MUNICIPALITY IS DIRECTED BY WOMEN

Jackson, Wyoming, Sets a Precedent; Not a Man at Municipal Hall

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 14.—A woman mayor, Mrs. Grace Miller, now rules in Jackson, the population centre of the Jackson's Hole country, which long was famous in fact and fiction as the resort of outlaws, cattle rustlers, horse thieves and other bad men of the West that once was. For what is said to be the first time in history, there is not a man in the city hall of an American municipality, for a city administration composed entirely of women has been sworn into office as a result of the Spring election. There is not a man in Jackson's City Hall.

Jackson is a diminutive city, with a population of not quite 300. Perhaps no other section of the United States is so far isolated from the railroads and from all-year traffic. The nearest railway station is seventy-five miles away, and from November until May the highway to that station is virtually impassable. Surrounded by the high mountains in the range south of Yellowstone National Park, the residents of Jackson make little or no attempt to travel during the winter months.

Bad Men. It was in Jackson's Hole that the bad men made their last stand against the advancing wave of civilization thirty or forty years ago. There they flocked after stealing cattle or horses or other robberies or hold-ups and banded themselves together for mutual protection.

To-day Jackson itself has surrendered to the feminist movement and made a clean sweep of every male office-holder. The only explanation thus far given for the overturn has come from the editor of The Courier, the city's sole newspaper, who said in his paper: "It is thought the novelty of being the first city on record to be governed entirely by women helped them to secure such a complete victory." The editor, who was himself a candidate, accepts the results without repining, but says the women surprised even themselves by the result.

There was no unusual campaigning, no special issue at stake, and not an unusually heavy vote. Mrs. Miller defeated Fred Lovejoy for Mayor by a vote of 56 to 28. Four women were the highest members of the City Council over four men candidates by about the same relative vote.

HAVE $732,320 NOW FOR SUPERANNUATION

For First Time Details of Fund Sent to Methodist Churches

Toronto, June 14.—Repeated requests have been made for years at Toronto Methodist conferences for a statement of the Superannuation Fund finances, and for the first time in Church history such a statement, neatly printed, has been sent out to every pastor and every church. Rev. R. J. D. Simpson, secretary-treasurer of the fund, is responsible for the innovation.

The statement shows a total of $732,320 in the Permanent, Special Reserve, and Contingent Funds, and annual receipts for the year of $297,717. There was a surplus of almost $7,000 on the year's operations. Claims paid were as follows:

111 ministers	$161,224
332 widows	104,151
75 children	4,155

The general expense of management was $11,910. One of the receipts of the Superannuation Fund was the $22,000 dividend of the Methodist Book and Publishing House.

The statement shows how the $732,320 is invested in mortgages, bonds, and real estate in the form of foreclosed mortgage properties. There are $6,147 invested in stocks and $74,000 in a loan to the Methodist Book and Publishing House. Nearly $195,000 is invested in mortgages.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as usual to get short of breath. Doctors' could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking three boxes made me, quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

GERMAN THEATRES FORCED TO CLOSE

Sixty Put Out of Business by Taxes and Heavy Expenses

Berlin, June 13.—Via London, June 14.—Taxation amounting to something like fifty-five per cent. of gross revenue and heavy running expenses are responsible for the recent closing down of sixty first class theatres in Germany. Many theatrical and operatic companies are said to be in sore financial straits. Few people can afford to pay for the high prices demanded at the present increased rates, and the moving picture houses, with their popular prices, are reaping the benefit.

The manager of the Reinhardt concern, which controls the three most important Berlin theatres, states that the latest "luxury" tax alone takes more than twenty per cent. of the box office receipts. Boxes and stalls are now rarely booked. The Kapp revolution caused a loss of 750,000 marks. Director Barnowsky, of the Lessing Theatre, the home of the drama in Berlin, told a Tageblatt representative that the German stage is passing through a most critical period. Theatrical budgets, he said, can no longer be balanced. The greatest menace, he said, was "Americanism," by which, he explained, he meant "art for amusement's sake, not for art's sake."

ADMITS BRITAIN'S OIL PLANS BROAD

But American Petroleum Institute Head Says Holdings Overstated.

New York, June 14.—Claims of London financiers that British interests control ninety-nine per cent. of the world's potential oil territory outside the United States were denied in a statement here today by Thomas A. O'Donnell, president of the American Petroleum Institute, who sailed for Europe to attend the international trade conference.

"The American oil industry," he said, "has obtained many important holdings and concessions in Mexico, in South America and in Rumania, upon the future of which large investments of American capital are staked."

Mr. O'Donnell admitted, however, that Great Britain had been alert to assure the future of her petroleum supply.

RETURNED MEN AS VOTERS IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, June 14.—A majority of the registered voters of Manitoba are returned men or their kind, according to Leo Ward, president of the Manitoba command of the Great War Veterans' Association, who bases his statements on reports received from all parts of the province. The returned men control fifty-six per cent. of the voters, and they will insist that men of character be nominated by the different parties. Only those whose platform and character by the returned men, Mr. Ward states. He says: "We are not out to run the country, but we do intend to direct its policy. We have now the power to put the right people in office, and we shall take advantage of our opportunity or forever hold our peace."

"IT MADE A WRECK OF ME," STATES ENGINEER

Was Flat on His Back With Rheumatism For Six Months; Now Well and Strong and Back on Job, Sutherland Says Tanlac Has No Equal.

"For over a year I wasn't able to hit a stroke of work of any kind, but since taking Tanlac I have gained fully twenty pounds, and have gone back to my work as good a man physically as I ever was before," said William Sutherland, a well-known civil engineer, residing at 561 McDermott Avenue, Winnipeg.

"My stomach got out of order about two years ago, and then a few months later rheumatism set in and the two together simply made a physical wreck out of me, and I was forced to give up my engineering work. I had about as bad a case of indigestion as a man ever has, and many a day I wasn't able to eat a bite of anything. I was slowly starving to death, and if I forced down a little something it soured on my stomach, and caused me to bloat so bad with gas I felt like I was suffocating. Why, at night I was so short of breath I was afraid to lie down, and often had to sit up in bed fighting for air. I hardly knew what sleep was, and I fell off in weight until I was no more than a shadow of what I had been. Then the rheumatism set in and for six weeks I lay in bed flat on my back barely able to move. My whole body ached, and in my back, legs, shoulders and arms the pains were so terrible they nearly killed me. My wrists and hands would swell up and get so stiff I could not raise my hand to my mouth. I wasn't able to brush my hair or tie my tie, and my fingers would get so stiff I couldn't even hold a pencil. In fact, I was almost as helpless as a baby, and had about reached the point where I couldn't stand the suffering any longer.

"That was the condition I was in when I started taking Tanlac. At first I didn't seem to improve very fast, but when the stomach trouble and rheumatism did commence to lose their grip I got better rapidly. And now I have the finest kind of appetite, and my big gain in weight shows how well everything I eat agrees with me. My breathing is free and easy once more, and at night I sleep as sound as a child. I can't tell now that I ever had the rheumatism, and I believe it has left me, for good for I never feel a trace of it at all. I am a well man, in absolutely as good health as I ever was, and have gone back to my old work feeling fine. There is no doubt in my mind as to what Tanlac can do for I gave it a fair trial, and it did even more for me than I expected."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas, and Lang's Drug Store, Esquimalt Road.

ARE WAGING WAR ON GRASSHOPPERS

Agricultural Departments of Manitoba and Saskatchewan Have Men Busy

Winnipeg, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—Grasshoppers have been reported in spots over a very wide territory, both in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, says the Manitoba Free Press. The Manitoba Department of Agriculture has announced abundant supply of material for poison bait, and has a large staff of men at work investigating reported outbreaks and mixing and distributing the bait.

The Department and the experts on the ground issue a warning for people not to be carried away with new fangled schemes for killing the grasshoppers, but stick religiously to the spreading of poison and to keep repeating the doses.

A very careful test has been made of the coll oil spraying machine, but the results are not very satisfactory and the asphalt burner sent out has not proved effective, but satisfactory results have been obtained by use of poison bait and all are earnestly entreated to concentrate on its use.

More Serious.

The Deputy Minister of Agriculture of Saskatchewan, F. H. Auld, says: "The reports of grasshoppers hatching indicates that the area infected last year is extending considerably this year and in general the situation is more serious. It is repeatedly becoming more apparent that a uniform, prompt and thorough poisoning campaign during June is the only means of saving a big crop loss here. Municipalities are showing a fine spirit of co-operation and fighting machines, organized previous to the appearance of the pest, are working smoothly and effectively. Hatchings so far are principally on the road sides and other sod lands and the grasshoppers are just beginning to move on to the crops, emphasizing that the most economical fight is at that stage, as they are concentrated in small areas."

THREE LOSE LIVES IN AEROPLANE CRASH

Fort Bragg, Cal., June 14.—Lynn Melady, San Francisco aviator, and Clarence and Wallace Johnson, of Inglewood, Cal., were killed here Sunday when the aeroplane in which they were riding collided with another machine at an altitude of 1,000 feet and crashed to the ground in flames. The second plane, piloted by "Spike" Eldridge, also of San Francisco, had a wing broken but Eldridge managed a landing in safety.

LABOR CANDIDATES.

Winnipeg, June 14.—S. J. Farmer, who opposed Mayor Gray at the last civic election, again will be advanced as a Labor candidate for Mayor at the election for 1921, Labor aldermen predict. "I believe Labor will gain control of the Council next year," Alderman John Blumberg declared. He said if Labor candidates were elected every dollar would be spent advantageously to the city as a whole, and no section would be given preference. "I believe Winnipeg would appreciate a Labor Council," Alderman Blumberg continued. "I will endeavor to keep the tax rate down to a minimum, and I believe some civic grants favored in the past would be discontinued."

LONG-DISTANCE CALL.

Mr. Tarzan Jones was sitting down to breakfast one morning when he was astounded to see in the paper an announcement of his own death.

He rang up friend Howard Smith at once. "Hallo, Smith," he said. "Have you seen the announcement of my death in the paper?"

"Yes," replied Smith. "Where are you speaking from?" "London Weekly Telegram."

MONTREAL THUG MURDERS CONSTABLE

Man Involved in Burglary Shoots Officer; One Suspect Arrested

Montreal, June 14.—Interrupting a burglary, Constable Thomas Chicoine was mortally wounded early Sunday morning. One suspect has been arrested and the city is being scourged for three other men who escaped in an automobile after the shooting.

The officer noticed a car standing outside a store near the corner of Parle and St. Louis and Bernard Street. He was about to ask the driver what he was doing there when the man pulled a revolver and shot him.

LIFE HISTORY OF HARDING, NOMINEE OF U.S. REPUBLICANS

Warren G. Harding, nominated on Saturday as the Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States, has also been a resident of Ohio, which State he has represented as United States Senator since 1914. In private business life he is publisher of The Marion, Ohio Star.

He was born on a farm near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow County, Ohio, November 2, 1865, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor whose forebears came from Scotland. Before going to Ohio, the Hardings were residents of Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred by Indians. Others fought in the Revolutionary War. The mother of Warren, Mrs. Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old-time Holland Dutch family, the Van Kirk's Farmer Boy.

In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy, attending the village school until fourteen years of age, when he entered the Ohio Central College, of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism. He was obliged to stop school now and then and earn the money with which to pursue his college course. At one time he worked on another patented barn and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the roadbed of a new railway. At seventeen he taught a district school and played a horn in the village brass band.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman and a job printer, and as a "make up man" is said to have few equals. The luck piece he has carried as a Senator is the old printer's rule he used when he was sticking type.

Acquired Paper.

In 1884 Dr. Harding moved his family to Marion. A short time afterward the father purchased for Warren Harding The Star, then a small paper.

On the paper Warren Harding performed every function from devil to managing editor. In all the years the Senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the State. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants and is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Mr. Harding twice represented the 13th Senatorial District of Ohio in the State Legislature and served one term as Lieutenant-Governor. At the 1914 election Harding was elected United States Senator by a majority of more than 100,000, running 75,000 ahead of the next highest rival. In the Senate he has been a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations. Senator Harding married Miss Florence Kling in 1901.

STRIKES BEGIN IN MELBOURNE

Electric Power Station and Cold Storage Enginemen Are Idle

Melbourne, June 13.—Enginemen in the electric power stations in the number of 800 have struck. It is estimated that the lighting and cooking arrangements of 200,000 families are affected. Many factories are idle. The streets and railway stations are lighted, but the suburbs are in darkness. Efforts are being made to maintain a limited supply of electricity for the hospitals and other institutions. The tram service will be discontinued this evening, to conserve the power supply.

The enginemen employed in the Government cold storage plants have also struck, leaving thousands of carcasses to spoil. The Government officials are doing their utmost to cope with the situation.

