EAGLE ROCK LIBRARY

FORMAL OPENING CELEBRATED LAST WEDNESDAY EVENING

Eagle Rock, our enterprising sister city on the east, celebrated the opening of a fine new library Wednesday evening. The opening took the nature of a reception, and each guest brought a book for the library. There were more than two hundred volumes thus received, which makes a substantial addition to the collection of about one thousand and books which they already had.

Great praise should be given to the library board for the work they have done in securing the fine lot at the corner of Colorado boulevard and Roland avenue right in the heart of Eagle Rock and for the erection of the building, which has cost about $7500, making a total valuation of more than $10,000 for the property. This board consists of Mr. Godfrey Edwards, president; Mrs. C. A. Roberts, secretary; and Mrs. Blonda Banks Colburn, Mr. Hatch and Mr. W. L. Miller.

The library building, which is of the mission type, is of the soft tan exterior, with red tile roof. There are three large rooms of the library proper, besides the juvenile room, an office for the directors, and the librarian's own little room. All of the furniture and trim is of the light oak, which, with the many windows, gives a bright and pleasant aspect to the rooms. Underneath the library proper is a good sized room, which has been fitted up with a stage or platform and with comfortable chairs. This room will be used chiefly for local civic meetings.

Mrs. Blanche Gardner is the librarian who presides over the books and makes it pleasant for all who call to read or take books and magazines to their homes. Eagle Rock may well feel proud of their new library and point with pride to the beautiful building.

BRALYS MOTOR SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly of 205 N. Brand boulevard, with Mrs. Braly's daughter, Mrs. Chas. W. Kirk, who is visiting them, have just returned from a most delightful motor trip, having visited San Diego, with the exposition and all places of interest in and about the city. From San Diego the party went over the mountains to Imperial valley, where they visited most of the Imperial towns, stopping several days at El Centro and meeting there Franklin Lane, secretary of the Interior, who stayed at the same hotel. They also stopped a day or two in Redlands on the return trip.

Mrs. Kirk is leaving today for Santa Barbara, where she will visit old friends for several days, and return to Glendale to complete her stay with Mr. and Mrs. Braly.

DEATH OF MRS. BARLOW

Glendale friends of Mrs. Margaret Barlow, who made her home here the past winter, will be sorry to hear of her death which occurred recently at the home of her son, J. E. Barlow, in Abingdon, Ill.

Mrs. Barlow left Glendale the latter part of February for Illinois expecting to return here this fall. She was stricken with bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Barlow was born in Kentucky April 15, 1825, where she spent her early life. She was married to Samuel Barlow April 18, 1844, and ten children were born to them, all of whom but one survive their parents, S. T. Barlow of Long Beach and C. H. Barlow of Glendale being sons of the deceased.

Mrs. Barlow had a remarkable personality. She was gracious and affectionate and radiated joy and sunshine and never grew old in spite of her ninety years. She was long a member of the Methodist church and was a devoted student of the Bible.

REV. PARKER CALLED

Regarding the Rev. Leslie Parker, who with his family recently spent several weeks with Glendale relatives, the Santa Monica Outlook says:

Rev. Leslie Parker has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Christian church to succeed Rev. Vaughan Dabney, and will assume his new duties here at once, preaching his first sermon Sunday, April 18.

For some time Rev. Parker was engaged in evangelistic work, but more recently he has had charge of a church at Pocatello. He preached at both the morning and evening services in the local church yesterday and left today for Pocatello, Idaho, to make preparations for the removal of his family to Santa Monica.

SENTENCE SHOPLIFTERS

SIXTEEN MONTHS IN COUNTY JAIL IS HANDED CULPRITS

The Glendale police officers noticed three Mexicans acting very suspiciously yesterday and thought it advisable to keep a pretty close watch on them. These men were noticed going in and out of stores, but made no purchases. Where there were a number of customers in a store they didn't tarry long, but where there were no customers and only one clerk, one of the men would engage the attention of the clerk while the others helped themselves to various articles. The men were not suspected by those whom they robbed, but when arrested in the afternoon by Officers E. A. Lawrence and O. W. Tarr a considerable amount of merchandise was found upon them which was later identified by those who hadn't known they had been robbed.

Three pairs of shoes were taken from Olmsteads and Croftons, some linen goods from Chappells and a number of neckties and socks from Farber. In every store the spokesman bargained for something which they agreed to come in later and purchase or objected to the article on account of the price, while his companions got in their work.

The Glendale merchants did not suspect these men as they are accustomed to the Mexicans who work on the section hereabouts, a class who are hardworking and honest.

These three men claim to have come direct from Mexico about a month ago.

Their trial was held this morning at 10 o'clock and they were found guilty on four counts. Judge Whomes sentenced each of the men to sixteen months in the county jail, 4 months for each count.

VICE PRESIDENT'S BUSY DAY

Vice President Marshall is establishing a precedent in making a reputation for himself as a popular vice president. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall spent a busy day yesterday seeing Los Angeles and vicinity and were properly enthusiastic over the beauties and the wonders of this land.

They had scarcely arrived in Los Angeles until they found themselves in the midst of an informal reception, receiving the greetings of former Indiana friends in the lobby of the Hotel Alexandria.

Under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce, the vice president and party visited Universal City, where President Carl Laemmle did the honors. A film play was staged for the benefit of the party and the vice president earned his first "easy money," a dollar for turning the crank of the film camera.

