Peace Meetings.

At a meeting of the Democracy of Johnson county, Iowa, on the 6th of June, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That an experience of three months only has demonstrated that the Lincoln Seward Administration are unfit to be the rulers of a free people—that they are powerful for mischief and impotent for good, and that even the forms of Democratic government in every State in this Union are in imminent danger of overthrow by their reckless, highhanded, unlawful and despotic policy.

Resolved, That every consideration that can animate patriotic freemen impels us to a stern and unyielding resistance to the partisan efforts of the Lincoln Administration to subject the people of this country to an unconstitutional and irresponsible central despotism.

At a meeting of the Democrats of Hopkinton, New Hampshire, the following among other resolutions was passed, with but one dissenting voice:

Resolved, That neither the President nor Congress has any power under the Constitution to make war upon any State or States of this Union; hence, any debt contracted for such a purpose is in violation of all law, and not binding on the people. And we here enter our protest against any debt so contracted in this State, and call upon all good citizens to use their best efforts to elect members to the Legislature who will repudiate it. And we hereby give notice to all who may wish to purchase State bonds to govern themselves accordingly.

At Williamsburg, Indiana, on the 4th of July, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That the restoration and perpetuation of the Union by fighting, under the present circumstances, is simply preposterous. No victory in such a war, would deserve to be called a triumph. No national object can be gained in the end. No resort to force in this controversy with the South can ever bring back any part of it to its place in the Union. Coercion can never carry with it the least weight in favor of reconciliation and peace.

Resolved, That this is a government of WHITE MEN, and that subordination is the true position of the negro to the white man.

In Marshall county, Indiana, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That it is the duty of every lover of this nation as it has been and is, to make every honorable and lawful exertion to remove from power the sectional and abolition rulers now seeking to administer the government, and in their place to put sound Democratic statesmen; and we pledge ourselves to leave no honorable means untried within our sphere of action and influence to accomplish it.

In Scott county, Iowa, the following: Resolved, That we do censure the leaders of the Republican party for the unprincipled manner in which they treated their brethren of the South, when making every effort to bring about a peaceable and honorable solution of our difficulties, and that we hold the Republican party (now thoroughly abolitionized) responsible for the national difficulties now upon us.

At Weathersfield, Wyoming county, New York, on the 4th of July:

Resolved, That we, the people not the politicians and army contractors, earnestly desire that Congress this day convened at Washington may employ their best ability in devising some compromise between the contending sections by which the integrity of the Union may be maintained, and all parties relieved from the dread apprehension of farther bloodshed.

At Columbus on the 5th of July:

Resolved, Further, that all the electors of the State of Ohio, who are in favor of perpetuating the principles upon which our Union was founded, and are convinced that the present State and National Administrations are wholly incompetent to manage the government in its present critical condition, as well as all who are opposed to the gross extravagance and corruption now so alarmingly prevalent in public affairs, be earnestly invited to unite with the Democracy in this hour of our country's peril, and thus redeem the State and place its Administration in competent hands.

At Sullivan, Indiana, on the 8th of July:

Resolved, That while we disapprove of the action of the seceded States in withdrawing from the Union, as unwise, impolitic and premature, we recognize the revolutionary right of a people to alter, abolish or renounce a government, whenever it becomes tyrannical and oppressive, and fails to subserve the purposes for which it was established.

The following communication was addressed to the editor of the Democratic Standard, New Hampshire:

MANCHESTER, July 10, 1861.

DEAR SIR:—Most everybody is out of employment here—business is dead, and that the people in this State who are opposed to the present unjust war on our Southern brethren may have an opportunity to consult together, as one of fifty thousand in this State, I recommend the assembling of the people at some part of the State, in a suitable plain or grove in the month of August for consultation.

A communication from Great Falls N. H., to the Standard, says:

The war, with no compromise, works well for laboring men here with a family of six or eight children to support. We have seven large cotton mills here all ordered to stop or shut down for three months from the 1st of July. "All right, all's well," said Mr. Lincoln; "nothing but a nine days bubble, got up by a few designing men and scheming politicians."

