NO. 110

WILSON TALKS ABOUT LABOR DEPARTMENT

Member of United States Cabinet is Visiting British Columbia

WAGE EARNERS WELFARE IS GOVERNMENT OBJECT

Commissioners Now Gathering Information Have Three Years' Task

OFFICE TOO YOUNG TO FORECAST ITS RESULTS

Vancouver, Nov. 8.—On his way to Seattle to attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor, W. B. Wilson, head of the United States department of labor, created last March, is in Vancouver and will remain here until Sunday morning. He made a slight detour on his journey to consult with the local United States immigration officials, who now come under the control of his department.

In the United States, Mr. Wilson said, there is no law such as the Lemieux Act, and no provision is made for compulsory arbitration, but there is a measure, known as the Newlands-Clayton Act, which provides for mediation, or, if it fails, voluntary arbitration. This act, however, only applied to the railway services.

"At the last session of congress," added Mr. Wilson, "a committee, known as the committee on industrial relations, was appointed to enquire into and report to congress on the various measures that are in force in other countries to provide for the compulsory settlement of labor disputes. It will, in all probability, take three years for the committee to complete the work. Until that time we have no way of compelling the arbitration of labor disputes such as, I understand, Canada has under its act."

The department of labor, he said, was created last March by the Newlands-Clayton Act, which provides for mediation, or, if it fails, voluntary arbitration. This act, however, only applied to the railway services.

The department, he concluded, had been in existence too short a time to discuss its accomplishments or to say if it was fulfilling the aims of its creators.

MORRIS GOVERNMENT HAS MAJORITY OF SIX

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 7.—Belated returns from last week's election show that the Conservative or "People's" party government of Premier Morris has captured twenty seats in the Colonial House of Assembly.

The opposition party under the leadership of Sir Robert Bond, a former premier, has won fourteen seats. Two districts are yet to be reported.

ATLIN PRODUCES SEVENTY-NINE OUNCE NUGGET, THE LARGEST FOUND IN CANADA

Claim Owner Brings Out Lump of Gold Worth Over $1,200 and Looks for Boom Times in Mining Country Next Season

Vancouver, Nov. 8.—H. P. Pearce, owner of mining claims in Atlin, has brought to Vancouver the largest gold nugget ever found in Canada. It weighs seventy-nine ounces and is worth more than $1,200. Mr. Pearce has other large nuggets which were found on his mining property.

For fourteen years Mr. Pearce has been spending part of each year in the Atlin district and is enthusiastic of the future of the mining camp. This year, he says, confirming information brought by others from the district, has been the best mining year Atlin miners have experienced. He believes there will be an Atlin boom next year.

As an advertising agency for the province Mr. Pearce believes his large nugget would be valuable to the provincial government, and will take it to Victoria next week.

Referring to the Atlin camp Mr. Pearce says he would not recommend a rush to the country, as it is now double-staked and there is small

MONDAY IS DATE SET BY INDIANS TO KILL

New Mexico Has Feud Which Marshall Will Try and End To-day With Peace.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 8.—An appeal for aid to prevent the massacre of the Indian agency force at Shiprock, on the Navajo reservation, in North-western New Mexico, has been received by United States Marshal A. H. Hudspeith from Agent W. T. Shelton. A telegram from the agent says the Indians threaten to kill the whites at the agency on Monday unless the government drops prosecution of eleven Indian outlaws, indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of riot and assault.

Upon receipt of the appeal the United States marshal telegraphed the sheriff of McKinley county to go to the reservation with deputies, and Mr. Hudspeith is to leave for the scene to-day with a posse.

After the indictment of the eleven outlaws, Mr. Hudspeith spent three weeks at the reservation and obtained a promise from the chiefs of the tribe that the indicted men would surrender on November 12. Thinking the matter settled he returned to Santa Fe last night.

There are about 500 Navajos in the vicinity of Shiprock who have never visited the agency nor acknowledged the authority of the United States.

