MRS. HUTTON THINKS MILITANCY FOOLISH

American Suffragette Does Not Think Miss Davison Was Martyr to Cause

OPPOSED TO VIOLENCE TO SECURE THE VOTE

Proud That Men of Four States Did Not Need
Clubbing

Seattle, June 10.—Miss Emily Davison, the militant suffragette who died Sunday in England as a result of injuries sustained when she threw herself in front of the King's horse at the running of the classic Derby last Wednesday, is not a martyr to the cause of freedom, as applied to equal suffrage. Her death is to be regretted—but she was a foolish woman.

This is the very firm conviction of Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton, of Spokane, one of the most active and best-known suffragettes in the state. Mrs. Hutton, who was prominent in the fight to obtain woman's suffrage in Washington and who was a conspicuous figure in the national Democratic convention in Baltimore, to which she went as a delegate-at-large, is at Seattle.

"Mr. Davidson's death is very sad," Mrs. Hutton said, "but I do not believe she was a martyr to anything except the silly idea that the only way men can be made to do things is by beating them over the head with a club or destroying their property. Violence does not become women, no matter what the cause, and the club and the torch are not their weapons. What Miss Davison hoped to gain by casting herself before that horse is more than I can understand."

"However, I do not live in England, and perhaps am not qualified to say what methods are required to persuade Englishmen to give the women the ballot. But this I know I am proud that the men of Washington, Idaho, California and Oregon, where I had the honor to add my quota of endeavor to the cause, did not need militant tactics to convince them of the justice of equal suffrage. When Mrs. Pankhurst was in the West she wired me in Spokane, saying she would give a series of lectures for $1,000. Nothing doing. I would rather have given her that to remain away from Washington than to come here."

Mrs. Hutton believes the American women who are endeavoring to assist the militants in their campaign in England are plain, ordinary "buttnisks," and that their mission in reality is at home, instead of abroad.

"There is plenty of reform work for them here in the suffrage line," she declared. "Equal suffrage now obtains in ten states of the Union. It is self-evident that there are many others to be reformed. I do believe, however, that within the next ten years the women will have the right to vote everywhere in this country."

During the national convention of the suffragists in Seattle four years ago Mrs. Hutton and a large number of delegates from Eastern Washington, who found ready sympathizers here, indulged in a battle royal with the suffrage legions commanded by Emma Smith Devoe, the then president of the Washington State Equal Suffrage Association. There was a heavy and destructive firing on both sides during the struggle, the fight ending in a victory for Mrs. Devoe when she succeeded in locking the Hutton delegates and their friends in an ante-room in the old Plymouth Congregational church, where the sessions were held. With the opinion of the court in Mrs. Devoe's favor she had herself re-elected to the presidency.

Mrs. Hutton who, in her own words, is a Democrat first, last and all the time, and a Bryan man (no, she said "man") who believes the Nebraska has earned the right to be president, also has views on land ownership by aliens and the commission form of government for cities. She was vice-chairman of the Washington delegation to Baltimore. Will Merritt was chairman. Both are sizable enough to make the ordinary scales groan.

"I am very jealous of state's rights," she asserted, "and I believe that in the alien problem, which is being talked about yet, California, in common with her sister commonwealths, has the right and should be allowed to mind her own business. I have passed five or six winters in California and I know that Californians understand the conditions and the situation in their own state a great deal better than anyone outside."

I am a strong advocate of the commission form of government. In Spokane—and after the women's first chance to vote there, mind you—the municipal government is managed by five commissioners who select a mayor. Now, I think Portland, where there was an election recently, has found an improvement on the Spokane scheme because they have their commissioners while the people elect their mayor direct. The commission form of government concentrates the responsibility, as it were, and brings out that which is worth while. What is everybody's business is nobody's business."

UNION NEXT YEAR OR NEGOTIATIONS CLOSE

Toronto, Ont., June 10.—In the proceedings of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church to-day the announcement was made that Rev. Dr. Charles Gordon, of Winnipeg, had given $10,000 to the aged and infirm ministers fund. The entire forenoon was given over to consideration of this fund, J. E. Macdonald, Toronto, making an address in presenting his annual statement.

Dr. Gordon spoke earnestly of the duty of the denomination to make adequate provision for the aged servants of the church and Rev. Dr. G. B. Wilson and Rev. Dr. A. G. Sinclair, both of Winnipeg, urged that changes should be made in the method of administration so that all the ministers of the denomination should share in the benefits.

Rev. Dr. Herridge, of Ottawa, suggested that a syndicate of Presbyterian millionaires should be formed to do for Presbyterian ministers what the Carnegie fund was doing for the teachers in the universities.

A change was made to-day in the method of receiving the reports from the colleges. In former years these reports were presented directly to the assembly in a series of addresses. There are now eight theological colleges in the denomination, and there is so much to be done from all in the regular sessions this year. For the first time all the colleges will report to a committee of which Rev. Dr. John Forest, of Halifax, is the chairman.

The debate on union is proceeding this afternoon. Much interest is taken in the statement made by the Rev. Dr. Carman in Montreal yesterday, to the effect that if union was not consummated next year the general conference of the Methodist church would call off the negotiations.

FIRE BURNS HOTEL ANNEX AT NANAIMO

Nanaimo, B. C., June 10.—Fire last night did $10,000 damage to the Windsor hotel annex, a four-story structure almost near completion. The origin of the fire is a mystery but is believed to have been caused by a lighted cigar or cigarette being thrown through an open window onto a quantity of shavings. The fire, which was first discovered at 11:30, gained headway rapidly, and before being brought under control completely gutted the structure. The loss is covered by insurance.

FAR REACHING ARE LAND SUIT ISSUES

Property Holders Await Judgment by Court of Appeal in Donohue v. Chuni

TIME MAY NOT BE THE ESSENCE OF CONTRACTS

If Kilmer v. B. C. Orchards Decision Followed Host of Litigation May Follow

CANCELLATION CLAUSE IS PRINCIPAL FACTOR

Vancouver, June 10.—Issues that are far-reaching in their effect upon land titles as the recent Privy Council decision in the matter of upsetting tax sales, are before the court of appeals, now sitting at Victoria. The case in which the issues are raised is one in which the recent Privy Council decision of Kilmer v. B. C. Orchards is being invoked, in an effort to make the decision apply to land purchase agreements in the province which have a thirty-day cancellation clause.

The effect will be far-reaching because nearly all the land purchase agreements in the province contain clauses to the effect that time is the essence of the agreement, and that in default of the payments being promptly met the vendor can regain possession of the property after giving thirty days' notice of cancellation.

"The effect will be even greater than you foreshadow," remarked a well-known legal authority to a representative of the press. "My own opinion is that if the court of appeal holds the Kilmer judgment to apply to all land purchase agreements, then it will result in an avalanche of litigation, affecting the security of land titles. If cancellation under a thirty-day notice is not legal, it will be in order for litigants to bring suit to regain possession of properties taken from them in years past under the thirty-day cancellation clause. Time will no longer be the essence of a contract to purchase land, no matter what the agreement may say."

The present appeal is brought by H. R. Bray on behalf of T. J. Donohue, Eugene Pelletier and John W. Deppe, against a decision of Judge Grant ordering that a lot in North Vancouver be forfeited to Chuni Lall Verma, a laborer who had agreed to sell to Donohue in March, 1912, for $750. The second payment due on September 4, 1912, was not met and the usual thirty-day notice was sent on October 6, 1912. As this was not met, cancellation was completed on November 19, 1912.

An action for the recovery of the land was begun before the Kilmer vs. B. C. Orchards decision was handed down by the Privy Council, and his honor reserved judgment until the decision was received. In giving judgment he intimated that in his opinion the Kilmer case was very different as to the facts, and therefore that the decision in that case did not apply. His honor, therefore, ruled that the cancellation was good.

The judges of the supreme court have since adopted the Kilmer judgment as a guide in refusing cancellation on short notice and Mr. Bray, on behalf of his clients entered an appeal against Judge Grant's decision.

A. B. Fillmore, who successfully argued the case for the plaintiff before Judge Grant, argued on behalf of the respondent before the present sittings of the court of appeal at Victoria. He argued that in the Kilmer case Mr. Kilmer had entered on possession of the land, had improved it with a drainage system, had surveyed it, and received an extension of time to make payment. Above all, in the Kilmer case no mention was made about a thirty-day notice, the agreement merely stating "if the payments are not met punctually."

Mr. Fillmore pointed out that if the Kilmer judgment was adopted as being applicable to all land agreement cases, then time could never be the essence of any contract. Mr. Bray argued the case for the appellant.

In reserving the decision of the court, Chief Justice Macdonald intimated that the situation was a very crucial one. "If the words used by the Privy Council in deciding the Kilmer case are open to such an interpretation, then all the conveyancing in Canada in the last sixty years has been based on bad law," he said.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 10.—With a section of bone from his left leg substituted for a diseased portion of his spine, Frederick Loring of this city, aged seventeen, is reported to be on the road to complete recovery from an ailment that has afflicted him from birth. Surgeons believe that transplanted bone will fill all the functions of the vertebrae destroyed by a tubercular infection that was shaped to replace.

NEWSPAPER LAW IS THROUGH THE COURT

Over Twenty-Five Thousand
Publications Affected by Decision Given To-day

Washington, D. C., June 10.—As interpreted by it, the Supreme Court to-day upheld the constitutionality of the newspaper publicity law, enacted as a part of the Postal Appropriation Act of 1912.

The particular section attacked was to bar every newspaper and periodical from the mails unless the editors or owners filed with the postal authorities semi-annual sworn statements giving the names of the editors, owners, stockholders and bondholders and the average daily circulation and thereafter immediately published the statement. It also forbade, under penalty of a fine, the publication of paid-for articles without marking them "Advertisement." A bitter fight was made against the law.

The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin of New York led the opposition. It sought to have the United States District Court for southern New York enjoin the postmaster-general from enforcing the act on the ground that it was unconstitutional. The objection then raised was that the law abridged the freedom of the press by seeking to regulate the newspaper business. The government defended the law as a regulation of the use of the second-class mail provisions. The New York court sustained the validity of the law in this case, as it did that brought by the Lewis Publishing Company of New York. It is said that the law affects more than 25,000 publications in the United States.

Chief Justice White interpreted the objectionable regulation as being not a restriction of the freedom of the press.

The court declared further that the requirement that newspapers should disclose their true owners was in line with the "great public purpose which induced congress to continue in favor of the publishers of newspapers, at vast public expense, the low postal rate as well as other privileges accorded by the second-class mail classification."

Two Believed to Have Robbed Car Conductor Will Now Face Charge

Vancouver, June 10.—George Hoppe and V. Maiden, held in the city jail on a vagrancy charge, were identified in court yesterday by William Lyne and Joseph Morrow as the two men who held up a Main street car near Eburne road on Wednesday night and robbed the conductor of $20. They will be handed over to the South Vancouver authorities.

The men were arrested by Detectives Crewe and Sunstrum on suspicion of having been connected with the hold-up, and a charge of vagrancy was laid against them. The motorman and conductor of the car were present and identified the men without hesitation.

The holdup occurred about 10 o'clock last Wednesday night in a particularly lonely spot near the Fraser river. The highwaymen boarded the car and at the point of a gun took Morrow's money belt, decamping into the underbrush.

Hoppe is well-known to the police, having appeared in court several times on different charges, it is said.

Paris, June 10.—Georges Cochon, secretary of the tenants' league, has again drawn attention to the misfortunes of convicted tenants in a novel manner. With a family of four persons, who had been turned out of their home, taking their belongings, piled on a barrow, he went to the Moulin Rouge when the battle was at its height and endeavored to install them in the hall.

He was accompanied by some musicians. The dance orchestra was silenced by his own, but it stopped playing while Cochon made a speech announcing he would take up a collection for his proteges.

Moved by pity and much amusement at the method adopted, the spectators gladly contributed, both English and American tourists giving money to enable the evicted family to find shelter and start life again.

Sol. Oppenheimer is Killed When Automobile Overturns on Kamloops Road

Vancouver, June 10.—Sol. Oppenheimer, a well-known merchant of Vancouver and a nephew of former Mayor Oppenheimer, who was injured at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Armstrong-Kamloops road, seven miles out from the latter city, died yesterday from his injuries. He was one of a party of seven in an automobile owned by Mr. Jackson, of Armstrong, who was driving. In some way the car toppled into the ditch at a culvert crossing and turned completely over.

Mr. Jackson crawled out practically unscathed. The ladies in the tonneau were shaken, but not badly injured, while Mr. Jackson's little son was somewhat scratched.

Mr. Oppenheimer, who had been sitting in a front seat, was pinned under the car. Mr. Jackson was trying heroically to move the car when another motor, being driven by W. F. Hayden, and which had been only a mile or so behind the Jackson party, came up. The five people in the second car were then able to assist the others in moving the automobile, and Mr. Oppenheimer was released. He was taken in to Kamloops by Mr. Hayden.

The late Mr. Oppenheimer was son-in-law of Simon Leiser, who was last night advised of the fatal result of the accident.

REX OREGONUS HAS TIME TO RECUPERATE

Allegorical Electrical Pageant at Portland To-night Most Striking of Week

Portland, Ore., June 10.—After yesterday's strenuous performance, Rex Oregonus of the Rose Festival was permitted to spend to-day in comparative quiet. His peace was broken by a decorated motorcycle parade for a time this morning but from then until evening he was given time to recuperate in preparation for the night and day succession of events which will occur until Friday.

This evening the allegorical electrical pageant, the most striking of the festival parades, will take place. Sixteen cars, brilliant and illuminated with various colored electric bulbs, constitute this feature of the week's celebration. The subject depicted this year will be "Flowers and Gems of Oregon."

To-morrow the carnival reaches its zenith, the afternoon event being the decorated automobile parade and in the evening the "Night in Rosaria" pageant, which will be participated in by drill teams from Oakland, Pasadena and San Diego, Cal.; Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane, Wash., and Medford, Ore.

In addition to these, there will be a number of civic and fraternal organizations in line from several smaller northwestern cities and towns.

Imports increased from $45,607,491 in April, 1912, to $48,484,489 in April, 1913, or by 6 per cent. Duty collected increased from $7,860,733 to $8,052,878.

The most noticeable increase in exports is in agricultural products, which have nearly doubled, from $5,336,213 to $11,155,918. Manufactures went up from $40,691,637 to $1,478,178.

Suffragettes Dispatch Appeal to King Asking Attention for Their Demands

London, June 10.—Miss Emily Wilding Davison, the militant suffragette, who died from injuries sustained while interfering with the running of the Derby, will be buried from her home, Long Horsley, Northumberland, on Saturday. The body has been wrapped in a suffragette banner and a suffragette badge has been placed on the coffin. The Women's Social and Political Union is arranging an imposing funeral procession across London and a memorial service to be held at the headquarters of the militant organization.

At the weekly meeting of the suffragettes here to-day a telegram was read which had been dispatched to King George. It said:

"Constitutional methods of approaching our King having failed and Miss Emily Wilding Davison having given her life to call attention to the women's passionate demands for the franchise, we ask the King to give serious attention to this appeal of womanhood."

SCOTTISH IMMIGRANTS INCREASE IN NUMBER

Thirty Thousand Leave This Year Up to Middle of Last Month

Glasgow, June 10.—Emigration from Scotland shows no signs of diminishing. From the beginning of the year up to the middle of May the number of passengers to sail from the Clyde was about 10,000, or 10,000 more than during the same period of 1912.

It has to be borne in mind, however, that the opening of the emigration season was late last year owing to labor disputes, and that it was earlier this year than has been the case in previous years. On the other hand, it must be remembered that all Scottish emigrants do not sail from the Clyde, but that a steadily increasing number sail from English ports.

Many sail from Liverpool, and practically all emigrants for Australia sail from the Thames.

There has been a very large increase in Scottish emigration to Australia. Of Scottish emigrants less than 40 per cent. are agricultural laborers, the majority being artisans engaged in the building and allied trades, and miners. The chairman of the United Collieries, Limited, said in the course of his speech at the annual meeting of the shareholders in March last that never a week passed but they lost some of their best men. Whether it was desirable from the point of view of home industries to encourage emigration among skilled workmen was an economic question, but the practical result was that at present there was a dearth of skilled workmen in all trades.

STRONGER NAVY IS URGED ON FRANCE

Should Be Superior to Austria and Italy Combined Says Chaumet

Paris, June 10.—In his report on the navy estimates, M. Chaumet urges the importance of France maintaining at all costs, her superiority over the combined fleets of Austria and Italy, he points out that the number of pre-dreadnought vessels on either side will be equal, but that France will have an advantage as the French vessels are very superior in quality.

France will have a greater number of dreadnoughts, but M. Chaumet points out that the Danton class are inferior to the Dante Alighieri, Conte di Cavour, and Viribus Unita. In 1914 Germany will have 23 battleships and cruisers to oppose France's 16 battleships of the first class, and M. Chaumet concludes that the minister of marine should bring forward without delay a supplementary building programme.

