

Preparation for Implementation

Objectives:

- Prepare people and organizations for thematic and global discussions on implementation
- Begin to identify priorities for implementing the Movement Strategy recommendations
- Create a collaborative environment for implementation

What is this about?

Our movement came together to create the Movement Strategy recommendations. Now it's time to figure out how to implement them. Wikimedians everywhere are invited to select their top priorities for implementation in 2021. This prioritization process or Transition will be locally-relevant and without the need for a deep knowledge of Strategy.

Transition will begin with preparation events in September, 2020. These events will be hosted by affiliates and communities with help from the Support Team and Transition Design Group members. Beyond those listed below, affiliates and other groups interested to host other events are encouraged to do so.

Preparation events by region	Eastern Africa, Western Africa, ESEAP, Europe, Latin America, South Asia
Preparation events by language	Arabic, English, French, German, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish
Thematic events	Women, online and project communities, BIPOC , LGBTQ+

How to join?

Join the Transition events or host one of your own. To learn more about joining, please add us to your watchlist. We will share information soon about dates and topics of events. Please indicate on Meta or reach out to us by email if you are interested to host a preparation or thematic event from September to October.

What about resources?

The Support Team will provide guidance on hosting the virtual events as well as supporting materials, such as a simple template to complete. Translation, facilitation, and documentation are required for the online events to ensure everyone is heard, feels welcomed to contribute, and that relevant information is captured. It may be possible to reallocate funds from existing budgets for 2020, please contact your grants officer. More information will be provided as details are planned. For all events, please adhere to COVID-19 risk assessment and guidance from the Foundation.
