CHAPTER 7

An Act to apply a sum out of the Consolidated Fund to the service of the year ending on the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-two.

[21st February, 1962]

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of the United Kingdom in Parliament assembled, towards making good the supply which we have cheerfully granted to Your Majesty in this session of Parliament, have resolved to grant unto Your Majesty the sum hereinafter mentioned; and do therefore most humbly beseech Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. The Treasury may issue out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom and apply towards making good the supply granted to Her Majesty for the service of the year ending on the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-two, the sum of ninety-six million, eight hundred and thirty thousand and five hundred pounds.

out of the Consolidated Fund for the service of the year ending 31st March, 1962.

2.—(1) The Treasury may borrow from any person by the issue of Treasury Bills or otherwise, and the Bank of England and the Bank of Ireland may advance to the Treasury on the credit of the said sum, any sum or sums not exceeding in the whole ninety-six million, eight hundred and thirty thousand and five hundred pounds.

Power for
to borrow.

(2) The date of payment of any Treasury Bills issued under this section shall be a date not later than the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-two, and section six of the Treasury Bills Act, 1877 (which relates to the renewal of bills) shall not apply with respect to those bills.

c. 2.

(3) Any money borrowed otherwise than on Treasury Bills shall be repaid, with any interest payable thereon, out of the Consolidated Fund, at any period not later than the next succeeding quarter to that in which the money was borrowed.

A

(4) Any money borrowed under this section shall be placed to the credit of the account of the Exchequer, and shall form part of the said Consolidated Fund, and be available in any manner in which such Fund is available.

Short title.

3. This Act may be cited as the Consolidated Fund Act, 1962.

Civil Aviation (Eurocontrol) Act, 1962

ARRANGEMENT OF SECTIONS

Section

1. The Convention and the Organisation.
2. Status and privileges of Eurocontrol.
3. Provision of funds and facilities for Eurocontrol.
4. Charges for air navigation services.
5. Use of certain records as evidence.
6. Offences.
7. Supplementary provisions.
8. Interpretation and minor amendment.
9. Application to Channel Islands, Isle of Man, etc.
10. Short title, commencement and extent.

An Act to make provision in connection with the international convention relating to co-operation for the safety of air navigation, known as the Eurocontrol Convention; to provide for the recovery of charges for services provided for aircraft; to authorize the use of certain records as evidence in proceedings for the recovery of such charges or proceedings under the Air Navigation Order; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [21st February, 1962]

The Convention
Organisation.

1.—(1) In this Act “the Convention” means the International Convention relating to co-operation for the safety of air navigation (entitled Eurocontrol) concluded at Brussels on the thirteenth day of December, nineteen hundred and sixty (copies of which were laid before Parliament by command of Her Majesty on the thirteenth day of June, nineteen hundred and sixty-one); and “the Organisation” means the European Organisation for the Safety of Air Navigation established by the Convention and therein referred to as Eurocontrol.

(2) Except where the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to the Organisation include references to the Permanent Commission for the Safety of Air Navigation and the Air Traffic Services Agency (in this Act referred to as the Agency) comprised in the Organisation.

2.—(1) The Organisation shall have the legal capacity of a body corporate ; and anything which may be required or authorised by law to be done by or to the Organisation may be done by or to the Agency on behalf of the Organisation. Status and privileges of Eurocontrol.

(2) The Organisation shall be entitled to the exemptions and reliefs described in paragraphs 3 to 5 of the Schedule to the International Organisations (Immunities and Privileges) Act, 1950 (rates and taxes, import duties and import and export restrictions).

(3) Any rule of law relating to the inviolability of the official archives and premises of an envoy of a foreign sovereign Power accredited to Her Majesty shall extend to the official archives of the Organisation, and to premises occupied by the Organisation wholly or mainly for the housing of its installations ; and without prejudice to the foregoing provisions, no judgment or order of any court shall be enforced by the levying of execution or by diligence upon anything forming part of any such installations :

Provided that this subsection (except so far as it relates to execution or diligence) shall not preclude access to any premises, or the inspection of any record or document,—

- (a) by a constable or other person acting in the execution of a warrant or other legal process ;
- (b) by a Court of Inquiry or an Inspector of Accidents acting in pursuance of regulations made under section ten of the Civil Aviation Act, 1949 (investigation of accidents) ; or
- (c) by a constable having reason to believe that an offence has been or is being or is about to be committed on the premises.

(4) In this section “ installations ” means apparatus for locating, directing, affording navigational aid to, or otherwise communicating with aircraft in flight, including apparatus for recording or processing material received or transmitted by such apparatus, and any other apparatus for use in connection with any such apparatus as aforesaid.

3.—(1) The Minister may from time to time pay to the Organisation such sums on account of its expenses as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine, being sums for the payment of which Her Majesty’s Government in the United Kingdom are liable under the Convention. Provision of funds and facilities for Eurocontrol.

(2) The Minister or the Secretary of State may provide for the Organisation any land, premises, installations, equipment or services (including the services of personnel), whether within or without the United Kingdom, which may be required for the purposes of or in connection with the functions of the Organisation under the Convention.

(3) The following provisions of the Civil Aviation Act, 1949, that is to say—

- (a) section twenty-four (which enables the Minister to obtain rights over land in order to secure the safe and efficient use for civil aviation purposes of land which is vested in him or which he proposes to acquire) ; and
- (b) section twenty-six (which enables the Minister to exercise control over land in order to secure the safe and efficient use for civil aviation purposes of land, structures, works or apparatus vested in him or which he proposes to acquire or instal), shall apply in relation to land, structures, works and apparatus vested in or occupied by the Organisation, or proposed to be acquired, occupied or installed by the Organisation, as they apply in relation to land, structures, works or apparatus vested in, or proposed to be acquired or installed by, the Minister.

(4) Any easements, servitudes or rights created by order under the said section twenty-four as extended by this section may be created in favour of the Organisation, and any reference in the said Act to an order for the creation of easements, servitudes or rights in favour of the Minister shall be construed accordingly.

(5) Any expenses incurred by the Minister or the Secretary of State by virtue of this section shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament, and any sums received from the Organisation by either of them in consideration of anything done under this section shall be paid into the Exchequer.

Charges for air navigation services.

4.—(1) The Minister may by statutory instrument make regulations for requiring the payment to the Organisation or to the Minister of charges of such amounts as may be prescribed by the regulations in respect of navigation services provided for aircraft, being services provided by the Organisation in pursuance of the Convention, or provided by the Minister, as the case may be ; and any sums received by the Minister under such regulations shall be paid into the Exchequer.

(2) The liability for any charges payable by virtue of regulations under this section may be imposed upon the operators of aircraft for which those services are available (whether or not they are actually used or could be used with the equipment installed in the aircraft) or upon the managers of aerodromes used by such aircraft, or partly upon those operators and partly upon those managers.

(3) The charges to be prescribed by any such regulations as aforesaid shall—

- (a) in the case of charges payable to the Organisation, be at such rates as the Minister may determine in pursuance of tariffs approved under the Convention ;
- (b) in the case of charges payable to the Minister, be at such rates as the Minister may, with the consent of the Treasury, determine ; and the regulations may prescribe different charges in respect of aircraft of different classes or descriptions or in respect of aircraft used in different circumstances, and may dispense with charges in such cases as may be prescribed by or determined under the regulations.

(4) For the purpose of facilitating the assessment and collection of charges payable by virtue of regulations under this section, the regulations may make provision for requiring operators of aircraft or managers of aerodromes—

- (a) to make such records of the movements of aircraft, and of such other particulars relating to aircraft, as may be prescribed by the regulations, and to preserve those records for such period as may be so prescribed ;
- (b) to produce for inspection, at such times and by such officers of the Organisation or of the Minister as may be so prescribed, any records which are required by the regulations or the Air Navigation Order to be preserved by those operators or managers ;
- (c) to furnish to the Organisation or to the Minister such particulars of any such records as may be so prescribed.

(5) Any statutory instrument containing regulations made under this section shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

5.—(1) In any proceedings to which this section applies, any record made by any such authority or person as may be designated for the purposes of this subsection, or by a person acting under the control of such an authority or person, being a record purporting to show—

- (a) the position of any aircraft at any material time ; or
- (b) the terms or content of any message or signal transmitted to any aircraft, either alone or in common with other aircraft, or received from any aircraft, by the first-mentioned authority or person, or by a person acting under the control of that authority or person, shall, if produced from the custody of that authority or person, be evidence, and in Scotland sufficient evidence, of the matters appearing from the record.

Use of certain records as evidence.

(2) This section applies to the following proceedings, that is to say—

- (a) proceedings for the recovery of any charges payable by virtue of regulations under section four of this Act, or for an offence under this Act committed by failure to make records in accordance with regulations made in pursuance of subsection (4) of that section, or by furnishing false particulars of records so made;
- (b) proceedings for an offence under the Air Navigation Order being an offence committed by failure or refusal to comply with any rules or directions relating to the navigation of aircraft; and the authorities or persons to be designated for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section shall be designated, in relation to such proceedings, by regulations under the said section four or by the Air Navigation Order, as the case may be.

(3) The references in subsection (1) of this section to a record made by or under the control of any authority or person include references to a document or article purporting to be a copy of a record so made, and certified to be a true copy by or on behalf of that authority or person; and in relation to such a copy that subsection shall have effect as if the words “if produced from the custody of that authority or person” were omitted.

Offences.

6.—(1) Any person who, without reasonable cause, fails to comply with any requirement of regulations made by virtue of subsection (4) of section four of this Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(2) Any person who, being in possession of information furnished to or obtained by him in pursuance of regulations under the said subsection (4), discloses that information otherwise than—

- (a) with the consent of the person by whom it was furnished or from whom it was obtained; or
- (b) for the purposes of the regulations; or
- (c) for the purposes of any proceedings arising out of this Act, or of any criminal proceedings whether so arising or not; or
- (d) for the purposes of any public inquiry or Inspector's investigation held or carried out in pursuance of regulations made under section ten of the Civil Aviation Act, 1949 (investigation of accidents); or
- (e) for the purpose of any report of any such proceedings, inquiry or investigation as aforesaid, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both.

(3) Any person who, in furnishing in pursuance of such regulations any such particulars as are described in paragraph (c) of the said subsection (4), furnishes any particulars which to his knowledge are false in any material particular, or recklessly furnishes any particulars which are false in any material particular, shall be liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both ;

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to both.

(4) Any person who wilfully certifies any document or article to be a true copy of any such record as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section five of this Act knowing it not to be a true copy shall be liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both ;

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to both.

(5) References in the Forgery Act, 1913, to a document shall be construed as including a reference to any record, not being a document within the meaning of that Act, which is made as described in subsection (1) of the said section five and which purports to show as regards any aircraft any such information as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b) of that subsection.

7.—(1) Part VI of the Civil Aviation Act, 1949 (which contains supplementary provisions applicable to certain enactments contained in that Act, including provisions relating to the extra-territorial effect of Orders in Council and regulations, and savings in respect of Crown aircraft) shall have effect as if sections four to six of this Act were included among the enactments to which the said Part VI applies. Supplementary provisions.

(2) Without prejudice to section fifty-eight of the said Act (under which orders and regulations made under any enactment to which Part VI of that Act applies may provide for the detention of aircraft to secure compliance therewith), regulations under section four of this Act may make provision—

(a) in the case of default in the payment of any charge payable by an operator under the regulations, for authorising the detention, pending payment, of the aircraft in respect of which the charge was incurred or of any other aircraft of which the person in default is the operator at the time when the detention begins ;

- (b) in the case of default in complying with any requirement imposed by the regulations on the operators of aircraft with respect to the production for inspection, or the furnishing of particulars, of any records, for authorising the detention, pending compliance, of any aircraft of which the person in default is the operator at the time when the detention begins ;

and such regulations may make such further provision as appears to Her Majesty in Council to be necessary or expedient for securing such detention.

(3) A court in any part of the United Kingdom shall have jurisdiction—

- (a) to hear and determine a claim for charges payable to the Minister by virtue of regulations under section four of this Act, notwithstanding that the person against whom the claim is made is not resident within the jurisdiction of the court ;
- (b) to hear and determine a claim against the Organisation for damages in respect of any wrongful act, neglect or default, notwithstanding that that act, neglect or default did not take place within the jurisdiction of the court or that the Organisation is not present within the jurisdiction of the court :

Provided that a court shall not have jurisdiction by virtue of paragraph (b) of this subsection in respect of damage or injury sustained wholly within or over a country to which this Act does not extend.

Interpretation and minor amendment.

8.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the following meanings respectively, that is to say—

“ aerodrome ” has the same meaning as in the Civil Aviation Act, 1949 ;

“ the Air Navigation Order ” means any Order in Council in force under section eight of the Civil Aviation Act, 1949 ;

“ manager ”, in relation to an aerodrome, means a person who is in charge of, or holds an aerodrome licence (within the meaning of the Civil Aviation (Licensing) Act, 1960) in respect of, the aerodrome ;

“ the Minister ” means the Minister of Aviation ;

“ navigation services ” includes information, directions and other facilities furnished, issued or provided for the purposes of or in connection with the navigation or movement of aircraft ;

“ operator ”, in relation to an aircraft, means the person for the time being having the management of that aircraft ;

“ record ” includes, in addition to a record in writing—

(a) any disc, tape, sound-track or other device in which sounds or signals are embodied so as to be capable (with or without the aid of some other instrument) of being reproduced therefrom ;

(b) any film, tape or other device in which visual images are embodied so as to be capable (as aforesaid) of being reproduced therefrom ; and

(c) any photograph ;

and any reference to a copy of a record includes, in the case of a record falling within paragraph (a) only of this definition, a transcript of the sounds or signals embodied therein, in the case of a record falling within paragraph (b) only of this definition, a still reproduction of the images embodied therein, and in the case of a record falling within both those paragraphs, such a transcript together with such a still reproduction.

(2) Any reference in this Act to any other enactment is a reference thereto as amended by or under any other enactment, including this Act ; and any such reference to the Convention includes a reference to any amendment of the Convention which may be agreed upon between the contracting parties thereto.

(3) The definition of “ operator ” contained in this section shall be substituted for the definition of that expression in section ten of the Civil Aviation (Licensing) Act, 1960, and cognate expressions in that Act shall be construed accordingly.

9.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that this Act shall extend, subject to such exceptions, adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the Order, to— Application to Channel Islands, Isle of Man, etc.

(a) any of the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man ;

(b) any colony, protectorate or protected state ;

and any such Order in Council may contain such transitional and other consequential provisions as appear to Her Majesty to be expedient, and may be varied or revoked by a subsequent Order in Council.

(2) References in this section to a protectorate and to a protected state shall be construed as if they were references contained in the British Nationality Act, 1948.

A*

Short title, commencement and extent.

10.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Civil Aviation (Eurocontrol) Act, 1962.

(2) This Act (except this section) shall come into operation on such date as the Minister may by order appoint; and different dates may be appointed by order under this subsection for different purposes of this Act.

(3) It is hereby declared that this Act extends to Northern Ireland; and for that purpose any reference in this Act to an enactment of the Parliament of the United Kingdom is a reference to that enactment as it applies in Northern Ireland.

SCHEDULES:

- First Schedule—Institutions excluded from Mandatory Relief.
 Second Schedule—Consequential Amendments.
 Third Schedule—Repeals.

An Act to provide in respect of the year 1961–62 for revision of the apportionment of expenditure and of general grants among local authorities in Scotland; to make further provision as respects Scotland with respect to the amounts payable in lieu of rates or by way of rates by the British Transport Commission, Electricity Boards and Gas Boards, with respect to relief from rates of charitable and other similar bodies, with respect to sums borrowed by local authorities and with respect to Valuation Appeal Committees, demand notes for rates, and corrections of the valuation roll; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [21st February, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) Having regard to the results of appeals against, Revision of complaints in respect of, and adjustments made to entries in apportionment the valuation roll for the year 1961-62, the assessor for each of expenditure valuation area shall, not later than the fifteenth day of March, and general nineteen hundred and sixty-two, re-estimate for that year the grants among net annual valuation and the rateable valuation of the landward local area of each county and of each burgh situated within the authorities. valuation area and shall send certified copies of such estimate to the rating authority of such county or burgh and to the Secretary of State who shall thereupon re-estimate the standard rateable value of each of the said areas for that year.

(2) Subsection (8) of section fifteen of the Act of 1956 (which relates to the apportionment and allocation of expenditure among local authorities for the year 1961-62) shall have effect as if the references in paragraphs (a) and (b) to estimates of rateable valuation, net annual valuation and standard rateable value were references to the estimates made under the foregoing subsection, and accordingly the apportionment and allocation of expenditure in respect of the year 1961-62 among local authorities under section two hundred and fourteen of the Act of 1947 or any other enactment, statutory order or agreement affected by the said subsection (8) shall be revised according to the last mentioned estimates, and any adjustment required with respect to a requisition for the year 1961-62 shall be made in the requisition for the year 1962-63.

(3) (a) Sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 5 of the Second Schedule to the Local Government and Miscellaneous Financial Provisions (Scotland) Act, 1958 (which relates to apportionment of general grants among local authorities), and paragraph 6 of that Schedule shall respectively have effect in relation to the year 1961-62 as if in the said sub-paragraph (2) the references to the year immediately preceding the grant year were references to the grant year and as if in the said paragraph 6 the reference to amounts estimated by the assessor and the Secretary of State were a reference to the estimates made under subsection (1) of this section.

(b) The apportionment of general grants for the year 1961-62 among local authorities shall be revised according to the said Second Schedule, as modified for that year by the foregoing paragraph, and any adjustment required with respect to such apportionment shall be made in the general grant payable to each authority for the year 1962-63.

Payments in lieu of rates by British Transport Commission and Electricity Boards in Scotland.

2.—(1) For the purpose of calculating the payments which are, under the provisions of Part V of the Local Government Act, 1948, to be made year by year by the British Transport Commission for the benefit of local authorities in Scotland for the year 1962-63 and subsequent years, the standard amount referred to in sections ninety-three and ninety-four of that Act shall be such sum as is certified by the Secretary of State to be the estimated amount which, when adjusted in accordance with the provisions of sections ninety-four and ninety-five of that Act, will secure that the amount payable for the year 1962-63 is as near as may be the same as the amount paid for the year 1961-62.

(2) (a) For the purpose of calculating the payments which are, under the provisions of Part V of the Local Government Act, 1948, to be made year by year by the South of Scotland Electricity Board and the North of Scotland Hydro-Electric Board respectively for the benefit of local authorities in Scotland for the year 1962-63 and subsequent years, the standard amount referred to in sections ninety-six to ninety-eight of that Act (which relate to payments by the South of Scotland Board) shall be the sum of eight hundred and twenty-two thousand pounds increased by the percentage first mentioned in the following paragraph and the standard amount referred to in section ninety-nine of that Act (which relates to payments by the Hydro-Electric Board) shall be the sum of two hundred and eight thousand pounds increased by the percentage next mentioned in that paragraph, the resultant figure in each case being calculated if it includes a fraction of a thousand pounds to the nearest thousand pounds or if the fraction is five hundred pounds the fraction being disregarded.

(b) (i) The Secretary of State shall ascertain and certify the percentage increase in the rateable valuation for the year 1961-62 of so much of Scotland as is outside the North of Scotland District over the rateable valuation of that area for the year 1960-61 as certified by him under the said Part V, and shall similarly ascertain and certify the percentage increase in the rateable valuation of the North of Scotland District.

(ii) For the purposes of the foregoing sub-paragraph, the rateable valuations for the year 1961-62 of the areas therein mentioned shall be calculated by the Secretary of State from the estimates made under subsection (1) of the foregoing section.

3. As respects the levying of rates for the year 1962-63 and any subsequent year— Rating of Gas Boards.

- (a) for the purposes of the Fourth Schedule to the Act of 1956 (which relates to the rating of Gas Boards), the standard number of therms of a Gas Board shall be taken to be the number estimated under paragraph 3 or paragraph 8 of that Schedule, as the case may be, reduced by one-half of the number of therms purchased by the Board in the periods of twelve months respectively described in those paragraphs, and the number of therms estimated under sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 4 of that Schedule shall be subject to a similar reduction ;
- (b) gas produced by a Gas Board by the application, to gas purchased by the Board, of any process not consisting only of purification or blending with other gases, or both, shall be treated for the purposes of the Act of 1956 as gas manufactured by the Board, and the reference in subsection (1) of section twenty-four of that Act to the manufacture of gas shall be construed accordingly ;
- (c) in estimating for the purposes of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 5 of the Fourth Schedule to the Act of 1956 the number of therms manufactured by a Gas Board, the number of therms in gas produced by the Board as aforesaid shall be treated as half the actual number thereof ;

- (d) the reference in section five of the Water (Scotland) Act, 1949 (which relates to the levy of domestic water rate on public utility undertakings, etc.), to lands and heritages occupied as gasworks shall be construed as a reference to lands and heritages which a Gas Board is, under section twenty-four of the Act of 1956, to be treated as occupying.

Reduction and remission of rates payable by charitable and other organisations.

4.—(1) This section shall apply to rates leviable for the year 1962-63 and any subsequent year.

(2) If notice in writing is given to the rating authority not later than the thirtieth day of June in any year that any lands and heritages—

- (a) are occupied by, or by trustees for, a charity and are wholly or mainly used for charitable purposes (whether of that charity or of that and other charities) ; or
 (b) are held on trust for use as an almshouse, then, subject to the provisions of this section, any rate leviable in respect of the lands and heritages for any period, beginning not earlier than the year in which the notice is given, during which the lands and heritages are within the categories described in either paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection, shall not exceed one-half of the rate which would be leviable apart from the provisions of this subsection :

Provided that where lands and heritages cease to be within the said categories, a previous notice given for the purposes of this subsection shall not have effect as respects any subsequent period during which the lands and heritages are within either of those categories.

(3) No relief under the foregoing subsection shall be given in the case of lands and heritages within the category described in paragraph (a) thereof for any period during which the lands and heritages are occupied by an institution specified in the First Schedule to this Act.

(4) The Secretary of State may by order amend the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act by adding any institution which in his opinion ought to be classified with the institutions mentioned in that Schedule or omitting any institution or altering the description of any institution.

An order under this subsection may be made so as to have effect from any date not earlier than the beginning of the year in which it is made, and any statutory instrument containing an order under this subsection shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(5) Without prejudice to the powers conferred by section two hundred and forty-four of the Act of 1947, a rating authority shall have power to reduce or remit any rate leviable in respect of—

- (a) any lands and heritages within the categories described in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (2) of this section ;
- (b) any lands and heritages occupied for the purposes of one or more institutions or other organisations (whether corporate or unincorporate) which are not established or conducted for profit and whose main objects are charitable or are otherwise philanthropic or religious or concerned with education, social welfare, science, literature or the fine arts ;
- (c) any lands and heritages occupied for the purposes of a club, society or other organisation not established or conducted for profit, and which are wholly or mainly used for purposes of recreation, for any such period as is mentioned in the following subsection :

Provided that any such reduction or remission shall cease to have effect on a change in the occupation of the lands and heritages in respect of which it was granted.

(6) Any reduction or remission of rates determined under the foregoing subsection may, at the discretion of the rating authority, be granted—

- (a) for the year in which, or the year next following that in which, the determination to grant it is made ; or
- (b) for a specified term of years, not exceeding five, beginning not earlier than the year in which the determination is made nor more than twenty-four months after the date of the determination ; or
- (c) for an indefinite period beginning not earlier than the year in which the determination is made, subject, however, to the exercise by the rating authority of their powers under the following subsection.

(7) Where any such reduction or remission is granted for an indefinite period, the rating authority may, by not less than twelve months' notice in writing given to the occupiers of the lands and heritages, terminate or modify the reduction or remission as from the end of a year specified in the notice.

(8) Lands and heritages belonging to or held by or on behalf of a religious body, being the residence from which a full-time clergyman or minister of any religious denomination performs the duties of his office, or which are being held available to provide such a residence, shall be treated for the purposes of this section as occupied by a charity and wholly or mainly used for charitable purposes, whether apart from this provision they would be so treated or not.

(9) The foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to any lands and heritages described in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) of section twenty-two of the Act of 1956, or to lands and heritages occupied by a local authority (otherwise than as trustee), or by any body to whom section two hundred and seventy of the Act of 1947 applies.

(10) In this section—

(a) “charity” means an institution or other organisation established for charitable purposes only, “organisation” includes any persons administering a trust, and “charitable” is to be construed in the same way as if it were contained in the Income Tax Acts ;

(b) “rate” does not include a domestic water rate.

Provisions
supplementary to foregoing
section.

5.—(1) On the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, the following enactments shall cease to have effect, that is to say—

(a) section twenty-three of the Act of 1956 (reductions and remissions of rates payable by charitable and other organisations) ;

(b) the Scientific Societies Act, 1843 (exemption for societies instituted for the purposes of science, literature or the fine arts exclusively) ;

(c) the Sunday and Ragged Schools (Exemption from Rating) Act, 1869 ;

(d) section one hundred and forty-one of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946 (exemption of special schools and orphanages).

(2) Where an exemption from liability for rates in respect of lands and heritages subsisted immediately before the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, by virtue of the Scientific Societies Act, 1843, and subsection (2) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1956 or by virtue of section one hundred and forty-one of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946, and, but for the foregoing subsection, an exemption in respect of the lands and heritages would have continued to subsist after that date,—

(a) no rate shall be leviable in respect of the lands and heritages as respects the year 1962-63 ; and

(b) as respects each of the next four succeeding years, the amounts of rates payable in respect of the lands and heritages shall (without prejudice to any reduction or remission under subsection (5) of the foregoing section) be respectively one-fifth, two-fifths, three-fifths and four-fifths of the rate which would be leviable apart from the provisions of this subsection and that subsection :

Provided that paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection shall not apply in relation to any lands and heritages except as respects any period as respects which an exemption for those lands and heritages would have subsisted but for the foregoing subsection.

(3) The Secretary of State may, on the application of any local authority appearing to him to be concerned, by order repeal or amend any local Act which confers an exemption in whole or in part from, or a power to reduce or remit a payment of, rates in respect of any particular lands and heritages or of lands and heritages of any class, if it appears to him that a right to relief arises in respect thereof under subsection (2) of the foregoing section, or that a reduction or remission may be granted in respect thereof under subsection (5) of that section, and may by that order make such other amendments to any other local Acts as appear to him to be necessary in consequence of the repeal or amendment and such transitional provision as appears to him to be necessary or expedient in connection with the matter.

6. Subsection (2) of section two hundred and sixty-two of the Act of 1947 (which relates to suspension of loan repayments on certain works) shall apply to a sum borrowed by a local authority to meet expenditure on such revenue producing services or schemes as the Secretary of State may by order designate as it applies to a sum so borrowed to meet expenditure on works described in that subsection, and where any annual provision required to be made for repayment of any sum has been suspended under that subsection, or under that subsection as applied by this section, a local authority may borrow for the purpose of payment, during the period of the suspension, of interest on that sum.

Suspension of annual provision for repayment of sums borrowed by local authorities.

7. The secretary of any Valuation Appeal Committee may appoint a person approved by the sheriff to act as his deputy, and the provisions of section five of the Act of 1956 shall apply to the person so appointed as they apply to the secretary of the Committee.

Deputy secretary of Valuation Appeal Committee.

8. For paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section two hundred and thirty-seven of the Act of 1947 (which relates to the information contained in demand notes for rates) there shall be substituted the following paragraph:—

Amendment of s. 237 (2) of Act of 1947.

“(b) the rateable value of the lands and heritages and, if different from the rateable value, the amount of the annual value thereof according to which domestic water rate is levied and the provisions of the Water (Scotland) Act, 1949, under which that amount is determined; and”.

9.—(1) Notwithstanding any provision made by or under the Valuation Acts limiting the period during which the assessor for a valuation area may alter the valuation roll, the assessor may in any year, not later than one month before the last date fixed by or under the said Acts for the disposal of appeals by the Valuation Appeal Committee, make or cause to be made in the valuation roll any alteration which is necessary to correct any clerical or arithmetical error therein.

(2) Before making or causing to be made any alteration under the foregoing subsection the assessor shall send notice thereof to the proprietor, tenant and occupier of any lands and heritages affected and shall allow fourteen days to elapse during which any person concerned may appeal against the proposed alteration to the Valuation Appeal Committee as in manner provided by or under the said Acts, apart from any provision as to dates other than the last date for disposal of appeals.

Provisions
as to orders.

10. Any power to make an order conferred on the Secretary of State by this Act shall be exercisable by statutory instrument and shall include power, exercisable in like manner, to vary or revoke an order by a subsequent order.

provisions.

11. Any increase attributable to this Act in the sums payable by way of Exchequer Equalisation Grant under the enactments relating to local government in Scotland shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament.

Consequential amendments
and repeals.

12.—(1) The enactments specified in the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in that Schedule, being amendments consequential on the foregoing provisions of this Act.

(2) The enactments specified in the Third Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule:

Provided that the repeal of the enactments mentioned in subsection (1) of section five of this Act shall, as provided in that subsection, take effect on the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

Interpretation.

13.—(1) In this Act “the Act of 1947” means the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, “the Act of 1956” means the Valuation and Rating (Scotland) Act, 1956, “general grants” has the same meaning as in the Local Government and Miscellaneous Financial Provisions (Scotland) Act, 1958, and, unless the context otherwise requires, other expressions used in this Act and the Act of 1956 have the same meanings respectively in this Act as in that Act.

(2) Except in so far as the context otherwise requires, any reference in this Act to an enactment shall be construed as a reference to that enactment as amended or extended by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

Citation
and extent.

14.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Local Government (Financial Provisions etc.) (Scotland) Act, 1962.

(2) This Act shall extend to Scotland only.

An Act to make further provision with respect to reserves for the regular army. [15th March, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) Without prejudice to section nine of the Army Act, 1955, as applied by section twenty of that Act, where at any time after the passing of this Act any person, not being the holder of a commission, is in army service as, or as the equivalent of, his whole-time service under the National Service Act, 1948, the Secretary of State may by notice in writing retain that person in army service for such term not exceeding six months beginning with the completion of that whole-time or equivalent service as may be specified in the notice.

Retention of national servicemen in army service.

(2) Where any person, being the holder of a commission, is at any time after the passing of this Act employed as the holder of that commission in army service as the equivalent of whole-time service under the said Act of 1948, the Secretary of State may require that person to continue in army service until the expiration of the period of thirty months beginning with the date on which he first entered on, or on the equivalent of, his whole-time service under that Act.

2.—(1) Without prejudice to any liability to be called out or embodied under section five or six of the Army Reserve Act, 1950, or section twenty-three or twenty-five of the Auxiliary Forces Act, 1953, and without prejudice to any obligation by virtue of his holding a commission, but subject to subsection (3) of this section, any person who has completed a period of army service which is, or is the equivalent of, his whole-time service under the National Service Act, 1948, may, at any time before he has completed the term of, or of the equivalent of, his part-time service under that Act, be recalled into army service by the Secretary of State by notice in writing for such term consistent with subsection (2) of this section beginning on such date as may be specified in the notice.

(2) No person shall be recalled under this section for more than one period of army service and, subject to the provisions of the Schedule to this Act, the term for which any person is so recalled shall not exceed six months reduced by any period of army service—

- (a) rendered by virtue of subsection (1) of section one of this Act ; or
- (b) rendered by virtue of subsection (2) of the said section one after the expiration of the period of twenty-four months beginning with the date referred to in that subsection ; or
- (c) rendered by virtue of section three of this Act ; and subject as aforesaid no person's term of service under this section shall end later than the date when he completes the term of, or of the equivalent of, his part-time service under the said Act of 1948.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to any person—

- (a) during the period specified in any agreement entered into by him for the purposes of section three of this Act which is for the time being in force ; or
- (b) if he has entered into an agreement for the purposes of paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section six of the Army Reserve Act, 1950, which is for the time being in force ; or
- (c) if he is for the time being a person of any of the descriptions specified in the First Schedule to the said Act of 1948 (which relates to the persons exempted from service under that Act).

Territorial

3.—(1) Where any person who is a member of the territorial army, not being a person serving in that army only in pursuance of the National Service Act, 1948, has entered into an agreement in writing to that effect, the Secretary of State may at any time during the period specified in the agreement by notice in writing call out that person for army service for such term consistent with subsection (2) of this section beginning on such date falling within that period as may be specified in the notice, whether or not any of that term falls after the date when the agreement ceases to be in force.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the Schedule to this Act, the term, or, if more than one, the aggregate of the terms, for which any person is called out for service under this section in pursuance of any one agreement shall not exceed six months.

(3) Any agreement for the purposes of this section shall be made with respect to such period of twelve months as may be specified therein and, without prejudice to the making of a further agreement, shall cease to be in force at the expiration of that period.

(4) An agreement for the purposes of this section may be revoked at any time by three months' notice in writing but shall not cease to be in force until the expiration of that notice; and any notice given by any person under subsection (1) of section seventeen of the Auxiliary Forces Act, 1953, of his desire to be discharged from the territorial army shall be deemed to include notice of revocation of any agreement entered into by that person for the purposes of this section.

(5) If the term of any person's enlistment in the territorial army expires during the period specified in any agreement entered into by that person for the purposes of this section or during the term of any service by him by virtue of this section, he shall not be entitled to be discharged from the territorial army before the expiration of that period or term.

(6) The number of persons for the time being called out under this section shall not be reckoned in the numbers for the time being authorised by Parliament for the regular forces; but the aggregate number of the persons for the time being liable to be called out by virtue of agreements made for the purposes of this section or of paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section six of the Army Reserve Act, 1950, and of the persons for the time being designated under paragraph (b) of that subsection shall not exceed sixty thousand; and subsection (3) of the said section six is hereby repealed.

4.—(1) A notice to any person under subsection (1) of section two or subsection (1) of section three of this Act shall specify the time and place at which he is to present himself for service in accordance with the notice and may be revoked or varied by a subsequent notice thereunder; and any such notice shall be deemed to have been duly served on the person to whom it is directed if—

Provisions supplemental to ss. 2 and 3.

- (a) it is delivered to him personally; or
- (b) it is sent by registered post or the recorded delivery service addressed to him at his latest address known to the military authorities.

(2) Where any person has been recalled or called out by such a notice as aforesaid, then, at all times during the period beginning with the date and time specified in the notice and ending with the completion of his service by virtue of that notice, he shall be liable to serve in any place, whether in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, and the Army Act, 1955, shall apply to him as if he were an officer holding a land forces commission, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer or soldier, as the case may be, of the regular forces, and not a member of the territorial army, the army reserve or a reserve of officers, as the case may be, but, in the case of a person who does not for the time being hold a commission, subject to the same exceptions as in the case of a person enlisted in pursuance of the National Service Act, 1948.

(3) The Secretary of State shall from time to time report to Parliament with respect to the exercise of his powers to recall persons under section two or call out persons under section three of this Act, and any such report may be made, as the Secretary of State thinks fit, either with respect to any use made, or with respect to any use proposed to be made, of those powers.

(4) Where a member of the territorial army has been recalled into army service under section two or called out for army service under section three of this Act—

(a) if, while he is rendering that service, directions are given under the Auxiliary Forces Act, 1953, for embodying the territorial army or the part thereof in which he was serving before he was so recalled or called out, he shall thereupon be deemed to be embodied and his service by virtue of the said section two or three shall cease ;

(b) if he so desires and he is not serving in the territorial army only in pursuance of the National Service Act, 1948, there shall be taken, as soon as may be convenient after the end of the term of his service by virtue of the said section two or three, all such steps as are necessary to enable him to serve again in the corps and unit of the territorial army in which he was serving at the time when he was so recalled or called out.

(5) If, while a member of the army reserve is in army service by virtue of section two of this Act, the army reserve is called out on permanent service by proclamation under section five of the Army Reserve Act, 1950, he shall be treated as called out on permanent service under that section and his service by virtue of the said section two shall cease.

5.—(1) In relation to any person retained or continuing in army service by virtue of section one of this Act, Part II of the National Service Act, 1948 (which relates to reinstatement in civil employment after whole-time service under that Act) shall have effect as if any period for which that person is so retained or so continues were a continuation of his whole-time or equivalent service under that Act. Safeguards for civil employment and interests.

(2) Where any person is, or is liable to be, recalled under section two or called out under section three of this Act, the provisions of the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1950, shall apply to that person as they apply to a person who has entered, or, as the case may be, may be required to enter, upon a period of whole-time service in the armed forces of the Crown in the circumstances mentioned in paragraph (a) of section one of that Act.

(3) Any service rendered by virtue of section one, two or three of this Act shall be relevant service within the meaning of the Reserve and Auxiliary Forces (Protection of Civil Interests) Act, 1951.

6.—(1) In this Act, the expression “equivalent” in relation to whole-time or part-time service under the National Service Act, 1948, means service which is recognised by the Army Council as equivalent to whole-time or, as the case may be, part-time military service under that Act. Interpretation and calculation of service.

(2) The provisions of the Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purpose of calculating the terms or periods of service therein mentioned.

(3) Save where the context otherwise requires, any reference in this Act to any enactment shall be construed as a reference to that enactment as amended, extended or applied by or under any other enactment.

7. There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament any increase attributable to the provisions of this Act in the sums payable out of moneys so provided under any other Act. Expenses.

8.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Army Reserve Act, 1962. Short title and extent.

(2) This Act extends to the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man.

Section 6.

SCHEDULE

CALCULATION OF LENGTH OF SERVICE

1. If, in the case of any person, at the time when—

- (a) the term of any service by him under subsection (1) of section one or under section two or three of this Act ; or
- (b) the period referred to in subsection (2) of the said section one, would otherwise be completed, that person has become liable to be proceeded against for an offence against the Naval Discipline Act, 1957, military law or air-force law, that term or period shall not be completed until he has been tried or otherwise dealt with for that offence and has undergone any punishment awarded therefor, or, if at that time punishment for such an offence as aforesaid has already been awarded, until he has undergone that punishment.

2. In determining in the case of any person the end of any such term or period as is mentioned in the foregoing paragraph or the length of any period of service rendered as mentioned in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of subsection (2) of section two of this Act, no account shall be taken—

- (a) in relation to any service which is, or is the equivalent of, whole-time service under the National Service Act, 1948, of any day before the day on which that person presented himself in pursuance of his enlistment notice, if any, under that Act ;
- (b) in relation to any service under section two or three of this Act, of any day before the day on which that person presented himself in pursuance of the notice to him under subsection (1) of that section ;
- (c) of any continuous period exceeding fourteen days during which that person was absent as a deserter or absent without leave ;
- (d) of any continuous period exceeding fourteen days during which that person—
 - (i) was serving, or would if he had not been unlawfully at large have been serving, a term of imprisonment, detention, preventive detention, corrective training or detention in a detention centre ; or
 - (ii) was detained, or would if he had not been unlawfully at large have been detained, in a borstal institution, in pursuance of a sentence of a court or an award by his commanding officer or in default of payment of any sum of money or for doing or failing to do or abstain from doing anything required to be done or left undone.

3. If, in the case of any term or period such as is mentioned in paragraph 1 of this Schedule, leave of absence is granted to the person in question for a period comprising or immediately following the date on which that term or period would otherwise be completed, the Army Council may postpone the completion of that term or period until a date not later than the expiry of his leave.

SCHEDULES:

- First Schedule—Ordinary Residence.
Second Schedule—Enactments Repealed.

An Act to make further provision with respect to awards and grants by local education authorities and the Minister of Education in England and Wales, and by education authorities and the Secretary of State in Scotland, and to enable the General Grant Order, 1960, and the General Grant (Scotland) Order, 1960, to be varied so as to take account of additional or reduced expenditure resulting from action (including anticipatory action) taken in accordance with that provision; to make further provision as to school leaving dates; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid.
[29th March, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Awards and grants by local education authorities and Minister of Education in England and Wales

1.—(1) It shall be the duty of every local education authority, subject to and in accordance with regulations made under this Act, to bestow awards on persons who—

Local education authority awards for first degree university courses and comparable courses in United Kingdom.

- (a) are ordinarily resident in the area of the authority, and
- (b) possess the requisite educational qualifications, in respect of their attendance at courses to which this section applies.

(2) This section shall apply to such full-time courses at universities, colleges or other institutions in Great Britain and Northern Ireland as may for the time being be designated by or under the regulations for the purposes of this section as being first degree courses or comparable to first degree courses ; and for the purposes of the preceding subsection the requisite educational qualifications, in relation to any course, shall be such as may be prescribed by or under the regulations, either generally or with respect to that course or a class of courses which includes that course.

(3) Regulations made for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section shall prescribe the conditions and exceptions subject to which the duty imposed by that subsection is to have effect, and the descriptions of payments to be made in pursuance of awards bestowed thereunder, and, with respect to each description of payments, shall—

- (a) prescribe the circumstances in which it is to be payable, and the amount of the payment or the scales or other provisions by reference to which that amount is to be determined, and
- (b) indicate whether the payment is to be obligatory or is to be at the discretion of the authority bestowing the award ;

and, subject to the exercise of any power conferred by the regulations to suspend or terminate awards, a local education authority by whom an award has been bestowed under subsection (1) of this section shall be under a duty, or shall have power, as the case may be, to make such payments as they are required or authorised to make in accordance with the regulations.

(4) Without prejudice to the duty imposed by subsection (1) of this section, a local education authority shall have power to bestow an award on any person in respect of his attendance at a course to which this section applies, where he is not eligible for an award under subsection (1) of this section in respect of that course.

(5) The provisions of subsection (3) of this section and of the regulations made in accordance with that subsection (except so much of those provisions as relates to the conditions and exceptions subject to which the duty imposed by subsection (1) of this section is to have effect) shall apply in relation to awards under the last preceding subsection as they apply in relation to awards under subsection (1) of this section.

(6) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of this section, that subsection shall not have effect so as to require a local education authority—

- (a) to bestow awards in respect of any period beginning before the first day of September, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, or

(b) to bestow an award on a person in respect of any course, if a scholarship, exhibition, bursary or other allowance granted to him in respect of that course is in force on that day by virtue of regulations made under paragraph (c) of section eighty-one of the Act of 1944.

(7) The reference in subsection (1) of this section to persons who are ordinarily resident in the area of a local education authority is a reference to persons who, in accordance with the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act, are to be treated as being so resident.

2.—(1) A local education authority shall have power to bestow awards on persons over compulsory school age (other than persons undergoing training as teachers) in respect of their attendance at courses to which this subsection applies, and to make such payments as are payable in pursuance of such awards.

Local education authority awards for other courses of further education, and grants for training of teachers.

(2) The preceding subsection applies to any course of full-time or part-time education (whether held in Great Britain or elsewhere) which is not a course of primary or secondary education, or (in the case of a course held outside Great Britain) is not a course of education comparable to primary or secondary education in Great Britain, and is not a course to which section one of this Act applies.

(3) A local education authority shall have power to pay grants to or in respect of persons undergoing training as teachers; but the power conferred by this subsection shall not be exercisable by a local education authority except in accordance with such arrangements as may from time to time be submitted by the authority to the Minister and approved by him.

3. Provision may be made by regulations under this Act for authorising the Minister—

State grants for training of teachers and awards for postgraduate courses and students

(a) to pay grants to or in respect of persons undergoing training as teachers;

(b) to bestow awards on persons in respect of their attendance at such courses at universities, colleges or other institutions (whether in Great Britain or elsewhere) as may for the time being be designated by or under the regulations for the purposes of this section as being postgraduate courses or comparable to postgraduate courses; over prescribed age.

- (c) to bestow awards on persons who, at such time as may be prescribed by the regulations, have attained such age as may be so prescribed, being awards in respect of their attendance at such courses at universities, colleges or other institutions (whether in Great Britain or elsewhere) as may for the time being be designated by or under the regulations for the purposes of this section as being first degree courses or comparable to first degree courses ;

and, in the case of awards bestowed in accordance with paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) of this section, for authorising the Minister to make such payments as are payable in pursuance of the awards.

Provisions
supplementary to ss. 1 to 3.

4.—(1) For the purposes of the exercise of any power or the performance of any duty conferred or imposed by or under any of the provisions of sections one to three of this Act, it is immaterial—

- (a) whether an award is designated by that name or as a scholarship, studentship, exhibition or bursary or by any similar description, or
(b) in what terms the bestowal of an award is expressed.

(2) Any enactment contained in those sections which requires or authorises the making of regulations shall be construed as requiring or authorising regulations to be made by the Minister ; and regulations made for the purposes of any such enactment may make different provision for different cases to which that enactment is applicable.

(3) Any power to make regulations under those sections shall be exercisable by statutory instrument ; and any statutory instrument containing any such regulations shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(4) Subject to the next following subsection, sections one and two of this Act shall have effect in substitution for the following provisions, that is to say—

- (a) the provisions of section eighty-one of the Act of 1944 in so far as they require regulations to be made for the purpose of empowering local education authorities to grant scholarships, exhibitions, bursaries and other allowances in respect of pupils over compulsory school age in connection with their attendance at courses to which section one or subsection (1) of section two of this Act applies, or in connection with their undergoing training as teachers, and

(b) the provisions of any regulations made under the said section eighty-one in so far as they provide for the granting of such scholarships, exhibitions, bursaries and other allowances, and (subject to the next following subsection) those provisions shall cease to have effect in so far as they impose any such requirement or make any such provision as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(5) Nothing in the last preceding subsection shall affect or prevent—

(a) the making of any payment in respect of a period ending before the first day of September, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, or the granting of any scholarship, exhibition, bursary or other allowance at any time before that day, or the making of any payment (whether before or after that day) in pursuance of a scholarship, exhibition, bursary or other allowance so granted, or

(b) the revocation of any regulations made under section eighty-one of the Act of 1944, or

(c) the variation of any such regulations in so far as they relate to matters not falling within paragraphs (a) and (b) of the last preceding subsection, or in so far as they relate to payments or grants falling within paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(6) In sections two and three of this Act and in this section “training” (in relation to training as a teacher) includes further training, whether the person undergoing the further training is already qualified as a teacher or not; and any reference to a person undergoing training includes a person admitted or accepted by the appropriate university, college or other authorities for undergoing that training.

Grants and other payments by education authorities and Secretary of State in Scotland

5.—(1) For section forty-three of the Scottish Act of 1946 there shall be substituted the following section, that is to say—“Power of education authorities to assist persons to take advantage of educational facilities.

43.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section an education authority shall have power to grant, on such conditions as may be prescribed, and make payments in pursuance of, bursaries, scholarships or other allowances to persons over school age attending courses of full-time or part-time education (whether held in Great Britain or elsewhere) which are not courses of primary or secondary education or (in the case of courses held outside Great Britain) are not courses of education comparable to primary or secondary education in Great Britain.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section an education authority shall have power, for the purpose of enabling persons to take advantage without hardship to themselves or their parents of the facilities for primary or secondary education available to them, to grant, on such conditions as may be prescribed, and make payments in pursuance of, allowances for the purpose of defraying in whole or in part—

- (a) such expenses of persons attending any school as may be expedient to enable them to take full part in the activities of the school;
- (b) the fees and expenses payable in respect of persons attending schools at which fees are payable;
- (c) the maintenance expenses of persons over school age who are attending schools.

(3) The Secretary of State may make regulations providing that the powers conferred on an education authority by subsections (1) and (2) of this section—

- (a) shall be exercised in accordance with such provisions as may be prescribed by or under the regulations; and
- (b) shall not be exercised in relation to a person who does not fulfil such requirements as to residence in the area of the authority, or as to other matters, as may be specified in the regulations; and regulations made under this subsection may contain provision for the determination by the Secretary of State of any question whether any such requirements are fulfilled in any particular case.”

(2) Any scholarship, bursary or other allowance granted under the said section forty-three before the date of commencement of this Act and any regulations made under that section before that date, if in force at the commencement of this Act, shall continue to have effect as if granted or made under the said section forty-three as amended by this section.

Amendment
of s. 70 of
of 1946.

6. Paragraph (10) of section seventy of the Scottish Act of 1946 (which empowers the Secretary of State to make payments for the purpose of enabling persons to take advantage of educational facilities) shall have effect with the substitution, for the words from "for the purpose of" to the end of the paragraph, of the words "to persons attending courses of education".

Consequential variation of general grants

7.—(1) The Minister of Housing and Local Government shall have power, by an order made in the like manner and subject to the like provisions as a general grant order, to vary the provisions of the General Grant Order, 1960, in accordance with the following provisions of this section. Variation of General
Grant
Order, 1960.

(2) Any order made by virtue of this section shall be made in respect of either or both of the years 1961-62 and 1962-63 as may be specified in the order, and in respect of the year or years so specified shall—

- (a) increase the annual aggregate amount of the general grants, and
- (b) vary any other matter prescribed by the General Grant Order, 1960, to such extent and in such manner as may appear to the Minister of Housing and Local Government to be appropriate having regard to any additional expenditure incurred or likely to be incurred by local education authorities in consequence of any change in the relevant arrangements.

(3) The provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the exercise of any power conferred by subsection (4) of section two of the Local Government Act, 1958 (which confers power to vary general grant orders in consequence of unforeseen increases in the level of prices, costs or remuneration).

(4) In this section any reference to the year 1961-62 or to the year 1962-63 or to a general grant order shall be construed as if this section were contained in Part I of the Local Government Act, 1958.

(5) In this section "the relevant arrangements" means the arrangements which, at the time when the General Grant Order, 1960, was made, were in force with respect to the exercise by local education authorities of their powers in relation to the matters referred to in paragraph (c) of section eighty-one of the Act of 1944; and any reference in this section to a change in the relevant arrangements is a reference to either of the following, that is to say—

- (a) the coming into operation, before the passing of this Act, of any arrangements relating to the exercise of those powers which differed from the relevant arrangements, and
- (b) the coming into operation of sections one and two of this Act or of any regulations made for the purposes thereof.

Variation of General
Grant
Order, 1960.

8.—(1) The Secretary of State shall have power, by an order made in the like manner and subject to the like provisions as a general grant order under section one of the Local Government and Miscellaneous Financial Provisions (Scotland) Act, 1958, to vary the provisions of the General Grant (Scotland) Order, 1960, in accordance with the following provisions of this section.

(2) Any order made by virtue of this section shall be made in respect of either or both of the years 1961-62 and 1962-63 as may be specified in the order, and in respect of the year or years so specified shall decrease the annual aggregate amount of the general grants to such extent as may appear to the Secretary of State to be appropriate having regard to any reduction of expenditure effected or likely to be effected by education authorities in consequence of any change in the relevant arrangements.

(3) The provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the exercise of any power conferred by subsection (2) of section two of the said Act of 1958 (which confers power to vary general grant orders in consequence of unforeseen increases in the level of prices, costs or remuneration).

(4) In this section—

(a) the expression “ the relevant arrangements ” means the arrangements which, at the time when the General Grant (Scotland) Order, 1960, was made, were in force with respect to the exercise by education authorities of their powers in relation to the matters referred to in subsection (1) of section forty-three of the Scottish Act of 1946 (as it then had effect); and

(b) references to the year 1961-62 and to the year 1962-63 shall be construed respectively as references to the year beginning on the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, and the year beginning on the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, so however that subsection (2) of section twenty-one of the said Act of 1958 (which relates to authorities whose financial year begins on a day other than the sixteenth day of May) shall apply to this paragraph as it applies to the provisions of that Act.

School leaving dates

School leaving dates in England and Wales.

9.—(1) The provisions of subsections (2) to (4) of this section shall have effect in relation to any person who on a date when either—

(a) he is a registered pupil at a school, or

(b) not being such a pupil, he has been a registered pupil at a school within the preceding period of twelve months, attains an age which (apart from this section) would in his case be the upper limit of the compulsory school age.

(2) If he attains that age on any date from the beginning of September to the end of January, he shall be deemed not to have attained that age until the end of the appropriate spring term at his school.

(3) If he attains that age on any date on or after the beginning of February but before the end of the appropriate summer term at his school, he shall be deemed not to have attained that age until the end of that summer term.

(4) If he attains that age on any date between the end of the appropriate summer term at his school and the beginning of September next following the end of that summer term (whether another term has then begun or not) he shall be deemed to have attained that age at the end of that summer term.

(5) The provisions of this section shall have effect for the purposes of the Act of 1944, and for the purposes of any enactment whereby the definition of compulsory school age in that Act is applied or incorporated ; and for references in any enactment to section eight of the Education Act, 1946, there shall, in relation to compulsory school age, be substituted references to this section :

Provided that for the purposes of any enactment relating to family allowances or national insurance (including industrial injuries insurance) the provisions of this section shall have effect as if subsection (4) thereof were omitted.

(6) This section shall not apply where the date referred to in subsection (1) thereof is a date before the beginning of September, nineteen hundred and sixty-three.

(7) In this section “ the appropriate spring term ”, in relation to a person, means the last term at his school which ends before the month of May next following the date on which he attains the age in question, and “ the appropriate summer term ”, in relation to a person, means the last term at his school which ends before the month of September next following that date ; and any reference to a person’s school is a reference to the last school at which he is a registered pupil for a term ending before the said month of May or month of September (as the case may be) or for part of such a term.

10.—(1) Section thirty-three of the Scottish Act of 1946 (which relates among other things to the fixing of school leaving dates) shall have effect as if,— School leaving dates in Scotland.

(a) in subsection (1) thereof, for paragraph (b) there were substituted the following paragraph, that is to say:—

“ (b) two school leaving dates ” ;

(b) at the end of the said subsection (1) there were added the following proviso, that is to say:—

“ Provided that—

(i) in pursuance of any requirement under paragraph (b) of this subsection an education authority may fix different dates for different schools in their area ; and

(ii) if the Secretary of State is satisfied, on the application of the education authority for any area, that, having regard to all the circumstances, it is desirable that for any school in that area three school leaving dates should be fixed, he may require the authority to fix three (but not more than three) school leaving dates for that school.” ;

(c) subsection (4) were omitted ; and

(d) for subsection (5) there were substituted the following subsections, that is to say:—

“ (4) A pupil who was at any time within the period of twelve months preceding the fifteenth anniversary of his birth in attendance at school and who does not attain the age of fifteen years on a school leaving date shall be deemed to be of school age until the school leaving date next following the fifteenth anniversary of his birth or, where that school leaving date falls within a holiday period, until the first day of that holiday period or the fifteenth anniversary of his birth, whichever is the later.

(5) In the last foregoing subsection ‘ school leaving date ’ and ‘ holiday period ’ in relation to any person mean respectively a school leaving date and a holiday period fixed for the school at which the person was last in attendance before attaining the age of fifteen ; and the said subsection shall apply to a person for whom the upper limit of school age is sixteen, with the substitution for the words ‘ fifteen ’ and ‘ fifteenth ’, wherever those words occur, of the words ‘ sixteen ’ and ‘ sixteenth ’ respectively.”

(2) This section shall come into operation on the first day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-three.

Supplementary provisions

Financial provisions.

11. There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament—

(a) any expenditure incurred by the Minister in consequence of regulations made for the purposes of section three of this Act ;

- (b) any increase in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament in respect of general grants, under the enactments relating to local government in England and Wales, or in Scotland, being an increase arising—
- (i) from the inclusion, in the expenditure relevant to the fixing of the aggregate amounts of those grants, of expenditure under section one or section two of this Act, or
 - (ii) from any increase in the expenditure relevant to the fixing of the aggregate amounts of those grants which is attributable to the provisions of section five of this Act, or
 - (iii) from the provisions of section seven of this Act ;
- (c) any increase attributable to the provisions of section six of this Act in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament under section seventy of the Scottish Act of 1946 ;
- (d) any increase in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament under any enactment not contained in this Act, being an increase attributable to the provisions of section nine or section ten of this Act ;
- (e) any increase attributable to this Act in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament by way of Rate-deficiency Grant or Exchequer Equalisation Grant under the enactments relating to local government in England and Wales or in Scotland.

12.—(1) In this Act “ the Act of 1944 ” means the Education Interpretation Act, 1944, and “ the Scottish Act of 1946 ” means the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946.

(2) References in this Act to any enactment shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as references to that enactment as amended by or under any other enactment.

13.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, Repeals, the enactments specified in the Second Schedule to this Act are transitional provisions hereby repealed to the extent specified in relation thereto in the and savings. third column of that Schedule.

(2) Any regulations relating to the training of teachers, in so far as they were made by virtue of the repealed grant provisions, shall continue to have effect notwithstanding the repeal, and may be revoked or varied as if this Act had not been passed.

(3) Any other regulations, in so far as they were made by virtue of the repealed grant provisions, shall continue to have effect notwithstanding the repeal in so far as—

- (a) they authorise the making of any payment in respect of a period ending before the first day of September, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, or
- (b) they enable scholarships, exhibitions, bursaries or other allowances to be awarded at any time before that day, or authorise the making of any payment (whether before or after that day) in pursuance of a scholarship, exhibition, bursary or other allowance so awarded ;

and in so far as any regulations continue to have effect by virtue of this subsection, they may be revoked, or (within the limits subject to which they continue so to have effect) may be varied, as if this Act had not been passed.

(4) Subsection (1) of this section, in so far as it repeals any of the provisions of section eight of the Education Act, 1946, shall have effect subject to the provisions of subsections (5) and (6) of section nine of this Act as if it were contained in the said section nine.

(5) In this section “ the repealed grant provisions ” means so much of section one hundred of the Act of 1944 as is repealed by this Act.

Short title,
citation,
construction
and extent.

14.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Education Act, 1962.

(2) The Education Acts, 1944 to 1959, and this Act (except sections five, six, eight and ten thereof) may be cited together as the Education Acts, 1944 to 1962.

(3) The Education (Scotland) Acts, 1939 to 1956, and this Act (except sections one to four and sections seven, nine and thirteen thereof and the Schedules thereto) may be cited together as the Education (Scotland) Acts, 1939 to 1962.

(4) This Act shall, in its application to England and Wales, be construed as one with the Education Acts, 1944 to 1953.

(5) Sections one to four and sections seven, nine and thirteen of this Act, and the Schedules to this Act, shall not extend to Scotland ; and sections five, six, eight and ten of this Act shall not extend to England and Wales.

(6) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

Section 1.

ORDINARY RESIDENCE

1. The provisions of this Schedule shall have effect for the purposes of section one of this Act.

2. Subject to the following provisions of this Schedule, a person shall be treated for those purposes as ordinarily resident in the area of a local education authority if he would fall to be treated as belonging to that area for the purposes of section seven of the Education (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1953 (which provides for recouping to a local education authority the cost of providing further education for persons not belonging to their area); and the provisions of subsection (4) of the said section seven and any regulations made for the purposes of that section, and any determination of the Minister under subsection (5) thereof, shall have effect accordingly.

3.—(1) Regulations made under this Act may modify the operation of the last preceding paragraph in relation to cases where a person applies for an award under section one of this Act in respect of a course, and, at any time within the period of twelve months ending with the date on which that course is due to begin, a change occurs or has occurred in the circumstances by reference to which (apart from this paragraph) his place of ordinary residence would fall to be determined.

(2) Subsections (1) to (3) of section four of this Act shall have effect in relation to this paragraph as they have effect in relation to section one of this Act.

4.—(1) Where in accordance with the provisions mentioned in paragraph 2 of this Schedule (including any determination of the Minister under those provisions) a person would fall to be treated for the purposes of section one of this Act as not being ordinarily resident in any area, the Minister may direct that he shall be treated for those purposes as being ordinarily resident in the area of such local education authority as may be specified in the direction.

(2) In the exercise of the power to give a direction in respect of any person under this paragraph, the Minister shall have regard to the nature and extent of that person's association with the area in question and to any other material considerations.

An Act to consolidate certain enactments relating to excise duties on mechanically propelled vehicles, and to the licensing and registration of such vehicles.

[29th March, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Excise duty on, and licensing of, mechanically propelled vehicles

1.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a duty of excise Charge of shall be charged in respect of every mechanically propelled duty. vehicle used on any public road in Great Britain and shall be paid upon a licence to be taken out by the person keeping the vehicle.

(2) The duty chargeable under this section in respect of a vehicle of any description shall be chargeable by reference to the annual rate applicable in accordance with the provisions of that one of the first five Schedules to this Act which relates to vehicles of that description.

2.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the following section, a Duration of licence under this Act (other than a trade licence) may be taken out— licences and rates of duty

- (a) in the case of any vehicle, for one calendar year ;
- (b) in the case of any vehicle, for any period of twelve months running from the beginning of the month in which the licence first has effect ;

B* 2

- (c) in the case of any vehicle the annual rate of duty applicable to which exceeds four pounds, for any period of four months running from the beginning of the month in which the licence first has effect ;
- (d) in the case of a goods vehicle which is authorised to be used on roads by virtue of an order made under subsection (4) of section sixty-four of the Road Traffic Act, 1960, and the unladen weight of which exceeds eleven tons, for any period of seven consecutive days.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the following section, the duty payable on a licence under this Act for a vehicle of any description shall—

- (a) if the licence is taken out for one calendar year or any other period of twelve months, be paid at the annual rate of duty applicable to vehicles of that description ;
- (b) if the licence is taken out for a period of four months, be paid at a rate equal to eleven thirtieths of the said annual rate ;
- (c) if the licence is taken out for a period of seven days, be paid at a rate equal to one fifty-second of the said annual rate plus ten per cent. of that amount ;

and in computing the rate of duty in accordance with paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) of this subsection, any fraction of a shilling shall be treated as a whole shilling if it exceeds sixpence and shall otherwise be disregarded.

Power to modify duration of licences and rates of duty.

3.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, the Minister may by order provide that licences under this Act (other than trade licences and licences for one calendar year) may be taken out for such periods as may be specified in the order, being—

- (a) periods of a fixed number of months (not exceeding fifteen) running from the beginning of the month in which the licence first has effect ; or
- (b) in the case of vehicles of such description, or of such description and used in such circumstances, as may be so specified, periods of less than a month.

(2) A licence for any period specified in an order under this section shall be taken out on payment of duty at such rate as may be so specified :

Provided that—

- (a) the rate of duty on any licence taken out for a vehicle for a period other than one of twelve months shall be such as to bear to the annual rate of duty applicable to that vehicle no less proportion than the period for which the licence is taken out bears to a year ; and

(b) the rate of duty on any licence taken out for a vehicle for a period of three months or for a period of four months shall not exceed for each month of the period ten per cent. of the annual rate of duty applicable to the vehicle.

(3) Any order made by the Minister under this section may be made so as to apply only to vehicles of specified descriptions and may make different provision for vehicles of different descriptions or for different circumstances.

(4) The power to make orders under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument, and shall include power to vary or revoke any order so made and to amend or repeal the following provisions of the foregoing section, that is to say, in subsection (1), paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) and, in subsection (2), paragraphs (b) and (c) and so much of the remainder of the subsection as relates to those two paragraphs.

4.—(1) The duty chargeable under section one of this Act in respect of the use of mechanically propelled vehicles on public roads in Great Britain shall also be chargeable in respect of the keeping of such vehicles thereon, and the foregoing provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly. Duty on vehicles kept, but not used, on roads.

(2) For the purposes of the said duty, in so far as chargeable by virtue of this section, a vehicle shall be deemed—

(a) to be chargeable with the like duty as on the occasion of the issue of the licence or last licence issued for the vehicle under this Act, and to be so chargeable by reference to the rate specified in the same Schedule to this Act as on that occasion, or

(b) if no licence has been issued for the vehicle under this Act, to be chargeable by reference to the rate applicable to it under the Fifth Schedule to this Act.

(3) Nothing in this section shall operate so as to render lawful the keeping of a vehicle for any period, in any manner or at any place, if to do so would be unlawful apart from this section.

5.—(1) The duty chargeable under this Act shall be levied by county councils in accordance with provisions to be made for the purpose by Order in Council. Collection of duty.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any Order in Council made under this section, every county council and their officers shall have within their county for the purpose of levying the duty aforesaid the same powers, duties and liabilities as the Commissioners of Customs and Excise and their officers have with respect to duties of excise and to the issue and cancellation of licences on which duties of excise are imposed and to other matters under the Acts relating to duties of excise and excise licences; and, subject to those provisions and in particular section nineteen of this Act, all enactments relating to those duties and to punishments and penalties in connection therewith shall apply accordingly.

(3) Without prejudice to the foregoing subsection and subject to the provisions of any Order in Council made under this section, every county council shall, with respect to the duty of excise chargeable under this Act and the excise licences provided for thereby, have the powers given to the said Commissioners by the Acts relating to duties of excise and excise licences for the restoration of any forfeiture and the mitigation or remission of any penalty or part thereof.

(4) The duty levied by a county council under this Act shall be paid into the Exchequer in such manner and in accordance with such directions as may be contained in any Order in Council made under this section.

(5) Provision may be made by Order in Council under this section for enabling the Minister to give such directions to county councils as he thinks necessary for securing uniformity of administration and otherwise for carrying the provisions of this Act and of any such Order into effect, and it shall be the duty of county councils to comply with any directions so given.

(6) Any Order in Council made under this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent Order so made.

Exemptions
from duty.

6.—(1) No duty shall be chargeable under this Act in respect of mechanically propelled vehicles of any of the following descriptions, that is to say—

- (a) fire engines ;
- (b) vehicles kept by a local authority while they are used or kept on a road for the purposes of their fire brigade service ;
- (c) ambulances ;
- (d) road rollers ;
- (e) vehicles used on tram lines, not being tramcars used for the conveyance of passengers ;
- (f) vehicles used or kept on a road for no purpose other than the haulage of lifeboats and the conveyance of the necessary gear of the lifeboats which are being hauled ;
- (g) vehicles (including cycles with an attachment for propelling them by mechanical power) which do not exceed six hundredweight in weight unladen and are adapted, and used or kept on a road, for invalids ;
- (h) road construction vehicles used or kept on a road solely for the conveyance of built-in road construction machinery (with or without articles or material used for the purposes of that machinery) ;

- (i) vehicles constructed or adapted, and used, solely for the conveyance of machinery for spreading material on roads to deal with frost, ice or snow or for the conveyance of such machinery and articles and material used for the purposes of the machinery.

(2) A mechanically propelled vehicle shall not be chargeable with any duty under this Act by reason of its use for clearing snow from public roads by means of a snow plough or similar contrivance, whether forming part of the vehicle or not, or by reason of its being kept for such use or by reason of its use for the purpose of going to or from the place where it is to be used for clearing snow from public roads by those means.

(3) Regulations under this Act may provide that, in such cases and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a mechanically propelled vehicle shall not be chargeable with any duty under this Act by reason of any use made of it for the purpose of a public or local authority's functions in connection with civil defence as defined in the Civil Defence Act, 1948, or by reason of its being kept on a road for any such use, or both.

(4) Regulations under this Act may provide for the total or partial exemption for a limited period from the duty chargeable under this Act of any mechanically propelled vehicles for the time being licensed under section one or section ten of the Vehicles (Excise) Act (Northern Ireland), 1954 ; and regulations made under this subsection may—

- (a) make different provision in relation to vehicles of different descriptions ;
- (b) provide that any exemption conferred by the regulations in respect of any vehicle shall have effect subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

(5) A mechanically propelled vehicle shall not be chargeable with any duty under this Act by reason of its use on public roads—

- (a) for the purpose of submitting it by previous arrangement for, or bringing it away from, a compulsory test ; or
- (b) in the course of a compulsory test, for the purpose of taking it to, or bringing it away from, any place where a part of the test is to be or, as the case may be, has been carried out, or of carrying out any part of the test, the person so using it being either—

- (i) a person authorised as an examiner or appointed as an inspector under section sixty-five of the Road Traffic Act, 1960, or acting on behalf of a person so authorised, or

(ii) a person acting under the personal direction of such a person as aforesaid ; or

- (c) where a test certificate is refused on a compulsory test, for the purpose of delivering it by previous arrangement at, or bringing it away from, a place where work is to be or has been done on it to remedy for a further compulsory test the defects on the ground of which the test certificate was refused.

In this subsection “ test certificate ” has the same meaning as in the said Act of 1960, and “ compulsory test ” means an examination under section sixty-five of that Act with a view to obtaining a test certificate without which a licence cannot be granted for the vehicle under this Act.

(6) If an applicant for a licence under this Act for any mechanically propelled vehicle satisfies the county council that the vehicle is intended to be used on public roads—

- (a) only in passing from land in his occupation to other land in his occupation, and
 (b) for distances not exceeding in the aggregate six miles in any calendar week, then, if authorised so to do by the Minister with the consent of the Treasury, the council may exempt the vehicle from the duty chargeable under this Act in respect of the use of the vehicle on roads.

(7) If a vehicle exempted under the foregoing subsection from the payment of duty is used on public roads otherwise than for the purpose or to the extent specified in that subsection, the vehicle shall cease to be so exempted.

(8) In this section—

“ road construction vehicle ” means a vehicle constructed or adapted for use for the conveyance of built-in road construction machinery and not constructed or adapted for the conveyance of any other load except articles and material used for the purposes of that machinery ;

“ road construction machinery ” means a machine or contrivance suitable for use for the construction or repair of roads and used for no purpose other than the construction or repair of roads at the public expense ;

“ built-in road construction machinery ”, in relation to a vehicle, means road construction machinery built in as part of the vehicle or permanently attached thereto.

7. If any person uses or keeps on a public road any mechanically propelled vehicle for which a licence under this Act is not in force, not being a vehicle exempted from duty under this Act by virtue of any enactment (including any provision of this Act), he shall be liable to the greater of the following penalties, namely—

Using and keeping vehicles without a licence.

- (a) an excise penalty of twenty pounds ; or
- (b) an excise penalty equal to three times the amount of the duty chargeable in respect of the vehicle.

8.—(1) Every person applying for a licence under this Act shall make such a declaration and furnish such particulars with respect to the mechanically propelled vehicle for which the licence is to be taken out or otherwise as may be prescribed.

Issue and exhibition of licences.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act relating to trade licences—

- (a) every licence issued under this Act shall be issued for the vehicle specified in the application for the licence and shall not entitle the person to whom it is issued to use or keep any other vehicle ; and
- (b) a county council shall not be required to issue any licence for which application is made unless they are satisfied—
 - (i) that the licence applied for is the appropriate licence for the vehicle specified in the application ; and
 - (ii) in the case of an application for a licence for a vehicle purporting to be the first application for a licence for the vehicle, that a licence has not previously been issued for that vehicle.

(3) Subject to the provisions of regulations under this Act, every licence issued under this Act for a mechanically propelled vehicle shall be fixed to and exhibited on the vehicle in the prescribed manner.

(4) Regulations under this Act may provide for the issue of new licences in the place of licences which may be lost or destroyed, and for the fee (not exceeding five shillings) to be paid on the issue of a new licence.

(5) Any licence issued under this Act for a mechanically propelled vehicle may be transferred in the prescribed manner.

Surrender of licences.

9.—(1) The holder of a licence issued under this Act (other than a limited trade licence or a licence for a tramcar) may at any time surrender the licence to the county council with which the vehicle for which the licence was taken out is for the time being registered under this Act or, in the case of a general trade licence, to the county council by which the licence was issued.

(2) Where a licence is surrendered to a county council under the foregoing subsection, the holder thereof shall be entitled to be repaid by the council by way of rebate of the duty paid for the licence the following amount in respect of each complete month of the period of the currency of the licence which is unexpired at the date of the surrender, that is to say—

- (a) in the case of a general trade licence taken out for a period of three months only, an amount equal to one third of the duty charged on that licence ;
- (b) in the case of a licence of any other class, an amount equal to one twelfth of the annual rate of duty chargeable on the licence.

(3) In making repayments under this section fractions of a penny shall be disregarded.

Alteration of vehicle or of its use.

10.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, where a licence has been taken out for a mechanically propelled vehicle at any rate under this Act and the vehicle is at any time while the licence is in force used in an altered condition or in a manner or for a purpose which brings it within, or which if it was used solely in that condition or in that manner or for that purpose would bring it within, a class or description of vehicle to which a higher rate of duty is applicable under this Act, duty at that higher rate shall become chargeable in respect of the licence for the vehicle.

(2) Where duty at a higher rate becomes chargeable under the foregoing subsection in respect of any licence, the licence may be exchanged for a new licence, for the period beginning with the date on which the higher rate of duty becomes chargeable and expiring at the end of the period for which the original licence was issued, on payment of the appropriate proportion of the difference between—

- (a) the amount payable under this Act on the original licence ; and
- (b) the amount payable under this Act on a licence taken out for the period for which the original licence was issued but at the higher rate of duty, that amount being calculated, if that rate has been changed since the issue of the original licence, as if that rate had been in force at all material times at the level at which it is in force when it becomes chargeable.

(3) For the purposes of the foregoing subsection the appropriate proportion is the proportion which the number of months in the period beginning when the higher rate of duty becomes chargeable and ending with the end of the period for which the original licence was issued bears to the number of months in the whole of the last-mentioned period, any incomplete month being treated as a whole month.

(4) Where a licence has been taken out for a mechanically propelled vehicle, and by reason of the vehicle being used as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section a higher rate of duty becomes chargeable and duty at the higher rate was not paid before the vehicle was so used, the person so using the vehicle shall be liable to the greater of the following penalties, namely—

- (a) an excise penalty of twenty pounds ; or
- (b) an excise penalty of an amount equal to three times the difference between the duty actually paid on the licence and the amount of duty at that higher rate.

(5) Where a licence has been taken out for a mechanically propelled vehicle of a certain class or description, duty at a higher rate applicable to mechanically propelled vehicles of some other class or description shall not become chargeable in respect of the vehicle by reason of the vehicle being used as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, unless the vehicle as used while the said licence is in force satisfies all the conditions which must be satisfied in order to bring the vehicle for the purposes of the charge of duty under this Act into the said other class or description of vehicles.

(6) Where duty has been paid in respect of a vehicle at a rate applicable under the Fourth Schedule to this Act, then, so long as the vehicle is to a substantial extent being used for the conveyance of goods or burden belonging to a particular person (whether the person keeping the vehicle or not), duty at a higher rate shall not become chargeable in respect of the vehicle by reason only that it is used for the conveyance without charge in the course of their employment of employees of the person aforesaid.

(7) Where duty has been paid in respect of a vehicle at a rate applicable to farmers' goods vehicles under the Fourth Schedule to this Act, duty at a higher rate shall not become chargeable in respect of the vehicle by reason only that, on an occasion when the vehicle is being used by the person in whose name it is registered under this Act for the purpose of the conveyance of the produce of, or of articles required for the purposes of, the agricultural land which he occupies, it is also used for the conveyance for some other person engaged in agriculture of the produce of, or of articles required for the purposes of, the agricultural land occupied by that other person, if it is shown—

- (a) that the vehicle is so used only occasionally ;
- (b) that the goods conveyed for that other person represent only a small proportion of the total amount of goods which the vehicle is conveying on that occasion ; and
- (c) that no payment or reward of any kind is, or is agreed to be, made or given for the conveyance of the goods of that other person.

(8) Where duty has been paid in respect of a vehicle at a rate applicable to farmers' goods vehicles under the Fourth Schedule to this Act, duty at a higher rate shall not become chargeable in respect of the vehicle by reason only that, during such periods and in such areas as may be specified by order of the Treasury made by statutory instrument, it is used, whether or not by the person in whose name it is registered under this Act, for any such purpose as is specified in the order.

An order under this subsection may be revoked or varied by a subsequent order of the Treasury.

(9) The foregoing subsection shall continue in force until such date as Her Majesty may by Order in Council determine.

Recovery of under-payments and over-payments of duty.

11.—(1) Where the amount of the duty which has been paid on a licence for a mechanically propelled vehicle is less than the amount payable on the licence appropriate to that vehicle—

- (a) the amount of the deficiency shall be a debt due to the county council with which the vehicle is for the time being registered under this Act ; and
- (b) that council may take proceedings for the recovery of that amount at any time before the expiration of the twelve months beginning with the end of the period in respect of which the licence was taken out.

(2) No proceedings shall be brought for enforcing any repayment of duty to which a person may be entitled in respect of any over-payment of duty made on a licence taken out by him for a mechanically propelled vehicle, unless the proceedings are brought before the expiration of the twelve months beginning with the end of the period in respect of which the licence was taken out.

Trade licences.

12.—(1) If a motor trader applies in the prescribed manner to the council of the county in which his business premises are situated to take out a licence under this section for all mechanically propelled vehicles used by him (in this Act referred to as a "trade licence"), instead of taking out a licence for each mechanically propelled vehicle kept by him, the county council may, subject to the prescribed conditions, issue to him a trade licence on payment of duty at the rate applicable to the licence in accordance with the following provisions of this section :

Provided that the holder of a trade licence shall not be entitled by virtue of that licence—

- (a) to use more than one vehicle at any one time, except in the case of a vehicle drawing a trailer and used for the prescribed purpose ; or
- (b) to use any vehicle for any purpose other than such purposes as may be prescribed ; or
- (c) to keep any vehicle on a road if it is not being used thereon.

(2) Two sets of regulations shall be made under this section prescribing the conditions subject to which trade licences are to be issued, and prescribing the purposes for which the holder of a trade licence may use it ; and—

- (a) a licence to which the one set of regulations applies is hereafter in this Act referred to as a “ general trade licence ” ; and
- (b) a licence to which the other set of regulations applies is hereafter in this Act referred to as a “ limited trade licence ” ; and it shall be at the option of every motor trader wishing to take out a trade licence whether the licence shall be a general trade licence or a limited trade licence.

(3) The purposes which may be prescribed as those for which the holder of a trade licence may use it shall not include the collection or delivery of mechanically propelled vehicles on or by means of another mechanically propelled vehicle, except in connection with activities which would be treated for the purposes of this section as part of his business as a motor trader apart from the provision in subsection (10) of this section as to the construction of the reference therein to a dealer in such vehicles.

(4) Any trade licence may be taken out for one calendar year and a general trade licence may be taken out for any period of three months beginning with the first day of January, of April, of July or of October.

(5) The rate of duty applicable to a trade licence taken out for a calendar year shall—

- (a) in the case of a general trade licence, be thirty pounds or, if the licence is to be used only for vehicles to which the First Schedule to this Act relates, six pounds ;

- (b) in the case of a limited trade licence, be six pounds or, if the licence is to be used only for such vehicles, one pound five shillings ; and the rate of duty applicable to a general trade licence taken out for a period of three months shall be eleven fortieths of the rate applicable to the corresponding trade licence taken out for a calendar year.

(6) Nothing in this section shall operate to prevent a person entitled to take out a trade licence from holding two or more such licences.

(7) If any person is aggrieved by the refusal of a county council to issue a trade licence, he may appeal to the Minister, and the Minister shall, on any such appeal, make such order in the matter as he thinks just, and the council shall comply with any order so made.

(8) Any order made by the Minister under the foregoing subsection—

- (a) shall be final and not subject to appeal to any court, and
 (b) shall be enforceable in England by order of mandamus on the application of the Minister, and in Scotland by order of the Court of Session on the application of the Lord Advocate :

Provided that paragraph (a) of this subsection—

- (i) shall not have effect as respects Scotland ; and
 (ii) as respects England and Wales shall be treated for the purposes of section eleven of the Tribunals and Inquiries Act, 1958 (which extends the supervisory powers of the High Court over orders and determinations which by virtue of any Act passed before the commencement of that Act are not to be called into question in any court) as contained in an Act passed before the commencement of that Act.

(9) If any person holding a trade licence or trade licences issued under this Act uses on a public road at any one time a greater number of vehicles than he is authorised to use by virtue of that licence or those licences, he shall be liable to the greater of the following penalties, namely—

- (a) an excise penalty of twenty pounds ; or
 (b) an excise penalty equal to three times the amount of the duty chargeable in respect of the vehicle or vehicles.

(10) In this section “ motor trader ” means a manufacturer or repairer of, or dealer in, mechanically propelled vehicles ; and a person shall be treated for the purposes of this section as a dealer in such vehicles if he carries on a business consisting wholly or mainly of collecting and delivering mechanically propelled vehicles, and not including any other activities except activities as a manufacturer or repairer of, or dealer in, such vehicles.

Registration and registration marks, etc.

13.—(1) On the first issue of a licence under this Act for a mechanically propelled vehicle, it shall be the duty of the county council issuing the licence to register the vehicle in the prescribed manner without any further application in that behalf by the person taking out the licence and to assign to the vehicle a registration mark indicating the registered number of the vehicle and the council which has registered it.

Registration and registration marks.

(2) The registration mark assigned to a mechanically propelled vehicle under this section shall be fixed in the prescribed manner on the vehicle, or on any other vehicle drawn by that vehicle, or on both.

14. On every mechanically propelled vehicle which is chargeable with duty as a hackney carriage there shall, subject to the prescribed exceptions, be exhibited, in conjunction with the mark required under the foregoing section to be fixed on the vehicle, a distinctive sign indicating—

Distinctive signs for hackney carriages.

(a) that the vehicle is a hackney carriage ; and

(b) the number of persons for which the vehicle has seating capacity ; and regulations under this Act shall provide for such signs to be exhibited as aforesaid.

15.—(1) If any mark to be fixed or sign to be exhibited on a vehicle in accordance with either of the last two foregoing sections is not so fixed or exhibited, the person driving the vehicle, or, where the vehicle is not being driven, the person keeping the vehicle, shall be guilty of an offence :

Failure to fix, and obscuration of, marks and signs.

Provided that it shall be a defence for a person charged under this subsection with failing to fix a mark to prove that he had no reasonable opportunity of registering the vehicle under this Act and that the vehicle was being driven on a public road for the purpose of being so registered.

(2) If any mark fixed or sign exhibited on a vehicle as aforesaid is in any way obscured or rendered or allowed to become not easily distinguishable, the person driving the vehicle, or, where the vehicle is not being driven, the person keeping the vehicle, shall be guilty of an offence :

Provided that it shall be a defence for a person charged with such an offence to prove that he took all steps reasonably practicable to prevent the mark or sign being obscured or rendered not easily distinguishable.

(3) Any person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction—

- (a) if it is his first conviction of such an offence, to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds;
- (b) in any other case, to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

Regulations as to registration, etc.

16.—(1) Regulations under this Act may—

- (a) make provision with respect to the registration of mechanically propelled vehicles;
- (b) require county councils to make the prescribed returns with respect to mechanically propelled vehicles registered with them, and provide for making any particulars contained in the register available for use by the prescribed persons;
- (c) require any person to whom any mechanically propelled vehicle is sold or disposed of to furnish the prescribed particulars in the prescribed manner;
- (d) provide for the issue of registration books in respect of the registration of any mechanically propelled vehicle, and for the surrender and production, and the inspection by the prescribed persons, of any books so issued;
- (e) provide for the issue of new registration books in the place of any such books which may be lost or destroyed, and for the fee (not exceeding five shillings) to be paid on the issue of a new registration book; and
- (f) prescribe the size, shape and character of the registration marks or the signs to be fixed on any vehicle and the manner in which those marks or signs are to be displayed and rendered easily distinguishable, whether by night or by day.

(2) Regulations under this Act may—

- (a) prescribe the form of, and the particulars to be included in, the register of trade licences; and
- (b) make provision for assigning general registration marks to persons holding trade licences and, without prejudice to the foregoing, prescribe the registration marks to be carried by vehicles the use of which is authorised by virtue of such licences.

(3) Regulations under this Act may—

- (a) extend any of the provisions as to registration, and provisions incidental to any such provisions, to any mechanically propelled vehicles in respect of which duty is not chargeable under this Act (including vehicles belonging to the Crown); and
- (b) provide for the identification of any such vehicles.

Miscellaneous and supplementary provisions

- 17.—(1) If any person forges or fraudulently alters or uses, or fraudulently lends or allows to be used by any other person— Forgery, false information and offences against regulations.
- (a) any mark to be fixed or sign to be exhibited on a mechanically propelled vehicle in accordance with section thirteen or section fourteen of this Act; or
- (b) any licence or registration book under this Act, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

(2) Any person who—

- (a) in connection with an application for a licence under this Act for a vehicle, makes a declaration which to his knowledge is false or in any material respect misleading; or
- (b) being required by virtue of this Act to furnish particulars in connection with a change of the registration of any vehicle, furnishes any particulars which to his knowledge are false or in any material respect misleading, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

(3) Any person who contravenes or fails to comply with any regulations under this Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

18.—(1) Where it is alleged that a mechanically propelled vehicle has been used or kept in contravention of section seven or subsection (9) of section twelve of this Act,— Duty to give information.

- (a) the owner of the vehicle shall give such information as he may be required by or on behalf of a chief officer of police or a county council to give as to the identity of the person or persons concerned and, if he fails to do so, shall be guilty of an offence unless he shows to the satisfaction of the court that he did not know and could not with reasonable diligence have ascertained the identity of the person or persons concerned; and
- (b) any other person shall, if required as aforesaid, give any information which it is in his power to give and which may lead to the identification of any of the persons concerned and, if he fails to do so, shall be guilty of an offence.

(2) The following persons shall be treated for the purposes of the foregoing subsection as persons concerned, that is to say—

- (a) in relation to an alleged offence of using a vehicle in contravention of section seven or subsection (9) of section twelve of this Act, both the driver and any person using the vehicle ;
- (b) in relation to an alleged offence of keeping the vehicle in contravention of the said section seven, the person keeping the vehicle.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under subsection (1) of this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

Institution of proceedings.

19.—(1) Proceedings for an offence under this Act may be instituted by a county council, and, in the case of an offence under section seven, subsection (4) of section ten or subsection (9) of section twelve of this Act,—

- (a) no proceedings shall be instituted except by a county council or by a constable with the consent of a county council (which may be given on their behalf by a duly authorised officer of theirs and proved by the production of a document purporting to be the consent so given and to be signed by the officer giving it), and
- (b) proceedings may be instituted at any time within three years from the date on which the offence was committed.

(2) Section two hundred and eighty-one of the Customs and Excise Act, 1952 (which restricts the bringing of proceedings under that Act) and subsection (1) of section two hundred and eighty-three of that Act (which extends the time for bringing such proceedings) shall not apply to offences under this Act.

(3) The foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to Scotland, but every county council and their officers shall have power within their county to institute proceedings otherwise than on indictment for any offence under section seven, subsection (4) of section ten or subsection (9) of section twelve of this Act, and any such proceedings may be instituted at any time within three years from the date on which the offence was committed ; but save as aforesaid nothing in this Act shall be construed as empowering a council to institute any proceedings.

Burden of proof in certain proceedings.

20. If in any proceedings under section seven, subsection (9) of section twelve or subsection (2) of section seventeen of this Act any question arises—

- (a) as to the number of mechanically propelled vehicles used, or

- (b) as to the character, weight, horse-power or cylinder capacity of any mechanically propelled vehicle, or
- (c) as to the number of persons for which a mechanically propelled vehicle has seating capacity, or
- (d) as to the purpose for which any mechanically propelled vehicle has been used, the burden of proof in respect of the matter in question shall lie on the defendant.

21.—(1) All sums paid to the Secretary of State under section twenty-seven of the Justices of the Peace Act, 1949, in respect of fines imposed, or penalties or forfeitures recovered, under or in pursuance of this Act by or before a magistrates' court in England and Wales shall be deemed to be Exchequer moneys within the meaning of the said section twenty-seven. Application of fines and penalties.

(2) All fines imposed and forfeitures recovered under or in pursuance of this Act in England and Wales otherwise than by or before a magistrates' court, and all fines imposed, and penalties and forfeitures recovered, under or in pursuance of this Act in Scotland, shall be paid into the Exchequer in such manner and in accordance with such directions as may be contained in an Order in Council under section five of this Act.

22.—(1) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament in every year— Expenses.

- (a) to every county council by whom the duty under this Act is levied, an amount equal to the expenses properly incurred by that council, in accordance with directions issued by the Minister with the approval of the Treasury, in or in connection with the levying of the duty and the registration of vehicles under this Act;
- (b) any expenses incurred by any government department (other than the Postmaster-General) in connection with the collection of the said duty or otherwise in the administration of this Act.

(2) The directions issued under paragraph (a) of the foregoing subsection may provide for advances being made to county councils from time to time as may be necessary during the year on account of the expenses referred to in that paragraph.

23.—(1) Regulations under this Act may be made generally for the purpose of carrying this Act into effect, and any power to make regulations conferred by any other provision of this Act shall not be taken to prejudice the generality of the foregoing provision. Regulations.

(2) Regulations under this Act may contain provisions prescribing any matter which is to be prescribed under this Act.

(3) Any power to make regulations conferred by this Act shall be exercisable by the Minister by statutory instrument which, except in the case of a statutory instrument containing only regulations made under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of section six or subsection (4) of section twenty-four of this Act, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(4) County councils shall comply with any regulations under this Act.

Interpretation.

24.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires—“county” includes a county borough, and “county council” shall be construed accordingly;

“gas” means any fuel which is wholly gaseous at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit under a pressure of thirty inches of mercury;

“hackney carriage” means a mechanically propelled vehicle standing or plying for hire, and includes any mechanically propelled vehicle let for hire by a person whose trade it is to sell mechanically propelled vehicles or to let mechanically propelled vehicles for hire, so however that for the purposes of this definition a letting under a hire-purchase agreement (as defined in section twenty-one of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1938) shall not be treated as a letting for hire;

“the Minister” means the Minister of Transport;

“prescribed” means prescribed by regulations;

“public road” means a road which is repairable at the public expense;

“trade licence”, “general trade licence”, and “limited trade licence” have the meanings assigned to them by section twelve of this Act.

(2) A mechanically propelled vehicle shall not be treated as an electrically propelled vehicle for the purposes of this Act unless the electrical motive power is derived either from a source external to the vehicle or from any electrical storage battery which is not connected to any source of power when the vehicle is in motion.

(3) References in this Act to the unladen weight of any mechanically propelled vehicle shall be construed in accordance with the provisions of the Sixth Schedule to this Act.

(4) The unit of horse-power or cylinder capacity for the purposes of any rate of duty under this Act shall be calculated in accordance with regulations under this Act.

(5) In the application of this Act to Scotland, references to a county shall, except in this subsection, be deemed to include references to a burgh within the meaning of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, containing a population according to the census for the time being last taken of or exceeding fifty thousand, and every other burgh shall be deemed to form part of the county within which it is situated, and the expression "county council" shall be construed accordingly.

(6) References in this Act to any enactment shall be construed, unless the context otherwise requires, as references to that enactment as amended by or under any subsequent enactment.

25.—(1) The enactments specified in the Seventh Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments respectively specified in relation thereto in that Schedule.

Consequential amendments, repeals, savings and transitional provisions.

(2) The enactments specified in Part I of the Eighth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of that Schedule; and the orders specified in Part II of that Schedule are hereby revoked.

(3) The saving and transitional provisions contained in the Ninth Schedule to this Act shall have effect.

(4) The provisions of the Seventh and Ninth Schedules to this Act shall not be taken as prejudicing the operation of section thirty-eight of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the effect of repeals).

26.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Vehicles (Excise) Act, 1962.

Short title, extent and commencement.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

(3) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

Section 1.

ANNUAL RATES OF DUTY ON TRACTORS, ETC.

PART I

1. The annual rate of duty applicable to a mechanically propelled vehicle of a description specified in the first column of Part II of this Schedule shall, according to the unladen weight of the vehicle as set out in the second and third columns of that Table, be the initial rate specified in relation to vehicles of that description and that weight in the fourth column of that Table together with any additional rate so specified in the fifth column of that Table.

2.—(1) In this Schedule “agricultural machine” means a locomotive ploughing engine, tractor, agricultural tractor or other agricultural engine which is not used on public roads for hauling any objects, except as follows, that is to say—

- (a) for hauling its own necessary gear, threshing appliances, farming implements, a living van for the accommodation of persons employed in connection with the vehicle, or supplies of water or fuel required for the purposes of the vehicle or for agricultural purposes ;
- (b) for hauling, from one part of a farm to another part of that farm, agricultural or woodland produce of, or articles required for, the farm ;
- (c) for hauling, within fifteen miles of a farm in the occupation of the person in whose name the vehicle is registered under this Act, agricultural or woodland produce of that farm, or agricultural or woodland produce of land occupied with that farm, or fuel required for any purpose on that farm or for domestic purposes by persons employed on that farm by the occupier of the farm ;

- (d) for hauling articles required for a farm by the person in whose name the vehicle is registered as aforesaid, being either the owner or occupier of the farm or a contractor engaged to do agricultural work on the farm by the owner or occupier of the farm, or for hauling articles required by that person for land occupied by him with a farm ;
- (e) for hauling, within fifteen miles of a forestry estate in the occupation of the person in whose name the vehicle is registered as aforesaid, agricultural or woodland produce of that estate or fuel required for any purpose on that estate or for domestic purposes by persons employed on that estate by the occupier of the estate, or for hauling articles required for such a forestry estate by the occupier of the estate.

(2) In this paragraph—

- (a) any reference to a farm includes a market garden ;
- (b) any reference to woodland produce includes the wood and other produce of trees which are not woodland trees ;
- (c) any reference to articles required for a farm, forestry estate or other land includes articles which are or have been required for doing work on and for the purposes of the farm, forestry estate or other land, except that—
 - (i) the reference to articles required for a farm by a contractor engaged to do agricultural work on the farm shall include only articles required for the farm in connection with that work, and
 - (ii) the reference to articles required for land occupied with a farm shall include only articles required for the land in connection with the doing on the land of any agricultural or forestry work (including the getting and carrying away of any woodland produce) ;
- (d) any reference to the owner of a farm includes any person having any estate or interest in land comprised in the farm.

3. In this Schedule “digging machine” means a vehicle designed, constructed and used for the purpose of trench digging or any kind of excavating or shovelling work which—

- (a) is used on public roads only for that purpose or for the purpose of proceeding to and from the place where it is to be used for that purpose ; and
- (b) when so proceeding, neither carries nor hauls any load than such as is necessary for its propulsion or equipment.

4. In this Schedule “mobile crane” means a vehicle designed and constructed as a mobile crane which—

- (a) is used on public roads only either as a crane in connection with work being carried on on a site in the immediate vicinity or for the purpose of proceeding to and from a place where it is to be used as a crane ; and
- (b) when so proceeding neither carries nor hauls any load than such as is necessary for its propulsion or equipment.

3RD SCH.

5. In this Schedule "haulage vehicle" means a vehicle (other than one described in any of the foregoing paragraphs) which is constructed and used on public roads for haulage solely and not for the purpose of carrying or having superimposed upon it any load except such as is necessary for its propulsion or equipment.

6. In this Schedule "showman's vehicle" means a vehicle registered under this Act in the name of a person following the business of a travelling showman and used solely by him for the purposes of his business and for no other purpose.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

Section 1.

ANNUAL RATES OF DUTY ON GOODS VEHICLES

PART I

1.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Schedule, the annual rate of duty applicable to a goods vehicle of a description specified in the first column of Table A in Part II of this Schedule shall, according to the unladen weight of the vehicle as set out in the second and third columns of that Table, be the initial rate specified in relation to vehicles of that description and that weight in the fourth column of that Table together with any additional rate so specified in the fifth column of that Table.

C

4TH SCH.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Schedule, if a goods vehicle of a description specified in the first column of Table B in Part II of this Schedule is used for drawing a trailer, the annual rate of duty applicable thereto in accordance with the foregoing sub-paragraph shall be increased by the amount specified in the fourth column of that Table in relation to vehicles of that description or, where the unladen weight of the vehicle is set out in the second and third columns of that Table, by the amount so specified in relation to vehicles of that description and weight.

2. Duty shall not be chargeable by virtue of this Schedule—

- (a) in respect of a vehicle chargeable with duty by virtue of the First Schedule to this Act ;
- (b) in respect of an agricultural machine as being a goods vehicle by reason of the fact that it is constructed or adapted for use and used for the conveyance of farming or forestry implements fitted thereto for operation while so fitted ;
- (c) in respect of a mobile crane ; or
- (d) in respect of a vehicle of which the unladen weight exceeds twelve hundredweight and which, though constructed or adapted for use for the conveyance of goods or burden, is not used for the conveyance thereof for hire or reward or for or in connection with a trade or business (including the performance by a local or public authority of its functions).

3.—(1) A mechanically propelled vehicle constructed or adapted for use and used for the conveyance of a machine or contrivance and no other load except articles used in connection with the machine or contrivance, not being a vehicle for which an annual rate of duty is specified in the Third Schedule to this Act, shall, notwithstanding that the machine or contrivance is built in as part thereof, be chargeable with duty at the rate which would be applicable if the machine or contrivance were burden and were not included in the unladen weight of the vehicle.

(2) A mobile concrete mixer which, but for its conveyance of the materials used by it in mixing concrete, would fall within the foregoing sub-paragraph, shall be chargeable with duty in accordance with that sub-paragraph and shall be so chargeable at the rate which would be applicable thereunder if so much of the weight of its built-in machine or contrivance as exceeds thirty hundredweight were burden and were not included in the unladen weight of the vehicle.

4.—(1) Where a goods vehicle used for drawing a trailer has the trailer attached to it by partial super-imposition, the vehicle and trailer shall, for the purpose of determining the annual rate of duty applicable to the vehicle, be treated as if they together formed a single vehicle, and the increase of duty provided for by sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 1 of this Part of this Schedule shall not be chargeable.

(2) The increase of duty provided for by the said sub-paragraph (2) shall not be chargeable in the case of a vehicle which is constructed or adapted for use for the conveyance of goods or burden, but is not used for the conveyance thereof for hire or reward or for or in connection with a trade or business (including the performance by a local or public authority of its functions), if the vehicle's unladen weight does not exceed twelve hundredweight.

4TH SCH.

5.—(1) This and the following paragraph apply to agricultural machines which do not draw trailers.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this and the following paragraph, a vehicle to which this paragraph applies shall not be chargeable with duty by virtue of this Schedule by reason of the fact that it is constructed or adapted for use and used for the conveyance of such goods or burden as are hereinafter mentioned if they are carried in or on not more than one appliance, the appliance is fitted either to the front or to the back of the vehicle and the following conditions are satisfied :—

(a) the appliance must be removable ;

(b) the area of the horizontal plane enclosed by vertical lines passing through the outside edges of the appliance must not, when the appliance is in the position in which it is carried when the vehicle is travelling and the appliance is loaded, exceed seven square feet if it is carried at the front or fifteen square feet if it is carried at the back.

(3) The goods or burden referred to in the foregoing sub-paragraph are any goods or burden the haulage of which is permissible under paragraphs (a) to (e) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 2 of the Third Schedule to this Act.

(4) The foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to the use of a vehicle on a public road more than fifteen miles from a farm in the occupation of the person in whose name the vehicle is registered under this Act.

(5) The foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to three-wheeled vehicles, or to any vehicle such that the distance between the centre of the area of contact with the road surface of—

(a) a back wheel, in a case where only one appliance is being used for the carriage of goods or burden, and is fitted to the back of the vehicle,

(b) any wheel on one side of the vehicle, in any other case, and that of the nearest wheel on the other side is less than four feet.

(6) For the purposes of this paragraph a vehicle having two wheels at the front shall, if the distance between them (measured between the centres of their respective areas of contact with the road) is less than eighteen inches, be treated as a three-wheeled vehicle.

6.—(1) The following provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any vehicle fitted with an appliance of any description prescribed for the purposes of all or any of sub-paragraphs (2) to (4) of this paragraph by regulations under this paragraph.

(2) The limitation in sub-paragraph (2) of the foregoing paragraph to one appliance shall have effect as a limitation to two appliances of which at least one must be an appliance prescribed for the purposes of this sub-paragraph ; but if two appliances are used they must be fitted at opposite ends of the vehicle.

(3) Regulations under this paragraph may provide for all or any of the following matters where an appliance prescribed for the purposes of this paragraph is being used, that is to say, that sub-paragraph (2) of the foregoing paragraph shall not apply unless the prescribed appliance is fitted to the prescribed end of the vehicle, or unless the use of the prescribed, or any, appliance is limited to prescribed goods or burden or to use in prescribed circumstances.

(4) Regulations under this paragraph may provide that paragraph (b) of sub-paragraph (2) of the foregoing paragraph shall not have effect in relation to appliances prescribed for the purposes of this sub-paragraph, but that in relation thereto sub-paragraph (4) of the foregoing paragraph shall have effect with the substitution of such shorter distance as may be prescribed.

(5) In sub-paragraphs (2) to (4) of this paragraph references to use are references to use for the carriage of goods or burden ; and regulations under this paragraph may make different provisions in relation to different descriptions of prescribed appliances.

7.—(1) In this Schedule, unless the context otherwise requires—“ agricultural machine ” has the same meaning as in the Third Schedule to this Act ;

“ farmer’s goods vehicle ” means a goods vehicle registered under this Act in the name of a person engaged in agriculture and used on public roads solely by him for the purpose of the conveyance of the produce of, or of articles required for the purposes of, the agricultural land which he occupies, and for no other purpose ;

“ goods vehicle ” means a mechanically propelled vehicle (including a tricycle as defined in the First Schedule to this Act and weighing more than eight hundredweight unladen) constructed or adapted for use and used for the conveyance of goods or burden of any description, whether in the course of trade or otherwise ;

“ local authority’s watering vehicle ” means a goods vehicle used solely within the area of a local authority by that local authority, or by any person acting in pursuance of a contract with that local authority, for the purpose of cleansing or watering roads or cleansing gulleys ;

“ mobile crane ” has the same meaning as in the Third Schedule to this Act ;

“ showman’s goods vehicle ” means a showman’s vehicle which is a goods vehicle and is permanently fitted with a living van or some other special type of body or superstructure, forming part of the equipment of the show of the person in whose name the vehicle is registered under this Act ;

“ showman’s trailer ” means a trailer drawn by a showman’s goods vehicle and used solely for the purposes of his business by the person in whose name the vehicle is registered as aforesaid ;

“showman’s vehicle” has the same meaning as in the Third Schedule to this Act; 4TH SCH.

“tower wagon” means a goods vehicle—

(a) into which there is built, as part of the vehicle, any expanding or extensible contrivance designed for facilitating the erection, inspection, repair or maintenance of overhead structures or equipment; and

(b) which is neither constructed nor adapted for use nor used for the conveyance of any load, except such a contrivance and articles used in connection therewith.

(2) In this Schedule “trailer” does not include—

(a) an appliance constructed and used solely for the purpose of distributing on the road loose gritting material;

(b) a snow plough;

(c) a road construction vehicle within the meaning of section six of this Act;

(d) a farming implement not constructed or adapted for the conveyance of goods or burden of any description, when drawn by a farmer’s goods vehicle;

(e) a trailer used solely for the carriage of a container for holding gas for the propulsion of the vehicle by which it is drawn, or plant and materials for producing such gas.

Section 24.

SIXTH SCHEDULE

PROVISIONS AS TO THE COMPUTATION OF THE UNLADEN WEIGHT OF VEHICLES

1. Subject to the provisions of this Schedule, the unladen weight of any mechanically propelled vehicle shall, for the purposes of this Act, be taken to be the weight of the vehicle inclusive of the body and all parts (the heavier being taken where alternative bodies or parts are used) which are necessary to or ordinarily used with the vehicle when working on a road but exclusive of the weight of water, fuel or accumulators used for the purpose of the supply of power for the propulsion of the vehicle, and of loose tools and loose equipment.

2.—(1) In computing for the purposes of the Fourth Schedule to this Act the unladen weight of a goods vehicle, there shall be included the weight of any receptacle, being an additional body, placed on the vehicle for the purpose of the carriage of goods or burden of any description, if any goods or burden are loaded into, carried in and unloaded from the receptacle without the receptacle being removed from the vehicle:

Provided that the weight of a receptacle shall not be included in the unladen weight of a goods vehicle by virtue of this sub-paragraph—

- (a) unless the receptacle is placed on the vehicle by or on behalf of the person in whose name the vehicle is registered under this Act; or
- (b) if the receptacle is constructed or adapted for the purpose of being lifted on or off the vehicle with goods or burden contained therein and is from time to time actually used for that purpose in the ordinary course of business; or
- (c) if the receptacle is specially constructed or specially adapted for carrying livestock and is used solely for that purpose.

(2) If any question arises under paragraph (b) of the proviso to sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph whether any receptacle is from time to time actually used for the purpose therein mentioned in the ordinary course of business, the receptacle shall be deemed not to be so used until the contrary is shown.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph (c) of the proviso to sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph a receptacle shall not be deemed to be used otherwise than solely for carrying livestock by reason that, on a journey the main purpose of which is the carrying of livestock or on the way to the loading point or while returning from the discharging point on such a journey, the vehicle is used for carrying agricultural produce or agricultural requisites.

3. For the purposes of the Third and Fourth Schedules to this Act the unladen weight of a mechanically propelled vehicle shall not be taken to include the weight of a contrivance attached thereto, being a contrivance designed or adapted for the purpose of enabling the vehicle to tow or be towed:

Provided that in computing the unladen weight of a vehicle there shall not, by virtue of this paragraph, be excluded the weight of a contrivance attached to the rear of a vehicle chargeable with duty by virtue of the Third Schedule to this Act or of a vehicle which is chargeable with duty by virtue of the Fourth Schedule to this Act and is used for drawing a trailer, or, in any event an amount exceeding—

6TH SCH.

- (a) where a contrivance, the weight of which falls to be excluded, is attached to one end only of the vehicle, one hundredweight;
- (b) where such a contrivance is attached to each end of the vehicle, two hundredweight.

4. In computing for the purposes of the Fourth Schedule to this Act the unladen weight of a goods vehicle which carries a container for holding gas for the propulsion of the vehicle, or plant for producing such gas, the unladen weight of the vehicle shall be reduced—

- (a) where the unladen weight exceeds twelve hundredweight but does not exceed three tons, by half a ton;
- (b) where the unladen weight exceeds three tons but does not exceed six tons, by three quarters of a ton;
- (c) where the unladen weight exceeds six tons, by one ton.

CHAPTER 14

An Act to consolidate certain enactments empowering the Postmaster General to regulate the use of telegraphs and the general conduct of telegraphic business.

1.—(1) The Postmaster General may by statutory instrument (which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament) make regulations for determining, or providing for determining, the conditions on which, and purposes for which, the use of any telegraphs will be permitted and for the general conduct of telegraphic business and in particular, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing words, for fixing, or providing for fixing, the sums to be from time to time paid—

Power of Postmaster General to regulate use of telegraphs, &c.

- (a) on account of the transmission of telegrams; and
- (b) on account of services rendered in connection therewith; and
- (c) on account of the use of any telegraphs by any person.

(2) Regulations under the foregoing subsection may fix, or provide for fixing, special terms, conditions or rates on or at which telegraphs may be used by all persons in any specified manner or at any specified time or for any specified class of message, and in particular, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing words, may—

- (a) provide that priority over all other messages, except messages on Her Majesty's service having priority under section forty-eight of the Telegraph Act, 1863, shall be given to messages transmitted at special rates fixed by or under the regulations;
- (b) fix, or provide for fixing, special rates for the transmission of messages in connection with which special services (including the delivery of a message on a special ornamental form and in a special envelope) are rendered.

(3) The charge for the transmission of a telegram shall cover the cost of delivery within such limits and by such means as may be prescribed by or under regulations under subsection (1) of this section.

Short title, citation, interpretation, repeal, saving, extent and commencement.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Telegraph Act, 1962, and the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1892, the Telegraph Act, 1899, the Telegraph (Construction) Act, 1908, the Telegraph (Arbitration) Act, 1909, the Telegraph (Construction) Act, 1911, the Telegraph (Construction) Act, 1916, and this Act may be cited together as the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1962.

(2) In this Act the expressions “ telegram ” and “ telegraph ” have the meanings assigned to them respectively by section three of the Telegraph Act, 1869.

(3) The enactments mentioned in the first and second columns of the Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule; but this repeal shall not invalidate any regulations under section two of the Telegraph Act, 1885, which are in force immediately before the commencement of this Act and any such regulations shall, in so far as they could be made under this Act, have effect as if they had been so made.

(4) It is hereby declared that this Act extends to Northern Ireland.

(5) This Act shall extend to the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands.

(6) This Act shall come into operation at the expiration of one month beginning with the day on which it is passed.

 Fourth Schedule—Enactments amended.
 Fifth Schedule—Enactments repealed.

An Act to provide for the appointment of additional puisne judges of the High Court, of assistant clerks of assize and of a sheriff for part of the West Riding of York; to amend the law relating to courts of quarter sessions and to the administration of criminal justice in England and Wales; and for purposes connected with those matters. [29th March, 1962]

Courts and judicial officers

1. The maximum number of puisne judges of the High Court shall be increased from forty-eight to fifty-three.

2.—(1) If it appears to the Lord Chancellor expedient, having regard to the duties to be performed by the clerk of assize on any circuit, he may appoint one or more persons to be assistant to the clerk of assize on that circuit; but a person shall not be so appointed unless he is a barrister or solicitor of not less than five years' standing or is an officer of the central office of the Supreme Court who, for not less than five years, has performed such duties under the direction of a clerk of assize as were before the day appointed under section two of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Circuit Officers) Act, 1946, performed by associates or clerks of indictments or arraigns.

(2) The Lord Chancellor may direct which of the functions of the clerk of assize on any circuit are to be performed by a person appointed under this section, but subject to any such direction a person so appointed shall perform, under the direction of the clerk of assize, such of the functions of the clerk of assize as the clerk of assize may from time to time determine.

(3) Anything done by, to or before a person appointed under this section shall be of the same effect as if done by, to or before the clerk of assize.

(4) Subsection (2) of section one of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Circuit Officers) Act, 1946, and the Administration of Justice (Pensions) Act, 1950, shall apply in relation to persons appointed under this section as they apply in relation to clerks of assize appointed under that section.

(5) A person appointed under this section shall be included among the persons who may be appointed clerk of assize under section one of the said Act of 1946.

(6) Nothing in this Act shall affect any appointment made under subsection (3) of section five of the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1956 (which makes provision, in relation to the northern circuit, similar to the provision made by subsection (1) of this section) but any such appointment shall have effect as if made under this section.

3.—(1) For the purposes of the law relating to sheriffs, the Sheffield Division of the county of York, that is to say the area comprising the city, boroughs and districts mentioned in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, with the exception of the parishes mentioned in Part II of that Schedule, shall on the appointed day cease to be part of the county of York and become a separate county by the name of Hallamshire. Sheriff of Hallamshire.

(2) Subsection (1) of section six of the Sheriffs Act, 1887, shall not apply to the nomination of the first person to serve as sheriff of the county created by this section ; but Her Majesty's Lieutenant for the West Riding of York shall as soon as may be after the passing of this Act nominate three persons fit to serve as sheriff of that county.

(3) Any functions exercisable by the sheriff of the county of York in relation to the attendance of jurors at the quarter sessions for the West Riding of that county shall continue to be exercisable by him as if this section had not been passed, and no such functions shall be exercised by the sheriff of Hallamshire.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the validity of any writ or other document issued or thing done before the appointed day.

(5) The power conferred by section seventy-two of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, to divide or alter the division of a county for the purposes of an Order in Council under that section shall include power to make such provision modifying this section or the First Schedule to this Act as may appear to Her Majesty to be expedient in consequence of any alteration in the divisions into which the county of York is divided by such an Order for the purposes of assizes.

(6) In this section "the appointed day" means such day as the Lord Chancellor may by order made by statutory instrument appoint.

County and

4.—(1) Courts of quarter sessions for any county other than the county of London or for any borough shall be held at such times as the justices for that county or, as the case may be, the recorder, think fit or the Lord Chancellor directs, but shall be held at least four times a year; and a recorder shall have the like powers to adjourn his court, including the power to do so without fixing a date for the adjourned sessions, as are exercisable by a court of quarter sessions for a county other than the county of London.

(2) Where a court of quarter sessions is adjourned, the sessions held by adjournment may, in relation to such business and to such extent as the court directs, be treated for the purposes of any enactment as the next court of quarter sessions, but shall not be so treated unless the court so directs.

(3) Anything to be done at a court of quarter sessions which, under any enactment, is to be done at sessions held at a specified time may be done at the first sessions held after that time, in any case where either no sessions are held at that time or sessions held at that time were begun before that time.

(4) The Lord Chancellor may by rules made by statutory instrument, which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, provide for such arrangements to be made for the disposal of business at courts of quarter sessions as appear to him desirable; and any such rules may prescribe the practice to be followed by clerks of the peace and governors of prisons in carrying out or facilitating those arrangements.

(5) Where at the time and place appointed for a sitting of a court of quarter sessions for any county other than the county of London no other member of the court is available than a person who for the purposes of section two of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1938, is deemed to be a legally qualified chairman in relation to the court, and it appears to him undesirable, having regard to the delay involved, to postpone dealing or further dealing with the case of a person committed to the court for trial, he may hold the sitting and deal with the case.

(6) Any functions exercisable before the commencement of this Act by an appeal committee appointed under section seven of the Summary Jurisdiction (Appeals) Act, 1933, shall after the commencement of this Act be exercisable by the court by which the committee was appointed.

(7) Arrangements shall be made to secure, so far as practicable, that where a court of quarter sessions for a county other than the county of London deals with a case on appeal from a juvenile court not less than half the justices sitting are justices qualified to sit as members of a juvenile court, and of the justices sitting and so qualified one is a man and one a woman.

5. A person shall not be capable of being elected chairman of a court of quarter sessions for any county unless he holds or has held one of the offices mentioned in subsection (3) of section two of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1938. Elected chairman of county sessions.

6. The functions conferred on the Secretary of State by subsections (6) and (7) of section forty-two of the Local Government Act, 1888 (which relate to the regulation of quarter sessions for the county of London) shall after the commencement of this Act be exercisable by the Lord Chancellor; and the references in those subsections to a Secretary of State shall be construed accordingly. London Sessions.

7.—(1) The power under section one hundred and sixty-six of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, to appoint a deputy recorder shall be exercisable in relation to any sitting or number of sittings of the court or for any period not exceeding three months and may, if not exercised by the recorder, be exercised by the Lord Chancellor in any case where it appears to him that the appointment is required in the interests of the administration of justice; but, except in case of sickness or unavoidable absence, the recorder shall not exercise that power if by doing so he would hold less than four sessions a year in person (not counting sessions held by adjournment). Appointment of deputy recorders and assistant recorders.

(2) A recorder shall not appoint any person to be deputy recorder unless that person has been approved by the Lord Chancellor as fit to be appointed a deputy recorder.

(3) Paragraph (a) of subsection (6) of section one hundred and sixty-eight of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (under which an assistant recorder cannot be appointed except in pursuance of a resolution of the borough council) shall cease to have effect.

8.—(1) The remuneration to be paid to a recorder, deputy recorder or assistant recorder and the remuneration (if any) to be paid to a chairman or deputy chairman of a court of quarter sessions for a county or to any person temporarily acting as such a chairman or deputy chairman shall be at such rates as may from time to time be determined by the Lord Chancellor with the approval of the Treasury. Remuneration of recorders, chairmen of county sessions and their deputies and assistants.

(2) Before determining any such rate of remuneration the Lord Chancellor shall—

- (a) if the rate is to apply to a particular borough or county, consult the council of that borough or county ;
- (b) if it is to apply generally or to any class of boroughs or counties, consult the Association of Municipal Corporations or, as the case may be, the County Councils Association.

(3) The remuneration payable to a deputy recorder in accordance with this section shall be paid by the council of the borough at whose sessions he is appointed to act.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the rate at which any such remuneration as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, other than the remuneration of a deputy recorder, is payable at the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been determined in accordance with this section.

(5) This section does not apply to the remuneration of the recorder of Liverpool or of Manchester while a judge of the Crown Court at Liverpool and the Crown Court at Manchester or to the remuneration of the recorder of London.

Removal of
and others.

9. In subsection (2) of section thirteen of the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1956 (which enables the Lord Chancellor to remove a recorder for inability and is applied, by subsection (3) of that section, to a paid chairman or deputy chairman of London Sessions) there shall be added at the end the words " or misbehaviour "

Remuneration of certain clerks of the peace.

10.—(1) The remuneration of a clerk of the peace for any borough shall, subject to the following provisions of this section, be such as may from time to time be determined by the council of the borough ; and the remuneration of the clerk of the peace for the City of London shall be such as may from time to time be determined by the court of quarter sessions for the City of London.

(2) In determining that remuneration the council or, as the case may be, the court, may direct that the clerk shall be entitled, in addition to his salary, to retain such of the fees payable to him as are specified in the direction.

(3) The clerk of the peace for any borough, unless he is also the town clerk or a deputy or assistant to the town clerk, may appeal to the Secretary of State against any determination of the council of the borough varying his remuneration and against any refusal of the council to make such a determination.

(4) On an appeal under subsection (3) of this section the Secretary of State may determine the remuneration of the clerk as from such date as he may fix, and in making the determination he may give, vary or rescind any such direction as is mentioned in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) The rate at which any such remuneration as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section is payable at the commencement of this Act shall continue to be the rate at which it is payable until the remuneration is varied under this section.

11.—(1) A barrister may be appointed chief clerk to any metropolitan stipendiary court. Qualifications of clerks at certain stipendiary

(2) The following provisions shall apply to the appointment, under section seventeen of the South Staffordshire Stipendiary Justice Act, 1899, of a clerk to the magistrate acting under that Act and of a deputy to that clerk, that is to say—

- (a) a person may be appointed clerk to that magistrate if, and only if, he would be eligible, under section twenty of the Justices of the Peace Act, 1949, to be appointed a justices' clerk, and the power under that section to prescribe age limits shall extend to the appointment of a clerk to that magistrate ;
- (b) a person may be appointed deputy to the clerk to that magistrate notwithstanding that he is not a solicitor of the Supreme Court.

Criminal procedure

12.—(1) The offences specified in the Second Schedule to this Act shall be included among those which a court of quarter sessions has jurisdiction to try under section two of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1938 (which relates to courts with legally qualified chairmen). Extension of jurisdiction of quarter sessions and
courts.

(2) In the First Schedule to the Criminal Justice Act, 1925 (which specifies certain offences which a court of quarter sessions has jurisdiction to try) in paragraph 6 (offences under the Forgery Act, 1913) for the words "twenty pounds", in both places where they occur, there shall be substituted the words "one hundred pounds".

(3) The Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, shall have effect as if the offences specified in Part I of the Third Schedule to this Act were included among those specified in paragraphs 1 to 18 of the First Schedule to that Act (which specifies indictable offences triable summarily with the consent of the accused) and that Schedule shall be further amended in accordance with Part II of the Third Schedule to this Act.

Power to discontinue summary trial of indictable offence and resume
proceedings.

13. Where, under subsection (5) of section nineteen or subsection (4) of section twenty of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952 (which relate to the summary trial of certain indictable offences) a magistrates' court has ceased to inquire into an information as examining justices and begun to try the information summarily, the court may, at any time before the conclusion of the evidence for the prosecution, discontinue the summary trial and resume the inquiry as examining justices.

Committal

14.—(1) Where a magistrates' court proposes to commit a person to the assizes or quarter sessions for any place to be tried, sentenced or dealt with, and a court of assize or quarter sessions for that place is being held at the time of the committal, the magistrates' court may, with his and the prosecutor's consent and with the agreement of the judge or other person holding or presiding over the court or, if more than one, the senior of them, commit him to that court, notwithstanding any enactment requiring his committal to the next assizes or quarter sessions.

(2) In section eleven of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952 (which enables a magistrates' court in certain circumstances to commit to assizes instead of quarter sessions) after the word "sessions", in the second place where it occurs, there shall be inserted the words "or that the trial is likely to be a long one".

Committal
to more convenient court.

15.—(1) Where a magistrates' court, in pursuance of section five of the Vagrancy Act, 1824, section twenty-eight or section twenty-nine of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, or section sixty-seven of the Mental Health Act, 1959, commits a person to quarter sessions to be sentenced or dealt with, and it appears to the court, having regard to the time when and the place where that person is likely to be sentenced or dealt with, to be more convenient to commit him to other quarter sessions than those for the county or borough for which the court acts, it may commit him to those other quarter sessions (notwithstanding anything in subsection (4) of section twenty or subsection (2) of section twenty-nine of the Criminal Justice Act, 1948, or the said subsection (2) as applied by subsection (2) of the said section sixty-seven); but the court shall not do so—

- (a) unless it appears to the court unlikely that the said person would otherwise be sentenced or dealt with within one month of the committal; or
- (b) in any case where the court is satisfied that that person would thereby suffer hardship.

(2) Where a magistrates' court has power, under section ten of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, or under subsection (1) of this section, to commit a person to a court to which it could not otherwise commit him, and it appears to the magistrates' court that unless the power is exercised that person is unlikely to be tried or, as the case may be, sentenced or dealt with within eight weeks of the committal, the magistrates' court shall exercise the power unless it is satisfied that there are circumstances which would make the exercise of the power undesirable.

(3) Where a person convicted by a magistrates' court of an offence is, in pursuance of any of the enactments mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, committed to quarter sessions and the court exercises the power conferred on it by that subsection, any appeal against the conviction or against an order made on the conviction shall be made to the court to which that person is committed (instead of to the court specified in paragraph (i) of subsection (1) of section thirty-one of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879).

16.—(1) Where the court before which an offender has been convicted on indictment adjourns the case to enable inquiries to be made for determining the most suitable method of dealing with it, the court may order that the case shall be resumed by such other competent court as it may specify in the order, and may commit the offender in custody or on bail to that court, and that court shall have jurisdiction to deal with the case accordingly; but the court shall not make such an order unless it appears to it likely that the case will be dealt with earlier if the order is made than if it is not made.

Adjournment after conviction and resumption by different or differently composed court.

(2) Any court of assize and, except where the offence is not triable by quarter sessions, any court of quarter sessions, shall be a competent court for the purposes of the preceding subsection.

(3) Without prejudice to subsection (5) of section four of this Act, where a court of quarter sessions dealing with an offence (whether on indictment or on appeal from a magistrates' court) adjourns the case then, unless the question whether the offence has been committed is still in issue, the case may be resumed by the court notwithstanding any change in the person or persons composing it.

(4) A court of quarter sessions may resume a case in pursuance of the foregoing provisions of this section notwithstanding that the offence under consideration is one which is triable by such a court only under section two of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1938 (which relates to courts with legally qualified chairmen) and that the court is not then presided over as mentioned in that section.

(5) The Costs in Criminal Cases Act, 1952, shall apply where a person is committed to any court under subsection (1) of this section as it applies where a person is convicted by such a court.

Commencement and duration of

17.—(1) A sentence imposed by a court of assize shall take effect from the beginning of the day on which it is imposed, unless the court otherwise directs.

(2) The length of any term of imprisonment, corrective training or preventive detention imposed by the sentence of any court shall be treated as reduced by any period during which the offender was in custody before the sentence by reason only of having been committed for trial, remanded after arraignment, or committed, under paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section six, paragraph (b) of the proviso to subsection (3) of section eight or subsection (4) of section eight of the Criminal Justice Act, 1948, section twenty-eight or section twenty-nine of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, section sixty-seven of the Mental Health Act, 1959, or the Vagrancy Act, 1824, to be sentenced or dealt with.

Miscellaneous and general

Contribution to costs incurred under certain
provisions.

18.—(1) Subsections (2) to (5) of this section shall apply where a person is tried, sentenced or dealt with by or before any court of assize or quarter sessions by or before which he could not have been tried, sentenced or dealt with but for the following provisions, that is to say:—

the proviso to subsection (3) of section one of the Assizes and Quarter Sessions Act, 1908 ;

the proviso to subsection (3) of section seventy-eight of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 ;

section fourteen of the Criminal Justice Act, 1925 ; subsections (2) and (3) of section eleven of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1938 ; section ten of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952 ; and section fifteen and subsection (1) of section sixteen of this Act.

(2) Any costs payable in the case out of local funds under the Costs in Criminal Cases Act, 1952, shall in the first instance be paid as in the case of an offence committed in the county or county borough in which the proceedings take place but shall be recoverable in accordance with subsection (5) of this section.

(3) Such sum (if any) in respect of the expenses of holding the court (including salaries and allowances) as may be determined in accordance with regulations made by the Secretary of State by statutory instrument may be recovered by the authority incurring those expenses from the authority (if different) liable to defray the expenses of the court by or before which the said person would have been tried, sentenced or dealt with apart from the said provisions.

(4) Where justices, under section ten of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, the proviso to subsection (3) of section one of the Assizes and Quarter Sessions Act, 1908, or the proviso to subsection (3) of section seventy-eight of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, commit a person to a court to which they could not otherwise commit him, the clerk to the justices shall send to the proper officer of that court a notice specifying the court to which the said person would have been committed apart from those provisions.

(5) Where a person tried, sentenced or dealt with as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section was convicted or committed by justices other than justices for the county or county borough in which the proceedings take place, the council of that county or county borough may recover any sum paid by them under subsection (2) of this section from the following council, that is to say,—

- (a) if those justices were justices for a county, from the council of that county ;
- (b) if they were justices for a non-county borough, from the council of the county in which that borough is situated ; and
- (c) if they were justices for a county borough, from the council of that borough.

(6) Where a person is committed to be tried, sentenced or dealt with by or before any court of assize or quarter sessions but is not tried, sentenced or dealt with by or before that court, subsections (2), (3) and (5) of this section shall, with the necessary modifications, apply as they apply where a person is tried, sentenced or dealt with as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

19. Any increase attributable to the provisions of this Act Financial provisions. in the sums payable under any other enactment out of the Consolidated Fund, out of moneys provided by Parliament or into the Exchequer shall be paid out of that Fund, out of moneys so provided and into the Exchequer respectively.

20.—(1) The enactments specified in the Fourth Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in that Schedule, being minor amendments and amendments consequential on the foregoing provisions of this Act. Amendments and repeals.

(2) The enactments specified in the Fifth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

Short title,
interpretation,
commencement and extent.

21.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Criminal Justice Administration Act, 1962.

(2) References in this Act to any enactment are references thereto as amended, and include references thereto as applied, by any other enactment including, except where the context otherwise requires, this Act.

(3) The following provisions of this Act, that is to say, sections four and twelve to eighteen, the Second and Third Schedules and Part II of the Fourth and Part II of the Fifth Schedule, shall not come into operation until such day as the Lord Chancellor may by order made by statutory instrument appoint, and different days may be so appointed for different provisions; and any reference in any provision of this Act to the commencement of this Act shall be construed as a reference to the day on which that provision comes into operation.

(4) This Act does not extend to Scotland or to Northern Ireland.

CHAPTER 16

An Act to extinguish any right of navigation on the Forth and Clyde Canal, and the obligations upon the British Transport Commission to keep that canal open and to maintain it for purposes of navigation.

[29th March, 1962]

WHEREAS the waterway now known as the Forth and Clyde Canal (in this Act referred to as the Canal) was constructed in pursuance of various Acts consolidated by the Act chapter lv of the fourth and fifth years of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, and has been kept open and maintained for the purpose of navigation between the Firth of Forth and the Firth of Clyde in accordance with the provisions of that Act and of the Caledonian Railway and Forth and Clyde Navigation Companies Act, 1867, and the Regulation of Railways Act, 1873:

And whereas the British Transport Commission (in this Act referred to as the Commission) established by the Transport Act, 1947, are the owners of the Canal by virtue of that Act:

And whereas the Commission are charged under the said Act of 1947 as amended by the Transport Act, 1953, to provide, in such places and to such extent as may appear to the Commission to be expedient, facilities for traffic on inland waterways:

And whereas freight traffic has ceased to pass along the Canal which is now used for navigation mainly by fishing boats and pleasure craft:

And whereas, owing to the increase in the volume and weight of road traffic across the Canal, new bridges are needed and existing bridges require to be strengthened or replaced:

And whereas the cost of providing, operating, maintaining and replacing opening bridges or of providing bridges with navigable headroom over the Canal greatly exceeds the like costs for fixed bridges of low level and for causeways piped for the passage of water, and the provision of such fixed bridges and causeways would be consistent with the maintenance of the Canal for purposes other than navigation:

And whereas it is expedient that the Secretary of State and other authorities responsible for the bridges should be relieved for the future of the excess cost as aforesaid:

And whereas it is expedient therefore that rights of navigation of the Canal should be extinguished, and the Commission relieved of their obligations to maintain it for navigation:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows:—

1. On the first day of January, nineteen hundred and sixty-three there shall be extinguished in relation to the Canal as described in the Schedule to this Act—

Extinguishment of rights and duties relating to navigation.

(a) any right of navigation thereon, and

(b) any obligation upon the Commission (whether statutory or otherwise) to keep it open and to maintain it for purposes of navigation, or to do anything for the furtherance of those purposes.

2. This Act may be cited as the Forth and Clyde Canal Short title. (Extinguishment of Rights of Navigation) Act, 1962.

CHAPTER 19

West Indies Act, 1962

ARRANGEMENT OF SECTIONS

Section

1. Power of Her Majesty to provide for secession of colonies from, and dissolution of, the West Indies.
2. Power of Her Majesty to provide for interim performance of functions heretofore performed by Federal authorities for benefit of federated colonies.
3. Compensation scheme for officers of Federal public service.
4. Power of Her Majesty to establish common courts for West Indian colonies.
5. Power of Her Majesty to provide for government of certain West Indian colonies.
6. Power of Her Majesty to establish new forms of government in place of the West Indies.
7. Supplementary provisions as to Orders in Council.
8. Grants for benefit of certain West Indian colonies.
9. Expenses.
10. Short title, interpretation and repeals.

SCHEDULE—Enactments repealed.

An Act to enable provision to be made for the cesser of the inclusion of colonies in the federation established under the British Caribbean Federation Act, 1956, and for the dissolution of that federation and for matters consequential on the happening of either of those events; to enable provision to be made for the establishment of common courts and other authorities for, and fresh provision to be made for the government of, certain West Indian colonies; to enable provision to be made for the establishment of new forms of government for combinations of such colonies; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid.

[18th April, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) Her Majesty may—

- (a) by Order in Council provide for a colony's ceasing to be included in the Federation established by virtue of section one of the British Caribbean Federation Act, 1956, by the name of the West Indies (in this Act referred to as "the Federation");
- (b) by Order in Council dissolve the Federation and, with it, the authorities established by virtue of sub-paragraph (i) of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of that section (in this Act referred to as the "Federal authorities").

Power of Her Majesty to provide for secession of colonies from, and dissolution of, the West Indies.
4 & 5 Eliz. 2.
c. 63.

(2) An Order in Council under paragraph (a) of the foregoing subsection may as respects the colony for the cesser of inclusion of which in the Federation provision is made by the Order, and an Order in Council under paragraph (b) of that subsection may as respects each colony included in the Federation immediately before the dissolution thereof,—

- (a) determine, or provide for the determination of, the laws which, after the cesser or, as the case may be, the dissolution, are (subject to any amendment or repeal by the legislature of the colony or other competent authority) to remain valid as respects the colony notwithstanding the cesser or, as the case may be, the dissolution;
- (b) adapt or modify, or empower any such authority as may be specified in the Order to adapt or modify, to such extent as Her Majesty in Council or that authority, as the case may be, thinks necessary or expedient in view of the cesser or, as the case may be, the dissolution, any laws having effect in the colony and any other laws relating or referring to the colony or the Federation.

2.—(1) With a view to securing that, notwithstanding the exclusion of colonies from, or the dissolution of, the Federation, the performance of functions performed by the Federal authorities for the benefit of the colonies which at the passing of this Act are included in the Federation is maintained pending the making, apart from this section, of arrangements in that behalf of a permanent nature, Her Majesty may by Order in Council provide for the establishment of an authority to be charged, or authorities to be severally charged, with the duty of performing, for the benefit of those colonies, or of such of them as may be specified in the Order, any such functions (being functions which at the passing of this Act are, for the benefit of all or any of those colonies, performed by any of the Federal authorities) as may be specified in the Order, and such other (if any) functions as may be so specified.

Power of Her Majesty to provide for interim performance of functions heretofore performed by Federal authorities for benefit of federated colonies.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may—

- (a) empower an authority established by the Order to make, for such purposes as may be specified in the Order, laws for the colonies for whose benefit it is to perform functions;
- (b) make provision, or enable provision to be made, for persons holding office in the public service of the Federation to become officers of such an authority;
- (c) vest in such an authority such of the assets and liabilities as may be specified in the Order of the government of the Federation or of any body which, for the purpose of performing functions on behalf of, or in accordance with directions given by, that government, is established by a law made by the legislature of the Federation;

- (d) provide for the making to such an authority by the governments of the colonies for whose benefit the authority is to perform any functions of contributions towards defraying expenses incurred by the authority in performing those functions.

Compensation scheme for officers of Federal public service.

3.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make such provision as appears to Her necessary or expedient—

- (a) for securing that the payment of a pension, gratuity, allowance or other like benefit to a person in respect of service of his, or that of another's, in the public service of the Federation is not prejudiced by reason of a colony's ceasing to be included in the Federation or of the dissolution of the Federation;
- (b) for securing the making of payments to or in respect of persons who, at the passing of this Act, are serving in that public service and, by reason of the happening of either of the events aforesaid, lose office or, by reason of being transferred to some other service, become in a worse position in respect of the conditions of their service as compared with the conditions of service formerly obtaining with respect to them;
- (c) for securing the payment to or in respect of such persons as are mentioned in the last foregoing paragraph who are transferred as therein mentioned (whether or not they become in a worse position as so mentioned) of sums in respect of disturbance suffered by them in consequence of being so transferred.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may provide for the raising of the moneys necessary to make payments falling to be made under the Order by either or both of the following means, namely,—

- (a) the appropriation of assets of the government of the Federation;
- (b) the making of contributions by all or any of the governments of the colonies included in the Federation at the passing of this Act.

Power of Her Majesty to establish common courts for West Indian colonies.

4.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council provide—

- (a) for the establishment, in place of the Federal Supreme Court of the Federation, of a court constituted in such manner as may be specified in the Order and having such jurisdiction to hear and determine appeals from, and to determine questions of law reserved by judges of, the courts of the relevant colonies as may be determined by or under the Order;

- (b) confer, or provide for conferring, on the court established by the Order, jurisdiction to hear and determine appeals from, and to determine questions of law reserved by judges of, the courts of such other colonies as may be specified in the Order;
- (c) confer upon the legislature of a colony from whose courts criminal appeals lie to the court established by the Order power to make, with extra-territorial operation, laws providing for the conveyance of prisoners to and from the place where that court is sitting.

(2) Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, provide for the establishment for the relevant colonies or for any two or more of them of courts additional to that whose establishment is authorised by the foregoing subsection, being courts constituted in such manner and having such jurisdiction (whether civil or criminal, original or appellate) as may be determined by or under the Order.

(3) An Order in Council under this section may provide for the expenses of maintaining a court established by the Order to be defrayed by the governments of the colonies for which it is established.

(4) In this section—

(a) “relevant colonies” means, for the purposes of subsection (1), the colonies from whose courts appeals lie at the passing of this Act to the Federal Supreme Court of the Federation and, for the purposes of subsection (2), the colonies aforesaid with the exception of British Guiana;

(b) “appeals” include appeals by way of cases stated.

(5) The Windward Islands and Leeward Islands (Courts) Order in Council, 1959, and the Windward Islands and Leeward Islands (Courts) (Amendment) Order in Council, 1960, shall have effect as if made under subsection (2) of this section.

(6) The Court of Appeal established by the West Indian Court of Appeal Act, 1919, is hereby dissolved.

5.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make such provision as appears to Her Majesty to be expedient for the government of any of the colonies to which this section applies, and for that purpose may provide for the establishment for the colony of such authorities as She thinks expedient and may empower such of them as may be specified in the Order to make laws either generally for the peace, order and good government of the colony or for such limited purposes as may be so specified subject, however, to the reservation to Herself of power to make laws for the colony for such (if any) purposes as may be so specified.

(2) The power conferred by the foregoing subsection shall include power to provide for the establishment of an authority to be charged, or authorities to be severally charged, with the duty of performing for the benefit of the said colonies, or for a combination of any two or more of them, such functions as may be specified in the Order, and for the expenses of an authority so charged to be defrayed by the governments of the colonies for whose benefit it is to perform functions.

In this subsection "authority" does not include a legislature or court.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall, as regards the Cayman Islands and the Turks and Caicos Islands, have effect—

- (a) as if the reference to authorities specified in the Order included a reference to the legislature of Jamaica;
- (b) as if there were included amongst the matters for which Her Majesty in Council is thereby authorised to make provision—
  - (i) the conferring, or the making of provision for conferring, on any court of Jamaica original or other jurisdiction over matters arising in any of the said Islands; and
  - (ii) the conferring of powers and the imposition of duties on other authorities of Jamaica.

(4) An Order in Council under this section with respect to a colony may vary or revoke any enactment or Letters Patent relating to the government of the colony and any Order in Council or other instrument so relating which has effect otherwise than by virtue of this section.

