Secretary to the Council:

Miss J. E. Brown,

Man cannot propose a higher or holier object for his study than Education.—PLATO.

Three Years' Course of Study leading to:

- The Teacher's Certificate of the Charlotte Mason Foundation, as well as
- The Teacher's Certificate of the University of Manchester.

The principal study is education, its methods, principles and history. Modern psychology is considered in close connection with Charlotte Mason's educational philosophy.

"Education is the science of relations . . . what concerns us personally is the fact that we have relations with what there is in the present, and with what there has been in the past, with what is above us and about us; and that fulness of living and serviceableness depend for each of us upon how far we apprehend these relationships and of how many of them we lay hold."

("Home and School Education," by C. M. Mason).

With these principles in view, the course includes:—

- Bible Study
- English Language and Literature.
- A Study of Plato's Republic
- History and Geography
- Arithmetic and Mathematics
- French and Latin
- Art and Crafts, Music and Speech Training
- Physical Training, Games and Dancing
- Nature Study and Biology, coupled with such scientific studies as can best help towards an outdoor knowledge of flowers, birds, animals, stars, rocks and the countryside generally.

A general course is taken by all students for the first four terms, the aim being to achieve a wide cultural background. Students may then choose two, three or four subjects for study to a Higher or Lower level, according to the regulations of the School of Education, The University of Manchester. Meanwhile, besides Education and English, some cultural lectures are continued, together with studies in Art, Music and Physical Education.

The afternoons are spent out of doors. The neighbourhood provides a great variety of interests; from the delight of discovering these and exploring the hillside comes the power to interest children in flowers, birds and outdoor things. The students are trained to be responsible and resourceful in the matter of children's recreations, indoor and out. Tennis, cricket and rounders, hockey and netball are played.

One Year Course.

A special One Year Course (September to July) may be taken by University Graduates. This is arranged to meet individual needs. A Diploma is granted at the end of the course.

The great importance of religion as the true basis of all education is recognised by all members of the college, which is undenominational; morning and evening prayers are held and students are expected to attend regularly the service of Matins at the Parish Church (or at the church of their choice) as a corporate act of worship.

Practice in Teaching.Practising School.

The College is unique in having its own resident Practising School, Fairfield, for girls of all ages. The School is divided into Senior, Junior and Preparatory departments. All students have their first weeks of school practice in the Preparatory and Junior Departments, in which the classes are very small, so that they are able to gain confidence as teachers before dealing with large numbers. Later in the course, some students have the opportunity of teaching in the Senior Department of the School. In Fairfield, the students carry out the programmes of the Parents' Union School, and gain useful experience in the care of children under the direction of the Matrons, and a share in their upbringing under the guidance of the Headmistress and the Staff of the School.

(For details of Fairfield, apply for separate prospectus).

State-maintained Schools.

The students obtain additional teaching practice in Nursery, Infant, Junior and Senior Schools in the neighbourhood. They observe teaching methods in these schools before taking classes of children for three or four weeks at a time. They also have the opportunity of visiting schools of varying types.

Premises.

The main house, "Scale How", is well situated. It stands high above the main Ambleside to Keswick road; the open hillsides are seen from all its windows. In the grounds are various lecture rooms and other buildings necessary for the many activities of the College. The Practising School occupies numerous buildings adjacent to the College grounds, which are extensive and include playing fields and vegetable gardens.

The accommodation allows at present for fifty students.

The College is only a few minutes walk from the 'bus office, which is in the centre of routes to all parts of the Lake District. Fell walking, boating and swimming and winter sports are all encouraged in season.

Vacations.

One month at Christmas.

Three weeks in the Spring.

Eleven weeks in the Summer.

N.B. At the end of the first year, students are encouraged to spend a part of the long vacation in France. If this is not possible, they are expected to take a holiday post with children for three or four weeks. These posts are found for the students by the Principal. Students who have completed two years of training are required to do about four weeks of school practice in their home towns.

Status of the College.

The College is recognised as a constituent training institution of the School of Education, the Victoria University of Manchester. It is an Independent College and does not receive grants. As the Practising School shares the staff of the College, it is possible to keep the fees at a very reasonable figure and it is hoped that the College will be able to maintain its independence. It should be noted that students are eligible for financial assistance from Local Education Authorities.

Candidates for Admission.

Qualifications for entry:

- (1). A School Certificate or its equivalent.
- (2). A General Certificate of Education, as being taken in schools from 1951 onwards, denoting passes in the examinations conducted by any of the approved examining bodies in:—
 - (a) five subjects at the ordinary level: or
 - (b) three subjects at the ordinary level and one other subject at the advanced level: or
 - (c) two subjects at the ordinary level and two other subjects at the advanced level: or
 - (d) three subjects at the advanced level, provided that there is evidence that other courses have been studied beyond the minimum age for entry to the examination; provided one of the subjects is English Language unless the candidate provides satisfactory evidence of having reached an equivalent standard.

