the autobus as the Education Section of Labor Ministry (Local Labor Policy Section, Labor Policy Office).

The said autobus contains many materials. You can walk round according the indication of this autobus. You must not, however, only depend on the autobus. Materials can be freely gathered from union concerns. If you descent at certain station, you shall go to the destination by using your own feet. It is also free to descend at any station.

After all, the union is quite free for selecting materials or for requesting some others. If not satisfied with furnished materials, opinion should be freely submitted.

In this way, the Labor Ministry can do real service to unions.

There are materials, easily understood by rank and file or difficult one for union officers. Particulars can be obtained from the labor education section (Local Labor Policy Section, Labor Policy Office).

Any union officers, who do not pay any attention to the education of union members, should be replaced without any mercy.

You can freely approach to Labor Education Section or GHQ, for talking over with this subject.

3. How to make organ paper; chief of union organ, ILU, Bunkichi Araga.

Editor's note: This lecture was conducted along the line of the essay "How to make the union organ paper" on page 7 to page 27, labor pamphlet No.8 which was published by our Educational Section, and therefore we will describe the points that he supplimented or added his own views to.

(1) Editorial Meeting.

This meeting is indispensable, because of preventing casual ideas in any articles. This is absolutely necessary as important points should be always considered of. For instance, to adjust all contents in making on the triangle base, such as putting Toyozato and Matsuura disputes as the bases and Nittetsu strike as the apex, is good attitude for editorialization.

(2) Collection of local news.

a. Go through all news gathered from locality.

b. Trustworthy correspondents should be organized. If not, they may write some articles for the purpose of publication, so that unreliable correspondents incline to write agitative articles.

Editor's note: This lecture was conducted along the line of the essay "How to make the union organ paper" on page 7 to page 27, labor pamphlet No.8 which was published by our Educational Section, and therefore we will describe the points that he supplimented or added his own views to.

(1) Editorial Meeting.

b. Trustworthy correspondents should be organized. If not, they may write some articles for the purpose of publication, so that unreliable correspondents incline to write agitative articles.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

Our Sanbetsu make it a rule to send back the article we do not insert, marking with red ink, we also surely answer to all letters from rank and file.

a. If necessary, we often dispatch some bodies, who have good sense, for obtaining the actual situation.

(3) How can the union organ be read!

Without the commercial newspaper only for one day, we become very lonely, but the case of union organ paper is quite different but I desire that rank and file would become lonely without union paper.

For this purpose, we should union organ paper to be interesting. It is as well to make "frame" which means some light articles (o/o neither mend nor mar matters, but contains sharp satires). Extremely saying, it is no exaggeration to say, that half of articles may be put into this "frame."

The reason is as follows, more than half parts of Japanese laborers are farmers and the rest are also the laborers who connected with those farmers, and therefore their characteristic degree is very low.

I think it a most important thing to be read in anyway by them. In this connection, it may safely be said, that you may consider to the extend the balk of organ articles are not so bad, and we should make much use of caricatures on the first page which occupied 4 columns of whole width, and got a good reputation.

As to the small union organ papers, it is essential matter to make the articles for the family sake, for instance, they adopt boy's or children's composition or take up the house-wives' expectation.

(4) Editorial columns: adoption of the easy and concrete question and directing them in proper way.

(5) Regarding the relation between executive committee and rank and file:

In case of confliction between the executive and rank and file, the executive thought dogmatically his own opinion to be rightful, and them beat down rank and file's thought, doing in such way is not good tactic. It is, therefore, necessary to realized fully the opinion, arising among rank and file, which opinion do not usually get into fine shape as the universal opinion. And, therefore, you must take the attitude to steer the handle, for the purpose of leading them into aiming direction.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

How to circulate the information: Chief of Education Dept., Kokutetsu, Gensuke Terayama.

The weakness of Japan Trade Union mostly resulted from the cursoriness of information. The present situation of union, which was said to be strongly influenced with leftist, is due to the lack of proper information.