At Sawtelle the party were properly greeted and Mr. Marshall spoke to the old soldiers.

A trip to the beaches was a revelation to the vice president and his wife, who had never visited this part of the country before.

The party is attending the Mission Play today.

SAVE THE COUNTY'S MONEY

The Daily Tribune says that the redlight abatement act has caused so much additional work in his office that he needs another stenographer at a salary of $100 a month, according to District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, who yesterday requested that the board of supervisors grant him this addition to his office staff.

But Supervisor Norton thinks otherwise. He is unalterably opposed to the district attorney's office having another stenographer when it means an increase of $1200 that the county will have to expend on that office.

Mr. Woolwine offered as campaign argument before elected to the office that he favored cutting down office expenses, and now he finds that to do efficient work reasonable clerical help is necessary.

HIKERS HALTED

A cross-country hike was cut short Wednesday night when Patrolmen Barr and Nelson of Los Angeles discerned that two of a quartet of young people doing the walking were women dressed in men's clothes.

Miss Georgia Greeson, age twenty-two; Miss Jessie Mosley, age twenty-three, were the names given by the women, and Lem Dewey Greeson, age sixteen, and Elmo Mosley, age eighteen, all of 1226 Maple avenue, Los Angeles, were the names given by the boys at the police station. They claimed to be brothers and sisters out of work, and had decided to visit George Mosley, father of Jessie and Elmo Mosley, on a ranch where he is working near Glendale.

Both the boys were released, but both of the girls were detained.

NORTH GLENDALE

VACATION WEEK IS FILLED WITH MANY SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Joseph H. Small of Los Angeles was the guest for the day of Mrs. George H. Marsh of 1645 Ruth street Wednesday.

Mrs. J. W. Mick of Los Angeles was in North Glendale Wednesday looking after her property located at 1652 Ruth street, recently purchased from William Alston.

Mr. J. Mike of Pasadena has had a neat garage built on one of his properties on Dryden street, having leased the place to Los Angeles parties who will take possession at once.

Miss Rita Kimball of Chino is spending the vacation week with her sister, Mrs. Paul C. Butterfield of 815 South Louise street, and also is enjoying the pleasure of meeting a number of her former schoolmates, having formerly resided in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddings recently entertained for their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Van Vleck Eddings, who had just returned from a motor trip to San Diego. Mr. Eddings is well known as a missionary and with his wife will enter upon a new field of labor in New Mexico about April 12 under the auspices of the Presbyterian Mission board.

Mr. William Alston and family are now located on alley View road, having rented the Bunker property.

Mrs. Karl K. Mertens and house guest, Mrs. R. T. Weldon, of 1109 North Louise street enjoyed a trip to Busch's sunken gardens in Pasadena last Tuesday and from there went to San Gabriel, where they witnessed the Mission Play and other interesting sights of that historic place.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY

The convention of the Christian Missionary Alliance opens this afternoon in the new tabernacle on Chestnut street near Louise. Dr. Forrest of Atlanta, Georgia, and a missionary, Mrs. Eckdahl from China, will be among the speakers. Meetings will be held Thursday afternoon and evening, Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon and evening.

On Sunday afternoon the new gospel tabernacle will be dedicated, Rev. Blackstone preaching the dedicatory sermon.

Rev. George W. Davis is superintendent of the Alliance.

MAKE GOOD IMPRESSION

More automobiles will traverse California this year than ever before in the state's history. It is no exaggeration to assert that more auto-traveled miles will be covered by sightseers in California this year than ever were traveled in any state within the same period of time. Thousands of machines will be wending their several ways across the state to and from the exhibitions and along thoroughfares that command magnificent views says the Pasadena Star. Those parts of the roads will be particularly in favor with the autoing visitors. Durable, well-kept highways are going to make an excellent impression upon these strangers. The beautification of premises, out in the country, as well as in the cities and towns, also will have its good effect in creating a favorable impression. Tens of thousands of first-time visitors are coming to this state this year. It is important that they be pleased with what they see here.

CHURCH IN RESERVOIR

Abandoned as a reservoir because constructed in land too low, the old Michillinda Water company's concrete basin at South Santa Anita is being transformed into a house of worship by members of the Church of Christ, Scientist. The work on the edifice itself is completed, and finishing the grounds to resemble a sunken garden will be started immediately.

Notification has been given that the first services in the "reservoir" will be held Sunday, March 28.

PROSPERITY

Don't ax de good Lawd ter send prosperity. Let him see you wid yo' coat off and yo' sleeves rolled high, tryin' ter pitch Hard Times over de fence, an' Prosperity will be settin' an' yo' breadfak' table nex' mawnin' an' yo' needn't wonder how he got dar!—Atlanta Constitution.

THE FLOOD QUESTION

CONVENTION SENDS BAKER BILL TO LEGISLATURE WITH ENDORSEMENT

Glendale men took an active part in the Flood Control convention called under the auspices of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county, Wednesday morning at ten o'clock in the hall of records. The convention lasted the greater part of the day, and ended by the rejection of the Haas bill, which provides for an assessment district for flood control, and the adoption by this convention of the bill drawn by Mr. Frederick Baker of Glendale, which provides for a bond issue to care for flood control in this county.

