

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

DEMONSTRATION FOR BOYS WHO ARE LEAVING SCHOOL TO ENLIST

Monday at 12:45 a short assembly was called for the purpose of showing our appreciation to the boys who are leaving us for the front. The meeting opened with the entire audience singing America, such patriotism being demonstrated that a person three blocks away could easily have heard every word of our national anthem. Mrs. Gibson, who is the music instructor, was heard to make the remark that such singing as that of yesterday was never before equalled by any group of high school students. Mr. Moyle then gave a short talk, naming those who have left or who are going to leave school. After a few remarks, he asked Fred Dodge, the school yell leader, to give each of the boys a good sendoff by giving them each a yell. They were given in the following order: Houdyshel, Brown, Searle, Marsh, Eckles, and then a big one for Woodrow Wilson.

Following this enthusiastic demonstration, Mr. Howe made a little speech, giving a brief resume of the present war. He told everything, from the start of the great conflict two years ago to the recent resolution made by the United States upon her entrance into the war. Mr. Howe succeeded wonderfully in giving a description of every important act which has taken place since the war began.

Mr. Howe also announced that the annual oratorical contest is scheduled to take place on April 20, and that all contestants will have to turn in their names by Wednesday afternoon. The tryouts will take place at this time also.

At a junior class meeting yesterday afternoon in Room 129 very elaborate plans were decided upon for the coming oratorical contest. The Booth committee reported fine progress, and every junior is now entertaining the idea that they will win the coveted prize for the best decorated booth.

At the present rate it looks as if Glendale High will eventually be without male attendants, as two more of our husky youths have responded to the call for volunteers. John Sharpe and Max Sheriger are the latest to join Uncle Sam's forces.

FOURTEENTH BIRTHDAY

The residence of Mrs. Ella W. Richardson was the scene of a very merry party Friday evening, when thirteen of John Richardson's friends joined him, making the same number as the years completed in the celebration of his fourteenth birthday anniversary. The rooms were beautifully decked for the occasion with lilacs and pink roses. A great deal of amusement was created by the various games, prizes being given for five. The winners in these games were: The Art Gallery, Doris Packer; Placing Billy's Tail, Waldo Yard; Controlling Her Smiles, Marie Hearnshaw; Keeping Still, Gordon Richardson; Decorating Billy's Whiskers, Elizabeth Sternberg. Resting from their merriment, the children returned below stairs and settled themselves around the log fire to tell stories, when the dining room door rolled open and attention called in that direction. The dining table was prettily decorated with Cecil Bruner roses and pansies and a candle stood beside each place card, with a favor and a basket of Easter eggs. The center of attraction was the birthday cake with fourteen candles. Places were laid for Misses Doris Packer, Betty Warner, Harriett Cook, Dorothy Brown, Marie Hearnshaw, Elizabeth Sternberg and Avis Thompson; Masters George Roach, Gordon Richardson, Edgar Brown, Robert Roach, Waldo Yard, Merton Noyes and the host, John Richardson.

SPECIAL EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

A special soul-winning effort, long contemplated by the local Baptists, will start next Wednesday evening. The Thursday and Friday meetings will be addressed by Rev. T. F. McCrea, who has appeared so successfully in several of our local churches, while on next Lord's Day Pastor W. W. Catherwood of Covina will be present to aid the pastor and will preach each night of the week following. The public are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Howard and family of Hemet were visitors last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wattles of 332 North Glendale avenue, Tropic. Mr. Howard is Mrs. Wattles' brother.

PLAN HOME GUARD

The Glendale Municipal band will play this evening on the steps of the City Hall beginning at 7:30 and preliminary to the mass meeting called by the Board of Trustees to consider means of Home Defense. Mayor Thompson will preside at this meeting and Col. Harry Light or a representative of his staff will be present to address the people. Major Mattison B. Jones will speak also and Mrs. William Herman West will give a patriotic selection. Every patriotic man in Glendale is expected to be present tonight to aid in some plan of Home Protection should that become necessary.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS AND P.-T. A. CONVENTION

The convention of the First District Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teacher Federation will open Thursday morning at Symphony Hall, Los Angeles, and a reception will be held Thursday evening in the Friday Morning club house. The Los Angeles Federation of Parent-Teacher associations will be the hostesses. The reception will be strictly informal, and Mrs. C. C. Noble, president of the Los Angeles Federation, and Dr. Albert Shiels, superintendent of city schools, will extend greetings to which Mrs. W. A. Galantine, president of the first district Congress of Mothers, and Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, will respond. A sextette of ukuleles and songs by Mr. Friel, baritone, will be features of the musical program to be given. Friday's session will be devoted to resolutions, elections, and discourses on hygiene, child labor, recreation, etc.

Among the speakers Thursday will be Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Glendale Federation P.-T. A., who will talk on "The Work We Have Accomplished," and Mrs. Florence S. Kurtz, president of the Central avenue P.-T. A. and district chairman of patriotism, who will speak on patriotism. The program for both days promises to be full of interest and profit. The number of delegates from Glendale will be large, as Glendale's is one of the foremost federations in the district in its activities. Those who will attend from Glendale include Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Florence S. Kurtz, Mrs. Chas. Grist, Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Mrs. F. W. Casseall, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Mrs. Roscoe Puffer, Mrs. Stephen Packer, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. N. E. Kelley, Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. J. P. Hilbert, Mrs. Minnette Sherman, Mrs. H. A. McPherson, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, and others.

