ON THE MAKING, USE AND VALUE OF FACSIMILES.

Modern methods of reproduction have greatly diminished the objections to the making of facsimiles and added to their value. . . . To-day, if a black and white reproduction is thought sufficient, photographic processes with modern lenses . . . give a sharp and accurate reproduction of the page of the manuscript. . . . We have often remarked with pleasure the growing use of photographic facsimiles for purposes of study. . An obviously faithful and complete facsimile serves the scholar in a way that nothing else can. The nearer it is to the original, the more faithfully all its faults and blemishes are preserved, the better. Even a nearly perfect facsimile does not always give an inquirer the information he needs, though an imperfect one will serve his turn better than the copy of any other scholar, no matter how eminent, or conscientious. serve, too, the student of lesser attainments. No person who aspires to any considerable acquaintance with the literature of the past, whether classical or modern, should be ignorant of the appearance and peculiarities of manuscripts; but it is equally true that the risk of putting valuable codices in the hands of a novice is so great that this part of his education should be carried out mainly by the use of facsimiles. It is one of the most pleasing features of modern library management that the multiplication of reproductions especially prepared for purposes of study is spreading over Europe, and thus allowing students of the modern Universities of the United Kingdom and America an opportunity of obtaining a familiarity with the sources of our literature of which they would otherwise be deprived by the fact that the originals are locked up in a few great libraries. No first-class library can now be considered satisfactory without a department of facsimiles.—The Athenaum.

The crying want of our schools of literature to-day, whether in England or America, is a first-hand acquaintance with the subjects of which they treat. In no part of the subject is this more evident than in the productions of the couple of centuries which separate Chaucer from Shakespeare. We could name an imposing number of text-books which inspire the gravest suspicion whether their authors have even glanced at a tithe of the works on which they comment at some length. . . There is some excuse for the ignorance of which we complain, though there is none for writing text-books while it persists. Originals are hard to come by—are for most purposes non-existent; and reprints, even when made with the best intentions, are often unsatisfactory, as many an unfortunate editor knows. Your facsimile is the only wear.—Notes and Queries.

HIS is the first systematic and serious attempt to reprint pre-Shakespearean literature in facsimile; and, in view of the fact that the choicest examples of early English presses are almost without exception of extreme rarity, practically unobtainable, and of prohibitive value, it is difficult to overestimate the importance of the present undertaking.

The Tudor Facsimile Texts follow the originals as nearly as the resources of modern art and craft will allow, showing that original as it actually exists to-day; in which is preserved all detail of size, imperfect type, imperfections in the paper, even to stains and "mendings," and, when possible, the natural discoloration due to age.

Mr. J. A. Herbert, of the Manuscript Department of the British Museum, except where otherwise indicated, compares each facsimile reprint with its original, and notes any "fault" or " faw" which may have occurred in the course of reproduction.

THE TUDOR FACSIMILE TEXTS.

A Catalogue of Old English Plays.

The Plays are interleaved and serviceably bound. Fo.— $15\frac{3}{8} \times 10\frac{1}{4}$. Sm. Fo.— $11\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$. Large $4to-11\frac{5}{8} \times 8\frac{7}{8}$. Cr. $4to-10\frac{3}{8} \times 8\frac{1}{8}$.

All are ready except those indicated, but these are being issued at the rate of two or three volumes monthly.

The edition is strictly limited to 125 copies: a few complete sets only remain unsold. For terms see last page.

THE SHAKESPEARE CONTROVERSY.

Six "Doubtful" Plays of the Third Folio.
From the original quartos, viz.:—"London Prodigal"—"Lord Cromwell"— 'Sir John Oldcastle"—"Puritan Widow"—"A Yorkshire Tragedy"—"Tragedy of Locrine." "Pericles" for obvious reasons is excluded. Pp. xvi. and 378.

"The enterprise is a spirited one, and deserves to succeed. It will enable every Reference Library in the country to have, if not the original at least an exact copy, of rare plays and other documents which are now practically inaccessible,"—Nation.

"Ascribed" Plays. Six Shakespeare

From the original quartos, viz. :- "Arden of Feversham" - "Merry Devil of Edmonton" -" Mucedorus"-" Birth of Merlin"-" Fair Em"-" Edward III." Pp. xvi. and 360.

1 vol. Cr. 4to (103 by 81), full parchment, £5 5s. net.

"Alike in inception and in execution an undertaking of great literary importance." – Sir James A. H. Murray. "For all practicable purposes these texts are as good as . . . and may be accepted with confidence by students who have no access to the originals." - Atheneum. "These facsimiles have done more for the history of the drama of the period than all the professors for the last five-and-twenty years. We have seldom felt more pleasure in commending a work to our readers than we do in the present instance."—Notes and Queries.

Six Shakespeare "Foundation" Plays (Historical).
From the original quartos, viz.: "The True Contention," &c.—"The True Tragedy of Richard, Duke of York"—"The Tragedy of Richard III."—"The Troublesome Reign of King John (2 Parts)"—"The Famous Victories of Henry V." [Preparing.

1 vol. Cr. 4to (108 by 81), full parchment, £5 5s. net.

The boon thus conferred on English scholarship is emphasized when it is borne in mind that these treasures are for the most part unique, or that at best but two or three copies are known to exist, these being enshrined in public collections like the British Museum or the Bodleian, from which they are never likely, humanly speaking, to emerge, or else forming part of some exclusive and inaccessible private library.

Three Shakespeare "Source" Plays (Problem).
From the original quartos, viz.; "The Taming of a Shrew"—"The Chronicle History of King Leir"- "Promos and Cassandra" (the immediate authority of "Measure for Measure").

I vol. Cr. 4to (108 × 81), full parchment, £2 12s. 6d. net.

"A very remarkable collection of no small use, as well as of interest to the scholar. . . . Mr. Farmer enables us to examine at our ease these remarkable plays."—Spectator.

* * These four volumes can also be had in full velvet calf to match the Oxford First Folio. Also see "Sir Thomas More" (page 10) and "The Two Noble Kinsmen" (page 14).

THE MACRO PLAYS.

