WILL ESTABLISH ZONES IN SILESIA

Plan Virtually Approved by Allied Powers

Paris, May 28.—The Allied Council of Ambassadors has virtually approved a plan to establish a neutral zone between the German and the Polish forces in Upper Silesia. It is decided at a meeting to-day, however, to obtain further information desired before taking definite action.

THREE ZONES

Paris, May 28.—Division of Silesia into three zones, one under Polish authority, another under the jurisdiction of Germany, and the third to be governed temporarily by the Allies, was discussed by the Council of Ambassadors to-day. This proposal has been urged by Italian and British representatives on the Silesian Plebiscite Commission, who assert that it would follow a means of bringing about peaceful conditions in that district. It is understood that France would make representations in opposition to the plan, Premier Briand's Government considering it as prejudicial to final settlement of the Silesian problem and the determination of the border between Poland and Germany in that troubled region.

COMMONS VOTED MONEY RAPIDLY

Some Discussion of Vote For British Columbia

Ottawa, May 28.—The House voted money rapidly yesterday afternoon when Public Works Department estimates were under consideration.

A budget item affecting British Columbia caused some discussion. It was a vote of $30,000 for the removal of snags from the Fraser River. Hon. F. B. McCurdy explained that the snags were sunken trees, and that these constituted a grave danger to navigation.

"There is no need to put in three times as much as you need," said F. F. Parlee, Lambton West, when the vote of $95,000 for harbor and rivers generally was under consideration. "Only $30,000 was spent on this work last year."

H. H. Stevens, Vancouver Centre, said the extra money would be necessary in cases of urgency.

Mr. Parlee moved to reduce the sum by $45,000.

Deputy Speaker Bowen called the vote and Government supporters rushed in through the lobby doors.

"Order, you can't do that," apropos of the rule that a member must be in his seat when a "question" is put, or loses his vote. But the amendment was defeated by a majority of nine, 25 voting for it and 44 against it. The item passed.

Little Debate.

Subsequently votes for public works passed with little debate. In this connection, when a vote of $1,000,000 for restoration of the Ottawa Parliament Building was under discussion, Hon. F. B. McCurdy announced that the tower would be completed in two years. A section would be constructed each year. On the face of the tower would be the inscription: "Give the King thy judgments, O God, and Thy righteousness unto the King's son: On one side, Hon. C. C. Maclean, the people perish." On the other side: "He shall have dominion from sea to sea."

Hon. A. K. Maclean, approved by the building committee.

Mr. McCurdy: "No, this detail was not submitted to the committee."

Mr. Maclean then remarked that he considered the inscriptions would not add to the beauty of the tower, and it would be much better to leave them off.

Consideration of the vote was postponed.

Old Cruisers.

Once more the one-time Canadian cruisers Niobe and Rainbow sailed into the limelight when estimates of the Department of Naval Service came up for discussion in the evening. It was 9 o'clock when the House embarked on consideration of the estimates, but no time was lost in getting under way.

A. E. Fripp, a Meighen supporter from Ottawa, immediately fired a broadside of criticism at Hon. C. C. Maclean, Minister of Marine and the Naval Service, in regard to the disposition of the Niobe.

Scathing criticism of the Government's naval policy from the Opposition side, notably from Dr. Michael Clark, brought a statement and a defence from the Minister.

On the suggestion of the Minister, consideration of the vote was postponed pending the production of more complete information in regard to the disposal of the Niobe, which was killed.

UNITED RUSSIA WILL NOT BE SEEN FOR LONG PERIOD

Riga, May 28.—Even were the Russian Bolshevik regime to collapse immediately, the dream of a new united Russia is impossible of realization for the time being, in the opinion of political students, Government officials and business men in the three Baltic states, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania, having diplomatic missions at Moscow.

All agree that the fall of the regime headed by Nikolai Lenin would be followed by a long period of anarchy.

This opinion was expressed to correspondents by Prof. Piip, the Estonian Foreign Minister, M. Shumatin, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs of the Latvian Government, Dr. Kasmir Grinluis, and dozens of other students who are in a position to view the Russian situation at close range, take a similar view.

A. M. Martus, of New York, a Lithuanian-American at the head of the united Baltic organizations which are promoting a Baltic alliance, recently returned from a month's investigation in Moscow. He summed up the situation by saying:

"Russians in America, Paris and elsewhere who are still contending a united Russia would be possible after the fall of Bolshevism, cherish a vain dream. I was recently in Moscow and am of the opinion it would take 150 years to restore anything like normal conditions in Russia. The Baltic states are progressing, while inner Russia is deteriorating."

GARGOSAURUS RAN, SCIENTISTS THINK

Prehistoric Creature, Short on Brain, Lived in Alberta

New York, May 28.—Best minds of the American Museum of Natural History agree that the Gorgosaurus, a gigantic beast which lived way back in paleozoic times, ran, when in a hurry, on his hind legs.

Nobody ever saw a Gorgosaurus, but scientists scooping around his ancient habitats have found enlightening footprints and other evidence that he once lived in what is now the Canadian Province of Alberta. They show that this carnivorous dinosaur used all fours in ordinary traveling, but being spurred to high speed, the big fellow got up on his hind legs. Accordingly, a Gorgosaurus skeleton recently acquired by the museum from the Red Deer River beds of Alberta has just been mounted in his running pose.

In explaining the probable habits of the Gorgosaurus, Dr. W. D. Matthew, curator of the museum's department of vertebrate paleontology, pictures the prehistoric monster in chase of a couple of unwary duck-billed dinosaurs that have carelessly wandered from the banks of rivers and lagoons which served them as refuge from landlubbers like the Gorgosaurus.

The Gorgosaurus was long on speed, but short on brains, Dr. Matthew said. In fact, he was a real low brow among the ancient animals. Intellectually, he would have been a good companion for the crocodiles, which are put at the foot of the class in most zoos.

So, Mr. Matthew said, this enormous, but rather stupid, beast would rely on his speed to catch the frightened, duck-billed dinosaurs. Standing up on his rear-legs and using his massive tail to balance the body, he would pursue his prey, catching them with claw and tooth. The duck-billed dinosaurs had no means of defense, if caught, and they were promptly consigned to place "en" the Gorgosaurus' menu.

SINN FEIN ADMITS DESTRUCTION OF FINE BUILDING

London, May 28.—That the destruction of the Dublin Customs House was a "military operation" ordered by the body which has been calling itself the "Irish Republican Parliament" was a statement made by The Irish Bulletin, Dublin, last night. It described the operation as a "complete success."

"A misunderstanding signal caused the premature cessation of work," said The Bulletin, "but so exact was the discipline that the men were immediately recalled and the operation was completed, although hostilities had begun outside."

"British forces which reached the scene were engaged by Irish patriots posted in the vicinity in fighting at both of the doors of the building and outside. There were casualties on both sides, but it is impossible to ascertain the exact number as yet. The Bulletin claimed that the burning of the Customs House reduced the most important branches of the British civil Government in Ireland to virtual impotence."

It expressed regret over the destruction of the fine building, but stated that "the lives of 4,000,000 of our people are a more sacred charge than any architectural masterpiece."

Y. M. C. A. Made Fine Progress in Past Year

Institution Still Burdened With Heavy Capital Indebtedness; Every Activity of Community Is Cared For In Plans of Various Departments.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. directors and staff took the form of a banquet in the buildings, commencing at 6.30 o'clock last night, with Capt. George McGregor presiding.

A large attendance was on hand to hear the reports of the departments and the directors' annual report. The greatest satisfaction was expressed by the chair in the standing of the institution on all points, while at the same time Mr. McGregor stated that he wished the indebtedness that had been carried dormant by the institution for some years would be lifted. In the last five years the sum of some $25,000 had been paid away in interest on loans and mortgages, and this was nearly half the capital sum of indebtedness. A drive to reduce this debt, he said, would be necessary.

Membership.
It was reported that the membership of the Y. M. C. A. was now 943 members in good standing, consisting of 485 boys and 458 men—this being an increase in total of some sixty since last year's report. With the new pavilion at Beaver Lake and every department booming, a splendid year of work was anticipated.

In the election of officers which followed the report of the nominating committee was adopted in its entirety—Messrs. J. B. Corley, J. W. Spencer, R. G. Howell, A. E. Mallick being re-elected; W. Erickson and A. R. Merrick added to the directorate for the first time—all for the three-year period—and William Moore, elected to the two-year vacancy.

The heartiest congratulations were expressed to the officials in charge of the various departments, and earnest thanks to the many friends of the institution for their combined aid with the Pavilion and in many other ways. The Rotary, Kiwanis, Gyro clubs and many private citizens were personally thanked for their assistance.

Mr. Beall's Address:
During the evening Harold G. Beall, late of the Indian national council of the Y. M. C. A. delivered a stirring address on the Y. M. C. A. situation in India. There, stated the speaker the Y. M. C. A. had made great strides, but even at that was only reaching two per cent. of the boy life of the country—that two per cent. being those who could already speak English—while the untapped resources were being cared for by the mission. There was a great and expanding field for activity in India, stated the speaker, who urged the extension of the foreign work of the institution.

Financial Statement.
The report of the treasurer, J. W. Spencer, showed total receipts amounting to $40,459, of which $11,863 came from dormitory rentals and $7,755 from membership fees. Subscriptions amounted to $8,043. Fixed charges represented a total of $3,788, administration and office salaries $5,472, and building employees' salaries $5,462.

The report of the Boys' Division Committee for year ending April 30, presented by Dr. Haynor, said in part:

Membership.
"During the year, 713 boys have been members, the highest membership having been reached in December when 503 were on the roll. The previous year's best was 370, showing an increase of 133. The total number of boys in the Y. M. C. A. buildings at the end of the year was 1,190, showing an increase of 100 over the previous year. The total number of men in the Y. M. C. A. buildings at the end of the year was 458, showing an increase of 10 over the previous year. The total number of members in the Y. M. C. A. buildings at the end of the year was 1,648, showing an increase of 110 over the previous year.

Physical Department.
The report of the Physical Department was presented by Dr. M. W. Thomas, in part as follows:
The policy of the Department Committee has been to extend the widest possible assistance, both within and without the building, to all worthy organizations, while still keeping in view the obligation to our own members. This policy has resulted in being heavily called upon for use of the gymnasium, baths and equipment, and to the aid of groups and individuals who have come seeking our help.

Without being too tedious, we desire to submit some figures which will indicate the progress which has been made. We have held 523 class sessions were held with an enrollment of 420 and an aggregate attendance of 9,258. In 1920-21 (the past season) 656 class sessions were held with an enrollment of 722. Our increase in enrollment was 302, in class sessions 137, in aggregate attendance 5,557.

Two new classes were introduced in the schedule of our courses (17-21) which started auspiciously in the Fall, but for lack of any additional cohesive programme, slipped away later in the season.

A third business men's class was organized, meeting at 10.30 a. m., and though this was projected very late in the season, has proven its value to a section of our membership and should be featured this Fall.

Leaders' Corps.
Owing to removals from the City, the Senior Leaders' Corps was badly depleted last season. The new corps who were available, gave valuable service, and in order to rectify the condition, a fine body of Junior Leaders is and should be proved an asset in coming seasons.

We regret exceedingly the need of chronicling the passing of Vernon Miller, who up to the time of his death was a valued and enthusiastic member of the Senior Corps.

Swimming Club.
Our swimmers had an excellent season, winning a goodly proportion of the events in which they participated.

Baseball.
No representative teams were organized during the last winter, but a tremendous amount of basketball was played in class leagues, Tuxis and Tait Hatter boys' groups, Sunday School Leagues.

The Victoria Association staged the P. C. Junior Championship, twenty clever and very promising ball players were selected to represent the three weight divisions. We also promoted a very successful senior tournament with ten of the fastest teams in the district entered. Football was played and this tournament should be continued next year. In passing, our thanks are gratefully tendered to Messrs. J. H. Taylor and P. W. Stubbard (Winnipeg) for generous assistance in providing a trophy.

Social.
"Along social lines" is a good angle of approach to men, so while all classes are organized along this plan, several distinctive social features were promoted.

Victoria Association Physical Department has recently been additionally honored by a request from the Toronto National Office, that we come in a very real way to the substitution of that office for the coast province, carrying supplies of all their department priced matter, and giving desired assistance to the smaller associations in this area.

Board of Director's Report.
The annual report of the Board of Directors presented by B. Witter, secretary, said in part:

Activity Never Slackens.
"There is one great construction plant in Victoria, that in this recent business depression has not shut down for a day, and not cut hours of operation, and that is the Young Men's Christian Association, and why? Because we have a greater desire for boys who are being trained into men of character, ability ideals.

"Your directors have sought to keep the boys' division as active as they administered the affairs of the Association, and in the fifteen Board Meetings which were held during the past year they gave thoughtful and prayerful consideration to many matters pertaining to policy, programme, equipment, staff and finances.

"While we did not attain the maximum of the ideal in either membership, programme or results, we are very thankful to be able to record that healthy progress was made in several directions and that we received many encouragements in carrying on the work.

The Building.
The Association Building, with its numerous facilities, has been continuously and extensively used by members and non-members. Being a community centre, many organizations have had the use of rooms for their meetings.

"To keep things presentable and in good working order, we were obliged to renew the carpeting and to have renewals. A cave-in on the East side of the swimming pool involved an expense of $250 for re-tilling. Large numbers of young men away from home have found comfortable quarters at modest rates in our dormitory bed rooms. 194 beds are now available, which has an average occupancy of about ninety per cent. This feature has been carefully supervised by our house secretary, Mr. Barrett, who has a friendly spirit has obtained amongst the roomers, who are with few exceptions, well satisfied with the service given. The receipts from dormitory rentals are about $700 less than our expenditures.

Membership.
The total number of members in good standing at the close of the year was 943, 485 boys and 458 men, as against 883 last year—370 boys and 513 men—a net gain of sixty. However, included in last year's figures were seventy-five current complimentary soldier tickets so that actually there is also a gain of paid senior members which is evidenced by the fact that their membership fees show an advance of $1,230. Remembering the fact that many young men—members and others—have been obliged to leave the city owing to the employment situation, this might be considered a gratifying showing.

Mr. Barrett, who has a friendly spirit has obtained amongst the roomers, who are with few exceptions, well satisfied with the service given. The receipts from dormitory rentals are about $700 less than our expenditures.

