250 POLICEMEN WERE HURT IN MAY DAY CLASHES IN PARIS; ONE PERSON KILLED

Labor Leaders and Socialists Are Indignant Over Severe Methods Used by Police; Latter Say Shots Were Fired by Demonstrators

Paris, May 2.—Two hundred and fifty policemen were hurt during yesterday's May Day disorders, it is announced. Apparently only one person was killed.

The United Trades Union of the Department of the Seine has issued a strong protest against the "violent action of the police exercised by order of the Government against a manifestation which would otherwise have been carried out with the same order as the morning meetings."

Declaring that many women were among the victims, the Union has decided to call a meeting of the General Council of the organization to-night to consider the attitude it will adopt in view of the day's events.

Paris, May 2.—Socialists and the leaders of the labor unions are indignant over yesterday's incidents. The General Labor Federation has issued a protest and a committee will meet to-night to consider steps to be taken.

The managing committee of the Socialist Party and the Socialist group of the Chamber of Deputies will also meet.

Deputy Marcel Cachin, writing in L'Humanite, claims the day was a "magnificent demonstration of the power and discipline of the laboring classes and was marred only by the brutality of the ferocious police."

M. Cachin places responsibility for the disorders upon Premier Clemenceau.

Women Victims. The United Trades Union of the Department of the Seine, declaring many women were victims of the violent action of the police exercised by order of the Government, has decided to call a meeting of the General Council.

The police maintain that they had no ball cartridges in their revolvers and that no ammunition had been issued to the troops, so that the few shots fired consequently must have come from the demonstrators.

The disturbances are generally deplored by public opinion. The conservative organs lay the blame upon the labor people, while the newspapers opposed to Premier Clemenceau are inclined to agree with the Socialists that there would have been no trouble if demonstrations had been permitted in Paris.

The Petit Parisien says that throughout the country the laboring classes displayed their feelings in dignity and order.

American Ambulances. Paris, May 2.—(Associated Press).—American ambulances did efficient work in picking up the wounded during the May Day demonstrations here, the American Red Cross attendants being cheered by the crowd.

At the Invalides bridge an American lieutenant-colonel and two junior officers were stopped by dragons when they attempted to cross the river. The Americans were charged upon by some cavalrymen and in the melee some shots were fired.

During a clash in the Place de la Bastille a policeman shouted to the mob: "If you want to fight, go to Versailles and fight the Germans."

The mob took up the cry of "On to Versailles," and this averted more serious fighting.

ROUND UP ALIENS IN COAST STATES

Would-Be Revolutionists in Seattle and Other Cities to Be Deported

San Francisco, May 2.—Parties of alleged alien revolutionists are being rounded up in San Francisco, Seattle and other coast ports for deportation through the port of New York as a result of the receipt of mailed bombs and other radical activities at these points.

Edward White, Commissioner of Immigration, announced here to-day.

The murder of Mrs. George D. Greenwood, an Oakland society matron, by a bomb and the sending of infernal contrivances to prominent men have caused the immigration authorities to redouble their efforts to round up all alien undesirable, White said.

Advices Reaching Paris Say Bavarian Government Troops Took Place

Paris, May 2.—Bavarian Government troops captured Munich from the Communists on Thursday morning, according to advices reaching here to-day.

A dispatch received in Paris yesterday, the time of its filing of which in Berne was not mentioned, said the artillery fire of the German Government troops was audible in Munich and was constantly creeping nearer.

The Red Guards were reported demoralized and plundering bags. The Communists were threatening to massacre the bourgeois. The misery of the people was said to have reached an unbearable point.

"According to reports," declares the message, "outrages against Jews in Poland are part of a policy to suppress the just demands of the Polish Jews for equal civil, political and national rights."

LABOR PROGRAMME PLEASES WILSON

Says Conditions to Be Embodied in Peace Treaty Most Important

Washington, May 2.—President Wilson cabled Secretary Tumulty to-day that in his opinion the labor programme adopted as part of the treaty of peace "constitutes one of the most important accomplishments of the new day in which the interests of labor are to be systematically and intelligently safeguarded and promoted."

Mr. Wilson said that he personally regarded the labor programme as one of the most gratifying accomplishments of the Conference and believed no other single thing that had been done would help more to stabilize conditions of labor throughout the world and ultimately "relieve the unhappy conditions which in too many places have prevailed."

The message follows: "The labor programme which the Conference of Peace has adopted as part of the treaty of peace constitutes one of the most important accomplishments of the new day in which the interests of labor are to be systematically and intelligently safeguarded and promoted. Amidst the multitude of other interests this great step forward is apt to be overlooked and yet no other single thing—nothing that has been done will help more to stabilize conditions of labor throughout the world and ultimately relieve the unhappy conditions which in too many places have prevailed. Personally, I regard this as one of the most gratifying accomplishments of the Conference."

CARE OF SOLDIERS' GRAVES IN FRANCE War Graves Commission of British Empire Recognized by French Government

Ottawa, May 2.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council, tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon the copy of an agreement between the British and French Governments respecting British war graves in France.

The agreement recognizes the Imperial War Graves Commission as the only British authority charged with the care of British military graves in France.

The second article of the agreement deals with removal of bodies interred in isolated cemeteries to military cemeteries. The third article provides that bodies interred in cemeteries or in military graves shall not be exhumed for transport to the United Kingdom or any other part of the Empire without the approval of the Imperial War Graves Commission.

The French Government undertakes to instruct the Prefets to refuse all applications for permission for the removal of bodies unless proffered through the Commission.

Ottawa, May 2.—A memorial in the new Parliament Building for Colonel G. H. Baker, the only member of the Canadian House of Commons who was killed in the war, was proposed to the Senate yesterday by Senator Foster.

Senator Foster moved that Senators Bradbury, Casgrain, Pope and himself be appointed to confer with the Committee charged with the construction of the new building.

Senator Dandurand heartily concurred in the proposal and suggested the Committee might consider the advisability of adding to the memorial the names of members who had sacrificed their lives in the war.

The motion was adopted.

BRIG.-GEN. GRIMWADE NOW IN VICTORIA

Australian Leader Here From Seattle on Way to the Antipodes

Brigadier-General H. W. Grimwade, C. M. G., of Melbourne, Australia, who was in chief command of the Australian artillery force in France, arrived in Victoria on this afternoon's steamer from Seattle.

He was welcomed by Comrade Frank Slavik, and a number of Australians who had united in greeting the distinguished officer of the Australian Imperial Force.

He will leave on the Niagara by her next journey southbound.

His Military Career. Brigadier-General Grimwade was in command of the Third Division, Australian Artillery, during the early part of the war.

His troops received training in Egypt, where they were to be used in conjunction with General Wallace's army against the Turks, but later were ordered to France.

In France the corps saw continuous action for three years, until the signing of the armistice, participating in the battles of Messines Ridge and Passchendaele.

During 1916 and 1917, when the fighting was at its most bitter stage, and the Allied troops had "their backs to the wall," the Third Division of Australian artillery fought continuously with only such rest periods as were absolutely necessary, the troops distinguishing themselves as loyal sons of the British Empire.

In 1918 General Grimwade was advanced to the general command of the artillery corps, which was largely instrumental in driving back the Germans at the Somme, at Cambrai and at St. Quentin.

Here, in the bitter onslaught of the German hordes against the Allied line, the Australians suffered heavily in casualties, but held fast in the face of overwhelming odds.

The stand made by the Anzacs during these critical moments was of undoubted value in breaking down the morale of German soldiers, and when the fatal smash of the Hindenburg line came, the Australian artillery mercilessly pounded the famous "impregnable" defence of the Germans.

From September 23, 1918, to November 11, when the Germans cried quits, the Australian artillery worked in conjunction with the American Third Jugo-Slavs are reported to have attacked on a fifty-mile front for the purpose of seizing Klagenfurt and Villach.

Vienna is said to be preparing to aid the Carinthian troops and the Allies are seeking to settle the conflict.

Carinthia is a titular duchy of Austria situated east of the Tyrol and north of Carinola.

London, May 2.—According to a summarized report of an interview given by Schuecking, one of Germany's peace delegates, to the Berlin correspondent of The Herald, the London Laborite organ, the plan for the League of Nations which has been formulated at Paris has brought disillusionment to Germany.

It is regarded there as a thinly veiled scheme for the "victorious powers to gain the ascendancy, and gives the militarists an opportunity to taunt the pacifists for their simplicity, it is stated.

"If the scheme should be adopted in its present form," Schuecking is quoted as saying, "the League of Nations would lose all its moral authority over sections of the Germans, some of whom would revert to reaction. Others look forward to the establishing of internationalism."

Schuecking said a feature of the German plan for the League was the creation of a representative world plan, which would safeguard the basis of the League and avoid a return of militarism in a new form.

The correspondent adds: "Schuecking made an instant impression of sincerity and courage, which his lifelong fight against militarism and his record as an opponent of the war confirm."

CHINESE DELEGATION TO ISSUE STATEMENT ON KIAO CHAU PLAN

Expectation Is That Declaration in Paris Will Express Keen Disappointment of Oriental Republic, at Decision of Council of Three

Paris, May 2.—The Chinese delegation to the Peace Conference is expected to issue this afternoon a statement concerning the settlement of the Kiao Chau dispute effected by the Council of Three of the Peace Conference. It is understood that the Chinese will express their keen dissatisfaction with the decision.

Paris, May 2.—No formal programme was announced for to-day's session of the Council of Three, but it was unofficially stated that the meeting was being devoted to odds and ends.

ABOUT TWENTY CHAPTERS IN TREATY PREPARED BY ALLIES

Paris, May 2.—The peace treaty comprises from fifteen to twenty chapters, according to Marcel Hutin, of The Echo de Paris.

The preamble is contained in the first chapter, setting forth the reasons why the various contracting parties entered the war and mentioning the necessity for the League of Nations.

The second chapter deals with the German frontiers, and the third contains all clauses connected with alterations of frontiers.

The fourth sets forth the military, naval and aerial clauses, and the fifth takes up disposition of the former German colonies.

The other chapters are not as yet altogether finished, but they will concern reparations and economic and financial questions, and will deal with the international labor legislation treaty.

The treaty concludes with a chapter concerning the guarantees for the execution of the treaty conditions by Germany.

M. Hutin believes the German delegation has full powers and will end the negotiations by signing the preliminaries of the treaty.

GERMAN IDEAS ON WORLD LEAGUE PLAN

Schuecking Says Teutons Think Allies Plan to Have Ascendancy

LAND COMMITTEES ABREAST OF WORK

Allotments to Returned Soldiers Being Made Quickly Throughout Canada

Ottawa, May 2.—That the majority of the provincial offices of the Soldier Settlement Board are up to date with land allotments is the statement made by W. J. Black, weather conditions in the early spring in some provinces retarded field operations, but there are very few old applications now awaiting decision by the loan advisory committees.

Mr. Black emphatically denied a statement that excessive expenses in connection with loans are being charged soldier settlers.

"No expenses are chargeable to the soldier settler in connection with his loan for land purchase," he said. "The Board pays all the costs of administration, office expenses and cost of inspection, and this is not charged against the settler's loan. In fact all services are supplied free and the soldier pays only the actual cost of his land."

STATES CANADA TIRED OF TITLES

Manchester Guardian Comments on Recommendation of Committee to Commons

London, May 2.—Discussing Canada's repudiation of hereditary titles, The Manchester Guardian says there has been in the last generation something like a mutual invasion of British and Canadian public life. The British invasion of Canada has taken the form of a pretty lavish distribution of titles, of which Canadian opinion seems to have approved, neither the quantity nor the quality, while there has been a feeling that it tended to produce in Canada a social tradition alien to the spirit of its democracy.

The Canadian invasion of Britain has taken the form of emergence into politics of a group of men who, though quite small in numbers and not familiar to the general public, have exercised considerable influence in recent years, the paper says, and Canada evidently does not think the exchange profitable to her.

The Guardian concludes with the remark that it is a new thing to suppose a peerage in the name of democracy, but it might not always be a bad thing.

TROTZKY CALLING FOR TROOPS TO FIGHT KOLCHAK

Trotsky, Bolshevik Minister of War and Marine, has appealed for swift action, saying: "It is necessary to defeat Kolchak within the shortest possible time."

DECLARES SHIPPER

Praises Tanlac for Doing What Other Medicines Failed to Do

"After eighteen months of awful suffering, Tanlac has put me on my feet, and I want to tell you, that it has done for me what all other medicines have failed to do," said Mr. C. Gordon, who lives at 101 Dufferin Street East, Vancouver, while in the Owl Drug Store recently.

Mr. Gordon has lived in Vancouver for the past eight years, and is shipper for the well-known firm of W. Cline & Co., wholesale furniture dealers.

"Before I started on Tanlac," he continued, "I couldn't drink a cup of coffee or tea or eat a piece of plain bread, without it souring on my stomach and the gas from it would bloat me up as tight as a drum, and cause severe pains in my side and about my stomach. This gas would work up around my heart at times, and the pressure from it would almost smother me and sometimes make my heart beat so fast and fast I could hear it. I just lived with a headache and often I would get so dizzy I could hardly do my work in the shipping room. My whole system seemed to be poisoned. My kidneys got out of order, and at times I couldn't sleep over to my shoe, without my back feeling as if it would break in two. I couldn't sleep good at night, but would roll and tumble and get up in the morning, feeling like I had been run through a mill.

"I had tried every medicine I could think of, and none of them did me any good; but I had heard so many people praising Tanlac for the good it had done them, I decided to get me a bottle. Well, I hadn't taken many doses, when I noticed that I was improving rapidly in every way, which convinced me that Tanlac was the medicine I had been needing. I have only taken four bottles in all, and I have not only gained my strength back, but I've gained several pounds in weight, and I feel like a new man. I can eat almost anything now, and it never bothers me a bit afterwards, and since my stomach has gotten all right, my kidneys and back never hurt me. I don't know what it is to have a headache or dizzy spell any more. My work is a pleasure to me, and when I lay down at night, I sleep like a log and get up in the morning, feeling like I could do two days work in one."

Tanlac is sold by D. E. Campbell, corner of Fort and Douglas Street.—Adv.

TWO U. S. SEAPLANES TO TRY ATLANTIC FLIGHT NEXT WEEK

New York, May 2.—Two giant hydro-aeroplanes of the American navy will start on a date yet to be announced, probably early next week, on a 3,125-mile flight, in four stages, to the British Isles. The actual trans-Atlantic venture, details of which were announced yesterday afternoon by Commander John H. Towers, in charge of the expedition, is a contemplated cruise in two stages aggregating 2,150 miles, from Trepassey Bay, Newfoundland, to Lisbon, Portugal, while the projected American and European coastal "legs" extend from Rockaway Point, L. I., home station of the planes, to Trepassey, and from Lisbon to Plymouth, England.

At an estimated average speed of seven and a half miles an hour (nearly sixty-five nautical miles), the squadron, driven by Liebrty motors, is expected to cruise from Rockaway Point to Portugal without a stop, Commander Towers said. The plan then is to proceed to Trepassey, on the southeastern tip of Newfoundland, where the planes are to be given a week's tuning up before undertaking the trans-Atlantic flight.

The second and longest jump, the commander stated, would be from Trepassey to Horta, on the island of Pajal, in the Azores, 1,300 miles, or if the conditions were favorable, to Ponta Delgado, on the island of San Miguel, also in the Azores, 1,350 miles from Newfoundland. The cruise to Portugal would cover 800 miles, completing the ocean trip, thus leaving only the flight to Plymouth to round out the proposed flight of heavier-than-air machines from this continent to England.

WHY CAN'T I GET TO SLEEP

Thousands of people all over the country ask this question, but still continue to toss night after night on a sleepless bed, and it is impossible for them to get a full night's refreshing sleep.

Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quietened except by the perniculous use of opiates or narcotics. Or, again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die, or perhaps you wake up in your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and the only way you can get relief is to sit up in bed.

To all who suffer in this way, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer an inestimable boon. They bring back the much-needed night's rest by improving the tone of the nerves, strengthening the heart, enriching the blood and making the whole organization act in harmony—then you sleep as peacefully as a child.

Mrs. Jas. Latimer, 39 Leinster St., St. John, N.B., writes:—"At night I could not sleep. I had to sit up in bed, my heart beat so fast, and when I walked up stairs I would get all out of breath. A friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after using two boxes I can sleep all night and am not out of breath after walking."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WANT ARMY FORCES MOVED FROM RUSSIA

4,000 Workers in Toronto, Mostly Foreigners, Pass Resolutions

Toronto, May 2.—"Hands off Russia," was the gist of a resolution passed at a May Day meeting of about 4,000 workers here last night in the Arena. In the afternoon practically the same gathering had passed a resolution in the same building calling for the immediate release of all political prisoners in Canada. At both meetings "red" badges were worn by the majority, foreign Socialists seeming to predominate.

The "hands off Russia" resolution calls upon the Allied Governments immediately to take steps to withdraw their troops from Russia and protests against the furnishing of war materials and finances to the reactionary commanders in Siberia.

One of the speakers at the night meeting was loudly applauded when he addressed the gathering as "Comrades and fellow-Bolsheviks."

The metal workers' strike is still on.

BRITISH COMMONS DISCUSSES TRADE PREFERENCE PLAN

London, May 2.—The House of Commons occupied the whole of yesterday's session discussing the budget, especially the question of colonial preference. Rt. Hon. J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, reiterated that the Government had no intention of placing new duties on food.

Sir Donald MacLean, Liberal Leader, argued that the policy was impossible without giving a preference on wheat, meat and wool, and affirmed that his party must fight this proposal to the utmost. It was a question, he said, on which the House of Commons was bound to take sides as a matter of principle.

Several members of the House of Commons, mainly of the Labor party, advocated a levy on capital as a means for reducing the huge national debt.

The sum of 220,000,000 marks deposited by the Germans in payment for food is about exhausted, and one of the objects of the conference was to determine what further arrangements were to be made for the purchase of supplies.

