91. Justices of Peace for Devon to Henry Ashford, Sheriff of that county. Report the continuance of their diligence as to the price of corn in the division of Hayter, and the adjoining hundreds, expressed in their former certificate. The bushel of wheat of 12 gallons is now at 9s.
- [March ?] 92. Justices of Peace for Suffolk to the Sheriff of the same county. Return for the liberty of St. Etheldred concerning the execution of the Books of Orders for corn, and the execution of the laws for relief of the poor. Wheat is at 8s. per bushel.
- [March ?] 93. Petitions of allowances demanded in the Court of Wards, by Robert Barnard, Feodary of co. Huntingdon, for his expenses in exercising his office for five years ending at Michalmas 1629, with a continuation for the 6th year of the King’s reign.
- [March ?] 94. Note of declaration of Bishop Howson, of Durham, made before the Dean and Prebendaries respecting the complaints of Dr. Lindsell against the Dean, and other disagreements in that Cathedral. [Indorsed by Bishop Laud, “My Lord of Durham’s proceedings about service, &c.”]
- [March ?] 95. Proposition to his Majesty for raising a competent sum for rebuilding St. Paul’s church out of the fines for inclosures, and depopulation in cos. Lincoln, Leicester, and Northampton.
- March 96. Account of fees received in the Signet Office during the present month.
- [March ?] 97. Richard Jolliff to the Council. Answer to complaint made against him by the Ambassador of France, that a ship of the French King being driven on the Isle of Wight, Jolliff caused some of the crew to be arrested, and extorted from them 40*l.* Jolliff denies the restraint, but admits the purchase, at 30*l.*, of three pipes of wine sent ashore by the French captain in discharge of claims for salvage.
