

A GROWING SECTION

FRANK BOOTH, COFFEE KING, SAYS GLENDALE HEIGHTS IS THRIVING

According to Frank Booth, the coffee king, Glendale Heights is a section of Glendale that is rapidly pushing to the front. This beautiful part of the city, which is the district which lies in Verdugo Valley, north of Verdugo Park, extends to the city limits of Glendale, at Montrose. "My business," said Mr. Booth, "takes me constantly into that section of Glendale and every time I go there I see new evidences of the progressive character of the people who live in that rapidly developing quarter of Glendale.

"It is a charming spot and there are many attractive places there. The community there has been growing steadily as I have reason to perceive in the increasing volume of business I do there. One of the interesting residences in that quarter is the fine home and rabbitry of Lieut. Whipple. Close to it is the handsome and attractive mansion erected by Mr. Lindsey, and another fine residence occupied by Gen. Whipple. A Mr. and Mrs. Pough are building a fine residence.

"In another part of the district Mrs. Whipple is building a fine artistic home, which is to be erected with cobblestones. Gardens of artistic quality are being carefully cultivated, and under the stimulation of the California climate are developing with marvelous rapidity. The large lots are also full of flourishing fruit trees. The boulevard is asphalted and well lighted. It is a scene of constant activity as automobiles and traffic of every kind pass along this way to Pasadena.

"I look on the growth of Glendale Heights as indicative of the future of Glendale, which is destined to become a wonderful city. Anyone who is in the habit of going around the outskirts of the city can see the steady growth and development that are slowly building up Glendale into a city of importance."

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Simmons, 4107 Sequoia street, Los Angeles, a very pretty wedding took place. Mrs. Helen A. Simmons played with tenderness of expression the nuptial strains while the happy couple took their places for the marital vow. The contracting parties were Mr. Clyde Deyo of Ontario, and Miss Hazel Minto Shepherd of Sedalia, Missouri.

The bride is a charming young lady and was attired in a beautiful white silk and crepe de chine wedding dress. The groom is a business man in Ontario, where the couple will make their home.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Jackson Hartsell, pastor of the West Glendale Methodist Episcopal Church.

Those present were Mr. W. F. Shepherd, father of the bride, of Sedalia, Mo., Mrs. J. W. Downing and Miss Beryl Downing of Monrovia, Mrs. Helen A. Shepherd of Los Angeles and Mrs. J. H. Simmons of Glendale.

SYCAMORE CANYON PRECINCT

Sycamore Canyon precinct, just east of Glendale, contains probably the fewest number of voters of any precinct in the county. Yet the voters in that precinct proved their loyalty to their parties in Tuesday's primaries by casting the largest percentage of the registered vote of any precinct in the county. There are 21 registered voters and 17 of them voted at Tuesday's election. While the expenses are about $2 for each vote cast which seems a little out of reason, yet the voters of that precinct are pleased to have the privilege of voting at home.

CEREUS IS A MARVEL

Mrs. R. E. Chase of 438 South Adams street has a specimen of the beautiful night blooming cereus that is causing much comment among flower lovers. This species of the cactus usually blooms but once a year. This year Mrs. Chase's cereus has borne in all fifty-nine blossoms, twenty-four of these having opened Wednesday night. The other thirty-five appeared at intervals a few at a time during the season. The flowers are a beautiful cream white about five inches in diameter and are extremely fragrant.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday; cloudy along the coast; westerly winds.

BIRD AND FLOWER CLUB

VARIOUS CHILDREN WIN HONOR BUTTONS FOR DESCRIPTIVE ESSAYS

Eighteen children and three adults again enjoyed the good times always experienced when the Bird and Flower Club holds its usual weekly meeting. The trip to Verdugo Park, to and from which point the happy party journeyed by street car, proved a veritable refuge from the glare and heat of the day; underneath the shady trees, lolling beside the bubbling stream, a most refreshing afternoon was spent.

To headquarters, before starting on the trip, were brought three deserted birds' nests. Eugene Kille, aged 8, and Edmund Parker, aged 14, were the proud possessors. Edmund had watched the building of one of the nests, and knew just how the mocking bird had fashioned her home and how long she had taken to rear her little family. Dorothy Sherman brought two eggs which Edgar Brown had given her, one a dove's and one a quail's, both found in deserted places.

After playing for an hour in Verdugo Park the club assembled on the grand stand and the descriptive essays handed in by the children were read. Honor buttons were awarded to Dorothy Sherman, Robert Tower, Dorothy Head and Eugene Kille. Letters describing things seen and heard during the past two weeks, when no meetings were held, were handed in by Ruth Head, Kathleen Woods, Wilfred White, Clarence White, Dorothy Sherman, Eugene Kille and Catherine Parker. Essays from other members will be read next week. All children writing these nature observations of the two weeks' holidays will be given the choice of an honor badge or a colored bird picture.

Mrs. C. Eckman, Mrs. F. W. Kille and Mrs. Nanno Woods chaperoned the young people. Mrs. H. C. Ackley was unable to be present, much to her regret.