Want Good Leaders.
"We regret to state that our educational and religious work programme for the seniors have not been up to the standard, chiefly because the men appointed to the chairmanship of these important committees were unable to serve.

Two clubs of young men, the W. P. S. and the Acme, held supper meetings each week through the Fall and Winter months, followed by programmes of an educational and inspirational character, provided by their own members or by visiting speakers.

"For several months a devotional song service was held in the Lobby on Sunday afternoons and proved helpful to those who attended.

"The members of the staff have maintained a daily devotional meeting and in their various relationships with boys and men have tactfully and kindly emphasized those fundamental qualities of integrity, industry, faith and service, which are essentially religious, and which are essential to the Christian character.

"We certainly do not want to camouflage 'Christian' in our name, when the great need of men and nations, in these times of stress and uncertainty, is Christian character built on the only sure foundation. Our employed officers have co-operated with the churches, Y. W. C. A. and other organizations.

Financial Statement.
"Supplementing the detailed statement of receipts and expenditures in our treasurer's report, we are happy to state that the proceeds of which, year with a deficit of $2,350, we closed with interest, amounted to $2,339. This tion had entrants. The Sunner activities of this group are somewhat handicapped however, through our inability to furnish adequate outdoor quarters.

Two large galas were features of the indoor season and through the courtesy of the Australian Olympic Swimmers, a fine demonstration was also put on for the boys of the Victoria High School. Much valuable service has also been rendered through voluntary coaching by members of the Swimming Club.

Athletics.
Athletics have been promoted as a part of our class time programme, all boys and young men's classes using well-known athletic events to round out the competitive element, which, under control, is so essential a factor in character development. We plan to give a larger place, and more prominence to this phase of the work next season.

The annual road races were run for juniors and seniors on New Year's Day, as usual large interest being evidenced.

Basketball.
No representative teams were organized during the last winter, but a tremendous amount of basketball was played in class leagues, Tuxis and Tait Hatter boys' groups, Sunday School Leagues.

A SANER WORLD.

The movement for the abolition of competition in armaments is gathering momentum and, notwithstanding certain signs to the contrary, it is not too much to expect from many well-defined indications that eventually it will sweep all opposition before it. The principal influence for this beneficent purpose comes from the two great English-speaking democracies, where the pressure of powerful elements operating for world peace has begun to manifest itself in definite, substantial form. Especially significant was the unanimous adoption of a resolution in the United States Senate, urging President Harding to invite Great Britain and Japan to a conference to discuss an agreement on armaments—a development which proves that the people of the republic are overwhelmingly in favor of a limitation of armaments, for otherwise the resolution never would have been so enthusiastically supported by the people's representatives. That this invitation will meet with a most cordial response in Great Britain can be taken for granted, for a glance at the British estimates of expenditure shows that a determined effort already is being made to cut down military and naval appropriations. In Japan a similar movement is rapidly gaining force, the result of a recent postcard census of opinion among the population prompting able and distinguished statesmen like Baron Kato to come out flatly for a reduction in armaments.

After all, such a development was bound to occur in countries where the sentiment of democracy is the strongest, or all the sacrifices of the great war would have gone for naught. It was inevitable that as soon as the war mentality began to decline, the reactionary spirit which war produces and which exists for some time after war, would lose its grip, and the normal and healthy tendencies, the saner judgment and the clearer perspective, of peace would commence to assert themselves. It is highly satisfactory to note, too, that with the growth of the movement for the elimination of competition in armaments, there is a pronounced strengthening of cordiality between this Empire and the United States. The strident yowling of the senseless agitators who have been endeavoring to sow discord between the two powers, to the ruin of civilization, is being drowned by a swelling chorus of harmony from the pulpit, the responsible press, influential statesmen and other leaders of thought and opinion on both sides. Sanity is coming to the world; slowly, it is true, but surely.

THE ULSTER ELECTIONS.

If there is any outstanding surprise in the initial returns of the Ulster elections it lies in the large number of Unionists elected in excess of expectations. Early prospects appear to suggest that Sir James Craig may be assured of approximately seventy-five per cent. of the fifty-two seats. Of the rest there should be a fairly even division between the Nationalists and the Sinn Feiners of whom none of the latter will take part in the deliberations of the new body. Such a signal victory for the Premier-designate in Northern Ireland is the more noteworthy by reason of the fact that there is a very numerous and formidable Sinn Fein population in Ulster. Even some of the strongholds of Orangism were not successful in preventing this particular element from capturing a number of seats in the municipal elections which took place some time ago. Nor should it be forgotten that in the old days of Nationalist representation in the British House of Commons there was a time when there were more Home Rulers representing Ulster than Unionists—the proportions, if we remember rightly, being seventeen and sixteen respectively. None the less the minority had their way although in the light of what is now known the most bitter antagonists of Home Rule would jump at the solution they then assailed if it were available and possible to-day.

Under existing circumstances, however, it is permissible only to speculate upon the effect of the assembling of the Northern Parliament. It may develop that as soon as the less aggressive "republican" elements begin to realize that there is in existence and in successful operation in one part of the country an authoritative body with liberal legislative powers a gradual conversion from the hide-bound policy of de Valera might result. The Irish tradition to be outdone by nobody after all may have something to do with determining the future status of the South. To hold a general election for the purpose of selecting parliamentary representatives pledged in advance to take no part in the government of the country ought to be too absurd even for the extremist Sinn Feiner.

Either the whole problem may be solved by some such dawn of reason or else the futility of two Parliaments will demonstrate the need to repeat Canadian political evolution. But as long as what may be termed "Sinn Fein Ireland" possesses the political balance Sir James Craig's Government will be compelled to demonstrate extraordinary local advantages before the tail may wag the dog.

INSPECTOR MURRAY.

Not only among those with whom the discharge of his daily task brought him into closer contact but among the people of Victoria as a whole will the death of Inspector Frank Murray be keenly felt. As an officer of the law he had climbed the ladder until there remained but one more rung to scale before he would have reached the top. No more fitting tribute to his efficiency in the avocation to which he had devoted the greater part of his life could be cited than this. But Inspector Murray was essentially human. His understanding and interpretation of a policeman's duty never excluded a just recognition of human frailty. And it was that inherent sense of kindly sympathy with which his daily round was tempered that contributed to his official success and personal popularity. Therefrom sprang his good citizenship which could ill be spared.

A NOVEL ENVOY.

Arising out of the controversy which has occupied a considerable amount of attention in the United States recently is the suggestion by one of the Japanese newspapers that the American Ambassador to Tokio should be an out and out anti-Japanese official in every sense of the term. Some of the possible candidates for the post have been ruled out by what has appeared to be popular consent by reason of their supposed pro-Japanese sentiments. Because of the interest which has been developed The Osaka Mainichi advances the argument that if the new Minister to the Japanese capital could go to his duties obviously prejudiced he would commence right at the bottom in an attempt to understand the Japanese cause. By the same token he should be in a position to present to the native mind the reasons of anti-Japanism in the United States. Somewhat unusual as the course proposed might seem there is something to be said in its favor. It is quite certain that if, some of the fundamental causes of mutual distrust could be exposed in the proper way it should be a simple matter to remedy them and remove all danger of their recurrence.

THAT HEAD TAX.

If the advice of the Commissioner-General of Immigration is permitted to carry weight at Washington the United States Government may be induced to remove the eight dollar head tax which the Department officials are required to impose upon all Canadians crossing the border at the present time. Prior to 1917 the tax applied only to foreigners who had lived in this country less than one year and the regulation was regarded as more of a precautionary measure by whose operation a check upon undesirables would be applied automatically. Its application to Canadians irrespective of length of residence came about under the stress of war and in some cases it may have been beneficial to both countries. But in view of the fact that the Canadian dollar is still at a discount across the border and more especially because there are no extraordinary circumstances which appear to demand the deposit of the people of this country would welcome an early abolition of the impost. It should be pointed out, however, that the local authorities always have interpreted the law with a liberality and consideration which has reduced the formality attendant upon traveling between here and points to the South to the minimum.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In his address to the two parties to the strike in the coal mining industry of Great Britain yesterday Mr. Lloyd George said that the feature of the stoppage that impressed him most was the curious apathy which had affected the whole country and the reluctance to settle the dispute. In other words the people of Great Britain are behind the Government in their intention to do nothing that might result in a temporary settlement. They are tired of being held to ransom every time one of the members of the Triple Alliance believes the time is ripe for a coup. They will grin and bear it until reason prevails in the ranks of the Miners' Federation.

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS

CURE FOR SOPORIFIC SERMONS

(From The Toronto Telegram)
According to Rev. John McNeill, dull preaching is blasphemy. The former pastor of Cooke's Church postulates that his congregation will ever be small or somnolent. But is it possible that others may be studying the sermon with humor to the mark? Mr. McNeill deprecates the soporific effect of so many sermons. At present the education of a district superintendent does not include a course of lectures on wit and humor. The creation of such a chair would be an innovation, but it might also be a success. There is an important vacancy on the staff of one of the theological colleges. It is understood that search is being made for a professor who will neither be too high nor too low in the estimation of Rev. McNeill's remarks. It might be well to waive the requirement that the newcomer be ordained in Holy Orders and appoint some layman who can instruct embryo members how to keep a congregation interested. There is a professor at McGill University whose oratorical skill has attracted the attention of the local ministry. It has not been claimed that Professor Stephen Leacock is overly evangelistic or unduly formal, and he has an excellent record in academic work. At the same time his services may not be immediately available, although Sir Arthur Gordon has, in the several representations that McGill University should dispense with them.

Astrologers read this as a doubtful day. Saturn dominates in benefic aspect. Saturn's negative and adverse constructive enterprises should benefit by this configuration, which is favorable to large undertakings by engineers, builders and contractors. Promotions and big responsibilities for army officers and naval activity for military men is strongly indicated. Saturn is in threatening mood that is read in these dissonant in industry and labor troubles. Strikes that affect shipping and commerce seem to be foreshadowed and at least one will be of serious import. While the stars seem to menace trade unions, reorganization that will benefit members is prognosticated. Neptune is in an aspect that is supposed to affect the nerves and maladies will develop, if care is not taken to avoid severe strains. There is a sign to-day that is read as indicating that the public mind will be disturbed and will be inclined to criticize national policies. The Moon is in a sign held to be stimulating to action and initiative. Canada has the best promise for trade and commerce during the coming Summer. This is not an auspicious date for beginning any journey and the sea may be especially trying. Dangers from dark places seem to be increased during this rule and many robberies are again predicted. Good as well as evil prophecies are read in the heavens, for it is told by the stars that the world will give birth to great ideas in this year of 1921. Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of an active, prosperous year. Business will be satisfactory. The health should be safeguarded. Children born on this day are likely to be keen and alert in mind. These subjects of Gemini usually succeed, for they are naturally constructive.

OAK BAY SCHOOLS' SPORTS A SUCCESS

High School Won Intermediate Shield and Monterey School Junior Shield

Yesterday's field day of the Oak Bay Schools Athletic Association at the Oak Bay Park attracted a large crowd of spectators, and resulted in considerable spirited competition in the various events on the programme. There were many entries from the various schools in the district, including the Oak Bay High School, Monterey Public School, St. Aidan's, Willows Public School, Cranleigh and St. Michaels. The long programme was run off in splendid style by the officials. When the events were finished and the points tallied up, it was found that the High School has succeeded for the second time in winning the intermediate shield with a total of twenty-two points out of a possible thirty. The Junior shield was captured by the Monterey School with a total of nineteen points. This trophy was won by St. Aidan's last year.

Won Feature Races.

The two feature races were won by H. Goodacre, of the High School, and C. Forbes, of the Monterey School. Goodacre captured the senior boys' 440-yard dash, and was presented with the Clear cup and medal. Forbes won the junior boys' 220-yard dash, and secured possession of the Curtis cup and medal. The officials of the meet were as follows: Judges, His Honor Judge Lammann and P. F. Curtis and P. D. Gospel; starters, C. V. Milton and Capt. F. G. Dexter; committee, H. P. Hope, W. E. Hoadley, K. CAMPBELL TELLS OF WAREHOUSE DEAL

"From this he asks the public to believe that the sale was an improper one, partaking of the nature of a reward for political services in the last general election."
"First, as to the value of the property which was sold for $150,000. The building is a modern six-story brick and concrete storage warehouse of heavy mill construction, with double railway tracks, and containing 45,000 square feet of floor space, which could not be duplicated to-day for less than $100,000. For the site alone my company refused an offer of $50,000 before erecting the building ten years ago.

Says Statements Are Fiction.
"The property was never offered for sale at any time, either by me personally or the company for a less price than $150,000."
"There never has been a dispute with adjoining property owners, and Mr. Cromie's statements are mere fiction."
"Ever since the Prohibition Act became law in 1917, the government had leased space in the warehouse for the storage of liquors, paying monthly rent of 5c per square foot for the space in force by local storage companies. This rate includes the usual heat, light, elevator and janitor services. From time to time, as the government business grew, the space was increased until charges for liquor stocks on hand required tariff payments of $50 per month."

"To cope with enlarged requirements under the Moderation Act, the entire warehouse was required by the government. Under the usual storage rates this would have cost the Government $2,400 per month. The Government, accordingly, negotiated for the whole warehouse at a reduced rate. Independent valuations were secured. One firm, Messrs. Washburn & Co., members of the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange, gave a valuation of $1,400 a month for a five-year lease of the whole premises. Messrs. Frank L. Murdoch Limited, of this city, gave a valuation of 4c per square foot, which would amount to $1,920 per month.

Economy Was Object.
"The Government stipulated for the lowest of the two valuations and declined to make a five-year lease unless a clause was incorporated giving them the right to take over the property for $150,000, being less than nine years rental value."
"Apparently deciding that purchase was the more economical, especially in view of the bottling plant, burglar-proofing and other improvements to be installed in the building, the liquor board, within two months of the signing of the lease, decided to exercise the privilege of their option. For myself, I certainly should have preferred $54,000 for the five-year rental, and my property returned at the expiration of the term, without approximately $15,000 of improvements added.

"So far as the accusation of secrecy is concerned, my friend Mr. Cromie has no ground at all for his allegations. The announcement of the purchase was publicly made in the pages of The Vancouver Times almost immediately after the sale was made, and the purchase price was clearly stated.