WANT SOLDIERS FROM INDIA IN AUSTRALIA

Melbourne, June 10.—Australia is likely to increase its immigration, shortly by encouraging the entrance of time-expired soldiers from India. Proposals along these lines have been put to the various state governments and it is generally believed that special assistance and land grants will be offered these men.

The South Australian government has already an agent in India who is seeking to persuade soldiers to go to the central state after their time in India is up.

HAS PLAN TO DIVERT SASKATCHEWAN RIVER

Medicine Hat, Alta., June 10.—Alderman McClellan has a movement on foot to divert the Saskatchewan river for three-quarters of a mile, thereby joining it to the city point, recently given the city by the Dominion government. The point is a natural park and the alderman says that a traffic bridge across the river would cost as much as the cost of diversion.

He also says that the city would make $3,000,000 on reclaimed land and it would also provide the city with a large artificial lake.

SHOWS LOST REVENUE IN NEW TARIFF BILL

Twenty-Four Millions Decrease is Estimate of Senate Committee

MAJORITY MEMBERS NEED ANOTHER WEEK

Washington, D. C., June 10.—A table prepared by the senate finance committee giving figures based on the Underwood tariff bill and the present tariff law, shows the ad valorem rates in the proposed law to be 32.99 per cent, as against 43.84 per cent, under the Payne-Aldrich law.

The estimated loss of revenue through the augmented free list in the Underwood bill would be $24,715,339 on an import valuation of $104,534,465. Revenue under the proposed bill, exclusive of the income tax is estimated at $56,701,130, as compared with $94,215,964 under present rates. With the income tax revenue estimated at approximately $60,000,000, the total revenue under the proposed bill would aggregate about $347,000,000.

In the sundries schedule, wherein the Democrats have added many articles heretofore taxed, the ad valorem equivalent shows an increase over the Payne-Aldrich tariff from 24.72 per cent, to 33.28, and the estimated revenue from this schedule is raised from $27,000,000 to approximately $60,000,000. Wool revenues, it is estimated, will decrease from $27,000,000 to $13,000,000. The sugar revenue would decrease from $60,000,000 at the rate of $10,000,000 a year until sugar goes into the free list in ten years.

The proposal of the sub-committee in charge of the agricultural schedule to put a countervailing duty on live stock, grains and flour is to be discussed by the majority members of the finance committee. When these products on the free list, subject to a countervailing duty, cattle from Canada would be dutiable at 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound, wheat at 12 cents a bushel, oats and hay at 10 cents a bushel, flour 50 to 60 cents a barrel, rye flour 45 to 50 cents a barrel, oatmeal 50 to 60 cents a barrel.

Senator Simmons estimates that the majority members will be at least a week longer on the bill.

CANAL TO TAKE ALL THAT FLOATS IN 1915

Col. Goethals Expects Slides Until High Banks Graded to Overcome Gravity

New York, June 10.—"By January 1, 1915, anything that floats can pass through the Panama canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans," declared Col. George Goethals, chief engineer of the canal zone, who arrived here last night on the steamer Pastores from Colon.

"I shall send a vessel through the canal just as soon as we get water in to it," continued the chief engineer. "I promised that the Fran, used by Captain Amundsen in discovering the South Pole, should go first, but the initial passage probably will be made by a smaller craft."

Of the frequent land slides reported along the canal, Col. Goethals said such slides are to be expected until the high banks become fixed to a grade sufficient to overcome gravity.

It frees the scalp from dust and dandruff or other diseases and overcomes fading, dullness, oiliness and stringiness in your hair. Mix 1 teaspoonful of cantharox with 1 cup of hot water. Use as regular shampoo, rinse thoroughly. The hair dries quickly and evenly and the head feels fine.

TO BEAUTIFY EYEBROWS—A little pyroxin rubbed on eyebrows nightly for a while makes them grow thick and lustrous, and short, straight eyelashes will come in long and have a beautiful curl. Merely by applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Don't get pyroxin where hair is not wanted.

NON-DIET FAT REDUCER—Many who have tried the great number of advertised fat reducers have finally found relief in this simple home-made remedy, which dissolves fatty tissues rapidly without resorting to dieting or heavy exercising and leaves the skin firm and unrelaxed. Mix 4 ounces parnotis with 1 1/2 pints hot water. When cool, strain and take a table-spoonful before each meal.

SKIN CURE AND BLEACH—Rid your skin of that shiny, greasy, sallow look and make it appear charming and youthful by the use of a lotion made by dissolving 4 ounces spermax in 1/2 pint witch hazel (or hot water) and adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This lotion will whiten and clear the skin, giving it a smooth and velvety appearance. It costs little and when on seems part of the skin which it is covering and protecting from sun and wind.

FOUR YEARS TO MAKE AUSTRALIA DRINKLESS

Temperance Alliance Planning Campaign for Local Option Through Commonwealth

Melbourne, June 10.—The Temperance Alliance is planning a strong campaign to make Australia drinkless by 1917 and there is a possibility that it will succeed. The leaders of the movement are going to spend four strenuous years of propaganda work in readiness for amendment purposes.

In 1917 the "wowers," as they are called, hope to have a majority in parliament to carry out their scheme. Its success is made possible by the fact that many of the Labor party's parliamentary representatives are staunch temperance supporters and will do all in their power to carry out this object. If the Labor party is in power in that year and its units are still of the same mind they, with the temperance advocates of the opposition, may send Australia into the biggest drought ever known in history.

EXPRESS STEAMSHIP SCHEME ABANDONED

It Was Intended to Connect the United Kingdom and Canada by Means of 23 Knot Boats

(Special Correspondence.)

London, May 28.—It is now understood that negotiations with a view to the establishment of an express steamship line between British and Canadian ports, equal to the fastest services on the New York route, have been temporarily abandoned, the reason being that the authorities on this side are unwilling to grant a substantial subsidy for this purpose.

During the past few years this scheme has received considerable attention in shipping quarters, and, in fact, the construction of several 23-knot boats was proposed so as to make the crossing from the United Kingdom to Halifax, N. S., in a little over four days. It was also suggested that they should be met by special trains, which would bring Winnipeg within seven days of Liverpool, with a proportionate acceleration to Chicago and other cities in the Canadian and American West.

For the present, at any rate, those who desire an acceleration of the passage between the Mother Country and the Dominion will have to be content with the service under the recent mail contract entered into with the Allan, Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern and Oceanic Steam Navigation companies. The provision for three sailings weekly each way during the summer season and two in winter, but the fastest vessel will not exceed 17 knots. This agreement is only for two years, however, and has been arrived at particularly with reference to the transport of postal matter. When it comes to an end the increasing requirements of trade will probably necessitate the employment of speedier boats.

"There are so many schemes for a fast mail service that I prefer only to deal with the general idea, and accordingly I may state that the suggestion that the plan of a fast mail service has been abandoned is absurd. This is one of the matters which the Imperial Trade Commission, which has been visiting Australia, has to report on as a result of the resolution of the Imperial Conference two or three years ago. Before he left for Australia, Hon. G. E. Foster, in discussing the matter with friends, laid stress on this aspect of their deliberations, and it is known that he is sympathetic to its realization. The report of this commission will not be issued until the autumn, possibly November, and it will then contain, so I learn, very definite recommendations. In any case, the All Red Route scheme possesses plenty of vitality, and it is worth mentioning that one syndicate—the only one in fact which laid a definite scheme before the last Imperial Conference for the establishment of an All Red Route of steamers to Canada and Australia, has now signed the contract for the branch line of railway which will connect the existing Irish lines with the new harbor which is to be built at Blacksod Bay. This syndicate, at any rate, is convinced not only that the scheme is feasible, but that it is certain to be realized, and as the line is not a very difficult one to do it will probably be in working order by the time anything is done with the question of the steamers."

HONOLULU JAPANESE WANT OFFICERS MOVED

Honolulu, June 10.—Resolutions adopted at a Japanese mass meeting held here ask that the United States federal immigration officials stationed here be discharged, accusing them of unfairness and unnecessary harshness in their dealings with Japanese returning from visits to Japan. It is asserted it is not safe for Japanese to visit their home country if they hope to return to this port.

It is set forth that Japanese women arriving here have been insulted by unwarranted and offensive remarks alleged to have been made by officials of the immigration station.

MINE FOR RADIUM IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Purity of Between 1,800,000 and 2,000,000 Radio Activity Produced From Ore

Adelaide, S. Aus., June 10.—In view of the cost and increasing use of radium, information as to radium mining in South Australia, contained in a review of mining operations in the state during the latter half of 1912, compiled by the chief registrar of the department of mines, is of more than ordinary interest.

"At the Radium Hill mine, near Olary, 267 miles north of Adelaide," states the chief registrar, "a considerable quantity of ore has been raised. This is concentrated at the magnetic separator plant in the mine, and shipments of the concentrate forwarded regularly to the company's works at Woolwich, on the Paramatta river, near Sydney. These works, which can now treat about ten tons per week, have, it is stated, cost over $15,000."

"The directors report that pure radium bromide has been produced. Although only 2 1/2 milligrams were fully prepared, it proves that radium bromide of a purity of between 1,800,000 and 2,000,000 radio-activity can be produced from the company's ore, and there are, approximately, 800 milligrams of radium in the laboratory in various stages of purity, which will receive its final preparation and be available for sale automatically week by week henceforth. One hundred and twenty tons of concentrates have been smelted, of which 95 tons have been treated for about 350 milligrams of radium, which is equivalent to an extraction of 22.5 milligrams per ton of concentrates. The company also proposes to utilize the various by-products contained in the ore."

"The South Australian Radium Proprietary holds leases adjoining and to the northeast of the Radium Hill Company's property. Four shafts have been sunk, and a considerable amount of development work has been done. The Rare Metals Proprietary, working on claims about three miles northeast of the Radium Hill mine, has done a considerable amount of prospecting work, and raised about seven tons of lode material, analyses from which are satisfactory."

"At the property of the Radium Extraction Company of South Australia, Mt. Painter, no work was done during the period under review. The directors' report states that some good ore was picked out and despatched before work ceased, and one shipment of about 2 1/2 tons realized very satisfactory prices."

CLEAN-UP!

The health officer is right. Victoria should have a clean-up day which should mark the end, for a time, of the accumulations of garbage and debris easily discoverable throughout the place. And it is here that our citizens themselves can render direct and invaluable service by removing from their back yards and cellars the miscellaneous assortments in which lurk the germs of disease and the menace of fire. We have splendid streets and sidewalks, beautiful parks, imposing buildings and an unrivalled situation. Our private premises as far as possible should harmonize with these in freedom from eyesores and the stench of the garbage heap.

Next August we will entertain thousands of visitors who will be attracted here by the carnival. They will be in the city long enough to make more than a superficial examination of it. We should endeavor to prove to them that we have in truth the cleanest and most beautiful city on the coast.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The report of the Royal Commission on technical education, which was presented to Parliament a few days ago, should be the last word, in Canada at least, on this important subject. It deals with a vital requirement in our educational system, and if we are to hold our own in the race of nations steps should be taken at once to carry out the recommendations embodied in the report.

The commission was appointed by the late Government two years ago on the initiative of labor organizations of Canada, which took the form of a resolution moved in Parliament by Hugh Guthrie, M. P., subsequently acted upon by the then Minister of Labor, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. The chairman of the commission was Dr. J. W. Robertson, perhaps Canada's foremost educationist, and labor was represented on the board by Jas. Simpson, of Toronto.

The commission conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the subject, visiting every country where technical training forms part of the educational system. The commissioners were particularly impressed with the great importance attached to technical instruction in Germany, whose wonderful industrial progress and commercial expansion of the last few years are very largely due to the methods employed along this line in the training of her youth. German educationists have been quick to appreciate the advantages of conserving the mental energy of the younger generation by instilling in them knowledge that will be of practical benefit, instead of encumbering them with a promiscuous educational equipment, which to a considerable extent is utterly useless for their advancement.

There is no doubt that Canada's system requires overhauling, and the time is ripe for the adoption of some of the German methods of technical specialization. In the words of the report "the experience of the schools should tend more directly towards the inculcation and conservation of a love of productive, instructive and conserving labor." With this purpose in view the commission recommend a federal grant of $3,000,000 annually for ten years, to be apportioned among the provinces on the basis of population and applied to higher education and industrial training, and a grant of $50,000 per annum for ten years, similarly apportioned, to be applied to elementary schools teaching manual training, household science, etc. This advice should be promptly acted upon. It deals with a subject more important by far than ninety per cent. of those upon which the Government expects to spend a quarter of a billion dollars this year.

THE JAPANESE SIDE.

The Anglo-Saxon nations on the Pacific regard the Yellow Peril as their serious and particular menace. Their opposition to unrestricted immigration from the Orient is based principally on economic grounds, although unquestionably national and social considerations enter into the situation. This attitude, they contend, is prompted by the instinct of self-preservation, which is the first law of nature, and they realize, no doubt, that its natural result in the long run will be the development of a pan-Asiatic movement for the advancement and protection of Asian interests.

Ryutaro Nagai, Professor of Political Science at Wasedo University, an Imperial Institution founded by Count Okuma, former prime minister of Japan, deals with the Japanese side of the question in an article which recently appeared in the Japan Magazine. He takes the ground that there is a "White Peril," and that the defiance of justice on the part of the Anglo-Saxon nations in not recognizing yellow men must in the end provoke trouble. He slates the peace propaganda of the white people, who at the same time are unwilling to render justice, as the veriest hypocrisy, and declares that the Japanese people will not abide the suggestion of their inferiority. He reviews the history of the European and American nations, recites the aggressive wars in which they have been engaged, and contends that in the face of the record, in comparison with the white races, "there is no indication of any peril of yellow aggression at least."

As showing the Professor's attitude, the following extracts from his article are of interest:

"At the present time Australia is endeavoring to induce immigrants to settle in that country. Agents of the Commonwealth advertise endless acres of fertile land only awaiting people to occupy them. Even the passage money of prospective settlers is being advanced or paid by the Government. The immigrants are promised every assistance in settling down, even to the loan of the necessary funds. Their children will be educated free in the national schools. Then the notice is conspicuously given that only white people will be admitted. Such notices appear even in the public press.

"Practically the same attitude prevails in British South Africa, Canada and the United States. Asiatics can enter only with the greatest inconvenience. In British Columbia it is openly stated that no Chinese or Japanese should be employed. To enter that country Chinese have to pay $500 each to the Government.

"Now from the point of view of the yellow races all this seems most arrogant and unfair. To refuse the greater part of the earth and refuse to share it with the races who are hardly pressed for territorial space at home, even when the privilege is highly paid for by hard labor, is so manifestly unjust that it cannot continue.

"In Australia, South Africa, Canada and the United States there are vast tracts of unoccupied territory awaiting settlement, and although the citizens of the ruling powers refuse to take up the land, no yellow people are permitted to enter. In Canada alone the unoccupied territory is said to be sufficient to supply one-half of the world with wheat. Thus the white races seem ready to commit to the savage beasts and birds who they refuse to intrust to their brothers of the yellow races.

"Even a yellow fisherman gleaming the coast is watched and apprehended for encroaching on the white preserves. Surely the arrogance and avarice of the nobility in appropriating to themselves the most and the best of the land in certain countries is as nothing compared with the attitude of the white races toward those of different hue.

"Viewing the matter seriously, for it is a very serious matter indeed, it ought to be said that every defiance of justice must in the long run provoke revolt. Just as in the labor world, if the capitalist is unfair in his division of profits and the laborers are given down, they will not forever submit, so in the international world, unless justice obtain between race and race, there will be trouble."

WHAT IS A PRIZE FIGHT?

What is a prize fight? The question has been more or less freely discussed in the eastern press since the fatal termination of the Pelkey-McCarthy meeting at Calgary. The laws of the different countries which deal with the subject at all present various definitions. In the United States it is a common practice to consider as a prize fight any contest that goes beyond a specified number of rounds, the object being to prevent a knock-out, but the chief definition by which it is commonly attempted to stop prize fighting makes the principals guilty only if the contest is held for a stake or a side bet. The main sections of the Canadian criminal code on the subject are:

"A prize fight means an encounter with fists or hands between two persons who have met for such a purpose by a previous arrangement made by or for them.

"Every one is guilty of an offence, and liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term, not exceeding twelve months, and not less than three months, with or without hard labor, who engages as principal in a prize fight.

"Every one is guilty of an offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars, and not less than fifty dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, who is present at a prize fight as an aid, second, surgeon, umpire, backer, assistant, or reporter.

"If, after hearing evidence of the circumstances of the fight or intended fight, the person before whom the complaint is made is satisfied that such a fight or intended fight was bona fide, the consequence or result of a quarrel between the principals engaged or intended to engage therein, and that the same was not an encounter or a fight for a prize, or on the result of which the handing over or transferring of money or property depended, such person may, on his discretion, discharge the accused, or impose upon him a penalty, not exceeding fifty dollars."

Hurrah! For many years we have been waiting for some kind genius to prove that Euclid was a human being who could make mistakes. In fact, in common with millions of others, we have frequently thought he was wrong on a number of important points, but we were never able to prove it. This triumph has been achieved by a sixteen-year-old high school boy of Philadelphia, who has invented an angle sector that will bisect a dihedral, trihedral or polyhedral angle.

