LIBERALS WILL HAVE 24 MEMBERS IN THE NEXT LEGISLATURE

EFFICIENCY, ECONOMY,
INTEGRITY, PROGRESS

J. A. MACDONALD.

Physically a very sick man, but buoyant in spirits and confident of the result of to-morrow's vote, the Liberal leader, J. A. Macdonald, left New Denver for his home last night. He had just completed a fight worthy of Highland blood, and of the name he bears—a name which is a happy augury of political success.

Wednesday's issue of the Nelson Canadian, the rabid Tory campaign sheet, in its report of the Greenwood meeting, pays a notable tribute to the Liberal leader, Macdonald, who it says is an able man, conscientiously present-

Careful Estimate Indicates That Liberal Leader, MACDONALD SAYS
J. A. Macdonald, Will Have a Good Working Majority.

"AN EASY WIN"

Grave Contingency Which a Continuation of the McBride-Hawthornthwaite Rule Would Create.

British Columbia has reached the eve of election. The hour of consideration has passed; the time for action has come. Vague appeals to "let well enough alone," and stupid efforts to convince the public that a business and financial cataclysm will follow the advent of a Liberal Government to-morrow, shoud, to the thoughtful electors of the province, only emphasize the real danger which is imminent. To the sober-minded men of the community, from the honest day laborer to the captain of industry, the greatest evil to this country for the next four years lies in the possibility of an irresponsible, reactionary and numerically insignificant minority of the people controlling the government and placing its fell impress on our legislation.

Such was the result of the election of 1903, when Richard McBride, in a desperate effort to retain office, sold the Conservatives as well as the country at large to men who are at war with British systems of government and who would haul down a flag which, for a thousand years, has been the proud emblem not only of liberty but of sane and stable government.

Here is what Wm. Davidson, a Socialist member of the last House, says on that point:—

"A Bills prepared by the government had to be submitted to the Socialist members before they were brought before the House."

This was the record from 1903 to 1907! What is the prospect for the four years from 1907 forward, and what significance has it for the man who, to-morrow, is inclined to mark his ballot for a McBride candidate?

Richard McBride can, under no circumstances, secure a majority of straight supporters.

If a sufficient number of radical Socialists are returned who, added to the government supporters, will give Mr. McBride a majority of even one he will accept power at their hands. That means four more long years of Hawthornthwaite—a domination intolerable to British people.

On the other hand, J. A. Macdonald, the Liberal chief believes, and an analysis of the situation will bear out his prediction, that he will have twenty-four members in the next House.

If he has not a clear working majority, he states distinctly he will at once resign and ask the country for a majority which will lift the government of this country on to a self-respecting basis.

Does any man doubt that in the event of such an appeal that he will get the required majority?

The better way, the shrewd way, is to vote the solid Liberal tickets to-morrow and give him that majority NOW.

The great body of Liberalism, of Labor, of Conservatism, should recognize the situation.

To the Liberals Macdonald stands for economy, uprightness, efficiency and progress—four cardinal Liberal planks.

To Labor, he stands for a "square deal"—without demagogism or clap-trap—what J. A. Macdonald says he will do he will do.

To Conservatives he promises at least government on patriotic and rational lines and in antagonism to forces which Conservatives and Liberals have unitedly fought in the past—the foes of the constitution. Premier McBride has treacherously betrayed many people, but none more than those whose titular chieftain he seized to become the legislative record and mouthpiece of a type of Socialism abhorrent even to the more reasonable men who subscribe to the general tenets of that faith.

For three and a half years the country has groaned under this thraldom.

Electors of British Columbia:

Attend Liberal Smoker To-Night.

THE OSTRICH.

The stupidity of the ostrich which, when hardly pressed, buries its head in the sand, under the impression that it is safe, has become proverbial. How like the ostrich is the utterance of Hon. F. Carter Cotton relative to the Caron-Green scandal, when he says: "You must, however, remember that Green is no longer a member of the government, and this matter should not be taken as reflecting on the present government. Rather should it reflect credit on us that he is no longer with us."