The Castle of Perseverance. (An early XV Century MS. play c. 1400-25).

From a unique MS., probably not much later than 1400-1425, now in the possession of J. H. Gurney, Esq., Keswick Hall, Norwich: one of the three "Macro Plays" (see "Mankind" and "Wisdom," infra.)

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. (see note infra). The leaves of the original MS. were misplaced in binding: this has been rectified in the facsimile. There are numerous insertions in contemporary and later hands. The names of the players and a plan of the castle occur in the manuscript at the end. "An early treatment of a fruitful theme, variously handled in Marlowe's Dr. Fausius, and in The Holy War" (Gayley). "Its completeness indicates predecessors of the same kind' (Collier).

Mind, Will and Understanding, or A Morality of Wisdom Who is Christ (c. 1460).

The sub-title was the suggestion of the late Dr. Furnivall. The stage directions are unusually full and descriptive. [Gurney collection.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. (See note infra.) "Intellectually . . . a weak play, but . . . well put together and rounded off, and with the aid of its pretty processions towards the beginning and the end, and the ballet of Maintenance, Perjury and Lechery in the middle, it was probably a great success." (A. W. Pollard). "A comedy in the mediæval sense pourtraying the ultimate triumph of a hero in his contest with temptation." (Gayley).

Mankind. (A unique XV. Century MS. play: c. 1461-85).

The third of three Macro Plays. (See E.E.T.S. list. [Gurney collection.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. (see note infra.) A curious picture of real life and ne'er-do-weels in late Plantagenet and early Tudor times—probably a strolling players' play, and meant to be acted chiefly in the courtyards of inns and such-like places.

In sets only, 3 vols. interleaved for annotation, £2 12s. 6d. net.

Also in 1 vol., full parchment or velvet calf.

Everyman. (c. 1500-6.)

¶ Here begynneth a treatise how the | hye fader of heven sendeth dethe | to somon every creature to | come and gyve a counte | of their lyves in this | worlde and is in ma- | ner of a morall | playe. [The rest of the page is occupied by a woodcut.—B.M. Huth Bequest].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant.° £1 5s. od. net. There appears little doubt that the original of this old morality play is to be found in the Dutch Elekerlijk (i.e. every man). Internal evidence indicates the priority of the Dutch play, now generally attributed to Peter of Diest. There are four texts extant, more or less perfect—two by Pynson and two by John Scott. The present facsimile is taken (1) from the complete Scott copy now in the British Museum (Huth Bequest) and (2) the B.M. fragment of one of the Pynson editions containing the latter two thirds of the play, which restores words and portions of lines dropped in both Scott's editions.

¶ Magnyfycence, | ¶ A goodly interlude and a me-|ry deuysed and made by | mayster Skelton, poet laureate late de-ceased.: | [The whole title in a woodcut border. At end, on Folio xxx. "the names of the players"]. . ¶ Cum priuilegio.: [B.M. C. 34, m. 1. with imperfect on from U.L.C., A.B. 8. 46, No. 4. (set b)].

Folio Cl. bds. ant. £2 2s. od. net. Probably from the press of John Rastell, and is the only surviving play of three known to have been written by John Skelton: it deals, as do his satires, with the evils of ambition, with a special eye (probably) on Cardinal Wolsey.

Godly Oueen Hester, (suggested date 1525-9): pr. 1561.

A newe enterlude | drawen out of the holy scripture | of godly queene Hester, verye necessary | newly made and imprinted, this pre | sent yere. MDLXI. | Com nere vertuous matrons & wome kind | Here may ye learne of Hester's duty, | In all comlines of vertue you shalfinde | How to behave your selves in humilitie. | The names of the players. | [14] [Title within a border made up of various ornaments]. . . Imprynted at London by Wyllyam Pickerynge | and Thomas Hacket, and are to be solde at | theyre shoppes. | ["W.P." within an ornament]. [Devonshire collection.]

Mr. W. W. Greg, notwithstanding the date on title-page, gives reasons for the suggested earlier period of writing; Grosart also, as long ago as 1870, drew attention to the obvious allusions to Wolsey and his policy.

Thersytes (Author unknown: played 1538: pr. c. 1550)

A new Enterlude called "Thersytes." This Enterlude Folowynge Dothe Declare Howe that the greatest boesters are not the greatest doers. [Here follows a list of "the names of the players"] . . . Imprinted at London, by John Tysdale and are to be solde at his shop in the upper ende of Lymbard Streete, in Alhalowes Church yarde neare vnto grace church. [Devonshire.]

The original of this play is at Chatsworth House in the Devonshire collection. Mr. A. F. Pollard has shown some grounds for attributing "Thersytes" to John Heywood.

Misogonus, a play in MSS. only at Chatsworth. c. 1540-1553.

A mery and | [pleasaunt Comedie called] | Misogonus. | The names of the speakers | Prologus. | Philogonus, pater. | Eupelas, fidelis patris vicinus. | Cacurgus, morio. | Misogonus, filius domesticus. | Orgelus, servus misogoni. | Œnophilus, conservus eius. Liturgus, servus philogoni. | Melissa, meretrix. | Sir John, sacerdos. | Jack, clarke. | Ceister Codrus, rusticus. | Alison, eius uxor, obstitrix. | Isbell Busbey [bracketted with] Madge Caro, testes vetulæ. | Eugonus, filius peregrinus. | Crito, peregrinus. | Epilogus. | In a column side by side with "the names of the players" is a setting-out of the parts for ten players.] Laurentius Bariwna. | Kettheringe. Die 20 Novembris. | Anno 1577. | Devonshire.

[Preparing.]

This manuscript is a fragment, though a substantial one. Its history is shrouded in obscurity. It is not known whether the play was ever printed. The MS. is in Vol. 8 of the Devonshire plays (Polio series). These plays form a continuation of the Kemble collection, and they were bought by the sixth Duke of Devonshire, sometimes separately, sometimes in groups to fill up gaps in the Kemble plays. ''Misogonus'' is a notable play in many respects.

Ralph Roister Doister (by Nicholas Udall. Supposed date c. 1534-41). Certainly in existence in 1552; pr. 1566.