(5) Any Order in Council under the Jamaica Act, 1866, the Saint Vincent and Grenada Constitution Act, 1876, the Trinidad and Tobago Act, 1887, the Dominica Act, 1938, section three of the Leeward Islands Act, 1956, or section two of the Cayman Islands and Turks and Caicos Islands Act, 1958 (except the Orders in Council mentioned in subsection (5) of the last foregoing section, so far as subsisting by virtue of any of those enactments) shall, in so far as it is in force at the passing of this Act and could be made under this section, have effect as if so made, and so shall the Windward Islands and Leeward Islands (Police Service Commission) Order in Council, 1959.

(6) The colonies to which this section applies are those included at the passing of this Act in the Federation, and the Virgin Islands.

6.—(1) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision for the federation of, or the establishment of any other new form of government for, all or any of the colonies to which the last foregoing section applies.

Power of Her Majesty to establish new forms of government in place of the West Indies.

(2) An Order in Council under this section making provision for the federation of colonies may include provision for any purpose for which, by virtue of the provisions of subsections (1) and (2) of section one of the British Caribbean Federation Act, 1956 (except paragraphs (d) and (e) of subsection (2)) provision might have been included in an Order in Council under that section had those provisions referred to the colonies which are federated by the first-mentioned Order instead of those specified in the Schedule to that Act.

(3) An Order in Council under this section, other than one falling within the last foregoing subsection, may include provision for any purpose for which, by virtue of sub-paragraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of the said section one and paragraphs (b) and (c) of that subsection, provision might have been included in an Order in Council under that section had those provisions referred—

- (a) to the colonies to which the first-mentioned Order in Council relates instead of those specified in the Schedule to that Act; and
- (b) to the form of government established by that Order instead of to the federation, and had the qualification "Federal" been omitted.

7.—(1) An Order in Council under any provision of this Act may make or provide for the making of such incidental, consequential or transitional provisions as may appear to Her Majesty in Council to be necessary or expedient.

Supplementary provisions as to Orders in Council.

(2) Any power conferred by this Act to make an Order in Council shall be construed as including power to vary or revoke the Order in Council by a subsequent Order in Council.

(3) Subject to the following subsection, a statutory instrument containing an Order in Council under this Act which adapts or modifies any Act shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, and a statutory instrument containing an Order in Council under this Act which does not adapt or modify any Act shall be laid before Parliament after being made.

(4) The last foregoing subsection shall not apply to an instrument containing an Order in Council under section six of this Act making provision for the federation of, or the establishment of any other new form of government for, any colonies, but no recommendation shall be made to Her Majesty in Council to make an Order under the said section six making such provision unless a draft of the Order has been laid before Parliament and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament.

Grants for benefit of certain West Indian colonies.

8. The Secretary of State may—

- (a) from time to time make, to the government of any colony to which section five of this Act applies, being a government whose resources are, in his opinion, insufficient to enable it to defray its administrative expenses, grants of such amounts as he may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine;
- (b) from time to time make, to any federal government established by virtue of section six of this Act for any colonies, grants of such amounts as he may, with the like approval, determine, for the purpose of enabling that government to make grants to the governments of any of the colonies for which it is established whose resources are, in its opinion, insufficient to enable them to defray their administrative expenses;
- (c) from time to time make, to a government of any other form established as aforesaid for any colonies, being one whose resources are, in his opinion, insufficient to enable it to defray its administrative expenses, grants of such amounts as he may, with the like approval, determine.

Expenses.

9. The expenses incurred under the last foregoing section by the Secretary of State shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament, and any increase attributable to an Order in Council under this Act in sums payable under any other enactment out of moneys so provided or out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom shall be paid out of moneys so provided or out of that Fund, as the case may be.

Short title, interpretation and repeals.

10.—(1) This Act may be cited as the West Indies Act, 1962.

(2) Any reference in this Act to a colony shall be construed as including a reference to the dependencies (if any) thereof.

(3) The enactments mentioned in the first and second columns of the Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent respectively specified in relation thereto in the third column of that Schedule, but this repeal shall not be taken to dissolve the union of Tobago with Trinidad or to affect the status, as a separate colony, of any other colony.

CHAPTER 20

An Act to enable the United Kingdom to take part in arrangements under which the International Monetary Fund may borrow supplementary resources from its members.
[18th April, 1962]

WHEREAS the International Monetary Fund has decided to make arrangements for enabling the Fund to borrow the currency of any member taking part in the arrangements, and it is proposed that the United Kingdom should take part in the arrangements:

Now, therefore, be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) The Treasury may issue out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom and lend to the International Monetary Fund, in accordance with the said arrangements, such sums as may be required thereunder; but the aggregate of those sums shall not, after allowing in accordance with the arrangements for repayments made thereunder, exceed three hundred and fifty-seven million, one hundred and forty-two thousand, eight hundred and fifty-seven pounds.

Loans of sterling to International Monetary Fund.

2 & 3 Geo. 6.
c. 117.

(2) The Treasury may, for the purpose of providing any sums to be issued under this Act out of the Consolidated Fund, or of providing for the replacement of sums so issued, raise money in any manner in which they are authorised to raise money under the National Loans Act, 1939; and any securities created and issued for that purpose shall be deemed for all purposes to have been created and issued under that Act.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the International Monetary Fund Act, 1962.

An Act to make temporary provision for controlling the immigration into the United Kingdom of Commonwealth citizens; to authorise the deportation from the United Kingdom of certain Commonwealth citizens convicted of offences and recommended by the court for deportation; to amend the qualifications required of Commonwealth citizens applying for citizenship under the British Nationality Act, 1948; to make corresponding provisions in respect of British protected persons and citizens of the Republic of Ireland; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid.

[18th April, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I

CONTROL OF IMMIGRATION

1.—(1) The provisions of this Part of this Act shall have Application effect for controlling the immigration into the United Kingdom of Part I. of Commonwealth citizens to whom this section applies.

(2) This section applies to any Commonwealth citizen not being—

- (a) a person born in the United Kingdom ;
- (b) a person who holds a United Kingdom passport and is a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies, or who holds such a passport issued in the United Kingdom or the Republic of Ireland ; or

PART I

(c) a person included in the passport of another person who is excepted under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(3) In this section "passport" means a current passport; and "United Kingdom passport" means a passport issued to the holder by the Government of the United Kingdom, not being a passport so issued on behalf of the Government of any part of the Commonwealth outside the United Kingdom.

(4) This Part of this Act applies to British protected persons and citizens of the Republic of Ireland as it applies to Commonwealth citizens, and references therein to Commonwealth citizens, and to Commonwealth citizens to whom this section applies, shall be construed accordingly.

Refusal of admission and conditional admission.

2.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, an immigration officer may, on the examination under this Part of this Act of any Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies who enters or seeks to enter the United Kingdom,—

- (a) refuse him admission into the United Kingdom; or
- (b) admit him into the United Kingdom subject to a condition restricting the period for which he may remain there, with or without conditions for restricting his employment or occupation there.

(2) The power to refuse admission or admit subject to conditions under this section shall not be exercised, except as provided by subsection (5), in the case of any person who satisfies an immigration officer that he or she—

- (a) is ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom or was so resident at any time within the past two years; or
- (b) is the wife, or a child under sixteen years of age, of a Commonwealth citizen who is resident in the United Kingdom or of a Commonwealth citizen (not being a person who is on that occasion refused admission into the United Kingdom) with whom she or he enters or seeks to enter the United Kingdom.

(3) Without prejudice to subsection (2) of this section, the power to refuse admission under this section shall not be exercised, except as provided by subsections (4) and (5), in the case of a Commonwealth citizen who satisfies an immigration officer either—

- (a) that he wishes to enter the United Kingdom for the purposes of employment there, and is the person described in a current voucher issued for the purposes of this section by or on behalf of the Minister of Labour or the Ministry of Labour and National Insurance for Northern Ireland; or

PART I

- (b) that he wishes to enter the United Kingdom for the purpose of attending a course of study at any university, college, school or other institution in the United Kingdom, being a course which will occupy the whole or a substantial part of his time ; or
- (c) that he is in a position to support himself and his dependants, if any, in the United Kingdom otherwise than by taking employment or engaging for reward in any business, profession or other occupation ; and the power to admit subject to conditions under this section shall not be exercised in the case of any person who satisfies such an officer of the matters described in paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(4) Nothing in subsection (3) of this section shall prevent an immigration officer from refusing admission into the United Kingdom in the case of any Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies—

- (a) if it appears to the immigration officer on the advice of a medical inspector or, if no such inspector is available, of any other duly qualified medical practitioner, that he is a person suffering from mental disorder, or that it is otherwise undesirable for medical reasons that he should be admitted ; or
- (b) if the immigration officer has reason to believe that he has been convicted in any country of any crime, wherever committed, which is an extradition crime within the meaning of the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1935 ; or
- (c) if his admission would, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, be contrary to the interests of national security.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prevent an immigration officer from refusing admission into the United Kingdom in the case of any person in respect of whom a deportation order under Part II of this Act is in force.

(6) In this section “child” includes a step-child and an adopted child and, in relation to the mother, an illegitimate child ; and for the purposes of this section a person shall be deemed not to be ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom at any time when a condition restricting the period for which he may remain there is in force under this section, whether that period has expired or not.

3.—(1) The provisions of Part I of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to—

- (a) the examination of persons landing or seeking to land in the United Kingdom from ships and aircraft ;
- (b) the exercise by immigration officers of their powers of refusal of admission or admission subject to conditions

Supplementary provisions as to control of immigration.

PART I

under section two of this Act, and the cancellation, variation and duration of such refusals and conditions ;

- (c) the removal from the United Kingdom of Commonwealth citizens to whom admission is refused under that section ;
- (d) the detention of any such persons or citizens as aforesaid pending further examination or pending removal from the United Kingdom, and for other purposes supplementary to the foregoing provisions of this Act.

(2) The special provisions contained in Part II of the said First Schedule shall have effect for the purposes of the control under this Part of this Act of immigration by Commonwealth citizens who arrive in the United Kingdom as members of the crews of, or as stowaways in, ships and aircraft.

(3) Part III of the said First Schedule shall have effect for the interpretation of Parts I and II of that Schedule.

(4) Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that the provisions of Part I of the said Schedule relating to persons who land or seek to land in the United Kingdom from ships and aircraft shall extend to persons entering or seeking to enter the United Kingdom by land ; and any such Order may make such adaptations or modifications of the said Schedule, and such provisions supplementary thereto, as appear to Her Majesty to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of the Order.

(5) No recommendation shall be made to Her Majesty to make an Order in Council under this section unless a draft of the Order has been laid before Parliament and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

Offences in connection with control of immigration.

4.—(1) If any person being a Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies—

- (a) enters or remains within the United Kingdom, otherwise than in accordance with the directions or under the authority of an immigration officer, while a refusal of admission under section two of this Act is in force in relation to him ; or
- (b) contravenes or fails to comply with any condition imposed on him under that section or under Part II of the First Schedule to this Act, he shall be guilty of an offence ; and any offence under this subsection, being an offence committed by entering or remaining in the United Kingdom, shall be deemed to continue throughout any period during which the offender is in the United Kingdom thereafter.

(2) If any person knowingly harbours any person whom he knows or has reasonable grounds for believing to have committed an offence under subsection (1) of this section, being an offence committed by entering or remaining within the United Kingdom, he shall be guilty of an offence.

PART I

(3) If any person—

- (a) makes or causes to be made to any immigration officer or other person lawfully acting in the execution of this Part of this Act, any return, statement or representation which he knows to be false or does not believe to be true ; or
- (b) refuses or fails to produce or furnish to any such officer or person any document or information which he is required to produce or furnish to that officer or person under this Part of this Act, or otherwise obstructs any such officer or person in the exercise of his functions thereunder ; or
- (c) without lawful authority, alters any voucher or other document issued or made under or for the purposes of this Part of this Act, or uses for the purposes of this Part of this Act, or has in his possession for such use, any forged or altered voucher, passport or other document, he shall be guilty of an offence.

(4) If any person acts in contravention of, or fails to comply with, any provision of the First Schedule to this Act, or of any order made, directions given or requirement imposed thereunder (not being a requirement comprised in conditions so imposed), he shall be guilty of an offence.

5.—(1) This Part of this Act shall continue in force until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and sixty-three, and shall then expire unless Parliament otherwise determines.

Duration of
Part I.

(2) Upon the expiration of this Part of this Act, subsection (2) of section thirty-eight of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the effect of repeals) shall apply as if this Part of this Act had been repealed by another Act.

PART II

DEPORTATION

6.—(1) This Part of this Act shall have effect for authorising the deportation from the United Kingdom of Commonwealth citizens to whom this section applies who are convicted of offences punishable with imprisonment and recommended by the court for deportation.

Application of Part II.

(2) This section applies to any Commonwealth citizen not being—

- (a) a person born in the United Kingdom, or whose father was born in the United Kingdom, or whose parents (or either of them) were ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom at the time of his birth ;

PART II

(b) a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies who became such—

(i) by virtue of being naturalised in the United Kingdom ; or

(ii) by being adopted in the United Kingdom ; or

(iii) by being registered under Part II of the British Nationality Act, 1948, either in the United Kingdom or in any country mentioned in subsection (3) of section one of that Act as originally enacted or as amended by any subsequent enactment ; or

(c) the wife of a person of a description specified in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(3) This Part of this Act applies to British protected persons and citizens of the Republic of Ireland as it applies to Commonwealth citizens, and references therein to Commonwealth citizens, and to Commonwealth citizens to whom this section applies, shall be construed accordingly.

(4) If any question arises whether a person is a Commonwealth citizen to whom this section applies, it shall lie on him to prove that he is not such a citizen.

Power of court to recommend for deportation.

7.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, where a Commonwealth citizen to whom section six of this Act applies, and who has attained the age of seventeen years, is convicted of an offence punishable with imprisonment, the court by or before which he is convicted, or any court to which his case is brought by way of appeal against conviction or sentence, may recommend that a deportation order be made in respect of him.

(2) No recommendation under this section (in this Part of this Act referred to as a recommendation for deportation) shall be made upon the conviction of an offender who satisfies the court—

(a) that he is or was ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom on the date of his conviction ; and

(b) that he has been continuously so resident for a period of at least five years ending with that date :

Provided that for the purpose of calculating the period for which any person has been so resident (but not of determining whether he has been continuously so resident) no account shall be taken of any continuous period of six months or more during which he has been detained under a sentence or order passed or made by any court on a conviction of an offence.

(3) In this section “ offence punishable with imprisonment ” includes an offence which would be so punishable apart from any enactment restricting the imprisonment of young offenders or of first offenders ; and for the purposes of this section the age of an offender at the time of his conviction shall be deemed to be or to have been that which appears to the court, after considering any available evidence, to be or to have been his age at that time.

(4) The power to make a recommendation for deportation under this section shall, in Scotland, be exercisable only by the sheriff, or by the High Court of Justiciary, or by the latter Court on appeal against a conviction on indictment or a sentence upon such a conviction.

(5) No recommendation for deportation shall be made upon a conviction of an offence committed before the commencement of this section.

8.—(1) No recommendation for deportation shall be made in respect of an offender unless a notice has been given to him at least seven days before the recommendation is made—

Procedure and appeals in respect of recommendations.

(a) describing the classes of persons in respect of whom such a recommendation may and may not be made ;
and

(b) containing a statement of the effect of subsection (4) of section six of this Act.

(2) The powers of adjournment conferred by subsection (3) of section fourteen of the Magistrates' Courts Act, 1952, section twenty-six of the Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act, 1949, and any corresponding enactment in force in Northern Ireland, shall include power to adjourn, after convicting an offender, for the purpose of enabling a notice to be given to him under subsection (1) of this section or, if such a notice was given to him less than seven days previously, for the purpose of enabling the necessary seven days to elapse.

(3) Where a person convicted of an offence by any court is committed for sentence to another court, any power to make a recommendation for deportation in respect of him shall be exercisable by the court to which he is committed and not by the court by which he is convicted.

(4) For the purposes of any enactment relating to appeals in criminal cases, a recommendation for deportation shall be treated as an order made on conviction and, in Northern Ireland, on conviction and sentence of imprisonment ; and the validity of such a recommendation shall not be called in question except on an appeal against the recommendation or against the conviction upon which it is made.

(5) So much of subsection (4) of this section as confers a right of appeal against a recommendation for deportation shall not apply to Scotland ; but any person in respect of whom such a recommendation is made by a court in Scotland may, without prejudice to any other form of appeal under any rule of law, appeal against the recommendation in the same manner as against a conviction.

(6) For the purposes of giving effect to any of the provisions of section seven of this Act or of this section, the High Court of Justiciary shall have power to make rules by Act of

PART II

Adjournal; and any such Act of Adjournal shall be treated for the purposes of the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946, as a statutory instrument within the meaning of that Act.

Deportation
orders.

9.—(1) Where a recommendation for deportation is in force in respect of a person to whom section six of this Act applies, the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, make an order requiring him to leave the United Kingdom and prohibiting him from returning there so long as the order is in force.

(2) An order under this section (in this Act referred to as a deportation order) shall not be made in pursuance of a recommendation for deportation unless either—

- (a) the time for bringing an appeal against the recommendation, or against the conviction upon which it was made, has expired without such an appeal having been brought; or
- (b) such an appeal has been brought and abandoned, or finally determined otherwise than by the quashing of the recommendation or the conviction; or
- (c) the recommendation was made on appeal and no further appeal lies.

(3) The Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, revoke a deportation order at any time, whether before or after the person to whom it relates has left or been removed from the United Kingdom, but the revocation of a deportation order shall not affect the validity of anything previously done thereunder.

(4) In relation to a recommendation for deportation made by a court in Scotland, subsection (2) of this section shall have effect as if the following were substituted for paragraph (a), that is to say:—

“(a) a period of fourteen days from the date on which the recommendation was made has expired without an appeal having been brought against the recommendation or the conviction upon which it was made; or”
and in paragraph (b), after “abandoned” there were inserted the words “or deemed to be abandoned”.

Supplementary provisions as to deportation.

10. The provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the removal from the United Kingdom of persons in respect of whom deportation orders are made, and with respect to the detention or control of persons in respect of whom recommendations for deportation or deportation orders are in force.

Offences in
with deportation orders.

11.—(1) If any person in respect of whom a deportation order is in force—

- (a) having left the United Kingdom after notice of the making of the order has been given to him on behalf of the Secretary of State, subsequently returns to the United Kingdom; or

(b) having been placed on board a ship or aircraft under the Second Schedule to this Act, lands from that ship or aircraft before it has left the United Kingdom, he shall be guilty of an offence; and any offence under this subsection shall be deemed to continue throughout any period during which the offender is in the United Kingdom after its commission.

PART II

(2) If any person upon whom any restriction or requirement is imposed under paragraph 2 of the Second Schedule to this Act fails to comply with that restriction or requirement, he shall be guilty of an offence.

(3) Where a person in respect of whom a deportation order is in force is convicted of an offence under subsection (1) of this section, the deportation order shall cease to have effect, but without prejudice to the power to make a recommendation for deportation upon that conviction.

(4) If any person knowingly harbours any person whom he knows or has reasonable grounds for believing to have committed an offence under subsection (1) of this section, he shall be guilty of an offence.

PART III

MISCELLANEOUS AND GENERAL

12.—(1) A person in respect of whom a recommendation for deportation or a deportation order is in force under Part II of this Act shall not be entitled to be registered as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies under subsection (1) of section six of the British Nationality Act, 1948 (which provides for the registration of certain Commonwealth citizens and citizens of the Republic of Ireland); but the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, register under that subsection any person who would be entitled or qualified to be so registered but for this subsection.

Qualifications for citizenship by registration etc.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, a person shall not be entitled to be registered under subsection (1) of the said section six, and a British protected person shall not be qualified for naturalisation under section ten of the said Act, unless he satisfies the Secretary of State that he has been—

- (a) ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom; or
- (b) in Crown service under Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom; or
- (c) partly the one and partly the other, throughout the period of five years ending with the date of his application, or such shorter period so ending as the Secretary of State may in the special circumstances of any particular case accept.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (2) of this section, any person who would have been entitled to be registered under subsection (1) of the said section six (apart from the power of the Secretary of State to accept for that purpose a period of ordinary residence in the United Kingdom of less than twelve months) if he had made an application for such registration immediately before the commencement of this section shall (unless disqualified under subsection (1) of this section) be entitled to be so registered if he makes such an application within the period of six months beginning with the commencement of this section.

(4) This section shall be construed as one with the British Nationality Act, 1948.

General provisions as to detained persons.

13.—(1) Any persons required or authorised to be detained under this Act may be detained in such places as the Secretary of State may direct.

(2) Where a person is detained by virtue of this Act, any immigration officer, constable or prison officer, or any other person authorised by the Secretary of State, may take all such steps as may be reasonably necessary for photographing, measuring or otherwise identifying him.

(3) Any person detained by virtue of this Act, and any person who, being detained in pursuance of the sentence or order of a court, would otherwise be liable to be so detained, may be taken in the custody of a constable to and from any place where his attendance is required for the purpose of ascertaining his citizenship or of making arrangements for his admission to any country or territory.

(4) Any person required or authorised by this Act to be detained may be arrested without warrant by a constable or an immigration officer; and any person who is detained by virtue of this Act, or is being removed in pursuance of this section, shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

Penalties, proceedings, etc.

14.—(1) A person guilty of an offence under this Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or to both.

(2) For the purposes of the trial of a person for any offence under this Act, the offence shall be deemed to have been committed either at the place at which it actually was committed or at any place at which the offender may be.

(3) A constable or immigration officer may arrest without warrant any person whom he has reasonable grounds to believe to have committed an offence under subsection (1) of section four or subsection (1) or subsection (2) of section eleven of this Act.

(4) Any powers exercisable under this Act in the case of any person may be exercised notwithstanding that proceedings for an offence under this Act have been taken against him.

15.—(1) Any power conferred by this Act to make an Order in Council or order or to give any directions includes power to revoke or vary the Order in Council, order or directions, as the case may be.

PART III
General provisions
as to Orders
in Council etc.

(2) Any document purporting to be an order, notice or direction made or given by the Secretary of State for the purposes of this Act, and to be signed by him or on his behalf, shall be received in evidence, and shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to be made or issued by him.

(3) Prima facie evidence of any such order, notice or direction as aforesaid may, in any legal proceedings, be given by the production of a document bearing a certificate purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the Secretary of State and stating that the document is a true copy of the order, notice or direction.

(4) Where any such order applies to persons specified in a schedule thereto, prima facie evidence of the provisions of the order other than the schedule and of any entry contained in the schedule may, in any legal proceedings, be given by the production of a document purporting to be signed as aforesaid and stating that the document is a true copy of the said provisions and of the relevant entry.

16.—(1) Immigration officers for the purposes of this Act shall be appointed by the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State may arrange with the Commissioners of Customs and Excise for the employment of officers of customs and excise as immigration officers under this Act.

Immigration officers and medical inspectors.

(2) Medical inspectors for the purposes of Part I of this Act, being duly qualified medical practitioners, may be appointed by the Minister of Health in pursuance of arrangements made between that Minister and the Secretary of State.

(3) In the exercise of their functions under this Act, immigration officers shall act in accordance with such instructions as may be given by the Secretary of State, and medical inspectors shall act in accordance with such instructions as may be given by the Minister of Health in pursuance of such arrangements as aforesaid.

(4) An immigration officer or medical inspector may board any ship for the purpose of exercising any of his functions under this Act.

(5) In the application of this section to Scotland, for references to the Minister of Health there shall be substituted references to the Secretary of State, and references to arrangements between that Minister and the Secretary of State shall be omitted.

(6) In the application of this section to Northern Ireland, for references to the Minister of Health there shall be substituted references to the Ministry of Health and Local Government for Northern Ireland.

PART III
Exemptions.

17.—(1) All persons who, whether under any rule of law or under or by virtue of any enactment, are entitled to immunity from suit and legal process, not being immunity in respect only of things done or omitted to be done in the course of their duties, shall be exempt from control under Part I of this Act and exempt from deportation under Part II of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the foregoing subsection, the following persons shall be exempt from control under Part I of this Act, that is to say any person who—

- (a) is subject, as a member of the home forces, to the Naval Discipline Act, 1957, or to military or air force law ; or
- (b) being a member of any Commonwealth force or of any force raised under the law of any colony, protectorate or protected state, arrives in the United Kingdom for the purpose of serving there as a member of that force or undergoing training with any body, contingent or detachment of the home forces ; or
- (c) being a member of the forces of any country designated for the purposes of any provision of the Visiting Forces Act, 1952, by Order in Council under section one of that Act, arrives in the United Kingdom for the purpose of serving there as a member of a visiting force of that country.

(3) The Secretary of State may by order extend any exemption conferred by subsection (1) or subsection (2) of this section to persons of such additional classes as may be specified in the order.

(4) The power of the Secretary of State to make orders under subsection (3) of this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument, and any statutory instrument containing such an order shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(5) In this section “the home forces” means any of Her Majesty’s forces, not being a Commonwealth force or a force raised under the law of any colony, protectorate or protected state ; “Commonwealth force” means any of the forces of any Commonwealth country mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of the Visiting Forces Act, 1952 ; and “visiting force” has the meaning which it would have in accordance with section twelve of that Act if subsection (2) of this section were a provision in Part I of that Act applying to any such country as is referred to in paragraph (c) of that subsection.

18.—(1) The following provisions of this Act, that is to say— PART III

(a) subsections (2) and (3) of section one ;

(b) subsection (2) of section six ;

(c) subsection (2) of section seven ; and

(d) sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 10 of the First Schedule,

Provisions relating to Channel Islands and Isle of

shall have effect as if the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man (in this section collectively referred to as the Islands) were included in the United Kingdom ; and the reference in subsection (3) of section one to the Government of the United Kingdom shall be construed as including a reference to the Lieutenant Governor of any of the Islands.

(2) Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that all or any of the provisions of this Act shall extend, with such exceptions, adaptations and modifications, if any, as may be specified in the Order, to any of the Islands.

(3) The provisions of the Third Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purpose of giving effect under the law of the United Kingdom to things done in any of the Islands under provisions of this Act extended thereto by virtue of this section.

(4) The Secretary of State may defray or contribute towards expenses incurred by the Governments of the Islands in connection with the removal of persons under Part I or Part II of this Act as extended under this section.

19. There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament any expenses incurred for the purposes of this Act by the Secretary of State, the Minister of Labour or the Minister of Health. Expenses.

20.—(1) In subsection (1) of section eighteen of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1950, and in section twenty-six of the Matrimonial Causes Act (Northern Ireland), 1939, for the words “the deportation of aliens” there shall be substituted the word “deportation”. Consequential
and repeals.

(2) The following provisions of the British Nationality Act, 1948, are hereby repealed, that is to say :—

(a) in subsection (1) of section six, the words from “if he satisfies” to the end ;

(b) in paragraph 3 of the Second Schedule, the words from “(a) that he is ordinarily resident” to “government in the United Kingdom, and”.

(3) So much of this section as relates to the said Act of 1939 shall be treated for the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, as a provision of an Act passed before the appointed day within the meaning of that section.

PART III
Short title,
interpretation
and commencement.

21.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Commonwealth Immigrants Act, 1962.

(2) In this Act the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say,—

“enactment” includes an enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland ;

“immigration officer” means an officer appointed or employed as such under section sixteen of this Act ;

“the United Kingdom”, throughout this Act, has the meaning assigned by the Royal and Parliamentary Titles Act, 1927 ; and subsection (5) of section thirty-two of the British Nationality Act, 1948 (which relates to persons born aboard ships or aircraft) shall apply for the purposes of this Act as it applies for the purposes of that Act.

(3) References in this Act to Part I and Part II of this Act include respectively references to the First and the Second Schedule to this Act.

(4) Any reference in this Act to any other enactment is a reference thereto as amended, and includes a reference thereto as extended or applied, by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

(5) This Act shall come into operation on such date as the Secretary of State may by order appoint ; and different dates may be appointed by order under this section for different purposes of this Act.

Section 3.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS AS TO CONTROL OF IMMIGRATION

PART I

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Examination of persons landing in the United Kingdom

1.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, an immigration officer may examine any person who lands or seeks to land in the United Kingdom for the purpose of ascertaining whether that person is or is not a Commonwealth citizen subject to control under Part I of this Act, and if so for the purpose of determining what action, if any, should be taken in his case under the said Part I ; and it shall be the duty of every such person to furnish to an immigration officer such information in his possession as that officer may reasonably require for the purpose of his functions under this paragraph.

(2) A person shall not be required to submit to examination under this paragraph after the expiration of the period of twenty-four hours from the time when he lands in the United Kingdom unless, upon being examined within that period, he is required in writing by an immigration officer to submit to further examination.

(3) Any person liable to be examined by an immigration officer under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall, if directed to do so by such an officer in the course of his examination—

- (a) declare whether or not he is carrying or conveying any documents of any description specified by that officer, being a description appearing to that officer to be relevant for the purposes of the examination ;
- (b) produce to the officer any documents of any such description which he is carrying or conveying ;

and the power to examine any such person shall include power to search him and any baggage belonging to him or under his control with a view to ascertaining whether he is carrying or conveying any such documents :

Provided that no woman or girl shall be searched by virtue of this sub-paragraph except by a woman.

(4) An immigration officer may examine, and may detain for such time as he thinks proper for the purposes of examination (not exceeding seven days), any documents produced pursuant to or found on a search under sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph.

(5) The powers of an immigration officer under this paragraph may be exercised also—

- (a) in the case of the powers conferred by sub-paragraphs (1) and (2), by a medical inspector or by any qualified person carrying out any test or examination required by a medical inspector ; and
- (b) in the case of the powers of search conferred by sub-paragraph (3), by any person acting under the directions of an immigration officer.

General provisions as to refusal of admission and admission subject to conditions

2.—(1) The power of an immigration officer under section two of this Act to refuse admission into the United Kingdom or to admit into the United Kingdom subject to conditions shall be exercised by notice in writing ; and subject to sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, any such notice shall be given by being delivered by the immigration officer to the person to whom it relates.

(2) Where an immigrant who is to be admitted into the United Kingdom subject to conditions is a member of a party in the charge of a person appearing to the immigration officer to be a responsible person, the notice under this paragraph shall be duly given if delivered to the person in charge of the party.

(3) Subject to the following provisions of this Schedule, a notice under this paragraph shall not be given to any person unless he has been examined in pursuance of paragraph 1 of this Schedule, and shall not be given to any person later than twelve hours after the conclusion of his examination (including any further examination) in pursuance of that paragraph.

(4) A notice refusing a person admission into the United Kingdom may at any time be cancelled by a subsequent notice in writing given to him by an immigration officer ; and where a notice under this sub-paragraph cancelling such a notice is given to any person at any time, the immigration officer may, notwithstanding anything in sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph, at the same time give to that person a notice admitting him into the United Kingdom subject to conditions under section two of this Act.

(5) Any conditions specified in a notice under this paragraph may at any time be revoked or varied by the Secretary of State, either by notice in writing given to the immigrant to whom those conditions apply or by order applying to immigrants of any class to whom such conditions for the time being apply.

(6) Any notice under this paragraph and any condition specified in such a notice, shall, unless previously cancelled or revoked under the provisions of this Schedule, cease to have effect if the person to whom the notice was given again lands or seeks to land in the United Kingdom and is on that occasion examined in pursuance of paragraph 1 of this Schedule.

Removal of immigrants on refusal of admission

3.—(1) Where an immigrant is refused admission into the United Kingdom an immigration officer may, subject to sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph, give directions—

- (a) to the master of the ship or commander of the aircraft in which the immigrant arrived in the United Kingdom, requiring him to remove the immigrant from the United Kingdom in that ship or aircraft ; or
- (b) to the owners or agents of the said ship or aircraft, requiring them to remove the immigrant from the United Kingdom in any ship or aircraft specified in the directions, being a ship or aircraft of which they are the owners or agents ; or
- (c) to the said owners or agents, requiring them to make arrangements for the removal of the immigrant from the United Kingdom in any ship or aircraft bound for a country or territory specified in the directions, being either—
  - (i) a country of which the immigrant is a citizen ; or
  - (ii) a country or territory in which he has obtained a passport or other document of identity ; or
  - (iii) a country or territory in which he embarked for the United Kingdom ; or
  - (iv) a country or territory to which there is reason to believe that the immigrant will be admitted, and for securing him a passage to that country or territory.

(2) If it appears to the Secretary of State that in the circumstances it is not practicable for directions to be given under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph in respect of an immigrant, or that directions so given would be ineffective, the Secretary of State, or any person acting under his authority, may give to the owners or agents of any ship or aircraft the like directions as could be given under paragraph (c) of the said sub-paragraph (1) to the owners or agents of the ship or aircraft in which the immigrant arrived in the United Kingdom ; but in any such case the costs of complying with the directions shall be defrayed by the Secretary of State.

(3) No directions shall be given under this paragraph in respect of an immigrant after the expiration of two months beginning with the date on which he was refused admission into the United Kingdom.

1st SCH.

(4) An immigrant in respect of whom directions are given under this paragraph may be placed, under the authority of an immigration officer, on board any ship or aircraft in which he is to be removed in accordance with the directions.

Detention of immigrants pending further examination or removal

4.—(1) An immigrant who is required to submit to further examination under this Schedule, or who is refused admission into the United Kingdom under section two of this Act, may be detained under the authority of an immigration officer or constable pending that further examination, or pending the giving of directions under paragraph 3 of this Schedule and pending removal in pursuance of such directions, as the case may be ; and where any such immigrant is on board a ship or aircraft, he may, under the like authority, be removed therefrom for detention under this paragraph.

(2) The master of a ship shall, if so required by an immigration officer, take such steps as may be necessary for preventing—

- (a) an immigrant who arrived in the ship and to whom admission into the United Kingdom has been refused ; or
- (b) an immigrant who has been placed on board the ship under paragraph 3 of this Schedule, from landing from the ship before it leaves the United Kingdom ; and for that purpose the master may detain the immigrant in custody on board the ship.

(3) The commander of an aircraft shall, if so required by an immigration officer, take such steps as may be necessary for preventing an immigrant who has been placed on board the aircraft under paragraph 3 of this Schedule from landing from the aircraft before it leaves the United Kingdom ; and for that purpose the commander may detain the immigrant in custody on board the aircraft.

Landing and embarkation cards

5.—(1) The Secretary of State may by order make provision for requiring passengers landing or embarking in the United Kingdom, or any class of such passengers, to produce to an immigration officer, if so required, landing or embarkation cards in such form as the Secretary of State may direct, and for requiring the owners or agents of ships and aircraft to supply such cards to those passengers.

(2) The power of the Secretary of State to make orders under this paragraph shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

PART II

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO CREWS OF SHIPS AND AIRCRAFT AND STOWAWAYS

British seaman's cards

6.—(1) If a Commonwealth citizen who holds a British seaman's card arrives in the United Kingdom as a member of the crew of a ship, that card shall be treated for the purposes of section one of this Act as a United Kingdom passport within the meaning of that section.

(2) In this paragraph "British seaman's card" means a card issued under any order in force under section four of the Emergency Laws (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1953, or any card having effect as a card so issued.

Examination of crews

7.—(1) An immigration officer may examine under paragraph 1 of this Schedule any person who arrives at a port in the United Kingdom as a member of the crew of a ship, whether or not he lands or seeks to land in the United Kingdom; and the provisions of that paragraph shall apply to any such person accordingly, except that he may be required to submit to examination at any time before the ship has left the port.

(2) The Secretary of State may by order make provision for requiring the masters of ships and commanders of aircraft arriving at ports in the United Kingdom, or so arriving from or by way of countries or places specified in the order, to furnish to immigration officers particulars of the members of the crews of those ships or aircraft, and for enabling an immigration officer to dispense with the furnishing of such particulars.

(3) The power of the Secretary of State to make orders under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

Control over seamen

8.—(1) An immigration officer may, by notice given at any time to any Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies who—

- (a) has arrived at a port in the United Kingdom as a member of the crew of a ship; and
- (b) is for the time being on board the ship on which he arrived at the port, prohibit him from landing from that ship while it remains at the port unless authorised to do so by an immigration officer.

(2) If any such Commonwealth citizen who has arrived as aforesaid—

- (a) lands from a ship in contravention of a prohibition imposed on him under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph; or
- (b) remains in the United Kingdom after his ship has left the port and without having been examined by an immigration officer under paragraph 1 of this Schedule; or
- (c) having been admitted into the United Kingdom subject to a condition restricting the period for which he may remain there, remains in the United Kingdom in contravention of that condition, he shall, subject to the following provisions of this paragraph, be treated for the purposes of this Act as if he had been refused admission into the United Kingdom.

(3) An immigration officer may, by notice in writing given at any time to any Commonwealth citizen who has landed or remained in the United Kingdom as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, authorise him to remain in the United Kingdom either without conditions or subject to any such conditions as could be imposed under section two of this Act, including in particular conditions requiring him—

1st Sch.

(a) to leave the United Kingdom in a specified ship or aircraft ; or

(b) to leave the United Kingdom within a specified period in accordance with arrangements for his repatriation ; and where such a notice is given to any person, he shall not be treated as a person to whom admission to the United Kingdom has been refused unless, in the case where he is subject to conditions requiring him to leave the United Kingdom as aforesaid, he fails to comply or is reasonably suspected of intending to fail to comply with those conditions.

(4) In relation to any person to whom it applies by virtue of this paragraph, paragraph 3 of this Schedule shall have effect as if sub-paragraph (3) of that paragraph were omitted.

(5) Sub-paragraphs (5) and (6) of paragraph 2 of this Schedule shall apply in relation to any notice under sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph, and any conditions imposed thereby, as they apply in relation to a notice under the said paragraph 2, and to conditions specified in such a notice.

Stowaways

9.—(1) If any Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies arrives at a port in the United Kingdom as a stowaway in a ship or aircraft, he shall, subject to the provisions of the following sub-paragraph, be treated for the purposes of this Act as if he had been refused admission into the United Kingdom.

(2) Sub-paragraphs (3), (4) and (5) of paragraph 8 of this Schedule shall apply in relation to any such Commonwealth citizen as aforesaid as they apply in relation to any Commonwealth citizen who has landed or remained in the United Kingdom as mentioned in sub-paragraph (2) of the said paragraph 8, and the reference in the said sub-paragraph (4) to the said paragraph 8 shall accordingly be construed as including a reference to this paragraph.

PART III

INTERPRETATION

10.—(1) In this Schedule the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say :—

“ crew ”, in relation to a ship or aircraft, means all persons actually employed in the working or service of the ship or aircraft, including the master of the ship and the commander of the aircraft, and “ member of the crew ” shall be construed accordingly ;

“ immigrant ” means a Commonwealth citizen to whom section one of this Act applies who lands or seeks to land in the United Kingdom ;

“ land ” means (subject to sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph) land from a ship or aircraft, and “ embark ” shall be construed accordingly ;

1st Sch.

“port” includes any place where a person lands or embarks in the United Kingdom ;

“ship” includes every description of vessel used in navigation.

(2) References in this Schedule to persons landing in the United Kingdom from, or arriving at ports in the United Kingdom as members of the crews of, ships or aircraft do not include references to persons landing from a ship or aircraft which began its voyage at a place in, and has not during the voyage called at any place outside, the United Kingdom, or arriving as members of the crew of such a ship or aircraft.

Section 10.

SECOND SCHEDULE

SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS AS TO DEPORTATION

Removal of persons subject to deportation orders

1.—(1) The Secretary of State, or any person acting under his authority, may give directions to the master of any ship or commander of any aircraft which is about to leave the United Kingdom, requiring him to afford to any person against whom a deportation order is in force, and to any dependants of his specified in the directions, a passage to any port so specified (being a port in a country of which that person is a citizen or a country or territory to which the Secretary of State has reason to believe that he will be admitted, and at which the ship or aircraft is to call or land in the course of the voyage) and proper accommodation and maintenance during the passage.

(2) A person in respect of whom directions are given under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph may be placed, under the authority of the Secretary of State, on board any ship or aircraft in which he is to be removed in accordance with the directions.

(3) The Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, apply in or towards payment of the expenses of or incidental to the voyage from the United Kingdom of a person against whom a deportation order is in force, or the maintenance until departure of such a person and his dependants, if any, any money belonging to that person ; and except so far as they are paid as aforesaid, those expenses shall be defrayed by the Secretary of State.

Detention and control of persons subject to deportation

2.—(1) Where a recommendation for deportation is in force in respect of an offender and the offender is neither detained in pursuance of the sentence or order of any court nor for the time being released on bail by any court having power so to release him, he shall, unless the court by which the recommendation is made otherwise directs, be detained until the Secretary of State either—

- (a) makes a deportation order in respect of him ; or
- (b) notifies him that no such order is to be made ; or
- (c) directs him to be released pending further consideration of his case.

(2) Where a deportation order is in force in respect of an offender, the offender may be detained under the authority of the Secretary of State until he is removed from the United Kingdom pursuant to this Schedule.

(3) Where a person is released from detention by direction of the Secretary of State under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph pending further consideration of his case, or, being liable to be detained under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, is not for the time being so detained, the Secretary of State may by order impose on him such restrictions as to his place of residence, and such requirements as to reporting to the police, as the Secretary of State thinks fit.

(4) The master of a ship or commander of an aircraft shall, if so required by an immigration officer, take such steps as may be necessary for preventing any person placed on board the ship or aircraft under paragraph 1 of this Schedule from landing from the ship or aircraft before it leaves the United Kingdom; and for that purpose the master or commander may detain the said person in custody on board the ship or aircraft.

THIRD SCHEDULE

Section 18.

EFFECT IN UNITED KINGDOM OF ACTION TAKEN IN CHANNEL ISLANDS OR ISLE OF MAN

Refusal of admission

1.—(1) Where a Commonwealth citizen who has been refused admission into any of the Islands under section two of this Act, as extended under section eighteen, enters the United Kingdom without being examined in pursuance of Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, the notice under the said Part I as so extended refusing him such admission shall, unless previously cancelled under this Act as so extended, have effect as if it were a notice under the said Part I refusing him admission into the United Kingdom, and had been given to him when he landed in the United Kingdom; and the provisions of this Act with respect to such refusals of admission and notices (including in particular sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 2 of the said First Schedule) shall apply accordingly.

(2) Where a notice refusing any person admission into any of the Islands is cancelled under Part I of the First Schedule to this Act as applied by this paragraph, the cancellation shall have effect at any time thereafter when the notice would, apart from the cancellation, have effect by virtue of this paragraph as a notice refusing that person admission into the United Kingdom.

Conditional admission

2.—(1) Where a Commonwealth citizen who has been admitted into any of the Islands subject to conditions under section two of this Act, as extended under section eighteen, enters the United Kingdom without being examined in pursuance of Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, those conditions shall, unless they have previously been revoked or ceased to have effect under this Act as so extended, apply to him while in the United Kingdom as if they were specified in a notice under the said Part I admitting him into the United Kingdom subject to those conditions; and the provisions of this Act with respect to such conditions and notices shall apply accordingly.

(2) In the application by virtue of this paragraph of any condition limiting the period for which a Commonwealth citizen may remain

3RD SCH. in any of the Islands, the condition shall be treated as if it provided that he shall not remain in the United Kingdom after the expiration of the period specified therein.

(3) Where a condition imposed upon any person in any of the Islands is revoked or varied by the Secretary of State under Part I of the First Schedule to this Act as applied by this paragraph, the revocation or variation shall have effect at any time thereafter when the condition would, apart from the revocation or variation, apply to that person by virtue of this paragraph while in the United Kingdom.

Cesser of United Kingdom notices and conditions on landing in Islands

3. Any notice under paragraph 2 of the First Schedule to this Act refusing a person admission into the United Kingdom or admitting him there subject to conditions, and any condition specified in such a notice, shall, unless previously cancelled or revoked under that Schedule, cease to have effect if that person lands or seeks to land in any of the Islands and is on that occasion examined in pursuance of Part I of that Schedule as extended under section eighteen of this Act.

Deportation

4.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, a deportation order made in any of the Islands under Part II of this Act as extended under section eighteen shall have effect, in the United Kingdom, as if it were a deportation order made by the Secretary of State requiring the person to whom it relates to leave the United Kingdom and prohibiting him from returning there; and section ten of this Act shall apply accordingly with the necessary modifications.

(2) The Secretary of State may in any particular case direct that sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph shall not apply in relation to a deportation order made in any of the Islands; and nothing in this paragraph shall render it unlawful for a person in respect of whom a deportation order made in any of the Islands is in force to enter the United Kingdom on his way from that Island to a place outside the United Kingdom.

CHAPTER 22

An Act to provide for the appointment to the Industrial Coal Consumers' Council and the Domestic Coal Consumers' Council of persons to represent Northern Irish interests. [24th May, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) The persons who may be appointed by the Minister of Power to the Consumers' Councils established under section four of the Coal Industry Nationalisation Act, 1946 (hereafter in this Act referred to as "the principal Act") shall include—Representation of Northern Irish interests on Coal Consumers' Councils. 9 & 10 Geo. 6. c. 59.

(a) in the case of the Industrial Coal Consumers' Council, persons appointed by him to represent consumers of coal, coke and manufactured fuel respectively in Northern Ireland for industrial purposes or other purposes involving supply in bulk, and to represent persons engaged in organising or effecting the sale or supply of coal, coke and manufactured fuel respectively in Northern Ireland for those purposes;

(b) in the case of the Domestic Coal Consumers' Council, persons appointed by him to represent consumers of coal, coke and manufactured fuel respectively in Northern Ireland for domestic purposes and other purposes not falling within the foregoing paragraph, and to represent persons engaged in organising or effecting the sale or supply of coal, coke or manufactured fuel respectively in Northern Ireland for those purposes.

(2) In subsection (3) of the said section four (which provides that the duties of the Industrial Coal Consumers' Council shall include consideration of the matters therein mentioned which are the subject of representations made by consumers of coal, coke or manufactured fuel) the reference to consumers shall include a reference to consumers in Northern Ireland, and subsection (4) of the said section (which relates to the duties of the Domestic Coal Consumers' Council) shall be construed accordingly.

2. There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament any increase attributable to the provisions of the foregoing section in the sums payable out of such moneys by way of remuneration, allowances and expenses payable by the Minister of Power under subsection (6) of section four of the principal Act.

Expenses.

3.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Coal Consumers' Councils (Northern Irish Interests) Act, 1962, and this Act and the Coal Industry Acts, 1946 to 1961, may be cited together as the Coal Industry Acts, 1946 to 1962.

Citation and construction.

(2) This Act shall be construed as one with the principal Act.

CHAPTER 23

An Act to make final provision as to the operation of the law in consequence of the Union of South Africa having become a republic outside the Commonwealth.

[24th May, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Nationality,
etc.

1.—(1) In subsection (3) of section one of the British Nationality Act, 1948 (which specifies the countries whose citizens are by virtue of that citizenship British subjects or Commonwealth citizens) the reference to South Africa shall be omitted; and accordingly any person who, immediately before the commencement of this Act, was a British subject by virtue only of his citizenship of the Republic shall cease to be a British subject at the commencement of this Act.

(2) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect for continuing, for the benefit of citizens of the Republic who make application, or give notice of intention to make application, before the end of the year nineteen hundred and sixty-five, certain provisions of the said Act of 1948 with respect to the acquisition by registration of citizenship of the United Kingdom and Colonies; and in relation to an application for registration as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies made before the end of that year by a woman who is a citizen of the Republic, subsection (2) of section six of that Act shall apply as if she were a British subject.

(3) Until the end of the year nineteen hundred and sixty-five, a citizen of the Republic shall not be subject, in respect of any office, place or employment held by him at the commencement of this Act, or any qualification to act in any capacity in which he was acting at the commencement of this Act, to any disability imposed in the case of aliens by or by virtue of any of the following enactments, that is to say—

- (a) section three of the Act of Settlement;
- (b) sections four to six of the Aliens Restriction (Amendment) Act, 1919;
- (c) section eighty-eight of the Patents Act, 1949, or any rules made for the purposes of that section; or
- (d) any Act of the Parliament of Northern Ireland, or any regulations in force under any such Act.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3) of this section a person who at the commencement of this Act was on leave from or otherwise temporarily absent from employment in any capacity mentioned in subsection (1) of section five of the Aliens Restriction (Amendment) Act, 1919 (master, etc., of British merchant ship) shall be treated as if he were employed in such employment at the commencement of this Act; and where the said subsection (3) applies to any person in respect of any office, place or employment held by him at the commencement of this Act, it shall apply to him also in respect of any office, place or employment to or in which he may be appointed or employed thereafter by way of re-engagement or transfer.

2.—(1) The enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act shall continue to apply in relation to the Republic as provided by that Schedule. Other provisions as to existing law.

(2) The provisions of the Third Schedule to this Act (being transitional provisions and savings) shall have effect with respect to the enactments referred to in that Schedule.

(3) The enactments described in the Fourth Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in the second column of that Schedule; and the enactments and instruments described in the Fifth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

(4) Without prejudice to subsection (2) of this section, the provisions of the Interpretation Act, 1889, and any rule of law with respect to the effect of repeals shall apply in relation to any enactment which ceases to apply in relation to the Republic, or persons or things belonging thereto or connected therewith, otherwise than by virtue of the repeals effected by this section, as if it were repealed by this section to the extent that it ceases so to apply.

3.—(1) In this Act “the Republic” means the Republic of South Africa; and references to the Republic, in relation to any time before the thirty-first day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, include references to the Union of South Africa. Interpretation etc.

(2) Any reference in this Act to an enactment is a reference thereto as amended, and includes a reference thereto as extended or applied, by or under any other enactment; and any such reference to any enactment which extends to the Isle of Man, any of the Channel Islands or any colony or other territory, includes a reference thereto as it so extends.

(3) For the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, this Act, so far as it relates to any enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland or any enactment which that Parliament has power to amend, shall be deemed to be an Act passed before the appointed day within the meaning of that section.

E*

Short title
and com-

- 4.—(1) This Act may be cited as the South Africa Act, 1962.
(2) This Act shall come into operation on the thirty-first day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

TEMPORARY CONTINUANCE OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF BRITISH NATIONALITY ACT, 1948, WITH RESPECT TO CITIZENSHIP BY REGISTRATION.

1. Subsection (1) of section six of the British Nationality Act, 1948, and subsection (2) of section three of the British Nationality Act, 1958, shall apply in relation to citizens of the Republic as they apply in relation to citizens of countries mentioned in subsection (3) of section one of the said Act of 1948; but no person shall by virtue of this paragraph be registered as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies under the said subsection (1) unless either—

- (a) he makes application under that subsection before the end of the year nineteen hundred and sixty-five; or
- (b) he gives notice under paragraph 2 below before the end of that year of his intention to make such an application, and makes the application within five years after giving that notice.

2. A notice of intention to make such an application shall be given to such person and in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations under section twenty-nine of the said Act of 1948; and such a notice may be given only by a citizen of the Republic who, at the time when the notice is given, is—

- (a) ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom or in any colony or protectorate residence in which may qualify for registration under the said subsection (1); or
- (b) in Crown service under Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom; or
- (c) serving either under an international organisation of which Her Majesty's said Government is a member or in the employment of a society, company or body of persons established in the United Kingdom or in any such colony or protectorate.

3. A person who would be entitled or qualified to be registered as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies under subsection (1) of the said section six as extended by this Schedule if he were a citizen of the Republic may, with the approval of the Secretary of State, be so registered notwithstanding that he has ceased to be such a citizen if he was such a citizen immediately before making his application or giving notice under paragraph 2 above.

4. In relation to any application for registration made under subsection (6) of section twelve of the said Act of 1948 by a citizen of the Republic, paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section three of the British Nationality Act, 1958 (which prescribes the time within which such applications may be made) shall have effect as if for the words "nineteen hundred and sixty-two" there were substituted the words "nineteen hundred and sixty-five"; and for the purposes of any such application the references in the said subsection (6) to the United Kingdom and Colonies (other than references to citizenship of the United Kingdom and Colonies) shall be construed as including references to the protectorates of Bechuanaland and Swaziland.

5. No person shall, by virtue of this Schedule, be entitled to be registered as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies if a deportation order, or a recommendation for the making of a deportation order, is in force in respect of him under any Order in Council made in pursuance of the Aliens Restriction Act, 1914; but the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, register as such a citizen any person who would be entitled or qualified to be so registered but for this paragraph.

6. In relation to any application for registration made before the end of the year nineteen hundred and sixty-five, the following provisions of the British Nationality Act, 1948, that is to say subsection (2) of section eight, subsection (7) of section twelve and section twenty-six, shall have effect as if—

- (a) references to any country mentioned in subsection (3) of section one of that Act included references to the Republic; and
- (b) references to the High Commissioner for Her Majesty's government in the United Kingdom included references to Her Majesty's Ambassador for the United Kingdom to the Republic or the person appointed to act as chargé d'affaires during the absence or incapacity of such an Ambassador.

7. This Schedule shall be construed as one with the British Nationality Act, 1948.

SECOND SCHEDULE

PROVISIONS FOR CONTINUING OPERATION OF CERTAIN ENACTMENTS IN RELATION TO REPUBLIC

Colonial probates

1. The Colonial Probates Act, 1892, shall apply in relation to the Republic as it applies in relation to a British possession; and any Order in Council in force under that Act in relation to the Republic immediately before the commencement of this Act shall continue in force accordingly.

Maintenance orders

2.—(1) The Maintenance Orders (Facilities for Enforcement) Act, 1920, shall apply in relation to the Republic as it applies in relation to a part of Her Majesty's dominions; and any Order in Council in force under that Act in relation to the Republic immediately before the commencement of this Act shall continue in force accordingly.

(2) For the purposes of the application of the said Act in relation to the Republic in accordance with the foregoing subparagraph, references in that Act to the governor of a part of Her Majesty's dominions shall, in the case of the Republic, be construed as references to the Minister of Justice.

2ND SCH.

3. In subsection (1) of section one of the Naval Forces (Enforcement of Maintenance Liabilities) Act, 1947 (deductions from pay in respect of liabilities for maintenance, etc.) the reference to an order or decree of any court in Her Majesty's dominions shall be construed as including a reference to an order or decree (whenever made) of any court in the Republic; and any Order in Council made under section three of the Naval and Marine Pay and Pensions Act, 1865, before the commencement of this Act shall be construed accordingly.

Companies' registers

4.—(1) Sections one hundred and nineteen to one hundred and twenty-one of the Companies Act, 1948, and sections one hundred and sixteen to one hundred and eighteen of the Companies Act (Northern Ireland), 1960 ("dominion registers") and section one hundred and twenty-three of the Companies Act, 1948 (branch registers of "dominion" companies kept in Great Britain) shall apply in relation to the Republic as they apply in relation to a part of Her Majesty's dominions.

(2) The references in the foregoing sub-paragraph to provisions of the said Act of 1948 and of the said Act of 1960 shall be construed as including references to any corresponding provisions in force at the commencement of this Act which are contained in any enactment, royal charter or other instrument constituting or regulating any body corporate incorporated in, and having its principal office or a principal place of business in, Great Britain or Northern Ireland.

Sugar

5.—(1) Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of section one of the Sugar Act, 1956 (establishment and principal functions of Sugar Board) shall apply to sugar exported or to be exported from the territories of the Republic as it applies in relation to Commonwealth sugar.

(2) Any profit or loss realised by the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food in connection with sugar purchased by the Sugar Board, as agents for him, in pursuance of any agreement made before the commencement of this Act between that Minister and the South African Sugar Association shall be paid over to or made good by the Board; and any payments made to or by the Board by virtue of this provision shall be credited or debited to its revenue account.

6. For the purposes of the Import Duties Act, 1958, the Republic shall, subject to the general power of exclusion conferred by subsection (5) of section two of that Act, continue to form part of the Commonwealth preference area; and accordingly in the said section two—

(a) in subsection (4), the words "and the Union of South Africa" shall be omitted, and for the words "and the Republic of Ireland" there shall be substituted the words "the Republic of Ireland and the Republic of South Africa"; and

- (b) in subsection (9), for the words "the Union of South Africa" there shall be substituted the words "the Republic of South Africa".

2ND SCHED.

THIRD SCHEDULE

TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS AND SAVINGS

Fugitive offenders

1. Where, in the case of a person accused of having committed an offence within the territory of the Republic, a warrant or provisional warrant for his apprehension has been endorsed or issued outside the Republic under Part I or Part II of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881, and has been executed before the commencement of this Act, the provisions of that Act shall apply in relation to the warrant and any proceedings thereon as if the Republic were a part of Her Majesty's dominions:

Provided that no person shall be returned to the Republic by virtue of this paragraph—

- (a) if the offence of which he is accused is an offence of a political character or an offence which is not an offence under the law of the country or territory in which the warrant was endorsed or issued as aforesaid; or
- (b) if he proves to the satisfaction of a magistrate, court or authority having jurisdiction under the said Act to order his return or discharge that his return is in fact sought with a view to trying or punishing him for such an offence as aforesaid.

Veterinary surgeons

2.—(1) In the case of a person registered before the commencement of this Act as a colonial practitioner in the register of veterinary surgeons kept in pursuance of the Veterinary Surgeons Act, 1881, his continued registration as such a practitioner shall not be affected by the fact that the Republic is not part of Her Majesty's dominions.

(2) For the purposes of the registration of any person in the said register of veterinary surgeons after the commencement of this Act, the Republic shall be deemed never to have been a British possession.

(3) During the period beginning with the commencement of this Act and ending with the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and sixty-five, subsection (2) of section thirteen of the said Act of 1881 (which entitles persons satisfying certain conditions to be registered as foreign practitioners in the said register) shall have effect in relation to any British subject who shows that he holds some recognised veterinary diploma granted at any time in the Republic as if the condition relating to the practising of veterinary surgery (which applies only to British subjects) were omitted.

Medical practitioners

3.—(1) In the case of a person registered before the commencement of this Act as a Commonwealth practitioner under any of the provisions of Part III of the Medical Act, 1956, or of any enactment repealed by that Act, his continued registration as such a practitioner shall not be affected by the fact that the Republic is not a Commonwealth country.

3RD SCH.

(2) For the purposes of the registration of any person under any of the provisions of the said Part III after the commencement of this Act, the Republic shall be deemed never to have been a Commonwealth country.

Dentists

4.—(1) In the case of a person registered before the commencement of this Act in the Commonwealth list contained in the dentists register kept under the Dentists Act, 1957, his continued registration in that list shall not be affected by the fact that the Republic is not a country within the Commonwealth.

(2) For the purposes of the registration of any person in the said dentists register after the commencement of this Act, the Republic shall be deemed never to have been a country within the Commonwealth.

5.—(1) Where any person being an attorney of the Supreme Court of South Africa or of any local division thereof (within the meaning of the Order of 1919)—

(a) has before the commencement of this Act complied with the requirements of clause (2) of that Order as to the leaving of documents; or

(b) is at the commencement of this Act serving bona fide as a clerk to a solicitor in England in pursuance of subsection (1) of section four of the Solicitors Act, 1957, the provisions of the said subsection (1) or of section one of the Colonial Solicitors Act, 1900 (as the case may require) and of the said Order shall continue to apply to him as if the Republic were a part of Her Majesty's dominions.

(2) In this paragraph "the Order of 1919" means the Order in Council made under the Colonial Solicitors Act, 1900, and dated the 14th day of January, 1919 (S.R. & O. 1919 No. 67) as amended (in its application to England) by Orders in Council dated the 16th day of April, 1923 (S.R. & O. 1923 No. 480) and the 6th day of May, 1938 (S.R. & O. 1938 No. 495); and the power of Her Majesty to revoke or vary Orders in Council under the said Act and under section four of the Solicitors' Act, 1957, shall include power to revoke or vary the Order of 1919 so far as continued in force by this paragraph.

6.—(1) A certificate of competency as—

(a) master, first mate or second mate of a foreign-going ship within the meaning of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894; or

(b) first-class or second-class engineer; or

(c) first-class or second-class motor engineer, granted under the Merchant Shipping (Certificates of Competency) Act, 1925 (an enactment of the legislature of the Republic) and any equivalent certificate of competency granted under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1951 (an enactment of the said legislature), being a certificate granted by the appropriate authority on or after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, but before the commencement of this Act, shall be of the same force as if it had been granted in the United Kingdom under the said Act of 1894.

3RD SCH.

(2) The provisions of the said Act of 1894 which relate to certificates of competency granted under that Act (except those relating to certificates for a home-trade passenger ship, and section one hundred and one) shall apply to any such certificate as is described in the foregoing paragraph, and to any certificate certified by the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen to have been issued by the proper authority after the commencement of this Act in place of such a certificate.

(3) In this paragraph "the proper authority" means the authority for the time being empowered by the legislature of the Republic to grant certificates of competency under the enactments of that legislature relating to merchant shipping.

7.—(1) For the purposes of the following provisions of the Merchandise Marks Acts, 1887 to 1953, that is to say—

- (a) subsection (1) (d) of section two of the Merchandise Marks Act, 1887 (application of false trade description to goods);
- (b) subsection (2) of the said section two (sale of goods bearing false trade description); and
- (c) subsection (1) of section one of the Merchandise Marks Act, 1926, and any Order in Council made under subsection (1) of section two of that Act (sale of goods lacking indication of origin), so far as those provisions apply to anything done before the relevant date prescribed by this paragraph, the word "Empire", when used in relation to goods or things manufactured or produced in the Republic or in the mandated territory of South West Africa, shall be deemed not to constitute a false trade description, or shall be deemed to constitute a sufficient indication of origin, as the case may be.

(2) For the purposes of this paragraph the relevant date—

- (a) in relation to subsection (1) (d) of section two of the Merchandise Marks Act, 1887, is the thirty-first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty-two;
- (b) in relation to the other provisions referred to in sub-paragraph (1), is the thirty-first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty-three;

Provided that for the purposes of section sixteen of the said Act of 1887 (prohibition on importation), the question whether any goods are goods which, if sold, would be liable to forfeiture under that Act shall be determined as if the thirty-first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, were the relevant date in relation to all the provisions referred to in sub-paragraph (1).

3RD SCH.

Old age pensions

8.—(1) In relation to any person to whom this paragraph applies, subsection (1) of section two of the Old Age Pensions Act, 1936 (statutory conditions for receipt of old age pension) shall (without prejudice to the restrictions imposed on the payment of such pensions by subsection (3) of section seventy-four of the National Insurance Act, 1946) have effect as if for paragraph (b) there were substituted the following paragraph:—

“(b) the person shall satisfy the pension authorities that for at least ten years up to the date of the receipt of any sum on account of a pension he has been a British subject, or a citizen of the Republic of South Africa, or partly the one and partly the other, and that he has been resident in the United Kingdom, if he was born a British subject, for an aggregate period of not less than twelve years since attaining the age of fifty years or, in the case of a blind person, twenty years and, if he was not born a British subject, for an aggregate period of twenty years;”.

(2) This paragraph applies to any person who satisfies the pension authorities (within the meaning of the said section two) that he was, immediately before the commencement of this Act, a British subject by virtue of being a citizen of the Republic, but ceased to be a British subject at the commencement of this Act (whether or not he has subsequently become a British subject again).

(3) References in the foregoing provisions of this paragraph to section two of the Old Age Pensions Act, 1936, and section seventy-four of the National Insurance Act, 1946, include respectively references to section two of the Old Age Pensions Act (Northern Ireland), 1936, and section seventy-one of the National Insurance Act (Northern Ireland), 1946.

Recognition of matrimonial decrees and orders

9. Any decree or order made before the commencement of this Act by virtue of a law of the Republic, being a decree or order of which the validity was required to be recognised in any British court by virtue of section four of the Matrimonial Causes (War Marriages) Act, 1944, shall continue to be so recognised as valid in all British courts as respects which that section has effect, notwithstanding that the Republic is not a part of Her Majesty's dominions.

Teachers

10.—(1) Section eleven of the Superannuation (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1948 and section twenty-two of the Teachers (Superannuation) (Amendment) Act (Northern Ireland), 1956 (power to make rules for treating certain overseas employments as approved external service in relation to teachers) and any rules made thereunder (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) shall have effect in relation to any person to whom this paragraph applies as if the Republic were a part of Her Majesty's dominions.

(2) This paragraph applies to any teacher who at any time during the three months immediately preceding the commencement of this Act was employed in the Republic or in the mandated territory of South West Africa in approved external service (within the meaning of section thirteen of the Teachers (Superannuation) Act, 1925, or section thirteen of the Teachers (Superannuation) Act (Northern Ireland), 1950, as the case may be).

CHAPTER 24

An Act to amend section thirty-one of the National Assistance Act, 1948, and to empower local authorities to provide meals and recreation for old people; and for purposes connected therewith. [24th May, 1962]

1.—(1) The following section shall be substituted for section thirty-one of the National Assistance Act, 1948 (which relates to contributions by local authorities to the funds of voluntary organisations):—

“Provision of meals and recreation for old people.

31.—(1) A local authority shall have power to make such arrangements as the authority may from time to time determine for providing meals and recreation for old people in their homes or elsewhere, and may employ as their agent for the purposes of this subsection any voluntary organisation whose activities consist in or include the provision of meals or recreation for old people.

(2) A local authority may recover from persons availing themselves of any service provided under subsection (1) of this section such charges (if any) as, having regard to the cost of the service, the authority may determine, whether generally or in the circumstances of any particular case.

(3) A local authority may assist any such organisation as is referred to in subsection (1) of this section to provide meals or recreation for old people by contributing to the funds of the organisation, by permitting them to use premises belonging to the local authority on such terms as may be agreed, and by making available furniture, vehicles or equipment (whether by way of gift or loan or otherwise) and the services of any staff who are employed by the local authority in connection with the premises or other things which they permit the organisation to use.

(4) Subsection (2) of section thirty-three of this Act (which relates to the establishment of committees and joint boards for the purposes of this Part of this Act) shall not apply for the purposes of this section.”

(2) In subsection (1) of section thirty-three of the said Act of 1948 (which defines “local authority” for the purposes of Part III of that Act), the proviso shall be amended by inserting before the words “as respects Scotland” the words “in subsection (3) of the said section thirty-one the said expression means”.

2. This Act may be cited as the National Assistance Act, 1948 Short title. (Amendment) Act, 1962.

CHAPTER 25

An Act to amend the law relating to the constitution and proceedings of the Police Federations.

[24th May, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Power to prescribe constitution and proceedings of Federations.
9 & 10 Geo. 5.
c. 46.

1.—(1) Subject to this section, the Secretary of State may by regulations prescribe the constitution and proceedings of the Police Federations established under section one of the Police Act, 1919, for England and Wales and for Scotland, and those regulations shall have effect in place of the provisions governing the Federations contained in the Schedule to that Act.

(2) Before making any regulations under this section the Secretary of State shall consult the three Central Committees of the Police Federation to which the regulations will relate, sitting together as a Joint Committee; and any such regulations, which shall be made by statutory instrument, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(3) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1) of this section, regulations under this section may make provision—

- (a) with respect to the membership of the Federations;
- (b) with respect to the raising of funds by the Federations by voluntary subscription and the use and management of funds derived from such subscriptions;
- (c) for the treatment of attendance at meetings of committees and other bodies of the Federations as an occasion of police duty for the purpose of allowances and expenses; and
- (d) for the payment by the Secretary of State of expenses incurred in connection with the Federations; and any provision under paragraph (a) of this subsection shall have effect notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of section one of the said Act of 1919.

(4) Regulations under this section may contain such transitional and consequential provisions as the Secretary of State thinks fit, including provisions adapting references in any enactment (including this Act) to committees or other bodies of the Federations.

(5) As from the date on which regulations under this section first come into force, references in subsection (1) of section one of the said Act of 1919 to the Schedule to that Act shall include references to regulations under this section.

(6) So much of subsection (1) of section thirteen of the said Act of 1919 as enables the Secretary of State to adapt the Schedule to that Act to the circumstances of Scotland shall cease to have effect, but this subsection shall not affect any orders under that section made before the passing of this Act.

(7) There shall be paid out of money provided by Parliament any expenditure of the Secretary of State, and any increase in the sums so payable under any other Act, which is attributable to this Act.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Police Federations Act, 1962. Short title, repeal,
and extent.

(2) The enactments specified in Part I of the Schedule to this Act shall to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule be repealed—

(a) for England on the date on which regulations relating to the Police Federation established for England and Wales first come into force under this Act, and

(b) for Scotland on the date on which regulations relating to the Police Federation established for Scotland first come into force under this Act, and on the date on which those enactments are repealed for Scotland the instruments specified in Part II of that Schedule (which make Scottish adaptations in the Schedule to the said Act of 1919) shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

(3) This Act does not extend to Northern Ireland.

CHAPTER 26

An Act to prohibit the killing of animals by cruel poisons; and for purposes connected therewith. [3rd July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Offences and penalties.

1. Where the use of any poison for the purpose of destroying any animal has been prohibited or restricted by regulations under this Act—

(a) the fact that the poison was used as mentioned in the proviso to section eight of the Protection of Animals Act, 1911, or the proviso to section seven of the Protection of Animals (Scotland) Act, 1912, shall not be a defence in proceedings under paragraph (b) of either section if the poison was used in contravention of the regulations; and

(b) any person convicted in such proceedings of an offence committed by or in connection with the use of the poison in contravention of the regulations shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both.

1 & 2 Geo. 5.
c. 27.

2 & 3 Geo. 5.
c. 14.

Prohibition or restriction of use of poisons.

2.—(1) Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that a poison cannot be used for destroying animals or animals of any description without causing undue suffering and that other suitable methods of destroying them exist and are or would in certain circumstances be adequate, he may by regulations made by statutory instrument prohibit or restrict the use of that poison for destroying animals or, as the case may be, animals of that description.

(2) A statutory instrument containing regulations under this section shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

Interpretation.

3. In this Act "animal" means any mammal.

Short title, citation, extent and commencement.

4.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Animals (Cruel Poisons) Act, 1962.

(2) This Act and the Protection of Animals Acts, 1911 to 1960, may be cited together as the Protection of Animals Acts, 1911 to 1962, and this Act and the Protection of Animals (Scotland) Acts, 1912 to 1960, may be cited together as the Protection of Animals (Scotland) Acts, 1912 to 1962.

(3) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

(4) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and sixty-three.

CHAPTER 27

An Act to authorise the sending by the recorded delivery service of certain documents and other things required or authorised to be sent by registered post; and for purposes connected therewith. [3rd July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) Any enactment which requires or authorises a document or other thing to be sent by registered post (whether or not it makes any other provision in relation thereto) shall have effect as if it required or, as the case may be, authorised that thing to be sent by registered post or the recorded delivery service; and any enactment which makes any other provision in relation to the sending of a document or other thing by registered post or to a thing so sent shall have effect as if it made the like provision in relation to the sending of that thing by the recorded delivery service or, as the case may be, to a thing sent by that service.

Recorded delivery service to be an alternative to registered post.

(2) The Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purpose of making consequential adaptations of the enactments therein mentioned.

(3) Subject to the following subsection the Postmaster General may by order make such amendments of any enactment contained in a local or private Act (being an enactment to which this Act applies) as appear to him to be necessary or expedient in consequence of subsection (1) of this section.

(4) Before making an order under this section, the Postmaster General shall, unless it appears to him to be impracticable to do so, consult with the person who promoted the Bill for the Act to which the order relates, or where it appears to the Postmaster General that some other person has succeeded to the promoter's interest in that Act, that other person.

(5) Any order under this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order thereunder, and the power to make any such order shall be exercisable by statutory instrument which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(6) This section shall not be construed as authorising the sending by the recorded delivery service of anything which under the Post Office Act, 1953, or any instrument thereunder is not allowed to be sent by that service.

1 & 2 Eliz. 2.
c. 36.

Application and interpretation.

2.—(1) Subject to the next following subsection, this Act applies to the following enactments, that is to say,—

- (a) the provisions of any Act (whether public general, local or private) passed before or in the same Session as this Act ;
- (b) the provisions of any Church Assembly Measure so passed ;
- (c) the provisions of any agricultural marketing scheme made under the Agricultural Marketing Act, 1958, before the passing of this Act or having effect as if made under that Act ;

6 & 7 Eliz. 2.
c. 47.

and, in the case of a provision which has been applied by or under any other enactment passed, or any instrument made under any enactment passed, before or in the same Session as this Act, applies to that provision as so applied, subject, however, in the case of an instrument made after the passing of this Act to any contrary intention appearing therein ; and references in this Act (except this section) to any enactment shall be construed accordingly.

(2) This Act does not apply—

10 & 11 Geo. 6.
c. 44.

- (a) to subsection (2) of section nine of the Crown Proceedings Act, 1947 (which enables proceedings to be brought against the Crown for loss of or damage to registered inland postal packets) ;
- (b) to any enactment which, either as originally enacted or as amended by any subsequent enactment, requires or authorises a thing to be sent by the recorded delivery service as an alternative to registered post or makes provision in relation to a thing sent by that service ;
- (c) to the provisions of any Act of the Parliament of Northern Ireland or of any local or private Act which extends only to Northern Ireland.

(3) In this Act—

references to sending a document or other thing include references to serving, executing, giving or delivering it or doing any similar thing ;

references to sending any thing by registered post include references to sending it by or in a registered letter or packet, whether the references are expressed in those terms or terms having the like effect and whether or not there is any mention of the post or pre-payment ;

references to any thing sent by registered post or the recorded delivery service shall be construed accordingly ; and references to a local Act include references to any Act confirming a provisional order or scheme.

3.—(1) It is hereby declared that (subject to subsection (2) of Extent. the foregoing section) this Act extends to Northern Ireland.

(2) For the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, this Act shall, so far as it relates to matters within the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland, be deemed to be an Act passed before the appointed day within the meaning of that section. 10 & 11 Geo. 5. c. 67.

(3) This Act, so far as it amends any enactment which extends to the Isle of Man or to any of the Channel Islands, or which applies in relation to persons of or belonging to any such island, shall extend to that island or, as the case may be, shall apply in like manner in relation to those persons.

4. This Act may be cited as the Recorded Delivery Service Act, 1962. Short title.

SCHEDULE

ADAPTATION OF ENACTMENTS

1. Any reference, however worded,—

(a) in any enactment the provisions of which apply to, or operate in consequence of the operation of, any enactment amended by section one of this Act ; or

(b) in any enactment relating to the sending of documents or other things otherwise than by registered post or to documents or other things so sent ; to the registered post or to a registered letter or packet, shall be construed as including a reference to the recorded delivery service or to a letter or packet sent by that service ; and any reference, however worded, in any such enactment to a Post Office receipt for a registered letter or to an acknowledgment of or certificate of delivery of a registered letter shall be construed accordingly.

2. The foregoing paragraph shall not be taken to prejudice the generality of subsection (1) of section one of this Act.

3. In the Citation Amendment (Scotland) Act, 1882, the references in the Second Schedule to the post office charge for registration shall include references to the post office charge for sending by the recorded delivery service. 45 & 46 Vict. c. 77.

4. The power conferred by subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, to make rules for providing that any document mentioned in that subsection may be produced to a court or tribunal by sending it by registered post shall include power to make rules for providing that any such document may be so produced by sending it by the recorded delivery service. 15 & 16 Geo. 5. c. 49.

5. The requirement imposed by subsection (4) of section nine of the Agricultural Marketing Act, 1958, that every scheme under that Act shall be so framed as to secure that the notice mentioned in paragraph (b) of that subsection shall be served by registered post shall have effect as a requirement that that notice shall be served by registered post or by the recorded delivery service.

[3rd July, 1962]

PART I

EXCHEQUER SUBSIDIES FOR NEW HOUSES PROVIDED BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES AND OTHER BODIES

subsidies.

1.—(1) The Secretary of State may approve for the purposes of this Part of this Act proposals received by him on or after the first day of November, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, for the provision of new houses—

- (a) by a local authority in the exercise of their powers to provide housing accommodation, or
- (b) by a development corporation otherwise than in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority, or
- (c) by a development corporation in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority, or
- (d) by a housing association in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority or special arrangements made with the Secretary of State, or
- (e) by the Scottish Special Housing Association in the circumstances specified in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1957; and in respect of each such house so provided in accordance with proposals so approved (in this Act referred to as an “ approved house ”) the Secretary of State shall, subject to section eight of this Act, pay for a period of sixty years an annual exchequer subsidy determined for that house in accordance with this Part of this Act.

PART I

(2) An exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act in respect of an approved house shall be paid to the local authority or other body by whom the house was provided, except that an exchequer subsidy payable in respect of an approved house provided in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority shall be paid to the local authority, who shall pay to the development corporation or housing association, as the case may be, by way of annual grant an amount not less than the exchequer subsidy.

(3) No exchequer contribution or other payment shall be payable under any of the following enactments—

- (a) sections eighty-four, eighty-six, eighty-seven, and eighty-eight of the Act of 1950 ;
- (b) sections two and three, and subsection (1) of section twenty-three, of the Act of 1957, in respect of any house proposals for the provision of which were or are received by the Secretary of State on or after the first day of November, nineteen hundred and sixty-one.

2.—(1) In respect of each approved house—

- (a) provided by a local authority in pursuance of any over-spill agreement within the meaning of Part II of the Act of 1957, or
- (b) provided by a local authority, being an exporting authority within the meaning of the said Part II, in the district of another local authority (being an approved house in respect of which the Secretary of State is of the opinion that an exchequer subsidy under this paragraph should be paid), or
- (c) provided by a development corporation otherwise than in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority, or
- (d) provided by the Scottish Special Housing Association in the circumstances specified in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1957,

Amounts of subsidies— approved houses provided by local authorities for special purposes and houses provided by other bodies.

the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy shall (subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act) be forty-two pounds.

(2) In respect of each approved house—

- (a) provided by a local authority in accordance with arrangements made with the approval of the Secretary of State as being desirable by reason of special circumstances for the provision of housing accommodation in any area for persons coming to that area in order to meet the urgent needs of industry, and so coming wholly, or, in the case of the council of a county (other than a county of a city) wholly or partly, from outside the district of the authority, or

PART I

(b) provided by a development corporation in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority, or

(c) provided by a housing association in pursuance of authorised arrangements made with a local authority or special arrangements made with the Secretary of State, the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy shall (subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act) be thirty-two pounds.

Amounts of subsidies—other approved houses provided by local authorities.

3.—(1) In respect of each approved house provided by a local authority and completed in any financial year, not being a house to which the last foregoing section applies, the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy shall (subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act) be determined in accordance with this section.

(2) A comparison shall be made between—

(a) the total of the amounts carried to the credit of the local authority's housing revenue account, as adjusted in accordance with this section, for the relevant financial year (in this section referred to as the "credits"), and

(b) the total of the amounts carried to the debit of that account (adjusted as aforesaid) for that year (in this section referred to as the "debits").

(3) For the purposes of the comparison required by the last foregoing subsection—

(a) it shall be assumed that in the credits, for the income for the relevant financial year from rents in respect of the houses to which the said account relates and any amounts carried to the credit of the account for that year under paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of the Act of 1950 and under subsection (1) of section five of the Act of 1957 there has been substituted an amount equal to the aggregate of—

(i) the local authority's total housing valuation for the relevant financial year (ascertained in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to this Act) and

(ii) if the total housing valuation is less than the amount arrived at by multiplying sixty pounds, or

PART I

such other sum as the Secretary of State, after consultation with the Treasury, may by order prescribe, by the total number of houses for the relevant financial year (ascertained in accordance with Part II of the said Schedule), an amount equal to half the difference ;

- (b) there shall be excluded from the debits any expenditure by way of rebates from rents ;
- (c) there shall be excluded from the debits any surplus shown in the account at the end of the relevant financial year and from the credits any surplus brought forward from the account for the immediately preceding financial year ;
- (d) there shall be excluded from the debits such amount, if any, as the Secretary of State may under subsection (6) of this section direct to be so excluded.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section the amount of the exchequer subsidy in respect of each house shall be—

- (a) if on the comparison required by subsection (2) of this section being made there is a deficit, thirty-two pounds plus the sum, if any, required by the Second Schedule to this Act to be added ;
- (b) if on that comparison being made there is no deficit and the next following subsection applies, thirty-two pounds ;
- (c) if on that comparison being made there is no deficit and the next following subsection does not apply, twelve pounds.

(5) This subsection shall apply (and accordingly paragraph (b) of the last foregoing subsection shall have effect) if on the comparison required by subsection (2) of this section being made the credits do not exceed the debits by more than the difference between—

- (a) thirty-two pounds multiplied by the estimated number of approved houses to be provided by the local authority and completed in the financial year in which the approved house in question was completed (excluding houses to which the last foregoing section applies), and
- (b) twelve pounds multiplied by that number.

(6) If it appears to the Secretary of State that in the accounts of the local authority for the relevant financial year the total amount carried to the credit of the local authority's housing repairs account from their housing revenue account in accordance with subsection (1) of section one hundred and forty of the Act of 1950 (which requires a local authority to make a transfer to their housing repairs account of a minimum amount equal to eight pounds for every house to which the housing revenue account relates) is, to the extent that it exceeds that minimum amount, excessive having regard to the previous practice of the local authority and to any other circumstances, he may, after consulting the local authority, direct that for the purposes of the comparison required by subsection (2) of this section some part of the total amount, so far as it exceeds that minimum amount, shall be excluded from the debits.

PART I

(7) Any order for the purposes of paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of this section shall be made by statutory instrument; and no order for those purposes shall be made unless a draft thereof has been laid before Parliament and approved by resolution of the Commons House thereof.

(8) For the purposes of the calculations required by this section to be made in relation to any local authority for any financial year there shall be used such accounts, whether provisional or final, of the local authority (being accounts for that financial year) as the Secretary of State may direct; and if provisional accounts are used nothing in this section shall be taken to require the making of any recalculation on the final accounts becoming available.

(9) Notwithstanding anything in this section the Secretary of State may direct that the subsidy payable under this section in respect of an approved house to which this section applies shall be of the same amount as if the house had been completed in the financial year immediately preceding that in which it was in fact completed:

Provided that no direction shall be given under this subsection unless—

- (a) the local authority request the Secretary of State to give such a direction, and
- (b) the Secretary of State is satisfied that it is reasonable to comply with the request.

(10) In this section and in the First and Second Schedules to this Act—

- (a) “ financial year ” has the same meaning as in section one hundred and seventy-four of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947; and “ relevant financial year ” in relation to any house means the financial year preceding that in which the house was completed, except that if in the opinion of the Secretary of State adequate information as to the local authority’s housing revenue account for that year will not be available within a reasonable time after the completion of any house, the relevant financial year in relation to that house shall be such earlier financial year as the Secretary of State may determine, having regard to the availability of information about the local authority's housing revenue account for that earlier year ; and

PART I

- (b) any reference to an estimated number is a reference to the number as estimated by the local authority with the approval of the Secretary of State.

4. In respect of an approved house provided towards the provision of housing accommodation for the agricultural population (being an approved house in respect of which the Secretary of State considers that this section should apply) the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act shall be the amount determined therefor apart from this section plus twelve pounds.

Additional subsidy for approved houses provided for the agricultural population.

5. In respect of an approved house provided in a block of flats the major part of which, as determined by the Secretary of State, is of six or more storeys (inclusive of any storey constructed for use for purposes other than those of a dwelling) the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act shall be the amount determined therefor apart from this section plus forty pounds.

Additional subsidy for approved houses provided in blocks of flats.

6. Where the Secretary of State is satisfied, on an application made to him by a local authority or other body by whom an approved house is, or is to be, provided, that the cost of providing the house has been or will be substantially enhanced by expenses attributable—

Additional subsidy for approved houses where cost is enhanced in respect of rights of support or measures to preserve character of surroundings.

- (a) to the acquisition of rights of support, or otherwise attributable to measures taken by them for securing protection against the consequences of a subsidence of the site, or
- (b) to measures taken, with his consent, by them in the construction of the house (whether by the use of stone or other special material or otherwise howsoever) in order to preserve the character of the surroundings, then the amount of the annual exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act in respect of that house shall be the amount determined therefor apart from this section plus—in the case of a house to which paragraph (a) of this section applies, such sum (if any) not exceeding two pounds as the Secretary of State may direct ;

in the case of a house to which paragraph (b) of this section applies, such sum (if any) not exceeding five pounds as the Secretary of State may direct.

7.—(1) If an approved house consists of or is comprised in a building erected on a site the cost of which as developed (ascertained in accordance with the provisions of the Third Schedule to this Act and expressed as a cost per acre) exceeds four thousand pounds, then in respect of that house the amount

subsidy for approved houses on expensive sites.

PART I

of the annual exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act shall be the amount determined therefor apart from this section plus the amount determined in respect of the house under this section.

(2) There shall be calculated a sum (in this section referred to as "the total site subsidy") in respect of the whole site at the rate of sixty pounds per acre, increased at the rate of thirty-four pounds per acre for every thousand pounds or part of a thousand pounds by which the said cost exceeds five thousand pounds:

Provided that—

(a) if none of the buildings erected or to be erected on the site is a block of flats the major part of which, as determined by the Secretary of State, is of six or more storeys (inclusive of any storey constructed for use for purposes other than those of a dwelling) any amount by which the said cost exceeds ten thousand pounds shall be disregarded:

(b) if any building or part of a building erected or to be erected on the site is designed for use for purposes other than those of a dwelling, then, for the purpose of calculating any total site subsidy in respect of that site, the said cost shall be deemed to be reduced by so much thereof as, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, may fairly be apportioned to that building or part of a building.

(3) The total site subsidy shall be allocated in such proportions as the Secretary of State may determine among all the approved houses consisting of or comprised in buildings erected on the site; and the amount so allocated to any approved house shall be the amount to be included by virtue of subsection (1) of this section in the annual exchequer subsidy payable under this Part of this Act in respect of that house.

Power to abolish or reduce subsidies.

8.—(1) The Secretary of State may from time to time by order direct that, in respect of approved houses of any description specified in the order, or such houses in any area so specified, exchequer subsidies under this Part of this Act—

(a) shall cease to be payable, or

(b) shall be reduced to such amount as may be specified in the order, or

(c) shall be payable for such reduced number of years as may be so specified.

(2) An order made under this section shall be so expressed as to apply only to approved houses the proposals in respect of which were or are received by the Secretary of State after such day as may be specified in the order ; and an order may specify for the purposes of this subsection a day earlier than the day of the making of the order :

PART I

Provided that in the case of any order made within ten years from the passing of this Act, the order shall not specify for the purposes of this subsection a day earlier than the day on which the draft of the order is laid before Parliament under the next following subsection.

(3) Any order for the purposes of this section shall be made by statutory instrument and no order for those purposes shall be made unless a draft thereof has been laid before Parliament and approved by resolution of the Commons House thereof.

(4) Before laying before Parliament the draft of an order for the purposes of this section the Secretary of State shall consult with such associations of local authorities as appear to him to be concerned, and with any particular local authority with whom consultation appears to him to be desirable.

9.—(1) If the Secretary of State is satisfied that a housing association or a development corporation have made default in giving effect to the terms of any authorised arrangements made with a local authority—

Supplementary powers with respect to subsidies for houses provided by housing associations and development corporations under authorised, or special, arrangements.

- (a) he may reduce the amount of any subsidy payable to the local authority under this Part of this Act in respect of houses provided under those authorised arrangements by the housing association or development corporation, or suspend or discontinue the payment of any such subsidy, as he thinks just, and
- (b) if the Secretary of State so reduces or suspends or discontinues the payment of the subsidy, the local authority may reduce to a proportionate or any less extent the annual grant payable by them to the housing association or development corporation, or may suspend the payment thereof for a corresponding period, or may discontinue the payment thereof, as the case may be.

(2) Where a house which has been provided by a housing association or a development corporation under authorised arrangements with a local authority becomes vested in that local authority—

- (a) no further subsidy or annual grant shall, after the time of the vesting, become payable under this Part of this Act by the Secretary of State, or, as the case may be, by the local authority, in respect of the house, but
- (b) the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, pay to the local authority a sum equivalent to any subsidy which would, after the said time, have become payable to them under this Part of this Act in respect of the house if all conditions precedent to the payment of the subsidy had been at all material times observed.

PART I

(3) If the Secretary of State is satisfied that a housing association have made default in giving effect to the terms of special arrangements made with the Secretary of State for the provision of houses he may reduce the amount of any subsidy payable under this Part of this Act in respect of the houses or suspend or discontinue the payment thereof, as he thinks just.

(4) Where any house provided by a housing association under special arrangements made with the Secretary of State becomes vested in a local authority—

- (a) no further subsidy shall, after the time of the vesting, become payable by the Secretary of State under this Part of this Act in respect of the house, but
- (b) the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, pay to the local authority a sum equivalent to any subsidy which would, after the said time, have become payable to the housing association under this Part of this Act in respect of the house if all conditions precedent to the payment of the subsidy had been at all material times observed.

Interpretation of Part I.

10.—(1) In this Part of this Act—

“ authorised arrangements made with a local authority ”, in relation to a housing association or a development corporation, means arrangements made between the association or corporation and a local authority, with the approval of the Secretary of State, under section eighty of the Act of 1950 ;

“ special arrangements made with the Secretary of State ”, in relation to a housing association, means arrangements made between the Secretary of State and the association for the provision of houses with a view to the approval of proposals for the houses by the Secretary of State under section one of this Act, being arrangements so made after consultation by the Secretary of State with the local authority in whose district the houses are to be provided.

(2) Any reference in this Part of this Act to a house shall be construed as including a reference to any residential accommodation provided for occupation by not more than two persons and equipped with cooking facilities for the exclusive use of those persons, notwithstanding that it is not equipped with facilities of other kinds for such exclusive use.

In this subsection the expression "cooking facilities" in relation to any residential accommodation means facilities suitable for the preparation of food for the number of persons for which the accommodation is provided, and if any question arises whether any particular facilities fall within that description it shall be decided by the Secretary of State.

PART I

PART II

OTHER FINANCIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO HOUSING ACCOMMODATION*Housing accommodation provided for letting*

11.—(1) If a housing association registered under the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893, submit to the Secretary of State a scheme under which they will provide housing accommodation, and satisfy the Secretary of State that under the scheme the housing accommodation so provided will be let or kept available for letting except at such times and in such cases as the Secretary of State may approve, the Secretary of State may make advances to the housing association in accordance with this section.

Advances to registered housing associations providing housing accommodation for letting.

(2) The Secretary of State may, in accordance with an agreement made by him with the housing association, make on such terms and conditions as he may approve advances to the housing association to meet the whole or any part of the expenditure incurred by the housing association in connection with the scheme, and the advances—

- (a) shall carry interest at the rate fixed by the Treasury under section one of the Public Works Loans Act, 1897, in respect of loans to local authorities made on the same date and for the same period, and
- (b) shall be repayable over such a period, not exceeding sixty years, and on such terms, as may, with the approval of the Treasury, be provided in the agreement.

(3) It shall be the duty of a housing association who have entered into an agreement under this section to comply with any directions which the Secretary of State may give to them with respect to the administration of the scheme and the disposal of assets provided under the scheme.

(4) Advances made under this section shall not exceed the aggregate sum of three million pounds.

(5) The Treasury may issue to the Secretary of State, out of the Consolidated Fund, such sums as are necessary to enable him to make advances under this section and, for the purpose of providing sums to be so issued or of providing for the replacement of sums so issued, the Treasury may at any time, if they think fit, raise money in any manner in which they are authorised to raise money under the National Loans Act, 1939; and any securities created and issued to raise money under this subsection shall be deemed for all purposes to have been created and issued under that Act.

PART II

(6) Any sums received by the Secretary of State under subsection (2) of this section shall be paid into the Exchequer and shall be issued out of the Consolidated Fund at such times as the Treasury may direct, and shall be applied by the Treasury as follows, that is to say—

(a) so much thereof as represents principal shall be applied in redeeming or paying off debt of such description as the Treasury think fit, and

(b) so much thereof as represents interest shall be applied towards meeting such part of the annual charges for the national debt as represents interest.

(7) The Secretary of State shall, in respect of each financial year, prepare in such form and manner as the Treasury may direct an account of sums issued to him for advances under this section, and of sums received by him under this section, and of the disposal by him of those sums respectively, and send it to the Comptroller and Auditor-General not later than the end of November in the following financial year; and the Comptroller and Auditor-General shall examine, certify and report on the account and lay copies of it, together with his report, before each House of Parliament.

(8) In this section references to the provision of housing accommodation are references to the provision of housing accommodation whether by building new houses or by the conversion or improvement of existing houses or by the conversion of other buildings.

Hostels

Extension of

12.—(1) Section eighty-nine of the Act of 1950 (under which contributions may be made by the Secretary of State in respect of a hostel provided by a local authority, housing association or development corporation) shall apply to any building provided or converted after the commencement of this Act for use as part of a hostel as it applies to a building provided or converted for use as a hostel.

(2) Subsection (1) of the said section eighty-nine shall apply to a building provided or converted by a housing association for use as a hostel under any arrangements made with them by the Secretary of State after consultation with the local authority in whose district the building is, or will be, situated as it applies to a building provided or converted for such use by a local authority:

Provided that, if the Secretary of State is satisfied that the housing association have made default in giving effect to the terms of the arrangements, he may reduce the amount of the contribution payable to the housing association under the said subsection (1), or suspend or discontinue the payment thereof, as he thinks just.

(3) Where a building which has been provided or converted by a housing association for use as a hostel becomes vested in a local authority, and at the time of the vesting the building is one in respect of which a contribution is payable under the said subsection (1) as applied by the last foregoing subsection—

- (a) no further contributions shall, after the time of the vesting, become payable under the said subsection (1), but
- (b) the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, pay to the local authority sums not exceeding any sums which would after that time have become payable by him under the said subsection (1) in respect of the building if all conditions precedent to the payment of the sums had been at all material times observed.

(4) In subsection (7) of the said section eighty-nine (which subsection defines the expression "hostel" for the purposes of that section) in its application to any building provided or converted after the commencement of this Act, any reference to a separate and self-contained dwelling shall be construed as a reference to a house within the meaning of Part I of this Act, and for the words "and board" there shall be substituted the words "and either board or common facilities for the preparation of food adequate to the needs of those persons, or both".

13. Section ninety of the Act of 1950 (which provides for payments by the Secretary of State to local authorities, development corporations and the Scottish Special Housing Association of contributions in respect of building experiments) shall apply to a housing association (other than the Scottish Special Housing Association) as it applies to local authorities and the other bodies therein mentioned.

Application of s. 90 of Act of 1950 to housing associations (other than Scottish Special Housing Association).

Improvement of housing accommodation

14.—(1) The Secretary of State may make arrangements with a housing association for the provision of housing accommodation by the conversion or improvement of existing houses or by the conversion of other buildings:

Provided that before making arrangements under this subsection in respect of any housing accommodation the Secretary of State shall consult with the local authority in whose district the housing accommodation is, or will be, situated.

Assistance towards improvement of houses by housing associations under arrangements made with Secretary of State.

F*

PART II

(2) Where arrangements are made under this section the Secretary of State shall make to the housing association annually for the period of twenty financial years beginning with the year in which the carrying out of the arrangements is completed, or for such period, not exceeding sixty financial years, beginning as aforesaid as may be determined by the Secretary of State, a payment equal to three-quarters of the annual loss determined by the Secretary of State to be likely to be incurred by the association in carrying out the arrangements:

Provided that if the Secretary of State is satisfied that the association have made default in giving effect to the terms of the arrangements he may reduce the amount of any payment payable to the association under this subsection, or suspend or discontinue the payments, as he thinks just.

(3) Subsection (2) of section one hundred and seven of the Act of 1950 shall have effect in relation to a determination under the last foregoing subsection of the amount of the annual loss likely to be incurred by a housing association in carrying out arrangements made under this section as it has effect in relation to a determination of the annual loss likely to be incurred by a local authority as a result of giving effect to approved improvement proposals with the substitution, for references to the local authority, of references to the association and, for references to the proposals, of references to the arrangements.

(4) Subsection (2) of this section shall in relation to any housing accommodation situated in the Highlands and Islands have effect with the substitution for the words "three-quarters" of the words "seven-eighths".

(5) An order made under section one hundred and twenty-seven of the Act of 1950 may include provision for this section to have effect, as from such date as may be specified in the order, as if, for the proportion referred to in subsection (2) of this section and in that subsection as extended by subsection (4) of this section, there were substituted such smaller proportion, not being smaller than two-thirds, as may be specified in the order.

Provisions relating to Part VII of the Act of 1950.

15.—(1) A local authority, in fixing under section one hundred and thirteen of the Act of 1950 the rent for a dwelling in respect of which an improvement grant or a standard grant is to be made, shall have regard (in addition to any other matter to which it is their duty to have regard) to the rents payable in their district for similar dwellings not let under a controlled tenancy.

(2) In paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and fourteen of the Act of 1950 (which requires a dwelling in respect of the provision or improvement of which an improvement grant or a standard grant has been made to be let or kept available for letting when it is not occupied by a person of a class defined in sub-paragraphs (i) to (iv) of that paragraph) the following sub-paragraph shall be inserted after sub-paragraph (i):—

“ (ia) where the applicant is a trustee within the meaning of the Trusts (Scotland) Act, 1921, by a person who under the trust is interested in the dwelling or the proceeds of sale thereof, or by a member of the family of such a person ;
or ”

(3) The said paragraph (b) shall not apply to a dwelling held upon trust for any charitable purpose within the meaning of the Income Tax Act, 1952, so long as it is occupied or kept available for occupation for that purpose.

(4) Sub-paragraph (ii) of paragraph (c) of the said subsection (1) (under which the maximum rent payable for a dwelling in respect of which an improvement grant or a standard grant has been made is, in certain cases, determined by reference to a percentage of so much of the cost of improvement as is not set off by the grant) shall have effect in relation to works in respect of which the application for a grant is made after the commencement of this Act (being works to which the said sub-paragraph applies) as if the percentage therein referred to were twelve and one half per cent.

(5) Where, after the commencement of this Act, an application is made to a local authority for an improvement grant or a standard grant in respect of the improvement of a dwelling which is not subject to a controlled tenancy, the application may contain a request to fix for the purposes of the said paragraph (c) a rent higher than the limit imposed by sub-paragraph (ii) of that paragraph ; and if it appears to the local authority reasonable to do so, having regard to all the circumstances and, in particular, to the rents payable in their district for similar dwellings not let under a controlled tenancy they may, on approving the application, fix such higher rent for those purposes as they think reasonable ; and a rent so fixed shall be substituted in the condition set out in the said paragraph (c) for the limit imposed by the said sub-paragraph (ii).

(6) In this section “ controlled tenancy ” has the same meaning as in the Rent Act, 1957 ; “ improvement grant ” means a grant under section one hundred and eleven of the Act of 1950 ; and “ standard grant ” means a grant under section nineteen of the House Purchase and Housing Act, 1959.

PART II

Amendment of s. 2 of Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920, and s. 118 of Act of 1950.

16. The following provisions, that is to say—paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section two of the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920 (which relates to permitted increases in rent under that Act), and section one hundred and eighteen of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the increase of rent under Part VII of that Act in certain cases), shall, in relation to any expenditure or costs incurred after the passing of this Act, have effect as if for any reference to eight per cent. there were substituted a reference to twelve and one half per cent.

Amendment of s. 19 of the House Purchase and Housing Act, 1959.

17.—(1) For paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section nineteen of the House Purchase and Housing Act, 1959 (which subsection lists certain improvements in respect of which local authorities are to make standard grants under that section) there shall be substituted the following paragraph—

“(c) a hot water supply at a fixed bath or shower in a bathroom, and at a wash hand basin, and at a sink.”

(2) Subsection (5) of the said section nineteen shall cease to have effect.

Special provisions for financial assistance to Scottish Special Housing Association

Advances to Scottish Special Housing Association for provision of housing accommodation.

18.—(1) The Secretary of State may make advances, of such amounts, on such terms and repayable over such periods as may be approved by the Treasury, to the Scottish Special Housing Association for the purpose of—

- (a) enabling or assisting the provision by the Association (whether as principals or as agents for a local authority or for any other person) of housing accommodation ;
- (b) meeting the whole or any part of the expenditure incurred by the Association in connection with any scheme submitted to him by the Association under which the Association will provide housing accommodation, and as to which the Secretary of State is satisfied that the housing accommodation so provided will be let or kept available for letting except at such times and in such cases as the Secretary of State may approve ;
- (c) enabling or assisting the Association to purchase, on terms approved by the Secretary of State, all or any of the assets of any authorised society within the meaning of the Housing Act, 1914, or any housing trust to which section one hundred and nineteen of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1925. applied :

Provided that—

PART II

- (i) the aggregate amount of the advances made under this subsection, together with any advances made under subsection (1) of section ninety-four of the Act of 1950, shall not exceed one hundred and ten million pounds ;
- (ii) the aggregate amount of the advances made under paragraph (a) of this subsection in respect of the provision of housing accommodation by the conversion or improvement of existing houses or by the conversion of other buildings shall not exceed one million pounds ;
- (iii) the aggregate amount of the advances made under paragraph (b) of this subsection shall not exceed one million pounds.

(2) It shall be the duty of the Scottish Special Housing Association, if they accept any advances under paragraph (b) of the foregoing subsection in connection with a scheme, to comply with any directions which the Secretary of State may give to them with respect to the administration of the scheme and the disposal of the assets provided under the scheme.

(3) Subsections (5) to (7) of section eleven of this Act shall apply in relation to advances made under this section and sums received in repayment thereof as they apply in relation to advances made under that section and sums received in repayment thereof.

(4) In this section references to the provision of housing accommodation are references to the provision of housing accommodation whether by building new houses or by the conversion or improvement of existing houses or by the conversion of other buildings or by the acquisition of houses.

(5) Subsection (2) of section ten of this Act shall apply to references in this section to a house as it applies to such references in Part I of this Act.

19.—(1) Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that the total net annual expenditure (as calculated in accordance with rules made by the Secretary of State) necessarily incurred in the year beginning on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two or in any subsequent year by the Scottish Special Housing Association—

Payments towards certain deficits of the Scottish Special Housing Association.

- (a) in providing new houses in respect of which payments fall to be made under section ninety-three of the Act of 1950, section twenty-three of the Act of 1957 or section one of this Act,

PART II

- (b) in providing otherwise than as agents housing accommodation by the conversion or improvement of existing houses or by the conversion of other buildings, and
- (c) in providing housing accommodation, being accommodation acquired by them from any such body as is mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of the last foregoing section, is greater than the sum of—

- (i) the payments referred to in paragraph (a) of this subsection for the year in question, and
- (ii) any payments made to them for the year in question under section fourteen of this Act, the Secretary of State may, with the approval of the Treasury, make such further payment in respect of the excess as he may determine.

(2) No payments shall be made by the Secretary of State under subsection (4) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1957 for the year beginning on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, or any subsequent year.

Amendment
of s. 23 of
Act of 1957.

20. Subsection (3) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1957 (which relates to grants and advances to the Scottish Special Housing Association) shall have effect, and shall be deemed always to have had effect, as if there were added at the end thereof the words “and which is completed after the commencement of this Act.”

PART III

HOUSES UNFIT FOR HUMAN HABITATION

Amendment of s. 9 of Act of 1950.

21.—(1) For section nine of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the power of a local authority to order the demolition or closing of an insanitary house) there shall be substituted the following section :—

“Power of a local authority to make closing and demolition orders.

9.—(1) Where a local authority, on consideration of an official representation or a report by their sanitary inspector or other information in their possession, are satisfied that any house is unfit for human habitation and incapable at a reasonable expense of being rendered so fit, and—

- (a) the house forms only part of a building, and
- (b) the building does not comprise only houses which are unfit for human habitation and incapable at a reasonable expense of being rendered so fit, the local authority shall make an order (in this Act referred to as a "closing order") prohibiting the use of the house for human habitation as from such date as may be specified in the order, not being less than twenty-eight days from the date on which the order becomes operative.

PART III

(2) Where a local authority, on consideration of an official representation or a report by their sanitary inspector or other information in their possession, are satisfied that any building comprises only a house which is, or houses which are, unfit for human habitation and incapable at a reasonable expense of being rendered so fit, they shall make an order (in this Act referred to as a "demolition order") requiring that the building shall be vacated within such period as may be specified in the order, not being less than twenty-eight days from the date on which the order becomes operative, and that it shall be demolished within three months after the expiration of that period or, if the building is not vacated before the expiration of that period, within three months after the date on which it is vacated.

(3) If in the case of a house in respect of which a closing order has been made or a building in respect of which a demolition order has been made the local authority are satisfied, on an application made by any owner of the house or building, or any person appearing to the local authority to have reasonable cause for making the application, that the house has, or, as the case may be, the house or houses comprised in the building have, been rendered fit for human habitation, they shall make an order determining the closing, or, as the case may be, the demolition, order.

(4) Where a closing or demolition order has been made in respect of a house or building and not determined any owner of the house or building, or any person holding a heritable security over it, may give to the local authority, within a period of twenty-one days from the date of service of the order or such longer period therefrom as the local authority may, either during or after the expiry of the twenty-one days, determine to be appropriate, an undertaking in writing—

- (a) that he will within a specified period carry out such works as will, in the opinion of the local authority, render the house or,

PART III

as the case may be, all the houses in the building, fit for human habitation, or

(b) in the case of a building in respect of which a demolition order has been made, that no house in the building will be used for human habitation (unless at any time all the houses therein are rendered fit for human habitation and the local authority agree that they have been so rendered); and if an undertaking is so given the local authority shall as soon as may be either—

(i) accept the undertaking and make in respect thereof an order (in this Act referred to as a “suspension order”) suspending the closing, or, as the case may be, the demolition, order, or

(ii) reject the undertaking and serve on the person who gave the undertaking notice that they have done so:

Provided that a suspension order made in respect of an undertaking such as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of this subsection shall cease to have effect on the expiration of one year from the date of its making unless renewed, at the discretion of the local authority, at the expiration of the said year; and this proviso shall apply to any suspension order so renewed as it applies to the original order with the substitution for the reference to the making of the order of a reference to the renewal thereof.

(5) A suspension order made or renewed by a local authority may be determined by them at any time by order if they have reasonable cause to believe that there has been a breach of the undertaking in respect of which it was made or renewed.

(6) Any period—

(a) between the service of the closing or demolition order and the service of a suspension order or a notice of rejection under subsection (4) of this section, and

(b) while a suspension order is in force, shall be left out of account in reckoning in relation to the closing or demolition order in question the period of twenty-one days referred to in subsections (1) and (3) of section sixteen of this Act.

(7) Any order made or notice issued under this section in respect of a house or building shall be served—

- (a) upon the person having the control of the house or, as the case may be, the house or houses comprised in the building ;
- (b) upon any other person who is an owner of the house, or, as the case may be, any of those houses ;
- (c) upon any person holding a heritable security over the house, or, as the case may be, any of those houses, unless it appears to the local authority, after exercising their powers under section one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act, that there is no such person ; and
- (d) where an application has been made in relation to the house, or, as the case may be, those houses, under subsection (3) of this section, by a person upon whom the order or notice is not required to be served apart from this paragraph, upon that person.

(8) Section one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act shall apply in relation to an order required by the last foregoing subsection to be served as it applies in relation to the notices mentioned in the said section.

(9) In this section references to an owner of, and any person holding a heritable security over, a building shall be construed as including respectively references to an owner of, and to any person holding a heritable security over, any part of the building."

(2) This section shall not affect any order made, or proceedings begun, under section nine of the Act of 1950 before the commencement of this Act.

22.—(1) Where a local authority have demolished a building in exercise of the powers conferred on them by section fourteen of the Act of 1950 and the expenses thereby incurred by them cannot be recovered by reason of the fact that the owner of the building cannot be found, the local authority may be authorised by the Secretary of State to purchase compulsorily the site of the building, including the area of any yard, garden or pertinent belonging to the building or usually enjoyed therewith.

Power of local authorities to purchase sites of demolished buildings where expenses cannot be recovered.

PART III

(2) The provisions of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) (Scotland) Act, 1947, shall apply in relation to a compulsory purchase of land under the foregoing subsection as if that subsection had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act.

(3) The local authority shall be entitled to deduct from the compensation payable on the compulsory purchase of the site of a building under this section the amount of the expenses referred to in subsection (1) of this section so far as not otherwise recovered.

(4) This section shall be included among the enactments to which section twenty-two of the Housing and Town Development (Scotland) Act, 1957 (which provides a special procedure for completion of compulsory acquisition of land under certain enactments), applies; and accordingly subsection (1) of that section shall have effect as if after the words "Housing (Repairs and Rents) (Scotland) Act, 1954" there were inserted the words "or section twenty-two of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1962".

(5) A local authority shall deal with any land purchased by them under this section by sale, letting or appropriation in accordance with the provisions of section thirty of the Act of 1950.

Security for expenditure of local authority in demolishing buildings under s. 14 of Act of 1950.

23. Where in exercise of the power conferred on them by section fourteen of the Act of 1950 a local authority have themselves incurred expenses in the demolition of a building, it shall be competent for them to make, in relation to the site of the building, including the area of any yard, garden or pertinent belonging to the building or usually enjoyed therewith, a charging order in favour of themselves in respect of such expenses, and the provisions of sections twenty and twenty-one of the Act of 1950 shall, subject to any necessary modifications, apply to a charging order so made in like manner as they apply to a charging order made under the said section twenty.

Determination of unfitness for human habitation.

24.—(1) In determining for any of the purposes of the Act of 1950 whether a house is unfit for human habitation regard shall be had to its condition in respect of the following matters:—

- (a) general state of repair ;
- (b) structural stability ;
- (c) freedom from dampness ;
- (d) natural lighting ;
- (e) air space ;
- (f) ventilation ;
- (g) adequacy and accessibility of water supply ;

- (h) adequacy and accessibility of sanitary and other conveniences ;
- (i) drainage ;
- (j) condition of paving and drainage of courts, yards or passages ;
- (k) facilities for storage, preparation and cooking of food and for the disposal of waste water ; and the house shall be determined to be unfit for human habitation if, and only if, it is so far defective in one or more of the said matters that it is not reasonably suitable for occupation in that condition.

PART III

(2) The foregoing subsection shall be without prejudice to sections eleven and twenty-three of the Act of 1950.

(3) Subsection (2) of section one hundred and eighty-four of the Act of 1950 shall cease to have effect, and any reference in any enactment to that subsection shall be construed as a reference to this section.

PART IV

REPAIRS PROVISIONS IN LEASES

25.—(1) In any lease of a house, being a lease to which this section applies, there shall be implied a provision that the lessor will—

Repairing obligations in short leases of houses.

- (a) keep in repair the structure and exterior of the house (including drains, gutters and external pipes) ; and
- (b) keep in repair and proper working order the installations in the house—

(i) for the supply of water, gas and electricity, and for sanitation (including basins, sinks, baths and sanitary conveniences but not, except as aforesaid, fixtures, fittings and appliances for making use of the supply of water, gas or electricity), and

(ii) for space heating or heating water, and any provision that the lessee will repair the premises (including any that he will put in repair or deliver up in repair, or will paint, point or render the premises, or pay money in lieu of repairs by the lessee or on account of repairs by the lessor) shall be of no effect so far as it relates to any of the matters mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection.

(2) The provision implied by this section (hereinafter referred to as “ the implied repairs provision ”) shall not be construed as requiring the lessor—

- (a) to carry out any works or repairs for which the lessee is liable by virtue of his duty to use the premises in a proper manner, or would be so liable apart from any express undertaking on his part ;

PART IV

- (b) to rebuild or reinstate the premises in the case of destruction or damage by fire, or by tempest, flood or other inevitable accident ; or
- (c) to keep in repair or maintain anything which the lessee is entitled to remove from the house ; and subsection (1) of this section shall not avoid so much of any provision as imposes on the lessee any of the requirements mentioned in paragraph (a) or paragraph (c) of this subsection.

(3) In determining the standard of repair required by the implied repairs provision in relation to any house, regard shall be had to the age, character and prospective life of the house and the locality in which it is situated.

(4) In any lease in which the implied repairs provision is implied there shall also be implied a provision that the lessor, or any person authorised by him in writing, may at reasonable times of the day, on giving twenty-four hours notice in writing to the occupier, enter the premises comprised in the lease for the purpose of viewing their condition and state of repair.

Application of s. 25.

26.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the last foregoing section applies to any lease of a house granted after the passing of this Act, being a lease for a period of less than seven years.

(2) For the purposes of this section a lease—

- (a) shall be treated as a lease for a period of less than seven years if it is determinable at the option of the lessor before the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the period of the lease, and
- (b) shall be treated as a lease for a period of seven years or more if it confers on the lessee an option for renewal for a period which, together with the original period, amounts to seven years or more, and it is not determinable as mentioned in the foregoing paragraph.

(3) Where a lease (hereinafter referred to as “ the new lease ”) of a house is granted—

- (a) to a person who, when or immediately before the new lease is granted, is or was the lessee of the house under another lease, or
- (b) to a person who was the lessee of the house under another lease which terminated at some time before the new lease is granted and who, between the termination of that other lease and the grant of the new lease was continuously in possession of the house or entitled to the rents or profits thereof, the last foregoing section shall not apply to the new lease unless the other lease, if granted after the passing of this Act, was a lease to which the last foregoing section applies, or, if granted before the passing of this Act, would have been such a lease if it had been granted after that date.

(4) The last foregoing section shall not apply to any lease of a house which is a tenancy of an agricultural holding within the meaning of the Agricultural Holdings (Scotland) Act, 1949.

(5) In the application of this section to a lease for a period part of which falls before the date of the granting of the lease, that part shall be left out of account and the lease shall be treated as a lease for a period commencing with the date of the granting.

27.—(1) The sheriff may, on the application of either party to a lease, by order made with the consent of the other party concerned, authorise the inclusion in the lease, or in any agreement collateral to the lease, of provisions excluding or modifying in relation to the lease the provisions of section twenty-five of this Act with respect to the repairing obligations of the parties if it appears to him, having regard to the other terms and conditions of the lease and to all the circumstances of the case, that it is reasonable to do so, and any provision so authorised shall have effect accordingly.

Restriction of contracting out.

(2) Subject to the last foregoing subsection, any provision, whether contained in a lease to which the said section twenty-five applies or in any agreement collateral to such a lease, shall be void so far as it purports to exclude or limit the obligations of the lessor or the immunities of the lessee under that section, or to provide for an irritancy of the lease or impose on the lessee any penalty, disability or obligation, in the event of his enforcing or relying upon those obligations or immunities.

(3) Applications under this section shall be conducted and disposed of in the summary manner in which proceedings are conducted and disposed of under the Small Debt (Scotland) Acts, 1837 to 1889, and the decision of the sheriff in any such application shall be final and not subject to review.

28. In this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say—

Interpretation of Part IV.

“lease” includes a sublease, and “lessor” and “lessee”, in relation to a lease, include respectively any person for the time being holding the interest of the lessor, and any person for the time being holding the interest of the lessee, under the lease ;

PART IV

“lease of a house” means a lease whereby a building or part of a building is let wholly or mainly as a private dwelling and “house”, in relation to such a lease, means that building or part of a building.

PART V*MISCELLANEOUS AND SUPPLEMENTAL

Default powers of Secretary of State in relation to rents.

29.—(1) Where after the holding of a local inquiry under section three hundred and fifty-six of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947 (which provides for defaults of local authorities), the Secretary of State is satisfied that there has been a failure on the part of a local authority to do what is required of them by subsection (5) of section seventy-three of the Act of 1950 (which relates to review and changes of rents of houses under the management of a local authority) he may make a rents scheme for all or any of the houses under the management of that local authority, and if he makes an order under subsection (2) of the said section three hundred and fifty-six declaring the local authority to be in default in respect of the failure (in this section referred to as a “default order”) he may include in the directions which, under that subsection, he may make in the default order a direction that the local authority shall in managing the houses in question comply with the scheme so long as the direction is in force.

(2) If—

- (a) by a default order, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, the Secretary of State has declared a local authority to be in default in respect of a failure such as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, and directed the local authority to take within a specified time steps to remedy the default, but has not directed them to comply with a rents scheme, and
- (b) the local authority fail to comply with any requirement of the default order within the time limited thereby for compliance with that requirement, then, without prejudice to subsection (3) of the said section three hundred and fifty-six, the Secretary of State may make a rents scheme for all or any of the houses under the management of that local authority, and may by order (in this section referred to as a “supplementary order”) direct the local authority in managing the houses to comply with the scheme so long as the direction is in force.

(3) In this section "rents scheme" in relation to any houses means a scheme making such provision as the Secretary of State after consultation with the local authority concerned thinks fit—

- (a) for fixing the rents to be charged for those houses, subject to such variation as may be provided for in the scheme, and
- (b) if the Secretary of State thinks fit, for granting, in such cases and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the scheme, rebates from those rents ; and a rents scheme may provide as aforesaid in relation to rents generally or to particular rents.

(4) Subsection (3) of the said section three hundred and fifty-six (which relates to enforcement) shall have effect as if any reference therein to any requirement of a default order included a reference to any requirement of a rents scheme to which the local authority has been directed under this section (whether in a default order or in a supplementary order) to comply, so however that, in relation to any requirement of a rents scheme,—

- (a) any reference in the said subsection (3) to the time limited by the default order for compliance shall be construed as a reference to the time during which the direction to comply with the rents scheme is in force, and
- (b) any reference to the functions in respect of which there has been default shall be construed as a reference to the duty to manage the houses in question in accordance with the rents scheme.

(5) While a direction to comply with a rents scheme made under this section in relation to any of the houses under the management of a local authority is in force the local authority shall comply with the scheme and, subject to the next following subsection, shall not, except so far as the Secretary of State may allow, exercise in relation to the rents in question their functions under subsections (4) or (5) of section seventy-three of the Act of 1950.

(6) If the scheme does not make provision for granting rebates from the rents to which it relates the local authority may exercise their functions under the said subsections (4) or (5) so far as relating to rebates, but only in accordance with a scheme made by them and approved by the Secretary of State.

(7) Section three hundred and seventy-two of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947 (which relates to the revocation of, and other matters concerning, certain orders, including default orders), shall apply to a supplementary order as it applies to a default order, and the power conferred by that section to alter an order shall include power to alter a rents scheme to which an order relates.

PART V
Extension of
of 1950.

30. The power of a local authority to acquire land under section sixty-two of the Act of 1950 shall include power to acquire land (including houses or other buildings) proposed to be used for any purpose authorised by section sixty-six or section sixty-seven of the Act of 1950 (which confer additional powers in connection with the provision of housing accommodation), whether or not that land forms part of a site for the erection of houses.

Amendment
Act of 1950.

31. In subsection (2) of section eighty-two of the Act of 1950 (which empowers the Secretary of State to make a grant towards the expenses of a central association for promoting the formation and extension of housing associations in any of the five years next following the date on which he recognises that body for the purposes of that section) the words "in any of the five years next following the date on which he recognises the said central association or body" shall cease to have effect; and for the word "thereof" there shall be substituted the words "of the said association or body".

Amendment
of s. 101 of
Act of 1950.

32.—(1) Where in the case of any house—

- (a) the condition specified in paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section one hundred and one of the Act of 1950 (which imposes conditions in respect of financial assistance given under section one hundred of that Act for the provision by private persons of housing accommodation for the agricultural population), or
- (b) the condition specified in that subsection as applied with modifications by subsection (8) of section three of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1952 (which relates to similar matters), applies in respect of any assistance, whether given before or after the commencement of this Act, the local authority may at any time, if satisfied that the house is no longer required for a member of the agricultural population, waive their right to enforce that condition in so far as it restricts the category of person to whom the house may be let or, as the case may be, by whom it may be occupied:

Provided that the power conferred by this subsection shall be exercisable only with the consent of the Secretary of State.

(2) A local authority may make any exercise of the power conferred on them by the foregoing subsection conditional on the application in relation to the house in question, for such part of the period of forty years from the date of completion of the house as remains unexpired at the time of the exercise, of such other conditions (if any) as the Secretary of State may approve; and subsection (4) of the said section one hundred and one shall apply in relation to any breach of a condition applying in relation to the house by virtue of this subsection as it applies in relation to a breach of the conditions therein specified.

PART V

33. The Secretary of State, with the approval of the Treasury, may acquire shares in any authorised society within the meaning of the Housing Act, 1914.

Power of Secretary of State to acquire shares in certain housing societies.

34.—(1) There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament—

Financial provisions.

- (a) the sums required for the making of any payment which the Secretary of State is required or authorised by any provision of this Act, except sections eleven and eighteen thereof, to make, and
- (b) any increase attributable to the provisions of this Act in the sums required or authorised under any other Act to be so defrayed.

(2) If, in the case of any such society as is mentioned in the last foregoing section, or in the case of any trust to which section one hundred and nineteen of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1925, applied,—

- (a) the society or trust is wound up, and
- (b) the Secretary of State is at the commencement of the winding up the owner of all the shares therein, the Secretary of State shall pay into the Exchequer any sum received by him on the winding up.

(3) If the sum paid into the Exchequer under the last foregoing subsection in respect of any such society or trust as aforesaid is less than the amount outstanding, as at the commencement of the winding up of the society or trust, of any advances made to the society or trust by any government department, the Secretary of State shall pay into the Exchequer a sum equal to the difference.

35.—(1) The enactments mentioned in the Fourth Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the modifications there specified, being, in the case of those in Part I, modifications consequential on the provisions of Parts I and II of this Act; in the case of those in Part II, modifications relating to houses unfit for human habitation; and in the case of those in Part III, modifications relating to other matters.

Modification of other enactments and repeals.

(2) The enactments mentioned in the Fifth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

PART V*Interpretation*36.—(1) In this Act—

“ Act of 1950 ” means the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1950 ;

“ Act of 1957 ” means the Housing and Town Development (Scotland) Act, 1957.

(2) Any reference in this Act to a house shall be construed as including a reference to a dwelling.

(3) This Act shall be construed as one with the Act of 1950, so however that the expression “ housing association ” shall not in this Act be construed as including a development corporation.

(4) Except where the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to any enactment shall be construed as references to that enactment as amended by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

Citation
and extent.*37.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1962, and this Act and the Housing (Scotland) Acts, 1950 to 1959, may be cited together as the Housing (Scotland) Acts, 1950 to 1962.

(2) This Act shall extend to Scotland only.

SCHEDULES

Section 3.

FIRST SCHEDULE

PART I

Ascertainment of total housing valuation for purposes of section 3

1. For the purposes of section three of this Act a local authority's total housing valuation for any relevant financial year shall be ascertained in accordance with this Part of this Schedule.

2. There shall be ascertained—

- (a) the aggregate of the gross annual values of all the houses to which the local authority's housing revenue account related at the end of the relevant financial year, and
- (b) the aggregate of the gross annual values of all the houses to which the local authority's housing revenue account related at the end of the financial year immediately preceding the relevant financial year:

Provided that in ascertaining the said aggregates there shall be excluded such part of the gross annual value of any house as may be certified by the assessor to be attributable to any garage provided otherwise than by the local authority.

3. The amounts ascertained under the last foregoing paragraph shall be added together and their sum shall be divided by two; and the result shall be the local authority's total housing valuation for the relevant financial year.

4. Any reference in this Part of this Schedule to the gross annual value of a house to which a local authority's housing revenue account related at the end of any financial year shall be construed as a reference to the gross annual value of that house, determined under section six of the Valuation and Rating (Scotland) Act, 1956, as shown in the valuation roll in operation on the first day of the financial year immediately following the financial year in question; so however that if no gross annual value determined as aforesaid is shown for that house in that valuation roll the reference shall be construed as a reference to the gross annual value of the house as shown, so determined, in the first valuation roll in which such gross annual valuation is shown:

Provided that, in relation to any house completed after the fifteenth day of May in the financial year in question, any such reference shall be construed as a reference to such value as may be estimated by the assessor to be the gross annual value, determined as aforesaid, of the house.

5. References in this Part of this Schedule to the assessor, in relation to any house, are references to the assessor appointed under section one of the Valuation and Rating (Scotland) Act, 1956, for the area in which the house is situated.

PART II

Ascertainment of total number of houses for purposes of section 3

6. For the purposes of section three of this Act the total number of houses, in relation to a local authority, for any relevant financial year shall be ascertained in accordance with this Part of this Schedule.

1st Sch.

7. There shall be ascertained—

- (a) the number of houses to which the local authority's housing revenue account related at the end of the relevant financial year, and
- (b) the number of houses to which the local authority's housing revenue account related at the end of the financial year immediately preceding the relevant financial year.

Section 3.*SECOND SCHEDULE*SUPPLEMENTS TO CERTAIN SUBSIDIES

1. To the sum of thirty-two pounds specified in paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section three of this Act an additional sum calculated in accordance with the next following paragraph shall be added if, and only if, in respect of the financial year immediately preceding that in which the approved house in question was completed the rate levied by the rating authority in the district of the local authority exceeded the average rate for all rating areas in Scotland.

2.—(1) For the purposes of the last foregoing paragraph the additional sum shall be the appropriate sum shown in the second column of the following Table:—

TABLE

| Where the amount of the local authority's reduced deficit—                                                        | Additional sum—     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| exceeds the product of a rate of one shilling and three pence but not of a rate of two shillings and six pence;   | eight pounds.       |
| exceeds the product of a rate of two shillings and six pence but not of a rate of three shillings and nine pence; | sixteen pounds.     |
| exceeds the product of a rate of three shillings and nine pence.                                                  | twenty-four pounds. |

(2) In the foregoing sub-paragraph—

- (a) "the local authority's reduced deficit" means the deficit referred to, in relation to the local authority, in paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section three of this Act less the amount which bears to that deficit the same proportion as the amount of the exchequer equalisation grant payable to the local authority for the relevant financial year

2ND SCH.

under the Local Government (Financial Provisions) (Scotland) Act, 1954, bears to the authority's relevant local expenditure as certified by the Secretary of State to have been estimated under the said Act of 1954 according to the latest estimate made before the end of the relevant financial year ; and

- (b) references in relation to a local authority to the product of a rate of a specified sum are references to the product of a rate of that sum in the pound for the district of the local authority ; and subsections (5) and (7) of section one hundred and forty-five of the Local Government Act, 1948, shall apply for the purposes of calculating that product.

3. In this Schedule—

- “rate”, in relation to a burgh, includes the domestic water rate and, in relation to a county, means the average rate for the landward area of the county ;
- “average rate”, in relation to any area or aggregate of areas, means the amount arrived at by dividing the estimated receipts from all the rates levied in the area, or, as the case may be, all the areas, by the net rateable valuation of the area, or, as the case may be, all the areas ;
- “net rateable valuation”, in relation to any area or aggregate of areas, means the total of the rateable values of the lands and heritages in that area, or, as the case may be, those areas, as shown in the valuation roll or rolls in force on the first day of the year in question, less the total of the rateable values so shown of any lands and heritages exempt from rates or unlet ; and
- “rating authority” has the like meaning as in Part XI of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947.

THIRD SCHEDULE

Section 7.

PROVISIONS FOR ASCERTAINING THE COST OF CERTAIN SITES

1. For the purposes of section seven of this Act, the cost of a site as developed shall be taken to be—

- (a) in the case of a site acquired by a local authority under any enactment relating to housing, the expenditure incurred by the local authority in purchasing the site ; and
- (b) in any other case, the value of the site as certified by the Secretary of State, plus, in either case, a sum representing—

- (i) any such expenses as, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, have been or will be properly incurred for making the site suitable for the purpose of providing the buildings erected or to be erected thereon, being expenses incurred

3RD SCH.

or to be incurred by the local authority or other body providing those buildings for the construction or widening of streets, the provision of sewers and water-mains, or the execution of any special works rendered necessary by the physical characteristics of the land ; and

- (ii) any such expenses which have been, or in the opinion of the Secretary of State will be, incurred in respect of other matters as the Secretary of State, with the consent of the Treasury, may determine to be expenses properly forming part of the cost of making the site suitable for the said purpose.

2. In determining for the purposes of the foregoing paragraph the amount of any such expenses as are therein mentioned, the Secretary of State shall have regard to any estimate of those expenses submitted to him by the local authority or other body ; and for the purposes of sub-paragraph (b) of that paragraph, the value certified in the case of a site in relation to which any such expenses have been incurred shall be the value of that site in the condition in which it would be if those expenses had not been incurred.

3. For the purposes of the said section seven and of this Schedule, any question—

- (a) as to what constitutes a separate site ; or
- (b) as to the portion of such site on which any building has been erected ; or
- (c) as to how much of any expenditure incurred by a local authority in purchasing land is to be attributed to any site forming part only of that land, shall be determined by the Secretary of State.

4. For the purposes of any determination under sub-paragraph (a) or sub-paragraph (b) of the last foregoing paragraph—

- (a) where two buildings are contiguous to each other, or are separated from each other by a street only, the two buildings shall, if the Secretary of State thinks proper, be deemed to be on the same site ; and
- (b) where any land has been purchased in connection with the provision of a building and has been or is to be used for the purpose of a new street to which the building is or will be contiguous, that land shall be deemed to form part of the site of the building.

5. For the purposes of the last foregoing paragraph—

- (a) the expression “ building ” includes any land appertaining to a building and any land appropriated for the purposes of a building which has not been erected ;
- (b) the expression “ street ” includes any court, alley, passage or square, whether a thoroughfare or not, and includes a road maintainable by a town council or a county council.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

Section 35.

MODIFICATIONS OF OTHER ENACTMENTS

PART I

*Modifications consequential on the provisions of Parts I and II of this ActThe Act of 1950
(14 Geo. 6 c. 34)*

1. In paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section seventy-three of the Act of 1950 (which relates to conditions to be observed in the management of local authorities' houses) the reference to contributions under section one of the Housing (Agricultural Population) (Scotland) Act, 1938, or section eighty-five of the Act of 1950 shall include a reference to subsidies under section four of this Act.

2. In subsection (4) of section eighty-seven of the Act of 1950 (which relates to housing accommodation provided by a development corporation which is transferred to a local authority) the reference to payments under subsection (3) of that section shall include a reference to subsidies under Part I of this Act.

3. In subsection (5) of the said section eighty-seven (which relates to housing accommodation provided by a development corporation which is sold) the reference to contributions or sums for the time being payable under the Act of 1950 or under section two of the Act of 1957, in respect of a dwelling provided by a development corporation shall include a reference to subsidies for the time being payable under Part I of this Act in respect of a house so provided.

4. Subsection (2) of section one hundred and twenty-eight of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the time and manner of paying contributions under certain enactments and to conditions) and section one hundred and twenty-nine of that Act (which relates to the powers of the Secretary of State to withhold contributions in the event of default) shall apply to subsidies under Part I of this Act as they apply to the contributions therein referred to ; and accordingly Part II of the Sixth Schedule to that Act shall have effect with the addition, at the end thereof, of the words:—

and, in the said subsection (2), the reference to section ninety-three of the Act of 1950 shall include a reference to section nineteen of this Act.

5. The Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1959

(7 & 8 Eliz. 2 c. 70)

8. In the definition of "grant-aided function" in subsection (1) of section fifty-four of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1959 (which excludes any Exchequer subsidy under any of the enactments specified in Part I of the Sixth Schedule to the Act of 1950), the reference to such a subsidy shall include a reference to a subsidy under Part I of this Act.

PART II

Modifications relating to houses unfit for human habitationThe Act of 1950

(14 Geo. 6 c. 34)

9. In section six of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the duty of local authorities to inspect their districts) the words from "and for that purpose" to the end of the section shall cease to have effect.

10. In section ten of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the making of a closing or a demolition order in respect of a house on the application of the owner of the house) for any reference to subsection (4) of section nine of that Act there shall be substituted a reference to subsection (1) or subsection (2) of that section, and the words from "and such order shall have effect" to "subsection (1) of the said section nine" shall cease to have effect.

11. In subsection (1) of section twelve of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the powers of local authorities in relation to buildings consisting wholly of closed houses) for the words "been made" there shall be substituted the words "become operative"; for the words "and such orders have not been determined" there shall be substituted the words "and none of those orders has been determined or is subject to a suspension order"; and for paragraph (a) there shall be substituted the following paragraph:—

" (a) the local authority may determine the closing orders and make a demolition order under section nine of this Act in respect of the whole building, so however that subsections (4) to (6) of the said section nine shall not apply to the order; or "

12. For section thirteen of the Act of 1950 (which relates to houses subject to building preservation orders) there shall be substituted the following section :—

“ Provisions as to houses subject to building preservation orders, etc. 13.—(1) Where apart from this section a local authority would be under a duty to make a demolition order under this Part of this Act with respect to a building—

- (a) in relation to which a building preservation order made under section twenty-seven of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1947, is in force, or
- (b) which is included in any list compiled or approved under section twenty-eight of that Act, they shall not make a demolition order but instead shall make a closing order or closing orders in respect of the house or houses comprised in the building.

(2) Where a building to which a demolition order made under this Part of this Act by a local authority applies (whether or not that order has become operative) becomes—

- (a) subject to a building preservation order made under the said section twenty-seven, or
- (b) included in any list compiled or approved under the said section twenty-eight, the local authority shall determine the demolition order and make a closing order or closing orders in respect of the house or houses comprised in the building.

(3) The provisions of section nine of this Act shall apply, with any necessary modifications, to a closing order made under this section as they apply to a closing order made under that section.”

13. Section fourteen of the Act of 1950 shall have effect as if for any reference therein to a house there were substituted a reference to a building, and as if there were added the following subsection :—

“ (3) In the application of this section to a demolition order made in respect of a building comprising two or more parts separately owned—

- (a) any reference to the owner of the building shall be construed as a reference to the owners of the several parts comprised in the building ;
- (b) without prejudice to the powers of the local authority under subsection (1) of this section, the duty imposed by that subsection on the owners of the several parts comprised in the building to demolish the building shall be regarded as a duty to arrange jointly for the demolition of the building ; and
- (c) subsection (2) of this section shall have effect subject to the proviso that any sum recoverable or payable by the local authority under that subsection shall be recoverable from or payable to the several owners in such proportions as the owners may agree or, failing agreement, as shall be determined by an arbiter nominated by the owners or, failing such nomination, nominated on the application of the authority or any of the owners by the sheriff."

14. In section fifteen of the Act of 1950 (which prohibits the use of premises in contravention of closing orders or undertakings)—

- (a) in paragraph (a), for the words "for any purpose" there shall be substituted the words "for human habitation", and for the words "the purpose for which the premises are proposed to be used" there shall be substituted the words "the use of the premises for that purpose"; and
- (b) in paragraph (b), for the word "given" there shall be substituted the words "accepted by the local authority".

15. In section sixteen of the Act of 1950 (which relates to appeals), in subsection (1)—

- (a) paragraph (d) shall have effect with the addition, at the end thereof, of the words "or a refusal to determine a demolition order"; and
- (b) paragraph (iii) of the proviso shall cease to have effect; and for paragraph (i) of subsection (2) there shall be substituted the following paragraph:—

"(i) if the appeal relates to a closing order or a demolition order the sheriff may consider any undertaking such as is specified in relation to such an order in subsection (4) of section nine of this Act, and, if he thinks it proper to do so having regard to the undertaking, may direct the local authority to make a suspension order under the said subsection (4)."

16. In section eighteen of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the power of local authorities to cleanse houses to which demolition orders apply) any reference to a house shall include a reference to a building.

17. In section twenty of the Act of 1950 (which relates to charging orders) any reference to a house shall include a reference to a building.

18. In section twenty-four of the Act of 1950 (which relates to temporary shelters, etc.) for the words "references to a house include" there shall be substituted the words "any reference to a house, or to a building, includes".

19. In section twenty-six of the Act of 1950 (which relates to clearance orders) subsections (4) and (5) shall cease to have effect.

20. In section one hundred and thirty-one of the Act of 1950 (which empowers local authorities to pay removal and other allowances to certain persons displaced), in subsection (1), for any reference to subsection (2) of section nine of that Act there shall be substituted a reference to subsection (4) of the said section nine.

21. The following provisions of the Act of 1950 (which relate to the sending by the Secretary of State of notice to certain persons in relation to clearance orders and to compulsory purchase orders respectively) shall cease to have effect:—

- in the First Schedule, in paragraph 6, sub-paragraph (c) of the proviso ; and
- in the Third Schedule, paragraph 8.

The Housing (Repairs and Rents) (Scotland) Act, 1954
(2 & 3 Eliz. 2 c. 50)

22. In section three of the Housing (Repairs and Rents) (Scotland) Act, 1954 (which relates to the power of local authorities to purchase houses liable to demolition or closing orders), in subsection (1)—

- (a) in paragraph (a), for the words “in pursuance of a notice served by them under subsection (1) of” there shall be substituted the word “under”; and
- (b) in paragraph (b), for the words from “recall a closing order” to the end of the paragraph, there shall be substituted the words “determine closing orders in respect of two or more houses comprised in a building and to make a demolition order in respect of the whole building”; and any reference in the said section (apart from paragraph (b) of the said subsection (1)) to a house shall include a reference to a building.

