A Mississippi Fight.

"Can it be possible that that handsome looking man is the far-famed Col. Bowie," whispered Mr. A. in my ear.
"It is so," I replied, and before I could add more, Bowie was with us. My friend introduced us, and soon we were conversing together.
"I have not seen you for some time," said my friend, at length.
"I am just returning from a trip to the Rocky Mountains," said Bowie.
"Really, Mr. M., I wish you had been along with us. We had several fights with the Indians, and in one of them I received a bullet in the arm. Unfortunately for my friends, the gamblers, it is nearly healed," and a terrible look passed over his features. "Our party had a most desperate fight with Indians near Coons Hollow—they were twelve to one—but we beat them off."

At this moment a loud shout caused us to turn our heads; almost immediately the cry of "man stabbed!" reached our ears. Soon the crowd opened, and a gambler came forth. His hands were covered with blood, and in his right hand he bore a huge knife dripping with blood. Suddenly, he turned, wiped his knife on the coat of a man who stood near him, and broke into a loud laugh.
"What's all this about?" exclaimed Col. Bowie. On hearing this the gambler thrust his knife into its sheath and approached us.
"Merely a man stabbed—that's all," he said. "Any of you gentlemen wish to play cards?"
"I never play cards with strangers," said Col. Bowie.
"Why not?" asked the gambler.
"Because, for all I know to the contrary, the person with whom I am playing may be a gambler," was the instant reply.

On hearing this the crowd collected around us.
"Do you mean to insult me?"
"Insult you!" said Bowie, surveying the other with contempt. "I insult no man, sir."
"Because you are too much of a coward to do so," said the gambler, sneering.
"Is this gentleman your friend?"
"A new friend, sir," replied Bowie.
"Well, I insulted him a few minutes ago," said the gambler.
"Is this true?" asked Bowie, turning to Mr. M. Mr. M. replied in the affirmative.
"What is your name?" asked Bowie.
"My name is McMullen," replied the gambler.
"Ha!" exclaimed Bowie, with a look of delight, "are you any relation to the duelist that slew Joe Wingo a year ago?"
"Yes, it was I that slew him," replied the gambler.

A terrible look passed over Bowie's face.
"Ha!" he exclaimed, "perhaps you do not know that Joe Wingo was my cousin."
"I don't care who he was," returned the gambler. "If you wish, I will serve you in the same way."
"Perhaps," continued Bowie, a strange smile creeping over his features, "perhaps you do not know that I swore to avenge his death."
"Then step out this way and fight me like a man," said the gambler.
"Grant me one moment," said Bowie, "perhaps you do not know that my name is Colonel James Bowie."
"Bowie? Bowie?" he murmured faintly.

"Aye! James Bowie!" returned the other. "Come, come, you wanted to fight me two minutes ago—I now comply with your request. I am the challenged party, and therefore I choose the weapons and the place. Our meeting will take place here, and our arms shall be the Bowie knife."
"Have it as you wish," said the gambler, throwing off his coat.
Bowie placed his hand behind the back of his neck, and drew forth a huge Bowie knife. Placing it between his teeth, he drew off his coat, and rolled up his shirt sleeves.
"I am ready," said he, in a clear ringing tone.
"So am I," said the gambler.

Three cheers for Bowie were given by the crowd. Bowie smiled, while the gambler bit his lips with rage.
"Make room there," said Bowie, "I cannot fight without a clear field. Come, Mr. McMullen, are you ready?"
"Yes," said the gambler.
Bowie raised his knife high above his head, and sprang upon him. Both struggled for an instant, and then fell to the floor. They rolled over the deck, the crowd making way for them until they reached the railing. Suddenly a stream of blood flowed from the gambler's right arm, and he uttered a cry of pain. Still, however, he did not release his hold. Again they rolled over, and again Bowie plunged his knife into his arm. Suddenly each released his hold of the other, and sprang to his feet. With the quickness of lightning the gambler changed his knife from his right hand to his left, and sprang towards Bowie. Bowie met him half way, and drawing back his arm, he plunged his knife into his body. At the fifth blow the gambler fell dead.

"Gentlemen," said Bowie, placing his foot upon the gambler's breast and half extending his right hand, "this man insulted me, and I slew him. If any one wishes to avenge his death, let him step out."

A COOL FIDDLER.—The New Orleans Picayune tells the story of the snagging of a steambark, with her owner on board, who was very fond of playing on the violin. The captain, pilot and engineer were in the cabin playing cards one day, when her bow struck a snag with a force that put a hole through her as big as a hoghead. The shock upset the fiddler and those gathered around it, and caused a general confusion and consternation among all except the owner, who having righted himself in his chair, recommenced his tune where he had left off, and went on as if nothing had happened.
"She's a sinking!" shouted an Arkansas man dressed in a hickory-bark coat, who was making his way out with a pair of saddle-bags on his arm. "Tomahawk me if she ain't a sinking, sure."
The owner heard it, but filled away as unconcerned as Nero at the burning of Rome.
"Three feet of water in the hold! Run old Buzzard ashore if you can!" shouted the captain.