[Preparing.]

[No perfect copy is known, but in Eton College Library one wanting the title-page is preserved. The only indication of authorship is Wilson's reference to the "ambiguous letter" in his 1553-4 (third) edition of "The Rule of Reason," the first and second impressions, silent thereon, having appeared in 1551-2.

Gammer Gurton's Needle, by W[illiam] S[tevenson]. (c. 1553-62: pr. 1575).

A Ryght | Pithy, Pleasaunt and me | rie Comedie: In- | tytuled Gammer Gur- | tons Nedle: Played on | Stage, not longe | ago in Chri- | stes | Colledge in Cambridge. | Made by Mr. S. Mr. of Art. | Imprented at London in | Fleet-streat beneth the Con- | duit at the signe of S. John | Euangelist by Tho- | mas Colwell Finis, Gurton. Perused and alowed, &c. | [Imprint repeated]. 1575. [B. M. G. 11209].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The date and authorship of this play have always been moot points. Latterly, however, Dr. H. Bradley, one of the editors of the "Oxford English Dictionary," has put forward a strong case in favour of one William Stevenson, a Fellow of Christ's College, probably from 1551 to 1561. A curious manuscript note on a fly-leaf emphasises the value of facsimile reprints—the original correcting some careless readings on the part of more than one of the most careful of modern editors.

Respublica, one of the Macro plays: from the unique MS. kindly lent by J. H. Gurney, Esq. 1553.

A merye enterlude entitled Respublica, made in the yeare of oure | Lorde 1553 and the first yeare of the moost prosperous Reigne | of our moost gracious Soverainge Quene Marye the firste | [Here "the partes and names of the plaiers" within a ruled border.] | The Prologue. a Poete. | Avarice. allias policie, The vice of the plaie. | Insolence. [allias] Authoritie, The chief galaunt. | Oppression. [allias] Reformation, an other gallaunt. | Adulation. [allias] Honestie, The third gallaunt. | People. representing the poore Commontie. | Respublica. a wydowe. | Misericordia. | Veritas. | Iusticia. | pax. [these four names in separate lines bracketted together]. Nemesis the goddess of redresse and correction. A | Goddess. [Gurney Collection].

Folio Cl. bds. ant. £1 15s. net. A play on the social condition of England at the accession of Queen Mary. It treats the Reformation from a domestic not doctrinal point of view. John Heywood has been suggested as possibly the author.

Tom Tyler | and | His Wife. | An excellent old Play, | as | it was Printed and Acted about a | hundred years ago. | Together with an exact Catalogue of all the playes | that were ever yet printed. | The second Impression | [Ornament]. London, | Printed in the Year, 1661].

[Preparing.]

Ritson, notwithstanding the title-page, held that the first edition appeared in 1578: no copy, however, is known of any edition earlier than 1661.

Jack Juggler, Author unknown: c. 1553-61.

A new Enterlued for Chyldren to playe, named Jacke Jugeler, both wytte, and very playsent. Newly Imprented. [Here the players' names, with a woodcut of three figures underneath]. . . . Imprinted at London in Lothbury by one Wyllyam Copland. (Devonshire collection).

[Preparing.]

The Chatsworth copy is the only one known to be extant. "Within a narrow compass [the author] has developed a humourous action quite novel in English comedy . . . We are led from interest to interest by means of anticipation, surprise, and the clever repetition of comic crises." (Gayley).

Cambyses, King of Dersia, by Thomas Preston (c. 1560: pr. c. 1569-70. date of this edition c. 1584.)

A lamentable Tragedie, mixed full of | plesant mirth, containing the life of Cam- | bises king of Percia, from the beginning of his King- | dome, vnto his death, his one good deede of execu- | tion, after that many wicked deedes, and tyrannous mur- | ders, committed by and through him, and last | of all, his odious death by Gods Iustice | appointed. Done in such order | as followeth. | By Thomas Preston. | [Here follows the 'diuision of the parts' set out in tabular form for eight "men," filling the rest of the title-page.] [B.M. C. 34, d. 57].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The first edition probably appeared in 1570 shortly after its entry on the books of the Stationers' Company. Edward Allde, the printer of this edition succeeded his father in 1584.

The Conflict of Conscience, by Nathaniell Woodes, Minister in Norwich. Probably written c. 1563; pr. 1581.

An excellent new Commedie, | Intituled: | The Conflict of Conscience. | contayninge, | A most lamentable example, of the dole- | full desperation of a miserable world- | linge, termed, by the name of | Philologys, who forsooke the | trueth of God's Gospel, for | feare of the losse of | lyfe, and worldly | goode. | Compiled by Nathaniell | Woodes, Minister, in | Norwich. | ¶ The Actors names, deuided into six partes, most con- | uenient for such as be disposed, either to show this Comedie in | private houses, or otherwise. [Here the list of players set out in tabular form in three columns.] AT LONDON | Printed, by Richarde Bradocke | dwelling in Aldermanburie, a little aboue the | Conduict. Anno 1581. [B.M. 162 e. 24 and C. 34. b. 3.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. £1 15s. od. net. The original of this reprint wants two leaves: Aiii and Aiv. These are supplied by a typographical reprint in the copy facsimiled. The originals, from another copy in one of the volumes of "Dramatic Fragments" with which this series will close.

Horestes, by John Pickering. 1567.

A Newe | Enterlude of Vice Conteyninge, the | Historye of Horestes with the cruell | reuengment of his Fathers death, | vpon his one naturill Mother. | by John Pikeryng. | [Here "The players' names," and "The names deuided for VI. to playe."] | ¶ Imprinted at London in Fletestrete, at the | signe of the Falcon by Wylliam Gryffith and | are to be solde at his shope in S. Dunstans | Churcheyearde. Anno 1567. . . . Finis. qd. I.P. | [Here a woodcut of St. John the Evangelist surrounded by "Sapi | ens domina | bitur | astris" and the colophon repeated as above.] [B.M. C. 34, g.28.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The only known edition, of which the British Museum copy is unique. Nothing is known of the author: he is not even mentioned in "The Dictionary of National Biography."

parallelled with the edition of 1592.