PEACE PETITIONS IN OHIO.—From what we learn, there have now been over three thousand names attached to a peace petition in circulation in this county. It is stated that there are seven hundred in this township alone.—St. Clairville Gazette and Citizen.

OBEY ORDERS—ADVICE TO VOLUNTEERS.—The Mobile Tribune publishes a letter written by a gentleman of Alabama to his son, a young volunteer, which contains some good advice. Says the writer:

In the first place, then, my son, when a soldier shoulders his rifle under the flag of his country, he must surrender to that country his will, his whims, tastes, fancies and prejudices; and the first, highest and most solemn duty he owes to that country is the most implicit and prompt obedience to the orders of his superior officers. Disobedience, even in matters of minor gravity, frequently forfeits life. If an order is issued, that must be the end of inquiry. The success of a battle or campaign may depend upon the concealment of the purposes of the command; and it may become necessary to punish with death an omission of that which may seem to be a very unimportant order to the soldier who does not understand it.

Napoleon once issued an order that the lights of the camp must be extinguished at 8 o'clock, and on seeing a light burning in the tent of an officer after that hour had elapsed, he repaired thither in person, and entered the tent just as the officer had finished writing his wife's name on the back of a letter he had written to her. He told the Emperor, "and write as I dictate." The officer obeyed, and wrote as follows: "P. S.—I die to-morrow morning, at 8 o'clock, for violating the laws of the camp, by not extinguishing the light in my tent at the precise time I was commanded to do it."

That decision may have seemed savage and barbarous, but when your intellect shall have matured to the comprehension of how much depends upon subordination and a rigid adherence to the laws of the camp, you will see that Napoleon could only be just to the thousands of lives under his care by assuming the appearance of cruelty to this one delinquent.

Obedience is not servility—it is duty. It is therefore not cowardly, but honorable.

The camp is no place for the soft manners of the drawing-room, and soldiers are proverbially blunt; therefore, do not imagine if an officer speaks sharply to you that he wants to insult you or browbeat you.

TAMING THE HUMMING BIRD.—The ruby-throat humming bird is a native of Florida. Mr. Webber tells the following incident, relative to this minute creature: I once succeeded in catching one alive in my hand without injuring it. It immediately suggested itself to me that a mixture of two parts refined loaf sugar with one of fine honey, in ten of water, would make about the nearest approach to the nectar of flowers for its food. While my sister ran to prepare it, I gradually opened my hand to look at my prisoner, and saw to my no little amusement as well as suspicion, that it was actually "playing possum"—feigning to be dead most skillfully. It lay on my open palm motionless for some minutes, during which I watched it in breathless curiosity. I saw it gradually open its bright little eyes, and then close them slowly as it caught my eye upon it. But when the manufactured nectar came, and a drop was touched upon the point of its bill, it came to life very suddenly, and in a moment was on its legs, drinking with eager gusto of the refreshing draught from a silver spoon.

MANASSAS JUNCTION—CHARACTER

OF THE COUNTRY.—The New Orleans Picayune correspondence from Manassas Junction gives the following interesting account of this new celebrated place:

This place still continues the headquarters of the army of the Potomac. There are many indications of an intended forward movement, the better to invite the enemy to an engagement, but the work of fortification still continues. By nature, the position is one of the strongest that could have been found in the whole State. About half way between the eastern spur of the Blue Ridge and the Potomac, below Alexandria, it commands the whole country between so perfectly that there is scarcely a possibility of its being turned. The right wing stretches off toward the headwaters of the Occoquan, through a wooded country, which is easily made impassable by the falling of trees. The left is a rolling table of land, easily commanded from the successive elevations, till you reach a country so rugged and rough that it is a defense itself.