Cromie Was a Confidante.

"The last person in the world to charge me with secrecy in the matter is Mr. Cromie himself. During the time the negotiations between myself and the Government were in progress I was an esteemed confidante and fellow director with Mr. Cromie on the board of The Vancouver Sun, in which I am still a substantial shareholder."
"Mr. Cromie knew from my lips of the progress of the negotiations with the Government, from day to day, last January. At that time, his expressed opinion to me was that I ought to get a higher price and not consent to a lease of sale on the Government terms. I can only speculate on the spirit of love and service with which Mr. Cromie has pursued me, since April 28, when, for motives entirely honorable, I decided to dissociate myself from Mr. Cromie and his policies and to enter the field of Vancouver journalism as a friendly rival."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY
(From The Times, Saturday, May 28, 1896.)
"At last night's meeting of the City Council Mr. Simon Leiser was granted the usual permission to extend the basement of his new building beyond the street line. This morning a force of men began work on the excavations."
"T. G. Moody, Jr., and Sewell Moody will leave for Vancouver to-morrow evening to represent the V. W. C. club in the races there on Saturday. F. Penwell was seriously hurt at the Nainaimo races on Monday and will not be able to go."
"Pt. Ellice Bridge Disaster—There are known to be fifty-five dead in the Point Ellice Bridge accident, and it is believed this will be the total. If there were any others missing they would have been reported by now."

Unequal Moral Standard Cause of Social Disease

Mrs. Pankhurst Pleads For Equality of Men and Women As Remedy For Menace; Dr. T. Miller on Economic Wastage.

"If there were not two standards of moral conduct—one for men and one for women—the scourge of venereal disease would not exist. This is a fact which no one can deny. Suppose a woman were to offer herself for a public office with a private life which was not above reproach. She would stand no chance of election. Yet this does not apply to the other sex. We have a great way to go before we reach an absolute equality and justice in moral standards, but until we recognize that venereal disease is a direct effect of the double standard...

Progressive Legislation. Her recent journey through Canada, said Mrs. Pankhurst, had revealed the extensive measures taken to combat the social evil in the Dominion and she congratulated the various provincial governments on their courage and progressiveness in passing legislation dealing with venereal disease. Her visit to several of the clinics already established had shown that for patients and absolutely secrecy was observed as long as they continue the treatment.

Women's Standard or Men's? We cannot expect the old state of things to continue. The old idea that if women were more militant and preserve the health of the race is exploded. Now when everything is in the melting pot, we must make up our minds that men have either got to live up to the standard of women or women must inevitably come down to the standard of the men. Imagine the level of some men. It would be better if a cat's paw came and wiped out the whole race."

Women Sacrificed. Tribute was paid to Josephine Butler, the wife of an English clergyman, who was the pioneer in the movement for social hygiene at a time when it needed tremendous courage to speak of such matters. Then a fallen woman was looked upon as a social outcast but a necessary evil in order that other women might lead sheltered lives because men were unable to live up to the moral standard imposed upon women.

Must Combat Ignorance. Challenging the frequently expressed opinion that young people should not be made cognizant of venereal disease, Mrs. Pankhurst claimed that the people who were most in need of proper knowledge of the facts were the young who in the first flush of youth were most tempted when one careless act might lead to untold misery and suffering, not only for themselves but for other innocent victims. The best thing that the general public could do to bring about...

Essentials Cited. "There are some people who, confident of their own righteousness, live in their shells when it comes to consideration of venereal disease, and say, 'It is not my business.' We have got to get at those people by showing up the situation in dollars and cents, and I can give you an illustration pretty close to home. An Escondido there are 150 patients whose insanity has been caused by syphilis. It costs the Province $25,000 a year to maintain those people. Multiply that by twenty and you have an approximate cost of $500,000. The time passed all too quickly, bringing to a close the first outing of the season, the success of which presages many similar enjoyable gatherings in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Child entertained at a delightful and original "cap and apron" dance last evening at their home on Simcoe Street. About thirty guests were present, all including the gentlemen, being garbed in the accepted attire. An amusing diversion was created by the "answers to advertisements" competition; many of the replies being witty and original. The reception room was charmingly arranged with yellow broom, the variegated variety being used with artistic effect in the decoration of the supper table.

Encouraging reports of the work of the Y. W. C. A. were given at the annual meeting held last evening at the headquarters, Stobart-Pease Building. The newly elected members of the board are Mesdames Bishop, Brown, Chave, Harper, Kingham, Nivin, Plaskett, Smith, Watson, Hugo McDonald, Morton E. A. Lewis, Sonely, Miss Helen Colpitts, who with Mesdames Beckwith, Gibson, Colman, Collis, Forman, Haverstock, Lockwood, McNaughton, Fletcher, Piercey, Sea, Mitchell, Misses Fawcett and Hall make up the Board of Directors for 1921-22.

President's Address. Mrs. Bishop, the retiring president, in her address said in part: "First of all as your representative on the Board of Directors, I wish to extend a very hearty welcome to all present, and appreciation of your interest and co-operation in the work of the Y. W. C. A. I want to emphasize the fact that Y. W. work is community work, and we appeal strongly to the ladies of Victoria to show their interest in this most important work by either acting on one of the committees or on the Board of Directors. We all realize that upon the young women lies a great deal of the responsibility of the future of the nation and we must accept the responsibility of directing them along right lines, providing as far as in us lies the best influences and model surroundings, and it is in this capacity that the board and staff of the Y. W. C. A. direct their energies. On the other hand, we must have the co-operation and confidence of the people in our endeavors for their behalf, and always welcome suggestions from them which would tend to increase interest in the association."

At our last annual meeting a very strong appeal was made on behalf of a new Y. W. building, with the result that we have on hand approximately $25,000 towards that fund. We are now planning a membership campaign to solicit not only the financial help but the interest of the community which will bring its own results, and the Board of Directors would be glad to receive names of those willing to help in this campaign. Following this campaign...

Teen Age Girls. Our touch on the teen age girl is obtained through the local co-operative committee on Girls' Work which is formed of representatives from the churches of the various denominations and the Y. W. C. A. Through the courtesy of the Boys' Work Committee of the Y. M. C. A. we were able to hold a nine days' older girls' camp at Beaver Lake camp last Summer from August 3 to 11. This year we shall go to camp from June 24 to July 2 and expect Miss Marjorie Fraser, Baptist National Girls' Work Secretary for special leadership.

Building Fund. Two of our aims for this year were one thousand new members and a nucleus for our new building fund. The first we have fallen short of but we are not discouraged for the result of the success of our second has shown us that if we organize properly and go out for them the thousand members are waiting for us. Our building fund was started by a life membership from the Board to Mrs. J. L. Beckwith, ex-president. This was added to by the generosity of Mrs. P. M. Campbell in donating a collection of cut glass and china which up-to-date sold for $258.99 (besides $49 worth sold at the Fair of Nations. Donations and surplus from education work, proceeds of the House Girls' Club sale and Fair of Nations make a total of $3,768.99 in the bank. Financial Statement. The association received $28,252 income, of which $8,605 came from boarders, $4,101 from transienta, $5,966 from meals, $9,084 from rentals at the Annex, and $1,595 from the Fair of Nations. After meeting expenses and a balance in hand of $4,913 remains. At the conclusion of the meeting Messrs. Graham, Geo. McGregor, Fred McGregor and Mrs. J. M. C. A. brought greetings from the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. which also held its annual meeting last night.

A GAMBLE IN BEAUTY

The Romance of Two Sisters, Both Beautiful, One Departs, the Other Vampish—With Thrills in Every Chapter and an Unexpected Denouement.

"I would like to see Mr. Phillips," Varia said in a soft voice.

"Mr. Phillips is busy," the boy answered glibly, "but Varia's charm made him hesitate and say, 'I'll see.'"

He came back a moment later and showed the way into Adam's private office.

The light fell on Adam's roughly-hewn face, the large nose, the small gray eyes set deeply beneath projecting brows, the brown hair that was never quite smooth.

"Why, Varia," he said rising as she hesitated, "this is fine! I thought you'd forgotten that I existed."

He took her little hand in his great one and looked down at her from his height of six feet.

"Adam, are you awfully busy? Because if you are, I don't want to bother you with this," he asked pulling out a chair, "has my office so subdued you?"

"But I never did know, you old bear, that you had a great place like this!" Varia smiled, "why I always thought."

He shook his head at her. "Don't tell me you ever gave it a thought, I know better."

They smiled at each other understandingly, for Varia he was "Adam," as dear as any brother could have been and far more forgiving.

"Adam, you see I've come to you because—because—the thing which had seemed so simple a moment ago, began to take on huge proportions. A blush stole up her cheeks and she began to pull off her white gloves.

"Nothing," she matter, Varia? You're happy?" he asked abruptly.

"Oh—oh, yes," she breathed, meeting his eyes and quickly glancing away.

He tilted back in his chair, thrust his hands in his pockets and stared straight before him, but Varia found she could not go on.

Adam's voice, rough and kind, saved her.

"Run, Varia! Still he did not look at her.

"Yes," she said on a breath.

"Something to do with—with Nina?"

"Yes."

"If you want me to help you, you tell me. You know I'd do anything for you, don't you?" he asked, he insisted, and Varia repeated the monosyllable for the third time.

She spoke in a quick, low voice, so that her lips had to lean forward to catch her hurried words.

"I thought perhaps—if some one would—would pretend to like me, that might seem."

"You don't think plain dealings simpler? I don't want you."

"Oh, Adam, dear, do just this for me, can't you?" Varia begged, "pretend that you like me very much, come to see me some times when John is home."

"Have it out with him, Varia."

"You don't understand, you can't!" Varia said, "it is my last chance, my very last!"

"Oh, Varia, is he treating you badly?" he asked fiercely running one hand through his hair.

"No, no, no," Varia cried. "I suppose it does sound kind of wild, the thing I am asking you to do. But you're so safe, Adam, so safe and so kind, that I don't want to hurt you—and it may save me."

"You're asking me to pretend I'm in love with you?" he said, slowly rising, "have I got it straight, Varia?"

She bowed her head. She stood up and went over to the corner and pretended to look at a cabinet with much interest, while she fumbled for her handkerchief that had disappeared in some mysterious way.

"Here, take mine," Adam had shaken out a great square of snowy linen, and he handed it to her now.

"I always would cry at the wrong places," Varia smiled bravely, "you tell me to tell him, will you?"

The telephone on his desk interrupted them, and Varia, pulling on her gloves, waved him a silent goodbye.

many hooks and catches that it took forever.

"Nellie must have shown them both into the living room, and I don't know what happened. I suppose they must have discovered that they were both engaged to me. Anyway by the time I was ready and went downstairs—they'd flown. Not a sign."

"Then these came?"

Mollie pulled out of the pocket of her skirt two very much creased letters and handed them across the table.

Varia read:

"My dear Miss Stilwell,

It came as a great surprise, I may say, to learn that you had already engaged yourself to another man. I am sure under the circumstances that our acquaintance of a few months, that is, better terminated.

I am sailing next week on Caronia. But I hope you will not forget your sudden change of plan has necessitated any change on my part, as I intended going back soon anyway.

If you have any apologies or admissions to make you can address me care of my bankers Duffield & Song, Ltd., London.

Believe me,

Sincerely,

RUPERT PERCIVAL HAMLIN.

"Now, I ask you what do you think of that?" Mollie asked disgustedly as Varia laid down the letter.

"It sounds rather cool!"

"To think I ever fancied myself in love with him! Why, I didn't know what love meant then. It was perfectly ridiculous just because a man danced wonderfully. She stopped and her face flamed, for Varia was looking at her with sudden understanding.

"Read this!" she said, thrusting a second letter over the table.

"Dear Little Mollie, it doesn't seem like you, Mollie, to do a thing like that—let that English chap think you were engaged to him—and me at the same time! But I know there's something back of it, because you're a good sport at bottom, and I know you wouldn't want to make a fool of a man for your own amusement.

I hope we'll always be good friends, and we certainly haven't been very happy—the last few weeks, and perhaps we'd better let the game go. We'll meet each other some day and laugh it all over after my amusement."

She signed, "Mollie."

Dear Sirs,

I want to tell about my baby Doris Mabel. She weighed 54 lbs. when born and appeared healthy then, but began to waste away, and was so poorly that she had to be carried about on a pillow and no food would agree with her.

At the age of two months the nurse advised VIROL added to the feeding; she then weighed 5 lbs. and after a few days she began to improve. The VIROL was continued and she steadily gained until at nine months she weighed 17 lbs. The nurse at the Health Station said she had very little hope of the baby living, and we are sure it was the VIROL saved her life. I am enclosing her photo taken at the age of one year and eight months, weighing 22 lbs., and you can use it if you wish as I am so grateful to your VIROL.

Yours truly

(Sgd.) (Mrs.) W. J. BEGLEY.

VIROL is used in large quantities in more than 100 hospitals and infant clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it is a most effective medicine that is also a bone and tissue building agent. It has a most beneficial effect on firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

A STRONG STATEMENT BY BANK OF MONTREAL

Nothing could be calculated to lend greater confidence in the soundness of Canada's banking position than the showing of the semi-annual statement of the Bank of Montreal. At a period of generally disturbed, cantile and commercial conditions, such a position as is disclosed by the Bank's conditions, will be of great benefit to the country as a whole. At home it will have the effect of helping to steady conditions, while in outside financial centres it will cause leading banking groups to more fully appreciate that the leading bank in an exceptional position to help Canada meet almost any situation that might arise. In a novel sketch, the least way of avoiding any unforeseen developments.

With the swinging back to what may be regarded as peak or more normal conditions, the Bank of Montreal is of special interest to note the marked expansion the premier banking institution has enjoyed in the last five years and the fact that the Bank has been periods of great fluctuations, as well as of tremendous development in the general business and manufacturing of the country. The Bank of Montreal apparently has been able to meet every condition that has arisen, and while looking after the much larger requirements of its customers, has at the same time, maintained a position of strength and solidity which has served to improve the credit position of the country.

The immediately available cash, as represented by gold and silver coin and Dominion notes, amounts to $125,232,322, equivalent to 24.7 per cent of public liabilities.

