RECORDS FALL AT COLLEGE CONTESTS

Hubbard of Michigan Sets Mark In Running Jump; New Time for Mile

CHICAGO, June 13.—De Hart Hubbard of the University of Michigan broke the world's record for the running broad jump at the national intercollegiate meet this afternoon when he leaped 25 feet, 10 7-8 inches.

It was the greatest leap ever made by a human, and likely will stand for years to come. The marvelous chony was given a powerful hand by the crowd of 6000.

Hubbard also set a new national collegiate record of 9:10 for the 100-yard dash. Other records that went during the afternoon follow:

Although De Hart Hubbard, Michigan's ebony flyer, cracked the present national intercollegiate mark by dashing the 100-yard dash in 9:10 seconds, he was unable to set a new world record. Hubbard won by three feet. The old mark was 9:10 seconds, made by Paul of Grinnell three years ago.

Reese of Texas set a new mark of 4:18 4-5 in the one-mile run. Hartranft, Stanford, raised the distance in the shot put to 50 feet.

Charteris, University of Washington, ran the half-mile in 1:55 4-10, for a new collegiate mark.

Huffman of Stanford raised the record in the discus throw, when he tossed the plate 148 feet 4 inches.

Leistner, Stanford's great hurdler, skipped off with the 120-yard high hurdles.

Tiny Hartranft, Stanford, raised the 16-pound shotput mark a few whiskers when he tossed the lead ball 50 feet and cracked the old intercollegiate record by 7-8 of an inch.

Reese of Texas made a new N. C. A. A. mark of 4:18 4-5 in the mile run, beating the old mark of 4:20 2-5, set by Shields of Pennsylvania State in 1922.

Arrests Loom On Killing Dog As Dying Wish

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals may investigate the cremation here yesterday of Snowball, a French poodle, it was reported today.

Just before she died, Mrs. Goodyear ordered the dog killed and cremated with her own body.

The ashes of the woman and her pet will be taken to Syracuse, N. Y., for burial. In the meantime, however, it is reported that members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have become interested in the chloroforming of the dog and may ask the authorities to cause arrests.

DEATH COMES WITH FREAK WEATHER

Tornado, Rain And Electric Storm Strike Various Parts Of Country

Dispatches to The Glendale Evening News by International News Service carry the following facts concerning "unusual" weather conditions:

Freak weather conditions which in the last twenty-four hours have brought tornadoes in southern Minnesota and Iowa and wind storms throughout the entire middle western territory, resulting in property damage amounting to thousands of dollars, were blamed today on a low pressure area in the vicinity of Medicine Hat, Canada.

Winds in Chicago reached a velocity of forty-four miles an hour, which caused some damage to roofs, signs, trees and fences. Two persons were injured by flying debris. A heavy rainstorm followed the gale.

Heavy crop damage was reported in reports of windstorms in Minnesota.

In Iowa rain storms that assumed the proportions of cloudbursts put streams out of banks and flooded much farm lands with heavy losses to crops and stock. In parts of that state a heavy hail storm followed the rain. In the vicinity of Charles City, Iowa, hail piled up three feet in the road.

Blows Train Off Track
At Alexandria, Iowa, a tornado unroofed more than a score of houses, blew a train off the track and injured one passenger. Near Marshalltown, Iowa, about 1000 feet of track on the Minneapolis & St. Paul railroad were washed out.

Rains were continuing over most of the region this morning, breaking a drought that threatened to destroy crops.

Violent electric storms brought death and destruction in the hot arid sections of the southwest.

Three children were killed and nearly a score injured, several probably fatally, near a Breckenridge, Texas, school house, which was jammed with persons attending a mass meeting.

Panic followed the strike among many who were hurt as they milled about the small room, battling each other for exits.

Galveston was virtually inundated by a torrential rainfall. The precipitation measured 9.67 inches in six hours, paralyzing traffic and causing property damage. Boats were in use early today for transportation in Galveston streets.

At Houston, only thirty miles away, not a drop of rain fell.

BURIED MINER SENDS MESSAGE FROM TOMB HE IS ALIVE, UNHURT

Man Under Ground Since Thursday Says He Is Getting Hungry; Rescue Work By Big Force of Volunteers

MOUTH OF BALTIC MINE, NEAR GRASS VALLEY, Cal., June 13.—The outside world came to Robert Hill, entombed miner, through a steel pipe at noon today and Hill told the world that he was alive.

"I'm all right," he told Robert Bedford, superintendent of the North Star mine, who is leading the rescue work.

"Are you there?" Bedford shouted after the steel pipe had been driven through the twenty feet of rock and debris separating Hill from the outside.

"Yes, I'm all right and not injured," came back the reply in a clear, firm voice.

"But I'm very hungry," he added.

"How is the wife and children?" came a query from the entombed man.

"They're all right and waiting for you at the mouth of the mine," Bedford told the entombed man.

Wife Hears News
The news that her husband was safe and uninjured was carried to Mrs. Hill at the mine's mouth.

She was overjoyed and almost overcome at the news.

"We will reach Hill some time late today," was Bedford's confident prediction after the pipe had definitely established that only twenty feet remained to go.

Spurred on by the assurance that Hill, entombed in the Baltic gold mine near here, 800 feet under ground, still lives, volunteer workers worked madly to remove the last few feet of rock and gravel that blocked the tunnel and imprisoned the miner Thursday night.

The rescue work had many of the dramatic elements which attended the fight to rescue Floyd Collins in Kentucky. Due to the narrowness of the tunnel, the miners seeking to reach Hill have to work in relays of four.

Fifty feet of rock and gravel caved in Thursday night, catching Hill behind the fall. The work of removing this debris was started at once, but it was not until 7 o'clock last night that it was definitely known the entombed man was alive.

BELIEVE RICH WOMAN MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED

Hunt Grounds of Summer Cabin In Canyon for Mrs. Grace Young

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—Sensational developments in the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Grace Young, executrix of the million-dollar estate of Patrick Grogan, "olive king," her former husband, are expected late today as the result of secret investigations being conducted under the direction of District Attorney Asa Keyes. Mrs. Young disappeared on February 21.

Deputy district attorney and investigators today visited the summer cabin home of the woman's husband, Dr. Thomas W. Young, dentist, in Beverly Glen and dug about the premises in hopes of finding traces of the body. District Attorney Keyes today declare the woman may have been murdered. The cabin is also being searched for any clues as to the disappearance of Mrs. Young.

Dr. Young today is reported to have made a statement to officials of the district attorney's office that he loaned a two and one-half carat diamond ring belonging to his wife to his office assistant, Miss Dorothy Leopold, when Miss Leopold was engaged to Dr. William Starrow. The ring was loaned to the girl, Dr. Young is said to have stated, to tease Dr. Starrow.

The engagement between the girl and Dr. Starrow was broken about a month and a half ago, according to the statement, on account of a visit Miss Leopold made to Dr. Young's summer cabin. Girl Makes Denial
Miss Leopold was questioned today regarding the disappearance of Mrs. Young, by investigators in the case but she denied any knowledge of why the woman had dropped from sight. Miss Leopold declared it was "a shame the way people talked" and that "Mrs. Young was not jealous" of her. The assistant said she was merely the dentist's assistant and a warm friend of Mrs. Young.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery was hostess again yesterday in her attractive Spanish-California home on San Luis Rey drive, Verdugo Woodlands, entertaining at luncheon and for an informal afternoon, curators of departments, chairmen of committees of the Tuesday Afternoon club and a small group of other guests. ## CLOTHESLINE HALTS RIDE BY GIRL

Miss Mary Gibbs Is Thrown From Horse As Police Try To Catch Her

Mary Gibbs, 17-year-old girl of La Crescenta, who has kept the police departments of Burbank and Glendale in a furore for the past six months by her eccentricities, was taken to juvenile hall today from the Glendale hospital where she was placed early this morning as a result of her latest escapade.

Miss Gibbs is said to have called at the Oakmont Country club stables yesterday noon and asked J. R. Thorpe, proprietor, for two horses. According to Thorpe, Miss Gibbs said she wanted one quiet horse and one "with plenty of pep." One of the horses she is said to have told Thorpe, was for a friend.

When the horses and rider had not returned to the stables at 9 o'clock last night, Thorpe notified the Glendale police department. Fifteen minutes later one horse, "Happy," without bridle or saddle, was brought to police headquarters by Douglas Bacon, 461 West Myrtle street, and Earl Flock, 504 Patterson avenue, who stated they found the horse tied with a wire around its neck, to a tree near their homes.

Hits Clothesline

At 1:30 o'clock this morning Patrolman Gidden reported to headquarters that he had seen the girl riding one of the horses at Park avenue and Brand boulevard. Sergeant Kerns and Patrolman Wisdom were sent to the scene, and the chase started.

When Sergeant Kerns and Patrolman Wisdom arrived, they saw the girl riding hard. She was mounted on "Chino," one of the prize jumpers of the Oakmont stables, and as the officers started after her, she tried to elude them by making a sharp cut. She took a fence on the jump, and started across the yard, when a wire clothesline interrupted her flight.

The clothesline, according to the officers, caught the girl under the chin and she was thrown from the horse. She was knocked unconscious by the fall and was removed to the Glendale hospital, where she was unconscious for two hours. The horse was caught by the officers and returned to its owner.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning Thorpe and Sergeant Kerns visited.

