All Americans Can Serve

Every man, woman and child in this country, who wants to serve the country, can serve it and serve it in a very simple and effective way, says Secretary McAdoo.

That service is to lend your money to the government. Every 25 cents loaned to the government is a help at this time and practically every man, woman and child, by making some trifling sacrifice, some denial of a pleasure, or giving up some indulgence, can render the government that support.

RALPH P. MERRITT, Commissioner

Don't be slave to habit. If you are, you are tied hand and foot to a worse tyrant than the kaiser. Take a moment for retrospection and see if you are thoughtlessly doing things over and over again just because you are in the habit of doing them.

Take eating wheat, for instance. It is habit, nothing more or less, that keeps some of us from going without wheat. We have become accustomed to regard this cereal as a more or less indispensable article of diet.

But it isn't. Wheat is a luxury—absolutely nothing else. Dietitians who have studied the matter thoroughly tell us over and over again that wheat possesses no nutritional qualities for man or beast superior to those of oats, corn, rice. It has neither more nor better protein. It has neither more nor better fat. It has no better mineral salts or mineral salts in larger amounts. Neither has it more or better fuel value.

"Wheat is just one of the cereals," declares a famous food expert, "and there isn't the slightest evidence that it is the best one, because so far as comparative tests are concerned in animals, it isn't the best one."

Why, then, do we still cling to wheat, even when we know that every pound of it is needed abroad to help us win a victory in this war?

It is a habit. We are accustomed to having wheat bread. We are accustomed to using wheat flour freely in cooking. We have somehow grown to believe that wheat is one of the necessities of life, or at least an indispensable mark of breeding and refinement.

A few years ago, many a housewife probably would have apologized if unexpected guests at dinner had found one of the darker, coarser breads on her table instead of wheat bread. Today, however, she must blush for shame if guests do not always find wheatless bread or potatoes or rice used in place of any bread on her table. Otherwise, they will brand her as a slave to habit—the wheat habit.

While American manhood is fighting and dying so that the people of America may remain free and independent, she admittedly isn't strong enough to shake herself free and independent from a mere habit of cooking and eating.

Shall any American woman let this be said of her?

WEEKLY GREETING

Patriotism is that majestic emotion which makes you rise superior to all obstacles, support all weariness willingly, accept all discipline, and joyfully face all dangers.—Marshal Joffre.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

Something should be said for the house-owner as well as the house-renter. Tenants should be obliged by owners and agents to leave dwellings in as good a condition as when they were first rented.

Every ounce of wheat products in excess in excess of six mounds per month, that you eat, is that much actually taken from the mouths of the women and children of France. The armed Allies may do without wheat, but these innocents will actually die unless we give them a generous proportion of our wheat.

It was meet and proper, and a tribute of love and respect to Mr. and Mrs. Schweninger that the flags on the Postoffice and City Hall were lowered, that many refrained from attending the movies, that the social evening of the Manzanita Club was not held, and that nearly all of Carmel's residents attended the services in Monterey.

Greek Comedy to be Main Offering This Summer

By JOHN NORTHERN HILLIARD
 The Forest Theatre Society has decided upon the presentation of the late W. S. Gilbert's mythological comedy, "Pygmalion and Galatea," as the main summer play this year. The comedy is one of the most successful of Gilbert's long list of original works. It was first done at the Haymarket Theatre, London, with the Kendalls in the title roles. Mary Anderson was the first to play Galatea in this country. The scene, as originally provided for, is a Greek interior, but for the purposes of the Forest Theatre the scene will be a Greek garden. Such a setting will provide ample scope for the scenic work of Arthur Vachell and Daniel W. Willard.

