DESCRIPTION OF THE CRIMINAL ACT

An international armed conflict prevailed between Iran and Iraq between 1981 and 1988. Iran was attacked on several occasions during the final phase of the armed conflict, among others, on 26 July 1988 by an armed branch of the political organisation, the People's Mojahedin Organisation of Iran ('Mojahedin'), in which connection Mojahedin became part of the international armed conflict. These attacks came from Iraqi territory and were supported by and in cooperation with the Iraqi army.

In the event that Mojahedin's actions according to the first paragraph were not deemed to be part of the international armed conflict between Iran and Iraq during the spring/summer of 1988, there was, alongside the conflict between Iran and Iraq, a non-international armed conflict between the state of Iran and Mojahedin.

Iran's Supreme Leader, Ayatollah Khomeini, issued shortly thereafter, principally as a result of the attack on 26 July 1988, a fatwa/order that all prisoners in the Iranian prisons who belonged to/sympathised with Mojahedin and who were faithful/loyal in their convictions should be executed.

Mass executions of supporters/sympathisers of Mojahedin, who were prisoners in the Iranian prisons, started immediately afterwards.

Hamid Noury, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role at Gohardasht Prison (Rajaei Shahr) in Karaj in Iran during the period 30 July 1988 to 16 August 1988, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other perpetrators, intentionally took the lives of a very large number of prisoners who belonged to/sympathised with Mojahedin (including those persons listed in Appendix A).

Hamid Noury's participation in the executions comprised him, jointly and in collusion/consultation with others, organising and participating in the executions by, among other things, selecting which prisoners should appear before a quasi-judicial commission ('the Committee'), which had a mandate according to the fatwa/order to decide which prisoners were to be executed, taking these prisoners to the 'corridor of death' and guarding them there, reading out the names of those prisoners who were to be taken into the Committee, taking the prisoners to the Committee, providing written/verbal information about the prisoners to the Committee, reading out the names of those prisoners who were to be taken for execution, ordering the prisoners to stand in line to be escorted to the place of execution and also escorting prisoners there, after which the prisoners' lives were taken through hanging. Hamid Noury was also himself present at and participated in these executions on one or more occasions.

Hamid Noury has also, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role at Gohardasht Prison, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other high-ranking employees, urged and ordered other perpetrators to participate in the executions by assisting him and other high-ranking employees in the actions referred to above and also carrying out the executions.

In any event, Hamid Noury, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other perpetrators through the above-mentioned procedure, enforced the death penalties imposed by the Committee, which were issued following a procedure that did not satisfy the fundamental requirements for a fair trial ensuing from international humanitarian law.

Furthermore, Hamid Noury, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role, during the same period and at the same location, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other perpetrators, subjected a large number of prisoners who belonged to/sympathised with Mojahedin (including those persons listed in Appendices A and B) to severe suffering.

This was done through inflicting on prisoners a severe death anxiety, which is to be assessed as torture and inhuman treatment, by taking the prisoners to the Committee and/or taking them to the ‘corridor of death’ pending being taken to the Committee and/or awaiting a decision of the Committee and also, for those selected, taking them to the place of execution and taking measures in preparation for execution.

Hamid Noury’s participation in the torture and inhuman treatment comprised him, jointly and in collusion/consultation with others, selecting those prisoners who would appear before the Committee, which would decide which prisoners were to be executed, taking these prisoners to the ‘corridor of death’, ordering the prisoners to sit there and wait, often for several hours, guarding them, reading out the names of those who were to be taken into the Committee and taking them into the Committee, reading out the names of the prisoners who were to be taken to the place of execution, ordering the prisoners to stand in line to be escorted to the place of execution and also escorting the prisoners there.

Hamid Noury has also, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role at Gohardasht Prison, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other high-ranking employees, urged and ordered other perpetrators to participate in the torture and inhuman treatment by assisting him and other high-ranking employees in their actions as described in the preceding paragraph.