The club will meet as usual next Wednesday at headquarters, 1111 Broadway, at 2 o'clock sharp. As Edmund Parker cannot attend the meetings after next week he has specially asked that the trip should be made to the foothills at the extreme end of North Louise street, the La Ramada district. All lovers of nature, young and old, are invited to join these trips. As the club already exceeds its limit, no new members can be accepted at present. Children wishing to join may come as guests of members, or have their names placed on the waiting list. First come, first served. Strangers and visitors to Glendale and neighborhood are especially invited to attend the trips as welcome guests.

So far as the writer knows there are no clubs in Glendale which consistently and always invite the public without money and without price, to share their pleasures and advantages. The Glendale Garden Society and the Bird and Flower Club invite every resident, every stranger, every visitor, to accept their cordial invitation all the year round to become acquainted with congenial people and to be introduced to the natural beauties of Glendale and to the birds and flowers with which Glendale is so abundantly blessed. These two organizations hold out the hand of welcome and gladness to all the world.

MR. MOODE HAS BAD ACCIDENT

Joseph Moode of the firm of Payne and Moode Company, broke his right arm while cranking his Ford automobile Tuesday evening at his residence, 1451 Vine street. After closing the store Mr. Moode drove to his home and left his machine stand in the street until he ate his supper. When he attempted to crank his machine in order to run it in the garage the engine back-fired, breaking both bones of the arm near the wrist. Dr. Young attended to the injury.

DEATH OF DR. SUTTON

Dr. Irwin C. Sutton of 5650 Hub street, Highland Park, died in Glendale August 29 at the age of 59 years. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Portland, Or., and belonged to the Knights Templar Lodge at Falls City, Neb. The Glendale Masons have charge of the funeral this afternoon at the Pulliam Undertaking Company's chapel. Interment at Forest Lawn.

Mrs. William Robbins of Lomita avenue is spending a few days at Huntington Beach among her numerous friends.

GREEK GOVERNMENT THROWN INTO CHAOS

PREMIER ZAIMIS' DETERMINATION TO RESIGN MEANS REORGANIZATION OF THE CABINET

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Greek government has been thrown into chaos by the resignation of Premier Zaimis. It is thought that on the reorganization of the cabinet ex-Premier Venizelos, a strong pro-ally minister, will probably be the head. Venizelos has all along urged the participation of Greece in the war on the side of the Allies. It is also stated that General Moschopoulos, head of the army, recommends the remobilization of the troops recently dismissed to their homes. This would mean that Greece would enter the war on the side of the Allies.

RAILROAD CHAOS SEEMS INEVITABLE

SANTA FE PRESIDENT THINKS SITUATION LOOKS VERY BLACK AT PRESENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—According to the statements of both Railroad Brotherhood men and railroad presidents the probability of the walkout of the railroad employes on Monday is very strong. President Wilson is laboring hard to get either side to make concessions but has failed up to this point. The men won't consent to arbitrate the 8-hour day and the railroads are equally determined to insist on their own position.

PRICE OF HOGS ADVANCE IN CHICAGO

THREATENED RAILROAD UNIVERSAL STRIKE HAS PRO-NOUNCED EFFECT ON MARKET

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The price of hogs on the market here is the highest that has been reached since 1861, during the war. The threatened railroad strike has thrown the packers, farmers, and all having transactions in the hog market into a panic. There was much excitement on the market today as it is feared that Monday will see the whole country disorganized by the strike.

ROUMANIANS ADVANCE IN TRANSYLVANIA

FOURTH ARMY HAS TAKEN MANY TOWNS AND IS NOW NEAR INDUSTRIAL CITY OF KRONSTADT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Aug. 31.—Driving through the mountains of Transylvania the Roumanians are capturing village after village and are now within three miles of the large industrial city of Kronstadt. Many Austrian prisoners have been taken. This is the work of the Fourth army. Other Roumanian armies are active in every direction along the frontier. Austro-Hungarian monitors appeared before Giurgevo, a Roumanian port, and fired on it but were compelled to retire.

TROOPS ORDERED BACK FROM THE BORDER

FIFTH CALIFORNIA INFANTRY BUSY PACKING UP FOR RETURN TO SACRAMENTO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NOGALES, Aug. 31.—President Wilson is getting ready for emergencies in connection with the expected railroad strike, Monday. It is stated that various bodies of troops received marching orders today. The Fifth California infantry are busy packing up their tent equipment and breaking camp. It is expected that the entire regiment will be en route for Sacramento by Friday. The Coast artillery is already on the way home.

MOVING OF MAILS RESTS WITH WORKERS

POSTMASTER BURLISON DECLARES THE MAIL SITUATION IS IN THE HANDS OF THE BROTHERHOODS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—"It rests entirely with the railroad workers," said Postmaster Burlison, "whether the mails shall move or not." Other government officials admitted that the men controlled the situation entirely and stated that it seemed as if there was nothing that could prevent the dreaded strike Monday.

AUSTRIANS ATTACK ROUMANIAN TRANSPORTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERLIN, Aug. 31.—Immediately on the entry of Roumania into the war Austria-Hungary gave orders to her gunboat flotilla on the Danube to take action. The flotilla met this morning some Roumanian transports near Turnsternu and after a brief engagement sank them. Roumanian artillery is bombarding the town of Rustchuk on the Danube.