Euclid, Carpus and other ancient high-brows have always declared that these angles could not be bisected or trisected, but the Philadelphia boy by his invention relegates them to the "has-been" brigade. The world will be better for his achievement. The knowledge that it is possible to divide a dihedral, trihedral or polyhedral angle will cheer up many a pessimistic soul and scatter rays of sunshine in the deepest depths of despondency.

A dispatch from Philadelphia says hotels there are making a specialty of Roosevelt punch, consisting of brandy, milk and sugar. These punches are hailed as non-intoxicating providing they are "long" on sugar and milk and "short" on brandy. No matter what the Colonel does, fame seems determined to claim him for her own.

NO TRIP TO CONVENTION

Police Chief Not Given Grant—Fifth Regiment Rifle Team Given $200.

The city's annual grant of $200 to the Fifth Regiment for the purpose of enabling it to send a team to the Dominion Rifle Association meet at Ottawa was passed last night at the city council, as was likewise the recommendation that the request by the chief of police for $300 to enable him to attend the police chief's convention at Halifax be refused. The members of the committee said that they had not the money.

The refusal was bitterly fought by Aldermen Dilworth, Fullerton and Cuthbert, who contended that the chief would acquire information and ideas valuable to the city at the convention and that it would advertise the city from Coast to Coast as too cheap to let its police chief attend this convention for the paltry sum of $300.

Those who voted against the chief's trip were the mayor, Aldermen Houston, McNeil, Porter and McCandless. The question of the relation of the trip to a vacation was brought up. The chief said he never got any vacation in addition but the mayor said that the police chief always did.

Cash on Hand $25,332.—The Comptroller's report of the month's financial dealings shows that the receipts were $450,138 including a bank overdraft of $2,491. The cash on hand at the end of the month was $25,332.

Death of Prisoner.—Ah Sen, a prisoner in the provincial jail, whose death took place suddenly on Sunday while he was being hurried to the hospital, succumbed to a complication of diseases, according to the evidence of Dr. Thomas at the inquest held by Acting Coroner Barty yesterday afternoon.

Urge City to Stand Fast.—Communications from the Victoria Laborers' Protective Union and the Trades and Labor Council asking the city not to abandon its decision to pay $3 a day as a minimum wage were referred by the city council last night to the special committee appointed last week to consider the minimum wage question.

Many Ask Permits.—Quick results from the fire chief's activity in respect of merchants storing inflammable oils without permits as requested by law is shown at last night's council meeting when over half a dozen requests for permits came in. They were all granted providing the storing of the oil was to the entire satisfaction of the chief and in compliance with the by-law.

Congratulations Too Soon.—A letter of congratulation from the Victoria Builders' Exchange at the appointment of so competent and zealous a man as George Jeeves to the position of assistant building inspector drew the attention of the council last night to the fact that no appeal to the city had been made at all and the building inspector was instructed to hold his examinations immediately.

Oral Call Cancelled.—The oral call of the Real Estate Exchange and the cricket match which was arranged by the same body to take place this week, will both be postponed on account of the excursion of the various public bodies to Alberni to-morrow. It has also been thought advisable, owing to the press of important business to postpone the Real Estate Exchange picnic which was to have taken place soon.

Speeding to Be Stopped.—Motor car speeding is to be put a stop to in Esquimalt. Motorists have themselves to blame for the decision to prosecute, as they have disregarded the notices plentifully put up through the municipality, stating the speed limit. At last night's meeting of the council several of the councillors spoke of the reckless speed at which some motorists drive through the district, especially along the Craigflower road, and the police committee was asked to take the matter up with a view to prosecutions being entered.

OPPOSE MAYOR'S SCHEME

Aldermen Say Greater Victoria Commission Takes Too Much of Council's Powers.

Mayor Morley's proposition for a Greater Victoria Development and Improvement Commission met with opposition from several members of the council last night on the ground that it gave away too much of the city's power to non-elective parties.

The mayor pointed out that everything the commission did had to be submitted to the council and the people, but the commission, it was pointed out, was given all the initiative in three quarters of the council's work.

Alderman Fullerton said it was the thin edge of the wedge for the commission form of government, which he was opposed to. The letter was finally passed as a resolution that everything the commission did had to be submitted to the council and the people, but the commission, it was pointed out, was given all the initiative in three quarters of the council's work.

ASK LOWER RATE

Council Moves Quickly on Fire Chief's Suggestion; Water Pressure Good.

That the city interview the Vancouver Island Fire Underwriters' Association and ask for a reduction of fire rates was the suggestion of Fire Chief Davis at last night's council meeting. The report of the tests made yesterday of the water pressure at the various hydrants showed an average increase of 12 per cent for the whole city and he thought the city was entitled to a reduction in rates.

He pointed out that the fire loss in Victoria compared favorably with that of any city in Canada, according to population and stated that the department was equally as efficient as any in Canada. The money spent on water improvements, he thought, had shown good results and proved the wisdom of the undertakings.

The next meeting of the underwriters is on Wednesday, the day of the excursion to Port Alberni, but Alderman Houston, Porter and McCandless insisted they would be able to attend, and the fire chief and comptroller were added.

BUY EQUIPMENT FOR WORK.

Alderman Humber Reminded Council of Decision to Consult Expert on Northwest Sewer.

On recommendation of the finance committee the council last night instructed the city purchasing agent to call for tenders for a large amount of equipment for the northwest sewer. The cost will undoubtedly be several thousand dollars.

Alderman Humber moved that the acting chairman of the finance committee and the mayor arrange immediately the financing of procuring the advice of R. H. Thompson, the Seattle engineer, on the scheme as the finance committee, which had taken the matter up had done nothing so far. Alderman Humber still insisted that the sewer was laid in the wrong place and was afraid that now that they were buying equipment they would go ahead and start work without consulting the expert.

BUY A NEW SPRINKLER.

Street Sprinkling as a Fine Art Discussed by City Council.

The science of sprinkling streets with oil was discussed with great solemnity by the council last night when a recommendation that the city buy another sprinkler came from the finance committee. Objection to the purchase was raised by Alderman Dilworth on the ground that the one sprinkler now owned was not used half the time.

Mayor Morley pointed out that unless traffic were kept off streets after oiling for about 12 hours the oil was picked up by automobile tires and carried away, while Alderman Cuthbert said that it seemed very foolish to him to lay oil on two or three inches of dust. He proposed that the streets be swept before oiling.

The matter of purchasing the sprinkler was finally referred to Aldermen Weston and Dilworth for their consideration. They will report to the next meeting of council.

IS WELL CONDUCTED.

Committee Finds No Cause for F. R. Carlow's Complaint Regarding Isolation Hospital.

The only improvement that the committee appointed to investigate the charges made by F. R. Carlow regarding the Isolation hospital and Dr. Hall could make was that a fence be built around the back of the grounds to keep the children out. At that they said there were no swings or benches and so far as they could see, no attraction for children to enter the grounds.

That the city was exceedingly fortunate in having so able and conscientious a man as Dr. G. A. B. Hall in so important a position the committee declared, and also stated that Mr. Carlow had no cause for complaint as to the discharge of his first daughter from the hospital, even reasonable precaution having been taken.

The committee stated that the hole in the plaster was in an inside partition which had been built on a solid floor and there was absolutely no draught. The place was not swarming with flies either, said the report, a copy of which will be sent to Mr. Carlow.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT. Real Estate Firm Gets Damages From Oak Bay Council for Smashed Wind-shield.

The Victoria Securities, Ltd., will be paid $6 or $7 by the Oak Bay council as the result of a peculiar accident. The automobile belonging to the company was standing on a public thoroughfare in the municipality when a small tree owned by the corporation of Oak Bay fell on the motor and broke the wind-shield. It is for a new wind-shield that the company claims the damages above named.

In discussing the matter last evening, Councillor McGregor was of the opinion that the owners should be reimbursed at once. The tree was on property owned by the municipality and they were therefore responsible. The tree was not a small matter, a big principle was involved. On the motion of Councillor Herrick McGregor the words "without prejudice" were added to the resolution to reimburse, which was carried.

WEDNESDAY WILL BE BUSY DAY AT PORT

MAY BRINGS PAPER FOR AUSTRALIA

MAKE PRESENTATION TO CHIEF STEWARD

Two Blue Funnel Vessels, Canadian-Australian Liner, and Norwegian Freighter Coming

British Columbia Plant Sends Out Consignment to Antipodes

Staff Remembers John W. King, of the Princess Charlotte, on Promotion

To-morrow is to see the outer wharves bustling with the business of a growing port, for at least four ocean bottoms will be at berth during some part of the day. The Keeman will take up her berth at an early hour to discharge the large freight brought last week, prior to her hurrying away to relieve the holds of the silk cargo consigned east. Another Alfred Holt liner will be outbound during the day in the Proteus, which will finally get away for the Orient about noon to-morrow.

Arriving from the north yesterday, the Princess May, Capt. McLeod, is in port from Skagway, and will leave again on Friday. The development of a British Columbia industry is shown in the cargo brought southward, as a large consignment of paper was taken on board at Powell river for transshipment to the Niagara, routed to Sydney, Australia, when the liner leaves for the Antipodes to-morrow. The business is particularly brisk at the pulp and paper works just now, and it is a comment on the development of trade when shipments of paper are made so far afield.

A pleasant gathering took place on board the Princess Charlotte yesterday afternoon, when the steward's department met to do honor to their chief, John W. King. Mr. Little, in making the presentation, said they all knew his value and kindness which had been freely and ungrudgingly given for the good of every one in connection with the ship and the travelling public. Mr. King has never spared himself, whether in the work pertaining to the ship, or in the interests of the passengers. It was right that Mr. King should know that his work was appreciated, and that his staff were not insensible to the efforts he had made for their material good. It was thought that that would be a fitting time to mark their respect and regard for Mr. King by presenting him with some token that would remind him both of the labors he had successfully accomplished, and of the fact that he had a department which knew his worth. That expression took the form of a beautiful gold watch and a framed photo of himself and staff.

The Norwegian steamer Arna is still discharging sails, so will not be free before then for Vancouver, while the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, which is taking out some local passengers, including also Sir Walter Buchanan and Archbishop Wright, of Sydney, will leave for the first time to-morrow night from British Columbia ports.

The rush to the north for business is now giving way, according to officers of the May, to the round trip traveller who goes up on pleasure, and there will be a considerable number of these passengers embarking from time to time. A fair amount of freight is also moving so that the commencement of the double service with the Princess Sophia is welcome.

The recipient has had a very long career as a steward, serving over 14 years in the Union Steamship Company, of New Zealand, and five years with the C. P. R.'s British Columbia Coast Service, four years of which time he has been chief steward of the Princess Charlotte. Mr. King has resigned to accept an appointment with the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Company.

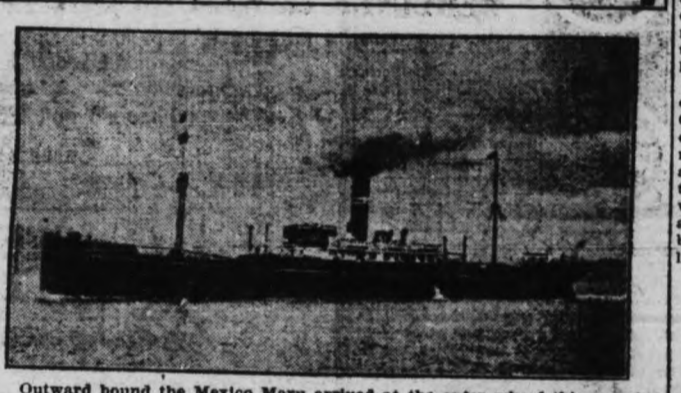

Among those who arrived on the Oceanic liner Sierra at San Francisco on Friday were W. R. Rutherford and S. Vickers, employees of the British Pacific Cable Company, who have been stationed at Fanning Island, in the western Pacific. They state that for nine months the 20 white inhabitants

SAN FRANCISCO MARINE INFORMATION

San Francisco, Cal., June 10.—The schooner Albert Meyer, which was purchased from J. H. Bagster by a local ship broker last week, has been turned over to the Allen Construction Company of Vancouver. The vessel is now due on Puget Sound from San Diego.

LEAVES FOR ORIENT

Outward bound the Mexico Maru arrived at the outer wharf this morning and left again shortly before 11 o'clock. Here the Osaka liner embarked cabin passenger, J. C. Sworder, who is en route to the Straits Settlements, and a Japanese. The Mexico took out a large quantity of flour for Hongkong, where there is a growing demand for the grain of the Northwest for distribution, and a large consignment of electrical machinery for Yokohama. Officers look for a calm passage, and an uneventful run to Japan.

The army transport Logan will arrive from Manila on Wednesday. The oil tanker Col. E. L. Drake arrived from Puget Sound yesterday with barge 96 in tow.

The island received no mail or intelligence from the outer world. Their stores of provisions also ran out, and the island's inhabitants had to subsist on fish, coconuts, and some tinned goods.

SEATONPARK ALBERNI

This property consists of plots of five acres or so (which have proved most suitable for mixed farming and fruit and vegetable growing), and is situated less than two miles from the Alberni city limits and less than one mile from Sproat Lake.

The Trunk Road from Alberni to Sproat Lake and the West Coast, being a continuation of the Canadian National Highway from Halifax to Alberni, runs right through it.

It is one of the best sections of land in the Alberni district and was specially selected by experts of considerable farming experience.

The soil is of the finest quality, being nearly all Alder and Crab Apple bottom—excellent for crops of all kinds, also for fruit raising.

It has a beautiful river frontage, and the fishing at this point is of the best.

Altogether this property, both for location and quality of land, is adjudged much above the average in the Alberni district.

Pleasure Cruises to Alaska Commence Next Week; Holiday Traffic North

Although the departure of the Spokane on the first tour of the season to the Alaskan glaciers is still eight days away, the crack Pacific Coast steamer has not a berth left for the first of the five cruises.

The departure from Seattle to-morrow week will bring the steamer here in time for the passengers, most of whom are eastern visitors, to see something of the beauties of Victoria before the steamer leaves on the following day at noon.

The reputation of these cruises is wide and the shipping men can always fill the berths readily on account of the attractions of the glaciers, the evidences of aboriginal enterprise, and the natural beauties of the inland waters through which the Spokane passes in her journey.

While these tours of the Spokane are exclusively for pleasure purposes, the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific companies, which carry passengers on round trip voyages for holiday cruises, are both expecting record bookings in the present summer, as the northern waters of British Columbia, and the area of Southeastern Alaska become better appreciated by the general public.

If the British waiter has no honor in his own country, he is appreciated in Canada. The Canadian Pacific Railway have just engaged 400 men from London clubs and restaurants for their railway dining cars, and their representative explains that the British waiter is more reliable than the foreigner, and has "just those little niceties in his manner which one instinctively looks for." Waiters with a "mooey" of manner, one might conjecture, are also difficult to find in a country which is still relying for its pioneer work upon the sterner virtues. It is not a bad sign for the Empire that its old and its new civilisations should be mutually appreciative of each other's strong points.

PANAMA AND SOUTH AMERICA

OBSERVATIONS AND IMPRESSIONS

BY RIGHT HON. JAMES BRYCE

Ex-Ambassador from Great Britain to the United States.

(By special arrangement with the publishers.)

XI.—The Why and Wherefore of South America's Political Conditions

A Clear and Concise Account by a World Authority on Government of the Reasons for the Political Turbulence That Has Marked the Careers of the Eleven States, and of the Manner in Which Two of Them Have Become Bona Fide Republics and Others Are Progressing Towards That Goal.

Injustice to Spanish Americans. Whoever travels through these countries—I include Mexico and Central America, but not Chile or Argentine—and whoever, having thus obtained some knowledge of their physical and racial character, studies their history, finds himself driven to three conclusions.

The first is that these states never have been democracies in any real sense of the word. The second is that they could not have been real democracies. To expect peoples so racially composed, very small peoples, spread over a vast area, peoples with no practice in self-government, to be able to create and work democratic institutions was absurd, though the experience which their history has furnished to the world was needed to demonstrate the absurdity.

The third conclusion is that injustice is done to the Spanish Americans by censures and criticisms which ignore these fundamental facts. There is no more Original Sin among them than there is in other peoples. Many of their statesmen and generals were honest patriots, who loved liberty and sought to give their country as much liberty as it was capable of then receiving. It was neither their fault nor the fault of the people that the conditions then existing made real representative and responsible government impracticable. The constitutions did not suit the facts, and the facts had to prevail against the constitutions, sometimes against their letter, usually against their spirit.

When voters were obviously unfit to elect, and when fair elections could not be secured, it was not wonderful that power should be seized without legal title, or that an election should be so controlled by force or arranged and put through by fraud, that while the form of it was respected, it did not express any popular will. When one party had done these things, the other party repeated the process as soon as it had a chance, and thereafter things moved round in the same vicious circle.

Why does the machinery of constitutional government work smoothly in Switzerland and the United States and England? Because its forms, being consecrated by tradition and supported by public opinion, are respected by the officials who have to work them. In these South American republics, there are no traditions, and very little public opinion; and this was due not to any in-born defects of the people, but to historical causes which had deprived them of such advantages as the Swiss possess and had given them constitutions quite unfitted to their case.