Indications seem to forecast a worse upheaval than that of 1917, as it is feared all the trade organizations will eventually be involved in the present movement.

What Are YOU Doing About Your Teeth?

Looking at the teeth question in a commonsense way, it must occur to you that sound, perfect teeth that masticate the food properly—that look fine and clean and sound—are a wonderfully important possession.

They are. But what of those aching, ugly, offensive teeth that are neither use nor ornament in the mouth? Such teeth are a danger spot for germs which multiply when not checked and cleaned out—germs that quickly spoil the other teeth. Why not—to-day—NOW, think over the teeth question and decide to have matters righted in your mouth? Our dental work is honestly performed—moderate in cost, and is guaranteed for ten years' service. MORE MONEY FOR TUBERCULAR MEN

Ottawa, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—Signs that the tubercular patients among the returned soldiers throughout the country are not altogether satisfied with a twenty-five per cent. increase in their pensions are forthcoming in letters being received by members of the Commons. One letter which arrived from a western constituency disapproves of the proposal to grant a twenty-five per cent. increase on the ground that up to the present the tubercular patients have been receiving altogether too low a rate of pension, and that the proposed increase would not be nearly commensurate with the benefit of a similar rate to ordinary pensioners.

As yet no official announcement on increases in pensions has been made, but the proposed general increase of twenty-five per cent. for the tubercular men, as stated by the Canadian press several weeks ago, is now confirmed by members of the Commons in closest touch with the whole situation.

The Pensions Committee, it is understood, likely will get through within a week or ten days, and will place its report before the House immediately.

THE REPUBLICAN STANDARD BEARERS.

Although the nomination of Senator Warren Harding as Republican candidate for President has produced the usual conflict of opinion among commentators regarding his qualifications and prospects, there is one thing on which there is very general agreement. This is, that the nominee is decidedly one of the "Old Guard," a conservative who, if he were elected President, would have an administration closely in touch with big business, which also would have a great deal to say in the determination of his policy, regardless of the high-sounding paragraphs of the convention platform. One commentator says Senator Harding "looks like McKinley, acts like McKinley and thinks like McKinley," which leaves the inference that somewhere in the offing is an aggressive, dominant Mark Hanna. Another describes Mr. Harding as a "hand-picked, guaranteed conservative" chosen by the senatorial autocracy which now controls the Republican Party. In any case, the nomination of the Ohio man reflected the complete rout of the so-called Progressives led by Johnson and Borah whose cohorts disappeared like magic under the Harding boom after the seventh ballot.

Senator Harding is not a figure of national prominence in the United States. Indeed, in the west and south he is largely unknown. This very often is the position of "dark horse" candidates and history does not show that it is an insuperable handicap. He has a much greater difficulty in the halting, hesitant attitude his party was forced to adopt at the convention in regard to international policy, particularly the League of Nations. This can be overcome if he should interpret that plank as favoring the adoption of the Treaty of Versailles and American participation in the League of Nations, as one of his journalistic supporters predicts he will. He also will be made a scapegoat for the failings of the Republican Congress and judging by the comments of Samuel Compers organized labor is resentful of the course taken by the Chicago convention on labor questions.

Senator Harding's running mate, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, developed nationwide prominence by the way in which he handled the Boston riots. It can hardly be said, however, that the Republicans have chosen standard bearers of a truly formidable nature, especially if the Democrats should nominate two really strong men of national eminence and develop a strong, unambiguous policy on the domestic and foreign issues of the day.

GO AHEAD.

The revival of hostility to the establishment of a two-year course in Victoria in affiliation with the University of British Columbia has not produced an argument strong or convincing enough to justify the School Board in delaying the organization of the course. On the contrary, the contentions against the course for the most part are too shallow to merit any more consideration than they have received, while the logic of some of them involves their sincerity very much in doubt. Consider, for example, the claim advanced in the name of "free education and democracy" that students should not be charged $40 per year for a college course in Victoria in the face of the alternative that they would have to pay at least that sum per month if the views of the opponents of the local course prevailed and they were forced to go to Vancouver to take their two years of university work! The Board will be well advised to go ahead with the work, especially in view of its very moderate estimate of cost which has not been seriously or soundly challenged. It should remember also that every time an attempt is made here to introduce something that will benefit and improve the community there always will be found an element ready to swing the hammer upon it.

CAN THIS LEOPARD CHANGE HIS SPOTS?

It will be interesting to learn exactly what Germany's new Government will do with the Treaty of Versailles. If her threats during the period in which French troops occupied Frankfurt and other towns outside the prescribed zone of Allied occupation are allowed to follow their course a new display of treachery may be expected before very long. And how little the national spirit has changed during the last five and a half years is demonstrated by the fact that not a few of Germany's students of international affairs already have begun to test the possibilities of advantage that might accrue from such differences of opinion as that which arose between the new "triple alliance" in April.

In a recent issue of Die Hilfe, a democratic journal edited by Wilhelm Heile, there is to be found a moderate German view of the incident in question. Although Heile does not attempt to disguise the Teuton feeling towards her neighbor, he declares that Germany's wish is "to live with France in peace and friendship." But, his article proceeds, "this will not be a reality, with the best will in the world, so long as France is pleased to be a bad neighbor." He gives himself away, however, when he says that "we are far from drawing the conclusion that Germany must therefore make an attempt to intrigue with England against France. But the question nevertheless arises whether the French attitude does not itself drive us nearer the other 'Allies'."

Overlooking the grotesque suggestion of Anglo-Teuton intrigue the writer continues this brand of argument and dilates at length upon the disapproval with which France's action in Frankfurt and adjacent towns was received in Great Britain, Italy and the United States, declaring it a type of dissension capable of encouraging German aims. However, he does not disclose the new fashion of the national spirit save that there "can be only one voice in Germany, which must sound out into the whole world, demanding in loud and commanding tones the revision of the Treaty of Versailles."

All of which goes to show that Herr Heile's point of view, moderate though it appears to be, smacks of the old spirit which is still doing its best to lull itself into the belief that Germany is victor and not vanquished. The Teuton official mind seems incapable of visualizing an era in which there shall be no room for the doctrine of might, and Heile's suggestion, following quickly as it does an expression of the national wish "to live with France in peace and friendship," typifies the brand of duplicity to which Germany owes her inglorious position to-day.

A BANKER'S VIEWPOINT.

After investigating conditions in Europe from the purely economic and financial point of view Mr. Otto H. Kahn, the well-known American banker, has reached the conclusion that it is idle to suggest the United States can displace Great Britain as the world's financial centre. Nevertheless, Mr. Kahn does not underestimate the leading part the United States will play in the world's work and the boundless scope of his country's opportunities. However, unlike many people who look upon discounted sterling as the emblem of Great Britain's financial obsequies this eminent authority does not lose sight of the fact that contiguous to the tight little isle lie approximately four-fifths of the commercial world. On that account the adverse financial conditions which have placed the Motherland in the role of debtor to the western world for the time being—a state of affairs wholly attributable to her tremendous sacrifices in her own behalf and in support of her Allies during the war—will deliver European custom to John Bull in greater proportion than ever before. Hence, just as soon as the wheels of production have regained their normal pace the temporary dominance of the dollar will yield place to the pound once more.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It will be interesting to learn just what is happening in Prince George. From the contents of a night lettergram received by Premier Oliver on Saturday morning it might be supposed that a general armistice had been declared automatically abolishing the British Columbia Prohibition Act. Mr. John Savage was the transmitter of the startling intelligence that "a condition exists here as filthy as hell itself." Although the complainant may have exclusive information that would place him in a position to compare Prince George with the nether regions, we are constrained to suggest that he may be "drawing the long bow."

Senator Johnson did more talking prior to the convention than all his rivals together. He tried every recourse. He pulled the lion's tail until his arm ached; he verbally assailed Great Britain until his jaws would hardly wag. He appealed to the German, Simm Fein and every other kind of vote. His friends even indulged in fake betting with the odds heavily for him to convey the impression that he was a certainty at the convention. And from first to last he never had a chance. His following broke from him and succumbed to one or more of his competitors at the very first opportunity.

The assassination of Essad Pasha in Paris removes a remarkable figure from the field of Balkan affairs. Essad Pasha was an exceedingly able man, both in council and at the head of an army. It was he who forced William of Wied to return to his Teutonic home when he attempted to act as a sort of Governor for Albania on behalf of the Great Powers in 1912. His mission to Paris was to prevent his country being carved up by its neighbors.

It took nine ballots to nominate a Republican candidate for President of the United States, but this is far from being a record. In the convention of 1880 Garfield, who began with one vote and only had two on the twenty-eighth ballot, was nominated with 399 on the thirty-sixth.

OTHER NEWSPAPERS' VIEWS

AN OLD FASHION.

(The Westminster Gazette.)
 A certain number of pipe-smokers, I notice, have adopted the practice, introduced from France during the war, of wrapping their tobacco in a piece of specially prepared paper, inserting it in the bowl of the pipe, and inhaling the tobacco like a cigar. The result, I am told, is a dry, cool smoke, and a certain degree of economy, which in these days of high prices is not to be despised. I had imagined, in common with most people, that the practice was a novel one, so far at least as this country is concerned, but I heard a friend the other day, seeing preparations made in this way for a smoke, remark "What that old fashion come up again? I remember it forty years ago or more, when we used it for coloring meerschaums without fear of their getting damaged in the process."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

(The Houston Chronicle)
 Makers, or would-be makers, of artificial diamonds have been using sugar as the carbon base for their experiments. When sugar has gone a little higher maybe they will be trying to transform diamonds into sugar.

WILL INVESTIGATE BEST LOCATION FOR STEEL PLANT

Magnetic Ores Best.

"There is no doubt about the iron resources of this island," said Mr. Fleming. "The magnetic ores which some persons have been decrying make the highest grade steel. We used magnetite in Pennsylvania for the production of steel that was sold at a price above the market price."

"The only trouble with the magnetic ores is that with them the furnace capacity is slightly reduced. The ores have to remain longer in the furnace, than do the hematite ores. The chief side of the steel situation that Mr. Fleming is starting out to investigate at once is the marketing possibilities. As far as he can see now, Mr. Fleming says that the coast steel plant would not be able to compete farther East than the middle of the Prairies, with the steel plants at the Soo. He says he even fears the Chicago plants more than the Soo plants, because of their greater efficiency in production."

Marketing Possibilities.
 The lowest daily production that a steel plant can be worked on is 325 tons. And even this production involves overhead costs which are the same as for plants four times that size.

"Regarding the marketing end the whole thing narrows down to whether 325 tons of steel can be disposed of each day in this territory or produced at a cost that will permit of export," said Mr. Fleming.

Would Also Manufacture.
 "The establishment of a steel plant here means more than the creation and operation of furnaces, although many people seem to believe that is the extent of it all. We will have to establish factories to manufacture the iron and steel as it comes from the mills. As steel rail production is carried on in the East in large quantities and at a low cost, it would be almost impossible for us to compete at first with the Eastern plants in the production of rails."

"Our output then will have to be manufactured in such products as billets, nails, wire fencing, belts and equipment of all kinds. It is likely with the present high freight rates we will be able to hold our market here for such products."

"But my present problem is to find out just how much of these products this territory requires and can absorb."
 Mr. Fleming also said that before the steel plant is launched there will have to be assurances from the Government that there will be no eight-hour day restrictions or Sunday laws enforced to cripple the industry as a steel plant makes twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR BODY URGED

to investigate the Catholic Labor union movement and take steps to put an end to its activities in Canada.

Echo of Strike.
 T. C. Cashem, of Cleveland, was given unanimous consent to introduce a resolution on behalf of the International Switchmen's Union condemning central labor bodies which recently aided the "unauthorized" railroad strike in the United States. The resolution was referred to the resolution committee.

For Ten Years.
 The Catholic union, which had been in existence about ten years, he asserted, is opposed to any international labor organization and has been "organized labor's greatest enemy in Canada."

"If you see fit to make this investigation," said Mr. McClelland, "I am sure you will find conditions due to this organization here are bad, to say the least—appalling."
One Big Union.
 Mr. McClelland declared that organized labor was slowly "conquering the One Big Union movement." He pointed out that there are now 2,300 local unions in Canada with a membership of 260,247.
 In outlining the growth of the Labor party in Canada, Mr. McClelland said "We are going slowly, but are assured of success."

BRITISH COMMENTS ON U. S. NOMINATION

Clear Policy.

The Times, referring to a statement by its Chicago correspondent that the British must be prepared for a thorough re-adjustment of their relations with the United States and his prediction that the process will not be easy, says:

"That depends, in a great measure, straight, clear and honest policy in world affairs affirmatively based upon those principles which are common to us and the Americans; we may have tiresome disputes to reach an agreement, but there can be no doubt as to the result."

"The vagueness of the Republican platform," the newspaper continues, "leaves plenty of scope for its favorable interpretation in strong and honest hands. We have much faith in the American conscience, and if we appeal to it we must come into court with clean hands."