Total current loans and discounts and loans to cities, towns, municipalities, etc., stand at $244,301,771, and the amount of current loans and discounts in Canada total $206,042,886, and loans to cities, towns and municipalities $21,738,554. Something novel in the automobile repair business has been started here by John Ferns, formerly of Ottawa, where he ran a garage and technical school.

Mr. Ferns has taken over the Old Church Garage at the corner of Broughton and Gordon Streets and has set up what he calls the "Fix-It-Yourself Garage."

This means that you do your own repairs under expert supervision and he feels that he cannot handle the job because it is beyond his ability. The garage completes the more technical work. In other words, whatever the owner finds he can do himself, he is enabled to do without incurring heavy expense and he is given advice as well.

PATROL BELIEVED BOUND FOR RUPERT TO LAND CAPTIVES

Details Lacking at Navy Yard Regarding Seizure of Japanese Sealer

No details have been received at the Esquimalt Navy Yard in confirmation of the report from Prince Rupert to the effect that a Japanese schooner had been overhauled sealing in British Columbia waters by the Canadian fishery patrol steamer Malaspina. The Malaspina makes her base at Esquimalt, but Captain H. Newcombe reports direct to Ottawa and not to the navy yard here as formerly.

The Prince Rupert Canadian Press dispatch stated that word had been received there of the capture by the Malaspina of a Japanese craft illegally engaged in sealing operations and that the crew had been put under arrest, 150 skins confiscated and the schooner destroyed.

At Willis Bay.

The Malaspina is to-day anchored in Willis Bay, and reports are that she to-day received a message from Captain Newcombe requesting that all mail for the Malaspina be forwarded to Prince Rupert. This would indicate that the Malaspina is returning to Prince Rupert to put ashore her captives.

The story of the capture of the sealer is recorded from Prince Rupert as follows: The Malaspina drew up within hailing distance of the Japanese schooner after following the raider for several hours. The Canadian patrol vessel endeavored to get alongside the schooner when someone on board the sealer is said to have fired a shot. The sealer refused to obey the commands of Captain Newcombe of the patrol boat, and endeavored to make a get away, the Malaspina giving chase.

Shots Fired.

What happened following this is not confirmed, but reports are that the Malaspina sent several shots over the bows of the fleeing raider, which were answered by fire from members of the crew of the sealer. The Japanese craft was soon overtaken and a boarding party made the master and crew of the raider prisoners. The vessel was searched for contraband furs and when several boxes of the valuable pelts were found, the Canadian officers are said to have confiscated the hides, arrested the crew and destroyed the vessel. There is some doubt as to the veracity of the story concerning the sinking of the Japanese raider, as the craft could have been taken in tow and delivered over to the authorities.

The seizure has revived among the former sealers her memories of the old days when sealing vessels plying

TRAGEDY IS FEARED

Partially Submerged Boat Located off Redwood City, Cal.

San Francisco, May 28.—Belief that Captain Henry Linsne and the four members of his crew were drowned when their boat, the War Eagle, was caught in a squall in San Francisco Bay early in the week, was expressed by the vessel's owners when she was found partially submerged off Redwood City, 30 miles south of here. She left Saturday from Newark, Aia-medea County, with a cargo of salt, and was not seen thereafter until yesterday when a barge came upon her in the mud flats off Redwood City.

FINANCIAL MISSION COMPLETE SUCCESS

Hon. John Story, Premier of N.S.W., Overcame Hostile Money Market in England

Hon. John Story, Premier of New South Wales, who sailed for the Orient by the Empress of Russia yesterday after a visit to England in connection with the financial affairs of the Mother State of the Australian Commonwealth, stated that his mission was entirely successful.

A £15,000,000 New South Wales loan will be floated in London at an early date.

Dined With King. While in London, the N. S. W. Premier, who was accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Bessie Story, dined yesterday with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace, and with the Prince of Wales, with whom Mr. Story formed a close friendship during the Prince's tour of Australia.

He was also entertained by the British Parliamentary Association, composed of members of the House of Lords and House of Commons, under the chairmanship of Col. Amery, who was controlling the Colonial Office during the temporary absence of the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill. Owing to an important division being set down for that night in the House of Commons, Mr. Story's speech was limited to half an hour. At the end of that time the Premier of N. S. W. commenced winding up his remarks, which were confined to the prospects of his state, but, by common consent, he was requested to proceed for a further hour. This coming from such a body, was an unusual compliment. But at the conclusion of that hour Mr. Story was again requested to continue his remarks, an address originally limited to half an hour, occupied in all three hours.

And yet Mr. Story is no orator in the accepted sense of the word. His effects are gained, not by the language or the manner of his utterances, but by the downright sincerity which underlies them. This quality it was which enabled him to transform a hostile money market into one distinctly favorable to N. S. W., and which has gained for him the personal friendship of members on both sides of his own Legislature.

The Premier of N. S. W. left by the Empress of Russia for the East, and expects to return to Sydney on July 18, one day prior to the re-opening of Parliament.

Repairs to the stop valve on the starboard engine of the Canadian Pacific steamship Princess Charlotte have been completed and at 4.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon the vessel will resume sailings in the triangular service.

The finishing touches are now being put to the steamship as she lies at the Belleville Street wharf, and everything will be ready for her departure for Seattle to-morrow. Since she was put temporarily out of commission by her recent slight mishap the Princess Charlotte has been docked by Yarrow's, Ltd., at Esquimalt, for cleaning and painting, and new propeller blades have been fitted.

The vessel was floated yesterday morning and was brought around to the Inner Harbor.

The Charlotte is now in the best of shape for the approaching rush of tourist traffic.

PROMPT WORK

The steamship Princess Adelaide, of the C. P. R. fleet, went around to Esquimalt yesterday afternoon and was hauled out on the Esquimalt ways last evening for cleaning and painting.

KASIER LIVED ON LIQUIDS 3 YEARS

Troubles Began With Spell of Flu; Is Now Picture of Health

"I had lived on a liquid diet for three years and my case had twice been pronounced hopeless, but Tanlac has completely overcome my stomach trouble and I eat meat, vegetables and everything else. I want, now," said Joseph S. Kasier, a boiler-maker who lives at 331 Beverley Street, Winnipeg.

"My trouble dates back to a spell of the flu three years ago, and from that time up until I took Tanlac I steadily went down hill. For a whole year I was so weak I couldn't put my foot out of the house, and while I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get on my feet, nothing helped me a particle. I just moped around the house so weak I couldn't even lift a shovel-ful of coal. I was suffering nearly every day from dizzy spells, headaches and awful attacks of nervousness. My skin got yellow, and I felt off until I was hardly more than a walking skeleton.

MAKURA MAKES PORT FROM AUSTRALASIA

Canadian-Australasian Liner Brings 300 Passengers From Southern Seas

Arriving in quarantine at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon the Canadian-Australasian liner Makura, Captain Worrall, completed her voyage from Australia. On this trip the Makura brought three hundred passengers from the South Seas, and her complement of passengers was further augmented by a number who took passage from Honolulu, the last port of call before terminating her passage at Victoria.

Thirty passengers are debarking here, and 150 travelers are routed through to points in the United States and Canada, while others are booked to Europe.

Capt. Crawford to Return

Captain Worrall, commodore of the fleet, who navigated the Makura across the Pacific on her previous voyage, will probably relinquish the command of the ship to Captain Robert Crawford on the completion of this voyage.

Last voyage Captain Crawford traveled on the Makura as a passenger, he having been summoned to Vancouver to visit the bedside of his wife, who lay critically in hospital at Vancouver. Captain Crawford reached his wife before the end came.

He will probably return to Australia by the Makura, and resume command on her next voyage to this coast.

On Business Tour. Among the passengers arriving by the Makura to-day was Jesse F. Rosenfeld, representing a New York firm of hide tanners, who has been on a business trip to Australia.

The steamship brought in a complete cargo of Australian and New Zealand products, a large quantity of which will be cleared early next week on her return trip to the Antipodes.

STEAMSHIP OWNERS ARE STANDING PAT

Determined on 15 Per Cent. Cut and No Agreements With Unions

New York, May 28.—The American Steamship Owners' Association stands pat on its position that the marine wages must be cut fifteen per cent and that it will sign no agreements with seafaring unions.

This statement was made to-day by officials of the Association after it had been announced in Washington that the Chairman, Benson, of the Shipping Board and Representatives of the marine engineers had reached an agreement over the reduction of wages in order to stave the nation-wide strike and that Secretary of Labor Davis was hoping to get the owners to participate in the agreement.

J. W. Stewart, the managing director of the company was on hand to see the boat slide off the ways, and was quite satisfied with her.

Whitman, America's great poet, may be described as a singer of the universal; the poet of brotherhood. His poems indicate a profound knowledge of the laws of life and nature, the unity of spirit and matter and the purpose and end to which all things tend. The meeting is free and all are invited. There will be time for discussion.

Building Society.—At a meeting of the Greater Victoria Building Society last night, in the offices in the Winch Building, the eleventh drawing for a cash allotment was held, and resulted in J. W. Matheson, the secretary, reported that forty names had been signed to the application for the Federal charter.

Flag Was Absent.—W. Wilson, Quebec Street, and a number of other citizens have called attention to the fact that the flag at Beacon Hill Park was not flying during the celebration of Victoria Day and they say that considerable comment regarding the incident has been made by people on board the incoming boats who noticed that this honor was not accorded the memory of Her late Majesty, in whose name the celebrations were held.

Commits Gross Vandalism.—Major Nicholson, of the Soke Harbor Hotel, reports that persons whose identity is known to him committed an act of vandalism on May 24. Two Canadian Ensigns and an Union Jack were stretched across the gateway to the grounds on Victoria Day. When the persons were leaving, one of the occupants of a certain car revved up and tore down the string of three flags, taking them and waving them at the watchers behind. One of the flags belonged to the 54th Battalion overseas, and therefore has a special interest, sentimentally and historically.

Allege Bestiality.—Tom Payne and G. H. Payne, charged with vagrancy were remanded in police court to-day until Monday. Bail was refused on a statement by Detective Macdonald who made the arrest. The detective stated the accused were causing trouble in connection with liquor running at the Outer Wharf, and that G. H. Payne had stated he had made his living by bootlegging for the last few months. His wife was said to be starving at times. Magistrate Jay refused bail, the hearing being set for Monday next. Chung, charged with selling liquor to Indians, was remanded until Wednesday next, when R. C. Lowe will appear in his defence.

Fall Under Car.—While dismounting from a man's bicycle which she was riding, Nettie Griffiths, a 14-year-old child, residing on Thistle Street, yesterday fell under the wheel of a passing automobile driven by H. Milnes, 985 Pembroke Street. The driver of the car had not sufficient warning to effect a halt before the wheel passed over the little girl. Miss Griffiths was taken to her home and appeared to be suffering mostly from shock and bruises.

Pleased With Feet.—Trustee Oldfield last night reported to the Saanich School Board that he had succeeded in striking a spring when selecting the location of a well for Prospect Lake School, with the happy result that eight feet of water stand in a well but twelve feet deep. "You had better try in Gordon Head, suggested Chairman Holloway when tendering congratulations, but Trustee Oldfield declared he "would rather rest on his laurels."

In Police Court.—L. H. Arnes, charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor to-day fined $50 in the city police court. Constable Walton related how the accused had turned at Government and Yates Streets, crashing into a telephone pole. The accused and another occupant of the car were both cut with splintered glass. The accused pleaded guilty and stated he was a stranger here, not being used to the left drive. He would pay for the damage of the hired car. A fine of $50 was imposed.

SHOW POETRY IN EVERY MOVE

Miss Charlebois and Pupils Give Artistic Dance Recital

Miss Charlebois, who made her professional reputation when she was touring with Pavlova, gave a dance recital of her pupils at the Little Theatre, Oak Bay, last night. She was assisted by Mrs. A. J. Gibson as accompanist.

Mademoiselle herself gave a number of dances to show the grace and effect that can be obtained by some of her emotional dances. Most of the numbers that she as well as the pupils gave were Russian in their origin. In her work she features arm and body movements which give an Oriental touch. She rendered the scarf dance and Blue Bird dance, her interpretation of which has made her quite noted locally. The beauty of the "Nature" dances on the programme was stimulating and ravishing. Poetry of motion ran through every movement of the dance interpretations.

Miss Roberta Balcom, only fifteen years of age, was the sensation of the evening in a dance of her own. Others whose work brought high commendation were: Marie Swabe, with her pas seul Sun Dance; Miss Noel Ferguson, a solo feature dance; Miss Gertrude Hickman, Miss Dorothy Boggs, Miss Audrey Enver, Miss Daisy Hill, who were featured in the ensemble work. There was much enthusiasm in the praise of their interpretations.

Miss Phyllis Willows sang two numbers and also danced. The staging of the whole programme was remarkably attractive.

PLEASANT SOCIAL AFFAIR WAS HELD

Members of Victoria Social and Athletic Club Make Mery at Empress

Another most enjoyable social function was held by the Victoria Social and Athletic Club last night when over one hundred members of the Canadian Pacific "get-together" organization participated in military five hundred and dancing at the Empress Hotel.

It was the second event of the kind this season, but on this occasion was confined to the members of the club and their friends. The military five hundred tournament was staged in the Grill Room with twenty tables in play. The "firsts" ladies' prizes were awarded to Mrs. M. Curtis and Miss D. Symes. The first prizes for gentlemen went to A. D. Wyatt and J. D. Fraser.

Mrs. G. H. Williamson and Miss Ethel Hume won the second ladies' prizes, and Prof. Lou Turner's three-piece orchestra providing the latest dance music.

Dancing commenced in the ballroom about 10 o'clock and continued until midnight. Prof. Lou Turner's three-piece orchestra providing the latest dance music.

Shortly after the dancing had commenced, A. M. Anderson, chairman of the temporary hall, publicly thanked George Fletcher for his valued services in supervising the card game.

It is probable that a series of "banquet" dances will be held by the club during the summer.

HIGH PRICE OF LAND OBSTACLE TO BERRY PLAN

G. G. Bushby and J. H. Sutton Return With Data in Logan-berry Scheme

That the relatively high price of land on the Saanich Peninsula appears to be the chief obstacle standing in the way of the establishment of a loganberry industry on Vancouver Island is the opinion of George G. Bushby who, with J. H. Sutton, has returned from Oregon, where he visited loganberry farms and juice plants.