TANGO SCORE COSTS DANISH RULER $400

Berlin, Nov. 8.—Danish King Christian's court marshal telegraphed to the Thalia theatre here recently for tango music, as the dance is to be introduced immediately in the Copenhagen court. The reply sent is that no tango music has been published yet, and that the only way it can be obtained is to pay a high price for manuscript copy. Promptly came back the order: "Money no object. State price and mail immediately."

Manager Thalia sent manuscript music and charged $400 for it.

INDIANAPOLIS CARS ARE RUNNING AGAIN

Traction Employees Gain Demand for Arbitration and Reinstatement

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—For the first time in seven days street cars were running on schedule time to-day. Before daylight the first cars left the barns as they did before the strike.

The strike of the employees of the Indianapolis Traction & Terminal Company was settled late yesterday through the efforts of Governor Ralston. The employees won their demand for arbitration, but nothing is said about recognition of the union in the terms of settlement.

All the men who were in the employ of the company October 31, when the strike was called, and all employees who had been discharged on account of joining the union, are to be reinstated by the company with full seniority rights and without prejudice.

The settlement of the strike means that the 2,000 members of the Indiana National Guard, who were called to Indianapolis yesterday on order of the governor, will be dispatched to their home stations as soon as possible. The soldiers were not called on to duty.

The strike which began October 31, has resulted in four deaths, and injuries to a hundred or more people, including several police officers. Until yesterday, when the city quieted down, the downtown streets have been the scenes of almost continuous rioting.

MILITARY GUARD IS ATTACKED BY STRIKERS

Preliminary Steps for Occupation of Several Colorado Mining Camps Are Taken.

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 8.—Reports of an attack by strikers upon the military guard at Forbes early to-day were received by Adjutant-general John Chase. Several shots struck the fan-house, but no one was wounded. It is believed the object was to destroy the fan-house and cut off the mine ventilation, thereby tying up mining operations.

Preliminary steps for the military occupation of the coal mining district south of Trinidad were taken to-day by General Chase immediately upon his return from Denver, where he was called yesterday to attend a meeting of the military board. The camps of Starville, Sopris, Morley, Valdez, Segundo, Primerio, Cockdale, Terco and several smaller properties will be afforded military protection. There will be no withdrawal of troops from the Walsenburg and Ludlow districts.

Several camps to-day announce the return of large numbers of striking miners to work.

MEXICAN SMUGGLERS SHOOT AN INSPECTOR

Fugitive Shot in Heel and Captured With Opium in His Possession.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 8.—United States Customs Inspector W. B. Evans was shot and seriously wounded at an early hour to-day at National City by one of a trio of Mexican smugglers. The shooting occurred when Inspector Evans and his son attempted to arrest three Mexicans suspected of opium smuggling. When called upon to halt by the officer, one of the men fired the bullet taking effect in Evans' shoulder.

One of the fugitives as he ran was shot in the foot and captured. Seven cans of opium were found in his possession. The other two Mexicans escaped. Evans was brought to the hospital.

STORM ON LAKE BUT NO DAMAGE REPORTED

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 8.—A severe storm is still raging on the lakes and the steamer Saronic, of the Northern Navigation Company, which left port yesterday afternoon, lay at anchor outside Thunder Cape all night.

This morning she started eastward again, hugging the north shore for protection. The Alberta, of the Canadian Pacific railway line, due from Port McNicoll, anchored off Whitefish, and this morning was still there. No damage has been reported from any quarter of the lake.

FEDERAL TROOPS HOLD JUAREZ TELEGRAPHS

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 8.—Federal troops were placed in charge of the telegraph offices in Juarez to-day and all news from the south was closely guarded. Information of conditions in Chihuahua, which rebels claim to have taken, is being withheld.

The American consular office has been without news from the interior to-day. Federal officials say official news has been lacking through the telegraph offices and that they propose to stop the leak. It is denied by them that Chihuahua has surrendered to General Pancho Villa.