Unpossession of correct information by the basic member of union, that is to say, that they can not grasp in right way the union matters is the primary reason for the present result. The information is gravious matter.

However, in case of Kokutetsu, we are stronger than other unions concerning information.

First, we can make avail of transport facilities.

Second, we make use of railway monopolized communicative organization. And I continued this talk with those background.

1. Circulating process of information is as follows:

Headquarter - local councils (9) - Branches (75) - Chapters - Squads - rank and file (this system is adoptable according to its territories or its broadness).

Through this channel, the liaison between upper and lower is conducted.

District councils are regional liaison machineries and is set up at nine railway bureau, such as Hokkaido, Sendai, Tokyo, Niigata, Osaka, Hiroshima, Shikoku, and Kyushu.

There are two kind of chapters, one is consisted of about 1,500 members and another, of about 400. And squad is set up at railway stations.

2. Liaison machineries and its method.

(1) Telephone:

Daily business of union is arranged by Central Struggle Committee and is confiled at information and propaganda dept., and stated in regular form and delivered down to local information section.

We reserve those form paper. The hour to circulate our information is set in after five o'clock when the telephone facilities are comparable free, and we can communicate with local Hyogikai.

We have appointed liaison responsible men out of local Hyogikai committee member.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

All responsible telephone liaison men at various regions forward the information to their chapters, then to branches, to squads, and to rank and file, thus it is next day for rank and file to get these informations.

As to the special indispensable news, we make it a rule to send directly from the headquarters to local agencies on the sunday when the line is not busy.

In case of dispute, we should prevent to inform uncertain news, so we prepare 4 copies of reliable information for open reading.

It is very hard to send other news freely, as there is a watch for telephone service.

For communication, Kokutetsu has the budget of about ¥100,000.

We may use of telephone facilities unless it disturbs official business according to our trade contract.

(2) Organ paper:

The organ paper "Kokutetsu Shinbun" is 150,000 copies for one issue and distributed at the rate of one copy to three members of union, every five days. Sex committees take the charge of proof-reading altogether twelves members including six camera men.

(3) Kokutetsu Express News Service.

For the suppliment of Kokutetsu Shinbun "Kokutetsu Sokuho" is published twice a week, 70,000 copies is distributed at the rate of one copy to six union members and "Kokutetsu Bunka (National Railway Culture), 25,000 copies and other kinds of pamphlets are published according to circumstances.

(4) In various (Hihyo) local council branches and chapters, this own news is circulated in same method to headquarters.

3. Some caution for circulation of information.

(1) As quick as possible.

(2) Try to make people to read till end, by simple writing with some pleasently.

(3) Even short information should contain independency and class consciousness of labors, we must not seperate theory from realty.

(4) Information should be faithful and trueness toward the members and furthermore be seriousness.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [redacted]

We must not therefore change the information from the viewpoint of descripancy of information.

(5) For expecting of the adequacy of information, it necessitates to establish systematically the channels of information.

4. Attentions towards leaders:

As there are present phenomena that rank and file incline to hate reading.

Leaders retain firmly the important points by themselves, and skillfully take the advantage of place or chance for amiable task or roll-call in the morning to make them to listen.

5. Attentions towards the informed.

They should not be disorderly handling or indifferent to news.

It is necessary to accept them through careful arrangements.

We, Kokutetsu - distribute information in writing mixed up and some kinds of notices given by Kokutetsu management, or pick up important phrases with red underline and hung up on union bulletin in order to infritrate the information among rank and file.

In brief, to know is a premise to take action.

It should not be forgotten that our object of information is accomplished in expecting the adequacy of handling of information is the very motive for democratization and present urgent business.

6. How to handle the labor lecture; Vice-chairman of Zen-Nichiro Metal Industry, Shigeo Takahashi.

The prejudiced education being so far carried out in our country has planted the servitude practices upon general people and union members, and therefore we must eliminate this practice.

It can be achieved when general laborers take up voluntary initiative for education and then what is most effective method for enlightenment of u[illegible] members?