BOOTH HAS DODGE SEDAN

Clinton L. Booth has been appearing the past few days in a beautiful new Dodge Sedan that has attracted much attention by its graceful lines and perfect finish. The interior of the car is roomy and beautifully upholstered, with a separate seat for the driver. The wire wheels add a nifty touch to the whole. In style and finish as well as in performance the car is the last word in modern automobile construction.

RED CROSS MEETING AT GLENDALE HEIGHTS

Friday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. William Lindsay, on Wabasso Way, near Canada boulevard, Glendale Heights, there will be a Red Cross meeting. Mrs. W. S. Bartlett of Los Angeles, a well-known club woman and recently president of Ebell club, will address the ladies on the Red Cross work. Mrs. Bartlett is a charming speaker and all are invited to attend the meeting. It is hoped to interest many of the women in the Red Cross society.

AT STATE CAPITAL

SALOON LEGISLATION PENDING GOVERNOR TO VETO MANY MEASURES

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—Before the close of this week the liquor fight will probably be at an end so far as the legislature is concerned. An effort will be made to get the Ashley saloon regulation bill to a vote in the assembly before the Rominger anti-saloon, anti-strong drink bill is voted on. That is part of the legislative jockeying that is to be done.

No one contends that there is any public demand for the passage of the Ashley bill. The grapemen's organizations are not for it; there are no petitions for it and it is a pretty safe assertion that the saloonmen themselves would be against it if the Rominger bill was not pending. It is now the aim of the wet leaders to put the assembly on record in favor of the "tame" Ashley bill before considering the more drastic Rominger bill.

The Rominger bill will wipe out the saloons and the treating habit. That is admitted by everyone. The Ashley bill would allow one saloon to every 500 population.

Both bills allow cafes, restaurants and hotels to serve liquor with meals, except that under the Rominger bill the strongest liquor that could be served would be light wines and beer. Under the Ashley bill there is no limit placed on the percentage of alcohol in beverages. The Ashley bill provides for Sunday and midnight closing. The Rominger bill provides that wine and beer may be served only with meals and only at meal times.

Ashley makes the argument for his bill that the saloon forces would not attempt to hold it up by referendum as they would the Rominger bill. Which, if true, demonstrates that the Ashley bill is not expected to curtail the saloon evil to any noticeable extent.

Assemblyman Edwards is preparing a bill which would prohibit the closing of any levee in the Sacramento flood control project if the California Debris Commission shall deem the closing of such levee dangerous to navigation. The work of uncorking the lower Sacramento river will not be completed for several years. Until that work is done the closing of levees, in the Sutter basin for instance, would send, in flood time, a bigger volume of water into the lower river than the channel can handle and the result might be the breaking of a levee and the sending of the flood toward Stockton as happened at the time of the Edwards break.

The senate has passed the Rigdon bill which opens the trout fishing season a month earlier, except in several mountain counties of northern California. It is expected that the assembly will follow suit.

Senator Inman has decided to give up his fight for reconsideration of the Sharkey bill providing for cooperative buying of school supplies. So the bill goes to the assembly, where it will bring on another fight. It is predicted that not more than 250 of 2,600 bills introduced in this session of the legislature will be enacted into laws. Governor Stephens has plainly demonstrated that he will apply the veto to all excepting the urgent measures.

The bill to provide a separate board of examiners for chiropractors is reported out to-day by the senate committee with a majority recommendation that it be defeated.

DR. HARROWER TO ESTABLISH OFFICE HERE

Dr. Henry R. Harrower of East Broadway, Glendale, a physician with offices in Los Angeles for several years, is about to open an office in Glendale. Dr. Harrower has resided here for some years and studied conditions thoroughly before making this decision. He has arranged to occupy a suite of rooms over the Bank of Glendale at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway. Dr. Harrower is a man of high standing in his profession. As secretary of the Society for the Study of the Internal Secretions, an organization of physicians from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries, he is widely known. He is also editor of the Link, the monthly publication of the society, and of "Endocrinology," a pretentious journal published every three months by the society.

Dr. and Mrs. Harrower have become identified with Glendale's best activities and this added assurance that their residence here is to be permanent is very gratifying to the many friends they have made here.

AUTO ACCIDENT

LES MEYER AND I. M. SHRYOCK RUSH INJURED LAD TO SANITARIUM

As Lester L. Meyer and I. M. Shryock of the local Overland Agency were returning from Los Angeles on Saturday evening, they happened to notice a small crowd gathered at the side of the road near the Morehouse Mustard Co.'s plant on San Fernando road and two or three automobiles standing close by. Mr. Meyer stopped and noticed that a small boy was lying on the ground, his clothes badly torn, and his arm, face and head cut in several places. Without hesitating or asking questions he bundled the lad into the back of the automobile and started at high speed for the Tropic hospital. Arriving there he was keenly disappointed to be refused admission, being told that ambulance or surgical cases were not taken there, it being a private hospital. Without losing time and forgetting speed limits, the boy was then driven to the Glendale Sanitarium, where he was taken in at once and given immediate attention and medical care. It was thought at first that he had only a few minor cuts and bruises, but on examination it was feared he might have concussion of the brain. The boy has had hemorrhages since, but it is hoped there will be no serious result from the accident.

At the sanitarium the doctors asked Mr. Meyer and Mr. Shryock who hit the boy, and how the accident occurred, etc. It then occurred to them for the first time that for their own protection they should gain this information, which they had neglected to do in their desire to help the boy and their eagerness to reach medical aid. So they returned to the scene of the accident and found that a Mrs. Jones, wife of Dr. Jones (dentist) of 107 N. Spring street, Los Angeles, had been driving along while two boys had been running behind a hay wagon and somehow or other she had hit one of them, although she ran into a telegraph pole trying to avoid him. The injured boy's name is Martin Hass and he lives on Loosmere street.