MINE WORKERS WILL WAIT FOR OPERATORS

No Strike Conciliation Board Unless It is Jointly Made

WATTERS MADE PLANS WITH LABOR MINISTER

Strikers Agreed October 30 to Action Being Taken Under Lemieux Act

CROTHERS RULED IT IS BARRED BY COURT

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Inquiry here in regard to the report that the striking miners on Vancouver island were on the eve of applying to the department of labor for a board of conciliation under the Lemieux Act leads to the conclusion that no such action has been taken, and that the officers of the United Mine Workers of America are still determined not to ask for a board unless the mine operators join with them in making the request.

The situation as it exists at present was explained in detail to the correspondent of the Times last night by James C. Watters, president of the Trades & Labor Congress of Canada. "There is no truth in the report that the miners have receded from their position," said Mr. Watters, "and it is perhaps just as well that I should make a statement in regard to the matter as it is apparent that a misapprehension exists in certain quarters. Some time ago at a conference held with Hon. J. W. Crothers, minister of labor, an agreement was reached providing that both parties would agree to such a proceeding. Subsequently I wrote to the district president of the U. M. W. of A. asking whether or not the miners would agree to the dispute being referred to two conciliators, on October 31 I received a night lettergram from Frank Farrington from Vancouver consenting on behalf of the miners to the proposal. The lettergram was as follows: 'Regard this as an official acceptance of the suggestion embraced in your communication of October 13 addressed to Robert Knox, relative to miners' strike on Vancouver island. On behalf of the United Mine Workers of America, I agree with your suggestion that two impartial mediators be selected to work in conjunction with the department of labor in an endeavor to bring about an adjustment. The miners shall not take advantage of the privilege of selecting their representative from the United States, but will select a citizen of this province who is not a member of organized labor. We have our man in mind, and will impart his name in the event your suggestion is accepted by the mine owners.'"

"To-day," continued Mr. Watters, "I received a letter from Mr. Farrington confirming his telegram, and emphasizing the desire of the miners to have the dispute dealt with by two conciliators. Upon receipt of the lettergram, I interviewed the minister of labor with the object of ascertaining if the appointment of the conciliators would be proceeded with. But Mr. Crothers, on the ground that the adoption of such a course would take too much time, backed out of the tentative agreement arrived at."

"On our first interview," continued Mr. Watters, "Mr. Crothers stated that if a board was applied for under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act he would take immediate steps to have it named. At the recent interview, however, the minister stated that in view of a decision given by the court of review in the province of Quebec to the effect that men discharged, or men who were not in the employ of a company when application for a board was made, are not employees within the meaning of the act, that even if a board was now applied for by the miners, it could not be granted."

Mr. Watters, in the course of the further conversation said that the Quebec case which the minister quoted was one which arose out of a strike of the Montreal street railway employees. The court of review decided that as the men on strike were no longer employees of the company their application for a board did not come within the provision of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Mr. Watters intimated that there is another plan in view for the settlement of the strike, but that no announcement in regard to it could be made at present.

KILLED BY PRINCE'S CAR

Potsdam, Germany, Nov. 8.—A four-year-old girl knocked down by an automobile in which Prince Friedrich Leopold of Prussia was driving near here to-day, died after the prince had conveyed her to a hospital. The child dived across the street in front of the motor car too late for the driver to avoid her.

VINCENT ASTOR IS WOUNDED BY CUPID

Most Eligible Young Man in America Aged Twenty-Two is Engaged.

New York, Nov. 8.—Vincent Astor, the most eligible young man in America, is engaged to be married. The future Mrs. Astor is Miss Helen Dinmore Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Huntington, of Hopelands House, Staatsburg, N. Y. Mrs. Huntington last night said she will make a formal announcement of the engagement to-day. The wedding is to be in the early spring.

At Hopelands House last night Mr. Astor said that the report is true. In describing his fiancée, Mr. Astor said: "She is a typical American girl. She is tall and has light brown hair and blue eyes. Since we first knew each other as children Miss Huntington has lived outdoors. Of course she's pretty. She has no foolish notions and new fads. Horseback riding and tennis are her favorite recreations."

Mr. Astor will celebrate his twenty-second birthday anniversary a week from to-day. Miss Huntington is 23 years old.