A student who has not the necessary qualifications may make special application for admission for consideration by the authorities; she must supply evidence that she has reached approximately the required standard of work and should furnish a testimonial concerning her practical ability with children.

The minimum age for admission is eighteen years on 1st October in the year of entry.

Older women are welcomed if suitable for training.

Applications from Overseas students are always welcome.

An interview may be arranged with the Principal in London or in Ambleside.

Candidates are required to submit their Birth Certificates to the Secretary of the College for inspection by the Ministry of Education.

For application forms and further information, please write to:—

THE PRINCIPAL,
CHARLOTTE MASON COLLEGE,
AMBLESIDE,
WESTMORLAND.

Fees.

Tuition—thirty guineas per term.
Residence—thirty guineas per term.

The tuition fee covers the loan of some of the books used and individual piano lessons. There are no extras such as subscriptions for games or library. Stationery, materials for Crafts, examination fees, and personal laundry are paid for by the students. The fee for residence covers the laundering of students' bed linen and towels, also the provision of picnic meals.

The College Fees Remission Scheme is in operation. Particulars of this insurance against loss of fees owing to absence through illness may be obtained from the Secretary of the College. If students do not avail themselves of the opportunity of joining the Scheme, the Council cannot hold itself liable to remit fees on account of illness.

If a student is withdrawn from the course against the advice of the Principal, a full term's fees will be charged. All fees are payable in advance.

The Charlotte Mason College Certificate.

The Certificate testifies that the holder:—

- (1). Is familiar with various educational methods and has the general qualifications required by a teacher.
- (2). Understands how to use the programmes of the "Parents' Union School" and has knowledge of the principles and methods of Charlotte Mason.
- (3). Recognises that the whole work of training and teaching children is a service to God.

The whole three years' record is taken into account, for the Certificate attests not only the knowledge of educational principles and skill in teaching, but also a love of children and a power of serious effort on their behalf.

First and Second Class Honours are awarded to those who reach a sufficiently high standard.

The Teacher's Certificate is awarded by the Senate of the University of Manchester to candidates who have satisfactorily completed the prescribed course and examinations. They are then recommended to the Ministry of Education for approval as qualified teachers.

The Future Work of the Students.

On completing her training, a student may take a post in a State-maintained School or an Independent School. First posts are found by the Principal for those leaving College; all receive salaries according to the Burnham Scale.

Parents' National Educational Union.

A fee of three guineas is required from a student on completion of her training. This entitles her to life membership in the P.N.E.U. and the right to obtain fresh posts free of charge through the central office.

There is a wide and varied field of work open to teachers trained at the Charlotte Mason College. There are P.U.S. children not only in this country but in many parts of the world from New Zealand to the Falkland Islands or the Persian Gulf, providing opportunities for a great variety of educational work in Government Schools, Independent Schools, small classes and home school rooms.

The demand for such teachers always exceeds the supply.

(Charlotte M. Mason—"Home and School Education")

The Three Year Course

This prepares the student to qualify for the Teacher's Certificate of the University of Manchester.

The principal study is Education, its principles, methods and history. The general course also includes :—

Bible Study	A Study of Plato's Republic
Arts and Crafts	Physical Training with Dancing and Games
Arithmetic	Field Work
English Language
Music

The district offers opportunities for courses in swimming, sailing and canoeing. It also provides a great variety of outdoor interests. From the delight of discovering these comes the power to interest children in nature study and other branches of field work. Fell walking and winter sports are encouraged in their seasons.

The University of Manchester requires that each student should choose one main subject for intensive study to a high standard. The choice of main subjects is shown by an asterisk in the following list :—

*Art and Craft, *Biology, *English Literature, *French, *History, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, Religious Knowledge.

From this list, two other subjects must be chosen and studied to a subsidiary level.

It is hoped that all students who complete the course will go out into the world with a love of children and a power of serious effort on their behalf. The great importance of religion as the true basis of all education is recognised by the College.

School Practice

The students have three periods of supervised School Practice in Westmorland schools and in Lancashire Division I—(Grange, Ulverston, Dalton and intermediate districts). These periods of practice are so spaced that there is one period in each of the three years. The duration of the periods vary from two weeks in the first year, four weeks in the second year and six weeks in the third year, and observation is included.

In addition to supervised practice, visits to different types of schools are arranged for observation both of children under different conditions and also varying methods to suit the particular needs of the children concerned.