Three Classes of Spanish American Republics.

Although for the sake of conciseness I have spoken of these republics as a whole, still there are marked differences between those which have advanced and are advancing and others whose political health seems little better now than it was fifty years ago.

We may distinguish three classes of states. The first consists of those in which republican institutions, purporting to exist legally, are mere farces, the government being in fact a military despotism more or less oppressive and corrupt according to the character of the ruler, but carried on for the benefit of the Executive and his friends.

The second includes countries where there is a legislature which imposes some restraint upon the executive in which there is enough public opinion to influence the conduct of both legislature and executive. In these states the rulers, though not scrupulous in their methods of grasping power, recognize some responsibility to the citizens and avoid open violence or gross injustice.

The third class are real republics, in which authority has been obtained under constitutional forms, not by armed force, and where the machinery of government works with regularity and reasonable fairness, laws are passed by elected bodies under no executive coercion, and both administrative and judicial work goes on in a duly legal way.

Instances of the first class are too familiar to need mention. For the worst is found in Mexico, the most striking example of the second class was Mexico under the government of President Porfirio Diaz.

Two Bona Fide Republics.

Of the third class good examples may be found in Chile and Argentina, both of which are bona fide republics.

Chile is of all the Latin-American states the one which best answers to European or North American notions of a free constitutional commonwealth, one of the chief reasons being that her population is unusually homogeneous and unusually concentrated within a comparatively small area.

Northern Chile is an arid desert, southern Chile a forest wilderness, but in the centre there is an area five hundred miles long by fifty wide within which the large majority of her 3,300,000 citizens dwell. The suffrage is limited, and governing power is practically in the hands of a comparatively small landed aristocracy, and a few lawyers. Government, including what we called the party game, is carried on with the same spirit and by the same methods as it was in England in the eighteenth century, allowing for the differences between a monarchy and a republic. There are constant changes in the ministers, but the machine works, and the general lines of national policy are preserved. There have been no revolutions within the living memory, but there was once a civil war.

Argentina has had a more troubled and more sanguinary history than Chile, and has more recently emerged from among the breakers into smooth water. But as the country began to be settled and railroads were made and labor was provided by the influx of Italian and Spanish immigrants and large cities sprang up, the effect of general prosperity was felt in a growing sense of the value of order and peace. Though the foreign merchants whose interests were involved took no direct part in politics, their influence was felt not only in promoting sounder finance, but in making the native men of substance feel that frequent revolutions were retarding the development of their properties.

Thus, since 1833 there had been no armed civil strife of the old kind. That flavor of militarism which was so strong in former years has now virtually disappeared. The administration is conducted by civilians, and is pervaded by a legal spirit. In short, Argentina is now, like Chile, a constitutional republic, whose defects, whatever they may be, are the defects of a republic, not of a despotism disguised under republican forms.

What Argentina Suggests. The examples of these two countries prove that there is nothing in South American air or Spanish blood to prevent republican institutions from working. If the working is not perfect, neither is it perfect anywhere else in the world. What these countries have shown is that with favorable conditions the true constitutional spirit can be more and more infused into constitutional forms and the old habits of violence eradicated.

The case of Argentina in particular suggests the process by which we may expect that other Latin-American states will, by degrees, advance towards a more settled and genuinely legal government. What is the first thing that is needed to enable any community to prosper? Is it not the desire for order and the respect for order, the sense that there must be a curb on the impulses and passions of individuals, some law duly enforced, some means of checking violence and of protecting life and property against physical force?

This sense grows with the growth of property and with the development of industrial habits. The larger the number, and the greater the influence in a community, of those who feel that revolutions injure not only the country, but also themselves personally, the better is the prospect of breaking the revolutionary habit, for a public opinion grows up which condemns violence and actively opposes those who resort to it.

Moreover, the more property there is and the more industry there is in a country, the smaller is the proportion of those who join in a revolution either from a love of fighting or in the hope of bettering their fortunes. In a prosperous country, more can be done and more is likely to be done for public instruction, one of the most urgent needs of these nations. Argentina's recent efforts in that direction are an instance, and education, if it does not make men good citizens, makes it at least easier for them to become so.

On the Upward Path. Taking the eleven South American states as a whole, their condition is better than it was sixty years ago. In most of them the civil element has tended to grow and the military element to decline. The lawyer-politician is not always a law-abiding politician, but on the whole preferable to the soldier-politician. His methods are less brutal.

Revolutions and civil wars have become less sanguinary; the execution of political opponents less frequent. Political assassinations, which in Europe have unhappily been growing more frequent, are now more rare here. Nor is it to be forgotten that there is extremely little brigandage or insecurity in most of these states, far less than there was a few years ago in Sicily. The ordinary citizen is little affected even by the revolutions which, while they occur, are carried on by a small part of the population. Perhaps if the ordinary citizen suffered more, revolutions would be fewer.

All the Spanish-American countries are now more open to the world than they used to be, and the currents of its opinion reach them in ever increasing volume. As few of them have peaceful political traditions of their own to guide or inspire them, they must needs look to the thought and practice of the older nations for principles and precedents in the art of government; so whatever brings them into intellectual touch with Europe and North America is helpful. Already one discovers an increasing number of men who perceive that for their nations the only path upward and forward is through the creation of a spirit of self-control and a higher sense of civic duty.

A Thought to Keep in Mind.

To understand these countries, one must think of them as having, under the rule of the Spanish Crown, dropped two centuries behind the general march of civilized mankind. When they were finally liberated in 1825, they were practically still in the seventeenth, while Europe and the United States were in the nineteenth, century. With the additional disadvantages of a large aboriginal population, a thinly peopled land, fifteen years of bloodshed and disorder, such as Europe had not seen for eight three hundred years, and no pre-existing constitutional forms or usages. A few of them, favored by physical or by racial conditions, have already overcome these difficulties. Their example will tell upon and encourage the rest.

These things being so, ought not the judgment passed on the Spanish American choice to be more lenient? Their difficulties were greater than any European people had to face, and there is no need to be despondent for their future.

Sixth Installment. A LEGISLATURE OF THE LAST GENERATION.

A Plan of Service. Like most young men in politics, I went through various oscillations of feeling before I "found myself." At one period, I became so impressed with the virtue of complete independence that I proceeded to act on each case purely as I personally viewed it, without paying any heed to the principles and prejudices of others. The result was that I speedily, and deservedly, lost all power of accomplishing anything at all; and I thereby learned the invaluable lesson that in the practical activities of life no man can render the highest service unless he can act in combination with his fellows, which means a certain amount of give-and-take between him and them. Again, I had at one period begun to believe that I had future before me, and that it behooved me to be very far-sighted and scan each action carefully with a view to its possible effect on that future. This speedily made me useless to the public and an object of aversion to all one period began to think of the future at all, but would proceed on the assumption that each office I held would be the last I ever should hold, and that I would confine myself to trying to do my work as well as possible while I held that office. I found that for me personally this was the ability to accomplish results. The achievement was the all-important thing; the position, whether titulary high or low, was of consequence only in so far as it widened the chance for achievement. After the session closed four of us who looked at politics from the same standpoint and were known as Independent or Anti-Machine Republicans were sent by the state convention as delegates-at-large to the Republican National convention of 1884, where I advocated, as vigorously as I knew how, the nomination of Senator George F. Edmunds. Mr. Edmunds was defeated and Mr. Blaine nominated. Mr. Blaine was clearly the choice of the rank and file of the party; his nomination was won in fair and aboveboard fashion, because the rank and file of the party stood back of him; and I supported him to the best of my ability in the ensuing campaign.

Parlor Reformers. The Speaker contest enlightened me as regards more things than the attitude of the bosses. I had already had some exasperating experiences with the "silk stock" reformer type, as Abraham Lincoln called it, the gentlemen who were very nice, very refined, who shook their heads over political corruption and discussed it in drawing-rooms and parlors, but who were wholly unable to grapple with real men in real life. These parlor reformers made up for inefficiency in action by zeal in criticizing; and they delighted in criticising the men who really were doing the things which they said ought to be done, but which they lacked the sinewy power to do. They often upheld ideals which were not merely impossible but highly undesirable, and they played into the hands of the very politicians to whom they professed to be most hostile. Moreover, if they believed that their own interests, individually or as a class, were jeopardized, they were apt to show no higher standards than did the men they usually denounced.

One of their shibboleths was that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. This is entirely true of certain offices at certain times. It is entirely untrue when the circumstances are different. It would have been necessary and undesirable for Washington to have sought the presidency. But if Abraham Lincoln had not sought the presidency he never would have been nominated. The objection in such a case as this lies not to seeking the office, but to seeking it in any but an honorable and proper manner. The effect of the shibboleth in question is usually merely to put a premium on hypocrisy, and therefore to favor the creature who is willing to rise by hypocrisy. When I ran for Speaker, the whole body of machine politicians was against me, and my only chance lay in arousing the people in the different districts. To do this I had to visit the districts, put the case fairly before the men whom I saw, and make them understand that I was really making a fight and would stay in the fight to the end. Yet there were reformers who shook their heads and deplored my "activity" in the canvass. Of course the one thing which corrupt machine politicians most desire is to have decent men frown on the activity, that is, on the efficiency, of the honest man who genuinely wishes to reform politics.

If efficiency is left solely to bad men, and if virtue is confined solely to inefficient men, the result cannot be happy. When I entered politics there were, as there always had been—and as there always will be—any number of bad men in politics who were thoroughly efficient, and any number of good men who would like to have done lofty things in politics but who were thoroughly inefficient. If I wished to accomplish anything for the country, my business was to combine decency and efficiency; to be a thoroughly practical man of high ideals who did his best to reduce those ideals to actual practice. This was my ideal, and to the best of my ability I strove to live up to it.

The Lighter Side of Politics. To a young man, life in the New York legislature was always interesting and often entertaining. There was always a struggle of some kind on hand. Sometimes it was on a naked question of right and wrong. Sometimes it was on a question of real constructive statesmanship. Moreover, there were all kinds of humorous incidents, the humor being usually of the unconscious kind. In one session of the legislature the New York City Democratic representatives were split into two camps, and there were two rivals for leadership. One of these was a thoroughly good-hearted, happy-go-lucky person who was afterwards for several years in congress. He had been a local magistrate and was called Judge. Generally he and I were friendly, but occasionally I did something that irritated him. He was always willing to vote for any other member's bill himself, and he regarded it as narrow-minded for any one to oppose one of his bills, especially if the opposition was upon the ground that it was unconstitutional—for his views of the Constitution were so excessively liberal as to make even me feel as if I belonged to the strictest sect of strict constructionists. On one occasion he had a bill to appropriate money, with obvious impropriety, for the relief of some miscreant whom he styled "one of the honest yeomanry of the state." When I explained to him that it was clearly unconstitutional, he answered, "My friend, the Constitution don't touch little things like that," and then added, with an ingratiating smile, "Anyhow, I'd never allow the Constitution to come between friends." At the time I was looking over the proofs of Mr. Bryce's "American Commonwealth," and I told him the incident. He put it into the first edition of the "Commonwealth," whether it is in the last edition or not I cannot say.

On another occasion the same gentleman came to an issue with me in a debate, and wound up his speech by explaining that I occupied what "lawyers would call a quasi position on the bill." His rival was a man of totally different type, a man of great natural dignity, also born in Ireland. He had served with gallantry in the Civil War. After the close of the war he organized an expedition to conquer Canada. The expedition, however, got so drunk before reaching Albany that it was there incarcerated in jail, whereupon its leader abandoned it and went into New York politics instead. He was a

The Hand That Moves The Lever Saves 16.2-3 Per Cent. of Your Coal Bill

Here is the opportunity for the housewife to deal the high cost of living question a hard jolt without any effort on her part.

The way is to make sure that her new range is controlled by a Gurney Economizer, which will save 1 ton of coal in every 6 burned in an ordinary range.

The Economizer is to the stove what the control lever is to the engine or automobile. Without control neither is efficient.

With the Gurney Economizer it is possible to quickly vary the heat of the oven. Various foods require different temperatures. The Economizer keeps this desired temperature absolutely uniform.

It also means that when cooking is over, you may have a cool kitchen and still have your fire going—while you can have the fiercest heat in a few minutes by a slight pressure on the lever.

If you possess a Gurney-Oxford your advantages are innumerable. The Divided Flue means heat for every hole on the stove. The New Special Grate guards the lowest fire. The Broiler exposes every inch of the coals.

These features are exclusively "Gurney-Oxford."

It will furnish your kitchen handsomely—it will do your work adequately.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

In a game Saturday in the Twilight League, Bobby Steele, former Beacon Hill pitcher, added another victory to his long list, by defeating Calgary 11-4.

Steele not only pitched good ball but batted like a fiend, in four times at bat he got a home run, a double and a single, Steele will without doubt be in higher company next season if he continues to keep up his good work.

Herr Meek and Dell would have put on a headline bout had the officials allowed it to continue. For small men, Bobby Coltrin and Tealy Raymond made a lot of noise.

Lamb's two-bagger was the only extra base hit secured by Dell. Had the ball gone two feet farther it would have been a homer.

Last night the Capitals and Hills met at the North Ward park, the former winning by the score of 5-5. Townsley, Totty and Watson formed the Hills' battery, while White and Shields pitched and caught for the Caps.

Totty, Beacon Hill's youthful southpaw, looks like another Bobby Steele, last night after the Capitals had batted Townsley had the youngster took the mound and held the Caps safe throughout.

Roy Shields, who played short for the Capitals last season, donned the mask last night and caught a pretty game.

Shaw stole second and took third on an error in the ninth. Dell and Kanty each struck out seven men. Dell, however, was very wild.

Schmutz had the Colts at his mercy, holding them to four hits, while the Beavers hit Eastley hard at opportune moments, winning the game, 5-2. Errors let both Portland runs across.

Spokane won the opening game of the series here yesterday from Tacoma, score 1 to 0.

VANCOUVER CLUB TRANSFERS GAMES

Bees Get Three Home Dates With Beavers Next Week

Victoria will have three days' baseball next week, even though the schedule calls for the Bees' appearance at Vancouver after the Seattle series. Bob Brown called up President Wattleit on the long distance this morning and asked to have the games which were scheduled at Vancouver next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday transferred to Victoria for those days, the Bees going to Vancouver for the latter half of next week.

To-day's game will be called at 4:10, with Narveson and Clipp as the opposing slab artists. Mike Lynch had a specialist look over Delmas' hand last night, and after treatment it was stated that Delmas will be back in the game by Thursday. Madden will join the club in Seattle on that date, so that the Bees will be able to present a much stronger front the latter part of this week.

Reinforcements await the Spokane team at home. Catcher Hannah, secured from Chattanooga for $350, went to Spokane instead of joining the club here. He is needed badly, for Osdick and Ames are both out of it with damaged digits. Conway, a young pitcher who worked so well around Cincinnati that Joe Tinker wanted to buy him from Joe Cobb, is also in Spokane and will be given a chance to show his wares this week.

Ell Cates, former Major League Oaklander, Vancouver pitcher, is twirling for Indianapolis of the Federal League. Ell is pitching a good brand of ball. Deacon Phillippe, a former Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, is at the head of the Pittsburgh Club of the same league.

Frank Schulte, right fielder of the Chicago Nationals, underwent an operation yesterday for the removal of a growth from his forehead.

Vancover, Monday, June 10.—Manager Bob Brown, of the Vancover team of Northwestern League, announced yesterday the sale of his southpaw pitcher, Deacon Phillippe, to the Butte Club of the Union Association.

WHO'S WHO IN SPORTS

Magnate McAleer, 45 To-day—Once a Diamond Slave.

That even the poor peons of the diamond may hope to throw off the shackles of their slavery and rise to greater heights is demonstrated by the careers of such men as Spalding, Gov. Tener, Billy Sunday and James R. McAleer. The latter, once a slave ground beneath the heel of the heartless baseball octopus—or rather, heela, since the octopus is eight-footed—is now himself a magnate and a slave-driver, living in luxury off the dainty toll of the champion Red Sox, who often work as long as two hours a day, six months a year, for mere annual pittance of a few thousand dollars.

James McAleer, the Simon Legree of the Boston Americans, was born in Youngstown, O., forty-five years ago to-day, and began playing ball at the age of seven. It was just a quarter of a century ago that Jimmy made his professional debut in the Southern League. That circuit fell upon hard times and disbanded, and McAleer finished the 1888 season with Milwaukee, in the Western Association. He played a brilliant game in the Bear City garden, and the following year was given a chance with the Cleveland Nationals. He remained with the Cleveland Nationals until 1896, except for a brief experience with the Cleveland Players' League team. During the decade of his diamond activity he was the star outfielder of the National League.

