THIS little work is intended to assist beginners in the Chinese spoken language. The request has often been made to me, to prepare a simple work in the form of a Vocabulary, as being a want felt by learners. The attempt is here made to supply this want, and to provide a manual which may be suitable for those, who wish to acquire the common phrases of conversation, without attempting to unravel the more subtle intricacies of the language.

In the first part of the work the standard Mandarin orthography has been used. It is found in a printed form in the Wu fang yuen yin 五方元音, a compact and useful native dictionary which may be advantageously consulted for the sounds of words. Farther on, (beginning at the 25th page) I have adopted the peculiarities of the Peking dialect,—which are given with great fulness in Sir Thomas Wade's recent and valuable works "The book of Experiments," and "Elementary Course."

In the Appendix will be found the laws of the Peking dialect in regard to tones which will be of assistance to those who may be perplexed by a multitude of seeming irregularities in that dialect. These are here reduced to a system of laws sixteen in number,

All who desire to become really good speakers in this language should study the tones. The knowledge of this peculiarity in Chinese words, lends great distinctness to what is said, and the dryness of the study is much more than compensated, by the pleasure found in being readily understood. The difficulty experienced in distinguishing and learning the tones is much less than is generally supposed.

The tones are marked in this work chiefly (from p. 1 to p. 52) according to the standard five-tone system, or that now prevailing at Nanking, and in the northern part of Kiang-su and Ngan-hwei. Such is the system adhered to in the native Mandarin dictionary mentioned above, and by Premare, Morrison, Medhurst, and other authors.

APPENDIX.

- I.—Tones of the Peking dialect.
 II.—Tones of the Nanking dialect.
 III.—Tones at Chefoo.

Alphabet and Tone Marks.

1. The five vowels i, e, a, o, u, when they are not followed by a final n or ng, have the Italian sound. They are the vowels contained in the words fee, fay, papa, foe, too.
2. The vowels i, e, when followed by n or ng, are pronounced as the vowels in e, fin, and fun. But after i and y, the vowel e is to be sounded as e in sent. A, o, u, when n and ng follow are unaffected by that circumstance.
3. The vowel i is heard like e, in middle, tassel, ancle.
4. The vowel ü is heard like u, in the French words tu une.
5. The vowel è is heard as the first e, in there or as ea in bear.
6. The mute and sibilant consonants k, t, p, f, s, sh, ch, are pronounced as in English. Though sometimes a little softened in northern dialects, so as to be heard like g, d, b, etc., this need not be noticed in expressing their proper orthography.
7. An inverted comma above the line follows the consonants k, t, p, ts, ch, when they are aspirated. In such case a strong guttural aspirate closely follows the sound of these consonants. Pronounce as the word Tahiti without the vowel a. This might be expressed by T'iti, according to the orthography now explained.
8. In the mandarin of the north and the west, the initials h and s coincide before i and ü. The sound formed by this union may be denominated a sibilant h, or an aspirated s, and the spelling hs has been proposed for it, but it will probably become sh in the course of years.
9. In the same dialects, ts and k coincide before the same vowels i and ü. The sound thus formed may be written k, ts, or ch. It is not plainly defined, and is constantly hovering between these various phonetic values. After a further period of change, it will probably determine itself finally in a distinct ch.
10. Every word is pronounced evenly, or with a rising or falling inflection of the voice, or with a double inflection. It may be pitched high or low, according to the usage of any particular dialect, and be enunciated quickly or slowly. All words in the language are arranged in four or five large groups, and one of these, tones or inflections is attached to each. Thus the great class to which each word belongs is known, by the intonation with which it is habitually pronounced.

11. The five tone classes are marked in the following manner :

TONE CLASS.	CHINESE NAMES.	EXAMPLES.
First tone.	上平 shang p'ing	烏 ,wu
Second tone.	上聲 shang sheng	五 'wu
Third tone.	上去聲 c'hü sheng	務 wu'
Fourth tone.	入聲 juh sheng	屋 wuh
Fifth tone.	下平 hia p'ing	無 .wu

* For Nanking mandarin, the fourth tone-class or juh sheng is marked with a final h. In the North, the words of this tone-class are distributed among the other tone classes, and the number of tones is then four.

Note to Revised Edition. In numbering the tone classes, the native system is followed, which in the tonic dictionaries, whether for the general language or for provincial dialects, makes Shang sheng the second tone, C'hü sheng the third, and Juh sheng the fourth; and so on the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth for the lower series where this exists.

In Sir T. Wade's works the Hia p'ing is called the second tone the Shang sheng the third, etc. This is an innovation.

To avoid practical inconveniences the learner is recommended to make use of the Chinese names, Shang p'ing, etc., and not of numbers.

