Sut Lovengood's Lizards.

$8—EIT DULLER REW-ARD.

This cash will be paid in corn or produce, to be collected at our about next camp meetin by any one what ketches him, for the carcass of wun Sutt Lovengood, ded or alive, an safely gin over to the care ov Passin John Bullin, at Squir mack Jenkins, for a raisin of the devil perniciously, discumfertin the women powerfully, an a skarin folks generally, at the ratil snaix springs big meetin, signed by me, John Bullin, the Passon.

Attested tu by Jehu Wethoron. I found written copies of the above highly intelligible and vindictive proclamation stuck up on every blacksmith shop, doggery and store door in the Frog Mountain range. Its bloodthirsty, vindictive spirit, its style, and above all, its chirography, interested me to the extent of stealing one from a tree for preservation.

In a few days I found Sut in a good crowd in front of Capehart's small doggery, and as he proved to be about "in tune," I read it to him.

"Yes, George, that ar document am in yarnist, sartin. They does want me powerful bad, but I speet eit doller wur'n't fetch me. I'll go myself for fifty, plank-ed down, ef yu'll go along an see me hev justice. Lite, lite ole fellow, and let that roan of yourn blow a little, and I'll explain this cussed affair what has ruined my karakter as a pias pussin in the sciety about here. Ye see, I went to last year's big meetin at Ratil Snaix Springs an were settin in a nice shady place in the hucleberry thicket conversin with a friend when the first thing I kow'd, I woke from a trance, what I'd been knock-ed inter by a four year old hisckory stick in the han of ole Passon Bullin, durh his aligator lookin hide! and he wur standin a straddle ov me, foamain at the mouth an a preachin tu me about sartin sins an my wickedness generally. My poor friend wur gone, and I was glad ov it, fur I thot he ment to kill me with his club, ef he failed to preach me to deth, an I didn't want her to see me die."

"Who was the friend you speak of, Sut?"

"None ov your bisness, durh your little ankshus pietor! But I'll tell you one thing, George; that night a neighbor gal got an awful confounded strappin from her mother with a tirrup leather, and ole Passon Bullin had eat supper thar that night; an what's was nor all, she cooked it for him and begged him a tremblin an a cryin not to tell on her, the durned, infernal, hipereritikel, pot-bellied whisky-wasting old ground hog. But I paid him fur it all, ef I haint I will. Well, at the next big meetin at the Ratil Snaix, I wur on hand, as solemn as a hat carrier at collection time, for I had promissed the old hog to come an git converted, jist to keep him from killin me. I took a seat on the steps ov the pulpit, to prove I wur in earnest. There was a monstrous crowd in the grove, an ole Bullin wur a preachin to them at an orful rate—how the Hell Sarpintis would serve em ef they didn't repeat—how they wur crawl over them, rap their tales round their necks, poke their tongues into their eyes and blow inter their ears; and ef it wur a woman, how they'd quile down in her bossum, an try to crawl under her frock strings. An he had em hot, a hollerin, and dreadfully skeered; the fact is, the thing was workin powerful. Now I'd kotech five big grey pot bellied lizards, and had 'em in a little narrer bag what I'd made a purpose—that tails all at the bottom, an packed as tite as a bundle of sticks.

So while he wur a rarin onto his tippies, unbeknownst to anybody, I untied my lizard bag, an put the mouth up under his briches leg, an gin their legs a squeeze an a shake, when they all took up his bar leg, making ov a noise sorter like squirrels climbin a shellbark hickory. He stopped preachin and looked for a moment like he wur listenin fur somthin, sorter like an old sow does when she hears you whistle for the dogs. I give a big groau an held my bag betwixt my knews. Then he commenced a slappin ov himself whar you cut the steak out of a beef, shen he'd fetch a rub whar the horse's tail sprouts, then he'd stomp, then run his hand between his waistream an his shirt, an reach down an round mightily with it—then he'd spread his legs an give his back a good shakin, sorter ov a rub agin the pulpit like a hog scratches himself agin a stump; a leanin to his work powerful, and squirmin generally as if he'd jist cum out ov a dog bed or had slept on a pisint trail. About this time one ov my lizards (scared, I suppose, by all this rubbin and scratchin and slappin) poked his head out atween the passon's shirt collar and his old brown neck, tuck a peep at circumstances and dodged back agin.