LIBRARY STORY HOUR

MRS. SARAH MULLEN SPEAKS TO CHILDREN ON POETRY AND BEES

There was a large attendance at the story hour at Glendale public library Wednesday morning. The children have now come to realize how much these weekly hours mean to them and are regretting that the time when they must cease is so close at hand. There was, therefore, deep attention at the hour on Wednesday when Mrs. Danford, with her usual tact, spoke to the children of the subjects they had been studying and then introduced to them an old friend of the library and of the children, Mrs. Sarah Mullen of the Los Angeles schools, who has spoken to them already on different subjects.

Mrs. Mullen, who is a Glendale lady, takes a very deep interest in the work that is being done here, and said that already she can note a considerable change in the attitude of the average child with whom she meets in the library toward books and their use. She took for her subject, "Poets and Poetry," dealing specially with the children's poets—Stevenson, Field and Riley.

Speaking of Robert Louis Stevenson she said that no one could imagine how much love of children there dwelt in the heart of Robert Louis Stevenson. His rhymes for boys and girls breathed the very essence of simplicity and naturalness. They were the emanations of a heart that fully understood the childlike nature. They rippled and flowed and hymned their way through the hearts of children; because to the last heart of Stevenson was the heart of a child and spoke to children as they loved to be spoken to. Children at bedtime, with the visions of the day passing through their minds. Children on the sickbed; children playing with their bedroom furniture and making sagas out of their own adventures in Viking boats consisting of an upturned chair or taking vast journeys into Pillowland—all these things were in Stevenson, who was so much in favor with the people of Samoa because he was of a childlike heart.

The lecturer spoke also of James Whitcomb Riley, whose love of children was not so much a matter of fairy imagination or delicate tracery of dreams, but who handled the children of the farm and the old settler's cabin and the frontier of the early days, the days of candles and lanterns, pumpkin pies and Thanksgiving turkey. He could sing of the joys of the days "when the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock," to the life. Riley was a true poet and specially lovable because of his love for children.

Again the lecturer referred to the wonderful pathos of Eugene Field, the author of the immortal "Little Boy Blue." Field's tenderness of heart was very great. He, too, loved children, but he loved them from the parent's point of view. He sympathized as much with the parents as with the children. All three men were true poets. Their poetry was of the soul and therefore would live.

Mrs. Mullen spoke further of the nature of bees. She gave a very interesting sketch of the bees in swarming, constructing a comb, laying of the eggs, the wooing of the queen bee, the killing of the drones and the general work of hive and of the individual bees and specially of the work done by them in fertilization and crossfertilization of plants.

Elizabeth Mottern, the talented daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Mottern of the First Lutheran Church, gave two readings that were much appreciated—Celia Thaxter's "The Scarecrow," and Phoebe Cary's, "A Legend of the North."

LUTHERAN PICNIC

The Lutheran churches of Los Angeles and its vicinity have arranged to hold a general picnic at Eagle Rock Park on Labor Day, September 4. The large Lutheran contingent, in connection with the First Lutheran Church, is making arrangements to attend this affair, and all Lutherans in Glendale are invited to attend. Free coffee and lemonade will be provided.

SCHOOLS REOPEN SEPT. 18

All the grammar schools of Glendale will be reopened Monday, September 18. Every preparation has been made for resuming the work of the coming season with renewed energy. Mr. R. D. White, principal of the intermediate school and superintendent of the grammar schools, has completed all his arrangements in connection with the staffs of the various schools and the plans for the year.

LAST BAND CONCERT

GLENDALE MUNICIPAL BAND TO GIVE CLOSING PROGRAM FRIDAY NIGHT

After a highly successful season during the course of which they have given twelve concerts, the Glendale Municipal Band has come to the end of its work. The twelfth and last concert will be given to the Glendale public on the evening of September 1 at Broadway and Brand boulevard. In order to make this as much of a public affair as possible Mr. F. E. Thorp, the able director of the band, has made up a "request program." Each number played on Friday will have been requested by different patrons of the concerts. The concert will begin promptly at 8 p.m.

The band deserves much at the hands of the community. It puts in two days' practice a week and the small sum of $30 a month allowed by the municipality just suffices to clear expenses. This summer the band was in demand at various public functions in Los Angeles and elsewhere. It is well and carefully managed by C. D. Furst and is gradually making a name for itself.

MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE IS STYLED "MODEL CIRCLE"

"The Law of Habit" and "The Growth of Habits" were the topics from "The Dawn of Character," under discussion at the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, which met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Toll, on Kenneth road, North Glendale. The members are enthusiastic over the excellent suggestions with which this work abounds. They receive from it many valuable thoughts that they can apply at once to the care and training of their own boys and girls. Numerous illustrations from child life, of actual occurrences, are given, and these are so apropos that the point cannot be missed.

Visiting the circle yesterday was Mrs. Jones of Los Angeles, chairman of the educational department for the Los Angeles Federation of Parent-Teachers' Associations. Mrs. Jones had been referred by Mr. P. P. Claxton, commission of education for the United States government at Washington, to the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle of Glendale, to gain ideas therefrom for the furtherance of this work. Mr. Claxton complimented this circle by calling it his model circle. Considering the fact that there are numbers of the circles in existence throughout the United States, the feeling of pride that the members have in their own organization is quite justifiable.