M'GILL SECURED LARGE AMOUNT

MANY VICTIMS OF MONTREAL DEFALCER

Shipments of Ore From Cobalt—
Compulsory Arbitration in Labor Disputes.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—As the investigation into the affairs of W. J. McGee, the self-confessed defaulter treasurer of the People's Mutual Building Society, progresses, it reveals an astounding state of affairs. It is now estimated that McGee's stealings will reach a quarter of a million dollars, only a small part of which the society will lose. McGee succeeded in getting thousands of dollars from individuals, and many prominent citizens are heavy losers. The failure of Colin Campbell, one of the oldest established florists of the city, is due to McGee's work. A movement is on foot to have the attorney-general's department take the matter up.

Farther Hilary Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—Father—Hilary, superior of the Franciscan fathers who three years ago were driven out of France, and who since that time have been the head of the Montreal branch of the order, died today. He was 44 years of age and had been ill a month.

Arbitration.

Winnipeg, Jan. 31.—A resolution was introduced into the legislature to-day asking that a memorial be presented to the Dominion government praying that a compulsory arbitration act governing all labor disputes be placed on the statute-book.

Municipal Statistics.

Winnipeg, Jan. 31.—The secretary said on the table of the legislature to-day the report of the department of the municipal commissioner. In the statistics were the following: There were 52,735 resident farmers, and out of a total census in the municipality of 17,004,974 acres there were 4,646,475 acres under cultivation, the number of sheep was 18,065, horses, 184,444, cattle, 45,862, pigs, 120,828. Assessment of real and personal property was $181,973,875, including Winnipeg $60,411,725; Brandon City $6,862,922; Portage la Prairie district $2,640,539; Portage la Prairie town $2,499,239. The taxes imposed were $4,337,513.06 (including Portage la Prairie $1,141,158.57); Brandon City $1,311,739; Portage la Prairie town, $58,256.76; Portage la Prairie town, $488,262; and St. Boniface $480,300.63; Franklin $97,356.83; Minnedosa town, $70,300; and Neepawa, $70,000.

Caught in Blizzard.

Swift Current, Sask., Jan. 31.—A young homesteader named Stan, about fifteen miles south of Gulf lake, has been severely frozen, and is in a precarious condition. It is supposed that he was in his stable on Wednesday last when the blizzard started and made for his shack, which is about forty rods from his stable, and became bogged in the storm; he lost his way.

Cattle-Dying.

Medicine Hat, Jan. 31.—The cattle situation is desperate, and although it is chokinck to day, the warm weather has come too late to be of much use. Many cattle have died in the streets of the city, after drifting in along the trails from the prairie.

Ore Shipments.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The total shipments from Cobalt for the first four weeks of January were 1,713,198 pounds or 877 tons of ore, the estimated value of which is placed at $1,500,000.

Colon Bogert Dead.

Bellefonte, Ont., Jan. 31.—Rev. Canon Bogert, for 28 years rector of St. Thomas church, died in Carlton Place on Wednesday night of jaundice. He was 57 years old.

It is believed to-night that the twelfth Juror will be picked to-morrow, but the uncertainty as to the term of service of any juror now on the trial panel is so strong that predictions are all but worthless.

District Attorney Jerome announced to-day that he had decided not to make the opening address to the jury. He will turn the task over to his assistant, Francis P. Garvan, who has had immediate charge of Thaw's case ever since the night of the roof garden especially appeared surprised.

Two of the three new jurors added to the panel were seated at the morning session. They are Oscar Pink, a salesman, 65 years of age, who replaces Walker as No. 4; Wilbur S. Steel, a manufacturer, about 30 years of age, who replaced Mr. Haas as No. 5. The juror obtained during the afternoon to replace Mr. Kleinberger as No. 1 is Joseph B. Bolton, 57 years old.

That none of the ninety men who were in the mine when the disaster occurred escaped death now seems certain, and the rescuing parties are looking for more bodies as they advance.

Instant death appears to have overcome all the miners, and a thorough investigation will be necessary as to the exact cause of the disaster.