BRYAN NEGOTIATING TREATY IN DENMARK

Broader Plan Than Terms of Knox Treaty Including National Honor Questions.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Secretary Bryan announced to-day that he was negotiating with Denmark a treaty for arbitration of all questions arising, including those of national honor.

The proposed treaty is understood to be even broader in its terms than the Knox treaty with Great Britain and France, which was so radically amended by the senate as to be practically devitalized. The Knox treaty proposed arbitration of all questions, including those of honor, but to conserve the treaty-making powers of the senate, provision was made for a joint commission to determine the questions to be submitted, subject to the approval of the senate.

While in this state of negotiation it is not possible to divulge the details of the pending convention, it is believed that it dispenses with such a provision and proposes that all questions, without regard to limitation, shall be subject to arbitration.

EIGHTY CALUMET MINERS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Calumet, Mich., Nov. 8.—A driving wind which brought snow and freezing temperature did not keep the copper mine strikers indoors to-day, parades being held throughout the district. At Calumet eighty arrests were made by cavalry for alleged violation of the injunction prohibiting disturbances. The strikers were released on their own recognizance to appear before Circuit Judge O'Brien at a later date. Two coach loads of non-union men for the Quincy mine and two for the Baltic mine arrived this morning. There was no trouble.

BRILLIANT BRIDGE IS BUILT BY DOUKHOBORES

Nelson, Nov. 8.—Constructed entirely by Doukhobor labor, under supervision of a Vancouver firm of consulting engineers, the new steel and concrete suspension bridge over Kootenay river at Brilliant, near Nelson, has been completed at a cost of $45,000. The government contributed $20,000 of this amount, as the bridge, which saves the Doukhobor community, is on the highway route between Nelson and Trail. The main span is 321 feet in length. Four concrete pillars 41 feet in height support the span and cables.

FISHERMAN'S BODY FOUND

Seattle, Nov. 8.—With a stone weighing seventy-five pounds tied to his neck, the body of John Roth, a fisherman, was found in the Duwamish river last night between South Park and the Meadows racetrack.

SEVENTEEN HUNDRED MEN STRIKE ON P. G. E. LINE

When Wage Scale is Reduced to $2.25 Daily Right-of-Way Graders Demand $4.00 for Eight Hours and Release of Coal Mine Prisoners Sentenced at Nanaimo; Idle Foreigners Flock Into Vancouver in Hundreds

Vancouver, Nov. 8.—Seventeen hundred men, mostly Russians, employed on the Pacific & Great Eastern right-of-way grading work between Newport and Lillooet, are on strike, according to statements of 300 laborers who have arrived in the city from the railroad camps since Thursday night.

The demands for their return to work are declared to be a minimum wage of $4 per day of eight hours and the release of the miners in jail for the strike disturbances in the colliery districts on Vancouver Island.

According to the statement given out this morning by one of the members of the publicity committee of the laborers, the men were content to continue working for the wages paid to them prior to November 1, but on that date they say the contractors reduced the rate of pay from $2.75 per day to a straight twenty-five cents per hour. The hours worked in winter, according to the strikers, are nine, and would give them but $2.25 per day, which they claim is not enough to live on.

The strike was not engineered by the I. W. W. or any other organization, but was the independent action of the laborers. There are, however, notices posted along Powell and Water streets to-day signed by local union No. 322, I. W. W., demanding that workers, organized and unorganized, keep away from the scene of the strike, and advising them to do so for the good of their health.

According to the Russian laborers who are making their headquarters at a poolroom between Columbia and Main streets on Powell, between three and five hundred men have come to Vancouver from the railroad camps in the past three days, and these expect as many more will arrive to-day and to-morrow. About five hundred men left work immediately the change in wages was effected, and since that time the number of strikers has increased daily until now seventeen hundred have ceased working.

D'ARCY TATE SAYS THE MEN ARE UNREASONABLE

Places Can Be Filled With Others of Five Thousand the Contractors Are Employing.

D'Arcy Tate, vice-president of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, says his company has 5,000 men working, and the places of those who leave can be filled. He suggests the claim made by the men of $4 for an eight hour day is unreasonable, and says the request for the liberation of the imprisoned coal miners is a matter for the government, and is no concern of the company.