According to my opinion. The convention is most suitable plance, and labor lecture comes next to that and much developed method is the labor school.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [redacted]

The labor lecture is given to rank and file or union officers as its target for the duration of one or few days.

In most cases fifty attendants seems to be the biggest meeting.

For new union member, it may be as well to prepare a special lecture.

In this case, the primary theme will be the problems of constitution and trade contract.

What will be the problem for gathering many people?

1. How to choose the lecture:

a. It will cause the anti-official movement, if we only invite some person, who have the special ideology.

b. Select amiable men from the viewpoint of humanity.

c. Plenty of topics.

d. Full of charm.

e. Deep comprehension and broad experience in labor movement.

2. How to select the place:

a. Convenient place.

b. Enough room for expected audience.

c. Clean and neat.

d. Hung up the necessary materials.

3. Regarding the theme:

a. It is not interesting to collect some kind of theme. Theme should be well arranged.

b. Treated field should be wide. Adding the needful themes for the accomplishment of human character.

4. To prepare the memo to discribe the opinion for attendants concerning lectures (to state the comment and request for further lecture).

LEAFLET ON SELF-GOVERNMENT IN DORMITORIES

Everybody in dormitories let us develop a sound self-government association.

WHY IS A SELF-GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION NECESSARY?

It is because you should decide your way of daily life for yourself.

The right of self-government is guaranteed for you by the Labor Standards Law.

By the self-government association you can discuss about your rights and organize a committee so that everybody can decide their way of daily living by mutual understanding.

Do you have a self-government association in your dormitory?

If not, organize it at once.
A self-government association is an organization by which a self-government life is to be built up. Everyone of you will become a member of the self-government association.

DOES YOUR SELF-GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION HAVE A CONSTITUTION?

In order to operate your self-government association successfully, a constitution is necessary.

The self-government constitution is to be made by participation of every single member of the self-government association.

It should be provided apart from the dormitory rules which are established by the employer.

What rules should we provide in the self-government constitution?

The following items will be provided:

Name of self-government association.

Purpose

Location of the office

Qualification of membership (who can be members).
membership fee

L-309.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. 79-81

Officers of self-government (self-government committee, chiefs of different sections etc.), their number and term of office

Method of election (secret ballot by whole membership is best)

Name of sections and their duties

Kinds of meetings and their frequency

General membership meeting....the meeting which the whole membership attends, and in which are decided the most important matters.

Self-government committee.....Meetings to execute what is decided at the general membership meetings and to schedule programs and carry them out.

Section meetings.....Meetings to carry out the various functions of the association.

Parliamentary procedure.....Rules providing that meetings should not be held unless a majority is present, or providing that the decisions cannot be made without the agreement of the majority of the attendants, etc.

Daily routine of dormitories.....Daily life and housekeeping from morning to night in the dormitories.

Discipline.....regulations for disciplining those who violate the provisions of the self-government constitution.

Accounts.....budget allocation and account settlement of self-government association.

Revision of self-government constitution.....the constitution cannot be revised unless 2/3 of the entire membership agree.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

Liaison conference.....(Meetings between the management and self-government officers) the frequency of conferences, kind of matters taken up at these conferences

All of these matters should be discussed among the members and be stated in detail.

What kind of a person is qualified for the self-government committee?

When you elect the self-government committee or any other officer, you should not be carried away by other people's opinion. You should elect a person who you think will carry out what you have in your mind.

At the election, you first nominate suitable persons as candidates for the officers. After that is set, you study carefully the qualifications of the candidates. Officers should be elected by secret ballot (writing down only the names of the candidates without writing your own name down) with all of the members participating.

You should volunteer for office and try to work for the sake of the self-government association.

What are the special sections?

They are;

General Affairs Section.....function--record keeping, accounts; surveys and prevention of crimes.

Livelihood Section.....give guidance and put things in order concerning daily life.

Welfare Section.....distribution of ration, and other welfare activities.