The Express believes that "friendly relations with Great Britain, undoubtedly will be part of Mr. Harding's policy."

French Papers.

Paris, June 14.—Few newspapers in this city venture to comment on the action of the Republican national convention at Chicago, although they all devote considerable space to the nomination of Warren G. Harding for President and Calvin Coolidge for Vice-President.

TRAIN NURSES IN ROUMANIA FOR HOSPITAL WORK

New York, June 14.—A training course for Jewish nurses, the first school of its kind ever attempted in Roumania, has been established at the Jewish hospital in Jassy, through American Jewish Relief funds.

Lieutenant James H. Becker, in charge of relief work in Roumania, for the Joint Distribution Committee relief disbursing organization for the American Jewish Relief Committee and its associated fund-raising committees, in reporting this innovation in relief work in Eastern Europe, declared that the school would be of inestimable value in relieving the acute shortage of nurses and in mobilizing additional reinforcements for the fight against typhus plague. "One of the greatest values of the course was in proving to the people

PLANES TO LAND AT PRINCE GEORGE

Prince George, June 14.—Four De Havilland aeroplanes, flying from New York to Nome, starting July 1, will make a landing at Prince George about July 4. The planes will fly via North Portal, Edmonton, Jasper, Prince George, Hazelton, Wrangell, Dawson and Nome and return. Captain Howard Douglas was here last week and arranged the landing ground at the old Fort George townsite.

TO CHARGE LIQUOR UP TO GOVERNMENT

Police Commission Wants Government to Pay For Seized Wet Goods

The City Police Commission is about to send a bill to the Provincial Government governing the value of thirty cases of liquor which, it is stated, the Government took from the city after it had been seized by city police, Mayor Porter, Chairman of the Commission, announced to-day.

It will be recalled that, some time ago, the Commissioners were much disturbed by the Government's action in instructing the Police Magistrate to forward to Vancouver a large quantity of liquor which had been deposited in the City Police Station for many months. This liquor had been seized by the city police in the course of their efforts to enforce the B. C. Prohibition Act, and had been accumulating ever since the Act came into force. The Government's action, the Commissioners explained, was particularly disturbing to them in view of the fact that the City had obtained power in its Private Bill early this year to use all seized liquor for its own purposes; that is, at the Jubilee Hospital and civic institutions.

The Commissioners felt, indeed, that the liquor rightfully belonged to the city, and pointed out that New Westminster, when placed in a similar position, had gone the length of refusing to hand a quantity of liquor over to the Government. It was decided, therefore, to demand that the liquor be returned.

"Now we have decided to bill the Government for the liquor," Mayor Porter stated this morning. "We are going right after the money, too."

The liquor, the Mayor states, is valued at $1,200.

ADMINISTRATOR PRESENTS REPORT

South Vancouver Now Has Population of 30,000 Persons

In view of considerable public criticism, and a law suit now before the courts, the appearance of the annual report of F. J. Gillespie, administrator of South Vancouver, is timely. Mr. Gillespie deals at length with the finances, tax collections and other municipal matters in his report to Hon. John Hart, and the following is an extract therefrom:

Made Great Strides
"During the past year, May 1, 1919, to May 1, 1920, South Vancouver made marvelous strides. General collections increased by $500,000; sinking funds, which in previous years were allowed by feeble and cowardly trustees, were restored to the extent of over $10,000, thus reducing the unpaid funds to that amount and the sinking fund allotment was set up; trust funds were opened to reduce loans under government guarantee and on April 1 over $120,000 had been deposited to those accounts. Outstanding residential moneys were reduced by $5,000 on account of Kingsway contract, and the amount owing to the municipality on overdue mortgages was reduced, though the greater part remains unpaid. The increase in general collections was partly due to the tax sale held in September, 1919, over $400,000 arrears of taxes being paid in during the year.

Population
In 1911 the official returns showed a population of 16,032. No systematic census or accurate estimate of the population having been made since 1911, the municipal assessor when making his rounds last year to ascertain how many persons resided in each house. The replies showed that at that time, 22,156 people were living in the municipality, or four persons for each "live" water service. On the same basis at the present time the population is slightly over 30,000.

Water Services
On May 1, 1918, the water services numbered 6,356. On May 1, 1920, the number was 7,574; an increase of 1,218 services.

Collections
The following tables will show the increase in the collections in the different departments:

1918-1919
Taxes	$ 587,645.44
Schools	93,244.35
Water	73,477.23
Sundry	34,229.97
Total	$ 788,597.05

1919-1920
Taxes	$1,061,482.51
Schools	96,812.90
Water	73,477.23
Sundry	53,979.75
Total	$1,285,752.39

There has been a large increase in the number of pupils and teachers in the schools of the municipality, as evidenced by the following comparative figures:

Year	No. Teachers	No. Pupils	Month	Plan.
May 1, 1918	145	4,782		$16,612
May 1, 1920	174	6,090		$23,775

Roads
The Municipality of South Vancouver has 267.44 miles of roads, of which 44.11 miles are macadamized, 6.93 miles permanently paved and 4.14 miles bituminous. Of plank streets there are 12.85 miles. In addition we have many miles of lanes and 118 miles of plank sidewalks. The upkeep of sidewalks and plank roads, with the high price of lumber greatly reduced the fund for maintenance work, leaving for actual roadwork considerably less than was anticipated.

Loans and Payments
At December 31, 1919 the amount owing to the Canadian Bank of Commerce was $467,370.12, having been increased by 192,370.42 on April 1, 1919, to pay interest on debentures, since which time no money has been borrowed by South Vancouver for any purpose, except to pay off the balance of the Spitzer-Rorick Loan, known as the "1917 Tax Loan" due March 1, 1920, payable in New York, presented a problem early in the year owing to the rate of exchange. Approximately $36,000 was required to pay premium on principal, but the problem was solved by issuing short term notes to the value of $227,000 at 6 per cent, to the Lumbermen's Trust Company of Portland.

Cash on Hand
The cash on hand had increased from $34,869.98, at January 1, 1919, to $428,727.88 at December 31, 1919, thus showing an improvement in the general financial position of the municipality.

Sinking Fund
The sum of $92,495.50 was deposited to Sinking Fund Account, reducing the Unpaid Sinking Fund from $307,057.17 to $296,876.60, after providing for the 1919 allotment.

Unpaid Funds
There is still an amount of $50,000 due to the Joint Sewerage Board, and $15,540.70 due to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, against which we hold a contra account. Outstanding retention moneys were reduced to $14,269.84 by payment of $5,007, this item being held against the Kingsway contract.

Trust Funds
Special Trust Funds have been opened to reduce loans under government guarantee. Amounts on deposit to these accounts at April 1 were as follows:

1917 Trust Account	$111,844.85
1920 Trust Account	$9,766.96

These amounts are being increased by monthly collections. The sum of $17,848.54 was gained by taking advantage of the low rate of exchange to England in transmitting debenture interest during the past year.

Mortgages
There was paid on account of principal on loans advanced by previous councils from sinking funds, $2,845.83, and on account of interest $6,395.92, leaving a balance still owing on principal of $98,754.17 and $32,246.98 unpaid interest. Practically all the properties on which loans were made are in arrears for taxes. Foreclosure proceedings were ordered and the municipal solicitor is pushing the matter, but all those who have shown disposition to pay taxes and interest have not been proceeded against.

Women At Home

SOON TO BE WEDDED

The wedding took place quietly on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride, 935 North Park Street, when Miss Ruth Law, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Law, became the bride of Ernest John Bent, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bent, 2533 Prior Street. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Commandant Jaynes, of the Salvation Army, and only relatives of the bride and groom were present. The bride wore a becoming traveling suit of navy blue and hat to match. She was given away by her father and was attended as bridesmaid by her sister, Miss Catherine Law. The groom was supported by Joseph Law, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a repast was served to the wedding party, following which the happy couple left on the 4:30 boat for Seattle and Portland. On their return to the city, Mr. and Mrs. Bent, Jr., will make their home at 3015 Cedar Hill Road. Among the many wedding gifts received by the bride were a handsome table and chair given by the Salvation Band, of which the groom is a member.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Metropolitan Methodist parsonage on Saturday evening, when Dr. Sippel united in the holy bonds of matrimony Winifred Maud, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ritchie, 1221 Haultain Street, and Harold C. Henson, of Port Angeles. Miss Gertrude Henson, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Lorne Ritchie, the bride's brother, supported the groom. After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, immediate relatives and friends being present. The honors of the evening were shared by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ritchie (nee Miss Phyllis Philip), who were quietly married at J. G. Winter, the bride's aunt, gave a miscellaneous shower in her honor, when she received many handsome and useful presents. After a short honeymoon spent in the city, the young couple will make their home in Port Angeles.

Richard G. Harvey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harvey, of Belfast, Ireland, and Miss Esther Helen Neild, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Neild, Esquimalt, late of Metchoos, were united in marriage on Wednesday morning at St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt; Rev. W. Baugh-Allen, rector, officiating. In the afternoon a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 405 Fraser Street, Esquimalt, which was attended by many intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents. At 4 o'clock the happy couple left for a short motor trip, after which they returned to 1284 Old Esquimalt Road, where they will reside.

On Saturday evening at Breadalbane, the minister's residence, Captain the Rev. Dr. Campbell officiated at a pretty wedding when he celebrated the marriage of Patrick Nicholas Smith and Miss Georgina Maria Hansen, both of Victoria. The bridegroom was accompanied by the groomsmen by James Smith, and the bride, who looked charming in a traveling suit of navy blue serge with hat en suite, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left by the night boat for Vancouver and the Sound cities. On their return they will make their home in this city. The bridegroom is a native of Winnipeg and the bride of Norway.

To rehabilitate an English multilingualist, the entire staff consisted of one man of 65 years, a boy of 15 and an inexperienced stenographer, is no small achievement for the most lauded "efficiency expert," and for a woman would in ordinary circumstances be considered well nigh impossible, yet this was accomplished by Mrs. Harold Bayly of Birmingham, England, and just how she did it formed the most interesting portion of an address she gave a few days ago before the Women's Press Club of Vancouver city.

Week-end motor parties from up-Island points to Victoria are increasing with the advent of Summer, and among those registered at the Dominion Hotel on Saturday are J. W. Long and Mrs. Long, of Chemainus; E. Grant and family, of Nanaimo; E. Westmoreland, Mrs. Westmoreland and party, of Vancouver, and N. A. Semple and Mrs. Semple, of Nanaimo.

Mrs. Thomas Keyworth, wife of Rev. Thomas Keyworth, was made a presentation by the W. C. T. U. of Vernon, when she left the city when Mr. Keyworth was transferred from Vernon to South Vancouver. Mr. Keyworth was at one time pastor of Esquimalt Methodist Church. He is now convalescent from his recent illness.

Mrs. Robert Maxwell, worthy matron of Queen Esther Chapter, No. 12, O. E. S.; Mrs. Emily Hunter, Mrs. Alice Dilda and Mrs. J. B. Newall, have returned to Vancouver after attending the ninth annual communication of the Grand Chapter of the Order in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodward, of Cloverly, North Quadra Street, left last night for Vancouver, on their way to England, where they will make an extended visit. They will sail by the S.S. Melita from Montreal on June 19.

POLICEWOMEN'S SQUAD JUSTIFIES EXISTENCE

Force Does Great Work Under Police Matron, Mrs. Harris

Quietly, the four women police of Vancouver under Matron Mrs. Harris have completed their first year of effective, unostentatious work, says the Vancouver press.

The women police have certainly justified the formation of the squad," says Chief McRae. "Without it we would be unable to achieve successful results in numerous cases."

The woman's ward in the city jail is under the supervision of this squad, and the methods inaugurated by them have improved conditions there.

Whenever possible juvenile cases are handled entirely by the Women Police; their task in handling the results of delinquent children obtaining results almost impossible to be achieved by male officers.

Dance halls, cabarets, and other amusement places come under the jurisdiction of this branch of the force. Young girls who visit these places are given protection, and those in the juvenile age being often turned over to their parents. Mothers have learned to their cost of the existence of the policewomen, and their operations have been practically eliminated from the streets.

M'KERLIE-GOWEN WEDDING

Pretty Function on Saturday at the Home of Bride.

The wedding of Miss Thelma Pearl Gowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Gowen, 1211 Johnson Street, to William John McKerie, eldest son of Mrs. J. G. Winter, 342 Arnold Street, was celebrated on Saturday at the home of the bride, Rev. Dr. Sippel officiating. The happy couple stood under a floral arch and horsehoe covered with flowers and foliage, the artistic arrangement of which made a charming picture.