Among the Glendale men who attended the convention were Mayor O. A. Lane, City Manager T. W. Watson, City Engineer Edward M. Lynch, J. F. Lilly, Frederick Baker and W. J. Clendennin and others, the three latter from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Mayor O. A. Lane spoke very complimentary to Mr. Baker, telling of his excellent work for the city of Glendale and other places, and of his high standing in the legal profession.

Mr. Baker's bill will be sent to the legislature with the endorsement of the Flood Control convention. Following are some of the more important provisions of the bill as set forth by Mr. Baker.

1. It creates a flood-control district which includes all of Los Angeles county except a strip of territory eighteen miles wide next to the Kern county line. This omitted part is out in the desert and would not be directly benefited by any flood-control work now proposed; hence it is omitted.

2. It vests the entire management and control of the project in the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county.

3. It provides for financing the work of flood control, including conservation of water and harbor and highway protection.

First—By a general bond issue. The bonds are to run forty years and one-fortieth part of the principal to be paid each year. These bonds are to be paid by a general tax levy made each year on all the real property in the district.

Second—This entire project may be financed by the bill be financed, if the bonds do not carry, or if more money is needed than bonds are voted for, by a general tax levy made each year by the board of supervisors on the assessed value of the real property of the entire district, and to be assessed and collected in the same manner as other taxes for general county purposes.

The limit of such tax rate, exclusive of taxes to pay bonds and interest, is 10 cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of the real property in the district.

This provision answers the argument of those opposed to the bond plan to the effect that the bonds will not be voted.

It will be possible to do the work without bonds by money raised by general taxation on the district. This method will allow about $700,000 to be raised each year and expended for this great work.

4. Before bonds are to be voted on the board of supervisors are required to have a report made and placed in the hands of the voters at least thirty days before the election. This report must fully cover the entire project and enable the people to vote intelligently.

This is a brief summary of the main provisions of the bill.

A PLEASANT EVENING

About twenty-five friends enjoyed a musical evening Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan of 203 N. Central avenue. Among those taking part in the program were the Misses Dorothy and Phoebe Armstrong at the piano and violin respectively, Miss Katherine Hobbs at the piano, Miss Jean McNutt, vocal, and Mr. Olaf Andresson, vocal, and Mr. Armstrong on the violin, accompanied by his daughter, Phoebe Armstrong.

Dainty refreshments were served by the host and hostess at the close of the program and every one present declared that they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services for Mr. M. L. Jackson will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Pulliam Undertaking parlors instead of at 2 as was formerly announced.

Climate is a valuable asset for Southern California. This section of the state could have no better asset. A moderate climate is much in demand by everybody.

TROPICO NEWS NOTES

MRS. SANDERS RECEIVES KEN- SINGTON CLUB—MISS COLE WELCOMES MOTHER

Wednesday afternoon was most delightfully spent by the officers and members of the Kensington club as the guests of Mrs. Robert M. Sanders at her home on Acacia street. White Cherokee roses nodded from tall vases and low cut bowls arranged throughout the home of this charming hostess. Art needlework of every description was enjoyed by the guests. One lady was seen seated near the great wide fireplace diligently plying her needles, for she was faithfully knitting a pair of woolen socks. A Dutch luncheon was served to the forty or more guests and each was presented a spring chicken as a happy reminder that this is the Easter tide. Mrs. Sanders was assisted by Mrs. William Hartwig, Mrs. E. P. Tresslar and Mrs. Joseph H. Griffin.

Miss Helen Marie Cole, the talented artist who but recently returned from Cornell university, New York, very gracefully welcomed the return of her mother, Mrs. Mary Margaret Cole, who has been spending the past two years in San Francisco, with a charming dinner party at the home of Mrs. Cole Wednesday. This social affair was not only a welcome home for Mrs. Cole, but also celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of this most estimable matron.

The color scheme was white and lavender and produced a most artistic effect in the damask. Miss Cole's guests who assisted in the welcome home and celebration of Mrs. Cole's anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Weston, Mrs. Fleeta Kinne, Miss Almedia Kinne, Masters Allison and Kenneth Kinne, Masters Chandler and Brett Weston.

Mrs. Carl de Vidal Hunds, known in the musical world as Miss Lottie Buisser, the renowned violinist, and her equally accomplished sister, Miss Agnes Buisser, a prominent pianist of Los Angeles, accompanied Madame Schuman-Heink to San Francisco, where they will assist this world-renowned vocalist in the concerts to be given in the northern city. Mrs. de Vidal Hundt and Miss Buisser are frequent visitors at "Twin Pines," the charming home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Bahrenburg. The third talented daughter of the interesting family is the daughter-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Bahrenburg, the wife of their youngest son, Dr. Norman Bahrenburg.

Mrs. William La Fontaine of Acacia street has returned from a few weeks' sojourn at Marietta hot springs.

Miss Freda Borthick, teacher in the Amelia street school of Los Angeles, and Miss Mary Cornwall, principal of the Mariposa street school, are spending their vacation at Oak Glenn lodge in the San Bernardino mountains.

Miss Adah Scepter and her sister, Miss Ethel Scepter of Los Angeles, are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Karl E. Hollingsworth of Virginia place.

Miss Lillian Ellias, who is matriculating at Stanford university, and who is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ellias, will leave Sunday for Palo Alto. Miss Ellias will be graduated from Stanford in May.