23. In section eleven of the Housing (Repairs and Rents) (Scotland) Act, 1954 (which makes minor amendments of the Act of 1950), in subsection (3), for any reference to subsection (2) of section nine of the Act of 1950, there shall be substituted a reference to subsection (4) of the said section nine.

24. In section fifteen of the Housing (Repairs and Rents) (Scotland) Act, 1954 (which relates to the interpretation of that Act), in subsection (2), for the words from “made in lieu of” to “subsection (4) of” there shall be substituted the word “under”.

The Act of 1957
(5 & 6 Eliz. 2 c. 38)

25. In section twenty of the Act of 1957 (which relates to payments in respect of unfit but well maintained houses)—

- (a) in subsection (2), in paragraph (a), for the word “thereof” there shall be substituted the words “of the building in which it is comprised”, and, in paragraph (c), for the words “sanitary defects in or related to the house” there shall be substituted the words “defects in the house in respect of any such matters as are mentioned in paragraphs (b) to (k) of subsection (1) of section twenty-four of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1962”;
- (b) subsection (4) shall have effect as if after the word “house” there were inserted the words “comprised in a building”; and
- (c) in subsection (5), for the words from “made in lieu of” to “subsection (4) of” there shall be substituted the word “under”.

PART III

Modifications relating to other mattersThe Housing &c. Act, 1923

(13 &amp; 14 Geo. 5 c. 24)

26. Section two of the Housing &c. Act, 1923 (under which local authorities may give financial assistance for the provision of housing accommodation), shall cease to have effect except as respects houses built before the commencement of this Act.

(14 Geo. 6 c. 34)

27. Section twenty-one of the Act of 1950 (which contains provisions as to charging orders) shall have effect as if,—

- (a) in paragraph (a) of subsection (2) thereof, for the words “and teinds” there were substituted the words “teinds, ground annuals, stipends and standard charges in lieu of stipends”;
- (b) in subsection (4), for the words from “rentcharge” to the end of the subsection there were substituted the word “feuduty”;
- (c) in subsection (5), for the words “or rentcharge may be transferred” there were substituted the words “and sums payable thereunder”.

28. In section twenty-five of the Act of 1950 (which relates to clearance areas) in paragraph (i) of subsection (1), the words “by reason of disrepair or sanitary defects” shall cease to have effect.

29. In section forty of the Act of 1950 (which relates to well-maintained houses) in subsection (1), the words “notwithstanding its sanitary defects” shall cease to have effect.

30. Section sixty-two of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the purposes for which land may be acquired by a local authority) shall have effect as if, in the proviso thereto, for the word “subsection” there were substituted the word “section” and as if for the words from “entered in the valuation roll” to the end of the proviso there were substituted the words “used for agriculture, and which is required in connection with that use of that land”.

31. Section one hundred and twenty-one of the Act of 1950 (which relates to arrangements by local authorities with housing associations and development corporations for the improvement of housing accommodation) shall have effect as if, in subsection (3), after the word “completed” there were inserted the words “or for such period, not exceeding sixty financial years, beginning as aforesaid as may be determined by the Secretary of State”.

32. In subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the amounts to be carried to the credit of a local authority’s housing revenue account) the reference to Exchequer contributions shall be construed as including a reference to payments under subsections (2) and (4) of section eighty-seven of the Act of 1950 and payments under subsections (2) and (4) of section nine of this Act.

33. As respects any financial year beginning on or after the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, subsection (4) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the credits and debits to be carried to housing revenue accounts) shall have effect as if there were added at the end thereof the following proviso, that is to say:—

4TH SCH.

“ Provided that, in the case of incomings and outgoings other than those mentioned in the foregoing provisions of this section, directions under this subsection may (instead of directing particular amounts to be credited or debited) direct generally that credits or debits shall be made in respect of incomings or outgoings of a kind specified in the direction.”

34. As respects any financial year beginning on or after the sixteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, for section one hundred and thirty-nine of the Act of 1950 (which relates to the disposal of balances in housing revenue accounts) there shall be substituted the following section, that is to say:—

of balances in housing
accounts.

139. Any surplus shown in a housing revenue account at the end of a financial year may be applied by the local authority, in whole or in part, in making good to the general rate fund any contribution credited to the account under paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act and subsection (1) of section five of the Housing and Town Development (Scotland) Act, 1957, in any of the nine last preceding financial years, and, so far as not so applied, shall be carried to the credit of the account for the next financial year.”

35. In subsection (1) of section one hundred and eighty-four of the Act of 1950 (which relates to interpretation) the definitions of “block of flats” and “sanitary defects” shall cease to have effect.

36. In paragraph 12 of the Eighth Schedule to the Act of 1950 (which relates to local authorities' contributions to housing revenue accounts) the words “(in this Act referred to as an additional contribution)” shall cease to have effect.

CHAPTER 29

An Act to provide that certain agreements made by or between members of associations of persons occupying land used for agriculture or forestry shall be exempted from the application of Part I of the Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1956. [3rd July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) This section applies to any association of persons occupying land used for agriculture or forestry or both, in the case of which the following conditions are satisfied, that is to say:—

of certain agreements from registration.

- (a) the association is registered under the Industrial and Provident Societies Acts, 1893 to 1954 or, being a company within the meaning of the Companies Act, 1948, contains in its memorandum or articles of association such provisions as may be prescribed by order of the Ministers with respect to the number of members, numbers of shares held by members, distribution of profits, voting rights or other matters;
- (b) at least ninety per cent. of the voting power is attached to shares held by persons occupying land used as aforesaid; and
- (c) the only business, or the principal business, carried on by the association is one or more of the following, that is to say:—
  - (i) the marketing or preparation for market of produce produced by members of the association on land occupied by them and used as aforesaid (with or without similar produce not so produced);
  - (ii) the supply to such members of goods required for the production of such produce on such land;
  - (iii) in the case of an association of persons occupying land for forestry, the carrying out of forestry operations for such members on such land;

11 & 12 Geo.
6. c. 38.

and to any association of such associations which satisfies the condition specified in paragraph (a) of this subsection and would satisfy the condition specified in paragraph (c) if references in that paragraph to members of the association included references to members of constituent associations.

4 & 5 Eliz. 2.
c. 68.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, Part I of the Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1956, shall not apply to an agreement (whenever made) between members of an association to which this section applies, or between such an association and any other person, whether a member of the association or not, by reason only of any restriction accepted or treated as accepted by the association, or by members of the association or of any constituent association, for the purposes of or in connection with—

- (a) the marketing or preparation for market by the association of produce produced by such members on land occupied by them and used for agriculture or forestry (with or without similar produce not so produced); or
- (b) the supply by the association to such members of goods required for the production of such produce on such land; and in determining whether any such agreement is an agreement to which the said Part I applies, no account shall be taken of any such restriction.

(3) The Ministers may by order direct that subsection (2) of this section shall not apply—

- (a) in relation to agreements of such classes as may be prescribed by the order; or
- (b) in relation to agreements, or agreements of any class, made by associations of such classes as may be so prescribed; and any such order may apply to agreements made before as well as after the coming into force of the order.

(4) Any power of the Ministers to make orders under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument, and shall include power to revoke or vary any such order by a subsequent order; and any statutory instrument made by virtue of this section shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(5) References in this section to the Industrial and Provident Societies Acts, 1893 to 1954, and the Companies Act, 1948, include references respectively to the Industrial and Provident Societies Acts (Northern Ireland), 1893 to 1955 and the Companies Act (Northern Ireland), 1960.

2.—(1) In this Act the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say:—

“agriculture” has the same meaning as in the Agriculture Act, 1947 and the Agriculture (Scotland) Act, 1948;

“forestry” includes the processing of wood for sale, but not the manufacture of articles of wood;

and commencement.
10 & 11 Geo.
6. c. 48.
11 & 12 Geo.
6. c. 45.

“ the Ministers ” means the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food and the Secretaries of State respectively concerned with agriculture in Scotland and in Northern Ireland, acting jointly;

“ produce ” means anything (whether live or dead) produced in the course of agriculture or forestry.

(2) This Act shall be construed as one with the Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1956.

(3) This Act may be cited as the Agricultural and Forestry Associations Act, 1962.

(4) This Act shall come into force at the expiration of the period of three months beginning with the day on which it is passed.

An Act to amend with regard to certain matters, and empower Her Majesty in Council to amend with regard to others, the law concerning the administration of justice in Northern Ireland; to enlarge the legislative power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland; to amend other law applicable to Northern Ireland; to lay down a rule for interpreting, in the application to Northern Ireland of Acts of Parliament, certain expressions commonly used therein; and to repeal obsolete, unnecessary or spent enactments applying to Northern Ireland. [3rd July, 1962]

Administration of Justice

1.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, to any restriction imposed by an enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland which has effect by virtue of this section, and to any restriction imposed by virtue of section four of this Act, an appeal shall lie to the House of Lords from any order or judgment of the Court of Appeal made or given on or after such day as Her Majesty may by Order in Council appoint for the purposes of this section. Appeals to the House of Lords.

(2) No appeal shall lie under this section except with the leave of the Court of Appeal or of the House of Lords.

(3) Sections four and five of the Appellate Jurisdiction Act, 1876 (which respectively provide for the bringing of appeals under that Act by way of petition and regulate the composition of the House of Lords for the hearing and determination of such appeals) shall apply to an appeal under this section, and to the hearing and determination thereof, as they apply respectively to an appeal under that Act, and to the hearing and determination thereof.

(4) The House of Lords may by order provide for the hearing and determination by a Committee of that House of petitions for leave to appeal under this section from the Court of Appeal, and the said section five shall apply to the hearing of any such petition by a Committee of that House as, by virtue of the last foregoing subsection, it applies to the hearing and determination of an appeal under this section.

(5) Section eleven of the said Act of 1876 (which relates to the manner in which, and conditions on which, appeals lie to the House of Lords under that Act) shall have effect as if the references therein to that Act included references to this section.

(6) This section does not apply to an order or decision of the Court of Appeal from which an appeal lies under section one, thirteen or eighteen of the Administration of Justice Act, 1960.

(7) No appeal from an order or judgment of the Court of Appeal shall, unless it involves a decision of any question as to the validity of any law made by, or having the effect of an Act of, the Parliament of Northern Ireland, lie under this section in a case where, by any enactment in force immediately before the day appointed for the purposes of this section (other than section eleven of the Annual Revision of Rateable Property (Ireland) Amendment Act, 1860), it is expressly provided (whatever form of words is used) that that order or judgment is to be final.

(8) No limitation or restriction imposed by the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws shall be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from making a law providing that an order or judgment of the Court of Appeal made or given in proceedings instituted under or by virtue of an enactment of that Parliament shall, unless it involves such a decision as is mentioned in the last foregoing subsection, be final, or so as ever to have prevented that Parliament from making a law providing that an order or judgment of that Court made or given as aforesaid should be final.

Restrictions on appeals to the Court of Appeal.

2.—(1) No appeal to the Court of Appeal shall lie—

- (a) except as provided by the Administration of Justice Act, 1960, from any judgment of the High Court in any criminal cause or matter ;
- (b) from an order allowing an extension of time for appealing from a judgment or order ;
- (c) from an order of a judge giving unconditional leave to defend an action ;
- (d) from an order or judgment of the High Court or any judge thereof where it is provided by or by virtue of any enactment (including an enactment contained in this Act) that that order or judgment or the decision or determination upon which it is made or given is to be final ;
- (e) from a decree absolute for the dissolution or nullity of marriage by a party aggrieved thereby who, having had time and opportunity to appeal from the decree nisi on which the decree absolute was founded, has not appealed from that decree nisi ;
- (f) without the leave of the court or judge making the order, from an order of the High Court or any judge thereof made with the consent of the parties or as to costs only which by law are left to the discretion of the court ;
- (g) from any order made in chambers which has not been drawn up as an order of the court, without the leave of the judge by whom the order was made or of the Court of Appeal ;
- (h) without the leave of the judge or of the Court of Appeal, from any interlocutory order or interlocutory judgment made or given by a judge of the High Court, except in the following cases, namely,—
  - (i) where the liberty of the subject or the custody of infants is concerned ;
  - (ii) where an injunction or the appointment of a receiver is granted or refused ;
  - (iii) in the case of a decision determining the claim of any creditor or the liability of any director or other officer under the Companies Act (Northern Ireland), 1960, in respect of misfeasance or otherwise ;

(iv) in the case of a decree nisi in a matrimonial cause or a judgment or order in an Admiralty action determining liability ;

(v) in the case of an order on a special case stated under the Arbitration Act (Northern Ireland), 1937 ;

(vi) in such other cases as may be prescribed by rules made under subsection (1) of section seven of this Act, being cases appearing to the authority making the rules to be of the nature of final decisions ;

(i) from the decision of the High Court on any question of law, whether on appeal or otherwise, under sections one hundred and seven to one hundred and thirty-six of the Representation of the People Act, 1949.

(2) An order refusing unconditional leave to defend an action shall not be deemed to be an interlocutory order within the meaning of the foregoing subsection.

(3) No limitation or restriction imposed by the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws shall be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from making a law providing that an order or judgment of the High Court made or given in proceedings instituted under or by virtue of an enactment of that Parliament shall be final or so as ever to have prevented that Parliament from making a law providing that an order or judgment of that Court made or given as aforesaid should be final.

(4) Nothing in this section or in any law made by the Parliament of Northern Ireland shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 6 of the First Schedule to the Irish Free State (Consequential Provisions) Act, 1922 (Session 2) (which provides for an appeal to the Court of Appeal where a decision of a court in Northern Ireland involves the decision of any question as to the validity of any law made by, or having the effect of an Act of, the Parliament of Northern Ireland and an appeal would not otherwise lie).

(5) As from the day appointed for the coming into operation of subsection (1) of this section, section twenty-four (appeals from the High Court to the Court of Appeal) of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877, shall have effect with the substitution, for the words " save as hereinafter mentioned ", of the words " save as provided by section two of the Northern Ireland Act, 1962 ".

(6) Subsection (1) of this section shall come into operation on such day as Her Majesty may by Order in Council appoint, but no restriction thereby imposed shall apply to an order or judgment of the High Court made or given before that day.

Power of Her Majesty to transfer appellate jurisdiction of High Court to Court of Appeal.

3.—(1) Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, transfer to the Court of Appeal any jurisdiction which, under any enactment passed before the passing of this Act, is exercisable by the High Court or a judge thereof upon an appeal from the decision or determination of any inferior court or any tribunal, authority or person.

(2) An Order in Council under this section may make provision for any incidental or supplementary matters for which it appears to Her Majesty in Council to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of the Order to provide, and may amend or repeal any such enactment as aforesaid so far as may be necessary or expedient in consequence of provision made by the Order.

(3) In this section “appeal” includes an appeal by way of case stated.

Power of Her Majesty to amend law with respect to remittals to, and removals from, county court, and destination of appeals therefrom.

4.—(1) Her Majesty may, by Order in Council,—

- (a) confer on the High Court power to remit to a county court, in whole or in part, any civil proceedings commenced in the High Court ;
- (b) confer on the High Court power to remove to that court from a county court, in whole or in part, any civil proceedings commenced in that county court ;
- (c) determine the court to which an appeal shall lie in Northern Ireland from a decree given in any proceedings in a county court.

(2) Where, in pursuance of an Order in Council under this section, proceedings are remitted or removed to, or an appeal is brought to, any court, that court shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine those proceedings or (as the case may be) that appeal ; and, as regards proceedings so remitted to a county court,—

- (a) the court shall have the like jurisdiction as the High Court as to the giving of any relief claimed, including (but without prejudice to the generality of this provision) the amount of damages that may be awarded ; and
- (b) the parties to the proceedings shall have the like right of appeal as if the proceedings had been commenced in the county court.

(3) An Order in Council under this section may—

- (a) make provision as to the cases and circumstances in which, and the conditions on which, a right or power conferred by the Order may be exercised ;
- (b) provide that an order or judgment made or given upon the determination of an appeal by a court by virtue of any provision of the Order having effect by virtue of paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section shall, unless it involves a decision of any question as to the validity of any law made by, or having the effect of an Act of, the Parliament of Northern Ireland, be final ;

- (c) make provision for any incidental or supplementary matters for which it appears to Her Majesty in Council to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of the Order to provide ;
- (d) amend or repeal any enactment passed before the passing of this Act so far as may be necessary or expedient in consequence of provision made by the Order.

(4) In this section "decree" includes a dismiss, a decree on a counterclaim, and an order, decision or determination in any civil proceedings instituted under or by virtue of any enactment.

5.—(1) Any such person as follows, namely,—

- (a) a person who has held the office of a judge of the High Court ;
- (b) a person who holds or has held the office of a judge of the Court of Appeal ;
- (c) a person falling within neither of the foregoing paragraphs who holds or has held the office of a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary and, on his appointment to that office, was qualified for appointment as a judge of the High Court or the Court of Appeal ;

Assistance
for transaction of business in Supreme Court.

may, at any time, at the request of the Lord Chief Justice—

- (i) sit and act as a judge of the High Court for, or perform any other official or ministerial acts on behalf of, a judge of that court absent through illness or any other cause ;
- (ii) sit and act as a judge of the High Court in the place of a judge of that court whose place has become vacant ;
or
- (iii) sit and act as an additional judge of that court.

(2) Any such person as follows, namely,—

- (a) a person who has held the office of a judge of the Court of Appeal ;
- (b) a person who holds the office of a judge of the High Court or, not being a judge of the Court of Appeal, has held the office of a judge of the High Court ;
- (c) a person falling within neither of the foregoing paragraphs who holds or has held the office of a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary and, on his appointment to that office, was qualified for appointment as a judge of the High Court or the Court of Appeal ;

may, at any time, at the request of the Lord Chief Justice—

- (i) sit and act as a judge of the Court of Appeal for, or perform any other official or ministerial acts on behalf of, a judge of that court absent through illness or any other cause ;

(ii) sit and act as a judge of the Court of Appeal in the place of a judge of that court whose place has become vacant ; or

(iii) sit and act as an additional judge of that court.

(3) Every person while sitting and acting under this section shall have all the jurisdiction, powers and privileges of a judge of the court in which he is so sitting and acting, but shall not otherwise be deemed to be a judge of that court or to have ceased, if he is a judge of the High Court, to be a judge of that court or of the division to which he belongs, if he is a judge of the Court of Appeal, to be a judge of that court or, in either case, to be a member of any other tribunal of which he is a member.

(4) A person who has sat and acted under this section as a judge, or additional judge, of the High Court shall, although the period has expired during which he was requested so to sit and act, attend the sittings of that court for the purpose of giving judgment in, or otherwise acting in relation to, any case heard by him while he so sat and acted, and a person who has sat and acted under this section as a judge, or additional judge, of the Court of Appeal shall, although the period has expired during which he was requested so to sit and act, attend the sittings of that court for the purpose of giving judgment in, or otherwise acting in relation to, any case heard by that court while he so sat and acted.

(5) For any period during which a person who does not hold office as a judge of the High Court or the Court of Appeal or as a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary sits and acts under this section, there may be paid to him, out of moneys provided by Parliament, such remuneration and allowances as the Treasury may, after consultation with the Lord Chief Justice, determine.

Assistance
for transaction of business in Court of Criminal Appeal.

6.—(1) Any such person as follows, namely,—

(a) a person who, not being a judge of the Court of Appeal or the High Court, has held the office of a judge of either of those courts ;

(b) a person who, neither being a judge of the Court of Appeal or the High Court nor having held the office of a judge of either of those courts, holds or has held the office of a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary and, on his appointment to that office, was qualified for appointment as a judge of the High Court or the Court of Appeal ;

may at any time, at the request of the Lord Chief Justice, sit and act as a judge of the Court of Criminal Appeal.

(2) Every person while sitting and acting under this section shall have all the jurisdiction, powers and privileges of a judge of the Court of Criminal Appeal, but shall not otherwise be deemed to be a judge of that court or to have ceased to be a member of any other tribunal of which he is a member.

(3) A person who has sat and acted under this section shall, although the period has expired during which he was requested so to sit and act, attend the sittings of the Court of Criminal Appeal for the purpose of giving judgment in, or otherwise acting in relation to, any case heard by that Court while he so sat and acted.

(4) For any period during which a person (other than one holding office as a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary) sits and acts under this section there may be paid to him, out of moneys provided by Parliament, such remuneration and allowances as the Treasury may, after consultation with the Lord Chief Justice, determine.

7.—(1) The committee mentioned in the next following section may make rules— Supreme Court rules.

- (a) regulating and prescribing the procedure (including the method of pleading) and the practice to be followed in the Court of Appeal and the High Court respectively in all proceedings whatsoever in or with respect to which those courts respectively have for the time being jurisdiction, and in the offices of the Supreme Court, including (but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing words) the manner in which, the time within which and the conditions on which any proceedings which under any enactment (including an enactment contained in this Act) may, or must, be taken in the Supreme Court or any court or division thereof or brought before any judge thereof are to be so taken or brought ;
- (b) regulating and prescribing the procedure and practice to be followed in connection with the transfer of civil proceedings from a county court to the High Court or from the High Court to a county court ;
- (c) regulating and prescribing the procedure and practice of the High Court with respect to non-contentious or common form probate business except in regard to matters with respect to which directions may be given under section twenty of the Administration of Estates Act (Northern Ireland), 1955 ;
- (d) regulating the sittings of the Court of Appeal and the High Court and of the judges of the High Court whether sitting in court or in chambers and the vacations to be observed by the Court of Appeal and the High Court and in the offices of the Supreme Court ;
- (e) providing that a judge of the High Court may exercise in court or in chambers such part of the jurisdiction vested in the High Court as may be specified by the rules and prescribing the cases in which a judge exercising as aforesaid jurisdiction so vested is to be deemed to constitute the High Court or a specified court of the High Court ;

- (f) prescribing what part of the business which may be transacted and of the jurisdiction which may be exercised by judges of the High Court may be transacted or exercised by officers of the Supreme Court, and regulating the organisation of the offices of the Supreme Court ;
- (g) regulating any matters relating to the costs of proceedings in the Court of Appeal or the High Court ;
- (h) prescribing the extent to which, and the circumstances in which, documents filed in the Court of Appeal or the High Court may be inspected and copied ;
- (i) regulating the means by which particular facts may be proved in or in connection with, or at any stage of, any proceedings in the Court of Appeal or the High Court, and the mode in which evidence of particular facts may be given in or in connection with, or at any stage of, any such proceedings ;
- (j) regulating or making provision with respect to any other matters which were regulated or with respect to which provision was made by rules of court relating to the Supreme Court immediately before the passing of this Act.

(2) Rules made under subsection (1) of this section may make provision for any incidental or supplementary matters for which the said committee think it necessary or expedient for the purposes of the rules to provide, and may amend or repeal, so far as it applies to Northern Ireland, any enactment passed before the passing of this Act so far as may be necessary or expedient in consequence of provision made by the rules.

(3) The power to make rules under subsection (1) of this section shall include power to make rules as to proceedings by or against the Crown.

(4) No rule which may involve an increase of expenditure out of public funds of the United Kingdom shall be made under subsection (1) of this section except with the concurrence of the Treasury and no rule which may involve an increase of expenditure out of public funds of Northern Ireland shall be so made except with the concurrence of the Ministry of Finance for Northern Ireland ; but the validity of a rule so made shall not, in any proceedings in any court, be called in question either by the court or by any party to the proceedings on the ground only that it was a rule to which the concurrence of, as the case may be, the Treasury or the said Ministry was necessary and that the Treasury or, as the case may be, the said Ministry did not concur or are not expressed to have concurred in the making of the rule.

(5) In subsection (1) of this section "proceedings" includes actions, causes, appeals, applications, references and other matters, and any reference to proceedings' being taken or brought shall be construed accordingly.

(6) Rules made under subsection (1) of this section shall be statutory rules within the meaning of the Statutory Rules Act (Northern Ireland), 1958, and the person for the time being secretary to the committee mentioned in the next following section shall, in relation to rules so made, be the responsible officer within the meaning of sections two and four of that Act.

(7) Rules made under subsection (1) of this section shall be laid before Parliament so soon as may be after they are made and if either House, within the period of forty days beginning with the day on which the rules are laid before it resolves that an Address be presented to Her Majesty praying that the rules be annulled, no further proceedings shall be taken thereunder after the date of the resolution, and Her Majesty may by Order in Council revoke the rules, so, however, that any such resolution and revocation shall be without prejudice to anything previously done under the rules or to the making of new rules.

In reckoning any such period of forty days as aforesaid, no account shall be taken of any time during which Parliament is dissolved or prorogued or during which both Houses are adjourned for more than four days.

(8) The foregoing provisions of this section shall have effect in place of section sixty-one of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877, and accordingly that section shall cease to have effect.

(9) The enactments specified in the first column of Part I of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments respectively specified in relation thereto in the second column of that Part of that Schedule (being amendments consequential on the replacement of the said section sixty-one by subsections (1) to (7) of this section or amendments whose effect is to substitute powers to make rules under this section for rule-making powers framed otherwise than by reference to the said section sixty-one), and the Order in Council specified in the first column of Part II of that Schedule shall have effect subject to the amendment specified in relation thereto in the second column of that Part of that Schedule (being an amendment consequential as aforesaid).

(10) Any rules relating to the Supreme Court made under the said section sixty-one or under or by virtue of such of the provisions of the enactments specified in Part I of the said First Schedule as are the subject of amendments made thereby and any rules made under the Criminal Appeal (Northern Ireland) Act, 1930, shall, in so far as they are in force immediately before the passing of this Act and could be made under subsection (1) of this section, have effect as if they had been so made; and the provisions of any other instruments relating to the Supreme Court made under such of the said provisions as are the subject of amendments made by the said Part I and the provisions of any Order in Council made under section thirty (vacations) of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877, shall, in so far as they are so in force and could, were they rules, be made under the said subsection (1), have effect as if they were rules that had been so made; but subsection (7) of this section shall not apply to any such rules or other instruments or to any such Order in Council.

(11) For the purposes of subsection (1) of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920 (which precludes the Parliament of Northern Ireland from repealing or altering a provision of an Act passed by the Parliament of the United Kingdom after the day appointed for the purposes of that section and extending to Northern Ireland, although the provision deals with a matter with respect to which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has power to make laws), the provisions of the said First Schedule shall be deemed to be those of an Act passed before that day.

The Supreme Court rules committee.

8.—(1) The committee referred to in the last foregoing section shall consist of the judges of the Supreme Court, the Attorney General, one other practising member of the Bar of Northern Ireland nominated by the Council thereof, the President of the Incorporated Law Society of Northern Ireland or a member of the Council thereof nominated by him and a practising solicitor nominated by that Council, and shall be known as the Northern Ireland Supreme Court Rules Committee.

(2) The Lord Chief Justice (or, during a vacancy in the office of Lord Chief Justice or any period during which the Lord Chief Justice is for any reason incapacitated for acting, the senior Lord Justice of Appeal in Northern Ireland) shall be chairman of the committee.

(3) The powers of the committee may be exercised by the chairman thereof and not less than four other members thereof.

(4) The Lord Chief Justice may with the approval of the Treasury appoint, upon such terms and conditions (including conditions as to remuneration) as the Treasury may approve, a person to act as secretary to the committee; and the Treasury, after consultation with the Lord Chief Justice, may direct, in the case of a person appointed under this subsection who is not an officer of the Supreme Court, that section seventy-six of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877 (which relates to salaries and pensions of officers of the Supreme Court) except in so far as it relates to salary shall apply to him as it applies to officers of that Court.

(5) There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament—

- (a) any expenses incurred by the committee ;
- (b) any remuneration payable by virtue of the last foregoing subsection to the secretary to the committee ; and
- (c) any increase attributable to that subsection in the sums payable by way of pensions and other benefits under the Superannuation Acts, 1834 to 1960.

9. Subsections (6) and (7) of section seven of this Act shall apply to the following rules and orders, namely,—

- (a) rules and orders made after the passing of this Act under sections seven and thirty-nine of the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877 (which relate to the practice in certain proceedings before the Chancery judge) ;
- (b) orders so made by the Governor of Northern Ireland in Council under section sixty-two of that Act (which relates to circuits and assizes) ;
- (c) orders so made under section eighty-four of that Act (which relates to court fees) ;

Publication of certain rules and orders under Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Ireland), 1877, and parliamentary control of powers to make them.

as they apply to rules made under subsection (1) of the said section seven.

10.—(1) The prerogative writs of mandamus, prohibition and certiorari shall no longer be issued by the High Court ; but in a case where the High Court would, but for the foregoing provisions of this subsection, have had jurisdiction to order the issue of a writ of mandamus requiring an act to be done, or a writ of prohibition prohibiting any proceedings or matter, or a writ of certiorari removing any proceedings or matter into the High Court or any division thereof for any purpose, the High Court may make an order (to be called an order of mandamus) requiring the act to be done, an order (to be called an order of prohibition) prohibiting the proceedings or matter, or an order (to be called an order of certiorari) removing the proceedings or matter, as the case may be.

Amendment of law with respect to writs of mandamus, prohibition and certiorari and informations in the nature of quo warranto.

(2) No return shall be made to any such order and no pleadings in prohibition shall be allowed, but the order shall be final, subject to any right of appeal therefrom.

(3) In any enactment of the Parliament of the United Kingdom (as that enactment applies to Northern Ireland) and in any enactment of the Parliament of Northern Ireland references to a writ of mandamus, prohibition or certiorari shall be construed as references to the corresponding order, and references to the issue or award of any such writ shall be construed as references to the making of the corresponding order.

(4) Informations in the nature of quo warranto are hereby abolished in Northern Ireland ; but in a case where in Northern Ireland a person acts in an office in which he was not entitled to act and an information in the nature of quo warranto would, but for the foregoing provisions of this subsection, have lain against him, the High Court may grant an injunction restraining him from so acting and may (if the case so requires) declare the office to be vacant, so, however, that no proceedings for an injunction under this subsection shall be taken by a person who would not immediately before the coming into operation of this subsection have been entitled to apply for an information in the nature of quo warranto.

(5) Rules may be made under subsection (1) of section seven of this Act—

- (a) requiring, except in such cases as may be specified in the rules, that leave shall be obtained before any application is made or proceedings are commenced under this section ;
- (b) requiring that, where leave is so obtained, no relief shall be granted and no ground relied upon, except with the leave of a judge of the High Court, other than the relief and grounds specified when the application for leave was made.

(6) Subsections (1) to (4) of this section shall come into operation on such day as Her Majesty may by Order in Council appoint.

Reduction of number of jurors in civil proceedings.

11.—(1) In Northern Ireland, notwithstanding anything in any enactment, for the purpose of any action tried by a jury or inquiry by a jury in any civil proceedings, it shall not be necessary for the jury to consist of more than seven persons.

(2) In relation to a case in which, by virtue of the foregoing subsection, the jury need not consist of more than seven persons, sections forty-one and forty-two of the Juries Act (Ireland), 1871 (which relate to the selection of a jury), shall have effect as if, for the word “twelve”, wherever occurring, there were substituted the word “seven”.

Reservation of matters relating to Supreme Court not to preclude legislation by Parliament of Northern Ireland about certain matters.

12.—(1) No law made by the Parliament of Northern Ireland about—

- (a) bankruptcy, insolvency, the winding up of bodies (whether corporate or unincorporated) or the making of arrangements or compositions with creditors ;
- (b) cases stated ; or
- (c) the registration, execution or enforcement of judgments and orders of the Supreme Court, the powers or duties of under-sheriffs or bailiffs in relation to such registration, execution or enforcement, or the establishment of a uniform system for the enforcement of all judgments, orders and decrees of all courts in Northern Ireland ; shall be void on the ground only that, by reason of its making provision in respect of a matter relating to the Supreme Court, it contravenes the limitation imposed by paragraph (14) of subsection (1) of section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, precluding that Parliament from making laws in respect of any matter declared by that Act to be a reserved matter.

(2) The said limitation shall not be construed so as to prevent the Parliament of Northern Ireland from conferring or imposing, for or in connection with purposes for which a law is made by that Parliament,—

- (a) any jurisdiction (whether original or appellate) or power on the Court of Appeal or the High Court (including a Court of Assize) or on a judge of the High Court (including a judge of Assize) or other judge of the Supreme Court ; or
- (b) with the consent of the Lord Chief Justice, any jurisdiction, power or duty on an officer of the Supreme Court ; and, for the purposes of any proceedings in which the validity of an Act of the Parliament of Northern Ireland is in question, a recital in that Act to the effect that the consent required by paragraph (b) of this subsection has been given to the conferring or imposing by that Act of jurisdiction, powers or duties on officers of the Supreme Court shall be conclusive evidence that that consent has been given.

(3) The said limitation shall not be construed so as to prevent the Parliament of Northern Ireland from—

- (a) making provision for matters incidental to or consequential on the conferring or imposing, by virtue of the last foregoing subsection, of jurisdiction, powers or duties, including (but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing words) provision for specifying the cases and circumstances in which, and the conditions on which, any jurisdiction or power conferred, or any duty imposed, by virtue of that subsection may be exercised or is to be discharged ; or
- (b) amending or repealing, so far as it applies to Northern Ireland, any enactment passed before the passing of this Act, so far as may be necessary or expedient in consequence of provision made by a law made by it by virtue of that subsection ; or from including in a law made by it provision for extending the purposes for which rules may be made under subsection (1) of section seven of this Act, so far as the extension is necessary or expedient for the purposes of, or in connection with, other provision made by that law.

(4) Unless and until the Parliament of Northern Ireland otherwise provides, section one of the Legislative Procedure Act (Northern Ireland), 1933 (which relates to the procedure for including in a Bill in that Parliament any such recital as by virtue of section six or nine of the Northern Ireland (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1932, is conclusive evidence of the fact recited), shall have effect as if the references to the said section nine and the consent required thereby included respectively references to subsection (2) of this section and the consent required by paragraph (b) thereof.

Enlargement of legislative Power of Parliament of Northern Ireland with respect to Matters other than those relating to Supreme Court

Relaxation, for certain purposes, of restrictions on diversion of property of religious or educational bodies.

13.—(1) Such of the restrictions imposed by subsection (1) of section five of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, and Article 16 of the Articles of Agreement for a treaty between Great Britain and Ireland set out in the Schedule to the Irish Free State (Agreement) Act, 1922, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws as preclude it from making a law so as directly or indirectly to divert the property of a religious denomination or educational institution shall cease to extend—

(a) so as to render void, in relation to the property of a religious denomination or educational institution (other than buildings occupied by it and used by it exclusively for religious or educational purposes), a law made by that Parliament in so far as it provides or enables provision to be made for the compulsory acquisition (on payment of compensation) of land for the purposes of housing or slum-clearance, or the development or re-development of any area ;

(b) so as to render void, in relation to any property of such a denomination or institution, a law made by that Parliament in so far as it provides or enables provision to be made for the control of the use of land.

(2) In this section “land” has the same meaning as in section forty-five of the Interpretation Act (Northern Ireland), 1954, and the reference to buildings includes a reference to the curtilages thereof.

Abolition of prohibition of making of laws taking property without compensation.

14. The restriction imposed by subsection (1) of section five of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws that precludes it from making a law so as directly or indirectly to take any property without compensation is hereby abolished.

15. No law made (whether before or after the passing of this Act) by the Parliament of Northern Ireland shall, in so far as it makes provision for providing security of tenure for, or enlarging the estates or interests in land of, persons or any class of persons or for repealing, amending or limiting the operation of any law for the time being in force in Northern Ireland in so far as that law makes provision for either or both of those purposes, be void on the ground only that it contravenes any of the restrictions mentioned in the two last foregoing sections.

Restrictions on diversion or taking of property not to preclude, or ever to have precluded, legislation about security of tenure, &c.

16.—(1) The limitation imposed by paragraph (1) of subsection (1) of section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, precluding the Parliament of Northern Ireland from making laws in respect of the Crown or the property of the Crown shall not be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from enacting provisions for purposes similar to those of—Power with respect to winding up, bankruptcy, &c.

- (a) section three hundred and twenty-four of the Companies Act, 1948 (liability for rentcharge on company's land after disclaimer by liquidator);
- (b) section three hundred and fifty-four of that Act (property of dissolved company to be bona vacantia);
- (c) section three hundred and fifty-five of that Act (power of Crown to disclaim title to property vesting under the preceding section of the Act);
- (d) section three hundred and fifty-six of that Act (application of section three hundred and twenty-four of the Act to land vesting, subject to a rentcharge, in the Crown or any other person on the dissolution of any body corporate);

or from applying, in relation to land disclaimed under the provisions of the law in force in Northern Ireland relating to bankrupts, arranging debtors or persons dying insolvent, provisions corresponding to the said section three hundred and twenty-four.

(2) No limitation or restriction imposed by the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws shall be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from enacting a provision specifying what debts are, in the winding up of any body (whether corporate or unincorporated) or the distribution of the property of a bankrupt, arranging debtor or person dying insolvent, to be paid in priority to other debts, or from making any provision with respect to debts to be paid in priority to other debts in those circumstances; and section six of that Act shall not preclude that Parliament from effecting, as respects Northern Ireland, any repeal or alteration of a provision of an Act passed before the passing of this Act by the Parliament of the United Kingdom as to debts to be so paid in those circumstances, so far as the repeal or alteration is consequential on the enacting or making by the Parliament of Northern Ireland of any such provision as aforesaid.

Power to legislate to prevent suffering by horses, &c., on exportation thereof.

17. The limitations imposed by paragraph (7) of subsection (1) of section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, precluding the Parliament of Northern Ireland from making laws in respect of trade with any place out of the part of Ireland within its jurisdiction or in respect of merchant shipping, and the limitation imposed by paragraph (10) of that subsection precluding that Parliament from making laws in respect of aerial navigation, shall not be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from making a law with the object of preventing horses, asses or mules from suffering unnecessarily when exported from Northern Ireland (whether by land, sea or air).

Amendment of s. 2 (1) of Northern Ireland (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1928.

18. Subsection (1) of section two of the Northern Ireland (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1928 (which provides that the restrictions imposed by section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws shall not be construed as preventing that Parliament making laws for the purpose of ensuring that live stock and agricultural produce, or any class thereof, shall not be sent to Great Britain, the Isle of Man or the part of Ireland which now forms the Republic of Ireland and is therein referred to as the Irish Free State, except under such regulations as to standards of quality, inspection or compulsory insurance as may be made by or under the authority of that Parliament) shall have effect with the substitution, for the words " to Great Britain, the Isle of Man or the Irish Free State ", of the words " out of Northern Ireland "

Power to provide for imposition and recovery of charges for services.

19.—(1) None of the limitations or restrictions imposed by the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, on the power of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws shall be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from making laws providing for the imposition on, and recovery from, persons carrying on business in Northern Ireland in any industry (including agriculture), or persons carrying on there any business consisting wholly or partly in dealing in any materials or produce of any industry (including agriculture), of charges (including charges calculated by reference to an amount or quantity manufactured or produced) for the purpose of meeting costs incurred in connection with the provision of any service or facility intended to benefit those persons or to increase, encourage or make more profitable that business or to secure improvements in the produce thereof.

(2) The proceeds of charges imposed by virtue of this section shall be deemed for the purposes of section twenty-two (reserved taxes) of the said Act of 1920 not to be the proceeds of any of the duties or taxes the imposing, charging, levying and collection of which are declared by subsection (1) of that section to be reserved matters.

20. The limitation imposed by paragraph (1) of subsection (1) of section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, precluding the Parliament of Northern Ireland from making laws in respect of the Crown shall not be construed so as to prevent that Parliament from enacting a provision making binding upon the Crown any enactment of that Parliament about arbitration.

Power to render binding upon the Crown enactments about arbitration.

21. For the purposes of subsection (1) of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, the Costs of Leases Act, 1958, shall be deemed to have been passed before the day appointed for the purposes of that section.

Power to repeal or alter Costs of Leases Act, 1958.

Miscellaneous Provisions

22.—(1) The continuance of the reservation for the purposes of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, by paragraph (b) of the Second Schedule to the Northern Ireland Land Purchase (Winding Up) Act, 1935, of the matter of the vesting of land under the Acts relating to land purchase shall not be construed so as to prevent the Parliament of Northern Ireland from making a law for validating or perfecting, or providing for validating or perfecting, orders or other instruments for the vesting of land in Northern Ireland made by the Irish Land Commission or the Land Purchase Commission, Northern Ireland, which are invalid or imperfect or whose validity or perfection is doubtful.

Land purchase matters.

(2) The functions which, before the passing of the said Act of 1935, were exercisable by the Land Purchase Commission, Northern Ireland, under the provisions of schemes framed for purposes specified in section four of the Irish Land Act, 1903, in connection with the sale of land in Northern Ireland under the Land Purchase Acts (not being schemes framed under section twenty of the said Act of 1903) and, by virtue of subsection (1) of section six of the said Act of 1935, became exercisable by the Treasury shall be transferred to and exercised by the Ministry of Finance for Northern Ireland.

23.—(1) Section five hundred and fifteen of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (compensation for plundering, damaging or destroying vessel wrecked, stranded or in distress or its cargo or apparel) shall be amended by substituting, for the words from "In Ireland" to the end, the words "In Northern Ireland, in pursuance of an application in that behalf to the county court", but no compensation shall be made in Northern Ireland under that section unless the aggregate amount of the plunder, damage or destruction exceeds twenty pounds.

Amendment of Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as to compensation for plundering wrecked, &c., vessel or its cargo.

(2) Subsection (1) of section four of the Criminal Injuries Act (Northern Ireland), 1956 (which empowers a county court, in determining an application for compensation under that Act, to reduce the amount of compensation which it would otherwise award by such sum as it thinks just and equitable having regard to the general conduct in the circumstances of the person suffering the damage, including, in particular, his conduct as respects any precautions which might reasonably have been taken by him to avoid the damage) shall have effect in relation to an application made in Northern Ireland by virtue of this section as it has effect in relation to an application under that Act but with the substitution, for references to the damage, of references to the plunder, damage or destruction to which the application relates and, for the reference to compensation under that Act, of a reference to compensation under the said section five hundred and fifteen.

(3) The said section five hundred and fifteen shall, in its application to Northern Ireland, be subject to the like restrictions with respect to the making thereunder of compensation for plunder, damage or destruction as those to which the said Act of 1956 is, by virtue of subsections (2), (3) and (5) of section four thereof, subject with respect to the payment under that Act of compensation for damage, and those subsections shall apply accordingly with requisite modifications.

(4) Sections five to nine of the said Act of 1956 shall have effect in relation to an application made in Northern Ireland by virtue of this section and to matters consequential on the making of such an application as they have effect in relation to an application under that Act and to matters consequential on the making of such an application subject, however, to the following modifications:—

- (a) for references to the damage to which the application relates there shall be substituted references to the plunder, damage or destruction to which it relates ; and
- (b) subsection (1) of section five shall have effect as if, at the end thereof, there were added the words “ or, in a case where the plunder, damage or destruction or the greater part thereof occurred outside a county, against the council of the county nearest to the place where it occurred ”.

Backing warrants issued in Northern Ireland for execution in England, &c., and vice versa.

24.—(1) For the purpose of adding to the number of persons whose indorsement, in due form, of a warrant issued in Northern Ireland enables it under section twenty-seven of the Petty Sessions (Ireland) Act, 1851, to be executed in England, Wales, Scotland, the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands and whose indorsement, in due form, of a warrant issued in any of the last-mentioned countries enables it, under section twenty nine of that Act, to be executed in Northern Ireland, that Act shall be amended as follows:—

- (a) in section twenty-seven, in paragraph 3, for the words “in like manner as before” there shall be substituted the words “or for a county inspector”, and for the words “either of the inspector or deputy inspector general” there shall be substituted the words “of the inspector general, deputy inspector general or county inspector”;
- (b) in section twenty-nine, after the words “deputy inspectors general”, there shall be inserted the words “or for a county inspector”;
- (c) in section forty-four (interpretation), after the word “prosecutor”, there shall be inserted the words “the words ‘county inspector’ shall include a commissioner of police for a county borough in Northern Ireland and an officer of the Royal Ulster Constabulary having the rank of county inspector”.

(2) This section shall extend to the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands.

25.—(1) The following provisions shall have effect for the purpose of securing that the proceeds of fines imposed and forfeitures incurred upon the conviction of a person in Northern Ireland under the enactments relating to merchant shipping shall no longer be paid into the Exchequer of the United Kingdom:—

- (a) paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section six hundred and ninety-nine of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (payment into the Exchequer of the United Kingdom of fines recovered therein under that Act) shall have effect as if, for the words “the United Kingdom”, there were substituted the words “Great Britain”;
- (b) where a person is convicted in Northern Ireland of an offence under paragraph (a) of section two hundred and twenty-one (desertion from British ship) of the said Act of 1894 or under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section three hundred and seventy-six (desertion from fishing boat) of that Act, the balance of the proceeds of any forfeiture incurred under the paragraph in question which remains after making such reimbursement as is mentioned in, as the case may be, subsection (1) of section two hundred and thirty-two or section three hundred and seventy-eight of that Act shall, instead of being paid into the Exchequer of the United Kingdom, be applied as if it were a fine imposed on summary conviction in Northern Ireland for an offence against that Act, and so much of the last-mentioned section as relates to the powers of the court to make orders with respect to the application of effects and wages forfeited and of the proceeds of effects forfeited which do not consist of money shall be construed accordingly ;

- (c) subsection (4) of section thirty-three of the Merchant Shipping (Safety Convention) Act, 1949, shall cease to have effect.

(2) For the purpose of securing that fines and other penalties imposed in Northern Ireland under the enactments specified in the first column of the Second Schedule to this Act shall no longer be paid into the Exchequer of the United Kingdom, there shall be made the amendments respectively specified in relation thereto in the second column of that Schedule.

Increase of compensation payable to certain Irish officers.

26.—(1) The Eighth Schedule (compensation of existing Irish officers) to the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, shall, as respects any period after the passing of this Act, have effect, and, as respects the period beginning with the first day of October, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, and ending with the passing of this Act, be deemed to have had effect, as if,—

- (a) in Head B of Part I of the Rules therein set out, there had been substituted the words “three quarters” for the words “two thirds” ; and
- (b) in Head C of that Part, there had, in the application of that Head to an officer falling under the said Head B, been substituted the words “nine sixteenths” for the words “one half” and the words “twenty-seven sixteenths of” for the words “one and a half times”.

(2) In so far as it relates to any period before the ninth day of July, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine (being the date of the passing of the Pensions (Increase) Act, 1959), this section shall be deemed for the purposes of the Pensions (Increase) Act, 1956, and the said Act of 1959 to have been in force immediately before the passing of the first of them.

(3) Any increase attributable to this section in the sums which, under subsection (4) of section fifty-five of the said Act of 1920 or section eight of the Pensions Commutation Act, 1871, are payable out of moneys provided by Parliament shall be defrayed out of moneys so provided, and any increase attributable to this section in any sums which, under section eleven of the said Act of 1871, are payable out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom shall be defrayed out of that Fund.

27. In the application to Northern Ireland of any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom (whether passed before or after, or at the same time as, the passing of this Act) the expressions "court of summary jurisdiction", "summary conviction" and "Summary Jurisdiction Acts" shall have the same meanings respectively as in enactments of the Parliament of Northern Ireland.

Interpretation, in relation to Northern Ireland, of certain expressions when used in Acts of the Parliament of the United Kingdom.

28.—(1) Whereas section fourteen (payment where partially damaged land is compulsorily acquired) of the War Damage Act, 1943, has, by virtue of the Northern Ireland (Compensation for Compulsory Purchase) Act, 1957, and the Acquisition of War-Damaged Land (Compensation) Act (Northern Ireland), 1957, been annulled so far as it applies to Northern Ireland, except in relation to acquisitions there to which its application is no longer required:

Cesser of obsolete, unnecessary or spent enactments.

Now, therefore, the said section fourteen (so far as it applies to Northern Ireland) and the said Acts of 1957 shall cease to have effect.

(2) Whereas the enactments mentioned in the first and second columns of the Third Schedule to this Act have, to the extent respectively specified in relation thereto in the third column of that Schedule, become obsolete, unnecessary or spent, whether by lapse of time, or by reason of its having become lawful for rules of court to regulate or provide for the matters thereby dealt with, or otherwise:

Now, therefore, the said enactments shall cease to have effect to the extent aforesaid.

Supplemental

An Act to make further provision, by way of financial assistance and otherwise, with respect to the white fish and herring industries, including provision relating to the White Fish Authority and the Herring Industry Board; to make further provision for the regulation of fishing for, and the landing and commercial use of, sea-fish, and with respect to shellfish; to enable the charges leviable at certain harbours to be varied, and to facilitate borrowing for certain harbour and marine work undertakings; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [3rd July, 1962]

Grants, advances, borrowing powers and marketing funds (white fish and herring industries)

Extension of scope and duration, and provision for increase, of white fish and herring subsidies.

1.—(1) The persons to whom grants may be made in pursuance of a scheme under section five of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953 (which provides for subsidies for fishing vessels engaged in catching white fish) shall include the owners or charterers of vessels registered in the United Kingdom, being vessels engaged in processing or transporting white fish caught by vessels registered in the United Kingdom or the products of any such white fish.

(2) The persons to whom grants may be made in pursuance of a scheme under section three of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957 (which provides for subsidies for fishing vessels engaged in catching herring) shall include the owners or charterers of vessels registered in the United Kingdom, being vessels engaged in processing or transporting herring caught by vessels registered in the United Kingdom or the products of any such herring.

(3) The voyages in respect of which grants may be made in pursuance of a scheme under either of the relevant sections shall be voyages made by the vessel in question for any one or more of the following purposes, that is to say—

- (a) catching white fish or herring, as the case may be ;
- (b) processing white fish or herring, as the case may be, being fish caught wholly or mainly by the vessel in question, or by other vessels registered in the United Kingdom, or by the vessel in question and by other vessels so registered ;
- (c) transporting such white fish or herring (as the case may be) as are mentioned in the last preceding paragraph, or the products of such white fish or herring, where (in any such case) it is part of the purpose that the fish or the products of the fish are to be landed in the United Kingdom, whether by the vessel which caught them or by another vessel.

(4) So much of subsection (1) of the said section three as limits the making of grants to vessels not exceeding one hundred and forty feet in length, and so much of subsection (2) of that section as prevents the making of grants in respect of voyages beyond particular waters specified therein or in respect of herring taken in the course of such voyages, shall cease to have effect.

(5) The date before which applications for grants under either of the relevant sections must be received by the appropriate Minister shall be postponed from the first day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-three, to the first day of January, nineteen hundred and seventy-three.

(6) The amount by which the aggregate amount of the grants made in pursuance of schemes under either of the relevant sections may be increased at any one time by an order under section four of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957, shall be five million pounds instead of three million pounds.

(7) In this section “the relevant sections” means section five of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, and section three of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957 ; and “white fish” has the same meaning as in the said section five.

2.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect in relation to any scheme made after the commencement of this Act under section five of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, in so far as the scheme provides for the making of grants in the case of vessels to which this section applies.

I*

(2) This section applies to vessels of or over eighty feet in length; and nothing in this section shall affect any scheme in so far as it relates to vessels of less than that length.

(3) Any such scheme, in so far as it provides for the making of grants in the case of vessels to which this section applies, shall provide for rates of grants of either or both of the following descriptions, that is to say—

- (a) basic rates, payable either in respect of all vessels to which this section applies or in respect of all such vessels except vessels of any such class as may be specified in the scheme;
- (b) special rates, limited to such classes of vessels (whether being vessels to which the basic rates are applicable or not) as may be specified in the scheme:

Provided that a scheme shall not provide for special rates in the case of any class of vessels except where the Ministers are satisfied that they are needed by reason of special circumstances relating to that class of vessels.

(4) Subject to any limit for the time being in force on the aggregate amount of grants which may be made in pursuance of any such scheme, and subject to the following provisions of this section, any such rates as are mentioned in the last preceding subsection shall be of such amounts as may be determined by or under the scheme; and different rates (whether basic or special) may be so determined in relation to different classes of vessels.

(5) Basic rates determined by or under a scheme may be so determined either for one year or for two or more years; but special rates may be so determined in respect of any period (of whatever length) for which it appears to the Ministers that the special circumstances in question are likely to continue.

(6) The basic rates determined in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section in relation to any class of vessels shall be progressively reduced year by year, in such a way that the basic rates for any year shall be less than those for the immediate preceding year by an amount being not less than seven and one-half per cent. and not more than twelve and one-half per cent. of the initial basic rates for that class of vessels.

(7) Special rates determined by or under any such scheme in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section shall be such that—

- (a) the aggregate amount of the payments made by way of special rates in respect of any one year shall not exceed three hundred and fifty thousand pounds; and

(b) the aggregate amount of the payments so made in respect of the whole period beginning with the commencement of this Act and ending with the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and seventy-two, shall not exceed two million five hundred thousand pounds.

(8) Where any such scheme provides for special rates but does not provide for basic rates, subsection (4) of section five of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957 (whereby a scheme is to be of no effect unless approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament) shall not apply; but any statutory instrument containing the scheme shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(9) In this section "year" means any period of twelve months for which basic rates are determined as therein mentioned, and "the initial basic rates", in relation to any class of vessels, means the basic rates so determined in relation to that class of vessels for the first year for which such rates are so determined.

3.—(1) The powers conferred on the White Fish Authority by section one of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, and on the Herring Industry Board by section six of that Act (which sections respectively empower the Authority and the Board to make grants in respect of the acquisition of new fishing vessels and new engines for fishing vessels, but limited in each case to vessels not exceeding one hundred and forty feet in length) shall be extended and shall have effect in accordance with, and subject to, the following provisions of this section.

Extension of powers of White Fish Authority and Herring Industry Board to make grants.

(2) The expenditure in respect of which grants may be made in pursuance of a scheme made after the commencement of this Act under either of the relevant sections shall be expenditure incurred in the acquisition of any vessel to which that section applies, or in the acquisition, installation, modification, renewal or replacement of any part of a vessel to which that section applies, or of an engine, or any part of an engine, of or for such a vessel, or of any relevant equipment required for, or installed or used on, such a vessel:

Provided that no grant shall be so made in respect of expenditure incurred in the acquisition of any secondhand vessel, engine, part, equipment or apparatus.

(3) Section one of the said Act of 1953 shall apply to any vessel registered or intended to be registered in Great Britain, being a vessel engaged or to be engaged in any of the following activities, that is to say, catching or processing white fish or transporting white fish or the products of white fish; and for the purposes of that section a person shall be taken to be engaged in the white fish industry in Great Britain if he carries on the business of operating one or more vessels registered in Great Britain (of whatever size and in whatever way propelled) in carrying on any of those activities.

(4) Section six of the said Act of 1953 shall apply to any vessel registered or intended to be registered in Great Britain, being a vessel engaged or to be engaged in any of the following activities, that is to say, catching or processing herring or transporting herring or the products of herring; and for the purposes of that section a person shall be taken to be engaged in the herring industry if he carries on the business of operating one or more boats (as defined by the Herring Industry Act, 1935) registered in Great Britain in carrying on any of those activities.

(5) The date before which applications for grants under either of the relevant sections must be approved by the White Fish Authority or the Herring Industry Board, as the case may be, shall be the first day of January, nineteen hundred and seventy-three (instead of any earlier date specified in that behalf in section one of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957).

(6) No grant in pursuance of a scheme made after the commencement of this Act under either of the relevant sections shall be made in respect of any expenditure, unless the White Fish Authority or the Herring Industry Board, as the case may be, are satisfied that it is incurred in pursuance of a contract made after the first day of November, nineteen hundred and sixty-one.

(7) The aggregate amount of the grants which may be made in pursuance of schemes under the relevant sections taken together (instead of the existing separate limits of fourteen million pounds for schemes under section one of the said Act of 1953 and seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds for schemes under section six of that Act) shall be seventeen million pounds or such greater sum as may be prescribed from time to time by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury:

Provided that an order under this subsection shall not increase the aggregate amount of the grants by more than two million pounds at any one time.

(8) For the purposes of any scheme made after the commencement of this Act under either of the relevant sections, the limits imposed on the amount of a grant by subsection (3) of section one of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957 (which limits a grant to three-tenths of the expenditure in the case of a grant to a working owner for the acquisition of a new vessel or of an engine for a vessel, and to one-quarter of the expenditure in any other case) shall not apply; but no grant made in pursuance of such a scheme in respect of any expenditure shall exceed the following amount, that is to say—

- (a) where the vessel in question is less than eighty feet in length, three-tenths of the expenditure, or
- (b) in any other case, one-quarter of the expenditure.

(9) In this section “the relevant sections” means sections one and six of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, and “relevant equipment”, in relation to a vessel to which either of the relevant sections applies, means equipment or apparatus of any description constructed or adapted for the purposes of the particular activities referred to in subsection (3) or subsection (4) of this section by virtue of which the vessel is one to which that section applies; and for the purposes of this subsection equipment constructed or adapted for the purpose of transferring white fish or herring from one vessel to another shall be treated as equipment constructed or adapted for the purposes of those activities.

4.—(1) The limit on the aggregate amount of the grants which may be made under subsection (1) of section five of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948, in respect of expenses incurred by the Herring Industry Board for promoting the sale of herring and other purposes specified therein—

Grants to Herring Industry
Board.

- (a) is hereby raised from three million five hundred thousand pounds to four million pounds, and
- (b) may be further raised from time to time, by an amount not exceeding five hundred thousand pounds at any one time, by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury.

(2) The period during which expenses qualifying for grants under that subsection may be incurred by the Herring Industry Board shall not expire on the nineteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-three; but no such grant shall be made except in respect of expenses approved under that subsection before the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two.

5.—(1) The expenditure in respect of which grants may be made to the White Fish Authority under subsection (2) of section seventeen of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951 (which relates to expenditure of the Authority on research or experiment) shall include any expenditure incurred by the Authority in the exercise of the powers conferred on them by subsection (1) of section four of the said Act of 1951 to do any of the things mentioned in paragraph (f) of that subsection (which, as amended by this Act, relates to the provision, acquisition, equipment and operation of plants for processing white fish and of plants for making ice in Great Britain).

Grants to White Fish
Authority.

(2) The limit on the aggregate amount of such grants—

- (a) is hereby raised from one million pounds to two million pounds, and
- (b) may be further raised from time to time, by an amount not exceeding one million pounds at any one time, by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury.

(3) The period during which grants may be made under subsection (2) of the said section seventeen shall not expire on the nineteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-three; but no such grants shall be made except in respect of expenditure approved by the Treasury before the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two.

Borrowing powers of White Fish Authority and Herring Industry Board.

6.—(1) The limit on the amount outstanding at any time of the sums borrowed by the White Fish Authority under subsection (2) of section fifteen of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951,—

- (a) is hereby raised from twenty-five million pounds to thirty million pounds, and
- (b) may be further raised from time to time, by an amount not exceeding five million pounds at any one time, by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury.

(2) The limit on the amount outstanding at any time of the sums borrowed by the Herring Industry Board under section seven of the Herring Industry Act, 1935, may be raised from time to time, by an amount not exceeding five hundred thousand pounds at any one time, by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury.

Exchequer advances to White Fish Authority and Herring Industry Board.

7.—(1) The limit on the amount outstanding at any time of the sums advanced to the White Fish Authority under subsection (1) of section seventeen of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951,—

- (a) is hereby raised from twenty-five million pounds to thirty million pounds, and
- (b) may be further raised from time to time, by an amount not exceeding five million pounds at any one time, by an order made by the Ministers with the approval of the Treasury.

(2) The limit on the amount outstanding at any time of the sums advanced to the Herring Industry Board under subsection (2) of section seven of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, or under subsection (1) of section four of the Herring Industry Act, 1944,—

- (a) is hereby raised from three million five hundred thousand pounds to four million pounds, and

(3) The period during which any such advances as are mentioned in subsection (1) or subsection (2) of this section may be made shall not expire on the nineteenth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-three; but no such advance—

(a) if it is for the purpose of enabling the White Fish Authority or the Herring Industry Board to give financial assistance by way of loan, shall be made unless the application for that assistance is approved by the Authority or the Board, as the case may be, before the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two, or

(b) in any other case, shall be made after the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two.

8. The White Fish Marketing Fund and the Herring Marketing Fund shall be continued until the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two; and accordingly in the following enactments, that is to say,—

Extension of duration of White Fish and Herring Marketing Funds.

(a) subsection (2) of section four and subsection (5) of section seven of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953 (which provide respectively for the payment into those Funds of certain sums received before the expiration of the period of ten years from the passing of that Act), and

(b) subsection (6) of section four of that Act and subsection (7) of section four of the Herring Industry Act, 1944 (which provide respectively for the winding up of those Funds at the expiration of that period), for any reference to the expiration of the period of ten years from the passing of the said Act of 1953 there shall be substituted a reference to the end of the year nineteen hundred and seventy-two.

9.—(1) This section applies to any grant made (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) by the Government of the Isle of Man to the owners or charterers of vessels registered in the United Kingdom, in respect of herring landed in the Isle of Man or in respect of voyages made by the vessel in question for any one or more of the following purposes, that is to say—

Reimbursement of Isle of Man subsidies.

(a) catching herring;

(b) processing herring caught wholly or mainly by the vessel in question, or by other vessels registered in the United Kingdom, or by the vessel in question and by other vessels so registered ;

(c) transporting such herring as are mentioned in the last preceding paragraph or the products of such herring, where (in any such case) it was part of the purpose that the herring or the products of the herring were to be landed in the Isle of Man, whether by the vessel which caught them or by another vessel.

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, the Ministers or either of them may repay to the Government of the Isle of Man the amount of any grant to which this section applies.

(3) Where any such grant (in this subsection referred to as "the Isle of Man grant") has been made in respect of any herring landed in the Isle of Man, or in respect of any voyage made for a purpose specified in subsection (1) of this section,—

(a) no repayment shall be made under this section unless a grant to the owners or charterers of the vessel could have been made in pursuance of a scheme under section three of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1957, in force at the time of the Isle of Man grant, if the herring in question had been landed in the United Kingdom, or, as the case may be, the voyage had been made for the corresponding purpose specified in subsection (2) of that section, and

(b) the amount of the repayment shall not exceed the amount of the grant which could in those circumstances have been made in pursuance of that scheme.

(4) In this section any reference to the Government of the Isle of Man includes a reference to any department or agency of that Government.

Regulation of fishing for, and landing and commercial use of, sea-fish

10.—(1) In relation to the imposition of any prohibition—

(a) on fishing for salmon or migratory trout, whether within or outside the limits of the territorial waters adjacent to Great Britain, or

(b) on fishing for any other sea-fish within the limits of those territorial waters, the power conferred by subsection (1) of section seven of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1959 (which empowers the Ministers to restrict fishing for sea-fish in a specified area for the purpose of giving effect to international conventions or agreements) shall be exercisable wherever it appears to the Ministers to be necessary or expedient to exercise that power, whether for the purpose restrict fishing for sea-fish.

of giving effect to such a convention or agreement as is therein mentioned or not.

(2) Any order made under the said subsection (1), except an order which —

- (a) has effect in relation to salmon or migratory trout (whether it has effect in relation to any other description of fish or not), and
- (b) is not made for the sole purpose of giving effect to such a convention or agreement as is mentioned in that subsection, may be made so as to continue in force either for a period specified in the order or without limitation of time.

(3) Any prohibition imposed by an order under the said subsection (1) may be made so as to have effect either at all times while the order is in force or at such times as (whether by reference to particular months, weeks, days or hours, or to any combination thereof) are specified in the order.

(4) In paragraph (c) of that subsection, for the reference to fishing for sea-fish by any method specified in an order under that section, there shall be substituted a reference to fishing for sea-fish, or for any description of sea-fish specified in the order, by any method so specified.

(5) Any prohibition imposed by an order under that section, in so far as it relates to fishing for salmon or migratory trout, shall apply to any fishing-boats which are British-owned but not registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as it applies to such British fishing-boats as are mentioned in subsection (3) of that section; and subsection (6) of that section (which makes provision for the enforcement of orders under that section) shall have effect accordingly.

(6) The power conferred on British sea-fishery officers by subsection (6) of that section (as extended by the last preceding subsection) to seize any net or other fishing gear used in contravention of a prohibition imposed by an order under subsection (1) of that section shall include power to seize any fish caught in contravention of such a prohibition, where the fish are on the vessel used in contravention of the prohibition or are in the ownership or custody, or under the control, of the owner or master or the charterer (if any) of the vessel.

(7) Where any order under subsection (1) of the said section is not made for the sole purpose of giving effect to such a convention or agreement as is mentioned in that subsection, the order shall contain a statement to that effect.

Licensing of British fishing-boats.

11.—(1) In relation to the imposition of any restriction—

- (a) on fishing for salmon or migratory trout, whether within or outside the limits of the territorial waters adjacent to Great Britain, or
- (b) on fishing for any other sea-fish within the limits of those territorial waters, subsection (6) of section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948 (whereby the power conferred by that section to restrict fishing by British fishing-boats in any area is limited by reference to measures taken by the governments of other countries) shall not apply.

(2) An order made under that section in respect of fishing in any area may be made so as to apply to fishing in that area generally, or may be made subject to any one or more, or any combination, of the following limitations, that is to say, limitations whereby the order applies to fishing in that area—

- (a) for fish of a description specified in the order and not for any other descriptions of fish, or for fish of any description except a description so specified ;
- (b) by a method specified in the order and not by any other method, or by any method except a method so specified ;
- (c) during a season of the year specified in the order and not during any other season of the year, or at any season of the year except a season so specified ;
- (d) during a period specified in the order and at no other time.

(3) Where an order under that section is made subject to any such limitations as are mentioned in the last preceding subsection, the licensing powers exercisable thereunder in pursuance of that order shall be exercisable only within those limitations.

(4) In exercising the licensing powers conferred by subsection (1) of that section, it shall be the duty of the Ministers (in substitution for any corresponding duty imposed by subsection (2) of that section) to exercise those powers in such a way as appears to the Ministers to be likely to cause the least possible hardship.

(5) An order under that section, made with the consent of the Treasury for the purposes of this subsection, may authorise any of the Ministers to make a charge, not exceeding such amount as may be specified in the order, for the granting of a licence under that section ; and different amounts may be so specified in relation to different classes of licences.

(6) In respect of fishing for salmon or migratory trout, subsection (1) of that section shall have effect in relation to fishing-boats which are British-owned but not registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as it has effect in relation to such British fishing-boats as are mentioned in that subsection; and subsection (5) of that section (which makes provision for the enforcement of orders under that section) shall have effect accordingly.

(7) The power of the court under subsection (3) of that section to order the forfeiture of any net or gear used in a contravention in respect of which a person is convicted under that subsection shall, in the case of a contravention committed after the passing of this Act, include power to order the forfeiture of any fish in respect of which the contravention was committed.

(8) The power conferred on British sea-fishery officers by subsection (5) of that section (as extended by subsection (6) of this section) to seize any net and gear used in contravening subsection (1) of that section shall include power to seize any fish caught by the use of the vessel in contravening the said subsection (1), where the fish are on that vessel or are in the ownership or custody, or under the control, of the owner or master or the charterer (if any) of the vessel.

12.—(1) The provisions of section two of the Sea-Fishing Industry Act, 1933 (which empowers the Ministers to impose temporary prohibitions on the landing in the United Kingdom of sea-fish caught in certain areas) shall have effect in relation to salmon and migratory trout as they have effect in relation to other sea-fish. Restrictions on landing of sea-fish.

(2) Any prohibition imposed by an order under that section in relation to sea-fish, or any particular description of sea-fish, caught in any waters specified in the order may be so imposed either for a period specified in the order or without limitation of time, and either free from, or subject to, all or any, or any combination, of the following limitations, that is to say, limitations whereby the prohibition has effect in relation to sea-fish, or sea-fish of that description, as the case may be,—

- (a) caught while in a condition specified in the order and not while in any other condition, or caught while in any condition except a condition so specified ;
- (b) caught by a method specified in the order and not by any other method, or caught by any method except a method so specified ;
- (c) caught at any such times as (whether by reference to particular months, weeks, days or hours, or to any combination thereof) are specified in the order.

(3) Without prejudice to the last preceding subsection, any prohibition imposed by an order under the said section two may be imposed subject to such exceptions as may be specified in the order.

(4) If any sea-fish are landed from a vessel in contravention of an order under that section, the master, the owner and the charterer (if any) of the vessel shall each be guilty of an offence under this subsection.

(5) Any person guilty of an offence under the last preceding subsection shall be liable on summary conviction—

- (a) in the case of a first offence under that subsection, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds ;
- (b) in the case of a second or subsequent offence under that subsection, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds or both,

and the court by which the offender is convicted of any offence in respect of the landing of any fish from a vessel in contravention of an order under that section may order the forfeiture of any fish in respect of which the offence was committed, and of any net or other fishing gear used on that vessel in catching any fish landed in contravention of the order.

(6) Any person who, by virtue of section eleven of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1883, or of section twenty-five of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951, is a British sea-fishery officer—

- (a) may seize any fish landed in contravention of an order under the said section two, and any net or other fishing gear used in catching any fish so landed ;
- (b) may exercise with respect to any fishing-boat within the limits of the territorial waters adjacent to the United Kingdom, and with respect to any British fishing-boat registered in the United Kingdom wherever it may be, such of the powers conferred on British sea-fishery officers by paragraphs (1) to (8) of section twelve of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1883, as may be conferred on him by order of the Ministers, being powers which the Ministers consider necessary for the enforcement of orders under the said section two ; and
- (c) may exercise with respect to any fishing-boat which is British-owned but not registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, wherever it may be, such of the powers mentioned in the last preceding paragraph as may be conferred on him by order of the Ministers, being powers which (in so far as they are not exercisable with respect to any such fishing-boat by virtue of an order under the last preceding paragraph) the Ministers consider necessary for the enforcement of orders under the said section two in relation to the landing of salmon or migratory trout.

(7) For the purposes of the last preceding subsection and of any order made thereunder—

- (a) section twelve of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1883, shall apply as if any reference in paragraph (7) of that section to that Act or to an Order in Council thereunder included a reference to section two of the said Act of 1933 or to an order under the said section two; and
- (b) section fourteen of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1883 (which provides for the protection of sea-fishery officers and for the punishment of persons obstructing them) shall apply as if any reference in that section to that Act included a reference to the last preceding subsection.

13.—(1) Any person guilty of an offence to which this section applies shall, subject to the following provisions of this section, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the value of the fish in respect of which the offence was committed. Additional fine instead of forfeiture.

(2) This section applies to any offence of which a person is convicted under any of the following enactments, that is to say, subsection (3) of section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948, subsection (4) of section seven of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1959, and subsections (4) and (5) of section twelve of this Act, being an offence committed after the passing of this Act.

(3) A person shall not be liable to a fine under this section in respect of an offence if, under any of the enactments mentioned in the last preceding subsection, the court orders the forfeiture of the fish in respect of which the offence was committed; and, where a fine is imposed under this section, the court shall not have power to order the forfeiture of the fish under any of those enactments.

(4) Subject to the last preceding subsection, any fine to which a person is liable under this section in respect of an offence shall be in addition to any other penalty (whether pecuniary or otherwise) to which he is liable in respect of that offence under any of the enactments mentioned in subsection (2) of this section or under any other enactment.

14.—(1) In so far as any enactment or order to which this section applies imposes any prohibition or restriction on fishing for salmon or migratory trout within any waters which, for the purposes of the functions of a river board relating to fisheries, are included in the area of the river board, or on landing salmon or migratory trout at a place within a river board area,— Enforcement of orders in relation to salmon and migratory trout.

- (a) paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section sixty-seven of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923 (which confers powers of seizure on water bailiffs) shall apply as if the reference therein to that Act included references to this Act and the Acts mentioned in subsection (3) of this section, and the references to the said Act of 1923 in subsections (3) and (4) of the said section sixty-seven and in section seventy-nine of that Act (which contain provisions ancillary thereto) shall be construed accordingly as including references to that Act as applied by this subsection ;

- (b) the provisions of subsection (1) and subsections (4) to (8) of section sixteen, and section seventeen, of the River Boards Act, 1948 (which confer powers for the enforcement of that Act) shall apply as if any such enactment or order were an enactment relating to the functions of the river board.

(2) Where any enactment or order to which this section applies imposes any prohibition or restriction on fishing for salmon or migratory trout within any waters which form part of the district of a district board within the meaning of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Protection) (Scotland) Act, 1951, or on landing salmon or migratory trout at a place within such a district as aforesaid, any water bailiff, constable or any person appointed by the Secretary of State in pursuance of subsection (5) of section ten of the said Act of 1951 may exercise in relation to the contravention of such an enactment or order any of the powers conferred upon him in relation to a contravention of that Act by the following provisions thereof, that is to say—

- (a) sections eleven and twelve (which confer powers of search and arrest) ; and
- (b) paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section ten, and section twenty, so far as those provisions relate to the seizure of fish, instruments or articles liable to forfeiture or to the disposal of such fish, and subsections (3) and (6) of the said section ten (which contain provisions ancillary thereto) shall apply as if the Acts therein mentioned included a reference to this Act and the Acts mentioned in subsection (3) of this section.

(3) This section applies to the following enactments and orders, that is to say, subsection (1) of section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948, and any order made after the commencement of this Act under section seven of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1959, or under section two of the Sea-Fishing Industry Act, 1933.

Size limits for fish.

15.—(1) Subject to any exemption granted under this section, no person shall in Great Britain have in his possession any fish to which this section applies for the purpose of processing or otherwise using it in the course of any business.

(2) This section applies to any fish which, under subsection (1) of section four of the Sea-Fishing Industry Act, 1933 (which imposes certain restrictions in relation to fish of a smaller size than that prescribed for the purposes of that subsection), is prohibited from being sold in Great Britain.

(3) Where it appears to an officer authorised in that behalf by the appropriate Minister that any fish which have been caught are fish to which this section applies, the officer may grant to any person such exemption from subsection (1) of this section as the officer considers requisite to enable the fish to be disposed of.

(4) Any person who contravenes this section shall be liable on summary conviction—

(a) in the case of a first offence under this section, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds ;

(b) in the case of a second or subsequent offence under this section, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(5) Subsection (6) of section four of the said Act of 1933 (which relates to the enforcement of orders under that section) shall have effect for the purposes of this section as if any reference in that subsection to an order under that section were a reference to this section and any reference therein to contravention of that section were a reference to contravention of this section.

16.—(1) The maximum amount of the fine which may be imposed on any person under subsection (3) of section seven of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1883 (which relates to contraventions of the provisions of that section with respect to foreign sea-fishing boats within the exclusive fishery limits of the British Islands) shall be increased, in the case of a first conviction, from one hundred pounds to two hundred and fifty pounds and, in the case of a second or subsequent conviction, from two hundred pounds to five hundred pounds ; and accordingly, in that subsection, for the words from “ not exceeding ” to the end there shall be substituted the words “ not exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds or, in the case of a second or subsequent conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds or both ”.

Increase of penalties in respect of foreign sea-fishing boats.

(2) This section shall not apply in relation to any contravention of the said section seven committed before the passing of this Act.

17.—(1) No enactment to which this section applies, and no order or byelaw made (whether before or after the passing of this Act) under any such enactment, shall restrict the carrying on of any operations which, under the authority of one of the Ministers, are conducted for the purposes of scientific investigation, or for the purpose of transplanting sea-fish from one fishing ground to another, or shall restrict the landing of sea-fish caught in the course of any such operations.

Exemption for operations for scientific and other purposes.

(2) This section applies to any enactment contained in, or having effect as modified by, sections ten to twelve and section sixteen of this Act, and to any other enactment which provides for regulating the catching or landing of sea-fish.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall have effect in addition to, and not in derogation of, any express saving or exemption contained in any enactment to which this section applies, or in any order or byelaw made under such an enactment.

Appointment of British sea-fishery officers.

18.—(1) The power conferred on the Ministers by section twenty-five of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951, to appoint officers to be British sea-fishery officers shall include power to appoint any officer to exercise and perform the powers and duties of a British sea-fishery officer subject to such limitations as may be specified in the instrument appointing him; and an officer so appointed shall be a British sea-fishery officer within those limitations, but not otherwise, and references in any enactment to British sea-fishery officers shall be construed accordingly.

(2) An appointment made in accordance with the preceding subsection may be limited in any one or more, or any combination, of the following ways, that is to say, by reference—

- (a) to particular matters;
- (b) to a particular area;
- (c) to a particular order or class of orders.

Shellfish

Power to prohibit deposit of shellfish.

19.—(1) The appropriate Minister may by order designate any waters to which this section applies, and prohibit the deposit in those waters of shellfish of any description, or of shellfish of a description specified in the order, being (in either case) shellfish taken (as the order may provide) either—

- (a) from any shellfish bed outside the waters so designated,
or
- (b) from any shellfish bed in an area specified in the order.

(2) This section applies to the following waters, that is to say—

- (a) all tidal waters (whether forming part of the sea or not) within the seaward limits of the territorial waters adjacent to Great Britain, and
- (b) all inland waters from which, in the opinion of the appropriate Minister, diseases or pests carried by shellfish deposited in them may be conveyed into any such tidal waters as are mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

(3) An order under this section designating any waters may also designate any land adjacent to those waters, being land from which, in the opinion of the appropriate Minister, diseases or pests carried by shellfish deposited on it may be conveyed into those waters; and any prohibition imposed by the order on depositing shellfish in those waters shall apply also to depositing shellfish on that land.

(4) An order under this section may provide that the prohibition thereby imposed shall not apply to any shellfish if—

(a) they are deposited under the authority of a licence granted by the appropriate Minister, and

(b) the conditions (if any) specified in that licence are complied with.

(5) Where any person deposits any shellfish in any waters or on any land in contravention of an order under this section, and is convicted of an offence under this Act in respect of that contravention, the appropriate Minister shall have power to remove those shellfish from those waters or that land, and also to remove therefrom any other shellfish which, in his opinion, may have become affected by any disease or pest carried by the shellfish so deposited.

(6) The appropriate Minister may cause any shellfish removed under the last preceding subsection to be disposed of (whether by destruction, sale or otherwise) as he may think fit, and shall be entitled to recover from the person convicted as mentioned in that subsection any expenses reasonably incurred by the appropriate Minister in removing the shellfish under that subsection, or in disposing of them under this subsection.

(7) For the purposes of this section a person shall be taken to deposit shellfish in any particular waters if he causes the shellfish to enter those waters; and any reference in this section to depositing shellfish on land includes a reference to throwing down, dropping or otherwise discharging the shellfish on that land.

20.—(1) Where any waters are for the time being designated by an order under the last preceding section, the appropriate Minister may by order made under this section designate any area, consisting of any part of the coast or other land adjacent to those waters, and prohibit shellfish of any description specified in the order from being imported into that area, except at such places (if any) as may be specified in the order.

Power to prohibit importation of shellfish in certain cases.

(2) A person shall be taken to contravene an order under this section if any shellfish to which the prohibition imposed by the order applies are imported in contravention of the order, and he, whether as owner, consignor or consignee, agent or broker, is in possession, or is in any way entitled to the custody or control, of the shellfish at the time when they are imported.

(3) In this section "imported" means imported on board any vessel, whether from a place outside Great Britain or not.

Supplementary provisions as to orders under ss.
19 and 20.

21.—(1) Where the appropriate Minister makes an order under section nineteen or section twenty of this Act, he shall take such steps (whether by the publication or display of notices or otherwise) as he may consider most suitable for informing all persons concerned of the effect of the order.

(2) Any person who contravenes the provisions of any order made under section nineteen or section twenty of this Act (including any person who contravenes those provisions by not complying with any conditions specified in a licence granted thereunder) shall be guilty of an offence under this subsection, and shall be liable on summary conviction—

- (a) in the case of a first offence under this subsection, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds ;
- (b) in the case of a second or subsequent offence under this subsection, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or both.

(3) A person authorised in that behalf by the appropriate Minister (in this section referred to as an "inspector") shall, subject to the next following subsection, have the right, at any reasonable time, to enter any land designated by an order under section nineteen of this Act, or any waters, or land covered by waters, designated by such an order, where either—

- (a) the inspector has reasonable grounds for believing that the prohibition imposed by the order is being or has been contravened, or
- (b) entry is required for the purpose of removing any shellfish which the appropriate Minister is empowered to remove under subsection (5) of that section ; and an inspector having a right to enter any land or waters under this subsection shall also have the right to obtain and take away samples (which shall be marked, labelled or otherwise made capable of identification) of any shellfish found there, and to dispose of any such sample as the inspector may determine :

Provided that where an inspector enters any land or waters by virtue of paragraph (a) of this subsection, he shall retain any shellfish so taken for as long as may be necessary to secure that they are available for production in any proceedings for an offence under this section in respect of the contravention in question.

(4) A right of entry under the last preceding subsection shall not be exercisable in respect of any occupied land unless not less than twenty-four hours' notice of the intended entry has been given to the occupier; and the inspector shall, if so required, produce written evidence of his authority before entering.

(5) Any person who obstructs an inspector in the exercise of any right conferred by subsection (3) of this section shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

22.—(1) This section applies to any waters in which the public Public fisheries. have the right to fish, other than—

(a) waters which, for the purposes of Part III of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, are within the limits of a fishery in respect of which a right (whether a right of several fishery or of regulating a fishery) conferred by an order under that Part of that Act, or under the Oyster and Mussel Fisheries Act, 1866, is for the time being in force;

(b) waters (not falling within the preceding paragraph) in which a person has an exclusive right to take shellfish of any description.

(2) The appropriate Minister may take any action which appears to him to be requisite—

(a) for destroying any shellfish which are in any waters to which this section applies and which appear to him to be affected by a disease or pest, or

(b) for eliminating from any such waters any disease or pest affecting shellfish, and (where he has taken any action in respect of any waters in accordance with paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection) for causing those waters to be restocked with shellfish.

23.—(1) Any application made after the commencement of this Act for an order under Part III of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868 (under which orders may be made for the establishment or improvement and the regulation of fisheries for oysters, mussels and cockles) shall be made in such form and manner as may be prescribed by regulations made by the appropriate Minister. Making and variation of orders for several and regulated fisheries.

(2) Where any such application is made, the appropriate Minister may either refuse the application or prepare a draft order and serve a copy of it on the applicants; and section thirty of the said Act of 1868 (under which the applicants are required, among other things, to publish copies of the draft of the order which they propose should be made) shall have effect as if for references therein to such a draft there were substituted references to a draft order prepared by the appropriate Minister under this subsection.

(3) In section thirty-six of the said Act of 1868 (which relates to expenses incurred in consequence of a memorial applying for an order), for references to a memorial and the presentation of a memorial, there shall be substituted respectively references to an application and the making of an application.

(4) Section thirty-seven of the said Act of 1868 (which makes provision as to the coming into operation of orders under Part III of that Act and, in particular, provides that such an order shall, if objection to it is made and is not withdrawn, be subject to special parliamentary procedure) shall cease to have effect.

(5) Any order under Part III of the said Act of 1868, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, may be varied by a subsequent order made thereunder; and the provisions of the said Part III, and the preceding provisions of this section, shall apply in relation to any such subsequent order, and to any application for such an order, as they apply in relation to an original order made under the said Part III on an application made after the commencement of this Act and to an application for such an order to be made.

(6) The power to make regulations under subsection (1) of this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

Inspection of several and regulated fisheries.

24.—(1) This section applies to the provisions of section forty-five of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868 (which provides for the termination in certain circumstances of the rights conferred by an order under Part III of that Act, and confers powers of inquiry and examination and of requiring information with respect to fisheries comprised in such orders) in so far as those provisions relate to the making of any inquiry or examination, or requiring information, with respect to any such fishery as is therein mentioned, and impose on the grantees or other persons a duty to afford facilities for any such inquiry or examination or to give information.

(2) For the purpose of carrying out any inquiry or examinations in respect of a fishery, in pursuance of the provisions to which this section applies, a person authorised in that behalf by the appropriate Minister shall, subject to the next following subsection, have the right, at any reasonable time, to enter any land which, for the purposes of Part III of the said Act of 1868, is within the limits of the fishery, and to obtain and take away samples (which shall be marked, labelled or otherwise made capable of identification) of any shellfish found within those limits; and, notwithstanding anything contained in the said Act of 1868, when the purpose for which any such sample was taken has been satisfied, the person by whom the sample was taken may dispose of it as he may determine.

(3) A right of entry under the last preceding subsection shall not be exercisable in respect of any land unless not less than twenty-four hours' notice of the intended entry has been given to the occupier of the land, and also to the grantees or company referred to in the provisions to which this section applies, if they are not the occupiers of the land; and the person exercising the right shall, if so requested, produce written evidence of his authority before entering.

(4) Any duty imposed on any person by the provisions to which this section applies to afford facilities for any inquiry or examination in respect of a fishery shall include a duty to afford facilities for the exercise of any right exercisable in respect of the fishery in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section.

(5) Any person who obstructs an inspector or other person in the exercise of any power or right conferred by the provisions to which this section applies, or by this section, or who refuses or without reasonable excuse fails to provide any information reasonably required by an inspector or other person in the exercise of any such power or right, shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

25.—(1) This section applies to any order made (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) under Part III of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, being such an order as is mentioned in section forty-one of that Act (which relates to orders which confer a right of regulating a fishery without conferring a right of several fishery). Powers of grantees of regulated fisheries.

(2) The restrictions imposed by an order to which this section applies may include restrictions prohibiting all persons from dredging, fishing for or taking, within the limits of the fishery, shellfish of the description to which the order applies, except under the authority of a licence issued in that behalf by the grantees.

(3) Any power to vary an order to which this section applies shall (without prejudice to the generality of that power) include power to vary the order (whether made before or after the commencement of this Act) so as to impose restrictions in accordance with the last preceding subsection.

(4) Where an order to which this section applies (either as originally made or as varied) imposes any such restrictions, licences may (subject to the provisions of the order and of this section) be issued thereunder in such numbers and to such persons, and operative for such periods, and may authorise the dredging, fishing for or taking of shellfish at such times, in such manner and to such extent, as the grantees may determine.

(5) Where in pursuance of such an order the grantees propose to issue licences, they shall (unless they propose to issue licences to all such persons as may apply for them) notify the appropriate Minister of their intention; and the appropriate Minister may give directions to the grantees as to the exercise of their powers under the last preceding subsection.

(6) If the grantees issue or withhold licences without complying with the requirements of the last preceding subsection or of any directions given thereunder, then for the purposes of section forty-five of the said Act of 1868 (and without prejudice to the generality of that section) the grantees shall be taken not to be properly carrying into effect the restrictions imposed by the order; but no licence issued in contravention of any such requirements shall be invalid by reason only that it was so issued.

(7) Any licence issued under an order to which this section applies may with the consent of the appropriate Minister be cancelled by the grantees of the fishery if the person to whom the licence is issued, having been convicted of an offence of contravening a restriction imposed by the order, is subsequently convicted of another such offence; but, except as provided by this subsection, a licence so issued shall not be cancelled before it is due to expire, unless the person to whom it was issued dies or surrenders the licence.

(8) So much of the said section forty-one as requires restrictions thereunder to be imposed on and apply to all persons equally shall have effect subject to the preceding provisions of this section.

(9) In this section any reference to the imposition of restrictions includes a reference to the making of regulations.

Grants and loans for restoration of oyster, mussel and cockle fisheries.

26.—(1) The appropriate Minister may, with the approval of the Treasury, make grants or loans to any person in respect of any expenses incurred or to be incurred by him in cleansing and reinstating (including restocking) any shellfish beds to which this subsection applies which have been affected by any disease or pest.

(2) The preceding subsection applies—

- (a) to any shellfish bed within the limits of a fishery in respect of which an order under Part III of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, or under the Oyster and Mussel Fisheries Act, 1866, is for the time being in force, and
- (b) to any other shellfish bed used for the propagation or cultivation of oysters, mussels or cockles, being a shellfish bed in respect of which a person has an exclusive right to take oysters, mussels or cockles.

Miscellaneous and supplementary provisions

27.—(1) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to charges to which this section applies; and so much of any existing statutory provision as prescribes a procedure for the revision of any such charges, or as confers upon the undertakers any power of revising any such charges with the approval or sanction of the Minister, or within defined limits, shall cease to have effect:

Revision of charges at fishery harbours in England and Wales.

Provided that any such provision conferring upon the undertakers a power of revising any such charge within defined limits shall not cease to have effect by virtue of this subsection unless and until that charge is revised by an order made under the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act.

(2) This section applies to any charges which, in pursuance of any statutory provision (whether passed or made before or after the passing of this Act), are for the time being authorised to be demanded and taken by undertakers in connection with any works at a fishery harbour in England or Wales:

Provided that this section does not apply—

- (a) to charges in connection with any pleasure pier which is not used or adapted for use as a landing place for goods or passengers and is under the jurisdiction of undertakers other than the harbour authority for the harbour in question;
- (b) to any charge which, by the statutory provision authorising the charge, is left to the discretion of the undertakers without any restriction or subject only to a requirement that the charge shall be reasonable.

(3) Any reference (however expressed) in any existing statutory provision to any charges to which this section applies shall be construed as including a reference to charges for the time being authorised by virtue of an order made under the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act.

(4) For the purposes of the promotion by any undertaking of a Bill containing a provision revising any charges to which this section applies, it shall be deemed, notwithstanding the passing of this section, that the objects of that provision cannot be attained except with new authority from Parliament.

(5) In this section "charges" includes rates, tolls, fees and dues of every description, "statutory provision" means a provision whether of a general or a special nature contained in, or in any document made or issued in pursuance of a power conferred by or under, any Act other than this Act, whether of a general or a special nature, "existing statutory provision" means a statutory provision passed or made before the passing of this Act and any local Act passed at any time in the present Session of Parliament, "undertakers", in relation to any charges, includes any persons who, by or under the statutory provision in question, are authorised to demand and take those charges, and "undertaking" shall be construed accordingly, and "the Minister" means the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food.

(6) This section shall not apply to Scotland.

Rates of interest on sums borrowed by certain harbour authorities.

28.—(1) Where, under or by virtue of any order or Act to which this section applies, undertakers are empowered to borrow money at interest at a rate not exceeding that specified in the order or Act, the appropriate Minister shall have power by virtue of this section to authorise the undertakers to borrow money under that order or Act at a rate exceeding the rate so specified.

(2) This section applies to any order made before the commencement of this Act under the General Pier and Harbour Act, 1861, and to any local Act passed before the commencement of this Act in so far as the order or Act in question relates to the construction, improvement, management or maintenance of a fishery harbour in England or Wales, or, in Scotland, of a marine work within the meaning of the Harbours, Piers and Ferries (Scotland) Act, 1937.

Membership of White Fish Authority and Herring Industry Board.

29.—(1) The number of persons who, under subsection (2) of section one of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951, may be appointed to be members of the White Fish Authority shall be such number as the Ministers may from time to time determine.

(2) The number of persons who, under subsection (1) of section one of the Herring Industry Act, 1938, may be appointed to be members of the Herring Industry Board in addition to the chairman of that Board shall be such number as the Ministers may from time to time determine.

30.—(1) The powers conferred on the White Fish Authority by subsection (1) of section four of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951, shall include power— Powers of White Fish Authority.

- (a) to provide or acquire, equip and operate plants for making ice in Great Britain in any locality in which the Authority think it necessary so as to secure proper provision for the needs of the fishing industry ;
- (b) to give financial assistance by way of loan to others to meet capital expenditure incurred in providing, acquiring, reconditioning or improving plants for making ice in Great Britain, if the Authority think it necessary to give such assistance to promote the interests of the fishing industry.

(2) In so far as those powers relate to the matters specified in paragraph (b) of that subsection (which relates to the encouragement of co-operative arrangements in the white fish industry) they shall have effect as if in that paragraph the reference to bringing arrangements into operation included a reference to continuing or extending them.

31.—(1) This section applies to any undertaking given to the White Fish Authority by a person to whom the Authority have made a grant, in pursuance of a scheme made before the commencement of this Act under section one of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, being an undertaking by virtue of which the use of the vessel or engine in question for fishing outside certain waters is restricted. Modification of undertakings relating to grant-aided vessels and engines.

(2) The Ministers may with the consent of the Treasury direct that the restrictions imposed by undertakings to which this section applies shall be relaxed to such extent as may be specified in the direction.

(3) Any such direction may require the White Fish Authority to take such steps as may be specified therein for bringing the direction to the notice of persons affected thereby.

32.—(1) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament— Financial provisions.

- (a) any expenditure incurred by the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food or the Secretary of State under section nine, section nineteen, section twenty-one, section twenty-two or section twenty-six of this Act ;
- (b) any increase attributable to this Act in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament under any other Act.

(2) There shall be paid into the Exchequer—

- (a) any receipts of the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food or of the Secretary of State in pursuance of an order made in accordance with subsection (5) of section eleven of this Act, or in pursuance of subsection (6) of section nineteen of this Act, and any sums received by that Minister or the Secretary of State by way of interest on, or repayment of, loans under section twenty-six of this Act ;
- (b) any increase attributable to this Act in the sums payable into the Exchequer under any other Act.

Interpretation.

33.—(1) In this Act, except in so far as the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say :—

- “ British-owned ”, in relation to a fishing-boat, means owned by a person who is (within the meaning of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894) a person qualified to own a British ship, or owned by two or more persons any one of whom is (within the meaning of that Act) a person so qualified ;

(5) Except in so far as the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to any enactment are references to that enactment as amended by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

34.—(1) Any power conferred by this Act to make an order Orders. includes power to vary or revoke the order by a subsequent order.

(2) Any power to make orders under any of the following provisions of this Act, that is to say—

(a) sections three to seven, and

(b) sections nineteen and twenty,

shall be exercisable by statutory instrument; and an order under any of the sections mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection shall be of no effect unless it is approved by a resolution of the Commons House of Parliament.

(3) Any power to make orders under Part III of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, under section two of the Sea-Fishing Industry Act, 1933, or under subsection (1) of section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948, shall be exercisable by statutory instrument; and any instrument containing such an order shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(4) Where an order under subsection (1) of section seven of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1959, is made so as to have effect in relation to salmon or migratory trout (whether it is made so as to have effect in relation to any other description of fish or not), then, if the order contains a statement in accordance with subsection (7) of section ten of this Act, the order shall be of no effect unless it is approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

(5) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (4) of section twelve of the said Act of 1959, a statutory instrument containing an order to which the last preceding subsection applies shall not be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

Northern Ireland.

35.—(1) Section twenty of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951 (which provides for the extension of Part I of that Act to Northern Ireland) shall have effect as if the following provisions of this Act, that is to say, the provisions—

- (a) of section five, subsection (1) of section six, subsection (1) of section seven, subsection (1) of section twenty-nine, section thirty and the Third Schedule;
- (b) of subsection (3) of section seven in so far as it relates to subsection (1) of that section;
- (c) of section eight in so far as it relates to section four of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953; and
- (d) of sections thirty-three and thirty-seven, and the Second and Fourth Schedules to this Act, in so far as they have effect for the purposes of any provisions falling within the preceding paragraphs, were contained in Part I of the said Act of 1951 and had been extended to Northern Ireland (without modification) by an Order in Council under section twenty of that Act; and the power of

Her Majesty to revoke or vary an Order in Council under that section shall accordingly include power to repeal or amend the provisions of this subsection.

(2) Subsections (2) to (4) of section fifteen of the Herring Industry Act, 1935 (which contain consequential provisions relating to the extension of that Act to Northern Ireland) shall have effect as if the following provisions of this Act, that is to say, the provisions—

- (a) of section four, subsection (2) of section six, subsection (2) of section seven and subsection (2) of section twenty-nine ;
- (b) of subsection (3) of section seven in so far as it relates to subsection (2) of that section ;
- (c) of section eight in so far as it relates to section seven of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, or to section four of the Herring Industry Act, 1944 ; and
- (d) of sections thirty-three and thirty-seven, and the Second and Fourth Schedules to this Act, in so far as they have effect for the purposes of any provisions falling within the preceding paragraphs, were contained in the said Act of 1935 and had been extended to Northern Ireland under subsection (1) of section fifteen of that Act.

(3) Subsection (1) of section ten and subsection (1) of section eleven of this Act shall not apply to the imposition of any prohibition or restriction on fishing within the limits of the territorial waters adjacent to Northern Ireland ; and subsection (1) of section twelve of this Act, and the amendment of subsection (1) of section nine of the Sea-Fishing Industry Act, 1933, contained in the Second Schedule to this Act, shall not apply to the landing of salmon or migratory trout in Northern Ireland.

(4) So much of sections ten to twelve of this Act (as modified by the last preceding subsection), and of section thirteen thereof and the amendments effected by paragraphs 5, 10 and 25 of the Second Schedule thereto, as relates to matters in respect of which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has power to make laws shall be deemed for the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, to be contained in an Act passed before the day appointed for the purposes of that section.

(5) Sections three, nine, fourteen, fifteen, nineteen to twenty-eight and thirty-one of, and the First Schedule to, this Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

36.—(1) Section sixteen of this Act shall extend to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man. Channel Islands and Isle of Man.

(2) In section eleven of the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1959 (which provides for the extension to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man of certain enactments, including section seven of that Act and section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948), references to the said section seven and the said section two shall be construed as referring to those sections as amended by the Second Schedule to this Act, and as including references—

(a) to sections ten and eleven of this Act, and

(b) to section thirteen of this Act except in so far as it relates to offences under section twelve of this Act.

(3) Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that, subject to such extensions, adaptations and modifications (if any) as may be specified in the Order, the provisions of sections fifteen and seventeen of this Act shall extend to the Isle of Man or any of the Channel Islands.

Amendments
and repeals.

37.—(1) Subject to the following subsection—

(a) the enactments specified in the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in that Schedule, being amendments consequential on the preceding provisions of this Act ;

(b) the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1951, shall have effect subject to the further amendments specified in the Third Schedule to this Act, being amendments for extending the provisions of that Act so as to apply to certain classes of vessels which are not fishing vessels as defined in that Act ;

(c) the enactments specified in Part I of the Fourth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in relation thereto in the third column of that Schedule ; and the statutory instrument specified in Part II of that Schedule is hereby revoked to the extent specified in that column.

(2) The amendment or repeal of any enactment by this Act shall not have effect so as to restrict the expenditure in respect of which grants may be made in pursuance of any scheme made before the commencement of this Act under section one or section six of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1953, or so as to reduce or prevent the payment of any grant made under such a scheme ; and the amendment by this Act of subsection (3) of section two of the White Fish and Herring Industries Act, 1948, shall not have effect in relation to any contravention of subsection (1) of that section committed before the passing of this Act.

Short title.

38. This Act may be cited as the Sea Fish Industry Act, 1962.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

Section 27.

PROCEDURE FOR REVISING CHARGES AT FISHERY HARBOURS

1. An application may be made to the Minister at any time—
  - (a) by the undertakers, or
  - (b) by any person, or any body representative of persons, appearing to the Minister to have a substantial interest,for the revision of any charges to which section twenty-seven of this Act applies.
2. If, on any such application with respect to any of the charges which the undertakers are authorised to demand and take, the Minister is satisfied that in the circumstances then existing it is proper to do so, he may (subject to the following provisions of this Schedule) make an order revising all or any of those charges, whether or not the subject matter of the application, including any classification by reference to which the amount of any of those charges is to be determined.
3. Subject to the following provisions of this Schedule, an order under the last preceding paragraph may revise any of the charges in question in such manner, and with effect from such date, as the Minister may think fit; and any such order shall have effect notwithstanding anything in any statutory provision relating to the subject matter of the order.
4. On an application under this Schedule the Minister shall not vary any charge other than those to which the application relates except after consultation with the undertakers, and such other persons, or such bodies representative of other persons, appearing to him to have a substantial interest as may appear to him appropriate.
5. Where on an application under this Schedule for an increase or decrease in any charge the Minister has made an order, or has decided that it is not proper to make an order, the Minister shall not entertain an application for a further increase, or, as the case may be, a further decrease in that charge, or for a further revision of any other charge revised by the order (if any) so made, if that application is made before the end of the period of twelve months from the date of the making of the order, or, as the case may be, from the date when the Minister gave notice of his decision not to make an order.
6. In making an order on an application under this Schedule, the Minister shall have regard to the financial position and future prospects of the undertaking, and (subject to the next following paragraph) shall not make any revision of charges which in his opinion would be likely to result in the undertaking receiving an annual revenue either substantially less or substantially more than adequate to meet such expenditure on the working, management

1st Sch. and maintenance of the undertaking, and such other costs, charges and expenses of the undertaking, as are properly chargeable to revenue, including reasonable contributions to any reserve, contingency or other fund, and, where appropriate, a reasonable return upon the paid-up share capital of the undertaking.

7. Where the Minister is satisfied that, in view of the financial position of the undertaking during such period immediately preceding the application as may appear to him appropriate, there are special circumstances affecting the undertaking, the Minister may make such revision of charges as he may consider just and reasonable in the light of those special circumstances, notwithstanding that it is in his opinion likely to result in the undertaking receiving an annual revenue substantially less than adequate for the purposes mentioned in the last preceding paragraph.

8. Where an application is made under this Schedule, the applicant, and, where the application is made otherwise than by the undertakers, the undertakers shall furnish the Minister with such information and particulars, certified in such manner, as the Minister may require; and the applicant shall publish in such newspapers as the Minister may require a notice stating—

- (a) the general effect of the application, and
- (b) that, within a period of forty-two days from the date of the first publication of the notice, any person having a substantial interest may object to the application by giving notice to the Minister, accompanied by the grounds of his objection, with a copy to the applicant.

9. Before making an order on an application under this Schedule, the Minister shall, if required by the applicant or by any person who has objected to the application and has not withdrawn his objection, or, where the order would vary any charge other than those to which the application relates, by any person or body whom he has consulted in pursuance of paragraph 4 of this Schedule, and in any other case may if he thinks fit, cause a local inquiry to be held by such person as he may appoint for the purpose.

10. Where an inquiry is held under the last preceding paragraph, subsections (2) to (5) of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which relate to the giving of evidence at, and defraying the cost of, local inquiries), shall apply as if it were an inquiry held in pursuance of subsection (1) of that section and the undertakers were a local authority.

11. Any order under this Schedule may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order made thereunder.

12. Any power to make orders under this Schedule shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

13. Any reference in this Schedule to the revision or variation of charges shall be construed as including a reference to amending or varying the statutory provision in question so as to impose new charges (in addition to those previously authorised) either in respect of the same works or in respect of any new works constructed or to be constructed for use in connection therewith; and (without prejudice to the generality of this paragraph) paragraphs 4 and 9 of this Schedule shall apply to the imposition of new charges not proposed in the application as they apply to the variation of charges other than those to which the application relates.

1st Sch.

14. Subject to the last preceding paragraph, expressions used in this Schedule and in section twenty-seven of this Act have the same meanings in this Schedule as in that section.

CHAPTER 32

An Act to extend certain provisions of the Marriage Act, 1949, to Wales and Monmouthshire. [3rd July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) The following provisions of the Marriage Act, 1949 (which, being among the provisions specified in the Sixth Schedule to that Act, do not extend to Wales or Monmouthshire), that is to say,— subsection (4) of section six section nine subsection (2) of section eleven paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section fifteen paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section sixteen, so far as it relates to marriages to be solemnized in the usual place of worship of one of the parties

Publication of banns, etc. in usual place of worship or by layman.

12, 13 & 14
Geo. 6. c. 76.

subsection (3) of section thirty-five section seventy-two shall extend to Wales and Monmouthshire; and accordingly the said Sixth Schedule shall be amended by the omission of the references to those provisions.

(2) In its application to Wales and Monmouthshire section seventy-two of the Marriage Act, 1949, shall have effect as if it defined the expression "church electoral roll" as meaning an electoral roll of a parish kept in accordance with the constitution and regulations of the Church in Wales for the time being in force.

2. Any parish which is treated for the purposes of the Welsh Church Act, 1914, as being wholly within or wholly without Wales or Monmouthshire shall be so treated also for the purposes of the Marriage Act, 1949, and of this Act.

Meaning of Wales and Monmouthshire.

3.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Marriage (Wales and Monmouthshire) Act, 1962.

SCHEDULES:

- First Schedule—Constitution, etc., of Councils.
Second Schedule—Advisory Committees.

An Act to establish two Councils with functions relating to the training of health visitors and training in social work; to extend the powers of the Minister of Health, the Secretary of State and local authorities with respect to research into matters of social welfare; and for purposes connected therewith. [3rd July, 1962]

Councils for training of health visitors and training in social work.

1.—(1) There shall be constituted two Councils, to be called respectively the Council for the Training of Health Visitors and the Council for Training in Social Work, which shall have such functions relating to the training of health visitors and training in social work as are or may be assigned to them by or under the following provisions of this Act.

(2) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the constitution and proceedings of the Councils and the keeping and audit of their accounts; and the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the establishment of committees to advise the Councils on the exercise of their functions so far as they concern Scotland and Northern Ireland.

(3) Each of the Councils may appoint such officers and servants, upon such terms as to remuneration, pension rights and other conditions of service, as the Council may, with the approval of the Health Ministers, determine.

(4) Each of the Councils may pay to its members and to the members of any committee appointed by it such travelling, subsistence and other allowances as the Council may, with the approval of the Health Ministers, determine.

Functions of Council for the Training of Health Visitors.

2.—(1) The Council for the Training of Health Visitors—

- (a) shall promote the training of health visitors by seeking to secure suitable facilities for the training of persons intending to become health visitors, by approving courses as suitable to be attended by such persons and by seeking to attract persons to such courses;
- (b) if it appears to them that adequate provision is not being made for the further training of health visitors, shall provide or secure the provision of courses for this purpose;
- (c) may conduct or make arrangements for the conduct of examinations in connection with such courses as are mentioned in the preceding paragraphs; and
- (d) may carry out or assist other persons in carrying out research into matters relevant to the training of health visitors.

(2) An approval under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall be given by the Council in accordance with rules made by the Council and approved by the Health Ministers, and those rules may specify subjects to be comprised in the courses to be approved and shall specify the conditions for admission to the courses and for the award by the Council of certificates of their successful completion.

3.—(1) The Council for Training in Social Work—

Functions of Council for Training in Social Work.

- (a) shall promote training in such social work as is required in the health and welfare services by seeking to secure suitable facilities for training persons in such work, by approving courses as suitable to be attended by persons engaged or intending to engage in such work and by seeking to attract persons to such courses ;
- (b) if it appears to them that adequate provision is not being made for further training in such work, shall provide or secure the provision of courses for this purpose ;
- (c) may conduct or make arrangements for the conduct of examinations in connection with such courses as are mentioned in the preceding paragraphs ; and
- (d) may carry out or assist other persons in carrying out research into matters relevant to training for social work in the health and welfare services.

(2) An approval under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall be given by the Council in accordance with rules made by the Council and approved by the Privy Council, and those rules may specify subjects to be comprised in the courses to be approved and shall specify the conditions for admission to the courses and for the award by the Council of certificates of their successful completion.

(3) Her Majesty may by Order in Council make provision for conferring on the Council for Training in Social Work such functions in relation to other social work as are conferred on it by subsections (1) and (2) of this section in relation to the social work therein mentioned ; and, in connection therewith, for making such modifications in the constitution of that Council as She may deem expedient.

(4) An Order in Council under this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent Order in Council and shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(5) In this section “health and welfare services” means services provided by a local authority in carrying out their functions under Part III of the National Health Service Act, 1946, Part III of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, Part III of the National Assistance Act, 1948, or any corresponding enactment in force in Northern Ireland, or similar services provided by a voluntary organisation.

Expenses of Councils.

4. The Minister of Health and the Secretary of State shall pay to each of the Councils mentioned in section one of this Act such sums out of moneys provided by Parliament as may be necessary to defray the expenditure incurred by the Council with the approval of the Health Ministers, so far as that expenditure exceeds any income derived from the exercise of the Council's functions and is not met out of moneys provided by the Parliament of Northern Ireland.

Powers of Ministers and local authorities with respect to research.

5.—(1) Without prejudice to any powers conferred on them by any other Act,—

- (a) the Minister and the Secretary of State may promote research into any matter relating to the functions of local authorities under Part III of the National Assistance Act, 1948, and, in particular, may participate with or assist other persons in conducting such research ;
- (b) any authority which is a local authority for the purposes of the said Part III may conduct or assist other persons in conducting research into any matter relating to the functions of local authorities under that Part ; and
- (c) any local health authority in England or Wales may conduct or assist other persons in conducting research into matters relating to the functions of local health authorities under Part III of the National Health Service Act, 1946.

(2) Any expenditure incurred under this section by such an authority as is mentioned in the preceding subsection shall be relevant expenditure for the purposes of sections two and three of the Local Government Act, 1958, or, as the case may be, of sections two and three of the Local Government and Miscellaneous Financial Provisions (Scotland) Act, 1958 (which relate to general grants).

Exercise of powers of Privy Council.

6. The powers conferred by this Act on the Privy Council may be exercised by any three or more members of the Privy Council.

Short title,
interpretation,
commencement and extent.

7.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Health Visiting and Social Work (Training) Act, 1962.

(2) In this Act “ the Health Ministers ” means the Minister of Health, the Secretary of State and the Minister of Health and Local Government for Northern Ireland.

(3) This Act shall come into force on such day as the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State may by order made by statutory instrument appoint.

(4) This Act, except section five, extends to Northern Ireland.

(5) For the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920 (which relates to the powers of the Parliament of Northern Ireland to make laws) this Act shall be deemed to have been passed before the day appointed for the purposes of that section.

CHAPTER 34

An Act to provide for the numbering and citation of future Acts of Parliament by reference to the calendar year in which they are passed. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. The chapter numbers assigned to Acts of Parliament passed in the year nineteen hundred and sixty-three and every subsequent year shall be assigned by reference to the calendar year, and not the Session, in which they are passed; and any such Act may, in any Act, instrument or document, be cited accordingly. Numbering and citation of future Acts.

2. This Act may be cited as the Acts of Parliament Numbering and Citation Act, 1962. Short title.

CHAPTER 35

An Act to exempt shops at certain airports, and the carrying on of any retail trade or business in connection with such shops, from the provisions of Part I of the Shops Act, 1950; and for purposes connected therewith. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) The provisions of Part I of the Shops Act, 1950 (which relate to hours of closing) shall not apply— Exemption of traders at certain airports from Part I of Shops Act, 1950. 14 Geo. 6. c. 28.

(a) to any shop at a designated airport which is situated in a part of the airport to which this Act applies, or

(b) to the sale (otherwise than at a shop) of any goods at a designated airport, where the sale takes place in a part of the airport to which this Act applies, and is effected by or on behalf of a person carrying on a retail trade or business at a shop situated in such a part of the airport.

(2) This Act applies to every part of a designated airport, except any part which is not ordinarily used by persons travelling by air to or from the airport; and in this Act "designated airport" means an airport designated for the purposes of this Act by an order made by the Minister of Aviation, as being an airport at which there appears to him to be a substantial amount of international passenger traffic.

(3) The power conferred by subsection (2) of this section to make orders shall include power to vary or revoke any order made thereunder by a subsequent order.

(4) Any power to make orders under this Act shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

(5) Expressions used in this Act and in the Shops Act, 1950, have the same meanings in this Act as in that Act.

Short title, citation and extent.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Shops (Airports) Act, 1962; and the Shops Act, 1950, and this Act may be cited together as the Shops Acts, 1950 and 1962.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

CHAPTER 36

An Act to make provision for contributions by local authorities towards the repair and maintenance of buildings of historic or architectural interest and the upkeep of gardens occupied therewith; and for purposes connected therewith. [19th July, 1962]

Power of local authority to contribute to preservation of historic buildings.

1.—(1) A local authority in England or Wales may by grant or loan—

(a) contribute towards the expenses incurred or to be incurred in the repair or maintenance of a building which is situate in or in the vicinity of their area and is for the time being included in a list of buildings of special architectural or historic interest compiled or approved under section thirty of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947; and

(b) with the consent of the Minister of Housing and Local Government, contribute towards the expenses incurred or to be incurred in the repair or maintenance of a

10 & 11 Geo. 6.
c. 51.

building in their area appearing to them to be of architectural or historic interest, other than such a building as is referred to in the foregoing paragraph, and, at the time of making a contribution under this section towards the expenses of the repair or maintenance of a building may also, by grant or loan, contribute towards the expenses incurred, or to be incurred in the upkeep of any garden occupied with the building and contiguous or adjacent thereto.

(2) A contribution by way of loan under the foregoing subsection may be made upon such terms and conditions as the local authority may determine including, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing words, a term that the loan shall be free of interest; and the local authority may at any time renounce their right to repayment of the loan or any interest for the time being outstanding, and, by agreement with the borrower, may otherwise vary any of the terms and conditions on which the loan is made.

(3) A local authority may require as a condition of the making by them of a contribution under this section by way of grant towards the expenses of the repair or maintenance or upkeep of any property that the person to whom the grant is made shall enter into an agreement with them for the purpose of enabling the public to have access to the property or part thereof during such period and at such times as the agreement may provide.

(4) In this section—

“building” includes any structure or erection and any part of a building as so defined;

“local authority” means the council of a county, county borough, metropolitan borough or county district, and a joint planning board constituted under section four of the said Act of 1947, but does not include the London County Council.

2.—(1) If, during the period of three years beginning with the day on which a grant is made under this Act to a person towards the repair or maintenance or upkeep of any property, that person disposes of the interest, or any part thereof, held by him in the property on that day by way of sale or exchange or lease for a term of not less than twenty-one years, the local authority may recover from that person, in any court of competent jurisdiction, the amount of the grant, or such part thereof as to them seems fit.

Recovery of grants on disposal of property within three years.

(2) If, in the case of property towards the repair or maintenance or upkeep of which a grant is made under this Act, a person becomes entitled by way of gift from the grantee, whether directly or indirectly (but otherwise than by will), to a part of the interest held by the grantee, in the property on the day on which the grant is made, a disposal by the donee in any manner mentioned in the foregoing subsection of the interest so acquired by him in the property, or any part of that interest, shall be treated, for the purposes of that subsection, as a disposal by the grantee of a part of the interest so held by him, and, if, in the case of any such property, a person becomes entitled by way of such a gift to the whole of the interest held by the grantee therein on the day aforesaid the foregoing subsection shall have effect as if the grant had been made to the donee instead of to the grantee and that interest had then been held by the donee.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall not be taken as conferring on a local authority a right to recover, in the event of proceedings thereunder being brought in relation to disposals of several parts of an interest in property, amounts in the aggregate exceeding the amount of the grant.

Expenses.

3. Any increase attributable to the provisions of this Act in the sums payable out of moneys provided by Parliament by way of Rate-deficiency Grant or Exchequer Equalisation Grant under the enactments relating to local government in England and Wales or in Scotland shall be paid out of moneys so provided.

Short title

4. This Act may be cited as the Local Authorities (Historic Buildings) Act, 1962.

[19th July, 1962]

PART I*CONSTITUTION OF BUILDING SOCIETIESGeneral provisions*

Establishment of building
society.

1.—(1) The purpose for which a society may be established under this Act is that of raising, by the subscriptions of the members, a stock or fund for making advances to members out of the funds of the society upon security by way of mortgage of freehold or leasehold estate.

(2) A society so established may be either—

- (a) a permanent society, that is to say, a society which has not by its rules any fixed date at which, or specified result on the attainment of which, it is to terminate, or
- (b) a terminating society, that is to say, a society which by its rules is to terminate at a fixed date, or when a result specified in the rules is attained.

(3) Any number of persons, not being less than ten, may establish a society under this Act by—

- (a) agreeing upon rules for the government of the society, being rules which comply with the requirements of this Act relating to rules of building societies, and
- (b) sending to the central office two copies of those rules, signed by not less than ten of those persons (or, if there are only ten, by all of them) and by the intended secretary or other officer.

(4) In this Act “building society” means a society incorporated under this Act or under the enactments repealed by this Act:

Provided that, except where it is otherwise expressly stated, “building society” in this Act does not include a Northern Ireland society.

(5) In the application of this Act to Scotland—

- (a) for any reference to freehold or leasehold estate there shall be substituted a reference to an interest in land, and any reference to making an advance upon security by way of mortgage of freehold or leasehold estate, or on the security of such estate as aforesaid or other the like reference, shall be construed as a reference to making an advance upon a heritable security;
- (b) “a mortgage” means a heritable security, “mortgagor” and “mortgagee” mean respectively the debtor and creditor in a heritable security, and the expressions “on mortgage”, “mortgaged” and “mortgage deed” shall be construed accordingly.

2.—(1) Where copies of rules have been sent to the central office in accordance with subsection (3) of the preceding section, the central office, if satisfied that the rules comply with the requirements mentioned in that subsection, shall (subject to the next following subsection) retain and register one copy of the rules and return the other copy to the secretary or other officer of the society, together with a certificate of incorporation. Registration of rules and name of society.

(2) A society shall not be registered under this section in a name which, in the opinion of the central office, is undesirable.

3.—(1) On the receipt by a society of a certificate of incorporation under the last preceding section, the society shall become a body corporate by the name in which it is registered thereunder, having perpetual succession and a common seal. Incorporation of society.

(2) The common seal of a building society shall bear the registered name of the society.

PART I
Contents of rules.

- 4.—(1) The rules of every building society shall set out—
- (a) the name of the society and its chief office or place of meeting ;
  - (b) the manner in which the stock or funds of the society is or are to be raised ;
  - (c) the terms on which unadvanced subscription shares are to be issued, and the manner in which contributions are to be paid to the society and withdrawn by the members, with tables (where, in the opinion of the central office, they are applicable) showing the amount due by the society for principal and interest respectively ;
  - (d) the terms on which paid-up shares (if any) are to be issued and withdrawn, with tables (where, in the opinion of the central office, they are applicable) showing the amount due by the society for principal and interest respectively ;
  - (e) whether preferential shares are to be issued, and if so, within what limits ;
  - (f) the purposes to which the funds of the society are to be applied ;
  - (g) the manner in which advances are to be made and repaid, the deductions (if any) for premiums, and the conditions on which a borrower can redeem the amount due from him before the end of the period for which the advance was made, with tables (where, in the opinion of the central office, they are applicable) showing the amount due from the borrower after each stipulated payment ;
  - (h) the manner in which losses are to be ascertained and provided for ;
  - (i) whether the society intends to borrow money, and if so, within what limits, not exceeding those prescribed by this Act ;
  - (j) the manner in which membership is to cease ;
  - (k) the manner of remunerating auditors, and the manner of appointing, remunerating and removing the board of directors and other officers ;
  - (l) the powers and duties of the board of directors and other officers ;
  - (m) provision for the custody of the mortgage deeds and other securities belonging to the society ;
  - (n) whether disputes between the society and any of its members, or any person claiming by or through a member, or under the rules, are (subject to the provisions of this Act) to be settled by reference to the court, to the central office or to arbitration ;

- PART I
- (o) the fines and forfeitures to be imposed on members of the society ;
  - (p) provision for the device, custody and use of the society's common seal ;
  - (q) the manner in which the society (whether permanent or terminating) may be terminated or dissolved.

(2) The rules of a building society shall also provide for the calling and holding of meetings, and in particular—

- (a) for the right of members to requisition meetings ;
- (b) for the manner in which notice of any resolutions to be moved at meetings is to be given to members ;
- (c) for the procedure to be observed at meetings ;
- (d) for the form of notice for the convening of a meeting, and the manner of its service ; and
- (e) for the voting rights of members, the right to demand a poll and the manner in which a poll is to be taken.

(3) In the case of a building society incorporated on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, the rules shall include provision authorising the issue of paid-up shares in accordance with subsection (1) of section thirteen of this Act :

Provided that this subsection shall not apply to a building society which, before its incorporation, was an unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836.

(4) The rules of a building society may describe in a schedule thereto the forms of conveyance, mortgage, transfer, agreement, bond, security for deposit or loan or other instrument necessary for carrying its purposes into execution.

(5) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the provisions of this Act as to rules which are void as therein mentioned, and shall have effect subject to the provisions of Part VIII of this Act with respect to societies established before the commencement of this Act.

5. The rules of a building society are binding upon each of the members and officers of the society, and on all persons claiming on account of a member or under the rules ; and all such members, officers and persons shall be deemed to have full notice of the rules. Effect of rules.

6.—(1) A building society may from time to time raise funds by the issue of shares of one or more denominations, either as shares paid up in full or as shares to be paid by periodical or other subscriptions, and with or without accumulating interest. Power to raise and repay funds.

PART I

(2) A building society may repay any funds so raised when they are no longer required for the purposes of the society.

Powers in relation to land.

7.—(1) A building society shall, so far as is necessary for the purpose for which it is established, have power to hold land with the right of foreclosure.

(2) A building society may purchase, build, hire or take on lease a building for conducting its business and may adapt and furnish it.

(3) A building society may purchase or hold on lease any land for the purpose only of erecting on it a building for conducting the business of the society.

(4) A building society may sell, exchange or let the whole or part of any such building or land as is mentioned in subsection (2) or subsection (3) of this section.

Membership

Members who are not shareholders.

8.—(1) The rules of a building society may allow a person to become a member without holding a share in the society.

(2) Such of the rules as concern the making of advances to members need not be expressed in terms which treat a member to whom an advance is made as being, by reason of the making of the advance, the holder of a share in the society.

Members under age of twenty-one.

9. A person under the age of twenty-one years may, if the rules do not otherwise provide, be admitted as a member of a building society, and can give all necessary receipts; but, while he is under that age, he cannot vote or hold any office in the society.

Joint shareholders.

10.—(1) Two or more persons may jointly hold shares in a building society.

(2) The provisions of section one hundred and sixteen of this Act apply to any shares so held.

Liability of members.

11.—(1) The liability of a member of a building society in respect of a share on which no advance has been made shall be limited to the amount actually paid, or in arrear, on the share.

(2) The liability of a member of a building society in respect of a share on which an advance has been made shall be limited to the amount payable thereon under any mortgage or other security or under the rules of the society.

(3) The liability of a member of a building society to whom an advance is made under rules made in pursuance of section eight of this Act shall be no greater than it would be if the rules treated him as being, by reason of the making of the advance, the holder of a share in the society.

PART I

Commencement of business

12.—(1) If a society formed under this Act, or under the enactments repealed by this Act, or any persons representing themselves to be a building society, commence business without having first obtained a certificate of incorporation under this Act or under those enactments, the person or persons by whom business has been so commenced shall be liable on summary conviction, on information laid by the central office, to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day on which business is carried on without a certificate of incorporation having been obtained.

Business not to be commenced before incorporation.

(2) In the application of the preceding subsection to Scotland, the words "on information laid by the central office" shall be omitted.

13.—(1) A building society incorporated on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, shall not commence any business or borrow any money unless there has been produced to the central office evidence satisfying them that ten of the members of the society who signed copies of the society's rules for transmission to the central office as mentioned in subsection (3) of section one of this Act—

Minimum subscription by founding members.

(a) have each been issued with shares in the society to the value of five hundred pounds on terms which comply with the requirements of the First Schedule to this Act, and

(b) have each paid to the society in cash for those shares a sum of five hundred pounds, and the central office have issued to the society their certificate that the requisite evidence has been so produced.

(2) If at the end of the period of two months beginning with the date on which the building society became a body corporate the requisite evidence has not been produced to the central office under the preceding subsection, the central office may if they think fit cancel the registration of the building society, and the society shall cease to enjoy the privileges of a society under this Act.

(3) Notice of the cancellation of registration of a society under the last preceding subsection shall be published by the central office in the London, Edinburgh and Belfast Gazettes, and in such other ways as appear to the central office expedient for informing the public.

(4) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to shares issued in compliance with subsection (1) of this section, for the purpose of ensuring that the conditions attaching to the shares are observed until the end of the period of five years beginning with the date on which the central office issued their certificate to the building society under subsection (1) of this section.

L*

PART I

(5) If a building society commences business or borrows any money in contravention of this section, the building society shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the building society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(6) This section shall not apply to a building society which, before its incorporation, was an unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836.

Commencement of advertising.

14.—(1) A building society incorporated on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, shall not issue or cause to be issued any advertisement until the Chief Registrar has given to the society permission in writing to commence advertising on an application in writing made in accordance with the following provisions of this section.

(2) An application for permission under this section—

- (a) may not be made in the financial year in which the building society is incorporated, or, unless it was incorporated on the first day of any year, in the financial year next following that in which it was incorporated, and
- (b) may not be made at any time in any financial year before the society has, in accordance with the provisions of this Act, sent to the Chief Registrar its annual return (with the auditors' report annexed) for the last preceding financial year, and a copy of the corresponding balance sheet, including every document required by law to be annexed or attached thereto.

(3) On an application by a building society under this section the Chief Registrar shall grant permission if all the requirements set out in the Second Schedule to this Act are fulfilled in relation to the society.

(4) If a building society contravenes subsection (1) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be guilty of an offence under this section; and if,

PART I

after any person has been convicted of an offence under this section in respect of an advertisement which is on display in any public place, the society does not take all practicable steps to have the advertisement removed, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be guilty of a further offence under this section.

(5) If a building society is guilty of an offence under this section, it shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and if an officer of a building society is guilty of an offence under this section he shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(6) This section shall not apply to a building society which, before its incorporation, was an unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836.

Further provisions as to name and rules

15.—(1) A building society shall not use any name or title other than its registered name. Building society to use its registered name.

(2) If a building society contravenes the preceding subsection, the society, and every director of the society who is a party to the contravention, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to an additional fine not exceeding ten pounds for every week during which the offence continues.

16.—(1) A building society may change its name by special resolution. Change of name.

(2) Notice of any such change shall be sent to the central office and registered by them, and they shall give a certificate of registration:

Provided that a building society shall not be registered under this section in a name which, in the opinion of the central office, is undesirable.

(3) Any such change of name shall not affect the rights and obligations of the society or of any of its members or of any other person concerned.

(4) If a building society fails to send to the central office a notice which it is required to send to them under subsection (2) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

PART I
Alteration of rules.

17.—(1) A building society may alter its rules by special resolution.

(2) Where a building society by special resolution alters its rules, it shall send to the central office two copies of the alteration (or, in the case of the rescission of a rule, two copies of the resolution) signed by three members and the secretary, and a statutory declaration by an officer of the society that the resolution has been passed as a special resolution.

(3) Where copies are sent to the central office in accordance with the last preceding subsection, and the central office find that the alteration is in conformity with this Act, they shall return one of the copies to the secretary or other officer of the society with a certificate of registration, and shall retain and register the other copy.

(4) Any provision in the rules of a building society that the rules may be altered without passing a special resolution shall be void.

(5) If a building society fails to comply with subsection (2) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Union and transfer of engagements

Building societies
may unite.

18.—(1) Two or more building societies may unite and become one society, with or without a dissolution or division of the funds of any one or more of those societies, if—

(a) the terms of the union are approved by a special resolution of each of the societies, and

(b) the union obtains the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the whole number of shares in each society, whether they are present at the meeting or not, or the union is confirmed under subsection (4) of section twenty of this Act.

(2) Notice of any union of building societies shall be sent to the central office and shall be registered by them.

(3) If a building society fails to send to the central office a notice which it is required to send to them under the last preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Transfer of engagements.

19.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, a building society may by special resolution transfer its engagements to another building society which undertakes to fulfil those engagements; and a building society may—

(a) by special resolution, or

(b) with the consent of the central office, by resolution of a general meeting or of the board of directors, undertake to fulfil the engagements of another building society.

(2) It shall be the duty of a building society transferring its engagements under this section to send notice of the transfer to the central office.

(3) A transfer of engagements between building societies under this section shall not have effect unless—

(a) the holders of not less than two-thirds of the whole number of shares of each of the societies have consented in writing to the transfer, or the transfer has been confirmed under subsection (4) of the next following section, and

(b) notice of the transfer has been registered.

(4) If a building society fails to comply with subsection (2) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

20.—(1) A building society (in this section referred to as “the relevant society”) desiring to unite with one or more other building societies, or to transfer its engagements to another building society, or to undertake to fulfil the engagements of another building society, shall (unless the Chief Registrar has by notice in writing exempted it from the requirements of this subsection) send to each of its members, at his address as recorded in the register of members, a statement the contents of which have been approved by the Chief Registrar concerning—

Supplementary provisions as to union and transfer of engagements.

(a) the financial position of the relevant society and that of the other building society or societies concerned ;

(b) the interest of the directors of the relevant society in the union or transfer of engagements ;

(c) the compensation or other consideration proposed to be paid to the directors or other officers of the relevant society, and of the other building society or societies concerned ; and

(d) the payments (if any) to be made to members of the relevant society, and of the other building society or societies concerned, in consideration of the union or transfer of engagements.

(2) A statement under the preceding subsection shall be sent so that any member to whom the relevant society sends a notice to which this subsection applies will receive the statement not later than he receives that notice.

This subsection applies to any notice of a resolution, to be moved at a meeting of the relevant society, for the union or (as the case may be) the transfer of engagements to which the statement relates.

PART I

(3) Where for the purposes of section eighteen or section nineteen of this Act the relevant society applies to all or any of its members to obtain their consent to the proposals, the statement shall (without prejudice to the provisions of the last preceding subsection) be sent so as to be received by a member at or before the time when the application is made to him.

(4) The relevant society may apply to the central office to confirm the union or transfer of engagements, notwithstanding that the consent in writing of the holders of two-thirds of the whole number of shares of the relevant society has not been obtained, and, where such an application is made, shall publish notice of the application in the London and Edinburgh Gazettes, and, if the central office so require, in one or more newspapers; and the central office, after hearing the relevant society and any other persons whom they consider entitled to be heard, may confirm the union or transfer of engagements accordingly.

(5) The registration by the central office of notice of the union or transfer of engagements shall operate, by virtue of this subsection and without further assurance, as an effectual conveyance, transfer and assignment, as at the date of the registration, of the funds, property and assets of the relevant society to the united society, or to the society to which the engagements are transferred, as may be provided by the instrument of union or transfer of engagements, as the case may be:

Provided that this subsection shall not apply to stocks and securities in the public funds of the United Kingdom.

(6) The union or transfer of engagements shall not affect the rights of any creditor of the relevant society.

(7) A failure to comply with the provisions of subsections (1) to (3) of this section shall not invalidate the union or transfer of engagements; but, if the relevant society fails to comply with those provisions, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

PART II

ADVANCES ON MORTGAGE

Special advances

Meaning of "special advance".

21.—(1) In this Act "special advance" means an advance made by a building society on the security of freehold or leasehold estate, being an advance of one of the following descriptions, that is to say—

(a) an advance of any amount to a body corporate;

PART II

- (b) an advance of a sum exceeding five thousand pounds, or such other sum as may be prescribed under this section, to a person other than a body corporate ;
- (c) an advance of any amount to a person other than a body corporate, being a person who, after the advance is made to him, is indebted to the society in an amount exceeding the limit in force for the purposes of this paragraph.

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (c) of the preceding subsection, the amount by which a person is indebted to a building society after the making of an advance shall be ascertained so as to take into account both that advance and all other debts of any description (whether immediately repayable or not) in which he is indebted to the society, and shall be so ascertained both—

- (a) immediately after the making of the advance, and
- (b) at the end of a period of three months beginning with the date of the advance or (if sooner) at the end of the financial year in which the advance was made.

(3) In relation to an advance made to a person by a building society, he shall be taken, for the purposes of paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section, to be indebted to the society in an amount exceeding the limit in force for those purposes if either—

- (a) the amount of his indebtedness to the society, ascertained in accordance with the last preceding subsection at the time mentioned in paragraph (a) thereof, exceeds ten thousand pounds and, where the advance is one in relation to which a sum is prescribed under this section, exceeds twice the sum so prescribed, or
- (b) the amount of his indebtedness to the society, ascertained in accordance with the last preceding subsection at the time mentioned in paragraph (b) thereof, exceeds five thousand pounds and, where the advance is one in relation to which a sum is prescribed under this section, exceeds the sum so prescribed.

(4) The Chief Registrar may, by an order made with the consent of the Treasury and contained in a statutory instrument, prescribe under this section a sum exceeding five thousand pounds in relation to advances made by building societies in any financial year beginning on or after the date of the coming into operation of the order.

(5) The power to make orders under this section shall include power to vary or revoke any previous order made thereunder.

(6) No order shall be made under this section unless a draft of the order has been approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

PART II

(7) For the purposes of this section, and of sections twenty-two to twenty-four of this Act, any transaction to which a building society is a party whereby the mortgagor's interest under a mortgage securing an advance made by the society is, subject to the mortgage, transferred from one person to another shall be treated as an advance made by the society to that other person of an amount equal to the amount of the mortgage debt remaining unpaid immediately after the transfer, together with any arrears of interest then outstanding.

(8) An advance made jointly to two or more persons shall, for the purposes of this Act, be taken to be a special advance if an advance of the like amount made under the like conditions to any one of those persons would be a special advance in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section.

Ordinary limitations on special advances.

22.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, a building society shall so conduct its business as to secure that special advances are not made by it except as authorised by this section.

(2) At the end of each financial year a building society shall review the advances made by the society on the security of freehold or leasehold estate which are outstanding at the end of that year, and shall ascertain—

- (a) the total amount of those advances which at that time has not been repaid to the building society, together with any arrears of interest in respect of those advances, and
- (b) the proportion of that amount which is in respect of advances made to a body corporate, or made to a person who at that time is indebted to the society (taking into account any kind of debts, whether immediately repayable or not) in an amount exceeding five thousand pounds or such other sum as may be prescribed under the last preceding section, or made jointly to two or more persons any one of whom is so indebted to the society.

(3) If the proportion ascertained at the end of a financial year in accordance with paragraph (b) of the last preceding subsection (in this and the next following section referred to, in relation to that year, as “the ascertained proportion” for that year) does not exceed ten per cent., the building society may make special advances in the next following financial year, but so that the total amount of special advances made by it in that following financial year does not exceed ten per cent. of the total amount of all advances made by the society on the security of freehold or leasehold estate during that following financial year.

PART II

(4) If the ascertained proportion for a financial year exceeds ten per cent., but does not exceed twenty-five per cent., the building society may make special advances in the next following financial year, but so that the total amount of special advances made by it in that following financial year does not exceed two and one-half per cent. of the total amount of all advances made by the society on the security of freehold or leasehold estate in that following financial year.

(5) If the ascertained proportion for a financial year exceeds twenty-five per cent., the building society shall not make any special advances in the next following financial year, and shall not make in that year any advance unless, at the time when it is made, it can be ascertained that it will not be a special advance.

(6) A building society shall not make any special advances in the calendar year in which it is established, and shall not make in that year any advance unless, at the time when it is made, it can be ascertained that it will not be a special advance.

(7) If a building society does not comply with the requirements of this section, the society shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(8) Without prejudice to the last preceding subsection, if a building society does not comply with the requirements of this section, the Chief Registrar may present a petition for the winding up of the society under the Companies Act, 1948.

- 23.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where Permission to exceed limit for advances on property for letting as houses or flats.
- (a) a building society is, in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding section, empowered to make special advances up to the limit specified in subsection (3) of that section, or up to the limit specified in subsection (4) thereof, and
  - (b) the society makes, or proposes to make, special advances on the security of freehold or leasehold estate consisting wholly or mainly of dwelling-houses or flats which it is proposed to construct, or which are in course of construction or have recently been constructed, and, on an application to the Chief Registrar, the society shows to his satisfaction that the dwelling-houses or flats are being, or will be, made available for renting by tenants.

(2) For the purpose of authorising the building society to exceed the limit specified in subsection (3) or subsection (4) of the last preceding section, as the case may be, by an amount equal to the whole, or some proportion, of the amount of the advances in respect of which the application is made, the Chief Registrar may, if he thinks fit, grant to the society permission in writing to make special advances in the financial year in question in excess of that limit, but subject to such other limit under the said subsection (3) or subsection (4) as may be specified in the permission for that purpose.

(3) Where in the case of a building society—

- (a) the ascertained proportion for a financial year exceeds ten per cent. but does not exceed twenty-five per cent., and accordingly subsection (4) of the last preceding section applies to the next following financial year, and
- (b) the society shows to the satisfaction of the Chief Registrar that that proportion represents, in whole or in part, advances by reference to which permission has been granted under the preceding provisions of this section, on an application made thereunder at any time in respect of those advances, the Chief Registrar may, if he thinks fit, grant to the society permission in writing to make special advances in that following financial year in excess of the limit specified in subsection (4) of the last preceding section, but subject to such other limit under that subsection as may be specified in the permission.

(4) The limit specified in any permission granted under this section in relation to a financial year may be expressed as a percentage of the total of all advances made by the building society in that year, or in any other manner.

(5) Where permission is granted under this section, the provisions of the last preceding section shall have effect accordingly.

Permission to make special advance to purchaser of mortgaged property.

