The entree's are finalist material, fish in coconut sauce, chicken wrapped in bacon, paneer tikka masala and fruit cuts in kulfi gelato to cool your palate. Compliments to the chef, he has a very clean heart. You get a call from your crew, "we're in the lush Riat hills at a hidden gem with dreamy panoramic views of Kisumu." Just as you hang up the phone a patient and friendly Hotel concierge lets you know your room keys will be available when you're ready to check in and that your ride to Dunga is here.

The barbecue bonanza leaves you feeling euphoric. Kimani's Choma is one of the few establishments staying true to the art of a sizzling roast. The piping grill blesses your marinated cut from side to side till well done. The fiery, smokey rack is then presented to your table. Once approved by members present, the grill master proceeds to slice through the juicy brisket with finesse.

That was a proper feast, munchies have been tamed and the day's beginning to take shape. A member of the crew decides to bless the afternoon with a drive to a hidden gem up in the Riat hills.