Owing to the closing days of the vacation period, when many mothers are recreating with their young people, while others are busy preparing the wardrobes for the new term so close at hand, the attendance yesterday was the smallest that the circle has had. Those present were Mrs. Minnette Sherman, a guest; Mmes. Beamon, Brubaker, Burr, Duet, Kelley, Logan, McConnell, Morgan, Ormsby, Rathbone, Taylor, Faries, Eckman, Heustis and Toll.

CAMPBELLS ENTERTAIN AT BALBOA

The Campbells, who are spending several weeks at Balboa Beach, came to Glendale Tuesday to vote. Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Arthur Campbell are entertaining their sister, Mrs. C. T. Manwaring, and little daughter, Elizabeth, of San Francisco, at La Florencia, their seaside home. Miss Mary Logan of Tropico was the guest of Miss Kathleen Campbell for the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. David Black, Miss Esther Black and Mrs. Scott of Kenneth road spent Thursday with the Campbells at Balboa, Miss Esther remaining for a few days. The Campbells will return to their homes in the foothills of Glendale September 6.

Mrs. Delgado and her daughter, Catherine, of Lomita avenue, left Tuesday for a trip through Canada. They expect to be back within a short time.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1916

BREAKING THE NEWS GENTLY

Osaka is an ancient city of Japan, famed for its beauty. Its gardens are a dream. Oriental softness and loveliness brood over it. There the voices of the birds are hushed with the perfume of the myriads of flowers and come to the sense with a vague suggestion of paradise. In this charmed spot there is a newspaper which partakes largely of the genius of the place. Its utterances are suave and soothing and it always manages to convey to the public of the world outside as well as to its own clientele whatever bitter news the Japanese court may think it worth while imparting. This newspaper is the Osaka Manichi and it sets an example to some other newspapers throughout the world with their doctrine of hate.

The Osaka Manichi beams with brotherly love and overflows with the milk of human kindness. Meantime when the Tokyo government has anything to convey to the world that might not be easily swallowed it confides the mission to the Osaka Manichi and, behold, the whole world immediately is swallowing the daintily doctored news and finding it all very good.

Just at present Japan wanted to convey to the world the fact that behind its most recent treaty with Russia there was something else that did not really concern the world but of which as the world had obtained some inkling of its existence it might be as well to give an explanation.

When W. E. Gladstone was a cabinet minister of Britain he was a great hand at explanations. At that time Garibaldi had completed his Italian victories and had come to England. He was immediately a lion of society. "What a pity," said someone, "that Garibaldi has a wife; but for that we might have married him to Lady Blank." "Don't let that worry you," said D'Israeli. "Just set up Gladstone, he'll explain her away."

The Osaka Manichi is very like Gladstone. It is the finest apologist in the world and when its explanation has been made it is ten to one that you are as wise as before it was made. So the Manichi, which always has official knowledge at its finger ends, tells the world at large that behind the recently published Russo-Japanese treaty there is another agreement that the two countries really intended to keep secret; though it is really not a secret, but an honorable and upright understanding.

In virtue of this agreement Russia refrains from increasing the armament of Vladivostok; while Japan promises to do the same with regard to Maidzuru, her only naval port on the Sea of Japan. The separate agreement regarding the navigation of the Sungari River and the transfer of the Russian railway is of more importance to Japan than the main convention defining the political relations of the two countries.

Russia sells seventy-five miles of the railway between Changchun and Taolaishao for a price of $7,000,000 in arms and ammunition. The use of the Second Sungari River in Manchuria is of immense importance to Japan, which has a very large bean country to which the waterway is of great benefit. The fact of the matter is that Japan has shrewdly bargained with Russia just now for these necessary routes and privileges on the condition of aiding Russia in the war with Germany. Japan has supplied Russia with arms and ammunition and has even lent her officers for her general staff and for division commanders and colonels. Diplomacy means always a "quid pro quo"—something for something.

FUTURE OF THE PANAMA CANAL

Before the Panama Canal was opened there were not wanting pessimists who prophesied that it would never be completed and that it would be blocked by landslides and generally that it would be of little use to the United States. These doleful prophets have been greatly disappointed to find that the canal, though closed for eleven months since the slides began, is now showing such a development in shipping that the month since it was opened shows an improvement of the most astonishing kind. The world knows the value of the canal.

Before the slides 170 ships passed through the locks during the month of August. In August of 1916 the number was 145. The tolls in the same month last year amounted to 500,000 and in August, 1916, to $465,000. The shipping was diverted from the canal, it is true, and it takes some time to bring it back. When it is all brought back it will probably double the amount of the dues. The trip through the canal is now being made in eight hours.

The canal was a mighty undertaking. The fact that there have been immense slides in the canal was discounted long ago and Col. Goethals, then engineer of the great ditch, told the American public to expect them. Even with all these drawbacks the canal was opened a whole year in advance of the time promised. So that the world really has not lost anything by the closing down of the canal.

It is true that the opening of the canal is a mighty naval asset to this country. It is equivalent to another fleet. When the Atlantic fleet can cross the division between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans in eight hours there will be much more ease in dealing with transpacific questions and a general improvement in the tone of diplomatic representations from transpacific countries.

