Day and Boarding School for Young Ladies.

Founded in 1832, by MADAME DESRAYAUX, conducted since 1840, by MADAME DESRAYAUX; Burgundy street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, New Orleans.

MR. and MRS. DESRAYAUX, formerly in Rampart street, having removed their institution upwards of a year ago, to more extensive accommodations, respectfully inform parents and guardians of youth, that their new building in Burgundy st. has met their expectations, and supplies one great and almost indispensable requisite—viz: ample accommodations, adapted to the object they had in view.

It is scarcely necessary to state, that the building which they occupied is supplied with all the modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of domestic life, and for educational purposes. The apartments are airy, well lighted, and perfectly furnished. The large and well shaded garden in the rear of the building, purchased for the accommodation of the pupils, is found to be attended with many advantages, as regards health, exercise and amusement—in short, every arrangement has been made, and no expense, to increase the facilities of education, to guard the health of the pupils, and to procure their comfort and happiness.

The Institution provides thorough and substantial instruction in all the usual and requisite branches of education. It possesses great facilities for the acquirement of the French language, and for the cultivation of Music, and is sufficient to say, that no efforts will be wanting to sustain the reputation which the School has already acquired in these departments.

DR. MACAULAY, who has taught in the Institution for upwards of five years, and who divides his time equally between it and Mrs. Macaulay's, takes the entire charge of the department of English Literature, including Natural and Moral Philosophy; Mrs. Macaulay attends only the outlines, but enough of Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology and Astronomy, as to enable young ladies to understand all the ordinary phenomena which are constantly presenting themselves to their observation.

For further information, the proposters of the Institution respectfully refer parents to their prospectus, published in pamphlet form, to be found at the book store and at the Institution.

G. 2ND'S WESTERN INSTITUTION,
No. 148 Conti street, between Dauphine and Burgundy.

MR. G. BOYER, founder of this establishment, the oldest in New Orleans, avails himself of the opportunity to make a new appeal to the confidence of parents.

The institution is conducted in a large mansion occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and in other respects perfectly salubrious.

The range of studies is adapted to the intention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education. The primary instructions, to the more abstruse subjects which are specially the province of a collegiate course.

The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, considering the decisive influence which they exercise over the other branches of instruction.

Discipline, which must not be separated from assiduous study, nor from a good education, is connected with study. It is calculated to correspond to the age and character of the students, and intended to give them an accurate idea of duty and good behaviour.