As already announced, the children's play will be Perry Newberry's arrangement of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland." It is a revival, having been produced at the Forest Theatre on July 5 and 6, 1912, with Katharine Croke in the part of Alice, Douglas Greeley as the White Rabbit, Charis Boke as the Caterpillar, Jeanette Hongland as the Duchess, Marian Boke as the Cook, Margaret Williams as the Doormouse, Alice MacDougal as the Queen of Hearts, John T. Gribner as the Gryphon, Perry Newberry as the Mock Turtle, Donald Hale as the Executioner, Herbert Hand as Humpty Dumpty, Garnet Holme and Arthur Vachell as Tweedledum and Tweedledee, Van Wyck Brooks as the Carpenter, Redfern Mason as the White Knight, and Philip Wilson as the Mad Hatter. Others in the cast were Lewis Lewis, Earl and Haskell Warren, Doctor Beck, Fay Murphy, Austin James, Elizabeth, Mildred and Ruth Willis, Phyllis Overstreet, Grace Wilson, Myrtle Arne, Constance Heron, Franklin Murphy, Kenneth Gould, Helen and Hilda Hilliard.

As many of the original cast have grown up, married or gone away, the cast for the revival will be almost wholly new.

The Spending of Your Hundred Million Dollars

Busiest Budget in All the World Is a Red Cross War Fund—Every Dollar Spent Alleviates Misery.

By WILL PAYNE

Last summer the public subscribed a hundred million dollars to the Red Cross. At the latest statement over eighty-five millions of it had been appropriated.

Where has it gone? you ask. For many months the world has been spending over a hundred million dollars a day for the destruction of life, limb and means of subsistence. Call up what you have read about the war's devastation. The American Red Cross' enormous job is to do whatever it can to alleviate that—not after the war, not after governments have deliberated and resolved; but right now, at the minute, on the spot. It's amazing that it has done so much with so little money.

Last autumn the Italian army fell back precipitately. On your war map that meant rubbing out one line and drawing another half an inch further south. Over there in Italy it meant thousands of poor families fleeing from their homes. Major Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner in Europe, rushed to the scene and wired: "Indescribably pathetic conditions exist, involving separation of mothers and children, cold, hunger, disease, death." In November and December the American Red Cross appropriated three million dollars for relief there—a large sum, yet small in comparison with the need.

Condensed Milk for Children.

Soldiers are only a part of the Red Cross work—probably the smallest part. Every instant, somewhere in the vast flood of destruction, a hand reaches up in appeal. It is pretty apt to be a child's hand or a woman's. When the Red Cross commission reached Petrograd it asked the government, "What is the most urgent thing?" The government replied: "We must get condensed milk for the little children here." The commission got the milk. At one spot in France farm work was stopped by lack of horses. That meant more hunger. The Red Cross got in a big tractor and set it to plowing for the community.

There are a million needs. Cold, wet and the deadly physical strain of the trenches undermine men's constitutions. A frightful scourge of tuberculosis has developed in France. The Red Cross has built sanatoria, provided over a thousand beds and nurses.

Thirty Millions for France.

I have here a big sheaf of sheets filled with figures. One item is thirteen million and odd dollars—the amount, which, up to that time, had gone to the local chapters of the Red Cross in the United States for local relief. Twenty-five per cent of the money subscribed through the chapters eventually goes that way.

Over thirty millions have been appropriated for work in France. Here is a million and a quarter—in round numbers—for military hospitals and dispensaries; over a million and a half for canteen service, where French and American soldiers, relieved from the trenches, can get good food, a hot bath, and have their clothes disinfected—and so go on for their brief holiday, clean, rested, nourished. There are over three millions for hospital supply service; half a million for rest-stations for American troops.

All of refugees—eleven thousand families—accounts for nearly three million dollars; care and prevention of tuberculosis takes over two millions; care of helpless children over a million; relief work in six devastated districts, including care of five thousand families and sufficient reconstruction to make houses habitable, requires over two millions.

Misery on an Unparalleled Scale.

These are all large items, but the Red Cross is grappling with human misery on an unparalleled scale—world-wide. The item for relief of the blind amounts to four hundred thousand dollars. The dispensary service sends supplies to more than thirty-four hundred hospitals. The Red Cross receives and distributes more than two hundred tons of supplies daily at Paris. For this distribution and its other work it requires a big transportation service of motors and trucks. This transportation service has cost a million and a half, and its operating expenses run to a million dollars.