There should never be any hesitation on the part of the American people to see that the canal gets all the attention

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Mrs. A. B. Clement of 1321 North Pacific avenue is visiting her relatives in Porterville, Cal. She will spend several weeks in that place.

Mrs. James Mitchell of Arizona is residing at present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clement, 1321 North Pacific avenue. She expects a visit from her husband Saturday. They will both remain here for a short time and will afterward return to their home near Yuma.

Misses Barbara Mitchell of Kenned road, who has been spending the last two weeks at Balboa Beach, returned home Sunday night. Miss Mitchell was under the chaperonage of Mrs. Macdonald of Los Angeles, who was also chaperoning other friends of Miss Mitchell—Miss Ruth Brown of Stocker street, and Mrs. Marie Macdonald Bourne of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Bierbower of 922 Fairview avenue leave for Mt. Baldy Saturday, where they hope to enjoy a much-needed rest, in the mountain camp there. They will make the trip by auto and will stay for three days.

and care it deserves. It is one of this country's most valuable assets. Other nations understand this. All along they have sneered at the canal and prophesied that it would never be of any advantage to the United States; that it would choke up and that another canal would have to be dug. That is quite natural. The French attempted to dig the canal and failed. The Columbians think they were cheated out of the territory through which it runs; although this country paid $10,000,000 for the ten-mile strip of land from ocean to ocean. The South American republics sympathize with Colombia; but they will all come to see face to face with this country and when the riches of the East begin to pour in their full volume into the lap of the West they will realize that the United States created future history when it backed the canal with its prestige and its financial support.

There is every reason to believe that the Panama Canal will yet fulfill all those wonderful visions which Balboa first saw of cities springing into existence all along the Pacific Coast and of the argosies of the Far East hastening with their wealth to the emporiums of the Pacific Coast. More than 400 years have now passed away since that gallant gentleman and adventurer stood on Darien Heights, silent, awed, full of the sense of the Almighty, and felt the glory to come. Much of which Balboa dreamed has come to pass and when the war is over and the traffic of the world is restored the canal will be a pathway of wealth and civilization.

REVELATORS OF CHARACTER

The teaching experience of Margaret Lynn, associate professor of English at the University of Kansas, has destroyed her belief that character is indicated reliably by the chin. She has noticed that almost universally writers portray the weak characters in the stories as having receding chins, while the hero must have a square chin.

"One of the brightest students in my classes has a decidedly receding chin," Miss Lynn said recently. She told of two brothers who attended the university. "The brother with the square chin departed from us, after failing in an effort to carry only ten hours of work. The other one, with supposedly weak facial characteristics, had much more determination and proved to be a good scholar."

NEW ROAD PLAN

New York, New Jersey and several other States have started a movement that is rapidly becoming general, for the provision of strips on the sides of the motor highway suitable for horse-drawn vehicles.

The idea is to have a roadway in the center not less than fifteen feet wide for automobiles, and a section on each side not less than six feet in width for horses. The motor cars can then spin along their part of the road and give a fair chance to the slower horse-drawn vehicles on the side.

"O mother," cried Edith, "I found a little flea on kitty, and I caught it!"

"What did you do with it?" asked her mother.

"Why, I put it back on kitty again, of course. It was her flea."—Harper's Magazine.

THE GOLDEN RULE

MRS. ELLA RICHARDSON TELLS HOW IT WORKS IN BUSINESS

"Having a special invitation to Sam Sam Day on the athletic field of the United Shoe Machinery athletic grounds one Saturday afternoon at Beverly, Mass., I asked the privilege of going through the plant in the morning that I might come in touch with the work there.

When I arrived I was expected and addressed by name and when I left at noon they apologized about its being Saturday with no dinner being served in the lunch-room, as each Saturday afternoon is a holiday. Such was the kindness everywhere.

The plant is very large and employs 4500 people. Everywhere it was well lighted and clean. Each floor was of cement. They have many messenger young men, who travel about on roller skates. The employees were all pleasant and interested in their work.

The men each have an individual wash basin. The water is turned in, just the right temperature, at quitting time, and each leaves the shop clean. There are cold water drinking fountains handy all over the building.

The factory girls have a nice lunch-room with electric stoves on which they can fry a steak or make tea. They have a nice rest-room, showers, lockers and bathrooms, with a matron to supervise.

The office girls have another set of rooms. Their matron lays the cloths on all the tables and places an electric toaster on each. The girls cook their steaks on another stove on a large shelf. The rest-rooms have comfortable furniture and reading matter. The matrons are kind, loving women, who take an interest in the girls and they would go to them with any problem.

There is a growing recognition in the industrial world of the determining effect that the life outside of the shop has on the life within. They declare that our hopes of a better industrial world cannot be realized if that life outside has no clean amusements, is unhappy or hopeless. They tell me without healthy amusements workers can never be depended upon for efficiency.

Competition itself is forcing employers to consider the outside life of their employees, they say.

They have many well built homes with good furnace, gas, water, electricity and land enough for a good garden which the employees are buying for $20 per month.

One of the home yards especially took my eye. It had all colors of phlox from two to five feet high. With a splendid vegetable garden. The wife and mother here was very happy to show her home garden and tell you how much she appreciated her blessings.