GREEK THEATRE FOR PARK NEAR ATWATER

Portion of Griffith Estate Is Sold to Provide Funds for Project; Pick Site Within Next Few Days

A $750,000 Greek theatre for Griffith park was announced today, following sale of 130 acres of the Griffith estate at the corner of Los Feliz road and Riverside drive for subdivision purposes.

According to the will of the late E. M. Griffith who left the vast park to the city of Los Angeles, three-quarters of a million dollars received from the sale of additional parts of the estate, must go for a Greek theatre in the park. With completion of the recent sale of the Los Feliz and Riverside drive tract sufficient funds for the project are available.

Where in the park the theatre will be located has not been definitely determined. Architects in company with Van Griffith, chairman of the park board and son of the donor of the park, will hold a conference in the near future to select a location, it was said.

Tentative plans for the great structure, now being drawn, call for an outdoor auditorium equal in size or larger than the Hollywood bowl and with every modern improvement. The Greek theatre will be part of the major park plant outlined recently for the vast Griffith estate.

Figures released from the office of City Building Inspector J. J. Bacus today disclosed that 290 dwellings are in course of erection in the Atwater district. We Sponsor the Memorial Hall Bond Election, June 16, 1925, BECAUSE:

- Our soldiers and sailors—the men and women who offered and gave their lives in all America's wars—are worthy the modest memorial proposed.
- The hall will provide a center and school for patriotism—an efficient aid to the children's school, which we earnestly support. It will provide a home for any and all service organizations desiring to use it. At present almost all such societies meet here, there and anywhere they can, rent and overhead holding down their membership and consuming the funds needed for civic and patriotic endeavors.
- Glendale is one of the very few cities similar in size and ambition which has not erected an adequate token of appreciation to its veterans.
- The memorial, neither ornate nor luxurious, but substantial and serviceable, will be built, owned and controlled by the city and located where city authorities may determine.
- The American Legion, true to its promise, is turning in the site voted them two years ago to be used or sold as may be deemed best. The Patriotic and Memorial Hall association, if made custodian of the memorial, plans to maintain and care for it.
- The cost is ridiculously small in proportion to the great benefits to be derived from this great civic asset. To the average taxpayer less than "a pint of ice cream per year."
- Because we know the people did not forget their sons and daughters during the trying days of war and steadfastly believe they will not forget them now.

FLAG DAY

It is quite heartening to those who believe that patriotism is on the down-grade in America to pass a school just as the morning session is about to open and see the children line up in an orderly manner and give the salute to the flag, which is required to be displayed in front of every schoolhouse in California on the days when school is in session. It also is pleasing to know that one of the first things a child learns in school is the salute to the flag.

When the big Shrine parade was held in the Los Angeles coliseum last week, every delegation of Shriners carried, with other insignia, an American flag. As Old Glory passed each section of this audience of nearly 100,000 people, they rose and stood at attention. As they were being seated the next section was rising, and so on around the immense bowl. Scarcely had one flag passed until another was coming into view and this mass of humanity, in showing their respect for the national colors, resembled nothing so much as a field of grain rippling in the wind.

There is no doubt that we honor and respect the flag, but we often abuse it by being careless or ignorant of the way to use it. We love to see it displayed freely for no other colors look so well in the way of decoration but we are often promiscuous in its use and violate the rules for its display.

Tomorrow is Flag day. Let us display Old Glory but make sure we do not violate these rules which are made public by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

Display only between sunrise and sunset or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority.

When carried in procession with other flag or flags, it should be carried on the right or in front.

When displayed on a wall with other flags, from crossed staffs, the flag of the United States should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When a number of flags are grouped and displayed from staffs, the flag of the United States should be in the center or at the highest point of the group.

When the flags of two or more nations are flown beside that of the United States flag, they should be displayed from separate staffs the same height as the American flag.

When the flag is displayed from a window or a staff, projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, the union of the flag should go clear to the head of the staff unless it is at half mast.

When the flag is displayed other than from a staff, it should be flat, whether indoors or out, and the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right—the observer's left.

When displayed in a window, the union should be to the left of the observer in the street and always at the top.

When displayed over a street or between buildings, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north or the east.

When used on a speaker's platform the flag should be displayed above and behind the speaker.

It should never be used to drape a speaker's desk or to cover the platform. If flown from a staff it should be on the speaker's right.

When used to unveil a monument or statue the flag should never be allowed to fall to the ground but should be carried aloft by halliards to wave out and form a distinctive feature during the rest of the ceremony.

When flown at half mast, the flag is first hoisted to the peak and then lowered to the half-staff position. When lowering a half masted flag it should be raised again to the peak, then lowered.

On Memorial day it should be displayed at half-mast from sunrise until noon and at full staff from noon until sunset.

When a flag is displayed in a church it should be on a staff placed on the congregation's right as they face the clergyman.

When a flag is no longer fit for use, it should not be cast aside but should be destroyed privately, preferably by burning.

EDITORIAL OPINION

If editorial opinion is worth anything to the readers of a newspaper, and if they give it any consideration, it must be dependable. This being true, an editor must not be too quick to express his views. Unless an editorial is honest and sincere, unless there seems to the writer to be a call for it, then it is of no value to the paper or the readers.

A paper is often asked to "roast this" or "boost that" editorially and there is often a great temptation to do so, but if an editor makes a practice of doing this without investigating or considering the matter the reader soon feels the lack of sincerity and does not value this editor's opinion even when it is given honestly.

You value your banker's advice because you know he is honest with you. He won't tell you a certain investment is good just because he knows you would like to believe it is good. He will give you the benefit of his knowledge and experience honestly no matter how you may receive it. Just so the readers of a paper expect editorial opinion to be reliable and sincere.

For this reason the editor of The Glendale Evening News is slow to express himself at times on some subjects on which editorial comment might be expected. We do not support or oppose projects that come up, merely for the sake of having something to write about or to gain publicity for the paper.

The French are said to be gradually forcing an agreement with the Soviets for the repayment of the money which Russia borrowed from France for the World war. Evidently France is not always in favor of cancellation.

W. J. Bryan says that science has made war more terrible, but it does not seem that modern fighting has anything on the days when they used to puncture one another with iron-shod spikes and battle-axes.

LET THE WEDDING BILLS RING OUT!

The Art of Living

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Pascal thought that living was so important everybody must be studying it. But he said he was surprised to find that more people knew the laws of life.

Living is an art and one that is to be learned by practice, and executed by skill.

Our real happiness is not a matter of chance, but of law. Our condition today depends on what we did yesterday. And whether any man is happy or not is a consequence of his total former actions.

Inner success is certain. It is as much a subject of law as mathematics.

In the real life of a man there is no such thing as luck. Perhaps luck has a great deal to do with our outward efficiency, with our place in the world and with our fame, but it has nothing to do with our real contentment. Anybody can be content that wants to be.

Our condition depends largely on our thoughts. It is the result of what takes place in us and not what occurs to us from the outside.

Those who deliberately turn their attention away from disagreeable things, from failures and misery and wretchedness and contemplate that which is bright and beautiful and sunny find the effect of it gradually growing upon them.

The sum total of one's life and one's efficiency depends also upon discipline. The undisciplined as a rule are the unhappy. If a man does not have himself well under control he is liable to become the slave to the most unruly passions.

The principal difference between the wise man and the fool is that the wise man controls himself. He knows just how far to give way to his desires, while the fool is helpless before them.

The former is like a man steering a boat and the other is like a boat drifting helplessly before the wind.

If you want your life to get anywhere there must be plan and purpose and aim and steady persistence.

It is an amazing thing that in our schools every sort of subject is studied except the art of living. As a consequence we have many experts in medicine, in all sorts of sciences, and in literature, but few experts in life.

What we all need to know, however, is how to live, not how to get on, for, unless getting on administrators to the richness and value of our life, it is not worth while.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

A long time ago Pascal opined that, "It is dangerous to tell the people that the laws are unjust; for they obey them only because they think them just."

Some well-meaning gentlemen are agitated because a visitor from foreign parts is criticizing the American conception of justice and want him deported.

Let us not be so sure that our conception of justice is above criticism. It has no sacred origin.

Justice is what is established; and thus all our established laws will necessarily be regarded as just without examination, since they are established.

As custom determines what is agreeable, so also does it determine justice.

Custom creates the whole of equity, for the simple reason that it is accepted. It is the mystical foundation of its authority; whoever carries it back to first principles destroys it.

"Nothing is so faulty as those laws which correct faults," Pascal decided. "He who obeys them because they are just obeys a justice which is imaginary, and not the essence of the law; it is quite self-contained, it is law and nothing more. He who will examine its motive will find it so feeble and so trifling that if he be not accustomed to contemplate the wonders of human imagination, he will marvel that one century has gained for it so much in pomp and reverence."

The art of opposition and revolution is to unsettle established customs, sounding them to their source, to point out their want of authority and justice.

We must, it is said, get back to the natural and fundamental laws set forth in the Constitution, which unjust customs have abrogated. Yet the Constitution as framed by the fathers was not perfect, and its authors were well aware of the fact.

It is to be doubted if there ever will be a time when "Might is right" will not be true. Might is the sovereign of the world, and not opinion, as many philosophers aver.

It is right that what is just should be obeyed; it is necessary that what is strongest should be obeyed.

Might without justice is tyrannical, but justice without might is helpless.

Pascal observed that "Justice is subject to dispute; might is easily recognized and is not disputed. So we cannot give might to justice, because might has gained justice, and has declared that it is she herself who is just. And thus being unable to make what is just strong, we have made what is strong just."