Mrs. Fleeta Kinne, who has been ill at her home on West Park avenue, is convalescing slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Oren of Colorado Springs, Colo., who have been visiting in Southern California the past six weeks as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Roy V. Hogue and Mrs. David H. Imler of Palm Villa, left this morning for San Francisco, where they will spend ten days visiting. Later Mr. and Mrs. Oren will visit in Portland, Seattle and Salt Lake City before returning to their home in Colorado.

Mrs. Witwer Taylor of Chicago, the champion woman archer of the United States, holding this distinction for two consecutive seasons, was the distinguished guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Edward H. Weston at her home on West Park avenue recently. The luncheon table was artistically arranged in white and lavender and every appointment of this luncheon was dainty and replete.

Many are looking forward to the lecture to be given by Mrs. May Whitney Emerson at the Tropico Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Emerson is a very pleasing speaker and is well informed on the subject on

SWEET SIXTEEN

ROSE VILLA SCENE OF SOCIAL GATHERING—YOUNG SET PRESENT

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Burlingham were host and hostess last evening to a large number of the young people of Tropico and Glendale, honoring their daughter, Miss Daphne, who yesterday became "sweet sixteen." Their charming home, Rose Villa, was aglow with lights and with the glow of golden poppies which were used profusely to carry out the color scheme of white and gold.

Every provision had been made for the entertainment of the guests and informality was king. Games of all kinds were enjoyed, Misses Helen MacMullin and Eva Gould being fortunate in winning prizes.

Refreshments were served, an important feature of this part of the evening's program being a large and beautiful birthday cake.

Those invited to help Miss Daphne commemorate the occasion were Misses Eva Gould, Marjorie Singleton, Marjorie Imler, Helen Gould, Williemy Hobbs, Mabel Dunham, Margaret Lusby, Helen MacMullin, Eloise Seaman, Lila Shea, Lillie Schick, Lavina Banker, Dorothy Will, Margaret Gregg, Charlotte Foote, Dorothy Hobbs, Mary Jane Evans, Pauline Hamilton, Carolyn Gray, Jessie Dutton, Amy Miller, Frances Peckham; Messrs. Eugene Imler, Everette Richardson, Emerson Padelford, Lawrence Davis, James Lyons, Dean Sherman, Janie Shea, Milton Brown, Dolliver Webb, Kenneth Perrin, Dudley Pigg, Roland Dimmick, Walter Beach, Guy Pixley, William Reese and Francis Hoopes.

Delegates to the county convention the third week in April will be elected.

"WOMAN'S SPHERE"

They talk about a woman's sphere as though it had a limit; There's not a place in heaven or earth, There's not a task to mankind given, There's not a blessing or a woe, There's not a whispered yes or no, There's not a life or birth That has a feather's weight of worth without a woman in it.

IF THE WAR IS A DRAW

An exchange presents in a pleasant paragraph the hope that the war will be a draw. It believes that by this the nations would learn that war is profitless, and never can be conclusive.

The ending of the war in a draw would foreshadow a calamity as least as great as the present one. There would not be a nation convinced of its own impotency. There would not be one that would fail to await the time for renewal of the conflict. Awful as the procession of bloody days is, there is a possibility that some good may come of the spectacle. If not fought to a decisive victory now, all the expenditure of life and treasure and energy means worse than an absolute waste, for it means that nothing is to be accomplished. For the utmost that could be accomplished an incalculable price is being paid, but think of the measureless folly of paying this price and getting no return, not even the return of an assured peace.

After the war is over, there is reasonable ground for belief, there will be a change in governmental policies. Perhaps the theory that a king rules by divine right will go into discard. It may be that the humane doctrine that every land does not need to be an armed camp will be established. It is possible that ambition to rule the world will vanish from the mind of the individual.

What the world wants now is that the 'flame of war, since war has started, shall burn away the very fallacies that have produced war. It does not want the flames to die to embers, later to be blown to renewed glow. It wants the finish to be complete and final. It wants to bid war a last farewell, and not a light adios, that implies a temporary absence. To wish for a draw is not to wish well to any participant.—Pasadena News.

of 435 Isabel street, have gone to Catalina island to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Chandler of 135 South Louise street have just returned from a business and pleasure trip to Sacramento and San Francisco, taking in the exposition and other points of interest in and about the northern cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynch of 216 Orange street entertained several Los Angeles friends with a little informal dinner party Wednesday evening, after which cards were played and a pleasant hour enjoyed. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. John Willard, Miss Dorothy Willard, Mr.
Edgar Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis
Moss and the host and hostess.

The McMullin Dairy company are adding to their already fine herd sixty Guernsey and Jersey cows, which will arrive this morning from Northern California. This well known dairy is endeavoring to put out the best milk ever found in the San Fernando valley and with this substantial addition to the herd it looks as though they might succeed.

The Milford Street Neighborhood club met at the home of Mrs. S. C.
Leppelman, 1457 Milford St., on Wednesday afternoon and enjoyed a jolly time. Five Hundred was played, first prize going to Mrs. Lawrence Jenkins and the consolation to Mrs.
Sandrock. After the game the hostess served dainty refreshments. The rooms were prettily decorated for the afternoon with Easter blossoms and Easter eggs.