The startling words reached the ear of the owner, but he continued to saw away. The passenger ran to him and bawled out: "Did you know the boat had been snagged?"
"I suspected something of the kind," coolly answered the owner, as he quietly laid his left ear upon his violin, a la Ole Bull, and appeared perfectly enchanted with his own strains.
"She's been a losing concern these five years," replied the owner, as he drew a most execrable note from his fiddle.

"I can feel her settle now," remarked a passenger.
"I wish she would settle with me for what I've lost by her before she goes down," was the owner's reply, and his right hand moved backward and forward over the fiddle.
"But why don't you speak to the captain—give him orders what to do in the emergency?" asked the good natured passenger.

"Interfering with the officers of this boat is a delicate matter," meekly and quietly replied the owner, as he still sawed away.
The boat careened over, and the next moment the cabin was full of water.
The Buzzard, together with all her cargo and machinery, proved to be a total loss. The officers, crew and passengers saved themselves by the means of a yawl. The owner swam ashore with the fiddle under his right arm and the bow in his mouth. No insurance.

RULES FOR THE JOURNEY OF LIFE.—Never to ridicule sacred things, or what others may esteem as such, however absurd they may appear.
Never to show levity when people are professedly engaged in worship.
Never to judge a person's character by external appearance.
Always take the part of an absent person who is censured in company, so far as truth and propriety will allow.
Never to think the worse of another on account of his differing from you in political or religious opinions.
Not to affect to be witty, or jest so as to wound the feelings of another.
To say as little as possible of myself, and those who are near to me.
Not to obtrude my advice unasked.
Never to court the favor of the rich by flattering either their vanity or their vices.
Never to dispute with an enthusiast.

NATURAL SURGERY.—A friend of ours reports the following extraordinary piece of natural surgery: Two months ago he had a pet cat that had the misfortune to lose one of its eyes in a scrimmage with his fancy dog. The eye was so badly bitten that all of the iris run out, and for six weeks was quite invisible. Well, within the last fortnight the lost eye has been gradually refilling, and is now nearly as perfect in sight as it ever before was. If anybody doubts this story, we'll vouch for it and produce the cat.—San Andreas Independent.

DOUBLE-TEAMING ON THE DEVIL.—The Dutch Flit Enquirer says that two persons and a blasphemous infidel have been conjointly editing a portion of that paper, until the real editor has been forced to shut down on the arrangement. The commingled odor of hyssop and brimstone was too penetrating, and the war between the heavenly hosts and Belial threatens to "bust the institution."

Tiger and Dog Fight.

Recently, says an exchange, about five hundred persons who do the city of St. Louis the honor of living in it, repaired, en masse, to a canine temple of some note, for the purpose of witnessing an irrepressible conflict between a tiger and two dogs. The tiger was a beautifully marked animal from Brazil, three and a half feet long, twenty inches high, and weighed ninety-five pounds. Its owner had been heard to remark that the savage animal could vanquish twice its weight in any kind of dog flesh, whereupon the elegant and distinguished proprietor of a bull-terrier, weighing fifty pounds, and a large black dog, weighing eighty five, offered to make a match with him for a hundred dollars. "Done!" said the tiger man. The particulars of the fight were agreed upon, and Sunday morning found all hands ready for the brutal spectacle. The cage of the tiger was placed within a circular fence, breast high, and shortly before "time" was called, the dogs were led up to take a look at their enemy. At sight of him they snapped and snarled in a frenzy of rage, whilst he couched gravely at the back of his cage and eyed them with supreme contempt. At a given signal the door of the cage was thrown open, and in rushed the furious canines, with foaming lips and eyes all ablaze, dashing upon their foe with a save rage. Feeling the teeth of his adversaries, the tiger cleared himself of their immediate attentions with one terrific leap, coming down upon them like an avenging fury. The audience thought it was all over with the dogs then; their fur and blood flew in a perfect mist; two blows from the paws of the tiger tore their scalps half off, and left quivering ribbons of flesh on their sides and breasts; but the furious animals were not conquered yet. The tiger seized the jaws of the terrier in his mouth, and was crunching them fearfully, when the other dog sunk his teeth deeply in his throat, and compelled him to release his prisoner, which immediately pounced on his back. The dogs had the foe now in a death-grip, and the owner of the tiger dared not attempt to draw them off. After a long and furious but vain effort to shake off his furious assailants, the tiger uttered a plaintive howl, staggered a few steps forward, and fell dead amid the cheers of the less noble brutes who had assembled to witness the horrible spectacle. Civilization is a "big thing."

TWO IN A BED.—Ned and Charley are room-mates, but they occupy different beds. Ned's sleeping apparatus was so situated that he could get in on either side—that is to say, there were two fore-sides, which Ned found very convenient. One night Ned and Charley had been out, and on returning, which they did near morning, both were considerably elevated. However, they walked to their room with an air that seemed to say, "not so drunk after all," and sought long and patiently for matches and lamp. After knocking the pitcher off the wash-stand, and smashing the looking-glass, they finally gave up the search and went to bed.