Today's Poem

THE UNWISE CHOICE
Two young men, when I was poor,
Came and stood at my open door;
One said to me, "I have gold to give";
And one, "I will love you while I live!"
My sight was dazzled; woe's the day!
And I sent the poor young man away;
Sent him away, I know not where,
And my heart went with him, unaware;
He did not give me any sighs,
But he left his picture in my eyes;
And in my eyes it has always been:
I have no heart to keep it in!
Beside the lane with hedges sweet,
Where we parted, ne'er more to meet.
He pulled a flower of love's own hue,
And where it had been came out two!
And in the grass where he stood for years,
The dew of the morning looked like tears.
Still smiles the house where I was born
Among its fields of wheat and corn.
Wheat and corn that strangers bind—
I reap as I sowed, and I sowed to the wind.
As one who feels the truth break through
His dream, and knows his dream untrue,
I live where splendors shine, and sigh,
For the peace that splendor cannot buy;
Sigh for the day I was rich though poor,
And saw the two young men at my door!

AMAZING SUM FOR MOVIES IN SOUTH

Outlay Of Hundred Million Planned Part Of Which Will Build Theatres

By GIL A. COWAN
Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 13.—Astounding figures totalling more than $100,000,000 have been given out as production costs for motion pictures to be made in Southern California studios, partially due to the fight now raging between independent producers and others whom they please to call a combine. But a more far-reaching effect of this fight in the form of prosperity may be seen here in the competitive construction of theatres by these and other interests.

More than a score of motion picture palaces in Los Angeles and nearby cities are either being built, or are already financed and await only the architect's completion of plans, a survey reveals.

The greatest activity, of course, is among the chain theatre owners, but independents are giving them a close race in the amount of money being spent.

Build In Glendale
Two new theatres in Glendale are under way, two more in Hollywood, two in Santa Ana, and one each in a dozen other communities, while Los Angeles has one large film house, a musical comedy theatre and a new Orpheum building under way.

San Bernardino has just seen one new theatre open and Alexander Pantages is planning to enter that and other fields in the more distant centers from Los Angeles. Many small neighborhood houses also are being fitted up, as example the Orana arena at Santa Ana, which is being remodelled for the spoken drama at a cost of $10,000.

Also Build Offices
Theatre construction this year will entail an expenditure of not less than $8,000,000 in the seven southernmost counties of the state, it is roughly estimated, as the Los Angeles projects include office buildings. Close on the heels of recreational centers comes a hotel program while more than a million dollars worth of new church edifices are under way.

A housing shortage in Ventura, Brawley, Imperial and several other towns where growth has been retarded from various causes, also is noted, although Pasadena, Long Beach and several of the larger suburbs of Los Angeles offer a large list of vacant property.

KEEP TRAFFIC AWAY FROM TRENCHES

Cave-in On Colorado Street Brings Ruling To Avoid Future Accidents

Heavy traffic hereafter will be kept off of Colorado street in the vicinity of trenching operations for the laying of a main intercepting sewer, according to an ultimatum delivered by J. C. Hicks, contractor, that has received the tacit support of City Engineer J. F. Johannsen and other city officials.

It was in the Colorado street trench that Max Moore, Alhambra, lost his life and four others had narrow escapes from death last week when the sixteen-foot walls caved in on them, carrying down heavy broken blocks of paving to make the rescue work more difficult.

"The trench where the cave-in occurred was one of the finest I have ever seen," said Johannsen today. "But the condition of the sandy soil beneath the pavement made it extremely dangerous."

Sand Offers Danger
"As the work progresses west on Colorado street the type of soil changes and where digging operations are under way now it is almost a quicksand. If the pavement above, even as far away as the curbs, is permitted to be jarred by traffic, there will be another cave-in. The continual jarring would loosen the sand particles beneath and probably cause a more disastrous accident than the one last week."

"The contractor does not desire to endanger the lives of his men any more than can be helped, and we will co-operate with him to the fullest extent."

No Wasted Time
"The city will not permit blocks to be closed to traffic, however, before actual digging operations are started, and just as soon as it is humanly possible the closed sections will be reopened. Crews are following as close behind as possible to patch the openings in the pavement and nowhere in the city are streets being kept closed for any length of time."

"Some slight inconvenience will be caused to business men in blocks that are temporarily closed to traffic, but far better a little inconvenience than the loss of more lives."

"It would be murder to permit the continual jarring of traffic above the trench where workmen are digging and laying pipe."

Cotton yarn shipped from Australia in a busy month has a total weight of nearly 4,000,000 pounds.

Realty Boards Favored for Broker Tests

The new 1925 real estate directory is now on the press of the state printing office, and the envelopes are addressed to the 20,000 brokers and firms who will receive them, according to the State Real Estate department in a statement to the California Real Estate association.

The state association has asked the acting commissioner, A. P. Soule, to furnish the association and local boards with a formal method of procedure in examining applicants for broker's licenses, according to President D. Richard Ainsley.

Real estate boards have already examined hundreds of applicants and the qualification test is working out satisfactorily, according to department officials.

The ability of the applicant to handle a real estate transaction, his moral and financial qualifications are examined into, and in every case the ruling of the local board committees has been satisfactory, it is learned. If the applicant prefers, he may be examined by the real estate department.

Appliants Generally Prefer
The real estate boards which are established local institutions, and accordingly the new plan is in high favor. It will probably be adopted by other states, the state association learns, and at the national convention in Detroit, former Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser will address the national conference on the subject.

Orchestra To Feature New Pasadena House

The splendid assemblage of musicians constituting Bard's concert orchestra, under the leadership of Leon Strachan, well-known conductor of orchestras throughout the country, is already in rehearsal.

Many of the artists were formerly members of Elinor's orchestra at the California theatre, Los Angeles, and this organization will be one of the features of Bard's Pasadena theatre when it opens Tuesday night, June 23. A giant Wurlitzer organ is being installed, and this, too, will be in the hands of a master, Miss Ella Miller, for many years at the console at the California and Miller's in Los Angeles, is the organist.

Microphones and loud speakers will carry the music to the remotest parts of the theatre, and even to the street on occasion. The advance sale for the opening night is in progress at Hunter & Williams' store, 49 East Colorado

CHEVY CHASE CONTINUING DRIVEWAY DIFFICULTIES IN BUILDING EXPLAINED

Road In New Subdivision Is Being Built To Flintridge And Pasadena

Actual construction of Chevy Chase drive from its present terminus in Chevy Chase to Flintridge and Pasadena was started last week by Clarence P. Day, contractor, who was recently awarded this work by the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors. It is estimated that the work will take from ninety to 120 days.

According to Bert Farrar, owner and subdivider of Chevy Chase, the water and gas mains to serve the upper part of his property will be installed at the time the drive is graded. A large reservoir is to be constructed at a high level in Chevy Chase, and when this is completed work on the golf links will be completed also.

Grade Golf Links
At the present time preliminary grading and clearing of the golf links is being carried on under the direction of Billy Bell, noted golf architect, and Albro Gardner, Jr., engineer for Bert Farrar, Inc. This new course will occupy seventy acres, it is stated, and will be of championship length.

According to Paul E. McDermott, director of sales at Chevy Chase, the demand for the wooded homesites that will eventually front on the completed Chevy Chase drive has been so great that they are now sold for nearly a mile beyond the end of the present paving, but new property is being made available at the present time to fill the constant demand that exists.

Problems Of Ushering Discussed At Dinner

Joseph Charleville, president of the Ushers' association of Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, was the speaker last night at the monthly meeting of the Ushers' association of Glendale Presbyterian church. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Charleville spoke of the problems of ushering in a large city church. W. G. Boyd, president of the local organization, presided during the meeting.

Dr. J. K. Gikerson, elder, and member of the association, was toastmaster. Talks were given by John Wilde, chief usher; W. H. Barnes, chairman of the reception committee, and Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor. Plans were made for a social to be held for members of the association and their wives next month, no date being set for the affair.

Trio Drive To Fresno For Realtors' Banquet

Secretary Glenn D. Willaman of the California Real Estate association, with headquarters in Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Willaman, and Gil A. Cowan of The Glendale Evening News staff, motored to Fresno today for the annual meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Realty association, and the banquet of the Fresno Realty board.

The local newspaperman, who also manages Southland News Service in Los Angeles, boasts of a personal acquaintance with California realtors, legislators and newspaper men from Siskiyou to San Diego, as well as in Arizona and Nevada. He worked with Mr. Willaman in Bakersfield eight years ago on The Morning Echo group.

Declares Realtor Is Offered Great Chance

"There is no limit to what the State Real Estate association can accomplish in California if individual boards continue to co-operate. ## New Building for Plumbers

COONY & WINTERBOTTOM INC.

Opening their fifth house in Glendale on May 1, Coony & Winterbottom, contracting plumbers, bring to this city a main branch of their concern, which is one of the largest plumbing corporations this side of Chicago.

The new plant, located on Verdugo road, near Colorado street, is modern in every respect. The building was constructed by J. C. May, contractor of Glendale. An acre of property was purchased on which the building stands and the building constructed and completed at a cost of $25,000. The spending of this amount in Glendale by the firm was done upon the insistence of the many business connections in Glendale and prompted by the desire to render efficient, prompt and reliable plumbing service to the local building industry.

A spacious display room greets you on entering the building. Here are on display plumbing fixtures featuring many manufactured in California—which are always used where possible in offering quality products. The main office is very up-to-date. In the rear is sufficient room and equipment to take care of a large volume of work.