Mr. W. D. McRae of 1436 Salem street took his Sunday school class for a hike up Verdugo mountain on Saturday afternoon, and a fine time was enjoyed by the boys in the open air. They took marshmallows and oranges along and had a marshmallow roast on top of the mountain. Among the boys of the class who went were Paul Hutchinson, Waldo Yard, Earl Van Dyke, James Smith, Clyde Cannan, Robert Peck and Horace McRae.

After the ball game in Verdugo Park Saturday afternoon the Philathea class of the First Methodist church gave a picnic supper in the park in honor of the birthday of their president, Miss Gertrude Wilson. The teacher, Mrs. Anderson of Sixth street, Glendale, chaperoned the young people of whom there were about thirty-eight. There was a great birthday cake with candles and lots of other good things to eat, and a jolly time was enjoyed in the open.

Mrs. Blake Franklin of 1498 West Third street entertained the Cinderella Sewing club on Saturday afternoon, all decorations being in keeping with the Easter season. White lilies and a great basket of California poppies lent an added charm to the rooms and at 4:30 a delicious two-course luncheon was served.
Those who enjoyed the pleasant afternoon were Mrs. M. G. Jackson, Mrs. L. L. Frazee, Mrs. Mable Ocker, Mrs. Edw. Kinsler, Miss Frances Jackson, Mrs. C. E. Howell, Mrs. Allison, Mrs. V. E. Skiles and the hostess.

AWAIT OCCASIONS

Waiting is a form of pastime that we are very loth to indulge, yet first and last he who has not the wisdom to wait is hardly at the beginning of wisdom. The word wait occurs over forty times in the Psalms, and its use there does not convey to us the idea of dull purposeless musing, but rather of patience and expectancy. If it is true to say that everything comes at last to the man who knows how to wait, which is the French version of the proverb, it is equally true to say that he who does not know how to wait will have to content himself with much less than he has the right to hope for.

Had the Psalmist's injunction "Wait" been better heeded in time past, how much better things might have fallen out for some of us, but because that self-assertive will power claimed always to know just what ought to be done and the right moment for doing it, and was listened to, we did not wait.

Bacon advises that we use "all possible endeavor to frame thought to be pliable and obedient to occasion," evidently holding that this is something which does not come easily to us. The prevalent habit of measuring all things in terms of time is the cause of the trouble, for it deludes us into supposing that any delay in the fulfillment of our desires is simply time wasted. The Hebrew philosopher may have been thinking of this when he said that though a man "live a thousand years twice fold, yet hath he seen no good;" as much as to say that the greatest imaginable age would be of no advantage, unless accompanied by the wisdom to await occasions.

And by occasion we mean here an unfolding of good; for it is that moment when the need and its provision are realized, or when latent power is endowed with the opportunity for its right expression. When impatience is allowed to force the issue without regard to the occasion, the effect produced is comparable to the proverbial damp squib. There must have been something amiss with the motive, or such an ineffectual result could not have been produced. Where a right desire has aroused expectation, the occasion for its proper and effectual fulfillment will certainly arrive sooner or later. We have to learn how to wait before we can properly prove the truth of this statement, but having once proved it we shall begin to find that the opportunities for seeing and doing more good are waiting for us instead of our having to wait for them.

Such a prospect is indicated in Tennyson's poem to Queen Victoria, where he says:
"And statesmen at her council met.
Who knew the seasons when to take Occasion by the hand, and make The bounds of freedom wider yet."

The ability to "take occasion by the hand" seems the very acme of wisdom, but all must first have learned how to wait.—Monitor.

FERTILIZER SEASON

It is now the best season for feeding nearly every sort and class of plant life, as the need for plant food is now greater than at any other season.
It may be that some flower beds may not with safety be disturbed, and if such is the case, scatter thinly on the surface some commercial fertilizer of heavy food value and carry the same down to the hungry roots by watering.

Nitrate of soda and bone meal are both good "separates" to use, either dry or in solution, though but little of either should be given at one time.
Many will argue that nitrate of soda is a stimulant rather than a plant food, but this is altogether an erroneous impression. It is a highly-concentrated plant food. Does it not produce a fine, vigorous, healthful growth? Is this growth not a permanent gain? If so, it certainly is a food in the fullest sense of the word.
Stimulants only are usually followed by detrimental reaction, but stimulating food is always beneficial, even though the subject treated may subsequently starve from insufficient nourishment.

SOILS FOR ROSES

The Hybrid teas or the Hybrid perpetuals thrive best in heavy soils, the Bourbon class do well in any, but the Teas and the Noisettes seem to produce best if the soil is light or somewhat sandy. It is essential in all cases that drainage be good, and for this reason some rosarians of experience remove all soil from the beds to the depth of two feet, pick up the bottom of the pit as deeply as possible, scatter a little manure and sand over the surface and replace the soil, mixing it as it goes back with sand and thoroughly rotted stable manure, being careful to make a good job of the mixing pro-

A great deal of such work is done in England, some in the eastern part of our country, and but little by our impatient Californians.

In light soils there is little doubt but own root roses give best satisfaction over a long term of years, the necessity for budding keeping pace with the increasing heaviness, but when one reaches adobe or clay, it is better either to give up pure teas and plant hybrids only, or convert the soil for these into one of much lighter texture. It therefore must be apparent that if you grow many roses it will be found better to keep the classes separated. When purchasing mixed sorts of roses for heavy soils it is doubtless better to get them budded, for few have enough in number to sharply discriminate between the classes as to their specific needs.
It is well to reiterate that all roses do best in soils that have been deeply stirred and well worked over.

