is addition to the account of the melancholy suicide, published in yesterday's paper, we glean the following particulars from the Boston papers. Carter, in his letter to Mr. Bradice, states that he had been unfortunate, was tired of the world, and took this mode of releasing himself from the influence of diseases arising from a plethoric state of the world. Bradice is an an an all that they have usually occurred under the influence of diseases arising from a plethoric state of the blood vessels, such as appoplexy, convulsions and that they occurred under the brain and heart. There can be no doubt the trinity chusch. The young lady also left a letter, in her own handwring, begging her parents' forgiveness for the act of despiration. Verbal rumors were current, in Boston, that Mr.

Mr Clay then remarked, that he could not be present at these evening sessions, for he had found it impossible to breathe the impure air of the Senate Chamber after dinner. He had been twice compelled to absent himself from the Senate in the evening; and lest night he was prevented from giving the vote which be would have given with pleasure, in favor if, the bill which had then been passed. But he desired that an experiment should be made to-day, by which is might be tested whether there was any probability of a final action on the Tariff during this accision. It is would therefore move to postpone the further consideration of this motion until to-morrow. Perhaps by that times bethap by three o'clock to-day, it would be seen whether there was any prospect of acting finally on this subject at the present session. He concluded with making his motion to postpone.

(a so t o of Mr. Burtle, the resolution was amended by fixing from 111 to 121 o'clock as the hour and the motion was adopted.

Mr. Nicholas of the committee appointed to examine the affairs of the Louisiana Rank, reads the following reports.

Mr. Chay the remarked, that he could not be present at impassible to the control of the process too, no doubt for a time, might have contained handsome premiums, for a renewal of fier stock, but when the emergeniums, for a renewal of fier stock, but when the emergeniums, for a renewal of fier stock, but when the emergenium, and conserved the conserved of the first series of processinating her payments, under specious pretexts. Louisiana is placed in the situation, that renders the renewal the renewal most obvious policy to guard most sedulously her clearacter for punctuality. With many pledges such as the one under consideration and with the property of the course of procrastination be one entered on, where will it stop!—The many reasons that may always be offered in favour of delay, if once listened to, will acquire will be established, if it be followed, an accumulated distriction will first of the state in the first of many series of bonds of opinion that as this is the first of many series of bonds of opinion that as this is the first of many aeries of bonds of opinion that as this is the first of many series of bonds of opinion that as this is the first of many series of bonds of the policy which will be pursued towards it, that first of policy which will be pursued towards the others, vitis—to redeem the pledge, by punctual payment. Such are the views of the committee in relation to the defering the effect the measure might have on the credit of the state. In other points of view, the measure would seem also to be injudicious. The seventh section of the charter provid-s that no part of the dividend shall be applied to the current purposes of the state till the first series of bonds be pard. Under such as arrangement the state would derive no benefic the reasons as might induce the present proposed postponement, might recommend a similar course as to that. In short, the whole Limits the first region was, that is made the read with the Table of the bright and first the content of the bright and the street of the promiser of content to the bright and the street of the promiser of content to the bright and the street of the promiser of content to the street of the promiser of the stre

With regard to the sale of the interest of the state in the bank, it will be seen that there is a material difference of pipirion between the treasurer and the bank, as to its value.