Went to bed—yes, that's the word, but owing to the darkness and confusion of their senses, they made a slight mistake. In short, Ned's bed had the honor of receiving the two friends—Charley getting in on one side, and his friend rolling in on the other.
"I say, Ned," cried Charley, touching somebody's calf, "there's a fellow in my bed."
"Wonderful coincidence," exclaimed Ned, feeling a strange elbow in the neighborhood of his ribs; "there's one in my bed too."
"Is there?" cried Charley; "let's kick 'em out!"
"Agreed!" said Ned.

And accordingly the two friends began to kick. It lasted about a minute and a half, and Ned was sprawling on the floor. Charley was left in possession of the bed. For a moment all was silent.
"I say, Ned," cried Charley.
"What?" asked Ned sulkily.
"I've kicked my fellow out."
"You are luckier than I am," said Ned, "for mine has kicked me out!"

A VALUABLE RECIPE.—A little child of Mr. J. P. Murray, on Tule river, was dangerously poisoned last week, by swallowing a number of percussion caps. Dr. Thompson was sent for and succeeded in neutralizing the deadly effects of the phosphorus and copper, by administering repeated doses of the whites of eggs. The doctor informs us that this simple remedy, if used in time, is a good antidote against nearly the whole range of poisons which a child would be likely to get hold of. We have ourselves seen a valuable dog recovered from the effects of a dose of strychnine, simply by administering the whites of four eggs.—Visalia Delta.

On old writer says, 'Heaven might have made a better berry than the strawberry, but it never did.'

JACK AND THE PORT ADMIRAL.—Her Majesty's frigate Thunderer was fitting in Portsmouth harbor. Jack had leave to go ashore, and as his time was almost up, and his comrades about taking to the boat to go aboard the frigate, Jack recollected that he had money enough for another bottle of grog. He got it, and had not a moment to spare in getting into the boat. As he trotted down the dock he jostled a stiff old fellow, who fired a shot over Jack's bow in this wise:

"I say! fellow, what are you about?" Jack hugged his two bottles of grog under his jacket; never touched his cap, but sung out:
"Go to blazes!" This was too much for old gold buttons. He grew purple with rage, as he called out:
"Fellow! do you know who you are talking to? I am Admiral of the Port, fellow!"

"Are you, indeed? Well, Old Buttons, you've a d—d fine billet. I hope you'll take care of it!" and away went Jack.
The captain's gig touched the dock a minute after. Coming up, the first person Jack's captain saw was the Port Admiral, gorgeous as the grand Turk, stiffly promenading the dock. The captain gave the usual salute with his hand, and said, "Good morning."
"Go to blazes!" snorted the Admiral. The captain halted; and turning about, said:
"Admiral, although you are my superior officer, I have a right to exact of you the respect shown by one gentleman to another. Perhaps you are not aware who you are talking to. I am Captain Jenkins—of Her Majesty's frigate Thunderer."

"Are you, indeed!" quoth the Admiral. "Well, Old Buttons, you've a d—d fine billet. I hope you'll take care of it!" and as he walked away stiff-legged, the old Admiral of the Port added: "That's what one of your d—d sailors told me a minute ago."

A BARN-YARD OPINION.—A friend of ours, says the Alameda Gazette, not long since attended a ball in one of the rural districts represented by Sam Merritt, of Mariposa. He danced frequently during the evening with a sensible but very frank young lady, purporting to come, originally, from Arkansas. In the course of rather a confidential conversation, she remarked: "I don't go much on the young fellers around here." "Why not," he naturally inquired. "Because they've got no sand in their crops, and when you talk sense to 'em they don't cluck." Our friend crowed and left that roost.

A KEEPSAKE.—While the Seventh Regiment was in Philadelphia, a Fine old Quaker lady observing that one of the band was in a state of embarrassment for the lack of a string with which to secure the mouth of his bag of provisions, observed, quietly: "Friend, I would not give thee an implement of war, but thee shall have a string to preserve thy food." Then she turned partly away for an instant, and stooped down to tie her shoe, apparently, but when she rose up she handed to the blushing blower of brass a neat green band, that a moment before had been doing duty as a—a—well, a garter!

HOW THEY TAKE IT.—I have a lady friend who, notwithstanding all my admonitions, still persists in the lunacy of being civil to her own sex. Not long since we were walking together when she accidentally trod on the trailing skirt of a female before us. Foreseeing that she was about to make a fool of herself by asking pardon, I laid a restraining hand upon her arm. Oblivious of the warning, she said, very gently, "I really beg your pardon, madam." "You nasty thing!" retorted the vixen, snatching up her contaminated skirt and sailing majestically past. Comment is unnecessary.—Funny Fern.

WRONG ADDRESS.—Nathaniel Shelly was complaining that some one had insulted him by sending him a letter addressed to "Gnat Shelly." "Why," said a friend, "I don't see anything insulting in that. Nat. is an abbreviation for Nathaniel." "I know it," said the little man; "but blast his impudence, he spelled it with a G—Gnat!"