London, Jan. 31—King Edward and Queen Alexandra are to spend a week in Canada before the opening of parliament. Their Majesties start on February 2nd, returning February 8th. Their trip is described as being personal and private. It is, however, supposed that the previous visits of King Edward to Paris have been followed by the strengthening of the Anglo-French understanding and the general impression is that the present visit will assist in the extension of the understanding which some believe will result in an Anglo-French military convention.

THE DUTY OF ELECTORS

"A campaign of slander and scandal," the Colonist mourns as it gathers its rhetorical robes around its figures of questionable responsibility. We are constrained to wonder what kind of a campaign the Conservative party would have carried on had it had half the opportunity the Liberals have had in dealing with the record of the McBride government. We can well see our contemporary something it knows well and that the public also knows well, that the Times has dealt very tenderly with Premier McBride and with the late Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works and their proved connection with the most disreputable band of scoundrels that ever dared to show their hands in this or in any other province of the Dominion, or in any country in the world (or that matters). In consequence of personal appeals and out-of-court regard for the parties concerned, we have suppressed much that might have been exposed, and would have been exposed with unholy glee if the circumstances of the political parties had been reversed (something of course that is inconceivable).

We say, therefore, that everything that has been published about the Kain Island deal is absolutely true and according to the records.

That the Kitimat scandal involving the transfer to favorites of reserved lands on what was expected to prove the terminus of a transcontinental railway, was even more scandalous in some of its features than the Kain Island affair.

That there was no justification whatever for the bestowal of eight hundred thousand acres of public land upon the Columbia & Western Railway Company, because that company had neither moral nor legal right to such a grant.

That the treatment of the Midway & Vernon Railway Company was clearly unjustifiable and was dictated by the great corporation which, in company with the Socialists, fashioned the policy of the government.

That the late Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works accepted a handsome consideration from a Conservative politician of his own type, which consideration was bestowed for corrupt purposes.

That every single member of the government was aware of the acceptance of $37,000 worth of shares by Mr. Green and sat with him in council for months after becoming cognizant of the facts, and therefore is equally responsible with Mr. Green for the acceptance of the shares, knowing the purpose for which they had been professed and accepted.

That Mr. Green would still have been a member of the government but for the action of certain Conservatives of Vancouver, who became aware of what had occurred and insisted that the cabinet should be purged of a portion of its unclean elements on pain of exposure.

That there is reason to believe that only a particle of the corruption that has been going on in the Lands and Works Department under Mr. Green's administration has been exposed.

That the whole administrative career of the McBride government has brought the province into disrepute and disgrace and that it is now high time the tide of infamy should be permanently stemmed.

That even if the Liberal party under Mr. J. A. Macdonald had no other policy than a policy of cleaning the Lands and Works Department the people of British Columbia would be justified in supporting and electing that candidate of that party.

That the Liberal party has a strong policy which has been clearly outlined during the campaign.

That the Liberal party has in the field to-day a strong force of the ablest men that ever asked for support from the electors of British Columbia.

That the Liberal party will have in the Legislature a contingent of the brightest minds that ever assembled to do business on the right hand of Mr. Speaker.

That in view of what has occurred and what is on the point of being fulfilled it is unquestionably the duty of all patriotic British Columbians of all government during the next four years to vote for Messrs. Drury, Cameron, R. Hall and McNiven, the candidates of the Liberal party and supporters of Mr. J. A. Macdonald.

THE DUTY OF VICTORIANS

Again we are bound to say that stability and confidence are necessary to the business health of British Columbia, a proposition the soundness of which can scarcely be denied. The only matter for the electors to determine is how stability can be secured and confidence produced. It has been asserted and the assertion has not been controverted that during the past three years and a half every measure proposed by the government was prior to its submission to the House laid before the Socialists for their endorsement. That is practically a confession that the three Socialists have controlled the legislative functions which, under a constitutional system of government, we are supposed to enjoy in British Columbia. That is that the McBride administration relinquished its control over legislation for the sake of being permitted to hold office and exercise the administrative duties of a cabinet. Is not that a fair and absolutely correct statement of the position of the McBride government—a position we are surprised to see its supporters have not taken the opportunity of denying?