Old Bullin's speech now cum to him; his eyes stikken out like two buckeyes flung agin a mud wall, an his voice a tremblin. Sez he: "Brethrin, take care ov yourselves, the Hell Sarpintis have got me!" Sum ov the wimen fetcht a painter yell, an a ramrod-legged doctor, what set near me, allowed it war a clar case of Delicious Tremendjus, an I thot' he wur right, for it war tremenjus afore it wur done with. Off went the claw hammer coat and he flung it behind him like he wur goin into a fight (he had no jacket on). Next he fetcht his shirt over his head faster nor I got out ov my pasted wur, an he flung it up in the air like he didn't care a darn if it kept up forever, but it lodged onto a blackjack. I seed one of my lizards a racin around over the big old dirty looking shirt, scard like the devil. Then ole Bullin he gin a sorter shake an a twist as he come outen his briches, an he took em by the bottom ov the legs an swung em round his head a few times and then fetcht them down kerwallup over the front of that ere pulpit. You could have heard the smash a quarter ov a mile. Nigh onto about fifteen shortened biskits, a briled chicken with his legs crossed, a big double-bladed knife, a slab of ter-backer, a pipe, sum copper ore specimens, a heap of broken glass, a sprinkle of whisky, and three ov my lizards, flew perniciously all over that ar metin groun outen the upper end ov them big flax britches. Wun ov the smartest ov my lizards lit hed fust inter the busom ov an old fat woman as big as a skinned hoss an nigh onto as ugly who sot thirky yards off a fannin herself with a tuckey tail, and smart to the last, the lizard commenced runnin down.

So she wur bound to faint, an did it fust rate, jist flung her tuckey tail up in the air, rolled down the hill, tangled her legs an garters in the top of a huckleberry bush, an war thar all safe, fair an quiet when I left.

Now ole Bullin had nothin left on him but a pair of heavy low quartered shoes, short woolen socks and eel skin gaiters to keep off the cramp, an his scare wur a growin on him fast. He wur plum crazy, for he jist spit in his hands an leaped over the front ov the pulpit rite inter the middle of the pius part ov the congregation, kerdijff, and sot in tu gettin away. He run, or rather went in a lumberin gallop, heavy, like an old wagon hoss skeered at a locomotive. When he jumped a bench he shook the yearth, an his self too. Bonnets an fans clared the way. He weighed nigh unto three hundred, had a black stripe down his back like a bridle rein, and his belly looked about the size an color of a big beef paunch, an it wur a shakin from side to side. He leaned back from it like a little feller totin of a big drum at muster, an I heard it slosh plum to whar I wur. Thar war cramp knots on his legs as big as warnuts, an all over he minded me of a crazy old elephant what war possessed of the devil, with his ears, snout an tusches sawed off, an rared up an a gwine on his hind legs away from emediate trouble an tribulation. He did the loudest an scariest an funniest runnin I ever seed since dad raced with the horns, to be no faster than it war.

Well, he disappeared in the thicket, an of all the noises you ever heard it war thar in a circle of two hundred feet or tharabouts—sum wimin screamin—they was the scary ones; sum larin—they was the wicked ones; sum cryin—they was the foolish ones (sorter of the Lovengood stripe); sum tryin to get away or hide thar faces—they was the modest ones; sum lookin after ole Bullin—they was the curious ones; sum hanging to their beaus—they was the sweet ones; sum on thar knees with thar eyes shot, but thar faces turned the way the old mud turtle was runnin—they was the deceitful ones; sum doin nothin—they was the waitin ones, and the most dangerous of the hull of em by a darned long site. I took a big skeer myself, arter a bible as big as a brick, a discipline, and a book called the cataplasm, a few rocks, an sich like fruit spattered onto the pulpit in unto my hed, and as the Lovengoods, durh em, knows nothin but to run when tha git skeered, I jist put toward the swamp on the krick. As I started, a black bottle of baldface smashed agin a tree fronting me. Sum durned fool professor done this who had more zeal than sense; for I say that any man that would waste a quart of good whisky for the chance of knocking a poor devil like me down, isn't as smart as ole Squire Macmullin was, an he shot hisself with a hoe handli, an it wur'n't loaded at that. Well, you know, George, I ort to run fast—jist look at these legs—I used em sum atween that meetin ground and the swamp, and they aint cotch me yet.

Now George, I want you to tell old Groundhog this for me—ef he'll let me alone I'll let him alone; and ef he don't I wish I may be darned inter a poultrie if I don't lizard him agin. Let's go to the spring and mix a little ov it with this yere (shakin his flask) afore you start. Mind, tell ole Barbely what I sed about another big skeer, with—say peek, or a peek and a half of lizards—try and skeer him if yu kin—good bye.