The students also have the opportunity of observing and handling children in small groups at Fairfield P.N.E.U. School, as well as being able to participate in the out of school activities of the boarders.

The Premises

The main house, Scale How, is well situated. It stands high above the main Ambleside to Keswick road. In the grounds are other buildings necessary for the many activities of the college. The accommodation is expanding and will allow for one hundred and twenty students.

The college is only a few minutes' walk from the Ribble Bus Office, which is the centre of routes to all parts of the Lake District.

Vacations

- One month at Christmas.
- Three weeks in the Spring.
- Eleven weeks in the Summer.

N.B. At the end of the first year, students taking main level French are encouraged to spend part of the long vacation in France. All students are encouraged to take a holiday post with children for three or four weeks. These posts may be found for the students by the Principal.

Qualifications for Entry

- (1). A School Certificate or its equivalent.
- (2). A General Certificate of Education, as being taken in schools from 1951 onwards, denoting passes in the examinations conducted by any of the approved examining bodies in :—

The Charlotte Mason College, Ambleside

The College was founded by Charlotte Mason in 1892 in Ambleside. She gave as her reason for choice of place her desire 'by means of field work under able leaders, to give such knowledge of geography, geology, botany, natural history of the Lake Country as teachers should be prepared to give their children concerning the neighbourhood of their own homes'. To this there should be added English Literature, owing to the rich literary associations of the district, and local history.

The Three Year Course

This prepares the student to qualify for the Teacher's Certificate of the University of Manchester.

The principal study is Education, its principles, methods and history.

The University of Manchester requires that each student should choose one main subject for intensive study to a high standard. The choice of main subjects is shewn by an asterisk in the following list:—

- *ART AND CRAFT
- *BIOLOGY
- *ENGLISH LITERATURE
- *FRENCH
- GEOGRAPHY
- *HISTORY
- MATHEMATICS
- MUSIC
- PHYSICAL EDUCATION
- RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE

From this list, two other subjects must be chosen and studied to a subsidiary level.

The general course also includes:—

- BIBLE STUDY
- ART AND CRAFT
- ARITHMETIC
- ENGLISH LANGUAGE
- MUSIC
- A STUDY OF PLATO'S REPUBLIC
- PHYSICAL TRAINING, DANCING AND GAMES
- FIELD WORK

The district offers opportunities for courses in swimming, sailing, and canoeing. It also provides a great variety of outdoor interests. From the delight in discovering these comes the power to interest children in nature study and other branches of field work. Fell walking and winter sports are encouraged in their seasons.

It is hoped that all students who complete the course will go out into the world with a love of children and a power of serious effort on their behalf. The great importance of religion as the true basis of all education is recognised by the College.

School Practice

The students have three periods of supervised School Practice in Westmorland and in Lancashire Division I schools. These periods of practice are so spaced that there is one period in each of the three years; three weeks in the first year, four weeks in the second year and five weeks in the third year.

In addition to supervised practice, visits to different types of schools are arranged to give opportunities for observation of handicapped children and some knowledge of the varying methods used to meet their needs.

The students also have the opportunity of observing and handling children in small groups at Fairfield P.N.E.U. School, as well as being able to participate in the out of school activities of the boarders.

The Premises

The main house, Scale How, is well situated. It stands high above the main Ambleside to Keswick road. In the grounds are other buildings used for hostel accommodation and for the many activities of the college. The maximum number of students is one hundred and twenty.

The college is only a few minutes' walk from the Ribble Bus Office, which is the centre of routes to all parts of the Lake District.

Vacations

One month at Christmas.

Three weeks at Easter.

Eleven weeks in the Summer.

N.B. At the end of the first year, students taking main level French are encouraged to spend part of the long vacation in France. All students are encouraged to take a holiday post with children for three or four weeks.

Minimum Qualifications for Entry

- (1). A School Certificate or its equivalent.
- (2). A General Certificate of Education, as being taken in schools from 1951 onwards, denoting passes in the examinations conducted by any of the approved examining bodies in:—
 - (a) five subjects at the ordinary level; or
 - (b) three subjects at the ordinary level and one other subject at the advanced level; or
 - (c) two subjects at the ordinary level and two other subjects at the advanced level; or
 - (d) three subjects at the advanced level, provided that there is evidence that other courses have been studied beyond the minimum age for entry to the examination; provided one of the subjects is English Language.

The minimum age for admission is eighteen years on the 1st October in the year of entry.

Older students are welcomed if suitable for training.

Fees and Costs

Students contribute towards the maintenance and tuition fees according to an income scale which is laid down by the Ministry of Education.

The Governors may require the withdrawal from the College of any student who, in the opinion of the Principal, is not profiting by the course of study, or who is not fitted for the profession of teaching.