It is obvious from the course of political events and from the attitude of the McBride initiators that the government has no hope whatever of being able to continue in existence except with the aid it relies upon receiving from Comrade Hawthorne-Waithe and the increased number of supporters he says he will have in the legislature that will be elected to-morrow. While it is apparent that a working arrangement has been entered into between the Conservative party as represented by Premier McBride and the Socialists whereby it is hoped to augment the strength of the revolutionary party, we do not believe the conspiracy will have the result intended. The eyes of the electorate have been opened to the true significance of the entente by the political events of the past three years.

There are strong Liberal candidates in the field in every constituency, and we believe the straight McBride and the Socialist strength will be found to have suffered considerably. But, supposing that, as a consequence of sharing in the campaign fund and in all the appliances Premier McBride has placed at his disposal, Comrade Hawthorne-Waithe should be returned to the Legislature with an increased majority, would that be a consummation the people who desire stability and an increasing confidence of capital could be expected to rejoice over?

The point, therefore, for businessmen and all men engaged in industrial pursuits, of all men who have a real interest in the future of British Columbia, to carefully consider at this critical stage in our history, whether it would be well to place in power a government admittedly dominated by revolutionary Socialists. Can anyone predict with certainty the character of the demands they would make upon the government whose policy they dictated, into what depths they would plunge the province as the price of their support? There is scarcely any doubt that the candidates of the Liberal party will carry a majority of the seats in the province. There are good prospects of the Liberal party securing a safe working majority over the combination that is arrayed against it. All the circumstances considered, therefore, it is necessary to again point out the duty of Victorians. They should turn out to a man and cast their ballots for the candidates of the Liberal party: Messrs. Cameron, Drury, R. Hall and McNiven, not because of a mere mercenary desire to be on the winning side, but because it is a patriotic duty they owe to the whole province, because the record of the government is a disgrace to British Columbia and because to elect a single supporter of it would be a lasting reproach not only to the intelligence of our citizens, but would be a reflection upon their morality.

ELECTION REFLECTIONS.
Ah honest voter cannot endorse shady transactions; if he does he is as guilty as the grafters.

One of the saddest events in British Columbia political life is the banishment of the late Attorney-General and quondam leader of the Liberal party to the placer mines of the interior. His speeches to the electors of that district have not been reported.

The Conservatives will not need to drift into a hole to-morrow. They will be pitched in by the intelligent voters of the province who have no use for perfidious grafters.

One member of the government was cast off, because he was too honest another because—well, for another reason.

A meeting in the interest of John Jardine, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt, will be held this evening in the Lamson street school. The candidate, Dr. Lewis Hall and Mr. McCurdy will speak.

The Times has too high an opinion of the intelligence of the people of British Columbia to imagine that they could be again fooled after the experiences of the past three years.

What will the next Legislature do without Bowes?

An over supply of gall is said to lead to much bitterness. Any person who a city whose interests were thwarted must have. The bitterness will come.

Three prominent Conservatives in Victoria will soon be wishing they had eschewed politics.

So it was Bodwell that saved the country, not McBride.

The McBride government is in desperate straits. The Colonist has resorted to questionable expedients in a despatching effort to stem the tide that is running so strongly against it. During the course of the campaign it has stamped itself as incapable of belief. Therefore anything our contemporary may contain to-morrow, and no doubt it will spring some sensational statements in the hope of catching the votes of credulous electors, should not be considered for a moment.

Mr. Bodwell has spoken on behalf of the McBride government. He might have been expected to display better taste and sounder judgment. But Mr. Bodwell has not dealt with the subject he is understood to be capable of throwing a bright light upon. It remains now for the Colonist to secure interviews with the remaining members of the band of adventurers (male and female). Perhaps it will round off its list to-morrow morning.

The Colonist has made another discovery and surely remarks that "it is only fools who are opposing Premier McBride in the present campaign." Still, that does not satisfactorily explain away the fact that none of the old-line, doctrinaire class of Conservatives are to be found among the ardent supporters of the aspiring Richard.