24.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where a building society, in the exercise of its powers as mortgagee, proposes to sell any freehold or leasehold estate mortgaged to the society, and to make to the purchaser an advance upon the security of that estate which will constitute a special advance.

(2) If, on an application to the Chief Registrar, the society shows to his satisfaction—

- (a) that the person entitled to redeem the mortgage is a body corporate, or a person who is indebted to the society (taking into account the advance secured by the mortgage and all other debts of any description, whether immediately repayable or not) in an amount exceeding five thousand pounds, or such other sum as may be prescribed under section twenty-one of this Act, and

PART II

- (b) that the amount of the mortgage debt which, at the time of the application, has not been repaid to the society, together with any arrears of interest in respect of the advance secured by the mortgage, exceeds the amount of the advance which the society proposes to make to the purchaser of the freehold or leasehold estate, the Chief Registrar may, if he thinks fit, grant to the society permission in writing to make the special advance to which the application relates.

(3) Any special advance for which permission is granted under this section shall be left out of account for the purposes of subsections (3) to (5) of section twenty-two of this Act.

General provisions

25.—(1) It shall be the duty of every director of a building society to satisfy himself that the arrangements made for assessing the adequacy of the security to be taken in respect of advances to be made by the society are such as may reasonably be expected to ensure that—

Valuation of security.

- (a) the adequacy of any security to be so taken will be assessed either by the directors of the society or by a director or other officer of the society who is competent to make the assessment, and
- (b) there will be made available to every person who has to assess the adequacy of any security to be so taken an appropriate report as to the value of any freehold or leasehold estate comprised in the security and as to any matter likely to affect the value thereof.

(2) In paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection the reference to an appropriate report, in relation to any freehold or leasehold estate, is a reference to a written report prepared and signed by a competent and prudent person who—

- (a) is experienced in the matters relevant to the determination of the value of the estate, and
- (b) is for the purposes of that paragraph not disqualified by virtue of the following provisions of this section for reporting on that estate.

(3) Subject to the next following subsection, a person who is a director or the manager or secretary of a building society shall for the purposes of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section be disqualified for reporting on any freehold or leasehold estate comprised in security to be taken by the society in respect of any advance.

(4) During the period of ten years beginning with the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, the last preceding subsection shall not apply to a person who has at all times since that day been a director or the manager or secretary of the building society in question, if, at the first annual general meeting of the society held after the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and sixty, and at every subsequent annual general meeting, he has by special resolution been authorised, until the next annual general meeting, to make reports for the purposes of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section.

For the purposes of this subsection retirement from office followed by immediate reappointment shall not be regarded as a break in the tenure of office.

(5) A person to whom a building society has made, or undertaken to make, a payment for introducing to the society an applicant for an advance shall for the purposes of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section be disqualified for reporting on any freehold or leasehold estate comprised in security to be taken by the society in respect of any advance to be made to the applicant on that application.

(6) Where an advance is to be made by a building society following a disposition of freehold or leasehold estate which is comprised in security to be taken for the advance, any person having a financial interest in the disposition of that freehold or leasehold estate, and any person receiving a commission or gift for introducing the parties to the transaction involving that disposition, shall for the purposes of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section be disqualified for reporting on that estate.

(7) A director of a building society who fails to carry out his duty under subsection (1) of this section, and any person who prepares a report on any estate with respect to which he is for the purposes of paragraph (b) of that subsection disqualified for reporting thereon, knowing or having reason to believe that the report will be used or is likely to be used for the purposes of that paragraph, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

Additional security for advances.

26.—(1) In determining the amount of an advance made by a building society to any of its members on the security of freehold or leasehold estate, the society shall not have power to take into account the value of any additional security taken by the society for the advance, except security of a class specified in the Third Schedule to this Act.

PART II

(2) Where a charge on a policy of life assurance is taken as additional security for such an advance, the value of the policy shall be assessed at an amount not exceeding the surrender value of the policy at the time when the advance is made.

(3) Where a guarantee given in pursuance of a continuing arrangement (not being such a guarantee as is mentioned in paragraph 3 of the Third Schedule to this Act) is taken as additional security for such an advance, the advance shall not exceed the amount of the purchase price for the defraying of which the advance is made, the basic advance shall not exceed eighty per cent. of that amount, and the excess advance shall not exceed twenty per cent. of that amount.

(4) The provisions of the Fourth Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purposes of this section.

(5) The Chief Registrar shall have power, by order made with the consent of the Treasury and contained in a statutory instrument, to amend the Third Schedule or Part I or Part II of the Fourth Schedule to this Act for the purpose of extending the classes of additional security specified in the said Third Schedule, and shall have power to include in an order under this subsection provisions varying or revoking a previous order and such transitional, supplemental and incidental provisions as appear to him necessary or desirable.

(6) References in this Part of this Act to a member of a building society—

- (a) include references to a person who has succeeded to any of the rights or liabilities of a member of the society, and
- (b) in relation to anything done or to be done before the making of an advance, include references to a person who is a member of the society when the advance is made.

27.—(1) Every building society shall cause records to be kept showing, with respect to every advance made by the building society on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, on the security of freehold or leasehold estate,— advances.

- (a) the value placed upon the estate in the report thereon under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section twenty-five of this Act, and the name of the person by whom the report was made, and
- (b) particulars of any additional security taken by the society.

(2) If any building society fails to comply with the preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

PART II
Security
taken from third party.

28.—(1) This section applies to any advance made by a building society to one of its members (in this section referred to as “the borrower”) for the purpose of its being used in defraying the purchase price of freehold or leasehold estate, where the society takes any security for the advance from another person :

Provided that this section does not apply to such an advance made to an individual where the only security taken for the advance from a third party is a guarantee given by an individual, not being a guarantee secured by a charge on any property.

(2) Except by leave of the court, no sums shall be recoverable, either by the building society or by any other person, in respect of an advance to which this section applies, or in respect of any security given for such an advance, whether by the borrower or otherwise, and no rights shall be exercisable by virtue of any such security, unless, before any contract requiring the borrower to repay the advance is entered into, the society gives to the borrower a notice fulfilling the requirements of the next following subsection.

(3) The said requirements are that the notice is in writing and in the prescribed form and—

- (a) states the amount of the basic advance and of the excess advance (if any), and
- (b) contains such particulars as may be prescribed relating to any security for the advance which is taken or is to be taken from any person other than the borrower :

Provided that, where the borrower is an individual, the notice need not refer to any guarantee by an individual, not being a guarantee secured by a charge on any property.

(4) Where a building society makes an advance to which this section applies without giving notice to the borrower in accordance with the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the court may, either on an application for leave for the purposes of that subsection, or on an application made by the borrower, re-open the transaction, and may make such orders as to the sums which may be recovered in respect of the advance and in respect of any security given for it, as to the exercise of any rights conferred by any such security, and otherwise, as the court considers just.

(5) In this section “the court”, in relation to a transaction in which the advance has not at any time exceeded six hundred pounds, means the county court, and, in relation to any other transaction, means the High Court :

PART II

Provided that Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that this subsection shall have effect as if for the words "six hundred pounds" there were substituted such higher sum as may be specified in the Order; and any such Order may be revoked or varied by a subsequent Order made in like manner.

(6) In the application of this section to Scotland, "the court" shall include the Court of Session, and the last preceding subsection shall not apply.

29.—(1) This section applies to any contract for the acquisition of freehold or leasehold estate where, at the time when the contract is made, there is in force, between a building society and any person having a financial interest in the disposition of the estate, an arrangement in pursuance of which, in the event of the society making an advance comprising an excess advance for the purpose of its being used in defraying the purchase price of that estate, a person will or may provide additional security in respect of the advance. Arrangement for excess advance in connection with sale of property.

(2) The person by whom a freehold or leasehold estate is to be acquired in pursuance of a contract to which this section applies may rescind the contract unless, before the contract was made, there was given to him a notice fulfilling the requirements of the next following subsection.

(3) The said requirements are that the notice is in writing and in the prescribed form and states that the security taken by the society for any advance made by the society for the purpose of its being used in defraying the purchase price of the estate in question may include additional security provided in pursuance of such an arrangement as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

(4) Where a person is entitled by virtue of this section to rescind a contract, and he has paid a deposit in respect of the contract, he may recover an amount equal to the deposit from the person to whom the deposit was paid.

30. Where a building society makes to a member an advance for the purpose of its being used in defraying the purchase price of freehold or leasehold estate, the society shall be deemed to warrant to the member that the purchase price is reasonable, unless, before any contract requiring the member to repay the advance is entered into, the society gives to the member a notice in writing in the prescribed form stating that the making of the advance implies no such warranty. Implied warranty on advance to purchaser.

PART II
Representations as to sufficiency of security.

31.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where—

- (a) a building society makes an advance on the security of freehold or leasehold estate, and
- (b) a person to whom this section applies makes any representation that the making of that advance by the society imports or implies an assurance to the person to whom the advance is made that the estate is sufficient security for the amount of the advance.

(2) This section applies to any person having a financial interest in the disposition of the estate in question or in the erection of a building thereon, and to any person who is the servant or agent of such a person.

(3) Where a person to whom this section applies makes such a representation as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section in the circumstances therein mentioned, then (without prejudice to any other remedy in respect of the representation) he shall, unless he satisfies the court that he had reasonable grounds for believing the representation to be true, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

Restrictions on second mortgages.

32.—(1) A building society shall not advance money on the security of any freehold or leasehold estate which is subject to a prior mortgage, other than a charge of a class specified in the Fifth Schedule to this Act, unless the prior mortgage is in favour of the society.

(2) If a building society makes an advance in contravention of this section, the directors of the society who authorised the advance shall be jointly and severally liable for any loss on the advance occasioned to the society.

Advance for single premium life policy.

33.—(1) For the purpose of facilitating the repayment to a building society of an advance made by the society to a member (in this section referred to as “the borrower”) on the security of freehold or leasehold estate, the society shall have power to make to the borrower, by way of addition to the advance, a further advance of the whole or part of such sum as may be necessary to enable payment to be made of a single premium payable in respect of an appropriate policy of life assurance.

(2) A policy of life assurance is for the purposes of this section an appropriate policy if—

- (a) it is a policy of life assurance on the life of the borrower or the spouse or son or daughter of the borrower, and

(b) it provides, in the event of the death, before the advance has been repaid, of the person on whose life the policy is effected, for payment of a sum not exceeding the amount sufficient to defray the sums which are, at and after the time of the death, payable to the society in respect of the advance as increased by the additional advance made by the society under the power conferred by this section.

(3) A sum added to an advance in pursuance of the power conferred by this section shall be treated as not forming part of the advance for the purpose of determining whether the advance is beyond the powers of the society on the grounds that—

- (a) the amount of the advance is excessive, or
- (b) the amount of any excess advance included in the advance is greater than that authorised by section twenty-six of this Act.

Supplementary provisions

34.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, it shall not be lawful—

Restriction on commissions for introduction of mortgage business.

- (a) for a building society, or any officer, servant or agent of a building society, to offer or give or agree to give to a person known to the society, officer, servant or agent to have a financial interest in the disposition of any freehold or leasehold estate, or to be a servant of a person having such an interest, or
- (b) for a person having such an interest, or a servant of such a person, to receive or agree to receive from a building society, or from any officer, servant or agent of a building society, any commission in consideration of the introduction of mortgage business to the society in connection with the disposition of the freehold or leasehold estate in question, or in consideration of a promise to introduce such business to the society.

(2) Where a building society has a financial interest in the disposition of any freehold or leasehold estate, the preceding subsection—

- (a) does not prohibit the society, or any officer, servant or agent of the society, from offering or giving or agreeing to give, in relation to the disposition of that estate, any commission to a servant of the society, unless, to the knowledge of the society, or of the officer, servant

PART II

or agent of the society, as the case may be, he is a disqualified person for the purposes of this subsection, and

- (b) does not prohibit a servant of the society, not being a disqualified person for the purposes of this subsection, from receiving or agreeing to receive, in relation to the disposition of that estate, a commission from the society or from an officer, servant or agent of the society.

(3) Any reference in the last preceding subsection to a disqualified person for the purposes of that subsection is a reference to a person who either himself has a financial interest in the disposition of the estate in question or, in addition to being a servant of the building society, is also a servant of another person who has such an interest.

(4) For the purposes of this section a person who is employed, otherwise than in pursuance of a contract of service, in connection with the disposition of any freehold or leasehold estate by a person who has a financial interest in the disposition thereof shall be treated, in relation to the disposition of that estate, as a servant of the person having that interest, unless he carries on, independently of that person, the business of a solicitor, estate agent, surveyor or auctioneer.

(5) Any person who contravenes the provisions of this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

- (6) In this section "commission" includes a gift.

Prohibition of balloting for advances.

35. A building society shall not cause or permit applicants for advances to ballot for precedence, or in any way make the granting of an advance dependent on any chance or lot.

Provisions as to sale of mortgaged property.

36.—(1) Where any freehold or leasehold estate has been mortgaged to a building society as security for an advance, and a person sells that estate in the exercise of a power (whether statutory or express) exercisable by virtue of the mortgage, it shall be his duty—

- (a) in exercising that power, to take reasonable care to ensure that the price at which the estate is sold is the best price which can reasonably be obtained, and
- (b) within twenty-eight days from the completion of the sale, to send by registered post to the mortgagor, at the mortgagor's last known address, a notice containing the prescribed particulars of the sale.

(2) In so far as any agreement relieves, or may have the effect of relieving, a building society or any other person from the obligation imposed by paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection, the agreement shall be void.

(3) If a building society fails without reasonable excuse to comply with paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, the society shall be guilty of an offence; and every officer of the society who is bound by the rules of the society to fulfil the duty imposed by that paragraph, or, if there is no such officer, every director of the society, unless it appears that he was ignorant of, or attempted to prevent, the default, shall also be guilty of an offence.

(4) If a person other than a building society fails without reasonable excuse to comply with paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, he shall be guilty of an offence.

(5) A building society or other person guilty of an offence under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and to an additional fine not exceeding five pounds for each week during which the offence continues.

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect the operation of any rule of law relating to the duty of a mortgagee to account to a mortgagor.

(7) In subsection (1) of this section "mortgagor", in relation to a mortgage in favour of a building society, includes any person to whom, to the knowledge of a person selling the estate as mentioned in that subsection, any of the rights or liabilities of the mortgagor under the mortgage have passed, whether by operation of law or otherwise.

37.—(1) When all moneys intended to be secured by a Discharge of mortgage given to a building society have been fully paid or mortgagor discharged, the society may endorse on or annex to the mortgage one or other of the following, that is to say—

(a) a receipt under the society's seal, countersigned by any person acting under the authority of the board of directors, in the form set out in the Sixth Schedule to this Act;

(b) a reconveyance of the mortgaged property to the mortgagor;

PART II

(c) a reconveyance of the mortgaged property to such person of full age, and on such trusts, if any, as the mortgagor may direct.

(2) Where in pursuance of the preceding subsection such a receipt as is therein mentioned is endorsed on or annexed to a mortgage, not being a charge or incumbrance registered under the Land Registration Act, 1925, the receipt shall operate in accordance with the provisions of subsections (1), (3), (6) and (8) of section one hundred and fifteen of the Law of Property Act, 1925 (which provides for the discharge of mortgages by a receipt) in the like manner as a receipt which fulfils all the requirements of subsection (1) of that section.

(3) Subsection (9) of section one hundred and fifteen of the Law of Property Act, 1925, shall not apply to a receipt endorsed or annexed by a building society which is in the form set out in the Sixth Schedule to this Act; and in the application of that subsection to a receipt so endorsed or annexed which is not in that form, the receipt shall be taken to be executed in the manner required by the statute relating to the society if it is under the society's seal and countersigned as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section.

(4) In the case of a mortgage of registered land within the meaning of the Land Registration Act, 1925, the preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the operation of the provisions of that Act or of any rules made thereunder, whether before or after the commencement of this Act.

(5) In this section "mortgage" includes a further charge, and "the mortgagor", in relation to a mortgage, means the person for the time being entitled to the equity of redemption.

(6) This section shall not apply to Scotland.

Application of Part II to Northern Ireland
societies.

38. In sections twenty-eight to thirty-one, section thirty-four, and subsections (1) and (2) of section thirty-six, of this Act "building society" includes a Northern Ireland society:

Provided that, in relation to a Northern Ireland society, subsection (1) of section thirty-six of this Act shall have effect as if paragraph (b) of that subsection were omitted.

PART III*BORROWING POWERS, AND GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO INVESTORS AND DEPOSITORS AND OTHER LENDERS

powers.

39.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a building society may borrow money, and accordingly may receive deposits or loans, at interest, to be applied for the purposes of the society.

PART III

(2) In the case of a permanent building society, the total amount so received and not repaid by the society shall not at any time exceed two-thirds of the amount for the time being secured to the society by mortgages from its members.

(3) In the case of a terminating building society, the total amount so received and not repaid by the society shall not at any time exceed whichever is the greater of the following amounts, that is to say,—

- (a) two-thirds of the amount for the time being secured to the society by mortgages from its members, and
- (b) twelve months' subscriptions on the shares for the time being in force.

(4) In calculating, for the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the amount for the time being secured to a building society by mortgages from its members, no account shall be taken of any amount secured on a property if, at the date of the society's last preceding annual return,—

- (a) payments in respect of that property were more than twelve months in arrear, or
- (b) the society had been in possession of that property for twelve months.

(5) For the purposes of this section money deposited with a building society as security for an advance made by the society to a member, or as security for a guarantee given in respect of such an advance, shall be treated as money borrowed by the society.

40. If a building society receives loans or deposits in excess of the limits prescribed by this Act, the directors of the society receiving the loans or deposits on its behalf shall be personally liable for the amount of the excess.

Liability for borrowing in excess of powers.

41.—(1) In or upon every deposit book or acknowledgment or security of any kind which after the commencement of this Act is given by a building society for a deposit or loan the whole of the following provisions of this Act shall be set out in writing, that is to say, subsections (1) and (2) of section eleven, subsections (1) to (3) of section thirty-nine, and this subsection.

Provisions of Act to be inserted in certain documents.

(2) If a building society makes default in complying with the preceding subsection, the person by whom the default is made shall, on information laid by the central office, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

PART III

(3) In the application of the last preceding subsection to Scotland, the words "on information laid by the central office" shall be omitted.

Minimum notice of withdrawal.

42.—(1) A building society shall not accept a deposit except on terms enabling the managers of the society to require notice (not being less than one month's notice) before repayment or withdrawal.

(2) If a building society contravenes the preceding subsection, the society, and every director who is a party to the contravention, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Guarantee fund.

43.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a building society, or any two or more building societies, may enter into arrangements with a person carrying on the business of insurance, for the purpose of making funds available to meet losses incurred by persons investing in, or lending money to, a building society which is a party to the arrangements; and any two or more building societies may enter into any other kind of arrangements for that purpose.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, a building society shall have power to make contributions under arrangements made in accordance with this section.

(3) Arrangements under this section may in particular provide for the vesting of a fund in trustees appointed under the arrangements.

(4) Arrangements under this section shall not come into force, and no contributions shall be made thereunder by a building society, until they have been approved by the Chief Registrar; and the Chief Registrar shall not approve arrangements under this section unless they provide that any variation of their terms shall also require the approval of the Chief Registrar.

Assistance by building societies to other societies

44. Where it appears to the Chief Registrar that a society (being either a building society or a Northern Ireland society) is in financial difficulties he may, with the consent of the Treasury, authorise any building society to lend money to the first-mentioned society, and the building society shall have power to do so accordingly.

New investors and depositors to receive copies of accounts.

45.—(1) Every person who subscribes for shares in, or deposits money with, a building society shall, on first becoming a subscriber for shares or depositor therein, be given by the society a copy of the latest revenue and appropriation account and balance sheet of the society, together with a copy of the auditors' report and the directors' report.

(2) For the purposes of this section a subscription for shares to a value of less than one pound, made in order that the subscriber shall qualify as a person to whom the society may make advances, shall be disregarded.

(3) Subject to the next following subsection, if a building society fails to comply with this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(4) On a prosecution under the last preceding subsection, it shall be a defence to prove that the building society had taken reasonable steps to make arrangements to comply with this section, and that the offence was due to inadvertence or exceptional circumstances.

46.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where a member of, or depositor with, a building society dies intestate, having a sum of money in the funds of the society not exceeding one hundred pounds. Members or depositors dying intestate.

(2) On receipt by the society of satisfactory evidence of the death, and of the requisite statutory declaration, the amount due may, without the grant of letters of administration or confirmation, be paid to the person who appears to the directors of the society to be entitled to receive it under the law for the time being in force in England and Wales, or in Scotland, as the case may be, with respect to the distribution of the estates of persons dying intestate.

(3) In the last preceding subsection the reference to the requisite statutory declaration is a reference to a statutory declaration that the member or depositor in question died intestate, and that the person claiming the amount is entitled to receive it as mentioned in that subsection.

(4) Where, after the death of a member or depositor, a building society, in the belief that he died intestate, has paid any such sum to the person who at that time appeared to be entitled to his effects, the payment shall be valid and effectual with respect to any demand against the funds of the society from any other person as next of kin or as the lawful representative of the deceased member or depositor; but any such next of kin or representative shall nevertheless have his remedy for the amount of the payment against the person who received it.

47. Any receipt or acknowledgment given to a building society by a person under the age of twenty-one years, in respect of the payment to him of any sum due in respect of the principal of, or interest on, sums lent by him to the society, shall not be invalid on the ground that he is under that age. Depositor under age of twenty-one.

PART IV

POWERS OF CONTROL OF CHIEF REGISTRAR

Power to suspend borrowing and subscription for shares.

48.—(1) If, with respect to any building society, the Chief Registrar considers it expedient to do so in the interests of investors and depositors, he may, by an order made with the consent of the Treasury, apply subsection (2) of this section to the society.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, while this subsection applies to a building society, the society shall not—

- (a) accept the deposit of, or otherwise borrow, any money, or
- (b) accept any payment representing the whole or any part of the amount due by way of subscription for a share in the society, other than a payment which fell due before the making of the order applying this subsection to the society.

(3) This section shall not make it unlawful for a building society to borrow from a banking or finance company, or from a director or other officer of the society, if the society has obtained the consent in writing of the Chief Registrar.

(4) If a building society contravenes the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, it shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(5) References in this section to the amount due by way of subscription for a share in a building society do not include amounts due in respect of a share which represent interest on, or the repayment of, an advance made to the holder of the share.

(6) In this and the next following section “investors and depositors”, in relation to a building society, means persons who have invested or deposited, or may invest or deposit, money with the society.

Supplementary provisions as to orders under s. 48.

49.—(1) Not less than fourteen days before making an order applying subsection (2) of the last preceding section to a building society, the Chief Registrar shall serve on the society, and on every director of the society, a notice stating that he proposes to make such an order.

PART IV

(2) Any such notice served on a building society shall specify the considerations which have led the Chief Registrar to conclude that it would be in the interests of investors and depositors to make the order.

(3) The Chief Registrar shall consider any representations with respect to the notice which may be made to him by the building society within such period (not being less than fourteen days) from the date on which the society is served with the notice as the Chief Registrar may allow, and, if the society so requests, shall afford to it an opportunity of being heard by him within that period.

(4) On making an order applying subsection (2) of the last preceding section to a building society, the Chief Registrar shall serve on the society, and on every director of the society, a notice of the making of the order, and shall serve on the society a notice specifying the considerations which have led him to conclude that it is expedient to make the order in the interests of investors and depositors; and the Chief Registrar shall not have power to make an order unless all the considerations so specified were those, or were among those, which were specified in the notice served on the building society under subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(5) A notice under this section may be served on a director of a building society by sending it by post to his address, or latest address, as notified to the Chief Registrar or the central office by the society or the director; and failure to serve a notice under this section on a director shall not affect the validity of an order under the last preceding section.

(6) Notice of the making of an order under the last preceding section shall be published by the Chief Registrar in the London, Edinburgh and Belfast Gazettes, and in such other ways as appear to him expedient for informing the public.

(7) Any order under the last preceding section may be revoked by a subsequent order made by the Chief Registrar with the consent of the Treasury.

50.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where an order is made applying subsection (2) of section forty-eight of this Act to a building society.

Provisions consequential on orders under s. 48.

(2) Where, at the time when the order is made, a member is under an obligation to make payments to the society, representing instalments of the amount due by way of subscription for a share in the society, the obligation shall (subject to anything in the rules of the society or any agreement between the society and the member) be suspended in respect of each instalment for the period for which the order is in force ; and accordingly, if the order is revoked, the sum due shall again become payable by instalments.

M

PART IV

(3) Subject to the last preceding subsection, any obligation to make a payment which, under section forty-eight of this Act, the building society is prohibited from accepting shall be wholly rescinded.

(4) It shall be the duty of the society to make reasonable arrangements for using the funds of the society to meet applications by depositors or holders of shares in the society (being applications duly made in accordance with the rules of the society) for repayment of the money deposited or subscribed by them.

(5) If it appears to the Chief Registrar that, where an order under section forty-eight of this Act is in force, the building society has been applying an undue proportion of the funds of the society in making advances, in preference to meeting such applications as are mentioned in the last preceding subsection, he may, after giving notice to the society and affording it an opportunity of making representations, present a petition for the winding up of the society under the Companies Act, 1948.

(6) Subsection (5) of section forty-eight of this Act shall apply for the purposes of this section as it applies for the purposes of that section.

Power to control
advertising.

51.—(1) If, with respect to any building society, the Chief Registrar considers it expedient to do so in the interests of persons who may invest or deposit money with the society, he may with the consent of the Treasury serve on the society a notice giving a direction under this section.

(2) A direction given to a building society under this section may—

- (a) prohibit the issue by the society of advertisements of all descriptions, or
- (b) prohibit the issue by the society of advertisements of any description specified in the direction, or
- (c) prohibit the issue by the society of any advertisements which are, or are substantially, repetitions of an advertisement which has been issued and which is specified in the direction, or
- (d) require the society to take all practicable steps to withdraw any advertisement, or any description of advertisement, specified in the direction which is on display in any place, or may contain two or more such prohibitions or requirements as are mentioned in this subsection.

PART IV

(3) If a building society contravenes a direction under this section, it shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

52.—(1) Not less than one week before giving a direction under the last preceding section with respect to a building society, the Chief Registrar shall serve on the society, and on every director of the society, a notice stating that he proposes to give the direction. Supplementary provisions as to directions under s. 51.

(2) Any such notice served on a building society shall specify the considerations which have led the Chief Registrar to conclude that it would be in the interests of persons who may invest or deposit money with the society to give the direction.

(3) The Chief Registrar shall consider any representations with respect to the notice which may be made to him by the building society within the period of one week from the date on which the society is served with the notice, and, if the society so requests, shall afford to it an opportunity of being heard by him within that period.

(4) On giving a direction under the last preceding section the Chief Registrar shall serve on the building society, and on every director of the society, a notice of the giving of the direction, and shall serve on the society a notice specifying the considerations which have led him to conclude that it is expedient to give the direction in the interests of persons who may invest or deposit money with the society; and the Chief Registrar shall not have power to give a direction under the last preceding section unless all the considerations so specified were those, or were among those, which were specified in the notice served on the society under subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(5) A notice under this section may be served on a director of a building society by sending it by post to his address, or latest address, as notified to the Chief Registrar or the central office by the society or the director; and failure to serve a notice under this section on a director shall not affect the validity of a direction under the last preceding section.

PART IV

(6) Any direction under the last preceding section may be varied or revoked at any time by a subsequent direction thereunder.

(7) References in subsections (1) and (4) of this section to a direction under the last preceding section do not include a direction revoking a previous direction.

Power to require documents and information.

53.—(1) The Chief Registrar may at any time serve a notice on a building society, or on any person who has in his possession or under his control any books, accounts, deeds or other documents relating to the business of a building society, requiring the society or other person to produce to the Chief Registrar such of those documents as the Chief Registrar considers necessary for the exercise of his powers under sections forty-eight to fifty-two of this Act:

Provided that the Chief Registrar shall not have power to require the production of documents which do not belong to the building society, and which are not deeds relating to property mortgaged to the society,—

- (a) from a person who is or has been an auditor of the society, or
- (b) from anyone other than a person who is or has been an officer or servant of the society.

(2) The Chief Registrar may also at any time serve a notice on a building society, or on any person who is or has been an officer or servant of a building society, requiring the society or other person to furnish him with such information relating to the business of the society as the Chief Registrar considers necessary for the exercise of his powers under sections forty-eight to fifty-two of this Act.

(3) Any notice under the last preceding subsection may contain a requirement that any information to be given in accordance with the notice shall be verified by statutory declaration.

(4) If a building society fails to comply with the requirements of a notice under this section, the society shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(5) If any person other than a building society fails to comply with the requirements of a notice under this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

54.—(1) The Chief Registrar may, if he considers it just, direct that all or any of the expenses incurred by him under the last preceding section in relation to a building society shall, either wholly or to such extent as he may determine, be defrayed out of the funds of the society, or by the officers or former officers of the society or any of them.

PART IV
Expenses of Chief
under s. 53.

(2) A building society, or officer or former officer of a building society, directed to pay any sum under the preceding subsection may appeal to the High Court against the direction, on the ground that the sum ought to be defrayed by some other of the persons who may be directed to defray expenses under that subsection, and the High Court shall have jurisdiction to vary any such direction accordingly.

(3) Subject to the last preceding subsection, any sum which a building society or other person is required to pay by a direction under this section shall be a debt to the Chief Registrar from that society or person.

(4) In the application of this section to a building society whose chief office is in Scotland, for references to the High Court there shall be substituted references to the Court of Session.

55.—(1) Where, in the case of a building society the assets of which do not exceed one hundred thousand pounds in value,—

Special power in relation to small societies.

- (a) there has in the opinion of the Chief Registrar been a change in the scale or character of the business carried on by the society, or arrangements have in his opinion been made for such a change, and
- (b) the Chief Registrar considers it expedient to do so in the interests of persons who have invested or deposited, or may invest or deposit, money with the society, then, subject to the provisions of the next following section, the Chief Registrar may serve a notice on the society under this section.

(2) A notice under this section shall state that, unless within such period (not being less than two months) from the service of the notice as may be specified in the notice, there has been produced to the Chief Registrar evidence to his satisfaction as to the matters specified in the next following subsection, he proposes to give a direction that the society shall not—

- (a) issue any shares or lend or borrow any money, or
- (b) issue or cause to be issued any advertisement.

(3) The said matters are—

- (a) that the directors of the society, or, as the case may be, one or more of them, have been issued with shares in the society on terms which comply with the requirements of the First Schedule to this Act ;

PART IV

- (b) that the value of the shares (taking into account, in a case where more than one director has been issued with such shares, the shares issued to all the directors) amounts to five thousand pounds or more ; and
- (c) that there has been paid to the society in cash for those shares a sum or sums amounting in all to five thousand pounds or more.

(4) Where a notice under this section has been served on a building society, the Chief Registrar shall consider any representations made to him within the period of one month from the service of the notice on the society, and, if the society so requests, shall afford it an opportunity of being heard by him within that period.

(5) If, at the end of the period specified in such a notice, the Chief Registrar has not received evidence to his satisfaction as to the matters specified in subsection (3) of this section, he may at any time thereafter give to the society a direction that, while the direction is in force, the society shall not—

- (a) issue any shares or lend or borrow any money, or
- (b) issue or cause to be issued any advertisement ;

and if, at the end of the period of two months beginning with the date on which he gives the direction, such evidence has not been received by him, he may present a petition for the winding up of the society under the Companies Act, 1948.

(6) If at any time after the Chief Registrar gives a direction under this section, and before he presents a petition in accordance with the last preceding subsection for the winding up of the building society, he receives such evidence as is mentioned in that subsection, he shall rescind the direction.

(7) If a building society contravenes a direction under this section, it shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds ; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

Supplementary provisions as to small societies.

56.—(1) The Chief Registrar shall not serve a notice under the last preceding section on a building society at any time within five years from the date on which the society was established.

PART IV

(2) In the case of a building society where the directors have subscribed for shares in the society in compliance with a notice under the last preceding section, the Chief Registrar shall not serve a further notice under that section at any time within five years from the date of service of the previous notice.

(3) It shall be the duty of every building society whose assets do not exceed one hundred thousand pounds in value to furnish the Chief Registrar with such information as he may from time to time require for the purpose of ascertaining whether there has been a change in the scale or character of the business carried on by the society, or whether arrangements are being made for such a change.

(4) A building society shall have power to issue shares in compliance with the last preceding section, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the society.

(5) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to shares issued in compliance with the last preceding section, for the purpose of ensuring that the conditions attaching to the shares are observed until the end of the period of five years beginning with the date of the sending of the notice under the last preceding section.

(6) Where the Chief Registrar intends to present a petition for the winding up of a building society under subsection (5) of the last preceding section, he shall give notice of his intention to the society not less than one month before presenting the petition.

(7) If a building society fails to comply with any requirements of the Chief Registrar under subsection (3) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

57.—(1) The Chief Registrar shall have power, with the consent of the Treasury, to make regulations with respect to the matter and form of any kinds of communications which a building society may issue or cause to be issued, and in particular—

General control of advertisements and other communications.

- (a) of any kinds of advertisements, or
- (b) of any kinds of invitations, whether or not addressed to particular persons, to invest in or lend money to a building society.

(2) Regulations under this section may in particular—

- (a) require that in any specified kinds of advertisements, or invitations to invest in or lend money to a building society, there shall be included a statement in the prescribed form concerning the general financial position of the building society, or giving any particular information with respect to the affairs of the society ;

PART IV

(b) require a building society to take the prescribed steps to withdraw advertisements which are on display in public places and which do not comply with the requirements of the regulations.

(3) The power to make regulations under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument ; and any such regulations—

(a) may make different provision for different cases, and

(b) may contain such transitional, supplemental and incidental provisions as appear to the Chief Registrar to be desirable.

(4) If a building society contravenes any provisions contained in regulations under this section it shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds ; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

(a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or

(b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(5) If an officer or servant of a building society contravenes any provisions contained in regulations under this section he shall be liable—

(a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or

(b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(6) In this section “ prescribed ” means prescribed by regulations under this section.

PART V*INVESTMENT AND BANKING OF SURPLUS FUNDS

investments.

58.—(1) A building society shall not invest any part of the surplus funds of the society except in a manner authorised by an order made under this section by the Chief Registrar with the consent of the Treasury.

PART V

(2) An order under this section may contain—

- (a) provisions authorising the application of funds of a building society in any form of investment subject to any limitations as to amount, whether by reference to a fixed sum or by reference to a proportion of the total investments of the society or otherwise;
- (b) provisions varying or revoking a previous order, and such transitional, supplemental and incidental provisions as appear to the Chief Registrar to be necessary or desirable.

(3) The power to make orders under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

(4) In this Part of this Act “surplus funds”, in relation to a building society, means funds of the society which are not immediately required for its purposes.

59.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, in so far as any surplus funds of a building society— Authorised banks.

- (a) are not invested in accordance with the last preceding section, and
- (b) are not kept in cash in the custody of officers of the society, the society shall keep them on current account with, or otherwise on loan to, a bank which is for the time being authorised under this section to hold funds of building societies.

(2) The Chief Registrar shall, by an order made with the consent of the Treasury, designate the banks which are authorised as mentioned in the preceding subsection.

(3) Any order under this section—

- (a) may be varied by a subsequent order made by the Chief Registrar with the consent of the Treasury, and
- (b) shall be published in the London, Edinburgh and Belfast Gazettes.

(4) Where a bank ceases to be authorised as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, and any funds of a building society on loan to that bank thereupon cease to be kept in a manner permitted by that subsection, the society shall take all practicable steps to call in and realise the loan within the period of three months from the time when the bank ceased to be so authorised, or, if that is not possible, as soon after the end of that period as possible.

(5) In this section “bank” means a body corporate or partnership carrying on the business of banking, and a trustee savings bank or other savings bank established under any Act of Parliament, whether public or local.

M*

PART V
Exemption of investments
made before 1st January,
1961.

60.—(1) Subsection (1) of the last preceding section shall not apply to surplus funds of a building society represented by any investment made before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, under the enactments specified in the next following subsection, so long as the society—

- (a) continues to hold that investment, and
- (b) does not enter into any transaction the effect of which is to alter the terms on which the investment is held.

(2) The said enactments are—

- (a) section twenty-five of the Building Societies Act, 1874 (which prescribed the manner in which building societies might invest surplus funds);
- (b) section sixteen of the Building Societies Act, 1894, (which authorised building societies, within certain limits, to deposit money in, or invest in government stock through, a savings bank); and
- (c) in relation to a building society which, before its incorporation, was an unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836, section thirteen of the Friendly Societies Act, 1829 (which, as applied by virtue of section four of the Building Societies Act, 1836, and section seven of the Building Societies Act, 1874, prescribes the manner in which an unincorporated society so certified may invest surplus funds).

Offences
under Part V.

61.—(1) If a building society contravenes subsection (1) of section fifty-eight or subsection (1) or subsection (4) of section fifty-nine of this Act, the society shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(2) Where a bank (within the meaning of section fifty-nine of this Act) ceases to be authorised as mentioned in subsection (1) of that section, and any funds of a building society on loan to the bank thereupon cease to be kept in a manner permitted by that subsection, the society shall not on that account be guilty of an offence under that subsection, but without prejudice to the operation of subsection (4) of that section or of subsection (1) of this section in relation to the said subsection (4).

PART VI

MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION

Register of members

62.—(1) Every building society shall maintain a register of the names and addresses of the members of the society. Duty to keep register.

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, the register shall be kept at the chief office of the society.

(3) With the consent in writing of the central office, the register, or parts of it, may be kept at one or more of the offices of the building society other than its chief office.

(4) If a building society contravenes subsection (1) of this section the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

63.—(1) At any time—

(a) when an order is in force with respect to a building society under section forty-eight of this Act, or under section six of the Building Societies Act, 1960, or section eleven of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1958, or section eleven of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1939, or Right of member to obtain particulars from register.

(b) when a written request to withdraw any share in a building society has been given to the society more than six months previously, and the society has (whether in reliance on a provision in the rules of the society or otherwise) not yet complied with the request, or

(c) in the twelve months following a financial year in which the holders of shares in a building society did not become entitled to any interest or dividend on their shares, a member of the society shall have the right to obtain, from the register kept under the last preceding section, the names and addresses of members of the society, for the purpose of communicating with them on a subject relating to the affairs of the society.

(2) If, at any time not falling within any of paragraphs (a) to (c) of the preceding subsection, a member of a building society makes a written application to the Chief Registrar for the right to obtain names and addresses from the register, the Chief Registrar, if satisfied that the applicant requires that right for the purpose of communicating with members of the society on a subject relating to its affairs, and having regard to the interests of the members as a whole and to all the other circumstances, may direct that the applicant shall have the right to

PART VI obtain from the register the names and addresses of the members for the purpose of communicating with them on such a subject.

(3) Any direction under the last preceding subsection may be given subject to such limitations or conditions as the Chief Registrar may think fit.

(4) Before giving a direction under this section, the Chief Registrar shall give particulars of the application to the building society, and shall afford the society an opportunity of making representations with respect to the application; and the Chief Registrar shall, if the applicant or the society so requests, afford to the applicant and to the society an opportunity of being heard by him.

(5) A member entitled under this section to obtain the names of members of a building society may apply in writing to the society, describing in the application the subject on which he proposes to communicate with other members of the society; and the society shall give him all necessary information as to the place or places where the register or part of it is kept, and reasonable facilities for inspecting the register and taking a copy of any names and addresses in the register.

(6) A building society shall not be obliged to disclose to a member making an application under this section any particulars contained in the register other than the names of the members and their addresses, and may construct the register in such a way that it is possible to open the names and addresses to inspection without exposing any such other particulars.

Meetings and resolutions

general meeting.

64.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, every building society shall in the first four months of each financial year hold a meeting as its annual general meeting, in addition to any other meetings held in that year.

(2) The annual general meeting shall be described as such in the notices calling it.

(3) A building society need not hold an annual general meeting in the calendar year in which it is incorporated, unless before its incorporation it was an unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836.

(4) If in any financial year default is made in holding a meeting of a building society in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section, the Chief Registrar may call, or direct the calling of, an annual general meeting in that financial year, and give such ancillary or consequential directions as he thinks expedient, including directions modifying or supplementing the operation of the rules of the society in relation to the calling, holding and conducting of the meeting.

(5) If default is made in holding an annual general meeting of a building society in accordance with subsections (1) to (3) of this section, or in complying with any directions of the Chief Registrar under the last preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

65.—(1) Any provision contained in the rules of a building society shall be void in so far as it provides for the calling of a meeting of the society (other than an adjourned meeting) by a shorter notice than twenty-one days' notice in writing. Length of notice for calling meetings.

(2) Except in so far as the rules of a building society make other provision in that behalf (not being a provision rendered void by the preceding subsection) a meeting of a building society (other than an adjourned meeting) may be called by twenty-one days' notice in writing.

(3) Where notice of a meeting is given in accordance with the last preceding subsection, the notice shall be taken for the purposes of this Act or any other Act to have been duly given according to the rules of the building society.

(4) Notice of a meeting of a building society shall not be sent to members of the society more than fifty-six days before the date of the meeting.

66.—(1) Written notice of any meeting of a building society which specifies the intention to propose a resolution as a special resolution at the meeting shall be sent to every member qualified to vote on a special resolution at the meeting. Persons entitled to notice of meetings.

(2) Subject to the preceding subsection, written notice of any meeting of a building society shall be sent to every member of the society :

Provided that (subject to the rules of the society) notice of a meeting is not required by virtue of this subsection to be sent to a member who at the relevant time did not, or, as the case may be, does not hold shares in the society to a value of twenty-five pounds or more.

(3) For the purposes of the proviso to the last preceding subsection the relevant time—

(a) if the building society was established in the calendar year in which the notices are being sent, is the time at which the notices are sent, and

PART VI

(b) in any other case, is the end of the financial year preceding that in which the notices are sent.

(4) Accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to, or non-receipt of notice of a meeting by, any person entitled to receive notice of the meeting shall not invalidate the proceedings at that meeting.

Proxies.

67.—(1) Any member of a building society entitled to attend and vote at a meeting of the society shall be entitled to appoint another person (whether a member or not) as his proxy to attend and (subject to the next following subsection) to vote instead of him.

(2) Unless the rules of the building society otherwise provide, a proxy is not entitled to vote except on a poll.

(3) In every notice calling a meeting of a building society there shall appear with reasonable prominence a statement that a member entitled to attend and vote is entitled to appoint a proxy, or, where that is allowed, one or more proxies, to attend and vote instead of him, and that a proxy need not also be a member.

(4) If default is made in complying with the last preceding subsection in respect of any meeting, every officer of the building society who is in default shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(5) Any provision contained in the rules of a building society shall be void in so far as it would have the effect of requiring the instrument appointing a proxy, or any other document necessary to show the validity of, or otherwise relating to, the appointment of a proxy, to be received by the society or any other person more than forty-eight hours before a meeting or adjourned meeting in order that the appointment may be effective at the meeting or adjourned meeting.

Right to demand a poll.

68.—(1) Any provision contained in the rules of a building society shall be void in so far as it would have the effect either—

- (a) of excluding the right to demand a poll at a meeting of the society, on any question other than the election of a chairman of the meeting or the adjournment of the meeting, or
- (b) of making ineffective a demand for a poll on any such question which is made by not less than ten members having the right to vote at the meeting.

(2) The instrument appointing a proxy to vote at a meeting of a building society shall be taken also to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll; and for the purposes of the preceding subsection a demand by a person as proxy of a member shall be the same as a demand by the member. PART VI

69.—(1) A resolution of a building society shall be a special resolution when it has been passed by not less than three-fourths of the number of the members of the society qualified to vote on a special resolution, and voting, in person or by proxy, on a poll on the resolution, at a meeting of the society of which notice specifying the intention to move the resolution as a special resolution has been duly given. Special resolutions.

(2) The members qualified to vote on a special resolution at a meeting of a building society shall be all the members of the society who were also members at the end of the last financial year before the date of the meeting, except that, if the rules of the society so provide, members who, at the end of that financial year, did not, or at the date of the meeting do not, hold shares in the society to a value of one pound or more shall not be qualified to vote.

(3) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) notice of a meeting shall be taken to be duly given if the notice is given in the manner provided by this Act and by the rules of the building society ;
- (b) a meeting of a building society shall be taken to be duly held if it is held in the manner provided by the rules of the society.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in the rules of a building society, the business which may be dealt with at the annual general meeting, or at any other meeting, shall include any resolution to be passed as a special resolution.

(5) In any rules made by a building society on or after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, “special resolution”, unless the context otherwise requires, means a special resolution as defined in this section.

70.—(1) If a member of a building society applies in writing to the society, and gives notice of his intention to move a special resolution at a meeting of the society, it shall be the duty of the society to include in the notice of the meeting a notice specifying the intention to move that resolution as a special resolution at the meeting. Notices of meetings to include notices of members' special resolutions.

(2) If the applicant does not specify the meeting at which he intends to move the resolution, or if he specifies a meeting which will be held fifty-six days or less after the receipt of the notice by the building society, the society shall act on the footing

PART VI that he intends to move the special resolution at the first meeting of the society held more than fifty-six days after the date of the application.

(3) If a building society fails to comply with an application duly made under this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(4) In this section "special resolution" means a resolution which will not be effective unless it is passed as a special resolution.

Directors and other officers

Officers of building society to give security.

71.—(1) Every officer of a building society having the receipt or charge of any money belonging to the society shall, before entering upon the execution of his office, give security in such sum as the society may require, conditioned for rendering a just and true account of all moneys received and paid by him on account of the society, and for payment of all sums of money due from him to the society, at such times as its rules appoint or as the society may require.

(2) An officer shall give security in accordance with the preceding subsection either—

(a) by becoming bound, with at least one sufficient surety, in a bond in the form set out in the Seventh Schedule to this Act, or

(b) by giving the security of a guarantee society, or such other security as the building society may direct.

(3) In relation to Scotland, the reference in this section to a surety shall include a reference to a cautioner.

Duty of officers of building society to account.

72.—(1) Every such officer of a building society as is mentioned in the last preceding section shall, on demand, or if required to do so by notice in writing given or left at his last or usual place of residence, render an account as may be required by the directors of the society, to be examined and allowed or disallowed by them.

(2) Every such officer shall, on the like demand or notice, pay over all the moneys remaining in his hands, and deliver all securities and effects, books, papers and property of the society in his hands or custody, to such person as the building society may appoint.

(3) Any duty imposed by the preceding subsections on an officer of a building society shall, after his death, be taken to be imposed on his personal representatives.

(4) In case of any neglect or refusal to comply with the preceding provisions of this section, the building society—

- (a) may sue on the bond (if any) given under the last preceding section, or
- (b) may apply to the court, which may proceed on the application in a summary way and make such order as appears to the court to be just.

(5) Subject to the provisions of section one hundred and eight of the County Courts Act, 1959 (which relates to appeals from county courts on points of law and as to the admission or rejection of evidence), any order of the court under the last preceding subsection shall be final and conclusive.

73.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of a director of a building society who is in any way, whether directly or indirectly, interested in a contract or proposed contract with the society to declare the nature of his interest to the board of directors of the society in accordance with this section. Disclosure of interest by directors.

(2) In the case of a proposed contract, the declaration required by this section to be made by a director shall be made at the meeting of the directors at which the question of entering into the contract is first taken into consideration, or, if the director was not at the date of that meeting interested in the proposed contract, at the next meeting of the directors held after he becomes interested in the proposed contract.

(3) Where the director becomes interested in a contract with the building society after it is made, the declaration required by this section shall be made at the first meeting of the directors held after he becomes interested in the contract.

(4) For the purposes of this section, a general notice given at a meeting of the directors of a building society by a director to the effect that he is a member of a specified company or firm, and is to be regarded as interested in any contract which may, after the date of the notice, be made with that company or firm, is a sufficient declaration of interest in relation to any contract made after that date with that company or firm.

(5) A director need not make a declaration or give a notice under this section by attending in person at a meeting of the directors, if he takes reasonable steps to secure that the declaration or notice is brought up and read at the meeting.

(6) A director who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

PART VI

(7) Nothing in this section shall be taken to prejudice the operation of any rule of law restricting directors of a building society from having any interest in contracts with the society.

Officers not to accept commissions in connection with loans.

74.—(1) No director, secretary, surveyor, solicitor or other officer of a building society shall (in addition to the remuneration prescribed or authorised by the rules of the society) accept from any other person any commission for or in connection with any loan made by the society.

(2) If an officer of a building society accepts a commission in contravention of the preceding subsection—

(a) both he and the person who paid it shall each be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months; and

(b) if, having been convicted of an offence under the preceding paragraph, the officer in question fails to pay over to the society the amount or value of the commission, as and when directed to do so by the court which convicted him of that offence, he shall be guilty of an offence under this paragraph and liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

(3) Where—

(a) a charge upon a policy of life assurance is given as additional security for an advance made by a building society, or

(b) a building society makes an additional advance to enable payment to be made of a premium on a policy of insurance, or

(c) any policy of insurance is taken out so as to comply with the terms on which an advance is made by a building society, whether by way of insuring the property given as security for the advance or otherwise, and the policy is effected through the building society, or the society nominates or selects a person by whom the policy is to be issued, it shall be unlawful for a director or other officer of the society, in connection with the effecting of the policy, to receive any commission from a person by or through whom the policy is issued.

(4) A person who pays, and a person who accepts, any commission which it is unlawful to receive under the last preceding subsection shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

(5) In this section “commission” includes any gift, bonus or benefit.

75.—(1) Whenever a person becomes or ceases to be a director or the manager or secretary of a building society, the society shall within one month give notice to the central office stating the full name and address of that person, and particulars of the office which he has taken or relinquished.

PART VI
Notification of changes in holders of certain offices.

(2) If a building society fails to comply with this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Accounts and audit

76.—(1) Every building society shall—

(a) cause to be kept proper books of account with respect to its transactions and its assets and liabilities, and

(b) establish and maintain a system of control and inspection of its books of account and a system for supervising its cash holdings and all receipts and remittances.

Keeping of books of account and office management.

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection proper books of account shall not be taken to be kept with respect to the matters mentioned in that paragraph if there are not kept such books as are necessary to give a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the building society and to explain its transactions.

(3) Every building society shall establish and maintain a system to ensure the safe custody of all documents of title belonging to the building society, and of the deeds relating to property mortgaged to the society.

(4) For the purposes of the last preceding subsection a building society shall not be taken to have established a proper system unless, under the system, on each occasion on which any such document of title or deed is released from the custody of the officers of the society, the consent is obtained of the board of directors of the society, or of a person authorised by the board of directors of the society to give such a consent.

(5) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, if a director of a building society fails to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance by the society with the requirements of this section, or has by his own wilful act been the cause of any default by the society thereunder, he shall, in respect of each offence, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

77.—(1) The directors of every building society shall lay before the society at the annual general meeting—

(a) a revenue and appropriation account for the last financial year ending before the date of the annual general meeting, and Revenue and appropriation account and balance sheet.

PART VI

(b) a balance sheet as at the end of that financial year.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, if a director of a building society fails to take all reasonable steps to comply with the preceding subsection, he shall, in respect of each offence, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

General provisions as to contents and form of accounts.

78.—(1) Every balance sheet of a building society shall give a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the society as at the end of its financial year ; and every revenue and appropriation account of a building society shall give a true and fair view of the income and expenditure of the society for the financial year.

(2) The Chief Registrar shall have power, with the consent of the Treasury, to make regulations as to the particulars to be included in, and the form of, a building society's balance sheet and revenue and appropriation account ; and regulations under this section may require the inclusion in the balance sheet and revenue and appropriation account of corresponding particulars for a preceding financial year of the society.

(3) The requirements of regulations under the last preceding subsection shall be without prejudice to the general requirements of subsection (1) of this section or of any other requirements of this Act.

(4) Subject to the next following section, if, in relation to a balance sheet or revenue and appropriation account laid before a building society at its annual general meeting, a director of the society fails to take all reasonable steps to secure compliance with the provisions of this section and of any regulations made under this section, he shall, in respect of each offence, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

(5) The power to make regulations under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

Supplementary provisions as to offences under ss. 76 to 78.

79.—(1) In any proceedings against a person in respect of—

(a) an offence under section seventy-six of this Act consisting of a failure to take reasonable steps to secure compliance by a building society with the requirements of that section, or

(b) an offence under section seventy-seven or seventy-eight of this Act, it shall be a defence to prove that he had reasonable grounds to believe, and did believe, that a competent and reliable person was charged with the duty of seeing that the relevant requirements or provisions were complied with and was in a position to discharge that duty.

PART VI

(2) A person shall not be sentenced to imprisonment for any such offence as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection unless, in the opinion of the court dealing with the case, the offence was committed wilfully.

(3) In this section "the relevant requirements or provisions"—

- (a) in relation to section seventy-six of this Act, means the requirements of that section ;
- (b) in relation to section seventy-seven of this Act, means the provisions of that section ; and
- (c) in relation to section seventy-eight of this Act, means the provisions of that section and of any regulations made thereunder.

80.—(1) Every balance sheet of a building society shall be signed on behalf of the board of directors of the society by two of the directors, and by the manager or secretary of the society. Signing of balance sheet.

(2) If a balance sheet has not been signed as required by this section, and a copy of it is issued, circulated or published, the building society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

81.—(1) The revenue and appropriation account shall be annexed to the balance sheet, and the auditors' report shall be attached to it. Account and auditors' report to be annexed to balance sheet.

(2) The revenue and appropriation account so annexed shall be approved by the board of directors of the building society before the balance sheet is signed on their behalf.

(3) If any copy of a balance sheet is issued, circulated or published without having annexed to it a copy of the revenue and appropriation account, or without having attached to it a copy of the auditors' report, the building society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

82.—(1) The directors shall prepare for submission at the annual general meeting a report on the state of the affairs of the building society. Directors' report.

(2) The directors' report shall include a statement setting out for the financial year last ending before the annual general meeting at which the directors' report is submitted—

- (a) the total amount advanced during the financial year by the building society on the security of freehold or leasehold estate, and the total number of mortgages executed in favour of the society during that year ;
- (b) the proportion of the total amount advanced by the building society as mentioned in the preceding paragraph which represents special advances, and the number of mortgages executed during that financial year to secure special advances ;

PART VI

- (c) the total amount of money received during the financial year by way of investments in, or loans to, the building society from members or depositors, and the total amount of money paid out by the society by way of repayment of the principal value of shares in the society, or by way of repayment of sums lent to the society by depositors ;
- (d) the number of cases in which, at the end of the financial year, a mortgagor was in arrears with payments due to the society under his mortgage on account of principal and interest to an amount which exceeded the amount which fell due under the mortgage on account of principal and interest in that financial year ; and
- (e) the total of the amounts of the arrears at the end of the financial year in all the cases falling within the last preceding paragraph.

(3) The directors' report shall be attached to the balance sheet ; and if any copy of a balance sheet is issued, circulated or published without having attached to it a copy of the directors' report, the building society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Right to receive copies of balance sheet and auditors' and directors' report.

83.—(1) A copy of every balance sheet, including every document required by law to be annexed to it, which is to be laid before a building society at the annual general meeting, together with a copy of the auditors' report and of the directors' report, shall, not less than twenty-one days before the date of the meeting, be sent to the Chief Registrar, and to every member of the society, other than a member who, at the end of the financial year to which the balance sheet relates, does not hold shares in the society to the value of twenty-five pounds or more.

(2) Any member of a building society, whether he is or is not entitled to have sent to him copies of the society's balance sheets, and every depositor in a building society, shall be entitled, on demand and without charge, to be furnished with a copy of the last balance sheet of the society, including every document required by law to be annexed to it, together with a copy of the auditors' report and of the directors' report.

(3) If default is made in complying with subsection (1) of this section, or if, when any person makes a demand for any document with which he is by virtue of the last preceding subsection entitled to be furnished, default is made in complying with the demand within seven days after the demand is made, the building society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds. PART VI

84.—(1) Every building society shall at each annual general meeting appoint an auditor or auditors to hold office from the conclusion of that meeting until the conclusion of the next annual general meeting. Appointment of auditors.

(2) At any annual general meeting a retiring auditor, however appointed, shall be re-appointed without any resolution being passed unless—

- (a) he is not qualified for re-appointment, or
- (b) a resolution has been passed at that meeting appointing somebody instead of him or providing expressly that he shall not be re-appointed, or
- (c) he has given to the society notice in writing of his unwillingness to be re-appointed :

Provided that, where notice is given of an intended resolution to appoint some person or persons in place of a retiring auditor, and by reason of the death, incapacity or disqualification of that person or of those persons, as the case may be, the resolution cannot be proceeded with, the retiring auditor shall not be automatically re-appointed by virtue of this subsection.

(3) The provisions of this subsection shall have effect with respect to the first auditors of a building society, that is to say,—

- (a) those auditors may be appointed by the directors of the society at any time before the first annual general meeting, and (subject to the next following paragraph) auditors so appointed shall hold office until the conclusion of that meeting ;
- (b) the building society may at a meeting remove any auditors so appointed, and appoint in their place any other persons who have been nominated for appointment by any member of the society and of whose nomination notice has been given to the members of the society not less than fourteen days before the date of the meeting ;
- (c) if the directors fail to exercise their powers under paragraph (a) of this subsection, the building society in general meeting may appoint the first auditors, and thereupon the powers of the directors under that paragraph shall cease :

Provided that paragraph (b) of this subsection shall have effect subject to the provisions of the next following section.

(4) The directors may fill any casual vacancy in the office of auditor ; but while any such vacancy continues, the surviving or continuing auditor or auditors (if any) may act.

PART VI

(5) A person holding the office of auditor of a building society shall, by virtue of holding that office, be an officer of the society unless the rules of the society otherwise provide.

Provisions as to resolutions relating to appointment and removal of auditors.

85.—(1) A resolution at a building society's annual general meeting—

- (a) appointing as auditor a person other than a retiring auditor, or
- (b) providing expressly that a retiring auditor shall not be re-appointed, shall not be effective unless notice of the intention to move it has been given to the society not less than twenty-eight days before the meeting at which it is moved:

Provided that if, after notice of the intention to move such a resolution has been given to the society, the annual general meeting is called for a date less than twenty-eight days after the notice has been given, the notice, although not given within the time required by the preceding provisions of this subsection, shall be deemed to have been so given.

(2) A building society shall give to its members notice of any such resolution at the same time and in the same manner as it gives notice of the meeting, or, if that is not practicable, shall give them notice of the resolution, not less than twenty-one days before the meeting, either by advertisement in a newspaper having an appropriate circulation or in any other way allowed by the rules of the society.

(3) On receipt by a building society of notice given under subsection (1) of this section of an intended resolution, the society shall forthwith send a copy of the notice to the retiring auditor (if any).

(4) Subject to the next following subsection, where such a notice is given, and the retiring auditor makes representations in writing to the building society (not exceeding a reasonable length) with respect to the intended resolution, and requests that those representations be notified to members of the society, the society shall, unless the representations are received too late for it to do so,—

- (a) in any notice of the resolution given to members of the society, state the fact of the representations having been made, and
- (b) send a copy of the representations to every member of the society to whom notice of the meeting is sent (whether before or after receipt of the representations by the society), and if a copy of the representations is not sent as required by the preceding provisions of this subsection, either because the representations are received too late or because of the society's default, the auditor (without prejudice to his right to be heard orally) may require that the representations be read out at the meeting.

PART VI

(5) Copies of any such representations need not be sent out, and the representations need not be read out at the meeting, if, on the application either of the building society or of any other person who claims to be aggrieved, the High Court is satisfied that the rights conferred by this section are being abused to secure needless publicity for defamatory matter; and the court may order the building society's costs on an application under this section to be paid, in whole or in part, by the auditor, notwithstanding that he is not a party to the application.

(6) Subsections (4) and (5) of this section shall apply in relation to a resolution to remove the first auditors of a building society, by virtue of paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of the last preceding section, as they apply in relation to a resolution that a retiring auditor shall not be re-appointed.

(7) In the application of subsection (5) of this section to a building society whose chief office is in Scotland, for the reference to the High Court there shall be substituted a reference to the Court of Session and for the reference to costs there shall be substituted a reference to expenses.

86.—(1) Subject to the next following subsection, no person shall be appointed as auditor of a building society unless he is a member of one or more of the following bodies:—

Qualifications of auditors.

- (a) the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales;
- (b) the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Scotland;
- (c) the Association of Certified and Corporate Accountants;
- (d) the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland;
- (e) any other body of accountants established in the United Kingdom and for the time being recognised for the purposes of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty-one of the Companies Act, 1948, by the Board of Trade.

(2) A person who was an auditor of a building society on the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, shall, notwithstanding that he is not for the time being a member of any of those bodies, be qualified for appointment or re-appointment as an auditor of that society at any annual general meeting of the society if, at the time of that meeting, he is authorised under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty-one of the Companies Act, 1948, to be appointed as auditor of a company.

(3) None of the following persons shall be appointed as auditor of a building society—

- (a) an officer or servant of the society;

PART VI

(b) a person who is a partner of or in the employment of, or who employs, an officer or servant of the society ;

(c) a body corporate.

References in this subsection to an officer or servant shall be construed as not including an auditor.

(4) Subsections (1) and (3) of this section shall have effect notwithstanding anything in the rules of any building society.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prevent the appointment as auditor of a building society of a Scottish firm if none of the partners of the firm is by virtue of this section disqualified for appointment as auditor of the society.

(6) Any body corporate which is appointed as auditor of a building society in contravention of subsection (3) of this section, and acts under the appointment, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Auditors' report and right of access to books and to attend and be heard at meetings.

87.—(1) The auditors of a building society shall make a report to the members on the accounts examined by them, and on every balance sheet and every revenue and appropriation account laid before the society at the annual general meeting during their tenure of office.

(2) The auditors' report shall be read before the building society at the annual general meeting and shall be open to inspection by any member.

(3) The report shall state whether the balance sheet and revenue and appropriation account are properly drawn up in accordance with the requirements of this Act and the regulations made thereunder, and whether, in the opinion of the auditors, they give a true and fair view—

(a) in the case of the balance sheet, of the state of the building society's affairs as at the end of its financial year, and

(b) in the case of the revenue and appropriation account, of the income and expenditure of the society for its financial year.

(4) It shall be the duty of the auditors of a building society, in preparing their report under this section, to carry out such investigations as will enable them to form an opinion as to the following matters, that is to say,—

(a) whether the society has kept proper books of account and proper records of the matters referred to in subsection (1) of section twenty-seven of this Act ;

(b) whether the society has maintained a satisfactory system of control over its transactions and records, and, in particular, whether the requirements of paragraph (b) of subsection (1), and subsection (3), of section seventy-six of this Act have been complied with ; and

PART VI

- (c) whether the balance sheet and revenue and appropriation account are in agreement with the books of account and records of the society ;

and if the auditors are of opinion that the society has failed to keep proper books of account or proper records of the matters referred to in subsection (1) of section twenty-seven of this Act, or to maintain a satisfactory system of control over its transactions and records, or if the balance sheet and revenue and appropriation account are not in agreement with the books of account and records of the society, the auditors shall state that fact in their report.

- (5) Every auditor of a building society—

- (a) shall have a right of access at all times to the books, accounts, records and vouchers of the society, and to all other documents relating to its affairs, including the deeds relating to property mortgaged to the society, and
- (b) shall be entitled to require from the officers of the society such information and explanations as he thinks necessary for the performance of the duties of the auditors.

(6) If the auditors fail to obtain all the information and explanations which, to the best of their knowledge and belief, are necessary for the purposes of their audit, they shall state that fact in their report.

- (7) The auditors of a building society shall be entitled—

- (a) to attend any general meeting of the society, and to receive all notices of and other communications relating to any general meeting which any member of the society is entitled to receive, and
- (b) to be heard at any meeting which they attend on any part of the business of the meeting which concerns them as auditors.

Annual returns

88.—(1) Every building society shall in the first three months of each financial year (other than such a financial year as is mentioned in subsection (5) of this section) make to the Chief Registrar a return (in this Act referred to as “the annual return”) relating to the affairs of the society for the previous financial year. Duty to make annual return.

PART VI

(2) The annual return shall be signed by two of the directors, and by the manager or secretary of the building society.

(3) The annual return shall contain such information and shall be in such form as the Chief Registrar may prescribe by regulations made with the consent of the Treasury and contained in a statutory instrument.

(4) A copy of the latest annual return for any financial year (with the auditors' report) shall be supplied on demand to any member of, or depositor in, the building society without charge on or after the date of the holding of the annual general meeting in the following financial year.

(5) A building society shall not be required by virtue of subsection (1) of this section to make an annual report in a financial year in which, under section sixty-four of this Act, the society is not required to hold an annual general meeting.

(6) If a building society fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section or of regulations made under this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Annual return to disclose advances to directors or officers or to companies in which they are interested.

89.—(1) Every annual return of a building society shall contain particulars showing the amount of any advances made by the society during the relevant financial year—

- (a) to any director or the manager or secretary of the society, or
- (b) to any person who, after the making of the advance, became a director or the manager or secretary of the society in that year, or
- (c) to a company or other body corporate in which, when the advance was made, or at any later time in the relevant financial year, a director or the manager or secretary of the society held (either directly or through a nominee) shares the nominal value of which exceeded two and a half per cent. of the total paid-up share capital of the company or other body corporate, or
- (d) to a company or other body corporate of which, when the advance was made, or at any later time in the relevant financial year, a director or the manager or secretary of the society was a director, general manager, secretary or other similar officer, and also, in the case of an advance falling within paragraph (c) of this subsection, particulars of the officer's shareholding.

PART VI

(2) It shall be the duty of any director and of the manager and the secretary of a building society to give notice in writing to the society of such matters relating to his employment by, or other interest in, any company or other body corporate as may be necessary for the purposes of the preceding subsection; and, subject to the next following subsection, a person failing to comply with this subsection shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(3) In any proceedings against a person in respect of an offence under the last preceding subsection, it shall be a defence to prove that at the time of the alleged offence he did not know that the building society had made the advance to the body corporate in question, and that at that time reasonable arrangements were in operation to bring to his notice any advance made by the society to any body corporate.

(4) If the requirements of subsection (1) of this section are not complied with, it shall be the duty of the auditors of the building society to include in their report, so far as they are reasonably able to do so, a statement giving the required particulars.

(5) In this section "the relevant financial year", in relation to an annual return of a building society, means the society's financial year to which the return relates.

90.—(1) For each financial year for which the annual return under section eighty-eight of this Act is made by a building society, the society shall cause to be prepared, and sent to the Chief Registrar together with the annual return, a return with respect to—

Additional annual return of certain transactions.

- (a) every property which has, during that financial year, been sold by the society in the exercise of its powers as mortgagee, and
- (b) every mortgage which has been transferred by the society during that financial year.

(2) A person who has effected a mortgage in favour of a building society, and any person to whom there have passed (whether by operation of law or otherwise) any of the rights or liabilities under such a mortgage of the person who effected it, shall be entitled to be furnished with a copy of so much of any return made under this section as relates to that mortgage.

(3) Except as provided by the last preceding subsection, no person shall be entitled to require the Chief Registrar to permit him to inspect, or to furnish him with any extract from, any such return.

PART VI

(4) If a building society fails to send to the Chief Registrar a return which it is required to send to him under subsection (1) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

Auditors' report on annual return.

91.—(1) The auditors of a building society shall make a report on the annual return, which shall be annexed to the annual return made to the Chief Registrar.

(2) Regulations under section eighty-eight of this Act may provide that the auditors of a building society shall not be required, in their report on the annual return, to deal with such of the matters to be contained in the annual return as may be prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this subsection.

(3) The auditors' report on the annual return of a building society shall (without prejudice to any provision of this Act requiring any other information to be contained therein) contain statements as to the following matters, that is to say,—

- (a) whether in their opinion the annual return is properly drawn up in accordance with the requirements of this Act and regulations made thereunder ;
- (b) whether the annual return gives a true and fair view of the matters to which it is to be addressed (other than those with which the auditors, by virtue of regulations made in pursuance of the last preceding subsection, are not required to deal) ; and
- (c) whether the annual return is in agreement with the books of account and records of the society.

*Liability of officersOfficers (including auditors) not to be exempted from liability.

92.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any provision to which this section applies, whether contained in the rules of a building society or in any contract with a building society or otherwise, shall be void.

(2) This section applies to any provision for—

- (a) exempting any director or other officer of a building society from any liability which, by virtue of any rule of law, would otherwise attach to him in respect of any negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust of which he may be guilty in relation to the society, or
- (b) indemnifying any such director or officer against any such liability.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall not prevent a building society from indemnifying a person against any liability incurred.

by him in defending any proceedings (whether civil or criminal) in which judgment is given in his favour or in which he is acquitted.

PART VI

(4) Section four hundred and forty-eight of the Companies Act, 1948 (which empowers the court to grant relief in certain cases of negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust) shall apply in relation to directors and other officers of a building society as it applies in relation to officers of a company.

(5) References in this section to an officer of a building society shall be construed as including references to a person who is employed by a building society as auditor but, apart from this section, is not an officer of the society.

Determination of disputes

93.—(1) The provisions of sections ninety-four to ninety-eight of this Act shall have effect with respect to disputes to which this section applies, but (except in so far as the rules of a building society otherwise expressly provide) shall not have effect with respect to any other dispute. General provisions as to disputes.

(2) Where the provisions of those sections have effect, and in accordance therewith a dispute is to be determined by arbitrators or by the central office or the Chief Registrar, no court shall have jurisdiction to determine it, except in so far as those provisions confer jurisdiction in that behalf.

(3) This section applies to any dispute between a building society and a member of the society in his capacity as a member thereof, or a representative of such a member in his capacity as a member of the society, in respect of any matter except the construction or effect of—

- (a) a mortgage deed, or
- (b) any other contract contained in any document other than the rules of the society.

(4) Nothing in sections ninety-four to ninety-eight of this Act shall prevent a building society, or any member of, or person claiming through or under a member of, a building society, from obtaining in the ordinary course of law any remedy in respect of any mortgage, or in respect of any other contract, other than the rules of the society, to which he or the society would otherwise be entitled by law.

(5) Any reference in the rules of a building society to disputes shall (except in so far as the rules otherwise expressly provide) be construed as referring, and as referring only, to disputes to which this section applies.

(6) In relation to Scotland, for any reference in this section and in the following provisions of this Part of this Act to an arbitrator there shall be substituted a reference to an arbiter.

PART VI
Determination of disputes by arbitration.

94.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where the rules of a building society direct disputes to be referred to arbitration.

(2) Arbitrators shall be nominated and elected in the manner provided by the rules, or, if the rules make no such provision, at the first general meeting of the building society.

(3) No arbitrators shall be beneficially interested, whether directly or indirectly, in the funds of the building society.

(4) In the case of a dispute, such number of the arbitrators (not being less than three) as may be prescribed by the rules of the society shall be chosen by ballot (in such manner as may be so prescribed) to determine it.

(5) The names of the arbitrators shall be duly entered in the minute book of the society.

(6) If an arbitrator dies, or refuses or neglects to act, the building society at a general meeting shall nominate and elect another to act in his place.

(7) The award made by the arbitrators or the majority of them, if made in accordance with the rules of the building society, shall determine the dispute.

(8) If either party to a dispute refuses or neglects to comply with the award of the arbitrators within such time as may be limited by the award, the court, on the application of any person concerned, shall enforce compliance with the award on proof of its having been made and of that party's refusal or neglect to comply with it.

Determination of disputes
by central office or Chief Registrar.

95.—(1) Where the parties to a dispute agree to refer it to the central office, or where the rules of a building society direct disputes to be so referred, the dispute shall be referred accordingly, and the award of the central office shall have the same effect as that of arbitrators under the last preceding section.

(2) Any dispute as to the rights of a member under section sixty-three of this Act shall be referred to the Chief Registrar, and the award of the Chief Registrar shall have the same effect as that of arbitrators under the last preceding section.

(3) Any reference of a dispute to the central office or the Chief Registrar under this section shall be deemed to be a reference to arbitration.

Determination of disputes
by court.

96.—(1) The court may hear and determine a dispute in any case where the rules of the building society direct disputes to be referred to the court or to justices.

PART VI

(2) The court may also hear and determine a dispute in any case where, on the petition of any person concerned, it appears to the court—

- (a) that application has been made by either party to the dispute to the other party, for the purpose of having the dispute settled by arbitration under the rules of the building society, and
- (b) that either the application has not been complied with within forty days, or the arbitrators have refused, or have neglected for a period of twenty-one days, to make an award.

97. Subject to the next following section, every determination of a dispute by arbitrators, or by the central office or the Chief Registrar, or by the court, shall be final and conclusive, and binding on all parties, and shall not be subject to appeal ; and no proceedings on, or determination of, a dispute, whether referred to arbitrators, the central office, the Chief Registrar or the court, shall be removed into, or restrained by injunction granted by, any court, or any other court, as the case may be. Effect of determination.

98.—(1) The arbitrators, the central office, the Chief Registrar or the court, as the case may be, to whom a dispute is referred under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act may, at the request of either party, state a case for the opinion of the High Court on any question of law. Statement of case for High Court or Court of Session.

(2) Section twenty-one of the Arbitration Act, 1950 (which enables arbitrators to state, or to be directed to state, a special case for decision by the High Court) shall not apply to any dispute referred as mentioned in the preceding subsection.

(3) In the application of this section to Scotland, for the reference in subsection (1) to the High Court there shall be substituted a reference to the Court of Session, and subsection (2) shall be omitted.

PART VII

WINDING UP AND DISSOLUTION

99. A building society may be dissolved in the manner prescribed by its rules. Dissolution in accordance with rules.

100.—(1) A building society may be dissolved by an instrument of dissolution, with the consent (testified by their signature of that instrument) of three-fourths of the members of the society, holding not less than two-thirds of the number of shares in the society. Dissolution by consent.

(2) An instrument of dissolution under this section shall set out—

- (a) the liabilities and assets of the society in detail ;

N

PART VII

- (b) the number of members, and the amount standing to their credit in the books of the society ;
- (c) the claims of depositors and other creditors, and the provision to be made for their payment ;
- (d) the intended appropriation or division of the funds and property of the society ;
- (e) the names of one or more persons to be appointed as trustees for the purposes of the dissolution, and their remuneration.

(3) An instrument of dissolution made with consent given and testified as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section may be altered with the like consent, testified in the like manner.

(4) Every instrument of dissolution under this section, and every alteration of such an instrument, shall be registered in the manner provided by section two of this Act for the registration of the rules of a building society ; and every such instrument or alteration shall be binding upon all the members of the building society.

Dissolution on award of central office.

101.—(1) On the application in writing—

- (a) in the case of a building society having more than one thousand members, of one hundred members of the society, or
- (b) in the case of any other building society, of one-tenth of the whole number of members of the society, stating that the society is unable to meet the claims of its members, and that it would be for their benefit that it should be dissolved, and requesting an investigation into the affairs of the society with a view to its being dissolved, the central office may investigate the affairs of the society.

(2) Before beginning an investigation under the preceding subsection, the central office shall give not less than two months' notice in writing to the building society at its registered chief office or place of meeting.

(3) If on such an investigation it appears that the building society is unable to meet the claims of its members, and that it would be for their benefit that it should be dissolved, the central office—

- (a) may, if they consider it expedient to do so, award that the society be dissolved, and shall in that case direct in what manner the affairs of the society are to be wound up, or
- (b) may suspend their award for such period as they think necessary to enable the society to make such alterations of its rules as will, in the judgment of the central office, make such an award unnecessary.

(4) Where an award for dissolution is made under this section, the central office shall, within twenty-one days after the making thereof, cause notice of the award to be advertised in the London and Edinburgh Gazettes, and in a newspaper circulating in the county in which the registered chief office or place of meeting of the building society is situated.

PART VII

102.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect in relation to the dissolution of a building society under section ninety-nine or section one hundred of this Act.

Provisions applicable to dissolution under ss. 99 and 100.

(2) The provisions of this Act shall continue to apply in relation to the building society as if the liquidators or other persons conducting the dissolution of the society, or the trustees appointed under the instrument of dissolution, as the case may be, were the board of directors of the society.

(3) The liquidators, trustees or other persons having the conduct of the dissolution shall, within twenty-eight days from the termination of the dissolution, send to the central office an account and balance sheet signed and certified by them as correct, and showing the assets and liabilities of the society at the commencement of the dissolution, and the way in which those assets and liabilities have been applied and discharged; and if they fail to do so they shall each be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which the default continues.

(4) Except with the consent of the central office—

(a) no resolution, instrument of dissolution or other proceeding for the dissolution of a building society under section ninety-nine or section one hundred of this Act, and

(b) no alteration of an instrument of dissolution under section one hundred of this Act, shall be of any effect if the purpose of the proposed dissolution or alteration is to effect or facilitate the transfer of the society's engagements to any other society.

(5) Any provision in a resolution or document that members of a building society proposed to be dissolved shall accept investments in another society (whether in shares, deposits or any other form) in or towards satisfaction of their rights in the dissolution shall be conclusive evidence of such a purpose as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection.

103.—(1) The preceding provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect without prejudice to the operation of so much of section thirty-two of the Building Societies Act, 1874, as is not repealed by this Act, or of section eight of the Building Societies Act, 1894, or of any other enactment under which building societies can be wound up.

Winding up by, or under supervision of, the court.

PART VII

(2) Where in the exercise of any power conferred by this Act the Chief Registrar presents a petition for the winding up of a building society under the Companies Act, 1948, the court may, if it thinks fit, having regard to the interests of those members of the society (if any) who were not responsible for the relevant default, and to all the other circumstances, refuse to make an order for winding up, and may make its refusal subject to any conditions.

(3) The conditions which the court may impose under the last preceding subsection, or under section two hundred and fifty-six of the Companies Act, 1948 (which authorises the court to stay proceedings after the making of an order for winding up), may include conditions for securing—

- (a) that the building society be dissolved in accordance with section ninety-nine or section one hundred of this Act, or
- (b) that the building society unite under section eighteen of this Act with another building society, or that it transfer its engagements to another building society under section nineteen of this Act, and may also include conditions for securing that the relevant default be made good, and that the costs of the proceedings on the petition be defrayed by the person or persons responsible for that default.

(4) In this section “the court”, in relation to a petition for the winding up of a building society, means the court having jurisdiction to wind up the society on that petition, and “the relevant default”, in relation to a petition for winding up, means the default which was the occasion of the petition being presented.

(5) In the application of this section to Scotland, in subsection (1) the reference to section eight of the Building Societies Act, 1894, shall be omitted, and in subsection (3), for the reference to costs, there shall be substituted a reference to expenses.

Liability of members on winding up or dissolution.

104. Where a building society is being wound up or dissolved, a member to whom an advance has been made under a mortgage or other security, or under the rules of the society, shall not be liable to pay the amount payable thereunder except at the time or times and subject to the conditions set out in the mortgage or other security, or in the rules, as the case may be.

Notice of winding up or dissolution.

105.—(1) Notice of the commencement and of the termination of the winding up or dissolution of a building society shall be sent to the central office and registered by them.

(2) If a building society fails to send to the central office a notice which it is required to send to them under the preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds. PART VII

106. In relation to a building society which is a terminating society, the provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect without prejudice to the termination of the society on the happening of any event specified in the rules as an event on which the society is to terminate. Provision as to terminating societies.

PART VIII

MISCELLANEOUS AND SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS

107.—(1) A building society shall supply to any person who requires it a complete, printed copy of its rules, with a copy of the society's certificate of incorporation annexed to it, and shall be entitled to charge a sum not exceeding one shilling for each such copy of its rules. Building society to supply copies of rules.

(2) If a building society fails to comply with the requirements of the preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

108.—(1) A building society may change its chief office— Change of chief office of building society.

(a) in such manner as its rules direct, or

(b) if there is no such direction in the rules, then at a general meeting specially called for the purpose in accordance with its rules.

(2) Notice of any such change shall, within seven days after the change, be sent to the central office and shall be registered by them, and they shall give a certificate of registration.

(3) It shall not be necessary to alter the rules of a building society by reason only that its chief office is changed.

(4) If a building society fails to send to the central office a notice which it is required to send to them under subsection (2) of this section, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

109.—(1) Any land to which a building society becomes absolutely entitled by foreclosure, or by release or other extinguishment of a right of redemption, shall as soon as may be conveniently practicable be sold or converted into money. Land acquired by foreclosure etc., to be sold.

PART VIII

(2) If a building society contravenes the preceding subsection, the society shall be liable on conviction on indictment or on summary conviction to a fine which, on summary conviction, shall not exceed two hundred pounds; and every officer of the society who is in default shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(3) In the application of this section to Scotland, for subsection (1) there shall be substituted the following subsection:—

- “(1) Where the title of a building society to any land held by it in security has become absolute and irredeemable, the society shall as soon as may be conveniently practicable sell or convert that land into money.”

Inspections and special meetings.

110.—(1) In the circumstances mentioned in the next following subsection, the Chief Registrar, with the consent of the Treasury, may appoint an inspector to inquire into and report on the affairs of a building society, or may call a special meeting of a building society, or may (either on the same or on different occasions) both appoint such an inspector and call such a meeting.

(2) The powers conferred by the preceding subsection may be exercised in relation to a building society either—

- (a) on the application of the requisite number of members of the society, or
- (b) where no such application has been made, but the Chief Registrar is of opinion that an investigation should be held into the affairs of the society, or that the affairs of the society call for consideration by a meeting of the members.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph (a) of the last preceding subsection the requisite number of members—

- (a) in the case of a building society having more than one thousand members, is one hundred, and
- (b) in the case of any other building society, is one-tenth of the whole number of members of the society.

(4) The following provisions shall have effect where an application is made as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of this section, that is to say,—

- (a) the application shall be supported by such evidence as the Chief Registrar may direct for the purpose of showing that the applicants have good reason for requiring an inspection or a special meeting, as the case may be, and that they are not actuated by malicious motives in their application;

- (b) such notice of the application shall be given to the building society as the Chief Registrar may direct;
- (c) the Chief Registrar shall require the applicants to give security for the costs of the proposed inspection or meeting before the inspector is appointed or the meeting is called; and
- (d) all expenses of and incidental to the inspection or meeting shall be defrayed by the applicants, or out of the funds of the society, or by the members or officers or former members or officers of the society, in such proportions as the Chief Registrar may direct.

(5) Before exercising his powers in a case falling within paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section, the Chief Registrar shall inform the building society of the action which he proposes to take, and of the grounds on which he proposes to take it, and the society shall, within fourteen days of receiving the information, be entitled to give the Chief Registrar an explanatory statement in writing by way of a reply.

(6) An inspector appointed under this section may require the production of all or any of the books, accounts, securities and documents of the building society, and may examine on oath its officers, members, agents and servants in relation to its business, and may administer an oath accordingly.

(7) If a building society fails to allow an inspector appointed under this section to do anything which he is authorised to do under the last preceding subsection, the society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

(8) Where a special meeting is called under this section—

- (a) the Chief Registrar may direct at what time and place the meeting is to be held, and what matters are to be discussed and determined at the meeting, and may give such other directions as he thinks fit with respect to the calling, holding and conduct of the meeting;
- (b) the Chief Registrar may appoint a person to be chairman at the meeting, or, in default of such an appointment, the meeting may appoint its own chairman;
- (c) the meeting shall have all the powers of a meeting called according to the rules of the building society; and the provisions of this subsection and any direction given thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything in the rules of the building society.

PART VIII
 Offences in relation to property of building societies.

111.—(1) Any person who—

- (a) by false representation or imposition obtains possession of any moneys, securities, books, papers or other effects of a building society, or
- (b) having any such moneys, securities, books, papers or other effects in his possession, withholds or misapplies them, or wilfully applies any part of them to purposes other than authorised purposes, shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(2) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(3) The court by or before which a person is convicted of an offence under this section may order him to deliver up or repay to the building society any moneys, securities, books, papers or other effects in respect of which he is convicted of that offence.

(4) Proceedings in respect of an offence under this section in relation to a building society may be instituted by the society or the central office or the Chief Registrar; but no such proceedings shall be instituted in England or Wales by any other person unless he is a member of the society authorised in that behalf by the society or by the board of directors of the society or by the central office.

(5) In this section “authorised purposes”, in relation to a building society, means purposes authorised by the rules of the society or by this Act.

False statements in documents.

112.—(1) If any person wilfully makes, or orders or allows to be made, any false statement in a document to which this section applies, or by erasure, omission or otherwise wilfully falsifies any such document, he shall be liable—

- (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or to both, or
- (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both.

(2) This section applies—

- (a) to any document sent to the Chief Registrar or the central office under or in pursuance of this Act, and

- (b) to any document consisting of a statement issued by a building society in pursuance of subsection (1) of section twenty of this Act, or in pursuance of that subsection as applied by subsection (6) of section one hundred and twenty-four of this Act. PART VIII

113.—(1) Where the central office are satisfied with respect to a building society— Compulsory cancellation or suspension of registration.

- (a) that a certificate of incorporation has been obtained for the society by fraud or mistake, or
 (b) that the society exists for an illegal purpose, or
 (c) that the society has wilfully, and after notice from the central office, violated any of the provisions of this Act, or
 (d) that the society has ceased to exist, the central office, with the approval of the Treasury, may cancel or suspend the registration of the society.

(2) Any cancellation or suspension of registration under this section shall be effected in writing signed by the central office.

(3) Where the registration of a building society is suspended under this section, the period of suspension shall in the first instance be a period not exceeding three months, but may, with the approval of the Treasury, be extended from time to time by not more than three months at a time.

(4) Before cancelling or suspending the registration of a building society under this section, the central office shall give to the society not less than two months' previous notice in writing, specifying briefly the grounds of the proposed cancellation or suspension.

(5) As soon as practicable after the cancellation or suspension of the registration of a building society under this section takes effect, the central office shall cause notice thereof to be published in the London and Edinburgh Gazettes, and in a newspaper circulating in the county in which the registered chief office or place of meeting of the building society is situated.

(6) Where the registration of a building society—

- (a) is cancelled under this section, or
 (b) is suspended under this section for a period exceeding six months, the society may appeal to the High Court; and on any such appeal the High Court, if it thinks it just to do so, may set aside the cancellation or suspension.

(7) In the application of this section to Scotland, for any reference to the High Court there shall be substituted a reference to the Court of Session.

PART VIII
Cancellation of registration at request of building society.

114. Without prejudice to the last preceding section, the central office may, if they think fit, cancel the registration of a building society at the society's request, evidenced in such manner as the central office may direct.

Effect of cancellation or suspension
of registration.

115.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, where the registration of a building society is cancelled or suspended under section one hundred and thirteen of this Act, or is cancelled under the last preceding section, then as from the time of the cancellation or suspension (but, in the case of a suspension, only so long as the suspension continues) the society shall absolutely cease to enjoy as such the privileges of a building society.

(2) The preceding subsection shall have effect subject to the right of appeal under subsection (6) of section one hundred and thirteen of this Act.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section shall have effect in relation to a building society without prejudice to any liability actually incurred by the society; and any such liability may be enforced against the society as if the cancellation or suspension had not taken place.

Provisions
as to shares held jointly.

116.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where shares in a building society are held by two or more persons jointly; and in this section "senior joint holder", in relation to any shares so held, means that one of the joint holders who is named first in the books of the society.

(2) Except where the rules of the society otherwise provide, any notice or other document may be given or sent by the society to the joint holders by being given or sent to the senior joint holder:

Provided that this subsection shall not prevent any of the joint holders from exercising the right under this Act of a member of a building society to obtain from the society on demand a copy of the balance sheet or of the annual return.

(3) For the purpose—

(a) of determining who is qualified to vote, whether in person or by proxy, on a resolution at a meeting of the society, and

(b) of determining (where relevant) the number of votes any person may then give, the shares shall be treated as held by the senior joint holder alone; and accordingly a person who is a member of the society by reason only of being a joint holder of those shares (other than the senior joint holder) shall not be qualified to vote on any such resolution.

(4) For the purposes of sections eighteen, nineteen, one hundred and one hundred and twenty-four of this Act, the shares shall be treated as held by the senior joint holder alone ; and accordingly a person who is a member of the society by reason only of being a joint holder of those shares (other than the senior joint holder) shall not be regarded as a member of the society for the purposes of those sections.

(5) The senior joint holder (but none of the other joint holders) shall have the right to join in making an application under section one hundred and one or section one hundred and ten of this Act, and any reference in those sections to the total membership of a building society shall be construed accordingly.

(6) In the register to be maintained under section sixty-two of this Act, it shall not be necessary to enter the name and address of a person who is one of the joint holders (other than the senior joint holder) by reason only that he is a joint holder of those shares ; and if his name and address are entered in the register in respect of those shares, the entry shall indicate that he is a joint holder who is not the senior joint holder.

(7) The joint holders shall be entitled to choose the order in which they are named in the books of the society.

117. The following instruments shall be exempted from all such stamp duties (if any) as apart from this section would be chargeable on them, that is to say— Exemption from stamp duty.

- (a) any copy of the rules of a building society ;
- (b) any power, warrant or letter of attorney, granted by a person as trustee for a building society, for the transfer of any share in the public funds standing in his name ;
- (c) any receipt given by a building society for a dividend on any public stock or fund or for interest on an exchequer bill ;
- (d) any receipt, or entry in a book of receipt, for money deposited in the funds of a building society, or for money received from the funds of a building society by a member, or the personal representatives or an assign or agent of a member, of the society ;
- (e) any transfer of a share in a building society ;
- (f) any bond or other security (other than a mortgage) to be given to, or on account of, a building society or by an officer of a building society ;
- (g) any order on an officer of a building society for payment of money to a member ;
- (h) any instrument appointing an agent of a building society or revoking such an appointment ;
- (i) any other instrument whatsoever which is required or authorised to be given, issued, signed, made or produced in pursuance of this Act or of the rules of a building society, other than a mortgage.

PART VIII
Annual report of Chief
Registrar.

118. The Chief Registrar shall cause to be made an abstract and report of the annual returns of building societies and of the proceedings of the central office under this Act, and shall lay the abstract and report before the Treasury and before Parliament.

Appointment of deputy for Chief Registrar.

119.—(1) At any time when the Treasury are satisfied that the Chief Registrar is or will be absent from the United Kingdom, or for any other reason unable to perform his functions in relation to building societies, the Treasury may appoint a person, on such terms as may be specified in the appointment, to act as deputy for the Chief Registrar in respect of those functions.

(2) A deputy so appointed may exercise all the powers of the Chief Registrar under this Act.

Time limit for commencement
of summary
proceedings.

120.—(1) Notwithstanding any limitation on the time for the taking of proceedings contained in any Act, summary proceedings for any offence under this Act may, subject to the next following subsection, be commenced by the Chief Registrar at any time within the period of one year beginning with the date on which evidence, sufficient in the opinion of the Chief Registrar to justify a prosecution for the offence, comes to his knowledge.

(2) Nothing in the preceding subsection shall authorise the commencement of proceedings for any offence at a time more than three years after the date on which the offence was committed.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section a certificate, purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the Chief Registrar, as to the date on which such evidence as is mentioned in that subsection came to his knowledge, shall be conclusive evidence of that date.

(4) In the application of this section to Scotland, in subsection (1) the words "by the Chief Registrar" shall be omitted.

Provisions as to evidence.

121.—(1) Any document purporting to have been signed by the registrar of building societies or the central office and to be a certificate of incorporation or registration or other document relating to a building society shall be received in evidence and shall, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, be deemed to have been signed by the registrar of building societies or the central office, as the case may be.

(2) Any printed document purporting to be a copy of the rules of a building society, and certified by the secretary or other officer of the society to be a true copy of its rules as registered, shall be received in evidence and shall, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, be deemed to be a true copy of its rules.

122.—(1) Any register, record or book of account to be kept by a building society may be kept either by making entries in bound books or by recording the matters in question in any other manner. PART VIII Form in which records may be kept.

(2) Where any such register, record or book of account is not kept by making entries in a bound book but by some other means, adequate precautions shall be taken for guarding against falsification and facilitating its discovery; and where default is made in complying with this subsection, the building society, and every officer of the society who is in default, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

123.—(1) Without prejudice to any other power in that behalf conferred on him by this Act, the Chief Registrar shall have power with the consent of the Treasury to make regulations with respect to— Provisions as to certain certificates, notices and other documents, and as to fees.

- (a) the form of, and the particulars to be included in, any certificate issued under this Act, and any application, notice or other document made or sent to the Chief Registrar or the central office under or in pursuance of this Act; and
- (b) the fees to be paid for the inspection, or the furnishing of copies, of any document in the custody of the Chief Registrar or the central office, or in connection with the exercise by the Chief Registrar or the central office of any of their functions under this Act.

(2) The Chief Registrar may make rules for prescribing anything authorised or required to be prescribed by any of the provisions of sections twenty-eight to thirty and section thirty-six of this Act, and in those sections “prescribed” means prescribed by rules made under this subsection.

(3) Any rules made under the last preceding subsection for prescribing the form in which any notice is to be given may further provide that a notice to which the rules apply shall be deemed not to have been validly given unless, within such time from the giving of the notice as may be prescribed by the rules, the person to whom the notice was given signed a duplicate thereof and delivered it to the person by whom, or on whose behalf, the notice was given.

(4) Any power conferred by this section to make regulations or rules shall be exercisable by statutory instrument.

124.—(1) Without prejudice to the provisions of section nineteen of this Act, but subject to the following provisions of this section, a building society may— Transfer of engagements to or from Northern Ireland society.

- (a) by special resolution transfer its engagements to a Northern Ireland society which undertakes to fulfil those engagements, or

PART VIII

(b) by special resolution or, with the consent of the central office, by a resolution of a general meeting or of the board of directors of the building society, undertake to fulfil the engagements of a Northern Ireland society.

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, a transfer of engagements shall not take effect by virtue of this section unless or until the consent in writing of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the whole number of shares of the building society has been obtained.

(3) If the building society makes an application to the central office, and publishes notice of the application in the London and Edinburgh Gazettes, the central office, after hearing the building society and any other persons whom they consider entitled to be heard, may confirm the transfer of engagements notwithstanding that the consent of the holders of two-thirds of the whole number of shares in the building society has not been obtained as required by the last preceding subsection.

(4) A transfer of engagements shall not take effect by virtue of this section until the central office have given their consent in writing to the transfer; and they shall not give that consent unless they are satisfied that the transfer of engagements will also take effect under the law of Northern Ireland.

(5) On giving consent under the last preceding subsection to a transfer of engagements, the central office shall register the transfer.

(6) Subject to the next following subsection, subsections (1) to (3) and subsections (5) to (7) of section twenty of this Act shall apply in relation to a transfer of engagements under this section as they apply in relation to a transfer of engagements under section nineteen of this Act, as if in those subsections any reference to the relevant society were a reference to the building society acting under subsection (1) of this section, and any reference to section nineteen of this Act were a reference to this section.

(7) Any statement sent to the members of a building society under subsection (1) of section twenty of this Act as applied by the last preceding subsection shall indicate that the other party to the transfer of engagements is a Northern Ireland society.

Incorporation
of unincorporated societies.

125.—(1) Any unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836 may obtain a certificate of incorporation under this Act, on application to the central office made on the authority of a general meeting of the society specially called for the purpose.

(2) Where such an application is made, the central office may require of the person making the application a statutory declaration that such authority was duly given.

(3) Where any such society obtains a certificate of incorporation by virtue of this section—

- (a) its rules, in so far as they are not contrary to any express provision of this Act, shall continue in force until altered in accordance with this Act;
- (b) all rights of action and other rights, and all estates and interests in real or personal estate, other than stocks and securities in the public funds of the United Kingdom, being rights, estates or interests which immediately before its incorporation belonged to or were held in trust for the society, shall on its incorporation vest in the society by virtue of this subsection and without further assurance;
- (c) subject to the preceding paragraphs the provisions of this Act shall have effect in relation to the society as they have effect in relation to a society which has obtained a certificate of incorporation under section two of this Act.

(4) In section seven of the Building Societies Act, 1874 (which makes provision with respect to unincorporated societies pending their incorporation) any reference to a certificate of incorporation under that Act shall be construed as including a reference to a certificate of incorporation under this Act.

(5) In this Act “unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836” means a society whose rules were certified under the enactments referred to in section four of the Act of the sixth and seventh years of King William the Fourth, chapter thirty-two (intituled an Act for the regulation of benefit building societies), as applied by that section to benefit building societies, and which is neither a building society as defined by this Act nor a Northern Ireland society.

126.—(1) The Statutory Instruments Act, 1946, shall apply to all powers of making statutory instruments under this Act as if the Chief Registrar were a Minister of the Crown. Provisions as to statutory instruments.

(2) Any statutory instrument made by the Chief Registrar with the consent of the Treasury under this Act, other than a statutory instrument containing an order under section twenty-one of this Act, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

127. Any money received by the Chief Registrar under this Act shall be paid into the Exchequer. Payments into Exchequer.

128.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section and of section one hundred and thirty of this Act, in this Act “financial year” means a period of twelve months ending with the thirty-first day of December. Financial year of building societies.

PART VIII

(2) A building society whose financial year does not end with the thirty-first day of December may alter its financial year by making up its accounts for one period of more than six months, and not more than eighteen months, ending with the thirty-first day of December; and in relation to a building society exercising the power conferred by this subsection, references in this Act to a financial year of the society shall include references to that period.

Interpretation.

129.—(1) In this Act, except in so far as the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say—

“advertisement”, in relation to a building society, means an advertisement in any medium inviting business or making known the activities of the society, and includes in particular a circular or handbill inviting business or making known the society’s activities;

“additional security”, in relation to an advance made by a building society, means any security for the advance other than a mortgage of freehold or leasehold estate, whether effected by the person to whom the advance is made or by any other person and whether it is a legal or an equitable mortgage;

“alteration”, in relation to the rules of a building society, includes any addition to the rules, and also includes the rescission of all or any of the rules, with or without the substitution of one or more new rules for any rules rescinded;

“annual return” has the meaning assigned to it by section eighty-eight of this Act;

“banking or finance company” means any body corporate or partnership whose ordinary business includes the business of banking and any other body corporate whose ordinary business includes the business of lending money;

“basic advance”, in relation to any advance made or to be made for the purpose of its being used in defraying the purchase price of freehold or leasehold estate, means the maximum amount which the building society would consider proper to advance on the security of that estate if no other security were taken by the society;

“board of directors”, in relation to a building society managed by a committee of management, means that committee;

“building society” has the meaning assigned to it by section one of this Act;

- “the central office”, in relation to England and Wales, PART VIII means the central office of the registry of friendly societies, and, in relation to Scotland, means the assistant registrar of friendly societies for Scotland ;
- “the Chief Registrar” means the Chief Registrar of Friendly Societies ;
- “continuing arrangement” means any arrangement made between a building society and another person whereby, in contemplation of a series of advances comprising excess advances being made by the society to members for the purpose of their being used in defraying the purchase prices of freehold or leasehold estates, that person undertakes to give to the society a series of guarantees, each of which is to secure sums payable to the society in respect of such an advance ;
- “the court”, in relation to a building society, means (in England and Wales) the county court for the district in which, or (in Scotland) the sheriff in whose jurisdiction, the chief office or place of meeting for the business of the society is situated ;
- “director”, in relation to a building society, includes a member of a committee of management and any other person occupying the position of director by whatever name called ;
- “disposition”, in relation to any freehold or leasehold estate, means any disposition of that estate inter vivos, and includes both the grant and the assignment of a lease or underlease, and “acquisition” has a corresponding meaning ;
- “excess advance” means, in relation to any advance, the amount by which the advance exceeds the basic advance ;
- “financial year” has the meaning assigned to it by section one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act ;
- “heritable security” has the same meaning as in the Conveyancing (Scotland) Act, 1924, except that it includes a security constituted by ex facie absolute disposition or assignation ;
- “member”, in relation to a building society, includes any person who for the time being holds a share (whether advanced or not) in the society ;
- “Northern Ireland society” has the meaning assigned to it by section one hundred and thirty-four of this Act ;

PART VIII

“officer”, in relation to a building society, includes a director, manager or secretary of the society, and, in so far as Part VI of this Act so provides, also includes an auditor of the society ;

“policy of life assurance” means a policy of life assurance issued by an insurance company to which the Insurance Companies Act, 1958, applies, or by a friendly society which is a registered society for the purposes of the Friendly Societies Act, 1896 ;

“purchase price”, in relation to leasehold estate, means any sum payable as the consideration, or as part of the consideration, for the grant or assignment of the lease ;

“share” includes stock ;

“special advance” has the meaning assigned to it by section twenty-one of this Act ;

“special resolution” has the meaning assigned to it by section sixty-nine of this Act ;

“unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836” has the meaning assigned to it by section one hundred and twenty-five of this Act.

(2) For the purposes of any enactment in this Act which provides that an officer of a building society who is in default shall be liable to a fine or penalty, “officer who is in default” means any officer of the society who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, refusal or contravention mentioned in the enactment.

(3) For the purposes of this Act the value of the assets of a building society shall be the value at which the assets are taken into account in the latest balance sheet, and not any alternative values shown in that balance sheet.

(4) For the purposes of any reference in this Act to a person holding shares in a building society up to a specified value—

(a) any shares which are fully paid up shall be taken at their nominal value ;

(b) any shares which are partly paid up shall be taken at the amount which has been paid up on them respectively ; and

(c) any share held by a person to whom, as the holder of the share, the society has made an advance, shall be disregarded.

(5) For the purposes of this Act a person shall be taken to have a financial interest in the disposition of any freehold or leasehold estate if, but only if, he would, on a disposition of that estate, be entitled (whether directly or indirectly, and whether in possession or not) to the whole or part of the proceeds of the disposition.

PART VIII

(6) Any reference in this Act to contravention of any provision of this Act, or of any regulations or directions thereunder, shall include a reference to failure to comply with that provision.

(7) References in this Act to any enactment shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as references to that enactment as amended by or under any other enactment.

(8) In the application of subsection (1) of this section to Scotland, for the reference to an underlease in the definition of "disposition", and for the reference to leasehold estate in the definition of "purchase price", there shall be substituted respectively references to a sublease and to a lease of land; and for any reference in either of those definitions to assignment there shall be substituted a reference to assignation.

130. The provisions of the Eighth Schedule to this Act, and (so far as applicable in accordance with paragraph 3 of the said Eighth Schedule) the provisions of the Ninth Schedule to this Act, shall have effect in relation to societies established before the commencement of this Act. Modifications of Act in relation to existing societies.

131. Subject to the following provisions of this Act, the enactments specified in Part I of the Tenth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule; and the orders specified in Part II of that Schedule are hereby revoked. Repeals and revocations.

132.—(1) In so far as any order, regulation, rule, application, decision, reference, appeal or payment made, consent, approval or direction given, certificate issued, notice or copy served, register kept, resolution passed, requirement imposed or other thing done, under an enactment repealed by this Act could have been made, given, issued, served, kept, passed, imposed or done under a corresponding provision of this Act, it shall not be invalidated by the repeal effected by the last preceding section, but shall have effect as if made, given, issued, served, kept, passed, imposed or done under that corresponding provision: Transitional provisions.

Provided that this subsection shall not be construed as saving any order specified in Part II of the Tenth Schedule to this Act.

(2) For the purposes of the preceding subsection, and without prejudice to the generality thereof, a resolution passed before

PART VIII the commencement of the Building Societies Act, 1960, in accordance with any provisions of the Building Societies Acts, 1874 to 1940, as then in force, shall be treated as a resolution which could have been passed under the corresponding provisions of this Act if it would have fallen to be so treated if passed after the commencement of the said Act of 1960 as a special resolution as defined by that Act.

(3) Any reference in an enactment or document (whether expressed or implied) to an enactment repealed by this Act shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as, or as including, a reference to the corresponding provision of this Act.

(4) References in any enactment or document to the registrar of building societies, or to the registrar as defined by section three of the Building Societies Act, 1874, shall be construed as references to the central office.

(5) Any power to make regulations under the Friendly Societies Act, 1896, in so far as it would (apart from this Act) have been exercisable for the purposes of section two or section four of that Act, shall continue to be exercisable, in relation to the powers and functions referred to in those sections respectively, as if this Act had not been passed; and any regulations made under that Act before the commencement of this Act, in so far as, immediately before the commencement of this Act, they had effect for the purposes of section two of that Act in its application to the registrar of building societies, shall continue to have effect (as modified by the last preceding subsection) as if any reference therein to the said section two were a reference to the functions and powers referred to in that section.

(6) Where a period of time specified in an enactment repealed by this Act is current at the commencement of this Act, this Act shall have effect as if the corresponding provision thereof had been in force when that period began to run.

(7) Without prejudice to subsection (1) of this section, any reference in this Act (whether express or implied) to a thing done or falling to be done, or omitted to be done, or to an event which has occurred, under or for the purposes of or by reference to a provision of this Act shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as including a reference to the corresponding thing done or falling to be done, or omitted, or to the corresponding event which occurred, as the case may be, under or for the purposes of or by reference to the corresponding provision of the enactments repealed by this Act.

(8) Where an offence, for the continuance of which a penalty was provided, has been committed under an enactment repealed by this Act, proceedings may be taken under this Act in respect of the continuance of the offence after the commencement of this Act, in the same manner as if the offence had been committed under the corresponding provision of this Act.

133.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall affect the enactments repealed thereby in their operation in relation to offences committed before the commencement of this Act, or shall enable any proceedings to be instituted, or penalty imposed, for such an offence in so far as those proceedings could not have been instituted, or that penalty could not have been imposed, under those enactments. Savings.

(2) The repeal shall not affect the operation of any of the enactments repealed by this Act or of any other enactment in relation to any unincorporated society certified under the Act of 1836:

Provided that (without prejudice to the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five of this Act) this subsection shall not enable any such society to obtain a certificate of incorporation under the enactments repealed by this Act.

(3) The repeal shall not affect the operation of subsection (4) of section fifteen of the Building Societies Act, 1874 (which preserved the validity of deposits and loans made before the commencement of that Act, notwithstanding that they were beyond the limits of borrowing imposed by that section) in relation to deposits and loans made before the commencement of that Act.

(4) The repeal shall not affect the operation of any of the provisions of the Building Societies Act, 1939, in relation to any advance which was made before the commencement of that Act, or which, by virtue of subsection (4) of section sixteen of that Act, was deemed to have been so made or (in the case of an advance made after the commencement of this Act) would have been deemed to have been so made if this Act had not been passed.

(5) The repeal shall not affect section five of the Societies (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1940, in its operation as part of the law of any of the Channel Islands or of the Isle of Man.

(6) The repeal shall not affect any saving contained in subsection (5) of section seven of the Building Societies Act, 1960 (which relates to section eleven of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1958).

PART VIII

(7) The inclusion in this Act of any express saving or transitional provision, or of any express reference to any of the enactments repealed by this Act, shall not be taken as prejudicing the operation of section thirty-eight of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the effect of repeals) or as affecting the generality of the last preceding section or of subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(8) In this section "the repeal" means the repeal and revocation effected by section one hundred and thirty-one of this Act; and (except where the context otherwise requires) references in this section to enactments repealed by this Act include references to orders revoked by this Act.

Provisions as to Northern Ireland.

134.—(1) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

(2) In so far as any provision of this Act expressly relates to land in Northern Ireland or is otherwise capable of applying to such land as part of the law of England and Wales or of Scotland, the preceding subsection shall not affect the operation of that provision, as part of that law, in relation to land in Northern Ireland.

(3) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the operation, as part of the law of England and Wales or of Scotland, of any provision of this Act relating to Northern Ireland societies.

(4) In this Act "Northern Ireland society" means a society which is for the time being registered in Northern Ireland under the enactments relating to building societies in Northern Ireland, or, immediately before the commencement of this Act, was for the purposes of the Building Societies Acts, 1874 to 1894, deemed to be registered in Northern Ireland; and in this subsection "the enactments relating to building societies in Northern Ireland" means all or any of the following enactments, that is to say, the Building Societies Acts, 1874 to 1894, as for the time being in force in Northern Ireland, and any enactments of the Parliament of Northern Ireland (whether passed before or after the commencement of this Act) whereby those Acts or any provisions thereof were or are amended or superseded.

Short title and commencement.

135.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Building Societies Act, 1962.

(2) This Act shall come into operation on the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

Section 13.

REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO FOUNDERS' AND DIRECTORS' SHARES

1.—(1) The provisions of this Schedule shall have effect in accordance with subsection (4) of section thirteen of this Act, or in accordance with subsection (5) of section fifty-six of this Act, in relation to shares (in this Schedule referred to as “the relevant shares”) issued by a building society (in this Schedule referred to as “the relevant society”) in compliance with subsection (1) of section thirteen or in compliance with section fifty-five of this Act, as the case may be.

(2) In this Schedule “the relevant period”—

(a) where the relevant shares are issued in compliance with subsection (1) of section thirteen of this Act, means the period of five years beginning with the date on which a certificate is issued by the central office to the relevant society under that section, and

(b) where the relevant shares are issued in compliance with section fifty-five of this Act, means the period of five years beginning with the date of the service on the relevant society of a notice under that section.

2. Neither at the time when the relevant shares are issued, nor at any other time before the end of the relevant period, shall the terms regarding rate of interest, participation in profits, contribution to losses or rights on a termination or dissolution be (either as a whole or separately) more favourable for the relevant shares than for any other shares in the relevant society.

3. Until the end of the relevant period the relevant society shall not give effect to or recognise any transfer of the relevant shares by the person to whom they were issued, and the terms attaching to those shares shall so provide:

Provided that this paragraph shall not prevent the relevant society from giving effect to any transmission of those shares by operation of law.

4. Until the end of the relevant period, and so long as the relevant society is not terminated or dissolved, the society shall not repay the sum subscribed for the relevant shares or any part of that sum, and the terms attaching to those shares shall so provide.

5.—(1) If at any time before the end of the relevant period there is a failure to comply with the provisions of paragraphs 2 to 4 of this Schedule in relation to any of the relevant shares, the Chief Registrar (subject to the following provisions of this Schedule) may present a petition for the winding up of the relevant society under the Companies Act, 1948.

(2) Not less than one month before presenting a petition for the winding up of the relevant society under that Act, the Chief

1st Sch. Registrar shall send to that society notice of his decision, and may, if he thinks fit, afford to the society an opportunity of submitting to him, as an alternative to the winding up of the relevant society under that Act, proposals for—

- (a) dissolving the relevant society in one of the ways mentioned in sections ninety-nine and one hundred of this Act, or
- (b) uniting the relevant society under section eighteen of this Act with another building society, or transferring its engagements to another building society under section nineteen of this Act, and the Chief Registrar may, having regard to the proposals, postpone his decision to present a petition for the winding up of the relevant society under the Companies Act, 1948.

6.—(1) Until the end of the relevant period the relevant society shall not, without the consent of the Chief Registrar, unite with another building society under section eighteen of this Act, or transfer its engagements to another building society under section nineteen of this Act, unless the other building society (or, in the case of a union with two or more societies, one of those societies) has been incorporated for more than five years and has assets which exceed one hundred thousand pounds in value.

(2) In giving his consent under the preceding sub-paragraph—

- (a) to a union, where any of the holders of the relevant shares will become holders of shares in the building society formed on the union, or
- (b) to a transfer of engagements, where any of the holders of the relevant shares will become holders of shares in the building society to which the engagements are transferred, the Chief Registrar may attach to his consent conditions which are in his opinion equivalent to the conditions which under the preceding provisions of this Schedule attach to the relevant shares.

(3) If, at any time during the remainder of the relevant period, any conditions attached by virtue of the last preceding sub-paragraph are broken, the Chief Registrar may present a petition for the winding up under the Companies Act, 1948, of the building society formed on the union, or of the building society to which the engagements are transferred, as the case may be.

Section 14.

SECOND SCHEDULE

REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO ADVERTISING

General

1. The requirements set out in the following provisions of this Schedule are those which must be fulfilled, in accordance with subsection (3) of section fourteen of this Act, where an application is made by a building society under that section.

Special advances

2ND SCH.

2.—(1) The ascertained proportion for the last financial year of the society ending before the date of the application must not have exceeded ten per cent.

(2) In this paragraph “the ascertained proportion” has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (3) of section twenty-two of this Act.

Liquidity

3.—(1) At the end of the last financial year ending before the date of the application, the value of the liquid funds of the building society must have been seven and a half per cent. or more of the value of the assets of the society.

(2) For the purposes of this paragraph—

- (a) “liquid funds” means the funds of the building society (whether represented by investments or on loan to a bank or held in cash) which were not immediately required for its purposes, less any amount due from the society (whether immediately payable or not) otherwise than in respect of shares in, or deposits with, the society, and
- (b) the value of such of the funds of the society as were represented by investments shall be the value at which they were taken into account in the balance sheet for the last financial year ending before the date of the application, and not any alternative value shown in that balance sheet.

Advances to officers of society, or companies in which they are interested

4.—(1) At the end of the last financial year ending before the date of the application, there must not have been outstanding, in whole or in part, any advance made by the society of which particulars were, in compliance with section eighty-nine of this Act, shown in any annual return sent to the Chief Registrar by the society, or in any auditors’ report made to the society.

(2) If particulars of any advance were so shown in any such annual return or auditors’ report before the date of the application, the application shall be accompanied by a statutory declaration by the manager or secretary of the building society stating that the advance has been wholly repaid.

Avoidance of losses

5. The application must contain or be accompanied by a report by the auditors of the building society, stating that in their opinion the balance of the revenue and appropriation account for the last financial year ending before the date of the application represents a surplus, after making any adjustments which in their opinion are necessary to provide for diminution in value of assets, or in respect of items of an exceptional or abnormal nature.

2ND SCH.

Interest on shares

6. The building society must not at the date of the application be in arrear with any interest due on shares in the society.

Directors

7. The application must be accompanied by a statutory declaration by the manager or secretary of the building society, stating that none of the directors of the society held office at the date of the application for a fixed term exceeding five years from appointment, or for a term which was not fixed.

8. Neither any director of the building society nor the manager or secretary may, at the date of the application, be a person who has been a director or the manager or secretary of a building society at a time when an order has been made against that society under section forty-eight of this Act, or under section six of the Building Societies Act, 1960, or section eleven of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1958, or section eleven of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1939, unless the order was made more than five years before the date of the application.

Section 26.

THIRD SCHEDULE

PERMITTED CLASSES OF ADDITIONAL SECURITY

1. A charge upon a policy of life assurance.
2. A guarantee given, whether in pursuance of a continuing arrangement or not, by an insurance company to which the Insurance Companies Act, 1958, applies.
- 3.—(1) A guarantee given, whether in pursuance of a continuing arrangement or not, under any of the enactments specified in the next following sub-paragraph (being enactments under which certain local authorities are or were empowered to guarantee the repayment of advances to building societies).
  - (2) The said enactments are—
    - (a) in relation to England and Wales, section forty-five of the Housing (Financial Provisions) Act, 1958, section five of the Housing Act, 1949, and paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section ninety-one of the Housing Act, 1936 ;
    - (b) in relation to Scotland, section seventy-seven of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1950, section thirty of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1949, and paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section seventy-five of the Housing (Scotland) Act, 1925 ;
    - (c) in relation to Northern Ireland, subsection (1) of section twenty-three of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) and Rent Restriction Law (Amendment) Act (Northern Ireland), 1956.
4. A charge upon money deposited with the building society or upon any narrower-range investments or wider-range investments (within the meaning of the Trustee Investments Act, 1961).

5.—(1) A charge given by the member upon the stock, shares or other securities of a public utility undertaking by which the member is or has been employed, being a charge effected in favour of a building society which carries on business wholly or mainly for the purpose of facilitating the acquisition of houses by persons who are or have been employed by that undertaking.

(2) In this paragraph “public utility undertaking” means any company or other body or person authorised by or under any Act, or under any order having the force of an Act, to construct, work or carry on a railway, canal, inland navigation, dock, harbour, tramway, gas, electricity, water or other public undertaking.

6. A guarantee, not being a guarantee in pursuance of a continuing arrangement, accepted by the building society with the written consent of the member, and supported by a charge upon money deposited with the society or upon any such investments as are mentioned in paragraph 4 of this Schedule.

7. A charge upon money deposited with the building society, being a charge which is given in accordance with arrangements which are approved by the Chief Registrar and which provide that the society shall also take, as further security for each advance in respect of which such a charge is given to the society, a guarantee given by an insurance company to which the Insurance Companies Act, 1958, applies.

8. A guarantee given in pursuance of a continuing arrangement which conforms to the requirements of Part I of the Fourth Schedule to this Act, being, except as otherwise provided in Part II of that Schedule, a guarantee supported by deposits of money made in pursuance of such an arrangement.

9.—(1) A guarantee given, whether in pursuance of a continuing arrangement or not, by—

- (a) a bank authorised under section fifty-nine of this Act to hold the funds of a building society, or
- (b) a company, not being such a bank and not being an insurance company to which the Insurance Companies Act, 1958, applies, but being a company incorporated in the United Kingdom and having a total issued and paid-up share capital of one million pounds or more, and having, in each of the five years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the guarantee is given, paid a dividend on all the shares issued by it, excluding any shares issued after the dividend was declared and any shares which by their terms of issue did not rank for the dividend for that year.

(2) For the purposes of the preceding sub-paragraph a company formed to take over the business of another company or other companies, or to acquire the securities of, or control of, another company or other companies, or for either of those purposes and for other purposes, shall be deemed to have paid a dividend as mentioned in that sub-paragraph in any year in which such a dividend has been paid by the other company or all the other companies, as the case may be.

Section 26.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

GUARANTEES GIVEN UNDER CONTINUING ARRANGEMENTS

PART I

General requirements

1.—(1) Subject to the provisions of Parts II and III of this Schedule, the requirements referred to in paragraph 8 of the Third Schedule to this Act, in relation to a continuing arrangement made between a building society and another person, are those set out in the following provisions of this Part of this Schedule.

(2) In this Schedule, in relation to a continuing arrangement, “the guarantor” means the person (other than the building society) with whom the arrangement is made, and “guarantee” means a guarantee given by the guarantor in pursuance of the arrangement; “the advance”, in relation to a guarantee, means the advance to which the guarantee relates; and “the purchase price”, in relation to an advance, means the purchase price for the defraying of which the advance is made.

2. The arrangement must provide that each guarantee—

- (a) will secure the repayment to the building society, on account of the principal of the advance, of a sum not less than the amount by which the advance exceeds two-thirds of the purchase price, and
- (b) will also secure the repayment to the building society of all sums which may accrue due to the society in respect of the advance (otherwise than on account of the principal thereof) before the sums repayable to the society on account of that principal have been reduced to two-thirds of the purchase price.

3. The arrangement must provide that the guarantor will not be released from his liability in respect of any guarantee until the sum repayable to the building society in respect of the principal of the advance has been reduced to or below an amount equal to two-thirds of the purchase price.

4. The arrangement must provide that the guarantor will deposit with the building society, as security for his liability in respect of each guarantee, a sum of money which in the case of the first five guarantees is at least equal to the amount of the excess advance, and in the case of each subsequent guarantee is at least equal to one-third of that amount.

5.—(1) The arrangement must provide that, subject to any right of withdrawal which may be given by the arrangement in conformity with the next following paragraph, each sum deposited with the building society as mentioned in paragraph 4 of this Schedule will be held by the society, not only as security for the liability of the guarantor in respect of the guarantee in connection with which it was deposited, but also as security for such sums as may become due to the society in respect of all relevant advances.

(2) In this paragraph, and in paragraphs 6 and 7 of this Schedule, "relevant advance", in relation to a continuing arrangement, means an advance which fulfils the following conditions, that is to say—

4TH SCH.

- (a) that the advance (whether made before or after the deposit in question) was made in pursuance of the arrangement, and
- (b) that the sums repayable in respect of the principal of the advance have not for the time being been reduced to an amount equal to two-thirds of the purchase price.

6. The arrangement must provide that no withdrawal of or from the sums deposited with the building society as mentioned in paragraph 4 of this Schedule may be made by the guarantor, unless the sums held by the society in accordance with the last preceding paragraph as security in respect of relevant advances will, after the withdrawal, be of an amount at least equal to the sum of—

- (a) the amount by which the aggregate of the sums then repayable to the building society in respect of the principal of advances to which this sub-paragraph applies exceeds two-thirds of the aggregate of the purchase prices relating to advances to which this sub-paragraph applies, and
- (b) one-third of the amount by which the aggregate of the sums then repayable to the society in respect of the principal of advances to which this sub-paragraph applies exceeds an amount equal to two-thirds of the aggregate of the purchase prices relating to advances to which this sub-paragraph applies.

7. For the purposes of the application of the last preceding paragraph to the withdrawal of any sum deposited in pursuance of a continuing arrangement—

- (a) sub-paragraph (a) of that paragraph applies to such of the relevant advances as were included in the first five advances made by the building society in pursuance of the arrangement, and
- (b) sub-paragraph (b) of that paragraph applies to such of the relevant advances as were not so included.

PART II

Exemption from certain requirements in the case of continuing arrangements with government departments and other bodies

8. The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall have effect where a building society proposes to make a continuing arrangement with a government department, a public utility undertaking or a recognised housing society.

9.—(1) If on the application of the building society the Chief Registrar is satisfied that compliance with the requirements of paragraphs 4 to 7 of this Schedule is wholly or partly unnecessary, the Chief Registrar may, with the approval of the Treasury, direct that all or any of those requirements shall be dispensed with.

(2) Where a direction is given under this paragraph, the provisions of Part I of this Schedule shall apply in relation to the arrangement subject to that direction.

4TH SCH. 10. In this Part of this Schedule "public utility undertaking" has the same meaning as in paragraph 5 of the Third Schedule to this Act, and "recognised housing society" means any body of persons (whether incorporated or not) which, in the opinion of the Chief Registrar,—

- (a) was on the relevant date carrying on business mainly for the purpose of facilitating the acquisition of houses by persons engaged or employed in any particular occupation or employment, or
- (b) if formed after the relevant date, has succeeded to the business which on the relevant date was being carried on by a body as mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph.

In this paragraph "the relevant date" means the first day of November, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine.

PART III

Modification of requirements in certain other cases

11. Where the Minister is satisfied, with respect to a body corporate,—

- (a) that its objects include the improvement of standards of building ;
- (b) that it issues certificates in respect of buildings which appear to it to conform to such standards as, in the opinion of the Minister, justify the exercise in relation to that body of the powers conferred on him by this paragraph ;
- (c) that reasonable safeguards and remedies are provided with a view to securing that every building in respect of which it issues a certificate conforms to those standards ; and
- (d) that it has made reasonable arrangements for indemnification against loss suffered by reason that a building in respect of which it has issued a certificate does not conform to those standards, the Minister may, with the consent of the Treasury, by order approve that body for the purposes of this Part of this Schedule.

12. In this Part of this Schedule "certified building" means a building in respect of which such a certificate as is mentioned in the last preceding paragraph has been issued by a body corporate approved by an order under that paragraph which was in force at the time when the certificate was issued.

13.—(1) Where a continuing arrangement provides that every guarantee given in pursuance of the arrangement shall relate to an advance made on the security of freehold or leasehold estate which comprises certified buildings, and comprises no other buildings except outhouses, the provisions of Part I of this Schedule shall have effect in relation to that arrangement subject to the modifications specified in the next following sub-paragraph.

(2) The said modifications are as follows :—

- (a) in paragraphs 2, 3, 5 and 6 of this Schedule, for the words "two-thirds" wherever they occur there shall be substituted the words "seventy per cent." ;

- (b) in paragraph 4 of this Schedule, for the word "five" there shall be substituted the word "four", and for the words "one-third" there shall be substituted the words "one-fourth";
- (c) in paragraph 7 of this Schedule, for the word "five" there shall be substituted the word "four".

4TH SCH.

14. Any order made under this Part of this Schedule may be revoked by a further order made by the Minister with the consent of the Treasury.

15. In this Part of this Schedule "the Minister" in relation to England and Wales means the Minister of Health, and in relation to Scotland means the Secretary of State.

FIFTH SCHEDULE

Section 32.

PERMITTED CLASSES OF PRIOR CHARGES

1.—(1) Any charge over land in Great Britain acquired by a local authority under an Act of Parliament or under an instrument made under an Act of Parliament, being a charge which takes effect by virtue of the Act or instrument.

(2) In this paragraph "local authority"—

- (a) in relation to England and Wales, means any authority being, within the meaning of the Local Loans Act, 1875, an authority having power to levy a rate, and
- (b) in relation to Scotland, means a county council, town council or district council, or any authority, commissioners or trustees to whom section two hundred and seventy of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, applies.

2. Any charge over land in Northern Ireland required by section two of the Statutory Charges Register Act (Northern Ireland), 1951, to be registered in the statutory charges register.

Section 130.

EIGHTH SCHEDULE

MODIFICATIONS OF ACT IN RELATION TO EXISTING SOCIETIES

Contents of rules

1. Subsection (1) of section four of this Act shall not operate so as to require the rules of a building society established before the twenty-fifth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, to set out the matters specified in paragraphs (b) to (j) of that subsection, if the society has not (either before or after the commencement of this Act) substituted a new set of rules for the rules which it had in force immediately before that day.

2. In the case of a building society established before the second day of November, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, subsection (1) of section four of this Act shall not require the rules to set out any of the matters specified in paragraph (a) or in paragraphs (k) to (q) of that subsection.

3.—(1) If and so far as a building society incorporated before the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty,—

(a) had not, before the end of the year nineteen hundred and sixty-one, provided in its rules for a matter specified in subsection (2) of section four of this Act, and

- (b) has not subsequently (but before the commencement of this Act) altered its rules so as to provide for that matter and so as expressly to exclude the relevant provisions of the Fourth Schedule to the Building Societies Act, 1960 (which contained provisions corresponding to those of the Ninth Schedule to this Act),

8TH SCH.

the provisions of the Ninth Schedule to this Act shall (subject to the next following sub-paragraph) have effect, with respect to any meeting of the society, as if they formed part of the society's rules.

(2) Where, in a case falling within the preceding sub-paragraph, the building society has (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) provided by its rules for the matter in question, the society may also by its rules expressly exclude the relevant provisions of the Ninth Schedule to this Act.

Advances on mortgage

4.—(1) Section twenty-eight of this Act—

(a) shall not have effect with respect to any advance made before the first day of November, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine, and

(b) in relation to any advance made on or after that day, but before the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, shall have effect as if the proviso to subsection (1) and the proviso to subsection (3) of that section had been omitted.

(2) Subject to the preceding sub-paragraph, section twenty-eight of this Act shall have effect in relation to an advance made before as it has effect in relation to an advance made after the commencement of this Act.

5. Section thirty-five of this Act does not apply to a building society established before the twenty-fifth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.

6.—(1) Where the rules of such a building society provide that advances may be balloted for, the society may, in accordance with the following provisions of this paragraph, resolve upon a scheme for discontinuing advances by ballot and for making other provision in lieu thereof.

(2) Any such resolution shall have effect (notwithstanding anything in the rules of the society) if, but only if, it is passed by a majority of the members of the society voting in person or by proxy or by voting papers at a meeting called for the purpose, and if the scheme is supported by a majority of such of the members voting in person or by proxy or by voting papers at the meeting as have not at the date of the meeting received their advances by ballot.

(3) A notice of any such meeting, and a copy of the proposed scheme, together with a voting paper, shall be sent by post to every member of the society at least twenty-one days before the date of the meeting.

(4) Every scheme so resolved upon, and every alteration of such a scheme, shall be registered in the manner provided by this Act

O

8TH SCH. for the registration of rules, and shall be binding on all members and officers of the building society.

Members or depositors dying intestate

7. Section forty-six of this Act shall have effect with respect to persons who died before as it has effect in relation to persons who die after the commencement of this Act, except that, in relation to any person who died before the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty, that section shall have effect with the substitution, for the words "one hundred pounds", of the words "fifty pounds".

Special powers of control in relation to small societies

8.—(1) In the case of a building society established within the period of three years ending with the thirtieth day of September, nineteen hundred and sixty, the Chief Registrar shall not serve on the society a notice under section fifty-five of this Act at any time within three years from the date on which it was established.

(2) In relation to such a building society, the preceding subparagraph shall have effect in substitution for subsection (1) of section fifty-six of this Act.

Annual return of certain transactions

9. In relation to any return sent to the central office under subsection (2) of section thirteen of the Building Societies Act, 1939 (which made provision for a return to the central office corresponding to that required by subsection (1) of section ninety of this Act to be sent to the Chief Registrar), the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of section ninety of this Act shall have effect, but as if in subsection (3) of that section the reference to the Chief Registrar were a reference to the central office.

Liability of officers and auditors

10. In respect of anything done at a time before the first day of May, nineteen hundred and forty, nothing in subsection (1) of section ninety-two of this Act shall deprive a person of any exemption or right to be indemnified by virtue of a provision to which that section applies, if that provision was in force at that time.

Financial year

11. In the case of a building society established before the twenty-fifth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.—

(a) if, before the commencement of this Act, the society has altered its financial year in the exercise of the power conferred by subsection (2) of section seventy of the Building Societies Act, 1960 (which contained provisions corresponding to those of subsection (2) of section one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act), "financial year" shall have the meaning assigned to it by section one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act and shall also (so far as may be relevant for the purposes of this Act) include the period for which the society made up its accounts in the exercise of that power;

- (b) if, after the commencement of this Act, the society exercises the power conferred by subsection (2) of section one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act, "financial year" shall have the meaning assigned to it by that section (including subsection (2) thereof) in relation to the period mentioned in that subsection and in relation to any subsequent period ;
- (c) subject to the preceding provisions of this paragraph, "financial year" means a period of twelve months ending with the time up to which, at the passing of the Building Societies Act, 1960 (that is to say, on the twenty-ninth day of July, nineteen hundred and sixty), the accounts of the society were annually made up.

8TH SCH.

Interpretation

12. Any reference in any provision of this Schedule to a building society established before a date therein mentioned is a reference to a society established before that date which either was established as a building society within the meaning of this Act or has (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) become such a building society.

NINTH SCHEDULE

Section 130.

STANDARD RULES FOR MEETINGS OF BUILDING SOCIETIES

Annual general meeting and other meetings

1.—(1) The society shall in the first four months of each financial year hold a meeting as its annual general meeting in addition to any other meetings in that year, and shall specify the meeting as such in the notices calling it ; and the annual general meeting shall be held at such time and place as the directors shall appoint.

(2) The directors of the society may, whenever they think fit, convene a meeting other than the annual general meeting.

Right to requisition a meeting

2.—(1) The directors of the society shall, on the requisition of a number of members of the society which is not less than one-tenth of the total membership, or, if the society has more than one thousand members, on the requisition of one hundred or more members, forthwith proceed duly to convene a meeting of the society.

(2) The requisition must state the objects of the meeting, and must be signed by the requisitionists and deposited at the chief office of the society, and may consist of several documents in like form each signed by one or more requisitionists.

(3) If the directors do not within twenty-one days from the date of the deposit of the requisition proceed duly to convene a meeting, the requisitionists, or any proportion of them exceeding one-half, may themselves convene a meeting, but any meeting so convened shall not be held after the expiration of three months from the said date.

9TH SCH

(4) The meeting convened under this rule by the requisitionists shall be convened in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which meetings are convened by the directors.

(5) Any reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists by reason of the failure of the directors duly to convene a meeting shall be repaid to the requisitionists by the society, and any sum so repaid shall be retained by the society out of any sums owed to or coming from the society to such of the directors as were in default by way of fees or other remuneration in respect of their services.

(6) The society or, as the case may be, the requisitionists shall give the members of the society notice of any resolution which the requisitionists propose to move at the meeting at the same time and in the same manner as notice is given of the meeting.

Form of notice of meeting

3. Notice of a meeting of the society shall specify the place, the day and the hour of meeting and the nature of the business to be transacted at the meeting.

Service of notices of meetings and resolutions

4.—(1) A notice may be given by the society to any member by sending it by post to him or to his registered address, or (if he has no registered address within the United Kingdom) to the address, if any, within the United Kingdom supplied by him to the society for the giving of notice to him.

Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying and posting a letter containing the notice, and to have been effected, in the case of a notice of a meeting, at the expiration of twenty-four hours after the letter containing it is posted, and in any other case at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

(2) A notice may be given by the society to the joint holders of a share by giving the notice to the joint holder first named in the books of the society in respect of the share.

(3) A notice may be given by the society to the persons entitled to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a member by sending it through the post in a prepaid letter addressed to them by name, or by the title of representatives of the deceased, or trustee of the bankrupt, or by any like description, at the address, if any, within the United Kingdom supplied for the purpose by the persons claiming to be so entitled, or (until such an address has been so supplied) by giving the notice in any manner in which it might have been given if the death or bankruptcy had not occurred.

Procedure at meetings

9TH SCH

5.—(1) No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business; save as herein otherwise provided, five members present in person shall be a quorum.

(2) If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved; in any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place or to such other day and at such other time and place as the directors may determine, and if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting, the members present shall be a quorum.

(3) The chairman, if any, of the board of directors shall preside as chairman at every meeting of the society, or if there is no such chairman, or if he shall not be present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for the holding of the meeting, or is unwilling to act, the directors present shall elect one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

(4) If at any meeting no director is willing to act as chairman or if no director is present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present shall choose one of their number to be the chairman of the meeting.

(5) The chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting), adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting is adjourned for thirty days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

(6) At any meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded—

(a) by the chairman, or

(b) by at least ten members present in person or by proxy.

Unless a poll be so demanded a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has on a show of hands been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book containing the minutes of the proceedings of the society, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against the resolution.

The demand for a poll may be withdrawn.

9TH SCH

(7) If a resolution put to the vote of the meeting is a resolution which under the Building Societies Act, 1962, will not be effective unless it is passed as a special resolution, a poll shall be deemed to have been demanded by the chairman.

6.—(1) Except as provided in the following provisions of this rule, if a poll is duly demanded it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

(2) In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place, or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

(3) A poll demanded on the election of a chairman or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs, and any business other than that upon which a poll has been demanded may be proceeded with pending the taking of the poll.

Votes of members

7.—(1) On a show of hands every member present in person shall have one vote.

(2) On a poll on a resolution which under the Building Societies Act, 1962, will not be effective unless it is passed as a special resolution, every member shall have one vote.

(3) On a poll on any other resolution a member who at the end of the last financial year ending before the date of the meeting held shares in the building society to the value of twenty-five pounds or more shall have such number of votes as is indicated in the following Table.

TABLE

| Where the member holds shares to the value of— | Number of votes |
|------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| £25 or more but not more than £100 ... ..      | One vote        |
| More than £100 but not more than £200 ... ..   | Two votes       |
| More than £200 but not more than £300 ... ..   | Three votes     |
| More than £300 but not more than £400 ... ..   | Four votes      |
| More than £400... ..                           | Five votes      |

For the purpose of this rule any shares which are fully paid up shall be taken at their nominal value and any shares which are partly paid up shall be taken at the amount which has been paid up on them respectively.

(4) No objection shall be raised to the qualification of any voter except at the meeting or adjourned meeting at which the vote objected to is given or tendered, and every vote not disallowed at such meeting shall be valid for all purposes. Any such objection made in due time shall be referred to the chairman of the meeting, whose decision shall be final and conclusive.

(5) On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

8.—(1) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointer or of his attorney duly authorised in writing, or, if the appointer is a corporation, either under seal or under the hand of an officer or attorney duly authorised. A proxy need not be a member of the society.

(2) The instrument appointing a proxy, and the power of attorney or other authority, if any, under which it is signed, or a notarially certified copy of that power or authority, shall be deposited at the chief office of the society, or at such other place within the United Kingdom as is specified for that purpose in the notice convening the meeting, not less than forty-eight hours before the time for holding the meeting, or adjourned meeting, at which the person named in the instrument proposes to vote, or, in the case of a poll, not less than twenty-four hours before the time appointed for the taking of the poll, and in default the instrument of proxy shall not be treated as valid.

(3) An instrument appointing a proxy shall be in the following form or a form as near thereto as circumstances admit—

“ Building Society

I/We _____ of _____ in the county of _____, being a member/members of the above-named society, hereby appoint _____ of _____, or failing him, of _____, as my/our proxy to vote for me/us on my/our behalf at the meeting of the society to be held on the day of _____, 19 _____, and at any adjournment thereof.

Signed this _____ day of _____, 19 _____.”

(4) Where it is desired to afford members an opportunity of voting for or against a resolution, the instrument appointing a proxy shall be in the following form or a form as near thereto as circumstances admit—

“ Building Society

I/We _____ of _____ in the county of _____, being a member/members of the above-named society, hereby appoint _____ of _____, or failing him, of _____, as my/our proxy to vote for me/us on

9TH SCH

my/our behalf at the meeting of the society to be held on the day of . 19 . and at any adjournment thereof.