The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the drawing room as her sister, Mrs. R. W. McKay, played the wedding march, and looked very charming in her gown of ivory satin embroidered in pearls, with filmy veil of embroidered silk net caught in coronet fashion with orange blossoms. She wore as her only jeweled ornament a diamond brooch set in a diamond ring. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Alletta Ross, wore a lovely frock of pale pink georgette with a picture hat to match, trimmed with a shower of pink roses. The bride's little three-year-old niece, Elaine McKay, attended as flower girl, in a dainty lingerie frock of emerald green, with a white sash. She carried a gift basket of pink sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Nelson Gowen, brother of the bride, supported the groom. During the signing of the marriage, the organist sang "O Promise Me."

"CLOVERDALE" SCENE OF GARDEN FETE

St. Luke's Church Congregation Gather at Brilliant Function at Tolmie Grounds

On Saturday last "Cloverdale" the beautiful residence of J. W. Tolmie and Miss Tolmie, was the scene of a garden fete that has been in preparation by the ladies of St. Luke's Parish for some time past. A large gathering attended from town, while the Saanich community was also well represented. The garden receipts and results of sales at stalls realized a substantial sum for the benefit of the church funds.

A large selection of delightful stalls to choose from drew many people into unexcited bargains, and indeed the majority of the home-made wares displayed went in short order. Mrs. Robertson, assisted by a number of her friends, presided over the stall section which comprised such well known items as Touch and Take, Misses Carole Tolmie and Mason, fancy work and Belgian lace, Miss Beale; Oriental bazar, Mrs. Parker; home cooking, Mesdames Lyton and Bradshaw; plain sewing, Mesdames Miller and Nicholls; woolens, Mrs. C. J. Walsh, who exhibited knitted goods of taking design and beautiful manufacture, and Mrs. Wells, who presided over the basket work made by the returned boys of Esquimalt hospital.

Mrs. Gregory Allen with the wondrous of the world tent did a roaring business with many exceptional novelties. Miss Katherine Goward operated a small electric train that drew attention of the juniors. Mrs. Offeraus had charge of the arts and craft stall, while Mrs. Hunt presided over the golf. Mrs. C. E. Jordan, assisted by a bevy of charming ladies distributed tea, and generally looked after the pleasure and comfort of all.

The function has been in charge of preparation for several weeks, and great credit is due to the untiring work of the committee in charge of affairs.

GARDEN FETE FOR COWICHAN CHAPTER

Cowichan Station.—The fete, held by the Sir Clive Phillips Woley Chapter, I.O.D.E., on Thursday, June 10, was voted a real success by all who attended. In spite of the weather, over 100 people were present, and the accounts show a clear profit of between $75 and $80.

Owing to the uncertainty of the weather, the original plan for holding the fete at "Buckley's" home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Read, was abandoned, and the booths were erected in the C.A.C. hall. Two-thirds of the floor space was raised off for dancing. Music was supplied by Mr. P. Garnett.

Stalls holders were: Miss Matthews, book stall; Mrs. Wallich, butterfly competition; Mrs. Kingston and Miss Hamilton-Dougal, bagatelle board; Mrs. L. Norie and Mrs. H. Norie, ice cream; Mrs. Walcott, candle-lighting competition; Mrs. E. Norie, spinning jenny; Mrs. Cheek, dairy produce and vegetables; Miss Mary Davidson and Miss E. Walcott, sweets; Mrs. Robinson, grab-bag; Mrs. Beid, fortune teller; Mrs. L. Knocker and Mrs. J. Knocker, guessing competition; Mrs. J. Read, Regent of the Chapter, in charge of the practical display of Music was supplied by Mr. P. Garnett.

Holdings of gaily decorated stalls vied with each other in attracting the attention of the fair. It was found it hard to choose between the many tempting varieties of goods displayed. Everything, from the games of chance, to the practical display of dairy produce and vegetables, was amply patronized.

Tea was served under the direction of Mrs. H. Tooker, assisted by many willing helpers, including some members of the South Cowichan Girl Guides and Boy Scouts.

FIRST NUMBER OF V. O. N. MAGAZINE

The V. O. N., the official organ of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada, has published its first issue. Copies which have reached the city have been much admired for the bright appearance of the magazine.

On the front page is a colored picture of a V. O. N. nurse in blue uniform, while the title is executed in red and black. Printed in easily read type on good quality paper, and well illustrated, the periodical has much to commend it. The articles deal with the work of the order all through Canada and should prove a valuable medium in keeping the east and west in closer co-operation.

Among the contributors to the first number is Mrs. J. D. Gordon, supervisor of women's work for B.C. in the Soldier Settlement Board. The frontispiece is an excellent portrait of their Excellencies the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire. The Governor-General of Canada is patron, and Her Excellency the Duchess, the Honorary President of the Order.

Who Gets the Kaiser's Millions?

A Dispute Between Hohenzollern and Prussia.

Frederic L. Glaser in The New York Times

Contests over the Hohenzollern fortune afford the comic relief in the tragedy of the present-day Germany. The battle royal which is being fought-out in the Prussian Diet over the fortune of the ex-Kaiser is hardly less intense than the struggle which is going on throughout the country between revolution and reaction. Against the black-backed ground of the ex-Kaiser's State and the German people is being decided the disposition of a monarch's fortune seems a ridiculously small question. The haggling over pictures, silver plate and old residences, the aspect of farce as compared with the burdens which have been laid as a result of the war, on the backs of the German people.

The most peculiar feature, however, of the whole quarrel over the Kaiser's fortune is the fact that nobody seems to know what is Caesar's and what is not Caesar's. As soon as the ownership of one item is settled between the Kaiser and the State, another crops up to mystify the representatives of the new Government charged with settling this thorny affair. Summing up, the Kaiser's assets are divided into an inverse series somewhat of the sieves of the Danaides, who for killing their husbands were condemned to fill bottomless barrels. But in this case the royal treasure chest is always mysteriously replenished.

The imperial fortune has evidently been very much underestimated. Now that a serious attempt is being made to ascertain the value of the Kaiser's possessions, it appears that there was little need to worry about the waterworks system. The imperial fortune has evidently been very much underestimated. Now that a serious attempt is being made to ascertain the value of the Kaiser's possessions, it appears that there was little need to worry about the waterworks system.

ALDERMEN FISHED AND EXAMINED PIPE

Aldermen Patrick and Sargent Investigated - Sooke Waterworks

Worn out by their piscatorial activities, and by long tramping upon the Sooke flow line, Aldermen Sargent and Alderman Patrick returned to Victoria from Sooke Lake Sunday and reported to their colleagues that there was little need to worry about the waterworks system.

The aldermen spent all last week at the lake, and enjoyed the relaxation from their strenuous civic duties. When they were not engaged in examining the pipe line they endeavored to coax the finny denizens of the lake on to their well-baited hooks. Their success, however, was limited. Alderman Patrick, who sat for many weary hours on the bank dangling a worm in the water, only managed to fool two fish. And these two, his comrades stated, must have been blind. Alderman Sargent, however, was more fortunate, and managed to hook six, during the course of the week.

The aldermen walked for many miles along the pipe line to see if it were possible to dig a hole to drive a horse and cart through it in places. They found no such condition, however, and, indeed, were much cheered by the way the pipe was behaving. Their investigations, in fact, only served to confirm them in their opinion that no extraordinary measures were needed to curb the prevailing leakage, and that the plan which City Engineer F. M. Preston contemplates will be perfectly satisfactory.

Members of the City Council will go to the lake Wednesday to examine the pipe line. Mayor Porter this morning received a letter from former City Engineer C. H. Rust, now of Toronto, who has learned of the Council's alarm over the condition of the flow line. Mr. Rust, the Mayor states, asserts that there is no cause for worry about the line.

ALL IS WELL NOW IN NORTHERN COMMUNITY

Mayor Perry of Prince George Has Something to Say About Mr. Savage

While enjoying a respite from his official duties yesterday Premier Oliver received another wire from John Savage, of Prince George. Its contents did not elaborate upon the conditions of the northern city and it was impossible to gather from the second message whether its resemblance to the nether regions had disappeared or not. It merely asked the Premier to regard the earlier report as confidential some twenty-four hours after the doleful tidings had been conveyed to readers of the coast papers.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR DELAY.

Indignant that they should be charged with delaying preliminary work on the installation of the new Johnson Street Bridge, the civic authorities are about to instruct City Engineer F. M. Preston to prepare a report on the whole matter, showing that the city is in no way responsible for the fact that work has not started. Alderman George Sangster, Chairman of the Civic Streets Committee, announced this morning, "It's absolutely untrue, this idea that the city is responsible." The Alderman stated, "and the public should not be left in ignorance of the fact, either."

MAKE PROGRESS IN STREET CAR NEGOTIATIONS

Conference This Morning Paves the Way to Settlement

Satisfactory progress in the negotiations between the city and the B.C. Electric Railway Company on the question of increased fares and decreased lighting rates was made at a conference in Mayor Porter's office this morning between representatives of the Company and the civic Legislative Committee. "Everything is going on quite smoothly," Alderman Patrick, Chairman of the Legislative Committee, who presided, stated "when the conference adjourned to-day. We have made good progress and hope to clear up all matters in dispute before long. We shall have to confer with the B.C. Electric people for some time yet, however, in order to adjust the whole question. We probably will report progress to the Council to-day. The presence of the Company representatives again during the week."

The whole question was discussed fully by A. P. Gowar, local manager of the Company stated after the meeting. "We shall meet soon and go into it again. We hope for an early settlement, though to-day's conference really did not settle any point finally."

Asked whether the question of the proposed comparison of the Victoria Avenue line to Oak Bay Junction had been settled, Mr. Gowar replied in the negative. The City Council desires, it will be recalled, has proved an obstacle to a settlement up to the present. Various other matters, too, remain to be settled.

Mr. Goward and A. D. King, the City Engineer, were present at the B.C. Electric Railway Company at this morning's conference. Besides Alderman Patrick, Alderman Sargent and Alderman Johns represented the city.

No Income As Emperor

The title of German Emperor did not carry any income with it. The Kaiser had therefore to rely on his income as King of Prussia for the maintenance of his imperial state. In olden times the Prussian Kings had procured their livelihood in much the same way as other autocrats, by dipping their hands into the Public Exchequer. They lived on a kind of pay-as-you-go basis. But when as much as they saw fit and sending the bills to the treasury for payment. But when the movement for parliamentary democracy started in Prussia in the wake of the Napoleonic wars, Frederick William III decided in 1820 to be satisfied in the future with a yearly income of $1,500,000. Under his son and successor, Frederick William IV, this sum was increased to about $2,000,000 and then again under his younger son, William I, to $3,000,000. This parsimonious first ruler of the German Empire managed to get along with this sum during his lifetime. But when his grandson, William II, ascended the throne he wanted a million more and got it.

Thus the last crowned head of the Hohenzollerns started out on his titular career with "a salary" of about $4,000,000 in addition to his private income of $1,000,000. Quite in contrast to his grandfather's parsimonious life, he was inclined to extravagance from the beginning, and it did not take him much when one of his Finance Ministers discovered that two valuable properties in Berlin, which were supposed to belong to the State and which were appraised at $2,000,000, really belonged to the Kaiser, William found soon that he needed a still greater income to maintain his position and received from an obedient Parliament another increase in 1916, so that he has since enjoyed a yearly

Thirty Millions Landed Property

This fortune consisted of two different kinds of investments. More than $30,000,000 were invested in landed property, country estates, city houses and a few dozen castles in Berlin, with its thousand rooms, four hundred servants and priceless paintings and decorations. Besides this, the Kaiser possessed about $25,000,000 in castles and country seats in the provinces which were considered personal property of the King, while about forty others belonged to the State but were used by the King, who had to pay the expenses of their upkeep out of his own income.

How large then was the Kaiser's income? His real estate as itemized above amounted to more than thirty million dollars according to estimates available before the war. But the income from it all did not exceed $300,000 because many of the palaces required more money for their maintenance than they brought in. Besides this comparatively modest income from real estate and farming enterprises, the Emperor drew about $200,000 in interest from a trust fund established by his great-grandfather, Frederick William III, his grandfather, William I, which was intended to serve the Hohenzollerns as a last reserve to fall back upon in hard times. But the main income of William of Hohenzollern was derived from the Prussian domains, state farms and forests—a sum paid out to him every year by the Prussian treasury. This income amounted to about four and a quarter million dollars, and it is around this income that the main struggle in the Prussian Diet is centered at present.

Thus it was to be expected that during the debate in the Diet on the fate of the Kaiser's fortune a sharp encounter should follow between Monarchists and Republicans. The Nationalists pointed out on this occasion that it showed ingratitude and fear of a possible return of the monarchs if the Diet refused to hand over to the former King the millions he wanted. The Socialists, on the other hand, advised the Hohenzollern family rather to devote a part of their fortune to the wounded, the widows and orphans of the war or to practice the handicraft they had learned, alluding to the tradition of the Hohenzollern dynasty that every Prince had to learn some trade. Finally the whole bill was referred to a committee, from which it will emerge after some time. Considering the present state of affairs in Germany, however, it seems doubtful if this bill will meet a more friendly reception when it is submitted again to the Prussian Diet. Thus the fate of the Kaiser's millions seems to be as uncertain at present as the future of the German people.