Mr. Meyer said: "It made me mad clean through to see the boy lying there and people standing around arguing what might or should have been instead of attending to the lad. So we just took matters in our own hands and bundled him off to the hospital. Perhaps it was lucky for us though that we found out who hit the boy as otherwise it might have looked as if we were the guilty parties. From what we can learn the boy will soon be all right and I am mighty glad, for he seemed to be a bright boy. But he has learned the lesson of being careful in running on boulevards where there is heavy traffic and Mr. Shryock and I have learned that even in a case of such dire necessity and where we mean to do a kind act, it is well to get the necessary information regarding the accident before it is too late."

DEDICATES MARCH TO GLENDALE

P. M. Hicks, band master of the Glendale Municipal Band, has just written a very pretty march, which he has named "Jewel City March," and has dedicated to Glendale. This march will be played at the next concert, to be given by the band boys on Friday, April 27. Everyone will want to hear this new composition of Glendale's talented band leader, and it is hoped that a greater interest and appreciation of this meritorious musical organization will be shown at the coming concert than was evidenced by the patronage at the last concert given. There are many things the band is in need of and a good band is something every town needs and can hardly do without. But with their love of music so easily satisfied by the close proximity of Los Angeles, our people sometimes forget to support and encourage the talent we have at home, and so make more of a center of the things they go a distance to enjoy.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

This evening at 7:30 Mr. Cameron Johnson will give an illustrated address on "The World's Greatest Nation." This will be the first in a series to be given this week, to which the general public is invited. This being pre-communion week, all the addresses will be in harmony with the great commission, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." A free-will offering will be taken for the extension of this work throughout the world.

HOME PREPAREDNESS

National preparedness for war has ceased to be the theme for argument. Congress and other Federal agencies are now occupied with questions of ways and means. However, today we face the question of individual preparedness, about which little has yet been said, but which is as vital a question as the other.

War is not only a matter of gunpowder and lead; it is just as much a matter of food and forage. Comparatively few are in position to serve their country in actual firing line, but there is no man, woman or half-grown child, who cannot serve on the forage line, if only by tending a bed of green vegetables. Such service may not be exciting; it may not seem glorious—yet in the long run it may be as useful as the service of the man who dies for his country on the field of battle. It is not inconceivable that the time may come when such humble service, loyally performed by thousands of patriots a thousand miles away from any battle line, may turn the balance upon which hangs our very existence as free people.

We produce more than enough food for ourselves, but in war there will be danger that people may starve because our food reserves are in remote elevators and storage plants and our railroads are too busy handling troops and munitions to carry food to the civilian population. Thus the Government would be embarrassed by the problem of meeting local shortages of food at a time when all its energies should be focussed upon national defense. Incidentally, from time to time prices of some necessities of life may become prohibitive, even though food be available. Hence it is as imperative that the individual meet the problem of home food supply as that Congress should look to national food preparedness.

Individual preparedness in cities should take form this spring by the planting of hundreds of thousands of door-yard gardens, where before there was only sod or bare earth. In the country it should take the form of more intensive cultivation; even of a measure of training on the part of women and girls that they may be prepared to ride the sulky plow or the binder if the worst comes. Everywhere it should take the form of scrupulous care in the production, use, and conservation of foods.

NEBRASKA EXPECTS BUMPER CROPS THIS YEAR

Nebraska's crop acreage this year will be the greatest in the state's history. Whether Nebraska's 1917 crop yield will be the greatest in its history will depend on weather conditions.

The high cost of living, with the consequent high prices paid for farm produce, is in part responsible for the increased acreage.

Only a normal wheat crop is expected. Farmers now say that the wheat is not strong and will require the most favorable conditions from now on to make even a normal crop.

The corn acreage will be greater than last year. Where wheat has been winter-killed the farmers will plow it up and plant the fields to corn.

The high prices brought by garden produce and by such staples as beans, etc., will mean an increased acreage for these also. Included in this list is very likely to be the potato.

One of the effects of the high cost of living which will be seen in cities and towns all over the state will be increased gardens. In the larger cities and towns every vacant lot stands a good chance of being used for a garden.

NOW ALL TOGETHER—EVERYBODY—SMILE!

What a flood of sunlight has come into our homes and business houses this week with the opening of doors and windows to the great out-of-doors. And how typical it has been of the great flood of sunshine and love that will come into our own homes (our bodies) if we will but open our eyes to the good things about us. Oh, the beauty of living in this grand world where nature has brought everything before us for our pleasure and enjoyment, and, oh, the misery of the sour-faced mortals who are too narrow-minded, too self-centered and too selfish to see it.

Life should be one grand song of genuine gladness for the sake of being privileged to live in this glorious world and in this wonderful age when men and women are accomplishing such admirable things. If we are not now getting all out of life that we should, let us begin at once. First of all, let us smile at our own families, then let us sally forth and try it on our fellow-men (it may hurt to smile at some of the sour-visaged individuals who we meet, but let's try it anyway), and then let's continue to smile until some of the other fellows get the habit, and behold—the spirit of the enjoyment of right living will be upon us.