"Miss, will you take my arm?" said an old bachelor. "La, yes, and you too," said the young lady. "Can only spare my arm," hastily replied the bachelor. "Then," said Miss, "I can't take it, as my motto is to go the whole hog or none."

A young lady down East advertises for the young man that "embraced an opportunity," and says that if he will come over to their town he can do better.

A man behind the times should feed on catch-up.

Duties fulfilled are always pleasures to memory.

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a legal form for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislature, with the acknowledgement attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS OFFICE. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgment and record.

Political Advertisements.

No advertisement of a political character will be published in the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS unless paid for in advance.

To enable us to keep up with the improvement of the times, we have just purchased one of the largest size Ruggles' patent power printing presses. Our facilities now for doing job work of all descriptions, is unsurpassed in the State. We have the most complete assortment of job types and printing materials, and by means of the power press, we are enabled to do all descriptions of job work, such as election tickets, ball tickets, bill heads, circulars, cards, etc., with as great dispatch, in as neat a manner and on as reasonable terms as the same work can be procured outside of San Francisco.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.—We would advise all those who are in want of books or stationery to call at Raveley's, where you can find all kinds of school books, law books, poems, novels, etc.; also a fine assortment of legal paper, letter and note paper, account books, pens, ink, etc., cheap for cash.

REMEMBER there will be a grand ball at the Union Hotel, Knight's Landing, on Thursday evening next, the 4th of July. The Hall is a spacious one, capable of accommodating a large concourse of pleasure seekers; the music of the first order, and everything will be done to make all who come enjoy the occasion.

BRICKS.—Mr. Isaac Culp has finished burning his large kiln of bricks, about half a mile below town. Those who desire to build, or use bricks in any way can be accommodated in all respects, (unless they want one to put in their hats.) The kiln is not quite cool enough for a thorough inspection, but from appearances they are of fine quality, and well burned.

THE Eagle Steam Flour Mills of this place, which, after a run of about ten months, closed down for a brief time about two weeks since. The proprietor, Z. Gardner, Esq., of Sacramento, is now here, superintending some necessary repairs preparatory to resuming business again as soon as a sufficient quantity of the new crop of wheat comes in. These mills have a reputation now throughout the State second to no mills in it for the excellency of the flour made.

THE Democratic County Convention which met on the 9th instant and adjourned to the 29th, will meet to-day in Cacheville, according to adjournment, for the purpose of forming a county ticket. We have heard quite a number of names mentioned as likely to be presented to the Convention; whether with or without the consent of gentlemen named, we cannot say. For the Judgeship, we hear the names of Gwinn, McCarty, Minnis and Baldwin; for Sheriff, Douglas, Sutton and Howard, and for Assemblyman, Jerome Davis, Willard and Stephenson.

THE County Convention of the Union Democratic party comes off to-day, at Cacheville. Spirited times are anticipated, as candidates are in abundance. The principal county office to fill at the next election is County Judge. We have heard the names of Hon. H. Griffith, Squire Hutton and Judge McCarty mentioned in connection with the office. Whoever should be the choice of the Convention, we trust it will fall upon one competent to discharge the duties which devolve on a County Judge. The incumbent should be a man of legal experience, one who has a thorough knowledge of law in all its parts; such an one would not only facilitate business, but reflect credit on the county. We have heard W. G. Seely, Esq., of our town, named in connection with the office of County Assessor. Should he succeed in getting the nomination, we feel assured he would make a capable and efficient officer. He has always been a consistent Democrat, and has heretofore acted as a staunch Douglas man. He is not an office seeker, and hence the greater reason why he should be selected. He will make a strong run if nominated.

REMOVAL OF THE COUNTY SEAT.

We understand in accordance with an order from the Board of Supervisors, acting under the Act of the Legislature, removing the county seat from Cacheville to Washington, that, on Monday last, all the books, records, and other property capable of being transported by teams, were placed on wagons and sent to their future destination to remain for a time, at least a year, for we presume there will be no removal until after the Legislature meets again. In this connection it would be well to impress on our citizens the importance of voting in favor of at least one of the amendments to the Constitution which will be submitted to the people at the next election, viz: that of changing the sessions of the Legislature from annual to biennial. By having this change, we would feel secure in having a county seat at one place for at least two years, and save us the expense of so frequent removals. The books and records are easily transported; but can we say as much of our County Buildings? What disposition will be made of them? Are they also to be removed to the new seat of county government? The people of Washington might make serious objection to receiving the foundation of at least one of them; or will they be left as monuments to indicate that Cacheville, "once upon a time," had the honor of being the Capital city of Yolo county?

We have been permitted to peruse a letter from the Hon. John T. Monroe, Mayor of the city of New Orleans, dated May 15th, and addressed to his brother here, from which we extract the following:

"We have no news of interest save that of war. Our city is full of soldiers and munitions of war. Everybody—old and young are full of fight. The greatest trouble we experience is to keep too many from joining our army. In fact, this week we have had to refuse a number of volunteer companies from the interior of the State."

The above being an extract from a private letter, not intended for publication, may be relied on as correct; and it very materially disproves some of the reports sent through to this State by telegraph. We have been led to suppose, in most instances, it required a good deal of drumming and pressing to make up the Southern army. From this account it would seem the reverse is the case.