Mr. White, the Vancouver manager for Welch & Stewart contractors, denies that the men have gone out on strike. In speaking of the subject this morning he admitted that several hundred men had stopped work for a few days, but that they would resume in the course of the next week or so.

WASHINGTON FLIRTS WITH GEN. CARRANZA

Dispatches Sent to Ascertain Exact Strength of Mexican Insurrection

Nogales, Sonora, Nov. 8.—General Venustiano Carranza appeared unusually optimistic to-day regarding the success of the constitutionalist revolution which he heads. Dispatches from his agents at Washington and New York indicated that official Washington wanted to know the exact extent and strength of the insurrection against the Huerta government. This, Carranza and his followers interpreted as strong intimation that the Wilson administration was considering recognition of the Mexican insurgents. Such action the rebel chief considers, would insure the success of the revolution, and he asserted he could put 100,000 men into the field.

Carranza was cheered greatly to-day by the news of the successful smuggling over the line at Naco of a large shipment of rifle ammunition.

Dr. Henry Allen Tupper, a field officer of the International Peace Forum, of which ex-President Taft is an honorary vice-president, was in Tucson, Arizona, to-day on a mission which was said to have some direct connection with the anticipated investigation by Washington authorities. Dr. Tupper, according to rumors, is an unofficial representative of Secretary of State Bryan.

Military activity of the constitutionalists in Sonora state, where the federalists still remain in the extreme south, has been suspended until the relations between the Washington and Mexican City governments come to a head.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—No announcements were made either at the White House or state department to-day as to the progress of the negotiations being conducted by Charge O'Shaughnessy and John Lind in Mexico City to bring about the retirement of Huerta.

President Wilson went golfing early to-day. Secretary Bryan said he had nothing to say.

MEXICO GETS MONEY FROM GREAT BRITAIN

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—Provisional President Huerta, it was learned in authoritative circles here to-day, has secured sufficient British capital to operate the Mexican government at least until the end of the present month.

The funds are said to have been obtained through the efforts of Lord Cowdray, head of the Pearson syndicate.

The financial situation here changed slightly for the better to-day. Some banks are putting out silver.

Among the callers received by John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, to-day were the bishop of Mexico and General Fernando Gonzalez, one of the oldest officers in the Mexican army, who recently retired.

MORAL SUASION NOW IN MEXICAN HARBOR

Huerta Hostile Intent Pronouncement Answered by American Battleship

Vera Cruz, Nov. 8.—The battleship Rhode Island, in command of Rear-Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, steamed into the inside bay yesterday morning. The big Dreadnaught anchored directly in front of San Juan de Ulloa, in a position commanding the fortress.

This action of the American admiral caused great excitement as it was construed in some quarters as a warlike demonstration, particularly in view of Huerta's pronouncement some time ago that he would regard the presence of American warships in Mexican waters after October 30 as evidence of hostile intent.

The Wheeling and the Tacoma have taken up positions in the inside harbor near the Rhode Island. Riding at anchor in the outside harbor last night are the Louisiana, the Virginia, the Michigan, the New Hampshire and the New Jersey.

The presence of this formidable flotilla, commanding Vera Cruz, has evoked great comment. Pending the result of John Lind's trip to Mexico City, the city is in a state of barely suppressed excitement.

The castle of San Juan de Ulloa, built upon an island half a mile from the shore, is the principal defence of Vera Cruz.

The fortification combines with the sea wall, and the ancient city walls in a circling network of protection on the sea side and the military works are supplemented by the moles and breakwaters which were installed a few years ago when the harbor was widened. The arrangement of these works forms a combination which makes the manoeuvring of ships within the fortified area very difficult.

LIBERALS RETAIN SEAT IN BRITISH ELECTION

J. W. Pratt Defeats Unionist Who Fought Contest on Home Rule Issue Entirely.

Linlithgow, Scotland, Nov. 8.—J. W. Pratt, the Liberal candidate for Linlithgowshire, was successful over his Unionist opponent, James Kidd, but by a greatly reduced majority, at the bye-election held here to-day. The figures as given out to-day were: Pratt, Liberal, 5,615; Kidd, Unionist, 5,094; Pratt's majority, 521.

