We attended the meeting convened last evening at Bank's areade, and were pleased to find that few seemed disposed to take part in the preceedings, except those inmediately interested by being disappointed in arrogant er famiful expectations. An hour and a half slapsed after the time appointed for the meeting; before a person could be prevailed on to take the chair. Then as a ferlors hope, Mr Christy had that greatness thrust on him. But so anxious was he to preach, that he commenced before secretaries were appointed, or the meeting was or- shoes. ganized. When this occurred, a preamble and string of resolutions were read, censuring the governor; and when put to the vote, there seemed slmost as many nays and overshadowed by tippet out in vandyke points, and see syse: but the chairman being a jurist (!) and the finished by a deep fall of blonds. We are glad that even the enemies of Governor WHIT are compelled to give him credit for almost the only exeentive act, which he has done without the concurrence and apprahation of the senate-that of having vetoed the bill imposing a tax on travellers. We would have handed him highly had he vetoed one half the banks that have been ostablished during the session; as it is: we are pleased; and perhaps may feel proud: for the B . attracted public attention to the invidiousness of the act

There are many instances in which we have been similarly useful in making suggestions. For instance. (with all due modesty be it spoken) two bills had been introduced to suppress gambling and hazards-one by Mr L H Moore; and the other by Mr Z Labauve. We pointed out the defeats of these bills. General Isaac Themas was good should be consider our suggestions; & Orleans, suvested with banance privileges and to be smitted, mediately drew a bill in conformity to the a—the same the chief camer of said speaking of the chief chief chief camer of said speaking in the chief c which Mr Moore presented; and which has become a the chief enject of and company is the error ing a notel in the city of New Origins, and its fathourge, for the better did we choose to appear egotistical; but we will no... said object will contribute to the advantage of the public and the prosperity of the city; therefore We have endeavored to do the 'state some service;' and here not failed. Mr Charles Berbigsy resigned his seat as president of the senate on the last day of the session; when Mr Dupre was chosen his successor. It is believed that Mr Derbigny will shortly resign also as senator.