Signed this day of . 19 .

This form is to be used * in favour of the resolution. Unless against otherwise instructed, the proxy will vote as he thinks fit.

* Strike out whichever is not desired."

(5) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deemed to confer authority to demand or join in demanding a poll.

(6) A vote given in accordance with the terms of an instrument of proxy shall be valid notwithstanding the previous death or insanity of the principal or the revocation of the proxy or of the authority under which the proxy was executed, or the transfer of the share in respect of which the proxy is given, provided that no intimation in writing of such death, insanity, revocation or transfer as aforesaid shall have been received by the society at its office before the commencement of the meeting or adjourned meeting at which the proxy is used.

Joint shareholders

9.—(1) A joint holding of shares in the society shall not give to any of the joint holders, other than the one who is first named in the books of the society, the right to attend a meeting or any right conferred by these rules on a member.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions of this rule, any shares which are held jointly shall, for the purpose of determining which members are qualified to vote, whether in person or by proxy, on any resolution, and the number of votes they may give, be regarded as held by the joint holder who is first named in the books of the society.

(3) Any reference in these rules to the total membership of the society, or to any number of members of the society, shall be read as if any shares held jointly were held by the joint holder so first named.

Corporations acting by representatives at meetings

10. Any corporation which is a member of the society may by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise such person as it thinks fit to act as its representative at any meeting of the society or of any class of members of the society, and the person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the corporation which he represents as that corporation could exercise if it were an individual member of the society.

2.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the council Local planning of a county is the local planning authority for the county, and authorities the council of a county borough is the local planning authority and committees. for the county borough.

(2) If it appears to the Minister that it is expedient that a joint board should be established as the local planning authority for the areas of any two or more such councils as are mentioned in the preceding subsection, or for any parts of those areas, he may by order constitute those areas or parts as a united district for the purposes of this Act, and constitute a joint board (in this Act referred to as a "joint planning board") as the local planning authority for that district:

Provided that the Minister shall not make such an order except after holding a local inquiry unless all the councils concerned have consented to the making of the order.

(3) The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the constitution of joint planning boards; and the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the establishment and functions of planning committees and joint advisory committees of local planning authorities.

PART I

(4) Where a joint planning board is constituted for a united district, references in this Act to the area of a local planning authority—

(a) in relation to the board, shall be construed as references to that district, and

(b) in relation to any local planning authority being the council of a county or county borough of which part (but not the whole) is included in that district, shall be construed as references to so much of the county or county borough as is not so included.

(5) Regulations under this Act may make such provision consequential upon or supplementary to the provisions of this section as appears to the Minister to be necessary or expedient.

(6) The preceding provisions of this section, and the provisions of the First and Second Schedules to this Act, shall have effect subject to the provisions of section eight of the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act, 1949 (which relates to the administration of functions of local planning authorities in respect of National Parks).

Delegation of functions of local planning authorities.

3.—(1) The Minister may, after consultation with such local authorities or associations of local authorities as he considers appropriate, make regulations for authorising or requiring local planning authorities to delegate to the councils of county districts in their areas, with or without restrictions, any of their functions under the provisions of this Act specified in the next following subsection; and such regulations may be made so as to apply either generally to all local planning authorities (other than the councils of county boroughs) or to such of those authorities as may be specified in the regulations.

(2) The provisions referred to in the preceding subsection are Parts III and IV and section one hundred and eighty of this Act.

(3) In relation to a local planning authority being a joint planning board, subsection (1) of this section shall have effect as if the reference therein to the councils of county districts in their area included a reference to the councils of counties and county boroughs therein.

(4) Any regulations made for the purposes of this section may make provision—

(a) for requiring any council to whom functions are delegated in accordance with the regulations to perform those functions on behalf of the local planning authority;

(b) for transferring to any such council any liability of the local planning authority to pay compensation under Part VII, or under section one hundred and thirty-four or paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy, of this Act in respect of anything done by that council in the exercise of functions delegated to them in accordance with the regulations ;

PART I

(c) for the transfer and compensation of any officers of a local planning authority or of any such council.

(5) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (3) of section eight of the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act, 1949 (which provides for the delegation of functions to planning committees and sub-committees for National Parks).

(6) In relation to any functions under this Act delegated to a council by a local planning authority, any reference in the provisions specified in subsection (2) of this section, or in section two hundred and ten or subsection (4) of section two hundred and twenty-one of this Act, to the local planning authority shall (subject to the regulations and the terms of the delegation, and so far as the context does not otherwise require) be construed as including a reference to that council ; and in relation to any compensation payable by a council, by virtue of the transfer under this section to that council of any liability of the local planning authority, any reference in this Act to the local planning authority shall be construed as a reference to that council.

PART II

DEVELOPMENT PLANS

4.—(1) Any local planning authority who have not submitted to the Minister a development plan for their area shall carry out a survey of their area and shall, within such period as the Minister may in any particular case allow, submit a report of the survey together with a development plan for their area. Surveys of planning area and preparation of development plans.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, in this Act “development plan” means a plan indicating the manner in which a local planning authority propose that land in their area should be used, whether by the carrying out thereon of development or otherwise, and the stages by which any such development should be carried out.

(3) Subject to the provisions of any regulations made under this Act for regulating the form and content of development plans, any such plan shall include such maps and such descriptive matter as may be necessary to illustrate the proposals in question with such degree of particularity as may be appropriate to different parts of the area ; and any such plan may in particular—

- (a) define the sites of proposed roads, public and other buildings and works, airfields, parks, pleasure grounds, nature reserves and other open spaces, or allocate areas of land for use for agricultural, residential, industrial or other purposes of any class specified in the plan ;
- (b) designate, as land subject to compulsory acquisition by a Minister, local authority or statutory undertakers,

PART II

any land allocated by the plan for the purposes of any of their functions (including any land which that Minister or authority or those undertakers are or could be authorised to acquire compulsorily under any enactment other than this Act) ;

(c) designate as land subject to compulsory acquisition by the appropriate local authority—

(i) any land comprised in an area defined by the plan as an area of comprehensive development (including any land therein which is allocated by the plan for any such purpose as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of this subsection) or any land contiguous or adjacent to any such area ;

(ii) any other land which, in the opinion of the local planning authority, ought to be subject to compulsory acquisition for the purpose of securing its use in the manner proposed by the plan.

(4) For the purposes of this section, a development plan may define as an area of comprehensive development any area which, in the opinion of the local planning authority, should be developed or redeveloped as a whole for any one or more of the following purposes, that is to say—

(a) for the purposes of dealing satisfactorily with extensive war damage or conditions of bad lay-out or obsolete development, or

(b) for the purpose of providing for the relocation of population or industry or the replacement of open space in the course of the development or redevelopment of any other area, or

(c) for any other purpose specified in the plan ;

and land may be included in any area so defined, and designated as subject to compulsory acquisition in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding subsection, whether or not provision is made by the plan for the development or redevelopment of that particular land.

(5) At any time before a development plan with respect to the whole of the area of a local planning authority has been approved by the Minister, that authority may, with the consent of the Minister, and shall, if so required by directions of the Minister, prepare and submit to him a development plan relating to part of that area ; and the preceding provisions of this section shall apply in relation to any such plan as they apply in relation to a plan relating to the whole of the area of a local planning authority.

Approval of development plans.

5.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Minister may approve any development plan submitted to him under the last preceding section, either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient.

PART II

(2) The Minister shall not approve a development plan which designates any land as subject to compulsory acquisition if it appears to him that the acquisition is not likely to take place within ten years from the date on which the plan is approved.

(3) The Minister shall not, except with the consent of all persons interested, approve a development plan subject to a modification designating as subject to compulsory acquisition any land not so designated in the plan as submitted to him.

(4) Where a development plan as submitted to the Minister designates as subject to compulsory acquisition any such land as is mentioned in paragraph 9 of the First Schedule to the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946 (which relates to land of local authorities and statutory undertakers and inalienable land of the National Trust), then, if objection to the proposed designation is duly made by the local authority or statutory undertakers or the National Trust, as the case may be, and is not withdrawn, the land shall not be so designated except in pursuance of an order made by the Minister, and any such order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(5) In relation to agricultural land within the meaning of the Rating and Valuation (Apportionment) Act, 1928, subsection (2) of this section shall have effect as if for the words "ten years" there were substituted the words "seven years".

6.—(1) At least once in every five years after the date on which a development plan for any area was approved by the Minister, the local planning authority shall carry out a fresh survey of that area, and submit to the Minister a report of the survey, together with proposals for any alterations or additions to the plan which appear to them to be required having regard thereto. Amendment of development
plans.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of the preceding subsection, any local planning authority may at any time, and shall if so required by directions of the Minister, submit to the Minister proposals for such alterations or additions to the development plan for their area or any part thereof as appear to them to be expedient, or as may be required by those directions, as the case may be.

(3) Subject to the next following subsection, where proposals for alterations or additions to a development plan are submitted to the Minister under this section, the Minister may amend that plan to such extent as he considers expedient having regard to those proposals and to any other material considerations; and any such amendment may in particular provide for securing that any land previously designated by the plan as subject to compulsory acquisition shall cease to be so designated, or that any land not previously so designated shall be so designated.

(4) Subsections (2) to (5) of the last preceding section shall apply in relation to the amendment of a development plan as

PART II they apply in relation to the approval of such a plan, with the substitution—

- (a) in subsection (2) of that section, for the reference to the date on which the plan is approved, of a reference to the date on which the amendment is effected, and
- (b) in subsections (3) and (4) of that section, for the references to the plan as submitted to the Minister, of references to the proposals submitted to him under this section.

(5) Where in accordance with the provisions of subsection (5) of section four of this Act a development plan has been prepared for part of the area of a local planning authority, and has been approved by the Minister, then (without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section) the periods of five years mentioned in subsection (1) of this section shall run from the date on which development plans in respect of the whole of the area have been approved by the Minister.

Additional powers of Minister with respect to development plans.

7.—(1) Where, by virtue of any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, or of any directions of the Minister thereunder, any development plan, report or proposals for alterations or additions to a development plan are required to be submitted to the Minister, then—

- (a) if within the period allowed in that behalf under those provisions or directions no such plan, report or proposals, or no such plan or proposals satisfactory to the Minister, have been so submitted, or
- (b) if at any time the Minister is satisfied, after holding a local inquiry, that the local planning authority are not taking the steps necessary to enable them to submit such a plan, report or proposals within that period, the Minister may, after carrying out any survey which appears to him to be expedient for the purpose, make such development plan, or, as the case may be, amend the development plan to such extent, as he considers expedient.

(2) Where, under the preceding subsection, the Minister has power to make or amend a development plan, he may, if he thinks fit, authorise the local planning authority for any neighbouring area, or any other local planning authority which appears to the Minister to have an interest in the proper planning of the area concerned, to submit such a plan to him for his approval, or, as the case may be, to submit to him proposals for the amendment of the plan, and to carry out any survey of the land which appears to him to be expedient for the purpose.

(3) The Minister may approve any plan submitted to him under the last preceding subsection, either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient, or, as the case may be, may amend any development plan, with respect to which proposals for amendment have been submitted to him under that subsection, to such extent as he considers expedient having regard to those proposals and to any other material considerations.

(4) The preceding provisions of this Part of this Act shall, so far as applicable, apply to the making, approval or amendment of development plans under this section, and to plans so made, approved or amended, as they apply to the approval or amendment of development plans under those provisions, and to plans approved or amended thereunder.

(5) Where the Minister incurs expenses under this section in connection with the making or amendment of a plan with respect to the area, or any part of the area, of a local planning authority, so much of those expenses as may be certified by the Minister to have been incurred in the performance of functions of that authority shall on demand be repaid by that authority to the Minister.

(6) Where, under this section, a plan, or proposals for the amendment of a plan, are authorised to be submitted to the Minister by the local planning authority for any area other than the area in which the land is situated, any expenses reasonably incurred in that behalf by that authority, as certified by the Minister, shall be repaid to that authority by the local planning authority for the area in which the land is situated.

8.—(1) Where the Minister of Transport—

- (a) makes an order under section seven of the Highways Act, 1959, directing that a highway proposed to be constructed by him shall become a trunk road, or
- (b) makes or confirms an order or scheme under section nine, section eleven or section thirteen of that Act,

Incorporation in development plans of orders and schemes relating to highways and new towns.

any development plan approved or made under this Act which relates to land on which a highway is to be constructed or altered in accordance with that order or scheme shall have effect as if the provisions of that order or scheme were included in the plan.

(2) Where an order is made by the Minister under section one of the New Towns Act, 1946, designating an area as the site of a new town under that Act, any development plan approved or made under this Act which relates to land in that area shall have effect as if the provisions of that order were included in the plan.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting the inclusion in a development plan, as approved or made by the Minister or as for the time being amended, of provisions—

- (a) defining the line of a highway proposed to be constructed or altered in accordance with any such order or scheme as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, or

PART II

- (b) defining an area designated as the site of a new town by any such order as is mentioned in subsection (2) of this section, or
- (c) defining land as likely to be made the subject of any such order or scheme as is mentioned in either of those subsections.

(4) Provision may be made by regulations under this Act for enabling any proceedings preliminary to the making of any such order as is mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section, or in subsection (2) thereof, to be taken concurrently with proceedings required under this Act to be taken in connection with the approval or making of a development plan relating to land to which any such order applies, or in connection with any amendment of a development plan rendered necessary or desirable in consequence of any such order.

Modification of development plans in relation to land designated as subject to compulsory acquisition.

9.—(1) Where any land is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition, and, at the end of the period of twelve years from the date on which the plan, or the amendment of the plan, by virtue of which the land was first so designated came into operation, any of that land has not been acquired by a Minister, local authority or statutory undertakers who could be authorised to acquire it compulsorily under the provisions of this Act, any owner of the land may, within the prescribed time and in the prescribed manner, serve on the local planning authority a notice requiring his interest in the land to be so acquired.

(2) Where a notice has been served under the preceding subsection, then, unless within the period of six months after the service of the notice either—

- (a) notice to treat in respect of the interest to which the notice relates has been served by any such Minister, local authority or statutory undertakers as are mentioned in that subsection, or
- (b) an offer has been made to the owner of the interest by any such Minister, local authority or statutory undertakers to acquire it on terms that the price payable for it shall be equal to (and shall be determined, in default of agreement, in like manner as) the compensation which would be payable in respect of that interest if it were acquired compulsorily, the development plan shall have effect, after the end of that period, as if the land were not designated as subject to compulsory acquisition.

(3) The power conferred by section thirty-one of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, to withdraw a notice to treat shall not be exercisable in the case of a notice to treat which is served as mentioned in paragraph (a) of the last preceding subsection.

(4) Where any land is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition by the appropriate local authority (not being land comprised in an area defined by the plan as an area of comprehensive development) then if planning permission is granted for any development of the land so designated, or any part thereof, and that development is carried out in accordance with the permission so granted, the development plan shall have effect as if the land to which the permission relates were not designated as subject to compulsory acquisition:

Provided that, in the case of planning permission granted for a limited period, the provisions of this subsection shall cease to have effect in relation to the land at the end of the period for which the permission was granted.

(5) In relation to agricultural land within the meaning of the Rating and Valuation (Apportionment) Act, 1928, subsection (1) of this section shall have effect as if for the words "twelve years" there were substituted the words "eight years".

10.—(1) A local planning authority, before preparing a development plan relating to any land in a county district, or proposals for alterations or additions to any such plan, shall consult with the council of that district, and shall, before submitting any such plan or proposals to the Minister, give to that council an opportunity to make representations with respect thereto and shall consider any representations so made.

Supplementary provisions
as to development
plans.

(2) Provision may be made by regulations under this Act with respect to the form and content of development plans, and with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with the preparation, submission, approval, making and amendment of such plans; and such regulations shall in particular make provision for securing—

- (a) that notice shall be given by advertisement in the London Gazette, and in at least one newspaper circulating in the area concerned, of the submission to the Minister of any such plan, or of proposals for the amendment of any such plan, and of any proposal by the Minister to make or amend such a plan, and of the place or places where copies of the plan or proposals as so submitted, or of any such proposal of the Minister, may be inspected;
- (b) that objections and representations duly made in accordance with the regulations shall be considered, and that such local inquiries or other hearings as may be prescribed shall be held, before such a plan is approved, made or amended by the Minister; and
- (c) that copies of any such plan as approved or made by the Minister, including any amendments thereof, shall be available for inspection by the public, and that copies thereof (including reproductions, on such scale as may be appropriate, of any relevant maps) shall be available for sale to the public at a reasonable cost.

PART II

(3) If, as the result of any objections or representations considered, or local inquiry or other hearing held, in connection with a development plan or proposals for amendment of such a plan submitted to or prepared by the Minister under this Part of this Act, the Minister is of opinion that the local planning authority, or any other authority or person, ought to be consulted before he decides whether to approve or make the plan, either with or without modifications, or to amend the plan, as the case may be, he shall consult that authority or person, but shall not be under any obligation to consult any other authority or person, or to afford any opportunity for further objections or representations, or to cause any further local inquiry or other hearing to be held.

(4) Subject to the preceding provisions of this section, the Minister may give directions to any local planning authority, or to local planning authorities generally,—

- (a) for formulating the procedure for the carrying out of their functions under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act ;
- (b) for requiring them to give him such information as he may require for the purpose of the exercise of any of his functions under those provisions.

(5) In the application of the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945, to any order made in pursuance of subsection (4) of section five of this Act, any requirements imposed by regulations under this section with respect to the publication of notices and the consideration of objections in relation to the development plan shall be deemed, for the purposes of section two of that Act, to be requirements with respect to proceedings preliminary to the making of the order.

Publication, and date of operation, of development plans.

11.—(1) Immediately after a development plan has been approved or made or amended by the Minister under this Part of this Act, the local planning authority shall publish, in such manner as may be prescribed, a notice stating that the plan has been approved, made or amended, as the case may be, and naming a place where a copy of the plan, or of the plan as amended, may be seen at all reasonable hours, and shall serve a like notice—

- (a) on any person who duly made an objection to, or representation with respect to, the proposed plan or amendment, and has sent to the local planning authority a request in writing to serve him with the notice required by this subsection, specifying an address for service, and
- (b) on such other persons (if any) as may be required by general or special directions given by the Minister.

PART II

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, and to the provisions of Part XI of this Act as to the validity of development plans and of amendments of such plans, a development plan, or an amendment of a development plan, shall become operative on the date on which the notice required by the preceding subsection is first published.

(3) Where in accordance with subsection (4) of section five of this Act any land to which a development plan relates is designated as subject to compulsory acquisition in pursuance of an order which is subject to special parliamentary procedure, the last preceding subsection shall not apply to the plan in so far as it so designates that land.

PART III

PLANNING CONTROL

Planning permission

12.—(1) In this Act, except where the context otherwise requires, “development”, subject to the following provisions of this section, means the carrying out of building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land, or the making of any material change in the use of any buildings or other land.

Meaning of “development” and “new development”.

(2) The following operations or uses of land shall not be taken for the purposes of this Act to involve development of the land, that is to say:—

- (a) the carrying out of works for the maintenance, improvement or other alteration of any building, being works which affect only the interior of the building or which do not materially affect the external appearance of the building and (in either case) are not works for making good war damage;
- (b) the carrying out by a local highway authority of any works required for the maintenance or improvement of a road, being works carried out on land within the boundaries of the road;
- (c) the carrying out by a local authority or statutory undertakers of any works for the purpose of inspecting, repairing or renewing any sewers, mains, pipes, cables or other apparatus, including the breaking open of any street or other land for that purpose;
- (d) the use of any buildings or other land within the curtilage of a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse as such;
- (e) the use of any land for the purposes of agriculture or forestry (including afforestation) and the use for any of those purposes of any building occupied together with land so used;

PART III

(f) in the case of buildings or other land which are used for a purpose of any class specified in an order made by the Minister under this section, the use thereof for any other purpose of the same class.

(3) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that for the purposes of this section—

(a) the use as two or more separate dwellinghouses of any building previously used as a single dwellinghouse involves a material change in the use of the building and of each part thereof which is so used ;

(b) the deposit of refuse or waste materials on land involves a material change in the use thereof, notwithstanding that the land is comprised in a site already used for that purpose, if either the superficial area of the deposit is thereby extended, or the height of the deposit is thereby extended and exceeds the level of the land adjoining the site.

(4) Without prejudice to any regulations made under the provisions of this Act relating to the control of advertisements, the use for the display of advertisements of any external part of a building which is not normally used for that purpose shall be treated for the purposes of this section as involving a material change in the use of that part of the building.

(5) In this Act “ new development ” means any development other than development of a class specified in Part I or Part II of the Third Schedule to this Act ; and the provisions of Part III of that Schedule shall have effect for the purposes of Parts I and II thereof.

Development
requiring planning permission.

13.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, planning permission is required for the carrying out of any development of land.

(2) Where on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight (in this Act referred to as “ the appointed day ”), land was being used temporarily for a purpose other than the purpose for which it was normally used, planning permission is not required for the resumption of the use of the land for the last-mentioned purpose.

(3) Where on the appointed day land was normally used for one purpose and was also used on occasions, whether at regular intervals or not, for another purpose, planning permission is not required in respect of the use of the land for that other purpose on similar occasions.

(4) Where land was unoccupied on the appointed day, but had before that day been occupied at some time on or after the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, planning permission is not required in respect of the use of the land for the purpose for which it was last used before the appointed day.

(5) Where planning permission to develop land has been granted for a limited period, planning permission is not required for the resumption, at the end of that period, of the use of the land for the purpose for which it was normally used before the permission was granted.

(6) In determining, for the purposes of subsections (2) and (4) of this section respectively, what were the purposes for which land was normally used or last used, no account shall be taken of any use of the land begun in contravention of previous planning control; and in determining, for the purposes of the last preceding subsection, what were the purposes for which land was normally used before the grant of planning permission, no account shall be taken of any use of the land begun in contravention of the provisions of this Part of this Act or in contravention of previous planning control.

(7) Notwithstanding anything in subsections (2) to (4) of this section, the use of land as a caravan site shall not, by virtue of any of those subsections, be treated as a use for which planning permission is not required, unless the land was so used on one occasion at least during the period of two years ending with the ninth day of March, nineteen hundred and sixty.

(8) Where by a development order planning permission to develop land has been granted subject to limitations, planning permission is not required for the use of that land which (apart from its use in accordance with that permission) is the normal use of that land, unless the last-mentioned use was begun in contravention of the provisions of this Part of this Act or in contravention of previous planning control.

(9) Where an enforcement notice has been served in respect of any development of land, planning permission is not required for the use of that land for the purpose for which (in accordance with the provisions of this Part of this Act) it could lawfully have been used if that development had not been carried out.

(10) For the purposes of this section a use of land shall be taken to have been begun in contravention of previous planning control if—

- (a) it was begun in contravention of the provisions of Part III of the Act of 1947, or
- (b) at the material time the land was subject to a resolution to prepare a planning scheme, and the use was begun otherwise than in accordance with permission granted in that behalf by or under the interim development order, or

PART III

- (c) at the material time the land was subject to a planning scheme, and the use was begun otherwise than in conformity with the provisions of the scheme or of permission granted thereunder.

In this subsection "planning scheme" means a scheme under the Town and Country Planning Act, 1932, or any enactment repealed by that Act, and "interim development order" means an order made under subsection (1) of section ten of that Act.

Development orders.

14.—(1) The Minister shall by order (in this Act referred to as a "development order") provide for the granting of planning permission.

(2) A development order may either—

- (a) itself grant planning permission for development specified in the order, or for development of any class so specified, or
- (b) in respect of development for which planning permission is not granted by the order itself, provide for the granting of planning permission by the local planning authority (or, in the cases hereinafter provided, by the Minister) on an application in that behalf made to the local planning authority in accordance with the provisions of the order.

(3) A development order may be made either as a general order applicable (subject to such exceptions as may be specified therein) to all land, or as a special order applicable only to such land as may be so specified.

(4) Planning permission granted by a development order may be granted either unconditionally or subject to such conditions or limitations as may be specified in the order.

(5) Without prejudice to the generality of the last preceding subsection,—

- (a) where planning permission is granted by a development order for the erection, extension or alteration of any buildings, the order may require the approval of the local planning authority to be obtained with respect to the design or external appearance of the buildings ;
- (b) where planning permission is granted by a development order for development of a specified class, the order may enable the Minister or the local planning authority to direct that the permission shall not apply either in relation to development in a particular area or in relation to any particular development.

(6) Any provision of a development order whereby permission is granted for the use of land for any purpose on a limited number of days in a period specified in that provision shall (without prejudice to the generality of references in this Act to limitations) be taken to be a provision granting permission for the use of land for any purpose subject to the limitation that the land shall not be used for any one purpose in pursuance of that provision on more than that number of days in that period.

(7) For the purpose of enabling development to be carried out in accordance with planning permission, or otherwise for the purpose of promoting proper development in accordance with the development plan, a development order may direct that any enactment to which this subsection applies, or any regulations, orders or byelaws made at any time under any such enactment, shall not apply to any development specified in the order, or shall apply thereto subject to such modifications as may be so specified.

(8) The last preceding subsection applies—

- (a) to any enactment passed before the sixth day of August, nineteen hundred and forty-seven (being the date of the passing of the Act of 1947), and
- (b) to any enactment contained in the Highways Act, 1959, being an enactment which re-enacts (with or without modifications) any such enactment as is mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

15.—(1) An application for planning permission for development of any class to which this section applies—

Publication of notices of applications for planning permission.

- (a) shall not be entertained by the local planning authority unless it is accompanied by a copy of a notice of the application, in such form as may be prescribed by a development order, and by such evidence as may be so prescribed that the notice has been published in a local newspaper circulating in the locality in which the land to which the application relates is situated; and
- (b) shall not be determined by the local planning authority before the end of the period of twenty-one days beginning with the date appearing from the evidence accompanying the application to be the date on which the notice was published as mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

(2) Any such notice as is mentioned in paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection shall (in addition to any other matters required to be contained therein) name a place within the locality where a copy of the application, and of all plans and other documents submitted therewith, will be open to inspection by the public at all reasonable hours during such period (not being less than twenty-one days, beginning with the date of publication of the notice) as may be specified in the notice.

(3) Provision may be made by a development order for designating the classes of development to which this section applies, and this section shall apply accordingly to any class of development which is for the time being so designated.

P

PART III

Notification of applications for planning permission to owners and agricultural tenants.

16.—(1) Without prejudice to the last preceding section, a local planning authority shall not entertain any application for planning permission unless it is accompanied by one or other of the following certificates signed by or on behalf of the applicant, that is to say—

- (a) a certificate stating that, in respect of every part of the land to which the application relates, the applicant is either the estate owner in respect of the fee simple or is entitled to a tenancy thereof ;
- (b) a certificate stating that the applicant has given the requisite notice of the application to all the persons (other than the applicant) who, at the beginning of the period of twenty-one days ending with the date of the application, were owners of any of the land to which the application relates, and setting out the names of those persons, the addresses at which notice of the application was given to them respectively, and the date of service of each such notice ;
- (c) a certificate stating that the applicant is unable to issue a certificate in accordance with either of the preceding paragraphs, that he has given the requisite notice of the application to such one or more of the persons mentioned in the last preceding paragraph as are specified in the certificate (setting out their names, the addresses at which notice of the application was given to them respectively, and the date of the service of each such notice) and that he does not know the names and addresses of the remainder of those persons ;
- (d) a certificate stating that the applicant is unable to issue a certificate in accordance with paragraph (a) of this subsection, and that he does not know the names and addresses of any of the persons mentioned in paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(2) Any such certificate as is mentioned in paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of the preceding subsection shall also contain a statement that the requisite notice of the application, as set out in the certificate, has on a date specified in the certificate (being a date not earlier than the beginning of the period mentioned in paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection) been published in a local newspaper circulating in the locality in which the land in question is situated.

(3) In addition to any other matters required to be contained in a certificate issued for the purposes of this section, every such certificate shall contain one or other of the following statements, that is to say,—

- (a) a statement that none of the land to which the application relates constitutes or forms part of an agricultural holding ;

(b) a statement that the applicant has given the requisite notice of the application to every person (other than the applicant) who, at the beginning of the period of twenty-one days ending with the date of the application, was a tenant of any agricultural holding any part of which was comprised in the land to which the application relates, and setting out the name of each such person, the address at which notice of the application was given to him, and the date of service of that notice.

(4) Where an application for planning permission is accompanied by such a certificate as is mentioned in paragraph (b), paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of this section, or by a certificate containing a statement in accordance with paragraph (b) of the last preceding subsection, the local planning authority shall not determine the application before the end of the period of twenty-one days beginning with the date appearing from the certificate to be the latest of the dates of service of notices as mentioned in the certificate, or the date of publication of a notice as therein mentioned, whichever is the later.

(5) If any person issues any certificate which purports to comply with the requirements of this section and which contains a statement which he knows to be false or misleading in a material particular, or recklessly issues a certificate which purports to comply with those requirements and which contains a statement which is false or misleading in a material particular, he shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

(6) Any certificate issued for the purposes of this section shall be in such form as may be prescribed by a development order; and any reference in any provision of this section to the requisite notice, where a form of notice is prescribed by a development order for the purposes of that provision, is a reference to a notice in that form.

(7) In this and the next following section "owner", in relation to any land, means a person who is for the time being the estate owner in respect of the fee simple thereof or is entitled to a tenancy thereof granted or extended for a term of years certain of which not less than ten years remain unexpired, and "agricultural holding" has the same meaning as in the Agricultural Holdings Act, 1948.

17.—(1) Subject to the provisions of sections fifteen and sixteen of this Act, and to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, where an application is made to a local planning authority for planning permission, that authority, in dealing with the application, shall have regard to the provisions of the development plan, so far as material to the application, and to any other material considerations, and—

Determination by local planning authorities of applications for planning permission.

PART III

- (a) may grant planning permission, either unconditionally or subject to such conditions as they think fit, or
- (b) may refuse planning permission.

(2) In determining any application for planning permission for development of a class to which section fifteen of this Act applies, the local planning authority shall take into account any representations relating to that application which are received by them before the end of the period of twenty-one days beginning with the date appearing from the evidence accompanying the application to be the date on which notice of the application was published as mentioned in subsection (1) of that section.

(3) Where an application for planning permission is accompanied by such a certificate as is mentioned in paragraph (b), paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section, or by a certificate containing a statement in accordance with paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of that section, the local planning authority—

- (a) in determining the application, shall take into account any representations relating thereto which are made to them, before the end of the period mentioned in subsection (4) of that section, by any person who satisfies them that he is an owner of any land to which the application relates or that he is the tenant of an agricultural holding any part of which is comprised in that land, and
- (b) shall give notice of their decision to every person who has made representations which they were required to take into account in accordance with the preceding paragraph.

(4) Before a local planning authority grant planning permission for the use of land as a caravan site, they shall, unless they are also the authority having power to issue a site licence for that land, consult the local authority having that power.

(5) In this section “site licence” means a licence under Part I of the Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act, 1960, authorising the use of land as a caravan site.

Conditional grant of planning permission.

18.—(1) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1) of the last preceding section, conditions may be imposed on the grant of planning permission thereunder—

- (a) for regulating the development or use of any land under the control of the applicant (whether or not it is land in respect of which the application was made) or requiring the carrying out of works on any such land, so far as appears to the local planning authority to be expedient for the purposes of or in connection with the development authorised by the permission :

(b) for requiring the removal of any buildings or works authorised by the permission, or the discontinuance of any use of land so authorised, at the end of a specified period, and the carrying out of any works required for the reinstatement of land at the end of that period.

(2) Any planning permission granted subject to such a condition as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection is in this Act referred to as "planning permission granted for a limited period".

(3) Where—

(a) planning permission is granted for development consisting of or including the carrying out of building or other operations, subject to a condition that the operations shall be commenced not later than a time specified in the condition, and

(b) any building or other operations are commenced after the time so specified, the commencement and carrying out of those operations do not constitute development for which that permission was granted.

19.—(1) Any application to a local planning authority for planning permission shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations under this Act, and shall include such particulars, and be verified by such evidence, as may be required by the regulations or by any directions given by the local planning authority thereunder. Supplementary provisions as to applications for planning permission.

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsections (2) to (4) of section seventeen of this Act, provision may be made by a development order for regulating the manner in which applications for planning permission to develop land are to be dealt with by local planning authorities, and in particular—

(a) for enabling the Minister (or, in the case of development falling within the next following subsection, the Minister of Transport) to give directions restricting the grant of planning permission by the local planning authority, during such period as may be specified in the directions, in respect of any such development, or in respect of development of any such class, as may be so specified ;

(b) for authorising the local planning authority, in such cases and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the order, or by directions given by the Minister thereunder, to grant planning permission for development which does not accord with the provisions of the development plan ;

(c) for requiring the local planning authority, before granting or refusing planning permission for any development, to consult with such authorities or persons as may be prescribed by the order or by directions given by the Minister thereunder ;

PART III

(d) for requiring the local planning authority to give to any applicant for planning permission, within such time as may be prescribed by the order, such notice as may be so prescribed as to the manner in which his application has been dealt with ;

(e) for requiring the local planning authority to give to the Minister, and to such other persons as may be prescribed by or under the order, such information as may be so prescribed with respect to applications for planning permission made to the authority, including information as to the manner in which any such application has been dealt with.

(3) The reference in paragraph (a) of the last preceding subsection to development falling within this subsection is a reference to any development affecting trunk roads, or affecting any road which—

(a) is comprised in the route of a special road to be provided by the Minister of Transport in accordance with a scheme under the provisions of Part II of the Highways Act, 1959, relating to special roads, and has not for the time being been transferred to him, or

(b) has been or is to be provided by that Minister in pursuance of an order under the provisions of Part II of that Act relating to trunk roads and special roads, and has not for the time being been transferred to any other highway authority.

(4) Every local planning authority shall keep, in such manner as may be prescribed by a development order, a register containing such information as may be so prescribed with respect to applications for planning permission made to that authority, including information as to the manner in which such applications have been dealt with.

(5) Every register kept under the last preceding subsection shall be available for inspection by the public at all reasonable hours.

Permission to retain buildings or works or continue use of land.

20.—(1) An application for planning permission may relate to buildings or works constructed or carried out, or a use of land instituted, before the date of the application, whether—

(a) the buildings or works were constructed or carried out, or the use instituted, without planning permission or in accordance with planning permission granted for a limited period, or

(b) the application is for permission to retain the buildings or works, or continue the use of the land, without complying with some condition subject to which a previous planning permission was granted.

PART III

(2) Any power to grant planning permission to develop land under this Act shall include power to grant planning permission for the retention on land of buildings or works constructed or carried out, or for the continuance of a use of land instituted, as mentioned in the preceding subsection; and references in this Act to planning permission to develop land or to carry out any development of land, and to applications for such permission, shall be construed accordingly:

Provided that this subsection shall not affect the construction of section fifteen, of subsection (2) of section seventeen or of Part VI of this Act.

(3) Any planning permission granted in accordance with the last preceding subsection may be granted so as to take effect from the date on which the buildings or works were constructed or carried out, or the use was instituted, or (in the case of buildings or works constructed or a use instituted in accordance with planning permission granted for a limited period) so as to take effect from the end of that period, as the case may be.

21.—(1) Without prejudice to the provisions of this Part of this Act as to the revocation or modification of planning permission, any grant of planning permission to develop land shall (except in so far as the permission otherwise provides) enure for the benefit of the land and of all persons for the time being interested therein. Supplementary provisions as to effect of planning permission.

(2) Where planning permission is granted for the erection of a building, the grant of permission may specify the purposes for which the building may be used; and if no purpose is so specified, the permission shall be construed as including permission to use the building for the purpose for which it is designed.

Minister's powers in relation to planning applications and decisions

22.—(1) The Minister may give directions requiring applications for planning permission to be referred to him instead of being dealt with by local planning authorities. Reference of planning applications to Minister.

(2) A direction under this section—

- (a) may be given either to a particular local planning authority or to local planning authorities generally, and
- (b) may relate either to a particular application or to applications of a class specified in the direction.

(3) Any application in respect of which a direction under this section has effect shall be referred to the Minister accordingly.

(4) Subject to the next following subsection, where an application for planning permission is referred to the Minister under this section, the following provisions of this Act, that is to say, subsection (1) of section fifteen, section sixteen, subsections (1) to (3) of section seventeen and subsection (1) of section eighteen, shall apply, with any necessary modifications, as they apply to an application for planning permission which falls to be determined by the local planning authority.

PART III

(5) Before determining an application referred to him under this section the Minister shall, if either the applicant or the local planning authority so desire, afford to each of them an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(6) The decision of the Minister on any application referred to him under this section shall be final.

Appeals against planning decisions.

23.—(1) Where an application is made to a local planning authority for planning permission to develop land, or for any approval of that authority required under a development order, and that permission or approval is refused by that authority or is granted by them subject to conditions, the applicant, if he is aggrieved by their decision, may by notice under this section appeal to the Minister.

(2) Any notice under this section shall be served within such time (not being less than twenty-eight days from the date of notification of the decision to which it relates) and in such manner as may be prescribed by a development order.

(3) The Minister shall not be required to entertain an appeal under this section in respect of an application for planning permission to develop land if it appears to him that planning permission for that development could not have been granted by the local planning authority, or could not have been granted by them otherwise than subject to the conditions imposed by them, having regard to the provisions of subsection (1) of section seventeen, of subsection (1) of section eighteen and of section thirty-eight of this Act, and of the development order, and to any directions given under that order.

(4) Where an appeal is brought under this section from a decision of a local planning authority, the Minister, subject to the following provisions of this section, may allow or dismiss the appeal, or may reverse or vary any part of the decision of the local planning authority, whether the appeal relates to that part thereof or not, and may deal with the application as if it had been made to him in the first instance.

(5) Before determining an appeal under this section, the Minister shall, if either the applicant or the local planning authority so desire, afford to each of them an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(6) Subject to the last preceding subsection, the following provisions of this Act, that is to say, section sixteen, subsections (1) and (3) of section seventeen, and subsection (1) of section eighteen, shall apply, with any necessary modifications, in relation to an appeal to the Minister under this section as they apply in relation to an application for planning permission which falls to be determined by the local planning authority.

(7) The decision of the Minister on any appeal under this section shall be final.

24. Where an application is made to a local planning authority for planning permission, or for any approval of that authority required under a development order, then unless within such period as may be prescribed by the development order, or within such extended period as may at any time be agreed upon in writing between the applicant and the local planning authority, the local planning authority either—

Appeal in default of planning decision.

(a) give notice to the applicant of their decision on the application, or

(b) give notice to him that the application has been referred to the Minister in accordance with directions given under section twenty-two of this Act, the provisions of the last preceding section shall apply in relation to the application as if the permission or approval to which it relates had been refused by the local planning authority, and as if notification of their decision had been received by the applicant at the end of the period prescribed by the development order, or at the end of the said extended period, as the case may be.

25.—(1) The provisions of this and the next following section shall have effect where, in accordance with the provisions of Part VI of this Act, one or more claims for compensation in respect of a planning decision have been transmitted to the Minister, and the claim, or (if there is more than one) one or more of the claims, has not been withdrawn.

Review of planning decisions where compensation.
claimed.

(2) If, in the case of a planning decision of the local planning authority, it appears to the Minister that, if the application for permission to develop the land in question had been referred to him for determination, he would have made a decision more favourable to the applicant, the Minister may give a direction substituting that decision for the decision of the local planning authority.

(3) If, in any case, it appears to the Minister that planning permission could properly be granted (either unconditionally or subject to certain conditions) for some development of the land in question other than the development to which the application for planning permission related, the Minister may give a direction that the provisions of this Act shall have effect in relation to that application and to the planning decision—

(a) as if the application had included an application for permission for that other development, and the decision

p*

PART III

had included the grant of planning permission (unconditionally or subject to the said conditions, as the case may be) for that development, or

- (b) as if the decision had been a decision of the Minister and had included an undertaking to grant planning permission (unconditionally or subject to the said conditions, as the case may be) for that development, as may be specified in the direction.

(4) The reference in subsection (2) of this section to a decision more favourable to the applicant shall be construed—

- (a) in relation to a refusal of permission, as a reference to a decision granting the permission, either unconditionally or subject to conditions, and either in respect of the whole of the land to which the application for permission related or in respect of part of that land, and
- (b) in relation to a grant of permission subject to conditions, as a reference to a decision granting the permission applied for unconditionally or subject to less stringent conditions.

Supplementary provisions as to review of planning decisions.

26.—(1) Before giving a direction under the last preceding section, the Minister shall give notice in writing of his proposed direction to the local planning authority to whose decision that direction relates, and to any person who made, and has not since withdrawn, a claim for compensation in respect of that decision; and, if so required by the local planning authority or by any such person, shall afford to each of them an opportunity to appear before, and be heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(2) In giving any direction under the last preceding section, the Minister shall have regard to the provisions of the development plan for the area in which the land in question is situated, in so far as those provisions are material to the development of that land, and shall also have regard to the local circumstances affecting the proposed development, including the use which prevails generally in the case of contiguous or adjacent land, and to any other material considerations.

(3) Where the Minister gives a direction under the last preceding section, he shall give notice of the direction to the local planning authority to whose decision the direction relates, and to every person (if any) who made, and has not since withdrawn, a claim for compensation in respect of that decision.

Revocation or modification of planning permission

PART III

27.—(1) If it appears to the local planning authority, having regard to the development plan and to any other material considerations, that it is expedient to revoke or modify any permission to develop land granted on an application made under this Part of this Act, the authority, subject to the following provisions of this section, may by order revoke or modify the permission to such extent as (having regard to those matters) they consider expedient.

Power to revoke or modify planning permission.

(2) An order under this section shall not take effect unless it is confirmed by the Minister ; and the Minister may confirm any such order submitted to him either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient.

(3) Where a local planning authority submit an order to the Minister for his confirmation under this section, the authority shall serve notice on the owner and on the occupier of the land affected and on any other person who in their opinion will be affected by the order ; and if within such period as may be specified in that behalf in the notice (not being less than twenty-eight days from the service thereof) any person on whom the notice is served so requires, the Minister, before confirming the order, shall afford to that person, and to the local planning authority, an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(4) The power conferred by this section to revoke or modify permission to develop land may be exercised—

- (a) where the permission relates to the carrying out of building or other operations, at any time before those operations have been completed ;
- (b) where the permission relates to a change of the use of any land, at any time before the change has taken place :

Provided that the revocation or modification of permission for the carrying out of building or other operations shall not affect so much of those operations as has been previously carried out.

Additional powers of control

28.—(1) If it appears to a local planning authority that it is expedient in the interests of the proper planning of their area (including the interests of amenity), regard being had to the development plan and to any other material considerations,—

Orders requiring discontinuance of use or alteration or removal of buildings or works.

- (a) that any use of land should be discontinued, or that any conditions should be imposed on the continuance of a use of land, or
- (b) that any buildings or works should be altered or removed,

PART III

the local planning authority may by order require the discontinuance of that use, or impose such conditions as may be specified in the order on the continuance thereof, or require such steps as may be so specified to be taken for the alteration or removal of the buildings or works, as the case may be.

(2) An order under this section may grant planning permission for any development of the land to which the order relates, subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order; and the provisions of the last preceding section shall apply in relation to any planning permission granted by an order under this section as they apply in relation to planning permission granted by the local planning authority on an application made under this Part of this Act.

(3) The power conferred by the last preceding subsection shall include power, by an order under this section, to grant planning permission, subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order,—

(a) for the retention, on the land to which the order relates, of buildings or works constructed or carried out before the date on which the order was submitted to the Minister, or

(b) for the continuance of a use of that land instituted before that date;

and subsection (3) of section twenty of this Act shall apply to planning permission granted by virtue of this subsection as it applies to planning permission granted in accordance with subsection (2) of that section.

(4) An order under this section shall not take effect unless it is confirmed by the Minister, either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient.

(5) The power of the Minister under this section to confirm an order subject to modifications shall include power—

(a) to modify any provision of the order granting planning permission, as mentioned in subsection (2) or subsection (3) of this section;

(b) to include in the order any grant of planning permission which might have been included in the order as submitted to the Minister.

(6) Where a local planning authority submit an order to the Minister for his confirmation under this section, that authority shall serve notice on the owner and on the occupier of the land affected, and on any other person who in their opinion will be affected by the order; and if within the period specified in that behalf in the notice (not being less than twenty-eight days from the service thereof) any person on whom the notice is served so requires, the Minister, before confirming the order, shall afford to that person and to the local planning authority an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(7) Where an order under this section has been confirmed by the Minister, the local planning authority shall serve a copy of the order on the owner and occupier of the land to which the order relates.

(8) Where the requirements of an order under this section will involve the displacement of persons residing in any premises, it shall be the duty of the local planning authority, in so far as there is no other residential accommodation suitable to the reasonable requirements of those persons available on reasonable terms, to secure the provision of such accommodation in advance of the displacement.

29.—(1) If it appears to a local planning authority that it is expedient in the interests of amenity to make provision for the preservation of trees or woodlands in their area, they may for that purpose make an order (in this Act referred to as a “tree preservation order”) with respect to such trees, groups of trees or woodlands as may be specified in the order; and, in particular, provision may be made by any such order—

- (a) for prohibiting (subject to any exemptions for which provision may be made by the order) the cutting down, topping, lopping or wilful destruction of trees except with the consent of the local planning authority, and for enabling that authority to give their consent subject to conditions;
- (b) for securing the replanting, in such manner as may be prescribed by or under the order, of any part of a woodland area which is felled in the course of forestry operations permitted by or under the order;
- (c) for applying, in relation to any consent under the order, and to applications for such consent, any of the provisions of this Act falling within the next following subsection, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the order.

(2) References in this Act to provisions thereof falling within this subsection are references to—

- (a) the provisions of this Part of this Act relating to planning permission and to applications for planning permission, except sections fifteen and sixteen, subsections (2) to (5)

PART III

of section seventeen, subsection (1) of section nineteen and sections twenty-five and twenty-six of this Act, and

- (b) such of the provisions of Part VIII of this Act as are therein stated to be provisions falling within this subsection.

(3) A tree preservation order shall not be made in relation to any land in respect of which a forestry dedication covenant is in force under the Forestry Act, 1947, or in respect of which advances have been made by the Forestry Commissioners under the Forestry Acts, 1919 to 1947.

(4) A tree preservation order shall not take effect until it is confirmed by the Minister, and the Minister may confirm any such order either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient.

(5) Provision may be made by regulations under this Act with respect to the form of tree preservation orders, and the procedure to be followed in connection with the submission and confirmation of such orders; and, subject to the next following subsection, such regulations shall, in particular, make provision for securing—

- (a) that notice of the submission of any such order to the Minister shall be given to the owners and occupiers of land affected by the order;
- (b) that objections and representations with respect to the proposed order duly made in accordance with the regulations shall be considered before the order is confirmed by the Minister; and
- (c) that copies of the order, when confirmed by the Minister, shall be served on the owners and occupiers of the land to which it relates.

(6) If it appears to the Minister that any such order should take effect immediately, he may confirm the order provisionally without complying with the requirements of any such regulations with respect to the consideration of objections and representations; but any order so confirmed shall cease to have effect at the end of two months from the date on which it is so confirmed, unless within that period it has again been confirmed, with or without modifications, after compliance with those requirements.

(7) Without prejudice to any other exemptions for which provision may be made by a tree preservation order, no such order shall apply to the cutting down, topping or lopping of trees which are dying or dead or have become dangerous, or the cutting down, topping or lopping of any trees in compliance with any obligations imposed by or under an Act of Parliament or so far as may be necessary for the prevention or abatement of a nuisance.

(8) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect subject to the provisions—

- (a) of section thirteen of the Forestry Act, 1951 (which relates to licences under that Act to fell trees comprised in a tree preservation order), and
- (b) of subsection (4) of section two of the Opencast Coal Act, 1958 (which relates to land comprised in an authorisation under that Act which is affected by a tree preservation order).

30.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this and the next following section, if it appears to a local planning authority that it is expedient to make provision for the preservation of any building of special architectural or historic interest in their area, they may for that purpose make an order (in this Act referred to as a “building preservation order”) restricting the demolition, alteration or extension of the building.

(2) A building preservation order shall not be made in respect of—

- (a) an ecclesiastical building which is for the time being used for ecclesiastical purposes, or
- (b) a building which is the subject of a scheme or order under the enactments for the time being in force with respect to ancient monuments, or
- (c) a building for the time being included in a list of monuments published by the Minister of Works under any such enactment, and a building preservation order shall not be made so as to affect the powers of the Minister of Works under any such enactment.

(3) A building preservation order shall not take effect until it is confirmed by the Minister, and the Minister may confirm any such order either without modification or subject to such modifications as he considers expedient.

(4) A local planning authority shall not make a building preservation order, and the Minister shall not confirm such an order, unless satisfied that the execution of the works specified in the order would seriously affect the character of the building.

(5) Provision may be made by a building preservation order—

- (a) for requiring the consent of the local planning authority to be obtained for the execution of works of any description specified in the order, and
- (b) for applying, in relation to such consent and to applications for such consent, any of the provisions of this Act falling within subsection (2) of the last preceding section, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the order.

PART III

Supplementary provisions as to building preservation orders.

31.—(1) Provision may be made by regulations under this Act with respect to the form of building preservation orders, and the procedure to be followed in connection with the submission and confirmation of such orders; and, subject to the next following subsection, such regulations shall, in particular, make provision for securing—

- (a) that notice of the submission of any such order to the Minister shall be given to the owner and any occupier of the building affected by the order;
- (b) that objections and representations with respect to the proposed order duly made in accordance with the regulations shall be considered before the order is confirmed by the Minister; and
- (c) that a copy of the order, when confirmed by the Minister, shall be served on the owner and any occupier of the building to which it relates.

(2) If it appears to the Minister that any such order should take effect immediately, he may confirm the order provisionally without complying with the requirements of any such regulations with respect to the consideration of objections and representations; but any order so confirmed shall cease to have effect at the end of two months from the date on which it is so confirmed, unless within that period it has again been confirmed, with or without modifications, after compliance with those requirements.

(3) Nothing in any building preservation order shall render unlawful the execution of any works which are urgently necessary in the interests of safety or health or for the preservation of the building or of neighbouring property, so long as notice in writing of the proposed execution of the works is given, as soon as may be after the necessity for the works arises, to the authority by whom the order was made.

(4) The powers conferred on a local planning authority by the last preceding section to make a building preservation order may be exercised also by the council of the county district in which the building to which the order relates is situated; and references in this Act to local planning authorities shall, in relation to those powers, be construed as including references to the council of a county district.

32.—(1) With a view to the guidance of local planning authorities in the performance of their functions under this Act in relation to buildings of special architectural or historic interest, the Minister shall compile lists of such buildings, or approve, with or without modifications, such lists compiled by other persons or bodies of persons, and may amend any list so compiled or approved.

Lists of buildings of special architectural or historic interest.

PART III

(2) As soon as may be after any list has been compiled or approved under this section, or any amendments of such a list have been made, a copy of so much of the list as relates to any county borough or county district, or of so much of the amendments as relates thereto, as the case may be, certified by or on behalf of the Minister to be a true copy thereof, shall be deposited with the clerk of the council of that borough or district, and also, where that council is not the local planning authority, with the clerk of the local planning authority.

(3) Any such copy shall be registered in the register of local land charges, in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made for the purposes of this section under subsection (6) of section fifteen of the Land Charges Act, 1925, by the proper officer of the council of the county borough or county district.

(4) As soon as may be after the inclusion of any building in a list under this section, whether on the compilation or approval of the list or by the amendment thereof, or as soon as may be after any such list has been amended by the exclusion of any building therefrom, the Minister shall serve a notice on every owner and occupier of the building, stating that the building has been included in, or excluded from, the list, as the case may be.

(5) Before compiling or approving, with or without modifications, any list under this section, or amending any list thereunder, the Minister shall consult with such persons or bodies of persons as appear to him appropriate as having special knowledge of, or interest in, buildings of architectural and historic interest.

33.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, so long as a building, not being—

(a) a building to which a building preservation order applies, or

(b) a building of a description specified in subsection (2) of section thirty of this Act, is included in a list compiled or approved under the last preceding section, no person shall execute, or cause or permit to be executed, any works for the demolition of the building, or for its alteration or extension in any manner which would seriously affect its character, unless at least two months before the works are executed notice in writing of the proposed works has been given to the local planning authority.

(2) Nothing in the preceding subsection shall render unlawful the execution of any works which are urgently necessary in the interests of safety or health, or for the preservation of the building or of neighbouring property, so long as notice in writing thereof has been given to the local planning authority as soon as may be after the necessity for the works arises.

(3) Where a local planning authority receive notice of any proposed works under this section, they shall as soon as may inclusion of building in a list under s. 32.

PART III

be send a copy of the notice to the Minister, and, except where the authority is the council of a county borough, to the council of the county district in which the building to which the notice relates is situated, and in either case to such other persons or bodies of persons as may be specified by directions of the Minister either generally or with respect to the building in question.

Control of advertisements.

34.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, provision shall be made by regulations under this Act for restricting or regulating the display of advertisements so far as appears to the Minister to be expedient in the interests of amenity or public safety.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding subsection, any such regulations may provide—

- (a) for regulating the dimensions, appearance and position of advertisements which may be displayed, the sites on which advertisements may be displayed, and the manner in which they are to be affixed to the land ;
- (b) for requiring the consent of the local planning authority to be obtained for the display of advertisements, or of advertisements of any class specified in the regulations ;
- (c) for applying, in relation to any such consent and to applications for such consent, any of the provisions of this Act falling within subsection (2) of section twenty-nine thereof, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the regulations ;
- (d) for the constitution, for the purposes of the regulations, of such advisory committees as may be prescribed by the regulations, and for determining the manner in which the expenses of any such committee are to be defrayed.

(3) Regulations made for the purposes of this section may make different provision with respect to different areas, and in particular may make special provision with respect to areas defined for the purposes of the regulations as areas of special control, being either rural areas or areas other than rural areas which appear to the Minister to require special protection on grounds of amenity ; and, without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this subsection, the regulations may prohibit the display in any such area of all advertisements except advertisements of such classes (if any) as may be specified in the regulations.

(4) Areas of special control for the purposes of regulations under this section may be defined either by reference to provisions included in that behalf in development plans or by means of orders made or approved by the Minister in accordance with the provisions of the regulations.

PART III

(5) Where the Minister is authorised by the regulations to make or approve any such order as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection, the regulations shall provide for the publication of notice of the proposed order in such manner as may be prescribed by the regulations, for the consideration of objections duly made thereto, and for the holding of such inquiries or other hearings as may be so prescribed, before the order is made or approved.

(6) Regulations made under this section may be made so as to apply to advertisements which are being displayed on the date on which the regulations come into force, or to the use for the display of advertisements of any site which was being used for that purpose on that date ; but any regulations made in accordance with this subsection shall provide for exempting therefrom—

- (a) the continued display of any such advertisement, and
- (b) the continued use for the display of advertisements of any such site, during such period as may be prescribed in that behalf by the regulations, and different periods may be so prescribed for the purposes of different provisions of the regulations.

35. Where the display of advertisements in accordance with regulations made under the last preceding section involves development of land, planning permission for that development shall be deemed to be granted by virtue of this section, and no application shall be necessary in that behalf under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act.

Application for planning permission not needed for advertisements complying with regulations.

36.—(1) If it appears to a local planning authority that the amenity of any part of their area, or of any adjoining area, is seriously injured by the condition of any garden, vacant site or other open land in their area, then, subject to any directions given by the Minister, the authority may serve on the owner and occupier of the land a notice requiring such steps for abating the injury as may be specified in the notice to be taken within such period as may be so specified.

Proper maintenance of waste land, etc.

(2) Subject to the provisions of Part IV of this Act, a notice under this section shall take effect at the end of such period (not being less than twenty-eight days after the service thereof) as may be specified in the notice.

37.—(1) A local planning authority may, with the approval of the Minister, enter into an agreement with any person interested in land in their area for the purpose of restricting or regulating the development or use of the land, either permanently or during such period as may be prescribed by the agreement ;

Agreements regulating development or use of land.

PART III

and any such agreement may contain such incidental and consequential provisions (including provisions of a financial character) as appear to the local planning authority to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of the agreement.

(2) An agreement made under this section with any person interested in land may be enforced by the local planning authority against persons deriving title under that person in respect of that land, as if the local planning authority were possessed of adjacent land and as if the agreement had been expressed to be made for the benefit of such land.

(3) Nothing in this section or in any agreement made thereunder shall be construed—

(a) as restricting the exercise, in relation to land which is the subject of any such agreement, of any powers exercisable by any Minister or authority under this Act so long as those powers are exercised in accordance with the provisions of the development plan, or in accordance with any directions which may have been given by the Minister as to the provisions to be included in such a plan, or

(b) as requiring the exercise of any such powers otherwise than as mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

(4) The power of a local planning authority to make agreements under this section may be exercised also—

(a) in relation to land in a county district, by the council of that district ;

(b) in relation to land in the area of a joint planning board, by the council of the county or county borough in which the land is situated, and references in this section to a local planning authority shall be construed accordingly.

Special provisions as to industrial development

Industrial development certificates.

38.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this and the next following section, an application to the local planning authority for permission to develop land by—

(a) the erection thereon of an industrial building of one of the prescribed classes, or

(b) a change of use whereby premises, not being an industrial building of one of the prescribed classes, will become such an industrial building, shall be of no effect unless a certificate (in this Act referred to as an “ industrial development certificate ”) is issued under this section by the Board of Trade, certifying that the development in question can be carried out consistently with the proper distribution of industry, and a copy of the certificate is furnished to the local planning authority together with the application.

(2) In considering whether any development for which an industrial development certificate is applied for can be carried out consistently with the proper distribution of industry, the Board of Trade shall have particular regard to the need for providing appropriate employment in development districts.

(3) An industrial development certificate shall not be required for the extension of an industrial building if the extension, taken by itself, would not be an industrial building of one of the prescribed classes, but (subject to the provisions of the next following section) an industrial development certificate shall be required for the extension of any building if the extension, taken by itself, would be such an industrial building.

(4) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to any provisions for restricting the granting of planning permission by local planning authorities which are included in a development order by virtue of section nineteen of this Act.

(5) Nothing in section twenty of this Act shall be construed as requiring an industrial development certificate on an application for permission for the retention on land of an industrial building or for the continuance of any use of land.

(6) In this and the next following section "the prescribed classes" means such classes of industrial buildings as may be prescribed by regulations made for the purposes of this section by the Board of Trade, "development district" has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (2) of section one of the Local Employment Act, 1960, and subsection (4) of that section (which provides for treating certain areas not forming part of a development district as forming part of such a district) shall apply as if this section were included among the provisions of that Act referred to in that subsection.

39.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in the last preceding section, an industrial development certificate shall not be required if the industrial floor space to be created by the development in question, together with any other industrial floor space created or to be created by any related development, does not exceed five thousand square feet, excluding, where an industrial development certificate has been issued in respect of any related development, any floor space created or to be created by that development or by development carried out, or for which planning permission has been granted, before the issue of that certificate.

Exemption of certain classes of development.

(2) Regulations made for the purposes of the last preceding section by the Board of Trade may direct that no industrial development certificate shall be required in respect of the erection, in any area prescribed by or under the regulations, of industrial buildings of any such class as may be so prescribed, or in respect of a change of use whereby premises in any such area, not being an industrial building of a class so prescribed, will become an industrial building of such a class.

PART III

(3) In this section "industrial floor space" means floor space comprised in an industrial building or industrial buildings of any of the prescribed classes, and "related development" means development relating to the same building or another building in the same group, being development which has been carried out on or after the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty, or for which planning permission has been granted since that date; and in this subsection "group" means a group of contiguous or adjacent buildings used as parts of a single undertaking, and any reference to development relating to a building is a reference to the erection, extension, alteration or re-erection of the building or to a change of use of the whole or part of the building.

Provision for cases where industrial development certificate withheld.

40.—(1) Where such an application as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section thirty-eight of this Act is, by virtue of that subsection, of no effect by reason that the requirements of that subsection are not fulfilled, the local planning authority shall consider whether, if those requirements had been fulfilled, they would nevertheless have refused the permission sought by the application, either in respect of the whole or in respect of part of the land to which the application relates; and if they are of the opinion that they would so have refused that permission, they shall serve on the applicant a notice in writing to that effect.

(2) Where a notice is served under the preceding subsection in respect of the whole or part of any land, it shall operate, for the purposes of sections twenty-five and twenty-six of this Act, as if the application for planning permission had been an effective application and the notice had been a planning decision of the local planning authority refusing that permission in respect of that land or that part thereof, as the case may be; and the provisions of those sections (if in those circumstances they would have been applicable) shall have effect accordingly.

Special provisions as to local authorities and statutory undertakers

Deemed planning permission.

41.—(1) Where the authorisation of a government department is required by virtue of an enactment in respect of development to be carried out by a local authority, or by statutory undertakers not being a local authority, that department may, on granting that authorisation, direct that planning permission for that development shall be deemed to be granted, subject to such conditions (if any) as may be specified in the directions.

(2) The provisions of this Act (except Parts VI and XI thereof) shall apply in relation to any planning permission deemed to be granted by virtue of directions under this section as if it had been granted by the Minister on an application referred to him under section twenty-two of this Act.

(3) For the purposes of this section development shall be taken to be authorised by a government department if—

- (a) any consent, authority or approval to or for the development is granted by the department in pursuance of an enactment ;
- (b) a compulsory purchase order is confirmed by the department authorising the purchase of land for the purpose of the development ;
- (c) consent is granted by the department to the appropriation of land for the purpose of the development or the acquisition of land by agreement for that purpose ;
- (d) authority is given by the department for the borrowing of money for the purpose of the development, or for the application for that purpose of any money not otherwise so applicable ; or
- (e) any undertaking is given by the department to pay a grant in respect of the development in accordance with an enactment authorising the payment of such grants, and references in this section to the authorisation of a government department shall be construed accordingly.

42.—(1) In relation to land of local planning authorities, and to the development by local authorities of land in respect of which they are the local planning authorities, the provisions of this Part of this Act, other than sections fifteen and sixteen, subsections (2) and (3) of section seventeen, and sections twenty-five and twenty-six thereof, shall have effect subject to such exceptions and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act. Application of planning control to local planning authorities.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the last preceding section, any such regulations may in particular provide for securing—

- (a) that any application by such an authority for planning permission to develop such land, or for any other consent required in relation to such land under this Part of this Act, shall be made to the Minister and not to the local planning authority ;
- (b) that any order or notice authorised to be made or served under this Part of this Act in relation to such land shall be made or served by the Minister and not by that authority.

(3) Sections fifteen and sixteen and subsections (2) and (3) of section seventeen of this Act shall apply, with the necessary modifications, in relation to applications made to the Minister in pursuance of regulations made for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, as they apply in relation to applications for planning permission which fall to be determined by the local planning authority.

PART IIISupplementary provisions*

Applications to determine whether planning permission required.

43.—(1) If any person who proposes to carry out any operations on land, or to make any change in the use of land, wishes to have it determined whether the carrying out of those operations, or the making of that change, would constitute or involve development of the land, and, if so, whether an application for planning permission in respect thereof is required under this Part of this Act, having regard to the provisions of the development order, he may, either as part of an application for planning permission, or without any such application, apply to the local planning authority to determine that question.

(2) The provisions of section fourteen, subsection (1) of section seventeen, subsections (2), (4) and (5) of section nineteen, and sections twenty-two to twenty-four of this Act shall, subject to any necessary modifications, apply in relation to any application under this section, and to the determination thereof, as they apply in relation to applications for planning permission and to the determination of such applications.

Appeal to independent tribunal.

44.—(1) Provision may be made by a development order for securing that, in the case of decisions of a local planning authority of such classes as may be prescribed by the order, being decisions relating to the design or external appearance of buildings or other similar matters, any appeal under section twenty-three of this Act shall lie to an independent tribunal constituted in accordance with the provisions of that order, instead of being an appeal to the Minister; and in relation to any such appeal the provisions of that section (except, in subsection (6) thereof, the references to section sixteen and to subsection (3) of section seventeen of this Act) and the provisions of section twenty-four of this Act shall apply, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the order, as they apply in relation to appeals to the Minister under the said section twenty-three.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by section thirty-four of this Act, regulations made for the purposes of that section may provide that any appeal from the decision of the local planning authority, on an application for their consent under the regulations, shall lie to an independent tribunal constituted in accordance with the regulations, instead of being an appeal to the Minister.

(3) If any tribunal is constituted in accordance with the preceding provisions of this section, the Minister may pay to the chairman and members of the tribunal such remuneration, whether by way of salaries or by way of fees, and such reasonable allowances in respect of expenses properly incurred in the performance of their duties, as the Treasury may determine.

PART IV

ENFORCEMENT OF PLANNING CONTROL

Enforcement where planning permission required

- 45.—(1) Where it appears to the local planning authority— Power to serve enforcement notices.
- (a) that any development of land has been carried out without the grant of planning permission required in that behalf in accordance with Part III of this Act, or
  - (b) that any conditions or limitations subject to which planning permission was granted have not been complied with, then, subject to any directions given by the Minister, and to the following provisions of this section, the local planning authority, if they consider it expedient to do so having regard to the provisions of the development plan and to any other material considerations, may, within the period specified in the next following subsection, serve a notice under this section (in this Act referred to as an “enforcement notice”).

- (2) The period for the service of an enforcement notice—
  - (a) where the notice relates to the carrying out of development, is the period of four years from the carrying out of that development, and
  - (b) where the notice relates to non-compliance with a condition or limitation, is the period of four years from the date of the alleged failure to comply with it.
- (3) Where the local planning authority serve an enforcement notice, the notice—
  - (a) shall be served on the owner and occupier of the land to which it relates, and
  - (b) may, if the authority think fit, also be served on any other person having an interest in that land, being an interest which in their opinion is materially affected by the notice.
- (4) An enforcement notice—
  - (a) shall specify the development which is alleged to have been carried out without the grant of planning permission as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section or, as the case may be, the matters in respect of which it is alleged that any such conditions or limitations as are mentioned in paragraph (b) of that subsection have not been complied with, and

PART IV

- (b) may require such steps as may be specified in the notice to be taken, within such period as may be so specified, for the purpose of restoring the land to its condition before the development took place, or of securing compliance with the conditions or limitations, as the case may be, and in particular may, for that purpose, require the demolition or alteration of any buildings or works, the discontinuance of any use of land, or the carrying out on land of any building or other operations.

(5) Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, an enforcement notice shall take effect at the end of such period (not being less than twenty-eight days after the service thereof) as may be specified in the notice.

Appeal to Minister against enforcement
notice.

46.—(1) A person on whom an enforcement notice is served, or any other person having an interest in the land, may, at any time within the period specified in the notice as the period at the end of which it is to take effect, appeal to the Minister against the notice on any of the following grounds, that is to say—

- (a) that planning permission ought to be granted for the development to which the enforcement notice relates ;
- (b) that planning permission has been granted for that development ;
- (c) that no planning permission was required in respect of that development, or, as the case may be, that the conditions or limitations subject to which planning permission for that development was granted have been complied with ;
- (d) that what is assumed in the enforcement notice to be development did not constitute or involve development ;
- (e) that the enforcement notice was not served on the owner or occupier of the land within the relevant period of four years specified in subsection (2) of the last preceding section ;
- (f) that the requirements of the enforcement notice exceed what is necessary for restoring the land to its condition before the development in question took place, or, as the case may be, for securing compliance with the conditions or limitations to which the enforcement notice relates ;
- (g) that the period specified in the enforcement notice as the period within which any steps required by that notice are to be taken falls short of what should reasonably be allowed.

(2) Any appeal under this section shall be made by notice in writing to the Minister, which shall indicate the grounds of the appeal; and on any such appeal the Minister shall, if either the appellant or the local planning authority so desire, afford to each of them an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(3) Where an appeal is brought under this section, the enforcement notice shall be of no effect pending the final determination or withdrawal of the appeal.

(4) On an appeal under this section the Minister may correct any informality, defect or error in the enforcement notice if he is satisfied that the informality, defect or error is not a material one.

(5) On the determination of an appeal under this section the Minister shall give directions for giving effect to his determination, including, where appropriate, directions for quashing the enforcement notice or for varying the terms of the enforcement notice in favour of the appellant.

47.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, where an enforcement notice has been served on the person who, at the time when the notice was served on him, was the owner of the land to which it relates, then, if any steps required by the notice to be taken (other than the discontinuance of a use of land) have not been taken within the period allowed for compliance with the notice, that person shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds. Penalties for non-compliance with enforcement notices.

(2) If a person against whom proceedings are brought under the preceding subsection has, at some time before the end of the period allowed for compliance with the notice, ceased to be the owner of the land, he shall, upon information duly laid by him, and on giving to the prosecution not less than three clear days' notice of his intention, be entitled to have the person who then became the owner of the land (in this section referred to as "the subsequent owner") brought before the court in the proceedings.

(3) If, after it has been proved that any steps required by the enforcement notice have not been taken within the period allowed for compliance with the notice, the original defendant proves that the failure to take those steps was attributable, in whole or in part, to the default of the subsequent owner,—

- (a) the subsequent owner may be convicted of the offence, and
- (b) the original defendant, if he further proves that he took all reasonable steps to secure compliance with the enforcement notice, shall be acquitted of the offence.

(4) If, after a person has been convicted under the preceding provisions of this section, he does not as soon as practicable do everything in his power to secure compliance with the enforcement notice, he shall be guilty of a further offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds for each day following his first conviction on which any of the requirements of the enforcement notice (other than the discontinuance of a use of land) remain unfulfilled.

PART IV

(5) Where, by virtue of an enforcement notice, a use of land is required to be discontinued, or any conditions or limitations are required to be complied with in respect of a use of land or in respect of the carrying out of operations thereon, then if any person uses the land or causes or permits it to be used, or carries out those operations or causes or permits them to be carried out, in contravention of the notice, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds; and if the use is continued after the conviction, he shall be guilty of a further offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds for every day on which the use is so continued.

(6) Any reference in this section to the period allowed for compliance with an enforcement notice is a reference to the period specified in the notice for compliance therewith or such extended period as the local planning authority may allow for compliance with the notice.

(7) In this section "owner", in relation to any land, means a person, other than a mortgagee not in possession, who, whether in his own right or as trustee for any other person, is entitled to receive the rack rent of the land, or, where the land is not let at a rack rent, would be so entitled if it were so let.

Execution by local planning authority of work required by enforcement
notice.

48. If, within the period specified in an enforcement notice for compliance therewith, or within such extended period as the local planning authority may allow, any steps required by the notice to be taken (other than the discontinuance of a use of land) have not been taken, the local planning authority may enter upon the land and take those steps, and may recover from the person who is then the owner of the land any expenses reasonably incurred by them in that behalf.

Supplementary provisions as to enforcement notices.

49.—(1) Any expenses incurred by the owner or occupier of any land for the purpose of complying with an enforcement notice served in respect of any development, and any sums paid by the owner of any land under the last preceding section in respect of expenses incurred by the local planning authority in taking steps required to be taken by such a notice, shall be deemed to be incurred or paid for the use and at the request of the person by whom the development was carried out.

(2) Regulations made under this Act may provide that, in relation to any steps required to be taken by an enforcement notice, all or any of the enactments specified in the next following subsection shall apply, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the regulations, including, in the case of the enactment specified in paragraph (b) of that subsection, adaptations and modifications for the purpose of affording to the owner of land to which an enforcement notice relates the right, as against all other persons interested in the land, to comply with the requirements of the enforcement notice.

(3) The said enactments are the following provisions of the Public Health Act, 1936, that is to say—

- (a) section two hundred and seventy-six (which empowers local authorities to sell materials removed in executing works under that Act, subject to accounting for the proceeds of sale);
- (b) section two hundred and eighty-nine (which confers power to require the occupier of any premises to permit works to be executed by the owner of the premises);
- (c) section two hundred and ninety-two (which confers power on local authorities to include a sum in respect of establishment charges in their expenses in executing works); and
- (d) section two hundred and ninety-four (which limits the liability of persons holding premises as agents or trustees in respect of the expenses recoverable under that Act).

(4) Any regulations made in accordance with subsection (2) of this section may provide for the charging on the land of any expenses recoverable by a local authority under the last preceding section.

50.—(1) If, after the service of an enforcement notice, planning permission is granted for the retention on land of buildings or works, or for the continuance of a use of land, to which the enforcement notice relates, the enforcement notice shall cease to have effect in so far as it requires steps to be taken for the demolition or alteration of those buildings or works, or the discontinuance of that use, as the case may be.

Effect of planning permission on enforcement
notice.

(2) If the planning permission granted as mentioned in the preceding subsection is granted so as to permit the retention of buildings or works, or the continuance of a use of land, without complying with some condition subject to which a previous planning permission was granted, the enforcement notice shall cease to have effect in so far as it requires steps to be taken for complying with that condition.

(3) The preceding provisions of this section shall be without prejudice to the liability of any person for an offence in respect of a failure to comply with the enforcement notice before the relevant provision of the enforcement notice ceased to have effect.

PART IV

Enforcement notice to have effect against subsequent development.

51.—(1) Compliance with an enforcement notice, whether in respect of—

- (a) the demolition or alteration of any buildings or works, or
- (b) the discontinuance of any use of land, or in respect of any other requirements contained in the enforcement notice, shall not discharge the enforcement notice.

(2) Without prejudice to the preceding subsection, any provision of an enforcement notice requiring a use of land to be discontinued shall operate as a requirement that it shall be discontinued permanently, to the extent that it is in contravention of Part III of this Act; and accordingly the resumption of that use at any time after it has been discontinued in compliance with the enforcement notice shall to that extent be in contravention of the enforcement notice.

(3) Without prejudice to subsection (1) of this section, if any development is carried out on land by way of reinstating or restoring buildings or works which have been demolished or altered in compliance with an enforcement notice, the notice shall, notwithstanding that its terms are not apt for the purpose, be deemed to apply in relation to the buildings or works as reinstated or restored as it applied in relation to the buildings or works before they were demolished or altered; and, subject to the next following subsection, the provisions of section forty-eight of this Act, and of subsection (1) of section forty-nine of this Act, shall apply accordingly.

(4) Where, at any time after an enforcement notice takes effect,—

- (a) any development is carried out on land by way of reinstating or restoring buildings or works which have been demolished or altered in compliance with the notice, and
- (b) the local planning authority propose, under section forty-eight of this Act, to take any steps required by the enforcement notice for the demolition or alteration of the buildings or works in consequence of the reinstatement or restoration, the local planning authority shall, not less than twenty-eight days before taking any such steps, serve on the owner and occupier of the land a notice of their intention to do so.

(5) A person who, without the grant of planning permission in that behalf, carries out any development on land by way of reinstating or restoring buildings or works which have been demolished or altered in compliance with an enforcement notice shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds; and no person shall be liable under any of the provisions of subsections (1) to (4) of section forty-seven of this Act for failure to take any steps required to be taken by an enforcement notice by way of demolition or alteration of what has been so reinstated or restored.

PART IV

Enforcement of control in respect of listed buildings

52.—(1) Where any works have been carried out in contravention of the provisions of subsection (1) of section thirty-three of this Act, the local planning authority may serve on the owner and occupier of the building in question a notice under this section requiring such steps for restoring the building to its former state as may be specified in the notice to be taken within such period as may be so specified.

Notice to enforce control under s. 33.

(2) Subject to the next following section, a notice under this section shall take effect at the end of such period (not being less than twenty-eight days after the service thereof) as may be specified in the notice.

(3) Without prejudice to the preceding provisions of this section, if any person contravenes the provisions of subsection (1) of section thirty-three of this Act, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

53.—(1) A person on whom a notice under the last preceding section is served, or any other person having an interest in the building to which such a notice relates, may, at any time within the period specified in the notice as the period at the end of which it is to take effect, appeal to the Minister against the notice on any of the following grounds, that is to say—

Appeal to Minister against notice under s. 52.

- (a) that the works to which the notice relates were not, or were not wholly, works in contravention of subsection (1) of section thirty-three of this Act;
- (b) that the requirements of the notice exceed what is necessary for restoring the building to its condition before the works to which the notice relates were carried out;
- (c) that the period specified in the notice as the period within which any steps required by the notice are to be taken falls short of what should reasonably be allowed;
- (d) that any of the steps required by the notice to be taken would not serve the purpose of restoring the character of the building to what it was before the works to which the notice relates were carried out, and that, if and so far as those works constituted the carrying out of development in contravention of Part III of this Act, planning permission ought to be granted for the retention of those works.

PART IV

(2) Any appeal under this section shall be made by notice in writing to the Minister, which shall indicate the grounds of the appeal; and on any such appeal the Minister shall, if either the appellant or the local planning authority so desire, afford to each of them an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(3) Where an appeal is brought under this section, the notice to which it relates shall be of no effect pending the final determination or withdrawal of the appeal.

(4) On an appeal under this section the Minister may correct any informality, defect or error in the notice to which the appeal relates if he is satisfied that the informality, defect or error is not a material one.

(5) On the determination of an appeal under this section the Minister shall give directions for giving effect to his determination, including, where appropriate, directions for quashing the notice or for varying the terms of the notice in favour of the appellant.

Execution by local planning authority of work required by notice under s. 52.

54. If, within the period specified in a notice under section fifty-two of this Act in accordance with subsection (1) of that section, or within such extended period as the local planning authority may allow, any steps required by the notice to be taken have not been taken, the local planning authority may enter upon the land and take those steps, and may recover from the person who is then the owner of the land any expenses reasonably incurred by them in that behalf.

Supplementary provisions as to notices under s. 52.

55.—(1) Any expenses incurred by the owner or occupier of a building for the purpose of complying with a notice under section fifty-two of this Act, and any sums paid by the owner of a building under the last preceding section in respect of expenses incurred by the local planning authority in taking steps required to be taken by such a notice, shall be deemed to be incurred or paid for the use and at the request of the person who carried out the works to which the notice relates.

(2) Subsections (2) and (3) of section forty-nine of this Act shall have effect in relation to notices under section fifty-two thereof, as if any reference therein to an enforcement notice were a reference to a notice under the said section fifty-two.

(3) Any regulations made by virtue of the last preceding subsection may provide for the charging on the land of any expenses recoverable by a local authority under the last preceding section.

Enforcement of control under section 36

PART IV

56.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where a notice has been served under section thirty-six of this Act, and the period within which the steps required by the notice are to be taken has expired.

Penalty for non-compliance with notice under s. 36.

(2) If at any time after the end of that period any of those steps have not been taken, and any person does anything which has the effect of continuing or aggravating the injury caused by the condition of the land to which the notice relates, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

57.—(1) A person on whom a notice under section thirty-six of this Act is served, or any other person having an interest in the land to which the notice relates, may, at any time within the period specified in the notice as the period at the end of which it is to take effect, appeal against the notice on any of the following grounds, that is to say—

Appeal to magistrates' court against notice under s. 36.

- (a) that the condition of the land to which the notice relates does not seriously injure the amenity of any part of the area of the local planning authority who served the notice, or of any adjoining area ;
- (b) that the condition of the land to which the notice relates is attributable to, and such as results in the ordinary course of events from, the carrying on of operations or a use of land which is not in contravention of Part III of this Act ;
- (c) that the land to which the notice relates does not constitute a garden, vacant site or other open land in the area of the local planning authority who served the notice ;
- (d) that the requirements of the notice exceed what is necessary for preventing the condition of the land from seriously injuring the amenity of any part of the area of the local planning authority who served the notice, or of any adjoining area ;
- (e) that the period specified in the notice as the period within which any steps required by the notice are to be taken falls short of what should reasonably be allowed.

(2) Any appeal under this section shall be made to a magistrates' court acting for the petty sessions area in which the land in question is situated.

(3) Where an appeal is brought under this section, the notice to which it relates shall be of no effect pending the final determination or withdrawal of the appeal.

Q

PART IV

(4) On an appeal under this section the magistrates' court may correct any informality, defect or error in the notice if satisfied that the informality, defect or error is not a material one.

(5) On the determination of an appeal under this section the magistrates' court shall give directions for giving effect to their determination, including, where appropriate, directions for quashing the notice or for varying the terms of the notice in favour of the appellants.

Further appeal to quarter sessions.

58. Where an appeal has been brought under the last preceding section, an appeal against the decision of the magistrates' court thereon may be brought to a court of quarter sessions by the appellants or by the local planning authority.

Execution by local planning authority of work required by notice under s. 36.

59. If, within the period specified in a notice under section thirty-six of this Act in accordance with subsection (1) of that section, or within such extended period as the local planning authority may allow, any steps required by the notice to be taken have not been taken, the local planning authority may enter upon the land and take those steps, and may recover from the person who is then the owner of the land any expenses reasonably incurred by them in that behalf.

Supplementary provisions as to notices under s. 36.

60.—(1) Any expenses incurred by the owner or occupier of any land for the purpose of complying with a notice under section thirty-six of this Act, and any sums paid by the owner of any land under the last preceding section in respect of expenses incurred by the local planning authority in taking steps required to be taken by such a notice, shall be deemed to be incurred or paid for the use and at the request of the person who caused or permitted the land to come to be in the condition in which it was when the notice was served.

(2) Subsections (2) and (3) of section forty-nine of this Act shall have effect in relation to notices under section thirty-six thereof, as if any reference therein to an enforcement notice were a reference to a notice under the said section thirty-six.

(3) Any regulations made by virtue of the last preceding subsection may provide for the charging on the land of any expenses recoverable by a local authority under the last preceding section.

Enforcement in other cases

Enforcement of orders under s. 28.

61.—(1) Where, by virtue of an order under section twenty-eight of this Act, the use of land for any purpose is required to be discontinued, or any conditions are imposed on the continuance thereof, then if any person, without the grant of planning permission in that behalf, uses the land for that purpose, or, as the case may be, uses the land for that purpose in contravention of those conditions, or causes or permits the land to be so used, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds; and if the use is continued after the conviction, he shall be guilty of a further offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds for every day on which the use is so continued.

(2) If, within the period specified in that behalf in an order under section twenty-eight of this Act, any steps required by that order to be taken for the alteration or removal of any buildings or works have not been taken, the local planning authority may, and shall if so required by directions of the Minister, enter upon the land and take those steps; and section two hundred and seventy-six of the Public Health Act, 1936, shall apply in relation to any works executed by a local planning authority under this subsection as it applies in relation to works executed by a local authority under that Act.

62.—(1) If any person contravenes the provisions of a tree preservation order, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds; and if, in the case of a continuing offence, the contravention is continued after the conviction, he shall be guilty of a further offence and liable on summary conviction to an additional fine not exceeding forty shillings for every day on which the contravention is so continued.

Enforcement of tree and building preservation
orders.

(2) The matters for which provision may be made by a building preservation order shall include provision for enabling the local planning authority, where any works of a description specified in the order have been executed in contravention of the order, to require the restoration of the building to its former state, and for that purpose for applying any of the provisions of this Part of this Act with respect to enforcement notices, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the order.

(3) Without prejudice to any provisions included in a building preservation order by virtue of the last preceding subsection, if any person, being the owner of a building in relation to which a building preservation order is in force, or a person on whom notice of such an order has been served by the authority by whom the order was made, executes, or causes or permits to be executed, any works in contravention of the order, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(4) Nothing in subsection (2) or subsection (3) of this section shall render unlawful the execution of any works which are urgently necessary in the interests of safety or health or for the preservation of the building in question or of neighbouring property, so long as notice in writing of the proposed execution of the works is given, as soon as may be after the necessity for the works arises, to the authority by whom the order was made.

PART IV

Enforcement of control of advertisements.

63.—(1) The matters for which provision may be made by regulations under section thirty-four of this Act shall include provision for enabling the local planning authority to require the removal of any advertisement which is being displayed in contravention of the regulations, or the discontinuance of the use for the display of advertisements of any site which is being so used in contravention of the regulations, and for that purpose for applying any of the provisions of this Part of this Act with respect to enforcement notices, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the regulations.

(2) Without prejudice to any provisions included in regulations made under section thirty-four of this Act by virtue of the preceding subsection, if any person displays an advertisement in contravention of the provisions of the regulations he shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine of such amount as may be prescribed by the regulations, not exceeding fifty pounds and, in the case of a continuing offence, forty shillings for each day during which the offence continues after conviction.

(3) For the purposes of the last preceding subsection, and without prejudice to the generality thereof, a person shall be deemed to display an advertisement if—

- (a) the advertisement is displayed on land of which he is the owner or occupier, or
- (b) the advertisement gives publicity to his goods, trade, business or other concerns:

Provided that a person shall not be guilty of an offence under the last preceding subsection by reason only that an advertisement is displayed on land of which he is the owner or occupier, or that his goods, trade, business or other concerns are given publicity by the advertisement, if he proves that it was displayed without his knowledge or consent.

Supplementary provisions

Supplementary provisions as to appeals to Minister
under Part IV.

64.—(1) Subsection (5) of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which authorises a government department holding an inquiry under that section to make orders with respect to the costs of the parties) shall apply in relation to any proceedings before the Minister on an appeal under this Part of this Act as if those proceedings were an inquiry held by the Minister under the said section two hundred and ninety.

PART IV

(2) Where an appeal to the Minister against an enforcement notice, or against a notice under section fifty-two of this Act, is brought under this Part of this Act, the appellant shall be deemed to have made an application—

(a) in the case of an enforcement notice, for planning permission to retain on the land the buildings or works, or, as the case may be, to continue the use of the land, to which the notice relates, or

(b) in the case of a notice under section fifty-two of this Act, for planning permission for the development (if any) involved in the works to which the notice relates.

(3) Any application for planning permission deemed to have been made by virtue of the last preceding subsection shall be treated as having been referred to the Minister under section twenty-two of this Act, and the provisions of that section shall apply accordingly:

Provided that subsection (4) of that section shall apply as if the reference therein to sections fifteen and sixteen of this Act were omitted and the reference to subsections (1) to (3) of section seventeen of this Act were a reference only to subsection (1) of the said section seventeen.

(3) Where under this Part of this Act any person has appealed to the Minister or (in accordance with section fifty-seven of this Act) to a magistrates' court against a notice, neither that person nor any other shall be entitled, in any other proceedings instituted after the making of the appeal, to claim that the notice was not duly served on the person who appealed.

65. Where by virtue of any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act any expenses are recoverable by a local planning authority, those expenses shall be recoverable as a simple contract debt in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Recovery of expenses of local planning authorities under Part IV.

66.—(1) In relation to land of local planning authorities, and to the development by local authorities of land in respect of which they are the local planning authorities, the provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect subject to such exceptions and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act.

Enforcement in relation to local planning authorities.

(2) Any such regulations may in particular provide that any notice authorised to be served under this Part of this Act in relation to such land shall be served by the Minister and not by the local planning authority.

PART V

ACQUISITION AND APPROPRIATION OF LAND AND PROVISIONS RELATED THERETO*Acquisition and appropriation of land*

Compulsory acquisition of designated land.

67.—(1) Where any land is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition by a Minister or local authority or by statutory undertakers, that Minister or authority or those undertakers may be authorised to acquire that land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) The compulsory acquisition of land under this section may be authorised—

- (a) in the case of land designated by a development plan as subject to acquisition by a Minister, by that Minister ;
- (b) in the case of land so designated as subject to acquisition by a local authority, by the Minister concerned with the functions in question ;
- (c) in the case of land so designated as subject to acquisition by statutory undertakers, by the Minister who is the appropriate Minister for the purposes of those undertakers.

(3) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply to the compulsory acquisition of land under this section, and accordingly shall have effect—

- (a) as if this section had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act ;
- (b) as if any reference in that Act to a local authority (except the references thereto in subsection (2) of section one and in paragraph 9 of the First Schedule) included a reference to statutory undertakers ; and
- (c) as if references therein to the Minister of Transport, and to the enactments specified in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one of that Act, included respectively references to any Minister and to the provisions of this section.

Compulsory acquisition of land for development.

68.—(1) Where any land is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition by the appropriate local authority, then if the Minister is satisfied—

- (a) in the case of land comprised in an area defined by the plan as an area of comprehensive development, or of land contiguous or adjacent to any such area, that the land is required in order to secure the development or redevelopment of that area or that it is expedient in the public interest that the land should be held together with land so required, or

(b) in any other case, that it is necessary that the land should be acquired under this section for the purpose of securing its use in the manner proposed by the plan, he may authorise the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated to acquire the land compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) Where under the preceding subsection the Minister has power to authorise the council of a county borough or county district to acquire any land compulsorily, he may, if after consultation with that council, and, in the case of land in a county, with the council of that county, he thinks it expedient to do so, authorise the land to be so acquired by any other local authority instead of that council.

(3) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply to the compulsory acquisition of land under this section, and accordingly shall have effect as if this section had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act.

69.—(1) Where a building preservation order is in force in respect of a building, and it appears to the Minister that reasonable steps are not being taken for properly preserving the building, the Minister may authorise the council of the county or county borough or county district in which the building is situated to acquire compulsorily under this section the building and any land comprising or contiguous or adjacent to it which appears to the Minister to be required for preserving the building or its amenities, or for affording access to it, or for its proper control or management.

Compulsory acquisition of building comprised in building preservation order.

(2) Where a building preservation order is in force in respect of a building, and it appears to the Minister of Works that reasonable steps are not being taken for properly preserving the building, that Minister may be authorised under this section to acquire compulsorily the building and any land comprising or contiguous or adjacent to it which appears to him to be required as mentioned in the preceding subsection.

(3) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply to the compulsory acquisition of land under this section, and accordingly shall have effect—

- (a) as if this section had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act, and
- (b) as if references therein to the Minister of Transport and to the enactments specified in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one of that Act included respectively references to the Minister of Works and to the provisions of this section.

PART V

(4) Any person having an interest in a building which it is proposed to acquire compulsorily under this section may, within twenty-eight days after the service of the notice required to be served under paragraph 3 of the First Schedule to the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, apply to a magistrates' court acting for the petty sessions area within which the building to which the notice relates is situated for an order staying further proceedings on the compulsory purchase order; and, if the court is satisfied that reasonable steps are being taken for properly preserving the building, the court shall make an order accordingly.

(5) Any person aggrieved by the decision of a magistrates' court on an application under the last preceding subsection may appeal against that decision to a court of quarter sessions.

(6) Where a building is acquired under the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the council of the county or county borough or county district by whom the building is acquired shall observe the provisions of the building preservation order relating to that building.

Extinguishment of rights over land compulsorily acquired.

70.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, upon the completion by the acquiring authority of a compulsory acquisition of land under this Part of this Act, all private rights of way and rights of laying down, erecting, continuing or maintaining any apparatus on, under or over the land shall be extinguished, and any such apparatus shall vest in the acquiring authority.

(2) The preceding subsection shall not apply to any right vested in, or apparatus belonging to, statutory undertakers for the purpose of the carrying on of their undertaking.

(3) In respect of any right or apparatus not falling within the last preceding subsection, subsection (1) of this section shall have effect subject—

(a) to any direction given by the acquiring authority before the completion of the acquisition that subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to any right or apparatus specified in the direction, and

(b) to any agreement which may be made (whether before or after the completion of the acquisition) between the acquiring authority and the person in or to whom the right or apparatus in question is vested or belongs.

(4) Any person who suffers loss by the extinguishment of a right or the vesting of any apparatus under this section shall be entitled to compensation from the acquiring authority.

(5) Any compensation payable under this section shall be determined in accordance with the Land Compensation Act, 1961.

71.—(1) The council of any county, county borough or county district may acquire by agreement—

PART V
Acquisition of land by agreement.

- (a) any land (whether or not being land designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition) which they require for any purpose for which a local authority may be authorised to acquire land under section sixty-eight of this Act ;
- (b) any building in respect of which a building preservation order has been or could be made by the local planning authority, and any land comprising or contiguous or adjacent to it which appears to the Minister to be required for the purposes specified in subsection (1) of section sixty-nine of this Act.

(2) The powers conferred by the preceding subsection shall not be exercisable by a council except with the consent of the Minister, unless the land which is to be acquired either—

- (a) is immediately required by the council for the purpose for which it is to be acquired, or
- (b) if it is not so required, is land within the area of the council, and shall not be exercisable except with the consent of the Minister in respect of corporate land.

(3) The Lands Clauses Acts (except the provisions relating to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement and the provisions relating to access to the special Act, and except sections one hundred and twenty-seven to one hundred and thirty-two of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845) shall be incorporated with this section ; and in construing those Acts as so incorporated—

- (a) this section shall be deemed to be the special Act, and
- (b) references to the promoters of the undertaking shall be construed as references to the council authorised to acquire the land under this section.

72. Without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, any power of a local authority to acquire land thereunder, whether compulsorily or by agreement, shall include power to acquire land required for giving in exchange—

Acquisition of land for purposes of exchange.

- (a) for land appropriated under the next following section, or
- (b) for Green Belt land, within the meaning of the Green Belt (London and Home Counties) Act, 1938, appropriated in accordance with that Act for any purpose specified in a development plan.

Q*

PART V
Appropriation of land for planning purposes.

73.—(1) Any local authority may be authorised, by an order made by that authority and confirmed by the Minister, to appropriate for any purpose specified in a development plan (being a purpose for which that authority can be authorised to acquire land under any enactment) any land for the time being held by them for other purposes, being land which is or forms part of a common, open space or fuel or field garden allotment (including any such land which is specially regulated by any enactment, whether public general or local or private), other than land which is Green Belt land within the meaning of the Green Belt (London and Home Counties) Act, 1938.

(2) Paragraph 11 of the First Schedule to the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946 (which makes special provision with respect to compulsory purchase orders under that Act relating to land forming part of a common, open space or fuel or field garden allotment) shall apply to an order under this section authorising the appropriation of land as it applies to a compulsory purchase order under that Act.

(3) Section one hundred and sixty-three of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which contains general provisions as to the appropriation of land by local authorities) shall not apply to land which a local authority have power to appropriate under subsection (1) of this section.

(4) Where land appropriated under this section was acquired under an enactment incorporating the Lands Clauses Acts, any works executed on the land after the appropriation has been effected shall, for the purposes of section sixty-eight of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, be deemed to have been authorised by the enactment under which the land was acquired.

(5) On an appropriation of land by a local authority under this section, where—

- (a) the authority is not an authority to whom Part II of the Act of 1959 applies, or
- (b) the land was immediately before the appropriation held by the authority for the purposes of a grant-aided function within the meaning of the Act of 1959, or is appropriated by the authority for the purposes of such a function, or
- (c) the land, immediately before it was appropriated, was corporate land, there shall be made in the accounts of the local authority such adjustments as the Minister may direct.

(6) On an appropriation under this section which does not fall within the last preceding subsection, there shall be made such adjustment of accounts as is required by subsection (1) of section twenty-four of the Act of 1959.

Expedited completion of compulsory acquisition

PART V

74.—(1) Where, for the purposes of an acquisition under section sixty-eight of this Act, a local authority submit to the Minister a compulsory purchase order, and—

Order providing for expedited completion.

- (a) the order as submitted to the Minister includes an application for a direction under this section, and
- (b) the Minister is satisfied that it is urgently necessary in the public interest to empower that authority to enter upon any land (being the whole or part of the land to which the order relates) and to secure its vesting in them before the expiry of the time which would be required for the service of notices to treat, the Minister may include in the order as confirmed by him a direction that the provisions of this Part of this Act relating to expedited completion shall apply to the order so far as it relates to the first-mentioned land.

(2) A compulsory purchase order which contains such a direction shall be registered in the register of local land charges, in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made for the purposes of this section under subsection (6) of section fifteen of the Land Charges Act, 1925, by the proper officer of the council of each county borough or county district in which the land to which the direction relates or any part thereof is situated; and it shall be the duty of the local authority, as soon as may be after the order has become operative, to notify that fact to the proper officer of the council by whom it is required to be so registered, and to furnish him with all information relating to the order which is required for the purpose.

(3) Where a compulsory purchase order containing a direction under this section is made in respect of land which has sustained war damage, being damage which has not been made good before the date on which the order is registered under the last preceding subsection, the local authority, when they notify the fact that the order has become operative to the proper officer under the last preceding subsection, shall notify the War Damage Commission of that action having been taken.

75.—(1) The provisions of this and the next following section and of the Fourth Schedule to this Act shall have effect in relation to a compulsory purchase order which includes such a direction as is mentioned in subsection (1) of the last preceding section.

General effect of order providing for expedited completion.

(2) When the order becomes operative, the incorporated enactments shall apply as if, on the relevant date, a notice to treat had (except as provided by the next following section) been served on every person on whom under section eighteen of the

PART V

Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (on the assumption that the acquiring authority required to take the whole of the relevant land and had knowledge of all the parties referred to in that section) the authority could have served such a notice.

(3) Subject to the next following subsection, the acquiring authority, at any time or from time to time after the order becomes operative, may execute, in respect of any area consisting of the whole or part of the relevant land, a declaration designating that area and stating—

- (a) that they intend to enter upon the land in the designated area, and take possession thereof, at the end of such period as may be specified in the declaration (not being less than fourteen days) from the date on which the service of notices on occupiers required by subsection (5) of this section is completed, and
- (b) that the land in the designated area is to vest in the acquiring authority at the end of that period.

(4) A declaration under the last preceding subsection shall not be executed before the end of the period of two months from the date of the first publication of the notice of confirmation of the order as required by the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946:

Provided that the order may substitute a period longer than two months for the purposes of the operation of this subsection in relation to any land, or, if the order as submitted to the Minister so provided in respect of any land, may substitute a period shorter than two months for the purposes of the operation of this subsection in relation to that land.

(5) As soon as may be after executing a declaration under subsection (3) of this section, the acquiring authority shall serve—

- (a) on every occupier of any of the land in the area designated by the declaration (other than land excepted from this paragraph by the next following section), and
- (b) on every other person who has given information to the acquiring authority with respect to any land in that area, in pursuance of the invitation in that behalf required (in accordance with paragraph 2 of the Fourth Schedule to this Act) to be included in the notice of confirmation of the order, a notice describing the designated area and stating the effect of the declaration.

(6) At the end of the period specified in such a declaration in accordance with paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of this section there shall vest in the acquiring authority the right to enter upon, and take possession of, the land in the area designated by the declaration, or any of that land, without previous consent or compliance with sections eighty-four to ninety of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and the land in that area shall vest in the acquiring authority as if, at the end of that period,—

- (a) the circumstances in which under that Act the promoters of an undertaking have powers to execute a deed poll (whether for vesting land or any interest in land in themselves or for extinguishing the whole or part of any rent-service, rentcharge, chief or other rent, or other payment or incumbrance) had arisen in respect of all the land in the designated area and in respect of all interests in that land, and
- (b) the acquiring authority had duly exercised those powers accordingly:

Provided that, in relation to tenancies to which the next following section applies, this subsection shall have effect subject to the provisions of that section.

(7) In this section “the incorporated enactments” means the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts and the Land Compensation Act, 1961, as modified by the Second Schedule to the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, and by the provisions of this and the next following section and the Fourth Schedule to this Act, and the “relevant land”, in relation to a compulsory purchase order, means the aggregate of the land in respect of which it is directed by the order, in accordance with subsection (1) of the last preceding section, that the provisions of this Part of this Act relating to expedited completion shall apply to the order; and in this and the next following section “the relevant date”, in relation to any land, means the date on which the compulsory purchase order in question is registered under subsection (2) of the last preceding section by the proper officer of the council of the county borough or county district in which that land is situated.

76.—(1) The tenancies to which this section applies are minor tenancies and long tenancies which are about to expire.

Special provisions as to certain tenancies.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (2) of the last preceding section, no notice to treat shall by virtue of that subsection be taken to have been served on any person in respect of a tenancy to which this section applies.

(3) Land in which there subsists a tenancy to which this section applies is excepted from paragraph (a) of sub-section (5) of the last preceding section, and the reference in that paragraph to land excepted from that paragraph by this section shall be construed accordingly.

PART V

(4) Where any land in an area designated by a declaration under subsection (3) of the last preceding section is land in which a minor tenancy is subsisting, then (without prejudice to any power, exercisable by virtue of the Lands Clauses Acts, to require a tenant to give up possession) the right of entry conferred by subsection (6) of that section shall not be exercisable in respect of that land, and the vesting of the land in the acquiring authority by virtue of that subsection shall be subject to the tenancy during its subsistence.

(5) Where any land in an area designated by a declaration under subsection (3) of the last preceding section is land in which a long tenancy which is about to expire is subsisting—

- (a) the right of entry conferred by subsection (6) of the last preceding section shall not be exercisable in respect of that land unless the acquiring authority have served a notice to treat in respect of the tenancy and have thereafter served upon every occupier of any of the land in which the tenancy subsists a notice, stating that, at the end of such period as may be specified in that notice (not being less than fourteen days) from the date on which the notice is served, they intend to enter upon and take possession of such land as may be specified in that notice, and the period specified in the last-mentioned notice has expired, and
- (b) the vesting of the land in the acquiring authority shall be subject to the tenancy until the end of the period specified in the last-mentioned notice, or the cesser of the tenancy, whichever first occurs.

(6) In this section “minor tenancy” means a tenancy for a year or from year to year or any lesser interest.

(7) In this section “long tenancy which is about to expire” means a tenancy granted for an interest greater than a minor tenancy, but having at the relevant date a period still to run which is not more than the specified period (that is to say, such period, longer than one year, as may for the purposes of this subsection be specified in the order in relation to the land in which the tenancy subsists); and in determining for the purposes of this subsection what period a tenancy still has to run at the relevant date it shall be assumed—

- (a) that the tenant will exercise any option to renew the tenancy, and will not exercise any option to terminate the tenancy, then or thereafter available to him, and
- (b) that the landlord will exercise any option to terminate the tenancy then or thereafter available to him.

Powers exercisable in relation to land held for planning purposes, and other related powers

PART V

77.—(1) Where any land has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes and is for the time being held by the authority for the purposes for which it was so acquired or appropriated, the authority (subject to the following provisions of this section) may appropriate the land for any purpose for which they are or may be authorised in any capacity to acquire land by virtue of or under any enactment not contained in this Part of this Act. Appropriation of land held for planning purposes.

(2) The consent of the Minister shall be requisite to any appropriation under this section—

- (a) by an authority which is not an authority to whom Part II of the Act of 1959 applies, or
- (b) of land which, immediately before the appropriation, is land which consists or forms part of a common, or formerly consisted or formed part of a common, and is held or managed by a local authority in accordance with a local Act, or
- (c) of land which, immediately before the appropriation, is corporate land ; and any such consent may be given either in respect of a particular appropriation or in respect of appropriations of any class, and may be given either subject to or free from any conditions or limitations.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1959 (which makes provision as to the consent of Ministers to appropriations in certain cases) the power of appropriation conferred by subsection (1) of this section shall (except in respect of any exercise thereof in circumstances falling within the last preceding subsection) be deemed to be a power in relation to which subsection (1) of that section has effect.

(4) In relation to any appropriation under this section—

- (a) subsection (2) of section one hundred and sixty-three of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which relates to the operation of section sixty-eight of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845), and
- (b) subsections (5) and (6) of section seventy-three of this Act, shall have effect as they have effect in relation to appropriations under those sections respectively.

(5) In relation to any such land as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, this section shall have effect to the exclusion of the provisions of subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty-three of the Local Government Act, 1933.

PART V
Disposal of land held for planning purposes.

78.—(1) Where any land has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, and is for the time being held by the authority for the purposes for which it was so acquired or appropriated, the authority may dispose of the land to such person, in such manner and subject to such conditions as may appear to them to be expedient in order to secure the best use of that or other land and any buildings or works which have been, or are to be, erected, constructed or carried out thereon, whether by themselves or by any other person, or to secure the erection, construction or carrying out thereon of any buildings or works appearing to them to be needed for the proper planning of the area of the authority.

(2) The consent of the Minister shall be requisite to any disposal under this section—

- (a) by an authority which is not an authority to whom Part II of the Act of 1959 applies, or
- (b) of land comprised in an area defined by a development plan as an area of comprehensive development, or of land contiguous or adjacent to any such area which is designated by the development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition by the appropriate local authority, or
- (c) of land which, immediately before the disposal, is land which consists or forms part of a common, or formerly consisted or formed part of a common, and is held or managed by a local authority in accordance with a local Act, or
- (d) of land which, immediately before the disposal, is corporate land ;

and any such consent may be given either in respect of a particular disposal or in respect of disposals of any class, and may be given either subject to or free from any conditions or limitations.

(3) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) of section twenty-six of the Act of 1959 (which makes provision as to the consent of Ministers to disposals in certain cases), any disposal of land under this section shall be deemed to be a disposal which, apart from that section, could not be effected except with the consent of a Minister ; and for the purposes of subsection (4) of that section (which relates to disposals for a price, consideration or rent less than the best reasonably obtainable) the power of disposal conferred by subsection (1) of this section shall (except in respect of any exercise thereof in circumstances falling within the last preceding subsection) be deemed to be a power in relation to which subsection (1) of that section has effect.

(4) Subject to the next following subsection, if it appears to the Minister that it is expedient as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section that a local authority should dispose of land under this section to any person, and the authority have refused to dispose of it to him or are unable to reach agreement with him as to the manner in which, or the terms or conditions on or subject to which, it is to be disposed of to him, the Minister may, after consultation with the authority and that person, require the authority to offer to dispose of it to him, and give directions as to the manner of the disposal and as to all or any of the terms or conditions on or subject to which it is to be offered to him.

(5) A local authority shall not be required by any directions given under the last preceding subsection (except to such extent as may appear to the Minister to be requisite in any particular case for giving effect to subsection (7) of this section) to offer to dispose of land for a money consideration less than the best that can reasonably be obtained, having regard to the other terms and conditions on and subject to which the offer is to be made; and any difference as to what is the best consideration shall be referred to and determined by an arbitrator agreed between the Minister and the authority, or, in default of such agreement, shall be referred to and determined by the Lands Tribunal.

(6) In estimating the best consideration for the purposes of of the last preceding subsection, any amount which only a particular purchaser might be prepared to offer by reason of special needs of his shall be disregarded.

(7) In relation—

- (a) to land comprised in an area defined by a development plan as an area of comprehensive development, and
- (b) to land contiguous or adjacent to any such area which is designated by the development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition by the appropriate local authority, the powers conferred by this section on a local authority, and on the Minister in respect of the giving of consent to disposals under this section, shall be so exercised as to secure, so far as may be practicable, to persons who were living or carrying on business or other activities on any such land which the authority have acquired as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, who desire to obtain accommodation on such land, and who are willing to comply with any requirements of the authority as to the development and use of such land, an opportunity to obtain thereon accommodation suitable to their reasonable requirements, on terms settled with due regard to the price at which any such land has been acquired from them.

In this subsection "development" includes redevelopment.

(8) Subject to the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act of 1959 (which enables capital money in certain cases to be applied without the consent or approval of a Minister which would otherwise be required) and to the provisions of subsection (6) of section thirty of that Act in so far as it relates to the application of capital money received in respect of corporate land, section one hundred and sixty-six of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which relates to the application of capital money received from the disposal of land) shall have effect in relation to capital money received in respect of transactions under this section as it has effect in relation to capital money received in respect of such transactions as are mentioned in that section.

(9) In relation to any such land as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, this section shall have effect to the exclusion of sections one hundred and sixty-four and one hundred and sixty-five of the Local Government Act, 1933.

Development of land held for planning purposes.

79.—(1) The functions of a local authority shall include power for the authority, notwithstanding any limitation imposed by law on the capacity of the authority by virtue of its constitution, to erect, construct or carry out any building or work on any land to which this section applies, not being a building or work for the erection, construction or carrying out of which, whether by that local authority or by any other person, statutory power exists by virtue of, or could be conferred under, an alternative enactment.

(2) This section applies to any land which has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes and is for the time being held by the authority for the purposes for which it was so acquired or appropriated.

(3) The consent of the Minister shall be requisite to any exercise by a local authority of the power conferred on them by subsection (1) of this section; and any such consent may be given either in respect of a particular operation or in respect of operations of any class, and either subject to or free from any conditions or limitations.

(4) Where a local authority propose to carry out any operation which they would have power to carry out by virtue only of subsection (1) of this section, they shall notify the Minister of their proposal, and the Minister may direct such advertisement by the authority as appears to him to be requisite for the purposes of the last preceding subsection.

(5) The functions of a local authority shall include power for the authority, notwithstanding any such limitation as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, to repair, maintain and insure any buildings or works on land to which this section applies, and generally to deal therewith in a proper course of management.

(6) A local authority may, with the consent of the Minister, enter into arrangements with an authorised association for the carrying out by the association of any operation which, apart from the arrangements, the local authority would have power under this section to carry out, on such terms (including terms as to the making of payments or loans by the authority to the association) as may be specified in the arrangements :

Provided that nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising such an association to carry out any operation which they would not have power to carry out apart from this subsection.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising any act or omission on the part of a local authority which is actionable at the suit of any person on any grounds other than such a limitation as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

(8) In this section “ alternative enactment ” means any enactment which is not contained in this Part of this Act or in section two, section five or section fourteen of the Local Employment Act, 1960, and “ authorised association ” means any society, company or body of persons approved by the Minister whose objects include the promotion, formation or management of garden cities, garden suburbs or garden villages, and the erection, improvement or management of buildings for the working classes and others, and which does not trade for profit or whose constitution forbids the issue of any share or loan capital with interest or dividend exceeding the rate for the time being fixed by the Treasury.

80.—(1) In the exercise of the powers of appropriation, disposal and development conferred by the provisions of sections seventy-seven and seventy-eight of this Act, and of subsection (1) of the last preceding section, a local authority shall have regard to the desirability of preserving features of special architectural or historic interest, and in particular, listed buildings ; and the Minister shall not give his consent to the appropriation or disposal thereunder of any land comprising a listed building, or to the erection, construction or carrying out of any building or work on any such land, unless either—

Special provisions as to features and buildings of architectural or historic interest.

- (a) the consent is given subject to such conditions or limitations as in the opinion of the Minister will secure the preservation of the listed building, or
- (b) the Minister, after giving the requisite notice of the application for his consent, is satisfied that the purpose which the local authority seek to achieve by the proposed exercise of their powers is one which ought in the public interest to be carried out, and that the carrying out of that purpose, whether by the use of the land in question or otherwise, either—

(i) would be prevented by the preservation of the listed building, or

(ii) would be so affected by the preservation thereof that, notwithstanding the desirability of preserving the building, it is inexpedient to do so.

(2) For the purposes of paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection the requisite notice of an application for the consent of the Minister is a notice which—

(a) contains such particulars of the appropriation, disposal or operation for which his consent is sought as appear to him to be requisite, and

(b) not less than twenty-eight days before he gives his decision on the application, is published in the London Gazette and, in each of two successive weeks, in one or more newspapers circulating in the locality in which the land is situated.

(3) In this section “preservation”, in relation to a building, means the preservation thereof either in its existing state or subject only to such alterations or extensions as can be carried out without serious detriment to its character, “development” includes redevelopment, and “listed building” means a building included in any list compiled or approved under section thirty-two of this Act.

override easements and other rights.

81.—(1) The erection, construction or carrying out, or maintenance, of any building or work on land which has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, whether done by the local authority or by a person deriving title under them, is authorised by virtue of this section if it is done in accordance with planning permission, notwithstanding that it involves interference with an interest or right to which this section applies, or involves a breach of a restriction as to the user of land arising by virtue of a contract:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall authorise interference with any right of way or right of laying down, erecting, continuing or maintaining apparatus on, under or over land, being a right vested in or belonging to statutory undertakers for the purpose of the carrying on of their undertaking.

(2) This section applies to the following interests and rights, that is to say, any easement, liberty, privilege, right or advantage annexed to land and adversely affecting other land, including any natural right to support.

PART V

(3) In respect of any interference or breach in pursuance of subsection (1) of this section, compensation shall be payable under section sixty-three or section sixty-eight of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, to be assessed in the same manner and subject to the same rules as in the case of other compensation under those sections in respect of injurious affection where the compensation is to be estimated in connection with a purchase under that Act or the injury arises from the execution of works on land acquired under that Act.

(4) Where a person deriving title under the local authority by whom the land in question was acquired or appropriated is liable to pay compensation by virtue of the last preceding subsection, and fails to discharge that liability, the liability shall be enforceable against the local authority:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall be construed as affecting any agreement between the local authority and any other person for indemnifying the local authority against any liability under this subsection.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising any act or omission on the part of any person which is actionable at the suit of any person on any grounds other than such an interference or breach as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

82.—(1) Any consecrated land, whether or not including a building, which has been acquired by a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers under this Part of this Act, or which has been appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, may, subject to the following provisions of this section,—

Use and development of consecrated land and burial grounds.

(a) in the case of land acquired by a Minister, be used in any manner by him or on his behalf for any purpose for which he acquired the land, and

(b) in any other case, be used by any person in any manner in accordance with planning permission, notwithstanding any obligation or restriction imposed under ecclesiastical law or otherwise in respect of consecrated land:

Provided that this subsection does not apply to land which consists or forms part of a burial ground.

(2) Any use of consecrated land authorised by the preceding subsection, and the use of any land, not being consecrated land, acquired or appropriated as therein mentioned which at the time of acquisition or appropriation included a church or other building used or formerly used for religious worship or the site thereof, shall be subject to compliance with the prescribed requirements with respect to the removal and reinterment of any human remains, and the disposal of monuments and fixtures and furnishings; and, in the case of consecrated land, shall be subject to such provisions as may be prescribed for prohibiting or restricting the use of the land, either absolutely or until the prescribed consent has been obtained, so long as any church or other building used or formerly used for religious worship, or any part thereof, remains on the land.

(3) Any regulations made for the purposes of the last preceding subsection—

- (a) shall contain such provisions as appear to the Minister to be requisite for securing that any use of land which is subject to compliance with the regulations shall, as nearly as may be, be subject to the like control as is imposed by law in the case of a similar use authorised by an enactment not contained in this Act or by a Measure, or as it would be proper to impose on a disposal of the land in question otherwise than in pursuance of an enactment or Measure;
- (b) shall contain requirements relating to the disposal of any such land as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection such as appear to the Minister requisite for securing that the provisions of that subsection shall be complied with in relation to the use of the land; and
- (c) may contain such incidental and consequential provisions (including provision as to the closing of registers) as appear to the Minister to be expedient for the purposes of the regulations.

(4) Any land consisting of a burial ground or part of a burial ground, which has been acquired or appropriated as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, may—

- (a) in the case of land acquired by a Minister, be used in any manner by him or on his behalf for any purpose for which he acquired the land, and
- (b) in any other case, be used by any person in any manner in accordance with planning permission, notwithstanding anything in any enactment relating to burial grounds or any obligation or restriction imposed under ecclesiastical law or otherwise in respect of burial grounds:

Provided that this subsection shall not have effect in respect of any land which has been used for the burial of the dead until the prescribed requirements with respect to the removal and reinterment of human remains, and the disposal of monuments, in or upon the land have been complied with.

(5) Provision shall be made by any regulations made for the purposes of subsection (2) of this section and the proviso to the last preceding subsection—

- (a) for requiring the persons in whom the land is vested to publish notice of their intention to carry out the removal and reinterment of any human remains or the disposal of any monuments ;
- (b) for enabling the personal representatives or relatives of any deceased person themselves to undertake the removal and reinterment of the remains of the deceased, and the disposal of any monument commemorating the deceased, and for requiring the persons in whom the land is vested to defray the expenses of such removal, reinterment and disposal, not exceeding such amount as may be prescribed ;
- (c) for requiring compliance with such reasonable conditions (if any) as may be imposed, in the case of consecrated land, by the bishop of the diocese, with respect to the manner of removal, and the place and manner of reinterment of any human remains, and the disposal of any monuments, and with any directions given in any case by the Secretary of State with respect to the removal and reinterment of any human remains.

(6) Subject to the provisions of any such regulations, no faculty shall be required for the removal and reinterment in accordance with the regulations of any human remains, or for the removal or disposal of any monuments, and the provisions of section twenty-five of the Burial Act, 1857 (which prohibits the removal of human remains without the licence of the Secretary of State except in certain cases) shall not apply to a removal carried out in accordance with the regulations.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising any act or omission on the part of any person which is actionable at the suit of any person on any grounds other than contravention of any such obligation, restriction or enactment as is mentioned in subsection (1) or subsection (4) of this section.

(8) In this section “burial ground” includes any churchyard, cemetery or other ground, whether consecrated or not, which has at any time been set apart for the purposes of interment, and “monument” includes a tombstone or other memorial.

83.—(1) Any land being, or forming part of, a common, open space or fuel or field garden allotment, which has been acquired by a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers under this Part of this Act, or which has been appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, may—

Use and development of land for open spaces.

PART V

(a) in the case of land acquired by a Minister, be used in any manner by him or on his behalf for any purpose for which he acquired the land, and

(b) in any other case, be used by any person in any manner in accordance with planning permission, notwithstanding anything in any enactment relating to land of that kind, or in any enactment by which the land is specially regulated.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorising any act or omission on the part of any person which is actionable at the suit of any person on any grounds other than contravention of any such enactment as is mentioned in the preceding subsection.

Displacement of persons from land acquired or appropriated.

84.—(1) Where any land has been acquired or appropriated for planning purposes and is for the time being held by a local authority for the purposes for which it was acquired or appropriated, and the carrying out of redevelopment on the land will involve the displacement of persons residing in premises thereon, it shall be the duty of the authority, in so far as there is no other residential accommodation suitable to the reasonable requirements of those persons available on reasonable terms, to secure the provision of such accommodation in advance of the displacements from time to time becoming necessary as the redevelopment proceeds.

(2) Section one hundred and forty-four of the Housing Act, 1957 (which imposes obligations as to the provision of housing accommodation where land is acquired under statutory powers) shall not have effect in relation to an acquisition by a local authority under section sixty-eight of this Act.

(3) If the Minister certifies that possession of a house which has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, and is for the time being held by the authority for the purposes for which it was acquired or appropriated, is immediately required for those purposes, nothing in the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts, 1920 to 1939, shall prevent the acquiring or appropriating authority from obtaining possession of the house.

(4) Where any land has been acquired by a Minister under this Part of this Act, or has been acquired or appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, and that Minister or the local authority in question, as the case may be, requires possession of a building on the land, or of part of such a building, for the purposes for which the land was acquired or appropriated, then, whatever may be the value or rent of the building or part of a building, that Minister or authority may obtain possession thereof under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838, at any time after the tenancy of the occupier has expired or has been determined.

PART V

(5) Where any land has been acquired by a Minister or a local authority under this Part of this Act, or has been appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, that Minister or the local authority in question, as the case may be,—

- (a) may pay to any person who is displaced in the carrying out of redevelopment on the land such reasonable allowance as he or they think fit towards his expenses in removing, and
- (b) may pay to a person carrying on any business in a building from which he is so displaced such reasonable allowance as he or they think fit towards the loss which, in his or their opinion, that person will sustain by reason of the disturbance to his business consequent on his having to quit the building.

(6) In estimating loss for the purposes of paragraph (b) of the last preceding subsection, the Minister or local authority in question shall have regard to the period for which the premises occupied by the person referred to in that paragraph might reasonably have been expected to be available for the purpose of that person's business, and to the availability of other premises suitable for that purpose.

85.—(1) If it appears to the Minister, after consultation with the local authorities concerned, to be expedient that any land acquired by a local authority for planning purposes should be held by a joint body, consisting of representatives of that authority and of any other local authority, he may by order provide for the establishment of such a joint body and for the transfer to that body of the land so acquired.

Constitution of joint body to hold land acquired for planning purposes

(2) Any order under this section providing for the establishment of a joint body may make such provision as the Minister considers expedient with respect to the constitution and functions of that body, including provisions—

- (a) for incorporating the joint body ;
- (b) for conferring on them, in relation to land transferred to them as mentioned in the preceding subsection, any of the powers conferred on local authorities by this Part of this Act in relation to land acquired and held by such authorities for the purposes of this Part of this Act ;
- (c) for determining the manner in which their expenses are to be defrayed.

(3) Regulations under this Act may make such provision consequential upon or supplementary to the provisions of this section as appears to the Minister to be necessary or expedient.

PART V

Supplementary provisions

Modification of incorporated enactments for purposes of Part V.

86.—(1) Where any land is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition, and a compulsory purchase order relating to that land is submitted to the confirming authority in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to the Act of 1946, or, as the case may be, is made in draft by a Minister in accordance with Part II of that Schedule, the confirming authority or that Minister, as the case may be, may disregard for the purposes of that Schedule any objection to the order or draft which, in the opinion of that authority or Minister, amounts in substance to an objection to the provisions of the development plan defining the proposed use of that or any other land.

(2) Where a compulsory purchase order authorising the acquisition of any land under section sixty-eight of this Act is submitted to the Minister in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to the Act of 1946, then if the Minister—

- (a) is satisfied that the order ought to be confirmed so far as it relates to part of the land comprised therein, but
- (b) has not for the time being determined whether it ought to be confirmed so far as it relates to any other such land, he may confirm the order so far as it relates to the land mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection, and give directions postponing consideration of the order, so far as it relates to any other land specified in the directions, until such time as may be so specified.

(3) Where the Minister gives directions under the last preceding subsection, the notices required by paragraph 6 of the First Schedule to the Act of 1946 to be published and served shall include a statement of the effect of the directions.

(4) Paragraph 9 of the First Schedule to the Act of 1946 (which makes special provision in relation to the compulsory acquisition of land of local authorities and statutory undertakers and inalienable land of the National Trust) shall not apply to land which is designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition.

(5) Regulations made under this Act may make provision for securing that any proceedings required by the First Schedule to the Act of 1946 to be taken for the purposes of the compulsory acquisition of any land under this Act may be taken concurrently with any proceedings required by or under this Act to be taken in connection with the approval, making or amendment of a development plan designating that land as subject to compulsory acquisition.

(6) In construing the Lands Clauses Acts as incorporated (by virtue of paragraph 1 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946) with any of the provisions of this Part of this Act—

- (a) references to the execution of the works shall be construed as including references to any erection, construction or carrying out of buildings or works authorised by section eighty-one of this Act ;
- (b) in relation to the erection, construction or carrying out of any buildings or works so authorised, references in section sixty-eight of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, to the promoters of the undertaking shall (notwithstanding anything in sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph 1 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946) be construed as references to the person by whom the buildings or works in question are erected, constructed or carried out ; and
- (c) references to the execution of the works shall be construed as including also references to any erection, construction or carrying out of buildings or works on behalf of a Minister or statutory undertakers on land acquired by that Minister or those undertakers, where the buildings or works are erected, constructed or carried out for the purposes for which the land was acquired.

(7) In this section “ the Act of 1946 ” means the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946.

87.—(1) In this Part of this Act any reference to the acquisition of land for planning purposes is a reference to the acquisition thereof under section sixty-eight or section seventy-one of this Act, and any reference to the appropriation of land for planning purposes is a reference to the appropriation thereof for purposes for which land can be acquired under those sections.

Interpretation of Part V.

(2) In relation to a local authority or body corporate, nothing in sections eighty-one to eighty-three of this Act shall be construed as authorising any act or omission on their part in contravention of any limitation imposed by law on their capacity by virtue of the constitution of the authority or body.

(3) Any power conferred by section eighty-two or section eighty-three of this Act to use land in a manner therein mentioned shall be construed as a power so to use the land, whether it involves the erection, construction or carrying out of any building or work, or the maintenance of any building or work, or not.

PART VI

COMPENSATION FOR PLANNING DECISIONS RESTRICTING
NEW DEVELOPMENT*Unexpended balance of established development value*Scope of
Part VI.

88.—(1) The provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect for enabling compensation to be claimed in respect of planning decisions whereby permission for the carrying out of new development of land to which this section applies is refused or is granted subject to conditions.

(2) This section applies to any land in respect of which planning permission is refused or is granted subject to conditions, by a planning decision if, at the time of the planning decision, that land, or part of that land, has an unexpended balance of established development value.

(3) In accordance with the proviso to subsection (2) of section twenty of this Act, that subsection does not apply for the purposes of this Part of this Act.

(4) In this Part of this Act “interest” (where the reference is to an interest in land) means the fee simple or a tenancy of the land, and does not include any other interest therein; and any reference to the local planning authority, in relation to a planning decision made on behalf of that authority by another authority, by virtue of the delegation of any functions of the local planning authority to that other authority, shall be construed as a reference to that other authority.

Derivation of unexpended balance from claims under Part VI of
Act of 1947.

89.—(1) In determining, for the purposes of this Part of this Act, whether land has an unexpended balance of established development value, regard shall be had to claims made, in pursuance of Part VI of the Act of 1947, for payments under the scheme provided for by section fifty-eight of that Act (that is to say, the scheme which, but for the provisions of section two of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1953, would have fallen to be made under the said section fifty-eight, providing for payments in respect of interests in land depreciated in value by virtue of the provisions of the Act of 1947).

(2) Where such a claim was made in respect of an interest in land, that claim shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act be taken to have been established in respect of that land under Part VI of the Act of 1947 if an amount was determined under the said Part VI as being the development value of the interest to which the claim related, and payment in respect of that interest would not have been excluded—

(a) by section sixty-three of the Act of 1947 (which excluded claims where the development value was small in proportion to the area, or to the restricted value, of the land), or

- (b) by any of sections eighty-two to eighty-five of that Act (which related to certain land belonging to local authorities, development corporations and statutory undertakers, and to land held on charitable trusts), or
- (c) by section eighty-four of that Act as applied by regulations under section ninety of that Act (which related to the National Coal Board).

(3) In this Part of this Act "established claim" means a claim which by virtue of the last preceding subsection is to be taken to have been established as therein mentioned, and references to the establishment of a claim shall be construed accordingly; and "the claim area", in relation to an established claim, means the land in respect of which the claim is by virtue of that subsection to be taken to have been established.

(4) References in this Part of this Act to the benefit of an established claim—

- (a) in relation to any time before the passing of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1953, whether before or after the making of the claim, or before or after the establishment thereof, shall be construed as references to the prospective right, under and subject to the provisions of the scheme referred to in subsection (1) of this section, to receive a payment in respect of the interest in land to which the claim related, and
- (b) in relation to any time after the passing of the said Act of 1953, shall be construed as references to such prospective right to the satisfaction of the claim as subsisted by virtue of section two of that Act immediately before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five (being the date of the commencement of the Act of 1954); and references to part of the benefit of an established claim shall be construed accordingly.

(5) References in this Part of this Act to the amount of an established claim are references to the amount determined under Part VI of the Act of 1947 as being the development value of the interest in land to which the claim related.

(6) In this section any reference to Part VI of the Act of 1947 includes a reference to the provisions of the said Part VI as modified by the First Schedule to the Act of 1954.

90.—(1) In this Part of this Act "original unexpended balance of established development value", in relation to any land, means the unexpended balance of established development value which that land had immediately after the time when, in accordance with section ninety-two of this Act, the adjustment of claim holdings is deemed to have been completed.

Original unexpended balance of established development value.

PART VI

(2) For the purposes of this Part of this Act land shall be taken to have had such a balance if, immediately after the time referred to in the preceding subsection,—

- (a) there were subsisting one or more claim holdings whose area consisted of that land, or included that land together with other land, and
- (b) there was not subsisting any claim holding whose area consisted of part only of that land, whether with or without other land.

(3) Where the last preceding subsection applies, there shall be attributed to the land referred to in that subsection—

- (a) the value of any claim holding having an area consisting of that land, and
- (b) such fraction of the value of any claim holding whose area included that land as attached to that land, and the original unexpended balance of established development value of that land shall be taken to have been an amount equal to eight-sevenths of the amount or aggregate amount so attributed.

Claim holdings, their areas and values.

91.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this and the next following section, in this Part of this Act—

- (a) “claim holding” means the benefit of an established claim, references to the area of a claim holding are references to the land which, in relation to the established claim constituting that holding, is the claim area, and references to the value of a claim holding are references to the amount of the established claim constituting that holding; and
- (b) references to the fraction of the value of a claim holding which attached to a part of the area of the holding are references to so much of the amount of the established claim of which that holding represents the benefit or part of the benefit (in this section referred to as “the relevant established claim”) as was properly attributable to that part of the area of the holding.

(2) In the case of a claim holding where—

- (a) the area of the holding is the same as the claim area of the relevant established claim, but
- (b) the value of the claim holding is, by virtue of the adjustment of claim holdings, less than the amount of the relevant established claim, the amount of any such fraction as is referred to in paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection shall be treated as reduced proportionately.

(3) In the case of a claim holding where—

PART VI

- (a) the area of the holding consists of part only of the claim area of the relevant established claim, and
- (b) the value of the holding is, by virtue of the adjustment of claim holdings, less or greater than so much of the amount of the relevant established claim as was properly attributable to the area of the holding, the amount of any such fraction as is referred to in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section shall be treated as reduced, or (as the case may be) increased, proportionately.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the part of the amount of the relevant established claim which was properly attributable to any land forming part of the claim area shall be taken to have been so much of the amount of that claim as might reasonably be expected to have been attributed to that land, if the authority determining that amount had been required to apportion it, in accordance with the same principles as applied to its determination, between that land and the residue of the claim area.

92.—(1) The provisions of the Fifth Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purposes of this Part of this Act; and any reference in this Part of this Act to the adjustment of claim holdings is a reference to the operation of those provisions. Adjustment of claim holdings.

(2) For the purposes of this Part of this Act the adjustment of claim holdings shall be deemed to have been completed on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five.

93. Where in accordance with section ninety of this Act land had an original unexpended balance of established development value, then, subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, that land shall be taken— General provision for continuance of original unexpended balance.

- (a) to have continued to have that balance until the commencement of this Act, and
- (b) to continue to have that balance at all times thereafter.

94.—(1) Where at any time compensation becomes payable under this Part of this Act, or became payable under Part II of the Act of 1954, in respect of depreciation of the value of an interest in land by a planning decision, then, for the purpose of determining whether that land or any part thereof has or had an unexpended balance of established development value at any subsequent time, the amount of the compensation shall be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of that land, and the original unexpended balance of that land or that part thereof shall be treated as having been reduced or extinguished accordingly immediately before that subsequent time. Reduction or extinguishment of balance in consequence of compensation.

PART VI

(2) The preceding subsection shall have effect subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act relating to the recovery of compensation on subsequent development.

Reduction or extinguishment of balance on initiation of new development.

95.—(1) Where in accordance with section ninety of this Act land had an original unexpended balance of established development value, and at any time on or after the appointed day (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) any new development of that land is or was initiated, then (subject to the following provisions of this section) for the purpose of determining whether that land or any part thereof has or had an unexpended balance of established development value at any subsequent time,—

- (a) if the development relates or related only to that land, the value of that development (ascertained, with reference to that subsequent time, in accordance with the provisions of the Sixth Schedule to this Act), or
- (b) if the development relates or related to that land together with other land, so much of the value of that development (so ascertained) as is or was attributable to that land, shall be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of that land, and the original unexpended balance of that land or that part thereof shall be treated as having been reduced or extinguished accordingly immediately before that subsequent time.

(2) The preceding subsection shall not apply to any land if, in respect of any interest therein, a payment has become or becomes payable under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947 (which provided for payments in respect of certain war-damaged land).

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section no account shall be taken of any development initiated before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, if—

- (a) a development charge under Part VII of the Act of 1947 was determined to be payable in respect thereof, or would have fallen to be so determined but for any exemption conferred by regulations under that Part of that Act, or by any provisions of Part VIII of that Act, or
- (b) in a certificate issued under section fifty-eight of the Act of 1954 (which related to monopoly value of licensed premises) it was certified that a development charge could have been determined to be payable in respect of that development if the circumstances referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) of that section had not existed.

96.—(1) Where in the case of—*PART VI

- (a) a compulsory acquisition to which this section applies, or
(b) a sale of an interest in land by agreement in circumstances corresponding to such an acquisition,

Reduction or extin-guishment of balance on acquisition of land under compulsory powers.

any of the land in which the interest acquired or sold subsists or subsisted has or had an unexpended balance of established development value immediately before the relevant date (in this section referred to as "the relevant balance") the following provisions of this section shall have effect for the purpose of determining whether that land or any part thereof has or had an unexpended balance of established development value at any subsequent time.

(2) This section applies—

- (a) to every compulsory acquisition of an interest in land in pursuance of a notice to treat served on or after the thirtieth day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, and
(b) to every compulsory acquisition of an interest in land, in pursuance of a notice to treat served on or after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, but before the said thirtieth day of October, by an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers, being at that time a government department or local or public authority within the meaning of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, or a person or body of persons to whom that Act applied as it applied to such a department or authority.

(3) Unless, immediately after the acquisition or sale, there is or was outstanding some interest (other than an excepted interest) in the land to which some person other than the acquiring authority is or was entitled, the original unexpended balance of established development of that land shall be treated as having been extinguished immediately before the subsequent time referred to in subsection (1) of this section.

(4) If, immediately after the acquisition or sale, there is or was such an outstanding interest (other than an excepted interest) as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection, there shall be deducted from the said original balance an amount equal to any part of the relevant balance which is or was not attributable to any such outstanding interest, and the original unexpended balance of established development value of the land or the part thereof in question shall be treated as having been reduced or extinguished accordingly immediately before that subsequent time.

R

PART VI

(5) For the purposes of this section any question as to the portion of the relevant balance which is or was attributable to an interest in land—

- (a) in relation to a compulsory acquisition to which this section applies, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Seventh Schedule to this Act, and
- (b) in relation to a sale of an interest in land by agreement in circumstances corresponding to such an acquisition, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of that Schedule as those provisions would apply if the sale had been a compulsory acquisition in pursuance of a notice to treat served on the relevant date.

(6) Any reference in this or the next following section to a sale of an interest in land by agreement in circumstances corresponding to a compulsory acquisition to which this section applies is a reference to a sale thereof—

- (a) to an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers, in pursuance of a contract made on or after the thirtieth day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, or
- (b) to such an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section, in pursuance of a contract made on or after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, but before the said thirtieth day of October.

(7) In this section “the relevant date” means the date of service of the notice to treat or the date of the contract in pursuance of which the interest was sold, as the case may be, and “excepted interest” means the interest of any such person as is mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-one of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (which relates to persons having no greater interest than as tenant for a year or from year to year).

Reduction or extinguishment of balance in consequence of severance or injurious affection.

97.—(1) Where in connection with—

- (a) a compulsory acquisition to which the last preceding section applies, or
- (b) a sale of an interest in land by agreement in circumstances corresponding to such an acquisition, compensation is or was payable, or an amount is or was included in the purchase price, in respect of an interest in land other than the relevant land (in this section referred to as “the interest affected”), for damage sustained by reason that the relevant land is or was severed from other land held therewith, or that any other land (whether held with the relevant land or not) is or was injuriously affected, then (subject to the following provisions of this section) for the purpose of determining whether that other land or any part thereof has or had an unexpended balance of established development value at any subsequent time, there shall be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of that other land an amount calculated in accordance with the following provisions of this section, and the original unexpended balance of that land, or of the part thereof in question, as the case may be, shall be treated as having been reduced or extinguished accordingly immediately before that subsequent time.

(2) In the case of an acquisition or sale in pursuance of a notice to treat served, or contract made, on or after the thirtieth day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight, the amount to be deducted, as mentioned in the preceding subsection, shall be the amount (if any) by which the compensation payable, or amount included in the purchase price, as therein mentioned exceeds or exceeded the compensation which would have been so payable, or the amount which would have been so included, if the extent of the damage sustained in respect of the other land in question had fallen to be ascertained on the assumption that planning permission would not be granted for any new development of that land, but would be granted for any development thereof other than new development.

(3) The following provisions of this section shall have effect with respect to any such acquisition or sale as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, being an acquisition or sale in pursuance of a notice to treat served, or contract made, before the thirtieth day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight; and any such acquisition or sale is hereinafter referred to as an acquisition or sale to which this subsection applies.

(4) No such deduction as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section shall be made in the case of an acquisition or sale to which the last preceding subsection applies unless—

- (a) where it was a compulsory acquisition, an amount was paid by way of compensation as mentioned in the said subsection (1);
- (b) the amount which was so paid, or, in the case of a sale by agreement, was included in the purchase price as mentioned in the said subsection (1) (hereafter in this section referred to as “the sum paid for severance or injurious affection”) exceeded the loss of immediate value of the interest affected; and

(c) where it was a sale by agreement, the other land in question was held with the relevant land.

