MR. AND MRS. HARRY HALL HOME FROM JOURNEY OF FIVE MONTHS THROUGH EAST AND IN EUROPE

Tell of Varied Experiences on Trip; Find Paris Gay and Full of Idle Men; Visit Italy and Germany; Present at the Passion Play

An ideal pleasure trip of five months in the eastern part of the United States and abroad has just been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hall, who arrived at their home at 319 North Maryland avenue Tuesday night. Mr. Hall is prominent in Glendale business circles as a member of the firm of Tanner & Hall, Buick automobile dealers, of 237 South Brand boulevard, and his business associates and many friends are taking pleasure in welcoming him and Mrs. Hall home and hearing accounts of their ideal vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall left Glendale April 19 and spent a month in Illinois, Indiana and eastern cities before sailing. They visited relatives and friends in Illinois and Indiana and went on east for a week in Washington and another week in New York City.

They sailed from New York on May 20, and it was their interesting experience to secure passage on the Majestic, a White Star liner, and the biggest liner in the world. The Majestic has a capacity for 3000 passengers and requires a crew of 1000 men. It was under construction by the Germans during the war and was to be named the Bismarck, but after the Armistice it was turned over to England as part of the spoils of war and was renamed the Majestic.

Makes Record Trip

A splendid voyage across the Atlantic is reported by the Halls, their boat making a record trip of five and one-half days. They landed in Cherbourg, France, and from there they went immediately to Paris. "We found Paris just as gay as reported," says Mr. Hall.

"One thing that impressed us was the sight of many idle men about the streets. They were apparently in good health but more content to sit about the cafes and drink than to work."

"We saw very few war veterans except in the Louvre and other public places where disfigured soldiers have positions as guards."

"We were in Paris ten days and took several side trips. The only battlefield we visited was Verdun and that country is almost all rebuilt. The reconstruction work is being done by the government and the houses are of the regulation French type, similar to the new ones with tile roofing. In the

COMMITTEE MAKES COMPLETE PLANS FOR TAG DAY

Whole City to Have Chance to Do Its Part in Big Drive for Rail Fund

Details in regard to the tag day, which will be held Saturday to raise funds to assure street car service on South Glendale avenue, were discussed last night in the lobby of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the tag day committee.

Dr. Jessie Russell of 208 South Brand boulevard, who presided, announced that 1500 tags at $1 have been ordered. She stated that tags would be ready for the workers at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Laura Brown, president of the Business Women's club, asserted that representatives of this organization would meet all incoming cars to tag passengers.

Among those present at the meeting were: Mrs. H. E. MacMullin, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. L. E. Rowley, Mrs. W. C. Mabry, Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. Clara E. Hewen and Mrs. Mabel L. Tigh.

C. W. INGLEDUE IS OUT OF BUSINESS

Disposes of His Butcher Shop; Will Devote Time to Property Interests

The retirement of one of Glendale's first business men is contained in the announcement that C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue has disposed of the butcher shop at 632 East Broadway known as the Glendale Market.

This establishment has been purchased by Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway, A. L. Baird of 130 South Brand and Richard Roberts of 410 West Maple street.

Mr. Ingledue came to California for his health from Lima county, Ohio, slightly more than sixteen years ago. After spending fifteen months in Bakersfield, he came to Glendale where he has remained ever since. He has been active in the affairs of the First Methodist church and a generous supporter of the local Y. M. C. A. work. Owing to his interest in civic affairs, he is now president of the Glendale Advancement association.

Mr. Ingledue expects to devote his time to civic enterprises and to the management of local property owned by himself.

SCOUT TROOP TO MEET AT SCHOOL

Big Rally Is Planned for Tomorrow Night, Word to Troop No. 3

Boy Scout troop No. 3 of Glendale will hold a rally tomorrow night at Central Avenue school, it is announced.

Recently the Chamber of Commerce announced its intention of sponsoring the troop. The big task was to select a new scoutmaster, but, according to reports, this has already been done, and he will attend the affair tomorrow night and speak to the scouts. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock and all of those who have been connected with the troop in the past have been invited to attend.

The school board recently gave the scouts a room to meet in, and a live troop committee has "adopted" the troop.

The new committee will be on the job tomorrow night. It is announced, and it is rumored that a real treat of moving pictures will be given to the boys. The four scouts who represented the Verdugo Hills district at the Older Scouts' conference will tell of their experiences.

Mrs. Ruth A. Trout Weds Hugh S. Berry

Rev. Clifford A. Cole officiated at a noon ceremony yesterday, Wednesday, September 27, 1922, in the wedding room of the Central Christian church, where Mrs. Ruth Abigail Trout of Glendale became the bride of Hugh S. Berry of Pasadena.

Evans, vice chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, requests the Glendale Evening News to again call attention to the fact that all Republicans of Glendale and vicinity are earnestly requested to be present at a meeting to be held tonight in the Glendale Union High school for the purpose of forming a Glendale Republican club.

The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock and Mr. Evans urges that all who believe in the Republican party be present and participate in the organization of the club.

The club, it is announced, will support the entire Republican ticket, from Friend W. Richardson, candidate for governor, and Hiram Johnson, candidate for United States senator, to the lowest office.

There will be about thirty chapters of Southern California represented at this meeting. The meeting on Monday, October 2, will begin with a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 100 South Raymond avenue. For the second day the invitation of the city manager of Alhambra has been accepted to have a noon meeting and luncheon at the Alhambra plume, where there will also later be given a demonstration of life-saving work.

Those from Glendale who have planned to attend the conference includes Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, L. T. Rowley, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. Archie Parker, Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. P. A. Wells. Others desiring to attend have been asked to communicate with either Mrs. Bartlett or Mrs. White.

FORMING SOCCER TEAMS FOR YEAR

Arrivals of New Balls Starting Something at Wilson Intermediate School

The arrival of the new soccer balls at Wilson Avenue Intermediate school introduced a wave of "soccer-itis" among the boy fans of the school. The class teams are already in process of formation.

Jack Booker, whose playing last fall won so much praise, will captain the A 8-II class. The seventh grade schedule will be in line before another week.

The A 7-III class have lined up their team and elected Frank Galbraith as captain. Fred Springer of the A 7-II class, "Bud" Copeland, Harry Clark and Russell Lavelle of the A 8 class are also looked on as coming stars and possible material for the school team.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jencks Back From Stanford University Meeting

Accounts of the recent League of Municipalities meeting held last week at Leland Stanford university, Palo Alto, are being given by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jencks of 409 North Maryland, who attended all the sessions of the league before which Mr. Jencks exhibited his concrete sewer invention.

The first address of the gathering was given by Dr. Lyman Wilbur, president of the University, on "Public Health." Extensive programs of city management and planning were given and the delegates give opportunity to visit all departments of the university.

From Palo Alto the Jencks motored on to Berkeley and Oakland and returned home by the Ridge route.

CONFERENCE SETTLES STRIKE NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — The strike of shermen on the Erie railroad was settled at a conference held in Youngstown, Ohio, yesterday, according to an announcement made at the offices of the Erie today.

CITIES OPPOSED TO GIVING CONTROL TO R. R. BOARD

Communities Favor Retaining Power Over Franchises in Corporate Limits

Opposition to the proposal to give the state railway commission control of franchises within corporate limits of municipalities was voted recently in Los Angeles at a conference of representatives of a number of communities in Los Angeles county.

Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman Sam Davis represented Glendale in this conference. Ralph L. Criswell, president of the city council, represented Mayor Francis Cryer, who is now en route home from Honolulu.

Other mayors who attended the meeting were: W. D. Ball, Ontario; P. Dabson, South Pasadena; S. C. Evans, Riverside; William Stark, Anaheim; Thomas R. Ovington, Pomona; S. H. Spafford, Inglewood; W. F. Coulter, Fullerton, and F. G. Mitchell, Santa Ana.

"We are opposed to said amendment," states the official resolution approved on this occasion. "And feel that the various city governments can as well, if not better, run their own affairs than to continue to follow the policy advocated by some to turn over so many of our municipal affairs to the state railroad commission which already has enough to do. We believe that city councils and boards of supervisors should be encouraged rather than discouraged to take a prominent part in the government of their communities."

SHRINE CLUB HAS BIG SOCIAL AFFAIR

Dinner-Dance Last Night Proves Complete Success in Every Detail

The Shrine Club dinner-dance held last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium was attended by 150 nobles of the local organization and their ladies and proved a most delightful event.

E. P. Heiser, president of the Glendale Shrine club, turned the entire charge of arrangements for this big social event over to a very efficient committee, which included Arthur Campbell, chairman; A. M. Kelly, C. E. Jones, W. E. Pursell and A. W. Reynolds, who were assisted by Mrs. Pursell.

The Shrine colors of red and yellow were carried out in the floral decorations at the dinner tables, as well as throughout the entire hall. A delicious dinner was served to the nobles and their ladies at 7:30 o'clock. Music for dancing was furnished by the Shrine club orchestra, the members of which are A. M. Kelly, violin; M. Kaufman, piano; C. Donaldson, clarinet; H. Frazer, drums; E. Lloyd, saxophone, and Roy Hill, banjo. Various impromptu stunts given by the members of the club added to the evening's fun.