Mistake of a Night.

An opera house was recently opened in Buffalo, but did not prove a success, and the drama was substituted with no better luck. Salaries were not paid to the satisfaction of actors, and a "leading lady"—a Mrs. Page—threatened a strike unless the treasurer, a man named Fillmore, paid up. This he promised to do that same night, after the performance. But having a claim on the establishment himself, the treasurer pocketed the proceeds of the evening's performance, locked up his place before the play was over and went home. Mrs. Page, after leaving the stage, called and found Mr. Fillmore non est, on which she got into the "rampage," and ordered a boy to go to Mr. Fillmore's residence and command his attendance forthwith at the St. John's Hotel, where she was stopping. The boy knowing only one Fillmore, and he the worthy and respected ex-President of the United States, started for his house. Arrived at the place, the boy rang the bell, and in process of time the door was opened by a servant, to whom the message was delivered. Mr. Fillmore was in bed, but as the boy said his business was urgent, he was called. The name of Mrs. Page was talismanic. The distinguished gentleman has a sister of that name, and though wondering why she did not come directly to his house, instead of going to a hotel, he sprang from his couch and dressed himself, and though it was two o'clock in the morning, and the mercury uncomfortably near zero, walked to the hotel and was shown to the room where sat the irate "first lady." Fancy the denouement—"we shall not attempt to describe the scene." 'Tis said to have been funny. How could it have been otherwise, when the parties were a remarkably good natured ex-President on the one side, and a "first lady" full of gentility on the other.

MARRIED IN HASTE.—An Eastern paper states, that lately a young, and good looking damsel arrived at the depot, on her way to Rochester, N. Y. Unfortunately her money had given out, and she had not the "wherewith" to purchase a ticket to that place. Lamenting her sad fate she made inquiry after the Superintendent of the Lake Shore Railroad, for the purpose of petitioning for a pass. A young man who had also come in on the cars, heard the inquiries of the young woman, stepped up and offered to "see her home" to Rochester, if she would wait until next train, when he would be going that way. The lady accepted his offer. The attentive cavalier at once called a carriage, and took his fair charge up town to dine, until train time. Wednesday morning, the two again made their appearance at the depot. A brief conversation took place in the waiting-room. The result was that the young man hastily consulted his watch, and then sought out Depot Officer Clark Warren. A few words passed, and in a brief space after Justice Poljame hurriedly arrived at the depot, and entered the waiting-room. The couple stood up. A few words were said, and this strangely thrown together couple were made one flesh. Baggage was hastily gathered together, the Conductor shouted "all aboard," Clark Warren gave his parting benediction, wiped his eyes, and the train started, and the parties in this genuine case of "love at first sight," were whirled away to Rochester. The couple were entire strangers previous to their chance meeting in the depot.

The strong figure of speech with which Corney illustrated the great size of America, has also a hit at the Scotch, which they will relish as well as they do punch. "Where did bacey come from?" inquired Mary. "Why, from 'Meriky, where else?" replied Corney, "that sent us the first petaty. Long life to it for both says I." "What sort of a place is that I wonder?" "Meriky? They tell me it's mighty sizeable, Mol, darlin. I'm told that you might roll England through it an' it would hardly make a dint in the ground. There is a freshwater ocean inside of it that you might drown Ireland in, and save father Matthew a wonderful sight of trouble; an' as for Scotland, you might stick it in a corner of one of their forests an' you'd never be able to find it except it might be by the smell of the whisky?"

CURE FOR CORNS.—Place the feet, for half an hour, two or three nights successively, in a pretty strong solution of common soda. The alkali dissolves the indurated cuticle, and the corns fall out spontaneously, leaving a small excavation, which soon fills up. This is an almost certain remedy.

"JOHN, how I wish it was the fashion to trade in wives, as to trade in horses!" "Why so, Dick?" "I'd cheat somebody most shockingly before night."

Wonderful.