Amsterdam, May 1.—Via London, May 2.—The International Socialist Conference at Arnhem to-day adopted a motion proposed by Herr Haase against permitting the economic annexation of the Saar region to degenerate into political annexation. The next International Conference was fixed for February 2, 1920, at Geneva.

DOMINION COAL CO. AND N. S. STEEL CO.

Halifax, May 2.—The Canadian Press was informed last night that legislation is about to be introduced in the Nova Scotia Legislature which will force the Dominion Coal Company and the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Company respecting the mining of coal areas north and south of Sydney harbor. The legislation will compel the rival companies to submit to a rearrangement of the leases, allocating roughly the right to mine all the submarine areas involved north of Sydney harbor to the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Company, and the right to mine all submarine areas involved south of Sydney harbor to the Dominion Coal Company.

BRITISH-AUSTRALIAN TRADE PREFERENCE

Melbourne, May 2.—(Reuter's)—A deputation of British manufacturers' representatives now touring Australia asked Hon. Mr. Greene, the Commonwealth Minister of Customs, for a preference for British manufacturers of at least twenty per cent over foreign goods and a practically prohibitive tariff on enemy goods.

Mr. Greene replied that the Commonwealth was endeavoring to give Great Britain the fullest preference, but held that Britain should reciprocate.

MAY DAY CLASH IN SPANISH CAPITAL

Number Wounded; Demonstrations in Italy; Vigilance Committees in Argentina

Madrid, May 2.—When Police and people engaged in a May Day demonstration clashed here yesterday afternoon twenty-nine policemen and several persons in the crowd were wounded. The encounter occurred in front of the Bank of Spain.

Shots Fired.
Madrid, May 2.—The great May Day labor demonstration here was quite orderly until late in the afternoon when, as a huge procession was dispersing, shots were fired.

In Italy.
Rome, May 2.—The Socialist, Republican and Catholic workmen held individual party meetings here yesterday to celebrate May 1. Reports indicate there were no disturbances in any part of Italy, even in Milan, where two processions took place, one led by the Socialists and the other by the pro-war parties.

In Argentina.
Buenos Ayres, May 2.—Vigilance committee organized by the Argentine Patriotic League and supported by military and naval detachments prevented menacing anarchistic tendencies during Socialist demonstrations here yesterday.

President Irigoyen told Dr. Manuel Carles, president of the League, that Socialist and anarchistic organizations had appealed to him for protection against the League, which had warned that it would forcibly suppress any Maximalist disorders. The President asked what the League intended to do. "With or without authority," Dr. Carles answered, "the Patriotic League intends to end anarchistic efforts to break down the civilization of Argentina. It intends to prevent all demonstrations by anarchists."

With the organization of these vigilance committees there appears a serious effort to eliminate anarchistic agitations. Eight hundred agitators have been arrested during the last few days and the police have listed 1,600 more.

Dr. Carles stated yesterday that beginning Monday, the League would start breaking up all meeting places for anarchists.

APPEAL MEASURE IN SENATE AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, May 2.—The bill providing for appeal of decisions in criminal cases with the consent of the Provincial Attorneys-General was further discussed in the Senate yesterday. When the bill was called for second reading, Senator Tessier said that several judges to whom he had spoken regarded it as an attack upon their position and authority. The suggestion of Senator Bostock was adopted that the measure should be held at its present stage until its author, Senator McMeans, should consult with the Minister of Justice.

UNEMPLOYMENT PAY IN UNITED KINGDOM

London, May 2.—(Reuter's)—The Minister of Labor, defending the payment of the unemployment donation, pointed out that the million recipients included 30,000 members of the forces, 18,000 former munitions workers and 100,000 cotton operatives who were unemployed owing to the blockade. He admitted that abuses were inevitable, but he was confident that half the complaints were without foundation. Any frauds which might be discovered would be prosecuted relentlessly.

HUTTERITES ARE BARRED FROM CANADA

Order-in-Council Also Prevents Immigration of Doukhobors and Mennonites

Ottawa, May 2.—From to-day until further order immigration of Doukhobors, Hutterites and Mennonites into Canada is prohibited. An Order-in-Council to this effect was signed by the Governor-General last evening. It was passed under the provisions of the existing Immigration Act, which gives authority to this end.

The Order-in-Council recites that "owing to the conditions prevailing as a result of the war, a widespread feeling exists throughout the Dominion, and more particularly in Western Canada, that steps should be taken to prevent the entry into Canada of all persons who may be regarded as undesirable because of reason of their peculiar customs, habits, modes of living and methods of holding property they are not likely to become readily assimilated or to assume the duties and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship within a reasonable time."

The Order adds that numerous representations have been received that Doukhobors, Hutterites and Mennonites are of this class and character.

CHILD BECOMES ORPHAN.

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE IN COWICHAN DISTRICT

Funds to Be Raised in Duncan and Area; Girl Guides

Duncan, May 2.—The committee in charge has made arrangements for the big drive of the Y. M. C. A. from May 5 to 9 to raise funds for local work among the men and boys. Collectors have been appointed and a thorough canvass of the district will be made. Speakers are touring various parts of the district and explaining clearly the purposes of the fund and telling also how the money raised in last year's drive was spent.

Girl Guides.
Miss Leighton, captain of the Victoria Girl Guides, has kindly promised to give a talk on "The Aims and Ideals of the Girl Guide" at a meeting of parents of Guides, to all mothers of young girls, to members of the Girl Guide Association and to any others who are interested in the Girl Guide movement on Thursday afternoon next in St. John's Hall, Duncan, at 2.30 o'clock.

The Girl Guide meetings will be resumed on Friday afternoon, May 3, and all Guides are being asked to bring in as many recruits as possible.

On Saturday, May 4, a sale of plants and seedlings, and odds and ends, and a rummage stall will be held to pay for setting up the summer camp and to help with the fitting up of the Guide quarters. The Guides will have a general dress of their own at the sale to start a fund for their own uniforms.

The Guides' summer camp probably will be held as usual during the last fortnight in July.

Women's Institutes.

Mrs. Blackwood-Wileman, of the Advisory Board of Women's Institutes, will leave Duncan on a tour of the northern institutes on Tuesday next. One or more new institutes probably will be organized during her trip.

In a telegram from Mrs. H. C. Hanington, of the Victorian Order of Nurses, to Mrs. Blackwood-Wileman, it is stated that a very excellent nurse will very shortly be available for Cowichan and that the Order will make a grant towards initiating her work in the district. At a meeting of recent date it was decided that her sphere of activity should be a five-mile radius from the Duncan post office.

A. Mayes Dead.
Mr. Abe Mayes died at the Duncan Hospital at noon yesterday after an illness of several months. The deceased, who was quite elderly and had come from Quebec, where he had been an experienced lumberman, had lived in Cowichan many years. At one time he was in the employ of W. P. Jaynes, and later worked for the Government in charge of road work, and during the past few years was a well-known figure in running the road roller. Some brothers and a nephew are in the West.

Back From France.
Miss Jean McPhadden returned to Duncan on Wednesday afternoon after nine months' absence overseas with the American Red Cross in the Toul sector in France. During her stay in France Miss McPhadden lived with her sister, Mrs. M. McMillan.

Miss Elizabeth Powell has returned to Duncan after some years' absence in Eastern Canada doing war work. She is staying with her sister, Mrs. H. F. Prevost.

The Rev. W. T. Keeling, who has been in charge of St. Peter's and St. Andrew's Churches during the absence of Captn. E. J. Stephenson overseas, will leave for Sidney, Saanich, where he will take the place left vacant by the resignation of the Rev. T. C. des Barres.

W. Waldon, of Glenora, has been appointed secretary of the Cowichan Agricultural Society. Mr. Waldon takes the place left vacant by W. A. McAdam and was the only applicant.

In the semi-finals at the Kokislah Golf Club tournament are Mrs. Hutchinson and Bruce Powell, C. F. Dickie and Mr. Sample.

CREDENTIALS WERE GIVEN AT VERSAILLES

Versailles, May 2.—The following official report of the first ceremony of the Peace Congress yesterday was issued last evening:

"The president of the Committee on Specification of Credentials of the Inter-Allied Conference, Jules Cambon, and the other members, Lord Harding, Henry White and Baron Matsui, received at 3.15 p. m. to-day at the Trianon Palace, Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, president of the German delegation. The latter presented the president of the German Committee on Verification, Herr Landberg, Minister of Justice, and also Herr Simons, Director of Justice in the Foreign Office, and Herr Gans, Counsellor of the Foreign Office.

The German credentials were given to M. Cambon, who handed over in exchange the credentials established by the Allied and Associated Powers. The German delegates then retired.

SEATTLE BAKERS GET HIGHER WAGES

Seattle, May 2.—Difficulties between the bakers of Seattle and their employers have been averted by the signing of a new wage scale, granting an increase in pay of $1 to day shifts and $2 to night shifts, according to an announcement made by the bakers' business agent.

The raise in wages, it is said, may cause an advance of one cent a loaf in the price of bread.

One hundred and fifty candy workers here, 110 of them women, struck yesterday for an increase in pay.

SPLIT REPORTED IN GERMAN CABINET

Berne, May 1.—Via London, May 2.—Serious difficulties have arisen between the members of the German National Government, and a change may be expected soon, according to a telegram from Berlin. The conflict between Mathias Erzberger, head of the German Armistice Commission, and Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, Foreign Minister and head of the peace delegation, is said to have reached the breaking point. Erzberger, it is declared, will do his utmost to make difficult the work of the Foreign Minister, who is said to have adopted at the Versailles Peace Congress

"NACH VERSAILLES!"

After more than four years of effort, which cost millions of lives, the wreck of great empires including their own and those of their allies, and a sum of suffering without parallel in human history, the Germans are now at Versailles. Their arrival involves a wide variation of their original programme, the bare thought of which must be gall and wormwood to their leaders, past and present, and the vast majority of their people.

Plan Two called for something entirely different. In it William Hohenzollern and a glittering entourage of kings, princes, marshals, professors and other camp followers, after resting in the historic palace of the Bourbons at Versailles and mobilizing the artists, descriptive writers and moving picture operators in the spacious courtyard, were to march to Paris at the head of their victorious legions, steal its treasure, and hold the city as hostage for an indemnity which would cripple France forever.

The "All-Highest War Lord" and the war lords of lesser degree and their suites, of course, would make their headquarters at Versailles. This was in conformity with historic precedent. Forty-odd years before William the First, and the other kings and electors of the German confederacy, Bismarck, von Molke and von Roon, assembled there and ordered the representatives of France to come to them to learn the harsh terms that were to be imposed upon their country.

It was there Bismarck, with that brutal arrogance so characteristic of Prussian kultur, treated Thiers and his associates like cattle, as he bullied, bragged and blustered, cracked bar-room jokes at the expense of the starving populace of Paris, and exacted from France conditions which were intended to "bleed her white."

Under Plan Two this performance was going to be repeated after forty-three years, and probably in the same place. But it was going to be on a vastly bigger scale. Bismarck underestimated the virility of France in 1871. There would be no such mistake this time. Kaiser, kings, princes, Conservatives, Clericals, National Liberals and Socialists were agreed upon that. The length of the terms to be imposed would be in direct inverse ratio to the brevity of the time it was going to take them to lay France prostrate and bleeding at their feet, the time it would take William Hohenzollern to transfer his headquarters from Cologne to the Gallery of Battles in the palace of Versailles.

The Germans have reached Versailles, but William Hohenzollern is not among them. Neither is Frederick William Hohenzollern, nor any of the other Hohenzollerns, nor the kings, electors and princes of the German Empire, nor von Hindenburg, von Moltke, von Ludendorff, von Mackensen, von Tirpitz, von Falkenhayn and the rest of the warband. They are there in the persons of the representatives of a Germany overthrown by the arbitrament of the sword she invoked and on the field of her choice.

They are there, also, by the order of the victors, just as Thiers and his colleagues journeyed from Paris to Versailles by the order of Germany in 1871. They come to hear the terms of peace instead of imposing them—terms by which their country, no matter in what form it may seek to escape, must right the wrongs it has done since it permitted Prussian militarism to dominate its policy; terms based upon strict justice.

It was within the power of the Allies to have deprived the Germans of even this variation of Plan Two. They could have marched upon Berlin, appropriated the palace of the Hohenzollerns at Potsdam and ordered the representatives of the German Government to appear before them to learn the terms of peace which Germany would have to accept. They have chosen, instead, to leave their chief enemy state at last a part of the original programme. For more than forty years Germany has been yearning to play a conspicuous role in another drama in the stately edifice in which what was once the German Empire came into existence. She is now playing it, but in a performance staged by those whom she intended and tried to crush. "Nach Paris!" was the war-cry in August, 1914. Well, Versailles is only a dozen miles from Paris.

DELAYS WILL BE AVOIDED.

It will be noted with satisfaction that the Dominion Government has seen the force of the argument advanced by the British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board in the matter of transferring funds from the Federal treasury to the Board for the payment of claims made by persons employed by the Ottawa authorities.

While it is the duty of the provincial body to pass upon cases of accident where Federal employees are concerned and to report its findings to Ottawa, all awards recommended by the local Board are paid by the Dominion exchequer out of Consolidated Revenue fund. This somewhat cumbersome process has invariably led to serious delays and dissatisfaction, the beneficiary naturally comparing the promptitude with which purely Provincial claims are met by the Board with his wait of six or seven weeks while Ottawa considers his case.

Claims in respect of the victims of the Galiano disaster brought the matter to the fore again and the Board repeated its request for a prompter policy of co-operation between the Dominion Minister of Finance and itself. Quick payment of legitimate claims carries out the intention of workmen's compensation law and goes a long way to remove the suspicion that the injured workman never gets a fair show.

WANT KNIGHTHOODS ABOLISHED.

The recommendations of the special committee of the House of Commons which has been inquiring into the titles question will go farther than any expression of opinion so far recorded in the Canadian Parliament. The committee has decided to urge the discontinuance of awarding knightships of all kinds to people residing in the Dominion and presumably will adopt a similar course regarding peerages and other titular distinctions which will be considered by the committee next week.

As the committee was fairly representative of the House it is altogether likely its recommendations will be approved and whatever division there will be will not be on party lines, but a sort of free-for-all. Nor is there any doubt that the decision of the committee accurately reflects the sentiment of the majority of the Canadian people. This is due to the inherent opposition on general principles to the establishment of a titled class in the country and not a little to the manner in which titles have been distributed.

The Manchester Guardian reminds us that Canadians have gone to the United Kingdom and obtained titles there. No doubt it is thinking of Lord Beaverbrook, but if that enterprising individual had remained plain Max Aitken, his prestige would have been higher in Canada than it is.

BRITAIN'S TRANQUIL MAY DAY.

With a reconstruction problem perhaps more complex than any other belligerent in the late conflict, excepting Russia and the Central Powers, it is significant and gratifying to note that supreme tranquility reigned yesterday in the "tight little isle." In the great republic of France bloodshed unhappily marked the first day of May and the clash of arms was heard between the officers of the law and the proletariat. In the United States, the shrine of the world's democracy, bombs were flitting through the mails and Cleveland, Ohio, staged its own peculiar May Day celebration.

Apparently the foundation of British institutions has lost none of its stability. Insidious as has been the propaganda of the Hun and his Bolshevik accessory, cracks in the structure upon which Britain is established are not wide enough to admit anything but justice, fairplay and the spirit of toleration.

The Canadian Trade Commissioner at Yokohama reports that it has now been decided to build aeroplanes in Japan, and that 600 will be constructed this year. The engines will be imported, but the fuselages will be constructed entirely in Japan. The Commissioner adds: "This will mean a new market for Canadian aeroplane spruce and also for the many materials and parts necessary for aeroplane construction, such as wire, screws, bolts, nails, forgings, stampings, turn-buckles, varnish, aluminum, rubber and 'dope,' etc." The latest issue of The Weekly Bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce contains inquiries from firms in Japan for quotations on aeroplane spruce and aeroplane accessories. The Trade Commissioner warns that, as the authorities intend to begin their aviation campaign at once, Canadian exporters should lose no time in answering these inquiries.

Former Premier Luzzatti is reported to have declared that the Allies never have rewarded Italy's sacrifices as they deserved to be rewarded. Italy undoubtedly has made heavy sacrifices and has played a great and glorious part in the war. Great Britain and France also have made heavy sacrifices, but they have made concessions, just the same, in the interests, not of national aspirations, but of world peace and harmony. If France's reward for sacrifice was considered in terms of territory, what, indeed, would she not be entitled to? Her casualties were 4,000,000. And what about the sacrifices of Serbia, which, in proportion to her numbers and resources, have been greater than those of any other nation?

China objects to the terms of the settlement of the Shantung question; so does the Advisory Council in Tokio. China wants Kiao Chau as well as Shantung and the abolition of all concessions she has made to foreign nations. The Advisory Council wants both Shantung and Kiao Chau for Japan. Belgium also says she will refuse to sign the treaty according to its present indemnity provisions. Every country will have a kick against the treaty, which will mean that it is a reasonably good document.

The Montreal Trades and Labor Council has turned down the "one-big-union" proposal by a large majority, only four voting in favor of the scheme. The workmen of Montreal evidently are determined to uphold and safeguard the principles of trades unionism, and the majority of the trades unionists of Canada will do the same.

A correspondent informs us that the family name of the tent caterpillar is "Lasiocampidae" and that of the insect itself "Malacosoma Pivialis." While thanking our correspondent for the information, strictly between ourselves we would rather call the thing the "tent caterpillar."

CHRISTIANITY—THAT'S ALL.

The broadness of Cardinal Gibbons' humanity is shown in his appeal for aid for the Armenians and Syrians. They are not of his church. But they are Christians expressed by Mohammedans, and they are hungry. That's enough for the Cardinal.

LIONESS KILLED HER KEEPER, ESCAPED AND LATER WAS KILLED

Woodbury, N. J., May 2.—Pandemonium reigned for an hour in Woodbury yesterday afternoon when a lioness on exhibition in a circus show killed her keeper before a small crowd of spectators, and then escaped and bounded into a dump of woods which adjoins the town.