[An ornament]. The | Tragedie | of Tancred and Gismund. | Compiled by the Gen- | tlemen of the Inner Temple, and by them pre- | sented before her Maiestie. | Newly reuiued and polished according to the decorum | of these daies. By R. W. | . . . London, | Printed by Thomas Scarlet, and are to be solde by | R. Robinson, 1592.

[Preparing.]

A comparison of the two texts shows very forcibly in what direction and to what extent dramatic taste and method had developed during the quarter of a century which had elapsed between representation in 1568 and publication in 1592.

The Longer Thou Livest the more Fool Thou art, by William Wager (c. 1568.)

A very mery and | Pythie Commedie, called The Longer | thou liuest, the more foole thou art. | A Myrrour very necessarie for youth, and | specially for such as are like to come to dig- | nitie and promotion: As it maye | well appeare in the Matter | folowynge. | Newly compiled by | W. Wager. | [Here the printer's device]. | ¶Imprinted at | London, by Wyllyam How | for Richarde Johnes: and | are to be solde at his shop | under the Lotterie | house. [c. 1568]. B.M. C. 34, e. 37].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. £1 1s. od. net. This play was presumably licensed in 1568-9 an entry being made on the Stationers' Registers in that year, for "a ballet." The fragments of Wager's "Cruel Debtor" will be given in one of the volumes of "Dramatic Fragments" winding up this series.

Common Conditions (Author unknown: c. 1572-76).

An Excellent and Pleasant Come- | die, termed after the name of the Vice, | Common Conditions, drawne out of the most | famous historie of Galiarbus Duke of Arabia, and of | the good and eevil successe of him and his two | children, Sedmond his sun and Clarisia his | daughter; set foorth, with delectable | mirth, and pleasant shewes. | ¶ The Players Names | [20]. Six may Play this Comedie. | [Title within an ornamental woodcut border]. . Imprinted . . by William How for John Hunter . . on London Bridge . . at the Blacke Lion [Devonshire and ? America].

[Preparing.]

Until the Mosyn copy came into the market in 1907 the only example then known was the very imperfect copy at Chatsworth. For the better one—"some marginal notes cut into, and a few head-lines shaved, otherwise perfect "—Mr. Quaritch paid £255.

The Tide Tarrieth No Man, by George Wapull, 1576.

The | Tyde taryeth no Man. | A Moste Plea- | sant and merry Commody, right | pythie and full of delight. | Compiled by George Wapull. | ¶ Fowre persons may easily play it. | 1. The Prologue Hurtfull help, the Tenaunt, | Faithful few for one | 2. Paynted profyte, No good Neighbourhood, | the Courtyer, Wastefullnesse, Christianitye, | Correction for another. | 3. Corage the Vice, Debtor, for another. | 4. Fayned further-aunce, Greedinesse the Marachamar | Chaunt, Wantonesse the Woman, the Ser- | iaunt, Authority and Dispayre, for another. | ¶ Imprinted at London, in Fleete- | streate, beneath the Conduite, at the | Signe of Saynt Iohn Euangelist, | by Hugh Iackson. | 1576. [The whole in a scroll border.] [B.M. C. 34, f. 45].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. £1 is. od. net. One copy only known as extant until "the Irish find of 1906": i.e. the Heber copy in the Devonshire collection. The recovered copy from which this facsimile was made is now in the $B_{\rm c}M_{\rm c}$.

All For Money, by Thomas Lupton, 1578.

A moral | and pitieful Co- | medie, Intituled, All for Money. | Plainly representing the ma- | ners of men, and fashion of the world | noweadayes. | Compiled by T. Lupton. | [Here follows "The names of them that play this Comedie."] At London. | Printed by Roger Warde and Richard Mundee, dwel- | ling at Temple Barre. Anno 1578. | Finis, qd T Lupton. | [Here follows the imprint as above "Imprinted at &c.," and underneath this a woodcut ornament]. [B.M. C. 34, d. 24].

Cr. 4to cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. From the B.M. copy. Another (the only other known) is in the Bodleian. Little is known of the author, Thomas Lupton.

Promos and Cassandra, by Geo. Whetstone (Parts I. & II. 1578.)

¶ The right excel- | lent and famous Historye, of | Promos and Cassandra: | Deuided into two Commicall | Discourses. | In the first parte is showne the | vnsufferable abuse, of a lewde Magistrate: | The vertuous behauiours of a chaste Ladye: | The vncontrowled leawdenes of a fauoured | Curtisan. | And the vndeserued estimation of a pernici- | ous Parasyte. | In the second parte is discoursed, | the perfect magnanimitye of a noble kinge, | in checking Vice and fauouringe Vertue: | Wherein is showne, the Ruyne and ouer- | throwe, of dishonest praaises: with the ad-uauncement of vpright dealing. | The worke of George | Whetstones Gent. | Formæ nulla fides. . . . C. 34, 6. 42].

The two parts in r vol.
Cl. Bds. ant.

The Author's preface and the note of "the Printer to the Reader" contain bibliographical facts. The second part commences with a fresh title though the signatures are continuous. No other edition is known. Other copies are in the Bodleian and at Trinity College, Cambridge.

The Rare Triumphs of Love and Fortune, staged c. 1582; pt. 1589.

The Rare Triumphes of Loue and Fortune. Plaide before the Queenes most excellent Maiestie: wherein are many fine Conceites with great delight. At London. Printed by E.A. for Edward White, and are to be solde at the little North doore of S. Paules Church, at the sign of the Gunne. 1580. [Bridgewater Collection].

"An excellent instance of the fusion of moral and romance." (Gayley). "The beginnings of romantic comedy were foreshadowed by the play." (Ward). It has been ascribed both to Kyd and R. Wilson.

The Famous Victories of Henry V, a "Foundation" [?] Shakespearean play, Staged in 1585.

The Famous Victories of Henry the fifth: Containing the Honourabell Battell of Agincourt: as it was plaide by the Queenes Maiesties Players. London. Printed by Thomas Creede. 1598.

[Preparing.]