If the reader has a great deal of credulity, he may believe the following story. We wouldn't like to vouch for it. Where the event occurred is not stated:

A gentleman who had a splendid Newfoundland dog was riding with a friend one day, when the dog became the subject of conversation. Having praised the qualities of his favorite very highly, the owner assured his companion that Noro would, upon receiving the order, return and fetch any article he should leave behind, from any distance. To confirm this, a marked shilling was first shown to the dog, and then put under a large flat stone by the side of the road. The gentleman then rode for three miles, when the dog received the signal from his master to return for the shilling he had seen put under the stone. The dog turned back, the gentleman rode on and reached home; but to their great surprise, the hitherto faithful messenger did not return during the day. It afterwards appeared that he had gone to the stone under which the shilling was placed, but it being too large for his strength to remove, he had stayed howling at the place till two gentlemen on horseback, hearing the noise made by the dog stopped to look at him, when one of them alighting, removed the stone, and seeing the shilling, put it into his pocket, not at the time thinking it was the object of the dog's search. The dog following their horses for twenty miles, remained quietly in the room where they supped, followed the maid into the bed chamber, and hid himself under one of the beds. The possessor of the shilling hung his breeches upon a nail by the bedside; but when the travelers were both asleep, the dog took the breeches in his mouth, and leaping out of the window, which was left open on account of the heat reached the house of his master at four o'clock in the morning with his prize, in the pocket of which were found, besides the shilling, a watch and money, which, upon being advertised, were returned to the owners; when the whole mystery was explained to the admiration of all parties.

ARTEMUS WARD'S COURTING EXPERIENCE.—'Twas a calm, still nite in June, when all nature was husht and nary a Zeffir disturbed the serene silens. I sot with the object of my young heart's affections on the fens of her daddy's pasture. I had experjenced a hankner arter her for some time, but darsunt plakame my pashun. Well, we sot there on the fens a swingin' our feet 2 and fro and blushin' as red as the Baldiville skule house when it was 1st panted. & looked very simple I make no dowt. My left arm was okupied in balunsin, myself on the fens, while mi rite arm was wound affekshunutely roun Suzanner's waste.

Sez I—"Suzanner, I think very much ov you."

Sez she—"How you do run on."

Sez I—"I wish there was a winder to my sole soze you cood see some of my feelings, & I side depely.

I pawsed here, but as she made no reply to it, I continered on the folfering strane:

"& cood you know the slepeless nites I pases on yore account, how vittels has sent to be attractive to me, & how mi lins shrunk up, you woodnt doubt me not by no means. Gaze on this waisted form and sunken ize," I cride, jumpen up.

I shoold have continered some time longer, probly, but unfortunately I lost my balens & fell over into the paster ker splash, tearin my klose, & dauagin myself jenearly. Suzanner sprang to my assistents & dragged me 4th in dubble quick time.

"I wont listen to your noncents any longer," sez Suzanner. "Jest you say rite out wot you are after. Ef you meen to git hitched, I'm in."

WM. MILLER was lately liberated from an English jail where he had been confinded for debt since July, 1814, making an imprisonment of 50 years. A discharge was sent to him by the Government, but he was not disposed to enter the liberty to which he had been so long a stranger.

SUCCESS.—Industry and economy are indispensible requisites to success; but they are not the only ones. A man may be active, and even over economical, but he must possess good judgement, or his industry and economy will be of no avail.

THE quantity of manufactured tobacco imported into England last year was about four hundred thousand pounds less than during the previous year.

WHY is the opening of North Carolina ports like rifle practice? Because it is tar getting.

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1862.

Justices Blanks.

Blank Affidavits, Undertakings, Writ of Attachment and Subpoenas, under the NEW LAW, for Sale at this Office.

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a correct legal form for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislature, with the acknowledgment attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS OFFICE. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgement and record.

A Bridge.

On Monday next the Board of Supervisors meet at Woodland, to consider the matter of the location of a Bridge across Cache creek; to hear and determine between the interests of the different points named, and make an appropriation out of the road fund to aid in its construction.

This is a subject of great interest to the people of this portion of Yolo county; and a bridge is so much needed, that none are found who oppose the measure. We believe a structure can be built across this stream at much less cost than many have estimated, and we also believe the most substantial material to build it of is wire. A good wire bridge will withstand freshets better than any other kind—if we except solid masonry—and we believe it is cheaper than any other material. There are several wire bridge builders in the State, who would contract for the work, and we suggest to the Supervisors, before entering into a contract for the construction of any bridge, to hear and consult with these builders, and only, after careful inquiry, adopt the cheapest and best plan.

Murder on Upper Cache Creek.

On Monday afternoon last, a difficulty occurred on upper Cache creek, between George Doane and Samuel Fellows, in which the former struck the latter with the butt end of a loaded whip, and knocked him down and beat him over the head with the whip until he killed him.