The key to the whole position is precisely that point which Gen. Beauregard chose for his center, and which he has fortified so strongly that, in the opinion of military men, 5,000 men could there hold 20,000 at bay. The position, in fact, is fortified, in part, by Nature herself. It is a succession of hills, nearly equidistant from each other, in front of which is a ravine so deep and so thickly wooded that it is impassable only at two points, and those through gorges which fifty men can defend against a whole army. It was at one of these points that the Washington Artillery were at first encamped, and though only half the battalion was then there, and we had only one company of infantry to support us, we slept as soundly under the protection of our guns as if we had been in a fort of the amplest dimensions. Of the fortifications superadded here by Gen. Beauregard to those of nature, it is of course not proper for me to speak. The general reader, in fact, will have a sufficiently precise idea of them by conceiving a line of forts some two miles in extent, zig-zag in form, with angles, salients, bastions, casemates, and everything that properly belongs to works of this kind. The strength and advantages of this position at Manassas are very much increased by the fact that fourteen miles further on is a position of similar formation, while the country between is admirably adapted to the subsistence and entrenchment of troops in numbers as large as they can be easily maneuvered on the real battle field. Water is good and abundant; forage such as is everywhere found in the rich farming districts of Virginia, and the communications with all parts of the country easy.

WRESTLING WITH THE LORD.—A son of the Granite State went down to the city of Memphis to seek his fortune. He found instead, a diarrhea, which gradually saps life in a chronic form. It was with this that poor Jim Bagley was picked up. And month after month it tugged until at length he was but the outline of his former self, a perfect skeleton. A worthy minister saw the poor fellow, and seeing that the king of terrors had spotted him, determined to call on him and offer him spiritual consolation. He broached the important subject somewhat thus:

"My dear Mr. Bagley, in view of your relation with this life, how do you feel?"

"Damned sick!" was the prompt reply.

"Don't swear, my poor friend," said the parson. "Let me ask if you ever think of your latter end?"

"Lord!" said Bagley, "I haint tho't on anything else for more'n three months!"

"Not, I'm afraid, in the right way, Mr. Bagley. I beg you to pause and reflect. It is time you began to wrestle with the Lord."

The sick man looked down at his miserable poker legs, extending before him, and, with an expression of amazement in his countenance, exclaimed:

"Rattle with the Lord! what, with them 'ere legs? Why, parson, he'd flip me into hell the very first pass!"

The parson gave Jim up as a hardened sinner.

"Mr. Attorney General, is the Court to understand you as taking exceptions to its ruling upon a point of law, sir?"

"Certainly, if your Honor please," said the Attorney General.

"Mr. Clerk," said his Honor, with an air of offended dignity, "fine the Attorney General $10. This Court must and shall be respected."

THE BILLIARD CHAMPION.—Berger will probably sail for this State in September, having been offered $9,000, by a billiard proprietor in San Francisco, to perform a three months' engagement; his expenses to be paid both ways.

Letter from Gen. Denver.

The following is an extract from a private letter from Gen. Denver to his brother. We copy it from the Marysville Express:

WILMINGTON, Ohio, }
July 20, 1861. }

DEAR FRANK:—I wrote to Arthur several days ago, and expected to have been in Washington by this time and to have written you thence, but the news from there deterred me from making too much haste, where nothing was to be gained by it. Ere you receive this you will have heard of the battles at Bull's Run and Manassas Junction. The United States troops under McDowell, from some cause took a stampede, seemingly at the very moment victory was in their hands. The Confederate loss has been, according to their own account, quite as heavy as the Federal; but no matter what may have been said, they have won a great victory.

The war engrosses the attention of everybody here. Business of every kind is at a stand still—mechanics have little or nothing to do—farmers can find no market for their produce—horses, cattle, sheep and hogs are a drug at half last year's prices—while all articles of import and manufactures of wool and cotton are greatly increased in value. The necessities of life, or such as have become necessities by common use, such as coffee, tea and sugar, have had the new tariff put on them; while there is a positive certainty that the taxes will be doubled for the ensuing year. How the people are to meet these extraordinary demands, God only knows, for they have not been able to pay up all the taxes of the current year.

"Before the end of the present year the interest on the national debt alone will be very little, if anything, short of fifty millions. The necessary expenses, aside from the army, will be as much more. These must be met by duties on imports, by direct taxation and by the thousand other modes resorted to in Europe, but never before known in this country, to squeeze money out of the people. From present appearances we are to be as tax ridden a people as the subjects of Britain. If we succeed in getting out of our present difficulties, indeed, with as much freedom as is enjoyed by English subjects we may deem ourselves happy. On every side disasters stare us in the face—a most formidable rebellion, an Executive usurpation of power, a venal and subservient Congress, a bankrupt Treasury, an enormous debt, pecuniary ruin among the people and great danger of free Government given us by our fathers being turned into a military despotism."