R. T. Winterbottom will be in personal charge of the Glendale branch. It is well to remember that it was his interest in Glendale and faith in its future, which were the deciding factors in locating their large branch here. Mr. Winterbottom said,

"In our moving to Glendale to take care of the large volume of business we already had here, was a very wise one—for we have found the local building industry welcoming us in a most cordial manner, both in new business and their appreciation of the service which we are endeavoring to render. Naturally we employ only the highest skilled workmen to be found in Glendale, for it is against our policy to hire boys or inexperienced men. I wish to thank everyone." Mr. Winterbottom also extended a personal invitation to anyone interested to make a visit to the plant. The supply house of Coony & Winterbottom is located at 2425 Hunter street, Los Angeles.

CONFIDENCE

As a general rule intelligent people buy clothing, shoes, etc., that bear the name of the manufacturer plainly stamped inside—because the "Name" inspires "Confidence" in the buyer. They know they can buy others cheaper, but past experience has taught them that "Cheap Things" never give satisfaction, and are more expensive in the long run.

When you are placing the contract for the erection of a new home, you should have "CONFIDENCE" in the integrity and ability of the contractors. The Name "SAWYER & BOLEN" on your contract is a guarantee of expert workmanship, the best of materials and fair and square treatment in every respect.

Interest Displayed In Name Contest For Playhouse Delights Manager

Tonight marks the close of the contest to decide a name for the Glendale Community Players. Many letters have been received, but it is hoped that a final choice may be made in time to have the chosen title and the winner's name announced in Monday's paper. Fred Warrington, production manager, is more than pleased with the enthusiasm the citizens of Glendale have shown toward this contest.

"With such enthusiasm and co-operation as Glendale has shown us," Warrington said, "I feel confident that a community theatre cannot help but succeed here."

"Icebound," their first production, will open June 22, for six nights. Theodore Bliss, director, has been associated with the stage for many years. He has picked a cast of capable players.

The settings are being designed by Jacques Darcy, one of the finest scenic and costume designers in the United States. It will be interesting to see his work in the future productions of the new theatre.

Proposed City Budget To Have Public Airing

Following a public hearing scheduled for 10 o'clock next Thursday morning on the proposed 1925-26 municipal budget, indications at the city hall today were that the budget will be formally approved by the City Council on the following Thursday, June 25. While the council has until Tuesday, June 30, finally to adopt it, members fear that, if left until the last day permitted by law, proper consideration cannot be given it then.

As submitted to the council the budget will require a tax rate of approximately $1.23, an increase of 12 cents over the 1924-25 budget. That rate is based on an assessed valuation of approximately $52,000,000, an increase over the present valuation of $47,061,855.

Frequent committee-of-the-whole meetings have been held during the past two weeks to consider various items in the budget, and on Thursday it will be formally opened to the public for discussion.

P-TA

Pupils of the sixth grade of Colorado school presented the program Thursday afternoon at the last meeting of Colorado Parent-Teacher association. Mrs. Schlotzhauer, teacher, directed the program. A play, "In a Railway Ticket Office," was presented by the seventeen class members. Piano numbers were also given by members of the class. Each pupil was presented with a ribbon bearing the inscription "Colorado school, June, 1925," in gilt letters, by Mrs. Frank W. Parr, retiring president. Mrs. Parr presented the new officers of the association and Mrs. R. Ernest Tucker, president, took charge. Mrs. Tucker told of the recent state convention held at Fresno. Mrs. Parr was presented with a basket of flowers and a past president's pin, gifts from the association. The principal of the school and teachers were given a vote of thanks for their co-operation during the year.

FOR the living room, dining room and bedrooms, most people like white enamel. And there's no finer enamel than du Pont Flow Kote! It will give your woodwork a gleaming white finish with a hard surface like fine porcelain. Even Bobby's and Betty's grimy little fingers can't harm it, for it's easily cleaned with a damp cloth. And, as the months and years go by, it won't chip and it stays everlastingly white and beautiful! It will cost surprisingly little to do over several of your rooms with Flow Kote. We're always glad to estimate the cost of any paint job.

Twin Beds Placed Behind Doors Now

It is not uncommon to find the most luxurious apartment equipped with beds hiding behind a door, ready at any time to be used and to transfer the living room into a bedroom. In fact, the apartment not so equipped cannot be considered modern, according to Kenneth Beldin of the Beldin Sales Co.

Murphy beds may be obtained in a variety of styles and sizes, according to Beldin. The Murphy bed was designed originally to comply with the growing demand for making every inch of space count. Needless to say it met with instant approval.

With the ever increasing popularity of the twin bed, Murphy placed them on the market, also. The twin beds have every advantage found in the original Murphy bed and with health authorities recommending this style, many of the new buildings have adopted them as equipment. They, too, come in the variety of styles created by the Simmons Co. and in many finishes. It should be noted that Murphy beds can be finished in any specified color or stain, Beldin says.

The transaction was the sale of a 75x140-foot lot. In 1903 the lot was bought by R. S. Corlitt for $1750. Corlitt has just sold the lot for $150,000. The property during the last few years is said to have yielded a yearly gross income nearly three and a half times its purchase price.

TEACHERS ELECT CLUB PRESIDENT

Faculty Chooses Officers for New Term After Contest That Proves Close

By DIGALD BLUE
Next semester the Glendale Union High School Teachers' club will have as its president J. Rhea Baker of the commercial department. Last Monday afternoon, during a meeting of the club at the Broadway high school, the semi-annual elections for club officers were held.

In his race for proxy, Mr. Baker was closely contested by Howard L. Butterfield of the physical training department, winning over his opponent only by a very small margin. Herman H. Wiebe, of the history department, won the position of vice-president from Earl T. Brown, science instructor. Anna S. Elam, English teacher, and Preston Fullen, instructor of penmanship, were the successful candidates for the offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The complete election returns were as follows: President, John Rhea Baker; vice-president, Herman H. Wiebe; secretary, Anna S. Elam; treasurer, Preston Fullen. Committee chairman: Executive, Otto McDowell (retiring president); education, Clara S. Landwehr; legislation, George O. Lockwood; sick, Mary Brown; pig, publicity, Paul E. Webb; athletics, Morgan Smith.

After the votes were counted and the election returns completed, the meeting was adjourned and the teachers left for Oakmont Country club, where a farewell faculty banquet was held. Each member of the Board of Education spoke a few words, after which Tony Brewster, dramatic coach, delivered two comic selections, "While the Young Man Waited Below" and "Modern Menace." Both selections made quite a hit with the sixty attending teachers.

BROOKSIDE PARK IS PICNIC SCENE

Proving Favorite Haunt Of Students Who Long For Outdoor Life

By CLARK HARMON
Brookside park seems to be the favorite haunt of picnickers from G. U. H. S. as Miss Jessie Hills first period history class was the second group to enjoy a frolic at the park during the last week.

The afternoon was spent in many games, of which indoor baseball seemed to be the most popular. This was possible as the class had plenty of time because of leaving for the resort as soon as school was out. After the games a delicious picnic lunch was served.

The committee which had charge of the entertainment and refreshments was composed of Margaret Knight, chairman; Ronald Reed, Julia Goetz and Josephine Hogue. Those in charge of transportation were Dick Stone and Lionel Grindel.

CHESS ENTHUSIASTS FORM BATTLE ARRAY

Results of Contests With Neighboring Schools Arouse Keen Interest at Glendale Institution

By WARD FOULTZ
In order to unite the chess enthusiasts of Glendale Union High school, a Chess club has been formed. Started and organized last semester by Richardson Jones and Wendell Snyder, it has made a successful opening with a membership of thirteen.

Richardson Jones has been the president up to this time, while Wendell Snyder has occupied the office of vice-president, and Lucas Alden, secretary and treasurer.

At a recent meeting, the officers for next year were chosen. Tom Sawyer was elected president; Ted Sawyer was elected vice-president, and Charles Buss, secretary and treasurer.

Belongs to League
The G. U. H. S. club is a member of the Los Angeles High School Chess club league. Although it has not been able to compete in league tournaments with the other members, the club has taken part in several practice games. It won from Lincoln and Jefferson high schools, was forfeited a game by Hollywood High, and lost to Hollywood and Roosevelt high schools. The latter is the leading member of the league.

Next year the G. U. H. S. Chess club will have an opportunity to compete for the coveted league championship in regular tournament. Besides merely occupying themselves by playing friendly games for practice, the members of the Chess club have been holding an individual competitive tournament. Richardson Jones has been the victor thus far, having won nine games and lost none. Tom Sawyer and Ted Sawyer are tied for second place with a score of 7-2. Walter Wheelock is third with a score of 7-3 and Lucas Alden fourth, his score being 6-4.

Play Blind Chess
During the last two weeks the Chess club members have been playing blind chess, that is, another member watches the board and makes the moves while the two players direct him. Since four wrong moves disqualified a player and loses the game for him, the contests have been unusually exciting, and have afforded the members much entertainment.

ADD NEW CLUBS TO FORMER LIST

More Spanish Organizations Formed And One Presents Interesting Plays

By GENE LYNCH
Several Spanish clubs have been added to the list of societies at Glendale high school this year, under the supervision of Mrs. Mabel O. Lambert and Miss Hazel Allen.

The Las Campaneras chose as their officers, Eloise Madrid, president; Roy Deschlager, vice-president, and Fynn Deaster, secretary-treasurer.

The Las Estrallas gave a number of interesting plays, among them "La Lavendera de Napoléon." The Los Marajoles Espanoles purchased two beautiful hand-tinted photographs of San Juan Capistrano, which hang on the walls of room 131.