A great deal of amusement was provided by the surprise number which followed one of the dances. After the orchestra had played an encore to "Three o'clock in the Morning" waltz, the lights were dimmed and "Dirty" Moore entered and gave a parody on this popular piece.

FOUNDATION HERE FOR EMPIRE, SO SPEAKER SAYS

Lon Haddock Declares Even Greater Development Will Occur in Southland

"We are beginning the foundation for an empire here, such as the world has never known," exclaimed Lon Haddock in an enthusiastic speech yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, before the members of the Glendale Exchange club.

"We are standing on the frontier of America," continued Mr. Haddock. "There is no more west. We are the west. We are the port of entry for the Orient."

According to Mr. Haddock, the development which has taken place in California because of the influx of eastern tourists, will be nothing compared to the development which will take place as soon as China is fully awake and demands United States merchandise.

"This whole country has growing pains," asserted Mr. Haddock. "The average man hasn't any realization of the resources that are being called for on the part of the men who are responsible to a large extent for the activities going on around here. The average man coming here for the first time and seeing the development that is going on is bewildered. The first thing he asks is: Can it keep up? They have been asking the same question for the past fifteen years."

"The eyes of the world are being centered on this wonderful country. People are getting over the idea that climate is all there is in California."

"Five hundred and thirty-five factories came to Los Angeles to locate last year, according to Mr. Haddock. He called attention to the significance of this fact and gave his opinion that ideal working conditions in an even climate have much to do with it.

"There isn't a country the whole world around where a man feels better the whole year than he does here," remarked Mr. Haddock.

The speech was received with applause by the members of the club, and Mr. Haddock was thanked for making it by G. C. McConnell, vice-president of the club, who presided.

DRY LEADERS HAPPY OVER RESULT IN NEW JERSEY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The big vote rolled up by Senator Frelinghuysen in Tuesday's primaries in New Jersey caused prohibition leaders in the national capital to wear broad grins of satisfaction today. Even spokesmen for the anti-prohibition forces admitted the Frelinghuysen victory was a hard job for the beer and light wine movement, although they declared that the real fight over the wet and dry issue in New Jersey would not come until November, when Governor Edwards will seek election to the senate as a Democratic candidate who once promised to make the state as moist as the Atlantic ocean.

CLASH IN NEAR EAST IS NOW AVERTED, IS BELIEF

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander, acting upon instructions from London, has adopted a more conciliatory attitude towards the Turkish nationalists and the indications today were that a clash in the near east would be averted. General Harrington has sent a note to Mustapha Kemal suggesting a conference and extending the time in which the Turks are to evacuate the neutral zone. The British commander told the press that he would not attack unless the Turks made some overt war move against the British. Up to the present time the Turks have contented themselves in occupying towns in the neutral zone where there are no British troops. They have not undertaken any offensive action against the British soldiers.

Sanna, made a search of the tool box and discovered it had been opened. Inside the tool box they found a gunny sack containing the sixteen sticks of dynamite, one of which had a cap and fuse attached. The cap had been placed in when on coming in contact with the explosive inside would set off the dynamite.

FEAR MASSACRE IN THRACE RESULT REVOLUTION

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Fears began to pervade official circles today that massacres will break out in Thrace as a result of the Greek revolution. If violence breaks loose in that section of Europe the Turkish nationalists may invade Thrace, claiming "the right to restore order." The French foreign office has received dispatches confirming reports that the revolutionists have occupied Athens. The revolution was bloodless. So far as known not a life has been lost. Constantine has issued a proclamation at Athens urging his followers not to resist and announcing Crown Prince George as his choice for his successor. Supporters of former Premier Venizelos are forming a cabinet. Constantine is expected to leave Athens and Venizelos to return to the Greek capital from France within the next few days. General Tassotos, commander of the Athens garrison, has been deposed. He is reported to have been arrested. Detachments of the garrison that had been sent into the suburbs to arrest the leaders of the approaching rebels joined the revolution. Leaders of the rebels have posted manifestoes throughout Athens warning against disorders.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Glendalians Optimistic Western Industry Active California First Again Science Centering Here

By Gil A. Cowan

BUSINESS is good and getting better in Glendale! That is the consensus of opinion among merchants, professional men and real estate dealers.

The other afternoon I chatted with a physician and surgeon. He boasted about his practice. He told how busy the others were, too.

Tuesday I talked with twenty merchants and only two saw the sad side of life, but the others were optimistic. They discounted what the minority said.

And yesterday two realtors confided with me that they had cashed in on commissions totaling approximately $2000 each this week. And they confessed that others were putting over some mighty good deals, for which they were equally glad.

All of which should instill confidence in the Glendale citizen to go ahead with their boosting and building.

Marked activity in industry on the coast is noted in the report of John Perrin, federal reserve agent who says in his current report: "Demand has increased for both skilled and unskilled labor, particularly farm workers, experienced copper miners, and skilled building trades artisans, a shortage of one or more of these classes of workmen having developed in a few sections. In one of the copper mining districts of Arizona, mining companies have recently announced a voluntary increase of 10 per cent in wages.

"The lumber industry is 50 per cent more active than it was a year ago, and both domestic and foreign markets are buying in large quantities. Production of logs on September 1 was estimated to be 75 per cent of normal compared with 40 per cent on August 1."

That, too, looks well in print.

Aha, California has two more "first honors" heaped upon it, according to reports from Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodell, at Los Angeles. In the number of riding academies and shooting galleries this state leads all others. In the matter of cabarets and roof gardens, California is second only to New York.

"Such figures as these, developing almost daily, indicate, clearly, which way the wind is blowing," comments the collector.

Did you read in yesterday's Evening News what Captain Richmond P. Hobson had to say to the Chamber of Commerce about Glendale becoming the center of the scientific world?

Well, he wasn't far wrong, for Glendale and vicinity already boasts several leading scientists among its population and the young person residing here has access to the best of scientific education.

Proof of this is found in the following summary:

The leading laboratory, specializing in glandular therapeutics, is located here; the great supply of ether gas for the western world is manufactured in Glendale; here, too, agar-agar is produced by a great factory; surgical thread is made in Burbank; one of the leading mental specialists has his offices in this city; the greatest sanitarium in America, excepting Battle Creek, is to be built here within the next year; the world's foremost authority on topography has his headquarters in Glendale, and that is not all, but enough for proof.

As for scientific educational facilities, the California Institute of Technology and Mt. Wilson observatory are but a few miles to the east of Glendale; the University of Southern California to the south in Los Angeles and the Southern Branch, University of Southern California to the west in Hollywood.

Here is the ideal residential spot for the seeker of scientific education. The same is true of those seeking the artistic career while the business man already has found Glendale to be the ideal suburb because of its accessibility.

EAGLE ROCK CITY CLEANS UP RUBBISH RULE

Sets Routes for Collection of Garbage; Tin Cans Get Different Territory

City Clerk Ben B. Martsoff of Eagle Rock has authorized the following statement in regard to collection for garbage and rubbish that is to be undertaken by the City Rubbish company, of Glendale, who were awarded the contract for garbage and rubbish collection in Eagle Rock at the meeting of the Board of Trustees last Monday night.

Routes for garbage collection are three in number and are designated as "west," "central" and "eastern."

Collection of garbage on the west route will be on Mondays and Thursdays. This route covers all that portion of the city lying west of Central avenue, and including the west side of Central avenue.

On Central Route

Collection on the central route will be on Tuesdays and Fridays, and this route covers all that portion of the city lying between Central avenue and Virginia avenue, including the west side of both Central and Virginia avenues.

Collections on the eastern route will take place on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and this route covers all that portion of the city lying east and including the east side of Virginia avenue.

Collecting Tin Cans

Then there is what is known as the "tin can" route, which means as its name implies, the collection of tin cans. The city of Eagle Rock is divided into two sections, with Glen Eyrie avenue as the line of division, and all that portion of the city lying west of Glen Eyrie will have the cans collected on Wednesdays, and all that portion of the city east of Glen Eyrie on Mondays.

All garbage and waste matter must be placed on curbing or alley line not later than 5 o'clock in the morning on the day of collection.

What Garbage Means

The word garbage shall mean and include all animal or vegetable refuse from kitchens; all household waste that shall have been prepared for or intended to be used as food, or shall have resulted from the preparation of food; all table refuse and offal and every accumulation of animal and vegetable matter that attends the preparation, consumption, decay, dealing in or usage of meats, fish, fowl, fruits and vegetables.

Dead animals weighing more than ten pounds, dish water and waste water are not included in the meaning of the term garbage, according to the definition of the act as set forth by the garbage company.

RANDALL AGAIN CHALLENGES LINEBERGER TO DEBATE

Political Advertisement

Following Congressman Lineberger's refusal to debate the issues of the campaign with Charles H. Randall, both being candidates for Congress in the Ninth District, Mr. Randall has issued a second invitation to Lineberger to appear publicly throughout the district. In his new defi Randall says:

"You decline my respectful suggestion that we appear before the voters of the Ninth District in joint discussion on the ground that your official duties require your attention, and furthermore, you think no criticism of your official record is possible anyway.