MURPHY'S MESSAGE.

Mr. J. B. Fuller, in "Omniana: The Autobiography of an Irish Octogenarian," tells the story of how on one occasion he was traveling in Ireland in the same railway compartment as an American family. When they reached a station called K—, "Poppa" insisted upon seeing the station-master, who was busy at the other end of the platform. Poppa's insistence was so great that the guard, thinking that there might be something in it, yielded, and sent a passing porter top speed to fetch the official. "What's up?" inquired the panting station-master when he arrived. "This is K— Station, ain't it?"

"Yes; can't you read that sign-board?" The American ignored the question, and asked another: "You are Mister B—, the station-master?" "Yes—confound it—don't keep the train waiting." "You were acquainted with Joe Murphy, of Detroit?" "Oh, yes! He left this country two years ago. Is he dead, or what? Look alive!" "Was, no; he ain't dead; but he said to me in confidence, when I was starting on this tour—and they were his last words at partin'—'When you get to Ireland,' he says, 'you are sure to look out for B— at R—' "What's up?" inquired the panting station-master when he arrived. "Let me have the pleasure of shakin' hands with you, Mr. B—. I'm vurry pleased to make your acquaintance. 'For,' says Joe Murphy to me, 'B— is notoriously the worst-tempered railway official in the whole of Ireland. 'Ta-ta!' and he suddenly bobbed in and pulled up the window. —Tit-Bits.

"Do you know what sort of a game that gentleman plays?" said a very indifferent golfer to his caddy, indicating a new member of the club. "Oh, yes, sir," replied the urchin. "I've carried for 'im—e's absolutely rotten." "Sounds about my form," said the froolier, with genial self-contempt. "I must ask him to give me a game." "Don't you take 'im on level, sir," squeaked the intrepid lad. "I could give yer a stroke an' 'ole easy!"

Relief Is Necessary

We do not believe the people of Victoria desire or expect street car transportation should be given for less than cost.

During the first four months of this year, after charging 5% on the money actually invested, the Victoria Street Car System lost over $80,000

It is, therefore, very evident, that if the street car service is to be kept up-to-date, or even continue to exist at all, RELIEF MUST BE AFFORDED FROM PRESENT CONDITIONS.

This can only be accomplished by setting A Higher Rate of Fare and the elimination of Unfair Competition.

PREDICTS RECORD TOURIST SEASON

C. E. Ussher, C.P.R. Passenger Traffic Manager, Paying Visit to City

In the opinion of C. E. Ussher, C. P. R. passenger traffic manager, tourist traffic this season will prove a record breaker. "All indications point to a heavy tourist season," said Mr. Ussher to The Times on his arrival from the mainland. "The popularity of British Columbia as a holiday resort is more established than ever." Mr. Ussher is accompanied to the coast by C. D. Wetmore, partner of the New York firm of architects, Warren & Wetmore, who is looking over the hotel situation with a view to advising on the best manner of increasing the company's hotel accommodation at Vancouver. Asked whether the company proposed to provide additional hotel accommodation at Victoria, Mr. Ussher replied in the negative, but added that the company was watching the trend of travel on the coast and was prepared to keep abreast of the requirements. Mr. Wetmore is one of the most famous hotel architects on the continent.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and Arabella's Berries.

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggly was hopping through the woods, he came to a large bush. He was looking for an adventure, he heard, behind a screen of bushes, some voices talking. "Now it's my turn to shoot!" some one said. "No, it's mine," another voice answered. "You shot before. I'm going to shoot now, and oh, what a bang I'm going to make!" "Goodness me, what a noise and some peppermint peanut popcorn!" thought the bunny gentleman. "This talk of shooting and banging must mean there are hunters in the woods; and if there are hunters it is no place for me! I'm going to skip!" He was just going to hop away when he heard another voice saying, "Here comes Willie Flufftail, the lamb boy. Let's ask him to play marbles!"

Uncle Wiggly stopped when he heard this, and a more pleasant smile came over his pink, twinkling nose. "If Willie was talking to a friend of mine," thought the bunny uncle. "I guess it's safe for me to stay." So he peeped over the top of the bushes and there he saw Sammie Littletail, the rabbit; Johnnie and "I-I guess I'll go take a walk with Uncle Wiggly" Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and Jackie and Peetle Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys playing a game of marbles. And, along the path through the woods, was coming Willie Flufftail, the little boy lamb boy. "Come on, play marbles!" chattered Billie Bushytail. "I don't want to," slowly answered Willie, and Uncle Wiggly, who stepped from behind the bush just then, thought that Willie spoke sadly. "Why don't you want to play marbles?" barked Jackie Bow Wow. "Oh—just because!" bleated Willie, bashful like. "Are you afraid we'll beat you?" Sammie wanted to know. "We're only playing for fun! Come on!"

"I want souse!" howled the bad chap, rabbit gentleman politely. "That is, unless you want to play marbles," he added. "Oh, bless your big woolly tail, no!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "I am so stiff from my rheumatism that I couldn't stop over to shoot an agate. But I'll go for a walk in the woods with you, Willie, and we may have an adventure."

"Maybe you'll play marbles with us some other day, Willie," called Johnnie, the squirrel, as the boy lamb started off with Uncle Wiggly. "Maybe," bleated Willie. Then for a time he walked along with the rabbit gentleman. Uncle Wiggly was wondering what sort of an adventure he would have, and then he suddenly thought of something else. "Tell me, Willie," he spoke, "was it because you didn't have any marbles that you didn't want to play with the other animal boys?" "That was the reason, ye, Uncle Wiggly," answered Willie. "I asked my mother for some money to buy marbles, but she said she didn't have any just now. But I don't mind. It's fun to walk in the woods with you." "I'm glad you think so," said the bunny. "And I believe I know—Uncle And then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly slipped and would have fallen only that Willie caught him. "What happened?" asked the lamb boy. "Why, I stepped on something round," and it rolled from under my paw and tripped me," answered the rabbit. "There they are, a lot of round brown things on the ground." "Why—why—they're marbles!" joyfully bleated Willie. "Nice, round brown marbles, and I can fill my pockets and have a game with the boys," and he began gathering up the round objects. "They are not exactly marbles," said Uncle Wiggly with a smile. "But they will do just as well. They are round-hard acorns. Take as many as you like Willie." So the lamb boy filled his pockets with the round, hard acorns, to go back and play with his friends. And, as he and Uncle Wiggly were walking along, all of a quickness, out from behind a bush jumped the bad old Steakies. "I want souse!" howled the bad chap. "Oh, you do, eh? Well, take some of these!" cried Willie. And he threw some of his round, hard marbles as he and Uncle Wiggly were walking along. "That is the corker, doesn't tickle the pickle bottle, and get it to make funny faces at the cream pitcher, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the lady mouse teacher. LARGE LIQUOR SUPPLIES VANISH

Confiscation Ordered in Police Court; Another Trader's License Case

Two liquor cases occupied the attention of the city police court to-day, in both of which a large amount of liquor was seized and declared confiscated. Henry Emert, defendant, was fined $50 with confiscation of one keg of whisky, two cases of Scotch, and an odd lot of rye whisky, for having it in premises on Store Street. The issue was hotly contested by counsel, who claimed that the premises were private in effect. After one hour of legal argument pro and con, Magistrate Jay decided the issue against the defendant, with the above results.

William Grant, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, was charged with the same offence, and Sgt. O'Leary gave evidence to the effect that accompanied by Detective Siciliano and Phipps he had taken the liquor exhibited in room 100 of the hotel, where Mr. Grant was found in person. The liquor consisted of a large quantity of bottles, mostly of Government size, with a collection of odd bottles ranging from the vendors' eight ounce to the humble "Mickey." Mr. Miller also acted for the defence, and pleaded guilty, a fine of $100 and confiscation was ordered.

George Leckie, a seventeen-year-old lad, paid $5, and another $5 costs for assaulting a Chinaman. Mr. Phipps had taken the liquor exhibited in room 100 of the hotel, where Mr. Grant was found in person. The liquor consisted of a large quantity of bottles, mostly of Government size, with a collection of odd bottles ranging from the vendors' eight ounce to the humble "Mickey." Mr. Miller also acted for the defence, and pleaded guilty, a fine of $100 and confiscation was ordered.

James Leigh & Sons were charged with being in possession of stolen property, to effect two logs from a Cameron born that had been stolen last week, by an offender who was subsequently sentenced to one month in jail. H. B. Robertson appeared for the accused, and acquiesced with the request for remand asked by the city prosecutor.

FEARED AEROPLANE WOULD TOUCH VESSEL

Charlotte Swings Off Course When Curtiss Biplane Dives

On her trip out for Vancouver last Saturday, the SS. Princess Charlotte happened to attract the eye of observers on board the Curtis machine flying over the Stadium. The pilot headed his machine for the open sound and gave chase to the vessel which was rapidly approaching the turn in the course near Brothie Ledge. Diving with engine on, the machine raced along a few feet from the water, on a level with the Charlotte and about a half mile behind. Rapidly overtaking the sea craft, the aeroplane was throttled down and flew past the vessel at a moderate speed of 65 miles an hour. The intention of the pilot was to take his boat in a brief glimpse of a biplane whirring past them as they stood on the port deck, and then the sight was over. The machine turned and headed back to the land. The spectacle of an aeroplane diving down in apparent determination to charge is sufficiently awe-inspiring to make anyone change his course, but the pilot and passengers missed the sequel — as they did not observe the vessel, swing off. L. R. Smith was being piloted by W. H. Brown in a photo reconnaissance of the Stadium in the machine of the Aerial Service, Ltd.

LOCAL INVESTOR IS HOST TO SHIP'S CREW

The Whitefield phonograph, built by Charles Whitefield, and embodying among its other attractive features the wonderful Whitefield Reproduction, was a source of great entertainment at the Connaught Seamen's Institute, Superior Street, Saturday night, when, through the kindness of Mr. Whitefield, who is a local investor, some of the latest and most catchy pieces were played for the benefit of about thirty of the men from the Harrison liner Magician.

T. Wright Hill, the Port Missionary, invited the sailors to the Institute, where a concert was provided for them. Those taking part were: Rev. H. T. Archibold, Mrs. A. Attwell, Mrs. and Miss Wallis and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Povah. The sailors in turn provided a number of interesting items and the program was greatly enjoyed by all present.

After the serving of refreshments, the visitors gave a hearty expression of their appreciation.

JITNEY STRIKES BUS WITH SLIGHT INJURY

Four Hurt in Jitney, When It Crashed Into Side of Gorge Bus, Saturday Night

A Cloverdale jitney, owned and operated by D. Pallentiere, crashed into the Gorge motor bus last Saturday night at ten o'clock at the intersection of Government Street and the Gorge Road, injuring four passengers slightly. The police ambulance, with Constable Cremer, attended, but no assistance was required, the injured making their way home by themselves.

The bus, driven by G. Chester, was making for town, just having accomplished the turn from the Gorge Road to Government Street, when the Cloverdale jitney struck it amidships, not inflicting much damage to the bus, but crumpling itself very badly. All occupants in the jitney were shaken up and slightly bruised, while those in the bus escaped without any ill effects being noted. Mrs. J. Riddell, Seamore Avenue, suffered a bruised leg; Mrs. H. Jarvis, 1536 Westall Avenue, face slightly injured; Mr. R. Birch, 128 Crease Avenue, bruised about the legs; and Ching Hong, cut on the nose with flying glass.

COURT STAYS TAX SALE

Oak Bay Must Not Auction Off Property of Returned Soldier Until Next Year.

Ralph Reid, acting for C. H. O'Halloran, before Mr. Justice Macdonald, of the Supreme Court, to-day invoked the B. C. War Relief Act (Further Powers) 1920, in aid of a disinterested soldier. This is one of the earliest occasions that the amended act has been brought into court.

Mr. Reid explained that Mr. O'Halloran owns a lot in Oak Bay on which there are $457.65 taxes due, and Oak Bay is now planning to sell the property. His client served in the 43rd Battery, C. F. A., in Belgium and France from May, 1917, until last year.

The court ordered that Oak Bay should not be allowed to sell the O'Halloran property until March 31, 1921.

Seattle Publicity Man Urges Interest in "Backbone of Province"

The backbone of this Province is Central British Columbia, into which settlers are pouring in a steady stream and where there is tremendous activity on all sides, according to Herbert Cuthbert, of Seattle, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association.

"People in this little corner of the Province where the two big cities are, stay around here and know nothing of the big things that are going on in the other parts," said Mr. Cuthbert.