When the American league was launched McAleer became manager of the Cleveland club. The following year when the Milwaukee team was transferred to St. Louis, Jimmy assumed the management of the Browns. He built up a team that came near winning a pennant, but, suddenly and unaccountably, it went to pieces, and McAleer quit in disgust. His next managerial berth was with Washington, long the hope of the league, although managed by such good men as Jake Stahl and Joe Cantillon. During the two years that McAleer was pilot of the Senators they accomplished nothing wonderful, although they managed to escape from the cellar they occupied for several centuries. More or less at the close of the 1911 season McAleer left the Senators to become the manager of the Red Sox. It was a fortunate move, for Jimmy got in on the ground floor of a world's champion club, with consequent profit to himself. In building up the Washington team, however, McAleer nursed a serpent in his breast, and it has turned and stung him.

MANY CHANGES AT OAK BAY

President Con. Jones, of the Vancouver Lacrosse Club, paid a visit to the capital to-day and is completing arrangements for the first professional lacrosse match of the season between the Royals and Terminals which will take place at Oak Bay on June 28. He had a conference with John Vint, the president of the local club, and a squad of workmen will start immediately getting the grounds in shape for the big game. It is probable that a temporary fence will be erected, so as to make the present field the proper size, while movable bleachers will also increase the accommodation of the present stand. The latter is being repaired and thoroughly renovated, and will make a big change in the appearance of the grounds.

President Jones talks enthusiastically of the lacrosse prospects for the present season, and states that Victoria fans will have an opportunity of seeing the championship war or least, as he figures that the greenshirts can win their home games, so that it will be the Victoria game which will decide the Minto Cup and world's lacrosse honors. Vancouver and Westminster will send several thousand over for the big game, and this morning Mr. Jones closed with the C. P. R. for the Princess Royal as a special boat to carry the lacrosse excursionists. This boat will leave Vancouver at 7:30 on Saturday, June 28, for Victoria, and leave the capital for Vancouver at 7 p. m.

COWICHAN WINS POLO TOURNEY

Duncan, June 10.—A gymkhana was held at the polo grounds, Koksilah, on Thursday. Unfortunately several members of the Victoria Polo Club were unable to arrive. The poloists express the desire that the railway company attach a car for the ponies to the passenger train in Koksilah, as they should not be so late at the E. & N. depot at 7 a. m. and were not shipped until 9:30 a. m. and arrived some time in the late afternoon after a gymkhana was over. In spite of this appointment, however, there was a good entry list for each event. The results were:

Hurdle race—M. Gore-Langton. Top-of-was—Kennington, M. Gore-Langton, E. Parry and J. R. Boothby. Bending-race—A. Kennington. Stick and ball—J. R. Boothby. Ladies' nomination race—Miss Miles and M. Gore-Langton. Stoury-lit, G. Gore-Langton on Clearship.

Ladies' race—Miss Powell on Ladybird. Relay race—M. Gore-Langton. After the gymkhana Mrs. W. H. Hayward very kindly gave away the prizes which had been donated by members of the Polo Club, the Cowichan merchants and Whitaker & Jones.

Matches have been arranged for several weeks in Victoria and for a tournament in Spokane in September. The teams that played on Friday were: Victoria—No. 1, Mr. Law, 0; No. 2, Mr. McKenzie, 0; No. 3, Capt. Clarke, 0; back, Dr. Richards, 0. Cowichan—No. 1, G. Gore-Langton, 1 goal; No. 2, J. R. Boothby, 1 goal; No. 3, Wynne-Eyton, 1 goal; back, E. Knight, 1 goal; back, A. Kennington, 3 goals.

AMERICAN TEAM INVADES ENGLAND. New York, June 10.—The United States tennis team won its right to play Germany in the second round of the Davis International Cup by defeating the Australians here yesterday afternoon in the fourth match of the series.

McLaughlin, by beating Doust in the third single match in three straight sets, clinched the victory in the game of yesterday. The score was 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. This gave America the three out of four single matches, and Australia the one double.

The Americans will play in the All-England championships at Wimbledon, England, beginning June 23. The fourth member of the team to go abroad has been selected. He is W. F. Johnson, of the University of Pennsylvania, the former inter-collegiate champion. Johnson sailed on the Kron Prinzessin Cecilie. He will also play in the all-English championships.

TO-NIGHT'S MATCHES. It has been found necessary to choose another referee for the Buzuk-Kelly wrestling bout which will feature the athletic card at the Victoria Athletic Club to-night. The grapple at first agreed on Joe Raymond, the physical director of the club, as the third man on the mat, but they later broke over the matter and a local wrestling expert will handle the match. Both men appear in the pink of condition and Kelly, when seen by the Times this morning, stated that he would make the Greek travel at top speed to win the match. The first preliminary will be called at 8:30, while the main bout will probably be called at 9 o'clock.

EASTERN GOLFERS VISIT VICTORIA

Victoria is to-day entertaining a number of eastern golf stars at the Oak Bay links. The visitors will play here this afternoon and also tomorrow. On Thursday they play at Seattle, meeting a combined team for the western championship at the Sound city on Friday and Saturday. Those in the party include Charles Evans, Jr., western golf champion, of Chicago; Warren K. Wood, of Chicago, one of the foremost medal players of the country; Ned Sawyer, of Chicago, a former western champion; Harry Legg, of Minneapolis, who has been trans-Mississippi champion five times; Howard Lee, of Detroit, present intercollegiate champion; Carl Devo, of Chicago, medalist in the national amateur championship last year; Phil Stanton, of Detroit, formerly of Michigan, and Frazier Hale, former inter-scholastic champion.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1904—Joe Walcott, the "Black Demon of Barbados," was knocked out by Young Peter Jackson in the fourth round at Baltimore. The former welterweight champion, who had earned the title of "Giant Killer" by knocking out Joe Choynski, a good heavyweight, put an end to his ring career by accidentally shooting himself through the hand while showing off his cannon at a darky dance. After that he fell an easy victim to Young Peter Jackson and other second-raters. 1887—Harry Lazarus defeated "Dreadnought" Horrigan in 97 rounds at Point Abino, Can. 1912—Jack Dillon knocked out Eddie Stanton in the fourth round at New York.

POLOIST BREAKS LEG

While practicing at the Willows, Capt. R. P. Clarke, of the Victoria Polo Club, one of the foremost polo players on the Pacific coast, had the misfortune to break his left leg above the ankle in two places, the pony rearing and falling over backwards, pinning the unfortunate rider beneath him. The injured player was hurried to the Jubilee hospital, where the fracture is being attended to. Capt. Clarke was the mainstay of the local quartette and had worked hard for the formation of a polo club in Victoria. His accident will weaken the locals seriously in their coming matches, as the injury will keep Capt. Clarke out of the saddle for some time.

MUNICIPAL BUREAU DEALS WITH LAND

Novel Plan Followed at Langley; Pay Municipality One Per Cent.

It has been left to a Fraser valley municipality—that of Langley—to demonstrate a branch of municipal enterprise without precedent in western Canada, namely, that of a municipal land bureau.

M. B. Cotsworth, New Westminster, is the author of this scheme, and has spent some considerable time in working out and perfecting the arrangements. Interviewed on the subject he prefaced his description of the municipal land bureau thus: "As would-be settlers in the Fraser valley experienced unexpected difficulty in obtaining land at reasonable prices, because of the handicap imposed upon them by exactions of speculators and real estate schemers, the council of Langley municipality have acceded to the request of their taxpayers to establish a municipal land bureau."

Mr. Cotsworth then outlined the bureau's work as follows: "1st. The taxpayers owning land in the municipality are invited to register such areas as they are willing to sell at reasonable prices. For that purpose the owner is required to write full particulars of the description of his land, recording on the 'file cards' such area, quality, parts cleared, value of buildings and other improvements, crops, etc., separately. The owner also enters appropriate particulars of the quantity of timber, estimated cost of clearing with lowest price of land for cash or terms with interest rates and particulars of any encumbrances. Next the owner signs an agreement to pay the municipality through the municipal clerk, 1 per cent. commission on the total price, within seven days after the agreement for sale has been signed by the buyer. Thus definite particulars of all necessary facts are recorded and signed."

2nd. The "file cards" thus completed by the owner's signature and address being affixed are distinguished by different colors for 160, 80, 40, 20, 10, 5 and "less than 5" acre areas, so that would-be settlers according to their requirements can select 1, 2, 3 or 4 file cards and make copies thereof at 25 cents each, after signing an agreement to pay the municipality 1 per cent. of the purchase price to cover the cost of the municipal bureau expressly designed for their protection.

3rd. A further and most valuable means of protection against fraud or misrepresentation is provided by the final paragraph, which reads: "Subject to the reasonable convenience of the municipal assessor, any prospective purchaser may further obtain the advice of, and be accompanied by the assessor to compare the relative advantages in values of not more than four areas listed at this bureau, provided always that the prospective purchaser first deposits with the municipal clerk $10 for the assessor's minimum fee, and by signing Contract II. in the bureau's journal, agrees that in the event of the would-be-settler purchasing one or more of the areas to which the assessor's advice is given, the purchaser will incur 1 per cent. upon the total purchase price during the seven days following the date of sale or lease, and to pay 1 cent per dollar for every day's delay in completing the payment of any balance of that 1 per cent. due to the assessor for services rendered."

Mr. Cotsworth, in conclusion, states: "The municipal assessor is the responsible public official who when thus authorized, should be most competent to give disinterested advice to would-be settlers concerning the lands thus made more freely available through the bureau. "The 30 per cent. advantage Langley residents derive by only paying 1 per cent. commission to the municipality instead of 5 per cent. to middlemen is one of the most attractive features helping the district." The scheme is now in working order and all the necessary books and documents are now available in the municipal clerk's office at Murrayville, where owners are listing their lands in Langley municipality. It must be pointed out clearly that the municipality cannot there permit the listing of any land in other municipalities, though all municipalities may institute similar means to benefit their districts by enabling their taxpayers and would-be settlers to thus dispense with the services of middlemen by writing to either the municipal clerk at Murrayville, B. C., or to M. B. Cotsworth, 231 Seventh street, New Westminster, B. C.

ODD PHYSIOLOGY NAMES.

"Pupli" seems a strange name to apply to the black spot in the centre of a human eye. However, if you look into the eyes of a fellow-creature you will see the image of your own features reflected, perhaps two. One image at least is erect striking bold, and superficial. It is the corneal image, and the word "pupli" which is derived from "pupa," meaning a small image, has therefore been applied to the part of the eye on which this image is depicted. Again take the temporal bones, which form what we call the temple at each side of the head. These do not get their name from any association with temples made by hand, but from the word tempus, or time, because the older observers noticed that as age advanced grey hairs usually begin to appear at the temples.—Glasgow News.

WILL DO THEIR BEST.

LADIES MAY ASSIST DURING THE CARNIVAL

Local Council of Women to Discuss Possibilities of Entertainment in Fete Week

The meeting at the Y. M. C. A. of the Local Council of Women yesterday was prolonged until an unusually late hour owing to the lengthy discussion which arose during the latter part of the proceedings on the question of Carnival Week and the part which the Women's Council should take in this. Mrs. Day read her report as convener of the committee appointed to confer with Alderman Cuthbert on this subject, the subject being put forward that the Council of Women should accept the offer of the Arena to hold some form of continuous evening entertainment during Carnival Week. The idea was favorably received by the majority of the ladies of the council, and among the many suggestions broached were included those of a choral band, tableaux, and bands. The decorations used recently at the Kermess held at the Arena by the Daughters of Empire will remain in place in the event of the Local Council of Women deciding to follow up the suggestion outlined in the report, read by Mrs. Day, and a special meeting of the affiliated societies and other women's organizations in the city has been called for Friday afternoon at 2:30 in the King's Daughter's Rest Room further to discuss the subject in all its ramifications, and decide on the exact nature of the entertainment which will be given at the Arena during the week of fete-making.

Protect the Mothers. There was an exceptionally good attendance of members at the meeting, the president, Mrs. Cross, in the chair. Early in the afternoon, the secretary read a letter from the Social Service commission stating that they would like to co-operate with the Local Council of Women in providing a crèche where working mothers could leave their children during the day. While appreciating the spirit of the suggestion, the discussion which followed the launching of the subject showed that the majority of the members were strongly in favor of pensions for mothers who had little ones to care for rather than creches where their children could be looked after. Mrs. Hanington outlined the system in vogue in Australia, where the government had seen the advisability of looking after the mother who, in turn, could then look after their own children. Mrs. Jenkins also called attention to the legislation recently passed in California providing for pensions for widows, and a committee was formed to investigate the subject during the holidays and report at the next meeting of the council in September, the ladies on this committee to consist of Mesdames Jenkins and Hanington, from the Local Council of Women; two members from the Children's Aid Society, and two members from the Friendly Help Association, and a committee from the Social Service commission.

Beacon Hill Park.

Another important report which was heard during the afternoon was that read by Mrs. Dennis Harris, convener of a committee appointed to deal with the resolution protesting against encroachments on Beacon Hill park by various sports clubs. The committee had seen the city council, and had received verification of the claim that the park could not be used for any other purpose than the recreation of the people of Victoria, and that such buildings as were erected thereon should be only in connection with such purpose. A letter from F. R. McNamara, secretary of the Labor Commission, was read to the meeting, and Miss Lawson pointed out the necessity of the Local Council of Women being prepared to give evidence before the board when it resumed its sittings in Victoria. It was pointed out by Mrs. Jenkins that Dr. Cleland had collected considerable information on the matter of technical education which should be ready to present to the commission, and emphasis was placed on the importance of legislation for working women whose numbers were increasing in the city every week. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Justin Gilbert were appointed a committee to investigate conditions among laboring women, and to report to the executive of the council.

Maternity Home.

The committee appointed to make provision for a temporary maternity home reported through Mrs. Donald. It was stated that the city council had promised to give a sufficient grant for the care of any poor mother in Victoria who could not be cared for in her own home, and the Victoria hospital on Vancouver street had agreed, if necessary, to make preparation. Other matters which were dealt with at the meeting included the question of the appointment of a woman sanitary inspector, on which matter Mrs. Mitchell had conferred with the city council. Other correspondence included a letter from Mrs. Griffin conveying the news that the National Council of Women of Canada would hold their annual meeting in Victoria in 1913, the same correspondent giving a description of the annual meeting of the National Council held in Montreal in May. Mrs. Cummings, secretary of the National Council, also sent a letter containing several suggestions which were referred to various committees to deal with as they considered advisable.

CHAPTERS OF A POSSIBLE AUTOBIOGRAPHY

man of influence, and later occupied in the Police Department the same position as Commissioner which I myself at one time occupied. He felt that his rival had gained too much glory at my expense, and, walking over with ceremonious solemnity to where the said rival was sitting close beside me, he said to him: "I would like you to know, Mr. Cameron (Cameron, of course, was not the real name), that Mr. Roosevelt knows more law in a week than you do in a month; and, more than that, Michael Cameron, what do you mean by quoting Latin on the floor of this House when you don't know the alpha and omega of the language?"

There was in the Legislature, during the deadlock above mentioned, a man whom I will call Brogan. He looked like a serious, almost frog, I never heard him speak more than once. It was before the Legislature was organized, or had adopted any rules; and each day the only business was for the clerk to call the roll. One day Brogan suddenly rose, and the following dialogue occurred: Brogan—Mither Clu-r-r-r! The Clerk—The gentleman from New York. Brogan—I rise to a point of order under the rules! The Clerk—There are no rules. Brogan—Thin I object to them! The Clerk—There are no rules to object to. Brogan—Oh! (nonplused; but immediately recovering himself). Thin I move that they be amended until there ar-r-re!

The deadlock was tedious; and we halted with joy such enlivening incidents as the above. The Prime Requisites. During my three years' service in the Legislature I worked on a very simple philosophy of government. It was that personal character and initiative are the prime requisites in political and social life. It was not only a good but an absolutely indispensable theory as far as it went; but it was defective in that it did not sufficiently allow for the need of collective action. I shall never forget the men with whom I worked hand in hand in these legislative struggles, not only my fellow-legislators, but some of the newspaper reporters, such as Spinney and Cunningham; and then in addition the men in the various districts who helped us. We had made up our minds that we must not fight fire with fire, that on the contrary the way to win out was to equal our foes in practical efficiency and yet to stand at the opposite plane from them in applied morality.

It was not always easy to keep the just middle, especially when it happened that we were surrounded by corrupt and unscrupulous demagogues and on the other side corrupt and unscrupulous reactionaries. Our effort was to hold the scales even between both. We tried to stand with the cause of righteousness even though its advocates were anything but righteous. We endeavored to cut out the abuses of property, even though good men of property were misled into upholding those abuses. We refused to be frightened into sanctioning improper assaults upon property, although we knew that the champions of property themselves did things that were wicked and corrupt. We were awake as we ought to have been to the need of controlling big business and to the damage done by the combination of politics with big business. In this matter I was not behind the rest of my friends; indeed, I was ahead of them, for no serious leader in political life then appreciated the same need of grappling with these questions. One partial reason—not an excuse or a justification, but a partial reason—for my slowness in grasping the importance of action in these matters was the corrupt and unattractive nature of so many of the men who championed popular reforms, their insincerity, and the folly of so many of the actions which they advocated. Even at that date I had neither sympathy with nor admiration for the man who was merely a money king, and I did not regard the "money touch" when divorced from other qualities, as entitling a man to either respect or consideration. As recited above, we did on more than one occasion fight battles, in which we neither took nor gave quarter, against the most prominent and powerful financiers and financial interests of the day. But most of the fights in which we were engaged were for pure honesty and decency, as they were more apt to be against that form of corruption which found its expression in demagoguery than against that form of corruption which defended or advocated privilege.