Licensed 14 May, 1594, but no earlier edition than that for 1598 is known.

The Troublesome Reign of John, King of England, c. 1587-8; printed 1591.

The | Troublesome Raigne | of Iohn King of England, with the dis- | couverie of King Richard Cordelions | Base sonne (vulgarly named The Ba- | stard Fawconbridge.): also the | death of King Iohn at Swinstead | Abbey. | As it was (sundry times) publikely acted by the | Queenes Maiesties Players, in the ho- | nourable Citie of | London. | [Here the printer's device] | Imprinted at London for Sampson Clarke, | and are to be solde at his shop, at the backe- | side of the Royal Exchange. | 1591. [Trinity College, Cambridge.]

- Part II.

The | Second part of the | troublesome Raigne of King | Iohn, conteining the death | of Arthur Plantaginet, | the landing of Lewes, and | the poysning of King | Iohn at Swinstead | Abbey. | As it was (sundry times) publikely acted by the | Queenes Maiesties Players, in the ho- | nourable Citie of | London. | [Here a device followed by the same imprint as in Part I]. [Trinity College, Cambridge.]

2 vols. Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. £2 10s. od. net. "The source whence Shakespeare drew his materials for King John. Though he has followed his original with a fidelity bordering on scrupulosity, act by act, and scene by scene, yet he is by no means a mere slavish reproducer . . The older drama is based on Holinshed and, in a minor degree, on Bale's Kynge Johan, but there is no evidence in King John that Shakespeare saw either the one or the other." (Smeaton.)

"King Leir" has been variously attributed to Kyd, Lodge, Marlowe, Greene, and Peele, to the last named without much cause; the work is also regarded by many as "too poor" for Marlowe: the "consensus of opinion" divides the authorship jointly between Greene, Kyd, and Lodge. In the original C2 and C3 are missing: these have been supplied from another but inferior copy in the King's Library, 161, a. 51.

The "D.N.B." takes it for granted that Wilson was the author of this play and (consequently) of "The Three Lords and Three Ladies of London" also, the second being practically a continuation. Other plays more certainly ascribed to Wilson are "The Cobler's Prophecy" and "The Pedler's Prophecy."

"The Book of Sir Thomas More, which is known as No. 7,368 in the Harleian MSS., has been a work of great difficulty, and presents to the student a facsimile of uncommon interest. The MS. is extremely crabbed, and has become so tattered and corroded that much of it has required overlaying with tissue paper to keep the fragments together. Yet despite the filmy surface thus interposed between the original and the eyes of the reader, the reproducer's art has been so successful that the facsimile is now judged to be as legible as the original. This MS. has never before been produced in facsimile, and it gains in importance from the fact that many experts believe portions of it to be in the handwriting of Shakespeare himself. The work bears the authorization of Edmund Tilney, legalising its stage production, and apparently certain emendations which he required as censor." — Daily Telegraph.

A trilogy of dramas which, although known to have once existed, had lain produ to the world from the time of composition, except with regard to the third part ("Return from Parnassus" Part II) until the Rev. W. D. Macray "met these lost plays" in the Rawlinson MSS.: In 1886 he edited the MSS. and published his "find." It is held by many scholars—indeed, the majority—that Shakespeare, as a kind of assistant stage-manager under Burbage, engaged in "play-cobbling"; old and weak plays being wrought on; and that thereby he achieved no small reputation for skill in adapting, altering, and rewriting the pieces placed in his hands. This play is one supposed to be so treated.

[Preparing].

There is great uncertainty as to date. This the only known printed edition is obviously a Restoration play founded on an older one traceable by allusions here and there. The "I. T." is probably John Tatham. Fleay, on the authority of the sub-title, attributed it to William Haughton, but it was probably written much earlier.

The Four Elements (Author Unknown: sometimes attributed to John Rastell, without date or printer's name c. 1510-1520).

¶ A new interlude and a mery of the | nature of the .iiij. elements declarynge many Pro | per poynts of phylosophy naturall, and of dyuers | straunge landys, and of dyuers straunge effects & | causis, whiche interlude yf ye hole matter be playde | wyl conteyne the space of an hour and a halfe, but | yf ye lyst ye may leue out much of the sad mater | as the messengers pte, and some of naturys parte | and some of experyens pte and yet the matter wyl de | pend conuenyently, and than it wyll not be paste | thre quarters of an hour of length. [Here the names of the Players and a synopsis of the play]. [B.M. 643, b. 45].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The only known copy of the original, now in the B.M., is imperfect. The date of composition or printing given above is purely conjectural. The purpose of this interlude is scientific, not moral. Gayley accepts the ascription to Rastell without reserve; and some authorities think 1539 a much more likely date of printing on the ground that the only other use of the music type in it is of that year, and is not so worn.

Johan the Evangelist (c. 1520: pr. c. 1565).

¶ Here begynneth the | enterlude of Johan | the Euangelyst. | [Here a three-quarter page illustration of St John, surrounded by a conglomerate woodcut border] . . . Thus endeth the Enterlude of Saynt Johan | the Euangelyste. Imprynted at London | in Foster laene by John Waley. [B.M. C. 34, i. 20].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net This play was untraced in modern times until recently. It is one of the three "lost" plays recovered in "the Irish find" of 1906. In the same year it was purchased for the British Museum at Sotheby's for £102. John Waley, the printer of this edition, was in business from 1546 to 1586, but in the "Day Book of John Dorne," an Oxford bookseller, there is recorded in 1520 the sale of "| saint jon euuangeliste entrelute 1 [d]."—Oxford Historical Society's Collectanæa, 1885.

Nice Wanton, (Author Unknown, but sometimes attributed to John Ingelend, the author of "The Disobedient Child": c. 1546) 1560.

¶ A Preaty Interlude | called, Nice Wanton, | [Here a small composite ornament of types.] ¶ Wherein ye may see, | Three braunces of an yll tree, | The mother and her chyldren three, | Twoo naught, and one godlye. | Early sharpe that wyll be thorne, | Soone yll, that wyll be naught: | To be naught, better vnborne, | Better vnfed, then naughtely taught. | . . . Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. Another edition (see infra) was issued in 1565, which had, until 1906, been unknown. The date of composition, judging from internal evidence, was probably much earlier than the year of publication.