"In reply I would say it is well known that you have been absent from Washington since about August 1st and that you were not on hand to represent this district when measures of great importance were being considered and voted upon, namely the bonus and tariff bills, in which you profess great concern. If you have time to campaign here while Congress is in session, why can you not find time now that Congress has adjourned?

"Secondly, my invitation to you, couched in most polite language, suggested that the citizens of the Ninth District are entitled to see their candidates and hear their defense of the principles for which they stand. How can you object to such a program?

"If you think I am in harmony with all your voting record, I will quickly disabuse you when the debates open.

"I do not agree with your adverse vote upon the proposals to rehabilitate the agricultural interests of the country through loans made by the War Finance Corporation, and I cannot understand your silent vote when an appropriation of $500,000,000 in the form of an unsecured loan to the railroads was proposed.

"I do not agree with your affirmative vote to destroy the seaman's law by which sailors on vessels under the American flag are protected—you voted to destroy the safety provisions of that law.

"I do most emphatically condemn your vote to whitewash Attorney General Daugherty upon his failure and refusal to prosecute war grafters. You did this in spite of the fact that the Republican Rules Committee reported favorably on the investigation, and notwithstanding, comrades of yours in the great war implored Congress to probe this crime against the heroes of that struggle, you voted with the "Old Guard" to smother and strangle the investigation. Mr. Daugherty is under impeachment charges by Congress and is universally condemned by the people of this country. How do you defend your vote?

"I do not agree with your vote for a tariff bill which commits grand larceny upon the American consumer, and which, according to leading Republican newspapers, will increase the cost of living by billions of dollars during the next year.

"I do not think the people of the Ninth District look with approval upon your alignment with the reactionary element of your party, and I think they will more likely vote for one of progressive tendencies.

"These are things which I do not like to say on the stump except in your presence where you may defend yourself. I invite you to reconsider your determination not to meet me before the people.

"Very cordially,
"CHARLES H. RANDALL."

BUILDING PERMIT RECORD GROWING

Total for Present Month at Eagle Rock May Reach Hundred Thousand

It is going to take just $1500 more to have the Eagle Rock building permits reach the $100,000 mark for September, but as there are several days more to go, there is little doubt but what this figure will be reached.

The August permits amounted to $123,545.

Wednesday was a fairly good day in the Eagle Rock building department of the city hall, however.

There were nine building permits issued Wednesday that totaled $19,270. The Los Angeles Security company topped the list with an application for a $6000 house at 227 North Virginia, and the permit calling for the lowest figure was issued to H. A. Miller to build a one-room garage at 239 North Hartwick avenue, at cost $120.

There were six dwellings, two additions, and one garage on the list.

UNITED THEATRE OPEN OCTOBER 15

Builders Promise to Have Structure Completed in Near Future

"If promises made to us by the builders are worth anything, and we have no reason to believe to the contrary, the new United theater in Eagle Rock will be open to movie fans by October 15th, according to J. J. May, a member of the operating committee of the United theaters, who visited Eagle Rock Wednesday afternoon to inspect the beautiful new Eagle Rock theater that is now nearing completion.

Mr. May was accompanied by E. A. Hanger, also a member of this large theatrical organization that owns and operates moving picture theaters in Anaheim, Catalina Island, Alhambra and Los Angeles.

Asked as to the class of pictures to be shown in the new theater, they stated that "Pictures of the highest class, absolutely regardless of price, were to be shown."

Empowered to Get Old Income Taxes

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodell was instructed yesterday by the treasury department that he may proceed to collect old income tax bills by distraint property, even though the distraint warrant is issued after the five-year period of limitation provided in the revenue act of 1921 has expired, if the taxes in question were placed on the assessment roll prior to the termination of the five-year limit.

The ruling is based on the return of a big corporation which was filed on February 27, 1917. Notice and demand for additional income taxes due for 1916 was mailed by the collector on March 2, 1922. Second notice was mailed on March 10, 1922 and the collector notified the corporation that if the taxes were not paid he would distraint its property.

Under section 250 of the revenue act of 1921 taxes for years prior to 1921 must be assessed within five years after the return was filed, and no suit or proceeding for the collection of the tax can be made after the expiration of five years.

The corporation contended that neither of these requirements of the statute had been met and demanded that the treasury department instruct the collector to refrain from seizing its property.

The department holds that section 250 refers only to judicial proceedings and not to summary proceedings by means of distraint

Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this arch-fiend, commonly called "nerve inflammation." The first warning is usually a sharp, stabbing pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which often end in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pain, what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or pain killers. Tylenol over the part that hurts, and in a few minutes the pain will be gone. Tylenol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

Don't suffer any longer. Price $1 at Roberts & Echols, Tylenol Co., Mfg. Chemists, 400 S. Market Street, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Wise Investors in Glendale

Bought Brand Blvd. and Broadway frontage the moment they realized that Glendale was the fastest growing city of its size in the world.

These far-sighted folks all made money. The continued rapid growth of Glendale has made further expansion necessary.

In any new subdivision of sufficient size where proper zoning and restrictions are enforced, the property set aside for business offers wonderful investment possibilities.

Sparr Heights offers these ideal conditions and the "wise ones" are buying business and residence lots.

The magnitude of Sparr Heights (1500 acres), its beautiful restricted residential districts, its zoned business area, its boulevard system, planned to serve valley and mountain; its proposed marvelous 18-hole golf course and club house; the grandeur of the natural surroundings; the elevation, all combine in making Sparr Heights THE place to invest.

Last night's scheduled boxing card which was to have been staged in Yeoman hall, 1500 South San Fernando road, was postponed until next Wednesday night, according to Carroll L. Hare and O. M. Clinton, manager and matchmaker, respectively, of boxing at the local organization of the Modern Woodmen of America.

The last minute postponement was made necessary when it was learned that three of the boxers who were to appear were unable to do any fighting. Arizona Wildcat, who was to have appeared in the main event against Young Stone of Glendale, was reported in a motorcycle accident late yesterday afternoon. Although the battler escaped with minor injuries, he was too badly shaken up for a fight last night.

Plan Weekly Events

Next week's fight card will be the first of a series of weekly bouts which are to be staged throughout the winter months, according to Mr. Hare. The spacious Yeoman hall is being remodeled especially for the fights and with the special ventilation facilities in the building it is expected that the various events will be patronized and supported by Glendale fight fans from start to finish. The main auditorium has been enlarged by the removal of a partition across the center of the room, so that a crowd of 500 people can now be taken care of with ease.

Ralph Meyers, local lightweight who has been making a record that compares favorably with that of his older brother, Johnny, will appear in next Wednesday night's main event in a bout with Joe McGill, fast Ingleswood 133-pounder. The remainder of the card will be announced within a few days.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Since the New York Yanks are notably an austere, moody lot, refusing to have anything to do with strange pitchers, their expected meeting with Jack Scott and Hugh McQuillan of the Giants' staff, during the world series has become the source of some speculation among students of baseball form. They have never been formally introduced to either and judging by their deportment in the past they are not the kind to become ungenerally familiar with strangers.

Scott and McQuillan are not the greatest pitchers in the world. Neither are some of the American league moundmen that befuddled the Yanks the first few times they appeared against the Huggins entry. We have in mind a young man by the name of Sterritt of the Detroit Tigers. He turned the club upside down the first time he faced the Yanks. He was

LIVE MEETING IS HELD BY LOCAL BALL FANS

Support Pledged by City Officials; Election Also Takes Place

As a result of a lively meeting last night of the Glendale Merchants' baseball team, Glendale merchants and city officials, new "pep" was injected into the team. Not that the boys have been doing so bad—far from it—but now they are going to do even better, it is announced.

About thirty local fans crowded the Sport Shop, offering suggestions and helping to make plans that will put Glendale on the baseball map and keep it there.

Ray Dosta was elected secretary-treasurer, while John A. Cobb is to continue to act in the capacity of manager. He is busy sending games and states that there will be some real contents before long. H. H. Griffin is the new captain of the team, and will urge the boys "on to victory" as they say.

City Manager W. H. Reeves, Mayor Spencer Robinson and Chief of Police J. D. Fraser were present at the meeting. Each made a short talk, promising the boys that the city, too, is interested in what they are doing.

City Will Help

They promised that the city would improve the local grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road in the near future, and would boost and be present at as many games as possible.

Died at Age of 103; Saw Many Changes

PHILIPPI, Va.—John Hewitt of Valley District, one of the oldest men in the state, is dead, having succumbed at his home at the advanced age of 103 year and nine days. His funeral was attended by the largest throng ever seen at a funeral in this district. John Hewitt was born in 1819—the year that Florida was purchased the same year Alabama came into the union and the year before Maine and Missouri became states.

nothing more than a good minor league. Fillette, another Tiger cub, enjoyed a sustained era of success against the Yanks in the early season. So did Pruett, of the Browns, first and last; while Oleason, another Tiger, and Jim Edwards, of the Indians, also subdued Ruth and the rest of them the first few times out.