In any event, it is asserted that Hamid Noury is to be regarded as an accomplice as he, through all of the above-mentioned criminal acts, furthered the intentional killing together with the torture and inhuman treatment by word and deed.

In the first instance, it is asserted that the criminal acts were committed as part of or were otherwise linked to the international armed conflict between Iran and Iraq.

Hamid Noury has thereby, through the said criminal acts targeted at civilians who enjoy special protection under Geneva Convention IV or generally recognised fundamental principles of international humanitarian law, committed a serious violation of Article 147 of Geneva Convention IV compared with Article 75 and Article 85 of Additional Protocol I and also of the generally recognised fundamental principles of international humanitarian law.

In the second instance, it is asserted that the criminal acts were committed as part of or otherwise linked to a non-international armed conflict between Iran and Mojahedin.

Hamid Noury has thus committed through the said criminal acts a serious violation of Common Article 3 of Geneva Convention IV and also of generally recognised fundamental principles of international humanitarian law.

This crime under international law is to be assessed as grave as a very large number of persons were executed, tortured and subjected to inhuman treatment in particularly cruel forms.

Statutory provision

Chapter 22, Section 6, paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 of the Swedish Criminal Code as worded prior to 1 July 1995, Article 147 of Geneva Convention IV compared with Articles 1, 72, 75 and also Article 85 of Additional Protocol I, in the second instance Article 3 of Geneva Convention IV, or alternatively as regards the killing, Chapter 3, Section 1 of the Swedish Criminal Code as worded prior to 1 July 2009.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CRIMINAL ACT

The religious/political leadership in Iran decided at some time prior to 27 August 1988 that other political prisoners in Iranian prisons, who sympathised with various groups on the left and who were not Muslim believers/were considered to have renounced their Islamic faith, should also be executed.

Hamid Noury, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role at Gohardasht Prison (Rajaei Shahr) in Karaj in Iran, during the period 27 August 1988 to 6 September 1988, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other perpetrators, intentionally took the lives of a very large number of prisoners whose ideological/religious convictions were contrary to the theocratic state of Iran (including those persons listed in Appendix C).

Hamid Noury's participation in the executions comprised him, jointly and in collusion/consultation with others, organising and participating in the executions by, among other things, selecting which prisoners were to appear before a quasi-judicial commission ('the Committee'), which would decide which prisoners were to be executed, taking these prisoners to the 'corridor of death' and guarding them there, reading out the names of those prisoners who were to be taken into the Committee, taking the prisoners into the Committee, providing written/verbal information about the prisoners to the Committee, reading out the names of those prisoners who were to be taken for execution, ordering the prisoners to stand in line to be escorted to the place of execution and also escorting prisoners there, after which the prisoners' lives were taken through hanging.

Hamid Noury has also, in his capacity as assistant to the deputy prosecutor or in some other similar position/role at Gohardasht Prison, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other high-ranking employees, urged and ordered other perpetrators to participate in the executions by assisting him and other high-ranking employees in their actions as referred to above and also carrying out the executions.

In any event, Hamid Noury, jointly and in collusion/consultation with other perpetrators through the above-mentioned procedure, enforced the death penalties imposed by the Committee, following a procedure that did not satisfy the fundamentals requirements for a fair trial.

In the second instance, it is asserted that Hamid Noury is to be regarded as an accomplice as he, through the above-mentioned criminal acts, furthered murder by word and deed.

Statutory provision

Chapter 3, Section 1 of the Swedish Criminal Code as worded prior to 1 July 2009.

Special applications

1. It is requested that the seizure of Hamid Noury's mobile phone shall continue to apply until the judgment has entered into final legal force and then be revoked. (Seizure number 2019- 5000-Bg123625, item 1)
2. It is requested that Hamid Noury be expelled from Sweden, with a prohibition on return in accordance with Chapter 8 a, Section 1 of the Aliens Act (2005:716)
