File No: SC MC GJF/amk Subject: Long Distance Telephone Service

Note No	From: C/S	To: All Staff Sections, GHQ, FEC and SCAP	Date: 2 January 1950

1 1. Studies of traffic being routed over long distance facilities throughout Japan, and especially traffic originating from the Tokyo area, disclose many discrepancies which reduce the value of the toll systems in use, and result in excessive costs to the Occupation. Among the most flagrant of these discrepancies are the following:

a. A high percentage of personal calls during normal duty hours; although personal long distance telephone calls initiated by members of the Occupation Forces or their dependents are "authorized" in that such calls may utilize Occupation Force long distance facilities, personal calls will not interfere with the conduct of official business. Except in emergencies, personal long distance calls will be placed prior to 0700 and after 1700.

b. Use of the Allied Force Toll System when adequate facilities are afforded by the Occupation Force Toll System; All authorized long distance telephone calls originated in the Tokyo area will be placed with the Occupation Force Toll System Operator by dialing 2633. If routing over the Japanese commercial toll system is required, it will be effected by the Occupation Force Toll Operator.

c. Excessive holding time per call: All telephone calls must be limited to the absolute minimum to insure availability of circuits to all users. Subject matter to be discussed by telephonic means should be organized for presentation prior to initiating the call.

d. Use of Occupation Force telephone facilities by indigenous personnel: Indigenous personnel (servants, clerical personnel, etc.) are not authorized use of Occupation Force indigenous telephone facilities, except when such use is in the performance of their duties. When so used, verbal authorization will be indicated by an accredited member of the Occupation Forces.

2. Definitions:

a. Occupation Force Toll System: A system of sequestered and leased indigenous telephone long distance circuits used exclusively for Occupation Force authorized telephone toll calls.

b. Allied Force Toll System (AF Call): A special facility for routing Occupation Force authorized telephone toll calls over the regular Japanese commercial telephone toll system to handle overflow

2 1. Ref paragraph 2a Note 1 supra. Point to point telephone circuits between the various local CIC Headquarters and local Japanese Police are militarily essential for the following reasons:

a. A considerable number of police officials furnish information to CIC and many of these officials refuse to risk compromise by communicating with CIC over commercial telephone lines. The possibility of compromise arises from the existance of intermediate switchboards and operators, which are not used on direct circuits.

b. Rapid contact is often imperative between the Japanese Police and the CIC to transmit valuable intelligence information and the use of commercial lines is usually not suitable for this purpose.

c. In the event that commercial telephone lines for some reason are rendered unserviceable, point to point circuits supplemented by use of the Japanese Police Radio will permit communication between Japanese Police and CIC and enable Hq 441 CIC to contact subordinate units through the Japanese Police in an emergency.

2. Ref paragraph 2b Note 1 supra. It is felt by this headquarters that since ultimately all of the benefits of the circuits will accrue to the whole of the Japanese people, all of the yen costs should be borne by the Japanese Government, and not the Japanese Police who have a very limited budget.

CHECK SHEET

(Do not remove from attached sheets)

File No: AG 676.1 (21 Jun 49)SC MC Subject: Review of Indigenous Telephone Facilities

Note No.	From: Chief of Staff To: All Staff Sections, GHQ, SCAP & FEC Date: 8 July 1949
1	1. In accordance with the policy enunciated in Letter, GHQ SCAP, AG 400.12 (14 Feb 49)GD, subject: Procurement Policy in Relation to the Stabilization of the Japanese Economy, 14 Feb 1949, technical studies and reviews have been conducted to develop maximum economies in the utilization and reservation of indigenous telephone facilities for occupation use. These studies and reviews indicate that offices, quarters and other buildings have been vacated with no action taken to effect prompt disconnection, removal or move of telephone facilities which are involved. Further, requests for additional new service continue to be received, causing the reservation of excessive amounts of telephone facilities for occupation requirements. These conditions result in costs to the occupation over and above that required for normal telephone facilities and deprive the Japanese the use thereof. 2. In order to alleviate these unfavorable conditions and to lessen the demands on the Japanese economy, it is desired that each staff section: a. Conduct a survey of telephone facilities presently in use, with a view to elimination of all unessential services. b. Make greater use of extensions to existing lines, rather than request installation of new main lines. c. Review allocations of occupation force telephone facilities granted commercial and quasi-official governmental agencies under the cognizance of individual staff sections. Future allocation of such facilities should be closely scrutinized to assure adherence to the economy program. 3. The Signal Officer, Headquarters & Service Group, telephone 26-5853, is prepared to lend technical assistance in planning telephone layouts. 4. FEC AGO Form 80 (Rev 14 Oct 47), Request for Telephone Service in Offices or Quarters, copy attached, coverting the installation, moving, removal, etc. of telephone facilities, should be forwarded to the Signal Officer, Headquarters & Service Group, 72 hours in advance of necessary changes. E. M. A.