The two other clubs, Los Filosofos and Los Camarados Espanoles, are formed by all students. They gave advanced plays and programs.

Summer Cabin Scene For Vacation Outing

Coach Normal C. Hayhurst, head of the physical training department, has planned various auto trips. Present plans indicate he will motor through Northern California and its many resorts, including Yosemite and Lake Tahoe. This trip will consume about forty days.

Math. Instructor Has State Tour Planned

J. Benton Wirt of the mathematical department of Harvard High will probably make a tour of California while enjoying his vacation.

Puget Sound Islands Attracts One Teacher

Miss Josefa Seely, teacher of geometry, plans to spend her vacation at Puget Sound, and is going to visit various islands around that district.

Will Take Parents On Tour Of California

Fred Slier of the office force is expecting his parents from the east this summer, and plans to spend two weeks touring Southern California with them.

After Seeing Wedding Will Tour Europe

Conducting one of the select Temple tours throughout Europe will compose the entire vacation of Miss Dorothy Gilson, language teacher.

On her way east she intends to stop off at Denver, Colo., to be bridesmaid at her brother's wedding.

SCHOOL ORATORS IN CUP CONTEST

Los Angeles Youth Wins First With Long Beach Taking Next Honor

By WARD FOULTZ
Winners of local oratorical contests in five high schools competed for the oratorical championship of Southern California last night in the Broadway high school auditorium. Chester Williams from the Los Angeles High school delivered the prize-winning oration.

Who's Rocking the Boat? The Long Beach representative, William Fennell, speaking on "Highways and the Nation," won second place.

As a rule the prizes—a silver loving cup to the winning school, a gold medal to the winner of first place and a silver medal to the second—are awarded the night of the contest, but due to some delay the loving cup and medals were not delivered on time and could not be given to the winners.

Matter of Custom
It has been the custom for those schools which hold local oratorical contests such as the one at G. U. H. S. annually to enter their winners in a final contest competing with other representatives for the Southern California oratorical championship.

Sixteen high schools were eligible to compete, but only five entered: Long Beach, Glendale, Pasadena, University of Southern California high school and Los Angeles.

In pleading for obedience to the Eighteenth amendment, Chester Williams, winner of first place, said, "Public opinion has not yet turned against the aggressor—the one who drinks, the one who is rocking the boat, and it is now time for society itself to rise up against the man who disobeys the Eighteenth amendment, thus endangering the peace and safety of the people of this nation. It is the duty of every loyal citizen, including you and I, to stop this man who is rocking the boat—the very ship of state—by violating our most sacred institution, the law."

Voice Was Good
Chester's excellent voice inflection in his delivery, combined with an unusually good oration, made his speech one of almost all the judges collaborate in giving him first place.

William Kennel, representing Long Beach, chose for his topic "Highways and the Nation." His presentation and excellent gesture as well as the content of his oration made him run a close second to the winner. "Let us preserve for coming generations the highways which mean so much to us," William said in conclusion.

Other speakers were: Edwin Bibe from the University of Southern California high school, who spoke on "Law or Anarchy"; Jean Williams, Glendale representative, whose topic was "Charity"; and Thomas Anderson from Pasadena, who gave an oration on "Crispus Attucks."

Girl Orator Pleases
The three speakers who did not win prizes are, however, to be complimented on the fine showing they made. Edwin Bibe had one of the best orations of the evening. Jean Williams, first freshman winner of the local oratorical contest in Glendale, thrilled her audience with her simple, sweet plea for more charity. Thomas Anderson had one of the best deliveries of the evening, speaking with a heartfelt enthusiasm.

GIRLS HAVE DAY AT OCEAN PARK

Hiking Club Discards Plans For Business To Enjoy Beach Attractions

By GENE LYNCH
Saturday, June 6, was the date of an enjoyable picnic held by the girls' hiking club at Ocean Park. The girls left about eight o'clock Saturday morning, for the beach. Each one took a picnic lunch and prepared to have a good time. According to Dorothy Cramer, club president, the water was the most wonderful ever seen and the swimming was great.

Officers were to have been elected for the coming semester but because not all the girls were present the day was spent entirely in pleasure. Leaving the beach at about 5 o'clock the girls on returning home proclaimed the day a great success and one long to be remembered.

Will Go East By Rail And Return Via Auto

James Pierce, athletic coach, will, if present plans carry out, journey back east to Indianapolis, his home, and from there to New York and Washington, D. C. He intends to go by train and return by automobile.

TEACHERS PLAN VACATION TRIPS

Questions Addressed To Many Instructors Elicit Interesting News

With the coming of vacation time G. U. H. S. teachers are planning to enjoy themselves in a variety of ways. Some intend to take additional courses of instruction, others travel through Europe, and still others are going to remain at "Home Sweet Home."

Will Visit Parents
Miss Marjorie Tuit, who is a Spanish teacher at the Broadway High, intends to spend part of her vacation at her parents' home in Fresno.

Will Visit Parents
Miss Ella Hardy, also of the English department, plans to spend the summer at her home in San Diego visiting her relatives. Learning to drive her new car is going to be the chief diversion for Miss Daisy Lake, librarian.

Will Go on Ranch
Earl T. Brown, head of the science department, may find it necessary to go to Washington, D. C., on business but if not he will probably spend a part of the summer on his mother-in-law's ranch at Paso Robles and the remainder in his cabin in the San Bernardino mountains.

Will Go on Ranch
Miss Merle McGrath, of the mathematics department, is either going to tour the east or spend the summer at her home in Berkeley.

Beach Is Her Goal
Miss Eleanor W. Thayer plans on spending a few weeks at the beach, her favorite place of recreation.

Beach Is Her Goal
Miss Isabel Stevens, Latin teacher and head of the language department, has a desire for further study, and consequently plans on taking a six weeks' course at the University of California, Southern Branch.

Beach Is Her Goal
Miss Teresa Cornelius, biology instructor, will spend a part of her vacation traveling in northern California. Later in the season she expects to entertain friends from the east by taking several short trips around Southern California.

Aeroplane, Maybe
Miss Jeannette C. Abel, popular art teacher, gave out the following statement about her summer plans: "I am going around the world by airplane. Then I added with a twinkle in her eye—"subject to change."

Misses Josephine and Geraldine Franklin are planning on spending the greater part of the summer at home making trips at various times to Baldy and Baldoa.

SET NEW RULES FOR NEXT TERM

Registration Shows Changes In Regulations Covering Certain Of Classes

By SUMNER LAMKIN
Registration for next semester took place at both the Broadway High and the Harvard High on Tuesday, June 9. The same system, that of stations for each subject, was used as in previous years.

Several new regulations were made. One year of free-hand drawing is required of all students in the art department, except those taking art appreciation.

For seniors who wish to take English, three courses are given: (1) A II English, which will count as a B-12 credit; (2) senior composition; (3) B-12 English.

Will Visit In Arizona During Summer Time

Miss Jennie McGregor, if present plans carry, will visit her brother in Arizona this summer.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Views and Previews—News Notes from Studios
Compiled by Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

Tainted Cash

Film of thrills closes tonight at Glendale Theatre; vaudeville bill includes exceptional acts.

Action, thrills and romance are packed into "Tainted Money" showing for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre. William Fairbanks is starred, and Eva Novak is the heroine.

Fairbanks has most of the action but Miss Novak, with whom he is in love, manages to be on the job just in time to prevent him from being blown to atoms when the rival group of lumber men whom he is fighting leave him tied in a cabin at the edge of a cliff which is to be blown up in five minutes.

On the stage the ready wit and clever topical rhymings of Hap Farnell of the team of Farnell & Florence mark them as an outstanding attraction of the vaudeville bill.

"Oh, You Flirt," a one-act skit by Bill Gross & Co. gives Gross ample scope for his recognized ability as a comedian while it gives the supporting members of the cast an opportunity to display their histrionic abilities. An abundance of elaborate stage settings furnishes the proper atmosphere for the plot.

One of the most unusual musical offerings is Sang & Chung, two Chinese boys who have voices that harmonize exceptionally well and who know how and what to sing. They also have a fund of good comedy that is even more rare.

Peters and LeBuff have an exclusive sensational forward somersault off a high horizontal bar to a hand to hand catch.

Miss Lotte Rule provides a musical treat on saxophone and accordion that proves the popularity of these two instruments with modern day audiences. She has a splendid repertoire of good selection as well as a very nifty assortment of pretty clothes and a form on which they drape to advantage.

GLORIA SWANSON ON GATEWAY BILL

'Madame Sans Gene' Starts Tomorrow; Picture Was Made In France

Tonight will be the last opportunity to see Norma Talmadge in "The Lady," at the Gateway theatre. This production gives way to Sunday's program which boasts the screen's most popular star, Gloria Swanson, in "Madame Sans Gene," running Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

"Madame Sans Gene" is a real screen event. The entire production was filmed in Paris with the co-operation of the French Ministry of Fine Arts. Charles de Roche, Franco-American leading man, heads the cast playing in support of the star.

The story opens in a laundry on Rue St. Anne, where "Madame Sans Gene" does the washing for the famous and obscure of Paris. Among the latter is young Napoleon Bonaparte with cast political ideas but a very scanty income.

Sans Gene launders for Bonaparte never asking or taking money until he becomes Emperor of France. Several years later, Lefebvre, an army sergeant, who has married Sans Gene, distinguishes himself in the Army of Napoleon Bonaparte and is awarded the baton of Field Marshal by the emperor. A title—Duchess of Dantzis—gives Sans Gene a place in Napoleon's court, but the rigid formality of court life proves irksome to the pretty little laundress-duchess, who repeatedly, although innocently enough, breaks some of the sacred rules of what to say and how to act in court.

