Various experaments were made on Saturday last, in front of the City Hotel, to test the strength of this machine, and the resistance it was capable to of foring, and all were satisfactory. It must, at one time, have supported a weight of 1200 lbs, while the water conveyed to its top played at a distance of 20 or 25 feet above the roof of the hotel. The so-lidity of the machine cannot be contested; it is, indeed, the opiourn of Mr. Wenman, late chief engineer, whose knowledge and ability are admitted by all, that even where the head has no resting place, it is not to be equalled in the security which it offers by any ladder in the city. Often the machine certainly presented a strange and striking appearance. The eye followed its developement with a sentiment of pleasure, not unmingled with rear. The gradual made any production of the joints, like the pieces of a fishing rod; the fixed position of the proud shafts thus proudly raised it is strong roofs extending into the firm secated earth, affored a spectacle equalty crinous and interesting. The various trief als which succeeded convinced us that the machine could be used, with all its advantages, without the smallest danger, and we cannot but congratulate the inventor on the result of the experiment. Regarding this machine as calculated to the of signal utility in averting distressing calamities, we hope to see its epecty adoption here and in every city in the Union.
