INTRODUCTION

This bibliography was compiled for the express purpose of aiding research by those in the "front line" of providing health services for American Indians and Alaska Natives. A previous bibliography by M.V. Barrow, J.S. Niswander, and R. Fortuine, "Health and Disease of American Indians North of Mexico: A Bibliography 1800-1969" has been of great help to me for my own research. Therefore, I have drawn freely from their format as well as from their inspiration for this compilation.

Citation Sources:

The majority of these references are from the computerized data base of the National Library of Medicine (NLM), (i.e. MEDLINE and CATLINE), plus citations and abstracts from the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) of the U.S. Department of Commerce. Certain additional sources not indexed by the above services were searched manually: The Proceedings of the United States Public Health Service Professional Association, The White Cloud Journal of American Indian/Alaska Native Mental Health, The Indian Historian, Human Organization, Medical Anthropology, Today's Health, HSMA World, Histocompatibility, Tissue Antigens, Nutrition Planning, etc. Private files and published references in books and journal articles available to me were additional resources. The National Health Information Clearinghouses of the Department of Health Services were especially helpful in providing references.

Citation Format:

Titles are printed in capital letters to aid the busy practitioner to quickly locate the subject of interest. This format was my personal preference and is not in standard usage.

Subject Categories.

The organization of the subject sections reflects the interests of the author. Citations were often assigned to each category on the basis of the title alone. Abstracts and reprints of the references were used, but these resources were not available for all citations. I am solely responsible for errors of judgment. For those citations I judged to be of primary clinical interest (see Chapter 5), I used the Disease Index of the International Classification of Diseases 9th Revision, Clinical Modification (I.C.D. 9 CM) as a guide to assign citations to subject headings. The cross indices were compiled in a similar manner and will necessarily suffer from errors of judgment and omission, especially when only titles were available to categorize.

Omissions:

An effort was made to exclude references for which it is difficult to obtain the complete text.

Unpublished manuscripts such as graduate degree theses, research papers, and "throw away" publications (such as newspapers, popular magazines, etc.) are usually not included. An effort was made to exclude references in foreign languages unless an abstract in English was included. References about Indians south of the United States were usually excluded unless they were also quoted by authors of studies on subjects with few other references. Papers published in proceedings of foreign held meetings were usually excluded.

The majority of exclusions were based on the subjective judgment that the references were more or less irrelevant to present day health problems.

Finally, all otherwise suitable references published in 1969 were excluded if they were included in the Barrow, Niswander, and Fortune Bibliography.

Notations used in citations:

1. N.T.I.S. is the abbreviation for National Technical Information Service. Lengthy abstracts and some manuscripts are available for all references ending with the N.T.I.S. code number (see below for address).
2. Journal Abbreviations are used by MEDLINE, if indexed by the N.L.M.
3. (Abstract Only) means that only a short paragraph on the subject will be found in the cited reference. For further information, the author may be contacted through the USPHS Commissioned Officer Directory or the Headquarters of the Indian Health Service, if the source is in the proceedings of the USPHS Professional Association.

Cross Indices:

Citations listed under the various indices in the bibliography are regrettably incomplete due to lack of information about many references. In the index by tribe, only citations that were known to be primarily about a single tribe or a few tribes are listed. Citations under the heading "General" contain information about five or more tribes and should be consulted if the subject is of interest.

Sources for Research Assistance:

(current as of 9/30/87)

1. The Native American Research Information Service (N.A.R.I.S.) provides extensive consultation for research, location services, a computerized citation listing, plus abstracts of all published articles about Indian health. There is no charge to IHS staff or tribal employees. Address: University of Oklahoma, 555 Constitution Avenue, Norman, OK 73037. Telephone: (405)325-1711.
2. The National Center for American Indian and Alaska Native Mental Health Research (formerly called the "White Cloud Center"). This center has a citation service and will assist researchers in many ways, including consultations and fellowships. Their data base contains many unpublished documents as well as articles published in sources that are not indexed by the National Library of Medicine. Address: Director, Dr. Spero Manson, Department of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, University of Colorado, C-249-4000 E. Ninth Avenue, Denver, CO 80262. Telephone: (303)270-4600.

3. The National Technical Information Service (NTIS), U.S. Department of Commerce. They have published four books of abstracts about American Indian project reports from grants and other studies financed by federal money. These books cover all projects involving American Indians on Reservation lands, and some have a direct relationship to health. Many reports later become articles published in professional journals [Vol. 1, NTIS/PS 77-0894, $28 (1964-1975); Vol. 2, NTIS/PB 80/890125, $28 (1976-1979); Vol. 3, PB 82-808783, $45 (1976-1980); Vol. 4, PB 82-808791, $45 (1981-Mar.-1982)].

The (NTIS) will also provide copies of the complete project report, if available, and can do citation searches for a charge. Address: Springfield, VA 22161. Telephone: (703)487-4650.

4. Professional Associations (AMA; A.C.F.P., ANA, etc.) Many professional associations offer citation searches and reprint copies for a nominal charge or free to their members. For example, the American Medical Association, Division of Library and Information Management will provide two free online searches per year to members and also five free photocopy articles per request. The charge for members requesting more than two searches is $25.00 per search. The charge for non-members is $30.00 per search. (Address: 535 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago, IL 60610; Telephone: (312)645-4818). The American Academy of Family Physicians, Family Health Foundation of American, Herbert Huffington Memorial Library provides free citation and reprint services to members and will charge non-members $25 for the search and $5 per photocopy. Address: 1740 W. 92nd Street, Kansas City, MO 64114. Telephone: 1-800-821-2512.
5. The National Library of Medicine (NLM) (MEDLINE, TOXLINE, CATLINE, AVLINE, ETC.) The NLM is the major source for citations published in Excerpta Medica and beginning in 1975, also provides a few abstracts from journals that allowed them to publish their abstracts.

Computer terminals that are limited to the NLM data base can be found in all university libraries and in many military hospitals. Libraries will charge for this service, but military hospital librarians will provide free service to IHS PHS officers if they can be convinced that PHS officers are eligible. It may sometimes require a letter from the local base or hospital commander.

The Public Health Service Parklawn Health Library terminal will provide searches and abstracts only for employees within the building. Therefore, field researchers will need the cooperation of officials at IHS headquarters to request services. Address: Room 13-12, Rockville, MD 20852. Telephone, Parklawn Library: (301)443-2673.

6. All the National Clearinghouse services, addresses, and telephone numbers can be found in the book, "Health Information Resources in the Department of Health and Human Services, 1980," DHHS (PHS) Publication No. 80-50146, or by contacting the National Health Information Clearinghouse, P.O. Box 1133, Washington, DC 20013. Telephone: (301)443-6467. The services vary with each clearinghouse. Many provide bibliographic searches and some abstracts of journal articles relevant to their special concerns (i.e.: cancer, arthritis, alcohol, diabetes, etc.). For most of these services, there is no charge to U.S. agencies.

7. Other bibliographies with references specifically for American Indians can be located under "bibliography" in the subject index, page 178.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Many persons contributed their personal files and their time for proofreading for this project. Special thanks are given to Drs. Maurice Sievers, Harold Black, Nadine Rund, and John Coulehan. Ms. Cynthia Burham of the Parklawn Library was especially helpful by providing expert consultation. Finally, thanks are given to Mrs. Leonardine Thomas, who persevered in spite of innumerable difficulties and frustrations to type the original manuscript (1982).