(5) Subject to the last preceding subsection, the amount to be deducted as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, in the case of an acquisition or sale to which subsection (3) of this section applies, shall be the amount by which the sum paid for severance or injurious affection exceeded the loss of immediate value of the interest affected.

(6) The following provisions of this subsection shall have effect, in the case of an acquisition or sale to which subsection (3) of this section applies, where so much (if any) of the sum paid for severance or injurious affection as was attributable to the loss of immediate value of the interest affected was less than the depreciation in restricted value of that interest, that is to say,—

- (a) the amount of the difference shall be ascertained, and
- (b) for the purpose of determining whether, at any time after the acquisition or sale, the land in which the interest affected subsisted or any part thereof had or has an unexpended balance of established development value (whether or not that land or any part thereof would apart from this subsection have had an original unexpended balance of established development value) a claim holding with an area consisting of that land and a value equal to seven-eighths of the amount of the difference shall be deemed to have subsisted immediately after the time when the adjustment of claim holdings was completed.

(7) In this section—

“the loss of immediate value” means the amount (if any) by which the difference in the value of the interest affected, immediately before and immediately after the acquisition or sale, exceeded the loss of development value ;

“the loss of development value” means the amount (if any) by which the value of the interest affected immediately before the acquisition or sale, if calculated on the assumption that, until such time as the land in which that interest subsisted might reasonably be expected to become ripe for new development, no use whatever could be made of that land, would have exceeded the value of that interest immediately after the acquisition or sale if calculated on the like assumption ;

“the depreciation in restricted value” means the amount (if any) by which the value of the interest affected, immediately after the acquisition or sale, would have been less than the value of that interest immediately before the acquisition or sale, if both values were calculated on the assumption that planning permission would not be granted for any new development of that land, but would be granted for any development thereof other than new development ;

“ the relevant land ”, in relation to an acquisition or sale, means the land in which the interest acquired or sold subsisted.

98.—(1) Where, immediately after the time when the adjustment of claim holdings was completed, any land taken as a whole had an original unexpended balance of established development value, and at any time thereafter (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) an act or event occurs or has occurred in relation to part of that land such that, in accordance with any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, an amount is required to be deducted from the original unexpended balance of that part of that land for the purpose of determining whether it has or had an unexpended balance of established development value at any subsequent time, then (without prejudice to the operation of any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act with respect to any part of the land taken separately) the land taken as a whole shall be treated as not having (or as not having had) any such balance at that subsequent time.

Supplementary provisions as to deductions from original balance.

(2) Where in accordance with any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act an amount is required to be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of any land, there shall be attributed to the various parts of that land so much of that amount as might reasonably be expected to have been attributed thereto if the authority determining the amount had been required to apportion it between those parts in accordance with the same principles as applied to its determination.

(3) Where two or more acts or events occur or have occurred in relation to the same land (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) such that, in accordance with any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, an amount is required to be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of that land or any part thereof, those provisions shall apply cumulatively, and the requisite deduction from the original unexpended balance of established development value of that land shall be made by reference to each of those acts or events.

PART VI
Provision of information relating to unexpended
balance.

99.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Minister shall, on application being made to him by any person, and may if he thinks fit without any such application, issue a certificate in the prescribed form with respect to any land stating whether any of that land had an original unexpended balance of established development value, and, if so,—

- (a) giving a general statement of what was taken by the Central Land Board, for the purposes of Part VI of the Act of 1947, to be the state of that land on the appointed day, and
- (b) specifying (subject to any outstanding claims under Part I or Part V of the Act of 1954) the amount of that original balance.

(2) Any such certificate issued with respect to any land may, if the Minister thinks fit, contain additional information with respect to acts or events in consequence of which, in accordance with any of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, an amount is required to be deducted from the original unexpended balance of established development value of any of that land.

(3) Where, at any time on or after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five (whether before or after the commencement of this Act), a notice to treat has been served with a view to the compulsory acquisition of an interest in land by an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers, that authority may apply to the Minister for, and shall be entitled to the issue of, a certificate showing the unexpended balance of established development value (if any) of any of that land immediately before the service of that notice.

(4) Where the issue of a certificate under this section with respect to any land involves a new apportionment, or, in the case of a certificate under the last preceding subsection, involves the calculation of a deduction from the original unexpended balance of established development value by virtue of section ninety-five of this Act, then—

- (a) except in the case of a certificate under the last preceding subsection, or of a certificate which the Minister proposes to issue without any application being made for it, the certificate shall not be issued otherwise than on the application of a person who is for the time being entitled to an interest in that land ;
- (b) before issuing the certificate, the Minister shall give notice in writing to any person entitled to an interest in land appearing to him to be an interest which will be substantially affected by the apportionment or calculation, giving particulars of the proposed apportionment or calculation, and stating that objections or other representations with respect thereto may be made to the Minister within the period of thirty days from the date of the notice ; and

- (c) the certificate shall not be issued before the end of that period, and if within that period an objection to the proposed apportionment or calculation has been made by any person to whom notice has been given under the last preceding paragraph, or by any other person who establishes that he is entitled to an interest in land which is substantially affected by the apportionment or calculation, and that objection has not been withdrawn, the next following subsection shall have effect.

(5) Where by virtue of paragraph (c) of the last preceding subsection this subsection is to have effect, then—

- (a) if within a further period of thirty days the person by whom any such objection was made requires the dispute to be referred to the Lands Tribunal, the dispute shall be so referred, and the certificate shall not be issued until either the Tribunal has decided the matter or the reference to the Tribunal has been withdrawn ;
- (b) the certificate may be issued before the end of the said further period if every such objection has been withdrawn ;
- (c) the certificate shall be issued at the end of that further period, notwithstanding that every such objection has not been withdrawn, if no requirement has within that period been made under paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(6) Where, on a reference to the Lands Tribunal under this section, it is shown that a new apportionment relates partly to the same matters as a previous apportionment, and is consistent with that previous apportionment in so far as it relates to those matters, the Tribunal shall not vary the new apportionment in such a way as to be inconsistent with the previous apportionment in so far as it relates to those matters.

(7) A certificate under subsection (3) of this section shall be conclusive evidence of the unexpended balance shown therein ; and a certificate under subsection (1) of this section shall be sufficient proof of any facts stated therein unless the contrary is shown.

(8) An application for a certificate under this section shall be made in such form and manner as may be prescribed, and shall be accompanied by sufficient particulars, including a map if necessary, to enable the land to be identified, and, where a new apportionment will be involved, particulars of the nature of the applicant's interest, and such information as to the nature of any

PART VI other interest in the land, and as to the name and address of the person entitled to that other interest, as may be known to the applicant.

(9) On any application under subsection (1) of this section the applicant shall pay in the prescribed manner a fee of five shillings, and, if the application involves a new apportionment, the certificate shall not be issued until the applicant has paid in the prescribed manner a further fee of fifteen shillings.

(10) In this section "new apportionment" means an apportionment which relates wholly or partly to any matter to which no previous apportionment related.

Right to compensation

General provision as to right to compensation.

100. Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, a person shall be entitled to compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of a planning decision whereby planning permission for the carrying out of new development of land is refused, or is granted subject to conditions, if—

- (a) at the time of the decision he is entitled to an interest in any land to which the decision relates which has an unexpended balance of established development value, and
- (b) the value of that interest, or, in the case of an interest extending to other land, the value of that interest in so far as it subsists in such land as is referred to in the preceding paragraph, is depreciated by the decision.

Planning decisions not ranking for compensation.

101.—(1) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable—

- (a) in respect of the refusal of planning permission for any development which consists of or includes the making of any material change in the use of any buildings or other land, or
- (b) in respect of any decision made on an application in pursuance of regulations under section thirty-four of this Act for consent to the display of advertisements.

(2) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable in respect of the imposition, on the granting of planning permission to develop land, of any condition relating to—

- (a) the number or disposition of buildings on any land ;
- (b) the dimensions, design, structure or external appearance of any building, or the materials to be used in its construction ;

- (c) the manner in which any land is to be laid out for the purposes of the development, including the provision of facilities for the parking, loading, unloading or fuelling of vehicles on the land ;
- (d) the use of any buildings or other land ; or
- (e) the location or design of any means of access to a highway, or the materials to be used in the construction of any such means of access, or in respect of any condition subject to which permission is granted for the winning and working of minerals.

In this subsection " means of access to a highway " does not include a service road.

(3) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable in respect of the refusal of permission to develop land, if the reason or one of the reasons stated for the refusal is that development of the kind proposed would be premature by reference to either or both of the following matters, that is to say,—

- (a) the order of priority (if any) indicated in the development plan for the area in which the land is situated for development in that area ;
- (b) any existing deficiency in the provision of water supplies or sewerage services, and the period within which any such deficiency may reasonably be expected to be made good :

Provided that this subsection shall not apply if the planning decision refusing the permission is made on an application made more than seven years after the date of a previous planning decision whereby permission to develop the same land was refused for the same reason, or for reasons which included the same reason.

(4) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable in respect of the refusal of permission to develop land, if the reason or one of the reasons stated for the refusal is that the land is unsuitable for the proposed development on account of its liability to flooding or to subsidence.

(5) In subsection (3) of this section, the reference to the development plan for the area in which the land is situated is a reference to the development plan for that area as approved by the Minister, or, if the plan so approved has been amended by the Minister, to that plan as so amended.

(6) For the purposes of this section, a planning decision whereby permission to develop land is granted subject to a condition prohibiting development on a specified part of that land shall be treated as a decision refusing the permission with respect to that part of the land.

PART VI
No compensation if certain other development permitted.

102.—(1) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable in respect of a planning decision whereby permission is refused for the development of land if, notwithstanding that refusal, there is available with respect to that land planning permission for development to which this section applies:

Provided that, where such permission is available with respect to part only of the land, this section shall have effect only in so far as the interest subsists in that part.

(2) Where a claim for compensation under this Part of this Act is made in respect of an interest in any land, planning permission for development to which this section applies shall be taken for the purposes of this section to be available with respect to that land or a part thereof if, immediately before the Minister gives notice of his findings in respect of that claim, there is in force with respect to that land, or that part thereof, a grant of, or an undertaking by the Minister to grant, planning permission for some such development, subject to no conditions other than such as are mentioned in subsection (2) of the last preceding section.

(3) This section applies to any development of a residential, commercial or industrial character, being development which consists wholly or mainly of the construction of houses, flats, shop or office premises, or industrial buildings (including warehouses), or any combination thereof.

Further exclusions from compensation.

103.—(1) Where an interest in any land has (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) been compulsorily acquired by, or sold to, an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers (not being statutory undertakers or the National Coal Board), that authority, and any person deriving title from that authority under a disposition made by that authority on or at any time after the appointed day, shall not be entitled to compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of a planning decision made after the service of the notice to treat, or after the making of the contract of sale, as the case may be, by reason that the value of that interest, or of any interest created (whether immediately or derivatively) out of that interest, is depreciated by the decision.

(2) The preceding subsection shall apply to land which has at any time on or after the appointed day (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) been appropriated by a local authority for a purpose for which the authority could have been authorised to acquire the land compulsorily, as it applies to land in which an interest has been acquired as mentioned in that subsection, with the substitution, for the reference to the service of the notice to treat, of a reference to the appropriation.

(3) Where at the relevant date any land was or is operational land of statutory undertakers, or land of the National Coal Board of a class specified in regulations made under section ninety of the Act of 1947 or under section two hundred and four of this Act, the statutory undertakers or the National Coal Board, as the case may be, and any person deriving title from those undertakers or that Board, shall not be entitled to compensation under this Part of this Act, in respect of a planning decision made after the relevant date, by reason that the value of any interest in that land is depreciated by that decision.

In this subsection "the relevant date", in relation to land which was such operational land or land of the National Coal Board as is mentioned in this subsection on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, means that day, and, in relation to land which (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) became or becomes such operational land or land of the National Coal Board on a date subsequent to the said first day of January, means that subsequent date.

(4) A person shall not be entitled to compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of depreciation of the value of an interest in land by a planning decision if he is entitled to compensation by virtue of section one hundred and nineteen of this Act in respect of depreciation of the value of that interest by that decision.

104.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where—

Grant of planning permission treated as subject to notional condition.

(a) on an application for planning permission for the carrying out of new development of land, a planning decision is made whereby the permission is granted, whether unconditionally or subject to conditions, and

(b) the Minister certifies that he is satisfied that particular buildings or works to which the application related were only included therein because the applicant had reason to believe that permission for the other development to which the application related (in this section referred to as "the principal development") would not have been granted except subject to a condition requiring the erection or construction of those buildings or works.

(2) Where the preceding subsection applies, then for the purposes of this Part of this Act—

(a) the application shall be deemed to have included, in place of those buildings or works, such other development of the land on which the buildings or works were to be erected or constructed as might reasonably have been expected to have been included having regard to the principal development; and

PART VI

- (b) the permission shall be deemed to have been granted for the principal development subject to a condition requiring the erection or construction of those buildings or works.

Notice under s. 40 treated as planning decision.

105. Where a notice under subsection (1) of section forty of this Act is served in respect of the whole or part of any land, the provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect as if the application, in consequence of which the notice is served, had been an effective application for planning permission, and as if the notice had been a planning decision of the local planning authority refusing that permission in respect of that land or that part thereof, as the case may be.

Measure of compensation

General provisions as to amount of compensation.

106.—(1) Where a person is entitled to compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of depreciation by a planning decision of the value of an interest in land, the amount of the compensation, subject to the following provisions of this section, shall be whichever is the lesser of the following amounts, that is to say,—

- (a) the amount by which the value of that interest (if it is an interest subsisting only in land to which this section applies), or (if it is an interest extending to other land) the amount by which the value of the interest in so far as it subsists in land to which this section applies, is depreciated by the decision ; and
- (b) the amount of the unexpended balance of established development value, immediately before the decision, of so much of the land in which the interest subsists as is land to which this section applies.

(2) Land to which this section applies, in relation to a planning decision, is land which—

- (a) constitutes or forms part of the decision area, and
- (b) at the time of the decision has an unexpended balance of established development value.

(3) If, in the case of any land to which this section applies, compensation is payable under this Part of this Act in respect of two or more interests in that land by reason of the same planning decision, and the aggregate amount of compensation payable apart from this subsection in respect of those interests would exceed the amount mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, the amount mentioned in that paragraph shall be allocated between those interests in proportion to the depreciation of the value of each of them respectively, and the amount of the compensation payable in respect of any of those interests shall be the sum so allocated to that interest.

(4) Where the land constituting the decision area, taken as a whole, does not satisfy both of the following conditions, that is to say,—

- (a) that at the time of the decision it has an unexpended balance of established development value, and
- (b) that every interest subsisting therein, the value of which is depreciated by the decision, subsists in the whole of that land, the provisions of the next following subsection shall have effect for the purpose of assessing the compensation payable under this Part of this Act in respect of any interest subsisting in that land or any part thereof.

(5) Where this subsection applies in relation to an interest in land—

- (a) the depreciation of the value of the interest by the planning decision shall first be ascertained with reference to the whole of the land which constitutes or forms part of the decision area and is land in which that interest subsists ;
- (b) the land referred to in the preceding paragraph shall then be treated as divided into as many parts as may be requisite to ensure that each such part consists of land which either satisfies both of the conditions mentioned in the last preceding subsection or is not land which, at the time of the decision, has an unexpended balance of established development value ; and
- (c) the depreciation of the value of the interest, ascertained in accordance with paragraph (a) of this subsection, shall then be apportioned between those parts, according to the nature of those parts and the effect of the planning decision in relation to each of them, and the amount of the compensation shall be the aggregate of the amounts which would be payable by virtue of the preceding provisions of this section if the planning decision had been made separately with respect to each of those parts.

(6) In this section “ the decision area ” in relation to a planning decision means the aggregate of the land to which the decision relates.

107.—(1) For the purposes of this Part of this Act, the value of an interest in land, or of an interest in so far as it subsists in particular land, shall be taken to be depreciated by a planning decision (in this section referred to as “ the relevant decision ”) if, and to the extent to which, that value, calculated in accordance with the following provisions of this section, falls short of depreciation.

PART VI what that value, so calculated, would have been if the relevant decision had been a decision to the contrary effect.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, any such value shall for the purposes of this section be calculated—

- (a) as at the time of the relevant decision, but
- (b) as affected by that decision, by any grant of planning permission made after that decision and in force immediately before the Minister gives notice of his findings on the claim for compensation in respect of that decision, and by any undertaking to grant planning permission so in force, and
- (c) on the assumption that, after the relevant decision, and apart from any such permission or undertaking as is mentioned in the last preceding paragraph, planning permission would not be granted for any new development of the land in question, but would be granted for any development thereof other than new development.

(3) If in consequence of another planning decision or of an order, being a decision or order made—

- (a) before the relevant decision, and
- (b) either in respect of the whole or part of the land to which the relevant decision relates, or in respect of land which includes the whole or part of that land, compensation to which this subsection applies has become or becomes payable in respect of that other planning decision or that order, the calculation to be made under this section shall be made as if that other planning decision had been a decision to the contrary effect, or that order had not been made, as the case may be.

(4) The last preceding subsection applies—

- (a) to any compensation payable under this Part of this Act, or under Part II or Part V of the Act of 1954, and
- (b) to so much of any compensation payable under section one hundred and eighteen of this Act, or under the provisions of that section as applied by section one hundred and nineteen thereof, and so much of any compensation to which Part IV of the Act of 1954 applied, as is or was payable in respect of loss or damage consisting of depreciation of the value of an interest in land.

(5) In this section “ a decision to the contrary effect ”—

- (a) in relation to a decision refusing permission, means a decision granting the permission subject to such conditions (if any) of a description falling within subsection

(2) of section one hundred and one of this Act as the authority making the decision might reasonably have been expected to impose if the permission had not been refused ; and

PART VI

- (b) in relation to a decision granting the permission subject to conditions, means a decision granting the permission applied for subject only to such of those conditions (if any) as fell within subsection (2) of that section.

Claims for, and payment of, compensation

108.—(1) Compensation under this Part of this Act shall not be payable unless a claim for it is duly made in accordance with the provisions of this section.

General provisions as to claims for compensation.

(2) A claim for compensation under this Part of this Act shall not have effect unless it is made before the end of the period of six months beginning with the date of the planning decision to which it relates :

Provided that the Minister may in any particular case (either before, on or after the date on which the time for claiming would otherwise have expired) allow an extended, or further extended, period for making such a claim.

(3) Regulations made under this section may—

- (a) require claims for compensation under this Part of this Act to be made in a form prescribed by the regulations ;
- (b) require a claimant to provide such evidence in support of the claim, and such information as to the interest of the claimant in the land to which the claim relates, and as to the interests of other persons therein which are known to the claimant, as may be so prescribed.

(4) Any claim for such compensation in respect of a planning decision shall be sent to the local planning authority ; and it shall be the duty of that authority, as soon as may be after receipt of a claim, to transmit the claim to the Minister, and to furnish the Minister with—

- (a) any evidence or other information provided by the claimant in accordance with regulations made under this section, and
- (b) such other information (if any) as may be required by or under regulations made under this section, being information appearing to the Minister to be relevant to the exercise of his powers under the provisions of Part III of this Act relating to the review of planning decisions where compensation is claimed.

PART VI

(5) Where a claim is transmitted to the Minister under the last preceding subsection—

- (a) if it appears to the Minister that the development to which the planning decision related was not new development, or that at the time of the planning decision no part of the land to which the claim relates had an unexpended balance of established development value, or that compensation is excluded by section one hundred and one or section one hundred and two of this Act, the Minister shall notify the claimant accordingly, stating on which of those grounds it appears to him that compensation is not payable, and inviting the claimant to withdraw the claim ;
- (b) unless the claim is withdrawn, the Minister shall give notice of the claim to every other person (if any) appearing to him to have an interest in the land to which the planning decision related.

Effect on claims of direction under s. 25.

109.—(1) Where, in accordance with subsection (3) of section twenty-six of this Act, the Minister gives notice of a direction under section twenty-five of this Act to a person who has made a claim for compensation in respect of the planning decision to which that direction relates, that person, if he does not withdraw the claim, may, at any time within thirty days after the service on him of the Minister's notice, give notice to the Minister modifying the claim.

(2) Subject to any modification by virtue of a notice given by a claimant under the preceding subsection, where the Minister gives a direction under section twenty-five of this Act in respect of a decision of a local planning authority, any claim made in respect of that decision shall have effect as if it had been made in respect of the decision which, by virtue of the direction, is substituted for the decision of the authority, or, as the case may be, as if it had been made in respect of the decision of the authority as modified by the direction.

Determination of claims.

110.—(1) Provision shall be made by regulations under this section—

- (a) for requiring claims for compensation under this Part of this Act to be determined by the Minister in such manner as may be prescribed by the regulations ;
- (b) for regulating the practice and procedure to be followed in connection with the determination of such claims ;
- (c) for requiring the Minister, on determining any such claim, to give notice of his findings to the claimant, and to every other person (if any) who has made a claim for compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of the same planning decision, and, if his findings include an apportionment, to give particulars of the apportionment to any other person entitled to an interest in land appearing to the Minister to be an interest substantially affected by the apportionment.

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, provision shall be made by regulations under this section—

- (a) in relation to a decision refusing permission, means a notice of the Minister's findings has been given in accordance with the preceding subsection, if he wishes to dispute the findings, and any other person to whom particulars of an apportionment included in those findings have been so given, or who establishes that he is entitled to an interest in land which is substantially affected by such an apportionment, if he wishes to dispute the apportionment, to require the findings, or, as the case may be, the apportionment, to be referred to the Lands Tribunal ;
- (b) for enabling the claimant and every other person to whom notice of any findings or apportionment has been given as mentioned in the preceding paragraph to be heard by the Tribunal on any reference under this section of those findings or of that apportionment, as the case may be ; and
- (c) for requiring the Tribunal, on any such reference, either to confirm or to vary the Minister's findings or the apportionment, as the case may be, and to notify the parties of the decision of the Tribunal.

(3) Where on a reference to the Lands Tribunal under this section it is shown that an apportionment relates wholly or partly to the same matters as a previous apportionment, and is consistent with that previous apportionment in so far as it relates to those matters, the Tribunal shall not vary the apportionment in such a way as to be inconsistent with the previous apportionment in so far as it relates to those matters.

111. Where compensation is determined under the last preceding section to be payable, the Minister shall pay the compensation to the person entitled thereto in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act. Payment of compensation.

Subsequent recovery of compensation

112.—(1) Where, on a claim for compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of a planning decision, the Minister determines that compensation is payable and that the amount of the compensation exceeds twenty pounds, the Minister shall (if it appears to him to be practicable to do so) apportion the amount of the compensation between different parts of the land to which Apportionment and registration of compensation.

PART VI

the claim for compensation relates, and shall include particulars of the apportionment in the notice of his findings under section one hundred and ten of this Act.

(2) In carrying out an apportionment under the preceding subsection the Minister shall divide the land into parts, and shall distribute the compensation between those parts, according to the way in which the different parts of the land appear to him to be differently affected by the planning decision.

(3) On a reference to the Lands Tribunal under section one hundred and ten of this Act, unless the decision of the Tribunal will not affect the amount of the compensation or any apportionment thereof by the Minister, the preceding provisions of this section shall apply with the substitution, for references to the Minister, of references to the Lands Tribunal.

(4) Where, on a claim for compensation under this Part of this Act in respect of a planning decision, compensation has become payable of an amount exceeding twenty pounds, the Minister shall cause notice of that fact, specifying the planning decision and the land to which the claim for compensation relates, and the amount of the compensation and any apportionment thereof under this section, to be deposited with the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated, and, if that council is not the local planning authority, with the local planning authority.

(5) Notices deposited under this section shall be registered in the register of local land charges, in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made for the purposes of this section under subsection (6) of section fifteen of the Land Charges Act, 1925, by the proper officer of the council of the county borough or county district.

(6) In relation to compensation specified in a notice registered under this section, references in this Part of this Act to so much of the compensation as is attributable to a part of the land to which the notice relates shall be construed in accordance with the following provisions, that is to say,—

- (a) if the notice does not include an apportionment under the preceding provisions of this section, the amount of the compensation shall be treated as distributed rateably according to area over the land to which the notice relates ;
- (b) if the notice includes such an apportionment, the compensation shall be treated as distributed in accordance with that apportionment as between the different parts of the land by reference to which the apportionment is made ; and so much of the compensation as, in accordance with the apportionment, is attributed to a part of the land shall be treated as distributed rateably according to area over that part of the land.

113.—(1) No person shall carry out any new development to which this section applies, on land in respect of which a notice (hereafter in this Part of this Act referred to as a “compensation notice”) is registered under the last preceding section, until such amount (if any) as is recoverable under this section in respect of the compensation specified in the notice has been paid or secured to the satisfaction of the Minister.

PART VI
Recovery of compensation on subsequent development.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, this section applies to any new development—

- (a) which is development of a residential, commercial or industrial character and consists wholly or mainly of the construction of houses, flats, shop or office premises, or industrial buildings (including warehouses), or any combination thereof, or
- (b) which consists in the winning and working of minerals, or
- (c) to which, having regard to the probable value of the development, it is in the opinion of the Minister reasonable that this section should apply.

(3) This section shall not apply to any development by virtue of paragraph (c) of the last preceding subsection if, on an application made to him for the purpose, the Minister has certified that, having regard to the probable value of the development, it is not in his opinion reasonable that this section should apply thereto.

(4) Where the compensation specified in the compensation notice became payable in respect of the imposition of conditions on the granting of permission to develop land, this section shall not apply to the development for which that permission was granted.

114.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, the amount recoverable under the last preceding section in respect of the compensation specified in a compensation notice—

Amount recoverable, and provisions for payment or remission thereof.

- (a) if the land on which the development is to be carried out (in this subsection referred to as “the development area”) is identical with, or includes (with other land) the whole of, the land comprised in the compensation notice, shall be the amount of compensation specified in that notice ;
- (b) if the development area forms part of the land comprised in the compensation notice, or includes part of that land together with other land not comprised in that notice, shall be so much of the amount of the compensation specified in that notice as is attributable to land comprised in that notice and falling within the development area.

PART VI

(2) Where, in the case of any land in respect of which a compensation notice has been registered, the Minister is satisfied, having regard to the probable value of any proper development of that land, that no such development is likely to be carried out unless he exercises his powers under this subsection, he may, in the case of any particular development, remit the whole or part of any amount otherwise recoverable under the last preceding section; and where part only of any such amount has been remitted, he shall cause the compensation notice to be amended by substituting therein, for the statement of the amount of the compensation, in so far as it is attributable to that land, a statement of the amount which has been remitted under this subsection.

(3) Where, in connection with the development of any land, an amount becomes recoverable under the last preceding section in respect of the compensation specified in a compensation notice, then, except where, and to the extent that, payment of that amount has been remitted under the last preceding subsection, no amount shall be recoverable under the last preceding section in respect of that compensation, in so far as it is attributable to that land, in connection with any subsequent development thereof.

(4) No amount shall be recoverable under the last preceding section in respect of any compensation by reference to which a sum has become recoverable by the Minister under section one hundred and ninety of this Act.

(5) An amount recoverable under the last preceding section in respect of any compensation shall be payable to the Minister, and—

(a) shall be so payable either as a single capital payment or as a series of instalments of capital and interest combined, or as a series of other annual or periodical payments, of such amounts, and payable at such times, as the Minister may direct, after taking into account any representations made by the person by whom the development is to be carried out; and

(b) except where the amount is payable as a single capital payment, shall be secured by that person in such manner (whether by mortgage, covenant or otherwise) as the Minister may direct.

(6) If any person initiates any new development to which the last preceding section applies in contravention of subsection (1) of that section, the Minister may serve a notice on him specifying the amount appearing to the Minister to be the amount recoverable under that section in respect of the compensation in question, and requiring him to pay that amount to the Minister within such period, not being less than three months after the service of the notice, as may be specified in the notice.

PART VI

115.—(1) Where an amount has become recoverable under section one hundred and thirteen of this Act in respect of the compensation specified in a compensation notice, the following provisions of this section shall have effect for the purpose of determining any question as to the unexpended balance of established development value of any land at any subsequent time.

Amount recovered not to be deducted from unexpended balance.

(2) Except where, and to the extent that, payment of that amount has been remitted under the last preceding section, so much (if any) of that compensation as is attributable to that land shall, for the purpose mentioned in the preceding subsection, be treated as not having become payable, and accordingly (notwithstanding anything in section ninety-four of this Act) shall not be deducted from that balance.

Supplementary provisions

116.—(1) Regulations made under this section may make provision as to the exercise of the right to claim compensation under this Part of this Act, and as to the person to whom such compensation or any part thereof is to be paid, and as to the application of any such compensation or any part thereof, in cases where, apart from this section, the right to claim the compensation is exercisable by reference to an interest in land which is subject to a mortgage, or to a rentcharge, or to the trusts of a settlement, or which was so subject at a time specified in the regulations.

Mortgages, rentcharges and settlements.

(2) In relation to any case where, by virtue of any such regulations, compensation or a part thereof is to be paid to the owner of a rentcharge, the regulations may apply all or any of the provisions of section twenty-five of the War Damage Act, 1943 (which relates to the rights of owners of rentcharges as to payments for war damage) subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be prescribed by the regulations, and may provide for disputes arising under the regulations, so far as they relate to rentcharges, to be referred to the Lands Tribunal for determination by that tribunal.

117.—(1) In calculating value for any of the purposes of this Part of this Act—

Calculation of value.

- (a) rules (2) to (4) of the rules set out in section five of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, shall apply with the necessary modifications; and
- (b) if the interest to be valued is subject to a mortgage, it shall be treated as if it were not subject to the mortgage:

Provided that rule (3) of those rules shall not apply for the purposes of the Sixth Schedule to this Act.

PART VI

(2) Where, for the purposes of any of the provisions of this Part of this Act, value falls to be calculated by reference to the duration of a tenancy, and, by reason of any option or other contractual right with respect to the determination, renewal or continuance of the tenancy, the date of expiry of the tenancy is not ascertainable with certainty, that date shall be taken to be such as appears reasonable and probable having regard to the interests of the party by whom the option is exercisable, or in whose favour the right operates, and to any other material considerations subsisting at the time when the calculation of value falls to be made.

PART VII

COMPENSATION FOR OTHER PLANNING RESTRICTIONS

Revocation or modification of planning permission

Compensation where planning permission revoked or modified.

118.—(1) Where planning permission is revoked or modified by an order under section twenty-seven of this Act, then if, on a claim made to the local planning authority within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, it is shown that a person interested in the land—

- (a) has incurred expenditure in carrying out work which is rendered abortive by the revocation or modification, or
- (b) has otherwise sustained loss or damage which is directly attributable to the revocation or modification, the local planning authority shall pay to that person compensation in respect of that expenditure, loss or damage.

(2) For the purposes of this section, any expenditure incurred in the preparation of plans for the purposes of any work, or upon other similar matters preparatory thereto, shall be taken to be included in the expenditure incurred in carrying out that work.

(3) Subject to the last preceding subsection, no compensation shall be paid under this section in respect of any work carried out before the grant of the permission which is revoked or modified, or in respect of any other loss or damage (not being loss or damage consisting of depreciation of the value of an interest in land) arising out of anything done or omitted to be done before the grant of that permission.

(4) In calculating, for the purposes of this section, the amount of any loss or damage consisting of depreciation of the value of an interest in land, it shall be assumed that planning permission would be granted for development of the land of any class specified in the Third Schedule to this Act.

(5) In this Part of this Act any reference to an order under section twenty-seven of this Act includes a reference to an order under the provisions of that section as applied by subsection (2) of section twenty-eight of this Act.

PART VII

119.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where—

- (a) planning permission for the development of land has been granted by a development order, and
- (b) that permission is withdrawn, whether by the revocation or amendment of the order or by the issue of directions under powers in that behalf conferred by the order, and
- (c) on an application made in that behalf under Part III of this Act, planning permission for that development is refused, or is granted subject to conditions other than those previously imposed by the development order.

Application of s. 118 to special cases of refusal or conditional grant of planning permission.

(2) In any case falling within the preceding subsection, the provisions of the last preceding section shall apply as if the planning permission granted by the development order—

- (a) had been granted by the local planning authority under Part III of this Act, and
- (b) had been revoked or modified by an order under section twenty-seven of this Act, and the provisions of section one hundred and twenty (except paragraph (b) of subsection (5) thereof) and of sections one hundred and twenty-one and one hundred and twenty-two of this Act shall apply as if references therein to an order under section twenty-seven of this Act were references to the planning decision whereby the planning permission in question is refused, or is granted subject to conditions other than those previously imposed by the development order.

120.—(1) Where compensation becomes payable under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, and includes compensation for depreciation of an amount exceeding twenty pounds, the local planning authority shall (if it appears to them to be practicable to do so) apportion the amount of the compensation for depreciation between different parts of the land to which the claim for that compensation relates, and give particulars of any such apportionment to the claimant and to every other person (if any) entitled to an interest in land which appears to the authority to be substantially affected by the apportionment.

Registration and apportionment of compensation for depreciation.

(2) In carrying out an apportionment under the preceding subsection, the local planning authority shall divide the land into parts, and shall distribute the compensation for depreciation between those parts, according to the way in which different parts of the land appear to the authority to be differently affected by the order in consequence of which the compensation is payable.

(3) Subsection (2) of section one hundred and ten of this Act, and any regulations made by virtue thereof, shall have effect with respect to any such apportionment (subject to any necessary PART VII modifications) as they have effect with respect to an apportionment under subsection (1) of section one hundred and twelve of this Act.

(4) On a reference to the Lands Tribunal by virtue of the last preceding subsection, subsections (1) and (2) of this section, so far as they relate to the making of an apportionment, shall apply with the substitution, for references to the local planning authority, of references to the Lands Tribunal.

(5) Where compensation becomes payable under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, and includes compensation for depreciation exceeding twenty pounds, the local planning authority shall give notice thereof to the Minister, specifying the amount of the compensation for depreciation and any apportionment thereof under this section; and subsections (4) to (6) of section one hundred and twelve of this Act shall have effect with respect thereto as they have effect with respect to compensation under Part VI of this Act, subject, however, to any necessary modifications, and, in particular, with the substitution—

(a) for references to the compensation mentioned in that section, of references to the compensation for depreciation specified in the notice, and

(b) for references to the planning decision, of references to the order under section twenty-seven of this Act in consequence of which the compensation is payable.

(6) In this and the next following section “compensation for depreciation” means so much of any compensation payable under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act as is payable in respect of loss or damage consisting of depreciation of the value of an interest in land, and “interest” (where the reference is to an interest in land) means the fee simple or a tenancy of the land and does not include any other interest therein.

Exchequer contribution towards compensation in certain cases.

121.—(1) Where a notice under the last preceding section is given to the Minister in consequence of the making of an order under section twenty-seven of this Act, and the circumstances are such that, if the permission revoked or modified by the order had been refused, or, as the case may be, had been granted as so modified, at the time when it was granted, compensation under Part VI of this Act could have been claimed and would have been payable by the Minister, the Minister may, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the local planning authority a contribution of the amount appearing to him to be the amount of compensation which would have been so payable by him under Part VI of this Act.

(2) The amount of any such contribution shall not exceed—

(a) the amount of the compensation for depreciation paid by the local planning authority, or

(b) the unexpended balance of established development value, at the date of the making of the order, of the land in respect of which that compensation was paid.

(3) Regulations made under this section shall make provision, in relation to cases where the Minister proposes to pay a contribution under this section,—

(a) for requiring the Minister to give notice of his proposal to persons entitled to such interests as may be prescribed in the land to which the proposal relates, and to such other persons (if any) as may be determined in accordance with the regulations to be affected by the proposal ;

(b) for enabling persons to whom notice of the proposal is given to object to the proposal, on the grounds that compensation would not have been payable as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, or that the amount of the compensation so payable would have been less than the amount of the proposed contribution ;

(c) for enabling any person making such an objection to require the matter in dispute to be referred to the Lands Tribunal for determination ; and

(d) where a contribution under this section is paid, for applying (with any necessary modifications) the provisions of Part VI of this Act as to the reduction or extinguishment of the unexpended balance of established development value of land, as if the contribution had been a payment of compensation under Part VI of this Act.

122.—(1) In relation to notices registered under the provisions of section one hundred and twelve of this Act, as applied by the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, sections one hundred and thirteen and one hundred and fourteen of this Act shall have effect as they have effect in relation to compensation notices registered as therein mentioned: Recovery, on subsequent development, of compensation under s. 118.

Provided that, in a case where the compensation under section one hundred and eighteen of this Act specified in such a notice became payable in respect of an order modifying planning permission, the said sections shall not apply to development in accordance with that permission as modified by the order.

(2) Subject to the next following subsection, any sum recovered by the Minister under section one hundred and thirteen of this Act, as applied by the preceding subsection, shall be paid to the local planning authority who paid the compensation to which that sum relates.

PART VII

(3) In paying any such sum to the local planning authority, the Minister shall deduct therefrom—

- (a) the amount of any contribution paid by him under the last preceding section in respect of the compensation to which the sum relates ;
- (b) the amount of any grant paid by him under Part XII of this Act in respect of that compensation :

Provided that, if the sum recovered by the Minister is an instalment of the total sum recoverable, or is recovered by reference to development of part of the land in respect of which the compensation was payable, any deduction to be made under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection shall be a deduction of such amount as the Minister may determine to be the proper proportion of the amount referred to in that paragraph.

Other restrictions

Compensation for planning decisions restricting development other than new development.

123.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where, on an application for planning permission to carry out development of any class specified in Part II of the Third Schedule to this Act, the Minister, either on appeal or on the reference of the application to him for determination, refuses the permission or grants it subject to conditions.

(2) If, on a claim made to the local planning authority within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, it is shown that the value of the interest of any person in the land is less than it would have been if the permission had been granted, or had been granted unconditionally, as the case may be, the local planning authority shall pay to that person compensation of an amount equal to the difference.

(3) In determining, for the purposes of the last preceding subsection, whether or to what extent the value of an interest in land is less than it would have been if the permission had been granted, or had been granted unconditionally,—

- (a) it shall be assumed that any subsequent application for the like planning permission would be determined in the same way ; but
- (b) if, in the case of a refusal of planning permission, the Minister, on refusing that permission, undertook to grant planning permission for some other development of the land in the event of an application being made in that behalf, regard shall be had to that undertaking.

(4) Where, on such an application as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, planning permission is granted by the Minister subject to conditions for regulating the design or external appearance of buildings, or the size or height of buildings, the Minister, if it appears to him to be reasonable to do so having regard to the local circumstances, may direct that those conditions shall be disregarded, either altogether or to such extent as may be specified in the direction, in assessing the compensation (if any) payable under this section.

(5) Where, in the case of an application for planning permission to carry out any such development as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, a notice under subsection (1) of section forty of this Act is served in respect of the whole or part of the land to which the application relates, the preceding provisions of this section shall have effect as if the application had been an effective application for planning permission, and as if that permission had been refused, as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, in respect of that land or that part thereof, as the case may be.

(6) No compensation shall be payable under this section in respect of an interest in land in respect of which a purchase notice is served.

124.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect where an order is made under section twenty-eight of this Act, requiring a use of land to be discontinued, or imposing conditions on the continuance thereof, or requiring any buildings or works on land to be altered or removed. Compensation in respect of orders under s. 28.

(2) If, on a claim made to the local planning authority within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, it is shown that any person has suffered damage in consequence of the order by depreciation of the value of an interest in the land to which he is entitled, or by being disturbed in his enjoyment of the land, that authority shall pay to that person compensation in respect of that damage.

(3) Without prejudice to the last preceding subsection, any person who carries out any works in compliance with the order shall be entitled, on a claim made as mentioned in that subsection, to recover from the local planning authority compensation in respect of any expenses reasonably incurred by him in that behalf.

(4) Any compensation payable to a person under this section by virtue of such an order as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section shall be reduced by the value to him of any timber, apparatus or other materials removed for the purpose of complying with the order.

PART VII

Compensation in respect of tree and building preservation orders.

125.—(1) The matters for which provision may under section twenty-nine of this Act be made by a tree preservation order, or may under section thirty of this Act be made by a building preservation order, include the payment by the local planning authority, subject to such exceptions and conditions as may be specified in the order, of compensation in respect of damage or expenditure caused or incurred in consequence of the refusal of any consent required under the order, or of the grant of any such consent subject to conditions.

(2) Subsection (4) of section thirty-one of this Act applies for the purposes of this section.

Compensation for restrictions on advertising.

126. Where, for the purpose of complying with any regulations made under section thirty-four of this Act, works are carried out by any person—

- (a) for removing an advertisement which was being displayed on the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and was being displayed on the date on which the regulations came into force, or
- (b) for discontinuing the use for the display of advertisements of a site used for that purpose on the last-mentioned date, that person shall, on a claim made to the local planning authority within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, be entitled to recover from that authority compensation in respect of any expenses reasonably incurred by him in that behalf.

Supplementary provisions

General provisions as to compensation for depreciation under Part VII.

127.—(1) For the purpose of assessing any compensation to which this section applies, the rules set out in section five of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, shall, so far as applicable and subject to any necessary modifications, have effect as they have effect for the purpose of assessing compensation for the compulsory acquisition of an interest in land.

(2) This section applies to any compensation which, under the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, other than section one hundred and twenty-five thereof, is payable in respect of depreciation of the value of an interest in land.

(3) Where an interest in land is subject to a mortgage—

- (a) any compensation to which this section applies, which is payable in respect of depreciation of the value of that interest, shall be assessed as if the interest were not subject to the mortgage ;
- (b) a claim for any such compensation may be made by any mortgagee of the interest, but without prejudice to the making of a claim by the person entitled to the interest ;

PART VII

- (c) no compensation to which this section applies shall be payable in respect of the interest of the mortgagee (as distinct from the interest which is subject to the mortgage) ; and
- (d) any compensation to which this section applies which is payable in respect of the interest which is subject to the mortgage shall be paid to the mortgagee, or, if there is more than one mortgagee, to the first mortgagee, and shall in either case be applied by him as if it were proceeds of sale.

128.—(1) Except in so far as may be otherwise provided by any tree preservation order or building preservation order, or by any regulations made under this Act, any question of disputed compensation under this Part of this Act shall be referred to and determined by the Lands Tribunal. Determination of claims for compensation.

(2) In relation to the determination of any such question, the provisions of sections two and four of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, shall apply, subject to any necessary modifications and to the provisions of any regulations made under this Act.

PART VIII

PROVISIONS ENABLING OWNER TO REQUIRE PURCHASE OF HIS INTEREST

Interests affected by planning decisions or orders

129.—(1) Where, on an application for planning permission to develop any land, permission is refused or is granted subject to conditions, then if any owner of the land claims— Purchase notice on refusal or conditional grant of planning permission.

- (a) that the land has become incapable of reasonably beneficial use in its existing state, and
- (b) in a case where planning permission was granted subject to conditions, that the land cannot be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of the permitted development in accordance with those conditions, and
- (c) in any case, that the land cannot be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of any other development for which planning permission has been granted or for which the local planning authority or the Minister has undertaken to grant planning permission,

he may, within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act. serve on the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated a notice requiring that council to purchase his interest in the land in accordance with the following provisions of this Part of this Act.

(2) Where, for the purpose of determining whether the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) to (c) of the preceding subsection are fulfilled in relation to any land, any question arises as to what is or would in any particular circumstances be a reasonably beneficial use of that land, then, in determining that question for that purpose, no account shall be taken of any prospective use of that land which would involve the carrying out of new development.

(3) A notice under this section, or under any other provision of this Part of this Act to which this subsection is applied, is in this Act referred to as a "purchase notice".

Action by council on whom purchase notice is served.

130.—(1) The council on whom a purchase notice is served under the last preceding section shall, before the end of the period of three months beginning with the date of service of that notice, serve on the owner by whom the purchase notice was served a notice stating either—

- (a) that the council are willing to comply with the purchase notice, or
- (b) that another local authority or statutory undertakers specified in the notice under this subsection have agreed to comply with it in their place, or
- (c) that, for reasons specified in the notice under this subsection, the council are not willing to comply with the purchase notice and have not found any other local authority or statutory undertakers who will agree to comply with it in their place, and that they have transmitted a copy of the purchase notice to the Minister, on a date specified in the notice under this subsection, together with a statement of the reasons so specified.

(2) Where the council on whom a purchase notice is served by an owner have served on him a notice in accordance with paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of the preceding subsection, the council, or the other local authority or statutory undertakers specified in the notice, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be authorised to acquire the interest of the owner compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of Part V of this Act, and to have served a notice to treat in respect thereof on the date of service of the notice under the preceding subsection.

(3) Where the council on whom a purchase notice is served by an owner propose to serve on him a notice in accordance with paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section, they shall transmit a copy of the purchase notice to the Minister, together with a statement of their reasons.

PART VIII

131.—(1) Where a copy of a purchase notice is transmitted to the Minister under subsection (3) of the last preceding section, the Minister shall consider whether to confirm the notice or to take other action under the next following section in respect thereof. Procedure on reference of purchase notice to Minister.

(2) Before confirming a purchase notice or taking any other action under the next following section in respect thereof, the Minister shall give notice of his proposed action—

- (a) to the person by whom the purchase notice was served ;
- (b) to the council on whom the purchase notice was served ;
- (c) to the local planning authority for the area in which the land is situated ; and
- (d) if the Minister proposes to substitute any other local authority or statutory undertakers for the council on whom the purchase notice was served, to that other local authority or those statutory undertakers.

(3) If, within such period as may be specified in a notice under the last preceding subsection, being a period of not less than twenty-eight days from the service of that notice, any of the persons, authorities or statutory undertakers on whom that notice is served so requires, the Minister, before confirming the purchase notice or taking any other action under the next following section in respect thereof, shall afford to those persons, authorities and undertakers an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose.

(4) Where the Minister has given notice under subsection (2) of this section of his proposed action, and any of the persons, authorities and statutory undertakers concerned have appeared before and been heard by a person appointed by the Minister for the purpose, and it then appears to the Minister to be expedient to take action under the next following section otherwise than in accordance with the notice given by him, the Minister may take that action accordingly.

132.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, if the Minister is satisfied that the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act are fulfilled in relation to a purchase notice, he shall confirm the notice. Action by Minister in relation to purchase notice.

(2) If it appears to the Minister to be expedient to do so, he may, in lieu of confirming the purchase notice, grant planning permission for the development in respect of which the application was made, or, where planning permission for that development was granted subject to conditions, revoke or amend those conditions so far as appears to him to be required in order to enable the land to be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of that development.

(3) If it appears to the Minister that the land, or any part of the land, could be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use within a reasonable time by the carrying out of any other development for which planning permission ought to be granted, he may, in lieu of confirming the purchase notice, or in lieu of confirming it so far as it relates to that part of the land, as the case may be, direct that planning permission for that development shall be granted in the event of an application being made in that behalf.

(4) If it appears to the Minister, having regard to the probable ultimate use of the land, that it is expedient to do so, he may, if he confirms the notice, modify it, either in relation to the whole or in relation to any part of the land to which it relates, by substituting another local authority or statutory undertakers for the council on whom the notice was served.

(5) In the last preceding section, any reference to the taking of action by the Minister under this section is a reference to the taking by him of any such action as is mentioned in subsections (1) to (4) of this section, or to the taking by him of a decision not to confirm the purchase notice on the grounds that any of the conditions referred to in subsection (1) of this section are not fulfilled.

Effect of
action in
notice.

133.—(1) Where the Minister confirms a purchase notice, the council on whom the purchase notice was served (or, if under subsection (4) of the last preceding section the Minister modified the purchase notice by substituting another local authority or statutory undertakers for that council, that other local authority or those statutory undertakers) shall be deemed to be authorised to acquire the interest of the owner compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of Part V of this Act, and to have served a notice to treat in respect thereof on such date as the Minister may direct.

(2) If, before the end of the relevant period, the Minister has neither confirmed the purchase notice nor taken any such action in respect thereof as is mentioned in subsection (2) or subsection (3) of the last preceding section, and has not notified the owner by whom the notice was served that he does not propose to confirm the notice, the notice shall be deemed to be confirmed at the end of that period, and the council on whom the notice was served shall be deemed to be authorised to acquire the interest of the owner compulsorily in accordance with the provisions of Part V of this Act, and to have served a notice to treat in respect thereof at the end of that period.

(3) For the purposes of the last preceding subsection the relevant period is whichever of the following periods first expires, that is to say,—

- (a) the period of nine months beginning with the date of service of the purchase notice, and
- (b) the period of six months beginning with the date on which a copy of the purchase notice was transmitted to the Minister.

(4) Where the Minister has notified the owner by whom a purchase notice has been served of a decision on his part to confirm, or not to confirm, the notice (including any decision not to confirm the notice in respect of part of the land to which it relates, and including any decision to grant any permission, or give any direction, in lieu of confirming the notice, either wholly or in part) and that decision of the Minister is quashed under the provisions of Part XI of this Act, the purchase notice shall be treated as cancelled, but the owner may serve a further purchase notice in its place.

(5) For the purposes of any regulations made under this Act as to the time within which a purchase notice may be served, the service of a purchase notice under the last preceding subsection shall not be treated as out of time if the notice is served within the period which would be applicable in accordance with those regulations if the planning decision, in consequence of which the notice is served, had been made on the date on which the decision of the Minister was quashed as mentioned in the last preceding subsection.

134.—(1) Where by virtue of section one hundred and eighteen of this Act compensation is payable in respect of expenditure incurred in carrying out any work on land, then, if a purchase notice is served in respect of an interest in that land, any compensation payable in respect of the acquisition of that interest in pursuance of the purchase notice shall be reduced by an amount equal to the value of the works in respect of which compensation is payable by virtue of that section.

Special provisions as to compensation where purchase notice served.

(2) Where a purchase notice served in respect of an interest in land does not take effect, or does not take effect in relation to a part of the land, by reason that the Minister gives a direction under subsection (3) of section one hundred and thirty-two of this Act, then if, on a claim made to the local planning authority within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, it is shown that the permitted development value of that interest (or, as the case may be, of that interest so far as it relates to that part of the land) is less than its existing use value, the local planning authority shall pay to the person entitled to that interest compensation of an amount which (subject to the following provisions of this section) shall be equal to the difference.

PART VIII

(3) If the planning permission which, by the direction referred to in the last preceding subsection, is required to be granted would be granted subject to conditions for regulating the design or external appearance of buildings, or the size or height of buildings, or for regulating the number of buildings to be erected on the land, the Minister, if it appears to him to be reasonable to do so having regard to the local circumstances, may direct that those conditions shall be disregarded, either altogether or to such extent as may be specified in the direction, in assessing any compensation payable under the last preceding subsection.

(4) Sections one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act shall have effect in relation to compensation under subsection (2) of this section as they have effect in relation to compensation to which those sections apply.

(5) In this section "permitted development value", in relation to an interest in land in respect of which a direction is given under subsection (3) of section one hundred and thirty-two of this Act, means the value of that interest calculated with regard to that direction, but on the assumption that no planning permission would be granted otherwise than in accordance with that direction, and "existing use value", in relation to such an interest, means the value of that interest as (for the purpose of ascertaining the compensation payable on an acquisition thereof in pursuance of the purchase notice) that value would have been assessed in accordance with the provisions of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919, as modified by the provisions of sections fifty-one to fifty-four of the Act of 1947, if no enactment repealing, modifying or superseding any of those provisions had been passed after the passing of the Act of 1947.

Purchase notice in respect of order revoking or modifying planning permission.

135.—(1) Where by an order under section twenty-seven of this Act planning permission in respect of any land is revoked, or is modified by the imposition of conditions, then if any owner of the land claims—

- (a) that the land has become incapable of reasonably beneficial use in its existing state, and
- (b) in a case where the planning permission was modified by the imposition of conditions, that the land cannot be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of the permitted development in accordance with those conditions, and
- (c) in any case, that the land cannot be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of any other development for which planning permission has been granted or for which the local planning authority or the Minister has undertaken to grant planning permission,

he may, within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, serve on the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated a notice requiring that council to purchase his interest in the land in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act.

(2) Subsection (3) of section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act shall apply to this section ; and, subject to the next following subsection, subsection (2) of that section and sections one hundred and thirty to one hundred and thirty-four of this Act shall apply to a notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of this section as they apply to a notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act.

(3) In the application of section one hundred and thirty-two of this Act to a purchase notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of this section, that section shall apply as if the following subsection were substituted for subsection (2) thereof:

“(2) If it appears to the Minister to be expedient to do so, he may, in lieu of confirming the purchase notice, cancel the order revoking the planning permission, or, where the order modified the permission by the imposition of conditions, revoke or amend those conditions so far as appears to him to be required in order to enable the land to be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of the development in respect of which the permission was granted”.

136.—(1) If any person entitled to an interest in land in respect of which an order is made under section twenty-eight of this Act claims—

Purchase notice in respect of order requiring discontinuance of use or alteration or removal of buildings or works.

(a) that by reason of the order the land is incapable of reasonably beneficial use in its existing state, and

(b) that it cannot be rendered capable of reasonably beneficial use by the carrying out of any development for which planning permission has been granted, whether by that order or otherwise,

he may, within the time and in the manner prescribed by regulations under this Act, serve on the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated a notice requiring that council to purchase his interest in the land in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act.

(2) Subsection (3) of section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act shall apply to this section ; and, subject to the next following subsection, subsection (2) of that section and sections one hundred and thirty to one hundred and thirty-four of this Act shall apply to a notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of this section as they apply to a notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act.

PART VIII

(3) In the application of section one hundred and thirty-two of this Act to a purchase notice served by virtue of subsection (1) of this section, that section shall have effect subject to the following modifications, that is to say,—

(a) in subsection (1), for the reference to the conditions therein mentioned, there shall be substituted a reference to the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (1) of this section ; and

(b) the following subsection shall be substituted for subsection (2):—

“(2) If it appears to the Minister to be expedient to do so, he may, in lieu of confirming the purchase notice, revoke the order under section twenty-eight of this Act, or, as the case may be, amend that order so far as appears to him to be required in order to prevent the land from being rendered incapable of reasonably beneficial use by the order”.

(4) Where a purchase notice in respect of an interest in land is served in consequence of such an order as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, then if—

(a) that interest is acquired in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Part of this Act, or

(b) compensation is payable in respect of that interest under subsection (2) of section one hundred and thirty-four of this Act, no compensation shall be payable in respect of that order under section one hundred and twenty-four of this Act.

(5) Except as provided by this section, no purchase notice shall be served in respect of an interest in land while the land is incapable of reasonably beneficial use by reason only of such an order as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

Purchase notices in other cases.

137.—(1) Sections one hundred and twenty-nine to one hundred and thirty-four of this Act are provisions falling within subsection (2) of section twenty-nine of this Act ; and subsection (1) of the said section twenty-nine, and subsection (5) of section thirty and subsection (2) of section thirty-four of this Act, shall have effect accordingly.

(2) Where, in the case of an application for planning permission, a notice under subsection (1) of section forty of this Act is served in respect of the whole or part of the land to which the application relates, the provisions of sections one hundred and twenty-nine to one hundred and thirty-four of this Act shall have effect as if the application had been an effective application for planning permission, and as if that permission had been refused in respect of that land or that part thereof, as the case may be.

Interests of owner-occupiers affected by planning proposals PART VIII

138.—(1) The provisions of sections one hundred and thirty-nine to one hundred and fifty-one of this Act shall have effect in relation to land which— Scope of these provisions.

- (a) is land designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition, or
- (b) is land allocated by a development plan for the purposes of any functions of a government department, local authority or statutory undertakers, or of the National Coal Board, or is land defined in such a plan as the site of proposed development for the purposes of any such functions, or
- (c) is land indicated in a development plan (otherwise than by being allocated or defined as mentioned in the last preceding paragraph) as land on which a highway is proposed to be constructed or land to be included in a highway as proposed to be improved or altered, or
- (d) is land authorised by a special enactment to be compulsorily acquired, or land falling within the limits of deviation within which powers of compulsory acquisition conferred by a special enactment are exercisable, or
- (e) is land on or adjacent to the line of a highway proposed to be constructed, improved or altered, as indicated in an order or scheme which has come into operation under the provisions of Part II of the Highways Act, 1959, relating to trunk roads or special roads, being land in relation to which a power of compulsory acquisition conferred by any of the provisions of Part X of that Act may become exercisable, as being land required for purposes of construction, improvement or alteration as indicated in the order or scheme, or
- (f) is land shown on plans approved by a resolution of a local highway authority as land comprised in the site of a highway as proposed to be constructed, improved or altered by that authority.

(2) Interests qualifying for protection under these provisions are either—

- (a) interests in hereditaments or parts of hereditaments, or
- (b) interests in agricultural units or parts of agricultural units.

(3) An interest in the whole or part of a hereditament shall be taken to be an interest qualifying for protection under these provisions if, on the date of service of a notice under the next following section in respect thereof, either—

PART VIII

- (a) the annual value of the hereditament does not exceed such amount as may be prescribed for the purposes of this paragraph by an order made by the Minister, and the interest in question is the interest of an owner-occupier of the hereditament, or
- (b) in a case not falling within the preceding paragraph, the interest in question is the interest of a resident owner-occupier of the hereditament.

(4) An interest in the whole or part of an agricultural unit shall be taken to be an interest qualifying for protection under these provisions if, on the date of service of a notice under the next following section in respect thereof, it is the interest of an owner-occupier of the unit.

(5) In this section and in the said sections one hundred and thirty-nine to one hundred and fifty-one "these provisions" means the provisions of this section and of those sections, and "the specified descriptions" means the descriptions contained in paragraphs (a) to (f) of subsection (1) of this section.

Notice
requiring purchase of claimant's interest.

139.—(1) Where the whole or part of a hereditament or agricultural unit is comprised in land of any of the specified descriptions, and a person claims that—

- (a) he is entitled to an interest in that hereditament or unit, and
- (b) the interest is one which qualifies for protection under these provisions, and
- (c) since the relevant date he has made reasonable endeavours to sell that interest, and
- (d) he has been unable to sell it except at a price substantially lower than that for which it might reasonably have been expected to sell if no part of the hereditament or unit were comprised in land of any of the specified descriptions, he may serve on the appropriate authority a notice in the prescribed form requiring that authority to purchase that interest to the extent specified in, and otherwise in accordance with, these provisions.

(2) The preceding subsection shall apply in relation to an interest in part of a hereditament or agricultural unit as it applies in relation to an interest in the entirety of a hereditament or agricultural unit:

Provided that this subsection shall not enable any person—

- (a) if he is entitled to an interest in the entirety of a hereditament or agricultural unit, to make any claim or serve any notice under this section in respect of his interest in part of the hereditament or unit, or

(b) if he is entitled to an interest only in part of a hereditament or agricultural unit, to make or serve any such claim or notice in respect of his interest in less than the entirety of that part.

(3) In this section “ the relevant date ”—

- (a) in relation to land designated, allocated, defined or indicated as mentioned in any of paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section, means the date (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) on which the development plan, or the amendment of the development plan, by virtue of which the land was first so designated, allocated, defined or indicated came into operation ;
- (b) in relation to any such land as is mentioned in paragraph (d) of that subsection, means the date (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) on which the special enactment in question came into operation ;
- (c) in relation to land falling within paragraph (e) of that subsection, means the date (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) of the coming into operation of the order or scheme by virtue of which it falls within that paragraph ;
- (d) in relation to land falling within paragraph (f) of that subsection, means the date (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) of the passing of the resolution by virtue of which it falls within that paragraph.

(4) In these provisions “ the claimant ”, in relation to a notice served under this section, means the person who served that notice, and any reference to the interest of the claimant, in relation to such a notice, is a reference to the interest which the notice requires the appropriate authority to purchase as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section.

140.—(1) Where a notice has been served under the last preceding section in respect of a hereditament or an agricultural unit, the appropriate authority, at any time before the end of the period of two months beginning with the date of service of that notice, may serve on the claimant a counter-notice in the prescribed form objecting to the notice. Objection to notice requiring purchase of claimant's interest.

(2) The grounds on which objection may be made in a counter-notice to a notice served under the last preceding section are :—

- (a) that no part of the hereditament or agricultural unit to which the notice relates is comprised in land of any of the specified descriptions ;

PART VIII

- (b) that the appropriate authority (unless compelled to do so by virtue of these provisions) do not propose to acquire any part of the hereditament, or (in the case of an agricultural unit) any part of the affected area, in the exercise of any relevant powers ;
- (c) that (in the case of an agricultural unit) the appropriate authority propose in the exercise of relevant powers to acquire a part of the affected area specified in the counter-notice, but (unless compelled to do so by virtue of these provisions) do not propose to acquire any other part of that area in the exercise of any such powers ;
- (d) that, on the date of service of the notice under the last preceding section, the claimant was not entitled to an interest in any part of the hereditament or agricultural unit to which the notice relates ;
- (e) that (for reasons specified in the counter-notice) the interest of the claimant is not an interest qualifying for protection under these provisions ;
- (f) that the conditions specified in paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section are not fulfilled.

(3) Any counter-notice served under this section in respect of a notice under the last preceding section shall specify the grounds (being one or more of the grounds mentioned in the last preceding subsection) on which the appropriate authority object to the notice.

(4) In this section “ relevant powers ”, in relation to any land falling within any of the specified descriptions, means any powers under which the appropriate authority are or could be authorised—

- (a) to acquire that land compulsorily as being land falling within that description, or
- (b) to acquire that land compulsorily for any of the relevant purposes ; and “ the relevant purposes ”, in relation to any such land, means the purposes for which, in accordance with the circumstances by virtue of which that land falls within the description in question, it is liable to be acquired or is indicated as being proposed to be acquired.

Reference of objection to Lands Tribunal.

141.—(1) Where a counter-notice has been served under the last preceding section, objecting to a notice served under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act, the claimant, at any time before the end of the period of two months beginning with the date of service of the counter-notice, may require the objection to be referred to the Lands Tribunal.

PART VIII

(2) On any such reference, if the objection is not withdrawn, the Lands Tribunal shall consider the matters set out in the notice served by the claimant and the grounds of the objection specified in the counter-notice; and, subject to the next following subsection, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Tribunal that the objection is not well-founded, the Tribunal shall uphold the objection.

(3) An objection on the grounds mentioned in paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of the last preceding section shall not be upheld by the Tribunal unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Tribunal that the objection is well-founded.

(4) If the Tribunal determines not to uphold the objection, the Tribunal shall declare that the notice to which the counter-notice relates is a valid notice.

(5) If the Tribunal upholds the objection, but only on the grounds mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of the last preceding section, the Tribunal shall declare that the notice is a valid notice in relation to the part of the affected area specified in the counter-notice as being the part which the appropriate authority propose to acquire as therein mentioned, but not in relation to any other part of the affected area.

(6) In any case falling within subsection (4) or subsection (5) of this section, the Tribunal shall give directions specifying the date on which notice to treat (as mentioned in the next following section) is to be deemed to have been served.

142.—(1) Where a notice has been served under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act, and either—

(a) no counter-notice objecting to that notice is served in accordance with these provisions, or

(b) where such a counter-notice has been served, the objection is withdrawn, or, on a reference to the Lands Tribunal, is not upheld by the Tribunal,

Effect of valid notice
purchase.

the appropriate authority shall be deemed to be authorised to acquire compulsorily under the appropriate enactment the interest of the claimant in the hereditament, or (in the case of an agricultural unit) the interest of the claimant in so far as it subsists in the affected area, and to have served a notice to treat in respect thereof on the date mentioned in the next following subsection.

(2) The said date—

(a) in a case where, on a reference to the Lands Tribunal, the Tribunal determines not to uphold the objection, is the date specified in directions given by the Tribunal in accordance with subsection (6) of the last preceding section;

S*

PART VIII

(b) in any other case, is the date on which the period of two months beginning with the date of service of the notice under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act comes to an end.

(3) Where the notice under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act relates to an agricultural unit, and the appropriate authority have served a counter-notice objecting to that notice on the grounds mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section one hundred and forty of this Act, then if either—

(a) the claimant, without referring that objection to the Lands Tribunal, and before the time for so referring it has expired, gives notice to the appropriate authority that he accepts the proposal of the authority to acquire the part of the affected area specified in the counter-notice, and withdraws his claim as to the remainder of that area, or

(b) on a reference to the Lands Tribunal, the Tribunal makes a declaration in accordance with subsection (5) of the last preceding section in respect of that part of the affected area, the appropriate authority shall be deemed to be authorised to acquire compulsorily under the appropriate enactment the interest of the claimant in so far it subsists in the part of the affected area specified in the counter-notice (but not in so far as it subsists in any other part of that area) and to have served a notice to treat in respect thereof on the date mentioned in the next following subsection.

(4) The said date—

(a) in a case falling within paragraph (a) of the last preceding subsection, is the date on which notice is given in accordance with that paragraph, and

(b) in a case falling within paragraph (b) of that subsection, is the date specified in directions given by the Lands Tribunal in accordance with subsection (6) of the last preceding section.

Compensation
for acquisition in pursuance of notice requiring purchase.

143.—(1) Subject to the next following subsection, the compensation payable in respect of a compulsory acquisition in pursuance of a notice served under these provisions in respect of a hereditament—

(a) shall not include any amount attributable to damage sustained by reason that the hereditament is severed from other land held therewith, and

(b) shall not include any amount attributable to disturbance.

(2) Paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection shall not apply to an amount attributable to damage sustained by reason that the hereditament is severed from agricultural land held therewith.

(3) The compensation payable in respect of a compulsory acquisition in pursuance of a notice served under these provisions in respect of an agricultural unit shall not include any amount attributable to disturbance.

144.—(1) Subject to the next following subsection, the person by whom a notice has been served under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act may withdraw the notice at any time before the compensation payable in respect of a compulsory acquisition in pursuance of the notice has been determined by the Lands Tribunal, or at any time before the end of the period of six weeks beginning with the date on which the compensation is so determined; and, where such a notice is withdrawn by virtue of this subsection, any notice to treat deemed to have been served in consequence thereof shall be deemed to have been withdrawn. Withdrawal of notice requiring purchase.

(2) A person shall not be entitled by virtue of the preceding subsection to withdraw a notice after the appropriate authority have exercised a right of entering upon and taking possession of land in pursuance of a notice to treat deemed to have been served in consequence of that notice.

(3) No compensation shall be payable in respect of the withdrawal of a notice to treat which is deemed to have been withdrawn by virtue of subsection (1) of this section.

145.—(1) The provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section shall have effect where the grounds of objection specified in a counter-notice served under section one hundred and forty of this Act consist of or include the grounds mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of that section, and either— Effect on powers of compulsory acquisition of counter-notice disclaiming intention to acquire.

(a) the objection on the grounds mentioned in that paragraph is referred to and upheld by the Lands Tribunal, or

(b) the time for referring that objection to the Lands Tribunal expires without its having been so referred.

(2) If a compulsory purchase order has been made under the appropriate enactment in respect of land which consists of or includes the whole or part of the hereditament or agricultural unit to which the counter-notice relates, or if the land in question falls within paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act, any power conferred by that order, or by the special enactment, as the case may be, for the compulsory acquisition of the interest of the claimant in the hereditament or agricultural unit or any part thereof shall cease to have effect.

(3) If the land in question falls within paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act, then (without prejudice to the effect of any subsequent designation) the development plan shall have effect as if no part of the hereditament, or (in the case of an agricultural unit) no part of the affected area, were designated therein as land subject to compulsory acquisition.

PART VIII

(4) The provisions of subsections (5) and (6) of this section shall have effect where the grounds of objection specified in a counter-notice under section one hundred and forty of this Act consist of or include the grounds mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of that section, and either—

(a) the objection on the grounds mentioned in that paragraph is referred to and upheld by the Lands Tribunal, or

(b) the time for referring that objection to the Lands Tribunal expires without its having been so referred; and in those subsections any reference to “the part of the affected area not required” is a reference to the whole of that area except the part specified in the counter-notice as being the part which the appropriate authority propose to acquire as mentioned in the counter-notice.

(5) If a compulsory purchase order has been made under the appropriate enactment in respect of land which consists of or includes any of the part of the affected area not required, or if the land in question falls within paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act, any power conferred by that order, or by the special enactment, as the case may be, for the compulsory acquisition of the interest of the claimant in any land comprised in the part of the affected area not required shall cease to have effect.

(6) If the land in question falls within paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act, then (without prejudice to the effect of any subsequent designation) the development plan shall have effect as if no land comprised in the part of the affected area not required were designated therein as land subject to compulsory acquisition.

Death of claimant after service of notice requiring purchase.

146.—(1) In relation to any time after the death of a person who has served a notice under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act, the provisions mentioned in the next following subsection shall apply as if any reference therein to the claimant were a reference to the claimant’s personal representatives.

(2) The said provisions are subsection (1) of section one hundred and forty, subsection (1) of section one hundred and forty-one and subsection (3) of section one hundred and forty-two of this Act.

“Appropriate authority” for purposes of these provisions.

147.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, in these provisions “the appropriate authority”, in relation to any land, means the government department, local authority or other body by whom, in accordance with the circumstances by virtue of which the land falls within any of the specified descriptions, the land is liable to be acquired or is indicated as being proposed to be acquired.

(2) If any question arises—

- (a) whether the appropriate authority in relation to any land for the purposes of these provisions is the Minister of Transport or a local highway authority, or
- (b) which of two or more local highway authorities is the appropriate authority in relation to any land for those purposes, that question shall be referred to the Minister of Transport, whose decision shall be final.

(3) Subject to the last preceding subsection, if any question arises as to which of two or more local authorities is the appropriate authority in relation to any land for the purposes of these provisions, that question shall be referred to the Minister, whose decision shall be final.

148.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, in these provisions “the appropriate enactment”, in relation to land falling within any of the specified descriptions, means the enactment which provides for the compulsory acquisition of land as being land falling within that description. “Appropriate enactment” for purposes of these provisions.

(2) In relation to land falling within the description contained in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act an enactment shall, for the purposes of the preceding subsection, be taken to be an enactment which provides for the compulsory acquisition of land as being land falling within that description if—

- (a) the enactment provides for the compulsory acquisition of land for the purposes of the functions which are indicated in the development plan as being the functions for the purposes of which the land is allocated or is proposed to be developed, or
- (b) where no particular functions are so indicated in the development plan, the enactment provides for the compulsory acquisition of land for the purposes of any of the functions of the government department, local authority or other body for the purposes of whose functions the land is allocated or is defined as the site of proposed development.

(3) Where, in accordance with the circumstances by virtue of which any land falls within any of the specified descriptions, it is indicated that the land is proposed to be acquired for highway purposes, any enactment under which a highway authority are or (subject to the fulfilment of the relevant conditions) could be authorised to acquire that land compulsorily for highway purposes shall, for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, be taken to be an enactment providing for the compulsory acquisition of that land as being land falling within the description in question.

(4) In the last preceding subsection the reference to the fulfilment of the relevant conditions is a reference to such one or more of the following as are applicable to the circumstances in question, that is to say,—

- (a) the coming into operation of any requisite order under the provisions of Part II of the Highways Act, 1959, relating to trunk roads ;
- (b) the coming into operation of any requisite scheme or order under the provisions of the said Part II relating to special roads ;
- (c) the making or approval of any requisite plans.

(5) If, apart from this subsection, two or more enactments would be the appropriate enactment in relation to any land for the purposes of these provisions, the appropriate enactment for those purposes shall be taken to be that one of those enactments under which, in the circumstances in question, it is most likely that (apart from these provisions) the land would have been acquired by the appropriate authority.

(6) If any question arises as to which enactment is the appropriate enactment in relation to any land for the purposes of these provisions, that question shall be referred—

- (a) where the appropriate authority are a government department, to the Minister or Board in charge of that department ;
- (b) where the appropriate authority are a local highway authority, to the Minister of Transport ;
- (c) where the appropriate authority are statutory undertakers, to the appropriate Minister ; and
- (d) in any other case, to the Minister, and the decision of the Minister or Board to whom a question is referred under this subsection shall be final.

Meaning of “owner-occupier” and “resident owner-occupier”.

149.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, in these provisions “owner-occupier”, in relation to a hereditament, means a person who—

- (a) occupies the whole or part of the hereditament in right of an owner's interest therein, and has so occupied the hereditament or that part thereof during the whole of the period of six months ending with the date of service, or
- (b) occupied, in right of an owner's interest, the whole or part of the hereditament during the whole of a period of six months ending not more than six months before the date of service, the hereditament, or that part thereof, as the case may be, having been unoccupied since the end of that period.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, in these provisions "owner-occupier", in relation to an agricultural unit, means a person who—

- (a) occupies the whole of that unit, and has occupied it during the whole of the period of six months ending with the date of service, or
- (b) occupied the whole of that unit during the whole of a period of six months ending not more than six months before the date of service, and, at all times material for the purposes of paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection, as the case may be, has been entitled to an owner's interest in the whole or part of that unit.

(3) In these provisions "resident owner-occupier", in relation to a hereditament, means an individual who—

- (a) occupies the whole or part of the hereditament as a private dwelling in right of an owner's interest therein, and has so occupied the hereditament or that part thereof, as the case may be, during the whole of the period of six months ending with the date of service, or
- (b) occupied, in right of an owner's interest, the whole or part of the hereditament as a private dwelling during the whole of a period of six months ending not more than six months before the date of service, the hereditament, or that part thereof, as the case may be, having been unoccupied since the end of that period.

(4) In this section "owner's interest", in relation to a hereditament or agricultural unit, means a freehold interest therein or a tenancy thereof granted or extended for a term of years certain of which, on the date of service, not less than three years remain unexpired; and in this and the next following section "date of service", in relation to a hereditament or agricultural unit, means the date of service of a notice in respect thereof under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act.

150.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, in these provisions the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say:—

"the affected area", in relation to an agricultural unit, means so much of that unit as, on the date of service, consists of land falling within any of the specified descriptions:

General
interpretation of these provisions.

PART VIII

“ agricultural unit ” means land which is occupied as a unit for agricultural purposes, including any dwellinghouse or other building occupied by the same person for the purpose of farming the land ;

“ annual value ”, in relation to a hereditament, means the value which, on the date of service, is shown in the valuation list as the rateable value of that hereditament, except that, where the rateable value differs from the net annual value, it means the value which on that date is shown in the valuation list as the net annual value thereof ;

“ the claimant ” has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (4) of section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act ;

“ hereditament ” means the aggregate of the land which forms the subject of a single entry in the valuation list for the time being in force for a rating area ;

“ special enactment ” means a local enactment, or a provision contained in an Act other than a local or private Act, being a local enactment or provision authorising the compulsory acquisition of land specifically identified therein ; and in this definition “ local enactment ” means a local or private Act, or an order confirmed by Parliament or brought into operation in accordance with special parliamentary procedure ;

“ the specified descriptions ” and “ these provisions ” have the meanings assigned to them respectively by subsection (5) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act.

(2) Where any land is on the boundary between two or more rating areas, and accordingly—

(a) different parts of that land form the subject of single entries in the valuation lists for the time being in force for those areas respectively, but

(b) if the whole of that land had been in one of those areas, it would have formed the subject of a single entry in the valuation list for that area, the whole of that land shall be treated, for the purposes of the definition of “ hereditament ” in the preceding subsection, as if it formed the subject of a single entry in the valuation list for a rating area.

(3) Land which forms the subject of an entry in the valuation list by reason only that it is land over which any shooting, fishing or other sporting rights are exercisable, or that it is land over which a right of exhibiting advertisements is let out or reserved, shall not be taken to be a hereditament within the said definition.

PART VIII

(4) Where, in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, land whereof different parts form the subject of single entries in the valuation lists for the time being in force for two or more rating areas is treated as if it formed the subject of a single entry in the valuation list for a rating area, the definition of "annual value" in subsection (1) of this section shall apply as if any reference therein to a value shown in the valuation list were a reference to the aggregate of the values shown (as rateable values or as net annual values, as the case may be) in those valuation lists in relation to the different parts of that land.

(5) Any reference in these provisions to a development plan is a reference to such a plan in the form in which (whether as originally made or approved by the Minister or as subsequently amended) that plan is for the time being in force.

151.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect for the purposes of the application of these provisions to a hereditament or agricultural unit occupied for the purposes of a partnership firm. Special provisions as to partnerships.

(2) Occupation for the purposes of the firm shall be treated as occupation by the firm, and not as occupation by any one or more of the partners individually, and the definitions of "owner-occupier" in subsections (1) and (2) of section one hundred and forty-nine of this Act shall apply in relation to the firm accordingly.

(3) If, after the service by the firm of a notice under section one hundred and thirty-nine of this Act, any change occurs (whether by death or otherwise) in the constitution of the firm, any proceedings, rights or obligations consequential upon that notice may be carried on or exercised by or against, or (as the case may be) shall be incumbent upon, the partners for the time being constituting the firm.

(4) Nothing in this section or elsewhere in these provisions shall be construed as indicating an intention to exclude the operation of section nineteen of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (whereby, unless the contrary intention appears, "person" includes any body of persons corporate or unincorporate) in relation to any of these provisions.

(5) Subsection (2) of this section shall not affect the definition of "resident owner-occupier" in subsection (3) of section one hundred and forty-nine of this Act.

Supplementary provisions

152. Without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (1) of section one hundred and forty-four of this Act, the power conferred by section thirty-one of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, to withdraw a notice to treat shall not be exercisable in the case of a notice to treat which is deemed to have been served by virtue of any of the provisions of this Part of this Act. No withdrawal of constructive notice to treat.

PART IX
HIGHWAYS

Stopping up and diversion of highways.

153.—(1) The Minister of Transport may by order authorise the stopping up or diversion of any highway, if he is satisfied that it is necessary to do so in order to enable development to be carried out in accordance with planning permission granted under Part III of this Act, or to be carried out by a government department.

(2) Any order made under this section may make such provision as appears to the Minister of Transport to be necessary or expedient for the provision or improvement of any other highway, and may direct—

- (a) that any highway so provided or improved shall for the purposes of the Highways Act, 1959, be a highway maintainable at the public expense ;
- (b) that the said Minister, or any local authority specified in that behalf in the order, shall be the highway authority for that highway ;
- (c) in the case of a highway for which the said Minister is to be the highway authority, that the highway shall, on such date as may be specified in the order, become a trunk road within the meaning of the Highways Act, 1959.

(3) Any order made under this section may contain such incidental and consequential provisions as appear to the Minister of Transport to be necessary or expedient, including in particular provision for authorising that Minister, or requiring any other authority or person specified in the order,—

- (a) to pay, or to make contributions in respect of, the cost of doing any work provided for by the order or any increased expenditure to be incurred which is attributable to the doing of any such work, or
- (b) to repay, or to make contributions in respect of, any compensation paid by the highway authority in respect of restrictions imposed under section one or section two of the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, in relation to any highway stopped up or diverted under the order.

(4) The powers of the Minister of Transport under subsection (1) of this section shall include power to make an order authorising the stopping up or diversion of any highway which is temporarily stopped up or diverted under any other enactment.

(5) The provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to—

- (a) any power conferred on the Minister of Transport by any other enactment to authorise the stopping up or diversion of a highway, or

- (b) the provisions of section three of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, or
- (c) the provisions of section one hundred and fifty-five of this Act.

PART IX

154.—(1) Before making an order under the last preceding section, the Minister of Transport shall publish in at least one local newspaper circulating in the relevant area, and in the London Gazette, a notice—

Procedure in relation to orders under s. 153.

- (a) stating the general effect of the order ;
- (b) specifying a place in the relevant area where a copy of the draft order and of any relevant map or plan may be inspected by any person free of charge at all reasonable hours during a period of three months from the date of the publication of the notice ; and
- (c) stating that, within that period, any person may by notice to that Minister object to the making of the order.
- (2) Not later than the date on which that notice is so published, the Minister of Transport—

- (a) shall serve a copy of the notice, together with a copy of the draft order and of any relevant map or plan, on every local authority in whose area any highway to which the order relates is situated, and on any water, hydraulic power, gas or electricity undertakers having any cables, mains, pipes or wires laid along, across, under or over any highway to be stopped up or diverted under the order, and
- (b) shall cause a copy of the notice to be displayed in a prominent position at the ends of so much of any highway as is proposed to be stopped up or diverted under the order.

(3) If before the end of the said period of three months an objection is received by the Minister of Transport from any local authority or undertakers on whom a notice is required to be served under the last preceding subsection, or from any other person appearing to him to be affected by the order, and the objection is not withdrawn, the said Minister shall cause a local inquiry to be held :

Provided that, if the objection is made by a person other than such a local authority or undertakers, the said Minister may dispense with such an inquiry if he is satisfied that in the special circumstances of the case the holding of such an inquiry is unnecessary.

(4) After considering any objections to the order which are not withdrawn, and, where a local inquiry is held, the report of the person who held the inquiry, the Minister of Transport:

PART IX

(subject to the next following subsection) may make the order either without modification or subject to such modifications as he thinks fit.

(5) Where the order contains a provision requiring any such payment, repayment or contribution as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of the last preceding section, and objection to that provision is duly made, in accordance with subsection (3) of this section, by an authority or person who would be required thereby to make such a payment, repayment or contribution, and the objection is not withdrawn, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(6) Immediately after the order has been made, the Minister of Transport shall publish, in the manner specified in subsection (1) of this section, a notice stating that the order has been made, and naming a place where a copy of the order may be seen at all reasonable hours; and the provisions of subsection (2) of this section shall have effect in relation to any such notice as they have effect in relation to a notice under subsection (1) of this section.

(7) In this section "the relevant area", in relation to an order, means the area in which any highway to which the order relates is situated, and "local authority" means the council of a county, county borough, county district or parish, or of a borough included in a rural district, and the parish meeting of a rural parish not having a separate parish council.

Extinguishment of public rights of way over land held for planning purposes.

155.—(1) Where any land has been acquired or appropriated for planning purposes, and is for the time being held by a local authority for the purposes for which it was acquired or appropriated, the Minister may by order extinguish any public right of way over the land if he is satisfied that an alternative right of way has been or will be provided or that the provision of an alternative right of way is not required.

(2) The provisions of the last preceding section (except subsection (5) thereof) shall have effect in relation to orders under this section as they have effect in relation to orders under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act, with the substitution, for references to the Minister of Transport, of references to the Minister.

(3) In this section any reference to the acquisition or appropriation of land for planning purposes shall be construed in accordance with subsection (1) of section eighty-seven of this Act as if this section were in Part V of this Act.

Compulsory acquisition of land in connection with highways.

156.—(1) The Minister of Transport or a local highway authority may be authorised to acquire land compulsorily—

(a) for the purpose of providing or improving any highway which is to be provided or improved in pursuance of an order under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act, or for any other purpose for which land is required in connection with such an order, or

- (b) for the purpose of providing any public right of way which is to be provided as an alternative to a right of way extinguished under the last preceding section.

(2) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply to the acquisition of land under this section, and accordingly shall have effect—

- (a) as if this section had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act, and
(b) as if this section were included among the enactments specified in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one of that Act.

157.—(1) In relation to orders under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act, regulations made under this Act by the Minister of Transport may make provision for securing that any proceedings required to be taken for the purposes of the acquisition of land under the last preceding section (as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section) may be taken concurrently with any proceedings required to be taken for the purposes of the order.

Concurrent proceedings in connection with highways.

(2) In relation to orders under section one hundred and fifty-five of this Act, regulations made under this Act may make provision for securing—

- (a) that any proceedings required to be taken for the purposes of such an order may be taken concurrently with any proceedings required to be taken for the purposes of the acquisition of the land over which the right of way is to be extinguished, or
(b) that any proceedings required to be taken for the purposes of the acquisition of any other land under the last preceding section (as mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section) may be taken concurrently with either or both of the proceedings referred to in the preceding paragraph.

158.—(1) Where in pursuance of an order under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act a highway is stopped up or diverted, and, immediately before the date on which the order became operative, there was under, in, on, over, along or across the highway a telegraphic line belonging to or used by the Postmaster-General, the Postmaster-General shall have the same powers in respect of that line as if the order had not become operative:

Provisions as to telegraphic lines.

Provided that if any person entitled to land over which the highway subsisted requires that the telegraphic line should be altered, paragraphs (1) to (8) of section seven of the Telegraph Act, 1878, shall apply to the alteration, and accordingly shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references therein to undertakers included references to the person so requiring the line to be altered.

(2) Where any such order provides for the improvement of a highway, other than a trunk road, and, immediately before the date on which the order became operative, there was under, in, on, over, along or across the highway a telegraphic line belonging to or used by the Postmaster-General, then if the local highway authority require that that line should be altered, paragraphs (1) to (8) of the said section seven shall apply to the alteration, and accordingly shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references therein to undertakers included references to the local highway authority:

Provided that those paragraphs shall not apply by virtue of this subsection to the alteration of a telegraphic line for the purpose of authority's works as defined in Part II of the Public Utilities Street Works Act, 1950.

(3) Where an order under section one hundred and fifty-five of this Act extinguishing a public right of way is made on the application of a local authority, and at the time of the publication of the notice required by subsection (1) of section one hundred and fifty-four of this Act (as applied by the said section one hundred and fifty-five) there was under, in, on, over, along or across the land over which the right of way subsisted a telegraphic line belonging to or used by the Postmaster-General—

- (a) the power of the Postmaster-General to remove the line shall, notwithstanding the making of the order, be exercisable at any time not later than the end of the period of three months from the date on which the right of way is extinguished, and shall be exercisable in respect of the whole or any part of the line after the end of that period if before the end of that period the Postmaster-General has given notice to the local authority of his intention to remove the line or that part thereof, as the case may be ;
- (b) the Postmaster-General may by notice given in that behalf to the local authority not later than the end of the said period of three months abandon the telegraphic line or any part thereof ;
- (c) subject to the last preceding paragraph, the Postmaster-General shall be deemed at the end of that period to have abandoned any part of the line which he has then neither removed nor given notice of his intention to remove ;
- (d) the Postmaster-General shall be entitled to recover from the local authority the expense of providing, in substitution for the line and any telegraphic line connected therewith which is rendered useless in consequence of the removal or abandonment of the line, a telegraphic line in such other place as the Postmaster-General may require ;

PART IX

- (e) where under the preceding provisions of this subsection the Postmaster-General has abandoned the whole or any part of a telegraphic line, it shall vest in the local authority, and the provisions of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1954, shall not apply in relation to the line or that part thereof with respect to anything done or omitted after the abandonment thereof.

(4) In this section "telegraphic line" and "alter" have the same meanings as in the Telegraph Act, 1878.

PART X

STATUTORY UNDERTAKERS

General provisions

159.—(1) Where an application for planning permission to develop operational land is made by statutory undertakers, and is referred to the Minister under Part III of this Act, or where an appeal is made to the Minister under Part III of this Act from the decision on such an application, the application or appeal shall be dealt with by the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

Planning permission to develop operational land.

(2) If, on such an application or appeal, the Minister and the appropriate Minister propose to refuse planning permission, or to grant it subject to conditions, they shall notify to the statutory undertakers the decision which they propose to make ; and if, within twenty-eight days from the date on which the statutory undertakers receive that notification, the undertakers make an application to the appropriate Minister in that behalf, the decision shall be embodied in an order made by the Minister and the appropriate Minister, and that order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in Part III of this Act, planning permission to develop operational land of statutory undertakers shall not, except with their consent, be granted subject to conditions requiring that any buildings or works authorised by the permission shall be removed, or that any use of the land so authorised shall be discontinued, at the end of a specified period.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act as to compensation, the provisions of this Act shall apply to an application which is dealt with under this section by the Minister and the appropriate Minister as if it had been dealt with by the Minister.

PART X

(5) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that, for the purposes of the application of the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945, to any order made by the Minister and the appropriate Minister under this section, the requirements imposed by this Act with respect to the consideration of any such application or appeal as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section shall be deemed to be requirements with respect to proceedings preliminary to the making of the order within the meaning of section two of the said Act of 1945.

Development
requiring authorisation of government department.

160.—(1) Where, under the enactments regulating the carrying on of a statutory undertaking, the authorisation of a government department is required in respect of any development of operational land, and that department propose to decide—

- (a) to refuse the authorisation on the grounds that planning permission ought not to be granted for the development, and on no other grounds, or
- (b) to grant the authorisation and direct that planning permission shall be deemed to be granted subject to conditions other than conditions imposed as part of the authorisation, the provisions of subsection (2) of the last preceding section shall apply (subject to any necessary modifications) in relation to that decision, and to the proposal to make that decision, as they apply in relation to any such decision or proposed decision as is mentioned in that subsection.

(2) Where the authorisation of a government department is required as mentioned in the preceding subsection, then, except where that authorisation has been granted without any direction as to the grant of planning permission, the Minister and the appropriate Minister shall not be required to deal with an application for planning permission under subsection (1) of the last preceding section.

(3) The provisions of subsection (3) of section forty-one of this Act shall have effect for the purposes of this section as they have effect for the purposes of that section.

Revocation or modification of permission to develop operational land.

161.—(1) In relation to any planning permission, granted on the application of statutory undertakers, for the development of operational land, the provisions of Part III of this Act with respect to the revocation and modification of planning permission shall have effect as if, for any reference therein to the Minister, there were substituted a reference to the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

(2) Where the Minister and the appropriate Minister propose to confirm or make an order under section twenty-seven of this Act as modified by the preceding subsection, they shall give notice of that proposal to the statutory undertakers, and shall afford them an opportunity of objecting to the proposal; and if any objection is so made by the statutory undertakers and is not withdrawn, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure. PART X

162.—(1) The provisions of Part III of this Act with respect to the making of orders requiring the discontinuance of any use of land or imposing conditions on the continuance thereof, or requiring buildings or works on land to be altered or removed, shall have effect, in relation to operational land of statutory undertakers, as if, for any reference therein to the Minister, there were substituted a reference to the Minister and the appropriate Minister. Order requiring discontinuance of use etc. of operational land.

(2) Where the Minister and the appropriate Minister propose to confirm or make an order under section twenty-eight of this Act as modified by the preceding subsection, they shall give notice of that proposal to the statutory undertakers, and shall afford them an opportunity of objecting to the proposal; and if any objection is so made by the statutory undertakers and is not withdrawn, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

163.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in paragraph 10 of the First Schedule to the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, a compulsory purchase order to which this section applies may be confirmed or made without the appropriate Minister's certificate. Acquisition of land of statutory undertakers.

(2) This section applies to any compulsory purchase order under this Act authorising the acquisition of land which has been acquired by statutory undertakers for the purposes of their undertaking.

(3) Except where the appropriate Minister's certificate is given, or the land to which the order relates is land designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition,—

(a) a compulsory purchase order to which this section applies shall be of no effect unless it is confirmed or made by the appropriate Minister jointly with the Minister or Ministers who would apart from this subsection have power to make or confirm it, and

(b) if any objection to such an order is duly made by the statutory undertakers and is not withdrawn, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(4) Where any operational land of statutory undertakers is designated as subject to compulsory acquisition as mentioned in subsection (4) of section five of this Act, any reference in that subsection to an order made by the Minister shall be construed, in relation to that land, as a reference to an order made by the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

PART X

(5) In this section "the appropriate Minister's certificate" means such a certificate as is mentioned in paragraph 10 of the First Schedule to the said Act of 1946.

Extinguishment of rights of way, and rights as to apparatus, of statutory undertakers.

164.—(1) Where any land has been acquired by a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers under Part V of this Act, or has been appropriated by a local authority for planning purposes, and—

- (a) there subsists over that land a right vested in or belonging to statutory undertakers for the purpose of the carrying on of their undertaking, being a right of way or a right of laying down, erecting, continuing or maintaining apparatus on, under or over the land, or
- (b) there is on, under or over the land apparatus vested in or belonging to statutory undertakers for the purpose of the carrying on of their undertaking.

the acquiring or appropriating authority may serve on the statutory undertakers a notice stating that, at the end of such period as may be specified in the notice, the right will be extinguished, or requiring that, before the end of such period as may be so specified, the apparatus shall be removed.

(2) The statutory undertakers on whom a notice is served under the preceding subsection may, before the end of the period of twenty-eight days from the service of the notice, serve a counter-notice on the acquiring or appropriating authority stating that they object to all or any of the provisions of the notice, and specifying the grounds of their objection.

(3) If no counter-notice is served under the last preceding subsection—

- (a) any right to which the notice relates shall be extinguished at the end of the period specified in that behalf in the notice, and
- (b) if, at the end of the period so specified in relation to any apparatus, any requirement of the notice as to the removal of the apparatus has not been complied with, the acquiring or appropriating authority may remove the apparatus and dispose of it in any way the authority may think fit.

(4) If a counter-notice is served under subsection (2) of this section on a local authority or on statutory undertakers, the authority or undertakers may either withdraw the notice (without prejudice to the service of a further notice) or may apply to the Minister and the appropriate Minister for an order under this section embodying the provisions of the notice, with or without modification.

PART X

(5) If a counter-notice is served under subsection (2) of this section on a Minister, he may withdraw the notice (without prejudice to the service of a further notice) or he and the appropriate Minister may make an order under this section embodying the provisions of the notice, with or without modification.

(6) In this section any reference to the appropriation of land for planning purposes shall be construed in accordance with subsection (1) of section eighty-seven of this Act as if this section were in Part V of this Act.

165.—(1) Where a Minister and the appropriate Minister Orders under propose to make an order under subsection (5) of the last preced- s. 164.
ing section, they shall prepare a draft of the order.

(2) Before making an order under subsection (4) or subsection (5) of the last preceding section, the Ministers proposing to make the order—

- (a) shall afford to the statutory undertakers on whom notice was served under subsection (1) of that section an opportunity of objecting to the application for, or proposal to make, the order, and
- (b) if any objection is made, shall consider the objection and afford to those statutory undertakers (and, in a case falling within subsection (4) of that section, to the local authority or statutory undertakers on whom the counter-notice was served) an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed by the Minister and the appropriate Minister for the purpose, and may then, if they think fit, make the order in accordance with the application or in accordance with the draft order, as the case may be, either with or without modification.

(3) Where an objection to an order under the last preceding section is duly made and is not withdrawn before the making of the order, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(4) Subject to the last preceding subsection, where an order is made under the last preceding section,—

- (a) any right to which the order relates shall be extinguished at the end of the period specified in that behalf in the order, and
- (b) if, at the end of the period so specified in relation to any apparatus, any requirement of the order as to the removal of the apparatus has not been complied with, the acquiring or appropriating authority may remove the apparatus and dispose of it in any way the authority may think fit.

PART X
Extension or modification of functions of statutory undertakers.

166.—(1) The powers conferred by this section shall be exercisable where, on a representation made by statutory undertakers, it appears to the Minister and the appropriate Minister to be expedient that the powers and duties of those undertakers should be extended or modified, in order—

- (a) to secure the provision of services which would not otherwise be provided, or satisfactorily provided, for any purpose in connection with which a local authority or Minister may be authorised under Part V of this Act to acquire land, or
- (b) to facilitate an adjustment of the carrying on of the undertaking necessitated by any of the acts and events mentioned in the next following subsection.

(2) The said acts and events are—

- (a) the acquisition under Part V of this Act of any land in which an interest was held, or which was used, for the purpose of the carrying on of the undertaking of the statutory undertakers in question ;
- (b) the extinguishment of a right or the imposition of any requirement by virtue of section one hundred and sixty-four of this Act ;
- (c) a decision on an application made by the statutory undertakers for planning permission to develop any such land as is mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection ;
- (d) the revocation or modification of planning permission granted on any such application ;
- (e) the making of an order under section twenty-eight of this Act in relation to any such land.

(3) The powers conferred by this section shall also be exercisable where, on a representation made by a local authority or Minister, it appears to the Minister and the appropriate Minister to be expedient that the powers and duties of statutory undertakers should be extended or modified, in order to secure the provision of new services, or the extension of existing services, for any purpose in connection with which the local authority or Minister making the representation may be authorised under Part V of this Act to acquire land.

(4) Where the powers conferred by this section are exercisable, the Minister and the appropriate Minister may, if they think fit, by order provide for such extension or modification of the powers and duties of the statutory undertakers as appears to them to be requisite in order to secure the services in question, as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section or in the last preceding subsection, or to secure the adjustment in question, as mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, as the case may be.

PART X

(5) Without prejudice to the generality of the last preceding subsection, an order under this section may make provision—

- (a) for empowering the statutory undertakers to acquire (whether compulsorily or by agreement) any land specified in the order, and to erect or construct any buildings or works so specified ;
- (b) for applying, in relation to the acquisition of any such land or the construction of any such works, enactments relating to the acquisition of land and the construction of works ;
- (c) where it has been represented that the making of the order is expedient for the purposes mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section, or in subsection (3) of this section, for giving effect to such financial arrangements between the local authority or Minister and the statutory undertakers as they may agree, or as, in default of agreement, may be determined to be equitable in such manner and by such tribunal as may be specified in the order ;
- (d) for such incidental and supplemental matters as appear to the Minister and the appropriate Minister to be expedient for the purposes of the order.

167.—(1) As soon as may be after making such a representation as is mentioned in subsection (1) or subsection (3) of the last preceding section—

Procedure in relation to orders under s. 166.

- (a) the statutory undertakers, in a case falling within subsection (1) of that section, or
- (b) the local authority or Minister making the representation, in a case falling within subsection (3) thereof, shall publish, in such form and manner as may be directed by the Minister and the appropriate Minister, a notice giving such particulars as may be so directed of the matters to which the representation relates, and specifying the time within which, and the manner in which, objections to the making of an order on the representation may be made, and shall also, if it is so directed by the Minister and the appropriate Minister, serve a like notice on such persons, or persons of such classes, as may be so directed.

(2) Orders under the last preceding section shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

168.—(1) Where, on a representation made by statutory undertakers, the appropriate Minister is satisfied that the fulfilment of any obligation incurred by those undertakers in connection with the carrying on of their undertaking has been rendered impracticable by an act or event to which this subsection applies, the appropriate Minister may, if he thinks fit, by order direct that the statutory undertakers shall be relieved of the fulfilment Relief of statutory undertakers from obligations rendered impracticable.

PART X

of that obligation, either absolutely or to such extent as may be specified in the order.

(2) The preceding subsection applies to the following acts and events, that is to say—

- (a) the compulsory acquisition under Part V of this Act of any land in which an interest was held, or which was used, for the purpose of the carrying on of the undertaking of the statutory undertakers, and
- (b) the acts and events specified in paragraphs (b) to (e) of subsection (2) of section one hundred and sixty-six of this Act.

(3) As soon as may be after making a representation to the appropriate Minister under subsection (1) of this section, the statutory undertakers shall, as may be directed by the appropriate Minister, either publish (in such form and manner as may be so directed) a notice giving such particulars as may be so directed of the matters to which the representation relates, and specifying the time within which, and the manner in which, objections to the making of an order on the representation may be made, or serve such a notice on such persons, or persons of such classes, as may be so directed, or both publish and serve such notices.

(4) If any objection to the making of an order under this section is duly made and is not withdrawn before the order is made, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

(5) The provisions of subsection (1) of section eleven of this Act shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, in relation to an order made under this section as they have effect in relation to a development plan approved by the Minister under Part II of this Act, as if in those provisions any reference to the local planning authority were a reference to the appropriate Minister.

(6) Subject to the next following subsection, and to the provisions of Part XI of this Act, an order under this section shall become operative on the date on which the notice required by the provisions applied by the last preceding subsection is first published.

(7) Where in accordance with subsection (4) of this section the order is subject to special parliamentary procedure, the last preceding subsection shall not apply.

Objections to orders under ss. 166 and 168.

169.—(1) For the purposes of sections one hundred and sixty-six and one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act, an objection to the making of an order thereunder shall not be treated as duly made unless—

- (a) the objection is made within the time and in the manner specified in the notice required by the section under which the order is proposed to be made, and
- (b) a statement in writing of the grounds of the objection is comprised in or submitted with the objection.

(2) Where an objection to the making of such an order is duly made in accordance with the preceding subsection and is not withdrawn, the following provisions of this section shall have effect in relation thereto:

Provided that, in the application of those provisions to an order under section one hundred and sixty-six of this Act, any reference to the appropriate Minister shall be construed as a reference to the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

(3) Unless the appropriate Minister decides apart from the objection not to make the order, or decides to make a modification which is agreed to by the objector as meeting the objection, the appropriate Minister, before making a final decision, shall consider the grounds of the objection as set out in the statement, and may, if he thinks fit, require the objector to submit within a specified period a further statement in writing as to any of the matters to which the objection relates.

(4) In so far as the appropriate Minister, after considering the grounds of the objection as set out in the original statement and in any such further statement, is satisfied that the objection relates to a matter which can be dealt with in the assessment of compensation, the appropriate Minister may treat the objection as irrelevant for the purpose of making a final decision.

(5) If, after considering the grounds of the objection as set out in the original statement and in any such further statement, the appropriate Minister is satisfied that, for the purpose of making a final decision, he is sufficiently informed as to the matters to which the objection relates, or if, where a further statement has been required, it is not submitted within the specified period, the appropriate Minister may make a final decision without further investigation as to those matters.

(6) Subject to subsections (4) and (5) of this section, the appropriate Minister, before making a final decision, shall afford to the objector an opportunity of appearing before, and being heard by, a person appointed for the purpose by the appropriate Minister; and if the objector avails himself of that opportunity, the appropriate Minister shall afford an opportunity of appearing and being heard on the same occasion to the statutory undertakers, local authority or Minister on whose representation the order is proposed to be made, and to any other persons to whom it appears to the appropriate Minister to be expedient to afford such an opportunity.

(7) Notwithstanding anything in the preceding provisions of this section, if it appears to the appropriate Minister that the matters to which the objection relates are such as to require investigation by public local inquiry before he makes a final decision, he shall cause such an inquiry to be held; and where he determines to cause such an inquiry to be held, any of the requirements of those provisions to which effect has not been given at the time of that determination shall be dispensed with.

PART X

(8) In this section any reference to making a final decision, in relation to an order, is a reference to deciding whether to make the order or what modification (if any) ought to be made.

Compensation

Right to compensation in respect of certain decisions and orders.

170.—(1) Statutory undertakers shall, subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Act, be entitled to compensation from the local planning authority—

- (a) in respect of any decision made in accordance with section one hundred and fifty-nine of this Act whereby planning permission to develop operational land of those undertakers is refused or is granted subject to conditions ;
- (b) in respect of any decision made by a government department in respect of any such land, either refusing an authorisation as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty of this Act, or directing that planning permission shall be deemed to be granted subject to conditions as mentioned in paragraph (b) of that subsection ;
- (c) in respect of any order under section twenty-seven of this Act, as modified by section one hundred and sixty-one thereof, whereby planning permission, granted on the application of those undertakers for the development of any such land, is revoked or modified.

(2) Where, by virtue of section one hundred and sixty-four of this Act, any right vested in or belonging to statutory undertakers is extinguished, or any requirement is imposed on statutory undertakers, those undertakers shall be entitled to compensation from the acquiring or appropriating authority at whose instance the right was extinguished or the requirement imposed.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of this section, if the decision or order in question relates to land acquired by the statutory undertakers after the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and the Minister and the appropriate Minister are satisfied, having regard to the nature, situation and existing development of the land and of any neighbouring land, and to any other material considerations, that it is unreasonable that compensation should be recovered in respect of that decision or order, they may include therein a direction that subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to that decision or order :

Provided that the power conferred by this subsection shall not be exercisable in relation to a decision falling within paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section, if the land in question was acquired by the statutory undertakers (whether compulsorily or by agreement) for the purposes of the development to which the decision relates, and was so acquired with the consent or authority of a government department.

171.—(1) Where statutory undertakers are entitled to compensation—

Measure of compensation to statutory undertakers.

- (a) as mentioned in subsection (1) or subsection (2) of the last preceding section, or
- (b) under the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-four in respect of an order made under section twenty-eight of this Act as modified by section one hundred and sixty-two thereof, or
- (c) in respect of a compulsory acquisition of land which has been acquired by those undertakers for the purposes of their undertaking, where the first-mentioned acquisition is effected under a compulsory purchase order confirmed or made without the appropriate Minister's certificate, the amount of the compensation shall (subject to the next following section) be an amount calculated in accordance with the following provisions of this section.

(2) The said amount, subject to the next following subsection, shall be the aggregate of the following amounts, that is to say—

- (a) the amount of any expenditure reasonably incurred in acquiring land, providing apparatus, erecting buildings or doing work for the purpose of any adjustment of the carrying on of the undertaking rendered necessary by the proceeding giving rise to compensation ;
- (b) whichever of the following is applicable, namely—
  - (i) where such an adjustment is made, the estimated amount of any decrease in net receipts from the carrying on of the undertaking pending the adjustment, in so far as the decrease is directly attributable to the proceeding giving rise to compensation, together with such amount as appears reasonable compensation for any estimated decrease in net receipts from the carrying on of the undertaking in the period after the adjustment has been completed, in so far as the decrease is directly attributable to the adjustment ;
  - (ii) where no such adjustment is made, such amount as appears reasonable compensation for any estimated decrease in net receipts from the carrying on of the undertaking which is directly attributable to the proceeding giving rise to compensation ;

T

PART X

(c) where the compensation is under subsection (2) of the last preceding section, and is in respect of the imposition of a requirement to remove apparatus, the amount of any expenditure reasonably incurred by the statutory undertakers in complying with the requirement, reduced by the value after removal of the apparatus removed.

(3) Where any such adjustment as is mentioned in paragraph (a) of the last preceding subsection is made, the aggregate amount mentioned in that subsection shall be reduced by such amount (if any) as appears to the Lands Tribunal to be appropriate to offset—

(a) the estimated value of any property (whether moveable or immoveable) belonging to the statutory undertakers and used for the carrying on of their undertaking which, in consequence of the adjustment, ceases to be so used, in so far as the value of the property has not been taken into account under paragraph (c) of the last preceding subsection, and

(b) the estimated amount of any increase in net receipts from the carrying on of the undertaking in the period after the adjustment has been completed, in so far as that amount has not been taken into account under paragraph (b) of the last preceding subsection and is directly attributable to the adjustment, and by any further amount which appears to the Lands Tribunal to be appropriate, having regard to any increase in the capital value of immoveable property belonging to the statutory undertakers which is directly attributable to the adjustment, allowance being made for any reduction made under paragraph (b) of this subsection.

(4) References in this section to a decrease in net receipts shall be construed as references to the amount by which a balance of receipts over expenditure is decreased, or a balance of expenditure over receipts is increased, or, where a balance of receipts over expenditure is converted into a balance of expenditure over receipts, as references to the aggregate of the two balances; and references to an increase in net receipts shall be construed accordingly.

(5) In this section “proceeding giving rise to compensation” means the particular action (that is to say, the decision, order, extinguishment of a right, imposition of a requirement, or acquisition) in respect of which compensation falls to be assessed, as distinct from any development or project in connection with which that action may have been taken, and “the appropriate Minister’s certificate” has the same meaning as in section one hundred and sixty-three of this Act.

172.—(1) Where statutory undertakers are entitled to compensation in respect of such a compulsory acquisition as is mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of the last preceding section, the statutory undertakers may by notice in writing under this section elect that the compensation shall be ascertained in accordance with the enactments (other than rule (5) of the rules set out in section five of the Land Compensation Act, 1961) which would be applicable apart from the last preceding section ; and if the undertakers so elect the compensation shall be ascertained accordingly.

PART X
Exclusion of s. 171 at option of statutory undertakers.

(2) An election under this section may be made either in respect of the whole of the land comprised in the compulsory acquisition in question or in respect of part of that land.

(3) Any notice under this section shall be given to the acquiring authority before the end of the period of two months from the date of service of notice to treat in respect of the interest of the statutory undertakers.

173.—(1) Where the amount of any such compensation as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-one of this Act falls to be ascertained in accordance with the provisions of that section, the compensation shall, in default of agreement, be assessed by the Lands Tribunal, if apart from this section it would not fall to be so assessed.

Procedure for assessing compensation where s. 171 applies.

(2) For the purposes of any proceedings arising before the Lands Tribunal in respect of compensation falling to be ascertained as mentioned in the preceding subsection, the provisions of sections two and four of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, shall apply as they apply to proceedings on a question referred to the Tribunal under section one of that Act, but with the substitution in section four of that Act, for references to the acquiring authority, of references to the person from whom the compensation is claimed.

Supplementary provisions

174.—(1) The provisions of this Part of this Act specified in the next following subsection do not apply in relation to the display of advertisements on operational land of statutory undertakers.

Special provisions as to display of advertisements on operational land.

(2) The said provisions are sections one hundred and fifty-nine to one hundred and sixty-two and subsections (1) and (3) of section one hundred and seventy of this Act.

175. In relation to statutory undertakers who are local planning authorities, the last preceding section and the provisions specified in subsection (2) thereof shall have effect subject to such exceptions and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act.

Special provisions as to statutory undertakers who are local planning authorities.

PART XI

VALIDITY OF PLANNING INSTRUMENTS AND DECISIONS, AND PROCEEDINGS RELATING THERETO

Validity of development plans and of certain orders, decisions and directions.

176.—(1) Except as provided by the following provisions of this Part of this Act, the validity of—

- (a) a development plan or an amendment of a development plan, whether before or after it has been approved or made, or
- (b) an order under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act, whether before or after the order has been made, or
- (c) an order under section one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act, whether before or after the order has been made, or
- (d) any such order as is mentioned in subsection (2) of this section, whether before or after it has been confirmed, or
- (e) any such action on the part of the Minister as is mentioned in subsection (3) of this section, shall not be questioned in any legal proceedings whatsoever.

(2) The orders referred to in paragraph (d) of the preceding subsection are orders of any of the following descriptions, that is to say—

- (a) any order under section twenty-seven of this Act or under the provisions of that section as applied by or under any other provision of this Act ;
- (b) any order under section twenty-eight of this Act ;
- (c) any tree preservation order ;
- (d) any building preservation order ;
- (e) any order made in pursuance of subsection (4) of section thirty-four of this Act.

(3) The action referred to in paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of this section is action on the part of the Minister of any of the following descriptions, that is to say—

- (a) any decision of the Minister on an application for planning permission referred to him under section twenty-two of this Act ;
- (b) any decision of the Minister on an appeal under section twenty-three of this Act ;
- (c) any decision of the Minister to confirm a purchase notice ;
- (d) any decision of the Minister not to confirm a purchase notice, including any decision not to confirm a purchase notice in respect of part of the land to which it relates, and including any decision to grant any permission, or give any direction, in lieu of confirming a purchase notice, either wholly or in part ;

- (e) any decision of the Minister relating to an application for consent under a tree preservation order or building preservation order, or relating to an application for consent under any regulations made in accordance with section thirty-four of this Act, or relating to any certificate or direction under any such order or regulations, whether it is a decision of the Minister on appeal or a decision on an application referred to him for determination in the first instance ;
- (f) the giving by the Minister of any direction under section twenty-five of this Act.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the exercise of any jurisdiction of any court in respect of any refusal or failure on the part of the Minister to take any such action as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection.

177.—(1) Subject to the next following subsection, the validity of an enforcement notice which has been served under Part IV of this Act on the owner and occupier of the land shall not, except by way of an appeal under Part IV of this Act, be questioned in any proceedings whatsoever on any of the grounds specified in paragraphs (b) to (e) of subsection (1) of section forty-six of this Act.

Validity of enforcement notices and similar notices.

(2) The preceding subsection shall not apply to proceedings brought under subsection (5) of section forty-seven of this Act against a person who—

- (a) has held an interest in the land since before the enforcement notice was served under Part IV of this Act, and
- (b) did not have the enforcement notice served on him thereunder, and
- (c) did not appeal against that notice under Part IV of this Act.

(3) The validity of a notice which has been served under section fifty-two of this Act on the owner and occupier of the building to which the notice relates shall not, except by way of an appeal under Part IV of this Act, be questioned in any proceedings whatsoever on the grounds that the works to which the notice relates were not, or were not wholly, works in contravention of subsection (1) of section thirty-three of this Act.

(4) Subject to the next following subsection, the validity of a notice which has been served under section thirty-six of this Act on the owner and occupier of the land shall not, except by way of an appeal under Part IV of this Act, be questioned in any proceedings whatsoever on any of the grounds specified in paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of section fifty-seven of this Act.

PART XI

(5) The last preceding subsection shall not apply to proceedings brought under section fifty-six of this Act against a person on whom the notice referred to in that subsection was not served, but who has held an interest in the land since before that notice was served on the owner and occupier of the land, if he did not appeal against the notice under Part IV of this Act.

(6) The validity of a notice purporting to be an enforcement notice shall not depend on whether any non-compliance to which the notice relates was a non-compliance with conditions, or with limitations, or with both; and any reference in such a notice to non-compliance with conditions or limitations (whether both expressions are used in the notice or only one of them) shall be construed as a reference to non-compliance with conditions, or with limitations, or both with conditions and limitations, as the case may require.

Proceedings for questioning validity of development plans and of orders under ss. 153 and 168.

178.—(1) If any person aggrieved by a development plan, or by an amendment of a development plan, desires to question the validity thereof or of any provision contained therein on the grounds that it is not within the powers of this Act, or that any requirement of this Act or of any regulation made thereunder has not been complied with in relation to the approval or making of the plan, or, as the case may be, in relation to the making of the amendment, he may, within six weeks from the date on which the notice required by subsection (1) of section eleven of this Act is first published, make an application to the High Court under this section.

(2) On any application under this section the High Court—

(a) may by interim order suspend the operation of the plan or amendment, as the case may be, or of any provision contained therein, either generally or in so far as it affects any property of the applicant, until the final determination of the proceedings;

(b) if satisfied that the plan or amendment, or any provision contained therein, is not within the powers of this Act, or that the interests of the applicant have been substantially prejudiced by a failure to comply with any requirement of this Act or of any regulation made thereunder, may quash the plan or amendment or any provision contained therein, either generally or in so far as it affects any property of the applicant.

(3) The preceding provisions of this section shall apply to an order under section one hundred and fifty-three of this Act as they apply to a development plan, as if, in subsection (1) of this section, for the reference to the notice therein mentioned, there were substituted a reference to the notice required by subsection (6) of section one hundred and fifty-four of this Act.

(4) Subsections (1) and (2) of this section shall apply, subject to any necessary modifications, to an order under section one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act as they apply in relation to a development plan.

179.—(1) If any person—

(a) is aggrieved by any order to which this section applies and desires to question the validity of that order, on the grounds that the order is not within the powers of this Act, or that any of the relevant requirements have not been complied with in relation to that order, or

(b) is aggrieved by any action on the part of the Minister to which this section applies and desires to question the validity of that action, on the grounds that the action is not within the powers of this Act, or that any of the relevant requirements have not been complied with in relation to that action, other orders, decisions and directions.

he may, within six weeks from the date on which the order is confirmed or the action is taken, as the case may be, make an application to the High Court under this section.

(2) Without prejudice to the preceding subsection, if the authority directly concerned with any order to which this section applies, or with any action on the part of the Minister to which this section applies, desire to question the validity of that order or action on any of the grounds mentioned in the preceding subsection, the authority may, within six weeks from the date on which the order is confirmed or the action is taken, as the case may be, make an application to the High Court under this section.

(3) This section applies to any such order as is mentioned in subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy-six of this Act and to any such action on the part of the Minister as is mentioned in subsection (3) of that section.

(4) On any application under this section the High Court—

(a) may by interim order suspend the operation of the order or action, the validity whereof is questioned by the application, until the final determination of the proceedings ;

(b) if satisfied that the order or action in question is not within the powers of this Act, or that the interests of the applicant have been substantially prejudiced by a failure to comply with any of the relevant requirements in relation thereto, may quash that order or action :

PART XI

Provided that paragraph (a) of this subsection shall not apply to applications questioning the validity of tree preservation orders or building preservation orders.

(5) In relation to a tree preservation order, or to an order made in pursuance of subsection (4) of section thirty-four of this Act, the powers conferred on the High Court by the last preceding subsection shall be exercisable by way of quashing or (where applicable) suspending the operation of the order either in whole or in part, as the court may determine.

(6) References in this section to the confirmation of an order do not include the provisional confirmation of an order in pursuance of subsection (6) of section twenty-nine of this Act or in pursuance of subsection (2) of section thirty-one thereof, but (with that exception) include the confirmation of an order subject to modifications as well as the confirmation of an order in the form in which it was made.

(7) In this section "the relevant requirements", in relation to any order or action to which this section applies, means any requirements of this Act or of the Tribunals and Inquiries Act, 1958, or of any order, regulations or rules made under this Act or under that Act, which are applicable to that order or action, and any reference to the authority directly concerned with any order or action to which this section applies—

- (a) in relation to an order made by a local authority other than the local planning authority, and in relation to any decision of the Minister on appeal from a decision made by such a local authority, is a reference to that local authority;
- (b) in relation to any such decision as is mentioned in paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) of subsection (3) of section one hundred and seventy-six of this Act, is a reference to the council on whom the notice in question was served, and, in a case where the Minister has modified such a notice, wholly or in part, by substituting another local authority or statutory undertakers for that council, includes a reference to that local authority or those statutory undertakers;
- (c) in any other case, is a reference to the local planning authority:

Provided that if, in a case falling within paragraph (a) of this subsection, the order or decision in question was made in the exercise of functions delegated to the other local authority by the local planning authority, and it is agreed between the two authorities that the local planning authority shall act in the matter, the reference shall be construed as a reference to the local planning authority.

180.—(1) Where the Minister gives a decision in proceedings on an appeal under Part IV of this Act against an enforcement notice, the appellant or the local planning authority or any person (other than the appellant) on whom the enforcement notice was served under Part IV of this Act may, according as rules of court may provide, either appeal to the High Court against the decision on a point of law or require the Minister to state and sign a case for the opinion of the High Court.

PART XI
Appeals to High Court relating to enforcement notices and similar notices.

(2) Where the Minister gives a decision in proceedings on an appeal under Part IV of this Act against a notice served under section fifty-two of this Act, the appellant or the local planning authority or any person (other than the appellant) on whom the notice was served may appeal to the High Court against the decision on a point of law.

(3) At any stage of the proceedings on any such appeal as is mentioned in either of the preceding subsections, the Minister may state any question of law arising in the course of the proceedings in the form of a special case for the decision of the High Court; and a decision of the High Court on a case stated by virtue of this subsection shall be deemed to be a judgment of the court within the meaning of section twenty-seven of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925 (which relates to the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal to hear and determine appeals from any judgment of the High Court).

(4) In relation to any proceedings in the High Court or the Court of Appeal brought by virtue of this section the power to make rules of court shall include power to make rules—

- (a) prescribing the powers of the High Court or the Court of Appeal with respect to the remitting of the matter with the opinion or direction of the court for re-hearing and determination by the Minister, and
- (b) providing for the Minister, either generally or in such circumstances as may be prescribed by the rules, to be treated as a party to any such proceedings and to be entitled to appear and to be heard accordingly.

(5) Rules of court relating to any such proceedings as are mentioned in the last preceding subsection may provide for excluding so much of subsection (1) of section sixty-three of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, as requires appeals to the High Court to be heard and determined by a Divisional Court; but no appeal to the Court of Appeal shall be brought by virtue of this section except with the leave of the High Court or the Court of Appeal.

(6) In this section “decision” includes a direction or order, and references to the giving of a decision shall be construed accordingly.

PART XI
 Appeals to High Court against decisions
 under s. 43

181.—(1) If, in the case of any decision to which this section applies, the person who made the application to which the decision relates, or the local planning authority, is dissatisfied with the decision in point of law, that person or the local planning authority (as the case may be) may, according as rules of court may provide, either appeal against the decision to the High Court or require the Minister to state and sign a case for the opinion of the High Court.

(2) This section applies to any decision of the Minister—

- (a) on an application under section forty-three of this Act which is referred to the Minister under the provisions of section twenty-two of this Act as applied by that section, or
- (b) on an appeal from a decision of the local planning authority under section forty-three of this Act, being an appeal brought under the provisions of section twenty-three of this Act as so applied.

(3) Where an application under section forty-three of this Act is made as part of an application for planning permission, the preceding provisions of this section shall have effect in relation to that application in so far as it is an application under the said section forty-three, but not in so far as it is an application for planning permission.

(4) In relation to proceedings in the High Court or the Court of Appeal brought by virtue of this section, the power to make rules of court shall include power to make rules prescribing the powers of the High Court or the Court of Appeal with respect to—

- (a) the giving of any decision which might have been given by the Minister ;
- (b) the remitting of the matter, with the opinion or direction of the court, for re-hearing and determination by the Minister ;
- (c) the giving of directions to the Minister.

(5) Rules of court relating to such proceedings as are mentioned in the last preceding subsection may provide for excluding so much of subsection (1) of section sixty-three of the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, as requires appeals to the High Court to be heard and determined by a Divisional Court ; but no appeal to the Court of Appeal shall be brought by virtue of this section except with the leave of the High Court or the Court of Appeal.

(6) Without prejudice to the preceding provisions of this section, the power to make rules of court in relation to proceedings in the High Court or the Court of Appeal brought by virtue of this section shall include power to make rules providing for the Minister, either generally or in such circumstances as may be prescribed by the rules, to be treated as a party to any such proceedings and to be entitled to appear and to be heard accordingly.

182. In relation to any action which—

PART XI

- (a) apart from the provisions of Part X of this Act, would fall to be taken by the Minister, and, if so taken, would be action falling within subsection (3) of section one hundred and seventy-six of this Act, but
- (b) by virtue of Part X of this Act, is required to be taken by the Minister and the appropriate Minister, Special provision as to decisions relating to statutory undertakers.

the provisions of sections one hundred and seventy-six and one hundred and seventy-nine of this Act shall have effect (subject to the next following section) as if any reference in those provisions to the Minister were a reference to the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

183.—(1) Where in accordance with subsection (4) of section five of this Act any land to which a development plan relates is designated as subject to compulsory acquisition in pursuance of an order which is subject to special parliamentary procedure, then—

Special provisions as to orders subject to special parliamentary procedure.

- (a) if that order is confirmed by Act of Parliament under section six of the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945, the provisions of sections one hundred and seventy-six and one hundred and seventy-eight of this Act shall not apply to the plan in so far as it so designates that land ;
- (b) in any other case, section one hundred and seventy-eight of this Act shall have effect in relation to the plan, in so far as it so designates that land, as if in subsection (1) of that section, for the reference to the date therein mentioned, there were substituted a reference to the date on which the order becomes operative under section six of the said Act of 1945.

(2) Where an order under section one hundred and fifty-three or section one hundred and sixty-eight of this Act is subject to special parliamentary procedure, then—

- (a) if the order is confirmed by Act of Parliament under section six of the said Act of 1945, the provisions of sections one hundred and seventy-six and one hundred and seventy-eight of this Act shall not apply to the order ;
- (b) in any other case, section one hundred and seventy-eight of this Act shall have effect in relation to the order as if, in subsection (1) of that section, for the reference to the date therein mentioned, there were substituted a reference to the date on which the order becomes operative under section six of the said Act of 1945.

(3) Where by virtue of Part X of this Act any such action as is mentioned in the last preceding section is required to be embodied in an order, and that order is subject to special parliamentary procedure, then—

PART XI

- (a) if the order in which the action is embodied is confirmed by Act of Parliament under section six of the said Act of 1945, the provisions of sections one hundred and seventy-six and one hundred and seventy-nine of this Act shall not apply ;
- (b) in any other case, the provisions of section one hundred and seventy-nine of this Act shall apply with the substitution, for any reference to the date on which the action is taken, of a reference to the date on which the order becomes operative under section six of the said Act of 1945.

PART XII

FINANCIAL PROVISIONS

Exchequer grants to local authorities.

184.—(1) Regulations made under this section with the consent of the Treasury may provide for the payment by the Minister to local authorities of grants of such amounts, and payable over such periods and subject to such conditions, as may be determined by or under the regulations in respect of expenditure incurred by those authorities, whether before or after the commencement of this Act,—

- (a) in connection with the acquisition for war-damage redevelopment of land approved by the Minister for the purposes of the regulations, or in connection with the clearing or preliminary development of land acquired for such redevelopment by those authorities with such approval ;
- (b) in the payment of compensation in respect of land of the National Coal Board to which the relevant provisions relating to statutory undertakers apply by virtue of regulations made under section two hundred and four of this Act, being compensation payable under Part VII of this Act or under Part X thereof, otherwise than as mentioned in subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy or in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-one of this Act ;
- (c) in taking any action under section twenty-eight, section thirty-seven or subsection (2) of section sixty-one of this Act in respect of such land of the National Coal Board as is mentioned in the last preceding paragraph.

(2) Regulations made under this section may provide for the payment of grants thereunder, in such cases and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by or under the regulations, in respect of land appropriated by local authorities (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) for any purpose approved by the Minister in accordance with the regulations, as if the land had been acquired for that purpose at a cost of such amount, and defrayed in such manner as may be determined by or under the regulations.

(3) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this section, any regulations made under this section may provide—

- (a) for the inclusion, in the expenditure incurred by local authorities in the acquisition of land approved by the Minister for the purposes of the regulations, of any sums, or any part of sums, paid by those authorities in connection with any restriction imposed on the development or use of the land by or under any enactment (whether by way of compensation or by way of contribution towards damage or expense incurred in consequence of the restriction);
  - (b) for the calculation of grants payable under the regulations by reference to the amount of the annual costs incurred or treated as being incurred by local authorities in respect of the borrowing of money to defray expenditure in respect of which the grants are made, or by reference to the excess of such annual costs over receipts of those authorities which are attributable to such expenditure, or over the annual value of such receipts, as may be prescribed by the regulations.
- (4) In this section—

“war-damage redevelopment” means the redevelopment as a whole of an area of extensive war damage, and includes the relocation of population or industry, or the replacement of open space, in the course of such redevelopment;

“preliminary development”, in relation to land approved for the purposes of regulations made under this section, means the carrying out of any work determined in accordance with the regulations to be work preparatory to the development of the land for the purposes for which it was acquired or appropriated, or work comprised in the initial stages of such development;

“the relevant provisions relating to statutory undertakers” means all or any of the following provisions of this Act, that is to say, sections one hundred and fifty-nine to one hundred and sixty-two, subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy, and section one hundred and seventy-one (excluding paragraph (c) of subsection (1) thereof).

185.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, Maximum amounts of grants.
the amount of any grant paid to a local authority in accordance with regulations made under the last preceding section—

- (a) where that amount is calculated by reference to annual costs incurred or treated as incurred by the authority in respect of the borrowing of money to defray expenditure in respect of which the grant is made, or by reference to the excess of such annual costs over the receipts, or the annual value of receipts, mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of that section, shall not exceed an amount equal to fifty per cent. of those costs, or of that excess, as the case may be ;

PART XII

(b) in any other case, shall not exceed an amount equal to fifty per cent. of the amount of the expenditure in respect of which the grant is made.

(2) In respect of land of any of the following descriptions, that is to say—

(a) land comprised in a compulsory purchase order made by a local authority under the Act of 1944 or the Act of 1947, and confirmed before the twenty-sixth day of February, nineteen hundred and fifty-four, being land acquired for war-damage redevelopment ;

(b) land acquired by agreement for war-damage redevelopment with the consent of the Minister given before that date ;

(c) land appropriated by a local authority for war-damage redevelopment before that date ; and

(d) land acquired or appropriated for war-damage redevelopment (whether before or after that date), being land contiguous or adjacent to land falling within any of the preceding paragraphs, paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection shall apply (subject to the next following subsection) as if for the words “ fifty per cent.” there were substituted the words “ ninety per cent.”.

(3) The last preceding subsection shall not authorise the payment, in the case of any land, of a grant at a higher rate in respect of a year or part of a year which, together with the preceding years or parts of years in respect of which grants at a higher rate have been paid in the case of that land, would extend beyond a total period of eight years.

(4) In this section “ war-damage redevelopment ” has the same meaning as in the last preceding section, and references to a grant at a higher rate are references to a grant of an amount which—

(a) was or would have been authorised by section ninety-three of the Act of 1947 as that section had effect or would have had effect apart from section fifty of the Act of 1954 and the Local Government Act, 1958, and this Act, but

(b) otherwise than by virtue of the provisions of the Act of 1954 corresponding to subsections (2) and (3) of this section, was not or would not have been authorised by the provisions substituted by the Act of 1954 for the said section ninety-three. PART XII

186.—(1) Any approval of the Minister required for the purposes of the payment of grant under section one hundred and eighty-four of this Act in connection with the acquisition of land may be given subject to compliance with requirements imposed by the Minister for securing that any negotiations for the acquisition of the land by the local authority will be carried out by the Valuation Office, and that any valuation of the land for the purposes of the acquisition, or for any purposes of the regulations, will be made by that office. Supplementary provisions as to Exchequer grants.

(2) Subject to the preceding subsection, any regulations made for the purposes of section one hundred and eighty-four of this Act may make provision whereby the payment of grants in pursuance of the regulations is dependent upon the fulfilment of such conditions as may be determined by or in accordance with the regulations, and may also make provision for requiring local authorities to whom grants have been so paid to comply with such requirements as may be so determined.

187. The power of the Public Works Loan Commissioners to make loans under section nine of the Public Works Loans Act, 1875, shall include power to make loans to a local authority for the purpose of the discharge by them of their functions under any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto. Loans to local authorities.

188. Where compensation is payable by a local authority under this Act in consequence of any decision or order given or made under Part III of this Act, or under the provisions of Part VIII of this Act relating to purchase notices, then if that decision or order was given or made wholly or partly in the interest of a service which is provided by a government department, and the cost of which is defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament, the Minister responsible for the administration of that service may pay to that authority a contribution of such amount as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine. Contributions by Ministers towards compensation paid by local authorities.

189.—(1) Without prejudice to the provisions of subsections (1) and (3) of section two hundred and thirty-eight of the Highways Act, 1959 (which relate to contributions by certain local authorities towards expenses incurred in connection with highways), any local authority may contribute towards any expenses incurred by a local highway authority or by the Minister of Transport in the acquisition of land under Part V of this Act, or in the construction or improvement of roads on land so acquired, or in connection with any development required in the interests of the proper planning of the area of the local authority. Contributions by local authorities and statutory undertakers.

PART XII

(2) Any local authority and any statutory undertakers may contribute towards—

- (a) any expenses incurred by a local planning authority in or in connection with the carrying out of a survey or the preparation of a development plan under Part II of this Act;
- (b) any expenses incurred by a local planning authority, or by the council of a county district, in or in connection with the performance of any of their functions under Part III, Part IV or Part V of this Act or under the provisions of Part VIII of this Act relating to purchase notices.

(3) Where any expenses are incurred by a local authority in the payment of compensation payable in consequence of anything done under Part III of this Act, or under the provisions of Part VIII of this Act relating to purchase notices, the Minister may, if it appears to him to be expedient to do so, require any other local authority to contribute towards those expenses such sum as appears to him to be reasonable, having regard to any benefit accruing to that authority by reason of the proceeding giving rise to the compensation.

(4) The provisions of the last preceding subsection shall apply in relation to payments made by a local authority to any statutory undertakers in accordance with financial arrangements to which effect is given under paragraph (c) of subsection (5) of section one hundred and sixty-six of this Act, as they apply in relation to compensation payable by such an authority in consequence of anything done under Part III of this Act, and the reference in the last preceding subsection to the proceeding giving rise to the compensation shall be construed accordingly.

(5) For the purposes of this section, contributions made by a local planning authority towards the expenditure of a joint advisory committee shall be deemed to be expenses incurred by that authority for the purposes for which that expenditure is incurred by the committee.

Recovery from acquiring authorities of sums paid by way of compensation.

190.—(1) Where an interest in land is compulsorily acquired, or is sold to an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers, and any of the land comprised in the acquisition or sale is land in respect of which a notice to which this section applies is registered (whether before or after the completion of the acquisition or sale) in respect of a planning decision or order made before the service of the notice to treat, or the making of the contract, in pursuance of which the acquisition or sale is effected, the Minister shall, subject to the following provisions of this section, be entitled to recover from the acquiring authority a sum equal to so much of the amount of the compensation specified in the notice as (in accordance with subsection (6) of section one hundred and twelve of this Act) is to be treated as attributable to that land.

(2) This section applies to notices registered under subsection (5) of section one hundred and twelve of this Act and to notices registered under the provisions of that subsection as applied by subsection (5) of section one hundred and twenty of this Act.

(3) If, immediately after the completion of the acquisition or sale, there is outstanding some interest in the land comprised therein to which a person other than the acquiring authority is entitled, the sum referred to in subsection (1) of this section shall not accrue due until that interest either ceases to exist or becomes vested in the acquiring authority.

(4) No sum shall be recoverable under this section in the case of a compulsory acquisition or sale where the Minister is satisfied that the interest in question is being acquired for the purposes of the use of the land as a public open space.

(5) Where by virtue of the preceding provisions of this section the Minister recovers a sum in respect of any land, by reason that it is land in respect of which a notice is registered under the provisions of subsection (5) of section one hundred and twelve of this Act as applied by section one hundred and twenty of this Act, subsections (2) and (3) of section one hundred and twenty-two of this Act shall have effect in relation to that sum as if it were a sum recovered as mentioned in subsection (2) of the last-mentioned section.

(6) In this and the next following section "interest" (where the reference is to an interest in land) means the fee simple or a tenancy of the land, and does not include any other interest therein.

191.—(1) Where an interest in land is compulsorily acquired by, or sold to, an authority possessing compulsory purchase powers, and a payment exceeding twenty pounds has become or becomes payable under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947 in respect of that interest, the Minister shall, subject to the following provisions of this section, be entitled to recover the amount of the payment from the acquiring authority.

Recovery from acquiring authorities of sums paid in respect of war-damaged
land.

(2) If, before the eighteenth day of November, nineteen hundred and fifty-two, operations were begun in, on, over or under the land, or a use of the land was instituted, being operations or a use—

(a) in respect of which a development charge has at any time been determined to be payable, or it has at any time been determined that no development charge was payable, or

(b) comprised in a scheme of development exempt from development charge, the preceding subsection shall not apply to so much of any PART XII payment referred to in that subsection as was attributable to any land in relation to which the determination was made or, as the case may be, which is included in that scheme of development.

(3) No amount shall be recoverable under this section in respect of any land in relation to which an amount has become recoverable by the Minister under the provisions of section one hundred and thirteen of this Act as applied by section two hundred and eight of this Act.

(4) If the acquisition or sale in question does not extend to the whole of the land to which the payment under the said section fifty-nine related, the amount recoverable under this section shall be so much of that payment as, in accordance with the next following subsection, is to be treated as apportioned to the land in which the interest acquired or sold subsists.

(5) For the purposes of this section a payment under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947 shall be treated as apportioned, as between different parts of the land to which it related, in the way in which it might reasonably be expected to have been so apportioned if, under the scheme made under that section, the authority determining the amount of the payment had been required (in accordance with the same principles as applied to the determination of that amount) to apportion it between different parts of that land.

(6) In this section references to a scheme of development exempt from development charge are references to a scheme of development such that, if the operations and uses of land comprised in the scheme had all been begun or instituted before the eighteenth day of November, nineteen hundred and fifty-two, all those operations and uses would have been exempt from the provisions of Part VII of the Act of 1947 by virtue of regulations made thereunder; and references to the amount of a payment shall be construed as including any interest payable on the principal amount of the payment.

Sums recoverable from acquiring authorities reckonable for purposes of grant.

192. Where a sum is recoverable from an authority under section one hundred and ninety or section one hundred and ninety-one of this Act by reference to an acquisition or purchase of an interest in land, and in respect thereof, or of a subsequent appropriation of the land, a grant became or becomes payable to that or some other authority under an enactment, the power conferred by that enactment to pay the grant shall include, and shall be deemed always to have included, power to pay a grant in respect of that sum as if it had been expenditure incurred by the acquiring authority in connection with the acquisition or purchase.

193.—(1) The following expenses of the Minister shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament, that is to say,—

PART XII
Expenses of government departments.

- (a) any expenses incurred by the Minister in the making of grants in accordance with regulations made under section one hundred and eighty-four of this Act ;
- (b) any sums necessary to enable the Minister to make any payments becoming payable by him under Part VI or Part VII of this Act or under section two hundred and nine thereof ;
- (c) any expenses incurred by the Minister under subsection (3) of section forty-four of this Act, or in the payment of expenses of any committee established under section thirty-four of this Act ;
- (d) subject to the provisions of subsection (4) of the next following section, any instalment payable by the Minister under subsections (2) and (3) of that section ;
- (e) any administrative expenses incurred by the Minister for the purposes of this Act.

(2) Any expenses incurred by the Minister of Transport under Part IX of this Act shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(3) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament any expenses incurred by any government department (including the Minister and the Minister of Transport)—

- (a) in the acquisition of land under Part V of this Act ;
- (b) in the payment of compensation under subsection (4) of section seventy of this Act, under subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy thereof, or under section two hundred and twelve thereof ;
- (c) under paragraph (b) of subsection (5) of section eighty-two of this Act ; or
- (d) under section one hundred and eighty-eight of this Act :

Provided that this subsection shall not apply to any expenses incurred by the Postmaster-General.