The club house is a very large three-story building with wide porch around it. The golf links are very extensive. There are 400 acres given to the men for recreation, whether it be sports or raising vegetables. It is estimated that in 1915 the vegetable gardens yielded crops worth $152,000.

They knew I wished to visit Salem so when I was ready one of the stenographers was asked to take charge of me. She told me everything there was instructed to be thoughtful for the other fellow. It was the way each one's interest was looked after.

My friends joined me at the club house in the afternoon and after we had been around to all the exhibits and returned to easy chairs at the club, I sat studying the beaming faces of these big men who had come from Washington, New York, Pennsylvania and many other places to witness this gathering of their workmen. I knew they were gratified at the result of their investment. They were all as happy as young boys and I am happy to have met them and to have been their guest.

ELLA W. RICHARDSON.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The tennis tournament of the Pacific avenue school was held on the fine court of that school Wednesday. There was a good attendance of competitors and spectators. The prizes for the doubles were two boxes of candy and the prize for the singles a hair ribbon.

During the first two weeks of their visit the camp was full but toward the end of their vacation the people were returning home. They made trips to Strawberry Peak and to Colby's ranch and other places of interest.

WORK OF ADVENTISTS

EPISCOPAL CHURCH MAGAZINE PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO CHURCH PROGRESS

"The Seventh Day Adventists are an example of energetic summer missionaries. There are, as heretofore, some claims to prophecy that are more or less absurd to other Christians. We seldom see nowadays any definite assertion of the actual time of 'the judgment day,' which used to be their chief stock in trade, but in meetings now going on in a tent in Massachusetts avenue, Boston, vivid descriptions have been given of a great battle of Armageddon in front of Jerusalem, after the Turks have been driven out of Constantinople and have set up their headquarters in Jerusalem. Even the United States will be involved in that fearful contest, but at its end Christ is to come in person and end the carnage of war forever. Previous to this outcome, however, Japan and Russia, as the instruments of God, shall have conquered the United States and terribly ravished it because it had turned against the Bible and true religion.

These ventures into the field of prognostication do not represent the Adventists at their best. It is doubtful if any act of Christians can show a higher moral standard of life, or a more strenuous searching of Scriptures. It is announced in Boston that forty new missionaries were sent this summer to the Orient, the largest number ever to go at one time. The total now working in Asia is 49. In the non-Protestant world this little church has had a general increase of 30 per cent. in the last year with 2100 official workers in seventy-two countries, a circulation of its literature in eighty-seven languages. There are 247 main stations and 440 sub-stations in foreign lands; said to be a larger number than any other denomination can claim. In Canada and the United States the Adventists contributed $706,293 in one year for outside mission work. It is certainly a remarkable record for so numerically weak a sect, and worthy of high praise.

This is the copy of an item in the Boston news letter in "The Churchman" of August 12, 1916. "The Churchman" is the official paper of the Episcopal Church, issued weekly at 381 Fourth avenue, New York, N. Y.

School will begin September 11, 1916, at which time it is highly important that all pupils should be present.

CULTIVATING THE BIRDS

Nearly every country suburban and small town dweller is alive to the desirability of having birds around the premises and people take justifiable pride in the number and variety of feathered creatures in yards and parks. The biological survey is continually receiving requests for information as to how to attract and keep the birds.

Many persons have erected bird houses in their yards and are wondering why no birds have accepted the hospitality. They overlook the fact that to birds, as to human beings, the house shelter is only one of the necessities of life. Food, water and protection are other things equally needed and appreciated, and they may be provided with little difficulty.

A mulberry tree, for example, will do much to attract birds that are fond of pulpy fruit. A few cultivated sun flowers with their heavy crop of seed are attractive and easy to plant. A large earthen bowl, raised on a block a few feet from the ground and kept filled with fresh water, will soon be discovered and regularly used by the birds in the neighborhood both for bathing and drinking.

SAFETY SUPERVISORS

The leading railroads of the country now employ men to look after the safeguarding of employees and passengers from themselves. The officer thus employed by a railroad company does nothing else. He is usually known as the safety supervisor or the general safety agent.

The duties of such a man are many. He must send out, broadcast, literature that will reach every man on the road, and this literature must paint so graphically the results of carelessness that the memory of it will remain with a man and serve as a continual warning. He must make himself familiar with all 'unsafe practices indulged in by employees and passengers, and must devise ways and means to combat them. He must know the right and the wrong way to do everything on the railroad, and he must insist that it be done the right way.

Among other things he must see that no obstructions are left on the station platforms. There must be no material lying near the tracks over which breakmen or switchmen might tumble beneath moving wheels. He is usually paid a liberal salary and he earns it.

Want to "Reduce"?

THEN—why not do it the safe, sane, sensible way? First—telephone our Medical Office for an appointment. Then—have our Medical Director prescribe a course of treatment in our Hydrotherapy, Massage and Manual Swedish Rooms. Let him tell you what to eat—and what not to eat. Let him show you how much—or how little—exercise to take. It is just as important to know what not to do—your own doctor will tell you so.

This is the logical way to go about it. You learn where the benefit of "reducing" ceases and the harm begins—and so you are spared the discouragement of going backward instead of forward. Besides—there is the added satisfaction in the knowledge that every pound you lose by this method stays lost.