PRAYER MEETING WELL ATTENDED

What was by far the largest prayer meeting in the history of the First Baptist church of Glendale assembled on Wednesday evening for prayer and Bible study under the instruction of the pastor. The response to the invitation for all who desired to follow Christ in baptism and also those who desired to unite by experience or letter was exceedingly gratifying and a large Easter baptismal service is announced for Sunday evening, a continuation of the service of last Sunday evening when fourteen were immersed. At the morning service of Easter Sunday the largest number to receive the hand of fellowship at one time will be received into the full fellowship of the church.

The regular quarterly business meeting brought splendid reports from all departments and never has the outlook been more encouraging.
The five hundred membership in 1915 never looked more within reach than at present. The finances are in the best condition in the history of the church and at the first signs of revival in the business world the small debt on the building, which is the most costly church edifice in the San Fernando valley, will be swept away and plans made for the addition of the larger auditorium.

The ladies of the church made very attractive the lecture room for the reception of the new members and at the close of the business session light refreshments were served amid the animated buzz of social conversation. Every one seemed so much at home and the new members were made to feel that they are as welcome as the flowers in May. Never has there been a more truly brotherly gathering in the local Baptist church than that of Wednesday evening and on all hands was expressed the desire that the informal social gatherings be more frequent in the future than in the past. To Mrs. Salisbury, president of the missionary society, is largely due the success of the social gathering, she having been in full charge of the arrangements.
Thanks is also due the many ladies and young people who so willingly assisted.

A jitney newspaper is the latest development of the new form of passenger traffic. The jitney drivers in Vancouver, B. C., and their interests are being championed by "The Jitney Press," published in that city.
Copies of a recent issue have been received by members of the local organization. It is needless to say that they are being read with great interest. The paper carries copies of ordinances proposed by city officials of Vancouver for the regulation of jitney traffic. Practically the same problems obtain there as here, according to the discussions in the paper. One ordinance proposed for the regulation of the busses forbids the drivers to collect fares or make change while their busses are in motion.

A WISE SUGGESTION FROM THOMAS A. EDISON

"Lots of men are thrown out of work," said Thomas A. Edison in a recent interview, "because we have depended upon Europe for things we should have gotten ourselves."

The most expensive single item among the imports of the United States that could with advantage be produced at home is sugar, for which this country is sending abroad over $100,000,000 a year that should be used in giving employment to American industry.

This seems to be the golden opportunity for the American sugar manufacturers and the beet growers. The question of tariff cannot be raised now as effectively as it was in the past. The world is upset by the European war and every sugar factory in the United States can be kept running full capacity for years to come, exporting rather than importing. The $100,000,000 that has been going abroad for sugar can be kept at home and will go a long way towards relieving the problem of the unemployed. The same may be said of other necessities besides sugar.

Of course, American manufacturers can produce a lesser volume of goods, and still make as much money by charging high prices, but would it not be the solving of a great economic problem if they produced a capacity volume, at lower prices, and giving employment to the jobless hundreds of thousands?

INFLUENCE OF FLOWERS

One of the most distinctive characteristics of the old-fashioned American home was the love for flowers. Modern gardening with many people runs to the cultivation of shrubbery. It is a lazy man's way of beautifying his home, and if skillfully handled is effective. Perennial shrubs break the hard lines of the lot, and make the home seem a nest of beauty. At the same time few shrubs ever had that vividness of color that is to be found in such old favorites as larkspur, hollyhock or phlox.

These are busy times. The mother may have found leisure to plant, weed and fight pests. But the daughter is more apt to be riding in an automobile, or attending the card parties. Thus it often happens that the older women are left to do the gardening with their own hands, while the daughters are living their busy life. Gardening is an amusement peculiarly suited to elderly people. It has nothing of the spirit of competition that leads younger people to perfect themselves in bridge or tennis. It is a contemplative, restful diversion, appealing to the spirit of philosophical thought of older persons.

Men spend money for the artificial creations of the florist, but not many of them raise flower gardens nowadays with their own hands. Their minds are too much absorbed with the problem of getting a living, and they would probably rather raise

WHO CAN?

The suggestion that schools of the city should be subject to a survey is made by Goodwin's Weekly, published at Salt Lake City, that publication taking the stand that many pupils are being rushed along too fast, because of lack of thoroughness in teaching elementary branches in the hurry to advance pupils:

"We do not believe that one in ten of the pupils of the first year in the high school can promptly give answers to the following simple questions:

- "How many are seven times nine?"
- "In what direction from Salt Lake is Sitka, Alaska?"
- "How much is one-fourth of one-third?"
- "In arithmetic, what is a quotient?"
- "Bound the state of Tennessee."
- "Spell separate."
- "What great event happened at Appomattox?"
- "What are the three great departments of our government?"
- "Where was George Washington born, and how long did he live?"
- "Where was Abraham Lincoln born, and how did he die, and where is his final resting place?"
- "How was Utah acquired by the United States?"
- "Who invented and made practical the steam engine? What the magnetic telegraph? Who the phonograph?"
- "Why is it cold in winter and warm in summer?"
- "Why, when it is spring here, is it winter in Australia?"
- "Point with your finger the direction which the Panama canal is from Great Salt Lake?"
- "Why in going northwest from San Francisco nearly to the Aleutian islands, then bending to the southwest via Japan and China, is it nearer to Manila than to sail directly toward it?"