Think what your smile will mean to that dear old mother or father who have slaved all of their lives that you might have the better things of life; think what your smile will mean to that dear little wife who has gone through thick and thin to stand at your side; think what your smile will mean to that tired, hard-working husband whose only recompense for his daily labor is a place to lay his head and three meals a day. Your smiles may have been so long in the coming that your family may think you crazy when you begin your right way of living; but, oh, the joy they will experience when they learn again that you really can smile. A smile and a cheery word this side of the grave will do more good than a whole page obituary after the dear ones are gone. Don't fail to drop a smile and a rose whenever it is possible. It will help you twice as much as the one to whom the courtesy is shown.—Rialto Record.

CALIFORNIA DEVELOPMENT BOARD REPORT

Reports thus far available, says State Horticultural Commissioner Hecke's office, indicate that but slight damage has resulted from the frosts and rains during the past month. While a few sections report a 50 per cent. loss, others claim no harm has been done, and admit in a general way that the loss sustained amounts to little more than proper thinning would entail.

Reports received at the office of the State Commission are, as a rule, generally optimistic. Almonds show but a slight falling off from the normal, and this may result in a crop above the normal when the harvest is reached, as is frequently the case.

Stanislaus and Santa Barbara Counties show normal conditions; Madera admits slight damage to apricots; peaches and apricots are said to have been pinched a little in lower San Joaquin; Hemet Valley reports some damage to apricots; Kings County is so close that authorities do not agree; Fresno reports but slight damage to peaches, and all down the line the average would indicate that with continued favorable conditions the crop of fruit and nuts in the State for 1917 would be one of the largest in its history.

From the latest figures obtained by the Development Board it would appear that fully 80,000 acres will be planted to rice this year, the largest increase being in Glenn County, with Colusa, Butte, Yolo and Kern following, and early sowing will be the order. Most of the land will be ready for seeding by April 15th and the planting will take place easily four weeks ahead of last year.

Under the Kuhn Ditch, in the Willows section, upwards of 16,000 acres are going into rice, an increase of 100 per cent. over last year.

Rice growers speak with one voice in their criticism of the implement makers who are not ready to supply the necessary implements for the heavier harvesting of the rice crop, as compared with wheat or barley. They seem to be building lighter machines rather than heavier ones, and these will not stand the work for even one season. Last year rice growers in Glenn and Butte Counties figured that their harvesting cost them from $3.00 to $5.00 an acre through inferiority of implements.

Barley acreages will also show a large increase, probably 30 per cent. more than in 1916. The weather is ideal for plowing, and it is generally predicted that an early season is quite possible. The farming communities throughout the State are anxious, however, for a rain at this time, and it would be an unqualified blessing.

WORTH OF A FREE COUNTRY TO US

Now at a time when the United States is threatened by a foreign power, we are reminded of the meaning of a free country in which to live, and we are also reminded of the sacrifice of lives on the part of men of revolutionary times that made it possible for us to live in a free land.

We have been taught to abhor the idea of a one-man government. It was to get away from that oppression that our forefathers fought and died. Now when there is an attempt made for a central power to limit our rights on the seas and prescribe rules affecting our commerce, how the patriotism of every citizen of the United States is stirred up, and how promptly he steps forward and declares that all acts of interference on the part of Germany must cease.

Less than one hundred and fifty years have elapsed since George Washington and his followers fought so valiantly for freedom. Are the grandsons of the revolutionary heroes less patriotic than their ancestors? Will we stand idly by and witness our rights being infringed upon without offering a word of protest? No; not so long as we are a patriotic, country-loving people.

CALIFORNIA'S POPULATION

State Controller John S. Chambers in his report as to the financial transactions of the cities and counties of the State for 1916 places the population of California at 3,000,000. Based upon the number of registered voters in 1915 the figure would have been 2,854,000, and on this basis there should now be 2,956,430. According to the system employed by the United States Census Bureau, the estimated population of California in 1915 was 2,803,805. Based upon the school census system, this population is 3,004,000. Taking into consideration these various systems, it seems safe to say that 3,000,000 is approximately correct.

The cities and towns of the State are claiming for 1916 a population of 2,508,719. If these claims are correct, it would only leave us a rural population of 447,711, on the basis employed by the United States Census Bureau. Our rural population should be about 850,000. It may be that in their zeal to show growth, the cities are claiming, all told, an excess population of about 400,000.

NOT TO FEAR

Sacrifices will the American people be called upon to make during the months to come, but who is there proud of his citizenship who fears to make the sacrifices,

American homes and firesides shall remain inviolate. The power of the citizenship of this country is sufficient for that. Preparation for war there will be.

Enlistments will take men from the homes.

Taxes may take a share of the incomes.

Economies may be made more necessary.

Things which we once thought were necessary will be done without.

But the Kaiser's end is near at hand and with that end comes peace—permanent peace.

There is much to do.

There is much to endure.

There is naught to fear.—Hollywood Citizen.

KEEP THIS IN MIND

In the crucial times now confronting the American people may we ever keep in mind these words of the President:

"We are glad, now that we see the facts with no veil or false pretenses about them, to fight thus for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples, the German peoples included; for the right of nations great and small and the privileges of men everywhere to choose their way of life and of obedience. The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the trusted foundations of political liberty.

"We have no selfish ends to serve. We desire no conquest, no dominion. We seek no indemnities for ourselves, no material compensation for the sacrifices we shall freely make. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall be satisfied when those rights have been as secure as the faith and the freedom of the nations can make them."

HONORABLE MENTION

Many a man has found it easier to mount the ladder of fame than to climb the stool of repentance.

It's a pity the people who quarrel over trifles haven't something worthy of their talents.