"We saw excellent land, with fine red loam soil, planted with bearing walnuts, prunes and loganberries, for sale for $400 an acre, whereas you would have to pay 900 an acre for that class of property in Saanich," Mr. Bushby explained this morning.

"You can produce four to six cent berries on land costing $400 an acre and I was told could make fifteen per cent on your investment, but you couldn't do so on land costing $1,000. The land I speak of at $400 an acre was fifteen minutes out from Salem in a wonderfully beautiful district, well served by paved roads and possessing all modern facilities. It seems to me that the price of land is the real crux of the berry question right now."

Have Extensive Data.

"At the same time," Mr. Bushby added, "we have not been able to analyze the question fully yet because we secured masses of figures and data which must be dissected. Besides, I am writing to Eastern centres for further information on market conditions. The fact that all prices we ascertained in the South were in American money have made our calculations necessarily involved. However, in a short time we shall have got these figures into shape and we will present them to a meeting of those interested in the establishment of a loganberry industry on the Saanich Peninsula and confidants would cost more here than in Oregon," Mr. Bushby stated. "Here we have now a production of about 700 tons of loganberries a year. I would estimate that the total production in the Willamette Valley would total about 12,000 tons, which shows that the industry has reached big proportions. A development of anything like this extent on Vancouver Island would, of course, be of tremendous value. One feature is that our harvest season would be in just after the Oregon crop is taken, about a month earlier than ours. The market for the Oregon product is becoming world wide."

Pro Lacrosse Is to Be Revived Here Wednesday

Victoria Will Meet Vancouver In Opening Game at Stadium; Fans Are Greatly Interested in Struggle; Fitzgerald Says Team Work Has Improved and Players Are in Better Shape.

Next week's main sporting attraction will be the lacrosse match which is to be played at the Stadium on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. This game will mark the revival of professional lacrosse in Victoria after a lapse of close to two decades. In the early days the Capital had one of the smartest teams in the Province and was a regular winner.

Prior to the war Con Jones had designs on Victoria and brought over the Vancouver and New Westminster teams for an exhibition game here at Oak Bay Park. A huge crowd attended the game and Con decided that Victoria was ripe for the game. Then along came the war and all arrangements were cancelled.

Over in Vancouver Mr. Jones built a 10,000 stadium, which is reported to be one of the finest in the country. He has now formed a two-team lacrosse league, which includes Victoria and Vancouver, and later expects to expand and take in at least one more team.

Vancouver had practically the entire territorial team which won the Minto Cup last year. The team has been playing together for many weeks and is in good shape.

Victoria was not favored with such a good start. The eastern members of the team did not get here until a few days before the opening game and were unable to get into any condition before they were called to play Vancouver. The teams should have met again in Vancouver to-day but the game was postponed to allow the Capitals to get into better shape and develop their team work.

During the week Manager Billy Fitzgerald has had the Capitals out every day for strenuous work-outs and the players are feeling better. The Easterners are getting acclimated and every man is hardening his muscles to stand a fast grind.

Cobb and Speaker Now In Keen Batting Race

Chicago, May 28.—Managing a ball club seems to be conducive to heavy hitting for Ty Cobb, pilot of the Detroit Tigers, and Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, are giving Harry Heilmann, of Detroit, a terrific fight for the batting leadership of the American League.

Cobb boosted his mark from .395 last week to .411 for this week, according to averages released to-day and which included games of last Wednesday. Speaker raised his last week's average of .378 to .408. Heilmann, although he suffered a batting slump, is fourteen points ahead of Cobb. Heilmann's average is .425 as compared with .454 a week ago.

Severid, of St. Louis, also has come to the front in grand style. The slugging catcher of the Browns has attained a mark of .381 and is in fourth place.

Ruth in a Slump. Babe Ruth, the king of home-run hitters, ran into a slump when the Yankees hit the western trail of the circuit. His batting average dropped from .378 to .349. Speaker failed to get any four-baggers while in Chicago but in the final game at St. Louis Wednesday, he cracked out a drive which was said to be the longest made at the Browns' park and brought his total string of home-runs up to 13. Shocker was pitching.

Harris, of Washington, stole two bases while the Senators were touring the West and is leading the base-stealers with ten thefts.

Other leading batters: Johnson, Brooklyn, .358; Tierney, Pittsburgh, .357; Kelly, New York, .347; Barber, Chicago, .342; Hargrave, Cincinnati, .340; Cutshaw, Pittsburgh, .340.

Wetzel, New York catcher, is runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .365, while Henry, of St. Louis, who was in seventh place a week ago, is batting .360, and is in third position. Maranville, of Pittsburgh, who threatened to dethrone the St. Louis slugger, dropped to a week ago mark of .326, is pushing "Rabbit" with .358.

Kelly Can't Get Homers. George Kelly, the New York Giants' slugger, who is leading the National League home-run hitters, failed to add to his total of eight and now is five behind the American League rival, Babe Ruth.

Bohne, of Cincinnati, failed to increase his stolen-base record. He leads, however, with eight thefts.

Wallace's Fine Hurling Gives Capitals Victory

Victoria at Last Breaks Long Losing Streak With Splendid Win Over Tacoma; Willets Got Off to Bad Start in First Game Yesterday and Tigers Romped Away With Game.

After seven straight defeats, which dropped the club from third place down among the cobwebs in the cellar, the Capitals staged a little revival last evening at the Stadium and bounced Charlie Mullen's Tigers about for a 6-1 win. The Victoria players backed up the splendid twirling of Bob Wallace with smart fielding and timely long hitting.

The Capitals tried to break up their losing streak yesterday afternoon when they hooked up with Tacoma for the first whirl of a three-game series. Things, however, did not transpire as had been anticipated. The Caps got men on bases but they could not drive them in.

Finch-hitters were shoved into the game in the dying innings with the hope that the tide would change, but the run total kept adding up against Victoria and just to add a knock-out punch the Tigers drove over two runs in the ninth, which took the last kick out of the Caps.

Tigers Away Well. Willets mounted the mound for Victoria in the first game and was greeted by a liberal bombardment in the opening inning. Four hits, one a double by O'Brien, were returned for two runners crossing the platter. Willets got along until the third when Grantham hoisted the ball out of the lot for another tally. Three more innings passed, and the Capitals were again Grantham drove out a two-bagger, which scored O'Brien, who had drawn a pass.

Two singles, three stolen bases, a pass together with a passed ball and Handley's error allowed Tacoma to tally two runs in the ninth.

No Hits in Pinches. The Capitals were unable to do anything with Eley's pitching in the pinches. They came within one hit of Tacoma's total but left 11 men stranded on the bases.

Two singles and an error by Eley allowed Shannon to score in the sixth and Rego's two hits in the seventh and eighth. Grantham's error and Messner's single resulted in the Capitals' last score.

In the evening game the Capitals looked like a new outfit. They hit hard and fast. Instead of letting the Tigers get away to an early lead they waded in themselves and chalked up five tallies in the first inning. Eley pitched the Tacoma hurler to the streets in the third inning.

Fans Were Delighted. It was the first time in a whole week that the fans had a chance to take any delight out of the game. They were losing so regularly that the spectators have come to the conclusion that "another little loss wouldn't do us any harm."

The faithful fans who gathered in the saw a real snappy game, with Wallace twirling a nice brand of ball and the Capitals playing a wholesome game behind the plate.

Messner, the lead-off man, greeted Abraham with a slashing single in the first stanza and Shocks followed with a hit. Both runners advanced with a sacrifice and Messner trotted home when O'Brien missed Hansen's fly to left field. Dempsiey cleaned the ball over the field fence. Handley followed with another four-ply wallop and the side retired with five runs.

Gibson Wobbled. Abraham wobbled through the second inning but two singles in the third confirmed Mullen's suspicion that his twirler had little that was left in the tank.

Three hits were made off his delivery and but one runner reached the plate. Handley scored in the fifth. After that Baraband showed the plate stole third and romped home on Anfinson's single.

Wallace appeared to have a shut-out but he was cut loose with a triple in the seventh. Mullen had been hit by a pitched ball and the white-wash was saved. Wallace was never in difficulty and Handley was a treat to watch.

It is hoped that last evening's win augurs for further victories by the Capitals in the immediate future.

GOLF for EVERYBODY

W. J. Thompson

This is one of a series of fourteen articles by a well-known Canadian golfer, William J. Thompson, who has won the Canadian Amateur championship at Pittsburg, Pa., and the Canadian Amateur championship at the Chevy Chase club in Washington, and is one of the best players in the world. He writes of golf, its fascinations and problems, in a manner that novice and good player alike will understand and enjoy.

THE MECHANICS OF GOLF (PART ONE)

It has been said that there are ninety-nine things which one must do in executing a perfect golf swing—the omission of any one of these is sufficient to spell disaster. This is of course, exaggeration, and the sooner a beginner forgets it the better.

The golf swing is really a simple affair and I am convinced that writers as a rule emphasize too many unimportant details. Most people look upon the golf swing as a mysterious thing—as if there were some trick about it, when in reality it is first and last a question of mechanics. The same laws which govern force and mass are also applicable in golf. In putting I pointed out that in golf, all things being equal, the ball would run in a straight line—the face of the putter was at the angle, at the moment of impact. And the same holds true of every other shot in golf. We have found out that the moment of impact is so brief that the fastest camera can't catch it. In fact it has been worked out by an eminent scientist to be between 1-1000 and 1-10000 part of a second. This is the all-important part of the swing, and the point at which the golfer must concentrate the hitting of the ball is merely an accident in the swing. If the back swing is not right then the impact will be wrong. This is a very important point. I am trying to make it that most players do not realize the importance of impact but are often times too much interested in the finish of swing. The fact is that we should always remember that the ordinary shot the club head should keep on the line of flight in the back swing, and as the club comes in contact for so short a period the tremendous force of the blow flattens the ball out very considerably. The fact of the ball being flattened is not right then the impact will be wrong. This is a very important point. The fact is that we should always remember that the ordinary shot the club head should keep on the line of flight in the back swing, and as the club comes in contact for so short a period the tremendous force of the blow flattens the ball out very considerably. The fact of the ball being flattened is not right then the impact will be wrong. This is a very important point. I am trying to make it that most players do not realize the importance of impact but are often times too much interested in the finish of swing. PRINCESS

To-night and this afternoon the Mildred Page Players will present "Broadway and Buttermilk," a rural comedy drama of such splendid reputation that it scarcely needs any special boost. Those who have seen it this week can testify as to its really clever lines and situations, also that Miss Page has one of the most delightful parts that she has appeared in for years, and the entire cast is as usual giving excellent support.

"Going Up" is being carefully rehearsed and prepared for next week's production. From start to finish it promises to be even a greater treat than "The Three Twins." "Going Up" will open Wednesday night, and this performance the usual Wednesday night cash prize of $5 will be given for the nearest guess as to the correct number of words spoken by Miss Page in "Broadway and Buttermilk" this week.

This evening's performance will begin at 8 o'clock. Capt. Bidd's contest continues, the prize this week being $10.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Lionel Barrymore, who is starred in "Jim the Penman," the Associated First National Pictures, Inc. production, which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the last time to-night, enacts a role in this photoplay entirely different from any he has ever done for the screen. The production is an up-to-date Americanized version of a melodrama that has been popular on the English and American stage for many years. Mr. Barrymore has the role of a bank cashier who has a remarkable ability for imitating signatures. The first time he uses this talent dishonestly to save the president of the bank, who is also the father of the girl the cashier loves, from disgrace.

The forgery is discovered and he barbers his services to a ring of international criminals for a period of twenty years. The climax comes when the criminals insist on him committing a forgery which will ruin the young man to whom his daughter is engaged.

DOMINION

When a young woman invades a haunted house in search of thieves who have stolen a $75,000 pearl necklace, it is to be expected that trouble will follow. It did in the case of Dorothy Gish who, as Delia, in her new Paramount picture, "The Ghost in the Garret," now showing at Dominion, braved a bunch of crooks for she was captured by their leader and tied up despite her struggles.

There's no telling how the adventure would have ended had not her bulldog, Mike, whom she had sent forth with a message appealing for help, brought the police to her rescue. She got out of the scrape and got the gems after all. The story is a thrilling one by Wells Hastings and the comedy at times is irresistible. The supporting company, headed by William E. Park, is exceptionally clever.

Richard Jones was the director. There are few comedies in which dainty Dorothy Gish has appeared which afforded her better opportunities for the display of her talents as comedienne, than "The Ghost in the Garret." The situations in the haunted house are laughable in the extreme.

PANTAGES

Deep in the heart of every woman there slumbers the ferocity of a tigress. Let her dearest possessions—her home, her honor, or her child be endangered, and it springs into being with a passionate violence. Magnificent in her anger, its flame is a beacon of the purity of her soul, the steadfastness of her love, the truth of her maternal instinct. It is the heritage of every true mother.

"The Sage Hen" was such a woman. So great was her power to love and endure that she suffered every persecution of spirit, mind and body to shield her son, and then a foster daughter, from the faintest touch of evil.

An awe-inspiring story of mother love is told in "The Sage Hen," the Edgar Lewis-Pathé feature showing at Pantages Theatre for two days commencing next Monday. Arizona in the eighties is the locale. Gladys Brockwell was chosen by Mr. Lewis for the title role because of her eminent suitability and her splendid dramatic talents. Her part is an emotional one. Lillian Rich, Wallace MacDonald, James Mason, Helen Case, Arthur Morrison, Alfred Allen and three-year-old Richard Heiden.

COLUMBIA

Augustus Thomas, famous American playwright, drew some interesting characters to people his play, "Colorado," and in the screen version of this story, which is shown at the Columbia Theatre, the star, Frank Mayo, is supported by a number of capable players, chief among whom are Gloria Hope, Lillian West, Leonard Clapham, Charles LeMayne, Charles Newton, Rosa George and Dan Grimmin.

VARIETY

Aside from the pronounced interest in a picture that portrays sensational night life in New York City, the excellence of the small cast of players who have the principal roles in "White New York Sleeps," the big screen melodrama now current at the Variety Theatre, is one of the outstanding features. In making this picture, the Fox Film Corporation gave an ear to the demand of the picture-loving public for a photodrama that is not only gripping as to interest, but is artistic as well. The five players selected for the chief parts are well known to patrons of the motion picture, and although none is featured above the other, the pre-dominating roles are played by Estelle Taylor and Max MacDermott, whose work in this picture is of an unusually meritorious nature.