A new pitcher, a new delivery, a new curve and sometimes mostly a new face has served to disconcert the temperamental instincts of our noble Yanks.

From present indications McGraw will start Neff and Jess Barnes in the first two games and counter with McQuillan or Scott in the third. If, by some eleventh hour hocus pocus, Neff and Barnes can be brought to the series in something near their speed of the 1921 games, in which they curve-balled the Yanks dizzy, the Giants' cause may be quite the forlorn one it appears at first blush.

Nehf will not, of necessity, have to be as strong as he was last year to win the first game. He is a curve ball left hander and often an ordinary pitcher of this type can make the Yanks do a lot of strange things. Ruth, for example, is hampered by left handers to some extent, Pipp altogether. Whitey Witt is another notable weakling against port-siders and Schang, forced to turn over to the opposite side of the plate, does not hit as well as right handed.

The World Over

By Franklin B. Morse
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Charlie Paddock arrested for speeding. In this case the judge did not award him a medal.

The Pacific Coast league is considering doing away with fines for players and resorting entirely to suspension by way of punishment. Proponents of the system claim that a few dollars doesn't hurt much, but the absence of players will hit the management of a club and force them to look better toward discipline of their players.

Ty Cobb is considered by many followers of baseball to be the best of them all when it comes to sizing up the capabilities of a bush player. When Cobb has picked on a man as being a promising player who will make good, his judgment has never gone awry. Can you think of any one who has failed to make good on a Cobb prophecy. Of course, Cobb boosted Jack Knight, who has slipped, but Knight had the misfortune to be physically injured, so this would hardly be a case in point.

AVERAGE PAY FOR MAJOR LEAGUERS NOT TOO HIGH

N. Y. COMMISSION REAL CHAMPION, THAT'S CERTAIN

Big Time Players Receive, As Class, Less Than $3000 Year, Claim

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—General opinion rates professional baseball as one of the best paying sports for athletes. Some mistaken notions, however, are spread regarding the big salaries paid to ball players, according to Ray J. Cannon, who is helping the players to form an organization. Cannon says that the average salary of the professional baseball player is $3000 a year.

One might have the opinion that most of the players were getting at least $5000 a year if the pelts of the club owners were taken at face value.

During the White Sox expose it was brought out how little Comiskey was paying his stars and Phil Douglas recently claimed that he was getting only $5500 before he was banished from the New York Giants.

Press Agent Stuff

Douglas was the best pitcher in the National league, and if his salary was the standard for the best players in the league, the players have good reasons to howl.

Cannon maintains that the club owners keep boasting about the salary paid to big stars and that they intentionally allow figures twice the amount of the real salary paid to the stars to be published and circulated.

It was generally believed that Babe Ruth was getting close to $100,000 a year from the Yanks, until Ban Johnson let the information slip out that he wasn't getting half that sum.

Salary disputes are not the only grievances behind the organization of the players' union. The men who are making the game good for immense profits to the club owners object to the form of the contract which doesn't give them a chance and they also kick against conditions which make them virtual slaves.

Specific instances are cited where good ball players have been transferred out of the major leagues to bolster up a minor league club in which the possessor of his contract had an interest. The change, of course, was accomplished by a decrease in salary.

Keeps Players Off

The players claim there are many good players now in the minor league who could get jobs on several clubs if a "working agreement" were not working. The case of Pete Kilduff is one of them. He was a star in the Brooklyn club but was sent to the minors and is causing him to stay there.

It is understood that all the regular players of the New York Giants have joined the proposed union; that twenty of the members of the Cincinnati Reds and a generous representation of all the other National League clubs are on the role.

The organization has not been so completed in the American League, because the organizers haven't had the opportunity to interview the American League players.

The names of all the players will be announced as soon as the organization is actually completed.

VERNON TEAM TOPS HEAP IN COAST LEAGUE RACE

Southern Squad One Full Game Ahead of Seals; Comment on Sports

After weeks of almost superhuman effort, in which the Vernon Tigers played the best ball that has ever been exhibited in the Pacific Coast league, Bill Essick and his trained hired hands yesterday succeeded in passing San Francisco by trimming Seattle for the second consecutive time while the Seals were being taught a pitching lesson by "Pinches" Kunz up in Sacramento. Vernon, with a percentage of .646, is now a full game ahead of the Bay City entry.

Yesterday's Vernon-Seattle encounter was almost a repetition of Tuesday's sizzling battle in which Wally Hood tied the score in the ninth with a home-run when the bases were loaded. With the score standing 4 to 1 against them at the beginning of the ninth yesterday the erratic Indians hopped on Wheeler Dell of no-hit fame and didn't stop until the tying tally had crossed the platter. Four safe hits were corralled in this almost disastrous round.

Vernon was equal to the occasion, however, and with the aid of clever base running by Chadbourne and a sacrifice fly by Ping Bodie were able to slip over the winning run. Dell went the entire route for the Tigers, allowing eight hits which were well scattered until the final round. The heavy burden for Seattle was borne, each being equally as unsuccessful, by Williams, Kelly and Sitter, the latter getting credit for losing the contest.

Outplayed—That's All

With both Rhyne and Kilduff, their crack keystone combination, back in the lineup after being out several days with bruised elbows, San Francisco had no excuse for losing yesterday's game with Colonel Charley Pick's Solone except for the fact that they were outplayed by the Seals. Ted safely until the sixth inning when Shea was chased to the showers on five hits and four runs. He was replaced by Hodze, who allowed another run in the eighth. Sacramento slammed out a total of thirteen hits while the San Francisco sluggers were polling but ten.

Loss Out in Ninth

The announcement that the Los Angeles baseball club is to instigate a thorough house-cleaning process on its present lineup before the beginning of next season did not seem to spur the Angels on to greater things yesterday. Killifer's crew being nosed out in the ninth inning by Salt Lake for the second consecutive time within as many days. Ole Grandal hurled for the Wrigley-ites, his slants being deflected by the Bees for thirteen safe smacks. The final score was 8 to 7, the tying and winning runs being scored in the last of the ninth after Los Angeles had put over what was apparently the winning tally in their half.

Yanks Have Chance to Cinch Pennant

The Yanks will have their opportunity of clinching the pennant when they meet the Red Sox in Boston in the first game of the New York team has played since last Sunday. A victory for the Yanks today or in any of the four games they have to play—three with the Red Sox and one with the Senators—will give them the right to meet the Giants in the world series.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M. E. & T. W. HANSEW
Copyright, 1920 by Doubleday, Page & Company

The judge leaned forward upon his folded elbows, pointing his pen in Borkins' direction.

"Then you say this man is part and parcel of the scheme, Mr. Cleek?" he queried.

"I do. And a very big part, too. But, let me qualify that statement by saying that if it hadn't been for Borkins' desire for revenge upon the man he served, this whole ghastly affair would probably never have been revealed. Wynne would have vanished in the ordinary way, as Collins vanished afterward, and the superstitious belief would have gone on until there was not one person left in the village of Fetchworth who would have dared to venture an investigation of the flames. Then the work at the factory would have continued, with a possibly curtailed payroll. No need for high-handed pirates armed with revolvers then. That was the end the arch-fiend was working for. The end that never came."

"Hm. And may I ask how you discovered all this, before going into the case of Borkins?" put in the judge.

Cleek bowed.

"Certainly," he returned. "That is the legal right. But I can vouch for my evidence, my lord. I received it, you see, at first-hand. This man Borkins engaged both the Dollops and myself as new hands for the factory. We therefore had every opportunity of looking into the matter personally."

"Gawdamercy! I never did!" ejaculated Borkins, at this juncture, his face the color of newly-baked bread. "You're a liar—that's what you are! I drorin' an innocent man into the beastly affair. I never engaged the likes of you!"

"Didn't you?" Cleek laughed soundlessly. "Look here. Remember Bill Jones, and his little pal Sammie Robinson, from Jamaica?" He writhed his features for a moment, slipped his hand into his pocket, and producing the black moustache that had been Dollops' envy and admiration, stuck it upon his upper lip, pulled out a check cap from the other pocket, drew that upon his head, and peered at Borkins under the peak of it. "What-o, matey!" he remarked in a harsh cockney voice.

"Merciful 'Eavens!" gasped out that worthy, covering his eyes with his hands, one more incredulous witness of Cleek's greatest gift. "Bill Jones it is. Gawd! Are you a devil?"

No, just an ordinary man, my dear friend. But you remember now, eh? Well, that doctor with the need of the moustache then. The clerk of the court, only too familiar with Cleek's disregard of legal formalities, frowned at this violation of dignity and rebuffed his mace to rap for order and possibly to reprimand Cleek for his theatrical conduct, but at that moment the detective pulled off the cap and moustache as though well pleased with his performance. Cleek turned once more to the judge.