CANNOT WASTE MONEY

Can money be wasted. It is "virtually impossible," says the Louisville Courier-Journal. The individual, or a family may lose a sum of money, but in the act of losing it they circulate it. This line of reasoning causes the Courier-Journal to make this quaint comment: "Even the gifted youth who kills himself trying to spend his money does not succeed in wasting the money. The only thing he can do is to transfer it to others. He is wasted only because his body is cremated or put into the ground too deep, and in a rust-proof casket. As fertilizer he would be worth something if nature were allowed to take her course."

"Wheat grew six feet tall on the field of Waterloo after the great battle."

We shall expect some enterprising Kansas wheat grower, on reading this, to take an option on the Verdun place in France.—Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

There are many things less patriotic than planting that garden. The country may need food more than guns, later in this conflict which is just now opening.—Whittier News.

NEW THOUGHT

As Miss Ruth Williams played a joyous strain of music, a shepherdess in picturesque attire with flower-twined crook led in a band of saucy fairies crowned with many-hued flower caps. When all were in their places on the platform a song, "O, Happy Day," was sung together.

Then the three smallest in the Sunday School, Gracie Carmack, Marjorie Putnam and Charlotta Wade, with saucy sweet pea caps, gave greetings to the assembled guests.

Dorothy Sherman, the shepherdess, gave a reading entitled, Easter. After repeating in unison the 23rd Psalm, the dainty flower girls and sunflower boys took their seats.

Little Jean Louise Hinchcliff and Gracie Carmack took up the offering in flower-trimmed baskets. A recitation, "The Daisy," was recited by four white daisy girls, Dorothy Putnam, Edith Carmack, Genevieve Marek and Jean Louise Hinchcliff. Then the sturdy sunflower boys marched forth and told their spring-time story. After another song, in which the buzzing of the bees was plainly audible, Dorothy Carmack, a yellow daffodil, told of Christ's risen glory. A song, "The Easter Lily," was charmingly sung by Elizabeth Webb, accompanied by her mother.

A recitation, "In the Springtime," by Dorothy Sherman, was followed by verses from Loraine McDaniels, Marcella Webb, Luella Myton, Roberta Collins and Ellen Myton. Little Marcella Webb gave a beautiful violin solo, accompanied by her mother. A recitation, "The Morning Glory," was given by Marjorie Sherman. Helen and Ruth Hutton recited together a lovely Easter poem.

After silent prayer, holding the thought, "We praise God for our many blessings," the shepherdess led the fairy host out to where Miss Olive Williams had prepared a surprise for each in the form of a tiny basket of Easter eggs. This closed the Sunday School Easter festival.

The evening service was full of good music. Mrs. J. J. Freeman sang in her usual pleasing manner "The Good Shepherd," that wonderful twenty-third psalm set to music. A quartet of ladies, Mesdames Kimball, McQuivey, Carmack and Freeman, sang "There is a Wideness in God's Mercy." Mrs. Carmack sang a beautiful solo entitled "Our God."

The thought held during the silent prayer was, "The living Christ within me quickens every power and faculty of my being into new life and energy."

Mrs. Becker said: "The question we are asking nowadays more than any other is, 'How can one live to have fullness of life?' Not so much are we asking, 'How can I gain eternal life, but how can I live well?' None of us are fully alive. Many have lost some even of that which we had, physical vigor and that power to grasp a thing quickly.

The world is full of dry bones—people who have the teaching and the law but do not apply what they know. The churches are full of dead bones.

"Why on Easter time don't we waken up to what we are? Let us substitute a living Christ for a dripping, bloody Christ. He came to demonstrate to us how we can have dominion over ourselves, our forces and this world.

"The road to mastery is the road of sacrifice—the sacrifice that is a letting go of the lesser for the greater. That crucifixion of the little self makes for growth and mastery. But it must be a sacrifice with the purpose of the bigger thing.

"We can have continually the Christ consciousness, that which stimulates real life into our being. Every day should be resurrection day.

"Every one who strives each day to master his forces, who strives for the perfect mastery of every circumstance, is helping the whole human race to solve its problems.

"And in these critical times, we must master all feeling of resentment against any of our fellows. You may say, 'I don't believe you're right but I love you just the same.' If we truly free ourselves of resentment and rebellion, we are bringing out that marvelously beautiful within, resulting in perfect satisfaction in our relations one with another. Thus we are extending universal brotherhood, which our world to-day is sadly needing."

DIFFICULT FEAT

Two boys stood in front of the entrance gate of a football field. They had no money, but they were determined to outwit the gatekeeper somehow and get in and see the game. They suggested scheme after scheme to one another, and finally the older boy said:

"I got it now! We'll walk in backward, and he'll think we're comin' out."—Exchange.

POLITE LEARNING

When, by the help of study, a sufficient stock of solid learning is acquired, the next business is to consider how to make use of it to the best advantage. There is nothing more necessary to this than good sense and polite learning; for as a man may have the first without the latter, so 'tis possible one may have the latter and yet be rather the worse than the better for it, at least to others; if not to himself. A plain, unlettered man is always more agreeable company than a fool in several languages.—John Hughes.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Members of religious organizations will be greatly interested to know of the 32nd Annual Convention of the Los Angeles County Sunday School Association, which will be held May 10-12 at the Bible Institute, Los Angeles.

There have been comparatively few gatherings where a greater number of delegates and gifted speakers were present than is promised next month. The Association is interdenominational and has a membership of about 120,000. Edward J. Ruenitz, General Secretary, 1017 Wright & Callender Bldg., has charge of all arrangements and will be assisted by a number of well-known workers.