Doing the Thing That is Next.

To play the demagogue for purposes of self-interest is a cardinal sin against the people in democracy, exactly as to play the courtier for such purposes is a cardinal sin against the people under other forms of government. A man who stays loyal in our American political life, if he has in his soul the generous desire to do effective service for great causes, inevitably grows to regard himself merely as one of many instruments, all of which it may be necessary to use, one at one time, one at another, in achieving the triumph of those causes; and whenever the usefulness of any one has been exhausted it is to be thrown aside. If such a man is wise, he will gladly do the thing that is next, when the time and the need are together, without asking what the future holds for him. Let the half-god play his part well and manfully, and then be content to draw aside when the god appears. Nor should he feel vain regrets that to another it is given to render greater services and reap a greater reward. Let it be enough for him that he too has served, and that by doing well he has prepared the way for the other man who can do better.

STAPLING PLIERS

Punches Staples Through Papers to Hold Them Together. For the affixing of staples on papers a German has invented an ingenious type of pliers. Everyone is familiar with the various kinds of staples used to hold papers, such as lawyers' briefs, reports, etc., together. With this invention, instead of their being affixed by hand, they are automatically punched on. A pair of lever handles, with spring operation, are hinged to a casting that contains a feeding device. A rod is attached to one of the handles, and this actuates the staple driver that is in the head of the casing. On the other handle is an anvil. Both the rod and the anvil have springs leading down to the lower portion of the handles. When the pliers are brought together the rod forces a staple out of the feeder and punches it through the paper, the anvil riveting it on the other side.

Paint Company's Place Has Two Blazes Within a Few Days. Fire clearly of incendiary origin broke out in the paint warehouse of Newton & Greer about 3 o'clock last night, but the fire department extinguished it before any harm was done. This is the second incendiary fire in this place in a few days. The guilty man is believed to be a well known hobo who was caught sleeping on the premises by the janitor a few hours before the first fire. A pile of rubbish caught fire at midnight behind the Delhi restaurant in Yates street and created a big reflection and lots of smoke at midnight last night. No damage was done before the chemical wagon put out the fire.

GUAYMAS CUT OFF FROM TRANSPORTATION

Merchant Had to Come to Victoria En-Route From Mexico to Los Angeles

Victoria assumed a new role in the transportation world yesterday when she was established as a way station or port of call on the most direct route between Guaymas, Mexico, and Los Angeles, California. W. J. Phillips, a wholesale druggist of Guaymas, who registered at the Dominion hotel yesterday with his wife and boy, was the party responsible for this. Owing to the revolution shipping from the port of Guaymas is cut off, and it was by the merest accident that Mr. Phillips was able to persuade the captain of the Norwegian tramp steamer Arna to take him aboard when that steamer called en route from New York to Vancouver, Victoria and the Puget Sound ports.

Guaymas is the only place in the state of Sonora in possession of the Federal party in the civil war, according to Mr. Phillips. General Ojeda, one of the most successful officers of the Federal troops, is there in charge of 4,000 men, while an army of 6,000 rebels is encamped 15 miles from the city. The rebels have little artillery, hence a bombardment of the city is impossible, but ten days ago when Mr. Phillips left Guaymas a battle was daily expected. A few days before when the two armies met there was constant fighting for three days with little advantage to either side. The Federals were finally compelled to retreat for lack of water, and since then the rebels have come ten miles nearer the town. Over 400 men were killed in this encounter.

The solution of the trouble on the west coast, according to Mr. Phillips, is the fulfillment of the promise of the central government to send reinforcements to Guaymas to bring the Federals up to the numerical strength of the rebels. The forces under General Ojeda are better equipped and have superior artillery, but are outnumbered at present. These reinforcements were constantly expected from the south when Mr. Phillips sailed. In the town of Guaymas several conditions have been responsible for its being one of the most orderly cities during the revolution. Foreigners have been respected by both sides, the city is well policed and there have been no street riots or other evidences of faction feeling. The people of Sonora have taken it as a matter of course that the Huerta government is in lawful possession, Mr. Phillips says, and have taken no active part in the revolution. There are about 150 white foreigners, Americans and Britishers, just outside Guaymas at a railway junction, but only about ten in the city. The presence of the American battleship California has caused the Americans great satisfaction, and the fact that the admiral of the Pacific fleet is in charge is sufficient in his opinion to prevent any attempt to bombard the town. If such a bombardment should occur, however, Mr. Phillips is of the opinion that the American troops would not land.

One of the mysteries of the revolution to Mr. Phillips is the source from which the rebels derive their ammunition and arms. Some of the arms, of course, come from the regiments that sided with the rebels, but the whole rebel army is well armed and well supplied with ammunition in spite of the fact that the American border is carefully patrolled by troops. Gunrunning is being conducted with great success some place in his opinion.

One effect of the revolution on business is disastrous, says Mr. Phillips. The regular means of communication with the north has been the Southern Pacific Railway line down the west coast, but this has been blown up all along the line by the rebels, and has been out of commission since March 4. Guaymas is not a place on any regular steamship line, and it was this very difficulty that compelled Mr. Phillips to come to Victoria on a freight ship. All the big copper mines, one of them employing 7,000 men, are closed up for want of fuel and other supplies which cannot be got in.

Guaymas is the distributing point for the north portion of the west coast, but not a tap of business has been done since March 4 on account of the lack of transportation. The sugar plantations are not being interfered with, but the stores of sugar cannot be shipped out. The same applies to oranges and other fruits grown there. How this is affecting the northern markets Mr. Phillips does not know, but the shipments from Mexico are so large that he would not be surprised to know that prices were affected for some of these commodities.

To Make Hair Quickly Disappear From Face

(Aids to Beauty.)

The beauty-detracting superfluous growths of hair on a woman's face can be quickly banished with a paste made by mixing powdered salicylic acid and water and applying to hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbing off. This takes with it every trace of hair and after the skin is washed it will be clear and spotless. This delicate treatment is quite harmless and rarely is more than one application necessary to remove even a stubborn growth.

To beautify eyebrows, rub a little pyroxin on. This makes them grow thick and lustrous. Applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger causes them to grow long, silky and curly. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

CURFEW SOUNDS TO-NIGHT

Fire Bell Will Strike Nine at 9 o'clock—Young Must Hurry Home.

No more can it truthfully be said "Curfew shall not ring to-night." The city council determined last night that henceforth the fire bell shall strike nine at 9 o'clock as the signal that the curfew by-law requiring children under 16 to be off the street by that time is in force.

The decision came as the result of a letter from the W. C. T. U., reminding the aldermen that they had been putting off and putting off the going into effect of the by-law. The letter drew attention to the moral benefit of the regulation on the welfare of the children, and the aldermen were evidently deeply touched.

Alderman Dilworth said that what had delayed the matter was the inability to procure a bell. He proposed that the fire bell be used. Chief Davis then said that it might sound like a fire alarm, and he suggested the brewery whistle. Alderman Dilworth thought the brewery whistle might have a corrupting influence on the morals of the young instead of an improving influence, so the fire bell was finally decided upon. Curfew rings to-night.

VISITORS WILL BE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

Port Alberni and Alberni Are Providing Magnificent Reception

Particulars from Port Alberni and Alberni announce the nature of the entertainment and reception to be given the visitors who take the trip tomorrow morning. The train, as already announced, will leave Victoria at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning, arriving at Port Alberni at 2.30 in the afternoon, where a reception committee, composed of the mayor and city council, officials of the Board of Trade, and prominent citizens of the Alberni district, will take charge of the visitors, and who will hold something by way of a formal reception shortly after the arrival of the train. Arrangements are being made to make the function as gala as possible, and a band will be in attendance on the platform to play appropriate airs while the train enters the station.

The more formal proceedings over, visitors will be given the remainder of the afternoon to rest before dinner and the public meeting to be held at 3.30 in the theatre at Port Alberni. This will be one of the most public spirited gatherings that has ever taken place in the western outpost, which is every year becoming more closely linked up with its more southern and eastern neighbors, and among the long list who will deliver addresses during the evening will be Mayor Birde, of Port Alberni; L. N. Pineo, president of the Vancouver Island Development League; Simon Leiser, J. J. Shalloo, president of the Victoria Board of Trade; His Worship Mayor Marley, of Victoria, and His Worship Mayor Kenneth Duncan, of Duncan (in the event of these two gentlemen being present); Mayor Shaw, of Nanaimo; Mayor McLeod, of Ladysmith; H. B. Thomson, M. P.; C. H. Lugin, the Hon. Abraham Smith, American consul and others.

A programme of songs and band selections will be given between the speeches, and the proceedings will be made as entertaining as possible. Thursday Programme.

On Thursday morning the visitors, whose numbers will include several ladies, will have a choice between a trip to the Stamp River Falls; the rivers, Great Central and Sproat Lakes; and a trip by launch down the Alberni Canal to the construction headquarters of the Canadian Northern camp, all of which will be of peculiar interest. The people of the country are famous for their hospitality, and anyone wishing to see it under such favorable auspices should not fail to seize the opportunity.

A large party is leaving Victoria, and, including the tourists from Nanaimo and Duncan, the total number who will arrive at Port Alberni on the first train will be in the neighborhood of 200. Luncheon will be served on the train between Victoria and the termination of the trip, and every preparation is being made for the comfort and pleasure of the guests both en route and at their destination.

RATEPAYERS HEAR BOTH SIDES OF CASE

Association of Ward Four, Saanich Municipality, Discusses Paving Contract

With recent events limiting the field of discussion of the Saanich paving to a defined area, the ratepayers of Ward four met last evening at the Colquhoun hall and discussed the situation. Councillors Borden and McGregor attended and answered a number of questions.

Criticism of the tenders for bitulithic paving came from Captain Walker, of Strawberry Vale, and others, on the ground that to limit the tender to a defined class of paving was restricting competition. While the speakers did not complain of the quality of bitulithic paving, they felt that open competition afforded a check on the cost.

For Warren Brothers, the owners of the bitulithic patents, E. R. Vigor, one of the local representatives of the company, stated that there were no royalties paid, and that any contractor could bid on the tender provided that he bought the surfacing material of the company and had the superintendents of the company supervising its laying. They stood behind the contract, and undertook the guarantee of the paving lasting the specified term of years. The arrangement was already that contractors bought a patented article, just as a contractor might require certain patented materials in building a house, the price of which he had to pay the owners of that patent. He could assure the ratepayers that when the tenders were opened there would be a number of competitors for the business. Mr. Vigor was accorded an attentive hearing in addressing what was undoubtedly a critical audience.

Councillor McGregor stated that the majority of the council had decided on limiting bids to one class of paving after determining in committee on open competition, and he still felt that they would have been wiser not to have placed the word "bitulithic" in the advertisement.

A committee consisting of President Rogers, Secretary O'Connell and Capt. Walker was appointed to attend the meeting of the municipal council this evening and explain the opinion of the Ratepayers' Association to the councillors.

School Accommodation.
Other matters discussed were those of the schools at McKenzie avenue and Strawberry Vale and the condition of the Burnside road. The school board has promised to add rooms at McKenzie avenue school, where the building is much overcrowded. It was reported with regard to the Strawberry Vale school that nothing had been done on account of lack of funds, the extensive programme of the Saanich school board having required the money elsewhere.

The juvenile population requiring instruction is growing in that locality, and while the association has already drawn the attention of the department of education to the matter, it has not been possible to do anything towards meeting the emergency.

Some of the members stated that some temporary provision, such as

However, Mr. Foy's producers, Warba & Luncheon, retailed and made him an even more tempting offer with the result that to-day Eddie Foy along Broadway ranks as the highest salaried musical comedy star in the world.

However, Mr. Foy's producers, Warba & Luncheon, retailed and made him an even more tempting offer with the result that to-day Eddie Foy along Broadway ranks as the highest salaried musical comedy star in the world.

When Eddie Foy comes to the Victoria theatre Thursday, June 13, in the Broadway musical success, "Over the River," his seven famous "Kiddies" will also be very much in evidence. Eddie Foy took a flyer into vaudeville for a few weeks last summer, using his large family as a chorus, and so aptly did they prove the old adage, "Like father, like son" (and daughters too), that the Orpheum circuit of theatres made Eddie Foy a princely offer to tour with his children over their chain of theatres. However, Mr. Foy's producers, Warba & Luncheon, retailed and made him an even more tempting offer with the result that to-day Eddie Foy along Broadway ranks as the highest salaried musical comedy star in the world.

The contract obliges the firm to have the building completed within eighteen months from this date. THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT
By RUTH CAMERON

As we were passing through the business district about half past five the other-afternoon, we ran into a crowd of factory girls who were just getting out from their work. Some of them passed quietly out and down the street, losing themselves in the crowd; but others rushed noisily forth, chewing gum and talking at the top of their lungs, and took boisterous possession of the sidewalk, walking three or four abreast, crowding, people into the street and generally attracting attention. One group of them actually hop-skipped for several blocks.

The Author-Man's wife was with us, and I think I shall never forget the look of disdain and disgust she turned on the three girls who were skipping. She didn't actually draw back her skirts, but the expression of her face looked as if she were doing that. "How can they make such fools of themselves," she said sharply to her companion. "Look at that creature chewing gum; I wish she could see how disgusting she looks. And hear them talk! Such rough, unpleasant voices, and such language! I'll never get caught down here at this time of night again!" And she questioned her face to get away from "the creatures."

The Lady-Who-Always-Knows-Somehow was walking with me. As she stepped back from the street into which she had been crowded by the hop-skippers, she turned to me with a beautiful smile. "Do you know what they make me think of," she said. "Of a line in one of our First Reader poems—'Glad with the freedom of school let out.' No wonder they hop and skip. Poor things, how good it must seem to them to get out into the air; it must be like escaping from prison."

How anyone can dare to feel as the Author-Man's wife did is something I cannot understand.

And how anyone can help feeling at least a little of the divine sympathy which lit the Lady's face into momentary beauty is equally incomprehensible.

How can you or I or anyone dare to feel disdain for the loud, cheapest, most vulgar girl in all the city when we do not know what we might have been if we had had her opportunities—or rather her lack of them.

John Wesley one day saw a drunken man reeling along the sidewalk, and to the astonishment of his companions who drew away in righteous disgust he said, "There, but for the grace of God, goes John Wesley." I think the father of Methodism never preached a greater sermon.

Suppose those girls did hop-skip and chew gum, and shout out along phrases to each other, and crowd people off the sidewalk, and wear loud and ugly clothes? Do you dare to say that if you had been born and bred as they were you would have done differently?

And if you need any further stimulus to tolerance, please think of some of the members of our so-called best society. Think of their loud voices, their vulgar and even indecent clothes, their bad manners and their selfish indifference to the rights of others, and then think of their vast opportunities; and instead of blaming the "lower class" girl because she is no better, I am sure you will be ready to praise her because she is no worse.

PARTNERS
By GEORGE MATHEV' ADAMS

Marriage should be first, last and all the time a Co-partnership. It is fifty-fifty clear through or else one is taking more than the other gets, in which case neither secures the highest percentage of returns in Happiness.

A Partnership is no Partnership unless there is equal contribution according to ability.

A business Partnership is of the greatest value where there is individuality—where there are distinctly separate ABILITIES. The Partnership between a man and woman in Marriage should be exactly the same. There is a division of Responsibility. For Marriage in its highest form of Success is where each Partner makes good in Responsibility.

Each Partner should be glad and willing to share equally in Responsibility.

A business Partnership would not last long with each Partner assuming the duties of the other. Nor would it last long if one Partner should begin

A Demonstration Interesting to Women Is Now Going On In Our Store on the Subject of Pond's Tampons

Pond's Tampons constitute a form of treatment which has been universally employed and endorsed by leading physicians. For over six years the medical profession has demonstrated the power of this simple common-sense form of treatment to relieve and, in many cases completely cure, those distressing headaches, backaches and general nervous breakdowns peculiar to women.

The time has come when the originators of POND'S TAMPONS feel absolutely justified in their decision to place this wonderful system within the reach of every wife, mother and daughter. They believe that when modest women realize how much of unnecessary suffering can be prevented, how many cases of terror-inspiring surgical operations can be avoided, and how many women can be restored and kept in a glorious, vibrant, beauty-bringing condition of health by this simple, inexpensive, painless home treatment, that a supply of Pond's Tampons will be kept in every home in the land.

Do not fail to visit this demonstration. It lasts all this week. If you cannot visit us during the demonstration, ask some one in our Drug Department to give you a booklet of interesting information about Pond's Tampons.

Demonstration on first floor, near elevator.

A MOTHER'S PLAIN.

To the Editor:—Would it not be doing a great kindness to visitors who are expected during carnival week to insert in various papers, that no bugles are allowed on cars?

Many men will bring wives and children for the week, so it is only fair to let them know they will have to carry their babies wherever they go.

I am quite sure the carnival committee did not look forward to such an inconsiderate act on the part of the B. C. E. R. Company.