"My lord," he said serenely, "you have seen the man Bill Jones, and the impersonator of Sammie Robinson is there," he pointed to Dollops. "Well, this man Borkins—or Piggott, as he calls himself when doing his 'private work'—engaged Dollops and me in place of two hands in the factory who had been given too much tongue-wagging, and in consequence had met with prompt punishment. God alone knows what it was! We worked there for something just under a fortnight. Dollops, with his usual knack for making friends in the right direction, chummed up to one of the men—whom I have already named—Jim Dobbs. He finally asked him to come and help with the loading of the boats, and gave him the chance of making a little overtime by simply keeping his mouth shut as to what went on. I managed to get on the job too, and even did it three times in the fortnight—and a jolly difficult task we found it. I don't mind saying. But I felt that evidence was necessary, and while in the employ of 'the master' we carried on many investigations. And still in his service I made this rough map of the varied turnings of the secret passage, and the places to which they led. You can get a better idea of the ground if you glance at it." He handed it up to the high desk, and paused a moment as the judge surveyed it through his spectacles. "The passage at Merriton Towers, and also at Withersby Hall—so conveniently placed near that particular part of the Pens, and therefore chosen by Prellier for his work—are both of ancient origin, dating back, I should say, to the time of the civil war.

"Whose idea it was to connect the two passages up I could not say or when Borkins got into the pay of Brellier and served false to a family that he had served for twenty years. But the fact remains. The two passages are linked up, and then continued at great labor in another direction to that field which lies off the Saltfleet Road and just at the back of the factory. And thus was made a convenient little sub-way for the carrying on of nefarious transactions of the kind which we have discovered."

"And how did you discover that Brellier was the 'Master' in question?" put in the judge at this juncture.

"He happened to come to the factory one day while we were at work upon our machines. Someone said, 'Crickie! 'Ere's the Master! Funny for 'im to be prowling 'round at this hour of the day, 'e ought to be at 'is 'ikie.' I could hardly contain myself when I saw who it was even though I had already discovered the passage to Withersby Hall. I had not yet realized that 'Jonathan Brent' and Brellier were one and the same, though I discovered that they were had to perfectly legitimate office in London in Leadenhall street. But when I saw him I knew. After that I wasted no time. Since then we have been getting safely away without giving any dues to the other men, and to put Scotland Yard upon their track. They're down there now, and have got every man of 'em I dare swear (and I hope they are keeping my friend Black Whiskers for me to deal with). That is the cause of my lateness at the hearing of the case. You can fully understand how impossible it was to be here any earlier."

The judge nodded. "Your statement against this man Borkins—"

"Is as strong a one as ever was made," said Cleek. "It was Borkins who—in a fit of malicious rage, no doubt—conceived the idea of interfering with his master's work to the extent of inventing the means to have Sir Nigel Merriton wrongly convicted of the murder of Dacre Wynne. You have seen the revolver, the peculiar make of which caused it to be the chief evidence in this gruesome tragedy. Here is the genuine one."

He drew the little thing from his pocket, and reaching up placed it in the judge's outstretched hand. That gentleman gave a gasp as he laid eyes upon it.

"Identical with this one, which belongs to the prisoner!" he said almost excitedly.

"Exactly. The same colonial French make, you see. This particular one belongs, by the way, to Miss Brellier."

"Miss Brellier!"

Something like a thrill ran through the crowded court room. In the silence that followed you could have heard a pin drop.

"That is correct. She will tell you that she always kept it in an unused drawer in her secretaire locked away with some papers. She had not looked at it for months, until the other day when she happened to examine one of those papers, and therefore went to the drawer and unlocked it. The revolver lying there drew her attention. Knowing that it was the same as the one owned by her fiancé, Sir Nigel Merriton, and figuring so largely in this case, she took it out and idly examined it. One of the bullets was missing! This rather aroused her curiosity, and when I questioned her afterward about it, when the inquest was over, and she had brought it forward and shown it to the coroner, who—quite naturally—after the explanation given by Mr. Brellier, gave it back to her as having no dealings with the case, she told me that she could not absolutely recollect her uncle telling her that he had killed the dog with it. A small thing but rather important."

"And you say that this man Borkins arranged this revolver so as to point to the prisoner's guilt Mr. Cleek?" asked the judge. (Continued Tomorrow)

ARC TRANSMITTERS

A direct current arc transmitter is constituted of three essential parts; namely, the source of energy, the arc converter and the oscillatory circuit.

For a source of supply a direct current giving a potential of from 200 to 1200 volts is utilized to provide energy for the arc transmitter, the required potential depending upon the size of the transmitter. This supply is obtained either from a motor generator, if outside electric power is available; if not, from a dynamo energized by some form of engine. Power is obtained in the ordinary way by means of field rheostat.

It has been demonstrated a d. c. arc contained in a hydrogenous atmosphere makes a most efficient generator of high frequency oscillatory currents. As used today by the Federal Telegraph company, the owners of the system, the arc converter consists of two electrodes between which the arc burns, one made of copper and the other of carbon. The electrodes are placed in a strong transverse magnetic field and the whole placed in a metallic chamber containing the hydrogen atmosphere. In order that the copper electrode and arc chamber will not be overheated by the arc, these parts are cooled by water system similar to that used for cooling gasoline engines.

The output of the arc is then delivered to the oscillatory circuit which consists of an inductance and a capacitance.

The antenna system itself consists of the inductance, and also a portion of the inductance; however, it is necessary to provide additional inductance, as the antenna does not contain a sufficient amount. The extra coil provided is termed the "antenna inductor."

As in other forms of radio, it is by changing this antenna inductance that the wave length radiated may be adjusted to the desired value.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

Should one detector "knock out," no signals are lost, as they are interchangeable almost instantaneously. A small stopping condenser is provided in the base.

COURT TEA SHOP OPENS SATURDAY

Mrs. A. W. Owers, Just Here from Canada, Arranges Comfortable Quarters

A tea shop, where the tired woman shopper may get a refreshing cup of this favorite beverage and also a light lunch or ice cream, is to be formally opened Saturday afternoon at Shop No. 6 of the Court Shops, 211 East Broadway, by Mrs. A. W. Owers. This exclusive tea room is to be called "The Court Tea Shop."

Mrs. Owers has been a resident of Glendale for three weeks, coming here from Saskatchewan, Canada, and resides in the Brandale apartments, at 716 South Brand boulevard.

Grass tables and chairs are being placed and a general color scheme of gray and rose will be carried out in the decorations. When completed, this new shop will be very cozy and convenient for the women of Glendale, it is predicted.

The tea room is at the end of the court, just far enough away from the busy thoroughfare to be restful and yet of easy access. The interior walls are finished in a pearl gray and gray-stained woodwork. Rose hangings, fern boxes and dainty dishes carrying out the rose color scheme, as well as cut glass pieces, will add to the attractiveness of this new shop.

Although this is Mrs. Owers' first business venture of this kind, she is confident of its success. At the opening Saturday afternoon special music will be provided for the entertainment of visitors.

'MASQUERADER' IS RECORD BREAKER

"The Masquerader," the First National attraction which is the current feature at the T. D. and L. theatre, comes to the screen from the stage with a record that has probably never been equaled. For more than three years it has served as a vehicle for Guy Bates Post, following a stupendous run in the big cities, with a prolonged tour that covered every part of America, Canada and Australia.

The screen version comes to materialization with every augury of success, for it combines the same qualifications that were responsible for the triumphs given it on the stage. Richard Walton Tully, who produced the stage play, is also responsible for the cinema production, the picture marking his debut in the motion picture field. Guy Bates Post resumed his accustomed roles of John Chilote and John Loder. James Young directed the picture which had the discerning hand of Wilfred Buckland as art director in the arrangement of scenes and appointments.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MOSSY BED

When Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy came down stairs in the hollow stump bungalow one morning, Uncle Wiggily looked at his muskrat lady housekeeper once. Then he looked at her twice.

"What is the matter, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "You don't look very happy. If you have a headache and can't get my breakfast I can get it myself."

"Oh, it isn't that," said Nurse Jane with a smile. "My bed mattress is getting so hard, and the pine needles stick through here and there so I didn't sleep well. I kept imagining all night that mosquitoes were biting me."

"That was the pine needles, I suppose," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes," agreed Nurse Jane. "I must see about getting a new bed."

"I'll order one for you down at the eleven and twelve-cent store," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm going to hop along and look for an advertiser and when I find it I'll order you a new bed. I'll see if they have one that isn't made of pine needles. For though that kind of a bed is very good when it is new, when the needles from the pine tree become old, stiff and brown they stick to you."

"Indeed, they do!" laughed Nurse Jane. "But don't trouble yourself too much, Wiggily. I dare say my old bed will do for another week."

"No, you must have a new, soft bed as soon as possible!" declared the bunny. "I'll see about it."

Well, while you are out advertising, please take the bread knife and have it sharpened," said Nurse Jane. "It is so dull it will hardly cut warm butter."

Uncle Wiggily took the bread knife with him, wrapping it up in a piece of birch bark so that the point wouldn't stick him. Over the fields and through the woods he hopped the bunny rabbit until he came to a soft green, mossy log in the woods.

"I'm so sleepy," said the bunny to himself, "that I think I'll lie down here, and take a nap. When I awake I'll get the knife sharpened and look for an adventure. Then I'll order a new bed for Nurse Jane."