But here, we're telling you the story—see it yourself.

Red gum lumber of America is called "satin walnut" in Europe, and often is used in making furniture.

Cross Ocean For Summer's Vacation Time

Miss Iva Hunter will make an extensive tour of central Europe, visiting France, England, Germany and Switzerland during the summer period.

Young Actor

RICHARD BARTHELMESS, in "New Toys" at the Cosmo theatre.

Few young actors have as many distinguished performances to their credit as Richard Barthelmess, opening at the Cosmo theatre tomorrow in his latest, "First National production, 'New Toys.'"

Barthelmess has contributed at least seven famous celluloid portraits to the silver screen.

Scenic grandeur rarely seen upon the screen in a dramatic photoplay forms the background for J. K. McDonald's First National picture, "Frisolous Sal," at the Cosmo theatre for the last times today. Virtually all the outdoor scenes were photographed at Mount Rainier, in Washington, and around the Idaho silver mines.

FINAL DANCE OF SENIORS IS HELD

Closing Class Social Event Of Year Proves Success In Numbers And Fun

By DIGALD BLUE
"Trade dances with me," "You bet, which one?" "Eight or eleven?" "Eight, thanks, see you later."

Thus, as it happens at all dances, ran the conversation at the senior farewell held last night in the girl's gymnasium at Harvard.

The dance floor was gaily decorated and, after the "balloon dance," became a glittering galaxy of color.

The novelty fox-trot was won by two prominent Glendale High students, "Dot" Pickett and "Count" Jones.

Programs Unique
The dance programs were simple, but unique, being a four-page affair. It might be mentioned that punch was served throughout the evening.

As far as the students' work in arranging and carrying out the dance, went, it was a complete success.

At 12 o'clock sharp the dance ended with a bang. The graduating seniors will not soon forget this dance, and will look back to it with pleasure as the last big event of their school life, while the underclassmen look forward to the school dances to come.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

COLUMN RULES

My Dear Followers: Please do not depend upon personal answers from me for conditions that have to have the immediate attention of a physician. And do not depend on the column for such advice, for even though your questions can be answered in the column and answered immediately, it would be at least four weeks before the answer can appear.

My Diet and Health column is a syndicated feature, appearing all over the United States and Canada. It is written and sent out from New York. This means that it has to be prepared three or four weeks in advance. The column creates great interest wherever it appears, and the combined mail from the different places is enormous. In order to be able to handle this and to be helpful to you, there are certain rules which we have formulated which you must follow. Unless these rules are complied with, your letters cannot receive any attention.

First: Address your letters to me in care of this paper. They will be forwarded to my New York city office. Sign your name as evidence of good faith. It will not be used in any way. (When I answer you in the column, I use one initial).

Second: Write legibly and with a pen—if your handwriting is not clear, get somebody to write for you; or use a typewriter. Do not write more than 200 words. Remember the number of letters is not!

Third: When you ask for material which we have offered, you must enclose a large sized, self-addressed, stamped envelope (s. e.). The address must include your full name, street and number, city or town, and state. The booklet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must include 10 cents in loose stamps. Do not send money—it is too easily lost in the mails. (Only one booklet can be sent each request).

Fourth: Do not ask for diagnoses or for individual treatments. Do not ask questions that are not of general interest and answerable in the column. You must see your personal physician for such information. Watch my daily articles for something similar to the questions you want discussed, and consider yourself answered when you see them whether your initials are appended or not. I must answer questions collectively in order to save time and space.

Fifth: Allow at least three weeks to elapse before thinking your request for material has gone astray or is not answered because you have not followed the rules. Allow a much longer period of time for an answer to appear in the column, if it can appear.

Don't forget to enclose a fully self-addressed and stamped envelope with your request for any material which we have offered (and the ten cents in stamps if you ask for the booklet on reducing and gaining).

Unless these rules are obeyed, your letters cannot receive any attention. I feel like adding a last rule. It is this: Save some of your 200 words to continue telling me how much you enjoy the column and how much benefit you are deriving from it. Such a message is an inspiration to me and to the helpers and makes our work happier and therefore more helpful.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address yours to me in care of the Evening News, 131 South Orange, Glendale, California. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. If you are a member of the Red Star Milling Co., Wichita, Kan., please send me to send you the information I have offered.

The HOUSE Of The ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Mademoiselle Ann touched the face of a woman in the darkness that night—if that night, in the darkness she touched a face as I'll."

Jim was utterly startled.

"You believe that she was lying to us?" he cried.

Hanaud shook a protesting hand in the air.

"I believe nothing," he said. "I am looking for a criminal."

"Ann Upcott!" Jim spoke the name in amazement. "Ann Upcott!" Then he remembered the look of her as she had told the story, her face convulsed with terror, her shaking tones. "Oh, it's impossible that she was lying. Surely no one could have so mimicked fear?"

Hanaud laughed.

"You may take this from me, my friend. All women who are great criminals are also very artful actresses. I never knew one who was not."

"Ann Upcott!" Jim Frohisher once more exclaimed, but now with a trifle less of amazement. He was growing slowly and gradually accustomed to the idea. Still—that girl with the radiant look of young Springs! Oh, no!

"Ann Upcott was left nothing in Mrs. Harlowe's will," he argued. "What could she have to gain by murder?"

"Wait, my friend! Look carefully at her story! Analyze it. You will see—that! That it falls into two parts." Hanaud ground the stump of his cigar beneath his heel, offered one of his black cigarettes to Jim Frohisher and lighted one for himself. He lit it with a sulphur match which Jim thought would never stop fizzling, would never burst into flame.

"One part when she was alone in her bedroom—a little story of terror and acted very effectively, but after all any one could invent it. The other part was not so easy to invent. The communicating door open for no reason, the light beyond, the voice that whispered, 'That will do,' the sound of the struggle! No, my friend, I don't believe that was invented. There were too many little details which seemed to have been lived through. The white face of the clock and the hour leaping at her. No! I think that that must stand. But adapt it a little. See! This morning Waberski told us a story of the Street of Gambetta and of Jean Cladell!"

"Yes," said Jim.

"And I asked you afterwards whether Waberski might not be telling a true story of himself and attributing it to Mademoiselle Harlowe?"

"Yes."

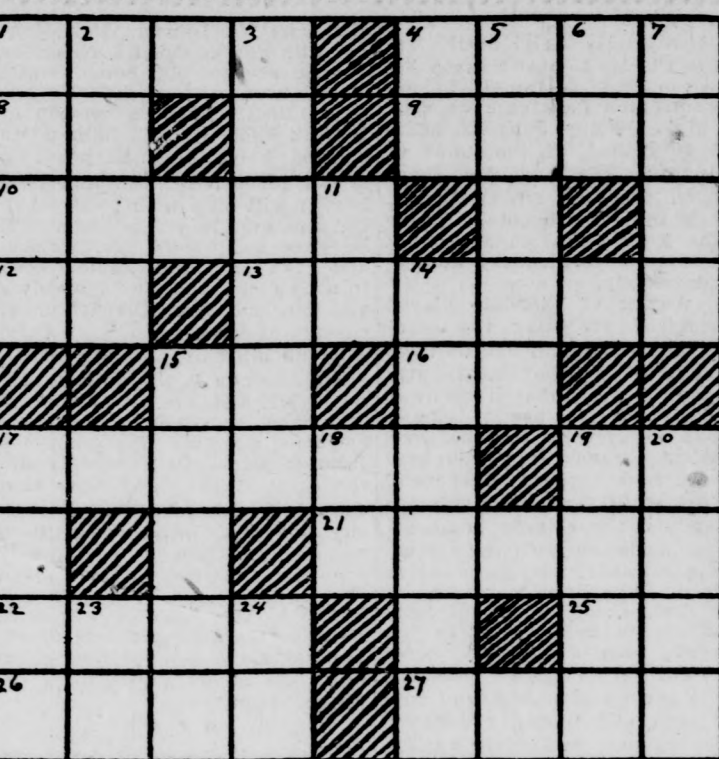

"Well, then, interpret Ann Upcott's story in the same way," continued Hanaud. "Suppose that some time that day she had unlocked the communicating door! What more easy? Madame Harlowe was up during the daytime. Her room was empty. And that communicating door opened not into Madame's bedroom, where perhaps it might have been discovered whether it was locked or not, but into a dressing room."

"Yes," Jim agreed.

"Well, then, continue! Ann Upcott is left alone after Mademoiselle Harlowe's departure to Monsieur de Pouillac's ball. She sends Gaston to bed. The house is all dark and asleep. Suppose then that she is joined by—some one—some one with the arrow poison all ready in the hypodermic needle. That they enter the treasure room just as Ann Upcott described. That she turns on the light for a second while—some one—crosses the treasure room

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

move out from the crowd I stopped her. I said in English, for she was obviously of my race. 'This is yours. You have dropped it on the floor.' She gave me a smile and a little shake of the head. I think that for the moment she dared not trust her lips to speak, and in a second, of course, she was swallowed up in the crowd. I played for a little while longer. Then I too rose and as I passed the entrance to the bar on my way to get my coat, this girl rose up from one of the many little tables and spoke to me. She called me by my name. She thanked me very prettily and said that although she had lost that evening she was not really in any trouble. I doubted the truth of what she said. For she had not one ring upon any finger, the tiniest necklace about her throat, not one ornament upon her dress or in her hair. She turned away from me at once and went back to the table where she sat down again in the company of a man. The girl of course was Ann Upcott, the man Waberski. It was from him no doubt that she had got my name.