RACES.—Next Saturday, the 6th of July, there will be a race at Cacheville, between the Oregon horse "Howard Deatherage" and the Cache Creek filly "Dolly Higgins," for $700 a side—distance, five hundred yards.

On the following Saturday, the 13th, another race will take place between the Cache Creek filly "Nigger Baby" and the Oregon horse "Baby"—distance, three hundred yards, for $1,000 a side.

Messrs. Irvine & Campbell, of Cacheville, are manufacturing a very superior article of Sarsaparilla, which they can supply to the trade on reasonable terms. It is an excellent and refreshing summer beverage, and we have no doubt will become very popular.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of C. C. Warner & Co., corner of J and Ninth streets, Sacramento, dealers in groceries and provisions, etc., and solicits consignments of all kinds of produce; also, extensive dealers in California honey.

The harvesting in Cache Creek valley has now fairly commenced, and we learn that the yield of grain is far better than it promised a few weeks ago to be.

The citizens of Shasta have subscribed $8,500 towards removing obstructions to the navigation of the upper Sacramento.

GENERAL SHIPMENT.—The shipment from San Francisco, of flour and wheat, of the crop of last year, amounts in value up to this time, to $3,668,383.

CHEAP BEEF.—The S. F. Call says: that cattle can be bought in this market, alive, at less than one cent per pound, and by the carcass, dressed, at two cents. If this be true, a lucrative business in packing could be built up. An evening cotemporary, speaking on this subject, says:

Barrels for packing beef can now be contracted for at a fair price, and we do not see anything to prevent parties from going successfully into the business of packing beef upon a large scale for whalers, or even for foreign markets. We are fully satisfied that beef, which will fully answer the requirements of the British army or navy, can be put up in this city at a less price than even in New York or Chicago, the keeping qualities being fully guaranteed.

Mr. EDITOR: I see in a recent issue, you offer to insert communications coming in respectful language. I would feel obliged if you would give the following a place in your paper:

The question, "What disposition will be made of the fugitive slaves which escape into the Northern army, in their march of invasion into the Southern States? and also, those which fall into their hands as contraband of war?" is one which, at the present time must attract the attention of the people of the nation; and the answer to it will enable all who desire to know, or have any doubts as to the objects and aim of the leaders in this war, to form their own conclusions in the matter; and all who have been deluded and led astray by the false cry of "Union," may now see where they are drifting, and before it is too late, extricate themselves from the toils of these enemies to our country, who would drag them into the darkest pool of abolitionism. The following, taken from the New York World of the 3d instant, and published in the Sacramento Union's St. Louis letter on Monday, the 24th instant, may throw some light upon the subject:

"The question which has for so long a time vexed this nation in times of peace, viz: What shall be done with the negro? seems destined to cause still greater trouble, now that we are divided against each other. The President, with Secretaries Chase and Cameron, long since determined that, in the case of runaway slaves belonging to disloyal citizens, and also in the case of those negroes which might be seized by the commanders of the Federal troops as "contraband," there was but one course to pursue, and that is to declare them free!

"This question has been discussed informally by the members of the Cabinet and with the representatives of the people who chanced to be at the Capital, and strange to say, the principal drawback encountered by the President has been the unwillingness of the Secretary of State to commit himself. I know that a Cabinet meeting was called to consider what reply should be sent to the query from General Butler, concerning the disposition of slave property in his possession. I also know that Mr. Seward managed to get the ear of the President prior to the hour of meeting, and persuaded him to defer the settlement of the question until a future time. This will account for the reply sent to General Butler, directing him how to act in the individual case before him."

Who, after reading the above, can doubt that the object is to march through every Southern State, and under the pretext of "contraband of war," liberate all the slaves in their line of march, and, by instigating them to revenge, and working on their passions and ignorance, cause them to follow the line of the army and desolate, by rapine and murder, their former peaceful and happy homes. That this is the aim and object of the leaders and instigators of the present war, I think cannot be doubted by any one who has noticed the tone of the leaders of the Republican ranks, and the leading organs of the party. The cry from the first has been, "The South has an element within herself which, in case of war, will be beyond her control." This element is what they have secretly gloated over; and now, as the scheme ripens, and the time draws on (in their opinion) for its accomplishment, the true object comes out and shows itself in all its deformity. Again, at the commencement of the present war, the Republicans were loud in their assertions and pretensions that they did not mean to assail the South; they did not intend to invade Southern soil; they did not want war; "all that the President intends is to (peaceably) retake the United States property, and wait the reaction which is to take place in the Southern mind." I ask all candid men how has this been fulfilled? Are they not invading the South, and boasting of the nets and plans laid to subjugate her people? Every day gives further evidence of the duplicity of this Abolition party. They, in the commencement, professed peace, when they meant war; they professed Union, when they meant disunion, for in the language of the immortal Stephen A. Douglas, "war is disunion;" they profess friendship to the institution of slavery when they mean its total abolition and destruction. I pray their hopes may be frustrated. I don't desire to see any of the American people whipped; but if a portion of them must be whipped, I hope it will be the Lincoln army. They have boasted like the Great Uncircumcised of old: "We have got the power, the men, the money, and we will wipe you from the face of the earth, and give your bodies as a prey to the beasts of the field and the vultures of the air." But the humble David, with his sling and stone, and his trust in the God of Israel, turned their weapons upon their own heads. It is not always that the strong and boastful are conquerors. The people of the colonies maintained themselves against just such odds in the days of the Revolution, against the invaders of their homes and firesides; and the South can now, by the help of God, maintain herself against the Abolition hords of Lincoln, his aiders and abettors. SEMI-ANNUAL APPORTIONMENT OF THE STATE SCHOOL FUND.—The following is a statement of the census return of the number of children residing in school districts in Yolo county where schools have been maintained in accordance with law, for three months in the year ending October 31st, 1860:

Yolo City, 136 children; Buchanan, 110; Washington, 116; Cottonwood, 151; Prairie, 66; Cache Creek, 33; Grafton, 67; Putah South, 36; Putah North, 69; Buckeye, 83; Cacheville, 49; Grand Island, 35; Merritt, 79; Fillmore, 37—1,058 children, at 56 cents each, $592 48.

FROM OREGON.—The following was telegraphed from Yreka to the Marysville Appeal:

The residence of Mrs. Mary Hinckle, situated between Crescent City and Jacksonville, was burned to the ground on Tuesday night, and Mrs. Hinckle and two daughters perished in the flames.—No efforts of the bystanders could avail to save them. Mrs. Hinckle was forty-two years of age. Her oldest daughter, who was soon to have been married, was sixteen, and the youngest six years. They emigrated from Missouri in 1853.

Cluggage & Drum had six valuable horses stolen from a ranch on Butte creek.

A shooting affair occurred at Sailor Diggings on the 18th instant, between James Little and Matthew Graham. Little was shot in the hip.

Two military companies have been organized at Salem, Oregon—one of cavalry and one of infantry. In Linn county a party of men, probably not quite sober, overtook two young men who were returning from a Union meeting, took a flag from one, and pursued the other with threats of shooting. Several similar outrages have recently occurred.

A destructive fire occurred at Cottonwood on Thursday, consuming the entire business portion of the town. Loss, about $40,000.

A man named Isaac Hale was accidentally killed in a drift at Dead Wood, on Thursday. Timbers were being thrown in the drift, one of which struck him on the head, breaking his skull.

The Union meeting at Corvallis, Oregon, was attended by over 3,000 persons. It is believed that the "lost cabin," which has been unsuccessfully searched for a number of years, is at last found. It is about fifty miles from Yreka. Good diggings have been struck there, and two or three hundred men are now making from $10 to $15 per day. The locality is kept rather secret.

NEWS FROM ARIZONA.—The Mesilla Times of May 11th says:

From a correspondent well posted in New Mexican affairs at Santa Fe, we learn that the universal opinion and decision among the influential citizens of New Mexico is to abide the choice of Missouri in the present difficulties between the North and South. They will take position with her, and act when she leads.

There are none who watch the present political movements in the United States and hope with more eagerness for a peaceful solution of the difficulties now existing, than the officers of the United States army stationed in our midst. The question of coercion and civil war is of a painful interest to them. Like all, they are hoping almost without hope, that the calamities of war may be averted and that a prompt recognition of the Confederate States will be made.

The news of the taking of Fort Sumter was received in Mesilla with enthusiastic cheers, and occasioned much excitement among our population. The Quartermaster and Commissary Department at Fort Fillmore are in funds, and are making disbursements. The Paymaster is expected every day.

A number of persons from the mines, and new comers, have opened new ranches in the fertile valleys of the Mimbres this season. Wheat, barley, and all crops are looking fine, and the most sanguine expectations realized at all points by the rancheros.

The citizens of Mesilla held meetings on the 10th and 11th of May, and authorized Captain George Frazer to raise a company of Rangers to chastise the Apaches for their late outrages. The command at Fort Fillmore makes a liberal offer of ammunition and provisions to the company. Every effort will be made to thoroughly equip the company, that they may go prepared to do telling execution.

Noiseless Sewing Machines for Family Use and Manufacturing Purposes.
PRICES FROM $60 UPWARDS.
OVER 50,000 IN USE!

WE beg to assure the public that the well known reputation of these machines for Reliability will be fully sustained, and in our rapidly increasing business the same care will be faithfully exercised in every department of their manufacture. Every machine sold by us is WARRANTED IN EVERY RESPECT.

The public attention is respectfully requested to the following

Card from the Grover & Baker S. M. Company.
The public, in their eagerness to supply themselves with sewing machines making the Grover & Baker stitch, must not forget to purchase them of the parties who alone are authorized to sell them. All machines sewing from two spools and in which one needle only penetrates the cloth, and having a feed which allows the material to be turned at will are infringements.
GROVER & BAKER S. M. CO.