While Uncle Wiggily was sleeping on the soft, green, mossy log along came the Woolly Wolf with a bag over his shoulder. The Wolf was on his legs to see if he couldn't catch Charlie or Arabella Chick in the bag, when, all at once the bad chap saw the rabbit asleep.

"Here's Uncle Wiggily!" chuckled the Wolf. "He'll be better than Charlie or Arabella! I'll take him to my den!"

And so softly that he didn't awaken the rabbit the Wolf popped poor Uncle Wiggily into the bag, slung it over his shoulder and started off over the hills to his den.

After a while Uncle Wiggily awakened inside the bag which the Wolf carried over his shoulder. At first the bunny did not know what had happened to him. Then he felt the jouncing motion and he saw that he was inside a bag.

"I'm caught!" whispered the bunny to himself. "The Wolf, the Fox or the Killery Scallery Alligator has me in a bag! Oh, what shall I do? How can I get out?"

Then Uncle Wiggily felt in his pocket and his paws touched the bread knife Nurse Jane had given him to have sharpened. Taking the knife from its wrapping of birch bark, Uncle Wiggily felt of the edge.

"It's pretty dull," thought the rabbit untruly, "but I think I can make it cut a hole in this bag. Then I can drop out."

Working gently, so the Wolf wouldn't know what was going on, Uncle Wiggily cut and jabbed until he had a hole partly through the bag. The rabbit then had another thought.

"If I happen to drop out when the Wolf is going over a rough, stony place I'll fall on the stones and get hurt," said Mr. Longears to himself. "What had I better do?"

He found that he could look down through the hole he had partly cut in the bottom of the bag. He could see the ground and—just as he had feared—the Wolf was, at that moment, going over a rough, stony place.

"I must wait a while," whispered the bunny. He kept on looking through the hole in the bag until he saw that the ground was green. "I must be over a bed of soft moss now!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "Here I go!"

With that he slashed the hole in the bag a little bigger, and off it he dropped—right on a soft, thick bed of green moss in the woods, so he wasn't in the least hurt. And he fell so softly that the Wolf never heard him. So the bad chap went on, carrying the empty bag.

"But Uncle Wiggily is getting lighter, or else I am getting stronger," thought the Wolf, as he noticed how little the bag over his shoulder now weighed. "I guess I'm getting stronger," thought the Wolf.

"Ha! Ha! I'm safely out of the bag!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he rolled over and over on the

Of times one doesn't realize how dingy and soiled a garment becomes. Perhaps the lack of freshness and charm is attributed to wear, when Dry Cleaning would revive it to its original beauty.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WILL THEY WEAR FAT AGAIN

I wonder if they will ever be plump again.

You know who they are. The people we mean when we talk about what they say or what they are wearing.

So now I wonder if they will ever wear fat again.

Will the pendulum ever swing the other way and shall we stop admiring slimmness and subtle plumpness and well marked curves.

"Nice and Plump"

I suppose it surprises the flapper to know that there ever was a day when slimmness was not extravagantly admired, when people spoke of "nice and plump," when banting had not been heard of, and when people we now call slim and graceful were referred to as skinny or bony.

But there was. Well I remember them for reasons I will not further elucidate, but will leave you to guess at.

In those days a fine figure of a woman never weighed less than 150, and often well over that. So long as a woman had a well marked waist and did not degenerate into the meal bag class, she was considered to have a good figure no matter what she tipped the scales at. People never talked about getting fat unless they were approaching 200 and three chins. Double chins were not admired but they were not feared as they are today. Prosperous men of 40 or 50 expected to have stomachs. That was a hall mark, as it were, of their prosperity.

The Anti-Fat Adds

If you want to get a perfect ideal of the contrast between the two ages get hold of an old magazine of 15 or 20 years ago and look at the anti-fat adds. Behold the person they picture as too fat. One wonders why such a person should have been willing to get rid of any of her pounds because it seems as if she could have saved a fabulous money exhibiting it in a circus. And then turn to the modern magazine and its "you can weigh what you should" advertisement. And the lady who weighs what she shouldn't has surely been called a perfect figure in the old days.

There is no question but what we have gone to extremes in our admiration of slenderness. And there is also no question but what every extreme of fashion is almost surely compensated by the opposite extreme. Is this going to happen in the matter of fat? It doesn't seem conceivable, does it? Tomorrow—Let It Fall

CARRYING DOLLS THE NEWEST FAD

A new fad from fair Paris—carrying dolls to evening affairs. The little mannikins have colored wigs to correspond with the color and design of the frocks worn by the fair Parisiennes. Likewise is the Spanish costume of wearing a single rose on one side of the head coming into vogue in Paris.

Mix 1 cup of white sauce with ½ cup rice, 3 onions, which have been cooked in 2 tablespoons butter, and chopped fine, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper and ½ teaspoon of paprika. Drain pepper cases and fill with mixture, cover tops with buttered crumbs and bake 30 minutes in oven. Wash, stem and slice thin 1 pint of okra. Chop 3 large tomatoes fine, being careful to preserve the juice. Chop 1 onion fine and cook in 1 tablespoon butter; then add to it the tomatoes, 1 sprig of thyme, 1 bay leaf, one sprig of parsley and one small red pepper pod, without the seed. Let stew 5 minutes, add the okra, stirring constantly, until well browned; then add the juice of the tomatoes, 5 cups of hot water; simmer and let simmer 1½ hours. Season with salt and pepper and serve with wafers.

Okra Soup—Wash and stem 1 pint of okra and then slice it very thin. Chop 3 large tomatoes fine, being careful to preserve the juice. Let simmer gently for about 1½ hours. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve hot.

Cold Rice Pudding—Put 1 quart of milk in a buttered pudding dish with 2 tablespoons raw rice; 2 tablespoons sugar, and put dish in moderate oven for an hour or more, and as a crust forms on top, turn it underneath and the bottom part up, and repeat until the whole is soft and creamy and pale brown—then let the top brown. Serve very cold with a spoonful of orange marmalade on top.

Book Reviews

Whether the reader's taste runs along the lines of fiction or non-fiction, much interesting reading will be found in the new books which have been added to the shelves at the Glendale branch library at Los Feliz and Brand boulevard.

The author who styles himself "A Gentleman with a Duster" in his "Painted Windows" deals with the religious question, especially in England, by making a study of religious personalities. The object of the book is to try to discover in this way some of the needs of the church at the present time, and as he conceals his identity under the nom-de-plume, he does not hesitate to present a very frank characterization of some prominent persons of widely different faiths, including Bishop Gore, Dean Inge, Father Knox, Dr. Jacks, Miss Maude Royden and Bramwell Booth.

Other non-fiction books include "Short History of American Literature" by Trent and others, "Chemistry of Familiar Things" by Sadtler, "Ladies' Home Journal Book of Bungalows," "A Thousand Mile Walk to the Gulf" by John Muir, "The Cruise of the 'Corwin'" and "Travels in Alaska" by John Muir, "Lincoln Lessons for Today" by Newkirk, "My Life of Song" by Mme. Tetrazzini, "The Life of Thomas Starr King" by Wendte, "Child versus Parent" by Wise, "Minds and Manners of Wild Animals" by Hornaday, "English Literature" by Long, "How We Think" by Dewey, "Smoke and Steel" poems by Carl Sandburg, "Pipefuls" by Morley, "Life and Letters of Hamilton W. Mabie" by Morse, "The Art of Lawn Tennis" by Tilden, "Triumph of the Man Who Acts" by Purinton, "The Laurentians" by Longstreth, "Tahtli Days" by McQuarrie, "Religion and Health" by Walsh.

The new fiction books number among them "The Way of an Eagle," and "Safety Curtain and Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

A DISGRACE TO BE FAT

Who said it was a disgrace to be fat? I didn't. I know that in a report of a lecture I gave in Boston last winter—which was apparently sent out broadcast, for I have had letters from all over the United States regarding it—I was credited with saying that it was a disgrace to be fat.

I never said it! It is not true that it is a disgrace to be fat, so I would not make such a statement. What I did say was this: It will be a disgrace to be fat as soon as the proper knowledge of dietetics becomes universal.

Saying that it will be a disgrace to be fat is altogether different from saying it is a disgrace to be fat. Some of our most wonderful women and men in the United States are considerably overweight, men and women who are national figures as leaders in constructive work.

It would be rather audacious not to say impudent for me to say that such people as these were disgraceful because they were overweight. I never said it! Gosh, I'm scurrying to cover. Up to the present time a large majority of our population have had no instruction whatever in the fundamentals of dietetics. Until recently the ignorance on the fundamentals of proper nutrition of the human animal has been a state that was common to all except a few who were specializing in the subject. There was a great deal more known about the nutrition of our domestic animals. It is not to be wondered at that so many of our people have shown the results of this ignorance; it is to be wondered that more have not done so.

This state of affairs, this ignorance regarding the fundamentals of nutrition, is now rapidly giving way to knowledge on the subject. Much research work has been done and many books and magazine articles have been written on the subject. There is hardly a daily paper that does not have its health features. Of course, in the mass of writings on the subject there is a great deal that is faulty, and some that is ludicrous. Some of it obviously is written by individuals who are facile with the pen, but who show that they have had no knowledge of chemistry or physiology or any other science.