MEAN, UNFAIR, UNMANLY.

To the Editor:—Do you think the Premier really believes that "no one now pays any attention to the mean, unfair, unmanly things which fill the columns of the Liberal press," at least those of his government for which he is responsible?

One Sample.—Mr. Parker Williams, M. L. A., informed me in January last that some one assured him the Premier would answer any education questions I would send to him. If he had not got this assurance he would have placed these questions before the legislature. On 29th January I accordingly sent ten questions to the Premier. His secretary informed me on February first that they "had been referred to the minister of education to deal with." On 4th February, instead of answers to those questions, I received a misstatement of facts from the superintendent evading an answer.

The Ten Questions:

1. Did His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, indicate the manner in which he wished his first 10 bronze medals to be distributed amongst the school districts of this province in 1912?
2. If yes, what was it?
3. How many pupils passed the High school entrance examination in the school year 1912, (a) in South Vancouver school district, (b) in Spallumcheen, (c) in North Vancouver City, (d) in Vernon, (e) in Saanich?
4. How many credit marks did the best scholar get at the High school entrance examinations in Spallumcheen school district in the school year (a) 1908, (b) 1909?
5. How many credit marks did the scholar get at the High school entrance examination in Spallumcheen school district, to whom the Governor-General's bronze medal was given (a) in 1908, (b) in 1909.
6. How many credit marks did the best scholar get at the High school entrance examination in the school year 1908, (a) in the province, (b) in the city of Enderby, (c) in the city of Trull?
7. How many pupils passed the High school entrance examination in the school year 1908, (a) in Enderby, (b) in Trull?
8. How many pupils passed the High school entrance examination in the school year 1909, (a) in the city of Cumberland, (b) in the city of Enderby?
9. How many pupils passed the High school entrance examination in the school year 1910, (a) in Spallumcheen, (b) in North Vancouver city?
10. How many pupils passed the High school entrance examination in the school years 1907 and 1908 respectively (a) in Golden, (b) in Spallumcheen, (c) in Chilliwack rural, (d) in Chilliwack city?

The Misstatements.

Education Office, Victoria, Feb. 4, 1913.
J. N. Muir, Esq., Box 374, Vancouver, B. C.

Sir,—Your letter of the 29th ult., addressed to the honorable the Premier, has been handed into this office.

I have carefully gone over the several questions which you submit to the Premier and am of the opinion that nearly all these questions can be answered by reference to the last Annual School Report, a copy of which I am forwarding to your address under separate cover. I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ALEXANDER ROBINSON,

Supt. of Education.

Premier Involved.—On 7th February I sent the Premier a copy of the above letter, pointing out that it was impossible to find the answers as indicated, also suggesting sarcastically that the pages be mentioned on which the answers were to be found, I have not yet received an answer.

The Scapegoat.—Can you imagine anything meaner, more unfair, or more unmanly than the act of the Premier in permitting this official to be the scapegoat for his government?

Insult.—Is it not an insult to the trustees, teachers and pupils of the public schools to permit a superintendent, guilty of such conduct to be in charge? How can the Premier expect them to have anything but contempt not only for such a superintendent, but also for the Premier, who lauds and praises him?

IMMIGRANT'S LAMENT.

To the Editor:—
"Ill fares the land, and to boding grief a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

Thus wrote the Irish poet, Oliver Goldsmith, many years ago, when he saw his country pass into the hands of the English landlords. To explain myself I will give you a sample. The Duke of Leinster's estate in the county Kildare comprised 80,000 acres, and the Marquis of Lansdowne (they thought of nothing but land), one of whose progenitors was chief lieutenant in Cromwell's army of plunderers, possessed an estate in every county in Ireland save one, and there are 32 counties in it. This was the feudal system, and it is that system that the British Liberal Government has been and is to-day breaking up and giving the land back to the people. The same land plundering system is now going on in British Columbia, only in a more gentle way, which will some day also have to be broken up and the land given to the people. Mr. Editor, you have read the Irish Immigrant's Lament to his country when leaving its shores, and he has another lament coming to him now when he reaches British Columbia, for when he applies at the land office for a potato patch he is told, "Land all gone," but you may apply in another quarter, so the land agent of the duke of this or the marquis of that, or the land and timber and coal baron, who has offices in Seattle, or maybe the C. P. R. will let you have an inside lot on reduced terms, as they got all your money for bringing you out here. Kind reader, is this picture overdrawn? 'Tis true our Government, which has been in power for the last ten years, filled an empty treasury, but at what an awful cost, for it was no sooner filled than it was emptied again into the laps of wealthy railroad corporations, whose dividends are now so large that they don't consider it good policy to declare them all. Is this true or not of a subject that concerns every man, woman and child in British Columbia? Young men of the coming generation, which will you have, the Old Country feudal system, government by the classes, with slums for masses, or your country ruled by the people and for the people? If you want the latter, put a Government in power, chronicling the length and breadth of Canada.

ORIENTAL MENACE.

To the Editor,—Is it not high time that the white wage-earners of Canada united in a sane effort to combat the pernicious influence that at present appertains through the employment of Chinese and Japs in preference to white men?

We certainly cannot blame the Chinese and Japs for coming here when they are received with open arms by the employers, welcomed by them and employed by them.

It is time that the working class realized that the easiest way to make it possible for them to find jobs without coming into competition with yellow labor is to use the same cunning, shrewd methods that are used by the employers, who can always find an excuse for employing Chinese and Japs. Restaurant keepers claim that they cannot afford to hire white help. Some claim that all white cooks drink. In fact, most of the employers of yellow labor claim that they employ Chinese and Japs in preference to white men for that reason. Yet the fact remains that in other parts of the world mills and factories are still running, vegetables are being cooked, fish is being caught and food is being cooked without the use or help of Orientals.

The fact of the matter is that they are employed simply and solely on account of being able to live on less food, sleep in smaller space and being able therefore to work for less wages.

The working class should use the Orientals as much as possible for their own gain, deal off them whenever possible, encourage them in all ways and means to open up more stores, to operate mills of their own, patronize them in every way possible.

Then, and only then, will the workers be able to hurt the employers—in the only way possible, through their pockets, for when you take money from that class of people who employ Oriental labor, with the idea of largess, dividends, you tear their hearts and they sweat blood.

The worker's fight is not against

Japs and Chinese, but against those who employ them, and love them with the same fierce love that they do a dollar.

On my way to see the new Empress of Russia this morning I was thinking of the great strides made by British Columbia in the last few years, but the position of the workers was brought back to my mind with painful force when I saw the hordes of yellow men upon her decks, and I realized that they would eventually be used by the employers to the detriment of white labor. The majority of them may or may not have been students. If they were, what an influence they will have when they return to China, educating their brothers and cousins there, to understand the glorious possibilities of employment for Chinese in British Columbia.

The business men and merchants of British Columbia will eventually wake up to the fact that they themselves are slowly being driven from the Pacific, as well as the farmers and laborers, and it will soon be too late to legislate against them, as they will by that time be in a position to dictate to the white man.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

In the year after Lord Selkirk's return from Canada, and before that in which he died, one of his friends, Lady Katherine Falkett, in distress with regard to the misrepresentations of that philanthropic nobleman's character, appealed to his old college friend, Sir Walter Scott, to place the matter fairly before the world. But "the great magician," who had been suffering from a severe and most painful illness, was obliged to decline the task, and on June 10, 1819 (the very day, by the way, on which his "Bride of Lammermoor" and the "Legend of Montrose" were published) he thus wrote to Lady Katherine: "The bad news which your favor conveyed with respect to my dear and esteemed friends, Lord and Lady Selkirk, did not greatly tend to raise my spirits, lowered as they were by extreme exhaustion." He felt unable then "to undertake a thing of such consequence to Lord Selkirk as a publication of his case," though he appreciated warmly the earl's "ardent wish to do good," and the "sound policy" of his colonizing scheme; adding "I never knew in my life a man of more generous and disinterested disposition, or one whose talents and perseverance were better qualified to bring great and national schemes to a conclusion."

Montreal has been the scene of many riots due to religious differences, one of which occurred 60 years ago to-day, June 10, 1853, following an anti-papal lecture by Alessandro Gavazzi, an Italian ex-priest. A number of people were killed and injured before the authorities succeeded in restoring order. Gavazzi's attacks on the Church of Rome were bitterly resented by the French Canadians, and on several occasions in his tour of Canada he narrowly escaped being mobbed. Gavazzi was a native of Bologna, and became a monk of the Barnabite order at the age of 16. He became known as the Peter the Hermit of the Italian national crusade, and Pope Pius IX. sanctioned his political crusade. On the fall of the short-lived Roman republic, Gavazzi escaped to England. He renounced the Roman Catholic church, and was thereafter its bitter opponent and critic. His tour of the United States and Canada in 1853 was not very successful, and while he had many supporters among the Protestants, he was denounced by the Catholics as a renegade and as an "unfrocked priest." He died in Rome in 1859.

Other religious clashes in Montreal have included the Galtford riots of 1875, and a number of Orange riots, notably that of 1877.

Father Jacques Marquette, the French missionary who had come to Canada to labor among the Indians, on this date in 1673, started down the Wisconsin river on the memorable voyage that was to result in his discovery of the Mississippi.

SCRAP BOOK.

Jews to Celebrate the Festival of Pentecost.

Jewish people of this and other cities are preparing for the celebration of the feast of Pentecost, which begins at sunset to-morrow, and among orthodox Jews, continues two days. The word "Pentecost" signifies the fiftieth, and the name was applied to the feast because it comes fifty days after the feast of the Passover. The common Old Testament name of the festival, however is the "Feast of Weeks," because it fell seven weeks after the offering of the first sheaf of the harvest at the Feast of Unleavened Bread. The Day of First Fruits is another name given to the observance, because originally leavened bread was presented at the sanctuary as the first fruits of the new cereal store. In accordance with a later tendency to substitute historical for economic explanations of the great feasts, Pentecost came to be regarded as the feast commemorative of the Sinaiic legislation of Moses. Thus "Shvuoth"—to give the festival its Hebrew name—has a triple significance. Most reform churches confirm their children on this day, and there are many other interesting observances connected with the festival.

Like all other Jewish feasts, Shvuoth has its special foods consecrated to that day. "Blinzos" are as closely associated with Pentecost as "matzos" with the Passover and "homentashen" with Purim. "Blinzos" are a variety of pancakes, with a mixture of spices, cheese and raisins in the centre.

In Deuteronomy Pentecost, like the other two great annual Jewish feasts, is a pilgrimage feast, but, unlike the others, it lasted but one day, agreeably to its character as merely the solemn closing day of harvest time. Like the other great feasts, it came to be celebrated by fixed special sacrifices. The amount of these was differently expressed in the earlier and later priestly law, and the discrepancy was met by adding the two lists. The later Jews also extended the one day of the feast to two, in accordance with the Talmudic law which states that because of the discrepancies of the calendars at that time, all holidays were to be kept two days, in order to insure one of them being the right day. Orthodox Jews still conform to this law, and it is only in reform synagogues that one day is observed.

wanderer on the face of the earth, and who is chiefly famous as the author of "Home, Sweet Home," was born in New York 121 years ago to-day. At eighteen he became an actor, and just a century ago, in 1813, went to England, where he was billed at the Drury Lane theatre in London as the "American Roscius." It was in this year, when Payne was afflicted with homesickness for his native America, that he wrote "Home, Sweet Home," and 1813 is therefore the centenary of that most famous of songs in praise of home. "Home, Sweet Home," did not attain any particular popularity until ten years later, when it was incorporated in Payne's musical play, "Clari-biography of Lord Beaconsfield, upon which Mr. Monypenny was engaged at the time of his death. Much hitherto unpublished matter relating to Disraeli will be included in the volume.

Mr. Buckle was born near Bath on June 10, 1854, and was the son of a clergyman. He graduated from Oxford with high honors, and was admitted as a barrister at Lincoln's Inn, but never practiced the legal profession. His long connection with the Times, Britain's most famous journalistic institution, commenced in 1880 and continued for thirty years, a large part of that time as editor-in-chief.

While the "mad women," by reason of their militant tactics, got the greater part of newspaper publicity, England has a large and influential body of conservative or "constitutional" suffragists. The leader of these is Mrs. Millicent Garrett Fawcett, widow of the Rt. Hon. Henry Fawcett, postmaster-general. Mrs. Fawcett will celebrate her sixty-sixth birthday to-morrow, and will be the recipient of congratulations from the thousands of members of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies, of which she is the president. Mrs. Fawcett is a severe critic of the militants, and declares that they should be permitted to starve themselves. "Militancy has already worked incalculable harm to the suffrage cause," declared Mrs. Fawcett recently. "Each particular act of violence further postpones the day of victory. We have done all in our power to end the mad crusade, but the participants seem utterly deaf to reason."

Mrs. Fawcett is an author of exceptional ability, her published works including "Some Eminent Women of Our Time," "Life of Queen Victoria," "Life of Sir William Molesworth," "Five Famous French Women," and "Tales in Political Economy." She holds an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from St. Andrew's University.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

George Earle Buckle, one of the most distinguished of British journalists, will begin his sixtieth year to-day. For over a quarter of a century he was the editor of the London Times, succeeding Thomas Chenerly as the chief of the Thunderer's staff in 1884. Since his retirement from active journalism Mr. Buckle has been travelling in various parts of the world. Lately he undertook the task of completing a biography of Lord Beaconsfield, upon which Mr. Monypenny was engaged at the time of his death. Much hitherto unpublished matter relating to Disraeli will be included in the volume.

PROMISED TO EJECT ALDERMAN CUTHBERT

Heated Discussion at City Council of Financial Situation; Many Personalities

FINANCE COMMITTEE OBJECT OF CRITICISM

Special Meeting to Take Up Money Matters to Be Called When All Facts Are Got

Alderman Cuthbert and Mayor Morby each told the other last night that statements he made were absolutely untrue and each told the other that he was not a financial expert.

"Why, you never had $1,000 in your life until you were mayor, at least not in this city, anyway," declared Alderman Cuthbert.

"What Alderman Cuthbert knows about finance is well exemplified by the report he brought in to try and raise $15,000 on an 8 per cent loan," stated the mayor.

"You waste the time of this council bringing in all these silly rot suggestions for a grand stand play," declared Alderman Cuthbert.

"Come to order," warned the mayor. "I am in order; I am discussing finance," retorted the alderman.

"No, you are not; you are discussing politics," declared the mayor. "and you must come to order at once."

"I'll discuss what I like," "No you won't, or I'll have you removed from the council chamber."

CELEBRATE SHOVUOTH

Feast of Weeks Commemorated by Jewish People From June 11.

The feast of weeks in Hebrew, Shavuoth—will be ushered in to-morrow. The Jewish people in this city will celebrate two days. Rabbi Dr. E. Friedlander of the congregation Emanuel, will perform the ceremony at 8 p. m.

This feast is a Mosaic institution. It is called the feast of Harvest, the feast of weeks, the feast of ingathering, and the day of the first fruit. Its Biblical character corresponds to our Thanksgiving Day, as it is a feast in which praises and thanks are offered to God for the plenty of the year.

In the Talmudical time this feast was also connected with the giving of the decalogue. This holiday is considered as the season when the children of Israel discarded idolatry and became true adherers of Jehovah; hence the reading of Ruth on this holiday, which tells of Ruth's conversion to Judaism.

The synagogues are decorated with flowers and trees. In the orthodox congregations the first night of this feast is spent in reading portions of the Bible and Talmud in commemoration of the delivery of the written and oral law on this day.

"LENA RIVERS" PLEASES.

Williams Players Seen to Advantage in Latest Production.—Well Received.

"Lena Rivers," presented by the Princess Williams Company, was successful at last evening, met with a cordial reception. Though the play is drawn from one of the older books, the characters are not old-fashioned. The dialogue as delivered by the players found its chief appeal in its simplicity and naturalness.

AMUNDSEN SPEEDS STEFANSSON ON WAY

Norwegian Explorer's Scientific Equipment Will Be Used by Canadian Leader

Vilhjalmer Stefansson, explorer, who is now in Victoria making the last preparations for departure to the frozen north, has received a message of good will, congratulations and best wishes from his illustrious compeer, Raouid Amundsen, the discoverer of the South Pole.

A kindly act by Amundsen has made the early outfitting of the scientific expedition a possibility. The Norwegian has allowed Stefansson to take on his expedition the instruments provided for his own expedition of 1914.

It is stated that Stefansson himself will not sail with the Karuk when she leaves here for Nome in the next few days, but will travel by the ordinary mail steamer, from Seattle and will join Captain Bartlett at Nome. It is possible also that a number of the scientific staff will accompany him.

Canadian Garrison Artillery, 5th Regt. Victoria, B. C.

Recently an organ recital was held on the instrument at St. Hyacinthe by Amedeo Tremblay, the well known organist of Quebec.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated.—Rev. E. G. Miller and Mrs. Miller on Saturday afternoon celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding day at the St. Barnabas rectory, by holding an at home which was largely attended by members of the Ladies' Aid Society, the Bible class, the Sunday school members, and members of the congregation. Archdeacon Scrievan, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, presented Mr. and Mrs. Miller with a handsome china dinner set, while Mrs. Miller's class and the Bible class also presented beautiful mementoes of the occasion.