A Card from Elias Howe, Jr.
All persons are cautioned not to make, deal in, or use, any sewing machines which sew from two spools and make the stitch known as the Grover & Baker stitch, unless the same are purchased from the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company, or their Agents, Licensees, and stamped under my patent of September 10, 1848.
Said Company and their Licensees, alone, are authorized under their own patents, and my said patent, during the extended term thereof, to make and sell this kind of sewing machines, and all others are pirates upon my said patent, and will be dealt with accordingly wherever found.

PONY NEWS.

Owing to the telegraph wires being down, and the United States mails supposed to be in the hands of the Secessionists east of the Missouri frontier, we are unable to give any pony news later than the 13th of June. The following is the summary up to that date.

We copy from telegraphic dispatches to the Sacramento Union:

Cairo, June 10th.—General Prentiss yesterday sent two companies, under the command of Captain Joslyn, to Mound City, to guard that place, as it has been threatened by a band of rebels in Kentucky.

Col. Schuttner, in command at Bird's Point, to day broke up a camp of Secessionists near Norfolk, Missouri, and succeeded in capturing eighteen rebels, who are now having their examination before General Prentiss. A number made their escape.

Fortress Monroe, June 9th, via Baltimore, June 11th.—General Butler having learned that the rebels were fortifying a camp with strong batteries at Great Bethel, nine miles from Hampton, on the Yorktown road, he deemed it necessary to dislodge them. Accordingly movements were made last night from Fortress Monroe and Newport about midnight.

Colonel Duryea's Zouaves and Colonel Townsend's Albany regiment crossed the river at Hampton by means of six large batteaux, manned by the naval brigade, and took up the line of march; the former some two miles in advance of the latter. At the same time, Col. Benedict's regiment, and detachments of the Vermont and Massachusetts regiments at Newport, moved forward to form a junction with the regiments from Fortress Monroe at Little Bethel, about halfway between Hampton and Great Bethel. The Zouaves passed Little Bethel about four o'clock in the morning. Colonel Benedict's regiment arrived, and took up a position at the intersection of the roads. Not understanding the signal, the German regiment, in the darkness of the night, fired upon Col. Townsend's column, marching in close order, and led by Lieutenant Butler, son and aid-de-camp of General Butler, with two pieces of artillery. Other accounts say that Col. Townsend's regiment fired first. At all events, the fire of the Albany regiment was harmless, while that of the German was fatal, killing one man and wounding seriously two or three others, with several other slight casualties. The Albany regiment, being back of the Germans, discovered from the accouterments left on the field that the supposed enemy were their friends. They had, in the meantime, fired nine rounds with small arms and a field-piece. The Zouaves, hearing the firing, turned and also fired upon the Albany regiment. At day-break, Col. Allen's and Col. Carr's regiments moved from the rear of the fortress to support the main body. The mistake at Little Bethel having been ascertained, the buildings were burned, and a Major, with two prominent Secessionists, taken prisoners. The troops then advanced upon Great Bethel, but our three small pieces of artillery were unable to cope with the heavy rifled cannon of the enemy. The rebel battery was completely masked. No man could be seen—only the flashes of the guns. There were probably no less than a thousand men behind the batteries of the rebels. A well concerted movement might have secured the position; but Brigadier Gen. Pierce, who commanded the expedition, appears to have lost his presence of mind, and the Troy regiment stood for an hour exposed to a galling fire, when an order to retreat was at last given. Lieutenant Greble of the United States Army, in command of the artillery, was struck by a cannon ball and instantly killed. He had spiked his gun and was gallantly endeavoring to withdraw his command. Captain George W. Wilson, of the Troy regiment, after the order to retreat was given, took possession of the gun and brought it off the field, with the corpse of the Lieutenant. Both were brought to Fortress Monroe this evening. There are probably twenty-five killed and one hundred of the Federal troops wounded. Lieut. Butler deserves the greatest credit for bringing off the killed and wounded. Several of the latter are now in the hospital here. Great indignation is manifested against Brig. Gen. Pierce.

LATER.—It is not known how many were killed or wounded in the unfortunate collision of the Federal troops previous to marching on Great Bethel. The loss was, however, inconsiderable. The fire of our troops on the masked batteries did apparently very little execution, our artillery being composed of small field pieces and howitzers, against the rifled cannon of the rebels. The attack lasted but half an hour, when the retreat was sounded and executed in good order. The troops throughout this trying affair behaved well. The estimated number killed was about 30, and 100 wounded. Major Winthrop, aid to Gen. Butler, and Lieut. Col. Grinnell, of the New York First regiment, are missing. Among the killed is Lieut. Greble, of the United States artillery. He was struck on the right side of the forehead by a shot from a rifled cannon, which tore away the upper part of his head.

A prominent Baltimorean now in Washington states that several Secession flags are again flying in Baltimore, and that Gen. Banks is needed to keep the rebels in check.

HARVESTING MACHINES.

Russell & Co's Thresher, made at Massillon, Ohio, celebrated throughout the United States as the best Threshing Machine in use—33 and 36 inch cylinders, 10 horse powers.