You will read such comical statements as, "Food in certain combinations will make fat, while the same foods in combination with other foods will actually consume the fat." This is not true. Foods are foods as sure as pigs is pigs, and any food—even though it be but a leaf of lettuce—will make fat if it happens to be more than the healthy system needs.

You read a jabbering concerning "mucous forming" foods. There are no foods that form mucous. The most wholesome of foods if eaten in excess try to the exclusion of other needed foods, may help throw the system out of balance and help undermine its resistance. In this state the mucous membranes as well as other organs may be affected, but there is no such thing as a "mucous forming" food.

There are many other fad ideas expounded frequently, but even with these errors there is a lot that is good and interest stimulating. A knowledge of the fuel or energy value of foods has been one of the things that has been most lacking. Until recently the word Calorie has had a formidable, scientific sound, and it was thought that only scientific research workers and students could know anything about calories. Now the word calorie is so familiarly used as yard or bushel or quart, other terms of measurement. For a calorie is simply the unit measure of the energy or fuel value of foods. It is also the unit of measure of heat.

BEAUTY CHATS

A BLEACHING CREAM

The city streets are once more filling up with returned vacationists. One sees dozens of girls with bright eyes and sunburned skins, who look refreshed and rested and thoroughly ready for the work or play of the winter. Their square-neck dresses will show a red "V" in front, their thin white blouses the glow of sunburned shoulders beneath. They look so attractive and yet everyone of them is worrying as to how to remove this gorgeously healthy tan.

Personally, I hate to see the sunburn disappear from these fresh young faces, but as it will fade out of itself into the most unhealthy looking yellow, I suppose the best thing is to hasten the process and bleach the skin to its normal white. There are thousands of ways to remove sunburn with the most optimistic claims set forward by the maker of this or that special preparation. Personally, I favor a few simple creams and lotions.

As the skin is already dry the most logical sort of bleach would be a cream. Lettuce creams and peroxide creams are both very good, though it is difficult to purchase a really satisfactory peroxide cream and almost impossible to make one. If you have my formula for a fine cold cream you can substitute cucumber juice for the rose water and produce a splendid home-made bleaching emollient. If you haven't it here is a similar formula easily made.

Cucumber cream
Almond oil.....4 ounces
Spermaceti.....1 ounce
White wax.....1 ounce
Cucumber juice.....2 ounces
Cucumbers boiled, mashed and strained make the juice.

D. L.—A curling fluid made from quince seed could not hurt the hair. The cost of the perma-ment wave varies according to locality. Necessarily such work would be more expensive in the large cities where rents are high; $30 to $35 is the average price.

M. C.—It does not seem possible that the mouth could enlarge after a person has grown to adult age. It may appear to have done so if you have lost much weight; or you may be so conscious of this feature that you are using it in a nervous way and stiffening the muscles. A large mouth or one with full lips, will always be a pretty mouth if there is mobility. The lip exercises given in a recent chat will accomplish this for anyone who practices them for even a short time.

Anxious—An excessive amount of oil, dandruff and falling hair, all show that the scalp is in need of treatments. If you cannot have this done by an expert, try massaging the scalp vigorously every day and include with this the best hair tonic several times each week.

Tomorrow—Home Manicure. All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor. Protected by George Matthew Adams.

DEVELOP PEAT DEPOSITS. The peat deposits of East Prussia, estimated to contain a billion tons, are being developed by machinery that cuts the fuel into blocks that are ready for use when dried.

STRINGED INSTRUMENTS. With the feet hollowed to form sound chambers, a bridge invented in England for stringed instruments is claimed to produce greater resonance and fuller tones.

Accused of Slaying Wife, Now on Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—The state began presentation of the evidence today through which it expects to prove the complicity of Henry Wilkens, auto mechanic, in the automobile holdup last May which resulted in the killing of his wife, Anna Wilkens, with whose murder he is charged.
 Nine men and three women constitute the jury that will sit in judgment. Two alternates were also selected and will sit throughout the trial.

 Driven by compressed air, a rotary stone polisher is the invention of an Ohio man.

Allied Powers Gain Athens Public Opinion

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Since the entrance of revolutionary troops into Athens, public opinion has voiced strongly in favor of the allied powers, said official dispatches received at the Greek legation here today.
 "The people, mad with enthusiasm, proceeded to the British, French and Italian legations cheering the allies of Greece," said the cablegram. "This spontaneous manifestation in which all classes took part shows that the true judgment of the Greek people has always remained pure and faithful to the allied powers."

Murder Attempt on Irish Cabinet Fails

DUBLIN, Sept. 28.—A plot to blow up the provisional government building and assassinate the members of the cabinet was frustrated today. A mine was discovered beneath the building. Two clerks were reported to have been arrested.
 Captain Cosidine of the Free State army was killed when his troops were attacked from ambush in county Clare.
ALARM CLOCK DEVICE
 A Frenchman has invented a connection for alarm clocks to light alcohol cooking stoves at set times.

Fortress Blows Up; Forty Persons Killed

ROME, Sept. 28.—Many persons were reported killed and wounded today when a fortress at Spezia was blown up by lightning. Two villages were razed. Houses six miles from the scene were destroyed. A revised estimate this evening put the dead at forty, including a marshal of the Italian army.
 The explosion was accompanied by appalling scenes. All the hospitals for miles around were filled to overflowing. Santerenzo was badly damaged by explosions of huge stores of gun powder which were set off by fire.

Trunk Cheap; Find It Held Much Gold

PARIS.—Diogenes was a pretty poor detective. He failed to "cherchez la femme."
 Madame Clermont paid the equivalent of $1.50 for a trunk at an auction sale. The trunk was filled with old rags.
 Among the rags Madame found a sack containing gold pieces amounting to about $1,500.
 "Here is some money I found in the trunk," she told the auctioneer. "I am an honest woman. To whom does it belong?" It was turned over to the state.
 Metallic handles have been patented that can be attached to cups from which the original handles have been broken.

Correct Location of Dye Works Is Given

The Boulevard Dye Works, located formerly on Brand boulevard, near Lexington drive, is now on Lexington drive in the same building, "just around the corner." Inadvertently their location was given as on Doran street, but it is Lexington and Brand where their establishment is located.
TRACTOR TILLER
 The Minneapolis inventor of a tractor operated soil tiller in which revolving knives cut and grind the earth, claims that it does more work than three men can with two tractors and five plows and harrows.

Capt. Tozer Heads Near East Squadron

Tozer was designated today by Secretary of the Navy to command the squadron of twelve destroyers which have been ordered to proceed from Norfolk to Constantinople to protect American interests in the Near East. CLEVER MACHINE
 A machine has been invented which prints and forms cardboard or fibre shipping boxes from sheets as they pass through it.

Plans for Refunding Debts Are Considered

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The government has not determined the method by which maturing indebtedness amounting to $2,000,000,000 will be refunded before January 1, it was officially stated at the treasury department today. Secretary Mellon, it was said, has not reached a decision definitely whether the funding operations will take the form of a bond issue, long time treasury notes, or short time treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Turkish Troops on Thrace Coast, Claim

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Turkish irregulars have commenced to concentrate in Thrace, it was reported from Constantinople today. A dispatch on Wednesday said that Turkish troops were reported to have been landed on the Thracian coast of Thrace, but this was not officially confirmed. The Turks are still moving artillery up to the front, Constantinople reports.

The British force in Turkey now consists of nearly 30,000 soldiers. In the straits there are six British dreadnaughts, seven battle cruisers and twenty destroyers.

The British cabinet met at 11 o'clock this morning to consider the advisability of giving General Hartington, British commander at Constantinople the "widest possible powers to deal with the crisis." The removal of the refugees from Constantinople by September 30 is said to be highly desirable, but virtually impossible.

The population of Constantinople is in a high state of excitement. Abdication of the Turkish sultan is believed to be imminent. According to a Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Mail, Hamid Bey, representative of the Ankara government at Constantinople has informed the allied high commissioners at Constantinople that Kemal will accept the allies' near east peace note after referring it to the national assembly.

The Kemalists have seized all alcoholic beverages and closed the bars in the towns they have occupied in the neutral zone. Later advices from Constantinople stated that the Turks were continuing to mass along the Lemnos peninsula south of Constantinople in the west of an attack against Constantinople. Constantinople probably would be used by the Turks as their base of operations.

Opium Sleuths Are Fooled After Raid

HONOLULU—Customs officers were startled here recently when $2,000 worth of opium disappeared mysteriously before their eyes at a small Chinese drug store in the heart of the city, supposed to be operated by a member of the powerful inner ring of opium dealers. A Chinese girl was hired by the revenue officers to make a decoy sale. The girl went aboard the Pacific Mail liner President Wilson, brought the opium down to the drug store, traded by the customs officers. She was in the building two minutes when the officers raided it, but a two hours' search of the place failed to reveal where the opium had disappeared to.