From the testimony on the examination, before Justice Prather of Woodland, —Jacobs Attorney for prosecution, and Hopkins for defendant—we take the following:

Augustus Fellows, the son of the deceased, testified the name of deceased was Samuel Fellows; was present when the difficulty took place; had heard Doane make threats of whipping my father. The parties met on the morning of the 19th, near my fathers door, father struck Doane first with the butt end of a black snake whip, whence a scuffle ensued, in which Doane got the whip from father, who then ran and was followed by Doane, who struck my father and felled him to the ground; after which he struck him several times—four or five times. I was held during the time by Doane's wife. My father was 45 years of age. The other evidence corroborate in the main the foregoing.

The decision on the inquest—death was caused by Suffusion of Brain, produced by pressure on brain, similar to apoplexy.

The court, after hearing the evidence, ordered the prisoner to be held in custody to appear before the Grand Jury.

REV. J. E. BARNES will preach at the Presbyterian church to-day at 3 o'clock P. M., after which the Baptist Church will attend to the business belonging to the body, also on to-morrow, at 11 o'clock A. M. Mr. B. expects to visit Cache Creek again, immediately after the forenoon service, for the purpose of baptizing two or more candidates.

REV. MR. SMALL, (Presbyterian) will preach at the Church in this place, on to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M., and at candlelight in the evening.

NEW STEAMER.—The new steamer, Banner, Captain Pierce, made her first trip on Saturday last. She is a fine boat, and from appearances, will be a fast runner.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—On Monday next, the Board of Supervisors will meet at Woodland.

PROBATE COURT.—The regular term of the Probate Court, Judge I. N. Hoag, will meet at Woodland on Monday next.

FAVORS.—We are under obligation to Justice W. J. Prather for favors.

Woodland.

This week we visited this village, and there had an opportunity of seeing it inaugurated in its new standing as County Seat of Yolo. The County Court was in session, presided over by Judge Hoag, our newly appointed County Judge. The village presented an animated appearance; and as far as a central location can apply for its adaptability for a seat of Justice, it evidently has this advantage. The Hesperian College being located in the center of the town, has a graceful and pleasing appearance, and adds greatly to the general view of the place. The hotel accommodations of the town are not yet very extensive, but they make up in good fare what they lack otherwise; for, after dining off the bountiful fare of Mr. Hodgkiss, we felt marvelously contented with Woodland, the world, and the rest of mankind. We observed it had the effect of making a litigant, who had just lost a case and dined by our side, laugh and suddenly turn goodhumored, (no puff, for we paid our regular 4 bits).

Should the county seat remain permanently at this point, it will in time make an interior town quite creditable to Yolo, especially should the S. F. and Marysville R. R., which is now graded through the county, and which passes through Woodland, be brought to a successful completion. Like other towns of new growth, the thoroughfares leading to it are anything but commodious—especially the lines leading to Knight's Landing. We evidently should have a good straight road from the Landing to Woodland, and the only sure way to accomplish this end, is to present the case in its true light before the Board of Supervisors, and have an appropriation to build a free bridge across Cache creek on the upper line of the lands of Messrs. Buckner & Nelson; this road would then be intersected on the north side of the creek by the road leading to Sheriff Gray's and Fremont, and the citizens of the Landing and vicinity, could then open a straight line from Wm. Rackerby's farm to this place. When this is done, the distance from here to Woodland will be less than it now is to Cacheville, and the people on and near the river, will have a real interest in making Woodland our permanent Seat of Justice.

The Crops.

The prospects thus far for an abundant harvest this season is very flattering in Yolo county, and especially in this section of country between the Sacramento river and Cache creek; and should we have a continuance of the present favorable weather for the coming two weeks, our grain raisers will, indeed, have reason for congratulation, for we have never seen the grain crop look so thrifty and promising as it does here at the present time. Most of the Barley crop has shot up into the ear, which looks green and healthy; and some of the early sowed wheat is now in bloom, while the later sowed, with a few exceptions, promises well. Some few fields of very late sowed wheat, looks somewhat backward, and may need a shower of rain to produce heavy yields; but for the Barley crop and early sowed Wheat, rain, except in very small quantity, would be a disadvantage, causing it to lodge and shoot up a second growth. On the whole, however, the prospect for our grain raisers is very flattering.

RESIGNED.—Judge Campbell of the 12th District Court has resigned in consequence of the inadequacy of salary.

JOHN C. HEENAN, the pugilist, accompanied by his brother, James Heenan, arrived in Liverpool April 3d. He was warmly greeted on landing by a large number of friends who were waiting his arrival. The object of Heenan's second visit to England is to encounter Mace for the belt and championship. He will probably visit the International Exhibition at London.