GONZALES TO BE

SCENE OF "DANAÉ"

Mr. Pemberton Offers Beautiful Grounds For Performance

In the Times of May 21 appeared a statement to the effect that the Pastoral play "The Birth of Perseus" was to be performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bushby. As this All-fresco performance is to be the greatest and most elaborate production yet staged by Victoria amateurs, and could only be given in extensive grounds, Mr. F. B. Pemberton, on behalf of the owners, has offered the beautiful Gonzales grounds as a fit setting for this very spectacular production. His kindness in doing so is very much appreciated by the audience, and all those who are interested in making "Danae" a phenomenal success.

Photographs of the actual grounds will appear in the local press in due course.

To obtain such an outdoor theatre as Gonzales provides, would cost any city an enormous sum, even if it were possible to obtain a site in the fashionable quarter where such splendid old trees grew in abundance.

Thus, for three nights and a matinee, in the end of June, Victoria will have a really big Pastoral play performed in perhaps the most beautiful part of the city.

Furthermore, it is written, performed, and even produced, entirely by local people, and some of the best of the music has been composed by local musicians. The play deals with one of the most charming stories in Greek mythology, beautifully adapted by Mrs. L. A. Griffin, Brownlee.

AT VARIETY MONDAY.

Justin Huntly McCarthy, author of the book and play "If I Were King," was thrilled and satisfied when he saw the film special of the famous story thrown on the screen in the William Fox London office.

"It is wonderful," he said, "I never believed the screen could interpret an author so well. Mr. Farrum is my idea of what Villon should look like, and his characterization is very pleasing. I have heard that pictures never are like the book, but I must say the producer has done justice to my work. I cannot tell you how pleased I am."

"If I Were King" will be shown at the Variety Theatre next Monday.

"ERMINIE"

All is in readiness for the big benefit performance of the comic opera "Erminie" at the Royal Victoria Theatre Monday night by the Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society in honor of Miss Eva Hart, the popular and talented local artist who has taken such a prominent part in assisting to raise funds for patriotic and charitable institutions.

There is a big demand for seats, and to avoid a last minute rush and possibly consequent disappointment, those desiring to witness this clever production should make their reservations early. Tickets are on sale at the box office, Royal Victoria Theatre.

STERN REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

The Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood.

Every rheumatic sufferer should realize that rheumatism is rooted in the blood and that to get rid of it must be treated through the blood. The old belief that rheumatism was caused by cold, damp weather, is now exploded. Such weather conditions may start the pains, but it is not the cause. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief, but that is all they can do because they do not reach its sources in the blood. The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments with outward applications is only wasting time and money in depending upon such treatment; the trouble still remains, and it is all the time becoming more firmly rooted. Treat this disease through the blood and you will find relief. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so act on the cause of the rheumatism. Mr. F. J. MacPherson, R.R. No. 5, Cardigan, P.E.I., says: "About three years ago I was attacked with rheumatism. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and soon the trouble disappeared and I am in better health than before. I also know of an old lady acquaintance who was badly crippled with rheumatism in her arms and legs, and who suffered very much. She, too, took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and is now able to do her housework. I tell you this in the hope it may be of benefit to some other sufferer."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Closing Banquet.

The students of the Normal School were the hosts at their customary closing banquet held on Thursday evening. The guests included S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, and Mrs. Willis, Assistant Superintendent J. D. Gillis and Mrs. Gillis, members of the staffs of the Normal and Model Schools and their wives, Miss Mills, the supervisor of drawing, and Mr. Pollard, supervisor of singing.

The gymnasium, ablaze with golden broom, tastefully relieved with touches of purple lilac and carnage, was a fit setting for the dainty repast, served under the direction of Miss McFarlane, domestic science mistress. The tables, with their bowls of broom and Oriental poppies, presented a coloring of pale salmon and gold, which proved unusual, but effective.

Principal W. D. MacLaurin acted as toastmaster. Piano solos by Miss Gilmer and Harold Southam, and several choruses by the students, added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

The usual toasts to the King, the ladies and the athletic and literary societies were given, and evoked a hearty response. THE COMING CENSUS

Why It Is Taken! How It Is Taken!

Prepared by the Dominion Statistician With the Authority of the Rt. Hon. the Minister of Trade and Commerce

On June 1, 1921, the Census of the Dominion will be taken. The Census has been called "the largest single act of administration of the Government." In reference to the physical extent—the census organization covering every section of the country for a complex and many-sided task—and also to the great importance of census results in the general machinery of Government.

The success of the Census depends largely upon the co-operation of the people. Without general approval and cordial assistance of individual citizens towards those ends, a good census will be impossible. A brief description of the scope, methods and purpose of the census and of its place in statistical and general administration will therefore be of interest and utility at the present moment.

Historical

Census-taking dates from the dawn of civilization. Moses numbered the Children of Israel in the fifteenth century B. C. (Exodus XXX, 12-15; Numbers 1, 2-4 and 47-49; 111, 14-16; IV, 34-49). But statistical inquiries of the kind which are now known as censuses were known many centuries earlier. In Babylonia, (4,000 B. C.) in China, (3,000 B. C.), in Egypt (2,500 B. C.) a census was taken. King David in 1017 B. C. achieved evil notoriety in history from the Divine wrath which it provoked (II Samuel XXIV, 1-25; I Chronicles XXI, 1-27) and which was cited for many generations against the spirit of inquiry. The census was one of the institutions founded by the Greeks in the sixth century B. C. The Romans were assiduous census-takers, both under the Republic and under the Empire. Julius Caesar reformed the census among other things. The Revisio, or the Quinquennial of the Conqueror (A. D. 808) and the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror (A. D. 1086) are celebrated mediaeval censuses. Later, the census disappeared from Europe.

It may not be generally known that the credit of taking the first census of modern times belongs to Canada. The year was 1666; the census was one of the colony of New France. There had been earlier censuses in settlement at Port Royal (1605) and Quebec, (1608), but the census of 1666 was a systematic "nominal" enumeration of the people (by name), taken for a fixed date, showing the age, sex, place of residence, occupation and conjugal condition of each person. The results are to be seen in a document of 164 pages in the Archives of Paris, of which a transcript is in Ottawa. Although this census and will elicit a wealth of information on such features as farm acreages, land values, buildings, implements, drainage, co-operative marketing, etc., etc. The schedules on animals, etc., in towns is supplementary to the agricultural schedule; these are of course a considerable number of horses, cattle, poultry, bees, etc., within urban limits, and their products, and those of market gardens, etc., etc. in all cases, the schedule is important. The schedule on industrial and business concerns collects only the name, address and class of each establishment. This was not the detailed annual inquiry conducted through correspondence by the Bureau as previously described. The record of the blind and deaf-mutes is to facilitate the work of educational and other institutions for these classes.

In connection with these somewhat elaborate and searching series of inquiries the following points should be clearly understood: (1) That no question has been inserted merely for the gratification of curiosity or because the information would be interesting, but only because it has a bearing on basic social or economic conditions. (2) That the information given by the individual are absolutely confidential, every employee of the Census being under oath and penalty being forbidden to issue any personal matter. This is for the use of the Bureau as previously described. The record of the blind and deaf-mutes is to facilitate the work of educational and other institutions for these classes.

Methods of Collection and Compilation

In planning the field work, the country is first divided into "census districts," each of which is placed in charge of a "census commissioner." The districts are then divided into "subdistricts" varying in population from 500 to 800 in rural localities, and from 1,200 to 1,800 in urban. The subdistrict is the territory allotted to a "census enumerator," who conducts the house to house and farm to farm canvases, and who is the only census official with whom the public comes directly in contact. One object of the census being to determine Parliamentary representation, the Act directs that census districts shall correspond as nearly as possible to the federal constituencies for the time being, while the subdistricts may be roughly the same as the polling subdivisions. Some of the constituencies, however, are too large for one commissioner and are accordingly divided; departure is also necessary in a good many cases from the polling units. Altogether the census of 1921 will employ 247 commissioners and probably 13,000 enumerators. The commissioners are appointed by the Minister, and instructed by an officer of the Bureau; the enumerators are appointed and instructed by the commissioners, who must also check and vouch for all the enumerators returns before the latter are forwarded to Ottawa. All field officers are paid for the most part on a "piece" basis, i. e., according to the population canvassed, etc., enumerated. All are required to pass a practical test in the work before appointment.

For census that covers half a continent, embracing the most varied conditions of nature and settlement, uniformity of plan is clearly impossible. For the remote and seldom penetrated regions of Ungava, Northern Ontario and the West, the organization of the fur trading companies and of the various children mission have been engaged in other similar regions the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will take the census, whilst the agents of the whole has been planned with the utmost care, over a period of years, with the experience of other countries and of five previous censuses in Canada in view, and with special reference to the requirements of the present hour and also to the necessity of any inquiry that is not fully justified. Perfection of organization is not claimed, for census-taking in Canada as in other countries is still in process of development. Nevertheless the census merits the support of each and every citizen as a patriotic duty, not only for the benefit of the community as a whole and therefore directly or indirectly of every member of the community. Never before has there been the like need for census information. Since the last census the decade, also, has seen a branch of the national life untouched. It has violently upset many of our most stable measurements, at the same time that it has generally created conditions of the utmost consequence to our national future. Within the decade, also, Canada has celebrated the jubilee of her birth as a nation, when an appraisal of her status is particularly necessary. An appeal to assist in this great national undertaking by furnishing the information asked for, and accurately and promptly, is a duty and a privilege of every citizen of the Dominion and of the serious purposes which it has in view.

"The encouraging attitude of many citizens towards this awful load which the Association has carried so long, would seem to indicate that the time is drawing near, when a strong effort should be made to get rid of this incubus.

"Several large initial gifts, which will act as a compelling leverage, must be made available before a general canvass to clear off the debt can be undertaken.

Provision For All Ages

"On the recommendation of our general secretary, who is always on the alert as to the desirability of new adaptations and adjustments in order to meet changing conditions and needs, your directors, before their consideration, recently decided to organize the working committees, on the basis of divisions of membership rather than departments of work. The Association has not as highly developed its activities for young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five as it has for boys under eighteen years, and in some way it must enter the lives of larger numbers of these young men at their most critical period. The new scheme looks forward to an enlarged programme for the large group of young men, eighteen to twenty-five or thirty years of age in the membership and in the city, which will pre-occupy the lives of as many as possible with the character-building activities of the Association.

"Under this new arrangement, the primary committees will be the Boys' Division, the Young Men's Division and the Men's Division, which will be expected to parallel each other in promoting a four-fold programme in their respective divisions of the membership.

Reference then followed to staff changes.

At the conclusion of the banquet and addresses the gathering joined in wishing a warm vote of thanks to the staff who had so sincerely served the institution.

REPAIRMEN'S TRADE NOT AS LUCRATIVE AS IN PAST TIMES

SHOULD OBSERVE IMPORTANT RULE OF SAFETY FIRST

Improved Construction and Simplified Mechanism Is Reason

The business of the repair man is not so lucrative as of yore, according to a local dealer.

Improved construction of passenger cars and the making of them practically fool-proof, have brought about this condition.

There was a time not so long ago when the repair man was the overlord that all motorists rendered homage to. Under his dominating gaze, passenger car owners yielded the cost of his repair bills without once questioning their accuracy, which would certainly have done no good. However, improved construction and the simplifying of the mechanism have removed the repair man from his former high estate.

He still has repair work to do, but he finds that the car owner knows pretty well what should be done, how long it should take, and what it should cost. And then the open design of the modern passenger car is such that the owner can do his own repairing and adjusting.

It has been the aim of many of our builders to design cars, in the first place, so well that in the ordinary course of events it would be a long time before there would need to be recourse to a repair man, and, secondly, to so construct the cars that the owner-drivers could themselves make any little adjustments that might be deemed necessary.

"It is this new manner of building motor cars that has removed the terror that the repair man was wont to inspire, and we find that he certainly has scant pickings from those motorists who are driving modern cars."

Secretary R. R. Webb of the Victoria Automobile Club is in receipt of a letter from one of the Club members in which he calls attention to some bad practices indulged in by motorists and recommends that propagandists against carelessness and the slogan of "Safety First" should be exercised.

The letter, in part says: "R. R. Webb, Esq., Sec. Victoria Automobile Club, 7 Winch Bldg., Victoria, B. C.

"Dear Bob:—While motoring on the roads adjacent to the city recently, I have been struck with the enormous amount of carelessness for public safety that is demonstrated by car drivers with reference to parking cars. I venture to say that in parking, not one in half a dozen will make sure that he is parked in the straight-away, well off the highway. In fact, rarely does one drive on the paved roads adjacent to Victoria now without finding at least one or two cars standing well out on the highway, and often on a curve.

"I call this matter to your attention in the hope that you might be able to work up some educational propaganda, and I believe it would add prestige to our club and it would be of great value to motorists.

"In a word, if a motorist should stop anywhere on the highway, he ought to pull well off to the side and leave the entire road clear for two-way traffic. He should also be sure that his car is not parked on a curve where the line of vision of on-coming cars is in any way obstructed.

"I am sure you agree with me in this regard, and I trust that the executive will consider the matter of sufficient importance to include it in their campaign."

OPENS REPAIR SHOP.

Ernest Jennings, formerly with Jameson & Willis, has opened a repair shop at 2770 Douglas Street, at the end of the Cloverdale car line. He specializes in repairs to Studebaker, Gray Dorr, Chevrolet and Ford cars. Mr. Jennings has had fourteen years experience as a motor mechanic.

Break Adjustments

When a car owner has installed on his vehicle a Winter body of any type he should remember that he has added considerable weight to the vehicle. For this reason it is necessary that a serious check be made to see that the springs and shocks are adjusted to the added burden. Neglect of this obvious precaution causes many minor rear-end collisions in city driving and may contribute to serious accident.

Three burglaries reported over the week-end in Windsor include a motor car valued at $1,800, and jewellery worth $290.