Alexander Ure had held the seat for the Liberals since 1895 with the following majorities: 1895, 781; 1900, 738; 1906, 2,521; 1910, January 2, 915; 1910, December, 2,070.

The contest was strenuous, the Unionists relying entirely on the Home Rule issue. Mr. Pratt, the member-elect was an ex-bailiff of Glasgow, and also contested the seat in the last general election with Mr. Ure, is a solicitor of Bowness.

LARGEST INDIVIDUAL ELEVATOR IN WORLD

This is the first government terminal elevator at the head of the lakes, and with a capacity of three and a quarter million bushels it is the last word in elevator construction, being the most perfectly equipped elevator in the world

CONGRATULATES WALSH.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—A cablegram of congratulation on the election of David I. Walsh as governor of Massachusetts was received by the United Irish League to-day from John Redmond, leader of the Irish party in the British House of Commons. It read: "Pray convey hearty congratulations Dave Walsh, staunch friend Irish cause, on election governor of Massachusetts."

PEOPLE'S ELEVATOR IS BUILT AT LAKES

Normal Loading Capacity to Boats is 75,000 Bushels Per Hour

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 8.—The new Dominion government terminal elevator here is now ready and under operation, and it is taking care of a big proportion of Western Canada's two hundred-million bushel wheat crop. It is the result of a long agitation by Western farmers who wanted the guarantee of the government behind the marketing of their grain at the head of the lakes. The people's elevator, as it is known locally, will be the standard for many years to come. It is absolutely the last word in elevator construction, is the biggest individual elevator in the world, and brings Port Arthur's elevator capacity up to 15,350,000 bushels. There is also a big capacity at the sister city of Fort William.

Description of Elevator.
The elevator is of re-inforced concrete construction throughout. Absolutely no inflammable material is included in either building or machinery. The elevator is operated by electric power, a separate motor being installed for each machine. Twenty cars can be unloaded simultaneously, the unloading capacity of the house being forty cars per hour. An interlocking device connecting the valves of the car hoppers prevents any possibility of the mixing of the contents of one car with another. The normal loading capacity to boats is about 75,000 bushels per hour, but for the first hour this can be increased to 115,000 bushels. The working house towers to a height of 135 feet above water level. It contains seventy-five circular bins of about 7,000 bushels capacity each, fifty-six interspace bins of 3,000 bushels, and thirty-six outer space bins of 1,500 bushels each. Its total capacity is about 750,000 bushels. Three and a Quarter Million Bushels.
The storage house has seventy circular bins, each twenty-four feet in diameter and ninety feet in height, of 30,000 bushels capacity, together with fifty-four interspaces of about 8,000 bushels each, giving a total capacity of 2,500,000 bushels. Thus the total capacity of the elevator is 3,250,000 bushels. In designing the elevator special provision was made for a large number of bins of small capacity for storing small lots of grain that may require separate binning.

Cleaning and Drying Plant.
The working house is equipped with ten hopper scales of 2,000 bushels each, with a garner of equal capacity over each scale. The elevator legs are as follows: Five for receiving, five for shipping, five for cleaning, one for screenings, one for drying, one for oats and two for flax. Fifteen sets of revolving cleaners are provided for cleaning oats, wheat and barley, and fifteen additional cleaners can be installed when they are needed. Special machines are also installed for separating oats from wheat, in addition to two screening separators and two flax separators.

Separate Drying Plant.
At the south side of the working house a drying-plant is installed in a separate building. This has a capacity of 48,000 bushels per day, and is for drying damp, tough or wet grain and putting such grain in condition for storage.
A revetment wall is being built around three sides of the site, which contains about thirty-two and a half acres. The site was formerly covered by water, but is now being filled in level with the top of the revetment wall.