OUTRAGE.—A man named Joseph La-oix was arrested at Middle Bar, Amador county, not long since, on a charge of committing an outrage at that place on the daughter of Adam Densler, a girl of fifteen years of age. He had an examination before a magistrate, and was held to bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance before a higher Court.

THERE will be not less than from ten to fifteen hundred acres of cotton planted the coming season in Douglas county, Illinois. Very many of the farmers will put in from two to five acres. Cotton has been raised there already to a considerable extent in former years.

POTATOES.—The Los Angeles News says that nearly the entire potato crop of that county has been destroyed by the ravages of a species of guat, myriads of which swarm in all parts of the county.

Churches and School-Houses.

We introduced this subject in the NEWS of last week; we now call attention to what, in our opinion, is the most reasonable and successful plan of operation to secure the building of a suitable School-house for this district. The power is vested in the Trustees to call an election for the purpose of voting a tax for school purposes; but in order to secure the cooperation of the taxpaying citizens, it will be important to specify the object and extent of the taxation. We venture to guess that our taxpaying citizens are as unanimous in moving to the accomplishment of any good enterprise within the extent of their ability, as any people that can be found. Hence, we believe, that if our citizens were called together according to the Act authorizing such elections, that they would vote a tax of ten per cent. on the one hundred dollars for the special purpose of building a School-house. Many would be opposed to paying tax to support the school, from the fact that they have no children to educate. They, or the most of them, would be willing to pay ten cents on the hundred dollars worth of taxable property to build the house. This amount of tax would, we believe, be sufficient to build a good School-house at once, and yet it would be but a small consideration. Can we have it then? We believe that we can, and that our citizens will carry the measure when called together.

MINES IN WASHOE.—The Silver Age of May 14th, says:

We hear of several new strikes in these new mines, and still the country does not appear to be half prospected. There are at least two hundred men now at work on the various claims, many of whom are furnishing quartz to different mills—some on shares and others for from ten to fifty dollars per ton. The Mount Hope Company on Monday received forty-two pounds of amalgam as their share from the first crushing of their rock. This lead has been known for two years, but was partially abandoned, until one of the parties insisted on going down to the depth of one hundred feet, where this rich rock was discovered. It and the Columbia appears to be the same ledge. The latter sell their rock at the shaft for fifty dollars per ton. The Jewel is said to be worth one hundred and fifty dollars at the shaft—several mill men contending for it. Mrs. McDowell sold one hundred feet of this ground last week for ten thousand dollars. The Winnemucca and Robin Hood are not yet fully tested, but can sell their rock at a fair price. Hovilton & Callahan have taken a contract to go down fifty feet on the latter ledge for the quartz taken out. The McMahon, Governor Downey No. 1 and 2, Barna and McKay and several other ledges prospect remarkably well.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION.—The new steamer Banner, Captain Pierce, left the levee at seven o'clock on Saturday morning for Bidwell's Landing, on the upper Sacramento. At about dusk on Saturday evening she met the steamer Swan, Captain Rogers, about seven miles above Colusa. The meeting was unexpected and the boats were close together before either was seen by the officers of the other. The Banner struck the Swan midships on the port side, and damaged her so seriously that it was found necessary to beach her as quickly as possible to save her from sinking. She was so far repaired during the night as to be able to reach the city at about noon yesterday. After landing her passengers and freight at the levee she was taken over to Washington for repairs. The Banner was known to be an opposition boat, but she was not understood to be either a Merrimac, a Monitor or a Hollins Turtle. From her achievement in this affair, and from the fate of the first of the enemy which she encountered, we shall feel compelled on her return to make another examination of her model and construction. If iron clad, or steel pointed, or equipped with a steam battery, we are determined that the community shall know it.—Union.

UNPRECEDENT EXTRAVAGANCE.—In direct violation of a statute law, both branches of the Legislature, yesterday, says the Call, voted by resolution, some $1000 extra pay to their Clerks, Pages and Porters. In the Assembly two clerks who have been receiving $6 per day during the entire session, were voted $2 per day from the commencement of the session, and smaller amounts appropriated to other attaches. The fever ran so high in reckless squanderings of the public funds in this manner, that a member became so disgusted as to offer a resolution giving an extra $2 a day to each member and attachee of the House. It was, however, declared out of order by the Chair, and our only wonder is that an appeal was not taken from the decision of the Chair, and the resolution adopted. Both Houses have used up their Contingent Funds to twice their usual amount, and on yesterday they passed a Bill voting themselves an additional Contingent Fund of $6000 each.