A posse of men and boys armed with guns, pikes and stones, pursued the animal into the woods and finally killed her with a fusillade of more than 300 shots, twelve of which took effect.

TRUE BILL AGAINST STUMP IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, May 2.—The Grand Jury here yesterday brought in a true bill against H. J. Stump, charged with retaining stolen liquor. In the case of W. C. Findlay no pronouncement was made, it being understood that the Grand Jury is withholding the matter awaiting the evidence of Government officials from Victoria.

Mr. Justice Gregory submitted to the Grand Jury for consideration the case of Watson and White, charged with robbery with violence, and Stewart, charged with shooting with intent to kill a woman in Point Grey.

ITALIAN TROOPS CROSSING ADRIATIC

Copenhagen, May 1.—Via London, May 2.—Italian troops and war materials are being landed at Sebenico and Zara, on the eastern coast of the Adriatic, according to advices from Spalato. The troops are advancing eastward and the Italians are bringing up reinforcements to the line of demarcation.

3,224 LYNCHED IN U. S. IN THIRTY YEARS

New York, May 2.—In the last thirty years 3,224 persons have been killed by mobs in the United States, according to a report by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In the period from 1889 through 1918, the North had 219 victims, the South 2,834, the West 156 and Alaska and other localities fifteen. Fifty colored women and eleven white women were lynched in four states, says the report. The North and West together lynched twenty-one persons during the last five-year period.

STREET RAILWAY MEN OF WINNIPEG AWAIT REPORT OF BOARD

Winnipeg, May 2.—Following a meeting of the street railway men this morning it was announced that the men had decided to remain at work pending a decision of the arbitration board, to which, however, they will not be a party. It was pointed out that the men were merely complying with the law. There is no date set for cessation of work, the matter being left in the hands of the committee with the understanding that the strike vote will stand.

This morning 1,000 metal workers quit work, following the example set by the building trades yesterday.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS VOTES IN STATES

New York, May 2.—Conventions for popular ratification of the League of Nations covenant will be held in fifteen eastern and central western states during the last two weeks of May, and the first week of June, it was announced today by the League to Enforce Peace.

BRIG-GEN. GRIMWALD NOW IN VICTORIA

Army at St. Quentin and furnished a good part of the artillery support for the advancing Americans when they started their triumphant march to the Rhine, says General Grimwade. It was during this fighting that General Grimwade commanded the heavy gun operations, laying down barrages and smashing power of bombardments which made possible the final victory, clearing France of the invaders.

Heavily Suffered. "The Australian troops suffered the most heavily of any forces when one takes into consideration the number of men used," said General Grimwade. "Our killed numbered 60,000 out of a total of 220,000 men in the overseas forces, while the wounded brought the total up to 280,000—a loss of eighty-eight per cent. Besides losing so many of its sons, Australia went into the war to the limit in every possible manner. She drafted her man-power to furnish the British Empire with the purchase of munitions, and placed her shipping at the disposal of the Empire, while her daughters were either in the war service as nurses or had taken their places in the factories and the fields that men might be released. Even the children contributed their share. Australia was in the war till victory was achieved or the last man had paid the supreme sacrifice."

"Now that the question of militarism or liberty has been settled, we are waiting the return to normal conditions and the resumption of our commerce with the world, and Australia has a world-wide trade that is amazing in its magnitude."

Anxious to Be Back. "The gallant boys who left their homes to make secure the freedom of the world are anxious to get back and resume their business and home life. Our Australian boys are longing to return to their homes, but there is a shortage of transports, the distance is very great, and it will be some time before they will all be returned. It is causing some slight dissatisfaction in some quarters, but when the reasons for the delay are learned, then they are willing to wait their turn."

General Grimwade left the United Kingdom in the latter part of February, and has been spending the interim in a pleasure jaunt through the United States with his family, whom he met on his arrival. Besides the General and Mrs. Grimwade, the party is made up of Miss Grimwade, a son, H. T. Grimwade, and Hugh R. Squire, who is accompanying the party to Melbourne.

VANCOUVER RECEPTION FOR MAJOR MADDEN

Vancouver, May 2.—Intense enthusiasm prevailed from the beginning to the end of the reception held at Lester Court last evening in honor of Major (Father) Madden, M.C., D.S.O. Hearty cheering, sincere speeches, the presentation of a watch and the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," made up but a small part of the effort of those present to show the gallant soldier-priest how deep was their appreciation of the splendid part he had played in the war.

On the platform with the guest of honor sat Archbishop Casey, Bishop A. U. de Pencier, Rev. Dr. Macdonald of Victoria, and Mr. Phelan, who acted as chairman. In an eloquent address Bishop de Pencier told of his personal knowledge of the magnificent work done in France by Major Madden. "If I were to propose a toast," he said, "it would be to Father Madden, the man, the Christian and the soldier-priest."

CHINAMAN KILLED IN VANCOUVER MILL

Vancouver, May 2.—Minus the upper part of the trunk, which is believed to have found its way into the burner at the Brooks-Bidlake Mill here, the body of Wong Hing lies at the city morgue pending an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding his death. Hing was engaged filling a circular saw at the mill when another Oriental is said to have started the machinery, not knowing of the man's proximity to the table. The flier's body was thrown over the teeth and literally cut in halves, one portion passing through a hole in the wall near the saw, and it is thought, falling into the burner, where it was consumed.

MANITOBA PREMIER AND OTTAWA CHARGE

Winnipeg, May 2.—Premier Norris sent a wire last night to H. A. Mackie, M. P., in reference to charges made by Mr. Mackie in Parliament Wednesday. Here is the Premier's message: "A speech of yours in the House of Commons yesterday is reported in this morning's press in part as follows: 'Mr. Mackie said there was a politician in the employ of the Manitoba Government who had a room in the Labor Temple in Winnipeg. When people came to him he would give them a card exempting them from deportation, saying the Norris Government was preventing them from being deported.' I have been making inquiries, and can find no trace of any such individual. I have never heard of him. I can not imagine what you have reference to. Please wire me immediately the name of the party you had in view, with as full particulars as possible."

IN UNITED KINGDOM.

London, May 2.—May Day in England was celebrated peacefully. There were processions by laboring men and meetings in London, and also a big parade of Socialists in the West End, where many speeches were delivered. The only untoward demonstration of the day was when Sylvia Pankhurst, the suffragette, and a score of women spectators tried to force an entrance into the House of Commons. The police prevented their entry, and Miss Pankhurst was arrested. In Scotland, the miners took a holiday. In Dublin business was generally suspended and the theatres and moving picture houses were closed.

territorial claims which you put forward. The Minister demanded an immediate cessation of hostilities, non-interference with Hungarian internal affairs and the reaching of economic agreements.

Budapest dispatches on Thursday stated that the Hungarian Government had asked the Roumanian and Jugoslav Governments for a cessation of hostilities, offering them several concessions. The foregoing evidently refers to the official messages in this connection. Berlin newspapers yesterday published reports from Vienna that the Hungarian Government had been overthrown and that the Foreign Minister, (Bela Kun) together with the War and Food Ministers had arrived in Vienna with their families, but these reports have not been confirmed.

ACTUAL VOICE AND THE NEW EDISON ARE THE SAME.

To hear a magnificent voice on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House is one thing. To hear the same voice imitated on the talking machine or common type of phonograph is quite another thing. But to hear that voice on the stage and to hear it Re-Created on the NEW EDISON, "The Phonograph with a Soul," is exactly the same thing. For, as the famous tone tests have proved, the living voice and its Re-Creation on this instrument are indistinguishable.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and Bunty's Ride

Copyright, 1915, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

Out in front of the hollow stump bungalow was Uncle Wiggly's automobile. He had put on it a new turnip steering wheel, and he was thinking of going for a ride, when Nurse Jane Fussy Wuzzy came out on the front stoop and said:

"Here's the pepper caster, Mr. Longears."

"Pepper caster? What do I want of that when I'm going for a ride in my auto?" asked the bunny, in surprise.

"I don't need it," said Uncle Wiggly.

"Why, yes, you do," spoke Nurse Jane. "Don't you remember? You always sprinkle pepper on the sausage tires of your auto, when you want to go fast. And you might want to go fast to-day."

"So I might," said Uncle Wiggly, reflective like, and slow. "So I might. Thank you, Nurse Jane."

The bunny rabbit gentleman took the pepper caster from the muskrat lady, but still he did not get in his auto and take a ride. Instead he sat down on a bench in front of his bungalow, and he let the sun shine through his whiskers and on his pink, twinkling nose.

"I think I'll set here and take a rest," spoke Uncle Wiggly. "I did have it in mind to go for a ride, but it is very nice here, it does my old rheumatic joints good to let the sun soak in. I'll just be lazy and comfortable to-day."

So he took some soft cushions out of the Sunday parlor part of his auto, made himself a little bed on the bench at the sunny side of his auto, and snuggled down.

"Oh, what a funny-looking rabbit you are!" cried a jolly little voice all of a sudden. "Come on and play with me, Uncle Wiggly!"

"No, Baby Bunty! Not to-day!" answered Mr. Longears, not even bothering to open his eyes, he was so lazy like and self-contained. But even if he did not see her, he knew it was Baby Bunty speaking. She was the lively little rabbit girl he had found in a hollow stump, and had brought home to live with him.

"Oh, come and play tag!" begged Bunty.

"No! No! No! No!" said Mr. Longears slowly. "I just want to sit and rest. My joints are too stiff to play tag!"

Then everything grew quiet and peaceful, and Uncle Wiggly thought Baby Bunty had gone away so he could go to sleep. Baby Bunty had gone away, but in a very queer way.

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggly was awakened by hearing Nurse Jane call out:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Baby Bunty is having a ride."

"Is she?" asked the bunny slowly. That's good! I hope she has a nice one!"

"Oh, but listen!" cried the muskrat lady. "Baby Bunty jumped in your auto while you were asleep, and she sprinkled some pepper on the boggy sausage tires, and now she's riding away! Run after her! Hop after her and catch her in the auto, or she may be hurt!"

"Oh, my! Oh, my goodness!" cried Uncle Wiggly. He was wide awake now, and he forgot all about his stiff joints and wanting to rest.

On through the woods he hopped. Faster and faster rode Baby Bunty in the runaway auto. Faster and faster hopped Uncle Wiggly. Quicker and quicker went Baby Bunty in the skip-ply auto. Quicker and quicker hopped Uncle Wiggly after her.

"Stop! Stop!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "What are you trying to do?"

"Oh! I wanted to have some fun, and make you chase me," said Baby Bunty. "But I didn't mean to go so fast, and now I can't stop! Save me! Save me!"

"I will if I can!" panted Uncle Wiggly. He wasn't a bit lazy or sleepy now. Nor were his joints stiff! He was as lively as a cricket.

Suddenly, just as Baby Bunty, not knowing much about automobiles, was going to run into a tree, Uncle Wiggly gave a big skip and a hop and caught up to her. In he jumped, shut off the gasoline, put on the brakes and saved Bunty. Then the little rabbit girl smiled sweetly and said:

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggly, I thought I could make you come and have a ride with me."

"Well—don't do it—again!" said the rabbit gentleman, all out of breath like. "You are getting too lively like me, Baby Bunty! Altogether too lively!"

Still he liked her, and if he can't open her doesn't take the top off the powdered sugar basin and make the gold-fish sneeze, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Bunty's balloon.

Social Personal

W. J. Clark, J. P., who has been visiting Vancouver and Victoria, returned recently to his home at Heriot Bay.

Mrs. Biggar, who with her husband, has been residing in Victoria for several months, is now the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. McMurich, Marjestic Apartments, Vancouver.

Mrs. Moffat, of Fernie, a councillor of the Provincial Chapter, has been attending the recent sessions of the Chapter in Victoria and is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Corning, of Oak Bay. She expects to remain here for a few days longer before returning to her home in the interior.

The Ladies of the Church of Our Lord will hold a specially attractive sale of work at the Hinton Building on Saturday afternoon and evening. Tired shoppers will not only find a pleasant resting place, but a fragrant cup of tea, Weber will give delicious home-made cake. For the children an old-fashioned fish pond is provided and the adults will discover all sorts of beautiful articles of plain and fancy work most reasonably priced.

At the monthly tea-musical of the Ladies' Musical Club, to be held at the Empress Hotel to-morrow afternoon, Miss Maude Scruby and Master Middleton will contribute cello numbers, vocal selections will be rendered by Mrs. Hamlet, Miss Denise Harris, Miss Hannah Barr and Miss Dorothy Kirk, while Miss Monica Davis and Miss Louise Weber will give pianoforte selections. At Holy Trinity Church, Seattle, on Saturday last the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. J. Bliss, of Miss M. A. Hayward, of Victoria, and Robert Brock, of Seattle. The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue cloth, with vestee of Delft blue, with which she wore a smart navy blue Metz sailor hat, trimmed with French flowers. Instead of carrying the customary bridal bouquet, she wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Brock, who were the recipients of many handsome presents from their numerous friends, have taken up their residence at the Lafayette Apartments, Seattle.

About forty visitors attended the last of the series of lectures given by Mrs. Armbriester, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bushby, St. Charles street evening. "Rupert Brooke" was the subject, the lecturer giving a delightful review of the life and works of the gallant soldier-poet, who died at Lemnos early in 1915. At the conclusion of the lecture, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. So enjoyable have been the literary lectures given by Mrs. Armbriester, that she has been requested to continue the series later on in the fall.

What may be described as the "pioneer" girls' chapter of Victoria—the Willows Camp Chapter, I. O. D. E., will hold one of their popular dances at the Empress Hotel to-night. The proceeds will be devoted to the carrying on of the chapter's work of providing comfort and entertainment for returned soldiers. Professor Turner's orchestra will furnish the program of the latest dance numbers. The management of the hotel has been co-operating with the girls in promoting the comfort and enjoyment of every patron of the event, which promises to be one of the most delightful dances of the season.

An interesting double wedding in which two brothers, residents of Victoria, were married to two sisters, took place in Vancouver on April 28, the couples being Miss Hilda Tennant and W. H. T. Yates, Miss Daisy Tennant and James H. Yates. The brides were gowned alike in white silk, brocade embroidered in pearls and opals, and wore veils with wreaths of orange blossoms, and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. Major Rev. C. C. Owen officiated at the ceremony, and Mr. Chubb presided at the organ. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Phillips, West Vancouver. After a honeymoon on Vancouver Island both couples will reside in Victoria.

A very pleasant time was spent at the Military Convalescent Hospital, Esquimalt, last evening when the members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Army and Navy Veterans gave a concert to the patients. Vocal solos were rendered by Mesdames W. P. McDonagh, C. C. A. Warn, Taylor and Miss Heathcote; Messrs. Frank Sehl, J. Trace, J. Dobie, Sr., and J. Dobie, Jr.; piano duet by Miss L. Taylor and Mrs. King. Mrs. Warn acted as accompanist. After the musical programme refreshments were served and dancing indulged in. The ladies responsible for the successful evening were Mrs. A. E. Hodgins, president; Mrs. W. H. Richdale, social convener; Mrs. W. H. Watson, secretary; Mrs. Defty and Mrs. Ward. Sergt.-Major Rhodes made an efficient chairman. The members of the men's social committee provided the "smokes."

Refreshments at Mt. Tolmie.—The ladies of St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, will serve afternoon tea on Mount Tolmie on Saturday between three and five o'clock, in aid of church funds. To anybody visiting the Mount at this season of the year, a cup of tea amid the beautiful surroundings will prove very acceptable.

UNION WINS OUT IN CIVIC DISPUTE

Mr. Byers Reinstated Following Dismissal; Union Delegation Meets Mayor

The dispute which, it was stated, threatened to cause a general strike at the City Hall was settled yesterday afternoon when, following a discussion between the Mayor and representatives of various local unions, the Water Commissioner agreed to retract his decision to dismiss Isaac Byers, President of the Protective Association. Mr. Byers will be placed more directly under the supervision of the Engineer's Department, and will be given additional duties to perform.

Mr. Byers was dismissed entirely on the responsibility of the Water Commissioner, and not at the instigation of the Council. It is alleged that supposed friction between Mr. Byers and A. Borde, his direct supervisor, was the original cause of the dismissal. The matter was regarded by civic employees, however, as a blow intended to discourage the Association.

When the Aldermen perceived what a storm of protest and indignation the dismissal had caused, the Mayor immediately took the matter up with the Water Commissioner, and urged that a compromise on the matter be arranged. The Commissioner, however, was not at first inclined to retract his decision, and yesterday afternoon the situation appeared very serious. The gravity of the position in which the Council found itself was augmented by the action taken by various other unions which appeared ready to go the limit in backing up the Civic Employees' Protective Association. A delegation representing the Trades and Labor Council, the Policemen's Union, the Firemen's Union and the Protective Association met the Mayor in a friendly conference, and talked the whole question over. As an outcome of all these circumstances the Commissioner finally decided to reinstate Mr. Byers, recognizing, he states, that if this was not done a general strike would almost inevitably result.

As a result of the activity of John Dryden, Chief of the Saanich Police, James Armstrong appeared in the Saanich Police Court this morning charged with being in possession of stolen goods. The case was remanded. Some time ago the theft of certain articles was reported to Chief Dryden, who set to work on the case immediately. After following up various clues he traced Armstrong to Sidney, hastening to that town yesterday, in company with Provincial Constable Gilbert, he arrested Armstrong there and brought him to town. It is alleged that goods found with accused were identified as some of those missing.

The action arose as a result of an automobile collision early last February on the Boleskine Road, Saanich. Special damages amounting to $42.10 and general damages to the extent of $30 are asked for in the plaint. J. A. Aikman appeared for plaintiff and T. Marchant for the defendant.