194.—(1) The provisions of this section shall have effect with respect to sums issued to the Minister or the Central Land Board out of the Consolidated Fund under subsection (1) of section sixty-four of the Act of 1954 (which related to the issue out of the Consolidated Fund of sums required for making payments under Part I or Part V of that Act).

Repayment of sums issued out of Consolidated Fund in respect of certain payments.

(2) The aggregate of the sums so issued in any financial year, whether to the Minister or to the Central Land Board, shall be repaid by the Minister into the Exchequer, as mentioned in the next following subsection, with interest thereon at such rate as the Treasury may determine, such interest accruing, in respect of the whole aggregate, from such date in the financial year in which the sums were issued as the Treasury may determine.

PART XII

(3) The said aggregate shall be repaid by twenty equal annual instalments, of principal and interest combined, falling due on the anniversary of the date determined under the last preceding subsection, the first such instalment falling due in the financial year next following the financial year in which the sums in question were issued.

(4) Any sums received by the Minister by virtue of—

(a) the provisions of section one hundred and thirteen of this Act, as applied by the transitional provisions hereinafter contained to compensation paid under Part V of the Act of 1954, or

(b) the provisions of section one hundred and ninety of this Act as so applied, shall be paid into the Exchequer, and shall be treated as paid in satisfaction, or part satisfaction, of such one or more instalments payable under the preceding provisions of this section as the Treasury may determine.

(5) All sums paid into the Exchequer under the preceding provisions of this section shall be issued out of the Consolidated Fund at such times as the Treasury may direct, and shall be applied by the Treasury as follows:—

(a) so much thereof as represents principal shall be applied in redeeming or paying off debt of such description as the Treasury may think fit ;

(b) so much thereof as represents interest shall be applied towards meeting such part of the annual charges for the National Debt as represents interest.

(6) In respect of each financial year the Minister shall prepare, in such form and manner and at such time as the Treasury may direct, an account of any sums received by him as mentioned in subsection (4) of this section.

(7) On or before the thirtieth day of November in each year, the Minister shall transmit to the Comptroller and Auditor General the account prepared by him under the last preceding subsection in respect of the last preceding financial year ; and the Comptroller and Auditor General shall examine and certify each such account and lay before each House of Parliament copies thereof, together with his report thereon.

General provision as to receipts of Minister.

195. Without prejudice to the last preceding section, and subject to the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-two of this Act, any sums received by the Minister—

(a) under any provision of this Act, or

(b) in respect of the payment of a development charge, shall be paid into the Exchequer.

196. The council of any county may direct that any expenses incurred by them under the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall be treated as expenses for special county purposes chargeable upon such part of the county as may be specified in the directions.

PART XII
Expenses of county councils.

PART XIII

APPLICATION OF ACT TO SPECIAL CASES

Minerals

197.—(1) In relation to development consisting of the winning and working of minerals, the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act with the consent of the Treasury.

Power to modify Act in relation to minerals.

(2) In relation to interests in land consisting of or comprising minerals (being either the fee simple or tenancies of such land) and in relation to claims established (as mentioned in subsection (2) of section eighty-nine of this Act) wholly or partly in respect of such land, the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 2 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act with the consent of the Treasury.

(3) Regulations made for the purposes of this section shall be of no effect unless they are approved by resolution of each House of Parliament.

(4) Any regulations made by virtue of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply—

- (a) to the winning and working, on land held or occupied with land used for the purposes of agriculture, of any minerals reasonably required for the purposes of that use, including the fertilisation of the land so used and the maintenance, improvement or alteration of buildings or works thereon which are occupied or used for those purposes, or
- (b) to development consisting of the winning and working of any minerals vested in the National Coal Board, being development to which any of the provisions of this Act relating to operational land of statutory undertakers apply by virtue of regulations made under section two hundred and four of this Act ;

and nothing in subsection (1) of this section or in this subsection shall be construed as affecting the prerogative right of Her Majesty (whether in right of the Crown or of the Duchy of Lancaster) or of the Duke of Cornwall to any gold or silver mine.

PART XIII
Modification of Mines (Working Facilities and Support) Act, 1923.

198.—(1) Where a development plan provides that any land is to be used for the purpose of securing the winning and working of any minerals comprised therein, then, without prejudice to the powers conferred by Part V of this Act in relation to land designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition, the provisions of the Mines (Working Facilities and Support) Act, 1923, shall have effect in relation to the land subject to such modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act by the Minister and the Minister of Power.

(2) Regulations made for the purposes of this section may in particular provide for securing—

- (a) that a right to work any minerals in the land may be granted by the High Court under the said Act of 1923 to any person who is desirous of working them, either by himself or through his lessees, and who is unable to obtain the necessary rights by agreement on reasonable terms ;
- (b) that for the purposes of the determination by the court of an application for any such right, it shall be assumed that the winning and working of the minerals is expedient in the national interest ; and
- (c) that the compensation or consideration in respect of any such right which is granted by the court shall be assessed having regard to the amount of the compensation which would be payable in respect of a compulsory acquisition of the minerals under Part V of this Act.

(3) Subsections (3) and (4) of the last preceding section shall apply to the provisions of this section and to any regulations made thereunder as they apply to the provisions of subsection (1) of that section and to regulations made by virtue of that subsection.

Crown land

Exercise of powers in relation to Crown land.

199.—(1) Notwithstanding any interest of the Crown in Crown land, but subject to the following provisions of this section,—

- (a) a development plan approved or made under Part II of this Act may include proposals relating to the use of Crown land, and may designate the land as subject to compulsory acquisition, and any power to acquire land compulsorily under Part V of this Act may be exercised in relation to any interest therein which is for the time being held otherwise than by or on behalf of the Crown ;
- (b) any restrictions or powers imposed or conferred by Part III or Part IV of this Act, by the provisions of Part VIII of this Act relating to purchase notices, or by any of the provisions of sections one hundred and fifty-nine to one hundred and sixty-two of this Act, shall apply and be exercisable in relation to Crown land, to the extent of any interest therein for the time being held otherwise than by or on behalf of the Crown.

(2) Except with the consent of the appropriate authority—

- (a) no order or notice shall be made or served under any of the provisions of sections twenty-eight to thirty-one, section thirty-six or section forty-five of this Act, or under any of those provisions as applied by any order or regulations made under Part III of this Act, in relation to land which for the time being is Crown land ;
- (b) no building which for the time being is Crown land shall be included in any list compiled or approved under section thirty-two of this Act ;
- (c) no interest in land which for the time being is Crown land shall be acquired compulsorily under Part V of this Act.

(3) No enforcement notice shall be served under section forty-five of this Act in respect of development carried out by or on behalf of the Crown after the appointed day on land which was Crown land at the time when the development was carried out.

(4) No purchase notice shall be served in relation to any interest in Crown land unless an offer has been previously made by the owner of that interest to dispose thereof to the appropriate authority on terms that the price payable for it shall be equal to (and shall, in default of agreement, be determined in like manner as) the compensation which would be payable in respect of that interest if it were acquired in pursuance of a purchase notice, and that offer has been refused by the appropriate authority.

(5) The rights conferred by the provisions of sections one hundred and thirty-eight to one hundred and fifty-one of this Act shall be exercisable by a person who (within the meaning of those provisions) is an owner-occupier of a hereditament or agricultural unit which is Crown land, or is a resident owner-occupier of a hereditament which is Crown land, in the same way as they are exercisable in respect of a hereditament or agricultural unit which is not Crown land, and those provisions shall apply accordingly.

(6) In this Part of this Act “ Crown land ” means land in which there is a Crown interest or a Duchy interest ; “ Crown interest ” means an interest belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown, or belonging to a government department, or held in trust for

PART XIII Her Majesty for the purposes of a government department; "Duchy interest" means an interest belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Duchy of Lancaster, or belonging to the Duchy of Cornwall; and for the purposes of this and the next following section "the appropriate authority", in relation to any land,—

- (a) in the case of land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown and forming part of the Crown Estate, means the Crown Estate Commissioners, and, in relation to any other land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Crown, means the government department having the management of that land;
- (b) in relation to land belonging to Her Majesty in right of the Duchy of Lancaster, means the Chancellor of the Duchy;
- (c) in relation to land belonging to the Duchy of Cornwall, means such person as the Duke of Cornwall, or the possessor for the time being of the Duchy of Cornwall, appoints;
- (d) in the case of land belonging to a government department or held in trust for Her Majesty for the purposes of a government department, means that department;

and, if any question arises as to what authority is the appropriate authority in relation to any land, that question shall be referred to the Treasury, whose decision shall be final.

Agreements
relating to Crown land.

200.—(1) The appropriate authority and the local planning authority for the area in which any Crown land is situated may make agreements for securing the use of the land, so far as may be prescribed by any such agreement, in conformity with the provisions of the development plan applicable thereto; and any such agreement may contain such consequential provisions, including provisions of a financial character, as may appear to be necessary or expedient having regard to the purposes of the agreement.

(2) An agreement made under this section by the Crown Estate Commissioners or by a government department shall not have effect unless it is approved by the Treasury.

(3) In considering whether to make or approve an agreement under this section relating to land belonging to a government department, or held in trust for Her Majesty for the purposes of a government department, the department and the Treasury shall have regard to the purposes for which the land is held by or for the department.

201.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section— PART XIII

- (a) where there is a Crown interest in any land, the provisions of Part VI of this Act and of sections one hundred and twenty to one hundred and twenty-two thereof, and the provisions of the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Schedules to this Act and the transitional provisions hereinafter contained in so far as they relate to Part VI or to sections one hundred and twenty to one hundred and twenty-two of this Act, shall have effect in relation to any private interest or Duchy interest as if the Crown interest were a private interest ; and
- (b) where there is a Duchy interest in any land, those provisions shall have effect in relation to that interest, and to any private interest, as if the Duchy interest were a private interest.

Supplementary provisions as to Crown and Duchy interests.

(2) References in this Act to claims established under Part VI of the Act of 1947 include references to claims so established in accordance with arrangements made under subsection (2) of section eighty-eight of that Act (which provided for the application of Part VI of that Act to Duchy interests and for the payment of sums in lieu of development charges in respect of such interests) ; references to development charges include references to sums determined in accordance with such arrangements to be appropriate in substitution for development charges ; and references to the amount of an established claim or of a development charge shall be construed accordingly.

(3) Where, in accordance with an agreement under the last preceding section, the approval of a local planning authority is required in respect of any development of land in which there is a Duchy interest, the provisions of this Act referred to in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall have effect in relation to the withholding of that approval, or the giving thereof subject to conditions, as if it were a refusal of planning permission, or a grant of planning permission subject to conditions, as the case may be.

(4) In this section “ private interest ” means an interest which is neither a Crown interest nor a Duchy interest.

London and Isles of Scilly

202. The provisions of the Ninth Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purposes of the application of this Act to the administrative county of London. Application of Act to London.

PART XIII      203.—(1) The Minister shall, after consultation with the Council of the Isles of Scilly, by order provide for the application of those provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto as if those Isles were a separate county; and any such order may provide for the application of those provisions of this Act to those Isles subject to such modifications as may be specified in the order.

Application of Act to Isles of Scilly.

(2) In relation to land in the Isles of Scilly, the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 2 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall have effect as if those Isles were a county district, and the Council of the Isles were the council of that district.

Other special cases

National Coal
Board.

204.—(1) Regulations made under this Act by the Minister and the Minister of Power with the consent of the Treasury may direct that any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto, being provisions relating to statutory undertakers and to land of such undertakers, shall apply, subject to such adaptations, modifications and exceptions as may be specified in the regulations, in relation to the National Coal Board, and in relation to land (including mines) of that Board of any such class as may be specified in the regulations, as if the Board were statutory undertakers and as if land of any class so specified were operational land.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding subsection, any regulations made thereunder may in particular provide that any compensation payable to the National Coal Board by virtue of any of the provisions applied by the regulations, being compensation which, in the case of statutory undertakers, would be assessable in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and seventy-one of this Act, shall, instead of being assessed in accordance with that section, be assessed in accordance with the provisions of the regulations.

Ecclesiastical
property.

205.—(1) Without prejudice to the provisions of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, with respect to notices served under that Act, where under any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto a notice is required to be served on an owner of land, and the land is ecclesiastical property, a like notice shall be served on the Church Commissioners.

(2) Where the fee simple of any ecclesiastical property is in abeyance—

(a) if the property is situated elsewhere than in Wales or Monmouthshire, then for the purposes of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 3 of the Eighth Schedule thereto the fee simple shall be treated as being vested in the Church Commissioners;

(b) in any case, the fee simple shall, for the purposes of a compulsory acquisition of the property under Part V of this Act, be treated as being vested in the Church Commissioners, and any notice to treat shall be served, or be deemed to have been served, accordingly.

(3) Any compensation payable under Part VII of this Act in respect of land which is ecclesiastical property shall be paid to the Church Commissioners, to be applied for the purposes for which the proceeds of a sale by agreement of the land would be applicable under any enactment or Measure authorising, or disposing of the proceeds of, such a sale.

(4) Any sum which under any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 2 of the Eighth Schedule thereto is payable in relation to land which is, or on the appointed day was, ecclesiastical property, and apart from this subsection would be payable to an incumbent, shall be paid to the Church Commissioners, to be applied for the purposes mentioned in the last preceding subsection; and where any sum is recoverable under section one hundred and thirteen, section one hundred and twenty-two or section two hundred and eight of this Act in respect of any such land, the Church Commissioners may apply any money or securities held by them in the payment of that sum.

(5) In this section "ecclesiastical property" means land belonging to an ecclesiastical benefice, or being or forming part of a church subject to the jurisdiction of a bishop of any diocese or the site of such a church, or being or forming part of a burial ground subject to such jurisdiction.

206.—(1) The purposes authorised for the application of capital moneys—

Settled land, and land of universities and colleges.

(a) by section seventy-three of the Settled Land Act, 1925, and by that section as applied by section twenty-eight of the Law of Property Act, 1925, in relation to trusts for sale, and

(b) by section twenty-six of the Universities and College Estates Act, 1925, and the purposes authorised by section seventy-one of the Settled Land Act, 1925, by that section as so applied, and by section thirty-one of the Universities and College Estates Act, 1925, as purposes for which moneys may be raised by mortgage, shall include the payment of any sum recoverable under section one hundred and thirteen, section one hundred and twenty-two or section two hundred and eight of this Act.

(2) The purposes authorised, as mentioned in the preceding subsection, for the application of capital moneys and as purposes for which moneys may be raised by mortgage, shall include the discharge of any sum payable in respect of a development charge under Part VII of the Act of 1947, being a sum determined by the Central Land Board as a capital payment or as an instalment of capital.

(3) The classes of works specified in Part II of the Third Schedule to the Settled Land Act, 1925 (which specifies improvements which may be paid for out of capital money, subject to provisions under which repayment out of income may be required to be made) shall include works specified by the Minister as being required for properly maintaining a building in relation to which a building preservation order is in force, and which is settled land within the meaning of that Act.

PART XIV

MISCELLANEOUS AND SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS

Default powers of Minister.

207.—(1) If it appears to the Minister, after consultation with the local planning authority, to be expedient that any order to which this subsection applies should be made, he may give directions to the local planning authority requiring them to submit to him such an order for his confirmation, or may himself make such an order; and any order so made by the Minister shall have the like effect as if it had been made by the local planning authority and confirmed by the Minister under Part III of this Act.

(2) The preceding subsection applies to the following orders, that is to say,—

- (a) orders under section twenty-seven of this Act, or under the provisions of that section as applied by any order or regulations made under Part III of this Act;
- (b) orders under section twenty-eight of this Act;
- (c) tree preservation orders and building preservation orders, and orders amending or revoking tree preservation orders or building preservation orders.

(3) The provisions of Part III of this Act, and of any regulations made thereunder, with respect to the procedure to be followed in connection with the submission by the local planning authority of any order to which subsection (1) of this section applies, with respect to the confirmation of such an order by the Minister, and with respect to the service of copies thereof as so confirmed, shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, in relation to any proposal by the Minister to make such an order by virtue of subsection (1) of this section, in relation to the making thereof by the Minister, and in relation to the service of copies thereof as so made.

(4) If it appears to the Minister, after consultation with the local planning authority, to be expedient that—

- (a) an enforcement notice under section forty-five of this Act, or under the provisions of that section as applied by a building preservation order or by regulations under section thirty-four of this Act, or
- (b) a notice under section thirty-six or section fifty-two of this Act, should be served in respect of any land, he may give directions to the local planning authority requiring them to serve such a notice, or may himself serve such a notice; and any notice so served by the Minister shall have the like effect as a notice served by the local planning authority:

Provided that, in relation to an enforcement notice so served by the Minister, the provisions of sections forty-seven to forty-nine and section fifty-one of this Act shall apply as if, for any reference therein to the local planning authority, there were substituted a reference to the Minister.

(5) If the Minister is satisfied, after holding a local inquiry,—

- (a) that the council of a county borough or county district have failed to take steps for the acquisition of any land which, in the opinion of the Minister, ought to be acquired by that council under section sixty-eight of this Act, for the purpose of securing its use in the manner proposed by the development plan, or
- (b) that a local authority have failed to carry out, on land acquired by them under section sixty-eight of this Act, or appropriated by them under section seventy-three of this Act, any development which, in the opinion of the Minister, ought to be carried out, the Minister may by order require the council or authority to take such steps as may be specified in the order for acquiring the land, or carrying out the development, as the case may be.

(6) Any order under the last preceding subsection shall be enforceable, on the application of the Minister, by mandamus.

208.—(1) In relation to notices registered under section fifty-seven of the Act of 1954 (which provided for the registration of notices of payments made under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947) the provisions of sections one hundred and thirteen and one hundred and fourteen of this Act shall have effect (subject to the following provisions of this section) as they have effect in relation to notices registered under section one hundred and twelve of this Act. Recovery, on subsequent development, of payments in respect of war-damaged land.

PART XIV

(2) The said provisions shall have effect as mentioned in the preceding subsection, but as if—

- (a) any reference therein to the compensation specified in a notice were a reference to the payment so specified, and
- (b) section one hundred and thirteen of this Act applied to every description of new development.

(3) No amount shall be recoverable by the Minister by virtue of this section in respect of any land in relation to which an amount has become recoverable under section one hundred and ninety-one of this Act.

(4) Subsection (5) of section one hundred and ninety-one of this Act shall apply for the purposes of this section as it applies for the purposes of that section.

Development charges.

209. The provisions of the Tenth Schedule to this Act (which relates to development charges) shall have effect.

Temporary provisions pending operation of development plans.

210. Where, in accordance with the provisions of Part III or Part IV of this Act, a local planning authority are required to have regard to the provisions of the development plan in relation to the exercise of any of their functions, then, in relation to the exercise of those functions during any period before such a plan has become operative with respect to the area of that authority, the authority—

- (a) shall have regard to any directions which may be or have been given to them by the Minister as to the provisions to be included in such a plan, and
- (b) subject to any such directions, shall have regard to the provisions which in their opinion will be required to be so included for securing the proper planning of their area.

Rights of entry.

211.—(1) Any person duly authorised in writing by the Minister or by a local planning authority may at any reasonable time enter upon any land for the purpose of surveying it in connection with—

- (a) the preparation, approval, making or amendment of a development plan relating to the land under Part II of this Act, including the carrying out of any survey under Part II of this Act ;
- (b) any application under Part III of this Act, or under any order or regulations made thereunder, for any permission, consent or determination to be given or made in connection with that land or any other land under Part III of this Act or under any such order or regulations ;

PART XIV

- (c) any proposal by the local planning authority or by the Minister to make or serve any order or notice under Part III or Part IV of this Act, or under any order or regulations made thereunder.

(2) Any person, being an officer of the Valuation Office or a person duly authorised in writing by the Minister, may at any reasonable time enter upon any land for the purpose of surveying it, or estimating its value, in connection with a claim for compensation under Part VI of this Act in respect of that land or any other land.

(3) Any person, being an officer of the Valuation Office or a person duly authorised in writing by a local planning authority, may at any reasonable time enter upon any land for the purpose of surveying it, or estimating its value, in connection with a claim for compensation in respect of that land or any other land, being compensation payable by the local planning authority under Part VII of this Act or under Part X thereof, otherwise than as mentioned in subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy or in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-one of this Act.

(4) Any person, being an officer of the Valuation Office or a person duly authorised in writing by a Minister having power to acquire land designated by a development plan under this Act as subject to compulsory acquisition, or to authorise the acquisition of land so designated, and any person duly authorised in writing by a local authority having power to acquire land under Part V of this Act, may at any reasonable time enter upon any land for the purpose of surveying it, or estimating its value, in connection with any proposal to acquire that land or any other land, or in connection with any claim for compensation in respect of any such acquisition.

(5) Any person duly authorised in writing by the Minister or by a local planning authority may at any reasonable time enter upon any land in respect of which an order or notice has been made or served as mentioned in paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the order or notice has been complied with.

(6) Subject to the provisions of the next following section, any power conferred by this section to survey land shall be construed as including power to search and bore for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the subsoil or the presence of minerals therein.

PART XIV
Supplementary provisions as to rights of entry.

212.—(1) A person authorised under the last preceding section to enter upon any land shall, if so required, produce evidence of his authority before so entering, and shall not demand admission as of right to any land which is occupied unless twenty-four hours' notice of the intended entry has been given to the occupier.

(2) Any person who wilfully obstructs a person acting in the exercise of his powers under the last preceding section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

(3) If any person who, in compliance with the provisions of the last preceding section, is admitted into a factory, workshop or workplace discloses to any person any information obtained by him therein as to any manufacturing process or trade secret, he shall, unless the disclosure is made in the course of performing his duty in connection with the survey or estimate for which he was authorised to enter the premises, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

(4) Where any land is damaged in the exercise of a right of entry conferred under the last preceding section, or in the making of any survey for the purpose of which any such right of entry has been so conferred, compensation in respect of that damage may be recovered by any person interested in the land from the Minister or authority on whose behalf the entry was effected.

(5) The provisions of section one hundred and twenty-eight of this Act shall apply in relation to compensation under the last preceding subsection as they apply in relation to compensation under Part VII of this Act.

(6) Where under the last preceding section a person proposes to carry out any works authorised by virtue of subsection (6) of that section—

(a) he shall not carry out those works unless notice of his intention to do so was included in the notice required by subsection (1) of this section, and

(b) if the land in question is held by statutory undertakers, and those undertakers object to the proposed works on the grounds that the carrying out thereof would be seriously detrimental to the carrying on of their undertaking, the works shall not be carried out except with the authority of the appropriate Minister.

Local inquiries.

213.—(1) The Minister may cause a local inquiry to be held for the purposes of the exercise of any of his functions under any of the provisions of this Act.

(2) The provisions of subsections (2) to (5) of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which relate to the giving of evidence at, and defraying the cost of, local inquiries) shall have effect with respect to any inquiry held by virtue of this section as if the Minister were a department for the purposes of that section. PART XIV 214.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any notice or other document required or authorised to be served or given under this Act may be served or given either— Service of notices.

- (a) by delivering it to the person on whom it is to be served or to whom it is to be given, or
- (b) by leaving it at the usual or last known place of abode of that person, or, in a case where an address for service has been given by that person, at that address, or
- (c) by sending it in a prepaid registered letter, or by the recorded delivery service, addressed to that person at his usual or last known place of abode, or, in a case where an address for service has been given by that person, at that address, or
- (d) in the case of an incorporated company or body, by delivering it to the secretary or clerk of the company or body at their registered or principal office, or sending it in a prepaid registered letter, or by the recorded delivery service, addressed to the secretary or clerk of the company or body at that office.

(2) Where the notice or document is required or authorised to be served on any person as having an interest in premises, and the name of that person cannot be ascertained after reasonable inquiry, or where the notice or document is required or authorised to be served on any person as an occupier of premises, the notice or document shall be taken to be duly served if—

- (a) being addressed to him either by name or by the description of “the owner” or “the occupier”, as the case may be, of the premises (describing them) it is delivered or sent in the manner specified in paragraph (a), paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) of the preceding subsection, or
- (b) being so addressed, and marked in such manner as may be prescribed by regulations under this Act for securing that it shall be plainly identifiable as a communication of importance, it is sent to the premises in a prepaid registered letter or by the recorded delivery service and is not returned to the authority sending it, or is delivered to some person on those premises, or is affixed conspicuously to some object on those premises.

(3) Where the notice or other document is required to be served on or given to all persons having interests in, or being occupiers of, premises comprised in any land, and it appears to the authority required or authorised to serve or give the notice or other document that any part of that land is unoccupied, the notice or document shall be taken to be duly served on all

PART XIV persons having interests in, and on any occupiers of, premises comprised in that part of the land (other than a person who has given to that authority an address for the service of the notice or document on him) if it is addressed to "the owners and any occupiers" of that part of the land (describing it) and is affixed conspicuously to some object on the land.

Power to require information as to interests in land.

215.—(1) For the purpose of enabling the Minister or a local authority to make an order or serve any notice or other document which, by any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto, he or they are authorised or required to make or serve, the Minister or the local authority may require the occupier of any premises and any person who, either directly or indirectly, receives rent in respect of any premises to state in writing the nature of his interest therein, and the name and address of any other person known to him as having an interest therein, whether as a freeholder, mortgagee, lessee or otherwise.

(2) Any person who, having been required in pursuance of this section to give any information, fails to give that information, or knowingly makes any misstatement in respect thereof, shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

Combined applications.

216.—(1) Regulations made under this Act may provide for the combination in a single document, made in such form and transmitted to such authority as may be prescribed by the regulations, of—

- (a) an application for planning permission in respect of any development, and
- (b) an application required, under any enactment specified in the regulations, to be made to a local authority in respect of that development.

(2) Before making any regulations under this section, the Minister shall consult with such local authorities or associations of local authorities as appear to him to be concerned.

(3) Different provision may be made by any such regulations in relation to areas in which different enactments are in force.

(4) An application required to be made to a local authority under an enactment specified in any such regulations shall, if made in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, be valid notwithstanding anything in that enactment prescribing, or enabling any authority to prescribe, the form in which, or the manner in which, such an application is to be made.

(5) The last preceding subsection shall have effect without prejudice to—

- (a) the validity of any application made in accordance with the enactment in question ; or
- (b) any provision of that enactment enabling a local authority to require further particulars of the matters to which the application relates.

(6) In this section "application" includes a submission.

217.—(1) The Minister may make regulations under this Act— ART XIV

- (a) for prescribing the form of any notice, order or other document authorised or required by any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto to be served, made or issued by any local authority; Regulations and orders.
- (b) for any purpose for which regulations are authorised or required to be made under this Act, not being a purpose for which regulations are authorised or required to be made by another Minister.

(2) Any power conferred by this Act to make regulations shall be exercisable by statutory instrument; and any statutory instrument containing regulations made under this Act (except regulations which, by virtue of any provision of this Act, are of no effect unless approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament) shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(3) Any power conferred by any of the provisions of this Act specified in paragraphs 1 and 3 of the Eighth Schedule thereto to make an order shall include power to vary or revoke any such order by a subsequent order.

(4) The power to make orders conferred by subsection (2) of section two of this Act, or for the purposes of paragraph (f) of subsection (2) of section twelve of this Act, and the power to make development orders under section fourteen of this Act, shall be exercisable by statutory instrument; and any statutory instrument—

- (a) which contains an order under subsection (2) of section two of this Act which has been made after a local inquiry has been held in accordance with the proviso to that subsection, or
- (b) which contains a development order, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

(5) Without prejudice to the last preceding subsection, where a development order makes provision for excluding or modifying any enactment contained in a public general Act (other than any of the enactments specified in the Eleventh Schedule to this Act) the order shall not have effect until that provision is approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

(6) Any power (exercisable in accordance with subsection (2) of section two hundred and twenty-five of this Act) to make regulations or orders under this Act before the date of the commencement of this Act shall include power, by any regulations or order so made, to revoke any regulations or order made under any of the enactments which, as from that date, are repealed by this Act or having effect by virtue of any of those enactments as if made thereunder.

PART XIV
Exercise of functions of Board of Trade.

218. Anything required or authorised by or under this Act to be done by, to or before the Board of Trade may be done by, to or before the President of the Board, any secretary, under-secretary or assistant secretary of the Board or any person authorised in that behalf by the President of the Board.

Licensing planning areas.

219.—(1) Where the united district for which, by an order under section two of this Act, a joint planning board is constituted comprises a licensing planning area, or the whole or part of such a united district is included in a licensing planning area, the Secretary of State may by order revoke or vary any order made under Part II of the Licensing Act, 1953, so far as may be necessary or expedient in consequence of the order under section two of this Act.

(2) Subject to the preceding subsection, nothing in any order made under section two of this Act shall affect the validity of any order made under Part II of the Licensing Act, 1953, before the date of the order under section two of this Act.

Act not excluded by special enactments.

220. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that the provisions of this Act, and any restrictions or powers thereby imposed or conferred in relation to land, apply and may be exercised in relation to any land notwithstanding that provision is made by any enactment in force at the passing of the Act of 1947, or by any local Act passed at any time during the Session of Parliament held during the regnal years 10 & 11 Geo. 6, for authorising or regulating any development of the land.

Interpretation.

221.—(1) In this Act, except in so far as the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say:—

“acquiring authority”, in relation to the acquisition of an interest in land (whether compulsorily or by agreement) or to a proposal so to acquire such an interest, means the government department, local authority or other body by whom the interest is, or is proposed to be, acquired;

“the Act of 1944” means the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944;

“the Act of 1947” means the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947;

“the Act of 1954” means the Town and Country Planning Act, 1954;

“the Act of 1959” means the Town and Country Planning Act, 1959;

“advertisement” means any word, letter, model, sign, placard, board, notice, device or representation, whether illuminated or not, in the nature of, and employed wholly or partly for the purposes of, advertisement, announcement or direction, and (without prejudice to the preceding provisions of this definition) includes any hoarding or similar structure used, or adapted for use, for the display of advertisements, and references to the display of advertisements shall be construed accordingly ;

- “ agriculture ” includes horticulture, fruit growing, seed growing, dairy farming, the breeding and keeping of livestock (including any creature kept for the production of food, wool, skins or fur, or for the purpose of its use in the farming of land), the use of land as grazing land, meadow land, osier land, market gardens and nursery grounds, and the use of land for woodlands where that use is ancillary to the farming of land for other agricultural purposes, and “ agricultural ” shall be construed accordingly ;
- “ the appointed day ” means the first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight ;
- “ the appropriate Minister ” —
- (a) in relation to statutory undertakers carrying on an undertaking for the supply of electricity, gas or hydraulic power, means the Minister of Power ;
- (b) in relation to statutory undertakers carrying on an undertaking for the supply of water, means the Minister ; and
- (c) in relation to any other statutory undertakers, means the Minister of Transport ;
- “ area of extensive war damage ” and “ area of bad lay-out or obsolete development ” mean respectively an area consisting of land shown to the satisfaction of the Minister to have sustained war damage or, as the case may be, to be badly laid out or of obsolete development, or consisting of such land together with other land contiguous or adjacent thereto, being in each case land comprised in an area which is defined by a development plan as an area of comprehensive development ;
- “ authority possessing compulsory purchase powers ”, in relation to the compulsory acquisition of an interest in land, means the person or body of persons effecting the acquisition, and, in relation to any other transaction relating to an interest in land, means any person or body of persons who could be or have been authorised to acquire that interest compulsorily for the purposes for which the transaction is or was effected, or a body (being a parish council or parish meeting or the council of a borough included in a rural district) on whose behalf a county council could be or have been so authorised ;
- “ authority to whom Part II of the Act of 1959 applies ” means a body of any of the descriptions specified in Part I of the Fourth Schedule to the Act of 1959 ;

PART XIV

- “building” includes any structure or erection, and any part of a building, as so defined, but does not include plant or machinery comprised in a building ;
- “buildings or works” includes waste materials, refuse and other matters deposited on land, and references to the erection or construction of buildings or works shall be construed accordingly ;

- “open space” means any land laid out as a public garden, or used for the purposes of public recreation, or land which is a disused burial ground ;
- “operational land”, in relation to statutory undertakers, means land which is used for the purpose of the carrying on of their undertaking and land in which an interest is held for that purpose, not being land which, in respect of its nature and situation, is comparable rather with land in general than with land which is used, or in which interests are held, for the purpose of the carrying on of statutory undertakings ;
- “owner”, in relation to any land, means (except in sections sixteen, seventeen and forty-seven of this Act) a person, other than a mortgagee not in possession, who, whether in his own right or as trustee or agent for any other person, is entitled to receive the rack rent of the land, or, where the land is not let at a rack rent, would be so entitled if it were so let ;

- “ planning decision ” means a decision made on an application under Part III of this Act ;
- “ planning permission ” means permission under Part III of this Act, and in construing references to planning permission to develop land or to carry out any development of land, or to applications for such permission, regard shall be had to subsection (2) of section twenty of this Act ;
- “ planning permission granted for a limited period ” has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (2) of section eighteen of this Act ;
- “ prescribed ” (except in relation to matters expressly required or authorised by this Act to be prescribed in some other way) means prescribed by regulations under this Act ;
- “ previous apportionment ”, in relation to an apportionment for any of the purposes of the relevant provisions, means an apportionment made before the apportionment in question, being—

(a) an apportionment for any of the purposes of the relevant provisions as made, confirmed or varied by the Lands Tribunal on a reference to that Tribunal, or

(b) an apportionment for any of those purposes which might have been referred to the Lands Tribunal by virtue of any of the relevant provisions, where the time for such a reference has expired without its being required to be so referred, or where, after it had been so referred, the reference was withdrawn before the Tribunal gave their decision thereon, or

(c) an apportionment made by or with the approval of the Central Land Board in connection with the approval by the Board, under subsection (2) of section two of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1953, of an assignment of part of the benefit of an established claim (as defined by subsection (4) of section eighty-nine of this Act), and in this definition “ the relevant provisions ” means any of the provisions of Part VI of this Act, any of those provisions as applied by any other provision of this Act, and any of the provisions of the Act of 1954 ;

PART XIV

- “purchase notice” has the meaning assigned to it by section one hundred and twenty-nine of this Act ;
- “relocation of population or industry”, in relation to an area of extensive war damage or an area of bad lay-out or obsolete development, means the rendering available elsewhere than in that area (whether in an existing community or a community to be newly established) of accommodation for residential purposes or for the carrying on of business or other activities, together with all appropriate public services, facilities for public worship, recreation and amenity, and other requirements, being accommodation to be rendered available for persons or undertakings who are living or carrying on business or other activities in that area or who were doing so but by reason of war circumstances are no longer for the time being doing so, and whose continued or resumed location in that area would be inconsistent with the proper planning thereof ;
- “replacement of open space”, in relation to an area of extensive war damage or an area of bad lay-out or obsolete development, means the rendering of land available for use as an open space, or otherwise in an undeveloped state, in substitution for land in that area which is so used ;
- “statutory undertakers” means persons authorised by any enactment to carry on any railway, light railway, tramway, road transport, water transport, canal, inland navigation, dock, harbour, pier or lighthouse undertaking, or any undertaking for the supply of electricity, gas, hydraulic power or water, and “statutory undertaking” shall be construed accordingly ;
- “tenancy” has the same meaning as in the Landlord and Tenant Act, 1954 ;
- “tree preservation order” has the meaning assigned to it by section twenty-nine of this Act ;
- “use”, in relation to land, does not include the use of land for the carrying out of any building or other operations thereon ;
- “Valuation Office” means the Valuation Office of the Inland Revenue Department ;
- “war damage” has the same meaning as in the War Damage Act, 1943.

(2) If, in relation to anything required or authorised to be done under this Act, any question arises as to which Minister is or was the appropriate Minister in relation to any statutory undertakers, that question shall be determined by the Treasury; and if any question so arises whether land of statutory undertakers is operational land, that question shall be determined by the Minister who is the appropriate Minister in relation to those undertakers.

(3) Words in this Act importing a reference to service of a notice to treat shall be construed as including a reference to the constructive service of such a notice which, by virtue of any enactment, is to be deemed to be served.

(4) With respect to references in this Act to planning decisions,—

- (a) in relation to a decision altered on appeal by the reversal or variation of the whole or part thereof, such references shall be construed as references to the decision as so altered;
- (b) in relation to a decision upheld on appeal, such references shall be construed as references to the decision of the local planning authority and not to the decision of the Minister on the appeal;
- (c) in relation to a decision given on an appeal in the circumstances mentioned in section twenty-four of this Act, such references shall be construed as references to the decision so given;
- (d) the time of a planning decision, in a case where there is or was an appeal, shall be taken to be or have been the time of the decision as made by the local planning authority (whether or not that decision is or was altered on that appeal) or, in the case of a decision given on an appeal in the circumstances mentioned in section twenty-four of this Act, the time when in accordance with that section notification of a decision of the local planning authority is deemed to have been received.

(5) For the purposes of this Act development of land shall be taken to be initiated—

- (a) if the development consists of the carrying out of operations, at the time when those operations are begun;
- (b) if the development consists of a change in use, at the time when the new use is instituted;
- (c) if the development consists both of the carrying out of operations and of a change in use, at the earlier of the times mentioned in the preceding paragraphs.

PART XIV

(6) References in this Act to a contract are references to a contract in writing, or a contract attested by a memorandum or note thereof in writing signed by the parties thereto or by some other person or persons authorised by them in that behalf, and, in relation to an interest in land conveyed or assigned without a preliminary contract, are references to the conveyance or assignment; and references to the making of a contract are references to the execution thereof or (if it was not in writing) to the signature of the memorandum or note by which it was attested.

(7) In this Act—

- (a) references to a person from whom title is derived by another person include references to any predecessor in title of that other person;
- (b) references to a person deriving title from another person include references to any successor in title of that other person;
- (c) references to deriving title are references to deriving title either directly or indirectly.

(8) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that where, under any provision of this Act, the value of an interest in land is required to be assessed on the assumption that planning permission would be granted for development of any class specified in the Third Schedule to this Act, that assumption is to be made on the footing that any such development must comply with the provisions of any enactment, other than this Act, which would be applicable thereto.

(9) References in this Act to any enactment shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as references to that enactment as amended by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

Consequential amendments.

222. The enactments specified in the Twelfth Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in that Schedule, being amendments consequential upon the provisions of this Act.

Savings, transitional provisions and repeals.

223.—(1) The savings and transitional provisions contained in the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Schedules to this Act shall have effect.

(2) Subject to the provisions of those Schedules, the enactments specified in the Fifteenth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

224. The inclusion in this Act of any express saving, transitional provision or amendment shall not be taken as prejudicing the operation of section thirty-eight of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the effect of repeals).

PART XIV
Saving for Interpretation Act, 1889,
s. 38.

225.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, this Act shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-three (in this section referred to as “the commencement date”).

Commencement.

(2) This section, any provisions of this Act which confer any power to make regulations or orders, or which (whether expressly or as construed in accordance with subsection (3) of section thirty-two of the Interpretation Act, 1889) confer any power to revoke or vary any regulations or orders, and any provisions of this Act relating to the exercise of any such power, shall come into operation on the passing of this Act; but no regulations or order shall be made under this Act so as to come into operation before the commencement date.

(3) In the last preceding subsection the reference to provisions of this Act relating to the exercise of any such power as is therein mentioned includes a reference to any provisions of this Act whereby statutory instruments containing regulations or an order are subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, or whereby any regulations or order or any provisions thereof require the approval of each of those Houses.

(4) Any reference in this Act to the commencement of this Act is a reference to the coming into operation of so much of this Act as comes into operation on the commencement date, and any reference to the date of the commencement of this Act is a reference to that date; and if any Act passed after the passing of this Act refers to the commencement of this Act, subsections (2) and (3) of this section shall be disregarded for the purpose of construing that reference in accordance with section thirty-six of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the meaning of “commencement” with reference to an Act).

(5) The preceding provisions of this section shall have effect without prejudice to the generality of section thirty-seven of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which relates to the exercise of statutory powers between the passing and the commencement of an Act).

226.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Town and Country Planning Act, 1962.

Short title
and extent.

(2) This Act shall not extend to Scotland or Northern Ireland.

SCHEDULES

Section 2.

FIRST SCHEDULE

JOINT PLANNING BOARDS

1. A joint planning board constituted by an order under section two of this Act shall consist of such number of members as may be determined by the order, to be appointed by the constituent councils.

2. A joint planning board so constituted shall be a body corporate, with perpetual succession and a common seal.

3. An order constituting a joint planning board and any order amending or revoking any order constituting a joint planning board—

- (a) may, without prejudice to the provisions of section two hundred and ninety-three of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which authorises the application of the provisions of that Act to joint boards), provide for regulating the appointment, tenure of office and vacation of office of members of the board, for regulating the meetings and proceedings of the board, and for the payment of the expenses of the board by the constituent councils ;
- (b) may provide for the transfer and compensation of officers, the transfer of property and liabilities, and the adjustment of accounts and apportionment of liabilities ;
- (c) may contain such other provisions as appear to the Minister to be expedient for enabling the board to exercise their functions ; and
- (d) may apply to the board, with any necessary modifications and adaptations, any of the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act.

Section 2.

SECOND SCHEDULE

PLANNING COMMITTEES AND JOINT ADVISORY COMMITTEES

PART I

Planning committees

1. A local planning authority may establish such planning committees as they think it expedient to establish for the efficient discharge of their functions as a local planning authority, and may authorise any such committee to exercise on their behalf any of those functions, except the power to borrow money or to levy or issue a precept for a rate.

2. A planning committee of a local planning authority may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the local planning authority,—

2ND SCH.

(a) appoint such sub-committees constituted in such manner as the committee may determine ; and

(b) authorise any such sub-committee to exercise any of the functions of the committee on their behalf.

3. A majority of every planning committee of a local planning authority shall be members of the authority, and a majority of every sub-committee of any such committee shall be members either of the local planning authority or of the councils of county districts comprised in the area of that authority.

4. Any power conferred by this Part of this Schedule to establish or appoint committees or sub-committees, or to authorise such committees or sub-committees to exercise any functions, shall include power to dissolve or alter the constitution of such committees or sub-committees, and to revoke or vary any such authorisation.

PART II

Joint advisory committees

5. Any two or more local planning authorities may, with the approval of the Minister, concur in establishing a joint advisory committee for the purpose of advising those authorities as to the preparation of development plans and generally as to the planning of development in their areas ; and any such committee shall be constituted in such manner as may be determined by the authorities by whom it is established :

Provided that a majority of the members of any such committee shall be members of one or other of those authorities.

6. If it appears to the Minister to be expedient that a joint advisory committee of any two or more local planning authorities should be established in accordance with the last preceding paragraph, he may, after consultation with those authorities, by order establish such a committee, and any such order may—

(a) provide for the reference to the committee of such matters as may be specified in the order ;

(b) make such incidental and consequential provisions (including provision for the payment of expenses of the committee and the transfer and compensation of officers) as appear to the Minister to be expedient.

7. Any power conferred by this Part of this Schedule to establish committees or to authorise such committees to exercise any functions shall include power to dissolve or alter the constitution of such committees, and to revoke or vary any such authorisation.

8. The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall be in addition to and not in substitution for the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1933, with respect to the appointment by local authorities of joint committees.

Sections 12
and 118.

THIRD SCHEDULE

DEVELOPMENT NOT CONSTITUTING NEW DEVELOPMENT

PART I

Development not ranking for compensation under s. 123

1. The carrying out of any of the following works, that is to say—
  - (a) the rebuilding, as often as occasion may require, of any building which was in existence on the appointed day, or of any building which was in existence before that day but was destroyed or demolished after the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, including the making good of war damage sustained by any such building ;
  - (b) the rebuilding, as often as occasion may require, of any building erected after the appointed day which was in existence at a material date ;
  - (c) the carrying out of works for the maintenance, improvement or other alteration of any building, being works which affect only the interior of the building or which do not materially affect the external appearance of the building and (in either case) are works for making good war damage, so long as (in the case of works falling within any of the preceding sub-paragraphs) the cubic content of the original building is not exceeded—
    - (i) in the case of a dwellinghouse, by more than one-tenth or seventeen hundred and fifty cubic feet, whichever is the greater, and
    - (ii) in any other case, by more than one-tenth.
2. The use as two or more separate dwellinghouses of any building which at a material date was used as a single dwellinghouse.

PART II

Development ranking for compensation under s. 123

3. The enlargement, improvement or other alteration, as often as occasion may require, of any such building as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) or sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph 1 of this Schedule, or any building substituted for such a building by the carrying out of any such operations as are mentioned in that paragraph, so long as the cubic content of the original building is not increased or exceeded—
  - (a) in the case of a dwellinghouse, by more than one-tenth or seventeen hundred and fifty cubic feet, whichever is the greater, and
  - (b) in any other case, by more than one-tenth.
4. The carrying out, on land which was used for the purposes of agriculture or forestry at a material date, of any building or other operations required for the purposes of that use, other than operations for the erection, enlargement, improvement or alteration of dwellinghouses or of buildings used for the purposes of market gardens, nursery grounds or timber yards or for other purposes not connected with general farming operations or with the cultivation or felling of trees.

5. The winning and working, on land held or occupied with land used for the purposes of agriculture, of any minerals reasonably required for the purposes of that use, including the fertilisation of the land so used and the maintenance, improvement or alteration of buildings or works thereon which are occupied or used for those purposes.

6. In the case of a building or other land which, at a material date, was used for a purpose falling within any general class specified in the Town and Country Planning (Use Classes for Third Schedule Purposes) Order, 1948, or which, having been unoccupied on and at all times since the appointed day, was last used (otherwise than before the seventh day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven) for any such purpose, the use of that building or land for any other purpose falling within the same general class.

7. In the case of any building or other land which, at a material date, was in the occupation of a person by whom it was used as to part only for a particular purpose, the use for that purpose of any additional part of the building or land not exceeding one-tenth of the cubic content of the part of the building used for that purpose on the appointed day, or on the day thereafter when the building began to be so used, or, as the case may be, one-tenth of the area of the land so used on that day.

8. The deposit of waste materials or refuse in connection with the working of minerals, on any land comprised in a site which at a material date was being used for that purpose, so far as may be reasonably required in connection with the working of those minerals.

PART III

Supplementary provisions

9. Any reference in this Schedule to the cubic content of a building shall be construed as a reference to that content as ascertained by external measurement.

10. Where, after the appointed day, any buildings or works have been erected or constructed, or any use of land has been instituted, and any condition imposed under Part III of this Act, limiting the period for which those buildings or works may be retained, or that use may be continued, has effect in relation thereto, this Schedule shall not operate except as respects the period specified in that condition.

11. For the purposes of paragraph 3 of this Schedule—

- (a) the erection, on land within the curtilage of any such building as is mentioned in that paragraph, of an additional building to be used in connection with the original building shall be treated as the enlargement of the original building; and
- (b) where any two or more buildings comprised in the same curtilage are used as one unit for the purposes of any institution or undertaking, the reference in that paragraph to the cubic content of the original building shall be construed as a reference to the aggregate cubic content of those buildings.

3RD SCH.

12. In this Schedule "at a material date" means at either of the following dates, that is to say—

(a) the appointed day, and

(b) the date by reference to which this Schedule falls to be applied in the particular case in question :

Provided that sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph shall not apply in relation to any buildings, works or use of land in respect of which, whether before or after the date mentioned in that sub-paragraph, an enforcement notice served before that date has become or becomes effective.

Section 75.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

FURTHER PROVISIONS WITH RESPECT TO ORDERS PROVIDING FOR EXPEDITED COMPLETION

Introductory

1.—(1) The provisions of this Schedule shall have effect with respect to any compulsory purchase order which includes a direction, under subsection (1) of section seventy-four of this Act, that the provisions of Part V of this Act relating to expedited completion shall apply to the order so far as it relates to land specified in the direction; and in this Schedule "the relevant land" means the land so specified.

(2) In this Schedule "the Act of 1845" means the Lands Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, and "the Act of 1946" means the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946.

Particulars to be included in notice of confirmation of order

2. The notice of the confirmation of the order required by paragraph 6 of the First Schedule to the Act of 1946 to be published—

(a) shall refer to the provisions as to entry and vesting contained in subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, and

(b) shall include a notification to the effect that every person entitled to claim compensation in respect of any of the relevant land or any interest in such land is invited to give information to the acquiring authority, in the prescribed form, with respect to his name and address and the land and interest in question.

Certificate of acquiring authority for purpose of determining date of vesting

3. For the purposes of section seventy-five of this Act, a certificate given by the acquiring authority stating that the service of notices on occupiers required by subsection (5) of that section was completed on a date specified in the certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the fact so stated.

Exclusion of power of entry conferred by Act of 1946

4. Paragraph 3 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946 (which provides for entry on land comprised in a compulsory purchase order before the purchase money has been paid, and without previous consent or compliance with sections eighty-four to ninety of the Act of 1845) shall not have effect in relation to the order.

Restriction on withdrawal of constructive notice to treat

4TH SCH.

5. The power conferred by section thirty-one of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, to withdraw a notice to treat shall, in the case of a notice to treat which is deemed to have been served by virtue of subsection (2) of section seventy-five of this Act, not be exercisable at any time after the interest in respect of which the notice is deemed to have been served has vested in the acquiring authority by virtue of subsection (6) of the said section seventy-five.

6.—(1) Where a part only of a house, building or manufactory, or of a park or garden belonging to a house, is comprised in the relevant land, then, if notice in that behalf is given to the acquiring authority in accordance with the provisions of the next following sub-paragraph, no notice to treat shall be deemed by virtue of subsection (2) of section seventy-five of this Act to have been served in respect of any interest in the said part; and, as from the giving of the first-mentioned notice, the order shall have effect in relation to that part as if it had not been comprised in the relevant land.

(2) A notice under the preceding sub-paragraph in respect of any premises consisting of part of a house, building, manufactory, park or garden may be given to the acquiring authority by any person having in those premises an interest in respect of which, but for that sub-paragraph, a notice to treat would be deemed to have been served, but shall not have effect if given before the order has come into operation or after the acquiring authority have executed in respect of those premises a declaration under subsection (3) of the said section seventy-five.

(3) Where by virtue of subsection (2) of the said section seventy-five a notice to treat is deemed to have been served in respect of any interest, section ninety-two of the Act of 1845 (which provides that a person shall not be compelled to sell part only of a building if he is prepared to sell the whole) shall, in relation to the acquisition of that interest under the order, be excepted from the incorporation (by virtue of paragraph 1 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946) of the Act of 1845 with section sixty-eight of this Act.

7. Paragraph 4 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946 (which makes special provision, in substitution for section ninety-two of the Act of 1845, with respect to the compulsory acquisition of parts of buildings) shall not have effect in relation to the order.

Compensation not to be affected by provision for expedited completion

8. Where any of the relevant land has become vested in the acquiring authority by virtue of subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, the authority shall be liable to pay the like compensation for the land, and the like interest on the compensation agreed or awarded, as they would have been required to pay if the provisions of the Act of 1845 specified in the said subsection (6), and the provisions of that Act compliance with which would have been requisite in order to render exercisable by them the powers referred to in that subsection, had been complied with.

4TH SCH.

Exclusion of provisions of Act of 1845 relating to absent parties and interests omitted to be purchased 9.—(1) Where a notice to treat is deemed by virtue of subsection (2) of section seventy-five of this Act to have been served in respect of any interest, the provisions of the Act of 1845 specified in the following sub-paragraph shall, in relation to the purchase of that interest under the order, be excepted from the incorporation (by virtue of paragraph 1 of the Second Schedule to the Act of 1946) of the Act of 1845 with section sixty-eight of this Act.

(2) The said provisions are sections fifty-eight to sixty-two and sixty-four to sixty-seven (which relate to the mode of ascertaining compensation to absent parties) and sections one hundred and twenty-four to one hundred and twenty-six (which relate to interests which have by mistake been omitted to be purchased).

Rentcharges and leases affecting relevant land and other land

10.—(1) Where land consisting or forming part of the relevant land is, together with other land not comprised in the relevant land, charged with a rentcharge, such portion of the rentcharge as may be apportioned under section one hundred and sixteen of the Act of 1845 to the first-mentioned land shall, subject to sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph, be treated as having been extinguished by virtue of subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act on the vesting of that land in the acquiring authority under that subsection.

(2) Where by virtue of the preceding sub-paragraph a portion of a rentcharge is treated as having been extinguished, sections one hundred and fifteen to one hundred and eighteen of the Act of 1845 shall have effect as if the extinguishment had taken place under section one hundred and seventeen of that Act.

(3) If, in the circumstances described in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, the person entitled to the rentcharge and the owner of the land subject thereto enter into an agreement to that effect, the said sections one hundred and fifteen to one hundred and eighteen shall have effect as if, at the time of the vesting of the relevant land in the acquiring authority under subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, the person entitled to the rentcharge had released that land from the rentcharge on the condition mentioned in section one hundred and sixteen of the Act of 1845; and, in that case, no part of the rentcharge shall be treated as having been extinguished by virtue of the said subsection (6) so far as regards the remaining part of the land charged therewith.

(4) In this paragraph references to a rentcharge include references to any such rent service, chief or other rent, or other payment or incumbrance, as is mentioned in the words introductory to the said sections one hundred and fifteen to one hundred and eighteen.

11. Where land consisting or forming part of the relevant land is, together with other land not comprised in the relevant land, comprised in a lease for a term of years unexpired, section one hundred and nineteen of the Act of 1845 shall have effect in relation thereto with the substitution, for references therein to the time of the apportionment of rent therein mentioned, of references to the time of the vesting in the acquiring authority of the leasehold interest in the first-mentioned land under subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act.

Miscellaneous

12. Where any of the relevant land has become vested in the acquiring authority under subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, any person who, in consequence thereof, is relieved from any liability (whether in respect of a rentcharge, rent under a lease, mortgage interest or any other matter) and makes any payment as in satisfaction or part satisfaction of that liability shall, if he shows that when he made the payment he did not know of the facts which constitute the cause of his being so relieved, or of some one or more of those facts, be entitled to recover the sum paid as money had and received to his use by the person to whom it was paid.

13. Where, at the time of the vesting of an interest in the acquiring authority by virtue of subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, the compensation payable in respect thereof is not finally ascertained, section twelve of the Finance Act, 1895 (which provides for the collection of stamp duty, where property is vested by way of sale by virtue of an Act, within three months from the date of vesting) shall have effect, with respect to the vesting of that interest, with the substitution, for the reference therein to the date of vesting, of a reference to the date on which the compensation has become finally ascertained.

14. Where, after land has become vested in the acquiring authority under subsection (6) of section seventy-five of this Act, a person retains possession of any document relating to the title to the land, he shall be deemed to have given to the acquiring authority an acknowledgment in writing of the right of the authority to production of that document and to delivery of copies thereof and (except where he retains possession of the document as mortgagee or as trustee or otherwise in a fiduciary capacity) an undertaking for safe custody thereof, and section sixty-four of the Law of Property Act, 1925, shall have effect accordingly, and on the basis that the acknowledgment and undertaking did not contain any such expression of contrary intention as is mentioned in that section.

15.—(1) The time within which a question of disputed compensation, arising out of an acquisition of an interest in land in respect of which a notice to treat is deemed to have been served by virtue of subsection (2) of section seventy-five of this Act, may be referred to the Lands Tribunal shall be six years from the date at which the person claiming compensation, or a person under whom he derives title, first knew, or could reasonably be expected to have known, of the vesting of the interest by virtue of subsection (6) of the said section seventy-five.

(2) This paragraph shall be construed as one with Part I of the Limitation Act, 1939.

Section 92.

FIFTH SCHEDULE

ADJUSTMENT OF CLAIM HOLDINGS

PART I

Adjustment of claim holdings pledged to Central Land Board as security for development charges

1.—(1) In this Part of this Schedule references to the pledging of a claim holding to the Central Land Board are references to any transaction whereby—

- (a) the holder of the claim holding mortgaged it to the Central Land Board as security, or part of the security, for one or more development charges determined, or thereafter to be determined, by the Board, or
- (b) the holder and the Central Land Board agreed that a development charge determined by the Board should be set off against any payment which might thereafter become payable to the holder by reference to that holding, or
- (c) the Central Land Board refrained from determining a development charge, which would otherwise have fallen to be determined by them, in consideration of a mortgage of the holding, with or without other claim holdings.

(2) All pledges of claim holdings to the Central Land Board made by the same person, whether or not made at the same time, other than any pledge to which sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 2 of this Schedule applies, shall for the purposes of this Part of this Schedule be treated collectively as a single pledge made at the time when the last of those pledges was made.

(3) Where a development charge covered by a pledge to the Central Land Board was determined in respect of land consisting of, or forming part of, the area of a claim holding—

- (a) which was not comprised in the pledge, but
- (b) whose holder immediately before the time of completion was the person who would, apart from the pledge, have been liable to pay the unpaid balance of the development charge, then, for the purposes of this Part of this Schedule, that claim holding shall be deemed to have been comprised in the pledge.

(4) In this Part of this Schedule (but without prejudice to the operation of paragraph 10 of the Tenth Schedule to this Act) references to the determination of a development charge in respect of any land are references to a determination of the Central Land Board that the charge was payable in respect of the carrying out of operations in, on, over or under that land, or in respect of the use of that land.

(5) For the purposes of this Part of this Schedule (but without prejudice to the operation of paragraph 10 of the Tenth Schedule to this Act) the amount of a development charge—

- (a) in a case where the Central Land Board determined that amount as a single capital payment, shall be taken to have been the amount of that payment, and

(b) in a case where the Board determined that amount otherwise than as a single capital payment, shall be taken to have been the amount of the single capital payment which would have been payable if the Board had determined the amount as such a payment ;

and references in this Part of this Schedule to the unpaid balance of a development charge are references to the amount of the charge, if no sum was actually paid to the Board on account of the charge, or if any sum was so paid, are references to the amount of the charge reduced by the amount or aggregate amount of the sum or sums so paid, other than any sum paid by way of interest.

(6) In relation to the pledging of a claim holding to the Central Land Board, references in this Part of this Schedule to a development charge covered by the pledge are references to a development charge the payment of which was secured, or partly secured, by the pledge, or, as the case may be, which was agreed to be set off against any payment which might become payable by reference to that claim holding.

(7) References in this Part of this Schedule to a mortgage of a claim holding do not include a mortgage which was subsequently discharged.

2.—(1) Where a claim holding was pledged to the Central Land Board in accordance with the special arrangements relating to owners of single house plots, that claim holding shall, subject to the next following sub-paragraph, be deemed to have been extinguished as from the time when it was pledged to the Board.

(2) Where a claim holding (in this sub-paragraph referred to as "the original holding") was pledged as mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph, but was so pledged by reference to a plot of land which did not extend to the whole of the area of the original holding, the preceding sub-paragraph shall not apply, but there shall be deemed to have been substituted for the original holding, as from the time of the pledge, a claim holding with an area consisting of so much of the area of the original holding as was not comprised in that plot of land, and with a value equal to that fraction of the value of the original holding which then attached to so much of the area of the original holding as was not comprised in that plot.

3. Without prejudice to the last preceding paragraph, where a pledge to the Central Land Board comprised one or more claim holdings, and the unpaid balance of the development charge covered by the pledge, or (if more than one) the aggregate of the unpaid balances of the development charges so covered, was equal to or greater than the value of the claim holding, or the aggregate value of the claim holdings, as the case may be, the holding or holdings shall be deemed to have been extinguished as from the time of the pledge.

4. Where a pledge to the Central Land Board comprised only a single claim holding with an area of which every part either consisted of, or formed part of, the land in respect of which some development charge covered by the pledge was determined, and the last preceding paragraph does not apply, the value of that claim holding shall be deemed to have been reduced, as from the time of the pledge, by the unpaid balance of the development charge covered by the pledge, or (if more than one) by the aggregate of the unpaid balances of all the development charges covered by the pledge.

5.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in the case of a pledge of one or more claim holdings to the Central Land Board to which neither paragraph 3 nor paragraph 4 of this Schedule applies.

(2) Any claim holding comprised in the pledge with an area of which every part either consisted of, or formed part of, the land in respect of which some development charge covered by the pledge was determined shall be allocated to the development charge in question, or (if more than one) to those development charges collectively.

(3) Any claim holding comprised in the pledge with an area part of which did, and part of which did not, consist of, or form part of, such land as is mentioned in the last preceding sub-paragraph shall be treated as if, at the time of the pledge, the claim holding (in this sub-paragraph referred to as "the parent holding") had been divided into two separate claim holdings, that is to say—

- (a) a claim holding with an area consisting of so much of the area of the parent holding as consisted of, or formed part of, such land as is mentioned in the last preceding sub-paragraph, and with a value equal to that fraction of the value of the parent holding which then attached to that part of the area of the parent holding, and
- (b) a claim holding with an area consisting of the residue of the area of the parent holding, and with a value equal to that fraction of the value of the parent holding which then attached to the residue of the area of the parent holding.

and the claim holding referred to in head (a) of this sub-paragraph shall be allocated to the development charge in question, or (if more than one) to those development charges collectively.

(4) Paragraph 3 or paragraph 4 of this Schedule shall then apply in relation to each claim holding (if any) allocated in accordance with sub-paragraph (2) or sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph to any development charge, or to any development charges collectively, as if the pledge had comprised only that claim holding and had covered only that development charge or those development charges.

(5) If, after the application of the preceding provisions of this paragraph, there remains outstanding any claim holding not allocated in accordance with those provisions, or any claim holding which (having been so allocated) is deemed to have been reduced in value but not extinguished, an amount equal to the aggregate of—

- (a) the unpaid balance of any development charge covered by the pledge to which no claim holding was so allocated, and
- (b) the amount (if any) by which the value of any claim holding so allocated which is deemed to have been extinguished falls short of the unpaid balance of the development charge, or the aggregate of the unpaid balances of the development charges, to which it was so allocated, shall be treated as having been deducted from the value of the claim holding so remaining outstanding, or (if more than one) as having been deducted rateably from the respective values of those claim holdings, and the value of any such holding shall be deemed to have been reduced accordingly as from the time of the pledge.

5TH SCH.

PART II

Adjustment by reference to payments in respect of war-damaged land

6.—(1) The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall have effect where a payment under the scheme has become, or becomes, payable in respect of an interest in land, and a claim holding related (or would, apart from this Part of this Schedule, have related) to the like interest in the whole or part of that land, with or without any other land.

(2) In this Part of this Schedule “the scheme” means the scheme made under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947, “the date of the scheme” means the twelfth day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, and “payment under the scheme” means a payment which has become, or becomes, payable by virtue of the scheme.

(3) In relation to any payment under the scheme “the payment area”, in this Part of this Schedule, means the land in respect of which the payment became or becomes payable, and references to the amount of the payment shall be construed as references to the principal amount thereof, excluding any interest payable thereon in accordance with subsection (3) of section sixty-five of the Act of 1947.

7. If the payment area is identical with the area of the claim holding, then—

- (a) in the case of a payment of an amount equal to the value of the claim holding, the claim holding shall be deemed to have been extinguished as from the date of the scheme;
- (b) in the case of a payment of an amount less than the value of the claim holding, the value of the claim holding shall be deemed to have been reduced, as from the date of the scheme, by the amount of the payment.

8.—(1) If the payment area forms part of the area of the claim holding, the holding (in this paragraph referred to as “the parent holding”) shall be treated, as from the date of the scheme, as having been divided into two claim holdings, that is to say—

- (a) a claim holding with an area consisting of that part of the area of the parent holding which constituted the payment area, and with a value equal to that fraction of the value of the parent holding which attached to that part of the area of the parent holding, and

5TH SCH.

(b) a claim holding with an area consisting of the residue of the area of the parent holding, and with a value equal to that fraction of the value of the parent holding which attached to the residue of the area of the parent holding.

(2) Where the preceding sub-paragraph applies, the last preceding paragraph shall have effect in relation to the claim holding referred to in head (a) of the preceding sub-paragraph as if it were the parent holding.

9. If the payment area includes the area of the claim holding together with other land, paragraph 7 of this Schedule shall apply as if—

(a) the payment area had been identical with the area of the claim holding, but

(b) the amount of the payment had been so much of the actual amount thereof as might reasonably be expected to have been attributed to the area of the claim holding if, under the scheme, the authority determining the amount of the payment had been required (in accordance with the same principles as applied to the determination of that amount) to apportion it between the area of the claim holding and the rest of the payment area.

10. If the payment area includes part of the area of the claim holding together with other land not comprised in the area of the claim holding—

(a) paragraph 8 of this Schedule shall apply as if the part of the payment area comprised in the area of the claim holding had been the whole of the payment area, and

(b) the last preceding paragraph shall apply as if the part of the area of the claim holding comprised in the payment area had been the whole of the area of the claim holding

PART IIIAdjustment in cases of partial disposition of claim holdings*

11. The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall have effect where, by virtue of a disposition of part of the benefit of an established claim, not being a mortgage made otherwise than by way of assignment (in this Part of this Schedule referred to as "the relevant disposition"), different persons became entitled to different parts of the benefit of that established claim.

12. As from the date of the relevant disposition, each of those different parts shall be treated as having constituted a separate claim holding.

13. The area and value of any such separate claim holding at any time after the relevant disposition shall be taken to have been such as may, in the requisite manner, be or have been determined to be just and appropriate in all the circumstances.

14. In the last preceding paragraph the reference to determination in the requisite manner of the area and value of a claim holding is a reference to the determination thereof on the occasion of an apportionment affecting that holding which fell or falls to be made for any of the purposes of the Act of 1954, of Part VI of this Act or of this Schedule, being a determination made—

5TH SCH.

- (a) by the authority making that apportionment, or
- (b) where, under the Act of 1954 or Part VI of this Act, that authority's findings were or are referred to the Lands Tribunal, by that Tribunal, having regard in particular to the principles mentioned in the next following paragraph.

15.—(1) The said principles are those set out in the following provisions of this paragraph.

(2) The aggregate of the values of all claim holdings representing parts of the benefit of the same established claim must not exceed the amount of the established claim.

(3) Subject to the last preceding sub-paragraph, where a claim holding representing part only of the benefit of an established claim was pledged to the Central Land Board, otherwise than as mentioned in paragraph 2 of this Schedule, and by virtue of Part I of this Schedule the value of that claim holding is deemed to have been reduced by reference to an amount due by way of development charge, the value of that holding at the time of the pledge is not to be taken to have been less than the amount credited for the purposes of the pledge by reference to the holding.

(4) In the case of the claim holding representing the part of the benefit of an established claim which was the subject of the relevant disposition, if it was not a claim holding to which sub-paragraph (5) of this paragraph applies,—

- (a) the area of that claim holding is to be taken to be the claim area of that established claim, less the area of any claim holding to which the said sub-paragraph (5) applies which represents part of the benefit of the same established claim, and
- (b) the value of the claim holding immediately after the relevant disposition is, subject to sub-paragraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph, to be taken to have been that part of the amount of the established claim to which the holder purported to become entitled under the terms of the relevant disposition.

(5) Where any person who was entitled to a claim holding representing part only of the benefit of an established claim—

- (a) at any time while so entitled was also entitled to the interest in land to which the established claim related in so far as that interest subsisted in part only of the claim area, and
- (b) became entitled to both that holding and that interest in such circumstances that the authority making the apportionment in question or the Lands Tribunal, as the case may be, were or are satisfied that the holding and the interest were intended to relate to one another, the area of that claim holding is to be taken to be that part of the claim area, and the value of the holding immediately after the relevant disposition (however that or any other disposition affecting the holding was expressed, but subject to sub-paragraphs (2) to (4) of this paragraph) is to be taken to have been an amount equal to so much of the amount of the established claim as might reasonably be expected to have been attributed to that part of the claim area if the authority determining the amount of that established claim had been required to apportion it, in accordance with the same principles as applied to its determination, between that part and the residue of the claim area.

5TH SCH.

16. Paragraph 1 of this Schedule shall apply for the purposes of this Part of this Schedule as it applies for the purposes of Part I thereof.

PART IVAdjustment in respect of payments under Part I of Act of 1954*

17. The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall have effect where, by virtue of Part I of the Act of 1954, a payment became or becomes payable in respect of a claim holding.

18. Subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Schedule, if either—

- (a) the principal amount of the payment was or is not less than the value of the claim holding, or
- (b) the payment (whatever its amount) became or becomes payable under Case D (that is to say, by virtue of section eight of the Act of 1954, which related to cases where a claim holding had been disposed of for valuable consideration), the claim holding shall be deemed to have been extinguished; and if the principal amount of the payment (not being a payment under Case D) was or is less than the value of the claim holding, the value of that holding shall be deemed to have been reduced by the principal amount of the payment.

19. The last preceding paragraph shall apply where two or more payments under Part I of the Act of 1954 were or are payable in respect of the same claim holding, with the substitution, for references to the principal amount of the payment, of references to the aggregate of the principal amounts of the payments.

20.—(1) Where one or more relevant acts or events have occurred in relation to a claim holding (in this paragraph referred to as “the parent holding”) and any such act or event did not extend to the whole of the area of the parent holding, then, for the purposes of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Schedule, and for the purposes of Part V of this Schedule and of Part VI of this Act,—

- (a) the parent holding shall be treated as having been divided, immediately before the time of completion, into as many separate claim holdings, with such areas, as may be necessary to ensure that, in the case of each holding, either any relevant act or event extending to the area of that holding extended to the whole thereof or no relevant act or event extended to the area of that holding;

- (b) the value of each of the separate holdings respectively shall be taken to have been that fraction of the value of the parent holding which then attached to the part of the area of the parent holding constituting the area of the separate holding ; and
- (c) the portion of the amount of any payment under Part I of the Act of 1954 which, by the authority determining that amount, was or is apportioned to the area of any of the separate claim holdings shall be taken to have been a payment payable under the said Part I in respect of that claim holding.

(2) In this paragraph "relevant act or event", in relation to a claim holding, means an act or event whereby, in accordance with the provisions of Part I of the Act of 1954, one or more payments became or become payable in respect of that claim holding.

21. For the purposes of this Part of this Schedule—

- (a) a payment shall be treated as having become payable notwithstanding that the right to receive the payment was extinguished by subsection (2) of section fourteen of the Act of 1954 (which enabled the Central Land Board to set off payments against liabilities in respect of development charges) ;
- (b) any reduction of the principal amount of a payment by virtue of that subsection shall be disregarded ; and
- (c) where in accordance with subsection (3) of section fourteen or subsection (6) of section fifty-eight of the Act of 1954 (which provided for cases of failure to apply for a payment within the appropriate period) an amount was determined as being the principal amount of a payment to which a person would have been entitled as mentioned in those subsections respectively, that payment shall be treated as if it had become due and as if the principal amount thereof had been the amount so determined.

22.—(1) Where in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Part of this Schedule a claim holding is deemed to have been extinguished or the value of a claim holding is deemed to have been reduced, the extinguishment or reduction, as the case may be, shall be deemed to have had effect immediately before the time of completion.

(2) References in this Part of this Schedule to the value of a claim holding are references to the value thereof immediately before the time of completion.

PART V

Adjustment in respect of compensation under Part V of Act of 1954

23. Where compensation under Part V of the Act of 1954 became or becomes payable by reference to a claim holding, then (subject to the following provisions of this Part of this Schedule) for the purposes of Part VI of this Act—

5TH SCH.

- (a) if the principal amount of the compensation was or is equal to the value of the claim holding at the time of completion (ascertained apart from this Part of this Schedule) the claim holding shall be deemed to have been extinguished immediately before that time;
- (b) if the principal amount of the compensation was or is less than the value of the claim holding at that time (ascertained apart from this Part of this Schedule) the value of the claim holding shall be deemed to have been reduced immediately before that time by the principal amount of the compensation.

24. Where compensation became or becomes payable as mentioned in the last preceding paragraph, and at any time an amount became or becomes recoverable in respect thereof under section twenty-nine of the Act of 1954, as applied by section forty-six of that Act, or under section one hundred and thirteen of this Act as applied by paragraph 27 of the Fourteenth Schedule thereto to compensation under Part V of the Act of 1954, then, for the purposes of Part VI of this Act, the last preceding paragraph shall have effect as from that time as if the principal amount of that compensation had been reduced by a sum equal to seven-eighths of the amount which so became or becomes recoverable.

25. Where, in the case of a claim holding (in this paragraph referred to as "the parent holding"), compensation under Part V of the Act of 1954 became or becomes payable in respect of depreciation of the value of an interest in land by one or more planning decisions or orders, and any such decision or order did not extend to the whole of the area of the parent holding, then, both for the purposes of the preceding provisions of this Part of this Schedule and for the purposes of Part VI of this Act,—

- (a) the parent holding shall be treated as having been divided immediately before the time of completion into as many separate claim holdings, with such areas, as may be necessary to ensure that, in the case of each holding, either any such decision or order extending to the area of that holding extended to the whole thereof or no such decision or order extended to the area of that holding;
- (b) the value of each of the separate holdings respectively shall be taken to have been that fraction of the value of the parent holding which then attached to the part of the area of the parent holding constituting the area of the separate holding; and
- (c) the portion of the amount of any such compensation which, by the authority determining that amount, was or is apportioned to the area of any of the separate claim holdings shall be taken to have been compensation payable under Part V of the Act of 1954 in respect of that claim holding.

PART VI

Supplementary provisions

26. Where in accordance with any of the provisions of this Schedule a part of the benefit of an established claim constituted a separate claim holding, the interest in land to which that claim holding related—

5TH SCH.

- (a) if the established claim related to the fee simple of the claim area, shall be taken to have been the fee simple of the area of the claim holding ;
- (b) if the established claim related to a leasehold interest, shall be taken to have been that leasehold interest in so far as it subsisted in the area of the claim holding.

27. Where in accordance with any of the provisions of this Schedule a claim holding (in this paragraph referred to as "the parent holding") is to be treated as divided into two or more claim holdings, a person who was the holder of one of those holdings shall be treated as having been the holder thereof at any time when he was the holder of the parent holding.

28. Expressions used in this Schedule and in Part VI of this Act have the same meanings in this Schedule as in that Part of this Act.

29. In this Schedule "the holder", in relation to a claim holding, means the person for the time being entitled to the holding, or, in the case of a holding subject to a mortgage made otherwise than by way of assignment, means the person who would for the time being have been entitled to the holding if it had not been mortgaged, and "the time of completion" means the time when, in accordance with section ninety-two of this Act, the adjustment of claim holdings is deemed to have been completed.

SIXTH SCHEDULE

Section 95.

CALCULATION OF VALUE OF PREVIOUS DEVELOPMENT OF LAND

1. Where for the purposes of section ninety-five of this Act the value of any development initiated before a time referred to in that section has to be ascertained with reference to that time, the value of the development shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of this Schedule.

2. Subject to the following provisions of this Schedule, the value shall be calculated by reference to prices current at the time in question—

- (a) as if the development had not been initiated, but the land had remained in the state in which it was immediately before the development was initiated, and
- (b) on the assumption that (apart from the provisions of Part III of this Act or the provisions of the Act of 1947, as the case may be) the development could at that time lawfully be carried out, and shall be taken to be the difference between the value which in those circumstances the land would have had at that time if planning permission for that development had been granted unconditionally immediately before that time and the value which in those circumstances the land would have had at that time if planning permission for that development had been applied for and refused immediately before that time, and it could be assumed that planning permission for that development, and any other new development of that land, would be refused on any subsequent application.

3. If the development involved the clearing of any land, the reference in sub-paragraph (a) of the last preceding paragraph to the state of the land immediately before the development shall be construed as a reference to the state of the land immediately after the clearing thereof but before the carrying out of any other operations.

4.—(1) If the development was initiated in pursuance of planning permission granted subject to conditions, paragraph 2 of this Schedule shall apply as if the reference to the granting of permission unconditionally were a reference to the granting of permission subject to the like conditions.

(2) If the permission referred to in the preceding sub-paragraph was granted subject to conditions which consisted of, or included, a requirement expressed by reference to a specified period, the reference in that sub-paragraph to the like conditions shall be construed, in relation to the condition imposing that requirement, as a reference to a condition imposing the like requirement in respect of a period of like duration beginning at the time in question.

5. In the application of the preceding provisions of this Schedule to development initiated, but not completed, before the time in question, references to permission for that development shall be construed as references to permission for so much of that development as had been carried out before that time.

Section 96.

SEVENTH SCHEDULE

APPORTIONMENT OF UNEXPENDED BALANCE OF ESTABLISHED DEVELOPMENT VALUE

Determination of relevant area

1.—(1) Where, in the case of a compulsory acquisition to which section ninety-six of this Act applies, any area of the relevant land which, immediately before the relevant date, has an unexpended balance of established development value does not satisfy the conditions set out in the next following sub-paragraph, that area shall be treated as divided into as many separate areas as may be requisite to ensure that each of those separate areas satisfies those conditions.

(2) The conditions referred to in the preceding sub-paragraph are—

(a) that all the interests (other than excepted interests) subsisting in the area in question subsist in the whole of that area, and

(b) that any rentcharge charged on that area is charged on the whole of it.

(3) Any area of the relevant land which has an unexpended balance of established development value and which complies with the conditions set out in the last preceding sub-paragraph is in this Schedule referred to, in relation to the interests subsisting therein, as "the relevant area", and the subsequent provisions of this Schedule shall have effect separately in relation to each relevant area. 7TH SCH.

Preliminary calculations

2. There shall be calculated the amount referable to the relevant area of the rent which might reasonably be expected to be reserved if the relevant land were to be let on terms prohibiting the carrying out of any new development but permitting the carrying out of any other development ; and the amount so calculated is in this Schedule referred to as " the existing use rent ".

3.—(1) If, in the case of an interest in fee simple which is subject to a rentcharge, or in the case of a tenancy, so much of the rent reserved under the rentcharge or tenancy as is referable to the relevant area exceeds the existing use rent, there shall be calculated the capital value of the right to receive, for the period of the remainder of the term of the rentcharge or tenancy, an annual payment equal to the excess ; and any amount so calculated in the case of any interest is in this Schedule referred to as " the rental liability " of that interest.

(2) Where the interest in fee simple is subject to more than one rentcharge, then, for the purposes of the preceding sub-paragraph, in relation to any period included in the term of two or more of those rentcharges, those two or more rentcharges shall be treated as a single rentcharge charged on the relevant area for the duration of that period, with a rent reserved thereunder of an amount equal to the aggregate of so much of their respective rents as is referable to the relevant area.

4. In the case of any interest in reversion—

- (a) there shall be calculated the capital value, as at the time immediately before the relevant date, of the right to receive a sum equal to the unexpended balance of established development value of the relevant area at that time, but payable at the end of the tenancy upon the termination of which the interest in question is immediately expectant ; and the amount so calculated in the case of any interest is in this Schedule referred to as " the reversionary development value " of that interest ;
- (b) if so much of the rent reserved under the said tenancy as is referable to the relevant area exceeds the existing use rent, there shall also be calculated the capital value as at the said time of the right to receive, for the period of the remainder of the term of that tenancy, an annual payment equal to the excess ; and any amount so determined in the case of any interest is in this Schedule referred to as " the rental increment " of that interest.

5. Where two or more interests (other than excepted interests) subsist in the relevant area, the portion of the unexpended balance of established development value of the relevant area attributable

X

7TH SCH. to each of those interests respectively shall be taken to be the following, that is to say—

- (a) in the case of the interest in fee simple, an amount equal to the reversionary development value of that interest, less the amount (if any) by which any rental liability of that interest exceeds any rental increment thereof ;
- (b) in the case of a tenancy in reversion, an amount equal to the reversionary development value of that tenancy, less the aggregate of—
  - (i) the reversionary development value of the interest in reversion immediately expectant upon the termination of that tenancy, and
  - (ii) the amount (if any) by which any rental liability of that tenancy exceeds any rental increment thereof ;
- (c) in the case of a tenancy other than a tenancy in reversion, the remainder (if any) of the said balance after the deduction of the aggregate of—
  - (i) the reversionary development value of the interest in reversion immediately expectant upon the termination of that tenancy, and
  - (ii) any rental liability of that tenancy.

Application of Schedule to past acquisitions

6. In relation to any compulsory acquisition to which section ninety-six of this Act applies, where the relevant date was a date before the commencement of this Act, the preceding provisions of this Schedule shall have effect with the necessary modifications.

Interpretation

7. In this Schedule—

- (a) “the relevant land”, in relation to a compulsory acquisition to which section ninety-six of this Act applies, means the land in which the interest acquired subsisted or subsists ;
- (b) “tenancy” does not include an excepted interest ;
- (c) any reference to an interest or tenancy in reversion does not include an interest or tenancy in reversion immediately expectant upon the termination of an excepted interest ;
- (d) “the relevant date” and “excepted interest” have the same meanings as in section ninety-six of this Act ; and
- (e) other expressions have the same meanings as in Part VI of this Act.

(2) Any other provisions of this Act in so far as they apply, or have effect for the purposes of, any of the provisions specified in the preceding sub-paragraph.

NINTH SCHEDULE

Section 202.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO LONDON

1. The London County Council is the local planning authority for London.

2. The following provisions of this Act, that is to say, sections sixty-eight, seventy-four, the provisions of Part VIII relating to purchase notices, and section two hundred and seven, shall have effect as if references therein to the council of the county borough or county district in which the land is situated—

X 2

9TH SCH.

(a) in relation to land in the City, were references to the Common Council, and

(b) in relation to land elsewhere in London, were references to the London County Council.

3. The following provisions of this Act, that is to say, sections thirty-one to thirty-three, sixty-nine, seventy-one, one hundred and fifty-four and one hundred and eighty-nine, shall have effect in relation to land in London as if any reference therein to the council of a county borough or county district included a reference to the Common Council and to the council of any metropolitan borough.

4. The power of a local planning authority to make agreements under section thirty-seven of this Act may be exercised also—

(a) in relation to land in the City, by the Common Council, and

(b) in relation to land in a metropolitan borough, by the council of that borough with the consent of the London County Council, and references in that section to a local planning authority shall be construed accordingly.

5. The council of a metropolitan borough shall not, except with the consent of the London County Council, be authorised to acquire land compulsorily under subsection (2) of section sixty-eight of this Act.

6.—(1) Without prejudice to the powers conferred by section sixty-seven of this Act, or by section sixty-eight thereof as modified by the last preceding paragraph, if the Minister is satisfied that it is expedient in the public interest that any land within a metropolitan borough (whether designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition or not) should be acquired by the council of that borough for the purpose of providing a public open space, he may authorise that council to acquire that land compulsorily.

(2) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply to the compulsory acquisition of land under the preceding sub-paragraph, and accordingly shall have effect as if that sub-paragraph had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act.

(3) Before submitting to the Minister a compulsory purchase order under this paragraph, the council of a metropolitan borough shall consult with the London County Council.

(4) Any reference in this Act to Part V thereof shall be construed as including a reference to the preceding provisions of this paragraph.

7. References in this Act to any of the provisions of sections one hundred and sixty-three to one hundred and sixty-six of the Local Government Act, 1933, shall, in relation to land in London, be construed as references respectively to the corresponding provisions of sections one hundred and six to one hundred and nine of the London Government Act, 1939.

8.—(1) In relation to land in the City, the London County Council may delegate to the Common Council any of their functions under regulations made by virtue of section thirty-four of this Act with respect to the control of advertisements.

(2) The preceding sub-paragraph shall have effect without prejudice to the provisions of section twelve of the City of London (Various Powers) Act, 1958 (which relates to the delegation of planning powers to the Common Council) or of any scheme made thereunder, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act.

9. Without prejudice to the last preceding paragraph or to any such provisions as are mentioned in sub-paragraph (2) thereof, the London County Council shall consult with the Common Council—

- (a) before submitting to the Minister any proposals for altering or adding to the development plan relating to land in the City ;
- (b) before determining any application for planning permission relating to any such land ;
- (c) before making a tree preservation order or building preservation order affecting any such land.

10. In relation to land in any metropolitan borough, the London County Council may delegate to the council of that borough any of their functions under regulations made under section thirty-four of this Act with respect to the control of advertisements.

11. The London County Council shall consult with the council of a metropolitan borough—

- (a) before submitting to the Minister proposals for altering or adding to the development plan relating to any land in that borough ;
- (b) before determining any application for planning permission for the development of any such land, being an application of any such class as may be prescribed by the development order ;
- (c) before making a tree preservation order or a building preservation order affecting any such land.

12.—(1) The class of applications for planning permission prescribed by a development order for the purposes of sub-paragraph (b) of the last preceding paragraph shall be such class as appears to the Minister to involve matters of principle.

(2) Where an application of any class so prescribed is referred to the Minister for determination in pursuance of directions given by him under section twenty-two of this Act, the London County Council shall give notice to that effect to the council of the metropolitan borough in which the land to which the application relates is situated ; and the Minister shall, in dealing with the application, take into account any representations made to the London County Council by the council of that borough.

9TH SCH.

13.—(1) In relation to land in the City, the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 2 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall have effect as if references to a county borough or county district were references to the City and references to the council of a county borough or county district were references to the Common Council.

(2) In relation to land elsewhere in London, those provisions shall have effect as if references to a county borough or county district were references to London and references to the council of a county borough or county district were references to the London County Council.

14.—(1) In the application to London of sections one hundred and thirty-eight to one hundred and fifty-one of this Act—

- (a) any reference to a highway authority or a local highway authority shall be construed as including a reference to the London County Council ; and
- (b) in paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-eight of this Act, the reference to the provisions of Part X of the Highways Act, 1959, shall be construed as a reference to those provisions as modified by the Twentieth Schedule to that Act.

15.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any land in London which is defined by a development plan—

- (a) as the site of a proposed road, or
- (b) as land required for the widening of an existing road which is of less than byelaw width, and is designated by the plan as land to which this paragraph applies.

(2) The appropriate council may at any time by order declare the land (together with any land forming part of any such existing road as is mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph) to be a private street, and thereupon the land shall be deemed to have been dedicated to the public and to be a private street :

Provided that, except with the consent of all persons interested in the land, no such order shall be made by the appropriate council in relation to land which has not been acquired by them at the date of the order, other than land forming part of any such existing road.

(3) In relation to land which is deemed to be a private street by virtue of a declaration under the last preceding sub-paragraph,—

- (a) if it is land in the City, the provisions of sections one hundred and twenty-six to one hundred and twenty-eight of the City of London Sewers Act, 1848, and any provisions of the City of London Sewers Acts, 1848 to 1897, which relate to those sections, or
- (b) if it is land elsewhere in London, the provisions of section one hundred and five of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, section seventy-seven of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, and the Metropolis Management Act, 1862, Amendment Act, 1890, and any provisions of the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1893, which relate to those provisions, 9TH SCH.

shall apply, subject to such exceptions, adaptations and modifications as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act, as if the land were a street to which those provisions respectively apply.

(4) Regulations made for the purposes of the last preceding sub-paragraph shall make provision for securing—

- (a) that the amount of the expenses incurred in the execution of street works charged under the provisions referred to in that sub-paragraph on the owners of adjoining land shall not exceed the amount which would, at the date of the commencement of the works, have been the cost of the execution of street works in the course of the construction, widening or improvement, if it had been carried out so as to comply with the provisions of any byelaws, regulations or other enactments in force in the district, and, with respect to matters for which no such provision is made, so as to comply with such requirements as would, at the date of the commencement of the works, have been imposed by the highway authority as a condition of declaring the street to be a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large ;
- (b) that, as soon as the street has been made up or widened by or to the satisfaction of the appropriate council, it shall become a highway repairable by the inhabitants at large ;
- (c) that no expenses incurred in the execution of any street works shall be recoverable against agricultural land or buildings until the land or buildings cease to be agricultural land or buildings ;
- (d) that no expenses incurred in the execution of street works for the purpose of making a new street shall be recoverable in respect of any land (whether the site of a building or not) unless and until access is provided for, and used by, persons or vehicles from that land to the new street.

(5) Regulations made for the purposes of sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph—

- (a) may make provision whereby, in respect of street works carried out by the appropriate council, expenses incurred by a local authority in the construction of sewers in or under the land (being expenses incurred after the date on which the land is defined and designated as mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, but before it is declared to be a private street under sub-paragraph (2) thereof) may be included in the expenses recoverable as mentioned in the last preceding sub-paragraph ; and
- (b) may provide for authorising the appropriate council to enter upon any land adjoining the street for the purpose of executing street works on land comprised in the street.

(6) The references in sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph to the enactments therein mentioned shall be construed as including references to those enactments as amended by any other local Act, and to any local Act making provision corresponding with the provisions of those enactments, or corresponding with the provisions of sections one hundred and seventy-four to one hundred and eighty-eight of the Highways Act, 1959; and the power of the Minister to make regulations for the purposes of this paragraph shall include power to make special regulations with respect to any district in which such a local Act is in force.

9TH SCH.

(7) In this paragraph—

“the appropriate council” in relation to land in the City means the Common Council, and in relation to land in a metropolitan borough means the council of that borough;

“byelaw width”, in relation to a road, means the width required by any byelaws, regulations or other enactments regulating the construction of streets in the area in which the road is situated;

“construction” and “improvement”, in relation to a street, include the planting, laying out, maintenance and protection of trees, shrubs and grass margins in and beside the street;

“street works” means the sewerage, levelling, paving, metalling, flagging, channelling and making good a street or part of a street and providing proper means of lighting for it.

16. Section ten of the Development and Road Improvement Funds Act, 1909 (which enables the Minister of Transport to authorise the construction of new roads in respect of which advances are made under that Act and provides for the expenses of the construction, and for the maintenance, of such roads) shall apply in relation to the construction of a new road by a local highway authority on land defined by a development plan as the site of a proposed road, or on any other land acquired by or transferred to them under Part V of this Act, as if the road were a road in respect of the construction of which an advance were made to that authority under that section.

17. Notwithstanding anything in section eleven of the London County Council (Loans) Act, 1955, in the case of money borrowed by the London County Council for the purpose of the discharge of their functions under the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto, the manner in which the Council may borrow shall include borrowing from the Public Works Loan Commissioners in accordance with the Public Works Loans Acts, 1875 to 1882.

18. In this Schedule (except in this paragraph) “London” means the administrative county of London, “the City” means the City of London and “the Common Council” means the Common Council of the City of London.

Section 209.*TENTH SCHEDULE*DEVELOPMENT CHARGES

1. This Schedule applies to any determination under Part VII of the Act of 1947 that a development charge was payable in respect of the carrying out of operations in, on, over or under land, or in respect of the use of land, where the development charge in question or part thereof for the time being remains undischarged and a person is or may become liable in respect thereof.

2.—(1) The Minister may at any time, on application made to him in that behalf in accordance with regulations under this Act by the person entitled to an interest in land to which such a determination relates, vary the determination in such manner as appears to him to be appropriate having regard to any change of circumstances since the determination was made, including the development, after the determination, of adjacent land in accordance with planning permission granted otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of the development plan:

Provided that the Minister shall not vary any such determination so as to increase the amount of the development charge payable thereunder.

(2) Where the Minister varies a determination under the preceding sub-paragraph, he may amend, discharge or release any covenants or charges made or given in respect of the determination, or repay any sums previously paid thereunder, so far as may be required in order to give effect to the variation.

3. Where, in the case of a determination to which this Schedule applies,—

- (a) planning permission for the carrying out of operations, or the institution or continuance of a use, to which the determination relates is revoked by an order made under section twenty-seven of this Act, or
- (b) an order is made under section twenty-eight of this Act requiring the removal of any buildings or works erected or constructed in carrying out those operations, or requiring the discontinuance of that use, as the case may be, or
- (c) the whole of the land to which the determination relates is compulsorily acquired under this or any other Act, the determination, and any covenants or charges made or given in respect thereof, shall thereupon cease to have effect, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder.

4. Where, in the case of a determination to which this Schedule applies,—

- (a) planning permission for the carrying out of the operations, or for the institution or continuance of the use, to which the determination relates is modified by an order made under section twenty-seven of this Act, or
- (b) an order is made under section twenty-eight of this Act requiring the alteration of any buildings or works erected or constructed in the carrying out of those operations, or imposing conditions on the continuance of that use, as the case may be, or
- (c) part (but not the whole) of the land to which the determination relates is compulsorily acquired under this or any other Act, the Minister shall, on application made to him in accordance with regulations under this Act, vary the determination, and amend, discharge or release any covenants or charges made or given in respect thereof, so far as may be just in consequence of the order or acquisition, as the case may be.

10TH SCH.

5. Where compensation is payable under Part VII of this Act in consequence of any such order as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) or sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph 3 or paragraph 4 of this Schedule, then in calculating for the purposes of the compensation any depreciation of the value of an interest in the land to which the order relates, or any other loss or damage sustained by a person interested in that land, regard shall be had to the preceding provisions of this Schedule and to anything done by the Minister thereunder, or done by the Minister or the Central Land Board under section seventy-three of the Act of 1947.

6. Where, in the case of a determination to which this Schedule applies, compensation is payable under Part VII of this Act in consequence of any such order as is mentioned in the last preceding paragraph, or where the whole or part of the land to which the determination relates is compulsorily acquired under this or any other Act, then if any sums have been paid by way of development charge in accordance with that determination, the Minister shall pay to the authority or person by whom compensation is payable in consequence of the order, or in respect of the compulsory acquisition, as the case may be, a contribution towards that compensation, representing such proportion of the sums so paid by way of development charge as may be agreed between the Minister and that authority or person, or, failing agreement, as may be determined by the Minister, to be appropriate in all the circumstances of the case.

7. Section one hundred and nineteen of this Act shall apply for the purposes of the preceding provisions of this Schedule and shall accordingly have effect as if those provisions were included among the provisions of sections one hundred and twenty to one hundred and twenty-two applied (with modifications) by subsection (2) of section one hundred and nineteen.

8. Where a determination to which this Schedule applies was made by an order under section seventy-four of the Act of 1947 (which related to development carried out in contravention of Part VII of that Act) and, by virtue of subsection (2) of that section, an interest in land was charged with the payment of any sums, that charge shall be deemed to be a land charge of Class A within the meaning of the Land Charges Act, 1925; and the Minister shall, for the purposes of enforcing it, have the same powers and remedies under the Law of Property Act, 1925, and otherwise as he would have had if he were a mortgagee by deed having powers of sale and lease and of appointing a receiver.

9. Where a determination to which this Schedule applies was in respect of the winning and working of minerals over a period ending on or after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-five, the Minister shall, on application made to him in that behalf in accordance with regulations under this Act, vary the determination, and amend, discharge or release any covenants or charges made or given in respect thereof, in such manner as appears to him appropriate for limiting the development charge to the winning and working of the minerals within so much of that period as preceded that day, and shall repay any sums paid thereunder so far as may be requisite for giving effect to the variation.

10.—(1) For the purposes of the provisions of Part VI of this Act, and of the Fifth Schedule thereto, and of the last preceding paragraph, a development charge shall be deemed not to have been determined if—

- (a) the determination thereof ceased to have effect by virtue of subsection (2) of section seventy-three of the Act of 1947 or ceases to have effect by virtue of paragraph 3 of this Schedule, or
- (b) by virtue of subsection (1) of section one of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1953, the charge was not payable, or
- (c) under subsection (5) of the said section one, any sum paid in respect of the charge became repayable.

(2) For the purposes mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph a development charge shall be deemed to have become payable notwithstanding any agreement of the Central Land Board or of the Minister to a postponement of the payment of the charge, if the whole or part of the charge would have been payable but for that agreement.

(3) In the provisions of this Act mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph references to a determination that a development charge was payable, or as to the amount of a development charge, shall, in a case where the determination was subsequently varied, be construed as references to the determination as so varied.

11.—(1) References in this Schedule to the carrying out of operations include references to the retention on land of buildings or works which have been erected or carried out in accordance with planning permission granted for a limited period.

(2) Any reference in this Schedule to the compulsory acquisition of land includes a reference to the acquisition of land by agreement by an authority or person who has power or can be authorised to acquire it compulsorily.

ELEVENTH SCHEDULE

Section 217.

ENACTMENTS EXCEPTED FROM S. 217 (5)

1. Section five of the Roads Improvement Act, 1925.
2. Section one hundred and seven of the Public Health Act, 1936.
3. Section one hundred and forty of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936.
4. The following provisions of the Highways Act, 1959, that is to say, subsections (1), (2), (5) and (8) to (10) of section seventy-two, section seventy-three, except subsection (5) thereof, sections one hundred and fifty-nine, one hundred and sixty-three and one hundred and sixty-six, subsections (2) and (4) of section one hundred and seventy, section two hundred and seventeen, subsection (7) of section two hundred and twenty-two, subsections (5) and (7) of section two hundred and sixty-six, and the Ninth Schedule.

11TH SCH. 5. The following further provisions of the Highways Act, 1959, that is to say—

- (a) section one hundred and fifty-eight and subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy in so far as they are applicable for the purposes of section one hundred and fifty-nine of that Act ;
- (b) subsection (11) of section two hundred and twenty-two in so far as it is applicable for the purposes of section two hundred and seventeen of that Act ;
- (c) in section two hundred and sixty-six, subsections (1) to (3) in so far as they are applicable for the purposes of section seventy-two of that Act, subsections (1), (3) and (6) in so far as they are applicable for the purposes of section seventy-three thereof, and subsections (1) and (3) in so far as they are applicable for the purposes of section one hundred and sixty-three and of subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy thereof ;
- (d) section two hundred and seventy in so far as it is applicable for the purposes of section seventy-three of that Act.

6.—(1) Section two hundred and forty-three of the Highways Act, 1959, in so far as the purposes in question are the purposes of the exercise by a county council, in relation to county roads maintained by that council, of their powers under the provisions of that Act mentioned in the next following sub-paragraph.

(2) The said provisions are subsections (1), (2), (5) and (8) to (10) of section seventy-two and section two hundred and seventeen.

7. Any enactment making such provision as might by virtue of any Act of Parliament have been made in relation to the area to which the order applies by means of a byelaw, order or regulation not requiring confirmation by Parliament.

8. Any enactment which has been previously excluded or modified by a development order, and any enactment having substantially the same effect as any such enactment.

Section 223.

THIRTEENTH SCHEDULE

SAVINGS AND TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO ENACTMENTS PREVIOUSLY REPEALED

Schemes and agreements

1.—(1) The repeal shall not affect the operation of—

(a) any such scheme as was mentioned in paragraph 7 of the Tenth Schedule to the Act of 1947 (which related to certain schemes made under the Town and Country Planning Act, 1932, and the Town Planning Act, 1925) in so far as, by virtue of that paragraph, the scheme continued to have effect immediately before the commencement of this Act, or

(b) any order made under that paragraph (which empowered the Minister to make provision by order for winding up any such scheme) in so far as the order continued to have effect immediately before the commencement of this Act.

(2) Any power to make orders under paragraph 7 of that Schedule shall continue to be exercisable notwithstanding the repeal.

2.—(1) The repeal shall not affect the operation of any such agreement as was mentioned in paragraph 10 of the Tenth Schedule to the Act of 1947 (which related to certain agreements made before the appointed day for restricting the planning, development or use of land), or of any order discharging or modifying a restriction imposed by such an agreement, in so far as any such agreement or order was in force immediately before the commencement of this Act; and any such agreement may be enforced as if this Act had not been passed.

(2) Nothing in any such agreement shall be construed as restricting the exercise, in relation to land to which the agreement applies, of any powers exercisable by any Minister or authority under this Act, so long as those powers are exercised in accordance with the provisions of the development plan, or in accordance with any directions which may have been given by the Minister as mentioned in section two hundred and ten, or as requiring the exercise of any such powers otherwise than in accordance with such provisions or directions.

(3) If the Minister is satisfied, on application made to him by any person being a party to any such agreement, or a person entitled to land affected thereby, or by the local planning authority, that any restriction on the development or use of the land imposed by the agreement is inconsistent with the proper planning or development of the area comprising the land, he may by order discharge or modify that restriction so far as appears to him to be expedient.

(4) Without prejudice to the last preceding sub-paragraph, if any person being a party to any such agreement (whether as originally made or as modified under the last preceding sub-paragraph), or a person entitled to land affected thereby, claims that the agreement ought to be modified or rescinded, having regard to the provisions of this Act or to anything done under this Act or under the Act of 1947, he may refer to arbitration the question whether the agreement should be so modified or rescinded, and the arbitrator may make such award as appears to him to be just having regard to all the circumstances.

Land declared subject to compulsory purchase

3.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to land which, by an order under section one of the Act of 1944, was declared to be subject to compulsory purchase.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this paragraph—

- (a) subsections (3) and (4) of section six and subsection (1) of section nine shall apply in relation to the land as if it were designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition ;
- (b) Part V of this Act shall apply in relation to the land as if it were comprised in an area defined by a development plan as an area of comprehensive development and were designated as subject to compulsory acquisition under this Act by the appropriate local authority ;
- (c) sections one hundred and thirty-eight to one hundred and fifty shall apply in relation to the land as if it were designated by a development plan as subject to compulsory acquisition ;
- (d) subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-six shall apply in relation to the order as if it were a development plan.

13TH SCH.

(3) For the purposes of the application to any land, by virtue of the last preceding sub-paragraph, of subsection (1) of section nine, the reference in that subsection to the date therein mentioned shall be construed as a reference to the date of the coming into operation of the order under section one of the Act of 1944 whereby the land was declared to be subject to compulsory purchase.

(4) In relation to any land to which subsection (1) of section nine applies by virtue of this paragraph, subsections (2) and (3) of that section shall have effect with the substitution, in subsection (2) thereof, for the words "the development plan shall have effect, after the end of that period, as if the land were not designated as subject to compulsory acquisition", of the words "paragraph 3 of the Thirteenth Schedule to this Act shall cease to apply to the land at the end of that period".

(5) Part V of this Act shall not apply by virtue of this paragraph to any operational land of statutory undertakers, unless an order made under paragraph (b) of subsection (5) of section thirteen of the Act of 1944, declaring that it is expedient that the land should be subject to compulsory purchase, has taken effect.

(6) Any reference in this paragraph to subsection (1) of section nine shall be construed as including a reference to that subsection as modified by subsection (5) of that section.

Compulsory purchase orders under Act of 1944

4. Any compulsory purchase order made or confirmed under Part I of the Act of 1944 (whether before or after the appointed day) shall, if in force immediately before the commencement of this Act, continue in force and shall have effect as if it had been made under the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, as applied by Part V of this Act.

Land acquired under Act of 1944

5. For the purposes of Part V of this Act—

- (a) any land acquired by a Minister in pursuance of a compulsory purchase order under Part I of the Act of 1944 shall be deemed to have been acquired under section sixty-seven ;
- (b) any land acquired by a local authority in pursuance of any such order shall be deemed to have been acquired under section sixty-eight ;
- (c) any land acquired by a local authority by agreement under the Act of 1944 shall be deemed to have been acquired under section seventy-one.

Development authorised under enactments previously repealed

6.—(1) Where any works on land existing at the appointed day, or any use to which land was put on that day, had been authorised by a permission granted subject to conditions under a planning scheme or an interim development order, the provisions of Parts III and IV of this Act, the provisions of Part VIII of this Act relating to purchase notices, and the provisions of sections one hundred and fifty-nine to one hundred and sixty-two, shall apply in relation to those works or that use as if the conditions had been imposed on the grant of planning permission.

13TH SCH.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding subparagraph, where any such permission was granted subject to conditions (in whatever form) restricting the period for which the works or use might be continued on the land, then, if that period had not expired at the appointed day and the works were or are not removed, or the use discontinued, at the end of that period, the provisions of Part IV of this Act relating to enforcement notices shall apply in relation thereto as if the works had been carried out, or the use begun, as the case may be, at the end of that period and without the grant of planning permission in that behalf.

(3) The power of a local planning authority under Part III of this Act to grant permission for the retention on land of buildings or works constructed or carried out before the date of the application, or the continuance of any use of land instituted before that date, shall include power to grant such permission in respect of any works or use authorised by a permission granted subject to any such conditions as are mentioned in the last preceding subparagraph.

(4) Where at any time before the appointed day it was determined under the Building Restrictions (War-Time Contraventions) Act, 1946, that any works on land or any use of land should be deemed to comply with planning control (within the meaning of that Act) subject to any conditions specified in the determination, the provisions of this paragraph shall apply in relation to those works or that use as if those conditions had been imposed on the grant of permission under a planning scheme or an interim development order.

(5) Provision may be made by regulations under this Act for applying the preceding provisions of this paragraph, subject to such adaptations and modifications as may be specified in the regulations, to works on land carried out, or uses of land begun, at any time before the appointed day, in accordance with permission granted subject to conditions under any enactment repealed by the Act of 1947, other than the enactments relating to town and country planning; and for the purposes of this provision any works or use in respect of which a notice was served under subsection (1) of section one of the Restriction of Ribbon Development (Temporary Development) Act, 1943, or was deemed by virtue of subsection (4) of that section to have been so served, shall be treated as carried out or begun in accordance with permission granted subject to a condition restricting the period for which the works or use might be continued on the land.

7.—(1) Where permission for any development of land was granted at any time after the twenty-first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-three and before the appointed day, on an application in that behalf made under an interim development order, then, if and so far as that development was not carried out before the appointed day and the permission was in force immediately before that day, planning

13TH SCH. permission shall be deemed to have been granted in respect thereof subject to the like conditions (if any) as were imposed by the permission under the interim development order as it had effect immediately before the appointed day:

Provided that this sub-paragraph shall not apply in relation to any development for which permission was required before the appointed day under the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, unless that permission was also granted.

(2) The provisions of section twenty-seven shall apply in relation to planning permission which is deemed to have been granted by virtue of this paragraph as if it had been granted on an application under Part III of this Act; and, in relation to any order made under that section for the revocation or modification of any such permission, any reference in subsection (3) of section one hundred and eighteen to the grant of permission shall be construed as a reference to the grant of the permission under the interim development order.

(3) Where permission for any development of land was granted as mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, and permission for that development was also granted under the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, then, if the permission so granted under the said Act of 1935 was granted subject to conditions, those conditions shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as conditions imposed by the permission granted under the interim development order.

8.—(1) Where any works for the erection or alteration of a building had been begun but not completed before the appointed day, then if—

- (a) immediately before that day those works could have been completed in conformity with the provisions of a planning scheme or of permission granted thereunder, or in accordance with permission granted by or under an interim development order, and
- (b) where any permission was required under the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, for the carrying out of those works, that permission was granted, planning permission shall be deemed to have been granted in respect of the completion of those works.

(2) The planning permission deemed to have been granted by virtue of this paragraph shall be deemed to have been so granted subject to any conditions applicable thereto under the scheme or the permission granted by or under the interim development order, as the case may be, and to any conditions imposed by the permission (if any) granted under the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, and shall include permission to use the building, when erected or altered,—

- (a) where the purpose for which it could be so used was prescribed by or under the planning scheme, or by the permission granted by or under the interim development order, as the case may be, for that purpose;
- (b) in any other case, for the purpose for which the building, or the building as altered, was designed.

(3) In relation to any such works as are mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, being works in respect of which permission was granted after the twenty-first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-three, on an application in that behalf made under an interim development order, the provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in substitution for the provisions of the last preceding paragraph.

13TH SCH.

9. Where in pursuance of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 of this Schedule permission is granted for the retention on land of works authorised as mentioned in that sub-paragraph, sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 11 of the Tenth Schedule to this Act shall apply in relation to the retention of those works as if they had been erected or carried out in accordance with planning permission granted for a limited period.

10.—(1) Any reference in Part VI of this Act, or in the Fifth Schedule thereto, to a planning decision shall, where the context so admits, include a reference to any decision deemed to have been made by virtue of the provisions of paragraph 7 or paragraph 8 of this Schedule.

(2) The preceding sub-paragraph shall have effect without prejudice to the provisions of Part I of the Fourteenth Schedule to this Act as read with paragraph 18 of this Schedule.

Development contravening planning control under enactments previously repealed

11.—(1) This paragraph applies to any enforcement notice served before the commencement of this Act by virtue of section seventy-five of the Act of 1947 (which related to development contravening planning control under the enactments repealed by that Act), being a notice which had not ceased for all purposes to have effect before the commencement of this Act.

(2) The repeal shall not invalidate any enforcement notice to which this paragraph applies.

(3) In relation to any such notice which was served before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty, on the owner and occupier of the land to which it related—

(a) sections forty-five to forty-nine shall not apply;

(b) section fifty shall not apply if the planning permission in question was granted before the said twenty-ninth day of August; and

(c) sections twenty-three and twenty-four of the Act of 1947, as applied by section seventy-five of that Act, shall have effect as they would have had effect in relation to the notice if this Act had not been passed.

(4) In relation to any enforcement notice to which this paragraph applies, not being a notice falling within the last preceding sub-paragraph, subsections (3) and (5) of section forty-five and (subject to paragraphs 13 to 16 of this Schedule) sections forty-six to fifty-one shall have effect as they have effect in relation to an enforcement notice served under section forty-five.

13TH SCH.

12.—(1) In so far as an enforcement notice could, if this Act had not been passed, have been served by virtue of section seventy-five of the Act of 1947, at a time on or after the date of the commencement of this Act, in respect of any works or use of land of a description to which that section applied, there shall subsist by virtue of this paragraph a corresponding power in the like circumstances to serve an enforcement notice (to the like effect as that which could have been so served) in respect of those works or that use of land.

(2) Subsections (3) and (5) of section forty-five and (subject to paragraphs 13 to 16 of this Schedule) sections forty-six to fifty-one shall have effect in relation to an enforcement notice served by virtue of this paragraph as they have effect in relation to an enforcement notice served under section forty-five.

13.—(1) Where an enforcement notice falling within sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, or an enforcement notice served by virtue of the last preceding paragraph, was or is served in respect of any works being government war works within the meaning of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945, then, subject to the following provisions of this paragraph—

(a) if the steps required by the notice have been taken by the owner or occupier of the land, any expenses reasonably incurred in that behalf shall be recoverable from the authority by whom the notice was served ;

(b) where the steps required by the notice have been taken by that authority, the authority shall not be entitled, under section forty-eight, to recover the expenses incurred by them in that behalf.

(2) Where, under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section two of the Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939, compensation has been paid equal to the full cost (as estimated for the purposes of that compensation) of taking the steps required by the enforcement notice, the preceding sub-paragraph shall not apply.

(3) Where compensation has been paid in respect of the land, being either compensation under the said paragraph (b) but not equal to the full cost (as so estimated) of taking those steps, or being compensation under subsection (4) of section three of that Act, the amount which by virtue of sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph is recoverable from the authority by whom the enforcement notice was served, or, as the case may be, is not recoverable by that authority, shall be reduced so far as may be just having regard to the compensation so paid.

14. In the application of section forty-six to an enforcement notice by virtue of paragraph 11 or paragraph 12 of this Schedule, subsection (1) of that section shall have effect as if for paragraphs (b) and (c) of that subsection there were substituted the following paragraph:—

“(b) that the works or use to which the enforcement notice related were not works or a use to which section seventy-five of the Act of 1947 applied”.

15.—(1) The power of the local planning authority under Part III of this Act to grant permission for the retention on land of buildings or works constructed or carried out before the date of application, or for the continuance of a use of land instituted before that date, shall include power to grant such permission in respect of any buildings or other works, or use of land, in respect of which that authority are empowered to serve an enforcement notice by virtue of paragraph 12 of this Schedule.

(2) Where permission is so granted, paragraphs 11 to 13 of this Schedule shall cease to apply to the works or use to which the permission relates, but without prejudice to the application thereto of any provisions of Part IV of this Act with respect to the contravention of conditions subject to which planning permission has been granted.

16. Where in pursuance of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 of this Schedule permission is granted for the retention on land of works, or the continuance of a use, authorised as mentioned in that sub-paragraph, such of the provisions of paragraphs 11 to 15 of this Schedule as (apart from this paragraph) would be applicable thereto shall cease to apply to those works or that use, but without prejudice to the application thereto of any provisions of Part IV of this Act with respect to the contravention of conditions subject to which planning permission has been granted.

17. The repeal shall not affect the operation of any regulations made under subsection (8) of section seventy-five of the Act of 1947 (which enabled provision to be made by regulations for applying the provisions of that section to contraventions, committed before the appointed day, of restrictions under enactments other than those relating to town and country planning) or of the provisions of that section as applied by any such regulations.

General and supplementary provisions

18.—(1) Where by virtue of any of the provisions of the Tenth Schedule to the Act of 1947, or of any regulations made thereunder, an application, decision, appeal or order made, direction given, or list compiled or approved, under an enactment repealed by that Act fell to be treated as if it had been an application, decision or appeal made, direction given, or list compiled or approved, or (in the case of an order) had been made, or had been included in an order made, under that Act, it shall be treated for the purposes of the Fourteenth Schedule to this Act as if it had been an application, decision or appeal made, direction given, or list compiled or approved, or had been made, or included in an order made, under that Act in accordance with the provisions or regulations in question.

(2) References in this paragraph to any of the provisions of the Tenth Schedule to the Act of 1947 shall be construed as including references to any such provisions as modified by subsection (2) of section one hundred and fourteen of that Act (which related to London).

19. Any reference in this Schedule to a numbered section shall, unless the reference is to a section of a specified Act, be construed as a reference to the section bearing that number in this Act.

13TH SCH.

20. In this Schedule "planning scheme" means a scheme under the Town and Country Planning Act, 1932, or under an enactment repealed by that Act, "interim development order" means an order made under subsection (1) of section ten of the said Act of 1932 and "the repeal" means the repeal effected by section two hundred and twenty-three.

Section 223.

FOURTEENTH SCHEDULE

FURTHER SAVINGS AND TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS

PART I

GENERAL PROVISIONS

1.—(1) In so far as any order, regulation, rule, development plan or amendment of a development plan, application, objection, representation, determination, decision, reference, appeal, declaration, agreement, arrangement, claim or apportionment made, payment made or recovered, report or proposal submitted, list or amendment of a list compiled or made, permission granted, consent, approval or authorisation given, certificate, information or direction issued or given, notice or copy served, published or registered, inquiry held, delegation effected, register kept, requirement imposed, or other thing done, under an enactment repealed by this Act could have been made, recovered, submitted, compiled, granted, issued, given, served, published, registered, held, effected, kept, imposed or done under a corresponding provision of this Act, it shall not be invalidated by the repeal, but shall have effect as if made, recovered, submitted, compiled, granted, issued, given, served, published, registered, held, effected, kept, imposed or done under that corresponding provision.

(2) In relation to any permission which (whether by virtue of an enactment repealed by this Act or otherwise) was deemed to be granted under an enactment repealed by this Act, the preceding sub-paragraph shall have effect as if any reference in that sub-paragraph to permission granted included a reference to permission deemed to be granted.

(3) Sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph shall not apply to any regulations or order revoked as from the commencement of this Act in the exercise of the powers conferred by section two hundred and seventeen.

2. Where any Act (whether passed before, or in the same Session as, this Act) or any document refers, either expressly or by implication, to an enactment repealed by this Act, the reference shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as, or as including, a reference to the corresponding provision of this Act.

3. Where a period of time specified in an enactment repealed by this Act is current at the commencement of this Act, this Act shall have effect as if the corresponding provision thereof had been in force when that period began to run.

4. Without prejudice to paragraph 1 of this Schedule, any reference in this Act (whether express or implied) to a thing done or required or authorised to be done, or omitted to be done, or to an event which has occurred, under or for the purposes of or by reference to or in contravention of any provisions of this Act shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as including a reference to the corresponding thing done or required or authorised to be done, or omitted, or to the corresponding event which occurred, as the case may be, under or for the purposes of or by reference to or in contravention of the corresponding provisions of the enactments repealed by this Act.

5.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall affect the enactments repealed thereby in their operation in relation to offences committed before the commencement of this Act.

(2) Where an offence, for the continuance of which a penalty was provided, has been committed under an enactment repealed by this Act, proceedings may be taken under this Act in respect of the continuance of the offence after the commencement of this Act, in the same manner as if the offence had been committed under the corresponding provision of this Act.

6.—(1) The repeal shall not affect any right to, or claim for, or any liability in respect of, any payment under an enactment to which this paragraph applies; and any such right, claim or liability shall have effect and may be enforced, and moneys in respect of any such payment shall be applicable or may be raised, in accordance with the provisions of the enactment in question (including the provisions of any other enactment which, immediately before the commencement of this Act, had effect for the purposes of that enactment) as if this Act had not been passed, and any direction or proceedings relating thereto may be given, brought or continued accordingly.

(2) This paragraph applies to the following enactments, that is to say,—

- (a) Parts I and V of the Act of 1954;
- (b) subsections (1) to (5) of section fifty-two of that Act;
- (c) the scheme made under section fifty-nine of the Act of 1947;
- (d) Part VII of the Act of 1947;
- (e) any other enactment which (if contained in an Act) is not repealed by, and re-enacted (with or without modifications) in, this Act, or (if not contained in an Act) has effect otherwise than by virtue of an enactment so repealed and re-enacted.

(3) Without prejudice to the preceding provisions of this paragraph, any proceedings relating to any such claim as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section eighty-nine may be brought or continued, and shall be determined in accordance with the relevant provisions (that is to say, the provisions of the Act of 1947 and of the First Schedule to the Act of 1954 and any other enactment having effect for the purposes thereof) as if this Act had not been passed.

(4) Sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any such right, claim or liability as is therein mentioned notwithstanding that, immediately before the commencement of this

14TH SCH. Act, the right, claim or liability had not yet accrued or been made or become enforceable, as the case may be :

Provided that, in relation to any such claim which had not been made before the commencement of this Act, so much of that sub-paragraph as provides that the claim shall have effect in accordance with the provisions therein mentioned shall be construed as providing that the claim may be made in accordance with those provisions, and, when made, shall have effect accordingly.

7.—(1) Any reference in this Act to an order or scheme made or confirmed under an enactment which is not repealed by, and re-enacted (with or without modifications) in, this Act, shall be construed as a reference to any order or scheme so made or confirmed whether before or after the commencement of this Act.

(2) Without prejudice to the preceding sub-paragraph, any reference in this Act to an order or scheme made or confirmed under an enactment contained in the Highways Act, 1959, or under any other such enactment as is mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph, shall be construed as including a reference to any order or scheme made or confirmed under any corresponding provisions of an enactment repealed by the Highways Act, 1959, or repealed by the other enactment in question, as the case may be.

8. In the preceding provisions of this Part of this Schedule, references (however expressed) to things done under enactments repealed by this Act shall be construed as including references to things which, by virtue of paragraph 18 of the Thirteenth Schedule to this Act, are to be treated as if done under the Act of 1947.

PART II

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART I OF ACT

Transfer of property and officers to local planning authorities

9. Nothing in this Act shall affect the operation of any regulations made by virtue of section one hundred and one of the Act of 1947 (which enabled provision to be made by regulations for the transfer of property and officers to local planning authorities and other matters consequential upon or supplementary to section four of that Act) in so far as any such regulations do not have effect in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Schedule.

PART III

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART III OF ACT

Planning permission

10. Subsection (1) of section thirteen applies (subject to the provisions of that section) to the carrying out of development whether before or after the commencement of this Act, except that it does not apply to development carried out on or before the appointed day.

11. In sections fifteen and sixteen references to an application for planning permission do not include any application made before the sixteenth day of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine.

12. Where by virtue of the proviso to subsection (3) of section one of the Town and Country Planning (Amendment) Act, 1951 (which related to works for making good war damage which were begun during the period from the appointed day to the thirteenth day of December, nineteen hundred and fifty) any works were treated, immediately before the commencement of this Act, as if planning permission had been granted unconditionally in respect thereof, those works shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if planning permission had been so granted in respect thereof.

Review of planning decisions and orders under Part V of Act of 1954

13. For the purposes of paragraph 1 of this Schedule, any direction given under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of section forty-five of the Act of 1954, whether before or (by virtue of paragraph 6 of this Schedule) after the commencement of this Act, as well as any direction given under section twenty-three of that Act, shall be treated as a direction which could have been given under section twenty-five and as having been given under provisions of that Act corresponding to those of section twenty-five.

Maintenance of waste land, etc.

14. Subsection (2) of section thirty-six does not apply to any notice served before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty.

Industrial development

15.—(1) Where an application for planning permission was made before the first day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty, and, by reason that it was made before that day, any provisions of the Local Employment Act, 1960, being provisions corresponding to any of the provisions of sections thirty-eight to forty, did not apply in relation thereto, the corresponding provisions of sections thirty-eight to forty shall not have effect in relation to that application, but without prejudice to the operation, in relation thereto, of any other provisions of those sections.

(2) For the purposes of the preceding sub-paragraph the definition of "industrial building" in subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty-one shall be treated as if it were included among the provisions of sections thirty-eight to forty; and where, in accordance with the preceding sub-paragraph, that definition does not apply, "industrial building" shall have the meaning which was assigned to it by section fifteen of the Distribution of Industry Act, 1945.

Application to determine whether planning permission required

16. Notwithstanding anything in subsection (6) of section twenty-two or subsection (7) of section twenty-three as applied by subsection (2) of section forty-three, a decision of the Minister, under any corresponding provisions of the Act of 1947, that any operations or use would constitute or involve development of land, or that an application for planning permission was required in respect thereof, shall not be treated as final for the purposes of any appeal to the court under section twenty-three of the Act of 1947 in relation to those operations or that use.

PART IV

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART IV OF ACT

Enforcement notices

17.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any enforcement notice served before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty, on the owner and occupier of the land to which it related.

14TH SCH.

(2) Sections forty-five to forty-nine shall not apply.

(3) Notwithstanding the repeal, sections twenty-three and twenty-four of the Act of 1947 shall have effect in relation to any such notice as they would have had effect if this Act had not been passed.

(4) Section fifty shall not have effect in relation to any such notice if the planning permission in question was granted before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty.

(5) In the application of section fifty-one to such a notice, for the references in subsections (3) and (4) to section forty-eight there shall be substituted references to subsection (1) of section twenty-four of the Act of 1947, and in subsection (5) of section fifty-one the words from "and no person" onwards shall be omitted.

(6) In this paragraph "enforcement notice" does not include a notice served by virtue of section seventy-five of the Act of 1947.

Notices in respect of listed buildings

18.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any notice served under subsection (8) of section thirty of the Act of 1947 before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty.

(2) Subsections (1) and (2) of section fifty-two, and sections fifty-three to fifty-five, shall not apply.

(3) Notwithstanding the repeal, the provisions of subsections (3) to (5) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1947 and of section twenty-four of that Act, as applied by subsection (8) of section thirty thereof, and any regulations made for the purposes of the last-mentioned subsection, shall have effect in relation to any such notice.

Notices in respect of waste land, etc.

19.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect in relation to any notice served under subsection (1) of section thirty-three of the Act of 1947 before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty.

(2) Sections fifty-six to sixty shall not apply.

(3) Notwithstanding the repeal, the provisions of subsections (3) to (5) of section twenty-three of the Act of 1947 and of section twenty-four of that Act, as applied by subsection (2) of section thirty-three thereof, and any regulations made for the purposes of the last-mentioned subsection, shall have effect in relation to any such notice.

Building preservation orders and control of advertisements

20. The repeal shall not affect the operation of any order under section twenty-nine of the Act of 1947 which was in force immediately before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty, or any regulations under section thirty-one of that Act which were in force immediately before that day, in so far as any such order or regulations applied (with or without adaptations or modifications) any of the provisions of that Act which were repealed by section forty-eight of the Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act, 1960, and accordingly are not re-enacted in this Act.

PART V

14TH SCH.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART V OF ACT

Consent of Minister to acquisition, appropriation or disposal of land

21. Nothing in Part I of this Schedule shall be construed as validating any transaction whereby a local authority purported, in the exercise of a power conferred by an enactment repealed by this Act, but without the consent of a Minister then required by that enactment,—

- (a) to acquire land by agreement in pursuance of a contract made before the sixteenth day of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, or
- (b) to appropriate or dispose of land before that day, notwithstanding that the transaction could have been validly effected without that consent under the corresponding provisions of Part V of this Act.

Land acquired, or authorised to be acquired, under Part IV of Act of 1947

22.—(1) The repeal shall not affect the validity of any order authorising the compulsory acquisition of any land—

- (a) under subsection (2) of section thirty-seven of the Act of 1947 (which enabled the Minister of Works or the Postmaster General, during the period before a development plan had become operative with respect to any area, to be authorised in certain circumstances to acquire land compulsorily);
- (b) under subsection (2) of section thirty-eight of that Act (which enabled certain local authorities, during any such period, to be authorised in certain circumstances to acquire land compulsorily); or
- (c) under subsection (3) of the said section thirty-eight in a case where the power conferred by that subsection was exercisable in lieu of the exercise of the power conferred by subsection (2) thereof, or of any notice served or other thing done in pursuance of any such order.

(2) The provisions of Part V of this Act shall have effect in relation to any land acquired, or authorised to be acquired, in pursuance of any such order as is mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph as if—

- (a) in the case of land acquired, or authorised to be acquired, by a Minister, the land had been acquired, or authorised to be acquired, by that Minister under section sixty-seven;
- (b) in the case of land acquired, or authorised to be acquired, by a local authority, the land had been acquired, or authorised to be acquired, by that local authority under section sixty-eight.

23. Section eighty-one shall have effect in relation to land acquired by the Central Land Board under section forty-three of the Act of 1947 as it has effect in relation to land acquired by a local authority for planning purposes (as defined by subsection (1) of section eighty-seven).

14TH SCH.

24. For the purposes of the construction, in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, of subsections (4) and (5) of section eighty-four, any land acquired by the Central Land Board under Part IV of the Act of 1947 shall be treated as if it had been acquired thereunder by the Minister; and, in relation to land so acquired, the powers conferred by those subsections shall be exercisable by the Minister accordingly.

25. In accordance with Part I of this Schedule, the reference in subsection (1) of section eighty-seven to the acquisition of land under section sixty-eight or section seventy-one includes a reference to the acquisition of land under section thirty-eight or section forty of the Act of 1947; and the reference in that subsection to the appropriation of land for purposes for which land can be acquired under section sixty-eight or section seventy-one is a reference to the appropriation of land for those purposes whether before or after the commencement of this Act.

26. The repeal shall not affect the operation of subsection (6) of section forty-three of the Act of 1947 (which enabled provision to be made by regulations for the keeping of a register of land acquired and disposed of by the Central Land Board) or of any regulations made thereunder, as modified by the Order in Council made under section sixty-three of the Act of 1954 (which provided for the dissolution of the Central Land Board), in so far as that subsection or any such regulations, as so modified, would have had effect if this Act had not been passed.

PART VI

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART VI OF ACT

Compensation under Part V of Act of 1954

27.—(1) Subject to the following provisions of this paragraph, for the purposes of the construction of sections one hundred and twelve to one hundred and fifteen in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, any compensation (whether by way of principal or interest) under Part V of the Act of 1954, and any claim for, or notice registered in respect of, any such compensation, as well as any compensation under Part II of that Act, or any claim for, or notice registered in respect of, compensation under the said Part II, shall be treated as compensation, or, as the case may be, a claim for, or notice registered in respect of, compensation, under provisions of that Act corresponding to those of Part VI of this Act.

(2) For the purposes of the construction of section one hundred and twelve in accordance with the preceding sub-paragraph in relation to Part V of the Act of 1954, any reference to a planning decision shall be construed as including a reference to an order under section twenty-one of the Act of 1947.

(3) Where compensation under Part V of the Act of 1954 became or becomes payable in respect of an order modifying planning permission, then (notwithstanding anything in the preceding provisions of this paragraph) the provisions of sections one hundred and thirteen and one hundred and fifteen shall not apply to development in accordance with that permission as modified by the order.

Provision excluding recovery of compensation

14TH SCH.

28. For the purposes of the construction, in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, of subsection (4) of section one hundred and fourteen,—

- (a) the provisions of subsection (6) of section fifty-two of the Act of 1954 as originally enacted, and
- (b) those provisions as applied by any regulations made under subsection (8) of the said section fifty-two, as well as the provisions of the said subsection (6) as amended by section fifty-one of the Act of 1959, shall be treated as provisions corresponding to those of section one hundred and ninety.

PART VII

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART VII OF ACT

Exchequer contribution towards compensation

29. For the purposes of the construction of subsection (1) of section one hundred and twenty-one in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, any compensation which could have been claimed and would have been payable under Part V of the Act of 1954, as well as any compensation which could have been claimed and would have been payable under Part II of that Act, shall be treated as compensation which could have been claimed and would have been payable under provisions of that Act corresponding to the provisions of Part VI of this Act.

Recovery of compensation

30. For the purposes of the construction of subsection (3) of section one hundred and twenty-two in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, any grant paid—

- (a) under the provisions of the section substituted by section fifty of the Act of 1954 for section ninety-three of the Act of 1947, but without the amendments made by the Local Government Act, 1958, or
- (b) under the provisions of Part IX of the Act of 1947 as originally enacted, as well as any grant paid under the provisions of the said section ninety-three as in force immediately before the commencement of this Act, shall be treated as a grant paid under provisions corresponding to those of Part XII of this Act.

PART VIII

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART X OF ACT

Application of s. 164 to land acquired by Central Land Board

31. In subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty-four, the reference to land acquired by a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers under Part V of this Act shall be construed as including a reference to land acquired by the Central Land Board under Part IV of the Act of 1947, as well as to land acquired under the said Part IV by a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers.

14TH SCH.

PART IX

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART XI OF ACT

Orders made and action taken before 16th August, 1959

32.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in Part I of this Schedule, the provisions of section one hundred and seventy-six shall not have effect in relation to—

(a) any order made before the sixteenth day of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, under any of the provisions of the Act of 1947 corresponding to the provisions of this Act under which the orders mentioned in subsection (2) of that section can be made, or

(b) any action on the part of the Minister taken before the said sixteenth day of August under any of the provisions of that Act or of the Act of 1954 corresponding to the provisions of this Act under which action of the descriptions mentioned in subsection (3) of that section can be taken, and section one hundred and seventy-nine does not apply to any such order or action as is mentioned in this sub-paragraph.

(2) In relation to any action which, in accordance with any provisions of the Act of 1947 corresponding to provisions of Part X of this Act, were required to be taken by the Minister and the appropriate Minister, the reference in the preceding sub-paragraph to the Minister shall be construed as a reference to the Minister and the appropriate Minister.

33. Section one hundred and eighty-one does not apply to any decision of the Minister made before the sixteenth day of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, under any of the provisions of the Act of 1947 corresponding to the provisions of this Act mentioned in subsection (2) of that section.

Notices served before 29th August, 1960

34. Subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-seven shall not apply to any enforcement notice which was served before the twenty-ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty, on the owner and occupier of the land to which it related.

35. Subsection (3) of section one hundred and seventy-seven shall not apply to any notice served under subsection (8) of section thirty of the Act of 1947 before the said twenty-ninth day of August; and subsection (4) of section one hundred and seventy-seven shall not apply to any notice served before that day under subsection (1) of section thirty-three of that Act.

Directions under Part V of Act of 1954

36. For the purposes of the construction, in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, of paragraph (f) of subsection (3) of section one hundred and seventy-six (but without prejudice to sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 32 of this Schedule) any direction given on or after the sixteenth day of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, by the Minister under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of section forty-five of the Act of 1954, as well as any direction given by the Minister on or after that day under section twenty-three of that Act, shall be treated as a direction given under provisions of that Act corresponding to the provisions of section twenty-five.

PART X

14TH SCH.

PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO PART XII OF ACT

Exchequer grants to local authorities

37. Nothing in this Act shall affect the payment (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) of any grant in respect of any period before the commencement of this Act.

Recovery of sums from acquiring authorities

38.—(1) In relation to any acquisition or sale of an interest in land in pursuance of a notice to treat served, or contract made, before the thirtieth day of October, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight,—

(a) section one hundred and ninety shall not apply ;

(b) the repeal shall not affect any right of recovering any sum in respect thereof under the provisions of subsection (6) of section fifty-two of the Act of 1954 as originally enacted, or under those provisions as applied by regulations made under subsection (8) of the said section fifty-two.

(2) Subject to the preceding sub-paragraph, section one hundred and ninety shall have effect in relation to interests in land acquired or sold as therein mentioned whether before or after the commencement of this Act ; and for the purposes of the construction of that section in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, any notice registered under the provisions of section twenty-eight of the Act of 1954 as applied by Part V of that Act, as well as any notice registered under those provisions as applied by Part IV of that Act, shall be treated as a notice registered under provisions of that Act corresponding to the provisions of this Act referred to in section one hundred and ninety, and references in section one hundred and ninety to compensation specified in a notice shall be construed accordingly.

39. Section one hundred and ninety-one shall have effect in relation to interests in land acquired or sold as therein mentioned whether before or after the commencement of this Act, except that it shall not have effect in relation to any acquisition or sale in pursuance of a notice to treat served, or contract made, before the sixth day of August, nineteen hundred and forty-seven.

Financing of payments under s. 59 of Act of 1947

40. Notwithstanding the repeal of section sixty-seven of the Act of 1947, any sums which, apart from this Act, would have fallen to be issued or raised in accordance with subsection (1) or subsection (2) of that section may be so issued or raised as if this Act had not been passed ; and any securities created and issued to raise money under that section (whether before or after the commencement of this Act) shall, in accordance with subsection (2) of that section, be deemed for all purposes to have been created and issued under the National Loans Act, 1939.

Financing of payments under Parts I and V of Act of 1954

41. The repeal shall not affect the operation of subsections (1) and (2) of section sixty-four of the Act of 1954, in so far as those subsections would have continued to have effect if this Act had not been passed.

14TH SCH.

Payments into the Exchequer

42. Subsection (4) of section one hundred and ninety-four shall apply to any sums received by the Minister by virtue of subsections (1) to (5) of section fifty-two of the Act of 1954 as it applies to sums received by the Minister by virtue of the provisions mentioned in the said subsection (4).

PART XI

PROVISIONS RELATING TO PART XIII OF ACT

Minerals

43.—(1) In the Town and Country Planning (Modification of Mines Act) Regulations, 1948 (being regulations made under the provisions of the Act of 1947 corresponding to section one hundred and ninety-eight), Regulation 6 (which makes provision as to the assessment of the compensation or consideration for a right to work minerals, but by virtue of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1953, does not apply to any determination of compensation or consideration made after the passing of that Act) is hereby revoked.

(2) The preceding sub-paragraph shall have effect without prejudice to the operation of any of the other provisions of those Regulations in accordance with Part I of this Schedule.

44.—(1) Regulation 10 of the Town and Country Planning (Minerals) Regulations, 1954, and section seventy-nine of the Act of 1947 as applied by that regulation, shall (notwithstanding the repeal) have effect after the date of the commencement of this Act in any case where they would have had effect after that date if this Act had not been passed.

(2) The said Regulation 10, in so far as it has effect in accordance with the preceding sub-paragraph, may be revoked or varied by regulations made under section one hundred and ninety-seven as if it were a regulation made under that section.

(3) In this paragraph any reference to the said Regulation 10 is a reference to that regulation as varied by any subsequent regulations.

Ecclesiastical property, settled land, and land of universities and colleges

45. For the purposes of the construction of sections two hundred and five and two hundred and six in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, the provisions of section forty-six of the Act of 1954, as well as the provisions of section forty-one of that Act, shall be treated as provisions corresponding to those of section one hundred and twenty-two.

PART XII

MISCELLANEOUS AND SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS

Registration of payments under s. 59 of Act of 1947

46.—(1) The repeal shall not affect the operation of subsections (1) and (2) of section fifty-seven of the Act of 1954, in so far as those subsections would have continued to have effect if this Act had not been passed.

(2) In subsection (1) of the said section fifty-seven, the references to subsection (7) of section fifty-two of that Act and to paragraph (a) of the proviso to that subsection shall be construed as including references respectively to subsection (1) and to subsection (2) of section one hundred and ninety-one.

14TH SCH.

Saving for Act of 1944 as applied by other enactments

47. The repeal shall not affect the operation of any provisions of the Act of 1944 as applied by the New Towns Act, 1946.

48.—(1) This paragraph shall have effect for the purposes of any enactment (not contained in the New Towns Act, 1946) which applies the provisions of section twenty-five of the Act of 1944, with adaptations consisting of or including adaptations of the references in that section to a purchasing authority or to the purchasing or appropriating authority.

(2) Any such enactment shall be construed (in accordance with Part I of this Schedule or section thirty-eight of the Interpretation Act, 1889) as applying the provisions of section one hundred and sixty-four, and of subsection (2) of section one hundred and seventy, with corresponding adaptations of the references in those provisions to a Minister, a local authority or statutory undertakers, or to the acquiring or appropriating authority, as the case may require.