Culture Section.....books, recreation and education.

Athletic Section.....sports.

Health Section.....sanitation and prevention of disease.

Let us all assist in the work of these sections and help them to function successfully.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

Do you always attend the self-government meetings?

Hold your self-government meetings as often as possible, so that you can discuss your daily life problems more often.

General membership meetings are very important, so be sure to attend.

Everybody should try to memorize the procedure of the meeting so that the meetings will be held in good order.

At the meetings you should express your opinion, so that the self-government association will gradually become your association.

If there is anything you do not understand about your self-government association you should ask till you are satisfied at the meeting.

Do you know the budget and the accounts of your self-government association?

Do you pay a self-government fee? You will feel happy if you make plans for your own good with the use of your own money, even if it is a small amount. Let us keep the account ledger up to date so that the members can look at them anytime.
Do not forget the accountant's report at every meeting.

Do you have liaison conferences with the management?

The self-government committee and the management should meet regularly and express opinions. If you wish to propose something to the company, you will utilize these conferences to do so.

Everybody in dormitories!

If you can manage your self-government successfully your living will become more interesting and worthwhile. In addition you will become persons useful for the society in the future.

NOTE:

If there is anything you do not understand about the self-government, how to draft a constitution, planning of daily life, etc., come and consult the Labor Standards Bureau, or the Labor Standards Inspection Office, or the Local Women's & Minors' Office in your vicinity.

MEMO TO: Chief, Labor Relations and Education Branch

SUBJECT: Textile Unions - Organization and Structure

1. The problems calling for solution in the textile unions can be better understood after an analysis of the whole structure of Zensen (The National Federation of Textile Workers' Unions) and its component parts. These components with their distinguishing features and functions may be outlined as follows:

a. In each of the several plants of any one company there is a local union and these several local unions (often spread throughout the textile centers of Japan) federate to form a company-wide bargaining unit called Federation "X" Company's Employees (or some such name). Sometimes there is a branch union at each plant of the company with the local union as the headquarters unit. Whichever form this company organization takes, the headquarters unit regularly is established in the center where the headquarters of the company is located. This "company federation" was purportedly organized to work out the lesser details of the working agreement with the company and (at least theoretically) to provide the local machinery for grievance procedure.

b. The smaller organizational units, whether local unions or only branch unions, affiliate, generally, with the local textile prefectural council. This textile council is a service branch of the Sodomei Labor Council found in most prefectures. It provides the "cultural benefits" rendered the Sodomei affiliations of non-textile unions by the regular prefectural Sodomei Council. Those benefits most regularly named are:

(1) settling of grievances and disputes
(2) providing cultural programs - usually political, educational and social recreational opportunities of a meager variety
(3) certain forms of rationing, such as food items for the members and of printing paper to the union itself
(4) sometimes organizational work.

c. The Prefectural Textile Council affiliates with the Sodomei Labor Council as do the non-textile Sodomei unions. In some prefectures where there are few textile unions, the textile locals affiliate directly with the Sodomei Council of the prefecture.

d. The "company federations" described in "a" above are also affiliated with the department of Zensen which is organized to deal with such matters.

(Zensen) establishing an administrative branch of the national union in each of the textile centers, with an administrative officer to conduct the regional affairs of the union. In this way an aggressively useful role may be played by the national union in the actual process of collective bargaining, organizing of the unorganized, aiding in the effective operation of grievance machinery, especially for the small unions, and in carrying on the educational work of these smaller units. Business unionism (wherein activity revolves about the working agreement) may then supplant the political unionism and paternalism with all its feudalism in the textile industry. It is further pointed out that the administrative department of Zensen from its regional headquarters can call regional conferences of representatives of the local textile unions in the area to discuss local programs. In this way it will have the advice and cooperation of, and be guided by, the local textile groups in a democratic way. Zensan Roren, the national union in silk, iscontemplating affiliating with Zensen, but its leaders recognize the weaknesses of Zensen structure and the perverted policies and ideology of Sodomei and to date has shown its reticence in affiliating until Zensen shows itself willing to introduce certain reforms. Our suggestion with regard to rebuilding Zensen, we believe, should be presented to the rank and file, since the officers of the superstructure and the intermediate structure have a vested interest in it.