[The title-page as supra with textual and other variations] . . . ¶ Imprinted at Lon | don at the long Shop adioining vnto Saint | Mildreds Church in the Pultrie, by | John Allde. | [The Colophon worded as the imprint supra] . [B.M. C. 34, i. 24].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. For this, until recently unknown edition, scholars are again indebted to "the Irish find of 1906." It is a matter of congratulation that not only the three "lost" plays then brought to light, but also the "unknown editions" of four other early plays have all found a resting place in the B.M. and that, therefore, it has been possible to make them fully useful to scholars by including them in "The Tudor Facsimile Texts."

The Trial of Treasure (1567).

¶ A new and mery | Enterlude, called the Triall of | Treasure, newly set foorth, and | neuer before this tyme | imprinted. | ¶ The names of the plaiers, | First, Sturdines, Contentation | Visitation, Time. | The second, Lust, Sapience, Con- | solation, | The thirde, the Preface, Just, Plea- | sure, Gredy gutts. | The fourth, Elation, Trust, a wo- | man, and Treasure, a woman. | The fifth, Inclination the Vice. | ¶ Imprinted at Londō in Paules | Churcheyarde, at the signe of the | Lucrece by Thomas | Purfoote. | 1567 . . . On verso of title is the printer's device, presumably a representation of "Treasure, a woman" with "Thomas Pyrfoote" in a panel at foot. [B.M. C. 34, b. 49.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The authorship is unknown. It may have been written a few years before it was printed. Another copy is in the Bodleian Library: also, "the Irish find of 1906" unearthed another copy, which it is believed was secured at auction for America.

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. An edition unrecorded until the Irish find of 1906, of which it formed part, the B.M. paying f190 for it. The earlier edition printed by Rastell in 1533 is also included in this series.

The Play of Love, made by John Heywood. 1533.

A play of love, | ¶ A newe and a | mery enterlude concernyng plea- | sure and payne in loue, | made by Jhon | Heywood. | ,', | The players | names. | ,', | A man a louer not beloued. | A woman beloued not louyng. | A man a louer and beloued. | The vyse nother louer nor beloued. [Title enclosed in an imposing-looking architectural border]. . . . Prynted by .w Rastell | M. ccccc. xxxiii. | cum privilegio Regali. [Pepys Collection].

Large 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. This is another of John Heywood's interludes, the original of which is preserved at Magdalene College, Cambridge, being the only perfect copy known of this early edition. Pasted in the Magdalene original on back of title-page is a fine portrait engraving of Samuel Pepys: for reasons set out in the Introduction this portrait is retained in the facsimile. The introduction narrates much concerning the new facts recently discovered about the author.

Of Gentleness and Nobility (by John Heywood (?): c. 1535).

¶ Of Gentylnes and Nobylyte. | A dyaloge betwen the Marchaut the | Knyght and the plowman dysputyng who is a verey Gen- | tylman & who is a Noble man and how men shuld | come to auctoryte, compiled in maner of an en- | terlude with divers toys & gestis addyd therto | to make mery pastyme and disport. | [Here, immediately following, is the text.] A M E N. | Johēs rastell me fieri fecit | Cum priuilegio regali. | [B.M. C. 40, i. 16.]

Sm. Folio Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. It is uncertain, very doubtful according to some authorities, as to whether this dialogue can be attributed to John Heywood. The volume contains a facsimile pasted-in "portrait" of the attributed author.

Witty and Witless, an autograph interlude by John Heywood, together with a special letter discussing the questions of the date and autograph character of the MS. bef. 1547].

[The MS. commences imperfectly] . . . Amen qd John Heywod. MSS. 367].

Folio Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net.

The original MS. is a fragment; but little can have been lost beyond the introduction. The MS. is unquestionably of the XVI. century: the same watermark occurs in Royal MS. 7 B. iv., Cranmer's draft of the Prayer-Book, 1543-7.

The Play called The Four PP. By John Heywood (c. 1545?)

The playe called the | foure PP. | ¶ A newe and a very mery enterlude of | A palmer. | A pardoner. | A potycary. | A pedler. | Made by John Heewood. | [Here, filling the rest of the page a woodcut of three figures] . . . ¶ Imprynted at London in Fletestrete at the | sygne of the George by Wyllyam | Myddylton ... | [Here the printer's punning device]. [B.M. C. 34, e. 43].

Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. One of the undoubted Heywood plays. Seven only have come down to us, but he spoke of himself as having "made many mad plays." It is noteworthy that the first of the three unnamed figures on the title-page was also used in the Lambeth fragment of "Youth" and the third in the Copland edition of the same play (q.v.).

The Beauty and Good Properties of Women (otherwise known as Calisto and Melibæa: author unknown, but (?) John Heywood: c. 1530.

A new comodye in englysh in maner | Of an enterlude ryght elygant & full of craft | of rethoryk, wherein is shewd & dyscrybyd as | well the bewte & good propertes of women, | as theyr vycys & euill codicios, with a morall | coclusion & exhortacyon to vertew. Johes rastell me imprimi fecit | Cum priuilegio regali | [A final leaf has printer's device one side and a composite woodcut on the other]. [Bodleian].

Large 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net.

The only known copy is in the Malone collection in the Bodleian Library. The suggested ascription to Heywood is borne out by facts at least as weighty as those which would attribute "Thersites" to him. Probably the immediate source of "Calisto and Melibæa" was the French translation of the Spanish comedy, published by Du Pre in 1527.

Youth (Author unknown: attributed by Wood to John Heywood: date not earlier than 1528 for the Lambeth fragment).

[LAMBETH FRAGMENT.] Thenterlude of youth, [over a woodcut of three figures—4 leaves]. [Lambeth Palace Liby.]

[Waley Edition.] Theterlude of youth. [This is the only title, over a woodcut of two figures—Charity and Youth, the text commencing immediately under]. . . Imprinted at London, by John waley | dwellyng in Foster Lane. [B.M. C. 34, b. 24.]