When the Chinese began 1200 years since to mark tones, there were four in the language and they agreed to denote them by small circles at the four corners of a character. Thus 與 yü in p'ing sheng, 與 yü in Shang sheng, 與 yü in C'hü sheng, and 度 dok in Juh sheng.

This is the basis of the tone notation adopted in Dr Williams' dictionaries, and in the present work.

APPENDIX I.

Tones of the Peking dialect.

1. Words in the first tone class, 上平 shang p'ing, take the upper quick falling inflection; by the falling inflection being meant the tone of commands in English. But this becomes the upper even monotone in combination with another word following. If a word of this class stands last without the accent, it assumes the lower quick even monotone, as in 外邊 wai' ,pien, outside.

2. Words in the second tone class, 上聲 shang sheng, take the lower quick or slow rising inflection. The rising inflection is in English the tone of questions. When two words of this class are placed together, the former takes the upper quick rising inflection, as in 洗臉 'si 'lien, wash the face.

3. Words in the third tone class, 去聲 c'hü sheng, take the lower quick falling inflection, or the lower slow falling circumflex, which first falls and afterwards rises. When two words of this class are placed together, the last is pitched high, and becomes the upper quick falling inflection.

4. Words in the fifth class, 下平 hia p'ing, take the upper quick rising inflection, or occasionally the upper quick rising circumflex, which is a double inflection, first rising and then falling.

5. Words belonging primarily to the fourth tone class, 入聲 juh sheng, are, in the spoken dialect, distributed among the other tone-classes in the following manner:—

Old tone-class.	Initial letter.	Peking tone-class.
Upper juh sheng.	k, t, p, s. ts, ch, h, w, y.	Upper p'ing sheng, 上平
Lower juh sheng.	,k t, p, s. ts, ch, h.	Lower p'ing sheng, 下平
Lower juh sheng.	l, m, n. j, w, y.	C'hü sheng, 去聲

This is the general law, but the exceptions are very numerous, and they admit, for the most part, of reduction to a few subordinate laws, which here follow, numbered 6 to 9.

6. Many upper juh sheng words, principally substantives, with the initials k, t, etc., and accustomed to be pronounced alone, are heard in the second tone or shang sheng, * e. g. 血 'hie, blood; 百 'pai, a hundred; 鐵 'tie, iron; 尺 'chi, a foot; 北 'pei, north; 塔 'ta, a pagoda; 脚 'chiau, foot; 筆 'pi, pencil. Many words whose usual tone is the first, take 上聲 shang sheng for a special sense, as; 曲 k'uk, which is ,c'hü, crooked, but 'c'hü, a song.

7. Words taken from the book language, and not used to be pronounced singly, or not themselves thoroughly colloquial, prefer the third tone or 去聲 c'hü sheng; e. g. 特 t'e, purposely; 確 c'hiüe, true; 朔 so, new moon; 設 shè, to place; 客 k'e, a guest. When a word has the first tone for a common colloquial sense, as 摆 ko, to place, it often prefers 去聲 c'hü sheng for another sense it may bear in combination, as 躁 摆 ,tan ko', to remain anywhere for sometime.

8. Certain syllables, usually with sibilant initials, have a preference for the fifth tone, or 下平 hia p'ing; e. g. chu, chi, ch'i, fu, ko, tse, te, 福 fu, happiness; 得 te, to obtain, etc.

9. The reading tone of many juh sheng words which obey the preceding laws, is 去聲 c'hü sheng; and this is especially true of those that are colloquially attached to the first and fifth tone classes; all such, when used in poetry, are read with the intonation of c'hü sheng. In poetry, juh sheng words are all transferred to c'hü sheng, except a few found in shang sheng.

10. Words arrange themselves in groups of two, three and four, regulated by accent. The accent falls usually on the last word in a combination of two; on the second and fourth in a combination of four; and on the first and last in a combination of three. But when, as often occurs, two sounds are so closely combined as to become one dissyllabic word, the accent is on the first; e.g. 甚麼 .shen ,mo, what? 我們 'wo ,men, we.

11. When the accent is on the first of two sounds forming a dissyllabic word, or the one is significant and the other enclitic, the last loses its proper tone, and assumes that of 上平 shang p'ing, the first tone class. This is the reason that the proper tone of the following, among many more common words, viz; 着 .cho, .chau, it is so; 兒 .er, son; 門 .men, door; 頭 .t'eu, head; 麼 'mo, interrogative particle, 呢 .ni, interrogative particle, 子 'tsi, son; 情 .t'sing, thing, 咯 lo', final particle; 爹 .ye, father; 來 .lai, come; 老 'lau, old; 個 ko', a particle, is in the Peking dialect habitually exchanged for 上平 shang p'ing, in certain familiar combinations; e. g.