Every dollar it spends means misery alleviated. Its work is building abroad for the United States the best good will in this world. It is building the best good will among ourselves. Whatever else the war may produce, we shall be proud of our Red Cross.

Local Drive Is On

The Hundred Million Red Cross Drive is on. The Carmel committee of men solicitors has been out for three days, and up to noon yesterday approximately $1500 had been collected.

Last Sunday's patriotic open-air rally at the Forest Theatre gave the drive an impetus, which has not yet been spent by a great deal.

This morning the ladies' committee starts on its visit to residences. Dig as deep as you can. Do not plan how little you can give, but how much. The boys "over there" are depending on you. They are willing to give their lives; all you are asked to give is money.

Carmel Has A Postmistress

After many weary weeks' watchful waiting, the query, "I wonder who'll get the Postoffice," may be answered.

Carmel's Mistress of the Post is to be Miss Stella L. Vincent.

The Civil Service Commission has certified to Postmaster-General Burleson the name of Miss Vincent, and he has sent a recommendation to the Senate requesting that Miss Vincent's nomination for the position be confirmed.

The appointment will meet with general approval here. Miss Vincent has served under two former Postmasters—Messrs. Slevin and Payne—and is therefore well qualified for her new responsibilities.

No announcement has been issued as to who will be the clerk under the Postmistress.

Our Dear Friends Are Gone

The tragic deaths of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Schweninger by the burning of their overturned automobile at the summit of Carmel Hill, last Friday evening, shocked profoundly the residents of this community.

There is none else in Carmel who owned the real affection of so many persons; none for whom all of us would have grieved so deeply. By the manner of their lives they earned not only the tribute of our present sorrow, but the higher tribute of our lasting mourning.

They resided here for fourteen years; and so they were a part of the old Carmel, the Carmel of a decade ago. Their memory will especially endure among those of us who knew the early days. They have remained a part of the village ever since. It will be hard to realize that they are no longer among us.

More than one who has tided over a period of hard times with their help, will think back on the whole-heartedness with which the kindness was done.

We all recall their loyalty to the community, shown without ostentation in every activity. We shall miss their faces in many a future gathering.

Sincere good will, kindness of heart and abiding loyalty were theirs; indeed, sometimes we almost came to take those attributes for granted on their part, just as there are times when we almost fail to realize the wonder of the beauty in the land about. But always, by those qualities, they held our love.

The news of their death was terrible; but witnessing the very grief which it brought, and so learning the love—as wide as the community—from which that grief was born, there must come to their sons, Ernest and George, a great pride.

Memorial Verses

By HERBERT HARRON

We bend our heads in solemn meditation
When men of highest fame
Pass out beyond the summits of a nation,
Leaving a kingly name.

Their storm-swept towers are built, their day completed,
Their work acclaimed and done
With hearts untouched we learn that death has greeted
The proud whose race is run . . .

But from our pine-clad village by the ocean
Two gentle souls have fled
Whose passing bears us deeper in emotion
Than hosts of mighty dead.

Their lives were true; their hands in loyal kindness
To all around were reached.
In good they proved their worth; in evil, blindness:
They lived as Christ had preached.

With sorrow-chastened thoughts our toil is blended,
And quiet weeping starts
Where holy things are nourished and defended,
Far down within our hearts.

But winds are soft; the birds are gaily singing,
And laughing waves at play;
The yellow clouds their airy flights are winging
Above the blue-robbed bay;

The sunset through the seaward pines is streaming
And lights a white-walled store . . .
Ah! can it be that we are only dreaming—
That all is as before?

No! never will their kindly faces meet us,
Cordial, alert and bright,
Nor once again their cheery voices greet us
At morning or at night.

But though the dark has gathered swift around them
And stilled each golden heart,
Yet they are not divided: Death has bound them—
Ah! nevermore to part;

And though their lives shall mix with ours no longer—
Though now their lips are dumb,
Yet from their love should all our souls be stronger,
Facing the days to come.