Cr. 4to Cl bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. It is supposed that five editions in all were issued an original edition now lost, and from this the Lambeth fragment and another edition (lost) were probably printed. From the second lost edition probably both Waley's (c. 1557) and Copland's (c. 1560) were printed: see infra.

[COPLAND EDITION.] The Enterlude | of Youth. [This over a woodcut of three figures (they differ from the Lambeth and Waley groups) — Charity, Youth, and an unnamed third, probably Humility]. . . . ¶ Imprented at London in Lothbury ouer a- | gainst Sainct Margarytes church by me | Wyllyam

Copland. [B.M. C. 34, e. 38].

The B.M. copy of this edition is probably unique: this and the Waley edition with the Lambeth fragment are indispensable for comparative study: see supra. The Lambeth fragment was a "waste" comparative study: see supra. In Youth details of character, or unbound sheet found in another book. In Youth details of character, device, situation and literal transference of language are borrowed from Hickscorner: but it improves on all: itself an indirect argument for the Heywood attribution.

The Play of Wit and Science, by Master John Redford (c. 1550).

A facsimile of the original MS. in the British Museum: no early printed copy has been traced. The play was probably written for, and played by his "children," Redford being their "master" at St. Paul's about 1535. [B.M. Add. MSS. 15,233 folios 11-27].

Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net.

It is curious that nowhere in the British Museum catalogue does Redford's name occur, though his name appears both in the MS. and in the reprint made for the Shakespeare Society.

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The only known copy of the first edition (in B.M. to which it came through the Garrick collection, probably from the Harley library acquired from Robert Dodsley).

The Temptations of Our Lord, by John Bale, Bishop of Ossory, 1538.

 Bale's interlude of "John, King of England," known only in the MS., now in the possession of The Duke of Devonshire, is purposely excluded in accordance with my custom of, as far as possible, including in this series only those printed and manuscript rarities that have not been elsewhere reproduced. Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. Original in the B. M. the 1568 edition is not likely to be the first one, but no other is extant. From its decidedly protestant bias it was probably written before Marian days.

A Contract of Marriage Between Wit and Wisdom, (c. 1551-53.) Extant in MS. only.

Contract of | Mariage betweene wit and wisdome | very fruitfull and mixed full of | pleasant mirth as well for | the beholders as the | Readers or hearers | neuer before im- | printed. | The deuision of the partes for six to playe this | interlude. | [Here the list of players set out in tabular form]. [B.M. Add. MSS. 26,782].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. This play exists in manuscript only: the original is in the B.M. From the title-page it would appear to be the author's copy as prepared for the printer. The mention of the King's most 'royal majestie' and the appearance of the Vice Idleness as a priest point to a pre-Marian date, while contrariwise, posterity to Redford's play is indicated.

Lusty Juventus, by Richard Wever, 1540.

¶ An Enterlude called | lusty Juuentus, | Lyuely discribing the frailtye of youth: | of nature, prone to vice: by grace | and good counsayll, trayne- | able to vertue. | (...) | ¶ The names of the players. | ¶ Messengers. | ¶ Lusty Juuentus. | ¶ Good Counsell. | ¶ Knowledge. | ¶ Sathan the deuill. | ¶ Hypocrisy. | ¶ Felowship. | Abhominable lyuing. ¶ Gods merciful promises. | ¶ Foure may play it easely, taking such partes | as they think best: so that any one take | of those partes that be not in | place at once. | (...) | [Here two lines of small ornaments, five above and three below] Finis. Quod. R. Weuer. | [On opposite page Fii a head ornament followed by] Imprynted at London | by John Awdely dwelling in | little Britayne strete without | Aldersgate. | (...) | [Here six lines of small ornaments in 7s, 6s, 5s, 4s, 3s, and 2s respectively with a tail ornament under all. [B.M. C. 34, i. 2].

Cr. 4to Cl. Bds, ant. 17s. 6d. net. An edition unknown to Lowndes, Halliwell or Hazlitt: part of "the Irish find of 1906," being bought for the B.M. for £140. Other editions were issued by Copland and Vele, all differing.

Wealth and Health (no place, date, or printer's name. Licensed 1557-8.)

An enterlude of | Welth, and Helth, very mery and full of | Pastyme, newly att [sic] his tyme | Imprinted. | (...) | ¶ The Names of the players | [in three columns]. | Foure may easily play this Playe. | [Above occupies barely half the page and below there is no sign of ornament, imprint or other printed matter: in fact the page has the appearance of interrupted work. There is no colophon.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. A recently recovered lost play, unique in every respect—for its hundreds of printer's blunders, its battered type, turned letters, letters used interchangeably, its extraordinary rhymes, its Dutch and Spanish jargon, and in many other respects; in short, probably the worst printed and rarest pre-Shakespearean interlude. This unique copy sold at Sotheby's for fo5 and was bought for the nation. Another more perfect copy turned up later and was bought by Mr. T. Wise, who has been good enough to give me facilities for restoring a mutilated page for the "Fragments Volume."

The Disobedient Child, by Thomas Ingelend, late student in Cambridge (c. 1560).

[A slightly taller than type-high ornament] A pretie | and Mery new En- | terlude: called the Dis- | obedient Child. | Compiled | by Thomas Ingelend | late Student in | Cambridge. | ¶ Imprinted at London | in Fletestrete, beneath | the Conduit by Tho | mas Colwell. | [The whole in a floral-ribbon border: the same design was used in "Gammer Gurton's Needle"... [At end the printer's device of St. John Evangelist] [B.M. C. 34, c. 35].

¶ A Newe In | terlude of Impacyente pouerte | newlye Imprynted. | M.D.L.X. | ¶Foure men may well and ease | lye playe thys Interlude. | Peace and Collhassarde and Cō | scyence, for one man. | Haboundaunce and mysrule for | another man. | Impaciente pouerte, Prospery- | te, and pouerte, for one man. | Enuye and the sommer [sic sumner] for ano- | ther man. • Imprinted at London, in Paules | Churche yearde at the Sygne of | the Swane by John Kynge. | [Here a tail-piece]. [B.M. C. 34, i. 26].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. A "lost play" recovered in the notable "Irish find of 1906." It was bought at Sotheby's for the B.M. for £150. The original is discoloured, the type is ragged, the ink is spread and the pages blurred; a valuable acquisition notwithstanding.