If a student is withdrawn from the course against the advice of the Principal, a full term's notice must be given.

Field Work

“Education is the science of relations . . . what concerns us personally is the fact that we have relations with what there is in the present, and with what there has been in the past, with what is above us and about us: and that fulness of living and service-ability depend for each of us upon how far we apprehend these relationships and of how many we lay hold.”

(Charlotte M. Mason—“Home and School Education”)

Many a girl on leaving school feels eager to fit herself for helping others. If she loves children, her thoughts will turn towards teaching—sometimes a little anxiously. If she does not intend to follow a university course, the question of a training college for general teaching becomes important.

The Charlotte Mason College offers a training of exceptional interest and usefulness and makes a special appeal to a girl who thinks that religion should be the basis of all true education. The principles of Charlotte Mason, who founded the college in 1892, still inspire the ground-plan of the training, which has recently been extended from two to three years.

A thorough general course is followed for the first four terms at college, after which students may specialise in two or three subjects, while the educational and cultural side of the training is continued throughout. Appreciation of art, music, literature and drama receives every encouragement.

In providing a three-year course, the college undertakes to train students for teaching posts in primary and secondary maintained schools as well as in independent schools—especially the P.N.E.U. schools. With this end in view, the students have teaching practice in various Westmorland schools, according to their choice of age group from nursery to secondary grammar, and one school practice in another area, which may be near their own home town.

In the Practising School attached to the college the programmes of work issued each term from the headquarters of the Parents' Union School at Ambleside are followed. Junior and senior departments are run separately, each under its own headmistress. The school being mainly a boarding-school, the students have the advantage of gaining a knowledge of children out of school and are encouraged to take an interest in their character training.

The beauty of the countryside makes its appeal and every incentive is used to widen the students' knowledge of the Lake District, while the wonderful opportunities for nature study make outdoor activities a special feature of the college.

On completion of the course, successful students are awarded the Charlotte Mason College Certificate and the Teacher's Certificate of the University of Manchester. They become life members of the Parents' National Educational Union and are thus kept in constant touch with the ever-increasing demand for their services in this country and overseas.

Since the college is independent, though recognised, it receives no grant from the Ministry of Education. Consequently, prospective students cannot obtain grants from the Ministry for their training, but they are eligible for a 'further education grant' from their local education authority. It should be remembered that, being under no obligation to the Ministry, students of the Charlotte Mason College are free to make their choice of post on completion of the training.

TRAINING COLLEGE FOR WOMEN TEACHERS

Affiliated to the School of Education of the University of Manchester

In 1892 Miss Charlotte Mason chose the lovely Country of Westmorland in which to start her work of training young women to teach in Home Schoolrooms. The principles she put forward soon proved just as valuable in schools. During sixty years, thirty of them under the personal guidance of the founder, the College has grown in size and in scope and to-day is a recognised training college for women teachers.

A three-years course is now taken by the students, the first part of which is of a general character, while some specialisation is undertaken during the latter part of the training.

View of College from East

The College is unique in having its own resident Practising School for children of all ages. The students all receive training in teaching and caring for children aged four to ten years; some of them have experience in the senior school as well, teaching certain subjects as far up the school as they are able. An equal amount of school practice is carried out in the maintained schools of the district. This thorough practical training, supported by lectures in educational theory and method, enables a student at the end of her course to apply for a post in a maintained or independent school, having been trained for both.

“Of the three sorts of knowledge proper to a child,” says Charlotte Mason, “the knowledge of God, of man, and of the universe—the knowledge of God ranks first in importance, is indispensable and most happy-making.” This ideal is kept in view throughout the training. Appreciation of Art and Music, love of literature and books are also part of the life of the College and Nature Study is a special feature, the neighbourhood of Ambleside providing an ideal background for this and other outdoor activities.

Three years spent at the Charlotte Mason College engender a real knowledge and love of the Lake District as well as of the work of our founder. This is amply demonstrated by the large number of old students who return every three years for the Conference of the Charlotte Mason College Association.

This year the College is celebrating its diamond jubilee and it is hoped to give exhibitions and displays of work for the week June 2nd to 7th. All who are interested will be welcome. Following our recent affiliation to the School of Education, the University of Manchester, students successfully completing the course will be awarded the Teacher's Certificate by the Senate of the University for the first time. The College certificate will be given also.

The College is proud of its independence and anxious to retain it. It is therefore not grant-aided by the Ministry of Education, but students are eligible for grants from Local Education Authorities and no form of declaration has to be signed. A wide field of work is open to graduates of the College. They become life Members of the Parents' National Educational Union and are thus kept in constant touch with the demand for their services both in this country and overseas. There are in particular many interesting openings and good posts obtainable overseas.