We are pleased indeed to hear that Premier McBride has completely recovered from his temporary indisposition. If he has, and if he is going to appear at a public meeting in Victoria this evening, he should be eager for the opportunity of meeting Mr. W. W. B. McInnes in debate. If he is not pusillanimous why does he not accept the challenge of the Liberals?

Victorians should not forget that the eyes of the province are upon them. They are expected to do their part in turning out of power the most corrupt and shameless government, on the confession of its own members, that has ever existed.

Electors of Victoria, remember that Premier McBride has been the most implacable enemy of this city who ever sat in the Legislature. Are you going to be cajoled into licking the foot that kicked you?

What is this we hear about the settlement of the Indian reserve question just on the eve of an election? But then is D. M. Eberts, K. C., not going to build a railway to the Mainland also?

The wise elector closes his eyes to all roorbachs.

A CHARACTERISTIC COLONIST ROORBACH

In the Colonist this morning Mayor Morley declares without qualification that "we have letters from the provincial secretary stating that the government is ready and willing to transfer its reversionary rights in the reserve (Songhees) to the municipal corporation."

He elaborates on "the fairness of the government," and speaks of what he intends to do "now that we have been granted the reversionary rights" from the provincial government.

The whole statement is misleadingly if not designedly misleading.

The proposition, while the provincial government has intimated its intention to stand by, in return for the city getting twenty-five acres for park and school purposes, and eighteen acres for terminal purposes, is contained in the agreement submitted to the committee of the city council last year.

In return for this small portion of the reserve the city is forced to agree to return the value of these lands to the government, the sum specified being $30,000.

This is about as near the truth as some of the government champions seem able to get.

A meeting in the interest of John Jardine, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt, will be held this evening in the Lamson street school. The candidate, Dr. Lewis Hall and Mr. McCurdy will speak.

Thor C. Carter, aged 83 years, and a native of Carl County, Ohio, died at his residence, No. 47 Michigan street, this morning. The deceased has been a respected member of the Masonic order in the United States, where he belonged. He lately lived in Spokane and Seattle. He leaves a wife here to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2 p.m. from the parlors of W. J. Hanna, Rev. LeRoy Daken officiating.

The wise elector closes his eyes to all roorbachs.

Cameron, Drury, R. Hall and McNiven voted the solid ticket.

Premier and the Songhees Reserve

R. L. Drury Tells How Mr. McBride
Tried to Help (?)
Victoria.

The attempt to make political capital in favor of the McBride government in connection with the Songhees reserve, at the last moment, is the most extraordinaryfeat yet attempted by the Conservative party in this city.

And R. L. Drury this morning, — They surely must think the people of Victoria have a very short memory, surely the intelligent classes of this city will judge him to be a scoundrel.

One would imagine that gaudy recommendations coming from the Victoria Board of Trade and the Victoria city council ought to have been entitled to at least favorable consideration at the hands of Premier McBride. These two representative bodies recommended to the Unionist government that a lease be granted for a site on the Indian reserve for the British American Paint Company and the B. C. Soap Works (for which they were willing to pay an annual rental of 6 per cent. on the value of the land occupied).

After the matter was referred to Ottawa and the Federal authorities, represented that it was necessary to ask the provincial government to give their assent to the proposal, I was requested to wait upon the premier and present the matter to him and his executive.

In doing so I was not acting in my private capacity, but went as a member for this city backed by the unanimous recommendation of the Victoria city council and the board of trade.

At the first interview I had with the premier urged that there should be no undue delay, but several weeks elapsed before we were able to get even a hearing before the executive, and when the matter finally came up for consideration, and as spokesman for the delegation I pleaded in the strongest possible manner for Premier McBride's co-operation and assent to the proposal. We failed to elicit any answer from him. He attempted to excuse himself on the ground that he wanted full details on the terms of the lease. Weeks before we had given him a map with full description of the proposed site and also stated the rental which the company were willing to pay.