Surely you can't afford to tamper with haphazard methods of "reducing" when you know that this is the only acknowledged, scientific way!

The telephone is handy—use it!

Treatment Rooms open 9 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Saturday. Trained Nurses of both sexes in attendance. For rates and appointment telephone Glendale 2 or Home 1213

AT THE BIRD CLUB

OBSERVATORY AND CLASSIFICATION OF FEATHERED WORLD FINE TRAINING

Upon reviewing the work of the summer we are surprised to find so much accomplished by the children in their study of bird life. A new world has opened up to some of them while all have had an added interest in our feathered friends.

The club was formed to provide an interesting occupation for the summer. The results have been more than were anticipated. One member, after having carefully read many different bird books, has formed a determination to write and illustrate a bird book of her own.

Three bird houses were made by the boys. A bird bath and lunch-counter were placed in a convenient place and the blackbirds, mockers and towhees showed their appreciation at once. We find we have only to offer them what they desire to have birds about us in all seasons of the year.

The creative ability of the children was further stimulated and their interest aroused by making for themselves bird notebooks. These were eight by ten inches in size with removable lined pages between which were inserted the free-hand sketches colored with water colors. These were copied from the colored pictures of bird books obtained from the library. But the best thing for this purpose we discovered late in our summer's work to be a government bulletin entitled "Fifty Common Birds of Farm and Orchard," all beautifully colored and drawn from nature by the noted bird artist, Louis Agassiz Fuertes. These can be secured for only 15 cents and every child should have one.

Five of the children have very creditable notebooks, alternating pictures with descriptions and an occasional personal account of some interesting trip or bird incident.

At the last meeting, which was held Monday night, prizes were awarded for the best notebooks.

Dorothy Sherman, the oldest member, has the most complete book. Norman Begg received the first prize, a book, "Birds Every Child Should Know." Norman's notebook shows careful conscientious work.

Edgar Brown received the second prize, a book on "The Boy Scouts of America," in which is much about birds and bird houses, etc.

Harold Begg and Marjorie Sherman also received prizes for good work in their notebooks.

Not only these children, who did such excellent work, but the rest of the little club, have become acquainted with many of our common California birds.

Not until after beginning this club did we hear of the Garden Society's organization of children. Several of the Vine street members joined this also and enjoyed their excursions among the birds and flowers.

Following is an essay handed in at the last meeting:

The Vine Street Bird Club has ten members. We meet once a week, on Tuesday night. We make notebooks and draw birds. Each meeting we read and tell interesting things we saw during the week and we generally have refreshments.

Our first trip was to Verdugo Park and we took our lunches and when we got there we saw a bird called a towhee or brown bird, picking up crumbs under the tables. We sat down to eat our lunch and then went and climbed trees. Norman Begg was the first to see a bird's nest. Then the club was called to order and began the reading. All of a sudden we heard a queer chirp and looked and there was a grosbeak. We had opera glasses and looked through them at the bird. He was very pretty.

Then we went and played till time to go home. Next Tuesday we were asked if we would like to join our club to the Glendale Bird and Flower Club and we said yes. Wednesday we went to our new club at La Ramada with Mrs. Woods and had a fine time.

I am sorry to leave Nature Life and go to books but I have to. I hope we may have the same good time next year. Yours truly,

E. J. BROWN.

Mr. S. A. Pease, who is living at the Pinney ranch, had quite a peculiar accident befall him while homeward bound from Glendale last Sunday afternoon. After turning the curve just below Montrose, adjacent to the Sparr lemon grove, he attempted to arrange a few articles in the rear seat of his Hudson car and, losing control of his machine, ran off the paved road. Although the machine fell off a three-foot stone wall and into the gutter it was not seriously damaged and none of the occupants were injured.

For the past week Mrs. R. E. Haines has had the pleasure of having Mrs. Heath and sister, former residents of Crescenta and old schoolmates of Mr. Haines, as her guests. Congratulations Are In Order

Last Friday evening, August 25, at 7:30 o'clock a little daughter, Sarah Marie, made her advent into the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mauk of 905 East Forty-sixth street, Los Angeles. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barkley of Tujunga, are very proud and happy over this little new arrival—their first grandchild.

Last Monday word was received from Mr. J. B. Green, who was visiting in Whittier, that his brother very suddenly expired that day. It seemed providential that Mr. Green should have been visiting his brother at this particular time.

A Valley Conference

Monday evening representatives of the La Canada Improvement Association and the Sunland Chamber of Commerce met with the directors of the Monte Vista Valley Board of Trade at Bolton Hall, Tujunga, to discuss the advisability of forming some co-ordinated system for promoting public improvements and other subjects of general interest to the entire valley. The meeting was informal as it was found necessary to exchange views first in order to arrive at some basis of understanding as to what subjects appeared practicable for obtaining successful achievement by a co-ordinated rather than by individual effort. Among the subjects discussed were flood control, reforestation, streets and highways, public parks, appropriations for post roads, public utilities, bond issues, legislation and advertising our valley. After considering these separately it was the unanimous opinion of the representatives that these subjects and all questions pertaining to public improvement, and others of a general character affecting the valley's welfare could be handled more successfully and advantageously through the medium of a federation composed of representatives of the several commercial and improvement organizations of the valley and with this understanding the meeting adjourned to meet at La Canada, September 9 to formulate plans for carrying out some such program. After the conference, a number of the members of the Board of Trade, having gathered together at the club house for a social time, a pleasant evening was spent and a supper was served by the Entertainment Committee.