Subject: Points of Conducting the Labor Education Porgram for Coming Three Months.

From : Director of Labor Policy Bureau.

To : All Prefectural Governors.

Points of Conducting the Labor Education programe from April to June based on the Outline of Conducting the Labor Education has been decided as attached sheets. We ask your consideration to conduct it effectively continuously from this term.

By the way points of Conducting the Labor Education has been already explained at the Conference of Labor Policy Section Chiefs of Prefecture Feb. 21st, 1950.

Also that future labor policy will stress upon the labor education was also instructed at that time. In order to make sure, we notify them to you.

I. Policy.

Carrying on the Labor Education porgram in detail and by districts with the same progress throughout the nation, we have contributed to the growth of healthy and democratic union movement. In this term we have desingned to take the strict unification of workers to introduce the rational systems and practices developed between labor and management in foreign countries as fair labor relationship andto promote the mutual aid activities, thinking over the participation in I.C. F.T.U. conference of Japanese labor delegates and the movement to unify the home labor front by democratic trade unions in accordance with objective world situations. Beside these points the thorough information of the items shown in "On the conduct of cooperation and advice concerning Organization and Structure of Trade Unions (Labor Note No. 273, 6 July 1949) shall be carried on successively.

II. Themes.

The theme for every month as fallows.
It is necessary at the conduct of the program to show many home and foreign examples or affairs, placing the emphasis on the explanation according to the facts.

April: Unification into National Unions.

May : Labor Relationship.

June : Workers' Mutual Aid Activities.

Since in April "Women's Week" for the purpose of promoting the right understanding on the women's status will be held from 10th to 16th throughout the country, this program shall be connected each other with the function in the light of the purpose.

III. Emphasized Points.

April:

I. Necessity of the National Union:

(1) In order to show the power of the local union, it is necessary and advantageous to have the soridarity and to organize the local union in national level having it as background.

(2) The local union may receive the service and be covered by the national union in every side where the local union lacks the power.

(3) In order to make inroad to the international labor society, it is necessary to organize nationally.

(4) At the present step of the social economy, there are many problems which cannot be settled unless they would be disposed as the nation-wide problems.

1. As being done at present, the economic problems compose one circle of the politics and general principle of the policy is decided at the Diet, political settlement often shall be done in national level at Tokyo. Under the present economic status, employers of the same industry often have common interest.

2. There are much more advantageous cases if the collective bargaining would be negotiated with the national union to standardize the working conditions.

II. Structure of the Nation Union.

(1) The national union should be organized on the basis of strong local unions.

(2) Forms of structure of national union have craft unions and industrial unions.

(3) The craft union is the organization of workers who are engaging in the same craft, and has following characteristics and interests.

1. It has aims of protecting the common interests of workers of the same craft.

2. It is the form which has developed in comparatively early period of capitalistic economy.

3. It was organized by skilled workers of each craft who has awakened for the special interest of respective profession, so it has solid unity but is apt to be exclusive.

4. It can be organized horizontal union widely regardless of form of enterprise, on the other hand it has tendency to limit their view narrowly as it stands on the interest of specific craft.

5. Jurisdiction problems of each craft are apt to being out the issues between the union.

6. It is passive for new method and technic of production.

7. At present time when the large scale enterprise has been developed, power of negotiation and straggle against the employer would be limited and it becomes difficult to stand against the employer with unified power of the workers.

(4) The industrial union is organization of workers working in the same industry and has following.

1. Regardless of whether skilled or unskilled it is organized for the purpose of protecting the interest of workers widely in the same industry.

2. It has been developed along with the modern mass production.

3. At the present economic status, there is tendency of the empleyer organizing in the same industry. When the union want to stand against the employer, the industrial union can show the strong power to negotiate with and struggle against the employer because it can include all workers of the industry.