THE TURK AND HIS WIFE.—A Turk, on going to mosque saw his wife there talking to a strange man, when the following conversation took place:

Turk—I command you to leave this place and return home.

Wife—It is written in our sacred Koran, 'thou shalt not command in any house but thine own.'

Turk—I would inquire, then, what you were saying to the stranger?

Wife—The Koran likewise says, 'thou shalt not inquire about what does not concern thee.'

Turk—Leave this place at once, or I shall seize thee.

Wife—The holy book declares that, 'Mosques belong to God, disturb not, therefore, his temple.'

Turk (attempting to seize her)—If thou obey not, I must take thee away.

Wife—Touch me not here at thy peril, for doth not the Koran say, 'Whoever is in a mosque, to that person let it be a sacred asylum?'

Turk (confounded)—Plague on a learned wife—I am disgusted with thee.

CUT IT SHORT.—A certain barber, having the great gift of gab, used to amuse his customers with his long yarns, while he went through his functions on their heads and faces. One day an old codger came in, took his seat, ordered a shave and hair cut. The barber went to work, and begun, at the same time, one of his long stories, to the no little dissatisfaction of the old gentleman, who, becoming irritated at the barber, said, "Cut it short." "Yes, sir," said the barber, continuing the yarn, until the old gentleman again ordered, "Cut it short, I say—cut it short!" "Yes, sir," clipping away and gabbling the faster. "Cut it short, cut it short, I say," said the gent. "Yes, sir," said the barber, going on with his story. "Will you cut it short?" bawled the old gent in a rage. "Can't sir," said the barber, "for if you'll look in the glass you'll see I've cut it all off." And, to his horror, upon looking in the glass, the old gentleman found his hair all cut from his head.

The supplements with our regular issue of to day contain an interesting letter from Bishop Otey, of Tennessee, to Hon.
W. H. Seward, and other interesting reading matter.

We are requested to state that Mr.
Currier is the regular nominee of the Douglas Democracy for Senator for the counties of Solano and Yolo, and we have his word for it, that his chance for election is second to none in the triangular race, handbills and partisan statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

We received last week from O. C.
Wheeler, Esq., a volume containing the complete transactions of the State Agricultural Society for the year 1860. It is a very valuable work for statistical information, and contains much that is useful and instructive, besides giving full accounts of the transactions of the Society for the year. Much credit is due the Secretary for the manner in which it is got up.

SUPERVISOR.—Mr. Asa Morris is again a candidate for Supervisor. He has filled the office creditably for the past two years, and at the solicitation of his friends, has again announced himself as a candidate. Mr. Morris has always opposed the purchase by the county of the tule road, and if re-elected will continue to oppose this measure. He is in favor of having the road opened from Knight's Landing to Sacramento by the river, and if the people elect him, will do all in his power to have this speedily accomplished.
As this is something much needed by all our citizens, it is to the interest of every man to vote for Mr. Morris.

The Martinetti Troupe will perform at Cacheville on Thursday night next, the 29th instant. They are a fine company, and perform some surprising pantomimic feats. They are well worth seeing.

Congress on Confiscation.