JAMES ROSSEAU DEAD.
New Westminster, Nov. 8.—James Rosseau, residing at 338 Sixth street, a resident of New Westminster for more than thirty years, died of heart failure on his way home yesterday afternoon collapsing on the street. He was more than 60 years of age and well known as an old-time resident in the city. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN CLEMENT CHARGE

Evidence Concluded With Supreme Court Judges Testifying in Exchequer Court

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 8.—Mr. Justice Cassels, of the exchequer court, reserved judgment in the action brought against Mr. Justice Clement to recover the sum of $4,294, alleged to have been overcharged by the judge for travelling allowances, and obtained on false representations. The case came to an end yesterday afternoon with arguments for the government and the defence.
Mr. Justice Clement was the principal witness examined during the second day's proceedings. He testified that he was not guilty of misrepresentation, and that he honestly believed his place of residence to have been Grand Forks, almost all the time in question. He alleged that the attack made upon him had been made under the shield of legislation allegedly in the public interests, which he did not believe.

The defendant was also questioned as to his resignation from the office he had held as legal adviser in the Yukon, stating that it was correct that a charge of stealing $50 had been made against him there, which had been brought about by his own careless book-keeping in that he had transposed figures of $670 into $760.
In introducing some matters which Mr. Justice Cassels considered did not relate to the question of law, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, for the defence, stated that in a charge of this character many matters became relevant, and, further, that the crown was absolutely sheltering those who were urging on the prosecution.

Mr. Justice Cassels again held that the question was whether Mr. Justice Clement was entitled to charge Grand Forks as his place of residence.
Chief Justice Hunter and Mr. Justice Morrison both gave evidence today, being invited to a seat on the bench while giving their testimony. Chief Justice Hunter testified to the matter of travelling allowances, and both referred to Mr. Justice Clement's place of residence in regard to his place of residence. Among other witnesses were D. G. Marshall, G. H. McCrossan, J. H. Senkler, K. C., and H. J. Duncan. F. S. Maclean, K. C., for the crown, contended that the evidence showed beyond the shadow of a doubt that the defendant's place of residence was at Vancouver, and that he was therefore not entitled to receive any travelling allowance for any court or chamber in this place. He contended that the defendant had secured the amount wrongfully, and that the crown was entitled to its return, the certificates as to the place of residence not being true and the money having been obtained by false representations.

For the defendant, the arguments were presented by E. P. Davis, K. C., who held that the defendant's domicile was clearly at Grand Forks, and that it was not changed, because to make a change of domicile there must be intention, which intention had not existed until after the court of appeals act. He further asked that the judge should deal with the allegation of fraud, as it was highly desirable that a pronouncement on that point should be made, in the public interest.

TWO KILLED IN DUEL.
Portland, Ore., Nov. 7.—At a lone sawmill on Grizzly mountain, in Crook county, Oregon, yesterday, a mill-hand named Brown and a companion known as "Kaintuck" fought a revolver duel which resulted in the death of both. Jealousy on the part of Brown, who was married, is given as the cause. There were no witnesses to the duel.

WILL SUPPORT FAIR.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Dr. Paul has appropriated $500,000 for representation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition and the Venezuelan government has caused a bill to be introduced in congress for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the same purpose, according to diplomatic dispatches received today.

BECAUSE IT'S BETTER BREAD

That reason—and it's a truthful one—should alone be sufficient to decide you, but when you can add to that the fact that

White-a-Clover
Victoria's new loaf, is made up to a high standard and never allowed to depart from that standard; that it is baked, on home-made lines, in a modern, sanitary bake-shop by fastidious, skilled workmen, is always uniform in quality and fresh daily. EXPLOSION IN MINE CAUSES THREE DEATHS

Premature Discharge of Shot for Loosening Coal Given as Cause

Tacoma, Nov. 8.—Three miners were killed and one probably fatally injured in an explosion in the underground workings of the Pennsylvania Coal Company's mine at Divide, Lewis county, four miles south of Mineral, on the Tacoma Eastern railroad.

The dead: Edward Harrison, an American; J. O. Makovitch, a Slavonian, and Michael Kettina, whose nationality has not been learned. The name of the injured man has not yet been received.