THE editor of the Nashville Republican Banner has been arrested and imprisoned by order of Military Governor Johnson, of Tennessee. The cause of the arrest is that the general tone of the paper is inimical to the Government of the United States. In consequence of the arrest, the paper has been suspended. The Banner was one of the oldest papers in Tennessee, having been in existence over half a century.

SECRETARY Stanton has ordered that any person caught cutting the telegraph wires used by the army, shall be shot down on the spot. One scamp detected in such an act in Virginia was so served.

MAJOR Lecomte, of the Swiss army, who was attached to Gen. McClellan's staff, has been called home by his Government, to the regret of the latter gentleman, as expressed in a complimentary letter.

SALMON RIVER AND CARIBOO.—Since the beginning of the present month, 2100 persons have left San Francisco, by sea-going vessels, for the above destination and neighboring localities.

STOCKTON.—During the year ending May 1st there were exported from Stockton, wheat, barley, wool, hides wood, flour, etc., to the value of $174,000. The imports of lumber amount to 850,000,000 of feet.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of May 22nd:

NEW YORK, May 16.—General Hunter's proclamation, alluded to yesterday, is as follows:

The three States of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, comprising the Military Department of the South, having declared themselves no longer under the protection of the United States, it becomes a military duty to declare martial law. This was accordingly done April 25th. Slavery and martial law in a free country are altogether incompatible.

Captain Rufus Saxton, of the army, has been appointed Military Governor of the Department of the South, which includes the whole district of Gen. Hunter's command. He left for Port Royal yesterday.

CHICAGO, May 16.—In the Senate, yesterday, McDougal, from a Special Committee, reported back the Pacific Railroad Bill and moved that it be made the special order for Thursday.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Specials to the New York papers say a few days since a thousand slaves, as if by preconcerted movement, simultaneously left their homes in Prince George county, Md., and came to the District of Columbia, where they now are.

The provisions of the Homestead Bill agreed upon by the Committee of Conference extended to all in the military and naval service of the United States, whether naturalized or not.

The President has issued a proclamation declaring that the blockade of the Ports of Beaufort, Port Royal and New Orleans shall so far cease from the first of June next that commercial intercourse, except as to that of contraband of war, may from that time be carried on, subject to the laws of the United States.

Postal arrangements with Norfolk will soon be re-established.

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—Since the departure of Gen. Curtis' army from Southwest Missouri the rebels in Northwestern Arkansas have been emboldened to renew operation. Letters of a recent date from Cassville state that an attack from the rebels was hourly expected.

The papers acknowledge a loss of six killed and wounded in the engagement at Ft. Darling, below Richmond.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—In the battle of Williamsburg the First Regiment of Sickles' Brigade lost two field officers, 21 company officers, and 400 out of 800 men killed or wounded.

The War Department has received a dispatch from McClellan which says:

The gunboats Galena, Monitor, Arctostock, Naugatuck and Port Royal were repulsed from Fort Darling, seven miles below Richmond, on Friday. A portion have returned to Jamestown Island, near Williamsburg. Seventeen men have already been buried, and a number were wounded aboard the vessels.

The loss of our forces at Williamsburg sums up near 2,500 killed, wounded and missing. The rebels must have lost 3,000. We have over 700 prisoners, besides 800 of their wounded. They captured one of our batteries, and made good their evacuation. On the other hand, we have their formidable line works, siege guns and position.

Specials to the New York papers state that the President says Gen. Hunter's proclamation was issued without his knowledge or authority. He is much exercised in mind about it, and says Gen. Hunter was specially enjoined not to meddle with political matters.

Governor Stanly arrived to-night from California.

In the Senate the Committee on Judiciary reported a bill to-day (May 15) different from that passed by the House, to prevent and punish polygamy. The bill repeals all Acts of the Utah Legislature which establish a continuance of polygamy, evasively called spiritual marriage, however disguised by ecclesiastical solemnities.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The Memphis Appeal of the 15th contains a dispatch stating that General Butler, on the 11th, took possession of the offices of the Consuls of the Netherlands, France, and Spain, and took from the former the key of the vault of the Canal Bank, and removed therefrom $800,000, placed there to be remitted to Amsterdam, for payment of interest of bonds.