RAYMOND BREWSTER'S LAST RESTING PLACE

The little white crosses mark the last resting place of heroes who gave up their lives in the great fight for world's freedom in France. The cross behind which stands the broken wheel of an artillery wagon is at the head of the grave where Sergeant Raymond Brewster was buried after he had sacrificed his life on the battlefield. Grief-stricken comrades laid to rest a popular and capable leader when the young non-commissioned officer was reverently lowered into his last resting place.

A NEW RAM. Quite a number of years ago a member of the New Brunswick Legislature, whose agricultural knowledge was rather hazy, was speaking of the excellent work done by the Government in introducing pure-bred stock into the province. "The Government," he declared, "have brought in the Clydesdale horses, the Shorthorn cattle and the Hydraulic ram."

RETURNED SOLDIERS LINK THEMSELVES UP WITH THEIR FRIEND

Six Hundred Heroes Have Taken Up Membership Cards in the Y. M. C. A.

WORK OF CAMPAIGN IS EXPLAINED TO WORKERS

Six hundred free tickets of membership to the Y. M. C. A. have been taken out by returned soldiers, according to a statement made by J. M. Grahame, general secretary of the association, at a luncheon to-day. As a result of the intention of the association to continue to extend this free membership to the returned heroes and also the desire to embark on a great programme of work amongst the boys, Mr. Grahame emphatically emphasized the need of the $20,000 which is the sum to be canvassed for next week.

Mr. Grahame stated that $5,000 was this district's quota to the national association. In return of this the head offices would most likely spend three times that amount in prosecuting their work amongst the soldiers at Esquimalt, Qualicum and Esquimalt. Fifteen thousand dollars was required for the maintenance of the local association. Had the association not arranged to grant free membership to the soldiers and preferred inactivity in place of a strong desire to force the association ahead and neglect a public duty it could very easily have managed with a far smaller amount.

Dr. M. Raynor, who with Fred M. McGregor, in guiding the two sets of teams which will canvass the city, outlined the plans which had been formulated. The city had been divided into twelve business districts and twelve residential districts and twelve teams had been chosen and each would draw for one business district and one residential, canvassing the former in the day and the latter at night. When persons make a subscription to the association they will be given a button bearing the red triangle. Arrangements have also been made to canvass Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

To Popularize Association. Capt. George McGregor, who presided at the luncheon, spoke of the need of co-operation, and did not anticipate any great trouble in securing the objective. He urged the making of the Y. M. C. A. a popular place and not an old man's home. While many other societies and organizations which had been caring for the soldier had completed their work, the association still had a great amount of work to do. The boys were not all home, and many here were not discharged, and for them the work must go on. However, he did not wish to ask for patronage simply because the association was assisting the soldier. He was heartily in favor of the new scheme for the enlargement of the work of the Boys' Department. The training of the lads was just as important as looking after the heroes.

On Monday evening one of the greatest meetings ever convened in this city will be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The business men of the city will assemble for dinner in the gymnasium and the boys from the schools, business offices and workshops, will dine in the boys' department. Following the meal there will be a mass meeting in the gymnasium, at which the following men will speak: Lieut. Col. Lorne Ross, D.S.O.; Kenneth Duncan M.L.A.; Thomas Watson, ex-fire chief; Lieut. Charles Stronach, M.M.; Dr. George Hall, D.S.O.; Dr. M. Raynor, and H. Ballantyne, National Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

Drive Starts Tuesday. On Tuesday morning the drive for funds will commence. The teams will invade their allotted districts. In the evening as an added attraction a baseball game will be played in the Royal Athletic Park between teams picked by Dr. Raynor and Mr. McGregor. Several novel features will be introduced and as the game will be free and amusing it is expected that a huge crowd will assemble in the park.

The canvassers left the luncheon this afternoon filled with enthusiasm in their work. The captains have organized their teams, and when they launch their attack believe they will have sufficient momentum to carry it through to the objective—$20,000.

Too many men mistake gall for ability.

TO-DAY'S AMUSEMENTS

Princess—R. N. Hincks and Company present "What Happened to Jones."

Pantages—Vaudeville. Royal Victoria—Norma Talmadge in "The Heart of Wetona."

Columbia—Miss Alice Brady in "The Trap."

Dominion—Eliot Dexter and Gloria Swanson in "Don't Change Your Husband."

Romano—"The Grouch," featuring Montague Love.

Variety—Geraldine Farrar in "Shadows" and Houdini in "The Master Mystery."

ROYAL VICTORIA

In case Norma Talmadge ever wanted to change her profession, the field of nursing would always be open to her, for with Miss Talmadge's knowledge of mind and heart to make a splendid nurse's assistant. Her most interesting head and her ready hands saved a man's life in the filming of "The Heart of Wetona," in which she is presented by "The Heart of Wetona," which is offered through Select Pictures at the Royal Victoria again to-night.

In one of the number of chase scenes which "The Heart of Wetona" contains a number of Indian horsemen were chasing an ox when one of the horses stumbled, pinning ten horses and men. Five of the Indians were injured. Miss Talmadge hastened to the scene of the accident and her presence of mind and knowledge of bandaging kept one Indian from bleeding to death.

DOMINION

Sylvia Ashton, who played the fat wife in "Old Wives for New" is cast for the role of a wealthy dowager in Cecil B. DeMille's special new picture, "Don't Change Your Husband," which is being shown at the Dominion Theatre this week. This is a part to which she does full justice in every scene. Miss Ashton is a talented woman with rare appreciation of the subtler phases of comedy and even emotional work.

COLUMBIA

Alice Brady, talented World star, will be seen in one of the strongest emotional roles she has ever portrayed in "The Trap" is shown on the Columbia screen again to-day, with an all-star cast in Miss Brady's support. As Doris Shaw, living in an obscure fishing village, she has been left the unfortunate legatee of her mother's shame. Physically attractive, she is wooed by a man she hates, by an artist whose motive she suspects, and at last, unable to stand longer the situation, she escapes to the city and becomes a popular member of the Greenwich Village cult.

Eddie Polo in the first episode of the new Universal serial, "The Lure of the Circus," is an added week-end attraction.

VARIETY

"Boys, you heard that whistle. It's my last chance. Just the fare 'outside in memory of your mother." This is the appeal of a voice by a girl in an Alaskan dance hall. The girl is Geraldine Farrar and she is eager to get away from the man who has forced her to work in this evil environment. The play is "Shadows," the diva's new Goldwyn Picture, which is being shown on the Variety screen this week.

While some of the action is laid in the far North, for the most part Geraldine Farrar is seen as a society woman of New York. Only a short episode concerns her life in Alaska. And the star makes the most of the drama contained therein.

Houdini in the serial, "The Master Mystery," is another feature attraction on the current picture bill at the Variety.

ROMANO

Montagu Love, the famous and exceedingly popular star, is featured on the Romano screen again to-day in his latest World Picture "The Grouch," a decidedly interesting and entertaining offering which gives Mr. Love a splendid role. Mr. Love appears in the character of a man who is so morose and offish that he is called "The Grouch" by the other members of the surveying party in which he is working.

One of the noteworthy features of this production are the outdoor scenes filmed in North Carolina. These scenes are decidedly unusual and really beautiful. They will make every motion picture fan sit up and take notice.

The management has extended an invitation to children under fourteen years of age as guests to attend the matinee performance to-day from 1 until 7 o'clock to see the first episode of the new serial, "The Hand of Vengeance."

PANTAGES

"I wouldn't be constructed any other way," Charles F. Semon, "the narrow fellow" in the current Pantages show, averred to-day. "If I was I'd probably starve to death. My comedy is built around my shape and the contrasting instruments I play. If I were built in proportion I couldn't look a bit funny playing my bassoon, just as my pipe-whistle which I use in my opening number wouldn't appear humorous if a fat man played it." Semon is nearly six feet tall and less than twenty-four inches wide at his broadest point—his shoulders. He is a player of virtually every instrument made and is, in addition, the inventor of a new instrument which he calls "the ukulele-chimes." This instrument resembles in tone the ordinary Hawaiian ukulele but is worked as a xylophone. Mr. Semon plays the bassoon, the cornet, the piccolo, the clarinet, the violin, the piano and the French horn. There are other stellar turns on the bill in addition. Colini's Dancers is a turn in which the art of terpsichore is exhibited from its beginning to its end through the ages until the ball-room dance is achieved. Then there are the Four Danubians, a turn in which the most sensational acrobatic stunts are worked by four athletic young men.

PRINCESS

A most enthusiastic audience thoroughly enjoyed the eighth performance of "What Happened to Jones," the clever and amusing three-act farce, at the above theatre last evening. With only two more nights to run, crowded houses are predicted. The popularity and production being such as to warrant a continuance of the same splendid support that has already been accorded by the theatre-going public.

With the whole cast now working like a charm, the play is indeed one well worth seeing and those who have not already attended but who are desiring a most enjoyable evening amid surroundings that tend to cheer and lighten are strongly advised to attend either to-night or tomorrow night's performance.

"MAN WHO CAME BACK" IS STORY OF MAN'S FALL AND RETURN TO ESTEEM

At the Royal Victoria Theatre for two days starting Monday night, William A. Brady's "The Man Who Came Back" will be the attraction. The enthusiasm with which this stirring melodrama by Jules Eckert Goodman is being received everywhere is but a duplicate of the great triumph it enjoyed at the Playhouse in New York, where it ran for over a solid year. "The Man Who Came Back" is safely in the limited class of "standing room only" plays. It is founded on the romantic story by John Fleming Wilson and deals with episodes in the life of a wayward son, told in five tensely interesting scenes; the first in the New York mansion of the elder Potter; the second in the balcony of "The Breakers," a San Francisco resort of the gayly minded; the third in the lowest opium den in China near Shanghai; the fourth on a pineapple plantation near Honolulu; and the last back at home in New York.

It is the romantic element and the strange, bizarre and thrilling scenes that have been credited for its universal appeal and extraordinary success. It is a story of the descent to hell and the climb back to honor and respect. It shows how far a woman of great love will go for the man that she loves.

"The Man Who Came Back" is a play that nobody should miss.

LEADING TEMPLAR COMING TO VICTORIA

Ex-Mayor Cotterill Has Played Leading Part in Movement

George Fletcher Cotterill, who will give an address at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Monday next at 8 p.m. at the public meeting to be held under the joint auspices of the International Order of Good Templars and the Prohibition Party, was born at Oxford, England, coming to America in childhood.

He was brought up in New Jersey, where he was educated and trained as a surveyor and civil engineer. He removed to the Pacific Northwest at the age of eighteen, and located at Seattle in 1884, where he was active in the practice of his profession for a third of a century, for many years as assistant City Engineer of Seattle and for the past three years as Chief Engineer of the Washington State Highways Department.

He has taken an active part in Seattle civic and public affairs generally for many years, serving in several public capacities. He was State Senator at Washington for four years, 1907-1911, and Mayor of Seattle two years, 1912-1913.

He has always taken an active part in temperance and prohibition efforts, becoming a Good Templar at Seattle in 1885 and Grand Secretary of Washington Grand Lodge in 1889, first attended the International Supreme Lodge at 1893 session, and has been at every succeeding International Good Templar gathering, was elected International Counselor (second position in the International Supreme Lodge) in 1899, again in 1908, 1911 and 1914, altogether holding that position for fourteen years up to the present date. He was appointed by President Taft in 1905, and again by President Wilson in 1913, as American delegate to the International Good Templar Congress on Alcoholism, at London and at Milan. He has made eight trips to Great Britain and to the European continent in attending international Good Templar meetings and congresses, and also has been present at various gatherings throughout the United States and Canada.

He has taken an active part in the movement for State Prohibition in Washington, through the twenty-five years of effort which finally brought enactment of Prohibition in 1914—also in the movement for national Prohibition which culminated in ratification by a sufficient number of States in January, 1919.

He further assisted in the B. C. Provincial Prohibition campaign, making addresses at Victoria and Vancouver.

DAISY CHAIN CHAPTER
TEA BIG SUCCESS
Delightful Affair at Home of Regent, Mrs. Love, Yesterday Afternoon

Many prominent members of the I. O. O. E. attended the delightful function held under the auspices of the Daisy Chain Junior Chapter at the home of its regent, Mrs. Love, 1041 Craigdarroch Road, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Henry Croft, Honorary Provincial Vice-President, and Mrs. A. F. Griffiths, Municipal Regent, were among the many visitors.

Delicious candy made by the girls of the chapter and offered for sale in dainty flower-like receptacles found ready purchasers at the hands of the Misses Mabel Rhodes and Gwen Hudson, assisted by Miss Margaret Hincks. Sweet-smelling lilac, wallflowers, showy tulips and other spring blossoms were sold by the Misses Helen Bennett and Margaret Campbell, while the Misses Lorna Miller and Kathleen Muir extracted toll from all who entered the house. The attractive tea arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. Stuart Robertson and Mrs. H. Heisterman, assisted by a band of youthful servers including the Misses Dorothy and Lillian Norris, Helen Spring, Frances Bennett, Margaret and Mary Campbell.

An informal musical programme to which Mrs. Harry Briggs and Miss Southwell contributed vocal solos and Mrs. Seakier, pianoforte numbers, added much to the pleasurable event, the success of which redounds to the credit of the youthful and energetic members of this girls' chapter.

Mr. Fawcett's Appointment—In connection with the appointment of T. D. Fawcett to an important marine position in Seattle, announced yesterday, it should have been explained that prior to his connection with the B. C. Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Fawcett was associated for many years with the C. P. N. Company, its predecessors.

Nanaimo Officer Returns—Capt. Arthur Leighton of Nanaimo, who enlisted in September, 1915, returned to Nanaimo from overseas service last night, and after a visit to his parents in Victoria will resume his law practice in the Island city. Mrs. Leighton, who accompanied her husband from England, was engaged in V. A. D. work at St. Dunstan's Home for blinded soldiers. Capt. Leighton went overseas with the rank of lieutenant in the 72nd Battalion. He spent twenty months in France, being wounded at Vimy Ridge in March, 1917, and after recuperating in England returned to the firing line in January, 1918, and was with the forces when the armistice brought hostilities to an end.

The Regular Meeting of Gonzales Chapter takes place on Tuesday, May 6, at 10.30 in I. O. O. E. rooms.

HIGH WIND RECORDED IN OVERNIGHT GALE
Velocity of 48 Miles an Hour Reported During Spring Storm Yesterday

High wind velocities were reached yesterday, and "considerable damage was done to blossoms in local orchards. It will be recalled that on the first Sunday in May, 1916, a great deal of damage was done by high winds, when many orchards in the Victoria vicinity were stripped of spring blossom.

F. Napier Denison, Superintendent of the Gonzales Hill Observatory, reports that up to 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a moderate gale was blowing, but from that hour and until 3 o'clock this morning a strong gale from the southwest was recorded, during which the highest was reached between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the velocity was forty-eight miles an hour. In fact, from 2 to 7 o'clock yesterday afternoon the wind continued to blow at a rate of over forty miles. The fact that it came from the direction of the snow-capped Olympics forced local residents to don their overcoats.

Mr. Denison explains that the high wind was caused by the barometer falling suddenly over the interior of the Province, and remaining high on the coast. This condition caused what is called a steep barometric gradient. The conditions were general not only in the Straits, but throughout the entire Gulf.

UNIQUE AND ATTRACTIVE WINDOW DISPLAY

One of the View Street Windows of David Spencer, Ltd. is causing considerable mirth and comment from the passers-by.

It is in the nature of a display for the advertisement of a Corn Cure, and is very ingeniously laid out. In the centre a hoop is suspended covered with the corn cure packets. In the centre of the hoop is an epitaph from an old Gloucester Churchyard, which reads as follows:

"Here lie the bones of Richard Naughton, Whose death, alas, was strangely brought on; Trying one day his corns to mow off, The razor slipped and cut his toe off, The toe (or rather what it grew to), An inflammation quickly flew to; It started then a mortifying, Which was the cause of Richard's dye."

NOTE—If Richard had used Dr. Howard's Corn Cure he might be alive now.

To the right is a collection of old shoes, with a notice to the effect that these old Corn Bins are "to let," the owners having no further use for them since using the Corn Cure. On the left is a chopping block and axe labelled "An old method of getting rid of corns. Chop the toe off at the first joint."

Two or three excellently adapted cartoons showing old methods of cutting corns are placed to the best advantage, the whole being set off with a green and gold background, forming a very effective advertisement.

PLAN TO PERPETUATE ALL FIGHTING UNITS
Scheme Prepared to Replace All Former Militia Units With Active Battalions

102ND BATTALION TO REPLACE 88TH HERE

Strong efforts are now being made to have the militia of British Columbia reorganized on entirely different lines to those proposed by the Department of Militia and Defence at Ottawa. About two months ago the Dominion Government allocated $143,000 for the purpose of re-establishing all the militia units which were active prior to the outbreak of war. This would mean that many of the gallant regiments which came into being during the bloody conflict would pass into oblivion immediately, and their war honors and traditions would be lost to posterity.

In order to perpetuate the famous regiments in British Columbia at any rate, a proposal has been submitted to the Militia Department to substitute the names of these regiments for those units which did not see active service in France. This proposal is thoroughly endorsed by Major-General Leckie, C. M. G., G. O. C. of Military District No. 11.

According to the scheme the 2nd C. B. Battalion would take the place of the 30th B. C. Horse with headquarters at Vernon; the 54th Battalion would replace the 107th Regiment with headquarters at Nelson; the 104th Regiment at New Westminster would become the 47th Battalion; the 7th, 16th, 25th and 72nd would be organized in Vancouver to replace the 6th, 11th and 72nd, and in Victoria the 102nd Battalion would take the place of the 88th, and the 56th Gordon Highlanders would remain. Victoria would also be the headquarters of the artillery.

Everyone interested in the reorganization of the militia realize the difficulties of getting retrained men to link up with any organization which has a semblance of army discipline, especially if that unit has not active service to its credit.

With the reorganization of the fighting units many men would join up purely out of delight in their old regiment. The honors which had been lavished upon them by the various allied countries would be something they could look upon with mingled feeling and justified pride.

"This method of reorganization would be the salvation of our militia," stated a high military authority this morning.