Mr. Cuthbert has just completed a special tour of the country along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific to inform himself of conditions there. He did this on his way back from the Good Roads Convention at Winnipeg, where he gave the address on the Trans-Canada Highway. Officials of each community and public organizations received Mr. Cuthbert at each of the towns and settlements.

"Prince Rupert is under way for a steady growth," said Mr. Cuthbert to-day. "There is a large fishing and mosquito fleet there now which has been built up slowly. There are many other small industries and

MOTORS CRASH ON THE MALAHAT

One Car Thrown Across Road By Collision on Sunday

H. Hurst, of 453 Belleville Street, driving motor car No. 2467 and R. Kaplanky, of Nanaimo, with car No. 1488, traveling in opposite directions yesterday on the Malahat crashed about a mile South of the Mill Bay Ferry.

The right hand front wheel of the Hurst car was completely smashed and the spokes split into splinters. The front axle was wrenched from the frame and turned back in under the body of the car.

The Kaplanky car was smashed in the middle of the right side. It was able to come on to Victoria under its own power, however.

A. Schofield of Nanaimo, who motored down over the Malahat yesterday arrived on the scene shortly after the collision. He gave all the aid he could. He found no one seriously injured.

"The accident was wholly due to misjudgment in turning before my car had passed," states Mr. Kaplanky in his written statement to the police.

"His right front wheel struck the centre of my running board and by doing so smashed his axle and a wheel. The compact threw my car to the opposite side of the road. When driving I was a little over about a foot, on the grass at the left side of the road so there would be lots of room. The road at the point is wide, straight and clear."

The police told Mr. Kaplanky to have a photograph taken at once of the damages to his car.

Car No. 1488 is registered as being the property of Mrs. E. Forcimen. The police are investigating the accident.

Dempsey's Home-run With One on Gives Caps Game

Pretty Pitching Battle Between Lawson and Lambert, Each of Whom Granted But Four Hits; Seattle Opens Series Here This Evening; Victoria Looks For Big Sweep.

Victoria, 2; Spokane, 1.

When the big Spokane blonde, Lambert, fed Lee Dempsey a grooved ball at his waist-line in the fourth inning of Saturday's game he unconsciously presented the last battle of a hot series to the Capitals. Dempsey got his eagle eye on the apple, then drove it out of the Stadium for a home run. Carman, who had preceded him with a single, also scored on the blow. Against the brilliant pitching of Lawson the Indians were unable to overcome this lead. They pushed over a run in the sixth on an error, a passed ball and a single. On a close decision the Indians lost the tying tally at the plate for the third out in this inning.

RACE TIGHTENS UP

Table with 4 columns: Team, W, L, Pct. Rows include Spokane, Victoria, Tacoma, Yakima, Vancouver, Seattle.

Lambert and Lawson hooked up in one of the prettiest pitching battles that has been staged here this season. The class of ball which these twisters showed in the first inning gave the first intimation that the batters would have a hard time placing safe drives. Lawson had a very slight edge in the duel. His fast-breaking curve ball worried the Indians and nine of them struck out. However, some exceptionally hard hit fly balls were made off him. In the eighth both Hodges and Gingardi drove deep to left field and the ball was only pulled down by Carman after long runs. In the ninth Zelnke had to go almost to the centre field fence to grab Downey's long drive, and Brown backed up quite a way to spear Fisher's clout.

The home-run beat Lambert. Dempsey did not hit the ball any farther than Downey, but the right field fence prevented any effort by a fielder. Lambert was not quite as steady as Lawson, walking three men. Seattle Here To-day. This evening at 6:10 o'clock the Seattle Giants, who have been contending so far this season to be the office boy in the league and look all the way up the ladder of success, will meet the Capitals in a six-game series. Last week the Giants played Tacoma and while they lost most of their games they showed a remarkable improvement in their play. Their pitchers went well. However, the Capitals do not expect much trouble in taking the series this week and jumping into the league leadership. The Victoria

INCOSGS' WIN OVER CONGOS CREATES ADDITIONAL INTEREST; BOWLERS' GOOD WORK

As had been anticipated, the Army and Navy-Victoria game produced the closest game on Saturday. It was a bowler's match, Preston with 7 wickets for 36 runs, and Matson with 7 wickets for 21 runs; for their respective teams, and fine work with the ball. As Preston also scored 35 runs for the Vets it was his day out. Victoria were eventually victorious by the small margin of 32 runs and considering that the Veterans were minus several of their regulars, they made a fine showing, and one that should give them considerable encouragement for the future.

Raid by Cummins Loses Yarrows' Star Battery

Brown Brothers Are Joining Prince Rupert Team and Will Play For Northern Baseball Championship; Scarcity of Pitchers Here; Vets Won on Saturday.

Johnny Cummins, one of the best amateur ball players turned out in this city and who was slated for a workout with the pro team this season but accepted an offer to work and play ball for a Prince Rupert shipbuilding concern, revisited his old haunts last week and on Saturday sported about the Stadium in a Collieries-Vets uniform. He helped the Vets trim Yarrows and then immediately proceeded to wreck the latter team by signing up Eddie Brown, the little southpaw, and his brother Howard, who catches, to play for the Prince Rupert ball team. Yesterday morning Cummins and his proteges sailed away for the north. They will play with Rupert against Ketchikan for the international northern baseball championship.

As a result of this raid the tail-enders have received a serious setback in their effort to lead the city amateur league. Eddie Brown was Yarrows' best bet on the mound and Howard Brown, besides being a safe catcher, was a wicked man with the bat. Potts will go behind the bat for Yarrows and Williams will play first, while Robertson and Cook will have to do all the pitching.

The Vets also are losing the services of big Dick Rosner, a pitcher, who has left for Alberta. The amateur league this year is suffering from a dearth of pitching material. There are only a few dependable hurlers left and any more raised-made by boys like Cummins will have a disastrous effect.

Eddie Brown pitched his last game here this season on Saturday and he received a bad trimming. He was unable to control the ball and the Vets hit his offerings at opportune times and worn out by 11-2. In the first inning Jackson hit a home run with two men on bases. The real landslide came in the fifth inning, when Brown walked four men in a row. Melville cut in with a hot single. An error by Milne also helped along the Vets' efforts and when the third out had been made they had tallied five times.

Dental Treatment That Will Give Every Satisfaction

WHEN we say "every satisfaction" we mean that the dental treatment we give will prove of lasting benefit to you, and the price you will be required to pay will be reasonable in the extreme.

To-day, when the price of practically everything is higher than ever before, our charges for dental attention remain at the same reasonable level that they have always been. This is one very good reason why you should not begrudge the small expense necessary to make your teeth wholesome and sound.

PLAYERS AND FANS MIX THINGS FREELY

Will Need Ambulances at Lacrosse Games Between Vancouver and Westminster

Vancouver, June 14.—One of these fine summer days they're going to find it necessary to back ambulances up outside the enclosures in Vancouver and New Westminster to carry away the injured, if players and fans alike show the same inclination to wield sticks and fists with utter disregard for the consequences as they displayed Saturday when Vancouver and New Westminster lacrosse rivals for well on thirty years, mingled at Athletic Park.

The world's champions won, five goals to three, registering their third straight victory, but to pick winners in the various fights would have been impossible even with a dozen judges selected for the purpose. With the players tossing sticks about as the Indians were wont to do with their tomahawks in other days, swinging with reckless abandon, the game in its third period culminated in the wildest affair witnessed here in many years. Starting with a vicious swing by Jack Gifford at Painter's head, followed by the player retaliating with such force as to knock Gifford cold and open a deep cut on his head, a two-man scrap developed into a regular free-for-all. In all sections of the field players started swinging their clubs, fans rushed here, there and everywhere and for the next ten minutes the playing arena was the scene of a royal donnybrook.

Royals Open Well

After seven minutes of pretty even play, Jack Gifford took a pass from Pat Feeney, and sagged the net for the first Westminster tally. A minute later Grumpy Spring beat Davis. He repeated a couple of minutes after. Grumpy Spring made it four for Westminster before the period ended. Just after he scored his goal Grumpy received a nasty gash over his nose which necessitated his retirement from the game.

A. AND N. VETS FORM A SPORTS ASSOCIATION

New Body Will Put on Big Sports Day in August; Will Boost Sports Here

At a well attended meeting of the governing body of the Sports Committee of the Victoria Unit, Army and Navy Veterans, it was unanimously decided to form an athletic association in connection with the unit, to be known as the Army and Navy Veterans' Amateur Athletic Association. Affiliation with the B. C. A. A. U. will be applied for.

The initial effort of this Association will be a grand sports day in August. Committees in connection with this have been appointed with instructions to go ahead with the arrangements for that day; fuller particulars concerning same will be published later. In connection with the formation of the Association, it was decided to put the control and government of it in the hands of a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer and a board of directors to the number of seven.

Officers Nominated. Nominations for these offices have already been made and are displayed on the notice boards in the club rooms, Hamley Building, Government Street, and are as follows: Chairman, D. J. Clarke, late president of the Foundation Organization; vice-chairman, H. J. Young; secretary, H. C. Ingall; treasurer, A. A. Fagg; board of directors, C. Kench, T. P. Tebbutt, G. Holden, L. Patrick, B. Laughtland, W. L. Perrier, C. D. H. Warden, and L. McLeod Gould.

A general meeting is called for Monday, June 21, at the club rooms, when all members of the Association interested in Athletics are earnestly desired to attend. Rules and regulations governing the new venture have been drawn up, and will be submitted to this meeting.

New interest in the tug-of-war team is manifested by the appointment of Lofty Kench as manager, with Bob Laughtland as assistant. These men are so enthusiastic that previous hopes of the Pacific Coast championship loom closer every day.

The temporary chairman and vice-chairman have been appointed a committee to interview the owners of the Hamley Building, with a view to the taking over of part of the second story of that building.

It has been discovered that amongst the members of the Army and Navy Veterans there are many boxers who, according to reports submitted to their careers, augurs well for this side of the Association's activities.

It is with regret that the Association announces the departure from the city of T. A. Darke, who was responsible for the good work accomplished in forming the Sports Club in connection with the Association and which under his able guidance has proved a decided success. The members wish him every success in his new sphere, coupled with the hope that at some future date he will return to Victoria.

Jack Ross, in his Stutz No. 3 won the mile against time in 1:06; Gus Duray, driving Stutz No. 7, was second in 1:07. Duray captured the 10-mile dash in 12:52; Ross was second, and Jim Healey third.

In the 15-mile race for light cars, Charlie Latta, in a Dodge Special, was first. Time, 20:38 1/2; Arly Filkey, second, with his O-No. 5, and Gordon Stewart, third.

Six cars entered the 20-mile free-for-all, which was won by Jack Ross in 24:20.

gained in Friday's play, proved too much of a handicap for the remainder of the field to overcome on Saturday and H. A. "Dixie" Fleager for the third time in four starts won the city golf championship in the final thirty-six holes, played over the Seattle Golf Club course, with a total score of 302 strokes.

Fleager finished with a margin of six points over his nearest rival, who turned out to be Lee Stel instead of Clare Griswold, as many expected. Stel shot wonderful golf and turned in the lowest score of the day for the thirty-six holes and 308 for the meet, but although Fleager was not playing in quite as good form as on Friday he was steady enough to retain his lead. Stel cut down three of the nine-point advantage with which Fleager started out in the morning, but came from too far back and his spurt was good enough for only second place.

Griswold Has Chance. Clare Griswold had a glorious chance to overtake Fleager in the afternoon, after starting out six down, but the two swamp holes proved his undoing and he landed in third place with 309. Former city champion, Bon Stein, turned in a nice seventy-five in the morning, gaining three strokes on Fleager, but was in trouble in the afternoon and came in fourth, with a score of 314. Gordon Haw was fifth, with 320.

The weather, although overcast during most of the day did not interfere with the play until the afternoon. The players had a lot of trouble at the fourth water hole and the white balls dotted the surface in considerable numbers. The thirteenth hole also proved bothersome.

Won the Singles. Capt. Westmoreland won the singles in the morning with Lieut. Warden second.

