BALTIMORE, July 10. This morning, between 8 and 9 o'clock, a man by the name of Thomas Copeland, who had taken boarding at Mrs. Beall's, in South st. attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself with a pistol in the throat, immediately under the chin. The ball passed through his tongue, and lodged in the roof of his mouth, and was, we understand, extracted by Dr. Jameson. He had been in a state of mental derangement for a week previous, and has been removed to the hospital.

An old man, supposed a Scotchman, fell into the Basin at Albany, and was drowned. A bystander who saw him taken up, and who was afterwards said "the drowning man is better off than I," and taking two strokes in his hands and two in his feet, he jumped into the water. On being taken out he lay upon his back, and was not conscious until he was taken to the hospital. He was sent to jail for safe-keeping.