"Did this little episode happen before Ann Upcott became a member of the household?" Hanaud asked.

"Yes," replied Jim. "I think she joined Mrs. Harlowe and Betty

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE GIRL BIRD.

Saturday, when there were no classes in the Hollow Stump School, taught by the Lady Mouse Teacher, Tooter and Scooter, two of the new little rabbit boys who had come to Uncle Wiggily with his new wife, wondered what they could do to have fun.

"For we certainly have fun in school!" said Tooter.

"Yes," agreed Scooter. "And now it's Saturday, when there isn't any school, but we must have some fun! Oh, I know, Tooter!" he cried. "We could take little May off in the woods and lose her. She will cry and make a fuss, and then we can be Boy Scout rabbits and pretend to find her. And maybe Uncle Wiggily will also help look, and that will be an adventure for him."

"All right—let's take May out in the woods and lose her," agreed the other little rabbit boy. May was a little pussy cat girl, the cousin of Jole, Tommie and Kitten Kat. Her last name was Bell, so her name was really May Bell. She had a sister named Blue Bell and a brother named Door Bell. But May Bell was the cutest and littiest of all the Bell family. She was fond of having a good time, was May Bell, and she had often gone to the woods on little picnics with Tooter and Scooter.

So when these two little types of rabbit boys went up to the yard where May Bell was playing and asked her to come adventuring with them, of course she went. Deep into the woods Tooter and Scooter led May Bell, until they came to a place where some soft, green moss grew beside a tinkling brook.

"Lie down here and go to sleep," May Bell whispered. Scooter and Tooter lay down on the moss, and the little pussy cat girl was fast asleep on a bed of moss, those two little mischievous rabbit boys ran away and left her there. They went off to play ball with Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow.

"But we'll come back after a while," said Tooter and Scooter, and when her mother can't find May, we'll lead them to the woods where we have hidden her." And Scooter agreed to this.

Now when May had slept for a time she awakened. First, she listened to the tinkle of the brook, hardly remembering where she was. Then she called for Tooter and Scooter to come to her. But the rabbit boys were far away, playing ball.

"Oh, dear!" mewed May Bell. "I'm lost! Oh, dear!"

And about this same time Mrs. Bell missed her little pussy girl.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, have you seen May Bell?" asked the mother cat as the bunny gentleman hopped past the house.

"No," he answered, "I haven't. But if she is lost I will get the girl bird to call her name in the woods. When your little pussy hears the girl bird calling her name she will answer and thus we can easily find her."

"Who is the girl bird?" asked Mrs. Bell.

"The phoebe bird," answered

Church's Daily School Draws Many Children

Preparations for the Daily Vacation Bible school, which will be held beginning June 22 at Grand View Community church, are being rapidly completed. Indications are that there will be at least 150 children in attendance in the three departments, primary, junior and intermediate. No kindergarten children will be accepted on account of lack of room.

Members of the faculty of the school recently attended the four-day intensive training course given at Pasadena and are prepared for the work of conducting a Bible school. Worship, Bible study, dramatizations, pageantry, story-telling, music, hand-work and amusements will be included in the program.

Mrs. Margaret W. Thomas will be principal of the school and members of the faculty are: Mrs. Stephen Zilow, pianist and teacher of intermediate; Mrs. Marian Mair and Mrs. J. A. Martin, teachers of junior department; Miss Marian Mair, teacher of intermediate; Miss Irene Hofstetter, and Miss Jean Hansen, teachers of primary department; Mrs. Emma Dyer and Mrs. A. B. Moody, craft work for girls. Rev. George W. Thomas and the Boy Scouts headed by Bruce Mair, will have charge of the craft work for the boys.

BUSY WEEK FOR TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Five Postponed Games to Be Decided Before First Round Ends June 25

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.
With the fifth week of play over in the Twilight league, the players are preparing to bring the first round to a close in the next two weeks. There are five postponed or undecided games to be played off in the two weeks, as well as the regular scheduled games, so busy times are ahead.

The Calla Lily crew moved up a notch in the standings during the past week, going into a tie with the Radios. This move resulted from a 9 to 7 victory over the Glendale Creamery, Wednesday, while the Radios dropped 100 points by being nosed out Thursday by the Public Service, 7 to 5. The outstanding game of the week was that between the Postoffice employees and the Hull Trucks on Tuesday. The players did not get in four full innings, and when the time limit was reached at 7 o'clock, the score was 14 to 14. The mailmen had their hitting clothes on, and rapped out singles almost at will. Thirteen mailmen went to bat in the third inning, and nine of them scored.

The scheduled game for next Tuesday between the Hull Trucks and the Radios, has been shifted to Friday, and the truckmen will play off one of their postponed games on Tuesday. The postponed games to be played before the first round ends are: Glendale Creamery vs. Christian church; Hull Trucks vs. Firemen; Hull Trucks vs. Public Service; Glendale Creamery vs. Postoffice; Postoffice vs. Hull Trucks.

GEORGIE RIVERS GIVEN DECISION

Fans Object To Action Of Referee In Bout With Tommy Ryan

Winning the decision by a narrow margin, Georgie Rivers, Mexican bantamweight, defeated Buffalo Tommy Ryan last night at the Hollywood Stadium. Many thought that Rivers deserved nothing better than a draw, but on account of his pushing the fight at all stages, he was given the shade. Tommy Ryan showed real cleverness and it is a distinct honor for the local banty to come out with Ryan with flying colors. The semi-windup was brought to an abrupt finish when Johnnie Grella fouled Harry Runcan in the first round. The fight had not gone far enough to see who had the real class but up to the time of the low blow Harry Runcan was having the best of the argument.

Bobby Tracy made the special event short and sweet by making Jimmy Butler listen to the "birds" in the third round. Butler was knocked down twice in the second round and was felled once more in the third before taking the count. Billy Blake defeated Al Hoffman while Johnny Sacco out-classed Kid Cereno.

W. T. Vickery Catches Bass Of Eight Pounds

The prize catch of the season, a black bass weighing eight pounds, is on exhibition today at Cornwell & Kelly, 107 South Brand boulevard. The fish was landed after thirty minutes of hard fighting, by W. T. Vickery, realtor, with offices at Brand boulevard and Doran streets, while on a fishing trip at Big Bear lake. The bait used was a minnow, and the fish was hooked on a number 12 hook, Mr. Vickery said.

With Mr. Vickery at the time of the catch was W. C. Page, also of Glendale, and friends from Los Angeles. They were fishing from the motor launch of Mit Brown, guide of Big Bear lake, who guarantees fish when he takes out a party. The party landed black bass and trout, using salmon eggs for trout fishing.

The trip to Big Bear lake was made by Mr. Vickery and his party over the Mill Creek road, and the return trip by way of the City Creek road. The roads are good, Mr. Vickery reported.

FRYS PHYSICAL FACTS

By PROF. BYRON G. FRY, Health Expert and Champion Baz Punter of America.

Written For The Evening News
XIV—PURE BLOOD STREAM
Q—I have an ulcerated tooth that has been lanced and drained several times by a specialist who has advised that I have the tooth taken out and the bone scraped. I have a horror of operations and want to avoid this if possible and will try most anything.—Mrs. J. R. N.

A—A pure blood stream will carry away poisonous matter that has been deposited any place in the body. If the blood stream does not contain too much poisonous matter the lungs will expel it and the form of gas through the bronchial tubes; some will come out through the pores of the skin and other organs of elimination. If the blood stream is overloaded with toxins, which is often caused by overeating of wrong foods, these poisons will find weak places in any and all parts of the body and develop pus pockets. The pus pockets will quickly disappear when the blood stream is purified.

This day and age of sausage grinders and soft food has left little for the teeth to do and the tissues holding the teeth in place become weak, and from lack of proper food and exercise they soon become inflamed and the worn out tissues are not replaced as fast as they are worn out.

This makes an excellent dumping ground for the blood to dump its impurities. Purify your blood stream and it will replace all worn out parts of the body and carry away all waste material. The blood will do this when nothing else will. A fast of a few days, say about seven, will usually allow the blood to become pure enough to eliminate simple cases of tooth trouble. Serious cases require two or three short fasts.

After these fasts a diet containing fresh fruits and vegetables once or twice daily will prevent any further trouble with loose or ulcerated teeth. A common case of pyorrhea will disappear when plenty of fruit and vegetables are eaten, leaving out white flour products. A meal of sweet naval oranges in the evening is very beneficial.

Deep breathing will help wonderfully to keep the blood stream free from toxins. When eating the fruits and vegetables make a meal of them and do not try to mix them with cooked food. Raw food digests much quicker than cooked food. This is contrary to popular theories but is a fact nevertheless.

The refreshments served were supplied through the courtesy of the Comal Co. Inc., of Glendale.

The Glendale hotel is expected to open early in July with a Spanish fiesta and ball, carrying out the jubilee year idea.

LETTER CARRIERS IN BARGAIN BILL

Long Beach Mailmen Come For Two Games Sunday At Local Park

Tomorrow will be bargain day at the ball park on San Fernando road when the Glendale Letter Carriers and the Long Beach mailmen will stage a double header. The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock, according to A. S. Wood, manager of the local postal employees.