We failed to elicit any answer from him. He attempted to excuse himself on the ground that he wanted full details on the terms of the lease. Weeks before we had given him a map with full description of the proposed site and also stated the rental which the company were willing to pay.

Further than that, as a last resort, in the hope of securing his assent I asked Mr. McBride if he would not at least assent in general terms, to the proposition and reserve to himself the right to approve of the lease before it was finally executed and delivered. This he declined to do, and in an irritated manner said, "I won't give you any answer to-day, and besides I don't forget that the four city members voted against the Songhees Reserve Act in the legislature. This was an act giving the government power to dispose of the Indian reserves by secret order-in-council."

I was certainly more astonished at such a remark, and when I excused myself, I asked the premier the reason — "I am going to be very careful what I do about this reserve."

"It is very strange indeed that notwithstanding that at the very opening of the campaign and at several meetings afterwards I gave this statement to the public, yet no attempt has ever been made to contradict it. My remarks were reported in the Times, and the matter was dealt with editorially by them. The Colonist said that as the premier was out of town they were unable to do with the matter, but surely they could have communicated with the premier, and moreover the premier subsequently returned to the city and gave a lengthy interview to the Colonist. I scanned that interview to see what Premier McBride, who is a candidate for this city, had anything to say on this subject, yet there was not a word of reference to it, and up to this hour no attempt even has been made to refute or confront me on this point.

Yester evening I called upon Mr. McBride, and told him that I had been told that he had given me a statement to the effect that he would not assent to the Songhees Reserve

Act, and I asked him if he would not at least assent in general terms to the proposition and reserve to himself the right to approve of the

and in an irritated manner said, islature."

He then turned and left the room.

I am glad to repeat the formula you desire. It is impossible to say what it will cost, as the price of drugs varies so in different places. Your druggist can easily estimate the expense on reading the prescription.

Dissolve. When this solution is cold, add alcohol, 2 fluid ounces; bicarbonate of mercury and salicylinate, 6 grains each. The last two should be dissolved in the alcohol before adding. Lastly, add enough water to make the whole measure one pint. Fumigate with cologne or lavender water. Mop the hair with the fluid before putting it in the process of cutting.

If you wish a simple hair curler, you can take three tablespooms of quince-seed to a ptl. of hot water. Pour the water over the seeds and let it stand several hours. This mordage may be thinned with water, cologne, and a few drops of violet oil. It will keep for a week. Use about two tablespooms of oil or lavender oil to this mixture. The hair

After an affectionate farewell to the Hudd at Belvoir, Reginald and the Earl Clinton reached London in a few days. Here Lord Rothiemay found that his father was passing a visit to the Fives at Castle Fyvie. His brother Hugh was also at some place in Scotland. The Earl of Avocie telegraphed to his son to come up and join him at Castle Fyvie, where he would be a most welcome guest among old friends. Upon his arrival, nothing indeed could have exceeded the warmth of his reception. It was almost royal. Headed by Mrs. Dombo D., who seemed to have enlisted the whole country side as kilts pipers, and with everyone else a little in the background, the home-coming fugitive from the Dervishes was greeted under a triumphal arch with acclamations at the park gates. Flags were flying; the villagers, who had been entertained to an enormous feast, while at night all the hills in the vicinity of the castle blazed with bonfires. While Bertha was charming and sympathetic in her welcome, she appeared to be a little shy and reserved. Lord Rothiemay had noticed that she seemed to have become older and almost matronly. Mrs. Dombo D., on the other hand, might now almost have passed as the younger of the two sisters. Her complexion had improved; her eye was bright and clear; she was evidently brimful of health, while alert and full of vivacity as ever. In dress her taste was certainly a little bizarre, since the crest and tasset of the Isle Clan largely predominated in her attire. Reginald wondered at this assumption of clan colors by the fair American, but she lost little time in informing Lord Rothiemay that she had, with the compunction of the Earl of Avocie, who was the chief of the Isle, designed her garments with a view to doing him especial honor upon his return. Mrs. Dombo D. naively remarked that no sooner had she learned of his rescue than she had guessed that the sight which would please him most, and make him forget the Nahli patchwork, would be the check pattern which had been associated with his early recollections of home. She had therefore done nothing but travel up and down to the shops in Inverness from the time that she had bidden him farewell.