The Vicksburg Citizen of the 12th says that the latest heard from the Federal gunboat fleet below, was that they were between Ft. Adams and Tunica, in the vicinity of Rod river.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 20.—The gunboat Rhode Island, from New Orleans on the 8th, Pensacola on the 11th, and Port Royal on the 18th, has arrived. She brings forty or fifty naval officers captured New Orleans. Among them are several Lieutenants formerly of the United States Navy.

General Phelps advanced to Carrolton, Miss., five miles up the river, and occupied the place. There was very little public demonstration of Union feeling, in consequence of the uncertainty in reference to the future; but under the firm course of Gen. Butler, business was slowly reviving and the city gradually becoming quiet.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A dispatch from Fortress Monroe to-day says: The Oriental in which Gen. Saxton, Military Governor of South Carolina, sailed for Port Royal, was wrecked on Friday night, 33 miles north of Cape Hatteras. The passengers and crew were saved. A portion of the cargo was lost.

TUNSTALL STATION, Va., May 20.—The advance under Gen. Stoneman reached Coal Harbor, on the road to Richmond, via New Bridge, yesterday, where it found the enemy in force. He drove their pickets within two miles of the main body, and encamped for the night.

Richmond papers of the 16th contain correspondence between the Virginia Legislature and Jeff. Davis, in relation to the movements of the rebel army. He states that he never entertained the thought of withdrawing the army from Virginia or abandoning the State; that, in course of events, the Capitol should fall—a necessity which he did not anticipate—that would be no reason for the withdrawal of the army from the State.

The papers acknowledge a loss of six killed and wounded in the engagement at Ft. Darling, below Richmond.

The advance under Gen. Stoneman reached New Bridge yesterday, within eight miles of Richmond, and found no enemy in force this side of Chickahominy, at which point is a small creek. Six pieces of artillery were found posted on the opposite bank, but his purpose not being to bring on a general engagement, he retired and encamped for the night.

The whole army moved this morning early, with the intention of making a lengthy march. What roads they took it is not necessary to mention; but the headquarters of McClellan to-night are within a short distance of Richmond, in front of which city is supposed to be encamped the main body of the rebel army.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Commodore Porter left Ship Island on the 7th, with a steamer belonging to the mortar fleet, for Mobile Bar, for the purpose of fixing the place for mortar vessels, and to plant buoys, so as to enable ships to run in when they should arrive.

CAIRO, May 21.—Memphis papers of the 17th announce the arrival of the Federal fleet at Vicksburg, Miss., and they had met with no successful resistance. Fort Adams is a hundred miles below Vicksburg, and the presumption is that a fight had taken place there.

ROLLA, Mo., May 20.—A train of 17 wagons, laden with Government stores, left here on Monday, and was overtaken to-day, when about 20 miles out on the Springfield road, by a band of guerrillas, who burned the wagons and contents, and carried off the mules, eighty-six in number.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Scotia, with Liverpool dates to the 10, has arrived.

The Sumter remained at Gibraltar.

In the House of Commons, Layard stated that as far as the English Government knew, Mercier's visit to Richmond was without instructions from France, and was attended with no political result whatever.

A correspondent of the Index, the new Confederate organ asserts that Mercier was under instructions to ascertain certain points and will report in person to the Emperor.

The Independence Belge asserts that the object of Lavallette's recent visit to England was to induce England to consent to a common intervention in American affairs.

Layard, in announcing the conclusion of the slave trade treaty in the Commons, said its conditions gave every reason to hope that the traffic would be effectually suppressed.

The Times, editorially speaking of the distress in Lancashire, says: "It is for the honor of the nation that this distress be known so that the world may see the sacrifices made for neutrality."

The Times regards the new slave trade treaty as the first fruits of secession, but says it is not a blow at the South but a victory over the North.

The Paris correspondent of the Herald says it is beyond question that the recognition of the South is seriously contemplated by the French Government.

THE Knight's Landing Hotel.

A CLERICAL REBUKE.—People who go out of church before the benediction, ought to have the old Scotch clergyman, of whom this story is told, speak to them. The ancient reverend had just raised his hands to give the parting blessing, when the noise of the escaping multitude attracted his attention and disturbed the quiet of the church. Quietly opening his eyes, he thus addressed the door-keeper, and effectually stopped the practice, for that day at any rate, "And now, John, open the doors and let the cursed people who don't want the blessing retire!"

BE not above your profession, and always consider it as the first any man can follow. Never shrink from doing anything which your business calls you to do. The man who is above his business may one day find his business above him.

It isn't enough that men and women should be of the true metal; they should also be well tempered.