Long Beach and Glendale staged an eleven-inning tie several weeks ago at the beach city, the score being five all. The game had to be called at the end of the eleventh inning to enable two other teams to take the field. Since that time Glendale has dropped one game and won one.

Bush will probably draw the pitching assignment for the first game, with Richards posing the mound work in the second contest. Whitley will be behind the log. Others in the local lineup will be Shoemaker, Wietzel, Selover, Currier, Wright and Bullock.

and Glendale avenue. After a half hour's stay during which refreshments were served and pictures taken, the delegates departed for Hollywood and Venice. They were met at Pasadena by Glendale representatives who piloted them to the hotel. On arrival they were received by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce including George Karr, vice-president of the chamber and chairman of the committee, P. W. Hatch, Alexander Mitchell, C. L. Ingledue, one of the owners of the new hotel, and O. S. Watts, manager of the hostelry.

Several national officers were in the party though the new president, George Stymay of San Diego, did not come. Past President William Deffenbacher of Chicago and all but one of the national board of directors were along. One of the prominent visitors was Harold Van Norman, lieutenant-governor of Indiana, and a wealthy hotel owner.

Paul L. Dupin, proprietor of a Detroit hotel and formerly of San Francisco, who boasts he has never missed a national convention, was here. He is well acquainted in Glendale and has visited here on occasions during many years.

The refreshments served were supplied through the courtesy of the Comal Co. Inc., of Glendale.

Trio Asks Demurrer On Kidnap Charge

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—Opening a legal fight to dispel the mystery surrounding the alleged plot to kidnap Mary Pickford and hold her for a $200,000 ransom to be paid by her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, was made when attorneys for Adrian Woods and Claude Holcomb, held with C. Z. Stevens in the purported conspiracy, filed a demurrer to the grand jury indictment on the grounds that the trio actually committed no offense.

Attorneys for the men declared that instead of "confessing" and pleading guilty, as announced by detectives who arrested them, the trio would fight the indictment.

BANQUET CLOSSES ROUND OF VISITS

Southern Barnyard Offers Idea For Decorations At Church Dinner

As a fitting climax to a most successful "get-acquainted" campaign inaugurated by members of the Broadway Methodist church, South, and conducted during the past month, a banquet was served last night at the church by the losing side, the Buckboards. The banquet was spread in the social hall, covers being laid for 174 guests.

The two teams in the campaign were known as the Oxarts and Buckboards, with O. B. Staples and H. G. Ross elected as their respective captains. The report showed that nearly 3000 calls had been made and fifteen new members secured. The Oxarts won by a narrow margin and the campaign throughout was characterized by good-natured rivalry.

The men of the losing team prepared and served the meal. The social hall was decorated to represent an old southern barnyard and ox lot, no detail being overlooked. The hay, stells, troughs, old lanterns, harness and cow bells were decorations used and a miniature oxcart formed the centerpiece on the table. Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Johnson, formerly of Savannah, Ga., had charge of the decorations while Messrs. Ervin, Roscoe and Lutes prepared the menu and cooked the meal. C. L. Johnson was head waiter and, assisted by a corps of members of the Buckboards, served.

Music During Meal
During the meal music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra and piano solos were also played. The program was in charge of J. N. McGillis and it included readings, songs, instrumental solos and original poems. Rev. Maurice M. Johnson, pastor, gave an impersonation of a negro, appearing as George Washington Wilkes Booth Lincoln Johnson. Others on the program were: Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. W. Knight, Miss Gene Guatler, Mrs. M. M. Johnson, Miss Gladys Shields, Miss Corrine Grose, Mrs. Roscoe, Mrs. Ruyie, E. W. Rye, H. G. Ross, H. M. Ruyie, O. B. Staples, E. C. Millikan and J. N. McGillis. At the close of the program, Rev. Johnson thanked everyone for their co-operation in the campaign.

that their work was splendid and their training excellent. The school choral organizations were under the direction of Mrs. E. Kirk Kent, music teacher at the school.

In the girls' glee club competition Wilson school was opposed by the Santa Paula school chorus, representing Ventura county. The competition was close in this event. The Wilson boys' glee club won the state banner without competition by making a score of 85 per cent.

PEOPLE TURN FROM DRINK TO DRUGS

Official Report Shows Use Of Narcotics Grows As Fewer Use Liquor

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Drug addicts in the United States number from 110,000 to 150,000, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared in an official statement today.

Violations of the Harrison anti-narcotic act, the report showed, are increasing. 3354 persons having been tried in 1922 and 4837 from July 1, 1924, to June 1, 1925. Convictions rose from 93 per cent in 1922 to 95 per cent in 1925, according to Haynes.

Haynes, describing his four years as prohibition commissioner, said that the "big bootleg operator is making his last stand."

"Successful enforcement of the prohibition law is closing one source of liquor after the other," Haynes said.

"Real whiskey, wine, gin or brandy are now practically unobtainable for beverage use. Moonshining is less general. Home brewed beer has disappeared. Liquor smuggling has been reduced."

"Strides in enforcement during the last four years are remarkable, considering the obstacles to be overcome. In various localities there is still strong opposition. Local assistance has not been given in these and conditions are not what they should be. Every-where; however, they are so improved over four years ago there is no comparison."

Many Convictions
Criminal indictments for liquor violations totaled 163,643 from July 1, 1921, to May 15, 1925, according to Haynes. Of cases 121,654 resulted in convictions. Every means provided by law is being used to fight the prohibition law violators, it was pointed out. More than 7000 injunctions have been obtained in federal courts. "Paddocking" of resorts, cafes or other places where liquor is sold for a year or more has not been infrequent.

Tommy Milton Winner Of Flag Day Contest

eleventh. The weather was fair and ideal for the race. The diminutive De Paolo was cheered loudly when Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, presented him with a gold watch before the start of the race.

Ralph De Palma, uncle of De Paolo, was working in his nephew's pit and signaling encouragement to his protegee.

Duray crashed into a clay bank near the pits, but was uninjured and his car remained upright. He was out of the race.

Dave Lewis was forced out on the thirty-sixth lap by a broken connecting rod. Shafer was forced out on the forty-third lap.

On the sixty-eighth lap the crowd was treated to more thrills when Morton's car lost both tires on one of the high banked curves. He was able to get the machine to the pits for new tires and was off again. At the seventy-fifth-mile mark Bennie Hill was in front despite the time he lost inspecting his car at the pits.

Earl Cooper followed Hill, with Morton, Milton, Hartz, De Paolo, Comer, Hepburn, Kries, Devore, Elliott, McDonough and Wonderlich close behind.

Bennie Hill, who led for seventy-three miles, was forced out with transmission trouble at the start of the seventy-fifth lap. This put Earl Cooper in the lead, with Milton second and De Paolo third.

At the 125-mile mark, Cooper was maintaining his lead, followed by Milton, Comer, Hartz, McDonough, Wonderlich, De Paolo, Elliott, Devore, Kries, Hepburn, J. Hill and Morton.

The time for 125 miles was 119 miles per hour.

Labor Plan Unchanged By Death Of W. Stone

CLEVELAND, June 13.—The sudden death of Warren S. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and generally accounted the driving force which led labor to enter the banking business on a large scale, will not affect the general policies of the great organization, officials declared today.

Stone died late yesterday from an acute attack of Bright's disease. His funeral on Monday will be attended by most of the labor leaders of the country.

W. B. Prenter, first vice-president of the brotherhood, took up the reins this morning and will "carry on" until a successor to Stone is elected.

Senator La Follette Is Ill On Birthday

He has contracted a severe cold due to the sudden change in weather when the heat wave broke and physicians have ordered him to remain quiet, especially in view of the throat affliction which has troubled him lately. The senator will be 70 years old tomorrow.

TESTIMONY ON POISON PLOT PRESENTED

W. D. Shepherd Boasts Of 'Big Money' In Estate, Witness Declares

CHICAGO, June 13.—The dead hand of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock today reached out for the man accused of the murder of her son. William D. Shepherd's association with Mrs. McClintock and his alleged statement that "he would get his" from the McClintock estate, were told to the jury today by Jerome Matillo of Indianapolis.

Shepherd and his brother, J. H. Shepherd, had gone to Bayview, Texas, to oversee work on Mrs. McClintock's estate there, it was brought out. According to Matillo, Shepherd boasted upon one occasion that "I'll come out of this with my pockets lined."

Louis Sbarbaro, uncle of John Sbarbaro, the next witness, formerly ran a restaurant. He said Shepherd used to stand around watching him open oysters.

"One day he asked me what part of the oyster poison was in," the witness said. "I said: 'What business are you in anyway?' and he said he was guardian of a rich boy. I asked him how much he got out of that and he said $7350 a year. I said I didn't think that was much and he said that some day he expected to have plenty of money."

On cross examination the defense brought out that the witness did not know what part of the oyster contained poison; that he was an uncle of the assistant prosecutor; that he had been questioned by the state and that he had talked to Judge Olson.

The defense scored when Judge Lynch sustained an objection to testimony alleging that Mrs. Shepherd took a ring from the dead finger of Mrs. McClintock.

The western saddle on "Chino," which Miss Gibbs is said to have changed from "Happy," was damaged, the cantle being broken off short when the girl was thrown by the clothesline. Thorpe told police the girl gave her name as Helen Harlan, and her address as 463 Doran street when she hired the two horses. A petition recommending that the girl be returned to the Patton asylum from where she was paroled one year ago will be presented to the county lunacy commission by Chief of Police John D. Fraser. Miss Gibbs is said to have been raised in Montana where she learned to ride horseback, and is considered a good horsewoman.