In regard to Victoria the scheme proposes to have the 102nd Battalion replace the 88th Regiment. The latter unit proceeded overseas but was split up in England. It also sent a large number of drafts to the famous Seventh fighters were former members of the 88th. If the 102nd Battalion was reorganized in this city all battle honors and traditions would be with the unit and placed in suitable positions in the Drill Hall.

The 102nd Battalion had a reputation second to none. It was attached to the Fourth Division and better fighters never went over the top. "Warrior's" as they were commonly known, made a great impression when they first went to France owing to the great stature and amazing fighting qualities. Every unit liked to have the old 102nd alongside it when anything serious was going on. The manner in which the battalion went over at Vimy, captured the electric light station at the foot of Hill 65 and its action at Passchendaele as well as its magnificent dash in the last months of the war are some of the outstanding qualities of the regiment.

It is realized that owing to the way in which reinforcements were sent to the fighting line, Vancouver men went into Victoria units and vice versa, and in respect to the 2nd C. B. Battalion which would be established at Vernon, many Victoria boys belong to it. But these men would be asked to join up with the electric light unit, was established in their district, and as well as being enrolled as members of their old battalions.

The matter is now being taken up with the Militia Department at Ottawa, and some announcement is expected very shortly as to whether the authorities will hold to the former regiments or endorse the new scheme.

Was Troubled With BOILS FOR SIX MONTHS

From the days of Job to the present time, boils have been one of the greatest afflictions of the human race. Very few people escape from having them at some time.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do won't cure them and stop more coming.

Boils are caused by bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the greatest blood purifier known. It cleanses the system, and purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul material from the system, and when this is done, never another boil comes and health and strength are permanently restored.

Mr. C. H. Bridges, 470 Barton St. E., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with boils for about six months and tried every remedy without any relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, and the effect has been wonderful. After using two bottles I was rid of them all. I feel like a new man; my appetite is better, and I sleep better than I have for years. I can highly recommend B. B. B. to all who are troubled as I was."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for the past forty years, and manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PUBLIC APPEAL FOR JUBILEE HOSPITAL

Ladies' Auxiliary Organize Tag Day To-morrow; First Time Since War

To-morrow an appeal will be made on behalf of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to which it is hoped the public will subscribe with the generosity which has characterized the many tag days held in this city. Realizing that the needs of war were of paramount importance during the past four years, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital refrained from making any public appeal, but now, with the advent of peace, they feel that they can approach the citizens on behalf of an institution which plays a tremendous part in the welfare of the community.

The headquarters for the day will be at the Central Building in Trenchou Alley, where Mrs. Rhodes, President of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Herbert Pennington will be in charge. Taggers will be on the streets from an early hour, and the following are the conveners in charge of the various stations as designated:

ABORIGINE IN LAND ONLY ON SUFFERANCE

Native Woman Explains Anomalous Position to I. O. D. E. Delegates

A stirring plea for justice for the Indians of British Columbia was made before the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E., Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. S. Cook, an Indian woman of the province and secretary of the Nimpkish Chapter of the Order. As the mother of a son who offered his services and fought in the Empire's cause during the great war, Mrs. Cook reminded her hearers of the irony of the situation. "I claim that I am a British citizen, though your Government does not recognize me as such. Your Government has taken our lands, and all we possess, and as non-treaty Indians we have no possessions, no representatives in your Parliament, and no voice in the affairs of the country of which we are the natives. You are all talking with pride of being Canadians but think of the Indians who have no country, and who are in British Columbia only on sufferance," she continued.

Declaring that the rights of the Indians had been overlooked ever since the days when the British had endeavored to obtain justice for the natives of the Province, Mrs. Cook stated that the British Columbia Indians were largely dependent upon the charity of the Indians of the other Provinces, whose rights were protected by treaty. In British Columbia there were no arrangements made for the education of the natives, beyond that given by the churches. They were not encouraged to build good homes for themselves, because they were not able to obtain title but only ticket of location.

Citing the cases of the Indian boys in the North who last year refrained from fishing in order to comply with the government's request to help in the cutting of spruce on the Indian reserves for aeroplane production, Mrs. Cook stated that on applying for fishery licenses this year, these same boys had been told that licenses would only be granted to those holding them last year. This she characterized as grossly unjust, yet under the present state of affairs the Indians had no redress, and no one to whom to turn for advice. Such conditions accounted for the lack of progress among the Indians, continued the speaker.

She referred to the petition sent by the Nishga Indians to the Privy Council, asking that body to intercede with the Government of British Columbia on their behalf, a petition which met with no success, the judicial committee stating that the matter must be taken through the courts of the Province. "We have tried in every way to get our rights, but every door is shut to us, and now we are losing all control of our lands and our fisheries," was the assertion made.

Mrs. Cook expressed the hope that the I. O. D. E. would unite with the Women's Council and that through this strong body of women public opinion could be drawn to the matter of the Indians and their status in the Dominion, with a view to redress. As a result of Mrs. Cook's splendid and moving address the meeting passed a resolution deploring the action of the Government in forfeiting the fishery rights of the Indians.

Four Queer Ways of Treating Corns

Some Sit and Suffer

They let the corn spoil countless joyful hours. Dainty shoes are torture. Yet millions of others end that pain in a jiffy, and keep free from corns forever.

Some Pad Them

The pads are unsightly. Everyone knows that they hide a deformity. Why will dainty women, year after year, treat their feet in that way?

Some Pare and Pare

They get a partial brief relief. But they let the corn stay, and pare it again and again. And each time they risk an infection.

Some Use Ancient Cures

Some use methods which are harsh and mussy, out-of-date, unscientific. The very same treatments that fakers sold back in 1860.

The Right Way Ends Corns—At Once and Forever

Nowadays there are millions who know that all those old methods are folly. The new-day way—the simple, certain, scientific way—is easiest of all.

A famous chemist, years ago, invented the Blue-jay plaster. It was based on many years of corn study.

The plaster is applied in a jiffy. It wraps about the toe and fits snugly. In a moment one forgets it. The pain of the corn stops instantly, and never returns. Then a bit of wax, centered on the corn alone, gently undermines it.

In two days take the Blue-jay off and the corn will disappear. Sometimes an old, tough corn needs another application. But that's easy, and that's all. The toughest corn cannot resist Blue-jay.

How Blue-jay Acts

A is a thin, soft, protecting ring which stops the pain by relieving the pressure.
B is the B&B wax centered on the corn to gently undermine it.
C is rubber adhesive. It wraps around the toe and makes the plaster snug and comfortable.

Blue-jay is the doctor's way of ending corns. It is the modern, scientific way—made by a surgical dressing house of world-wide reputation. It is also the easy way, the simple, quick and safe way.

Millions now employ it. Half the corns in America, probably, are now being ended by Blue-jay. Users apply it when a corn first appears, so they never suffer, or keep a corn.

Consider that. Corns are absolutely needless. It is easier to end than coddle them. Every corn pain can be ended in a jiffy. Every corn can be eliminated. Every foot can be kept forever free.

Prove this tonight. Get a package of Blue-jay—watch the effect on one corn. Say farewell to all corns today. You owe that to yourself.

BOLSHEVIST PROPAGANDA TAKING AWAY SAVINGS

American bankers are much alarmed over Bolshevik propaganda, which, they estimate, is very likely to induce 1,300,000 foreign born persons in the United States to return to their native lands, taking with them savings amounting to possibly $4,000,000,000.

If native born Americans had per capita been as thrifty as the foreign born, there would to-day be no anxiety over the possible loss of large sums of money to foreign countries, for the American will stick to this continent. If he sends his money abroad it will be that the return may come to his own country.

For Canadians the lesson is that all should save so that all, but a small fraction of the country's savings being in the hands of good Canadians, there may be no fear of the permanent loss to Canada of large sums through emigration.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps make it easy for even the humblest Canadian to save and thus concentrate the wealth of this country among the great mass of the people.

Familiar Scene to Pioneers; Old Craighflower Bridge

The Dramatic Story of Germany's Fall

By Leonard Spray in The London Daily Telegraph.

What follows is a hitherto unwritten chapter in the history of Germany's defeat and ultimate collapse. Among other things, it disposes once for all of the fiction still promulgated in many quarters that the downfall was brought about by internal and subsidiary causes—in the last event the November revolution—and it provides conclusive proof that Germany's surrender was a direct result of the military circumstances imposed upon her by the Allies long before there manifested themselves the other conditions upon which the supporters of the old regime still lay the blame for the great catastrophe.

It will be remembered that in his recent speech of defence in the National Assembly Erzberger stated that on November 10 a telegram was received from Great Headquarters telling the German Armistice Commission that, whilst seeking amelioration, they must in any event assent to whatever conditions Marshal Foch wished to impose—in effect, that Germany must surrender on terms. What Erzberger did not say—and what has up to now not been publicly disclosed—is that Hindenburg gave practically the same dread command, and in a peremptory form, as long previously as September 23, in the early morning hours of that day six members of the Reichstag each received a Government telegram despatched in the course of the previous night. This telegram instructed them to appear at nine o'clock, the same morning at the Home Ministry, in order to receive a confidential communication from the Government. The meeting accordingly took place. As will be seen from the account which follows, written from information supplied by one of those present, it was of the most dramatic and, for those who attended it, tragic character.

At the appointed hour they found themselves in the waiting-room of the Home Ministry, Count Westrap, of the Conservatives; Herr Stresemann, of the National Liberals; Herr Groeber, of the Centre party; Herr Ebert, of the Majority Socialists; and Herr Haase, of the Independents. All were equally and greatly surprised at finding themselves in such an exclusive assembly of party leaders. Significantly exclusive, for there were missing, and had clearly not been invited, such party magnates as Herr Heydbrand, of the Conservatives; Herr Erzberger, of the Centre; and Herr Scheidemann, of the Socialists. It must be information of a truly extraordinarily confidential character which was to be imparted to such a small group, and yet a group representative of every party in the State.

Whilst waiting to be summoned to the Ministerial presence, they feverishly discussed the probable nature of the communication. Little did they guess at the bombshell which was to be thrown into their midst, and it casts a penetrating searchlight on the degree to which even the responsible political leaders had been kept in the dark by the Military Command as to the true state of affairs to know that the worst they feared was an announcement that Austria was about to renounce her alliance. And not all of them believed it could be even so bad as that.

Into the room, laden with this atmosphere of suspense, there came one of the State Secretaries, who, after an embarrassed pause, exclaimed, "It is terrible! Although none know exactly what the words implied, one of the party leaders said:

"But it had to come, and could only be a question of time."

"What do you mean?" asked the Secretary. "Why," was the reply, "the defection of Austria."

"If it were only that," said the Secretary, and sighing, left the room. Just afterwards the now terrified men were summoned into his private room by Herr von Payer, Vice-Chancellor. They seated themselves around a table, and then the Vice-Chancellor, with an expression of deadly seriousness, and in sombre, almost solemn tones, said:

"Gentlemen, I have an extremely painful communication to make to you. The Army Command last evening informed the Government by telephone that it has come to the conviction that the war can no longer be won, and that we must, as speedily as possible—in fact, without the least delay—ask for an armistice."

The effect of these words was crushing. No one had contemplated the possibility of such a complete catastrophe. There was profound silence for a few moments. Then one of the six found his tongue, and falteringly asked if the Government had not known earlier that things were taking such a course. After having made his terrible announcement Von Payer had remained standing, with lowered head, and with fingers resting on the table as if supporting himself by that means. When this question was put he slowly raised his head, and looking at the questioner with mournful eyes, replied:

"No, the Government had no reason to suspect anything of the kind. The telephonic communication of last evening was the first that the Army Command had said as to the fatal acuteness of the situation."

There was such hopeless dejection in the tone with which he uttered these words that no one present could doubt their truth. Another of the leaders then remarked faintly:

"Then Alsace-Lorraine is gone."

"Yes, it is gone," affirmed the Vice-Chancellor. "And probably Posen, also," queried another.

"Also, to that thought must we try to reconcile ourselves," answered Von Payer, adding:

"On its own initiative the Government has still done the following: It has asked the Army Leadership to come to Berlin and explain exactly the position, and why it has come about so suddenly."

Such was the manner in which the German Government first announced Germany's defeat. As was betrayed by their individual demeanor, the effect on those to whom the announcement was made was appalling. Count Westrap, deathly white, sat motionless, staring as if at an incredible spectre. Stresemann bore himself fairly well, but his hands resting on the table were shaking. The patriarchal head of the old, grey Groeber was sunk so low that his long beard spread itself out over the table. But, curiously enough, one of the six who seemed most shocked was Fritz Ebert—the Socialist who a few weeks later was to find himself the first President of the new German Republic. Huddled together, he stared into vacancy, with frightened eyes, that seemed to be visualising all the coming terrors.

MY CROOKED LIFE.

"Woman's crowning glory! What would it be without me? I am caressed by the fingers of the most beautiful of women. Yet, lost and strayed, you will find me by the thousand on the pavements of the streets, kicked into the gutter, swept up with the dirt in hotels, theatres, and cinema shows—scorned because I have fallen from crowning glory to lowly foot through careless woman, and because a copper or two will purchase dozens more like me."

Merely a bit of bent wire. Yet millions have been employed to make and sell me. I will not trouble you with my birth, but will pass on from the digging of the ore to the melting, refining, moulding, pulling, and cutting, when the wire-maker wants me. But it all means labor—the labor of thousands and scores of processes.

I am now a rod of steel, half an inch in diameter. Over and over again I am rolled until I am the thickness of a lead-pencil. Wound in coils I am cleaned and treated to a coating of milk of lime, so that I look as if I had been whitewashed. Then I am baked, to give me more stability. And then comes the pulling.

Time after time I am passed through dies, pulled finer and finer, cleaned again and again, heated, cooled, and galvanized. Not until then—until the hairpin manufacturer seizes me as his raw material—is there a suggestion of a hairpin. Then I actually begin to grow.

Millions of pounds have been spent on inventing machinery which now takes a length of prepared wire and in the twinkling of an eye cuts, bends, and twists it into a hairpin. That, however, is only the beginning of my growth. I must then be put through the finishing stage, annealed and baked again, and wally thousands of girls wrap me in papers or pack me in boxes ready for the shops, where thousands of other girls sell me.

Merely a bit of bent wire. Millions of pounds are spent on producing me, yet my end is—the gutter and the dirt. Such is woman's waste.—Tit-Bits.

$1,500,000,000 FOR AMERICAN LOAN

Washington, May 2.—With indicated subscriptions of $1,500,000,000, one-third of the Victory Loan quota, the country still lagged to-day behind the record made in the Third and Fourth Loans.

Reports showed the number of individual subscriptions was falling off in several districts and Treasury officials declared extraordinary efforts would have to be made to equal the record of 20,000,000 subscribers to the Fourth Loan.

THREE MINERS ARE KILLED AT BUTTE

Butte, Mont., May 2.—Three miners were killed early this morning when Reginald C. Higman, engineer at the Rarus mine, let a cage run into the shaft. Louis Demars and Frank Book were instantly killed and Fred Kiefer died at a hospital shortly after the accident. All three men leave families. Albert O. West, a fourth man in the cage, suffered a broken leg.

The accident occurred a short time before the regular shift came off work.

It was the first week that the Jinkses, who had fallen heir to considerable property, had been in their new home. Mrs. Jinks was giving a dinner party with the fond hope that from this occasion she would be fairly launched in society.

"What, ma'am!" exclaimed the amazed cook. "Mash the peas?"

"Yes, that is what I said, mash the peas," repeated the mistress. "It makes Mr. Jinks very nervous at dinner to have them roll off his knife."—Tit-Bits.

HOW A YOUNG GIRL SUFFERED

And Was Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Told By Her Mother.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from backache and dizziness and was without appetite. For three months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching so I didn't know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters.—Mrs. M. F. NORE, 516 Marcy Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

AGENT-GENERAL ON FINANCIAL POSITION

Warns British People of "Effective" Americanization of West by Investments

"The decision of the Chancellor of the Exchequer to discontinue the control over new issues of capital, so far as domestic investment is concerned, gave much-needed relief to local investors and was received with great acclaim," says F. C. Wade, K.C., Agent-General for British Columbia, in The Westminster Gazette. "But in the colossal work of industrial reconstruction after the war what will be accomplished by facilitating new issues of capital for domestic purposes alone? The Times expresses the hope that in dealing with new issues for foreign investment Lord Cunliffe's Committee will be instructed to take no unnecessarily narrow view with regard to applications made to them on that account. The Times styles the statement made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer as a 'belated' announcement, and evidently sees in it a somewhat tardy realization of industrial necessities, and is apparently of the opinion that Mr. Chamberlain has not gone far enough. I notice that the National City Bank of New York, in its March review of economic conditions, quotes with approval the statement of Mr. Fleming at the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Trust Company in London in January: 'Without a continuance of the export of capital (and this really means mainly an export of manufactured goods and the employment of our ships) to sustain and extend these enterprises throughout the world, British trade cannot advance as it has done in the past. . . . If we fail to continue expanding our overseas industrial possessions, America will take our place, and industry at home will languish.'

The American Position.
"That the United States is well equipped to carry out this programme is as obvious as the determination to do so. The legislation dealing with credits to foreign Governments provided for advances up to $10,000,000,000 of which $3,500,000,000 has been exhausted. The credits, which must have the approval of the President, are for the purpose only of providing for purchases of any property owned directly or indirectly by the United States; not needed by the United States, or for any wheat, the price of which has been or may be guaranteed by the United States. No one will accuse the United States in its role of world benefactor of overlooking home interests altogether. Nor can any blame be attached on that account.

"In January her exports amounted to $23,000,000, with imports of $21,000,000, leaving a trade balance in her favor of $2,000,000. On the same basis of trade there would be created an aggregate balance in her favor of $5,000,000. Is this, then, the exact psychological moment to withdraw from the export of capital which, according to Mr. Fleming, 'means mainly an export of manufactured goods and the employment of our ships'?"