We learn that Congress has passed an Act to confiscate the property of those found in rebellion against the Government. This is a new move, and evidently a deeply concocted scheme, by the Abolition element, to further their designs, and make the present war a surer medium for the freedom of the negroes. Take, for instance, the available property of the South at the present time, or that portion of it which the Lincoln army can get control of, and what is it? Why, simply, the negroes that escape from their masters, and the few that may be captured in the vicinity of the army. Heretofore the disposition of these negroes has been a trying question with the Administration. They desired to liberate them, but were afraid of the old Democratic element in the North, which composes the back bone of the Northern army; hence the necessity of some sugar coated scheme that would satisfy the Abolitionists, and at the same time gull this conservative element. Now, for a moment contemplate this confiscation policy in its practical workings: A portion of the Northern army collect (by fugitives and otherwise) a number of negroes; the officer in command assumes they are the property of rebels; he in turn hands them over to the parties appointed by the Government under the Act of Congress, to be disposed of; then the supposition is they are put up to the highest bidder, and the proceeds of the sale handed over to the General Government to defray war expenses. Now, this looks in the abstract a cute way to raise the wind; but ask yourselves who will buy these negroes? Not the Southern man certainly, as, if he did, he has no security of holding him an hour; consequently, he would not bid on him at all.
The Northern soldier can't buy him, because to use him he must leave the army and live on Southern soil; he of course can't take him to a free State and work him, even if he could leave the army, which he cannot do. Then what is the result? Why, some philanthropist bids fifty cents or a dollar; the negro is sold to Mr. Brown, Jones or Thompson, who in turn hands over the bill of sale to the negro, with his freedom indorsed thereon, and the conscience of the would-be-scrupulous is quieted, the Abolitionist is gratified, and the Government derives an immense revenue from the operation.

Encouraging.

At a recent election the Democratic nominee for Congress in the city of Philadelphia, Biddle, an anti-war Democrat, was elected over his Republican competitor. This is one of the practical evidences of the reaction which is taking place all over the Eastern States. There never was an excitement raised that carried the masses with it suddenly as this war excitement has, but which had its reaction, and when that reaction comes, it generally leaves the cause in a worse fix than it was before the excitement took place: instance the Know Nothing excitement of 1853-54. That was as rapid and overwhelming in the North as the present war fever, but the reaction took place, slow but sure; and we assert without fear of contradiction, that the Native American sentiment of the nation got a setback which it will take a generation to recover from. The reaction is just commencing in this war excitement.
To be thorough and effectual, it must necessarily be slower than its growth, but that it will be thorough and will be effectual, we have not the remotest doubt —so thorough as to forever wipe the name of Republicanism from the future politics of America.

MR. SMITH, the candidate for County Judge on the Union ticket, at the close of his speech on Monday night, said if his opponent, Mr. Griffith, was elected, he (Smith) would take away some of his practice, conveying the idea that if he was not elected, he would go to the practice of the law, and thereby reduce Mr.
Griffith's practice. Without any dispar-agement to our Union candidate's abilities, we would suggest that his law practice might possibly draw from others of inferior ability, more than it would from Mr. Griffith's. To take Humphrey's practice requires developed talent, which may possibly be laying dormant in the brain of our Union candidate. Quien sabe?

A man named John Kane was found drowned in the Bay at San Francisco on Monday last. He is said to have loaned money on bonds and mortgages in Yolo county. His death is believed to be accidental.

Speaking Last Monday.

Judge McMurry and Mr. Currier, candidates for the Senate for this district, including the counties of Solano and Yolo, the former the Democratic nominee, and the latter the nominee of the so called Douglas party, addressed the citizens of this town on Monday last. Judge McMurry led off in a very forcible and lucid argument on the madness and folly of the present Administration, and the danger of our republican institutions under the present war policy of Lincoln and his party. We cannot give even a synopsis of the Judge's speech. Suffice it to say, he is a man of talent, understands himself, and would make an able representative for this district. He was followed by Mr. Currier, who is rather a pleasant speaker, but lacking in the powers of argument of his Democratic competitor. He said he had just read a handbill, which he produced, in which the Republican nominee, Mr. Powers, was represented as not only "as sound on the goose" as Mr. Currier, but much more available in point of strength, etc.
As this is not our quarrel, we of course look on and like the old woman, when her husband and the bear were fighting, "don't care a d---n which whips." It is, however, rather amusing to see how the straight out Republicans would whip in the half-and-halves. They let them, out of courtesy, call themselves Democrats, but it is not in the programme that they should get the offices.
They go on the principle that they make good servants but poor masters. As the same argument is used by the Republican speakers in favor of Stanford against Conness, it will, if the voters of this party obey their would-be-masters, the Republicans, pretty much wipe out the Douglas Democracy from existence in the coming election.