A program of unusual interest has been prepared and those concerned in Sunday School work will reap much benefit through their attendance. Notable among the speakers is Marion Lawrence, General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association of Chicago, who will be accompanied by his daughter. Mr. Lawrence has a world wide reputation as an authority on Sunday School matters and will deliver a number of addresses on various topics.

Dr. James S. McGaw, Field Secretary of the National Reform Association, will discuss the replacing of the Bible in the public schools. The Association which he represents has worked unceasingly to arouse public sentiment in the interest of the movement which they deem so essential to the welfare of our young folk.

Dr. Harry L. Boardman, of Riverside, California, one of the most gifted clergymen of the state, will take a prominent part. Others of acknowledged ability will be present who will discuss a wide range of topics. There will be fifty speakers from various parts of the United States.

Thursday evening, May 11th, the first annual Musical May Festival Concert will be held in the main auditorium of the Bible Institute with 500 mixed voices and an orchestra under the direction of Prof. J. B. Trowbridge, formerly of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. The closing meeting will be for men only, Sunday, May 13th, at 3 p. m., at the First M. E. church, and the address will be by Mr. Lawrence.

HORSESHOE CLUB NOTES

One more victory for the home club. Last Saturday ten players, five scorekeepers and a few fans went by the automobile route over the mountains via Colorado street to Pasadena and played the Rose City Braves a match of 50 games. They left Glendale at 1:20 p. m. and, as expected, came home with the bacon (whole sides at that), having won 35 games out of the 50.

In the first series of 25 games Glendale won 16, Pasadena 9. In the second series of 25 games Glendale scored 19 games, Pasadena 6. Then it was all over except shouting. The game in detail for Glendale by teams was as follows:

Head and Stuart: games won 7; points made, 265; ringers, 116.

Pettit and Bruce: games, 9; points, 212; ringers, 117.

Porter and Elmore: games, 7; points, 185; ringers, 106.

Blatchley and Robinson: games, 4; points, 182; ringers, 99.

Denney and Burns: games, 8; points, 213; ringers, 93.

Scorekeepers: Smith, Henderson, Spencer, Higley and Longshore.

Pettit and Bruce made the best record, winning 9 games out of 10. Denney and Burns were second with 8 out of 10.

Bruce, high score in ringers, 69; Head and Stuart next with 58 each.

At 4:15 the home club was busy on their own grounds, just as if they had not participated in the little side issue at Pasadena earlier in the afternoon. This makes three victories in a row. Keep your nerve and hold your gait for the club from the Orange Belt (Pomona). Nicoles.

Messrs. Herron and Cumstock are making some decided improvements on their corner, leveling up the ground and other improvements. A spirit of progress seems to have taken hold of the people of Sunland.

HE WAS IN A HURRY

Charles Monselet in his "Curiosities Litterares" tells of a friend of his living at Bordeaux who, glancing through a Paris bookseller's catalogue, saw the title of a book which he had vainly sought for thirty years. Looking at the clock, he found there was just time to catch the morning express for Paris. Stopping only to take some money from his cash box, he dashed off to the station and arrived at the bookshop in time to secure the prize. As he wrapped up the book the shopman remarked, "I suppose you live in this street, monsieur?" "No; I have just come from Bordeaux," was the reply. The man looked astonished, and the bibliophile discovered that in his eagerness he had traveled 360 miles in dressing gown and slippers and had never noticed any deficiency of attire.

HIS SUSPICION CONFIRMED

How interesting the financial columns in the morning papers can be to the traveled reader! For instance, here's a market report that says "butter was strong." This confirms an impression formed at a boarding house recently.—London Ideas.

WHITTIER'S SAFEGUARD

When an overtimid visitor from the city once commented to the poet Whittier upon the insecurity that seemed inseparable from so many doors opening out from all sides of the large old country home, the master of the house strove gently to restore confidence by pleading that most of them were locked at night.

NOT CATCHING

A HEAVENLY DONNYBROOK FAIR

This Irishman on Sunday heard a clergyman preach on the judgment-day. The priest told of the hour when the trumpet shall blow and all peoples of all climes and all ages shall be gathered before the Seat of God to be judged according to their deeds done in the flesh. After the sermon he sought out the pastor and he said, "Father, I want to ask you a few questions touching on what you preached about to-day. Do you really think that on the judgment-day everybody will be there?"

The priest said: "That is my understanding."

"Will Cain and Abel be there?"

"Undoubtedly."

"And David and Goliath—will they both be there?"

"That is my information and belief."

And Brian Boru and Oliver Cromwell will be there?"

"Assuredly they will be present."

"I am quite positive they will all be there together."

"Father," said the parishioner, "there'll be little judgin' done the first day!"—From a speech by Irvin S. Cobb at the American Irish Historical Society's dinner in New York.

POULTRY POINTERS

Poultry love the out-of-doors. Turn them loose when the weather is nice and they will gain in vigor.

Some fowls are more thrifty than others, and it pays to sort out, pick over and work up the flock.

The mistake is too often made of wintering more hens than the farmers warrant. Nothing on the farm is more profitable than hens, provided their house is large enough to accommodate them without crowding.

Feed according to age. Young birds use the food given them in making flesh and size of body. Grown-up hens take it for egg production; while old ones are more apt to turn everything to fat.

Alfalfa meal helps fill the winter eggbasket; it takes the place of green food to a large extent, and is very rich in protein.

Vigor and excess of flesh do not go together with poultry. We want good, strong, thrifty chicks later; these come only from breeding stock not too fat.

There are egg breeds and meat breeds, but none that excel in both.

While the beginner need not necessarily be an expert, he must be more or less expert to succeed.