CHINESE PLAN BEST FOR CARS

Preventive Measures Most Efficient for Keeping Motor in Health

By Clifford Brakaw

Sick automobiles need the application of scientific knowledge as well as sick men. When a man has a persistent stomach ache or the pump or loses a leg, he is apt to expect that good judgment which results in a visit to, or a visit from, a competent doctor. If the patient thinks he has the stomach ache and the physician pronounces his ailment appendicitis, the sick man will, if sensible, repose absolute confidence in his medical adviser and accordingly, if he says a complicated operation is necessary to his future welfare and happiness the surgeons are called in.

The idea is that the physician, being a specialist in the matter of disease, has a better knowledge of what should be done than the sick man. By the time the doctor's bill comes in, his client has usually been restored to good health. He pays the bill, even if it is large, with a feeling that he has received for it. A good many folks would have smaller doctor's bills if they consulted their family physicians oftener. A single pill time and time again will not become a serious illness if the doctor is not called until the disease is in full bloom.

The man who owns an automobile usually has a car that will develop interior troubles of various kinds sooner or later. Unless he is an expert automobile mechanic himself, he will do well to let his sound common sense prompt him to visit a repair shop—the headquarters of the automobile doctor. Even if he is a fairly competent mechanic he may find it desirable to call in another expert for consultation. And he will do well to take the advice of the man whose business it is to know what ails a car and what ought to be done to restore it to normalcy.

How To Cut Down Bills

The owner should seek the advice of an expert at the first indication of trouble instead of putting it off until the machine is all run down or until it has reached a serious stage of its disease. With such policy, his repair bills are apt to be smaller in the long run. I have known men to complain about the size of their repair bills and condemn the shop owners as profiteers. As a rule, folks who run repair shops do not charge excessively, nor do they try to do more work than is necessary. Such practices are not in keeping with the continued success of any business.

It is not unusual that the owner fails to appreciate the time and material involved in making even minor repairs. For instance, a motorist may find that the crank dog has become so worn that his efforts to crank the car are unavailing. He suggests to the repair man that the worn part

The motorist will do well to have his family repair shop as he has a family physician. When in doubt about the condition of his car it will be safe for the owner to consult the expert automobile mechanic.

CARBURETOR ADJUSTMENTS

A great many car owners make the mistake of adjusting the carburetor when the engine is cold. Now it is always best to make adjustments to the motor when it has been run for long enough to get thoroughly warmed through and this applies equally to the valve tappets, etc. It is quite possible that the cold motor may operate very well on certain adjustments that will not agree at all with the hot engine.

WALTHAM THE SCIENTIFICALLY BUILT WATCH

The hairspring is the brain of the watch. It is the most delicate tension spring made. For use in the small sized watch, 84,000 springs are made from one pound of steel.

Waltham hairspring steel is drawn through diamond surfaces, and for the smaller watches, to a third of the thickness of a human hair. The Brequet, or over-coil (named after its inventor, a famous old French watchmaker), is used on every Waltham watch. The most important part of the complete operation in making a hairspring is the forming and tempering of the Brequet over-coil.

At Waltham, instead of being formed or bent by hand as a separate operation, the entire completed hairspring is formed at one and the same time, after which it is hardened and tempered in form—the invention of John Logan, a genius who was a part of Waltham leadership in watchmaking. Waltham is the only watchmaker using this perfect method of making the Brequet hairspring.

Hand-made watch movements have hairsprings that are first formed in the flat, then hardened and tempered in the flat. Then the outer coil is bent to form the Brequet over-coil, which, if the flat spring were as hard as the Waltham, and properly tempered like the Waltham hairspring, it could not be bent to correct form, and would be liable to break in the attempt.

Waltham superiority is in original method, secret process, unvarying quality of every important part of the watch—a quality that cannot be equaled by any "hand" method of manufacture. That is why Waltham leads the world in standardized watchmaking, and why your watch selection should be a Waltham.

With Our Young Folks at Work and Play

Are You a Member of Our Coterie of Camera-Hunters?

This is camera weather. How many of our little readers are photographic enthusiasts? Do you know the some of the greatest personages of our day do all their hunting with the harmless camera, and it is largely through the rest of their efforts that you and I are able to pick up a book on, say, the bird life of Ireland, and see what the feathered denizens of that country are like to mortal eyes.

There is no finer sport than that of camera hunting, especially in the woods and along the streams and lakes of this island. It makes a boy feel very proud to shoot a pheasant in season but immediately after he has fired the shot that took its life he is struck with a feeling of pity for the dead but still beautiful little fellow. Girls are not allowed to hunt pheasants with a shotgun, even if they should ever have the wish which is not likely, but all girls and boys alike can join in and "shoot" the pheasant with their camera.

It will not kill the bird, nor will it cause him any inconvenience, indeed, if a pheasant has a sense of vanity it would be highly delighted to be so "shot." Neither will it cause any feeling of regret to "shoot" when killing is not the object of the "shoot- ing." You are not bound by open or closed seasons, for indeed the most beautiful photographs are to be obtained in nesting time, the closed season of all other hunters.

The beautiful but wild-fown pheasant is perhaps a little hard for our friends to get sight of, but there should be no difficulty in obtaining photographs of the house swallow, the thrush, and even the humming bird, if a little patience and ingenuity is used.

Nor need our camera hunters confine their pursuit to the feathered colony of Nature's Kingdom, for what could be more charming than the sight of two little pussy cats playing together on the lawn; dogs, rabbits, in fact all our common and every-day pets not only lend themselves readily to excellent photographs, but at the same time these snaps furnish us with a record of our pets that we would be very glad to possess in the years to come.

Join our camera hunters and see what you can do with the many animals and birds that infest every residence. For the best photograph submitted to The Editor of the Children's Page by a girl or boy under the age of fifteen years, as her or his own work prior to June 30, prizes of five dollars will be given, three dollars to the best submitted, and two for the next, in addition the Editor of the Children's Page will give a personal prize to a special for the photograph that most clearly exhibits what might be described as the camera hunters' triumph.

The awards will be given on several occasions, chief among which must be the choice of subject and general clarity of the photograph. Rare subjects will also receive special consideration and in every case the photographs thus submitted should be accompanied by a little story of how they were taken and the circumstances, of course the development and printing of the film need not be done by the contributor, but if so done it will be that much more welcome in this competition.

Victoria's Normal School Where Your Teachers Are Trained

The school term closed yesterday and elsewhere in this issue is published a list of the newly certificated students.

Perpetuating the Memory of Victoria the Good

May 24 has come bringing two happy days for children—and good weather—and golden bloom. May 23 was the big day for the older children, who proved one of the very best advertising agents the Victoria has at the Willows.

On Victoria Day it was our children who proved to be and their merit of the grown up sprang, let us believe, in the first place from the pure hearted happiness of the children. The weather too, lent an added touch of joviality, with our friend the Sun excelling himself to make us all the merrier for the occasion.

Of the passage of events had been less swift many of our little friends might have stopped to note the demerit making the feathered denizens of Nature—robins, larks and warblers making the morning air gay with their thrills and song. Humming birds appeared to be really happy and tarried long over their favorite flowers among the myriad colored blossoms.

It is needless to say that the day was children's day with the city and country and the children of this city lent one of the most pleasing touches to our celebrations that took place. Noticeable in the parade were the younger generation, while many floats were graced with their laughing and happy presence. The flower girls and the Queen of the Carnival had a very busy day and taxed their strength to the full to keep abreast of all the amusement in which they were an important part.

Many picnics and other outings took place and in these the younger generation was being perpetuated. The Queen of the Carnival had a very busy day and taxed their strength to the full to keep abreast of all the amusement in which they were an important part.

Write a short contribution on the holiday as you spent it, and submit it to the editor of this page. For the best account so contributed before Thursday next week a prize of $1 will be offered, with additional awards of half that amount for every contribution made use of in these columns.

DO NOT DELAY LEARNING TO SWIM

Preparing for the Summer excursions to the beaches and Summer resorts of the city and district the Boys' Work Department of the Y. M. C. A. is concentrating all efforts this month, and in June, on teaching its juniors to swim, such of those members who are not already swimmers. All members of the junior classes at the Y. M. C. A., who cannot already swim are asked to get in line and make a real effort to learn swimming. The Summer camp and private outings are due to take place.

Special swimming instruction is now being given at the swimming pool and the instructors say that they will teach all boys to swim if they will supply the necessary equipment. The instruction is given in the swimming classes at once a credit to the institution and a reflection on our time and race in that it is surely the duty of every boy to know how to take care of himself in the water.

The importance of being able to swim has been too often overlooked, and as a swimmer is not been thoroughly recognized as one of the most valued arts that is given to man. The main importance in being a practical swimmer is that some day the possessor of such a gift will be able to save the life of another. If more people had attended to this, there would be considerably less drowning accidents in the world to-day.

Besides all this and apart entirely from the saving of lives, the proportion of a weapon inhabiting to be accustomed to the water, the art of swimming is at once a pleasure and a healthy tonic. The proportion of a boy that is physically unfitted to enter the water is very, very small, and all should acquire, if they have not already, the love of it, and the distinction of the Anglo-Saxon as contrasted with the other races of the world.

Weekly classes are being held at the swimming pool, and the desire will be given a thoroughly sound grounding in the art of swimming, with the idea of rescuing life from drowning. The many attendant sports that follow a knowledge of swimming. To be truly consistent nobody should take to the water without a knowledge to save the lives of others from drowning.

Who Will Invent Favorite for Toycraft Fair?

Great interest is being displayed by Saanich and other children in the Toy and Craft Exhibition to be opened in London, England by Princess Mary at the Gray's Inn Hospital in the Fall of this year. Through the kindness of Mr. Thorne, Royal Oak, Saanich, whose sister, Miss Thorne, O.B.E., M.D., F.R.C.S.I., is head of the specialist work of that institution, the Toy and Craft Exhibition will be held at the Gray's Inn Hospital in the Fall of this year. Through the kindness of Mr. Thorne, Royal Oak, Saanich, whose sister, Miss Thorne, O.B.E., M.D., F.R.C.S.I., is head of the specialist work of that institution, the Toy and Craft Exhibition will be held at the Gray's Inn Hospital in the Fall of this year.

FLYING FISH HAVE A DEFINITE PURPOSE IN LEAVING WATER

It is the unalterable rule of Nature that the larger and powerful shall feed, where necessary, upon the smaller and weaker of the same class. This is well seen in the life of the average "flying fish." These peculiar denizens of tropical and semi-tropical waters—by reason of enlarged fins—have the ability to amount to a pair of strong wings upon which they can sustain themselves in the air for moments at a time.

They rise by reason of a leap into the air, and once there they can skim over the surface of the water, a few inches up. There are often to be seen in thousands rising in schools and all in the same direction, where they back into the water again, taking off again after an instant and repeating the performance. Passengers on passing liners think the flying fish has a sense of humor and is merely being a little frisky, but listen and we will tell you what it is trying to do.

WITH THE SEA BEAR IN THE PRIBILOFFS

One of the strangest inhabitants of the Pribiloff Group of islands in the Behring Sea is the Sea Bear or "Arctophalax ursinus" as he is sometimes called. In habit appearance and customs the sea bear is quite unlike humans in many ways. The full grown sea bear is from eight to nine feet in length and about five feet in girth, acquiring a weight of from eight to nine hundred pounds. He owes his name to his shaggy black fur and not to his disposition, which is often of the kindest. A large male bear will often have as many as fifty females in his charge and for these he will fight against all comers.

NAVAL BRIGADE BOY FILLS POST ON HALF HOUR NOTICE

A practical instance of what the Boys' Naval Brigade is doing, occurred when the C.P.O.S. liner Montague docked recently. Lieut. P. W. Tribe happened to go on board to see a friend and was told by the captain that a boy was wanted for the outgoing voyage. The steamer was to sail in thirty minutes' time. Mr. Tribe promised the boy a twenty cent reward if he could be found in time to see what could be done. The first boy on the roster of those who stood prepared to ship, could not be got ready in time, next on the list was W. Teardale, one of the local division boys of local parents. Young Teardale was at his breakfast, and inside of ten minutes his kit was packed and he was ready to go. He was taken to the ship in record time, catching the C.P.O.S. Montague two minutes before she sailed. Teardale is now serving as a "boy" on the crew of that liner.

FOR CHILDREN THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

Black Cat noticed that the old witch always brought back three green leaves when she had been on one of her all-night trips on the broomstick, and one day he heard the toppermost tip of the three tallest trees you only can find the three magic leaves.

He thought he would be able to escape, but he could not get to the top of the tree, for he was so tired that he fell into the tower of her tree, and Black Puss was roaming about the forest when she heard a poor little baby had fallen from its nest to the ground.

Running down a moonbeam boiling pot the fairy told the Princess to jump on, and touching the stick with her wand, the fairy seated herself in front of the Princess, and away they flew to the Palace, where the King and Prince Carl were waiting for them.

All this time the witch, who had brought back three green leaves from the toppermost tip of the three tallest trees, had thrown them into the pot. But no sooner had she thrown the leaves in than a terrible roaring sound came from the pot, and with a loud snap and bang the pot flew into pieces, the green grass disappeared, and from the black barrel soared away an eagle with wide-spread wings, and the Princess was free forever from the power of the bad old witch.

The Mission of the Little White Violets

On a fine sunny day when the school year freedom, Jim followed his usual inclination, setting in a quiet spot to read; but he was destined to be disturbed. As he opened his book one of the boys came upon him, his face clouded with gloom.

"Say, you're some bookworm," was the disagreeable comment, "why don't you get in with the bunch and enjoy life instead of moping down here?"

Jim might have put the same question to Tom Seely; but he was in a disagreeable mood.

"I'm just fed up with the whole shooting match," the boy admitted crossly, "and I'm going to beat it. Jim threw his book aside and stood on his feet facing the angry boy with astonishment.

"What's happened, Tom?" asked Jim curiously.

"Oh, nothing much, just fed up, that's all."

"Say, Jim," Tom burst out as if he thought had just struck a bomb, "how'd you like to go to South Africa or China, or some other place like that, wouldn't that be great, eh?" queried Tom excitedly.

"What a question, Tom! I've read lots about those countries."

"Yes," interrupted Tom, "you're some reader alright."

"And I'd like fine to go but I've no money."

"Don't need any money," returned Jim companion assuredly.

Jim gave Tom Seely a puzzled stare.

"How do you propose to travel then?"