In the evening of the same day, Dr.
Smith, candidate for County Judge, Mr.
Hoag, for Assembly, and Mr. Hamblin, for District Attorney, all on the amalgamation ticket, addressed our citizens.
They made their usual speeches, each sounding marvelously like its predecessor delivered at the last appointment—the American flag being the prominent feature. They were followed by Judge McMurry, who made a few apt remarks in reply to these gentlemen. He was loudly cheered and spoke with animation, stimulated, no doubt, by the few notes of that soul-stirring martial music, the fife and drum.

News of the Week.

The Pony arrived at Sacramento on Tuesday last. We have dates to August 10th. There is no news of importance.
Gen. Scott has issued stringent orders to prevent the transmission of telegraphic dispatches of army movements; hence the war news is meager.

Missouri, from appearances, is to be the theater of active military operations.
Gen. Lyon with Sigel and a force of about seven thousand men, was encamped at Springfield, south-west Missouri. The rebel forces were said to be approaching by three different routes. They numbered about twenty thousand men, but poorly armed and equipped. A battle was anticipated, but Gen. Lyon felt confident of success. By the next Pony we will probably hear the result.

OUR old friend N. P. Carpenter has just arrived across the plains. He left this town on the 12th of March last, returning by the way of the plains, making the trip in the short time of five months.
He met with considerable detention in Missouri, first being arrested by one party and then another, each time undergoing an examination, and he considers himself fortunate in getting off without more serious delay. Mr. Joseph Coombs accompanied Mr. Carpenter from Missouri here, bringing through a fine drove of large horses and mules, about fifty head in all.

SUICIDE.—John Able, a German wagon maker, at Cacheville, committed suicide on Wednesday night, the 21st inst.
He was first discovered in a well adjoining his workshop. Upon examination, it appears he had attempted to take his life with a chisel, two severe gashes from which were on his forehead, and the chisel was found in his shop covered with blood.
Failing to carry out his intent successfully, it appears he then deliberately precipitated himself headforemost into the well, which is twenty-five feet deep and had four or five feet of water in it. He had been unwell for several days, and appeared low spirited. No other cause is known for taking his life. He leaves a wife and family.

[Communicated.]

MR. EDITOR:—To such as are gifted with a good share of patience and forbearance, it is not a little amusing to listen to the so called "Union" candidates for the several offices within the gift of the voters of Yolo county. At the time the present political campaign opened, it was supposed by many that the war policy of the Administration was going to be immensely popular; and, acting under that belief, the convention which nominated the "Union" ticket in this county, as did also the State Convention which nominated the ticket headed by Conness, cut themselves off entirely by their platform from advocating or in anywise agreeing to a peaceable settlement of the unhappy difficulties now prevailing. So ardently did a few shaky Democrats covet the honors that were likely (should the war prove popular) to flow into the lap of the Republican party, that they concluded to join their fortunes in this contest with the Republicans, and assist in denouncing all who opposed the Administration as traitors, secessionists, enemies of the Government, etc., the consideration being a share of the spoils. Well, sir, the Republicans proved not to be deaf to the overtures of these political adventurers, and did give a few of such applicants as seemed most nearly Republicanised, a place on the ticket, and they have gone forth to battle, and for some two weeks past have been doing valiant service for—their own I suppose, surely not for the country.

As you are doubtless aware, we were favored on Monday evening last, in this place, with an exposition of their faith.
The first introduced to the audience was our fellow townsman, Mr. Hamblin, candidate for District Attorney. In the person of Mr. Hamblin President Lincoln has a faithful if not an able advocate; and if he were as willing to overlook delinquencies among the people of the county, and as ready to offer excuses for their misdeeds as he is for those of the Administration, I should think it would be a great misfortune to this county if he should be elected. Mr. Hamblin seems altogether ready to espouse the doctrine of the Administration in his denial of State sovereignty, and hence must necessarily repudiate what has, in all time past, been considered good Democratic doctrine, that our General Government is a government of delegated and limited powers. If I understood the gentleman aright, he does not admit that the President has exercised any powers not clearly granted him in the Constitution, notwithstanding the 9th section of the first article of the Constitution, under the head of "Limitation of the powers of Congress," reads, "The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." If this section of the Constitution were found in the enumeration of powers granted the Executive, then, indeed, it might be said the Executive could suspend it when the public safety required it, but such is not the fact; it was placed, and I think wisely too, among the powers of Congress, and the framers of that instrument seemed scrupulously careful not to intrust the liberties of the citizen to one man, when the very contingencies upon which it might be proper to suspend the writ would necessarily require Congressional interference.

