LOSS OF THE STEAMER LIONESS. LOSS OF THE STEAMER LIONESS.

The following distressing account of the loss of the meanbook LIONESS, esptain War. L. Cockessles, on her passage from this port to Nachitoches, was brought by the Huror after the paper was ready for press.—Bulletts.

The steambook Lioness, Wm. L. Cockessle, masten, on her passage from New-Orleans to Natchinches, took fire when about 40 miles above Alexandria on Red River, and was entirely consumed. The lives of 15 or 16 individuals were list, and as many others were more or less weended. was enemy sometimed. I no lives or 12 or 14 instruments were lost, and as many others were more or less weemded. It construed about 5 o'clock on the morning of May 19, when but firm had left their births, which accounts in part of the construed death.

The boat and cargo went down near the spet, and river, and are entirely lost.

Much credit in due to the inhabitants near the spet, and a Plaissance, for their prompt assistance in saving those at Plaissance, for their prompt assistance in saving those and hospitality to the wounded, and for their liberality ness and hospitality to the wounded, and for their liberality ness and hospitality to the wounded, and for their liberality ness and hospitality to the wounded, and for their liberality ness and hospitality to the wounded, and for their liberality smaller vessels of war on the Bermada station could be more than accordance of his major type smaller vessels of war on the Bermada station could be be the country of the lost boat.