Fleager Wins Title. Seattle, June 14.—A six-point lead, will be given to the winners of both the ladies' and gentlemen's competitions, and the officers of the club are very anxious that every member will compete.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Search For Oil

Undaunted by unfavorable official reports, the search for oil is still being carried on in South Australia, and especially in the southeast, where the South Australian Oil Wells Company is boring at Tantanoola. Interest was revived in Adelaide recently when there was exhibited a large mass of what is commonly called bitumen, and which Dr. H. Basedow, who examined it, referred to as asphaltic petroleum. It was discovered on the foreshore northwest of Ruby Reef, two or three miles west of the Glenelg River, and about fifteen miles east of Port MacDonnell. Dr. Basedow stated that "large quantities of asphaltum have long been found upon certain beaches of South Australia, especially after storms, but this is perhaps the largest on record, originally measuring 3 ft. 6 in. x 3 ft. 6 in. x 9 in., and weighing over 3 cwt. When discovered it was soft like dough, and smelt strongly of kerosene and petrol. The contention is that somewhere along the shore of South Australia there is a natural outlet of oil beneath the sea, from which every now and again pieces are broken by increased pressure from below or disturbance. The South Australian asphaltum is exceptionally pure, and is richer than some of the best Trinidad product. By analysis it contains 99.8 per cent. of bituminous matter. Geologically, the land adjoining the site of the discovery is of similar age and structure to some of the most productive oilfields of the world, and it is proposed to search these formations in depth for reservoirs of oil by means of the bore."

Strike on Tegate Creek. Scotty Holliday, says The Omnica Herald, drifted into the town this week with representative samples of gray copper ore from the Monocour Borre group on Tegate Creek. The samples assayed showed 240 ounces of silver with high gold and copper contents. The new strike is located between the Copper and the Skeena Rivers in the andesite graphitic-porphphy formation and the boys have been aroused to considerable enthusiasm and are anticipating further discoveries of a similar sensational nature which will make the camp resemble the old Eldorado days.

Australian Gold Yield. The production of gold in Australia for the first three months of the year shows a substantial decrease when compared with that for the corresponding period last year, the figures being 209,293 oz. and 278,349 oz. fine respectively. The output of each of the States compares as under:

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Valdez Island Fisheries. Valdez Island—The canneries up this way are slow in preparing for the coming season. The Quathiaski Canning Co. will not open their big Blind Channel Cannery this year and their Quathiaski factory will not be operated in full measure. The new Fishing Act is the cause of it. We ranchers are not sufficiently posted to offer criticism, but common sense and careful study of the new measure lead us to the conclusion that one of our great natural inheritances will have spots knocked out of it during the coming season.

Logging Strike.

Courtenay—The logging strike was of two weeks' duration. The strike was called off recently, and the crews began to come back on Monday, and everything is going full blast again now. The men return on the basis offered to them at the time they went out, that is a slightly higher rate paid to fallers and buckers than had obtained previously, but otherwise on the same basis. The company is now running a full complement of men at all camps.

7 MILLBANK, LONDON, ENGLAND

Why Have "Millbanks" Become So Popular?

Because every introduction leads to lasting friendship. It is a case of "love at first smoking."

One smoker offers "MILLBANKS" to a friend. The friend is delighted with these mild, fragrant Virginia Cigarettes and buys a package for himself. This is happening many times a day in every section of Canada. The reason is easy to find.

MILLBANK VIRGINIA CIGARETTES

have the delightful, distinctive flavour of ripe, mellow, sun-cured Virginia tobacco—coupled with the richness and satisfying qualities found only in the highest grade leaf at its best.

The fact that the price is 15c for 10 is simply an additional reason for preferring "MILLBANKS."

ROMANCE OF VICTORIA
WILL APPEAR TO-DAY

Screened at Royal; Farnum in Stirring Story of Western Life

To-night and until Thursday Victorians will have their opportunity to witness a home made local picture when "A Romance of Victoria" is now being shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre. It has an entire cast of local people, and all local scenes, in fact it might be named
"Our Very Own Movie." It will also give the people of this city a chance to see if we have a Mary Pickford, or a Douglas Fairbanks in our midst.
In addition to this the regular programme will also include the latest William Farnum production, a splendid picturization of the Zane Grey novel, "The Last of the Duanes," contains some of the most magnificent locations ever "shot" by a camera. In the character of "Buck" Duane in this stirring story of Texas border life, Farnum is hunted by many posses, always eluding them until he voluntarily gives himself up.

Toward the last he is chased by a posse which drives him across desert and mountain till he gets into a canyon from which there is no escape. For this scene Director
J. Gordon Edwards found Cathedral Canyon, one of the most wonderful natural beauties in America aside from the Grand Canyon of Arizona.
To get this place the members of the Fox company had to go by machine toward India, and then on horseback more than seven miles to the entrance of the canyon.
Once within the canyon, there comes to view a natural amphitheatre of granite the smooth sides of which rise to a height of more than a thousand feet. This height, Mr. Farnum and a band of cowboys had to scale, climbing on hands and knees. A slip might mean instant death. The height was scaled, however, without accident.

ETHEL CLAYTON STARS AT VARIETY

"More Deadly Than the Male"
Is "Near Tragedy" Ending
in Comedy

Ethel Clayton's new picture, "More Deadly Than the Male," is said to have all the earmarks of a grim melodrama until just before the finale when a few revelations turn it abruptly into a delightful comedy-drama. The central figure is a capable high-spirited girl in love with a wealthy clubman who is used to searching in queer corners of the globe for excitement and adventure.
When she urges him to settle down to useful occupation, he retorts that there are no thrills in modern civilization. Whereupon she sets out to prove him mistaken.
All sorts of hair-raising incidents in a mountain camp follow. The conservatory has been transformed into an African jungle, he fights a fatal duel with the girl's supposed husband, a dam bursts with nearly disastrous results, and finally there is a rip-snorting set-to with the bureau police, at the end of which the harassed hero is brought to, informed of the real state of affairs, and agrees to stay close to the family fireside thereafter.
The story was adapted from a novellette appearing in a popular fiction magazine recently. "More Deadly Than the Male" will be the attraction at the Variety Theatre for three days, beginning to-day. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture directed by Robert G. Vignola.

—shot by a pal in Chicago during a quarrel over the division of loot.
Edward Joseph Fay, mild of manner, with a suavity and a polish that covered the greatest criminal mind with which the authorities have had to cope in a generation, had a career of crime that extended over both America and Europe. His goings and comings were events in the great international underworld.

It is estimated that Fay stole more than $2,000,000 from the banks of this country alone; his robberies in Europe must have brought this total much higher.
Fifteen years ago Eddie Fay and Eddie Guerin, another famous crook, robbed a Paris bank. Soon afterward they were hemmed in by Paris gendarmes and arrested. When they were sentenced to Devil's Island, the dismal, rocky pile of stones in the middle of the ocean, off Africa, the police of Europe and America heaved a sigh of relief. No man ever had escaped from Devil's Island.

But Eddie Fay did the impossible.
He escaped from Devil's Island, and his handiwork was soon evidenced in numerous bank robberies in this country. How he escaped never has been revealed.
A remarkable portrayal of the Fay (type of criminal and a stirring example of how a fearless man can overcome such desperate crooks is given in "The Coming of the Law," starring Tom Mix, which is playing this week at the Columbia Theatre.
In this picture Tom Mix has one of the best plays of his career, and one that gives a fine demonstration of those sterling qualities that have won for him his large following.

POPULAR ENGLISH ACTOR HEADLINER

(Lieut.) Harrington Reynolds and Haberdashery Co.
Big Feature at Pantages

While many vaudeville actors served overseas it fell to the lot of few of them to enlist in two allied countries. Harrington Reynolds, who is featured in "The Haberdashery," the headline attraction at the Pantages this week, has the distinction of serving in the world war under two flags, being with the British Expeditionary forces in 1914-15, as a member of the Welsh Fusiliers, and ending his military career with the tank corps of the A. E. F. Reynolds was wounded twice before Arras, and after a term in the hospital, received his discharge. Being a glutton for punishment he enlisted with the American Tank corps when the United States entered the war and saw service with them at Bellows Wood, Soissons and the Argonne. After the armistice he was a member of a military dramatic company which presented "The Seven Keys to Baldpate," for the army of occupation in Germany, and had the honor of playing before President Poincare, Marshal Foch and General Pershing.

"The Haberdashery" is the story of a young Englishman whose wealthy parents set him up in business in an effort to inculcate the well-known business spirit. His methods of selling goods are decidedly novel and his living models decidedly good to look at. The costumes are handsome, and there is a lot of clever comedy.
"The Peacemaker" is a comedy skit presented by Arthur De Voy and company. Mr. De Voy, who has been associated with the late Charles Frohman, A. H. Woods and the Shuberts, as producing manager, has recruited a high-class cast from Broadway, and the playlet is decidedly worth while.

Simpson and Dean have a scintillating offering entitled "Honky Tonky Town," which is brimful of splendid songs, bright cheerful comedy, eccentric dancing, laughter, and all other ingredients of a successful vaudeville skit.
"Wops" have a hard time making themselves understood on this side of the water, and the difficulties of a young Italian who endeavors to enlist in the army are vividly and humorously portrayed by Basil and Allen in a sketch which is laid in a recruiting office.

A wealth of melody is contributed by Rosa Vallyda. She has a wonderfully rich and surprising voice and a personality that lifts her above the usual vaudeville songstress.
Adonis and Company, have a very clever act and their hand balancing work is much above the average.
They perform some very difficult feats with great ease, and also have a little fox terrier which is a wonder.

The thrills of the programme is contributed by a new episode of the "Adventures of Ruth" showing on the Pantages screen.

Walter Steiner, director for the Hudris Film Company in the filming of "A Romance of Victoria," is in the city to-day to see the first showing of the local screen play.

Elsie Janis is a bear as a cartoonist and could earn a living at it.

SCREEN VERSION RECALLS STAGE PLAY

J. Barrymore's Portrayal of Jekyll Compared With That of Richard Mansfield

The appearance of John Barrymore in the screen version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which will be shown at the Dominion Theatre this week, has proven an event in the dramatic world as momentous as was the performance of Richard Mansfield in the stage play adapted from Stevenson's famous story.

Mr. Mansfield created a sensation in the theatrical world with the dual character in 1887. At the invitation of Sir Henry Irving, he took the production to London and there duplicated the success he had scored in America. Mr. Mansfield continued to appear in frequent revivals of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" until the time of his death.

The esteemed actor's portrayal was a masterpiece, but the very character of the story made the transition from "Jekyll" to "Hyde," which must be done before the eyes of the audiences, a rather difficult and theatrical piece of business. It is done more smoothly by Mr. Barrymore, since motion pictures can make use of the simple and effective device of "double exposure."

Mr. Barrymore's characterization of the young physician is a most remarkable and subtle piece of work. It is as good as anything this talented star, hailed by many as the great-

PRINCESS PRESENTS
AFTER OFFICE HOURS

Third Week of Stock Will Attract Large Audiences

"After Office Hours," the third week's offering of the Mildred Page Players at the Princess Theatre, promises to make a big hit in Victoria.

In the larger Eastern cities of Canada and the United States "After Office Hours" wherever played has been a tremendous success, and has been proclaimed by the public and the pulpit alike as the greatest stage sermon of the present day. Some of the leading ministers of Eastern Canada have gone so far as to say that every mother, father, daughter, every marriageable girl and boy should make it their sacred duty to see "After Office Hours."

The story dealing with the "Unvarnished Truth" is told in a straight-forward way, without resorting to sensationalism. The author, without losing his point has written a comedy role in the play that causes many humorous situations. Miss Mildred Page will again be seen in the leading role, a part that gives her a chance to display her dramatic ability. Mr. Byron Alden enacts a role that he has played before, both in New York and Vancouver. Miss Genevieve Berkely as the mother has one of the greatest mother parts ever written. Miss Nina Guilbert has a role that seems to have been written specially for her, while Mr. Tom Sullivan, as the politician and ward healer, has by far the best role he has had the pleasure of portraying since opening at the Princess.

WAKE UP, VICTORIA!

To the Editor:—Have the citizens of Victoria awakened to the fact that this is now the only important town in Canada that has not introduced daylight saving this Summer? In this matter it is a case of "Better late than Never;" the days will soon be shortening again, and I would suggest that Summer time be started on Sunday next, so that we may enjoy it for the latter, or holiday part of the Summer. It would certainly be the greatest attraction we could offer to tourists and holiday-makers.

E. COLES.

DOES NOT WANT "SMOKING CHIMNEYS."

To the Editor:—It is somewhat encouraging to find by the correspondence in the local papers that the advocates of smoking chimneys and other "signs of industry" in Victoria are not to have things quite all their own way. It certainly seems reasonable that the most should be made of the natural advantages of the locality, instead of trying to compete with districts which have very much better facilities for the development of certain industries, though no doubt there are some that could be greatly developed here, especially those in which timber would play an important part, and which would not interfere much with the scenic attractions. But with "lines" such as blast furnaces, rolling mills, and iron works it is another thing entirely, apart from the handicap of heavy freights, etc.