But, sir, I have intimated that Mr.
Hamblin offered excuses for the extraordinary acts of the President. He did.
Lest he might not have convinced the entire audience that all the acts of President Lincoln were in strict accordance with the Constitution, he seemed to think he could quiet their apprehensions by pleading the necessity of the case. But in this I think he signally failed, for all could clearly see that there was no good reason why the President did not convene Congress immediately upon assuming the reins of Government, and if he did not desire any compromise, he could at least have obtained from Congress the authority to do that which he did do without authority. And until Mr. Hamblin or some one else can show that the Constitution does clothe the President with legislative and judicial as well as executive functions, I must still insist that he not only trampled the Constitution under foot when he assumed the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, increase the army and navy, etc., but he violated his obligation as President in omitting to convene Congress when he assumed the duties of President, for had he done so, and earnestly recommend to that body a peaceful settlement of the difficulties upon the basis of the Crittenden Compromise, instead of our country being now convulsed with civil war, peace and quietness would bless our homes.

Now, Mr. Editor, in view of these facts, I inquire who are secessionists and disunionists? Is it the Democratic party which advocates peace upon a just and equitable basis? or is it the "Union" or Republican parties who advocate no settlement of our national troubles but a settlement by war, conquest, subjugation of the South and the confiscation of private property?

I have extended these comments to a greater length than I intended, but must crave your indulgence a moment to say that the "Union" candidate for Assembly did not say anything in particular, more than to read and comment upon a few extracts from the Democratic platform. He was excusable for this, inasmuch as he has no platform of the Union party of this county upon which to offer any remarks. By-the-by, Mr. Editor, what has become of that platform upon which so much time and talent were expended at Cacheville, when that Union ticket was made? Is the party ashamed to show it? —N.

Speech of Jeff. Davis.

[From the Richmond Enquirer, July 24th.]

A vast concourse assembled early yesterday evening at the Central Railroad depot, to await the arrival of the train from Manassas. So great was the crowd that, in anticipation of the arrival of the wounded, it was deemed necessary by the committee appointed to receive them to set a strong guard to prevent the pressure of the people around the train when it should arrive. By this means, the track and a considerable space on either side of it was kept clear, though the car-tops, fences, and all the eminences in the vicinity were thronged with the expectant crowd. At a quarter past seven, the first train arrived, bringing 20 wounded soldiers, and the Ladies of four of our dead—Gen. Bartow, Col. Johnston, a private of the Montgomery Guard, named James Driscoll, and another, whose name we could not learn.

During the excitement attending the anxious inquiries after friends, and the crowding to look upon the dead and wounded, it was whispered through the crowd that President Davis was on the train. Immediately a rush was made in search of the distinguished statesman and chieftain, and a thousand shouts rent the air with wild huzzas as his well known face and figure was discovered.

Though travel-worn, and evidently fatigued by the trying scenes through which he had passed in the last two days, the President could not deny the enthusiastic citizens the pleasure of hearing from his own mouth something of the glorious deeds so recently achieved by our brave and invincible patriot soldiers.

In a strain of fervid eloquence he eulogized the courage, the endurance and patriotism of our victorious troops, and to the memory of our honored dead, who shed their life's blood on the battle field in the glorious cause of their country, he paid a glowing tribute, which could not fail to dim with tears the eyes of the least feeling among his hearers.

He pronounced the victory great, glorious and complete. He said we had whipped them this time, and would whip them as often as they offered us the opportunity. In alluding to the vastness and importance of our captures, he said we had taken everything the enemy had in the field; sixty pieces of splendid cannon, of the best and most improved models, vast quantities of ammunition, arms enough of various descriptions to equip a large army, hundreds of wagons and ambulances, of the most luxurious make and finish, and provisions enough to feed an army of fifty thousand men for twelve months.