The Tragedy of Ferrex and Porrex, by Thomas Sackville and Thomas Norton, 1561.

¶ The Tragidie of Ferrex | and Porrex, | set forth without addition or alte- | ration but altogether as the same was shewed | on stage before the Queenes Maiestie, | about nine years past, viz. the xviij. day of Ianuarie, 1561, | by the gentlemen of the Inner Temple. | Seen and allowed, &c. | *Imprinted at London by | Iohn Daye, dwelling ouer | Aldersgate. [B.M. C. 34, a. 6].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. An earlier and unauthorised edition appeared in 1565, the circumstance being alluded to in "The P. to the Reader" in the present issue.

Apius and Virginia. by R. B. (c. 1563a.) 1575.

A new Tragicall Comedie | of Apius and Virginia, | Wherein is liuely expressed a rare | example of the vertue of Chastitie, | by Virginias constancy, in wishing | rather to be slaine at her owne Fa- | thers handes, then to be deflow- | red of the wicked Iudge | Apius. | By R. B. (Here the players' names in double columns). Imprinted at London, by Wil- | liam How, for Richard Ihones. | 1575. [B.M. C. 34, b. 2.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. From the B.M. copy, which until "the Irish find" of 1906 was unique. Since then, however, another copy turned up in the Mostyn sale, making three copies now known. "R.B." are generally regarded as the initials of Richard Bower (no mention in "N.D.B."), but they would apply to several writers of the time.

Damon and Pithias, by Richard Edwards, Master of the Children, c. 1564-5

The excellent Comedie of | two the most faithfullest | Freendes, Damon and Pithias. | Newly Imprinted, as the same was shewed be- | for the Queenes Maiestie, by the Children of her Graces | Chappell, except the Prologue that is somewhat al- | tered for the proper vse of them that hereafter | shall haue occasion to plaie it, either in | Private or open Audience. Made | by Maister Edwards, then beynge | Maister of the Children. | 1571. | [Here three small ornaments in a line.] Imprinted at London in | Fletelane by Richard Iohnes, and are to be | solde at his shop, ioyning to the Southwest | doore of Paules Churche. [B.M. C. 34, c. 30]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. It would appear this was not the first edition, though no copies of an earlier one are known to be extant. Edwards died in 1566, and a printer's license is on record dated 1568.

The Life and Repentance of Mary Magdalene, by Lowis Wager, 1567.

A new Enterlude, neuer | before this tyme imprinted, entreating of the | Life and Repentaunce of Marie Magdalene: not only | godlie, learned, and fruitefull, but also well furnished with plea- | saunt myrth and pastime, very delectable for those | which shall heare or reade the same. | Made by the learned clarke | Lewis Wager. | The names of the Players [Here follow in double columns the names of fourteen characters]. Foure mav easely play this Enterlude. | Imprinted at London, by Iohn Charlewood, | dwelling in Barbican, at the signe of the halfe Eagle | and the Key. Anno 1567. [B.M. C. 34, e. 36]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. £1 158. od. net. Another edition identical with the present original, save in the date, appeared in 1566 (the only known copy is in America). This 1577 issue was probably made up of unsold copies of the 1566 impression with the title-page redated.

The Story of King Darius. 1565.

A Pretie new En- | terlude both pithie & pleasaunt | of the Story of Kyng Daryus, | Being taken out | of the third | and fourth Chapter of the | thyrd book of | Esdras | ¶ The names of the Players. | [Here the names in double columns.] ¶ Syxe persons may safely play it. | ¶ Imprinted at London in Flete- | Streat beneath the Conduite, at the | sygne of S. John Euangelyst | by Thomas Colwell. | Anno Domini. M.D. LXV. | In October. [B.M. C. 34, b. 16].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. cut. 17s. 6d. net. An anti-papist play. Other copies are at Cambridge, Chatsworth and Bridgewater Ho.

Another edition of which the title page varies but little from that of 1565. [B.M. C. 34, i. 21].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. nett. This edition was unknown till 1906 when, amongst three equally unknown editions of other plays and three plays supposedly "lost," besides other rarities, a copy "turned up" in an Irish country house. Brought to auction at Sotheby's in the same year the original of this facsimile fetched £132, being bought for the B.M.

Like Will to Like, by Ulpian Fulwell. 1568.

A pleasant Enterlude, | intituled, Like will to Like quoth the | Deuill to the Collier. Wherein is declared what pu- | nishments followe those that will rather liue | licentiously: then esteeme and followe good | Councell. And what benefits they receiue | that apply them selves to vertuous | liuing and good exercises. | Made by Vlpian | Fulwell. Fiue may easily play this Enterlude. | [Here the names of the players set out in tabular form.] London | Printed by Edward Allde, and are | to be Solde at the Long Shop adioyning | vuto Sainte Mildreds Church in | the Pultrie, 1587. [B.M. C. 34, c. 36].

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The B.M. original was unique until another copy turned up in the Mostyn Sale (1908) which realised from The Mostyn copy was described as "perfect and in good state," whereas the general condition of the B.M. example is anything but good.

The Marriage of Wit and Science. 1569-70.

¶ A new and | Pleasaunt enterlude in- | tituled the mariage of Witte | and Science. | [Here a small scroll-like ornament.] # Imprinted at London in | Fletestrete, neare vnto sainct | Dunstones churche by | Thomas Marshe. | [Here an index hand with forefinger pointing upwards and "1570" underneath in Malone's script. [Bodley, Malone, 231.]

Cr. 4to Cl. bds. ant. 17s. 6d. net. The last of a trio of "Wit plays," all included in this series, the only known copy is in the Bodleian. The original was facsimiled for this copy by the Clarendon Press, Oxford. Modelled on, if not actually a version of Redford's earlier play, it is, says Prof.Gayley, in literary and dramatic handling, an example of the perfection to which the moral play could come.