But in any case why should it be supposed that works must be located in Victoria itself? Why spoil the appearance of our fair city when cheaper land for both factories and workmen's dwellings could be secluded at other points on the Island—not very far away, but enough to prevent the disfigurement that would inevitably follow such developments here? Is it to be supposed that people from the Mainland would come here for rest and recreation if Victoria became known as an important (and dirty) manufacturing city? In the Old Country places such as Blackpool and the Isle of Man, where the inhabitants earn enough in Summer to keep them in comfort for the rest of the year, owe their success to the fact that they offer to the toilers of the factories and offices a complete change from the routine of their everyday lives. Possibly Blackpool could compete in time with, say, Bolton as a manufacturing town, but the folks there know on which side their bread is buttered, and would not be so foolish as to make the attempt, even if a certain number of the chronically unemployed tried to bring it about.

To me it seems unwise, and not at all fair, that considerable numbers of unsuitable people should be induced to settle here, when there is not nearly enough work for those who already regard Victoria as their home.

RABBI ENLISTS AID FOR STARVING JEWS

Theatre Crowded to Hear Eminent Divine on Devastated Poland

"Charity Knows No Creed, that is the slogan of the Canadian Jewish Relief," Rabbi Raphael Goldstein told a congregation of some 800 last night, in the Royal Victoria Theatre, under the auspices of the Ministerial Association of this city.

"Science, music, art and all the great true virtues of life make no recognition of grace or faith. Love is the biggest of them all and that, too, is universal," he continued. "Here in this splendid house, where you come to hear drama and comedy, tonight is made the House of God in the cause of Charity—Sweet Charity—a true virtue that is common to all, irrespective of race, creed or teaching.

"Never before have the Jews gone outside of their own ranks for charity. In the years of 1914-19 over 23 million dollars was collected by and from Jews in the United States for the relief of the starving millions of my oppressed people in Europe. Only the extreme urgency of the demands made upon us allows us to appeal to you, splendid race that you are."

Needs of Year.

"For 1920 we require over 36 millions to meet the most urgent of the demands upon us, not to buy diamonds for the Jews, but a crust of bread and a little milk for starving women and children. There are but 15 millions of my people in the world altogether, and eight millions of these are in Russia-Poland, in Russia where they are allowed to exist in but 25 states out of 95 states of the former Russian Empire.

"They were allowed no privileges, just merely to exist in those 25 states, could own no property, were kept poor by taxes and forfeits, were only allowed to live in the cities, and could never move without passports. Even the children were not allowed to enter the schools and I had to come to this glorious country to obtain my education, to leave home, family and all to learn the great truths of life.

The old Russian autocratic government was bitterly opposed to educating the masses, especially the Jewish masses. Jews were not allowed to live in Petrograd or Moscow, unless they paid enormous sums of money, but listen to the depravity of that unscrupulous regime: the Jewish women might live in any of the forbidden states of the Empire if they took the Yellow Ticket. You all know what they meant, and let me tell you the holder of the Yellow Ticket had to practice her profession.

"In the late war the wounded Jews were not admitted into any hospital outside of the pale, irrespective of the medical requirements of the cases, many of whom died under brutal neglect. That will show you the inverted sense of justice of the Russian bureaucracy.

A Great Message.

"To-night I have a great message for you, from 3,000,000 of starving and dying babies being murdered by man's inhumanity to man. Believe me, nature kills with cruel ways, tornado, cyclone, tempest and avalanche, but her cruelty is as naught compared with fiendish man. But I believe all who persecute God's Chosen People will be made to suffer.

"Too long have we preached doctrines that separate man, divide them, setting one against the other, it is time to preach doctrines that will unite all in one great brotherhood, for are we all not children of the one great Father? Therefore I appeal to you British to-night to your charity and generosity. It was the English that gave Palestine back to the Jews. I appeal to you to stop this cold-blooded murder that is being perpetrated on my people, and this is a splendid opportunity to practice your Christianity.

"Five dollars will keep a child alive, maybe only to be murdered next month, but it will be given a chance for its life. The share that has been allotted to Canada is but one million dollars. I know you are going to over-subscribe that many times. The old conception that the Jew is rich is false. Jews were never let grow rich in Russia and Poland, though I admit that the Jew has the power to accumulate riches if he be given the opportunity. There is a great task before the world to-day, shared by all who believe in God, to stop these brutal cold-blooded murders, and by subscribing you can at least

CONSECRATION OF BOY SCOUTS COLORS

Oak Bay (Gonzales) Troop Paraded to St. Mary's Church

On Sunday at the evening service at St. Mary's, Oak Bay, the colors presented by the Oak Bay (Gonzales) Troop of Boy Scouts by the Gonzales Chapter, I. O. D. E., and the colors presented by Mr. Mooney, Chairman Local Association Boy Scouts, to the Oak Bay Pack of Wolf Cubs, were consecrated by the rector, the Rev. G. H. Andrews, assisted by the acting commissioner, the Rev. and Hon. T. H. Henegane.

The Troop and Oak Bay and Gonzales Packs, under the command of Scoutmaster Seymour de P. Green, proceeded from their headquarters to the St. Mary's Church at 6.30 p. m. Upon arrival at the church, the rector with the choir, the parade of Scouts and donors of the flags, Mrs. Mooney, the Regent of the Gonzales Chapter, representing the Chapter, and Mr. Mooney, were photographed in front of the church, completing the photograph already taken at the presentation on the preceding day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shallock. After the singing of the second hymn at the conclusion of the first part of the evening service, the senior leaders, proceeded up the aisle of the church with the flag presented to the Oak Bay (Gonzales) Troop, for consecration, accompanied by the four Senior Sixers of the Oak Bay and Gonzales Packs with the flag presented by Mr. W. C. Mooney for consecration, accompanied by the Scoutmaster and Mrs. Kent and Mr. Mooney. The patrol leaders and Sixers carried their respective flags to the altar, and knelt at the altar while the rector and the Rev. Mr. Henegane blessed the flags, laying them upon the altar.

At the conclusion of the service the patrol leaders and Sixers went to the altar and received the flags, then stood alert, while the choir and congregation sang the National Anthem. The rector, Rev. G. H. Andrews, emphasized the fact that all boys' movements he knew of, the Boy Scouts stood pre-eminently above them all. He impressed upon the boys that no matter what church they belonged to they were now soldiers of Jesus Christ. At the conclusion of the service the Troop and Packs marched back to their headquarters, where they were formally dismissed.

Registration Has Improved During Last Week

Registrations for the week ending Saturday to secure insertion on the new voter's list, are reported to show a substantial improvement in the city, and some improvement in the two suburban ridings. The Liberal workers will hold a meeting at the headquarters, Arcade Building, at eight o'clock to-night, for the purpose of hearing an address on the interpretation of the act from an expert, so that the commissioners may know what to do in some doubtful cases.

SUGGESTS NEW PLAN TO SOUND CURFEW

The civic authorities, still in a quandary over the curfew problem, are now leaning toward a new system of enforcing the Curfew Bylaw, it was learned at the City Hall today.

A resident of Salt Spring Island, having read in the press that the City Council was unable to find a suitable system of curfew enforcement, has written Mayor Porter suggesting a scheme which appeals to his Worshiping and the aldermen. The Mayor's correspondent suggests that a sort of hammer be attached to the gong on the City Hall clock. The hammer could be hung so that it swung easily when pulsed by a rope which could hang down into any part of the City Hall desirable, probably the Mayor's office.

The Mayor is much impressed with this idea, and has recommended it to Alderman Patrick, who, as Chairman of the Legislative Committee, is searching vainly for some sort of curfew alarm.

WANT OWNERS OF SOLDIERS' BAGGAGE

Y. M. C. A. Wishes to Wind Up Auxiliary Service During War

During the war thousands of men left their "civies" at the Red Triangle Hut at the Willows, or at William Head, or at the Victoria Y. M. C. A. building. There are still a number of these unclaimed, and the Y. M. C. A. authorities are trying by advertising and other means to find the owners. Failing this they intend after July 1 to dispose of these parcels to the best possible advantage and will devote the proceeds, if any, for the benefit of the disabled soldiers in hospitals and sanatoria. The parcels are at the Y. M. C. A. building, where the owners can get them.

The Victoria Y. M. C. A. has a fine record in its handling of soldiers' baggage, and has received from hundreds of men their hearty thanks for caring for their goods as they did. A short time ago an officer of high rank who had gone overseas as a private, presented the check he had received when he deposited his "civies" with the "Y" when he enlisted five years before, and was much pleased as well as frankly surprised to get back his goods. The Y. M. C. A. in Canada has since the war been handed hundreds of thousands of soldiers' parcels without any charge whatever, and the number of losses has been surprisingly small. In the Western Division, including Alberta and B. C., between fifty and sixty thousand parcels have been taken care of, and of these, Victoria being a military headquarters, had a very large share.

Any soldiers who left parcels with the Y. M. C. A. at any of the points named are urged to present their checks or other proofs of ownership as soon as possible. J. W. Smith, the military service secretary at the "Y" is the man to seek.

WAS BORN OF NEED FOR UNDERSTANDING

President of "Kiwaniis Clubs" Explains Its Great Ideals

"The Kiwanis Club is now established in the principal cities of the United States and Canada," said Henry J. Elliott, K.C., of Montreal, on his way from Vancouver to the Portland convention of the Kiwanis Clubs, while at the Frye Hotel, Seattle. "We have international headquarters at Chicago. In the last year we have formed 140 new clubs and added 12,500 members, which gives us a total of 275 clubs and more than 30,000 members. This work has been accomplished in four years and is evidence that we have a real grip on the people of the North American continent."

It's Ideals. "A movement, an ideal, a law, is valuable only in filling a pressing need. Kiwanis with its ideals would mean nothing were it not that it has been born in a time when our modern individual is grasping for the freshening influence which it provides. Time was when men lived to themselves, producing their own, consuming their own; apart, save for some slight social contact. Today is the era of complex organization, for gigantic undertakings have gripped us, and men are finding themselves dependent upon their contact with each other for the very necessities of existence. This closer contact has brought its evils of envy, selfishness and greed. Man has not wholly adjusted himself to the new order. Yet thinking men are to-day turning their thoughts towards a solution of the problem and out of the many misunderstandings, the countless irritations, has arisen the great groping for a mutual understanding, the better appreciation of the other fellow, out of which has come Kiwanis."

Vehicle of Expression. "Thus Kiwanis has become the vehicle of expression through which the individual gives utterance to the new and higher motives that are being sounded in the modern business world. In this time of political and industrial unrest the existence of an adequate channel of self-expression for a man stimulates him to formulate his ideals more clearly, which ideals in turn become the anchor that holds him to the rock bed of sane reasoning. Each Kiwanian is provided with this opportunity of self-expression. His thought becomes dominant, constructive. He seeks to fit his own solutions to the problems that confront society at large and so stimulates his mind to travel unfrequented paths. He becomes possessed with the desire to create—to produce worth while things. Through constructive thinking he acquires vision. "Kiwanians acquire through their association this joy of living, this appreciation of life itself. Kiwanis provides the leavening something that enables business men to break away from the gripping concentration of "business alone" that tends to turn men into money-amassing machines, emotionless, incapable of deep friendship with their fellow-workers. "There is no man who is not made better by an appreciation of the human side of his business associates. A broader sympathy and understanding which comes to each Kiwanian is the base upon which friendships are formed. "Kiwanis embodies a great ideal, the ideal of clean business. "Promotes Better Ideals. "A man may directly benefit his business by Kiwanis members, but the man who identifies himself with the organization expressly for this purpose largely loses this benefit from the outset. It is not the true spirit of Kiwanis. A man's business is helped only by his wider acquaintance and by the confidence that will be given him by his fellow Kiwanians, a confidence which will come through their greater knowledge of his integrity, the quality of goods, fair prices and service offered. Kiwanis ideals do not permit the use of friendship for business emolument. The great power of association is the formation of character is recognized."

SMALL HOLDINGS IN GREAT DEMAND

Many Fruit and Chicken Farms Start in Vicinity of the City

While there has not been that building development in the rural districts contiguous to Victoria which might be expected as a sequel to post-war reconstruction, owing probably to the high price of lumber, yet in many parts of the territory tributary to Victoria, may be noticed modest dwellings housing families who are either taking over lands partly cleared from other owners or starting bush clearings themselves. There has been considerable development in regard to small chicken and fruit farms taken up by returned soldiers in pursuance of the policy of the Soldier Settlement Board, and the men are showing a firm policy in struggling with the difficulties of pioneer life. Chickens are favored in well-established districts like Colwood, Metchosin and Langford, while the fruit men naturally gravitate to the well-known areas in Saanich which have been tried out in past years, and have shown themselves particularly adapted to the growing of soft fruits. Perhaps Victoria district has not secured so large a share of this desirable class of settler as might have been hoped, owing to the attractions held out by the Fraser Valley and the Central Interior—a vast virgin territory little known hitherto to the general public—yet in driving round the country side near this city many improvements are to be noted, and particularly the well settled areas close to trunk roads. The soldier in the trenches learnt to want company, and it is but natural that he should wish to have the association and advice of neighbors in his pioneer efforts to tame the wilderness.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U.S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.