The headlong retreat of the enemy he compared to the wild and hurried flight of a scared covey of partridges. He said that so great was the terror with which the repeated onslaughts of our men inspired them, that taking wildly to their heels, they threw from them their guns, swords, knapsacks, and everything that could in any way retard their escape.

With another allusion to the glorious valor of our troops, who had accomplished this great victory, and reminding all of the great cause they had of returning thanks to Him to whom alone thanks were due, for this blessing on our arms, he concluded amid the tumultuous applause of the assemblage, and was escorted to his hotel.

At 9 1/2 o'clock a large concourse of citizens and visitors having assembled before the Spotswood House, the President was again called out, and again stirred the popular heart with his eloquent recital of the brave deeds done by our troops in the late battle. He was preceded on this occasion by Col. Chesnut, of South Carolina, (an aid to Gen. Beauregard,) in a chaste and eloquent speech. This unannounced arrival of our President took the citizens by surprise. Had they known of his coming, such an ovation would have greeted his return as never before was witnessed in the Old Dominion.

Just behind the train which brought the President, there arrived a second, bringing five hundred and eighty-five Hessian prisoners, twenty-five of whom were commissioned officers, and thirty of Ellsworth's Fire Zouaves. Passengers by this train inform us that several hundred other prisoners were left at Manassas, and that our troops continue to bring them in hourly; and that many of them had come into our camp and delivered themselves up. The five hundred and eighty-five brought to this city were immediately marched to Harwood's factory.

It is the testimony of many letters, and of officers and men returned from the Kanawha, that Col. Low, of Ohio, behaved in the most cowardly manner at the battle of Scarey. He concealed himself behind a house during the fight, and no exhortations could induce him to come forth. He should be tried, and if found guilty, shot.—Cincinnati Commercial, 30th.

He, no doubt, like thousands of others who have enlisted at the North, was led through misrepresentation, to believe the South would not fight, and all these gallant soldiers had to do was to go South, when the rebels would run, and they could then leisurely choose a good Southern farm and pick up a few stray niggers to wait on them. Subsequent events have partially dispelled this delusion.

TULARE POST.—This is the title of a weekly Democratic paper at Visalia, edited by William D. McDaniel.

CONTRADICTORY.—The War Press of this State has said so much about the barbarity of the Rebels, and the burning of a Hospital with our wounded in it that the following from the New York Herald's dispatch, shows there is a lie out somewhere:

Messrs. Dougherty and Allen, who escaped from Manassas, were examined before the sanitary commission to-day. As to the condition of our wounded at the hospitals of the enemy, they state that the report of the hospital being burned with our wounded in it, by the Confederates, is erroneous; and say that the suffering are well cared for. There are 250 lying at Studley Church Hospital. The Confederates claim to have from 1200 to 1500 Federal prisoners, 42 of whom are officers, field, line and staff, and 12 of our medical staff. They also claim to have taken 18 pieces of our artillery, which is correct. The Confederates say that from 1800 to 2000 of our men were killed.—Two regiments had been detailed to bury the dead. They say, on the other side, that they have a force of 19,000 at Centreville 20,000 at Fairfax, with a large force of cavalry one regiment at Leesburgh, and one at Bull's Mill. They talk about an advance on Washington, and say they intend to cross the Potomac 17 miles above the city.

GRAIN MARKET.—There is an utter stagnation in our grain market, from which present prices offered give no hope for relief. The highest prices offered at present for wheat are $1 25 (@$1 30, and for barley 75c @ 80c.—Marysville Express.

PRIVATEER PRIZES.—The Louisville Journal state that fifty-one prizes in all have been taken by Southern privateers, whose aggregate value is computed to amount to three millions of dollars.

Summons.

By Order of the County Judge.

In the District Court of the 11th Judicial District, of the State of California, in and for the County of Yolo. The People of the State of California, to Mary P. McKinney, greeting: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of E. F. McKinney, in said Court, filed against you, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you in this county, but if served on you without said county, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the tenth day of June, 1861, in said Court, in an action of divorce; wherein Plaintiff prays the Court for a decree annulling and dissolving the bonds of matrimony hitherto existing between you and this Plaintiff and for costs, and for other and further relief. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, Plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded herein. In testimony whereof, J. T.