Have a system. Having everything convenient is a saving of labor and a preventive of discouragements.

THE FURTIVE LOOK

A Boston woman says she can detect a bachelor as far as she can see him. She always knows a bachelor by his furtive look. The furtive look, she explains, is something akin to that of a hunted animal, always on the watch for snares and pitfalls. Of course this may apply only to Boston bachelors, but it would be well for all other single unfortunates to take a good look at themselves in the mirror and find that telltale look. If they do there is an easy way to efface it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

RECORD FRUIT CROP IN 1917

Fruit crop reports thus far available to State Horticultural Commissioner George H. Hecke indicate that but slight damage resulted from frosts and rains during March. Reports are as a rule optimistic. Almonds show but slight falling off from the normal, and this may result in a crop above normal when the harvest is reached, according to the commissioner. In some places peaches show a slight increase, but the general average is above normal condition.

Stanislaus and Santa Barbara counties report normal conditions; Madera admits slight damage to apricots; peaches and almonds are said to have been pinched a little in lower San Joaquin; Hemet Valley reports some damage to apricots; Kings county authorities do not agree as to whether damage of importance has been done; Fresno reports but slight injury to peaches.

All the way down the line reports indicate, according to Commissioner Hecke, that with continued favorable conditions the crop of fruit and nuts in the State for 1917 would be the largest in history.

HIS METHOD

Two Tommies were strolling idly along the street when they chanced to gaze into an attractive shop window.

Being soldiers, they both had an eye for a pretty girl, and there within the shop was a real winner.

"Sandy," whispered Mike, "shure, she's just the fairest colleen my eyes hiv iver rested on. It's mysilt that'll go in and buy something, an' perhaps she will have a smile for me."

His companion came from "ayont the Tweed," as his answer proved.

"I'll gang wi' ye," he said. "But, hoot, mon, ye need nae spend a bawbee. A' ye hev tae dae is tae ask her fur change o' a shillin'!"—Tit-Bits.

RHUBARB SEASON IS HERE

If rhubarb is rightly cooked it is as clean and bright and purifying as spring sunshine. And since it is about 95 per cent. water, the cooking is hardly more than the heating of water—yet how poor, stringy, and unpalatable it sometimes is as some people cook it.

If we want our rhubarb shredded to the last thread we have but to wash, peel and cut it into small bits and add to it about half a cupful of boiling water to two cupfuls. In five minutes, over just enough fire to boil it, or a few minutes more, it is completely dissolved into shreds. If we want it to have undiluted virtue we may steam it in a double boiler for half an hour or until its great amount of water is heated out. If we want it sirupy we can cook it for five minutes or until tender in a sirup.

Stewed Rhubarb.—Wash, peel and cut up rhubarb and put it in an enamel double boiler and cook until tender. Put in sugar to taste, and let it melt down through it before removing from fire. Every piece will retain its shape if the whole is not stirred, but if it is to be eaten as a hot soup at luncheon, without crackers or bread, to be followed by an egg dish, whisk or beat it into shreds with a silver fork. It is a good tonic, all nature distilled and flavored water, uncontaminated except by the sugar.

Rhubarb in Sirup.—Add one cupful of cold water to one cupful of sugar and stir over fire until sugar dissolves. Let cook five minutes. Add four cupfuls rhubarb and simmer. Each piece will retain shape, but will lose color. For a change, flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla if you like it that way. Serve at end of meal "en compote," without cake or bread.

BEAN WORSE THAN ALCOHOL

That firewater isn't the only thing that will cause a wild, unsophisticated Indian of the American plains to rear up on his toes, become indifferent to bulldogs and see pink elephants with wings, is the declaration of Earl B. Putt, a chemist, who is endeavoring to have the government place a ban on the sale of the Mexican Peyotla bean to Indians on the South Dakota reservations.

It is reported that the Indians, having discovered the exceptional qualities of this brand of bean, have been using large quantities of it and make a brew from it which excels in effect any product of the paleface. The authorities do not know whether or not the bean can be barred from the reservations under the Harrison anti-firewater act, but they are going to see what can be done about it.

OUT OF THE CALCULATION

"Do you think there are people up in Mars?"

"What difference does it make?" rejoined Senator Sorghum. "Even if there are they are too distant to vote or even drag us into diplomatic controversy."

GRASPING OPPORTUNITY

"Jane, there is a friend of mine who is very anxious to know if you will marry him."

"Tell him of course I will. Who is he?"

AMERICAN PRINCIPLES

The American people as a whole are neither sentimental, chaotic nor mushily demonstrative. In ordinary times when the band plays the Star Spangled Banner they do not throw their hats into the air and weep copious tears. Theirs is a different sort of patriotism. They believe that every nation has a right to its way of thinking and acting provided its beliefs do not interfere with the inherent and natural rights allowed all mankind. Free thought and free speech are the principles of individual and national liberty upon which this government of, for and by the people was brought into existence.

From the standpoint of psychological research it is found that the nation which goes in strongly for demonstration is never as successful as those who don't. France, however, has contradicted this theory.

The American people are not demonstrative. For this reason her national attitude has been the jibe of Europe. They have mistaken the prevalent spirit of fair play and justice for national cowardice. There couldn't have been a greater mistake. Had Europe been normal in thought she would have known.

The American people are not cowards. They do not flourish a gun in the air and promise death and damnation to their enemies at some future date. As a people they act when the time comes to act. When they draw a gun it prefaces death. There are no hysterics—their display of weapons means that someone must defend himself quickly and surely.