RUSH WILL COME

SAN DIEGO, April 1.—Although Santa Fe railroad officials declare that this railroad is bringing an average of 2500 passengers daily into San Diego they do not expect the greatest rush of visitors to the San Diego exposition will come before June.

"It has always been the experience of railroads when special events are on such as the two California expositions, that the bulk of travel does not get under way until vacation time," says W. B. Frisbie, passenger agent for the Santa Fe here. "In June the travel to California will be without precedent. Then the parents will come with their families or family affairs will be so arranged that some of the members may leave their homes. This cannot be done with children attending school so as soon as the schools are dismissed for vacation there will be a great rush."

All passenger traffic records for San Diego were shattered Wednesday when the Santa Fe's afternoon train rolled into this city with 1303 persons aboard. This train came in two sections.

Additional through train service between San Diego and San Bernardino to facilitate exposition travel is contemplated by the Santa Fe, which is preparing a new time card to be effective April 1. An entirely new train to leave here in the evening and reaching San Bernardino late at night will be put on.

The Santa Fe is not the only mode of transportation having a hand in bringing exposition visitors here for many are coming on the steamships which ply up and down the coast. The steamship companies report the travel at this time to be the heaviest since the exposition's opening and these also look for a sharp increase this summer.

A pretty good firm is Watch & Waite. And another is Attit, Early & Layte. And still another is Doo & Daret. But the best is probably Grinn & Barrett.—Service.

PRAISES MOVIES

SEATTLE, April 1.—"You men who run the moving picture machines may not realize it, but it is your business that is revolutionizing our government. It is your business that voted the state of Washington dry at the last election," declared Mayor H. C. Gill at a smoker given by the Moving Picture Operators of Seattle this week.

"Every screen in the land is giving the bad side of the liquor traffic publicity," said Gill. "The films voted this state dry last fall. They have voted other states dry and ultimately they will vote the nation dry. The films are working other great reforms. They will give the women the ballot for one thing."

Officers and men of the submarine F-4 were in the service of the United States, ready to become, at any time circumstances required the potential defenders of their country. They realized that they braved death even in peaceful maneuvers. The very fact that they took service on a craft so essentially hazardous as a submarine indicates their readiness to give their lives, if need be, in the country's service. It is regrettable that it seems necessary to have this form of service. But so long as it is deemed necessary let us give due heed of credit and of admiration to the men who will make willing sacrifice in patriotic service.

Another man, with a "Prof." prefix to his name has arisen to tell us that the American public school system is all wrong. But why expiate upon our weakness without proposing something better? If a person were in the third story of a burning building, he or she would not care to listen to a long dissertation on the fact that there is danger in being on the third floor of a burning building—what that imperiled person needs is a ladder or a life net, and a brawny man to the rescue. If our educational system is so defective as wise-visaged, bespectacled "Prof." attempt to make out, why not the rescuing ladder or the life net?

THE POWER OF PRINTING

A most powerful weapon in the armory of the modern merchant is printing. It is a voice with a thousand tongues. It may sway thousands and tens of thousands. It may command attention and win respect. It may move myriads to action. It may express the enthusiasm of salesmanship. It may represent wares and create impressions of values.

To use printing as an expression requires a mastery of many arts and crafts. In its fullest sense it embraces writing, design, illustration, engraving, typography, press work and binding. Each division embraces infinite possibilities of expression. In each there is opportunity for that magic spark of art which strikes a chord to move humanity.—Graphics.

MANY USES FOR LEMONS ARE GIVEN IN DETAIL

The lemon is perhaps the most wholesome of natural foods, because of its effectiveness as a tonic to the system and a purifier of the blood. Sometimes on account of its positive citric acid its juice is forbidden. It is a direct agent in stirring sluggish liver, and is especially cooling to the blood. For this reason we think of the lemon as a summer fruit because we appreciate it most then and enjoy its beneficial effects upon our system more during this season than at any other time.

But the lemon is the winter friend of mankind as well as his summer standby. The Italians use the lemon as a cure for malaria. The fruit is sliced thin, rind and pulp, and placed in a saucepan. Over this one and a half pints of cold water are poured and the whole allowed to boil down to a half pint. It is strained through cheesecloth and allowed to cool. It must be drunk while fasting and the doses should be taken for several days to be most effective.

We are all more or less familiar with hot lemonade as a cure for colds. However, it is claimed that a lemon baked whole and eaten with sugar just before retiring for three nights in succession is much more effective, especially if taken with quantities of water and without the evening meal.

A lemon added to the stiffly beaten white of an egg, sweetened generously with sugar or honey, is an excellent relief for hoarseness.

Sometimes the juice of a lemon squeezed into a cup of strong black coffee will prevent or cure a headache. It is not merely a foreign food to use lemon juice with tea. There is a scientific fact beneath the surface. The citric acid in the lime or lemon counteracts the effect of the tannic acid in the tea. Black, perfectly cured tea is made almost harmless by the addition of lemon juice.