"The war has brought about many strange things, and the refusal to permit new issues for investment overseas seems to be one of them. I am not saying that the policy is a mistaken one, or that any other course is possible, but the results may prove serious beyond the powers of prophecy.

The Empire.
"What I have said refers more particularly to Great Britain, and seems grave enough; but what about the Empire? Take Canada, for instance. We have a country bigger than the United States, and almost as big as Europe, with only eight million to develop it and guide its destinies. In addition to our National Debt we have incurred a War Debt of two billion dollars. Picture to yourself eight million people setting about to manage a country almost as big as Europe, with a war debt of $2,000,000,000, no immediate prospect of indemnity for the blood she has spilt and a crushing debt, officially presented by Parliament from sharing in the distribution of capital which is the very life-blood of her being. I have instanced Canada, but do not the same considerations apply to Australia and many other parts of the Empire with equal force? Is that not a new idea of the circulation of the blood which would confine it to the head and shoulders and leave the rest of the body completely anaemic? And yet that is the exact condition prevailing under present restrictions. Remember, again, I am not criticising the policy, but merely indicating some of its necessary results.

British Columbia.
"To become even more direct in my application, may I be permitted to refer more particularly to British Columbia? What part of the Empire is more intensely British? Where is there an equal population which sent as many sons to the war? Is the same fate to befall this fair Pacific Province which overlooked Washington and Oregon? While Great Britain wasted years in discussing with the United States the ownership of these great Pacific territories, the American trek of 1843, '44 and '45 poured in a dense population, and 'effective occupation' was the determining factor which brought those two great territories under the Stars and Stripes. For years past the shrewd American investor has been unremitting in his efforts to lay hold of all that is best in British Columbia's resources, and was never more active than he is to-day. With British emigration at a standstill for some time to come, and an indefinite interdict against the issue of British capital for overseas development, on the one side, and a hundred million with a favorable trade balance of $5,000,000,000 a year, and not entirely averse from agrandisement on the other, what is likely to result? Unless the highly Imperial project of confining the investment of capital to these islands is abandoned very soon, it is just possible that not only British Columbia, but the Prairie Provinces of Western Canada, already considerably Americanized, may fall a prey to 'effective occupation' of the kind that settled the destinies of Washington and Oregon."

HIS ONLY CHANCE.
"What are you going to name the baby?"
"I don't know. The women folk at our house haven't decided that yet."
"Don't you have anything to say about it?"
"Not a word. They insist on naming the children to suit themselves, but they've promised me that if ever I get rich enough to own a motor boat or a yacht I shall be allowed to christen it myself."

Canada's Future depends on BOYS

OVER three hundred thousand teen-age boys are growing up to replace the wastage of Canada's man-power in the war, and to "carry on" as her future citizens. What work of reconstruction—financial, industrial, or commercial—is so vital to the nation as the reconstruction of Canada's Manhood!

Canada lost 60,383 men in the great war, and 156,799 men were wounded. More than ever is it important that the growing boys of this country be efficient, manly and be inspired with true ideals of Canadian Citizenship. Literally is it true that Canada's future depends upon her boys.

Red Triangle Campaign
Nation-Wide Appeal
$1,100,000 May 5th to 9th

In co-operation with the Churches the Young Men's Christian Association is extending its service to Canadian boys. The Y.M.C.A. is essentially an institution for boys, and a large proportion of its work since its first establishment has been with boys.

What the Y.M.C.A. is Doing for Boys

There are four phases to human development—physical, intellectual, spiritual and social. The Y.M.C.A., in close co-operation with churches and Sunday schools systematizes the development of boys in each of these four phases by what is called "The Canadian Standard Efficiency Training." A boy is "charted" and his development is noted periodically. His record helps the Y.M.C.A. to supply the training he needs most to bring him up to the efficiency standard. With his record chart before him the boy is inspired to improve the faculties wherein he is deficient and to make himself a "four-square man."

Y.M.C.A. wants to reach out to these boys by way of athletic meets week-end camps and social work in the industries, the shops, and factories. Problems such as gambling, industrial relationships, thrift, home relationship, sex education, etc., will thus be dealt with.

"Underprivileged" boys are those whose environment has been poor, boys who have had little opportunity for mental, physical, religious, or social development. The Y.M.C.A. wants to help these boys, by increasing their interests in wholesome sports and games, attracting them to the Y.M.C.A.'s and the Churches, inculcating in them and in the boys born of foreign parents, Canadian ideals of citizenship.

What Makes the Four-Square Man
PHYSICAL TRAINING of boys includes camp craft, health education, swimming, running, jumping, throwing, basket ball and other team and group games.

Red Triangle in Rural Life
The Y.M.C.A., in co-operation with the churches and other social organizations, is carrying the Red Triangle to the boys on the farm, the boys in the villages and small towns which lack Y.M.C.A. buildings and equipment. The Y.M.C.A. organizes these Church groups and others to carry on active work to interest, entertain, instruct and develop boys; trains their leaders and stimulates and supervises.

INTELLECTUAL TRAINING includes supplementary school or college work, direction of home reading, educational lectures, practice in public speaking, sex education, craftsmanship and woodcraft training.

The Y.M.C.A., in co-operation with the churches, will hold conferences and camps this year to train leaders in Boys' Work, and in Canadian Standard Efficiency Training methods. These men will go back to their own communities equipped to "carry on." From 18,000 to 20,000 delegates will attend these conferences throughout the Dominion.

SPIRITUAL TRAINING supplements and supports the work of churches and other religious bodies; it spreads the ideal of daily prayer and scripture readings among boys; it inspires interest in nature, in music, in things artistic.

For Canada's Girlhood

The Dominion Council of the Young Women's Christian Association has to do with the supervision, promotion and stimulation of all the varied national and local activities of the Y.W.C.A., including the work of caring for the soldiers' wives and dependents coming to Canada from overseas. The Y.W.C.A. budget for Dominion Council purposes this year amounts to $175,000, and it is planned to set aside that amount from the total objective of the Red Triangle Campaign for the purposes of developing Y.W.C.A. work for Canada's girlhood along somewhat similar lines to those followed for boys.

The "Father and Son Movement," by which fathers and their boys are brought together in sympathetic relationship is another branch of useful Y.M.C.A. work.

SOCIAL TRAINING gives the boy an idea of his duty towards others, inculcates ideals of clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, teaches good citizenship and helps a boy choose his life work to best advantage to himself and to society.

All Y.M.C.A. work is fundamentally religious, and by reaching the boys the Y.M.C.A. reaches men. Fifty per cent. of the Y.M.C.A. work for boys is done in the churches and the proportion is growing.

The "Y" in High Schools

The Y.M.C.A. recognizes the great field for reaching teen-age boys found in the high schools, and is promoting the establishment of activities in that field. In the High Schools committees and "Boys' Cabinets" are organized and programmes put into operation to stimulate scholarship, inspire purpose, encourage clean speech, clean sport, and clean habits, to direct towards their true vocation in life boys who are "drifting," and to develop manliness and character.

Helps Boys to Choose Vocation
The "Find Yourself" campaign of the Y.M.C.A. has helped many a boy to analyse his natural abilities and circumstances so as to make the most of himself and his opportunities. A boy is examined and advised what he is fitted for and what amount of education, time and expense is necessary to attain vocations for which he may be suited. In that way he is helped to make an intelligent choice.

Many boys are forced by circumstances to leave school and begin the battle of life before they are fully equipped. The Help the "Y" complete its work for soldiers; help extend "Y" service to Canadian boys; help bring the Red Triangle to the Army of Industry and to Rural Canadian Life.

Civic Authorities Receive Information Regarding Hudson's Bay Company's Premises

The Hudson's Bay Company is contemplating the opening of its store here in the near future, according to information received at the City Hall to-day. When the company actually commences the work of getting ready for business its big structure on Douglas Street, it will have the strong backing of the civic authorities.

During the war the company refused to open the store on account of the disorganized state of the market for supplies and the difficulty of securing labor. When the armistice was signed last fall ex-Mayor Todd interviewed H. E. Burbidge, Stores Commissioner of the company, on the question, but he was told that conditions had not improved sufficiently to justify the opening of the store.

At a general meeting of the company's governors later it was recommended that the Victoria branch be prepared for business, as conditions in the West had improved considerably. Judging by the information given out at the City Hall to-day this suggestion will be carried out.

The matter will be pressed by the civic authorities with the hope of an early opening, it being the intention to communicate immediately with Mr. Burbidge.

DESCRIBES LIFE IN PAPIUAN VILLAGES OF TORRES STRAITS

Trader's Wife Here Has Lived Among Former Savages

ARE ALMOST ALL TOILERS OF THE SEA

Some idea of what life offers for a trader's wife in the islands of the Torres Straits was given to The Times by Mrs. R. W. Walker, of Musgrave Island, who was at the Dominion Hotel with her family for several days before leaving for the East on Tuesday.

She showed that the Papuans who have been brought into touch with Western influences, may be readily taught to be industrious and to profit by Christian teaching both in the church and in the school. Her husband, now a trader, saw there was as much opportunity for practical usefulness in business as in his former occupation as a missionary and he is now located at a central point in the Straits for the Papuan Industries, Limited.

In Centre of Straits.

The island of Badu, or as it is described in the Gazetteers, Musgrave Island, lies half way between the extreme north of Queensland, and the Papuan shores. The inhabitants are Papuans and have nothing in common with the aborigines of Australia. Mrs. Walker makes this explanation in order to show that the work of the Papuan Industries, Ltd., a British syndicate, with which her husband is connected as manager, is in fact as well as in name associated with the people of New Guinea rather than with the natives of Queensland, although the island is administratively attached to Queensland. The industry of the inhabitants, as of other islands which dot the Torres Straits, is the harvest of the sea, pearl shell gathering and of course occasionally pearling, and particularly the gathering of beche de mer, that particular delicacy which tickles the Chinese palate and which is shipped in large quantities from the Archipelago. As many of these products have to be reclaimed from the sea bottom by divers, the natives are only able to work in clear, shallow seas, and there is therefore a good deal of broken time. The ambition of all the inhabitants is to possess a boat of their own, though the majority work their boats on shares and bring their product to the trader, for dispatch to Thursday Island, there to be shipped to their destinations overseas.

In Path of Commerce.

Being in the highway of the seas and yet only occasionally visited by missionaries and traders, Badu, like other islands of the Straits, has yielded its flotsam and jetsam in the shape of cargoes from wrecks. On one island, Mrs. Walker says, is a church built almost entirely from the proceeds of the sale of copper recovered from a derelict of the seas, which some natives were fortunate enough to recover, and which they gratefully donated to the missionary. Contrary to general impressions the Papuans are quite willing to work, and only require encouragement along right lines to secure a higher type of civilization. Yet, just across from the mainland from Badu are rest- less tribes, whose blood-thirsty habits have long been a by-word. Her husband, before he went into trade, was a missionary and was stationed there at the time when in Papua his fellow missionaries, the Chalmers party, were killed and eaten by cannibals in 1904 during an exploration to the Aird River. However the Papuans of the islands are of a much gentler disposition, Mrs. Walker says, and quite willing to settle down and work if proper encouragement is given to them.

It is to be expected that climate of this character would be very trying to a white woman, and Mrs. Walker has had to make several journeys outside. She is now on her way to London and brings some interesting photographs of Papuan life.

DOGS.

To the Editor.—May I, as a newcomer, ask your City Council a few questions? Do I understand that if I hold a city tax for my dog, I must have it chained if I happen to walk within the fire limits (which extend in some sections to the residential sector)? I can well understand that all dogs not under control or without their owners should be lifted by poundkeepers, but that a dog which walks at its master's heel should be subject to seizure seemed so absurd to me that I mentioned the matter to one of your well-known lawyers, who stated he considered that if it was in the by-law it was not good law and could be successfully quashed in the higher court, to which I should certainly take it if it cost me a thousand dollars, as a matter of principle.

In my rides around this beautiful part of the country I have noticed many dogs just straying around, and which, I agree, are a nuisance, for if people have so little interest in their animals they should not keep them.

If the same energy were displayed by your Council in making your city more attractive to those looking for a home as you do in petty annoyances as mentioned above, you might have built a pier with a band concert or so as well as a salt water bath. It is the lack of these things, sir, that holds the city back to many people I know in the East.

I expect my dog from the East in a few months' time. It will have a city tag, will be under control and will not be chained in my walks around the fire limits, and if your City Council wish to make an exhibition of themselves we will have a nice little law-suit and I have no doubt of the outcome. Yours for well trained dogs and a little horse sense for officials.

To the Editor.—That was a splendid extract from The London Times in your paper to-night in reference to industrial conditions in the Old Country: "where is good advice for this part of the world as well." CLEAN THE BLOOD

Taken from Nature — The wild roots and barks that go into the composition of one of the oldest and best known blood tonics are mostly gathered by the Indians on our reservations — brought or shipped to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y. Over fifty years ago Dr. Pierce put up an alternative tonic without the use of alcohol that soon became known all over the world.

The spring is the time of the year we should put our house in order. We're run down after a hard winter — after grippes, colds, catarrh. It's time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, purely vegetable and free from alcohol or narcotics. It will search out impure and poisonous matter and drive it from the system. Buy it now in tablets or liquid.

It will clear the skin; eczema, pimples, rash, blotches will dry up and disappear; boils, carbuncles and other evidences of tainted blood will pass away, never to appear again.

Dr. Pierce discovered 50 years ago, that Nature has provided freely for these needs of her children and that in her laboratory were the remedies. Extracts of Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry-bark and Bloodroot, as prepared, combined and preserved without alcohol, in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, constitute the most effective and certain tonic, alterative and tissue-rebuilding remedy ever offered to the public.

happen to counteract the necessity for work. It is a big subject, Mr. Editor, to discuss in a short letter, but I submit that it is one of vital importance to-day, and should be more preached about to-day by preachers of all kinds and the press as well.

MANAGER JIM AND HIS BALL FAMILY LEAVE FOR THE VANCOUVER SERIES

After one false start Manager Jim Brown and the Tyee family got away yesterday for Vancouver to meet brother Bob's boys in a four-game series. The games were to start Wednesday, but word came from Vancouver that the Beavers were not ready to play. "Just off to win three out of four ball games" Manager Jim commented before he left. He figures the Mainland boys may be able to snatch one of the series. With some of the weak spots in the side strengthened up, the team has a good chance to do what the optimistic manager expects.

MICKEY KING MATCHED WITH SOLDIER BARTFIELD

Seattle, May 1.—Mickey King and Soldier Bartfield have been matched for the main event of next Tuesday night's boxing card. Figuring that the clever Australian has the best chance of any of the big fellows at this end of the coast to beat the hard-hitting New Yorker, Matchmaker Clay Hite, to-day clinched the go.
The Northwest Athletic Commission has finally decided that it takes more than a main event to attract the fans. He is lining up a strong card to

CANNEFAX HAS A LEAD OVER OLD CHAMPION

New York, May 1.—Robert Cannefax, challenger for the world's three-cushion billiard championship, and a $2,000 prize, won the first block of fifty points in his match with Alfred de Oro, champion to-night by a score of fifty to forty-eight.
De Oro's high run was seven and the winner's four. The game went seventy-two innings.

REVIVAL OF POLO TO BE CONSIDERED

Games With Victoria and Vancouver May Take Place Again

A movement is on foot to reorganize the Vancouver Polo Club, which before the war was a very flourishing institution. At that time there were some twenty playing members, and these, with the exception of some three or four, who for various reasons were unable to volunteer, offered their services to their country and went overseas. Seven of the number have "gone west," but a few of the old players are now returning home, and are anxious to fill the depleted ranks of the club.

Before the war the club owned its clubhouse and stables at Minoru Park and had a lease of the centre field upon which a large sum of money was spent in the installation of a water system and other work. These are all now available, as arrangements have been made by which the clubhouse, stables and grounds can again be secured. These assets of the club are exceedingly important, as their actual cost was in excess of $3,000, and if these could not be obtained at least a similar sum would have to be spent before the club could be reorganized. At present about five men and nine ponies of the old club are on hand, and ready to play, but it will be impossible to put the club on a proper footing unless, at least, a few more playing members and ponies can be found.

Polo is now being reorganized all over the world, and the clubs in California and in Oregon are gradually getting back to the strength of pre-war days. British Columbia will, no doubt, follow suit, and it will be possible to arrange for matches without difficulty, although it is questionable if outside matches could be secured until next year. The record of the Vancouver club in its outside matches was very good.

In 1912 a tournament was held in Victoria at which the Vancouver Club was only just beaten by the Victoria Club, but succeeded in winning against the Kamloops Club and the Seattle Club. Later, the Kamloops Club played in Vancouver, and in these matches also, the Vancouver Club was successful. In the autumn the Vancouver Club sent a team to Portland, and was successful in winning matches there. A tournament to take place in Vancouver was arranged for August of 1914, which His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught had promised to donate by a number of friends of the polo club for this tournament. The war naturally put an end to all activities, while the club is still available for play, the shields are blank.

In 1914 there were four other polo clubs in the Province, and the record of these clubs in the war has borne ample testimony to the patriotism of sportsmen. Of the total number of playing members of all the clubs over ninety per cent. have seen active service.

Officials of the Terminal City Kennel Club announce that entries for the spring dog show to be held at the Vancouver Exhibition grounds on Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, will positively close on Wednesday, May 16. Arrangements for the show are now well under way, and it is expected that it will be the most successful event ever held under the Terminal City Club's auspices. Many special prizes have been donated for the different breeds, and officials of the club are looking for a record entry list.

All breeds of dogs will be benched, including Boston Terriers, Cocker Spaniels, Bull Terriers, Fox Terriers, Smooth and wire haired fox terriers, Irish Terriers, Scottish Terriers, Pointers, Pomeranians, Japanese Spaniels, Maltese Terriers, Irish Setters, Irish Water Spaniel, White West Highland Terriers, Field Spaniel, Greyhound, English Bulldog, French Bulldog, Old English Sheep Dog, English Mastiff, Yorkshire Terrier, Gordon Setters, Retrievers, Spitz, Dachshunds, Whippets, Dalmatians, Clumber Spaniels, Fox Hounds, Russian Wolfhounds, Newfoundlanders, Saint Duges, Mastiffs, St. Bernards, Poodles and many others.