4. There is danger that specific interests of each craft of the industry are often apt to be neglected and not fully presented in this form of union.

III. National Union and the Federation of National unions.

(1) In order to have stronger power of the national, it is necessary to federate the national unions.

(2) The federation of the national union will carry on following activities.

1. It urges the national unions affiliating to take unified steps for the common problems and give aids to them in case of strike, if necessary.

2. Encourages the affiliated unions to have close connection between them.

3. Gives the help to the affiliated national union an organization activities.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [illegible]

4. Carries out the political action for and against the Diet, government and its egencies, as to the common problems of the affiliats national unions.

V. International organization of workers.

(1) In order to elevate the social status of workers, it is conclusively necessary to have international organization.

(2) Social status of the workers in the country not advanced can be elevated by means of international organization.

(3) International organization of workers is the strong foundation of the world peace.

(4) Our trade unions also have come to join into the international organization.

(5) Japanese workers should recognizet the meaning and responsibilities of the fact that they entered into the international labor by themselve and try to foster their abilities necessary for it.

May:

I. Attitude of Labor and Management to Utilize the Greivance Procedures:

(1) Most part of number of grievances should be settled at the lst step of grievance procedures, negotiation between shop stewards and the foreman.

(2) Accordingly, the employer should prepare to establish the following form of attitude:

1. The employer should give his plant supervisor who is in charge of settling the grievances the necessary authorities to do it.

2. Plant supervisor should be the man who has ability to negotiate peacefully and is thoroughly informed of circumstance of the workingshop.

3. The plant supervisor should be educated for that purpose.

(3) On electing the shop stewards and members of the grievance committee who would take important part on settling the grievances, the union should be careful on following points:

2. Discussion shall be thoroughly done with the reasonable attitude.
3. Matters to be presented with reference material to them shall be distributed in advance to the committeeman and enough time to study them should be given to them.
4. The employer should be enthusiastic for utilizing the committee.
5. The union should have practical ability to be able to present the powerful opinions on the committee. For that purpose union should set up its own production committee, where they can study and research the matters to prepare reference materials for the committee.

III. Seniority Right.

(1) Seniority system has been developed under the labor management relations in U.S., and almost all the labor agreement in U.S. have seniority provisions in some form.

DECLASSIFIED E.O. 12065 SECTION 3-402/NNDG NO. [redacted]

(2) Seniority system varies from agreement, but main purpose is to afford the maximum security and reward to those who have rendered logest service.

(3) Accordingly standards of the seniority often based up the length of service but sometimes such factors as ability, technics, efficiency, family affairs and place of residence may be considered.

(4) Often seniority is applied as standards to determine the order of lay-off and rehiring and sometimes it becomes the element in determining promotion, labor turn-over, shift and time of vocation.

(5) Seniority may be set forth in plant, departmental or craft level: and limitation may vary from matter to be applied.

(6) Union officials usually has higher seniority than general union members.

(7) Seniority system has following advantages.

1. The workers can fully engage in his job in peace.

2. It contributes to the establishment of the plant discipline effectively.

3. It eliminates the useless friction between the union members and prevent the union from becoming weak.

4. It answers the purpose of settling the problems of readjustment reasonably, and can prevent the useless disputes between labor and management.

5. On rehiring the employee, the employer can employ in accordance with the order of seniority.

June: Welfare and Mutual Aids Activities of the Workers:

I. Meaning and necessity of welfare and mutual aids activities.

(1) Aims of these activities are to stabilize the daily life and to elevate the life culture through cooperation with the spirit of mutual aids of workers and their families.

(2) The trade union can carry out the welfare and mutual aids activities as its collateral business.

The proper form to do it most effectively is the organization of the living cooperative.

(3) Especially under present circumstances when rationalization of the enterprise is going to be practise and the working conditions and apt to be lowered, the activities will effectively contribute to maintain and improve the substantial wages.