The time for action has now come. We did not beckon it. We did not invite it. We did not want it. But it was thrust upon us and it is here. Germany has backed us into a corner and has given us no choice but to defend the ideals upon which we were given our birthright, at the point of a loaded gun.

The plainest, most consistent and demonstrative sort of Americanism, the only kind of common sense is when the time comes to fire, shoot quick and straight.—Redondo Reflex.

AND STILL THEY COME

Southern California is full of former Kansans. Kansans are moving to California in a steady stream.

But, whoever heard of a Californian moving to Kansas or a Kansan going back to Kansas?

That should be sufficient to answer the following from the Jeffersonian Gazette, of Lawrence, Kansas.

Mr. Theo. Gardner, who recently returned from a three weeks' stay in California, vouches for the following as expressing his views:

JUST ABSENT MINDEDNESS

"It was absent mindedness," said Pat, "an' a habit I have of talkin' with meself. I sed to meself, says I, 'Pat, come in an' have a drink.' 'No,' says I, 'I've sworn off.' 'Then I'll drink alone,' says I. An' when meself cum out, faith, an' lo and behold you if Pat wasn't drunk."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

OH!

Mistress—"And why did you leave your last situation?"

Applicant—"Shure, mum, I was discharged."

Mistress—"Discharged! Ah, then, I'm afraid you won't suit me. What were you discharged for?"

Applicant—"For doing well, mum."

Mistress—"Why, what do you mean? Where was your last place?"

Applicant—"In the hospital!"—Tit-Bits.

DE MORTIBUS

Upon the recent death in a Western town of a politician, who, at one time, served his country in a very high legislative place, a number of newspaper men were collaborating on an obituary notice.

"What shall we say of the former Senator?" asked one of the men.

"Oh, just put down that he was always faithful to his trust."

"And," queried a cynical member of the group, "shall we mention the name of the trust?"—Puck.

GOD SAVE OUR PRESIDENT!

God has been good to the American people in a multitude of ways. Most gracious, indeed, have been the manifold blessings He has showered upon us.

We face now an hour of peril, of sacrifice, of grief.

God has called upon us to display the character that is within us, to display our willingness to suffer for an ideal, to display our appreciation of the opportunity to sacrifice for justice and the right.

In this great hour when America stands ready to do that which may result in the ultimate good of humanity, may we have leadership unexcelled—a leadership guided by calmness, by fairness, by mercy—a leadership that can keep in mind only the noble ideals that are worthy our efforts.

God has given us such leadership in President Wilson—leadership that inspires and does not betray—leadership that uplifts and does not injure.

For this we are extremely thankful—thankful that mercy, fairness and strength are directing our conduct.

We ask no more, only that this leadership be preserved to us until the great ordeal is passed, that we may the better advance the cause we have championed, that we may the more quickly gain the ends to which we aspire—not conquest, nor dominions, nor indemnities, nor material compensation for the sacrifices, but the liberty of mankind.

And so, may God save our President!—Hollywood Citizen.

FOR WHAT WE FIGHT

But that war, whatever its sacrifices, its suffering, its seriousness, means much to the American people, who love peace and justice and righteousness.

With what characteristic fairness and calmness and charity did Woodrow Wilson present to Congress and the world the situation that confronts us!

With what clearness and certainty did he make it known that America's entrance into this war is an entrance for permanent peace, for the success of the people against an unfair, unjust, dishonorable, merciless, brutal monarch!

With what force did he bring home to his people the importance of preserving the rule of democracy against the rule of the autocrats!

The American people are with the President because they realize that he has only the higher interests of humanity at heart, because they realize that sooner or later the sacrifice must be made if their liberty is to be preserved and permanent peace is to be gained.

"It is a fearful thing to lead this great, peaceful country into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance," said the President, "but the right is more precious than peace and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations, and make the world itself at last free."

And because the President has convinced American citizens that this is the goal before us, do we endorse his statement that: "To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured."—Hollywood Citizen.

"Did Fussleigh take his misfortune like a man?" "Precisely. He blamed it all on his wife."—Tit-Bits.

READ WHILE YOUNG

Were I 21 again, I should do a great deal of reading. I believe in reading. I don't recall having ever read anything that didn't do me some good. I wish I had read more when I was younger.

If I were 21 again I should read many books. I should read the standard novels to get a good way of expressing my thoughts. I should study the great philosophers, but with the temper of an iconoclast. The study of philosophy is a wonderful stimulus to the intellect, but must be undertaken with a mind alert to fallacy.

Then there are books which present actualities in statistical form and couple such statistics with authoritative explanatory comment. I refer to the various government reports on various subjects that engage the interest of the man who wishes to be well informed. Our government wastes thousands of dollars printing these reports, which need not be wasted if only our young men would read.

Read! I cannot too strongly recommend good reading. Six hours each week of serious reading is not much, but it may mean the difference between a $20,000 a year executive and a $25 clerk. Read! Learn to think with—and against—the deep thinkers of the world.

All the time while you have been studying and reading and learning to disagree with the philosophers, when their logic falls foul of your own reasoning, you should be doing something that is productive of well earned money.—William Maxwell in Collier's Weekly.

EYEBALL OR HIGHBALL

An old Scotsman was threatened with blindness if he did not give up drinking.

"Now, McTavish," said the doctor, "it's like this. You've either to stop the whisky or lose your eyesight, and you must choose."

"Ay, weel, doctor," said McTavish, "I'm an auld man noo, an' I was thinkin' I ha'e seen about everything worth seein'."—Tit-Bits.