McCormick's combined Reaper and Mower, 6, 6 1/2 and 7 feet, greatly improved and surpassing all other cutting machines in results and durability.

Manny's combined Reaper and Mower, 6 feet cut, made by Welter A. Wood, with his improvement, and has attained universal favor in agricultural countries.

Haynes' Illinois Harvester, cuts 10 feet wide, deposits the heads into a follower, and adjustable to have any required length of stubble—an immensely effective machine.

Wood's Mower, cuts 4 1/2 feet, very light draught; a boy and a pair of mules or ponies can run it—a "Little Giant" in the tall grass. Has taken the Grand Gold Medal of Honor and one thousand francs, at the great National trial at Vincennes, near Paris, June, 1860. At the Mecklenburg exhibition, Germany, June, 1860. First premium at the Yorkshire Agricultural Society, August, 1860. First premium at the New Jersey and Vermont State Fairs, and the limited number received in California last season gave not only satisfaction, but great gratification that such a machine could be had. The complimentary notices by letters from purchasers numerous. The low price and great efficacy of this machine makes it the farmer's helpmate, and places it within the reach of the smallest cultivators.

Wood's Patent combined Self-raking Reaper and Mower, a new machine, first that have come to California, represented as eminently practical in the self-raking process—a desideratum long sought in cutting machines.

Wood's Swather, a new machine, worked by two horses from behind; can be raised and lowered to suit; delivers the grain in very regular swathes by means of bands revolving over a platform, thence gathered into gabels by a rake attachment.

Spencer's Threshers, with Perigo powers; these machines, made by D. S. Spencer, are well known, have been in use in California some three years, and are regarded by those who have used them with great favor—30, 33, 36 inch cylinders, with Perigo's ten horse powers.

Treadwell's Eight Horse Thresher, made by Spencer—a splendid machine.

Gove's Patent Hay Press, will press one and a half tons per hour.

Bradley's Patent Horse Rake. A boy old enough to ride a horse can do all the raking for a farm. One very great advantage possessed by this rake over any other, is the iron runners, which are so arranged as to keep the teeth at a proper distance from the ground, which greatly lessens the draught, and prevents the raking in of dirt, dust, old fog, or after-grass.

For the above machines we are the sole agents, and have them in liberal quantities, and can supply them to country merchants by the quantity, and to farmers on liberal terms. Parties requiring any of the above can procure them at our Branch Houses at Marysville, and at 154 and 156 J street, (formerly Stoddard's,) Sacramento, and at Jones & Hewlett's, Stockton.

TREADWELL & CO., Northeast Corner California and Battery Streets, San Francisco.

Also, other machines, for which we are not agents, viz:

Eagle Reaper and Mower. Hussey's Reaper. Burrall's Reaper. Pitt's Pattern, 8 and 10 horse—made by Nourse, Mason & Co. Whitman's 4, 6 and 8 horse Threshers Pitt's, Smith's, Whitman's, Field's, Emery's and Burr, Wright & Co.'s Horse Powers, together with and Sole Agents for the celebrated

KETCHUM'S IMPROVED MOWERS,
manufactured by Messrs Nourse, Mason & Co., Boston, Mass., the BEST MOWING MACHINE IN USE.
BAKER & HAMILTON have imported and sold the Ketchum machine for the past five years, and know that it is the only style now in use that will cut successfully the matted clover of some of our bottom lands. The machine being made entirely of iron, is very durable, and the one sold five years ago, are said to be in as good order now, for cutting, as when first purchased. Some of them have run through the entire season each year. And they do cheerfully recommend them above all others for economy, lightness of draft, simplicity of construction, great strength and compactness, and the ease with which it can be managed by the driver. It cuts well where the ground is uneven. It has a lever for raising or lowering the knives. It will not clog in the heaviest grass or clover; and it does the work better than it can be done with scythes. It cuts very close, and will save from one to five dollars worth of hay per acre more than any other machine in use.

BAKER & HAMILTON have sold a number of the Ketchum's machines with the Reeper attachment, and have no hesitation in recommending them to farmers who have both grain and grass to cut, as a simple and convenient combined machine. It driver can easily rake off this machine, thereby saving the labor of one man.

BAKER & HAMILTON, the only authorized agents for the sale of these celebrated machines in California, Oregon and Washington Territory, have imported for the coming harvest, six sizes of Ketchum's Improved Mowers, which are furnished with or without the Reeper Attachment, as follows:
One Horse Machine, with four feet bars; weighs four hundred and fifty pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from ten to twelve acres of wild oats, or other grass or grain, per day.
Light Two Horse Machine, with four and one-half feet bars; weighs four hundred and seventy-five pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from twelve to fifteen acres per day.
Light Two Horse Machine, with five feet bars;
similar to last mentioned Machine.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, spur-gear, with five feet bars, very strong; weighs six hundred and fifty pounds; capable of cutting from fifteen to twenty of matted clover per day, or any other grass or grain.
Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 1, with bevel gear, four and one-half feet bars.
Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 2, with bevel gear, and five feet bars.
ALL OF WHICH ARE OFFERED AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
BAKER & HAMILTON have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash. Also,