A few drops of plain lemon juice is an excellent and economical tooth-wash, as it not only removes the tartar, but sweetens the breath. The Italians also use the lemons as a cure for corns, binding a thin slice of the fruit across the sore spot and changing it daily.

We are all familiar with the use of lemon rind as a skin whitener and bleacher, but few of us know that a splendid manicure acid may be made by adding a teaspoon of lemon juice to a cup of warm water. This removes stains from the nails and loosens the cuticle more satisfactorily than instruments.

Lemon added to clothes while boiling will whiten them. Stains may be removed from the hands and from fabrics as is well known by the action of lemon juice.

Lemon Peel

The provident housewife never wastes or throws out a particle of lemon peel. There are so many uses to which it can be put and so many dainty culinary flavors can be effected by its aid that one can hardly collect enough of these rinds to answer all the needs which a knowledge of their use creates.

All lemon rinds may be saved, dried in the oven and stored in an airtight jar to be added as flavoring to pies and puddings, syrups and jellies. If desired, they may be run through the foodchopper and covered with sugar. The mixture should then be placed on a porcelain or china platter until dry, when it should be bottled for future use.

Lemons are used in various ways which do not call for the use of lemon oil which is so abundant in the skin. This oil may be conserved by wiping the lemon with a damp cloth and then rubbing the skin or rind with a lump of sugar. The sugar absorbs the oil, which lends it a most delectable flavor. This may be retained for several months if the lumps are kept in tightly corked bottles. Some housewives even sprinkle sugar lumps with the grated rind of the lemon or other citrus fruit to obtain this flavor. They serve the lumps with tea or powder them to use as a flavoring for candy, icing and puddings.

Lemon extracts and flavorings may be easily made at home. If lemons begin to spoil wipe the skins with a wet cloth, then with a dry one. Rub off the essential oil with lumps of sugar. Grate the yellow rind, being careful to get none of the white pith, and cover with pure spirits of alcohol. If an especially strong flavor is desired, pour the strained extract from the rinds over another grating of lemon peel and allow it to stand for three weeks. Some housewives use a strong syrup or a mixture of syrup and alcohol to make this extract.

The lemon juice may be made into a syrup which will serve either as a flavor or as the base of a delicious drink.

Lemon syrup is delicious when served with waffles. Boil a cup of sugar with a quarter cup of water until it thickens slightly. Add a teaspoonful of butter and a tablespoonful of lemon juice and serve when the butter is melted.

When it is possible to secure good lemons at little cost the provident housewife should avail herself of the opportunity, as they may be kept for an almost indefinite time by bottling them, after they have been completely covered with water. The water should be changed every two weeks.

When lemons become dry and hard, as they sometimes do, pour boiling water over them to soften them. It is claimed that this treatment doubles the amount of juice.

Lemon Preserve

Lemon rind may be treated in two ways—made into candied lemon peel or preserved. The lemon rinds may either be cooked in boiling, unsalted water until tender, and then cooked in a syrup which has been previously prepared (of five pounds of sugar and a pint of water). The preserves should be cooked until thick, clear and yellow, but not too dark in color.

Lemon Preserves, No. 2—Soak the rinds of the lemon peel in fresh water, which must be changed every day. Before changing, however, skim the oil from the top of the water and bottle it, for this is pure oil of lemon. At the end of two weeks remove, scrape out the white pulp and cook in thick syrup, which has been measured pound for pound with the lemon peel.

Lemon Rind Candied—Peel the yellow rinds in long shreds and weigh a pound of sugar for each pound of chips. Squeeze and strain the juice from the fruit. Place the sugar with it and allow to stand overnight. Spak the peel in fresh water at the same time. Simmer it until tender in the morning. Cook the sugar in the juice until syrupy and when the peel is tender place it in the boiling syrup, cooking slowly until the syrup thickens; remove the chips singly and drain on oiled paper for a day. Remove to fresh paper and dry in a slow oven until all the moisture has been removed.

This same recipe may be used for orange and grapefruit rinds. The grapefruit, however, must first be soaked in salted water.

Lemon Marmalade—Lemon marmalade is a delicious concoction which we seldom enjoy. Measure a pound and a half of sugar to each pound of lemons and three pints of water. Divide the lemons into quarters and remove the stringy portions and the seeds. Cover these with a teaspoonful of water. Pare the quarters and cut the rind into thin strips. Break up the pulp and place in a bowl. Add the rind.

The bitter taste may be eliminated almost wholly if the white, pithy portion is scraped from the peel. Pour the three pints of water over the pulp and rinds. Allow the mixture to stand twenty-four hours. When ready to preserve add the strained juice from the stringy portions and add a pound of sugar for each pound of pulp. Boil for three-quarters of an hour.

Lemon Puddings—Lemon lends a delicious flavor to tapioca pudding. Only one egg and no milk is required when the lemon is used. An ordinary recipe may be followed in this case.

Lemon Bread Pudding—Use the ordinary recipe for bread pudding, adding the juice of a lemon to the sugar. Save the whites of the eggs until the pudding is set, then cover with a meringue made from them.

RATHER SMALL

A month-old Jersey calf was nibbling in the yard of a certain country friend of mine when the "summer boarder" arrived—a young college maiden from a Boston suburb.

She eyed it doubtfully. "Tell me," she said, turning impulsively to her hostess, "does it really pay to keep as small a cow as that?"—Boston Record.