Entries are expected from Victoria, Nanaimo, Duncan, cities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, California, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and officials of the club are working hard to make the show a great success. Information regarding the show can be obtained at any time from Secretary McGauvran, 2243 Tenth Avenue West, Vancouver.

BASEBALL
Strengthening Seattle.
Seattle, May 1.—Infielder Derrick, of the Indianapolis Association club, has been purchased for the Seattle Pacific Coast League club for $1,000. It was announced to-day by President James Brewster. He probably will be used at second base. Joe Wilhoit is to be replaced in right field by Bill Cunningham. Other changes were pronounced swiftly if the club did not improve its work.

Pitcher Ross, of the Vernon club, has been released.
The Last Holdout.
New York, May 1.—The New York Nationals announced to-night that Pitcher William Ferritt, who had refused to report to the club all spring, has accepted terms.

Dave Robertson, former right fielder of the club, who has not played ball since the 1917 season, will report to the New York club to-morrow. It is understood that Robertson will be used by Manager McGraw in a trade.

The Giants' Infield.
New York Giants have the greatest infield in the game, according to John McGraw, and Chase, Doyle, Zimmerman and Fletcher are all over thirty-three years of age.
When Schneider Hurts.
Pte. Schneider, now a Yankee, issued thirteen bases on balls in one game against the Phillies while huring for the Reds July 6, last year.

Off to Portland for Swimming Laurels

MISS AUDREY GRIFFIN

With the best wishes of fellow swimmers Audrey Griffin and Frances Bayley, Mrs. Harold Martin, and Buck
afternoon en route to Portland, where they will endeavor to win Pacific Northwest championship laurels for the Island. Mrs. Griffin, George I.
Warren, President of the club, and W.
H. Davies, Superintendent, accompanied the party.

The members of the team have not had many opportunities of getting into shape for the indoor events, and Saturday's races at Portland are to be held indoors. However, club members have every confidence that should they fail to annex any titles they will be close in the running. Mrs. Martin and Miss

MISS FRANCES BAYLEY

Griffin both have won P. N. A. titles in open air meets. Calder will have to show the best he knows from the diving platform when he stacks up against the stars of the Multnomah and other clubs. As a high diver Buck has never seen anything that he would not go off yet, and he also showed prospects of developing into a graceful diver last summer.

LAWN BOWLERS FORCED TO POSTPONE OPENING GAME OF THE SEASON

Secretary A. McKeachie announced that the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club has had to postpone the opening of the greens which was to have taken place to-morrow, until May 10. As a result of the recent rain, he states, the greens are a little soft, and it was considered best not to use them. The time-honored match between the President's and the Vice-President's team will take place on the opening date, further announcement regarding which will be made later.

COMRADES' TRIBUTE TO HOCKEY PLAYER BLINDED IN FRANCE

At the meeting of the Victoria Amateur Hockey Association held to wind up the affairs for the season, it was decided to make a presentation of a substantial purse to a popular comrade of the steel blades, Aubrey Archibald, who was blinded in France and is now at St. Dunstan's School for the Blind in England. Mr. Archibald is one of two brothers who were clever amateur players who played hockey since the game was introduced in Victoria, and were general favorites with those taking part in the game. The other brother, Roy, was reported missing and has not since been heard of. Aubrey played for the Victoria team the first year of hockey in Victoria, and later appeared for the Bankers. He played for the Y. M. C. A. team the year it carried off the league-championship.

It was reported at the meeting that after paying all expenses the association was in the fortunate position of having a small balance on the right side of the ledger.

directors of the Ontario Jockey Club held yesterday, it was decided that the King's Plate will take place according to the old custom in May, and will be run on Saturday, May 24. New entry blanks will be issued, and entries will be confined to those owners who were included in the original entry and will close Saturday, May 10.

AEROPLANE MAY
FLY AS AMATEURS
OPEN BALL SEASON

Frank Moore Says He Has a Team of Real Fence-Busters.

If the plans of the amateurs go through, the Victoria City Baseball League will be opened with a ceremony that will make the big leagues green with envy. Before Straith's Two Jacks take the field against the Foundation nine at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday it is planned to have an aeroplane fly over the grounds. A test flight is set for to-night by the bird men, and in the event of the flight being satisfactory the Curtiss plane will fly over the ball park before the game starts at 3 o'clock, and the message bags with the key streamers which were used to carry some instructions as to how to clean up a few hundred dollars will contain a baseball containing an appropriate inscription. It is intended, if someone does not secure the ball first as a souvenir and refuse to deliver, to auction the ball to swell the funds of the Aerial League of Canada.

Frank Moore sends a message out to the fans that if the shipbuilders can field as strong a team as he has lined up, there is going to be some good ball. The Foundation men declare that they are as strong in baseball as they have proved themselves to be in the winter sports. Frank has lined up a combination of last season's best players for the Straith's Two Jacks, and will make his selection from A. Straith, Fortin, Townsley, Potts, Romans, Whyte, Balcolm, Frank Moore, Burnes, Cottett, Milne, Minnis and Corkle.

LACROSSE

Ed. Popham, who has charge of the lacrosse activities in the Victoria West district, has already had his men out to get into shape. A few days after he was chosen to handle lacrosse for the reorganized Victoria West Athletic Association Ed. got together all the players he could muster and took them to Macaulay field. He is optimistic over the prospects of securing a team able to make a good showing in the intermediate league.

Challenge Accepted.

The deft from the Sydney gutted stick experts will be accepted although the notice was too short to send a team from Victoria to play to-morrow. The Sidney stickhandlers will also be invited to give an exhibition game in Victoria. Secretary Burton is requested to send a delegate to the meeting of the Victoria Lacrosse Association Monday with the intention of putting in an entry for the intermediate battle.

In Spite of the Weather.

Although the weather was hardly appropriate for the Canadian summer game last night, the Foundation players made a satisfactory muster at Royal Athletic Park, and put in some work that will help them when the race for the Mann cup starts. Some of the old enthusiasts who are always on hand when there is a lacrosse stick were at the practice.

On the Mainland.

The meeting of the Vancouver Amateur Lacrosse Association, which was scheduled to be held Wednesday in the sports room of the Hotel Vancouver, did not fully materialize as representatives of some of the teams failed to put in an appearance. A general discussion among those present took place, however, and several important matters were taken up. This season the V. A. L. A. will have teams representing senior, intermediate and juvenile divisions. In operation if present plans are carried through.

Senior Series.

In the senior series there will be at least two teams in the running for city honors. The names of the clubs have not yet been selected, but their entry is a certainty. In the intermediates an effort is being made to have a three-team league. The National A. C. last year's champions of the junior division, then under the name of Seaforts United, are entered. Towers, who were also in the junior division last year, also intend entering, while the third aggregation will in all probability represent Grandview in the East End. The juvenile division will operate with three clubs—Province, Pontlacs and Towers.

R. N. Hincks, the man who stages the Red Cross plays, who is also a pretty good cricketer, is out searching for the tallest and shortest men in Victoria who know enough about cricket to umpire the comic cricket match which is to be held May 24 at the Jubilee grounds. A returned soldiers' team, captained by Lieut.-Col. Major, will play a team dressed in comic costume, and the fact that Mr. Hincks has charge of the proceedings would indicate that the comic element will be well sustained. Captain Foster, P. C. Payne and P. A. Askey were elected a committee to make arrangements for the game.

100 Per Cent Service

KNOW your bicycle before you buy. A cheap assembled wheel with its parts purchased from far and wide "at a price" may look like a good bicycle, but is it? The firms making some of the parts may put good honest value into their products; others may not, or cannot. One bad part will ruin your wheel. You take the risk—and it is a costly one. Exactly the opposite policy is pursued in the making of

C.C.M. Bicycles

We make in our own splendid factory at Weston practically all the parts required in the finished bicycle—a larger proportion than does any other bicycle manufacturer in America. This serves a double purpose:-

- 1st.—It gives us the opportunity of scrutinizing every detail of workmanship and material;
- 2nd.—It gives employment in Canada to the largest possible number of Canadian workmen.

This policy has been maintained since the inception of the Canada Cycle & Motor Company. It has given our wheels a character and dependability unrivalled in the Dominion. In

The clutch engages with the utmost smoothness. It is the lightest and simplest of all brakes. C.C.M. Bicycles in every part give maximum service and satisfaction, and every part is guaranteed. This means extra years of service.

The ladies who will swim for the Crystal pool will be Anne Mayhall and Ethel Knowles, both being entered in the sprint for women.

mediately after dropping the literature the plane will hover over the Royal Athletic Park and drop several baseballs, one of which will be hurled across the plate as the first ball in the opening of the amateur baseball league. The balls are being placed in message bags, similar to those used in dropping messages in France, and the spectators will be able to watch the flight of the balls to earth. After the game the balls will be auctioned off and the proceeds devoted to the funds of the League.

The officials of the league wish to state that no persons will be admitted to the aerodrome at the Willows without a pass from the office.

SELECTED TO PICK AEROPLANE'S NAME

Mrs. F. A. McDiarmid and Editors of Times and Colonist to Select Name

Judges for the competition to select a name for the new aeroplane of the Aerial League of Canada have been selected. Mrs. F. A. McDiarmid, president of the Women's Canadian Club, together with the Editors of The Times and The Colonist, have kindly consented to pick the winner.

The judges will have no easy task in selecting the name with which the plane will be christened. When this morning's mail had been perused by the publicity department of the League the number of names totalling close on to one hundred. This is a remarkable demonstration of the popularity of the efforts of the League. The contestants seem to favor names of birds, and a large number of Indian names have been submitted. It is fully expected that when the competition closes on Monday night at least three hundred names will have been submitted.

The flying men are confident that they will be able to hold a test flight this afternoon. Lieutenants "Bob" Rideout and Jack Clement will take the machine out for its trial spin, and if everything is satisfactory the avion will take to the clouds to-morrow afternoon to fulfil two important engagements.

Five thousand leaflets, advertising the publicity campaign of the Victoria and Island Development Association, are being printed and will be dropped from the clouds by an observer. Im-

Women! It's Cheap!
Use Lemon Juice
and Make Lotion

To keep your skin and complexion naturally soft, white and clear at all times, you simply must use a lotion or cream every day. But choose the one that is best and costs the least.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart-pint of the most remarkable beauty lotion at about the cost—one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try this lotion! Make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant cream and massage it into the face, neck, arms and hands! It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

Too many cooks spoil the broth, but whole family car work profitably in a garden.

Tired, Overworked Men
What You Need is Vinol

Vinol creates strength because it is a non-secret combination of the most famous body-building and strength-creating elements known—Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese and Glycerophosphates. You who are run down, nervous, lack energy and working strength, we know that Vinol is what you need. Try it at our risk. Here is Proof:

Sanford, Mich.
"I suffered so much from a run-down, nervous condition and stomach trouble that I never felt like working, and had tried almost everything without relief. The first bottle of Vinol, however, helped me, and it has finally built me up so I feel better now than I have for a long time."—C.D.Haines.
For all run-down, nervous, anæmic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Springfield, Mass.
"I am a night operator—was all run-down; couldn't sleep, had no ambition, all tired out—I had tried blood and nerve tonics without help—and thought I would try Vinol and I must say it has built me up and I feel better, look better and sleep better."—Charles T. Harder.

Mr. Lloyd George on His Pledges and Lord Northcliffe

I am referred to my pledges before the last election. There are some who sought to suggest that at the last election I was rushed, and my colleagues were pushed, into declarations of which we are now rather ashamed and wish to get out of. I do not wish to get out of them in the least, and may I say that those declarations were adopted, I think, by every political leader of every section.

Mr. Asquith said in regard to indemnities and the arrangement of the Kaiser: "I am in favor of exacting from the wrongdoer the uttermost farthing." And again, speaking at East Fife the day after my Bristol speech in answer to a question as to whether he would make the Germans pay for the war, he said: "Yes, I am in agreement on that matter with what the Prime Minister said yesterday."

I am merely putting that as an answer to criticisms that I committed myself very rashly and indiscriminately under pressure from the electorate to something that other statesmen had abstained from adopting. On the contrary, if the right honorable gentleman opposite (Sir Donald MacLean, leader of the Opposition Liberals) will look at his speeches I think he will find in them something very much on the same lines. I do not like these lines of high resistance. As if I were the only man who ever made an electioneering speech! There were others, so that these pledges are not pledges merely of my colleagues and myself. I tell the House that if on reflection, and if after examination of the processes of statesmen of other lands, if after coming in contact with them I had come to the conclusion that I had pledged the Government to something I could not carry out, I should have come down here to tell you so, because it would have been folly, even for an electioneering pledge, to imperil the peace of Europe. And then the House of Commons would have been free to take its own action. But what I want to say is this: So far from my coming here to ask for reconsideration, to ask for release from any pledge or promise we have given to the country and to ask them to make sacrifices, I am here to tell all the outlines of the peace we have given, for every pledge we have given for insertion in the peace demands is incorporated in the demands which will be put forward by the Allies. (Prolonged cheers.)

A Challenge to Northcliffe.
I observe that some of those pledges are being published in the reference being to The Times and The Daily Mail. I am going to issue an invitation to the same enterprising papers—(laughter)—that when the peace terms, the peace demands are put forward by the Allies can be published they shall publish in parallel columns, the pledges and the promises made by the Government. (Laughter and cheers.) That is all I am going to say about the peace terms; that is all I feel it wise to say.

I know it will be said that we pressed them at the last moment because of the great agitation and the various communications we received. I have great respect for all those communicating, but will my honorable friends believe that we put forward these demands from the very beginning? We never swerved one iota from them. I told the House so when I came here some weeks ago, and we never swerved from them. We stand by them because we think they are just. We want peace. We want a peace that is just but not vindictive. We want peace, a stern peace, because the occasion demands it, the crime demands it; but its severity, must be deemed not to gratify vengeance but to vindicate justice. Every clause in the terms must be justified on that ground.

Above all, we want to prevent a repetition of the horrors of the big war by making the wrongdoer repair the wrongs and losses which he has inflicted by his wanton aggression; by punishing each individual who is responsible, and by depriving the nations who made the peace of Europe for half a century with the flourishing sword of their weapons. (A man stands up and says: "What about the Kaiser?") I say: "What about the Kaiser?" I stand by my pledges by creating a legitimate sense of wrong would excite national pride to endlessly seek opportunities for redress. The most permanent security of all is the power of the nations of the earth federated with a firm purpose of maintaining peace. I just want to say one other thing, that kind of trash with which these papers have been filled for the last weeks.

Soldiers Plead for Speed.
I have talked to many soldiers awaiting demobilization, and the general word is, if I can express it shortly, "Hurry up." They want peace badly. I have heard from the French soldiers "Give us a good peace." Those who think the people of the country are out for revenge do not understand them. They are out for justice. The world wants to get back quickly to work, and it wants to get to work under better conditions than it had before the war. (Hear, hear.) I have seen now many men from many lands. Without exception I heard the echo of the same cry, in part of the workers' fire. In their hearts, and I am proud that Britain has been first to take action. A profound impression is created in every country by the quiet way in which Britain is setting her house in order by conference, by conciliation, by legislation and not by wild anarchy and force, and they all say: "It is not characteristic of British tradition. A great Labor orator at the Labor Conference on Friday said: 'There are two methods of dealing with the situation—the Russian method and the English method.' and I felt a thrill of pride for my country."

It is essential that the ordinary machinery of commerce and industry be set going. You cannot do that without peace. There are the men in nearly every trade with their hands on a lever waiting for the announcement. It is essential that the enormous expenditure of war should be cut down ruthlessly. (Hear, hear)—as soon as possible. Peace is necessary, otherwise our effort will be squandered. One of the beneficent results will be that the great continental menace of the country that has kept Europe armed for forty years is to be reduced to an army which is just adequate to police her cities, and her fleet, which was a source of terror to us, a hidden terror will now be just enough to protect her commerce. We must profit by that and not Germany alone. I know there is a good deal of talk about recrudescence of the military power of Germany. You get paragraphs about what Germany is going to do, that she is going to get on her feet again, and about her grip on the continent. (That is not the case. With difficulty—that is our military information—can she gather together 80,000 men to preserve order. Her guns—her weapons of offence on sea and on land and in the air have been taken away. A very keen observer who has just come from Central Europe told me: 'I have seen a world of pieces, men helpless, half-starved and benumbed, no authority, but no revolution because men have no heart.'

Critics Turnabout on Wilson.
At the beginning of the conference there were great appeals to everybody to support President Wilson. Where did they come from? From the same reliable sources that are now hysterically attacking all his great ideals. Just a few weeks ago there was a cartoon in one of those papers representing Bolshevism as a mere bogey and I as a person trying to frighten the working classes with this mere bogey. And now that there is a monster and I was doing my best to dress it up as an angel—(laughter)—all from the same reliable source. (Laughter.)

"Black Crime" Against the World.
"Under these conditions I am prepared to make allowances, but let me say that when this kind of diseased vanity is carried to the point of sewing dissension between the great nations whose unity is essential to the peace and happiness of the world, when France distrusts Britain, and France hates America and America distrusts France, and Italy quarrel with everybody, then I say that not even that kind of disease is justification for the crime of war against the world. (Hear, hear.) I apologize for taking up the time of the House, but I am bound to do so. I may tell the House why I have been in France for weeks. My country knows, but it is not the same in France. They still believe in France that The Times is a serious organ. (Laughter.) They do not know that it is a three-penny edition of The Daily Mail. (Laughter.) And on the continent of Europe they really have the idea that it is semi-official. It shows how long these traditions take to die out. I want them to know that I am doing this in the interests of goodwill. It is my only object in taking notice of that kind of trash with which these papers have been filled for the last weeks.