留着 .lieu ,cho, leave it there.

衙門 .ya ,men, mandarin office.

裏頭 .li ,t'eu, within.

甚麼 .shen ,mo, what.

老子 .lau ,tsi, father.

事情 shi' ,t'sing, thing.

老爺 'lau ,ye, aged sir; a common title of address to mandarins.

回來 .hwei ,lai, come back.

你老 'ni ,lau, you my old friend.

這個 che' ,ko, this.

12. The initials k, t, p, ch, and ts, are always aspirated in the fifth tone-class, except when the words to which they belong are derived from 入聲 juh sheng.

13. The presence of the initials l, m, n, r, j, in the first tone-class, is limited to words which are exclusively colloquial, or affected in tone by the particular position of the accent, as explained in law 12.

14. The suffix 兒 .er, attached to substantives and other words very extensively in the north, is frequently absorbed into the word to which it is attached. The final letters n, ng, and the vowels are then exchanged for r, while the tone of the word is kept and that of suffix is lost.

Normal form.	Colloquial form.	Observations.
人兒 .jen ,er	.jer	e as in French le .
錢兒 .t'sien ,er	.t'sier	e as in mercy .
餅兒 'ping ,er	'pier	e as in mercy .
天兒 ,t'ien ,er	,tier	e as in mercy .
絲兒 ,si ,er	,ser	e as in French le .
塊兒 k'wai' ,er	k'wair'	----
鷄子兒 ,chi 'tsi ,er	,chi 'ts'er	e as in French le .
板兒 'pan ,er	'par	a as in art .
風兒 ,feng ,er (or ,fung)	,foer	e as in mercy as for .

15. The words 一 i, one and 不 pu, not, vary their tone according to their position in the collocation of words to which they belong. Before a word in 去聲 c'hü sheng they prefer hia p'ing. Before shang p'ing, shang sheng, or hia p'ing, they take the c'hü sheng intonation, and when standing last they are heard in the first tone, e. g. 不是 .pu shi', it is not so; 不來 pu'.lai, he did not come; 初一 ,chu ,i, the first day of the month.

16. When the suffix 兒 .er, is absorbed into the second of a repeated word, the word takes with 兒 .er, the shang p'ing tone. This is true whether the repeated word be in c'hü sheng, shang sheng, or hia p'ing sheng; e. g. 慢慢兒的 man' ,mar ,ti.

Observations.

These laws serve for Tientsin as well as Peking, except that the first tone-class receives the lower slow even tone, and the third or c'hü sheng, the upper quick falling inflection.

In the distribution of the juh sheng words among the other tone-classes, there is little difference between the usage of Peking and Tientsin.

The student is recommended to verify these sixteen laws, with the aid of a native and Sir T. Wade's very useful Peking syllabary. The tones there assigned to juh sheng words will be found to be, in many instances, irregular and uncertain. Thus, 極, 夕, 習, chi, si, si, belonging to 下入 hia juh, should be in 下平 hia p'ing, by law 5. But they are placed in the syllabary under 上平 shang p'ing. A Pekinese whom I consulted transferred them at once to 下平 hia p'ing. In such cases, the difference of authorities indicates that a transition is taking place, and the law of change tells us which sound will ultimately prevail.

I am happy here to take the opportunity of referring to assistance which I derived from suggestion by Mr. William Stronach and Rev. C. Goodrich in regard to some of the preceding laws.

II

Tones of the Nanking dialect.

1. Words in the first tone class take for their distinctive intonation, the lower slow monotone, or sometimes the lower slow falling inflection, which consists of a slide of the voice downwards.

2. Words in the second tone class, 上聲 shang sheng, take the lower slow rising inflection, or to express the thing differently, in enunciating them the voice slides upwards.

3. Words in the class known as 去聲 c'hü sheng, take the quick falling inflection.

4. Words in the fourth class, or 入聲 juh sheng, are short in time.

5. Words in the fifth class, or 下平 hia p'ing take the upper quick rising inflection.

III

Tones at Chefoo (Fuh-shan hien) (Yen-t'ai.)

1. Words in 上平 shang p'ing, the first tone, take the lower slow rising inflection.

2. Words in the second tone-class, 上聲 shang sheng, take the upper quick rising inflection.

3. The third class, 去聲 c'hü sheng, takes the upper quick falling inflection.

4. The class called 下平 hia p'ing, takes for its intonation the lower quick falling inflection.

5. Words of the fourth class, or juh sheng, are distributed principally among the second and fifth classes; those of the upper division, or 上入 shang juh, preferring shang sheng, while such as are in the lower division, 下入 hia juh, are usually found in 下平 hia p'ing.
