NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 10, 1859.

THE DAILY BEE. THURADAY MORNING, PEB. 10.

We perceive that many public journal which have been mooting the subject of European politics, arrive at the conclusion that the threatening language of Louis Marc day, the extensive waltike preparation going forward in both France and Austria and Sardinian sovereigns, the intemperate and bellicose tone of the German press, and ed that as his flat can unc kings and destroy dynasties, he employs his tremendous moral and material influence for no other purpose than to add to the already princely reveaues of his station. In other words, that he talked warlike in order to bring down public securities in all the European markets; that his agents are instructed to buy largely when they reach the lowest point, and that some fine morning the Emperor will resume his wonted serenity, will again declare that the empire is peace, will sell out at an aggregate advance of several millions, and will obuckle over this highly successful fluonical operation.

Such a view of the question is not absolutely devoid of plausibility. Certainly Lowe Marchesse and accomplish these things if he pleases. If disposed to play the sordid part of an operator in stocks, and to realize immense profits by apreading alarm in every direction, purchard in a heavy decilion, and selling when his elements. thitherto essemed to govern him. He appires to an unlimited control in the affairs of Emtope. He is anxious that his voice should be considered potential on the continent.
Besides he has an old account to settle with autria. That power has never explated her neutrality during the Ruesian war, nor has her conduct towards flasy, it which the French Monarch feels a lively interest, been of a character to conciliate his respect or

Fracoh would rather pick a quarrel with Austria, than suffer that power to extend and consolidate its coveraginty over Haly.

A few weeks, however, will detarmine the whether the war cloud is to extend until it covers the European horizon, or is to contract until it disappears like the morning man. The result, it is plapable, depends exclusively upon that autrordinary man who wields the destinies of France. Upon him alone depend the issues of peace and war. He may keep his flar troops in their esterates the house of Happburg. His conduct, we are inclined to believe, will be governed less by his own desire than by the force of oir. Commandees. If the French army must be imployed in active work to prevent six hundred thousand men from engaging in sediment soft in the man to sacrifice himself to the peace of Europe. He would rather fight half the sading powers than witness the subversion of his throne and the overthrow of himself and his family. But we shall see what a few weeks will bring forth.

The Anatralization of public and analysis of the individuous all was the sall was then individuous all was the increase was by in a sot of Congress, and showed wherein the expenditures have been and the faght half the sading powers than witness the subversion of his throne and the overthrow of himself and his family. But we shall see what a few weeks will bring forth.

Sallo of THE Oblights THEATHE.—This ven, as the establishment, forming part of that ortion of the McDonogh estate reverting to ecty of Estimore, has been disposed of private sale. Of this there can be no note whatever, although neither the terms or the name of the purchaser are positively nown. It is uncertain whether the new copreter intends to dedicate the theatre, therefofore, to operate and dramatic repsentations, and whether its direction will minuse to be confided to the skillful handle Mr. Czs. Berpopreyte. We understand, wever, that as soon as the sale was made nown, subscription lists were pretty extended; circulated among the Creole and merital propulation, and a large amount intributed for the avowled purpose of contributed for the avowled purpose of contributed for the avowled purpose of con-