Another Irishman, with a fine taste in malapropisms, was determined to do his utmost "for our perhistoric town." Race meetings, regattas, coursing matches, and so on were among his panaceas, and, of course, taxation was not forgotten. "Every man his own landlord, is my motto. The ratepayers may confidently lay their savings at my feet, and may make sure of my enthusiastic co-operation in opposing exorbitant and iniquitous taxation."

WAR SAVINGS.
Many business houses of British Columbia have been approached with the idea of asking the consent of the individual members of their staff to accept a certain number of Thrift and War Savings Stamps as a small proportion of their weekly, fortnightly or monthly pay, and judging from the number of firms who have replied asking for the printed forms, the idea is evidently a welcome one and has come to stay. This will mean that a large percentage of the population are viewing the matter of thrift from the standpoint of saving their loose change and at the same time are welcoming the larger percentage of interest on their money than they have been in the habit of getting.

A SNICKER IN ADVANCE.

BIDDING FOR VOTES.
Mankind has such a touching faith in the power of legislation to cure all evils that the gentleman anxious to write M. P. after his name is encouraged to promise all sorts of impossible things if only he is elected. The recent contest provided the soaring dreamer and the believer in the powers of Parliament an excellent opportunity for promising a near approach to the earthly paradise.

Getting Curtiss Plane Ready for Instructional Flight

This picture shows the mechanics and pilot getting ready a plane of the type brought to this city by the Aerial League of Canada for a flight at a Toronto aerodrome. Two of the ground men are filling the petrol tank and looking over the engine. One of the pilots is adjusting the camera on the side. The camera is one of the remarkable developments which has gone hand in hand with the advancement of aviation. The observer sitting in the rear seat puts his hand over the side and pushes back and forward the top of the camera, each motion recording a picture.

FOUR THOUSAND MARK IS PASSED

Development Association Campaign for Publicity Fund Progresses

Well over $4,000 was the mark reached by the team captains of the Victoria and Island Development Association drive for a $7,000 publicity fund, according to reports from the captains handed in at a luncheon at the Dominion Hotel at noon to-day. The campaign leaders were the guests of Stephen Jones, who was accorded a hearty vote of thanks in appreciation of the excellent menu, which was enjoyed by all.

"Optimism pays: it is the keynote of success," agreed every man present. "Every city on the continent is getting busy on its publicity work now that the war is over, and travel will begin again on a large scale," said W. A. McAdam, Publicity Commissioner for Victoria. "It must be remembered that only the right class of tourists are coming this way. They are people who have the money to invest. We have already been shown that Victoria has landed a man who came West with the intention of settling somewhere else. The more people with money we have here the more prospects of developing our industries on Vancouver Island," he said.

Several speakers briefly explained the objects of the campaign.

EUROPE SEES BRITISH COLUMBIA IN MOVIES

Agent-General Arranging for Programmed Tour of Britain of Films

Some idea of the great part which moving pictures are likely to play in promoting investment and settlement in British Columbia is indicated in a recent communication which reached the Premier's office from the Agent-General for this Province in London, wherein Mr. W. C. G. Macdonald, the private display of a series of films portraying the leading resources of the Province.

Commenting upon the event "Canada" has the following to say:

"The first scenes, which depicted a reception given at Victoria to H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught when Governor-General, incidentally created a pleasing impression of the fine buildings and social attractions of the capital city of the Province. Those which showed the operations of apple-picking and the harvesting of a potato crop also gave an excellent idea of the fine scenery in the country districts. The story of the salmon was told in detail, from its capture by the fishermen to its canning in the factory—the final scene depicting the departure of a C. P. R. train of seventy cars laden with tons of canned salmon which were the gift of the B. C. Government to Britain in the early months of the war. Very fascinating also were the realistic operations of the lumbering camp and the saw-mills, from the felling of some of the celebrated B. C. giant Douglas firs to their shipment on steamboat and railway in the shape of planks, ties, etc."

"Sir George Perley, the High Commissioner, himself an expert in the lumbering business, expressed special pleasure at the excellence of the views which portrayed so accurately and completely the complex operations and gave indisputable evidence of the magnificence of B. C. timber."

"It is understood that after the films have been shown at various camps in Europe where Canadians are still congregated, they will be sent out on a programmed tour to the length and breadth of Great Britain."

to the leading newspapers and magazines and put on in the leading motion pictures throughout the world. The whole Island is roused to the necessity of advertising our charms and resources. We must advertise your business. The C.I.S.C. of Vancouver is raising an advertising fund of $50,000, and Seattle, Tacoma and Portland are making arrangements to spend large sums in publicity work.

"A Victoria merchant inserted an advertisement in an American magazine to test its advertising value; the replies and financial returns exceeded all his expectations.

"Just think if this advertisement and other ones were sent throughout the world, what it would mean to your business."

"The Island of the thousand miles of wonderland beckons the tourist, investor, manufacturer, farmer and settler."

"Sited on the West Coast of British Columbia, being lapped by the warm Japanese current, possesses most equable climate. It has the largest telescope in the world. It is a summer and winter resort, with world-renowned golf links, fishing, hunting and other sports all the year round; miles of superior motor roads, wonderful Alpine scenery, hotels unsurpassed.

"Industries: Pulp and paper mills; deep sea fisheries; whaling; shipbuilding; coal mines, gold, copper and iron mines await development; 'farming lands'; the home of the famous Gordon Head strawberries.

"Victoria, on the southern end of the Island, is the pivotal trade point of the Pacific."

"You must agree that it is absurd for us to hide ourselves from the rest of the world."

"We want you to send in your subscriptions now, so as to enable the Development Association to reach the people before the tourist travel commences."

"Providing sufficient money is received, we propose to concentrate our efforts mainly in the Prairie Provinces, the Southern States and the Orient, and our means will be by suitable advertising in the newspapers and magazines, circular letters, booklets, which will be distributed with the co-operation of the railway companies, moving pictures of the Island, and by lectures."

"We have organized to go after business."

Canada's Largest Factories Use Dominion Friction Surface Belting

In practically every first class factory in Canadian industry, Dominion Friction Surface Belting is a satisfactory and efficient part of its equipment. Some of the largest users of transmission belting specify it exclusively.

The reason for this preference is obvious—it will out-serve at lower cost per horse power any belt made. It will conserve power and labor and speed up production. A broad statement, yes, but our belting experts are ready to convince you that it is more than a statement.

The knowledge and experience of these experts are largely responsible for the "plus service" rendered by Dominion Friction Surface Belting because it is their business to see that the correct type of belt is specified for a given purpose.

Many of Canada's largest manufacturers have found this service so profitable that they have made our experts responsible for the efficiency of all belting equipment in their plants.

This same service of efficiency is open to you, without charge, through any of our Service Branches.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

EVERYTHING QUIET AROUND PRINCETON

Report Reaching Attorney-General's Department is Reassuring

Acting on the instructions of Deputy Attorney-General A. M. Johnson, Deputy Provincial Police Inspector Frank Edens, of Kamloops, has rendered his report in conjunction with that of Inspector Owen relative to the situation at Princeton. He states that close investigation suggests that the trouble at the mines arose from some person or persons who are nursing a grudge against the Coal Company. As far as his information goes the striking element is confining itself to the "business" of the strike, without in any way disturbing the peace of the community.

Both Inspectors Owen and Edens conferred with Organizer Allman and Secretary Baxter, the men's representatives, and were assured that the miners had been impressed with official discouragement against violence of any kind. No evidence has been traced of molestation, nor is there any evidence of threats against property. Generally speaking, the report describes Princeton and the immediate community as normal, with little suggestion of a strike. The majority of the men are foreigners and large numbers have already left the locality. That the strike was organized by the "one big union" and I. W. W. propagandists for the purpose of closing the work at Copper Mountain is the belief expressed in reports to the Attorney-General's department.

MEANING OF COLORS WORN BY WARRIORS

Patches and Bands Indicate Units to Which Men Belong and Their Special Duty

A great many civilians have been wondering what the different badges worn on the sleeves of the returned soldiers signify. In order to understand these properly one has to take the composition of the Canadian Corps, which is four divisions to a corps, three brigades to a division and four battalions to a brigade.

The oblong patch represents the division. For the 1st Division the color is red, 2nd dark blue, 3rd French grey, 4th green. The color of the design above represents the brigade. The 1st Brigade is green, the 2nd red and the 3rd is navy blue.

The Fifth Division, which consist of two brigades of artillery, wears the purple patch, similar to that worn by the Siberian forces. The Eighth Army Brigade, C. F. A., wears the brown patch.

To arrive at the number of the battalion of the brigade the shape has to be taken into consideration. The 1st Battalion being a circle, the 2nd a half circle, the 3rd a triangle and the 4th a square.

The insignia most commonly seen on the street at the present time is the 7th Battalion, which is a red half circle over a red patch, which signifies that they are the 2nd Battalion in the 2nd Brigade of the 1st Division, the other battalions in that brigade being the 5th, 6th and 10th.

If a man wears a blue arm band in addition, it shows that he is a signaller, a runner, and a green one a scout. If there is a long narrow stripe sewn above the division sign it signifies that he is attached to a brigade for some special work, such as a bomb represents a brigade bomber, an arrow, a brigade machine gunner.

Should a man wear a white and blue arm band he is a corps signaller, if he wears his division sign in addition then he is a division signaller.

The "Cycle Corps" sign is red, grey and blue triangles within a triangle. The Engineers have the letters C.E. on the colors of their division. The small red oblong ename badge worn by the members of the 7th Battalion was presented to them by General McDonnell, commander of the 1st Division, and has on the reverse side a space for a man's name and number, around which are the words "1st Canadian Division, best we forget." This memento is highly prized by the boys, who refer to it as, "the old red patch."

THIN, FRAIL FOLKS NEED PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bipro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Nothing from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as Bipro-Phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Cyrus H. Jones in Victoria and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, Bipro-Phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION—Although Bipro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

NEW PLAN FAILS TO SUIT THE CITY

Council Will Probably Refuse to Accept Latest Proposal for Housing

There is little doubt that the Victoria Council will refuse to accept the proposed agreement for the Dominion Housing Scheme recently submitted by the Minister of Lands, while Vancouver has definitely decided against the acceptance of the plan as thus outlined. It is pointed out by the Aldermen who form the special committee considering the matter that the Minister's latest plan still leaves the responsibility for the money involved upon the shoulders of the municipality. Thus the objection on which the Council previously decided not to undertake the scheme has not been removed. Though the city would like the houses, it has no desire to administer the money involved. At the same time, the Minister of Lands made it clear to a civic deputation which waited upon him recently that the Government did not intend to build the proposed twenty-seven houses on the Topaz Avenue site unless the city did undertake the responsibilities deemed necessary.

It is further claimed by the Aldermen that, though the agreement proposed that the houses be valued at $500 apiece other lots in the same vicinity can be purchased for considerably less money.

In fact, it is almost a foregone conclusion that the Housing Committee will report against the acceptance of the Minister's agreement. As the city would like to secure a number of houses it is probable that some other arrangement will be sought.

The agreement which the city has at present under consideration was termed "impossible" and "ridiculous" by the Vancouver City Council.

In view of the urgency existing for housing two sub-committees of the council were struck. The first committee will proceed with the draft of an agreement suitable to the city and Government, and while this is being done the second special committee will proceed to gather data and working information to present speedily in form of suggestions to the Council.

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES ARE SOLD IN BRITAIN

Splendid Record Made by War Savings Committee During Three Years

In the United Kingdom the War Savings campaign has been a great success and will be continued on a peace basis. The third anniversary of the inauguration of the movement was, on March 1, made the occasion for the issuing by the National War Savings Committee of a statement setting forth the work done since the latter end of February, 1915, as well as announcing plans for the future. From the statement the following has been reproduced:

"During almost exactly three years, 300,000,000 War Savings Certificates have been sold. During the first two years to March 1, 1914, 153,803,447 certificates were sold, at an average of 79,401,723. During the third year to March 1, 1915, 142,353,261 were sold, being nearly double the average for the previous two years. This progress of the sales is the more remarkable when it is realized that no individual may hold more than 500 certificates, and consequently, the number of purchasers is being steadily reduced.

It is, however, important that it should be understood that the raising of money for the State was not the main object for which the National War Savings Certificates were established. The primary object of the Committee was to secure for the nation all the benefits which would accrue from the successful establishment of a safe, convenient and profitable method of investment for people of small means, rather than the more narrow object of merely raising money (to pay for the war). It is in this direction that lies the important social aspect of the movement, a movement which promises to become of permanent benefit to the wage-earner.

"It is no doubt that there may be to-day some tendency to consider that saving is no longer of the same paramount necessity as it was during the war, but this is by no means the universal feeling. During the three months succeeding the armistice, subscriptions were actually larger than they were during the three months previous to the armistice. It would certainly appear that the system of savings clubs, started during the war, has come to stay, and that it will take its rank with such fundamentally British institutions as the Post Office Savings Bank, the Trustee Savings Banks, the building societies and the friendly societies. One of the satisfactory features of the position is that there is no conflicting rivalry between these bodies and the War Savings Associations. These older institutions have their representatives on nearly all the local 'Savings Committees,' and it is fully realized that all thrift agencies stand to benefit by the intensification of the spirit of thrift."

WOULD HAVE TENDERS FROM CITY ENGINEER

A restoration of the policy whereby the City Engineer as well as private companies would submit tenders for public works is at present under informal consideration by members of the City Council.

This plan, which is in operation in other cities, has come to the attention of the civic authorities on account of what is deemed unsatisfactory progress upon public works which have been done recently. It is thought by some of the Aldermen that repairs to the market, necessitated by the recent large addition, could have been concluded much more rapidly than has been the case. Though this is in itself a small matter, it has served to bring the general principle to the fore. It is probable that the proposal to have the City Engineer submit tenders along with private companies will be reintroduced into the Council in the near future.

Resolution, Which Divided Organization, is Rescinded Now

In direct contrast to previous meetings which have been held, harmony and co-operation were the ruling factors at the meeting of the Ex-Service Men, Dependents and Relations of Sailors and Soldiers' Association, held at the Belmont Building last night.

Comrade A. E. Hankin, who presided at last night's meeting, announced that he had held four meetings in an effort to get properly organized, and he hoped they would meet with better success on this occasion.

The resolution, which divided the members was briefly discussed, Tom Dooley remarking that the chairman of the previous meeting should not have allowed it to be put as the condition it sought to prevent was provided for in the clause in the constitution reading that no person's name may be submitted for nomination who is a member of another political party.

Comrade J. J. Taylor said as mover of the resolution referred to, he was prepared to agree to it being rescinded. He wished it to be rescinded that no underhand objects had prompted him to move the resolution, as he would like to see the association go ahead. It was just the kind of association needed and the best in the city.

Proposes a Newspaper. Frank Slavyn pointed out that the Comrades of the Great War and the Great War Veterans were benevolent institutions and the membership of the ex-service men's political association should be wide open to them.

Comrade C. Thompson was elected recording secretary and thanked for his efforts for the Association. On being appointed financial secretary and treasurer Comrade P. Vaughan Miller stated that the Association was almost clear of debt. There was a paid-up membership of over sixty, and they had some members on the books whose subscriptions were not paid.

OUCH! CORNS! LIFT CORNS OFF

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift any corn right off with fingers

Drop a little Frezzone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right off. It doesn't pain one bit. Yes, magic!

Zam-Buk cured him. This money might have been saved by Mr. Z. D. Muro of 722 Papineau Ave., Montreal, had he only known of Zam-Buk sooner. Writing to the proprietors, he said: "For over a year I suffered with eczema which nothing seemed able to cure."

often be found that a relative of a returned man was thrown out of a position to make room for a veteran, and if the national insurance was not general it would mean that the veteran who was at work would have to share the responsibility of providing for his brother or father thrown out of a position.

ENTERTAIN MEN OF SEVENTH AT DANCE

Enjoyable Time Spent at Alexandra Club Last Evening by Returned Boys and Friends

Veterans of the famous Seventh Battalion and many of their admiring friends and relatives gathered in the Alexandra Club last evening and participated in a most enjoyable dance.

The dance was arranged by a joint committee representing the various chapters of the Daughters of the Empire, and the men of the Seventh, who had been invited home prior to the return of the Battalion.

Before the dancing started all the members of the battalion fell in, and the illuminated roll of thanks which is presented to every returned man by the City of Victoria, was handed to all men who did not receive one on being discharged.

The veterans placed their names on a roll. It is expected that in the very near future a meeting will be held to establish in the city a Seventh Battalion Association on similar lines to the one proposed in Vancouver.

MACLEAN'S FOR MAY.

"The Canadians in Siberia" is the leading article in Maclean's Magazine for May. It is written by Capt. W. E. Dunham, recently returned from Vladivostok, and tells of life as it actually is in the country from which the Canadian contingent under Major-General J. H.

Elmsley, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., is at the present time returning. J. W. Deane, the brilliant editor of The Manitoba Free Press, who is just back from the Peace Conference, has an interesting and timely article on Canada's part in this world settlement. There are some "inside" facts given here, of very special interest to all Canadians.

W. A. Fraser reappears in Maclean's this month with a story entitled "Bulldog Carney's Alibi," the first of a series which promises to be among the very best work done by this famous Canadian author. Further instalments of Stefanoff's story, "Solving the Problems of the Arctic," C. W. Stephens' "Man and Wife," and the concluding instalment of Frederic S. Johnson's "The Transformation," make up an exceptionally interesting number.

VIRTUE OF EXPERIENCE

"Can't you give my boy a position in your office?" said Mr. Doowit. "I don't know," replied the manager, "what can he do?" "Well," rejoined the father, "I don't suppose he could do much of anything at first, except pass on new risks, inspect business and adjust losses, but when he gets a little experience and sense he might be able to sweep out, polish the brass, and run errands, nebbie!" To freshen a carpet, rub over with a cloth wrung out in a pail of cold water to which has been added a tablespoonful of vinegar.