Weather Influences Tides.—Owing to the prevailing cool weather, which has prevailed in the interior regions of the province more particularly, the usual high tide season connected with the first quarter of the new moon, at the depth of water at Lytton (some 100 miles above the tide-affected area) last Tuesday was 32 ft. 7 in.

Quarantine Commission.—The next sitting of the Quarantine Commission will take place at the William Head station on Friday next. Up to the present time every session has been held in the courthouse, but on this occasion Commissioner Moore has deemed it expedient to hold the inquiry on the ground.

Sketching Club.—There will be a meeting of all members of the Island Arts Club interested in the sketching afternoons at 5.45 on Friday next at the residence of Lady Crease, 1201 Fort Street. Those who are unable to attend the meeting but wish to join the club should send their names to Miss M. Kitto, as it is necessary to form some rough estimate of the number of intending members.

Island Development League.—The Vancouver Island Development League received a big budget of English inquiries this morning, among them being correspondents at Beaton Hill and Meanwood (Leeds), Batley (York), Clapham, Common and Hampstead (London), Manchester, and the Orkneys. A young man of 18 working on a farm at Llwynswil, Merionethshire, North Wales, writes for particulars of possible openings in this country for himself and his sisters, and a dairyman at Saskatoon asks for information as to the possibilities of the Island from a dairyman's standpoint.

MADE PRESENTATIONS.

Pleasant Events Took Place at Wesley Epworth League Meeting.

The members of Wesley Epworth League of Christian Endeavor held a very interesting missionary meeting Monday evening. Mrs. Johnston gave an address on Consecration to Missions, after which Rev. Wood, on behalf of the trustees of the church, presented Mr. and Mrs. C. Woolley and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Brantley, with bibles, their double wedding being the first ceremony performed in the new church. He also presented Miss C. Robinson with a very pretty brooch, a token of appreciation from the friends and officers of the Sunday school, for services rendered in connection with the primary class, which position was resigned on account of removal from this part of the city. Five new names were added to the active membership list.

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

New Monthly Journal of Vancouver Will Tell of Development of Province.

A new illustrated monthly Journal, giving a full description of the industrial development of British Columbia, will make its initial appearance about June 15 in Vancouver, the publishers intending to cover all subjects as their importance demands. The publication will not be devoted to any specific trade or any particular industry, but will contain information of value to every man interested in the upbuilding of the province. One of the features of the policy of the magazine is that it will urge loyalty to British Columbia resources, and will advocate the purchase of products made in this province.

CARNIVAL CAMPAIGN PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Sum of $6,000 Collected Yesterday; Lantern Slides and Indian Marriage to Feature

Although through some misunderstanding among the collectors who commenced their carnival campaign yesterday, all did not report at headquarters last evening, already more than $22,000 has been collected. The sum of $6,000 was collected yesterday, and it is hoped and expected that something in the neighborhood of this amount will be collected to-day. All collectors, however, have been requested henceforth to turn in their reports not later than 6 o'clock every evening. In order that the secretary may know daily how much is collected. The sum of $40,000 is being aimed for, and it is earnestly hoped that the citizens of Victoria will accomplish this by responding generously to the appeal for funds. The campaign will continue until the complete list of non-subscribers has been crossed off.

The secretary has also issued instructions that all cheques must be made out to the Victoria Citizens Committee, in order to avoid any difficulty. Preparations for the carnival continue to develop daily. A set of lantern slides is being prepared by the committee to illustrate the history of the Island, and these will be shown nightly on a screen in some prominent position in Government street every night during Carnival Week. The old burnt-out area on Fort street has been suggested as a suitable place for this, and the committee will consider the suggestion at a future meeting.

A special committee has been appointed to witness the first rehearsal of the Indian pantomime marriage of their race, with a view of having this picturesque and interesting ceremony postponed until Carnival Week, when it might be witnessed by visitors to the city, and form an entertaining part of the week's programme.

The secretary of the committee has received a communication from G. F. Bell, the newly-appointed passenger agent of the G. T. P., stating that the company, in spite of its limited steamship service, has decided to contribute something to Carnival Week. The committee also anticipates receiving something substantial from the various Northern and other organizations of the kind.

Many have not yet sent in any intimation in writing about floats which they have announced their intention of entering in the street parade. Fifteen have already definitely sent the necessary particulars, and it is anticipated that the various labor organizations of the city will add about thirty floats to this number.

NEEDS NEW AMBULANCE

Isolation Hospital Vehicle Likely to Collapse Says Health Officer.

The purchase of a new ambulance for the Isolation hospital is recommended by Dr. G. A. B. Hall, M. H. O., in his monthly report to the city council. The present one, says the doctor, is repaired a number of times, and is in such state that it might collapse some time with a patient in it and cause a serious accident. He suggests a motor ambulance as a substitute, possibly a chassis on which the present body could be fitted.

Regarding the smoke and soot nuisance, Dr. Hall proposes that a by-law be passed and that a certain apparatus in use in Manchester be introduced out here. It is not only an abator of this nuisance, but a fuel-saver, and is comparatively inexpensive.

BILL WELL RECEIVED.

Programme at Empress Theatre Has Several Numbers of Merit.

"The Son of Solomon," a sketch by Aaron Hoffman, presented by Thomas Francis, Miss Margot Williams and company, was a pronounced success in the bill offered at the Empress theatre yesterday. The story is that of the homecoming of a wayward son and his reclamation. The work of Hugh Herbert as the father was one of the outstanding features of the sketch. Thomas Francis at first made the son all that a son should not be, and later all that a son should be. Miss Williams played the sister with success. The work of Miss Dolly and Charles Mack, on violin and banjo, was pleasing. Elliott and West gained some effects in their dancing act that were unusual. Their costumes created humor. Thomas Wilton and Robert Merrick offered a gymnastic act on the bars into which some good turns entered. As they have been since introduced, the Edison moving talking pictures were a feature of the programme.

CASH, NOT PROMISES.

Really Agent's Duty to His Client is to Find Purchaser Who Pays, Judge Says.

Another real estate commission case was heard in county court this forenoon, when Beckett, Major & Company sued John Hay, Metcoshin, for the sum of $250, alleged to be due as commission on the sale of his property at that place. The property was listed with the plaintiff firm through Oliphant & Shaw, real estate agents, and they found a prospective purchaser in the person of a man named King, who paid $100 on a purchase price of $10,500. He afterwards returned to the east, and alleged as the reason for not proceeding with the purchase that there had been misrepresentation by the vendor.

After hearing the evidence, for the plaintiff firm Judge Lammpan expressed the opinion that nothing had been shown to prove the alleged misrepresentation, and the case was simply one where the purchaser had not gone ahead with his agreement to buy. A real estate agent could not claim commission unless he found a purchaser who was ready to do something more than sign an agreement to buy, what the owner wanted was a purchaser who would pay him his price, and then the agent could claim to have earned his commission.

Frank Higgins, for the plaintiffs, was given a delay to submit cases bearing on failure to complete the purchase as the result of action on the part of the vendor. E. L. Tait, of McPhillips & Tait, appeared for the defendant.

CHICAGO WHEAT HAS NEARLY CENT BREAK

Oklahoma Crop Estimated Light and as Low as Twenty-Five Million Bushels

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.) Chicago, June 10.—Action in wheat the first half of the session was disappointing to bull interests and despite a moderate buying power at the opening the market broke sharply to sell near a cent. Reaction was almost as quick, so that last prices compared with only 1/4 per cent. loss from yesterday for December and September and 1/2 for July. Mr. Inglis declares that over a large part of Oklahoma 25 per cent. of the grain will be so light as to blow away from the thresher and estimated the crop of that state as low as twelve million bushels. Lytle and Prouty repeat the estimates on Oklahoma harvest to fifteen million or under. Snow finds some splendid prospects in northern tier of counties in Kansas but concedes that the balance of the state is badly hit. This sort of news was over a little by some additional rains over the southwest.

LARISCH TO TELL OF MORE SCANDALS

Promises "Truth" About Suicide of King Ludwig of Bavaria II.

London, June 10.—More secrets of European royalty are promised by the Countess Marie Larisch. The attitude of the Austrian Imperial House toward her book, "My Past," containing her version of the tragedy of Meyerling, has influenced the decision that the Countess might as well be at odds with all the family as with a part of it, so she is now brushing up her recollections of Bavarian court scandals, particularly the tragedy of Lake Starnberg, where King Ludwig II was drowned, for publication purposes.

Evelyn Nash, the London publisher, who has recently issued several memoirs of the kind, notably those of Princess Louise of Saxony, will handle the new Larisch contributions to the chronicle of European royalty, provided all the statements by the Countess are backed up by documentary evidence. Countess Larisch declares that she can prove that the insanity of King Ludwig was only an excuse given for his supposed suicide, and that the real reason was the discovery of an Austro-Bavarian intrigue against Germany.

The Countess Larisch recently departed from London for Switzerland, where she will meet a former high Bavarian court official, whose testimony in written documents will form the basis of her book. She also promises to reveal much additional inside history of the romantic family now on the Bavarian throne.

A representative of Mr. Nash is going to Switzerland shortly to look over evidence before deciding as to publication. It is said that the same publisher has arranged for another volume of memoirs, to come out in the autumn, that will be awaited eagerly, for the author is New York's own Frederick Townsend Martin, who is now working with two secretaries five hours daily in his suite at the Berkeley hotel dictating copy. He has not decided on the title, but says that the book will contain many inside stories of New York and London society. It is to have personal anecdotes of King Edward and of leading English hostesses, together with a comprehensive picture of English country life, a description of the great fetes on the Scottish coast, and a full account of the Bradley Martin ball at the Waldorf hotel some years ago, giving the justification for that expensive affair in the placing of New York at the top notch in the social whirl.

Mr. Martin keeps his manuscript carefully locked in his suite, and therefore suffered no loss when burglars looted the hotel safe on Wednesday night. Mr. Martin was not notified by the management of the hotel the morning after the burglary, and he was lunching at the Ritz with a party of society folk when, knowing that his headquarters were at the Berkeley, they asked him for a complete account of the burglary.

Mr. Martin hurried over from the Berkeley to the Ritz, where he was met by the manager of the hotel, who had been notified by the police of the burglary.

WAR WILL COST GERMANY $2,600,000,000 A YEAR

Berlin, June 10.—Captain Henke, of the German general staff, has been studying the financial end of possible war, and has made public his deductions. With 3,000,000 men in the field, he estimates that the fatherland would spend $2,600,000,000 a year—more than twice the present national debt. This stupendous figure represents nearly 37 per cent. of the earning capacity of the entire nation on a peace footing, Capt. Henke estimates.

This conclusion is reached by comparing the costs of the Franco-Prussian and Russo-Japanese wars. In the Franco-Prussian war it cost Germany $1,400,000,000 a year to keep its forces on the field; Russia paid $233 a man a day during the Manchurian campaign. Germany would spend as much as Russia, Capt. Henke reckons, but would be able to afford it. The earnings of the German people, Capt. Henke places at $7,140,000. This is in times of peace. What they would be in times of war, he does not estimate. He takes from the workshops to the field he does not estimate.

Mr. Martin was not notified by the management of the hotel the morning after the burglary, and he was lunching at the Ritz with a party of society folk when, knowing that his headquarters were at the Berkeley, they asked him for a complete account of the burglary. Mr. Martin hurried over from the Berkeley to the Ritz, where he was met by the manager of the hotel, who had been notified by the police of the burglary.

ESQUIMALT SEWER BY-LAW IS PASSED

Council Decides to Borrow $400,000 for the Construction of a System

What constitutes the most important action yet taken by the municipality of Esquimalt occupied the attention of the council last evening, when the sewers law by-law was passed.

The agitation for the incorporation of the district was entirely based on the sense of the people of the need for an organized system of sewers which would drain the large and rapidly-growing residential area on that peninsula. After the failure of the drainage commissioners appointed under the terms of the legislation of 1910 to finance the plan, the agitation became more acute, and ultimately the government acceded to the request, incorporating the district as a district municipality a year ago.

Since then the need for a sewer system has been kept in mind by the council, and one of the first things done when an engineer was appointed was the ordering of estimates of the cost of a comprehensive scheme for the drainage of the district. This was presented to the council some time ago by C. H. Topp, the municipal engineer, and a by-law was prepared which has been under consideration for the past three or four meetings.

The services of J. S. Floyd were called in by the councillors to advise them as to the merits of the various terms of debentures, and to calculate the amount of taxation it would be necessary to impose in order to meet the charges at the various terms.

Last evening Mr. Floyd met the council and laid this information before the members. His figures were based on the borrowing of $400,000 at a five per cent. rate, and on an estimated frontage of sixteen odd miles. The frontage rate he found necessary was 16 7-10 cents if the loan is raised on thirty-year debentures, 15 cents if forty-year debentures, or 13 9-10 cents if fifty-year debentures.

There was a lengthy and careful debate on the matter, the idea being to adopt a plan which would best command itself to the electors when they are called on to vote on the by-law. At first the council was in favor of

IMPORTANT BY-LAWS FINALLY PASSED

Oak Bay Council Appropriations Contain One of $5,000 for Fire Alarms

The final passing of the tax rate and expenditure by-laws was accomplished at last night's meeting of the Oak Bay council. The revenue required for the year 1913 is $65,000 as against $47,000 in the estimates for last year. Though the required revenue is $18,000 more than last year, yet the higher assessment has enabled a rate to be struck which is about one and a half mills less than that of last year.

The gross rate is 13.3 mills and the net 11.7 mills. The net rate is obtained by deducting the rebate of 1.6 mills to which the general rate is subject. The expenditure will be met as follows:

General Rate ..... 9.6 mills
School Rate ..... 2.9 mills
Debt Rate ..... 0.8 mills

13.3 mills

Among the items contained in the expenditure by-law is to be noticed particularly an appropriation of $5,000 for the installation of a system of fire alarms throughout the district. In the past Oak Bay has not been over well equipped for fire protection and it is granted on all sides that the proposed expenditure is a very wise one.

COMPLAIN ABOUT SCHOOL.
Northeast Citizens League Says University School is Fouling Creek; Epidemic Feared.

Complaint that the sewage discharge from the University school was fouling the creek in the northeast portion of the city was made to the city council last night in a letter from James F. Wilson, secretary of the Northeast Citizens' League. The residents of that quarter fear an epidemic of infectious disease from the foul state of this creek and the letter informed the council that as the source of the contamination was outside the city limits the provincial health officer had been communicated with.

The letter merely asked for the support of the council in pressing for a remedy. The sewers committee will deal with the letter.

DYSPEPTICS WARNED BY GERMAN PHYSICIAN

Prof. Riegel, World-Famous Authority on Stomach Diseases, Points Out Lurking Danger.

Frans Riegel, Professor of Clinical Medicine in the University of Giessen, pronounced the world's greatest authority on diseases of the stomach, makes the positive statement that peptic sin must not be used in treating acidity of the stomach. Millions of people are taking all sorts of dyspepsia tablets because they contain pepsin which affords slight temporary relief. But every dose contributes to serious harm in time. What is needed is something to neutralize the excess acid. The best thing for that purpose is ordinary Riegel's Bismarck Magnesia. You can get it at any drug store for a few cents. Take a half teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after each meal. You will get immediate and complete relief with no danger or bad after effects. Authorities agree that acidity is the cause of nearly every form of stomach disorder, and if not checked it is likely to lead to stomach ulcers and cancer.

FAVORABLY RECEIVED.
Mayor's Commission Proposals Read at Oak Bay Council Meeting.

Mayor Morley's scheme to establish a Greater Victoria Development and Improvement Commission was outlined to the Oak Bay council last evening by Reeve Rattenbury, who in his capacity as member of the inter-municipal committee received the document from the mayor. The letter from His Worship read as follows:

"Following up the suggestions made at the first meeting of the Inter-Municipal committee, I am moving for a permanent improvement commission for the city of Victoria in co-operation with the adjoining municipalities.

"Enclosed find copy of my recommendations to the city council in order that you may be posted, and if you so desire, may move in the matter either in your council or in the Inter-Municipal committee."

A resolution was passed to the effect that the Oak Bay council favorably receive the mayor's letter and the matter was held over for more lengthy consideration.

The amount of British capital invested in Bolivia is over $6,000,000.

ADVERTISING CASE.
City Firm Did Not Get Space Contracted for; Action to Recover Price Dismissed.

An advertising contract was the subject of an action in the county court yesterday afternoon, when Judge Lampan disposed of the suit of the National Advertising Agency of Vancouver against Fitzpatrick & O'Connell, the well known local firm of clothiers and gentlemen's furnishers.

The agency sought to recover the sum of $120, which it was alleged was due on a contract made by the Victoria firm for publicity, in the form of an advertisement in the "Crystal Theatre."

For the defendants it was proved that when the contract was entered into it was a specific space on the curtain, which was designated on a plan made part of the contract. The evidence showed that this space had not been given to the firm, and the court held that the contract had not been carried out by the plaintiff agency and that therefore they had no ground for action against the defendant firm. The case was dismissed.