Finding her thus, Reginald had less hesitation in partly confiding in her, telling Mrs. Dombo D. that he was worried about his father, but owing to differences which he did not care to go into, they could not agree. In any case, he said, he was resolved to help the Earl by becoming independent of him, the more so in order that he could employ a little capital at his disposal in helping his father out. For himself, he had an idea what to do, and had already been in communication with the subject—the trouble was that his father would not, far, allow himself to be helped, except in a manner with which he was unable to understand. Mrs. Dombo D. was most sensible, saying that, were she in Lord Rothiemay's place, she would do the same thing herself, telling him further not to worry about his father, but to leave him to her. She declared that she understood the Earl and his idiosyncrasies better than anybody, and she would bring him round to see the wisdom of the course their Reginald had shaped out for himself.

When Rothiemay eventually took his departure, he left the Earl of Avocie still in the attitude of armed neutrality which he had thought fit to assume. To Mrs. Dombo D., however, he said farewell with feelings of gratitude, as he felt more than ever convinced that she was really attached to the Earl, and that her volatile, ebullient spirit was more to whom she had already attached herself, proved a firm friend. Her last words to himself were: "Well, goodbye, Lord Rothiemay. Don't forget that I feel a mother to you, and you are in difficulties, come to me. I'll look after the old man, you bet your life."

Rothiemay laughed, and congratulated Mrs. Dombo D. upon the success of her efforts, for she certainly had contrived to look very attractive. When being amused, he was often rather pleased, for he had, with so long at the neck and on the harbors of England, of whom he had seen the fierce and eyes-sore, that it came as a new sensation to find that people had been laughing at him. He had already made friends to himself.

"Well, goodbye, Lord Rothiemay. Don't forget that I feel a mother to you, and you are in difficulties, come to me. I'll look after the old man, you bet your life."

Reginald could not help laughing as he looked at the fresh young face, and said, smilingly to his mother:

As it happened, Lord Rothiemay had learned through an old friend that the chair in Amiens and Persia had become vacant at the London University. No sooner had he arrived in town than he was able to prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that he was eminently qualified to occupy the vacant post, to which he was duly elected by his father. All that he possessed, however, was a few pounds in his pocket, and he had no money to buy him a coat or a hat. The accompanying ballot is the one that will be used in the elections on Saturday.

It was designed by J. D. McNiven, one of the Liberal candidates in Victoria, and, as will be readily seen, makes a mistake in marking almost impossible.

The above has been marked in the interests of Victoria and of good government.

Electors, cast your vote as above for the men who will not betray the interests of the city.

It is not to be imagined that the hero of the ballot, John McNiven, among the many candidates, was the only one to drop in the bucket, and to be eliminated. The nature of the ballot, however, was such that it was, in effect, a lottery, and the person who got the winning ticket was destined to be the victor. In this he was, as it turned out, successful.

Owing to his ill-health, however, the former before the election date, he had to give up his seat, and was succeeded by the member for the constituency, Mr. W. G. Thompson, who was a man of great energy and ability, and who became a prominent factor in the political life of the city.

He had, however, had a very successful political career, but was, throughout the winter, the Earl of Mithie, a man of great energy and ability, and who became a prominent factor in the political life of the city.

MAYNARD &amp; SON, AUCTIONEERS.

No alliance with those revolutionists who would destroy our system of government and haul down our flag; but on the contrary, co-operation with that great body of labor which would reform abuses in a constitutional way.—J. A. Macdonald

Mr. Watterson took exception to Mr.

Macdonald's definition of Socialism, which he said was anarchists.

At the outside he gave a history of the labor party, concluding for it joint ship with the English Labor party, and that of New Zealand. Referring to the Colonist's cartoon yesterday he claimed it was the first time in the his history of British Columbia that the publicans had given the portrait of their ruler, the Labor party.
