BANK OF BELGIUM-CITIZENS' BANK : In the Passe Nation of recently received, we see a synopsis of the royal ordinance relative to the bank of Belgium. That bank is to drave a constal of 20,000,000 france; and is to commence operations or the 1st of May, and continue for 25 years. Eta privileges are very auteneive: not only is it permitted to regeive deposits, to d scount, emit notes and trade in tills of exchange; but to deal in mortanges and life insurances.

This may probably satisfy the minds of those who have have hearkened too much to the surmises currently circulated of late in the city, relative to the loan to the Citizens' bank: and we trust that it will enable this bank to commence ope

New Orleans had anticipated with intensity of feeling, their having an eligible exchange; and many capitalists had incorrect con-iderable expense in the preliminary requisites: but the charter granted was so worded by the ignorance or duplicity of the wiseacres of the house of representatives tent the company were ashamed to foster the illshaped hantling. The bill was like the unfortunate Patiender who was changed at his birth.

And now we have another instance of themnegligence if not culpability of legislation. The Pontchartrain railroad with justice were they asked, and with advantage might they have been granted - advantagenes not only more immedistely to the company, but to the citizens, to traders and I. a amended charter has slee to be rejected.

ISKETCHES OF THE SENATE-No 6.

ISAAC THOMAS. Major general Thomas is the senatorial representation from the Rapides district; and is not only a credit to his constituents, but an honor to the state. As a lawyer he possesses tact, crudition and discomment; and seems intimate not only with legal routine, but with legal requirements as far as justice and expediency in legislations are required. As a senator he was solicitons to benefit not only his immediate constituents; but to improve of leading to the discovery of any political offences or sins t existing laws, and meliorate the administration of jus- Mr Van Buren, it has led to the exhibition of a character, for t.cc. His style is not indeed studied; his centences are often intervolved and parenthetical; and his arguments are sometimes sophistical as well as subtle: still his polished address or sunvity of manners makes his auditors believe his sentiments are the result of conviction; and that they therefore should be similarly convinced.

His earliest offorts during the session were concentrated on a bill that had been left among the unfinished business of the former legislature—that to incorporate the Red ri versailroad and banking company. Some of the provis on of this charter were considered objectionable by proposed to construct a railroad 30 miles in extent from Alexandria, which they and their advocate from Rapides considered a satisfactory state bonus for being allowed banking privileges with a capital of 4 millions, to copting e chartered for 50 years, and with permission not to h we the railroad constructed till the expiration of 10 years. Remarks on these features are not now in order; but it certainly must have required great strategic skill and confidence in the advocatos of this bank, to have the charter passed with no alteration of its material privi- career is well known to every democrat. His next efforts were stricted to opposing and improving the provisions of the hall introduced to charter the Orleans draining company. iles opposition secured the reduction to onefifth of the sum proposed to be subscribed of the stock of the company, on the part of the state. Many other of its original c'auses he warmly contested; and when Mr Hoa in anewer to Judge Moore, seemed to crow 'cock adoodledoo,' as having repeatedly and successfully repelled the objections it in s opponents, the general advanced to the rescue of the udge; and very composedly told the member from Orthat General Jackson is in favor of Mr Van Buren, to the to-tall exclusion of Judge White, or any other prominent man or wordy war; that he had not succeeded in convincing his colleagues of the propriety of the clauses, when he repeatedly asserted his own integrity of purpose; and that to provisions remained and must be removed before he (Mr T) gave his consent to the bill. He had phis (Tenn.) Gazette. indeed agreed to amendments in transitu; but the bill as a whole might demand his negation, unless further amendci. The hint was taken; the bill was remanded to a

He procured convenience of his constituents. He failed to revive the rotation in the judiciary system throughout the district courts; yet (if we remember rightly) one or two of his bills amendatory of the civil code and all other luxuries. c de of practice were passed. But one bill of his of the atmost importance to the community not only of this state but of this country, has unfortunately been left among the unfinish. reate.