Miss Haganbush was a visitor in Tujunga for a short time last week.

Meeting of Tujunga Boosters

Saturday evening the committee appointed to draft recommendations as to the object and manner of conducting the affairs of this organization submitted their report by the chairman, Fred M. Ashby. The following is a resume of the report: The organization to be known as the Tujunga Boosters. The object is to advance the interests of Tujunga in every way but especially with reference to the sale of surplus land held by its members and the best methods to adopt to attract more people here that the place may be advanced and receive new life socially, industrially, commercially and religiously. To advertise in the most adequate and judicious ways that careful thought and consideration may suggest always bearing in mind that accuracy and absolute honesty of statement be the motto and slogan in all the transactions of the organization. It was also recommended that the organization be auxiliary to the Monte Vista Valley Board of Trade, but that the membership be not confined to that body alone but be open to any person who is in sympathy with the movement and willing to boost Tujunga. It was recommended that the management of the booster organization be in the hands of an executive committee of five, afterward augmented to seven, to be elected annually and to choose from among its members a president, secretary-treasurer and a selling agent, and to select from the general membership of the organization such committees as may be deemed most desirable, subject in all things to the approval of the entire organization. Rules governing membership and all special regulations are to be left to the decision of the organization as the occasion arises. This report was accepted and adopted on motion of P. J. Blake and the names of Miss McKee and D. C. Dean were added to the committee who were unanimously elected to serve for one year. Besides the two names above mentioned those composing the committee are Fred M. Ashby, Mrs. Jennie B. Kearney, Charles W. Dean, Willis H. Malona and Mrs. Darlington.

Town Meeting

At the town meeting Tuesday evening the chairman of the Harvest Home Festival, Mr. Malona, gave a report which was accepted and adopted unanimously. The time set is two weeks from last Tuesday, September 12, the community picnic and flag-raising to occur during the day and the festival supper in the evening. On the committee will be a representative from each organization of Tujunga. A surprise was here sprung upon the meeting. A song, "Boosting for Tujunga," written by Mrs. Shaner, was sung by a crowd of her neighbors who had gathered on the pergola. The song was greeted by great applause. After the excitement of the surprise had subsided the business of the meeting proceeded and on motion by Mr. Darlington the name of Mr. Ashby was added to the committee of the Harvest Home Festival. It was stated by the moderator that there was a deficit of $2 in the flag fund. This was raised in a very short time by subscription. As the moderator was about to close the meeting another surprise was sprung—a song, "Tujunga," written by Miss Gilbert and sung to the tune of "My Bonnie" by Mrs. Kearney and Miss McKee as a duet, a number of voices joining in the chorus. By special request both songs were repeated. Miss Gilbert's song is given below by special request:

"Tujunga" (Air "My Bonnie")
Tujunga lies over the mountains,
Tujunga, not far from the sea,
In the beautiful valley of sunshine,
O, this is the homeland for me.
Chorus
Homeland, homeland, Tujunga the homeland for me, for me,
Homeland, homeland, Tujunga the homeland for me.
Where canyons lie deep in the shadow
Of mountains that tower above;
With clear, sparkling streams ever flowing—
Tujunga, the homeland I love.
Chorus
The sky, 'tis so blue o'er the live oaks
Where the mocking bird sings the day long;
When the valley with moonlight is gleaming,
We hear the sweet whip-poor-will's song.
Chorus
We are without a copy of the other

It is reported that the shipyards of Maine are now busier than they have been for years, and that many of the vessels being constructed will be controlled by foreign owners.

A WOMAN'S INVENTION

One of the most useful inventions used at sea was the work of a woman—the Coston signal lights. These signals are used on ships everywhere. They burn in any color or combination of colors and are discernible for over five miles at sea.

The distress outfits of these signals are required by the United States Steamboat Inspection Service in the equipment of lifeboats, to enable those in the boats to signal for help during the night in case of need. The name Coston has been incorporated into the English language under the head of lights in the standard dictionary.

SETS 5000 CHARACTERS

A Japanese newspaper man in Honolulu has built a type-setting machine with which it is possible to set about 5000 characters used by Chinese and Japanese printers. In spite of the difficulties of devising and putting together a machine capable of reproducing so many characters, the invention is said to work with entire satisfaction, although one must attain considerable expertness to be able to operate it with fair rapidity.

INDIVIDUAL SELFISHNESS

If individual selfishness could be displaced by an earnest desire to serve the general good, if petty greed could give way to, and be supplanted by, a love for humanity and a desire to serve instead of to prey upon, by a broader consideration for the race instead of thought only of self the kingdom that is prayed for, but seldom worked for, would be here before tomorrow morning.

If this earth of ours is an outcast world, where the sins of past lives are being expiated, as some have professed to believe, then the one thing that insures its continuance as hell is selfishness, individual selfishness, that selfishness which finds expression in the words, "what is there in it for me; how is it going to affect my interests?"