Get 'Em All, He Says

Ed N. Radke, of 109 South Broadway, stated that it behooved Glendale firms to get all of the contracts.

Edward Radke, Jr., wearing his first pair of trousers with pockets, was a guest also.

A telegram was read by Acting Secretary L. H. Block, announcing the attendance of President W. B. Kelly and Secretary James Howarth at the national convention of the Exchange club in Louisville, Ky.

The cordial spirit which prevailed at the banquet Sunday night commemorating the dedication of the Holy Family Catholic church, was commented upon by Mr. Radke, who represented the Glendale Exchange club on this occasion. He moved that a letter of thanks be sent to Father James S. O'Neill for the invitation. The motion was seconded by Fred E. Hoyt of 205 East Broadway. It passed unanimously.

Gets Prize, Invitation

The attendance prize was won by W. Q. Widdows, of 1246 Winchester avenue. Owing to the fact that George A. Whitaker forgot to bring it, he was invited to call for it at the Broadway Pharmacy.

For some reason no fines were imposed for E. B. Sutton, master-at-arms, to collect.

Others present at the luncheon were: Dr. James A. Belyea, Fred E. Hill, A. Gelmor, W. C. Waring, Dr. H. R. Boyer, S. F. Bell and E. S. Westberg.

Discovers Valley In California Not Yet Walked Upon

REDDING, Cal., Sept. 28.—A verdant valley of approximately 640 acres has been discovered high up in the Salmon river mountains in Siskiyou county near the Trinity county border. It is almost certain no human feet have trod the meadow tract.

Several attempts have been made to reach the valley in the last few weeks but all have failed. The mountain valley is walled in by jagged granite rocks of such precipitous dimensions that no one can scale them with ordinary appliances. A tiny creek meanders through the valley and finds its exit in a water fall 800 feet high over a precipice as straight up and down as a stone wall.

A Trinity county miner found the creek. This miner, Gordon Abrams, climbed a peak and looked over into the valley through a spy-glass. He saw a grey streak cutting across it. He believes this is a quartz ledge, possibly the mother lode of the gold he found in the placer digging below. Abrams is almost certain, he says, mortal man has never entered the valley and no one is likely to enter it soon.

Meet and Elect Officers at the Home of Catherine Doll, Wednesday

A group of girls training to become a new troop of Girl Scouts, met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Catherine Doll, 727 South Louise street. The girls include Elizabeth Heustis, Genevieve Burr, Virginia Baudino, Madeline Guglielmino, Dorothy Chappius, Helen Houle, Catherine Doll, Ruth Banner and Rose Bagley.

Following the scout ceremony a short business meeting was held, Betty Heustis presiding. Catherine Doll was elected treasurer of the organization, and Genevieve Burr, corporal.

When the troop is registered at national headquarters, Elizabeth Heustis will be the patrol leader. Following the afternoon business session, Mrs. H. M. Doll served the girls with delicious ice-cold watermelon.

REAL LIFE TALE RIVAL OF FABLE

Dog Pursues Cat, Bites Cow That Kicks Milker; So Fight Starts

PORTLAND, Ore.—This tale of real life, rivaling the fable about the House That Jack Built, is a story about the cop that arrested the Jap that owned the dog that chased the cat and bit the cow that kicked the man and broke the arm that held the pail that spilled the milk; about the same cop who called the doctor, who called the ambulance and the humane society officials who called the veterinarian. The story:

Joe Neimy was milking his cow in his barn near which K. Kasaka kept his automobile. Kasaka, with his white bulldog, was going into his garage when the dog spied a cat and chased it. The cat led the chase near Neimy's cow, and when the dog saw the cat was going to get away it bit the cow instead. Whereupon the cow kicked Neimy, broke his arm and spilled the milk.

Patrolman Ingle, sent to the scene, notified the emergency hospital and the Humane society. Neimy was sent to the hospital and a veterinarian was called to care for the cow.

And then the cop completed his job by arresting Kasaka for permitting a vicious dog to run at large.

TELL EXPERIENCES OF THEIR TRIP IN EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall at Home From Long Tour on the Continent

Florence and Venice, and as an automobile man Venice had a very peculiar effect on me. If you can imagine a city of 200,000 people without a horse or automobile you can imagine the unusual sight Venice presents. Of course their gondolas take the place of both but it is really disconcerting to go into a city and not see an automobile any place.

In Venice we visited St. Mark's and also crossed the Bridge of Sighs in the Doges Palace.

Two Wonderful Things

Our next stop was at Milan, where the two wonderful things to us were the Milan Cathedral, which required 500 years to build, and Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece "The Last Supper." The da Vinci picture is a mural painted on a wall in a room of an old monastery. From the standpoint of art and perspective it is wonderful, but is fast fading. According to the Italians Napoleon used the room for a stable and at that time the picture was very roughly used, and during the years it has faded greatly.

After our stay in Milan we spent four days around the Italian lakes, which we found were green instead of the wonderful blue they had been pictured.

Then we took an automobile and drove over the Simplon Pass, over the Simplon tunnel, twelve miles long, into Switzerland. We visited Lucerne and Geneva and also Chamounix, the Mer de Glace and Mt. Blanc.

In Lucerne we were interested in the famous Lucerne lion, carved out of sandstone on the side of a cliff. It is said the lion is a memorial to the Swiss soldiers killed during the French Revolution defending the palace of Versailles.

We also visited the southern part of Italy and went on by way of Interlaken to Jungfrau.

Our trip into Germany was by way of Bern and Zurich, then over Lake Constance. We visited Munich and then went to Oberammergau for the Passion Play, given for the first time since 1910. It is a wonderful production given in a covered theatre with a seating capacity of 5,000. The day we attended the play was a very rainy one and since part of the stage is uncovered it was necessary for the actors to play with this handicap. We were impressed by their earnestness and effort to give artistic and dramatic interpretation regardless of the rain. Eight hours are required for giving the play. The performance starts at 8 o'clock in the morning and continues until noon. Then after an hour's intermission begins again at 2 o'clock and ends at 6 o'clock.

Splendid Treatment

Of our trip in Germany one of the outstanding features was the splendid treatment we received. While the Germans charge the tourists more than they do the Germans, nevertheless the prices charged are not excessive for the service received.

While in Germany we spent most of our time in the Rhine valley. We had the pleasure of visiting Heidelberg and the university. It is interesting to note that the custom of dueling has almost died out. The reason for this is given as the high cost of education. After a duel a student is laid up for days and may be weeks and with the present high cost of education the students and their parents don't feel they can miss their university work.

The Rhine valley is beautiful, but we did not find it any more inspiring than the Hudson palisades. One thing we noticed is the great amount of building going on. Where the Germans are getting the money I don't know, but they are certainly building.

From Germany we went on into picturesque Holland for two days. Holland is mostly below sea level and the tourist is interested in the experience of having to go through locks whenever traveling in or out of the ocean.

Recovering Rapidly

Belgium came next on our trip. We visited Brussels and Ostend, spending two days in the latter place. We were most happily surprised to find Belgium recovering rapidly from the war. At Ostend we went to the Wellington Derby, with the races all on a turf track, which was a new experience since we had never seen a race except on a dirt course.

Another innovation were the bathing cars. At Ostend when one wants to go bathing he rents a bathing car. After one has gotten inside and put on his bathing suit a man with a horse comes and pulls the car down to the water's edge and the bather steps out for his swim and when he is ready to dress he returns to the car, gives the man with the horse a signal and the car is pulled to dry land.

From Holland we crossed the Channel to Dover and spent ten days in London. We liked London better than any city we visited, perhaps because we felt that it was a real city. We enjoyed side trips from London to Scotland, visiting Edinburgh, Glasgow and the country pictured by Sir Walter Scott.

Shakespeare Memorial

Motoring back by way of Leamington and Kenilworth, we visited Stratford-on-the-Avon, journeying to Shakespeare's birthplace and Anne Hathaway's cottage. They have built a Shakespeare memorial theatre at Stratford and when we were there they were presenting some Shakespeare play, which we were anxious to see, but because of limited time could not do so.

We sailed from Southampton August 16, returning home on the same boat, Majestic. Because of engine trouble we took several days for the trip across, arriving in New York August 23. Upon arriving in America, we prolonged our trip by visiting New York City for ten days, Boston, Portland, Me., Montreal, Michigan and Illinois, and then coming west by the Canadian Rockies.

For those people who would like to know something of the foreign automobiles, let me say the foreign automobiles don't compare with those made and used in the United States. Of course, they have a few makes that are fine but in general we are far ahead of them. In the various foreign cities the system of left and right varies and is most confusing and until they establish a uniform system there will be an ever present traffic problem.

England and Holland have been linked for the first time by a telephone cable planned more than eight years ago.

Will Pays Fare to Funeral of Sister

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Although she left an estate valued at $42,000, Mrs. Louisa Stern, part owner of the Atlantic hotel, in this city, specified in her will that her executors should pay all expenses incurred by her brother, Sol Ziegler, of New York, in case he attended her funeral. This part of the bequest was in addition to the residue of the estate left to Ziegler after charitable gifts and Mrs. Stern's share of the hotel property had been deducted.