"Easy, stowaway on the next boat touching this port. What do you say, Jim, are you game?"

Jim liked the idea. To see countries he had read about, to see the adventures of SPIES, and his brain worked quickly. He was almost about to decide when his eyes caught a little white object on the path of the white object. He reached for it and the white object was a tiny, daisy-like flower with a yellow center and white petals. He held it up to the light and saw that it was a tiny, daisy-like flower with a yellow center and white petals.

How Aircraft Fly

Last week it was explained that moved through the air was tended to be supported partially by lift, not air, but by the degree to which this support was made evident being a relation between the size and shape of the plane and the speed with which it is forced through the air. It will be remembered that this effect was more pronounced when the plane was tilted backwards, or its "leading edge" was raised to a higher level than its "trailing edge."

POSTPONE OPENING OF BEAVER LAKE Y.M.C.A. PAVILION

To-day was the day set aside for the formal opening of the Y. M. C. A. Pavilion at the City Park, Beaver Lake, but the ceremony has been postponed to permit of a number of matters being brought to a conclusion before the camp will be ready for the juvenile exodus, when some hundreds of boys will spend a week in camp, in periods that will keep the camp running for some weeks.

How Aircraft Fly

Briefly, this curve, or degree of camber, was arrived at by trial in what is known as wind tunnels in laboratories of aeronautical research the chief of which being in London. If the camber were less pronounced the plane would not have so much "lift" when forced through the air, but would also offer more resistance to the wind that it would take a greater power to drive it through the air, and so no derive any additional power from its added power to lift, taking a heavier engine to more than outweigh any benefit the added lift would have been.

The Colorful Streets of a Syrian Village

The scenes in a Syrian city would seem to be of color to the eye of the Westerner; not only would all the surroundings be strange and weirdly interesting but the inhabitants of the city would puzzle one to describe. Behind the grandee, in his gorgeous silks and colored vestments comes the water-carrier—the poorest of the city's toilers. He has very little covering, just the tattered remnants of what once was a loose white smock.

How Aircraft Fly

Next week it will be in order to look at the shape of the modern aircraft and to try and discover the reasons for its peculiar fashioning.

YOUNG PEOPLE FIND SOCIAL LIFE TOO SEVERE

Interferes With Their Successful Education, Is Committee's Theory

"We give it as our considered opinion," said the report of the Evangelical and Social Service Committee, presented to the B. C. Methodist Conference here on Monday, "that our young people will do well to refrain from all forms of amusement which leave them less fitted for their tasks, and especially do we counsel that they avoid dissipation of every kind whether in regard to immoderate attendance at social functions, at parties, or as regards particular forms of dancing.

Not Theories, But Conditions

"In regard to pastimes and amusements, we are called to face not theories, but conditions. Young people placed in perplexing situations at public school, high school, and university eagerly await some word of guidance. Their studies are to be considered, their health, their personal convictions, no less than the attitude of their parents and church. There is a question as to how far co-educational studies are desirable for adolescents, if indeed they are not wholly undesirable. When to this are added social demands, several nights in the week, not infrequently every night, by parties and otherwise, it is not to be wondered at that school studies reflect next day the dissipation of the previous night. "We use the word 'dissipation' advisedly in its strict and proper sense the sense in which Mr. Wesley used it—dissipating valuable energy which is needed for life preparations" at school. Without in anywise seeking to take the responsibility which belongs of right to them to decide for themselves, we think it will be recognized by young people and all concerned that any form of amusement which makes such demands upon time and energy and distracts attention to such an extent is not conducive to their best interests or highest development. It is defeating the end in view in attending educational institutions. "We give it as our considered opinion that our young people will do well to refrain from all forms of amusement which leave them less fitted for their tasks, and especially do we counsel, that they avoid dissipation of every kind whether in regard to immoderate attendance at social functions, at parties, or as regards particular forms of dancing.

Against Standardization

"We strongly protest against the attempt to standardize social dancing in our schools and university. This is tantamount to saying that the student is given no choice as to it. The student must either dance or give up all social activities. We recognize the right of parent and child to decide these things for themselves. Under present conditions choice is not possible. The effect is to create a prejudice against the whole educational system. In the minds of many parents there is just resentment that the school system should be used to foster social practices which they cannot conscientiously approve, weakening and breaking down the influence of parents over their children at the time when it is most in need of support. "We urge upon our people, particularly parents, the vital importance of promoting healthful and wholesome amusements in their homes as well as out of doors. Such well directed amusements give opportunity for the free expression of the play instinct and provide a national outlet for youthful energy. Playing and praying must go together as the true antidote to hurtful amusements."

St. Saviour's Celebrates Thirtieth Anniversary

ANNIVERSARY OF ST. SAVIOUR'S

Victoria West Church Opened May, 1891; To-morrow's Services

The thirtieth anniversary of the consecration of St. Saviour's Anglican Church, Victoria West, will be appropriately observed by special services to-morrow. Holy Communion will be celebrated at eight o'clock on Sunday morning, the rector, Rev. H. T. Archibald, being the celebrant. The preacher at the eleven o'clock service to-morrow morning will be Rev. H. T. Archibald, rector of St. James' Church, and the bishop of the diocese, Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, will preach at the evening service at seven o'clock.

Established in 1888
 The parish of St. Saviour's was established in 1888 by Rev. W. W. Bolton, then rector of St. Paul's Church, Esquimaux. The first public church in the district was held in a loft over a carriage shop on Esquimaux Road. During the time of Mr. Bolton's ministry and supervision of the mission, services were conducted by Rev. F. L. Stephenson, now vicar of Vancouver and Cowichan parishes on Vancouver Island, and by Rev. W. H. Ellison. After the appointment of Rev. W. D. Barber to the newly-constituted parish, the work of erecting a parish church was carried to completion, and the present edifice has long been recognized. During the past year the Sunday School has further increased in membership, and many improvements to the fabric of the church have been carried out. The roof has been re-shingled and the interior of the building redecorated. Anglican church members living in the district have the opportunity to-morrow of showing appreciation of the influence and work of the Christian church by attending the thirtieth anniversary services of St. Saviour's parish.

Improvements to Church

Under Mr. Connell's leadership, the church and parish have served a growing section of the city in Victoria West. The organized work of the church has been greatly strengthened, while Mr. Connell's personal activity in community service for the general welfare of all has long been recognized. During the past year the Sunday School has further increased in membership, and many improvements to the fabric of the church have been carried out. The roof has been re-shingled and the interior of the building redecorated. Anglican church members living in the district have the opportunity to-morrow of showing appreciation of the influence and work of the Christian church by attending the thirtieth anniversary services of St. Saviour's parish.

Ladies Aid Picnic

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Princess Avenue and Chambers Street, will take the form of a picnic picnic and garden tea on the shady grassy hill in the rear of the Loyal Schmelz residence, 1109 Finlayson Avenue. A very nominal charge will be made for tea and cake. A welcome is extended to all.

The new minister drove his two-horse rig up to the mountain ranch of one of his congregations. There had been some difference of opinion as to his qualifications. At the gate he was met by a small boy of the family, who was evidently cogitating a matter of deep perplexity. "Be you our preacher?" "I am."

"The boy eyed first the preacher and then his horses, his brow puckered with growing perplexity. "That's queer," he drawled. "I hern dad tell the neighbors you was a one-hoss preacher."—Life.

The Charwoman's Husband (at door): "The missis is very ill, ma'am, and won't be able to come this week." Lady: "Oh, I am sorry, George, North playing serious, I hope." The Charwoman's Husband: "Well, ma'am, she was so bad last night I had to go to the pictures by myself."—Punch.

Frank Reid, Detroit, was fined $300 or three months in jail for forging the name of Dr. Jas. Gow to a liquor prescription.

LOCAL CHURCHES TO OBSERVE DAY

Go-to-Sunday School Day Set To-morrow

Sunday has been officially proclaimed as Go-to-Sunday-School Day in British Columbia by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. Several Protestant denominations will observe the day including the Baptist, Congregationalist, Methodist and Presbyterian. Many churches in the city will celebrate the day with appropriate emphasis. A special programme entitled "For God and the Old People" will be in attendance for all Sunday schools on request, has been issued by the Religious Education Council of British Columbia, so that the significance of the day may be more deeply impressed on those who are present.

On this day a special effort is made to have not only the children but the older people as well in attendance for in the modern Sunday school there is a place for all. The annual report of the year closing May 1 makes the following statements:

Object and Organization

The object of the Religious Education Council is to advance the work of the Christian education of the children, youth and adults of the Province. It is a co-operative organization whose members are vestries, a committee of management which consists of representatives officially appointed by all the denominations desirous to co-operate, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A.

The Staff

General Secretary, Rev. E. R. McLean of the Presbyterian Church and Assistant Secretary, Rev. W. E. Galloway of the Methodist Church are the staff.

District Organizations

There are at present six districts in the Province which have organized District Councils, namely, Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo, New Westminster, Fraser Valley, Thompson Valley and Okanagan.

Conventions and Institutes

A Provincial convention was held last year together with six district conventions and twenty-six institutes, an Older Girls' Conference at Victoria, and a Boys' Leaders' Conference at Vancouver and Salmon Arm.

Training Camps

Girls' camps were held at Beaver Lake, Victoria and Whyltcliffe, Vancouver while the Boys' Leaders' Camp was held at Hopkins Landing, Howe Sound.

Results

The results for the year's work show commendable activity and progress and encouraging results in the way of new schools started and increase in the attendance and interest in old established Sunday schools. This increase is due in a large part to the promotion work that has been done for the older boys and girls in organizing the clubs for the Trail Ranger and Tuxis boys and Canadian Girls-in-Training programmes. On May 29 the annual appeal for financial support of the council is being made. The budget shows an amount of $2,000 as all that will be required to carry out the work for the coming year. If every Sunday school comes up to scratch and donates at least an equivalent of five cents per enrolled member, this sum will be easily met.

The local council is presided over by Rev. R. M. Thompson, Minister of Wesley Methodist Church, Victoria West, with Mr. Aubone Hoyle director of Religious Education—First Presbyterian Church as secretary.

NEW PASTOR OF WESLEY CHURCH

Rev. John F. Dimmick Will Succeed Rev. R. M. Thompson

Victoria West people will be interested in the prospective pastor of Wesley Church, Rev. John F. Dimmick. Mr. Dimmick was born in Hamilton, Ontario, and is a son of the paragon. His aged minister father has been living with him for some time.

He is most highly esteemed in Chilliwack, where he has pursued a most successful career during the past four years.

Mr. Dimmick was educated at the North Western University of Chicago and commenced his ministerial labors in the State of Montana, where he continued for some eight years. Feeling the call of his native land, he returned in 1910 at which time he was received into the B. C. Conference, being stationed at Fernie.

From Fernie he was transferred to Prince Rupert, and from Prince Rupert to Chilliwack.

As the object of registration charges is only to cover the necessary expense involved in holding the school in Victoria, tickets admitting to all lectures given during the school week will be available for $1.50, each person, with reductions in the case of more than one student attending from the same family. For boarders desiring accommodation for the week, the total cost including attendance at all lectures will be seven dollars.

TAKE DRASTIC STEPS TO STAY FUTURE FRICTION Saanich Teachers Must Sign Contracts to Secure Present Salary

As the most logical preventive of possible future strikes by the members of its teaching staff, the Saanich School Board last night determined to secure from every individual teacher a signed agreement to work for one year from September 1, subject to the provisions of the School Act governing resignations at the close of any term.

The resolution unanimously adopted provides that teachers shall be immediately notified that those signing prior to August will be employed at their present salaries, which the board maintains are the maximum it can pay.

This arrangement was only decided upon after a long debate as to the best manner in which to square the desire of the Board for a permanent settlement with the limitations imposed on the Trustees by the Schools Act.

"Oh, My Poor Back!" Just give us one trial at doing your washing; and remember we now wet-wash 13 pounds of clothes for $1.00, and if bed and table linen are included they will be returned to you ironed.

COMPLETE SUPPLY ENDS DEBATE ON TEACHERS' SALARIES Saanich Trustees Decline Schedule Prepared Without Teachers' Knowledge

The Saanich School Board last evening refused to consider a new salary schedule with increases totalling $4,824, submitted by the Teachers' Institute and also declared closed any arbitration proposals.

Chairman Holloway said the meeting had been called to receive proposals from the teachers, but Miss Allward pressed for a definite statement as to whether the Board would finally consider new salary figures.

Trustee Mrs. Humphries said she certainly understood the meeting had been called to receive proposals from the teachers and give them consideration.

Trustee Thorne was reluctant to take any stand in view of his absence from last Monday's conference with Mr. Charlesworth.

Trustee Hull said he was not in favor of reopening the discussion, preferring direct appeal to the people.

Trustee Thorne said that the Board would have voters would depend on the personnel of the arbitration body.

HIS LIFE RUINED BY DYSPESIA Until He Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

MR. FRANK HALL Weyvale, Ontario.

"For some two years, I was a sufferer from Chronic Constipation and Dyspepsia. I tried every remedy I heard of without any success, until the wife of a local merchant recommended 'Fruit-a-tives'.

I procured a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and began the treatment, and my condition commenced to improve immediately.

The Dyspepsia ceased to be the burden of my life as it had been, and I was freed of Constipation.

I feel that I owe a great debt to 'Fruit-a-tives' for the benefit I derived from them.

charge of one room or a large school. For the ordinary teachers the minimum would be raised from the present first year figure of $320 to $420.

Trustee Hull declared the whole debate to be "nothing but a waste of time, the Board will not accept these figures, I know it won't."

Trustee Thorne said that the Board would have voters would depend on the personnel of the arbitration body.

TO BE DYSPETIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and any one who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after.

plans, this ending when Trustee Oldfield moved: "In passing the delegates had taken place we consider arbitration proceedings closed."

Trustee Thorne seconded this, but Chairman Holloway suggested that such a course might leave the Board open to charges of unfairness.

Trustee Hull then moved the schedule submitted by the teachers be not accepted, and this passing unanimously the delegates withdrew.

It is so long since an appeal for funds was made by the Red Cross that the general public is apt to assume that the work of the Society is quiescent.

Volunteers to assist in the campaign on June 6 are earnestly needed and will be cordially welcomed by Mrs. Harold Fleming or T. H. Slater at the Red Cross headquarters in the Belmont Building.