Definition of "local authority"

49. For the purposes of the construction, in accordance with Part I of this Schedule, of any enactment which incorporates the definition of "local authority" in the Act of 1947, section one hundred and fifty-four and the reference thereto in the corresponding definition in subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty-one shall be disregarded.

Saving for powers of Postmaster-General

50. Except as provided by section one hundred and fifty-eight, nothing in the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto or in any order or regulations made thereunder shall affect any powers or duties of the Postmaster-General under the provisions of the Telegraph Acts, 1863 to 1954, or apply to any telegraphic lines (within the meaning of the Telegraph Act, 1878) placed or maintained by virtue of any of the provisions of those Acts.

Saving in respect of works below high-water mark

51. Nothing in the provisions of this Act specified in paragraph 1 of the Eighth Schedule thereto shall authorise the execution of any works (whether of construction, demolition or alteration) on, over or under tidal lands below high-water of ordinary spring tides, except—

- (a) with the consent of any persons whose consent would have been required if this Act had not been passed, and
- (b) in accordance with such plans and sections, and subject to such restrictions and conditions, as may be approved by the Minister of Transport before the works are begun.

Land Compensation Act, 1961, s. 31

52. Any reference in this Act to the power conferred by section thirty-one of the Land Compensation Act, 1961, to withdraw a notice to treat shall, in relation to any notice to treat falling within section forty-one of that Act, be construed as a reference to the 14TH SCH. corresponding power conferred by subsection (2) of section five of the Acquisition of Land (Assessment of Compensation) Act, 1919.

Y

"The Minister" in relation to time before 3rd November, 1951

53. Any reference in this Act to the Minister—

- (a) in relation to any time before the third day of November, nineteen hundred and fifty-one, but on or after the thirtieth day of January, nineteen hundred and fifty-one, shall be construed as a reference to the Minister of Local Government and Planning, and
- (b) in relation to any time before the said thirtieth day of January, shall be construed as a reference to the Minister of Town and Country Planning.

Supplementary

54.—(1) Where in this Act (including this Schedule except Part I thereof) express provision is made in respect of any matter, the provisions of Part I of this Schedule, in so far as they are applicable to that matter, shall have effect subject to that express provision.

(2) Except as provided by the preceding sub-paragraph, the mention in any of the provisions of this Act (including this Schedule except Part I thereof) of any matter to which Part I of this Schedule is applicable shall not be construed as affecting the generality of the provisions of Part I of this Schedule.

55. Any reference in this Schedule to a numbered section shall, unless the reference is to a section of a specified Act, be construed as a reference to the section bearing that number in this Act.

56. In this Schedule "the repeal" means the repeal effected by section two hundred and twenty-three.

CHAPTER 39

An Act to authorise the use of an alternative method of assessing drainage rates in the case of land falling within subsection (4) of section twenty-two of the Land Drainage Act, 1961. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Drainage rates—alternative method of calculation.
9 & 10 Eliz.
c. 48.

1.—(1) Sections twenty-two and twenty-three of the Land Drainage Act, 1961 (provisions as to the basis of assessment of drainage rates made for periods beginning after the end of March, nineteen hundred and sixty-three) shall have effect subject to the following provisions of this section.

(2) Where a drainage board resolves that this section shall apply for the purposes of drainage rates made by the board then, for the purposes of any drainage rate so made for a period beginning while the resolution is in force, subsection (4) of the said section twenty-two (which subsection sets out the basis of assessment applicable in the case of land for which a rateable value is shown in the valuation list for the time being in force) shall have effect as if for paragraphs (a) and (b) thereof there were substituted the following paragraphs:—

“(a) the value on which the rate is assessed shall be the value arrived at by taking one-third of the rateable value so shown and applying thereto the relative fraction arrived at in accordance with the provisions of subsections (3) to (6) of section twenty-three of this Act; and

(b) the amount per pound at which the rate is assessed shall be the same as the amount per pound (of annual value) at which the rate is assessed under subsection (4) of section twenty-four of the Land Drainage Act, 1930.”, 20 & 21 Geo. 5.

c. 44.

and accordingly subsection (1) of the said section twenty-three shall not apply.

Short title
and extent.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Drainage Rates Act, 1962.

(2) This Act does not extend to Scotland or to Northern Ireland.

SCHEDULES :

First Schedule—Legislative Powers of Jamaica.

Second Schedule—Amendments not affecting the Law of Jamaica.

An Act to make provision for, and in connection with, the attainment by Jamaica of fully responsible status within the Commonwealth. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) As from the sixth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-two (in this Act referred to as "the appointed day"), Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom shall have no responsibility for the government of Jamaica. Provision for fully responsible status of Jamaica.

(2) No Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom passed on or after the appointed day shall extend, or be deemed to extend, to Jamaica as part of the law thereof; and as from that day the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the legislative powers of Jamaica.

2.—(1) As from the appointed day, the British Nationality Acts, 1948 and 1958, shall have effect as if in subsection (3) of section one of the said Act of 1948 (which provides for persons to be British subjects or Commonwealth citizens by virtue of citizenship of certain countries) for the words "and Tanganyika" there were substituted the words "Tanganyika and Jamaica". Consequential modifications of British Nationality Acts.

(2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, any person who immediately before the appointed day is a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies shall on that day cease to be such a citizen if—

- (a) under the law of Jamaica he becomes on that day a citizen of Jamaica, and
- (b) he, his father or his father's father was born in Jamaica.

(3) Subject to subsection (8) of this section, a person shall not cease to be a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies under the last preceding subsection if he, his father or his father's father—

- (a) was born in the United Kingdom or in a colony; or
- (b) is or was a person naturalised in the United Kingdom and Colonies; or
- (c) was registered as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies; or
- (d) became a British subject by reason of the annexation of any territory included in a colony.

(4) A person shall not cease to be a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies under subsection (2) of this section if he was born in a protectorate or protected state, or if his father or his father's father was so born and is or at any time was a British subject.

(5) A woman who is the wife of a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies shall not cease to be such a citizen under subsection (2) of this section unless her husband does so.

(6) Subsection (2) of section six of the British Nationality Act, 1948 (which provides for the registration as a citizen of the United Kingdom and Colonies of a woman who has been married to such a citizen) shall not apply to a woman by virtue of her marriage to a person who ceases to be such a citizen under subsection (2) of this section, or who would have done so if living on the appointed day.

(7) Subject to the next following subsection, the reference in paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of this section to a person naturalised in the United Kingdom and Colonies shall include a person who would, if living immediately before the commencement of the British Nationality Act, 1948, have become a person naturalised in the United Kingdom and Colonies by virtue of subsection (6) of section thirty-two of that Act (which relates to persons given local naturalisation before that commencement in a colony or protectorate).

(8) Any reference in subsection (3) or subsection (4) of this section to a colony, protectorate or protected state shall, subject to the next following subsection, be construed as a reference to a territory which is a colony, protectorate or protected state on the appointed day; and the said subsection (3) shall not apply to a person by virtue of any certificate of naturalisation granted or registration effected by the governor or government of a territory outside the United Kingdom which is not a colony, protectorate or protected state on that day.

(9) The protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland shall be excepted from the operation of any reference in subsection (4) or subsection (8) of this section to a protectorate.

(10) Part III of the British Nationality Act, 1948 (which contains supplemental provisions) shall have effect for the purposes of subsections (2) to (9) of this section as if those subsections were included in that Act.

3.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in the Interpretation Act, 1889, the expression “colony” in any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom passed on or after the appointed day shall not include Jamaica. Consequential modification of other enactments.

(2) As from the appointed day—

- (a) the expression “colony” in the Army Act, 1955, the Air Force Act, 1955, and the Naval Discipline Act, 1957, shall not include Jamaica, and
- (b) in the definitions of “Commonwealth force” in subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty-five and subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty-three respectively of the said Acts of 1955, and in the definition of “Commonwealth country” in subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-five of the said Act of 1957, for the words “or Tanganyika” there shall be substituted the words “Tanganyika or Jamaica”; and no Order in Council made on or after the appointed day under section one of the Army and Air Force Act, 1961, shall operate to continue either of the said Acts of 1955 in force as part of the law of Jamaica.

(3) For the purposes of the making, on or after the appointed day, of Orders in Council under the West Indies Act, 1962, and for the purposes of the making on or after that day of grants under section eight of that Act, Jamaica shall be treated as not being a colony within the meaning of that Act.

(4) Subsection (3) of section five of the West Indies Act, 1962 (which enables provision made by Order in Council for the government of the Cayman Islands and the Turks and Caicos Islands to include provision for the performance of functions by the legislature or other authorities of Jamaica, or by any court of Jamaica) is hereby repealed as from the appointed day:

Provided that this subsection shall not affect—

- (a) the operation (whether as part of the law of Jamaica or as part of the law of the Cayman Islands or of the Turks and Caicos Islands) of any Order in Council made before the appointed day, or
- (b) the exercise, on or after the appointed day, of any power to revoke or vary an Order in Council made before that day, in so far as any such Order forms part of the law of the Cayman Islands or of the Turks and Caicos Islands.

Y*

(5) As from the appointed day, the provisions specified in the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments respectively specified in that Schedule, and Her Majesty may by Order in Council, which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament, make such further adaptations in any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom passed before this Act, or in any instrument having effect under any such Act, as appear to Her necessary in consequence of section one of this Act; and any Order in Council made under this subsection may be varied or revoked by a subsequent Order in Council so made, and, though made after the appointed day, may be made so as to have effect from that day.

(6) The last preceding subsection shall not extend to Jamaica as part of the law thereof.

Interpretation.

4.—(1) In this Act, and in any amendment made by this Act in any other enactment, “Jamaica” includes the islands known as the Morant Cays and the Pedro Cays and any other territories which at the passing of this Act are dependencies of the Colony of Jamaica, but does not include the Cayman Islands or the Turks and Caicos Islands; and in any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom passed after the passing of this Act, and in any instrument made after the passing of this Act by virtue of an Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom (whenever passed), the expression “Jamaica” shall be taken to have the same meaning as in this Act unless a contrary intention is expressed in that Act or instrument, as the case may be.

(2) References in this Act to any enactment are references to that enactment as amended or extended by or under any other enactment.

Short title.

5. This Act may be cited as the Jamaica Independence Act, 1962.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

LEGISLATIVE POWERS OF JAMAICA

1. The Colonial Laws Validity Act, 1865, shall not apply to any law made on or after the appointed day by the legislature of Jamaica.

2. No law and no provision of any law made on or after the appointed day by that legislature shall be void or inoperative on the ground that it is repugnant to the law of England, or to the provisions of any Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom, including this Act, or to any order, rule or regulation made under any such Act, and, subject to paragraph 6 of this Schedule, the powers of that legislature shall include the power to repeal or amend any such Act, order, rule or regulation in so far as it is part of the law of Jamaica.

Section 1.

3. The legislature of Jamaica shall have full power to make laws having extra-territorial operation.

1ST SCH.

4. Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this Schedule, sections seven hundred and thirty-five and seven hundred and thirty-six of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, shall be construed as though references therein to the legislature of a British possession did not include references to the legislature of Jamaica.

5. Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this Schedule, section four of the Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890 (which requires certain laws to be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure or to contain a suspending clause), and so much of section seven of that Act as requires the approval of Her Majesty in Council to any rules of court for regulating the practice and procedure of a Colonial Court of Admiralty, shall cease to have effect in Jamaica.

6.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall confer on the legislature of Jamaica any power to repeal, amend or modify the constitutional provisions otherwise than in such manner as may be provided for in those provisions.

(2) In this paragraph "the constitutional provisions" means the following, that is to say—

- (a) this Act;
- (b) any Order in Council made before the appointed day (whether before or after the passing of this Act) which made or makes provision in respect of Jamaica in pursuance of section five of the West Indies Act, 1962;
- (c) any law, or instrument made under a law, of the legislature of Jamaica made on or after the appointed day which amends, modifies, re-enacts with or without amendment or modification, or makes different provision in lieu of, any provisions of this Act, of any such Order in Council, or of any such law or instrument previously made.

SECOND SCHEDULE

Section 3.

AMENDMENTS NOT AFFECTING THE LAW OF JAMAICA

Diplomatic immunities

1. In section four hundred and sixty-one of the Income Tax Act, 1952 (which relates to exemption from income tax in the case of certain Commonwealth representatives and their staffs), in subsection (2) and subsection (3), for the words "or Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika or Jamaica".

2. In subsection (6) of section one of the Diplomatic Immunities (Commonwealth Countries and Republic of Ireland) Act, 1952, after the word "Tanganyika" there shall be inserted the word "Jamaica".

3. In subsection (5) of section one of the Diplomatic Immunities (Conferences with Commonwealth Countries and Republic of Ireland) Act, 1961, after the word "Tanganyika" there shall be inserted the word "Jamaica".

Y* 2

2ND SCH.

Financial

4. In subsection (4) of section two of the Import Duties Act, 1958, after the word "India" there shall be inserted the word "Jamaica".

Visiting forces

5. In the Visiting Forces (British Commonwealth) Act, 1933, section four (which deals with attachment and mutual powers of command) shall apply in relation to forces raised in Jamaica as it applies in relation to forces raised in Dominions within the meaning of the Statute of Westminster, 1931.

6. In the Visiting Forces Act, 1952—

(a) in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one (which specifies the countries to which that Act applies) for the words "or Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika or Jamaica";

(b) in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section ten the expression "colony" shall not include Jamaica; and, until express provision with respect to Jamaica is made by an Order in Council under section eight of that Act (which relates to the application to visiting forces of law relating to home forces), any such Order for the time being in force shall be deemed to apply to visiting forces of Jamaica.

Ships and aircraft

7. In subsection (2) of section four hundred and twenty-seven of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as substituted by section two of the Merchant Shipping (Safety Convention) Act, 1949, for the words "or Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika or Jamaica".

8. In the proviso to subsection (2) of section six of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1948, for the words "or Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika or Jamaica".

9. In the definition of "excepted ship or aircraft" in paragraph 3 of the Third Schedule to the Emergency Laws (Repeal) Act, 1959, for the words "or Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika or Jamaica".

10. The Ships and Aircraft (Transfer Restriction) Act, 1939, shall not apply to any ship by reason only of its being registered in, or licensed under the law of, Jamaica; and the penal provisions of that Act shall not apply to persons in Jamaica (but without prejudice to the operation with respect to any ship to which that Act does apply of the provisions thereof relating to the forfeiture of ships).

11. In the Whaling Industry (Regulation) Act, 1934, the expression "British ship to which this Act applies" shall not include a British ship registered in Jamaica.

12. In paragraph (b) of subsection (7) of section two of the Civil Aviation (Licensing) Act, 1960, the expression "colony" shall not include Jamaica.

Copyright

2ND SCH.

13. If the Copyright Act, 1911, so far as in force in the law of Jamaica is repealed or amended by that law at a time when sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 39 of the Seventh Schedule to the Copyright Act, 1956 (which applies certain provisions of that Act in relation to countries to which the said Act of 1911 extended) is in force in relation to Jamaica, the said sub-paragraph (2) shall thereupon cease to have effect in relation thereto.

Divorce jurisdiction

14. In subsection (2) of section two of the Indian and Colonial Divorce Jurisdiction Act, 1926 (which enables section one of that Act to be extended to certain countries, but not to any of the countries named in the said subsection (2)) for the words "and Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika and Jamaica".

Commonwealth Institute

15. In subsection (2) of section eight of the Imperial Institute Act, 1925, as amended by the Commonwealth Institute Act, 1958 (which relates to the power to vary the provisions of the said Act of 1925 if an agreement for the purpose is made with the governments of certain territories which for the time being are contributing towards the expenses of the Commonwealth Institute) for the words "and Tanganyika" there shall be substituted the words "Tanganyika and Jamaica".

CHAPTER 41

An Act to amend the Colonial Loans Acts, 1949 and 1952. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Amendments to Colonial Loans Acts,
1949 and 1952.

12, 13 & 14
Geo. 6. c. 50.
1 & 2 Eliz. 2.
c. 1.

1.—(1) In the proviso to subsection (1) of section one of the Colonial Loans Act, 1949 (which, as amended by subsection (2) of section one of the Colonial Loans Act, 1952, limits to the equivalent of one hundred million pounds the aggregate amount of the loans by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development to Governments of, or authorities providing or administering services for, colonial territories which may be guaranteed by the Treasury under that Act) for the words “one hundred million pounds” there shall be substituted the words “one hundred and fifty million pounds”.

(2) In subsection (1) of section one of the said Act of 1952 (which provides that in subsection (1) of section one of the said Act of 1949 the reference to the Government of a colonial territory shall be construed as including a reference to any Government constituted for two or more colonial territories and to any authority established for the purpose of providing or administering services which are common to, or relate to matters of common interest to, two or more such territories)—

(a) for the words “two or more such territories” there shall be substituted the words “two or more territories of which at least one is a colonial territory”;

(b) in paragraphs (a) and (c) (which provide that, in the case of a loan to any Government or authority constituted or established as aforesaid, references in subsection (2) or (3) of section one of the said Act of 1949 to the resources or, as the case may be, general revenues and assets of the colonial territory concerned shall be construed as references to the resources or, as the case may be, general revenues and assets of all or any of the colonial territories concerned), for the words "colonial territories" there shall be substituted the word "territories".

(3) The expression "colonial territory" in the said Acts of 1949 and 1952 shall include the New Hebrides.

2.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Colonial Loans Act, Citation. 1962.

(2) This Act and the Colonial Loans Acts, 1949 and 1952, may be cited together as the Colonial Loans Acts, 1949 to 1962.

CHAPTER 42

An Act to amend the law of Scotland relating to damages and solatium by extending the entitlement of parents to sue in respect of the death of a child, and to remove a doubt as to the title of a child to sue in respect of the death of his mother while his father is alive.

[19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1.—(1) Notwithstanding any rule of law, it shall not be a bar to any right of a mother to recover damages or solatium in respect of the death of her child that the father of that child is alive.

Extension of title of mother or child to sue in respect of the death of the other.

(2) For the removal of doubt, it is hereby declared that it shall not be a bar to any right of a child to recover damages or solatium in respect of the death of his mother that the father of that child is alive.

2. The parent of an illegitimate child shall have the like right to recover damages or solatium in respect of the death of that child as if he were legitimate.

Title to sue in respect of illegitimate child.

3. Nothing in the provisions of this Act shall apply to a claim for damages or solatium in respect of the death of a person which occurred before its commencement.

Saving.

Short title and extent.

- 4.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Law Reform (Damages and Solatium) (Scotland) Act, 1962.
- (2) This Act shall apply to Scotland only.

SCHEDULE—Convention, supplementary to the Warsaw Convention, for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air performed by a person other than the contracting carrier.

An Act to give effect to the Convention, supplementary to the Warsaw Convention, for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air performed by a person other than the contracting carrier; and for connected purposes. [19th July, 1962]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Supplementary Convention to have force of law.

1.—(1) The provisions of the Convention, supplementary to the Warsaw Convention, for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air performed by a person other than the contracting carrier, as set out in the Schedule to this Act, shall, so far as they relate to the rights and liabilities of carriers, carriers' servants and agents, passengers, consignors, consignees, and other persons, and subject to the provisions of this Act, have the force of law in the United Kingdom in relation to any carriage by air to which the Convention applies, irrespective of the nationality of the aircraft performing that carriage.

(2) If there is any inconsistency between the text in English in Part I of the Schedule to this Act and the text in French in Part II of that Schedule, the text in French shall prevail.

2.—(1) In the Schedule to this Act “the Warsaw Convention” means—

Interpretation of Supplementary
Convention.
9 & 10 Eliz. 2.
c. 27.
22 & 23 Geo. 5.
c. 36.

(a) before the day on which section one of the Carriage by Air Act, 1961, comes into force, the Convention set out in the First Schedule to the Carriage by Air Act, 1932, and

(b) on and after that day, the Convention set out in the First Schedule to the said Act of 1961, but, in relation to rights or liabilities arising out of an occurrence before that day, “the Warsaw Convention” shall continue to have the same meaning as before that day.

(2) In Articles VII and VIII in the Schedule to this Act “court” includes (in an arbitration allowed by the Conventions referred to in the foregoing subsection or by Article IX, 3 in the Schedule to this Act) an arbitrator.

(3) In the application to Scotland of the Schedule to this Act and of the foregoing provisions of this section, for references to an arbitrator and a plaintiff there shall be substituted respectively references to an arbiter and a pursuer.

3.—(1) In paragraph (a) of subsection (1) and in subsections (2) and (3) of section four of the said Act of 1961 (which explain the limitations on liability in Article 22 in the First Schedule to that Act and enable a court to make appropriate orders and awards to give effect to those limitations) references to the said Article 22 shall include, subject to any necessary modifications, references to Article VI in the Schedule to this Act.

Application of provisions of Acts of
1961 and 1932.

(2) In section five of the said Act of 1961 (which limits the time for bringing proceedings against a carrier’s servant or agent and to obtain contribution from a carrier) references to a carrier include references to an actual carrier as defined in paragraph (c) of Article I in the Schedule to this Act as well as to a contracting carrier as defined in paragraph (b) of that Article.

(3) In section eight of the said Act of 1961 (which relates to actions against States brought in the United Kingdom in accordance with Article 28 in the First Schedule to that Act) and in section two of the said Act of 1932 (which contains corresponding provisions) the reference to Article 28 shall include a reference to Article VIII in the Schedule to this Act.

4. Article V in the Schedule to this Act, and so much of Article VI in that Schedule as limits the aggregate amount which can be recovered from a carrier and his servants and agents, shall, in relation to rights or liabilities arising out of an occurrence before the day on which Article 25A in the First Schedule to the protection for carriers’ servants and agents.

said Act of 1961 (to which those provisions are supplementary) comes into force, apply not only in relation to carriage performed by an actual carrier and to the persons mentioned in those provisions but also in relation to any other carriage governed by the Convention set out in the First Schedule to the said Act of 1932 and to any carrier under that Convention and his servants and agents.

Application to British possessions, etc., and to carriage by air not governed by Supplementary Convention.

5.—(1) Section nine of the said Act of 1961 (which enables Her Majesty to extend that Act to British possessions and other territories) shall (except so far as it relates to United Kingdom trust territories) apply to this Act as it applies to that Act, and an order under that section may relate to both that Act and this Act.

(2) Section ten of the said Act of 1961 (which enables Her Majesty to apply the First Schedule and other provisions of that Act to carriage by air which is not governed by the Convention set out in that Schedule) shall apply to the Schedule and other provisions of this Act as it applies to that Act, and an order under that section may relate to both that Act and this Act.

(3) Before the day on which section one of the said Act of 1961 comes into force, in subsections (1) and (2) of this section the references to sections nine and ten of the said Act of 1961 shall be read respectively, subject to any necessary modifications, as references to sections three and four of the said Act of 1932 (which contain corresponding provisions).

(4) This section shall come into force on the passing of this Act.

Application to Crown.

6.—(1) This Act shall bind the Crown.

(2) This section shall not have effect before the day on which section one of the said Act of 1961 comes into force.

Short title, commencement and saving.

7.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Carriage by Air (Supplementary Provisions) Act, 1962.

(2) Except as otherwise provided, this Act shall come into force on such day as Her Majesty may by Order in Council certify to be the day on which the Convention in the Schedule to this Act comes into force as regards the United Kingdom.

(3) This Act shall not apply so as to affect rights or liabilities arising out of an occurrence before the day mentioned in the last foregoing subsection; and nothing in this section shall prevent any provision of this Act having effect before that day by virtue of an order under subsection (2) of section five of this Act.

SCHEDULE

Section 1.

PART I

THE ENGLISH TEXT CONVENTION

SUPPLEMENTARY TO THE WARSAW CONVENTION, FOR THE UNIFICATION OF CERTAIN RULES RELATING TO INTERNATIONAL CARRIAGE BY AIR PERFORMED BY A PERSON OTHER THAN THE CONTRACTING CARRIER

ARTICLE I

In this Convention :

- (a) [This paragraph is not reproduced. It defines "Warsaw Convention."]
- (b) "contracting carrier" means a person who as a principal makes an agreement for carriage governed by the Warsaw Convention with a passenger or consignor or with a person acting on behalf of the passenger or consignor ;
- (c) "actual carrier" means a person, other than the contracting carrier, who, by virtue of authority from the contracting carrier, performs the whole or part of the carriage contemplated in paragraph (b) but who is not with respect to such part a successive carrier within the meaning of the Warsaw Convention. Such authority is presumed in the absence of proof to the contrary.

ARTICLE II

If an actual carrier performs the whole or part of carriage which, according to the agreement referred to in Article I, paragraph (b), is governed by the Warsaw Convention, both the contracting carrier and the actual carrier shall, except as otherwise provided in this Convention, be subject to the rules of the Warsaw Convention, the former for the whole of the carriage contemplated in the agreement, the latter solely for the carriage which he performs.

ARTICLE III

1. The acts and omissions of the actual carrier and of his servants and agents acting within the scope of their employment shall, in relation to the carriage performed by the actual carrier, be deemed to be also those of the contracting carrier.

2. The acts and omissions of the contracting carrier and of his servants and agents acting within the scope of their employment shall, in relation to the carriage performed by the actual carrier, be deemed to be also those of the actual carrier. Nevertheless, no such act or omission shall subject the actual carrier to liability exceeding the limits specified in Article 22 of the Warsaw Convention. Any special agreement under which the contracting carrier assumes obligations not imposed by the Warsaw Convention or any waiver of rights conferred by that Convention or any special declaration of interest in delivery at destination contemplated in Article 22 of the said Convention, shall not affect the actual carrier unless agreed to by him.

SCH.

ARTICLE IV

Any complaint to be made or order to be given under the Warsaw Convention to the carrier shall have the same effect whether addressed to the contracting carrier or to the actual carrier. Nevertheless, orders referred to in Article 12 of the Warsaw Convention shall only be effective if addressed to the contracting carrier.

ARTICLE V

In relation to the carriage performed by the actual carrier, any servant or agent of that carrier or of the contracting carrier shall, if he proves that he acted within the scope of his employment, be entitled to avail himself of the limits of liability which are applicable under this Convention to the carrier whose servant or agent he is unless it is proved that he acted in a manner which, under the Warsaw Convention, prevents the limits of liability from being invoked.

ARTICLE VI

In relation to the carriage performed by the actual carrier, the aggregate of the amounts recoverable from that carrier and the contracting carrier, and from their servants and agents acting within the scope of their employment, shall not exceed the highest amount which could be awarded against either the contracting carrier or the actual carrier under this Convention, but none of the persons mentioned shall be liable for a sum in excess of the limit applicable to him.

ARTICLE VII

In relation to the carriage performed by the actual carrier, an action for damages may be brought, at the option of the plaintiff, against that carrier or the contracting carrier, or against both together or separately. If the action is brought against only one of those carriers, that carrier shall have the right to require the other carrier to be joined in the proceedings, the procedure and effects being governed by the law of the court seized of the case.

ARTICLE VIII

Any action for damages contemplated in Article VII of this Convention must be brought, at the option of the plaintiff, either before a court in which an action may be brought against the contracting carrier, as provided in Article 28 of the Warsaw Convention, or before the court having jurisdiction at the place where the actual carrier is ordinarily resident or has his principal place of business.

ARTICLE IX

1. Any contractual provision tending to relieve the contracting carrier or the actual carrier of liability under this Convention or to fix a lower limit than that which is applicable according to this Convention shall be null and void, but the nullity of any such provision does not involve the nullity of the whole agreement, which shall remain subject to the provisions of this Convention.

2. In respect of the carriage performed by the actual carrier, the preceding paragraph shall not apply to contractual provisions governing loss or damage resulting from the inherent defect, quality or vice of the cargo carried.

SCH.

3. Any clause contained in an agreement for carriage and all special agreements entered into before the damage occurred by which the parties purport to infringe the rules laid down by this Convention, whether by deciding the law to be applied, or by altering the rules as to jurisdiction, shall be null and void. Nevertheless, for the carriage of cargo arbitration clauses are allowed, subject to this Convention, if the arbitration is to take place in one of the jurisdictions referred to in Article VIII.

ARTICLE X

Except as provided in Article VII, nothing in this Convention shall affect the rights and obligations of the two carriers between themselves.

[Articles XI to XVIII and the concluding words of the Convention are not reproduced. They deal with the coming into force of the Convention and provide that in the case of inconsistency the text in French shall prevail.]

PART II THE FRENCH TEXT CONVENTION

COMPLEMENTAIRE A LA CONVENTION DE VARSOVIE, POUR L'UNIFICATION DE CERTAINES REGLES RELATIVES AU TRANSPORT AERIEN INTERNATIONAL EFFECTUEE PAR UNE PERSONNE AUTRE QUE LE TRANSPORTEUR CONTRACTUEL.

ARTICLE PREMIER

Dans la présente Convention :

- (a) . . . . .
- (b) "transporteur contractuel" signifie une personne partie à un contrat de transport régi par la Convention de Varsovie et conclu avec un passager ou un expéditeur ou avec une personne agissant pour le compte du passager ou de l'expéditeur ;
- (c) "transporteur de fait" signifie une personne, autre que le transporteur contractuel, qui, en vertu d'une autorisation donnée par le transporteur contractuel, effectue tout ou partie du transport prévu à l'alinéa (b) mais n'est pas, en ce qui concerne cette partie, un transporteur successif au sens de la Convention de Varsovie. Cette autorisation est présumée, sauf preuve contraire.

ARTICLE II

Sauf disposition contraire de la présente Convention, si un transporteur de fait effectue tout ou partie du transport qui, conformément au contrat visé à l'article premier, alinéa (b), est régi par la

SCH.

Convention de Varsovie, le transporteur contractuel et le transporteur de fait sont soumis aux règles de la Convention de Varsovie, le premier pour la totalité du transport envisagé dans le contrat, le second seulement pour le transport qu'il effectue.

ARTICLE III

1. Les actes et omissions du transporteur de fait ou de ses préposés agissant dans l'exercice de leurs fonctions, relatifs au transport effectué par le transporteur de fait, sont réputés être également ceux du transporteur contractuel.

2. Les actes et omissions du transporteur contractuel ou de ses préposés agissant dans l'exercice de leurs fonctions, relatifs au transport effectué par le transporteur de fait, sont réputés être également ceux du transporteur de fait. Toutefois, aucun de ces actes ou omissions ne pourra soumettre le transporteur de fait à une responsabilité dépassant les limites prévues à l'article 22 de la Convention de Varsovie. Aucun accord spécial aux termes duquel le transporteur contractuel assume des obligations que n'impose pas la Convention de Varsovie, aucune renonciation à des droits prévus par ladite Convention ou aucune déclaration spéciale d'intérêt à la livraison, visée à l'article 22 de ladite Convention, n'auront d'effet à l'égard du transporteur de fait, sauf consentement de ce dernier.

ARTICLE IV

Les ordres ou protestations à notifier au transporteur, en application de la Convention de Varsovie, ont le même effet qu'ils soient adressés au transporteur contractuel ou au transporteur de fait. Toutefois, les ordres visés à l'article 12 de la Convention de Varsovie n'ont d'effet que s'ils sont adressés au transporteur contractuel.

ARTICLE V

En ce qui concerne le transport effectué par le transporteur de fait, tout préposé de ce transporteur ou du transporteur contractuel, s'il prouve qu'il a agi dans l'exercice de ses fonctions, peut se prévaloir des limites de responsabilité applicables, en vertu de la présente Convention, au transporteur dont il est préposé, sauf s'il est prouvé qu'il a agi de telle façon que les limites de responsabilité ne puissent être invoquées aux termes de la Convention de Varsovie.

ARTICLE VI

En ce qui concerne le transport effectué par le transporteur de fait, le montant total de la réparation qui peut être obtenu de ce transporteur, du transporteur contractuel et de leurs préposés quand ils ont agi dans l'exercice de leurs fonctions, ne peut pas dépasser l'indemnité la plus élevée qui peut être mise à charge soit du transporteur contractuel, soit du transporteur de fait, en vertu de la présente Convention, sous réserve qu'aucune des personnes mentionnées dans le présent article ne puisse être tenue pour responsable au delà de la limite qui lui est applicable.

ARTICLE VII

SCH.

Toute action en responsabilité, relative au transport effectuée par le transporteur de fait, peut être intentée, au choix du demandeur, contre ce transporteur ou le transporteur contractuel ou contre l'un et l'autre, conjointement ou séparément. Si l'action est intentée contre l'un seulement de ces transporteurs, ledit transporteur aura le droit d'appeler l'autre transporteur en intervention devant le tribunal saisi, les effets de cette intervention ainsi que la procédure qui lui est applicable étant réglés par la loi de ce tribunal.

ARTICLE VIII

Toute action en responsabilité, prévue à l'article VII de la présente Convention, doit être portée, au choix du demandeur, soit devant l'un des tribunaux où une action peut être intentée au transporteur contractuel, conformément à l'article 28 de la Convention de Varsovie, soit devant le tribunal du domicile du transporteur de fait ou du siège principal de son exploitation.

ARTICLE IX

1. Toute clause tendant à exonérer le transporteur contractuel ou le transporteur de fait de leur responsabilité en vertu de la présente Convention ou à établir une limite inférieure à celle qui est fixée dans la présente Convention est nulle et de nul effet, mais la nullité de cette clause n'entraîne pas la nullité du contrat qui reste soumis aux dispositions de la présente Convention.

2. En ce qui concerne le transport effectué par le transporteur de fait, le paragraphe précédent ne s'applique pas aux clauses concernant la perte ou le dommage résultant de la nature ou du vice propre des marchandises transportées.

3. Sont nulles toutes clauses du contrat de transport et toutes conventions particulières antérieures au dommage par lesquelles les parties dérogeraient aux règles de la présente Convention soit par une détermination de la loi applicable, soit par une modification des règles de compétence. Toutefois, dans le transport des marchandises, les clauses d'arbitrage sont admises, dans les limites de la présente Convention, lorsque l'arbitrage doit s'effectuer dans les lieux de compétence des tribunaux prévus à l'article VIII.

ARTICLE X

Sous réserve de l'article VII, aucune disposition de la présente Convention ne peut être interprétée comme affectant les droits et obligations existant entre les deux transporteurs.

An Act to grant certain duties, to alter other duties, and to amend the law relating to the National Debt and the Public Revenue, and to make further provision in connection with Finance. [1st August, 1962]

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We, Your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Commons of the United Kingdom in Parliament assembled, towards raising the necessary supplies to defray Your Majesty's public expenses, and making an addition to the public revenue, have freely and voluntarily resolved to give and grant unto Your Majesty the several duties hereinafter mentioned; and do therefore most humbly beseech Your Majesty that it may be enacted, and be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I

CUSTOMS, EXCISE AND PURCHASE TAX

- 1.—(1) As from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two,—
- (a) the adjustment of ten per cent. which had effect immediately before that day under subsection (2) of section nine of the Finance Act, 1961, shall not have effect in the case of any duty or tax to which the section applies or of any drawback, rebate, allowance or other payment in connection with such a duty or tax; but
- Surcharge
under Finance Act, 1961,
s. 9, and related changes in rates of revenue duties.

PART I

(b) subsection (2) below shall have effect in the case of the articles and duties there mentioned with a view to making an equivalent increase (that is to say, an increase of ten per cent. or as near thereto as is convenient) in the rates of those duties or, as the case may be, making an equivalent increase in one or more of the duties or rates applying to the articles and such related increases in others of them as will take account of existing preferences and other matters or will tend to simplify the duty.

(2) The customs and excise duties to be so increased and the amounts of the increases, together with the increase in the rates of any drawback where those rates are not under the enactments relating to the duty fixed by the rates of duty, shall be as appears from the following paragraphs, that is to say:—

(a) in the case of spirits other than imported perfumed spirits, beer (but not black beer), wine and British wine, the equivalent increase shall be made—

(i) in the rate of the excise duty on spirits not chargeable with additional duty as immature spirits; and

(ii) in the rate of the excise duty on beer; and

(iii) in the Commonwealth rates of the customs duty on still wines and in the excise duty on still British wine; and the full and Commonwealth rates of duty, the rates of excise duty, and in the case of beer the corresponding rates of drawback, shall be as respectively shown in the relevant columns in the First, Second and Third Schedules to this Act (where the First Schedule also sets out in Table II the existing rates of customs duty on imported perfumed spirits);

(b) in the case of tobacco the equivalent increase shall be made in the rates of duty on unmanufactured tobacco, and the full and Commonwealth rates of customs duty, the rates of excise duty and the corresponding rates of drawback, shall be as respectively shown in the relevant columns in the Fourth Schedule to this Act;

(c) in the case of hydrocarbon oils, power methylated spirits and petrol substitutes, the equivalent increase shall be made in the rate of the customs duty on hydrocarbon oils (that rate accordingly becoming two shillings and ninepence a gallon), and the enactments fixing by reference to the rate of that duty the rates of excise duty on those articles and the rates of rebate on heavy oils shall have effect accordingly;

(d) in the case of the pool betting duty, the equivalent increase shall be made in the rate of the duty applicable to bets other than bets made by means of a totalisator set up on a licensed dog racecourse, with effect for bets made at any time by reference to an event taking place on or after the said tenth day of April, and that rate shall accordingly become thirty-three per cent. ;

PART I

- (e) in the case of the television advertisement duty, the equivalent increase shall be made in the rate of the duty, with effect for programmes broadcast on or after the said tenth day of April, and that rate shall accordingly become eleven per cent.

The supplementary provisions contained in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Schedules to this Act shall have effect for adapting, with regard to the rates of duty and drawback there provided, the existing enactments concerning the duties in question.

(3) Orders of the Treasury under section nine of the Finance Act, 1961, may, notwithstanding the proviso to subsection (1) of that section, be made or continue in force after the thirty-first day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, but not after the thirty-first day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-three, or such later date as Parliament may hereafter determine.

(4) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) “black beer” means black beer of an original gravity of 1200 degrees or more ; and
 (b) “British wine” means any liquor heretofore comprised in the expression “sweets” ; and
 (c) “Commonwealth rate” means the rate applying to articles which qualify for Commonwealth preference ; and
 (d) “licensed dog racecourse” means a dog racecourse which is a track in respect of which a licence granted under Part I of the Betting and Lotteries Act, 1934, is for the time being in force, and “totalisator” has the same meaning as in the said Part I ;

and in the excise Acts for the expression “sweets”, wherever occurring, there shall be substituted the expression “British wine”.

2.—(1) In the case of goods of Convention area origin within the meaning of the European Free Trade Association Act, 1960,—

- (a) the duties of customs and drawbacks of those duties mentioned in Table I in the First Schedule and in the Second and Fourth Schedules to this Act, instead of being charged or allowed at the full rates there shown shall be charged or allowed at the Convention rates shown in the relevant columns of those Schedules ; and Lower rates of customs duties on E.F.T.A. goods.

PART I

- (b) the duties of customs charged on matches by section four of the Finance Act, 1951, shall be charged at the rate of 19s. 7d. (instead of 19s. 11d.) per 10,000 matches in containers in which there are not more than 30 matches, and at the rate of 14s. 1d. (instead of 14s. 5d.) per 7,200 matches in containers in which there are more than 30 matches ; and
- (c) the duty of customs charged on mechanical lighters by section six of the Finance Act, 1928, shall be charged at the rate of 6s. 6d. (instead of 7s. 0d.) or, in the case of a gas lighter, at the rate of 4s. 6d. (instead of 5s. 0d.).

(2) In the application to any of the said duties of any provision contained in the customs Acts and passed before this Act, any reference to a preferential rate shall be taken as referring only to a rate for goods qualifying for Commonwealth preference, and any reference to the full rate (where distinguished from a preferential rate) shall be taken as including any Convention rate of duty.

(3) This section shall have effect as from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

3.—(1) In respect of the following goods, that is to say,—

- (a) sugar, molasses, glucose and saccharin ; and
- (b) tea ; and
- (c) coffee, chicory and mixtures thereof, and preparations consisting wholly or partly of extracts, essences or other concentrations of coffee or chicory ; and
- (d) cocoa, cocoa butter and cocoa husks and shells ;

there shall be charged under the Import Duties Act, 1958, such duties of customs (if any) as may be provided for in accordance with that Act by any order of the Treasury, and on the coming into force of such an order for goods within any paragraph of this subsection any duties of customs then chargeable under any other Act in respect of goods within that paragraph shall cease to be chargeable.

(2) The following duties of customs shall, until they cease under subsection (1) above to be chargeable, be charged in respect of sugar, invert sugar, glucose and saccharin imported into the United Kingdom, that is to say, in the case of sugar, invert sugar, glucose and saccharin not qualifying for Commonwealth preference, duties at the rates shown in Part I of the Fifth Schedule to this Act, and in the case of sugar qualifying for Commonwealth preference, being sugar of a polarisation exceeding 99°, a duty at the rate of 12·8d. per cwt., and as regards drawback of those duties the following provisions shall apply :—

- (a) drawback allowable in respect of sugar produced in the United Kingdom from dutiable materials shall be as follows :—

Sugar, tea, coffee and cocoa chargeable with protective instead of revenue duties.

PART I

(i) where the duty on the materials was paid in accordance with Part I of the Fifth Schedule to this Act at a rate less than 6s. 10·8d. per cwt., and the sugar is of a polarisation exceeding 98°, the rate of drawback shall be 4s. 3½d. ;

(ii) in any other case the drawback shall be of an amount equal to the duty chargeable on sugar of the like polarisation (and qualifying or not qualifying for Commonwealth preference as the materials did or did not so qualify on payment of the duty) ;

(b) drawback shall not be allowable (except in the case of invert sugar) in respect of molasses produced in the United Kingdom from dutiable materials, and any drawback allowable in respect of invert sugar so produced shall be of an amount equal to the duty paid on the materials ; and there shall not be charged any duty of customs or excise previously chargeable on sugar, molasses, glucose or saccharin (except any duty of customs under the Import Duties Act, 1958), nor shall any excise licence be required to manufacture in Great Britain sugar, glucose, saccharin or invert sugar.

There shall also not be allowed any drawback or other relief, whether of the duties previously chargeable or of the duties under this subsection, by virtue of section two hundred and sixteen or two hundred and seventeen, or of paragraph (e) or (f) of subsection (1) of section two hundred and eighteen, of the Customs and Excise Act, 1952 (which relate to goods for use in certain manufactures or for the feeding of stock).

(3) Until they cease under subsection (1) above to be chargeable, the duties of customs chargeable on coffee under section three of the Finance Act, 1924, and on preparations consisting wholly or partly of extracts, essences or other concentrations of coffee or chicory under section two of the Finance Act, 1946, shall be charged at the rates shown in Table I in the Sixth Schedule to this Act ; and for roasted coffee and mixtures of roasted coffee and roasted chicory the rates of drawback of the duties chargeable under the said section three shall be the rates shown for these drawbacks in Table II in that Schedule.

(4) A duty of customs shall, until it ceases to be chargeable under subsection (1) above, be charged at the rate of 2s. 4d. per cwt. on cocoa or cocoa butter imported into the United Kingdom and not qualifying for Commonwealth preference, and there shall not be charged the duties of customs previously chargeable on cocoa, cocoa butter and cocoa husks and shells under section two of the Finance Act, 1924.

Drawback of the duty under this subsection shall not be allowed under section two hundred and thirty-one of the Customs PART I and Excise Act, 1952, on goods delivered or appropriated for use in the manufacture of theobromine.

(5) Subsections (2) to (4) above shall have effect as from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

(6) The changes made by subsections (1) and (2) above in the duties on sugar or invert sugar, or in the drawbacks and other reliefs of those duties, shall not affect or be deemed to have affected surcharge and surcharge repayments or distribution payments and repayments under the Sugar Act, 1956, except to the extent provided for by Part II of the Fifth Schedule to this Act; and the Sugar Act, 1956, shall have effect subject to and in accordance with the provisions of Part II of the Fifth Schedule to this Act (being provisions designed to adapt its operation in the United Kingdom to the provision made by this section as to sugar and molasses, and to secure that it has the like operation in the Isle of Man).

Hydrocarbon oils (minor amendments).

4.—(1) For the purposes of the customs and excise Acts the expression “fuel oils” shall include any heavy oils which contain in solution an amount of hard asphalt of not less than one tenth of one per cent. and of which the closed flash point is one hundred and fifty degrees centigrade or below (so that in respect of any such oils the rate of the rebate of customs duty shall, in accordance with section two of the Finance Act, 1961, be twopence, instead of threepence, less than the rate of the duty); and this shall have effect from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

(2) In the Customs and Excise Act, 1952—

(a) section two hundred and one (which provides for the licensing of persons selling unrebated heavy oils) shall cease to have effect, and accordingly in subsection (1) of section two hundred and two for the words “the two last foregoing sections” there shall be substituted the words “section two hundred of this Act”; and

(b) in the said section two hundred, for subsections (2) to (5) there shall be substituted the subsections set out in the Seventh Schedule to this Act (which substantially reproduce the effect of the said subsections (2) to (5) as amended by section seven of the Finance Act, 1959, section nine of the Finance Act, 1960, and the Seventh Schedule to the Vehicles (Excise) Act, 1962).

(3) In subsections (2) and (3) of section two hundred and three of the Customs and Excise Act, 1952 (which relate to the allowance, on the exportation etc. of any articles, of drawback of duty on hydrocarbon oil, or goods containing it, used as a material, solvent, preservative or finish in the manufacture or preparation of those articles), after the word “solvent”, there shall, in both places, be inserted the word “extractant”.

5.—(1) For the purpose of the application, in relation to an offence committed after the commencement of this Act, of paragraph (b) of section seven of the Vehicles (Excise) Act, 1962, or paragraph (b) of subsection (9) of section twelve thereof (which provide for excise penalties calculated by reference to the duty chargeable in respect of a vehicle), the amount of the duty chargeable in respect of any vehicle shall be taken to be an amount equal to the annual rate of duty applicable to the vehicle at the date on which the offence was committed or, where in the case of a vehicle kept on a public road that rate differs from the annual rate by reference to which the vehicle was at that date chargeable under section four of that Act, equal to the last-mentioned rate.

PART I
Amendments of Vehicles (Excise)
Act, 1962.

In the case of a conviction for a continuing offence, the offence shall be taken for the purposes of this subsection to have been committed on the date or latest date to which the conviction relates.

(2) In section seventeen of the Vehicles (Excise) Act, 1962, in subsection (2) (which renders punishable a false declaration made in connection with an application for a licence for a vehicle) there shall be inserted in paragraph (a) after the word "vehicle" the words "(including an application for a trade licence)".

6.—(1) Part I of the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1958, shall be amended as follows (but subject to any new order of the Treasury under section twenty-one of the Finance Act, 1948), that is to say:—

tax.

- (a) as from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, the rates of tax shall be amended by substituting for any reference to a rate of fifty per cent. a reference to a rate of forty-five per cent., and for any reference to a rate of twelve and a half per cent. or of five per cent. a reference to a rate of ten per cent., and accordingly as from the passing of this Act the Groups mentioned in Part I of the Eighth Schedule to this Act shall be amended as there specified; and
- (b) as from the eighth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, the Groups set out in Part II of the Eighth Schedule to this Act shall be added after Group 33.

(2) In relation to chargeable goods, being beverages or products for the preparation of beverages, section twenty-five of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1940 (which provides that certain appropriations or applications of chargeable goods for purposes there mentioned shall be treated as chargeable purchases), shall apply as if the production of beverages which are not purchase tax goods (other than spirits, beer or British wine produced under the authority of the appropriate excise licence) were among the purposes specified in paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of that section, and shall so apply with effect from the eighth day of May, nineteen hundred and sixty-two; and references to that section in any other enactment shall have effect accordingly.

In this subsection "purchase tax goods" means goods of any description from time to time comprised in Part I of the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1958.

(3) For the purposes of the enactments relating to purchase tax any person who in the United Kingdom makes, or applies any process in the course of the making of, goods for use in or in connection with a business carried on by him shall be treated as carrying on a business of making those goods, and shall accordingly be deemed to be a manufacturer; and in the case of any such person his appropriation or application of the goods to that use shall, for the purposes of section twenty-three of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1940, and of any other enactment relating to registration for purchase tax purposes, be considered as a sale in the course of his business at a price equal to the wholesale value of the goods.

(4) Any drug or medicine comprised in Group 33 in Part I of the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1958 (or any Group substituted therefor by order of the Treasury under section twenty-one of the Finance Act, 1948) shall be exempt from all charge to purchase tax, if so directed by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise:

Provided that—

- (a) any direction under this subsection shall cease to have effect, if not previously revoked, on the expiration of fifteen months from the giving of the direction or on the coming into force of an order of the Treasury with respect to the exemption from tax of drugs and medicines so comprised, not being an order made before or within six weeks after the giving of the direction; and
- (b) the Commissioners shall not give such a direction except on the recommendation of the Minister of Health or of the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food.

(5) Where an amount is due from any person on account of purchase tax, but by reason of his failure to keep or to produce or furnish to the proper officer the accounts, records or other documents required by or under the enactments relating to the tax, or to take or permit to be taken any other step which he is so required to take or permit to be taken, or by reason of the accounts, records or other documents kept, produced or furnished being materially incomplete or inaccurate, the Commissioners of Customs and Excise are unable to ascertain the amount of tax properly due from him, the Commissioners may estimate the amount of tax due, and (without prejudice to the recovery of the full amount due or to the making of a further estimate in that behalf) the amount estimated shall be recoverable as tax properly due unless in any action relating thereto the person liable proves the amount properly due, and that amount is less than the amount estimated.

PART I

(6) An estimated sum for tax due from a person in respect of a period before the coming into force of subsection (5) above may be recovered under that subsection notwithstanding any proceedings taken before that subsection comes into force for the recovery of that tax on an estimate made by the Commissioners of the amount due, or any order made, judgment given or other thing done after the ninth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, in or in relation to any such proceedings; but save as aforesaid that subsection shall not affect any order or judgment made or given before that subsection comes into force.

PART II

INCOME TAX AND PROFITS TAX

CHAPTER I

RENEWAL OF INCOME TAX, AND CHANGES IN PERSONAL RELIEFS

7. Income tax for the year 1962-63 shall be charged at the standard rate of seven shillings and ninepence in the pound, and in the case of an individual whose total income exceeds two thousand pounds, at such higher rates in respect of the excess as Parliament may hereafter determine.

Charge of income tax
for 1962-63.

8.—(1) In section fifteen of the Finance Act, 1952 (relief for persons under sixty-five with small incomes), as originally enacted, for the references to two hundred and fifty pounds (the income limit for the full relief) there shall be substituted in all places references to four hundred pounds; and (as regards the marginal relief) for the references to three hundred and fifty pounds and to two-fifths there shall be substituted references to five hundred and fifty pounds and to one-half.

Increase of reliefs for small incomes.

(2) In section thirteen of the Finance Act, 1957 (relief for persons over sixty-five with small incomes), as originally enacted, for the references to two hundred and fifty pounds and to four hundred pounds (the income limits for exemption) there shall be substituted references to three hundred pounds and to four hundred and eighty pounds; and (as regards the marginal relief) for the reference to fifty pounds (the addition to the income limit) there shall be substituted a reference to seventy-five pounds.

(3) This section shall not be deemed to have required any change in the amounts deducted or repaid under section one

Z

PART II hundred and fifty-seven (pay as you earn) of the Income Tax Act, 1952, before the twenty-second day of June, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

Relief for blind persons.

9.—(1) Subject to subsection (3) below, if a claimant proves—

- (a) that he is a married man who for the year of assessment has his wife living with him, and that one of them was, and the other was not, throughout the year a registered blind person ; or
- (b) that, not being such a married man, he was throughout the year a registered blind person ; and also proves that the amounts of any tax-free disability payments receivable in the year by him or, as the case may be, by his wife living with him are such that seven-ninths of the aggregate thereof is less than one hundred pounds, he shall be entitled to a deduction from the amount of income tax with which he is chargeable equal to tax at the standard rate on an amount equal to one hundred pounds reduced by seven-ninths of the aggregate of any such payments so receivable.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) below, if a claimant proves—

- (a) that he is a married man who for the year of assessment has his wife living with him ; and
- (b) that throughout the year both he and his wife were registered blind persons ; and
- (c) that the amounts of any tax-free disability payments receivable in the year (whether by him or his wife) are such that seven-ninths of the aggregate thereof is less than two hundred pounds ;

he shall be entitled to a deduction from the amount of income tax with which he is chargeable equal to tax at the standard rate on an amount equal to two hundred pounds reduced by seven-ninths of the aggregate of any such payments so receivable.

(3) Unless a claimant who is entitled to relief for the year of assessment under section two hundred and seventeen of the Income Tax Act, 1952, in respect of the services of a daughter relinquishes his claim to that relief, he shall not be allowed relief under subsection (1) or (2) above for that year.

(4) In this section—

“ registered blind person ” means a person registered as a blind person in a register compiled under section twenty-nine of the National Assistance Act, 1948, or under any corresponding enactment for the time being in force in Northern Ireland ;

“ tax-free disability payment ” means a periodical payment receivable by a person on account of his blindness and not falling to be treated as income for the purposes of income tax.

PART II

(5) In subsection (1) of section fourteen of the Finance Act, 1957 (under which, as amended by the Finance Act, 1960, certain reliefs specified in paragraphs (a) to (d) thereof by reference to the enactments conferring them are allowable for purposes of surtax), at the end of paragraph (d) there shall be inserted the following—

“ and

(e) subsection (1) or (2) of section nine of the Finance Act, 1962 (relief for blind persons) ; ”.

(6) The Income Tax Acts, and in particular Part VIII of the Income Tax Act, 1952, shall have effect as if subsections (1) to (4) of this section were contained in the said Part VIII between sections two hundred and eighteen and two hundred and nineteen.

CHAPTER II

CHARGE ON GAINS FROM ACQUISITION AND DISPOSAL OF ASSETS

10.—(1) Without prejudice to any other provision of the Income Tax Acts directing income tax to be charged under Schedule D, tax under that Schedule for the year 1962-63 or any subsequent year of assessment shall be charged, subject to and in accordance with the rules contained in this Chapter, in respect of all gains accruing to any person resident and ordinarily resident for the year in the United Kingdom from his acquisition and disposal of any chargeable assets, not being gains which accrue as profits of a trade, profession, vocation, office or employment:

Charge to income tax and profits tax.

Provided that tax shall not be chargeable by virtue of this section where the acquisition or the disposal occurred before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, except in so far as provision to the contrary is made by section fourteen of this Act.

(2) Except for purposes of section fourteen of this Act, there shall be no acquisition and disposal within the meaning of this Chapter where the disposal occurs more than three years after the acquisition in the case of a disposal of land, or where the disposal occurs more than six months after the acquisition in any other case.

(3) Tax charged under Schedule D by virtue of this section shall be charged under a new Case VII of that Schedule (in this Chapter referred to as “ Case VII ”), and—

(a) the tax with which a person is chargeable under Case VII for any year of assessment shall be computed on the gains accruing to him in that year, after deducting any losses allowable under Case VII against those gains; and

PART II

- (b) subject to subsection (6) below, a gain on the acquisition and disposal of an asset shall for purposes of Case VII be treated as accruing at the time of the disposal or, if that precedes the acquisition, the time of the acquisition; and
- (c) the amount or net amount on which tax is charged by this subsection shall be deemed for income tax purposes to be income for the year of assessment of the person chargeable.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter the losses allowable under Case VII against gains accruing to a person in any year of assessment shall consist of any losses accruing to him in that or any previous year from any chargeable acquisition and disposal, that is to say, from his acquisition and disposal of assets in such circumstances that a gain accruing from it would have been chargeable under Case VII; and a loss shall be treated as accruing at the same time, and be computed in the same manner, as a gain would be.

(5) The foregoing provisions of this section with respect to losses allowable under Case VII shall not prejudice any right to relief in respect of other losses from tax chargeable under that Case, or otherwise affect any other provision of the Income Tax Acts with respect to losses; but no deduction shall be made under Case VII of a loss or part of a loss in respect of which relief from tax has already been allowed by such a deduction or otherwise, and where such a deduction is made no relief from tax in respect of the loss or that part of it shall be allowed under any other provision of the Income Tax Acts.

(6) In the case of individuals resident and ordinarily resident but not domiciled in the United Kingdom, tax under Case VII shall not be charged in respect of gains arising to them out of the United Kingdom except that tax shall be charged on the amounts (if any) received in the United Kingdom in respect of those gains, any such amounts being treated as gains accruing when they are received in the United Kingdom; and accordingly losses arising out of the United Kingdom to any such individual shall not be allowable under Case VII.

(7) In computing for the purposes of the profits tax the profits or losses arising from a trade or business, any such gains and losses as are to be included and allowed in computing a person's income for purposes of Case VII shall by virtue of this Chapter (but subject to the enactments adapting income tax principles to the computation) be respectively included as receipts and allowed by way of deduction from gains so included, in so far as they would not otherwise be brought into the computation ; and for this purpose—

PART II

- (a) subject to paragraph (c) below, the gains to be included and the losses to be allowed shall be those accruing from the acquisition and disposal of assets where income arising from the assets to the person making the disposal would be brought into account as a receipt in computing the profits including franked investment income of the trade or business, or would be so brought into account apart from subsection (5) of section forty-two of the Finance Act, 1938 (which relates to payments between associated companies) ;
- (b) in the case of any chargeable accounting period, whether or not it is a period for which the accounts of the trade or business are made up, the gains to be included shall be those accruing during the period, and the losses to be allowed shall be determined accordingly, and subsection (3) of section twenty of the Finance Act, 1937, shall not apply in relation to those gains or losses ;
- (c) where under section twenty-two of the Finance Act, 1937, the profits or losses of a subsidiary are to be treated as profits or losses of the principal company, the gains or losses to be brought into account by virtue of paragraph (a) above in the case of any company shall be the same as if no notice were in force under that section, but—
 - (i) where gains accrue in a chargeable accounting period of the subsidiary in excess of the losses allowable to the subsidiary under this Chapter against those gains, then in computing the profits arising in the corresponding chargeable accounting period of the principal company from its trade or business the excess shall, for the purpose of deducting losses allowable to the principal company under this Chapter and accruing in that period and for the purposes of sub-paragraph (ii) below, be regarded as if it were a gain to be included by virtue of this Chapter in the computation of those profits ; and
 - (ii) where losses accrue in a chargeable accounting period of the subsidiary so as to be allowable to the subsidiary under this Chapter against gains so accruing, but exceed the amount (if any) of those gains, the excess may be allowed as a deduction in computing the profits or losses generally of that period :

Provided that this sub-paragraph shall not apply unless in computing the profits arising in the corresponding chargeable accounting period of the principal company from its trade or business gains are to be included by virtue of this Chapter in excess of the losses allowable against those gains, nor shall a greater amount be allowed to any subsidiary or subsidiaries by reference to the period than the amount of that excess.

Chargeable assets.

11.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, all forms of property, whether situated in the United Kingdom or not, (including options, debts and incorporeal property generally) shall be chargeable assets for the purposes of Case VII, with the exception of tangible movable property; and subsection (2) of section ten of this Act shall apply to an option or other right to acquire or dispose of land as it applies to land.

(2) Tangible movable property shall be chargeable assets in any of the following cases:—

- (a) commodities of any description shall be chargeable assets in relation to any acquisition and disposal by a person dealing on a futures market or dealing with or through a person ordinarily engaged in dealing on a futures market;
- (b) currency of any description shall be chargeable assets, except in relation to an acquisition and disposal by an individual for the personal expenditure outside the United Kingdom of himself or his family or dependants (including expenditure on the provision or maintenance of any residence outside the United Kingdom);
- (c) tangible movable property of any description shall be chargeable assets in relation to any acquisition and disposal by a person acquiring it with a view to its employment in a trade or business carried on or to be carried on by him, but disposing of it without its being employed in that trade or business.

(3) Subject to subsection (7) below, the dwelling-house or part of a dwelling-house which is an individual's only or main residence shall not be chargeable assets in relation to any acquisition and disposal of it by him, nor shall land which he has for his own occupation and enjoyment with that residence as its garden or grounds up to an area (inclusive of the site of the dwelling-house) of one acre, or such larger area as the Commissioners concerned may in any particular case determine, on being satisfied that, regard being had to the size and character of the dwelling-house, the larger area is required for the reasonable enjoyment of it (or of the part in question) as a residence.

In the case where part of the land occupied with a residence is and part is not to be treated under this subsection as chargeable assets, then (up to the permitted area) that part shall be taken not to be chargeable assets which, if the remainder were separately occupied, would be the most suitable for occupation and enjoyment with the residence.

(4) Subject to subsection (7) below, any building or part of a building which a person occupies and uses for the purposes only of a trade, profession or vocation carried on by him (other than a trade of dealing in or developing land, or of providing services for the occupier of land in which that person has an estate or interest) shall not be chargeable assets in relation to any acquisition and disposal of it by him, nor shall any land which he occupies for purposes ancillary to his occupation and use of the building or part of a building; and this subsection—

- (a) shall apply in relation to any permanent or semi-permanent structure in the nature of a building, as it applies in relation to a building; and
- (b) shall apply in relation to the discharge of the functions of a public or local authority, and to the occupation of woodlands where the woodlands are managed by the occupier on a commercial basis and with a view to the realisation of profits, as it applies in relation to a trade, profession or vocation.

(5) Subject to subsection (7) below, fixed plant or machinery which does not form part of a building or of a permanent or semi-permanent structure in the nature of a building, and which a person uses for the purposes only of a trade carried on by him, shall not be chargeable assets in relation to any acquisition or disposal of it by him; and this subsection shall apply in relation to the discharge of the functions of a public or local authority, and to the occupation of woodlands where the woodlands are managed by the occupier on a commercial basis and with a view to the realisation of profits, as it applies in relation to a trade.

(6) Patent rights (that is to say, the right to do or authorise the doing of anything which would, but for that right, be an infringement of a patent) shall not be chargeable assets, nor shall rights to acquire in the future patent rights as respects any invention in respect of which the patent has not yet been granted.

(7) Subsection (3), (4) or (5) above shall not apply by reason of a person's use of an asset for a purpose within the subsection, unless his acquisition of it was made for that purpose and not wholly or partly for the purpose of realising a gain from the disposal of it; but where a person acquires land as a site for a building or structure, and disposes of it after the erection of the building or structure, subsection (3) or (4) above shall not be prevented from applying by reason of his not having acquired the land with the building or structure on it.

PART II
General operation of charge.

12.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any acquisition of an interest or right in or over assets (whether it continues after or ceases on the acquisition), or any disposal of such an interest or right (whether it subsists before or is created by the disposal), shall be deemed for purposes of Case VII to be an acquisition or a disposal of the assets, and (except in so far as the context otherwise requires) the expression “acquire” and the expression “dispose of” shall be construed accordingly.

(2) For purposes of Case VII, where a contract is made to acquire or dispose of an asset (including an asset not in existence or not ascertained at the time of the contract), the contract shall be deemed to be the acquisition or disposal of the asset (for the consideration provided for by the contract), and the conveyance or transfer of an asset or of an interest or right in or over an asset in pursuance of a contract previously made shall not be deemed to be an acquisition or disposal of the asset.

(3) Subject to subsection (4) below and to the Ninth Schedule to this Act, a person’s acquisition of any asset, and the disposal of it to him, shall for purposes of Case VII be deemed to be for a consideration equal to the market value of the asset or of the interest or right in or over it received by him—

- (a) where he acquires the asset otherwise than by way of a bargain made at arm’s length, and in particular where he acquires it by way of gift, or by way of distribution from a company in respect of shares in the company ; or
- (b) where he acquires the asset wholly or partly for a consideration that cannot be valued, or in connection with his own or another’s loss of office or employment or diminution of emoluments, or otherwise in consideration for or recognition of his or another’s services or past services in any office or employment or of any other services rendered or to be rendered by him or another ; or
- (c) where he acquires the asset as trustee for creditors of the person making the disposal.

(4) Where, on a person’s acquisition of an asset, the asset or the interest or right in or over it received by him falls to be taken into account for purposes of tax as a receipt of an income nature (whether as his receipt or another’s), or would fall to be so taken into account if he (or, as the case may be, that other) were chargeable to tax in respect of the whole of his income, his acquisition shall for purposes of Case VII be deemed to be for a consideration equal to the amount or value attributed to the asset for that purpose.

(5) In relation to assets held by a person as nominee for another person, or as trustee for another person absolutely entitled as against the trustee (or for two or more persons jointly so entitled), this Chapter shall apply as if the property were vested in, and the acts of the nominee or trustee in relation to the assets were the acts of, the person or persons for whom he is nominee or trustee (acquisitions from or disposals to him by that person or persons being disregarded accordingly).

(6) In relation to settled property, the trustees of the settlement shall for purposes of Case VII be treated as being a single and continuing body of persons (distinct from the persons who may from time to time be the trustees), and that body shall be treated as being resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom unless the general administration of the trusts is ordinarily carried on outside the United Kingdom and the trustees or a majority of them for the time being are not resident or not ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom :

Provided that a body corporate carrying on a business which consists of or includes the management of trusts, and acting as trustee of a trust in the course of that business, shall be treated in relation to that trust as not resident in the United Kingdom if the whole of the settled property consists of or derives from property provided by a person not at the time (or, in the case of a trust arising under a testamentary disposition or on an intestacy or partial intestacy, at his death) domiciled, resident or ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom.

For the purposes of this subsection, where part of the property comprised in a settlement is vested in one trustee or set of trustees and part in another (and in particular where settled land within the meaning of the Settled Land Act, 1925, is vested in the tenant for life and investments representing capital money are vested in the trustees of the settlement), they shall be treated as together constituting and, in so far as they act separately, as acting on behalf of a single body of trustees.

(7) Subsection (6) above shall apply in relation to property forming part of the estate of a deceased person and to his personal representatives as it applies in relation to settled property and to trustees of a settlement, but personal representatives shall not be chargeable to tax in respect of an acquisition and disposal by reference to the vesting of the property of the deceased in them.

(8) A person acquiring assets as legatee shall not be chargeable under Case VII in respect of any acquisition and disposal by reference to that acquisition, except as provided by section fourteen of this Act ; nor, in the case of settled property, shall a person be chargeable under Case VII in respect of any acquisition and disposal of a beneficial interest under the settlement.

z*

PART II

(9) The conveyance or transfer by way of security of an asset or of an interest or right in or over it, or transfer of a subsisting interest or right by way of security in or over an asset (including a retransfer on redemption of the security), shall not be treated for purposes of Case VII as involving any acquisition or disposal of the asset; and, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, this Chapter shall have effect in relation to any right to money secured on land (including periodical payments issuing out of land, where the right to the payments is not incident to an estate or interest in the land), as it has effect in relation to assets other than land, and not as it has effect in relation to land.

(10) Where a person entitled to an asset by way of security or to the benefit of a charge or incumbrance on an asset deals with the asset for the purpose of enforcing or giving effect to the security, charge or incumbrance, his dealings with it shall be treated for purposes of Case VII as if they were done through him as nominee by the person entitled to it subject to the security, charge or incumbrance; and this subsection shall apply to the dealings of any person appointed to enforce or give effect to the security, charge or incumbrance as receiver, receiver and manager or judicial factor as it applies to the dealings of the person entitled as aforesaid.

(11) Except as provided by section thirteen of this Act, a person disposing of land by letting it for a term of less than twenty-one years shall not be chargeable under Case VII in respect of any acquisition and disposal by reference to that disposal, unless the letting is accompanied by another letting or agreement for another letting such that the combined terms amount to twenty-one years or over, or by an agreement to dispose of the land otherwise than by letting it.

Computation of gains.

13.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter the gain accruing to a person from his acquisition and disposal of any asset shall be computed for purposes of Case VII in the like manner as it would fall to be computed for purposes of Case I of Schedule D if the acquisition and disposal (together with anything done by him to or in relation to the asset in connection with the acquisition and disposal or with a view to the disposal) had been an adventure in the nature of trade (but so that no dividend or interest in respect of which tax has been borne by deduction or otherwise shall be brought into the computation as a receipt).

(2) Subsection (1) above shall not be treated as applying for purposes of Case VII any provision as to the period of computation of profits for purposes of Case I, but the gain accruing on any disposal of an asset shall be computed in one sum as from the relevant acquisition (or first relevant acquisition).

(3) Subject to the following subsections, the adventure by reference to which the gain on an acquisition and disposal is to be computed—

- (a) shall not be treated as relating to any assets not included in the disposal or to any interest not so included in assets which are so included, whether or not the assets or interest not so included were or was included in a relevant acquisition of the assets disposed of ;
- (b) shall not be treated as relating to assets included in the disposal which either are not chargeable assets or were not included in a relevant acquisition ;
- (c) subject to paragraph (b) above, shall be treated as relating—
 - (i) to all assets included in the same disposal, whether or not included in the same acquisition ; and
 - (ii) to all relevant acquisitions of those assets ; and
 - (iii) to the whole interest included in the disposal in any assets to which the adventure relates, whether or not the whole interest was included in any relevant acquisition ; and all necessary apportionments shall be made accordingly of the consideration for any acquisition or disposal or of any receipts or expenditure (including in particular, in the case of land, apportionments between the interest disposed of and an interest retained of receipts and expenditure in connection with the land).

(4) If in the case of any asset the interest to which the adventure relates does not derive wholly from one or more relevant acquisitions, then the gain shall be computed as if such part of that interest as derives from any other acquisition had been first appropriated to the adventure immediately before the disposal.

(5) If, in the case of land, there is included in the disposal besides the land to which the adventure relates any adjoining or neighbouring land, being chargeable assets and not being land acquired as legatee, so much (if any) of the consideration for the disposal as represents an enhancement due to a relevant acquisition of the first-mentioned land in the value of the adjoining or neighbouring land shall on the apportionment of the consideration be apportioned to the first-mentioned land.

(6) If, in the case of land, the disposal is subject to an interest created by any such letting of the land as is excepted from Case VII by subsection (11) of section twelve of this Act, and the letting was made by the person disposing of the land and made by him since a relevant acquisition, the adventure shall be PART II treated as extending to that letting to the same extent as if the interest thereby created had been included in the disposal.

(7) An asset shall be treated as having been acquired free of any interest or right by way of security subsisting at the time of any relevant acquisition of it, and as being disposed of free of any such interest or right subsisting at the time of the disposal.

(8) For the purposes of this section—

(a) “relevant acquisition” means, in relation to any disposal of an asset, an acquisition which with that disposal amounts to an acquisition and disposal within the meaning of this Chapter, except that it does not include an acquisition by reference to which tax is not chargeable, nor an acquisition from which no interest included in the disposal derives ;

(b) an interest included in a disposal shall be treated as deriving from an acquisition if without that acquisition the whole interest could not have been so included, but so that the part of that interest which does and the part which does not derive from relevant acquisitions shall be determined as if any interest of temporary duration subsisting at the time of the first relevant acquisition (other than an interest of such a duration as to expire before the time of the disposal) had been of the same duration at the time of the disposal.

Disposals of land effected indirectly.

14.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, where a person disposes of shares in a company, and immediately before the disposal either—

(a) the company is or has control of a land-owning company, and is one which is under the control of not more than five persons and in which he has a substantial interest ; or

(b) the company, or a company of which it has control, has a substantial interest in a land-owning company under the control of not more than five persons, and the company is one of which he has control, or of which he and persons connected with him have control ;

then he shall be chargeable to tax under Case VII by reference to his disposal of the shares, whenever he acquired them, and notwithstanding that he acquired them as legatee.

(2) Where, but for this section, a person would not be chargeable to tax under Case VII by reference to a disposal of shares in a company, then—

(a) he shall not be chargeable unless chargeable gains would have accrued to the company, being a land-owning company, or to a land-owning company referred to in paragraph (a) or (b), as the case may be, of subsection (1) above, on the company disposing of its land at market value at the time of his disposal and any such land-owning company disposing likewise of the land of that company ; and

- (b) he shall not, if a gain accrues to him on that disposal, be chargeable by reference to it to tax on an amount greater than the amount of the chargeable gains which would have so accrued, or such part of that amount as is attributable to the shares disposed of by him, but if a loss accrues to him on the disposal, it shall not be allowable under Case VII.

(3) For the purposes of this section, "chargeable gains" means gains chargeable to tax under Case VII, but in calculating the chargeable gains that would have accrued to a company on the disposal of its land there shall be made the like deductions as would have been made in charging that tax for the losses that would have so accrued and, so far as they could not be deducted from chargeable gains previously accruing to the company, for losses previously accruing to it :

Provided that in the application of this section to a disposal of shares acquired as legatee on a death a company shall be treated as not chargeable to tax under Case VII by reference to any acquisition of land made before the death.

(4) Where in the case of a company any amount deductible under subsection (3) above in respect of losses cannot be deducted under that subsection because no gains or insufficient gains would have accrued to the company, the amount of the chargeable gains attributable to shares in the principal company shall be reduced by the amount that cannot be deducted or, if the company is not the principal company, by such part of that amount as is attributable to any shares held by the principal company.

In this subsection "principal company", in relation to any disposal of shares in a company, means that company.

(5) The part attributable to any shares in a company of the amount of any chargeable gains, or of any amount deductible in respect of losses, shall be the sum which that amount would add to or take from the distributions made in respect of those shares in a winding-up of the company if the amount represented assets of the company or, in the case of an amount deductible in respect of losses, a liability of the company, and if apart from that amount the assets of the company were enough, and no more than enough, to ensure the satisfaction of its liabilities (including the return of share capital) ; and the part of any such amount

PART II which is directly or indirectly attributable under this subsection to shares held by a company shall (so far as is necessary for the determination of any question as to the tax chargeable) be apportioned by the like method between the shares in that company to arrive at the part attributable to any of those shares.

(6) In this section "land-owning company" means a company not carrying on a trade of dealing in or developing land, but entitled to land, being chargeable assets, to a value equal to or exceeding one-fifth of the net value of all its assets (that is to say, their value less the value of the debts and liabilities of the company); and for this purpose the value of the said land shall be taken to be the value of the company's interest free of any liability charged thereon, and to include the value of interests which the company has unconditionally contracted to acquire, but not that of interests which the company has unconditionally contracted to dispose of.

For the purposes of this subsection "value" in relation to a company's land means market value, and the net value of a company's assets is the net value they would have on a sale in the open market of the company's business as a going concern.

(7) For the purposes of this section a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a company if one-tenth or more in market value of the issued shares in the company is held by him or is held partly by him and partly by persons connected with him; and the persons to be treated as connected with one another are those specified in paragraph 20 of the Ninth Schedule to this Act.

(8) In this section "share", in relation to a company not limited by shares (whether or not it has a share capital), shall include the interest of a member of the company as such, whatever the form of that interest, and this section shall apply in relation to any disposal of rights attached to or forming part of a share as if the rights included in the disposal and those not included were separate shares.

Charities, superannuation funds, and other special cases.

15.—(1) There shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII any gain accruing to a charity, or to any such Association as is mentioned in section four hundred and forty-nine of the Income Tax Act, 1952, from its acquisition and disposal of any assets.

In this subsection "charity" means any body of persons or trust established for charitable purposes only.

(2) There shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII any gain accruing to a person from his acquisition and disposal of investments or deposits held by him as part of a fund approved under section three hundred and seventy-nine of the Income Tax Act, 1952, but so that where part only of a fund is approved under that section the gain shall be exempt to the same extent only as income derived from the assets would be exempt under that section.

(3) There shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII any gain accruing to a person from his acquisition and disposal of assets held by him as part of a fund of which income is exempt from tax under any of the following enactments (which relate to superannuation and similar funds), that is to say,—

- (a) in the Income Tax Act, 1952, sections three hundred and eighty-one, three hundred and eighty-two and three hundred and eighty-five ;
- (b) in the Finance Act, 1956, subsection (5) of section twenty-two and subsection (3) of section forty ;
- (c) in the Finance Act, 1961, section twenty-one.

(4) There shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII any gain accruing to the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority from its acquisition and disposal of any assets, or accruing to any other person from his acquisition and disposal of investments or deposits held by him for the purposes of any pension scheme provided and maintained by that Authority.

(5) There shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII any gains which accrue to an assurance company (within the meaning of Part XX of the Income Tax Act, 1952) from its acquisition and disposal of investments of its life assurance fund, but which by reason of the mutual nature of the company's business or part of it do not accrue as profits of a trade.

(6) Any gain accruing to a person from his acquisition and disposal of any assets as trustee or assignee in bankruptcy shall be exempt from tax chargeable under Case VII.

(7) Where assets of the British Transport Commission are, by virtue of or in accordance with any Act of the present Session providing for the dissolution of that Commission, transferred to any body corporate established by that Act, then—

- (a) the Commission shall not be chargeable to tax under Case VII by reference to the transfer in respect of its acquisition and disposal of any asset included in the transfer ; and
- (b) the body corporate shall be treated as if the Commission's acquisition of the asset had been its acquisition of it (paragraph 18 of the Ninth Schedule to this Act applying for the purposes of this paragraph as it applies for the purposes of that Schedule).

PART II
Supplementary.

16.—(1) For the purposes of this Chapter—

“company” includes any body corporate ;

“control” has the meaning assigned to it by section three hundred and thirty-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952, but any reference to a company being under the control of not more than five persons shall be construed in accordance with subsections (2) and (3) of section two hundred and fifty-six of that Act ;

“legatee” includes any person taking under a testamentary disposition or on an intestacy or partial intestacy, whether he takes beneficially or as trustee, and a donatio mortis causa shall be treated as a testamentary disposition and shall not be treated as a gift ;

“market value” in relation to any property means the price which that property might reasonably be expected to fetch on a sale in the open market ;

“personal representatives” has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (4) of section four hundred and twenty-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952 ;

“settled property” means, subject to subsection (4) below, any property held in trust other than property to which subsection (5) of section twelve of this Act applies ;

“shares” includes stock, and shares or debentures comprised in any letter of allotment or similar instrument shall be treated as issued unless the right to the shares or debentures thereby conferred remains provisional until accepted and there has been no acceptance.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (6) of section ten of this Act, there shall be treated as received in the United Kingdom in respect of any gain all amounts paid, used or enjoyed in or in any manner or form transmitted or brought to the United Kingdom, and section twenty-four of the Finance Act, 1953 (under which income applied outside the United Kingdom in payment of debts is, in certain cases, treated as received in the United Kingdom), shall apply as it would apply for purposes of subsection (3) of section one hundred and thirty-two of the Income Tax Act, 1952, if the gain were income arising from possessions out of the United Kingdom.

(3) Where two or more persons carry on a business in partnership, gains accruing to them on the disposal of any partnership assets shall, in Scotland as well as elsewhere in the United Kingdom, be assessed and charged on them under Case VII separately, and any partnership dealings shall be treated as dealings by the partners and not by the firm as such ; but any statement of the profits or gains of a partnership delivered under section one hundred and forty-four of the Income Tax Act, 1952, shall include, with respect to any disposal of partnership property during the year of assessment to which the statement relates, the like particulars as if the partnership were chargeable under Case VII in respect of any gain accruing on the disposal.

(4) This Chapter shall apply in relation to any unit trust scheme (as defined in subsection (1) of section twenty-six of the Prevention of Fraud (Investments) Act, 1958), as if the trustees were a company whose business consists mainly in the making of investments, and as if the rights of the unit holders were shares in the company, and in the case of an authorised unit trust scheme within the meaning of section sixty-nine of the Finance Act, 1960, as if the company were resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom; but the said section sixty-nine shall not apply so as to treat income chargeable to tax under Case VII as income of unit holders (unless included in the distribution for any distribution period).

(5) An underwriting member of Lloyd's or of an approved association of underwriters shall be treated for the purposes of this Chapter (and in particular of subsection (5) of section twelve) as absolutely entitled as against the trustees to the investments of his premiums trust fund, his special reserve fund (if any) and any other trust fund required or authorised by the rules of Lloyd's or the association in question, or required by the underwriting agent through whom his business or any part of it is carried on, to be kept in connection with the business; but—

- (a) the trustees of any such fund shall (subject to subsection (6) below) be assessed and charged to income tax at the standard rate as if this subsection had not been passed, and may, notwithstanding anything in any enactment or in the trusts of the fund, out of any gain accruing from the acquisition and disposal of an investment of the fund make good to the underwriting member any increase in the surtax or profits tax borne by him which is attributable to that gain; and
- (b) in paragraph (a) of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 of the Twenty-first Schedule to the Income Tax Act, 1952 (which relates to the computation of the profits of an underwriter's business for the purpose of regulating payments into and out of his special reserve fund), the reference to income arising from the investments forming part of those funds shall include the amount of the gains chargeable to tax under Case VII which accrue in the underwriting year in question from the acquisition and disposal of any such investments, after deducting from those gains losses accruing before the end of that year from any chargeable acquisition and disposal of any such investments so far as those losses are not under this paragraph deductible from gains accruing in a previous underwriting year.

In this subsection expressions used in section four hundred and eighty of the Income Tax Act, 1952, or in the Twenty-first Schedule to that Act have the same meanings as they have for purposes of that section or Schedule.

(6) The assessment to be made on the trustees of a fund by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (5) above for any year of assessment shall not take account of losses accruing in any previous year of assessment, and if for that or any other reason the tax paid on behalf of an underwriting member for any year of assessment by virtue of assessments so made exceeds the tax for which he is liable, the excess shall, on a claim being made by him to the surveyor, be repaid by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue:

Provided that if the surveyor objects to a claim for a deduction on account of losses allowable under Case VII, the claim shall be heard and determined by the Commissioners concerned in like manner as if it were an appeal against an assessment under Case VII, and the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1952, relating to the statement of a case for the opinion of the High Court on a point of law shall apply.

(7) Where it appears to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue that a person is or may be chargeable to tax under Case VII in respect of his acquisition and disposal of assets, they may by notice in writing served on any person require him, within such time not less than twenty-eight days as may be specified in the notice,—

- (a) to state whether he has acted on behalf of the first-mentioned person in connection with any acquisition or disposal of assets by that person;
- (b) if so, to furnish information in his possession with respect to the acquisition or disposal, being information as to—
 - (i) the assets comprised in the acquisition or disposal and the consideration for the acquisition or disposal; and
 - (ii) the date and manner of the acquisition or disposal, including any condition to which it was subject and the satisfaction or otherwise of any such condition; and Part III of the Finance Act, 1960 (which relates to penalties), shall have effect as if this subsection were among the provisions specified in the second column of the Sixth Schedule to that Act.

(8) The rules contained in the Ninth Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to the operation of Case VII in relation to the matters there dealt with, and with respect to matters arising out of the charge to tax under this Chapter, and the foregoing sections of this Chapter shall have effect subject to the rules so contained; and the enactments mentioned in the first column in the Tenth Schedule to this Act shall, for the purpose of adapting or applying them in relation to the provisions of this Chapter, have effect subject to and in accordance with the provision made in respect thereto in the second column in that Schedule.

PART II

CHAPTER III

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

17. Any sum which, in pursuance of the scheme introduced on the nineteenth day of July, nineteen hundred and sixty-one, becomes or has become payable out of moneys provided by Parliament by way of bounty to a man serving in Her Majesty's military forces on his voluntarily undertaking to serve for a further period shall not be regarded as being or having been income for any income tax purposes.

Bounties payable on voluntary extension of army service.

18.—(1) Section twenty of the Finance Act, 1954 (which enables capital allowances to be taken into account on a claim to set a trading loss against income generally), shall in relation to any claim for a loss sustained in the year 1962-63 or a later year of assessment, have effect with the following modifications:—

Modification of right to set capital allowances against general income.

- (a) the claim shall not be made by reference to the capital allowances for that year ("the relevant year of assessment"), but by reference to those for the year for which that year is the basis year ; and
- (b) the amount of the capital allowances to be taken into account in computing the loss shall not be limited by reference to the amount to which effect cannot be given in charging profits or gains of the trade, but the capital allowances for any year shall be so taken into account only if and in so far as they are not required to offset balancing charges for the year ; and
- (c) where the allowances taken into account are the allowances for the year for which the claim is made or for the preceding year (the relevant year of assessment being the basis year for that year itself or the claim being made by way of carry-forward of the loss under subsection (3) of section fifteen of the Finance Act, 1953), relief shall not be given by reference to those allowances in respect of an amount greater than the amount non-effective in the year for which the claim is made or, in the case of allowances for the preceding year, the amount non-effective in both years.

(2) For the purposes of the said section twenty, where the end of the basis period for a year of assessment (as defined in section three hundred and twenty-five of the Income Tax Act, 1952) falls in, or coincides with the end of, any year of assessment, that year is the basis year for the first-mentioned year of assessment, but so that if a year of assessment would under the foregoing provision be the basis year both for that year itself and for another year of assessment, it shall be the basis year for the year itself and not for the other year; and—

(a) any reference to the capital allowances or balancing charges for a year of assessment shall be construed as a reference to those falling to be made in charging the profits or gains of the trade for that year (but not including in the case of allowances any part of the allowances for an earlier year carried forward under subsection (2) of section three hundred and twenty-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952); and

(b) any reference to an amount of capital allowances non-effective in a year shall be construed as referring to the amount to which by reason of an insufficiency of profits or gains effect cannot be given in charging the profits or gains of the trade for the year.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) above the capital allowances for a year of assessment shall be treated as required to offset balancing charges for the year up to the amount on which the balancing charges fall to be made after deducting from that amount the amount (if any) of capital allowances for earlier years which is carried forward to that year and would, without the balancing charges, be non-effective in that year.

(4) Accordingly (subject to paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (1) above) the said section twenty shall have effect with the following amendments:—

(a) in subsection (1) for the words from “as if” to “deducted” there shall be substituted the words “as if an amount equal to the capital allowances for the year of assessment for which the relevant year of assessment is the basis year were to be deducted”, and for the words “that year” in both places there shall be substituted the words “the relevant year of assessment”; and

(b) there shall be omitted the proviso to subsection (1), and in subsection (3) the words from “the capital allowances” to “but”; and

(c) in subsection (4) after the words “that year” there shall be inserted the words “or, in the case of allowances for the following year, in charging the profits or gains of the trade for that following year”.

(5) Relief from tax may be given by virtue of subsection (1) of the said section twenty by reference to capital allowances for a year of assessment before the passing of any Act granting income tax for that year, as if income tax had been granted for the year without alteration; but if relief given to a person by virtue of that subsection for any year of assessment is affected by a subsequent alteration of the law, or by any discontinuance of the trade or other event occurring after the end of the year, any necessary adjustment may be made, and so much of any repayment of tax as exceeded the amount repayable in the events that happened may, if not otherwise made good, be assessed under Case VI of Schedule D and recovered from that person accordingly.

(6) This section shall apply in relation to a claim for the year 1961-62 as it applies in relation to claims for subsequent years of assessment, if the claim is expressed to be made on the basis that this section shall apply, and shall not apply to a claim for the year 1962-63 or for the year 1963-64, if the claim is expressed to be made on the basis that this section shall not apply; but

(a) subject to paragraph (b) below, a claim made by a person for any of those years on either basis (including a claim for the year 1961-62 made before the passing of this Act) may be superseded by a further claim made by him on the other basis within the time allowed for claims for the year 1963-64; and

(b) a claim may not be made for the year 1961-62 or for the year 1962-63 on the basis that this section shall apply, if a claim (not since superseded) has been made in respect of the same trade for a later year on the basis that this section shall not apply, nor may a claim be made for the year 1962-63 or for the year 1963-64 on the basis that this section shall not apply, if a claim (not since superseded) has been made in respect of the same trade for a previous year on the basis that this section shall apply.

(7) Where under paragraph (a) of subsection (6) above a claim made on one basis is, after effect has been given to it, superseded by a further claim made on the other basis, then (without prejudice to any other provision for adjusting tax) there may be made all such repayments of tax and assessments or alterations of assessments as may be necessary to give effect to the further claim in place of the claim superseded.

(8) This section shall be construed as one with subsections (1) to (6) of the said section twenty.

PART II
Double taxation relief under Finance Act, 1961 (effect on dividends).

19.—(1) Notwithstanding the provision in subsection (1) of section three hundred and fifty of the Income Tax Act, 1952, that the tax deductible under section one hundred and eighty-four from dividends shall be determined without regard to double taxation relief, where—

- (a) a body of persons pays a dividend out of profits or gains in respect of which development relief is given ; and
- (b) credit cannot be given against profits tax for that relief or can be so given for part only of it (on the basis that credit is to be so given for development relief in priority to any other double taxation relief) ;

the rate at which tax is authorised by section one hundred and eighty-four to be deducted from the dividend shall be the reduced rate provided for by this section, and any provision of the Income Tax Acts referring to deduction of tax under section one hundred and eighty-four (and in particular the provisions of sections one hundred and eighty-five, one hundred and eighty-six and four hundred and ninety-one to four hundred and ninety-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952, for determining the gross amount of the dividend) shall have effect accordingly.

(2) In this section “development relief” means double taxation relief given by virtue of section seventeen of the Finance Act, 1961 (which provides for relief by reference to exemptions from foreign taxation given to promote development), but includes any indirect relief by the reduction under this section of the tax deducted or treated as deducted from any dividend.

(3) The reduced rate referred to in subsection (1) above shall be, in relation to any dividend, the standard rate reduced by the amount of any reduction in the net United Kingdom rate for the dividend (within the meaning of subsection (1) of the said section three hundred and fifty) which is due to so much of the development relief as cannot be given by way of credit against profits tax as mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) above ; and for the purposes of this section there shall be treated as paid out of profits or gains in respect of which development relief has been given any dividend for which the net United Kingdom rate is reduced by development relief.

(4) The power of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue under section three hundred and fifty-one of the Income Tax Act, 1952, to make regulations for carrying out the provisions of sections three hundred and forty-seven and three hundred and fifty of that Act shall include power to make regulations for carrying out this section.

(5) Where a dividend is payable wholly or partly at a fixed gross rate per cent., and the rate at which tax is deductible is affected by this section, the net amount to be paid shall be determined according to the reduced rate provided for by this section, and not according to the standard rate; and tax payable in respect of a dividend shall be treated as satisfied by a deduction made in accordance with this section to the same extent as if the deduction had been of tax at the standard rate.

(6) Where a company is or has been an overseas trade corporation and is or has been entitled to development relief, the rate at which tax is authorised to be deducted from a dividend shall be determined, if there is a different net United Kingdom rate for different parts of the dividend, by treating each such part as a separate dividend, and Part IV of the Finance Act, 1957, shall have effect subject to the following modifications:—

(a) so much of any relevant distribution or part of a relevant distribution (within the meaning of the Fifth Schedule to that Act) as is to be regarded under that Schedule as made out of the exempt trading income of the period to which the distribution or part is finally related shall, for any of the following purposes, be grossed up at the reduced rate applying to a dividend regarded as paid out of that income (instead of at the standard rate for the year of assessment in which the date of distribution falls), that is to say,—

(i) for the purpose of determining under paragraph 9 of that Schedule the amount of that income which is to be regarded as applied in making the distribution or that part of it; and

(ii) for the purpose of determining, in the case of a dividend, the amount on which the company is chargeable to tax by reference to it under section twenty-six of that Act; and

(iii) for the purpose of determining, in the case of a grant or loan to which paragraph 1 or 2 of the Sixth Schedule to that Act applies, the amount of income which is under that paragraph to be deemed to have been received by the person to whom the grant or loan is made; and

(b) in determining under the Fifth Schedule to that Act—

(i) how far a relevant distribution is to be finally related to any period; or

(ii) in what proportions a relevant distribution or part of a relevant distribution is to be regarded as made out of the exempt trading income and the other income respectively of the period to which it is finally related;

any part of the income of the period in respect of which development relief is given (or, in the case of exempt trading income, would fall to be given if it were chargeable to tax) shall be treated as being of an amount which, after deduction of tax thereon at the standard rate for the year of assessment in which the date of distribution falls, is equal to the actual amount of the income after deduction of an amount equal to tax thereon at that rate as that tax is or would be reduced by reason of the development relief given or falling to be given in respect of the income.

Extension of double taxation relief in respect of certain dividends.

20.—(1) Paragraph 10 of the Sixteenth Schedule to the Income Tax Act, 1952, and paragraph 3 of the Seventeenth Schedule to that Act (which relate to the allowance of double taxation relief on certain dividends paid to a company resident in the United Kingdom and controlling, directly or indirectly, not less than one half of the voting power in the company paying the dividend, and provide for taking account of the foreign tax paid by the last-mentioned company in respect of its profits) shall each be amended as follows:—

- (a) after the words “in the company paying the dividend” there shall be inserted the words “or which controls, directly or indirectly, a proportion of that voting power greater than one quarter and is subject to a local limitation preventing it from controlling a larger proportion”; and
- (b) at the end of the paragraph there shall be added the words—

“In this paragraph ‘local limitation’ means a limitation imposed by the law in force in the territory where the company paying the dividend is resident, or by executive action of the Government of that territory.”

- (2) Where a company resident in the United Kingdom either—
 - (a) controls, directly or indirectly, not less than one half of the voting power in a company resident in a territory outside the United Kingdom; or
 - (b) controls, directly or indirectly, a proportion of that voting power greater than one quarter and is subject to a local limitation preventing it from controlling a larger proportion;

then, for the purposes of any credit to be allowed to the first-mentioned company in accordance with the Sixteenth or Seventeenth Schedule to the Income Tax Act, 1952, in respect of a dividend paid to it by the other company, tax payable by the other company in respect of its profits under the law of any territory outside the United Kingdom shall be taken into account as if it were payable under the law of the first-mentioned territory, and paragraphs 7 and 8 of the said Sixteenth Schedule (which relate to the computation of the amount of income in certain cases where double taxation relief is allowed) shall apply accordingly.

PART II

In this subsection "local limitation" has the same meaning as it has (by virtue of subsection (1) above) in paragraph 10 of the said Sixteenth Schedule and paragraph 3 of the said Seventeenth Schedule.

(3) This section shall have effect only in relation to dividends by reference to which income tax is chargeable for the year 1962-63 or a subsequent year of assessment and (for the purposes of the profits tax) in relation to any other dividends which are received after the end of March, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, and by reference to which income tax is not chargeable for any year of assessment.

21.—(1) The Treasury on the application of the Ministry of Finance for Northern Ireland may, as respects any securities to which this section applies, direct that the securities specified in the direction shall be issued, or shall be deemed to have been issued, subject to the condition that the interest thereon shall be paid without deduction of income tax; and in relation to any securities so specified and the interest thereon section one hundred and ninety-six of the Income Tax Act, 1952 (which made provision for paying interest on certain government securities without deduction of tax), shall have effect as if—

Power to direct interest on Northern Ireland securities to be payable without deduction of tax.

- (a) the securities were securities in respect of which a direction had been given by the Treasury under subsection (1) of that section; and
- (b) references in that section to "the Bank" were (notwithstanding subsection (6) thereof) references to the bank in the books of which the securities are registered or inscribed; and
- (c) the references in subsections (3) and (4) of that section to the Treasury were references to the said Ministry of Finance.

(2) The securities to which this section applies are securities issued under paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section eleven of the Exchequer and Financial Provisions Act (Northern Ireland), 1950, for money borrowed by the said Ministry of Finance for the purposes of making issues from the Consolidated Fund of Northern Ireland.

22.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, for the purposes of income tax and for the purposes of the profits tax the Gas Council shall be treated as carrying on a trade or business from the beginning of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, and from the beginning of that month—

Taxation of Gas Council and Area Boards.

- (a) any trade or business carried on by an Area Board within the meaning of the Gas Act, 1948, shall be treated as part of the trade or business carried on by the Gas Council ;

PART II

- (b) subject to paragraph (c) below, any property, rights or liabilities of any such Board shall be treated as property, rights or liabilities of the Gas Council, and any thing done by or to any such Board shall be deemed to have been done by or to the Gas Council ;
- (c) any rights, liabilities or things done—
- (i) of, by or to the Gas Council against, to or by any such Board ; or
 - (ii) of, by or to any such Board against, to or by the Gas Council or any other such Board, shall be left out of account ; and income tax and the profits tax shall be charged accordingly.

(2) Subsection (1) above shall not affect income tax for any year of assessment earlier than the year 1962-63 or the profits tax for any chargeable accounting period ending with or before the end of March, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, or the computation of the profits and gains or losses of the trade or business of an Area Board for any such year of assessment or chargeable accounting period ; and any such losses may be carried forward and set off against the profits or gains of the trade or business of the Gas Council as if incurred by the Gas Council in carrying on that trade or business.

(3) The trade or business of the Gas Council shall not be treated as a new trade or business set up and commenced at the beginning of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two ; but, subject to subsection (2) above, the Income Tax Acts and the enactments relating to the profits tax shall apply in relation to that trade or business as if before the beginning of that month it had consisted of the trades or businesses of the Area Boards, and (without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing) allowances and balancing charges shall be made to or on the Gas Council accordingly by reference to the capital expenditure of Area Boards and to the allowances made to Area Boards in respect of that expenditure.

(4) The expenses of the Gas Council to which Area Boards may be required to contribute under subsection (1) of section forty-eight of the Gas Act, 1948, shall be taken to include the satisfaction of any obligations of the Gas Council in respect of income tax or the profits tax.

Sales of building land by persons associated with builder.

23.—(1) Where a person contracts with a builder for the erection of a building on land acquired or to be acquired in connection with the contract from a third person associated with the builder, then, unless that third person is carrying on a trade of dealing in or developing land and disposes of the land in the course of that trade, he shall be treated as receiving as income on his disposing of the land a sum equal to the amount (if any) by which the consideration receivable by him for the land together with the market value of any interest retained by him in the land exceeds the cost to him of the land, and shall be chargeable to tax in respect thereof under Case VI of Schedule D accordingly:

Provided that where the third person acquired the land at a time when he was neither a builder nor associated with a builder, the cost to him of the land shall be determined as if he had acquired it at market value on his thereafter becoming (or first becoming) a builder or associated with a builder.

(2) For the purposes of this section land shall be deemed to be acquired in connection with a contract for the erection of a building if that contract is entered into before or on the same day as the contract for the acquisition of the land, or if the contract for the acquisition of the land is subject to any condition or stipulation, or is made in pursuance of any arrangement, for the building to be erected on terms provided for by the condition, stipulation or arrangement; and this subsection shall apply notwithstanding that the person contracting with the builder and the person acquiring the land are not the same, if the land is acquired with a view to or in connection with the erection of the building.

(3) Where a person contracts to dispose of land to another person acquiring it in connection with a contract for the erection of a building, the reference in subsection (1) above to any interest retained by the first-mentioned person shall include the whole of the interest which he then has in the land in so far as he does not dispose of it to that other person.

(4) For the purposes of this section "builder" means a person carrying on a trade which consists of or includes the erection or securing the erection of buildings, and (subject to subsection (5) below) the following persons shall be deemed to be associated with one another, that is to say,—

- (a) any individual and that individual's husband or wife and any relative, or husband or wife of a relative, of that individual or of that individual's husband or wife ("relative" meaning for this purpose brother, sister, ancestor or lineal descendant);
- (b) any person in his capacity as trustee of a settlement and any individual who in relation to that settlement is a settlor, and any person associated with that individual ("settlement" and "settlor" having for this purpose the meanings assigned to them by section four hundred and three of the Income Tax Act, 1952);

PART II

- (c) any person and a body of persons of which that person, or persons associated with him, or that person and persons associated with him, has or have control ;
- (d) any two or more bodies of persons associated with the same person by virtue of paragraph (c) above ;
- (e) in relation to a disposal by joint owners, the joint owners and any person associated with any of them.

In this subsection "body of persons" includes a partnership, and "control" has the meaning assigned to it by section three hundred and thirty-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952.

(5) For the purposes of this section a person from whom land is acquired in connection with a contract with a builder shall be deemed in relation to that contract to be associated with the builder, if the contract is entered into by the builder in pursuance of any reciprocal arrangement between that person and a person with whom the builder is associated or between them and other persons.

(6) This section shall not apply in relation to land acquired in connection with a contract for the erection of a building if that contract or the contract for the acquisition of the land was entered into before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

(7) Where this section applies to a disposal of land by a person carrying on a trade or business in respect of which the profits tax is chargeable, it shall have effect for the computation of the profits or losses arising from the trade or business for the purposes of the profits tax in like manner as it has effect for the computation of that person's income for purposes of income tax.

Sales of land by land-owning companies.

24.—(1) Any profit arising to a land-owning company on the disposal of any of its land shall be deemed to be income of the company, and shall be chargeable to tax under Case VI of Schedule D accordingly, if—

- (a) a person who carried on the activities of that company together with any related activities would be regarded as carrying on a trade of dealing in or developing land ; and
- (b) the consideration for his disposal of the land in question would be regarded as a trading receipt of that trade.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the activities to be taken into account under subsection (1) above as related activities in relation to a company's disposal of land are—

- (a) the activities with respect to land of any person with whom the company is connected at the time of the disposal ; and

(b) the activities with respect to land of any company not within paragraph (a) above, being activities of that company at a time when it was under such control as would have brought it within paragraph (a) above if it had not ceased to be under that control, or ceased to exist, or both.

(3) The activities to be taken into account under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) above in relation to a company's disposal of land—

(a) shall not include the activities of any person while carrying on a trade of dealing in or developing land ; and

(b) shall not by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (2) above include the activities of any person while not connected with the company making the disposal or with a company within paragraph (a) or (b) of that subsection ;

but subject to subsection (4) below shall include transactions between persons whose activities are so taken into account (any such transaction being as regards either of them treated as if the activities of the other were not to be taken into account).

(4) There shall not be taken into account under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) above any transaction whereby one company disposes of land to another at a time when—

(a) either company is a subsidiary of the other or both are subsidiaries of a third company ("subsidiary" having for this purpose the meaning assigned to it for certain purposes of the profits tax by section forty-two of the Finance Act, 1938) ; or

(b) the members of both companies are the same, and hold equivalent interests in each.

(5) Anything done with respect to a company's land in the course of the winding up of the company shall be treated for the purposes of this section as if the company were not being wound up and were carrying on the same trade or business as before the commencement of the winding up ; and where land of a land-owning company is disposed of by way of distribution to its members (whether or not in a winding up) or is in any other case disposed of otherwise than by way of bargain at arm's length, the land shall be treated as disposed of for a consideration equal to its market value.

(6) Subject to the provisions of this section, section thirteen of this Act and paragraph 17 of the Ninth Schedule thereto shall apply to the computation for purposes of this section of the profit arising from a disposal of land as they apply to the computation of gains for purposes of Case VII of Schedule D, but without regard to subsection (2) of section ten of this Act or to any other provision limiting the acquisitions or disposals to be taken into account in computing gains for purposes of Case VII.

(7) A company shall not be chargeable to tax by virtue of this section by reference to any acquisition of land made before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, nor by reference to any such letting of land as is excepted from Case VII of Schedule D by subsection (11) of section twelve of this Act except in so far as account is to be taken of such a letting on a subsequent disposal by virtue of subsection (6) of section thirteen of this Act.

(8) All assessments to income tax chargeable by virtue of this section shall be made by the Special Commissioners, and the provisions of the Income Tax Acts shall apply as if the company had required the assessment to be so made.

(9) No obligation as to secrecy imposed by statute or otherwise on the Special Commissioners or on persons employed in relation to Inland Revenue shall prevent the disclosure, in connection with any question as to the liability of a company to tax by virtue of this section, of information as to the affairs of any such person or company as is referred to in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (2) above; and the first-mentioned company may by notice in writing to the surveyor require any such information relevant for the determination of the question to be disclosed to it.

(10) Where it appears to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue that a company is or may be chargeable to tax by virtue of this section in respect of a disposal of land, they may, by notice in writing served on that company, or any person or company whose activities the Commissioners have reason to suppose may be taken into account as related activities in connection with that disposal, or any past or present member or officer of any company above-mentioned or person for whom such a member is or was nominee, require the person on whom the notice is served to furnish, within such time not less than twenty-eight days as may be specified in the notice, information in his possession with respect to any matters specified in the notice, being matters which are relevant to the question whether the first-mentioned company is chargeable to tax as aforesaid in respect of the disposal, or are relevant to the computation of the profit arising to it from the disposal; and Part III of the Finance Act, 1960 (which relates to penalties), shall have effect as if this subsection were among the provisions specified in the second column of the Sixth Schedule to that Act.

(11) Any profit on which a land-owning company is chargeable to tax by virtue of this section shall, if the company is one to which section two hundred and forty-five (surtax on undistributed income of certain companies) of the Income Tax Act, 1952, applies, be deemed to be investment income; and where this section applies to a disposal of land by a company, it shall have effect for the computation of the profits or losses arising from the company's trade or business for the purposes of the profits tax in like manner as it has effect for the computation of the company's income for purposes of income tax.

(12) Where—

- (a) a land-owning company commences a trade of dealing in or developing land, and then or afterwards appropriates as trading stock of the trade land held by it at its commencement of the trade; and
- (b) if the company had disposed of the land at market value immediately before its commencement of the trade, it would have been chargeable to tax by virtue of this section in respect of a profit arising on the disposal;

then in computing the profits of the trade for purposes of tax the cost of the land to the company shall be substituted for its market value at the time of the appropriation.

(13) For the purposes of this section any person who, or group of persons which,—

- (a) can determine the manner in which one half of the votes which could be cast at a general meeting of a company are to be cast on matters not of such a description as to bring into play any special voting rights or restrictions on voting rights; or
- (b) is entitled to one half of any profits of a company distributed by way of dividend, or would be entitled in the winding up of a company to one half of the net assets; shall be treated as having control of the company and of any other company of which it has (or is to be treated as having) control.

(14) In this section—

- (a) "company" includes any body corporate;
- (b) subject to subsection (13) above, "control" has the meaning assigned to it by section three hundred and thirty-three of the Income Tax Act, 1952;
- (c) "land-owning company" has the meaning assigned to it by subsection (6) of section fourteen of this Act, except that the words "being chargeable assets" in that subsection shall not apply;

and the persons to be treated for purposes of this section as connected with one another are those specified in paragraph 20 of the Ninth Schedule to this Act, but so that for purposes of this section "control" in that paragraph shall have the same meaning as in this section and, where two companies are connected with one another, they shall each be treated as connected with any person whose control (alone or with others) of that or the other company is relevant to establish their connection.

Amendments of Finance Act, 1960,
ss. 21 to 28.

25.—(1) For the purposes of sections twenty-one to twenty-three of the Finance Act, 1960—

- (a) the expression “share” shall be construed in relation to a company not limited by shares (whether or not it has a share capital) as including references to the interest of a member of the company as such, whatever the form of that interest; and
- (b) any sale of rights attached to or forming part of a share shall be treated as a sale of a share, as if the rights included in the sale and those not included had been separate shares;

and the expression “securities” in Part II of that Act shall for the purposes of section twenty-eight include any share in a company within the meaning of paragraph (a) above.

(2) Where by virtue of section twenty-one of the Finance Act, 1960 (which provides for charging tax in respect of certain sales of shares in a company by reference to a supposed sale of the company’s trading stock), the consideration for a sale of shares in a company is deemed to be income of the seller, and any securities of the company other than shares in the company are included in the sale or in an associated sale at a price in excess of the company’s liability on the securities, the excess shall for purposes of that section be treated as part of the consideration for the sale of the shares, in so far as it has not by virtue of this provision been treated as part of the consideration for any other sale of shares; and in this subsection—

- (a) any reference to section twenty-one of the Finance Act, 1960, shall include a reference to that section as extended by section twenty-two or twenty-three of that Act; and
- (b) “associated sale” means, in relation to any sale of shares, a sale of securities made to the same person as the sale of the shares (or which would be treated under subsection (4) or (5) of section twenty-four of that Act as made to that person), being a sale such that if both sales were of shares they would be sales of associated parcels of shares within the meaning of section twenty-four of that Act.

(3) In section twenty-eight of the Finance Act, 1960 (which provides for the cancellation of tax advantages from certain transactions in securities where the tax advantage is obtained or obtainable in the circumstances set out in subsection (2) of the section),—

- (a) the reference in paragraph (a) of subsection (2) to a person being entitled by reason of any exemption from tax to recover tax in respect of dividends received by him shall include a reference to his being by reason of section twenty (subvention payments) of the Finance Act, 1953, so entitled ; and
- (b) the reference in paragraph (b) of subsection (2) to a person becoming entitled in respect of securities held or sold by him to a deduction in computing profits or gains by reason of a fall in the value of securities shall include a reference to his becoming in respect of any securities formerly held by him (whether sold by him or not) so entitled ;

and where a company in the circumstances mentioned in the said paragraph (b) becomes entitled to a deduction as there mentioned, the section shall apply in relation to any tax advantage obtained or obtainable in consequence of that deduction by another company by virtue of section twenty of the Finance Act, 1953, in respect of a subvention payment to the first-mentioned company, as if obtained or obtainable by the other company in circumstances falling within that paragraph.

(4) In the case of a man and his wife living with him (whether or not she is separately assessed to tax), the said section twenty-eight shall be treated as applying to him in respect of any transaction or transactions as it would apply if any property, rights or liabilities of the wife were his property, rights or liabilities in relation to which she had acted only as nominee for him, and shall be treated as applying to the wife in respect of any transaction or transactions as it would apply if any property, rights or liabilities of the man were her property, rights or liabilities in relation to which he had acted only as nominee for her :

Provided that no adjustment made under subsection (3) of that section by reference to any transaction or transactions to counteract any tax advantage shall by virtue of this subsection be so made that a person bears more tax than if the transaction or transactions had not had as a consequence that any relief or increased relief from, or repayment or increased repayment of, income tax, or any deduction in computing profits or gains, was obtained or obtainable, or that the way in which receipts accrued was such that the recipient did not pay or bear tax on them.

(5) For the purposes of the said section twenty-eight a tax advantage obtained or obtainable by a person shall be deemed to be obtained or obtainable by him in consequence of a transaction in securities or of the combined effect of two or more such transactions, if it is obtained or obtainable in consequence of the combined effect of the transaction or transactions and of the liquidation of a company.

(6) This section shall be construed as one with Part II of the Finance Act, 1960.

(7) This section—

(a) in so far as it affects sections twenty-one to twenty-three of the Finance Act, 1960, shall not apply in relation to any sale of shares made (or treated for purposes of those sections as made) before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two ; and

(b) in so far as it affects section twenty-eight of that Act, shall not apply to a person in respect of any transaction or transactions in securities if they were carried out before that day, and if any change in the nature of any activities carried on by any person, being a change necessary in order that the tax advantage should be obtainable in consequence of the transaction or transactions, was also effected before that day ;

but nothing in this section shall be taken to prejudice the operation of any of those enactments in any such case.

Penalties and assessments.

26.—(1) Part III of the Finance Act, 1960 (which relates to income tax and profits tax penalties and assessments), shall be construed as having, from the commencement of that Act, the like effect in relation to happenings before that commencement as it has in relation to happenings after that commencement, except as specifically provided by any enactment contained in the said Part III (including the Seventh Schedule to the Act) ; and where any enactment so contained makes use of words in the present tense or in a past tense, that use shall not be taken to have any reference to the commencement of the Act or to import any distinction between happenings before and happenings after that commencement.

In this subsection “ happening ” includes any act or omission.

(2) In subsection (2) of section forty-four of the Finance Act, 1960 (which contains savings by reference to proceedings commenced before the commencement of that Act), “ proceedings ” shall be construed as referring only to proceedings for the recovery of a penalty under the Income Tax Acts or the enactments relating to the profits tax.

(3) This section shall be deemed to have had effect as from the commencement of the Finance Act, 1960, but not so as to make interest payable under section fifty-eight of that Act on any tax as respects which a certificate under subsection (5) of that section was refused before the passing of this Act.

PART III
ESTATE DUTY

27.—(1) The scale of rates of estate duty set out in the Seventh Schedule to the Finance Act, 1949, shall have effect, as respects deaths occurring on or after the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, with the substitution for the entries relating to estates of a principal value not exceeding seven thousand five hundred pounds (being in part entries substituted by section thirty-two of the Finance Act, 1954) of the following entries:—

Principal value of estate	Rate per cent. of duty
Not exceeding £4,000	Nil
Exceeding £4,000 and not exceeding £5,000	1
Exceeding £5,000 and not exceeding £6,000	2
Exceeding £6,000 and not exceeding £7,500	3”.

(2) As respects deaths so occurring, in subsection (1) of section thirty-eight of the Finance Act, 1949 (which, among other things, exonerates from land tax land comprised on a death in an estate of a principal value less than two thousand pounds), for the reference to two thousand pounds there shall be substituted a reference to the amount below which the rate of estate duty under the scale in force for the death is nil.

28.—(1) In the case of persons dying after the commencement of this Act, subsection (2) of section twenty-eight of the Finance Act, 1949 (which specifies the cases in which property situate out of Great Britain is excluded from the property treated for purposes of estate duty as passing on the death of a person), shall have effect with the omission of paragraph (c) thereof (which provides for the exclusion of immovable property); and in the case of persons so dying the enactments relating to estate duty shall have effect subject to the further modifications specified in subsections (2) to (5) below:

Property situate out of Great Britain.

Provided that—

(a) the property passing on the death of a person so dying shall not by virtue of a disposition or event occurring before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, being a relevant disposition or event within the meaning of section sixty-four of the Finance Act, 1960 (which relates to gifts inter vivos, etc.), be deemed to include any property—

(i) which would not be deemed by virtue of that disposition or event to pass on the death if subsection (2) of the said section twenty-eight then had effect as originally enacted; and

PART III

- (ii) which is, or directly or indirectly represents, property that would not have been so deemed to pass if the death had occurred on the said tenth day of April ;
- (b) where an interest in expectancy in any property was before the said tenth day of April bona fide sold or mortgaged for full consideration in money or money's worth, then—
- (i) no other duty on that property shall be payable by the purchaser or mortgagee when the interest falls into possession than would be payable if subsection (2) of the said section twenty-eight then had effect as originally enacted ; and
- (ii) in the case of a mortgage any higher duty payable by the mortgagor shall rank as a charge subsequent to that of the mortgagee.

Subsection (1) of section fifty-six of the Finance Act, 1940 (which relates to transactions with companies under the control of not more than five persons), shall apply for the purposes of paragraph (b) above as it applies for the purposes of section three of the Finance Act, 1894.

(2) Subsection (3) of section eight of the Finance Act, 1894 (which renders the executor accountable for the estate duty in respect of all personal property of which the deceased was competent to dispose at his death), shall have effect as if the reference therein to all personal property wheresoever situate included a reference to all property (of whatever kind) situate out of Great Britain ; and subsection (4) of the said section eight (which, where the executor is not accountable for the estate duty, renders beneficiaries and others accountable therefor) shall apply in relation to estate duty on property situate out of Great Britain as if the words referring to the executor not being accountable were omitted.

(3) Where under subsection (1) of section nine of the Finance Act, 1894, a charge in respect of a rateable part of the estate duty on an estate is imposed on any property situate out of Great Britain, the charge shall extend to assets which form the proceeds of any disposition of the property or otherwise for the time being directly or indirectly represent it ; and the proviso to that subsection (which protects a bona fide purchaser for value without notice), and any other enactment relating to the charge imposed under that subsection, shall have effect accordingly.

(4) In relation to property situate out of Great Britain—

- (a) subject to the provisions of this section, references in the enactments relating to estate duty to personal property shall be construed as references to property which is, by the law of the territory in which it is situate, movable property or which consists of an interest or right by way of mortgage or other security, and references in those enactments to real property shall be construed as references to any other property ;

- (b) subsection (3) of section sixty of the Finance (1909-10) Act, 1910 (which provides that an appeal shall not lie under section ten of the Finance Act, 1894, on a question of the value of any real (including leasehold) property, but makes other provision as to appeals on such questions), shall not apply ;
- (c) the proviso to subsection (5) of section seven of the Finance Act, 1894 (which provides for the valuation of certain agricultural property by reference to annual value as assessed for purposes of income tax under Schedule A), and so much of sub-paragraph (7) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule to the Finance Act, 1940, as requires any value to be calculated by reference to the annual value of land as ascertained for purposes of income tax under Schedule A, shall not apply.

(5) In subsection (2) of section seven of the Finance Act, 1894 (which, in the valuation of an estate for purposes of estate duty, restricts allowances for foreign debts by reference to the value of personal property abroad), the word "personal" shall be omitted in each place where it occurs.

(6) So much of subsection (1) of section four of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, as precludes the Parliament of Northern Ireland from making laws in respect of matters not exclusively relating to Northern Ireland shall not be taken to preclude that Parliament, in relation to estate duty payable under the laws of Northern Ireland, from making provision with respect to property situate out of Northern Ireland.

29.—(1) Where the Commissioners of Inland Revenue are satisfied that in any territory outside the United Kingdom duty is payable by reason of a death occurring on or after the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, in respect of any property situate in that territory and passing on that death, they shall allow a sum equal to the amount of that duty as a credit against the estate duty payable in respect of that property on the same death unless, under arrangements having effect by virtue of section fifty-four of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1945, or section five of the Irish Free State (Consequential Provisions) Act, 1922 (Session 2), a credit is allowable in relation to the property against either the estate duty or the duty payable in that territory ; and accordingly subsection (4) of section seven of the Finance Act, 1894 (which provides that, in valuing foreign property for purposes of estate duty, an allowance is to be made for the foreign duty), shall not apply as respects deaths so occurring. Double taxation relief.

PART III

(2) As respects arrangements made on or after the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, section fifty-four of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1945, shall have effect in relation to duty imposed under the laws of any territory outside the United Kingdom which is leviable on, or by reference to, death as it has effect in relation to duties of a similar character to estate duty; and anything done before the passing of this Act under or by virtue of section seventy-seven of the Finance Act, 1948, shall thereafter have effect as if done under or by virtue of the said section fifty-four.

PART IV

STAMP DUTIES

Settlements.

30.—(1) In relation to instruments made or executed on or after the first day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, the Stamp Act, 1891, shall have effect as if it had been enacted without the heading “Settlement” in the First Schedule, and with the addition, after the heading “Transfer” in that Schedule, of the following heading—

“UNIT TRUST INSTRUMENT. Any trust instrument of a unit trust scheme (within the meaning of Part VII of the Finance Act, 1946):

For every 100 l. , and also for any fractional part of 100 l. , of the amount or value of the property subject to the trusts created or recorded by the instrument	0	5	0” and, in relation to instruments so made or executed, in section fifteen of the Stamp Act, 1891, for the words “Settlement . . . The settlor” in the table set out at the end of subsection (2) there shall be substituted the words “Unit trust instrument . . . The trustees” and in the said First Schedule for the word “settlement” in the heading beginning “Declaration” there shall be substituted the words “unit trust instrument”.

(2) Duty under subsection (2) of section fifty-three of the Finance Act, 1946, in respect of property which on or after the said first day of August becomes trust property represented by units under a unit trust scheme shall be chargeable by reference to the heading “Unit trust instrument” in the First Schedule to the Stamp Act, 1891, but so that—

(a) if on or after that day units under the scheme are extinguished, the amount or value of property thereupon transferred by the trustees to the managers under the scheme, or to the person entitled to any extinguished unit, shall be treated as a credit to be deducted (in so far as it has not previously been deducted under this paragraph in relation to any property) from the amount or value of property which subsequently becomes trust property represented by units under the scheme ; and

- (b) the requirements of the said subsection (2) shall not apply in relation to property the amount or value of which is treated as reduced to nil by one or more such deductions, and duty under that subsection shall be chargeable in respect of any other property which is subject to such deductions by reference to the amount or value as reduced.

(3) Where the amount or value of any property is treated as reduced to nil by one or more deductions under subsection (2) above, the trustees shall, before the end of the period within which a statement is next required to be furnished to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue under subsection (2) of the said section fifty-three in relation to the scheme, or before such later date as the Commissioners may allow, furnish to the Commissioners a statement of the property and of the transfers giving rise to the deductions ; and where the amount or value of any property is otherwise treated as reduced by one or more such deductions, the trustees shall, before the end of the period within which a statement of that property is required to be furnished to the Commissioners under subsection (2) of the said section fifty-three, or before such later date as the Commissioners may allow, furnish to the Commissioners a statement of the transfers giving rise to the deductions.

(4) If the trustees under a unit trust scheme fail to comply with the requirements of subsection (3) above in relation to any property, subsection (3) of the said section fifty-three (which enables unpaid duty with interest to be recovered from the trustees) shall apply as if the trustees had failed to comply with the requirements of subsection (2) of that section and as if no deduction had fallen to be made from the amount or value of the property.

(5) Subsection (1) of section fifty-seven of the Finance Act, 1946, shall apply for the interpretation of expressions used in subsections (2) to (4) above as it applies for the interpretation of expressions used in Part VII of that Act, but so that references in subsection (2) above to trust property represented by units shall not be taken to include property within the proviso to subsection (2) of section fifty-three of that Act (which excludes property derived from other trust property from the operation of subsection (2) of the said section fifty-three).

31.—(1) The Commissioners of Inland Revenue shall have the like power to enter into an agreement (with a view to the compounding of stamp duties) with any person or body of persons carrying on the business of issuing policies of insurance other than policies of life insurance as is conferred upon them Insurance policies.

PART IV

with respect to any body of persons carrying on the business of issuing policies of life insurance by subsection (2) of section thirty-eight of the Finance Act, 1956, and, subject to the necessary modifications, that subsection and subsections (3) to (5) of the said section thirty-eight shall have effect accordingly.

(2) In the case of a policy of insurance other than a policy of life insurance (being a policy first received in the United Kingdom on or after the first day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-two), duty paid in accordance with paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section fifteen of the Stamp Act, 1891 (which permits an instrument first executed out of the United Kingdom to be stamped within thirty days after it is first received in the United Kingdom on payment of the unpaid duty only), may be denoted by an adhesive stamp, which is to be cancelled by the person by whom it is affixed.

PART V

MISCELLANEOUS

Compulsory redemption of tithe annuities.

32.—(1) Where, under the Tithe Acts, 1936 and 1951, one or more annuities is or are charged in respect of any land and, after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, an estate or interest in the whole or a part of the land is, for a consideration in money or money's worth, disposed of or created in such a manner as to bring about a change in the person who is the owner of the land or that part thereof, any annuity which is or thereafter becomes charged under those Acts wholly in respect of land to which the change of ownership extends shall be redeemable compulsorily.

(2) Subsection (1) above shall be construed as one with the Tithe Acts, 1936 and 1951, and shall be without prejudice to any other power of compulsory redemption under those Acts.

Termination of powers under Government Annuities Act, 1929.

33.—(1) Subject to subsection (2) below, no new annuities or insurances shall be granted under the Government Annuities Act, 1929, other than immediate life annuities of which the purchase is completed (within the meaning of the First Schedule to that Act) on or before the last day of August, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

(2) Subsection (1) above shall not prevent the grant of an annuity under section forty-five of the Government Annuities Act, 1929, by way of commutation of a savings bank insurance, or the grant of an insurance or annuity under section forty-six of that Act on the surrender of a savings bank insurance or on default in the payment of premiums in respect of a savings bank insurance.

PART V

(3) For the purposes of sections forty-five and forty-six of the Government Annuities Act, 1929, and of any other enactment or instrument passed or made before this Act under which the amount of any payment is to be determined directly or indirectly by reference to the terms on which a savings bank annuity might for the time being be purchased under that Act, the tables in force under section fifty-three of that Act at the commencement of this Act shall, subject to subsection (4) below, apply as if this Act had not been passed.

(4) The Treasury may from time to time, if it appears to them that the tables in force for the purposes mentioned in subsection (3) above have ceased in any respect to be appropriate or sufficient, by order vary those tables or add or substitute new tables, and any such order shall state the rules observed in making the variation or in framing new tables, and shall be made by statutory instrument which shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

34.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Finance Act, 1962. Short title, construction, extent and repeal.

(2) Part I of this Act shall be construed as one with the Customs and Excise Act, 1952, or, so far as it relates to purchase tax, with Part V of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 1940; Part II shall be construed as one with the Income Tax Acts or, so far as it relates to the profits tax, with Part III of the Finance Act, 1937, and the other enactments relating to the profits tax; Part III shall be construed as one with the Finance Act, 1894; and Part IV shall be construed as one with the Stamp Act, 1891.

(3) Any reference in this Act to any other enactment shall, except so far as the context otherwise requires, be construed as a reference to that enactment as amended or applied by or under any other enactment, including this Act.

(4) With the exception of subsection (2) of section twenty-nine, such of the provisions of this Act as relate to matters in respect of which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has power to make laws shall not extend to Northern Ireland.

(5) This Act, in so far as it affects the operation of the Sugar Act, 1956, shall extend to the Isle of Man.

(6) This Act, in so far as it relates to the Government Annuities Act, 1929, shall extend to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, and the Royal Courts of the Channel Islands shall register it accordingly.

(7) The enactments mentioned in the Eleventh Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of that Schedule, but subject as regards the repeals contained in any Part of that Schedule to any provision made in that Part as to the date of operation or effect of those repeals.

PART II

Adaptations of Sugar Act, 1956

1.—(1) In the Sugar Act, 1956, and in this Part of this Schedule "sugar duty" shall mean the duties of customs and excise chargeable in the United Kingdom on sugar and invert sugar immediately before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, and subject to the provisions of this Part of this Schedule, that Act shall have effect as if—

- (a) sugar duty had continued to be charged, and any drawback or allowance had continued to be allowable, on and after that day and all proper payments of any duty, drawback or allowance had been made accordingly; and

5TH SCH.

(b) for any reference to molasses there were substituted a reference to invert sugar.

(2) Sub-paragraph (1) above shall apply in relation to instruments having effect under the Sugar Act, 1956, at the coming into force of this paragraph as it applies in relation to that Act.

2. Without prejudice to the generality of paragraph 1 above, the powers of the Commissioners under subsection (4) of section eleven of the Sugar Act, 1956, to make regulations with respect to surcharge and to surcharge repayments shall continue as if any statutory provisions in force immediately before the said tenth day of April had continued in force; and the operation of any regulations in force under that subsection immediately before that day shall not be affected by any regulations thereby applied ceasing to be in force as regards sugar duty or drawback of sugar duty.

3. Without prejudice to the generality of paragraph 1 above, the Commissioners may for the purposes of surcharge or surcharge repayments or of distribution payments or repayments make any determination, issue any certificate or other document, or do any other thing which they might have done for any corresponding purpose relating to sugar duty.

4. Any order of the Minister under section nine of the Sugar Act, 1956, with respect to surcharge or surcharge repayments for composite sugar products may make any such provision as might have been made with respect to sugar duty or drawback of that duty by virtue of proviso (i) to sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 1 of the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1957 (which provides for disregarding immaterial quantities); but subject to any such order, any order of the Treasury made under that Schedule before the passing of this Act with respect to any duty under subsection (2) of section three of this Act or any drawback thereof shall for purposes of surcharge and surcharge repayments be deemed to have effect for sugar duty and drawback of sugar duty.

5. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this Part of this Schedule, sections two hundred and sixteen and two hundred and seventeen, and paragraphs (e) and (f) of subsection (1) of section two hundred and eighteen, of the Customs and Excise Act, 1952 (which provided for drawback or other relief of sugar duty in respect of sugar used in certain manufactures), shall cease to have effect for any purpose of the Sugar Act, 1956.

6. This Part of this Schedule shall have effect in relation to the Isle of Man as if the enactments relating to sugar duty (including the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1957) and any instrument having effect under any such enactment had applied in the Isle of Man in like manner as in the United Kingdom.

7.—(1) This Part of this Schedule shall have effect as from the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

(2) Subject to paragraph 5 above, nothing in this Act shall affect any right arising after the said tenth day of April to a surcharge repayment where the surcharge became payable before that day.

SEVENTH SCHEDULE

Section 4.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE ACT, 1952, s. 200 (2)-(5) AS AMENDED

(2) No heavy oils on the delivery of which for home use rebate has been allowed shall be used as fuel for a vehicle to which this section applies, or be taken into such a vehicle as fuel, unless an amount equal to the amount for the time being allowable in respect of rebate on like oils has been paid to the Commissioners in accordance with regulations made for the purposes of this section; and regulations so made may provide for restricting (whether by reference to locality, the obtaining of a licence from the Commissioners or other matters) the cases in which such payments are to be effective for the purposes of this subsection.

(3) Any person who uses heavy oils in contravention of the last foregoing subsection, or is liable for heavy oils being taken into a vehicle in contravention of that subsection, shall be liable to a penalty of three times the value of the oils or one hundred pounds, whichever is the greater, and the Commissioners may recover from him an amount equal to the rebate on like oils at the rate in force at the time of the contravention; and if any heavy oils are sold by a person having reason to believe that they will be so used, that person shall be liable to a penalty as aforesaid.

7TH SCH.

(4) Any heavy oils taken into a vehicle or sold as mentioned in the last foregoing subsection shall be liable to forfeiture.

(5) A person shall be liable for heavy oils being taken into a vehicle in contravention of subsection (2) of this section if he is at the time the person having the charge of the vehicle or the owner of the vehicle, except that if a person other than the owner is, or is for the time being, entitled to possession of it, that person and not the owner shall be liable.

(6) This section applies to any vehicle constructed or adapted for use on roads, except that it does not apply—

- (a) to any vehicle while it is not used on a public road (within the meaning of the Vehicles (Excise) Act, 1962, or, in Northern Ireland, the Vehicles (Excise) Act (Northern Ireland), 1954) and no road licence is in force in respect of it; or
- (b) to a vehicle exempted from duty by paragraph (h) of subsection (1) or by subsection (6) of section six of the said Act of 1962 or, in Northern Ireland, by paragraph (h) of subsection (1) or by subsection (5) of section seven of the said Act of 1954 (which relate to road construction vehicles, and to vehicles not used on public roads except in passing to and from land in the same occupation); or
- (c) to a vehicle of any of the following descriptions which is not chargeable with duty as a goods vehicle, that is to say, any agricultural machine, digging machine, mobile crane or mowing machine mentioned in the Third Schedule to the said Act of 1962 or in paragraph (a), (b), (c) or (d) of subsection (2) of section four of the said Act of 1954, and any road roller.

(7) For the purposes of the last foregoing subsection “road licence” and “duty” mean a licence and duty under the said Act of 1962 or, in Northern Ireland, the said Act of 1954; but a vehicle in respect of which there is current a certificate or document in the form of a licence issued in pursuance of regulations under subsection (3) of section sixteen of the said Act of 1962 or, in Northern Ireland, under section twenty of the said Act of 1954 shall be treated as a vehicle for which a road licence is in force.

(8) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) heavy oils shall be deemed to be used as fuel for a vehicle if, but only if, they are used as fuel for the engine provided for propelling the vehicle or for an engine which draws its fuel from the same supply as that engine; and
- (b) heavy oils shall be deemed to be taken into a vehicle as fuel if, but only if, they are taken into it as part of that supply;

and paragraph (a) of this subsection shall apply for the purposes of section two hundred and two of this Act, and for the purposes of Part I of the Second Schedule to the Finance Act, 1960, as it applies for the purposes of this section.

NINTH SCHEDULE

MISCELLANEOUS RULES APPLICABLE TO CASE VII OF SCHEDULE D

Discharge and assignment of contracts ; options and other conditional contracts, etc.

1.—(1) Save as provided by paragraph 2 below, a person's acquisition or disposal of an asset by a contract in that behalf shall be disregarded for purposes of Case VII if—

- (a) the contract is discharged by mutual consent or by operation of law ; or
- (b) default is made in carrying out the contract and by reason of that default there is no conveyance or transfer to implement the contract, whether by or to the person originally making the contract or another ; or
- (c) the contract is conditional and the condition is not satisfied.

(2) Where a person disposes of an asset, and the whole or part of the consideration is irrecoverable, the amount irrecoverable shall be disregarded in so far as it is not realised by the disposal in whole or in part of the right to the consideration ; and if the consideration is abated for any error in or default under the contract, Chapter II of Part II of this Act shall apply as if the abated consideration had originally been contracted for.

(3) If in the case of a conditional contract to acquire or dispose of an asset the condition is satisfied (and in particular if in the case of a contract conferring an option the option is exercised), then subject to the following sub-paragraphs the acquisition or disposal of the asset by the contract shall be treated as taking place at the time when the condition is satisfied.

(4) If the disposal of an asset by a conditional contract is made for a consideration not depending wholly or mainly on the value of the asset at the time the condition is satisfied the contract shall in relation to the disposal be treated (on the condition being satisfied) as if it had never been conditional.

(5) Where a contract for the disposal of an asset is discharged by mutual consent, but is replaced by a new contract for its disposal to the same person or to another in his place, the disposal by the new contract shall be treated as if it had taken place at the time when the disposal by the previous contract is to be treated as having taken place, and if the previous contract was a conditional contract, the condition shall for that purpose be treated as satisfied by the making of the new contract.

(6) Nothing in sub-paragraphs (3) to (5) above shall apply in relation to a contract entered into before the tenth day of April, nineteen hundred and sixty-two.

2.—(1) Subject to paragraph 18 of this Schedule, a person acquiring a right under a subsisting contract to acquire or dispose of an asset shall be treated as thereby acquiring or disposing of the asset to the like extent as if he had then entered into a new contract conferring that right (his undertaking the obligations under the subsisting contract not being treated as consideration given by him for the acquisition of the right, but any consideration so given being treated, in relation to his acquisition and disposal of the asset, as an expense of acquiring or disposing of it).

9TH SCH.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of section twelve of this Act a person disposing of the right under a subsisting contract to acquire or dispose of an asset shall not be treated as thereby disposing of the asset nor, in a case not within sub-paragraph (3) below, as having acquired or disposed of it by that contract.

(3) Subject to paragraph 18 of this Schedule, where a person disposes of an asset to another subject to and with the benefit of any subsisting contract for its disposal to a third person, then, if the contract is not conditional or the condition is satisfied at the time of the later disposal,—

- (a) he shall not be treated as thereby making any new disposal of the asset except to the extent to which it was not disposed of by that contract, and so much of the consideration for the later disposal as is attributable to the right to receive the consideration under that contract shall be disregarded; and
- (b) he shall be treated as thereby completing the disposal by that contract, and that disposal shall not under paragraph 1 above be treated as affected by any subsequent discharge of or default under the contract or abatement of the consideration.

(4) A person's right under a contract entered into by him to acquire or dispose of an asset shall, in relation to any disposal by him of that right, be treated as having been acquired by him on the making of the contract for any consideration given by him for having that right (other than his agreement to acquire or dispose of the asset); and where a person gives any consideration to be discharged from a contract to acquire or dispose of an asset, the person to whom it is given shall be treated as disposing for that consideration of his right under the contract to dispose of or acquire the asset.

(5) Where a person dies after entering into a conditional contract for the acquisition or disposal of an asset (the condition not being satisfied at the time of his death), then—

- (a) in the case of a contract to acquire the asset nothing in this paragraph shall apply so as to treat any other person as acquiring the asset by reason of that contract on the condition being satisfied, except that sub-paragraph (1) shall apply in relation to any person acquiring from the personal representatives or legatee the right under the contract to acquire the asset; and
- (b) in the case of a contract to dispose of the asset, nothing in this or the last foregoing paragraph shall apply so as to treat him as disposing of the asset under the contract on the condition being satisfied.

9TH SCH.

Gifts, settled property, and bargains not at arm's length

3.—(1) Where a person resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom either—

- (a) disposes by way of gift of an asset previously acquired by him, but does so without there being (within the meaning of Case VII) an acquisition and disposal by him; or
- (b) disposes by way of gift of an asset acquired by him only as legatee;

then, so far as relates to the interest taken by the donee, the donee shall be treated as if the donor's acquisition of the asset had been his acquisition of it.

(2) Subject to sub-paragraph (4) below, where in a case not falling within paragraph (a) or (b) of sub-paragraph (1) above a person resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom disposes by way of gift of an asset acquired or to be acquired by him, and the donee is also resident and ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom, then on an election being made in that behalf—

- (a) the donor shall not be chargeable under Case VII in respect of any acquisition and disposal by reference to that disposal; and
- (b) the donee shall be treated as if the donor's acquisition of the asset had been his acquisition of it, but so that the amount of the consideration for which he is treated as acquiring the asset shall not by virtue of this sub-paragraph be increased.

(3) An election under sub-paragraph (2) above shall be made by the donor and the donee jointly, except that it may be made by the donee alone if the donor would not apart from that sub-paragraph be chargeable to tax under Case VII in respect of the gain (if any) treated as accruing to him from his acquisition and disposal of the asset.

(4) Sub-paragraph (2) above shall not apply in relation to a gift of shares where the donor is, but the donee is not, in relation to his acquisition and disposal of the shares, within section fourteen of this Act ("shares" having for this purpose the same meaning as in that section).

(5) A person shall not be chargeable under Case VII in respect of any acquisition and disposal by reference to a disposal made to any charity or Association within subsection (1) of section fifteen of this Act if the disposal is by way of gift for the purposes of the charity or Association.