According to details received by President Rowland yesterday afternoon the explosion occurred in what is known as room 14, approximately 90 feet in a crosscut in the main tunnel and close to 2,000 feet back from the mine mouth.

Men were working on both sides of the wall of coal between rooms No. 13 and No. 14, but those in room No. 13 were uninjured.

The mine officials are convinced the explosion was not due to gas, as it did not cause a fire and neither the timbers nor the walls carry any marks of a gas explosion. The officers believe the accident due to the premature explosion of a shot put in to loosen the coal. The explosion was not heard in the main tunnel. A few moments after the accident D. H. Gamble, the underground foreman, made his way into room 14 and discovered the three bodies. He rescued the injured man. The mine employs forty men underground.

IMMIGRATION OFFICIAL STOPS PLANS OF CUPID

Young Man and Girl Coming to Canada to Wed Are Held at Seattle.

Seattle, Nov. 8.—Cupid was stopped at the C. P. R. dock last night when the immigration officers frustrated an elopement planned by a Tacoma couple.

William Sears, 22 years old, and Blanche Bogart, 16, attempted to board the Vancouver steamer, and might have succeeded but for the prospective groom's lack of familiarity with the usual procedure followed by eloping couples. Interrogated by the inspector, Sears admitted they were going to British Columbia to wed, giving as the reason their failure to obtain the consent of Miss Bogart's parents to the union, and that they thought permission would not be required in British Columbia. They were sent to the police station, where the girl was assigned to the care of the matron, and Sears was locked up in the detention yard. The police records revealed the name of Miss Bogart as having been reported by the Tacoma police as missing. Sears is a gardener by occupation, and the couple were very much in earnest about their plans.

FASHIONABLE AIGRETTES MADE FROM HORSE HAIR

European Shops Sell Imitation at Price of Real to Women From America.

New York, Nov. 8.—Most of the plumage seized by the customs inspectors here as aigrettes, which are prohibited from this country, proved to be imitations made of horse-hair, customs officials announced today, after completing the appraisal of the confiscated ornaments. Originally valued by the inspectors at $1,000 or $4,000, the value of the so-called aigrettes has dwindled to $400, and they probably will be returned to the women who were forced to surrender them.

Appraisers said the imitations were clever and had been sold to American women in European shops at prices equal to those of the genuine plumage. Only 10 per cent. of the seizures proved to be what their owners declared they were in placing values on them.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS ON BURNING RUBBISH

Girl Bound and Gagged by Pyromaniac to Prevent Alarm Being Given.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Gertrude Hanson, a sixteen-year-old servant, employed in the home of Otto Johnson, was found bound and gagged amid burning rubbish in the basement of the house yesterday.

The young woman was unconscious, but detectives expressed the opinion that she had been attacked and that the assailant had taken desperate measures to conceal a crime. Miss Hanson's clothing had been saturated with kerosene and papers and other rubbish nearby set on fire. Smoke issuing from the basement attracted neighbors, who rescued the girl before the flames reached her.

When Miss Hanson regained consciousness she said the intruder hit her over the head. He was a pyromaniac, she said, and attacked her to keep her from giving the alarm while he was setting fire to the building.

THAW IS EXTRADITED.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 8.—Governor Felker today honored the requisition of the state of New York for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw. The case is now transferred automatically to the federal courts, where a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Thaw is pending.

FRASER CONFESSION IN SLINGSBY CASE

Baby's Body Burned and Another Child Purchased for Fifty Dollars

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—That the confession of Dr. W. W. Fraser, chief witness of those attacking the legitimacy of the child said to have been born to Mrs. Dorothy C. Slingsby and heir to a large estate in England, that he had received $500 for "gathering evidence" and had falsified the child's birth certificate, will destroy the case of the Slingsbys in the opinion of many who have followed the case.

The story told by Dr. Fraser and corroborated by Mrs. Hattie Blain, a nurse who attended Mrs. Slingsby during her illness here in 1910, is as follows:

"Mrs. Slingsby came to San Francisco in the late summer of 1910 from her home in Victoria, B. C. In September of that year she gave birth to a still-born child. She then got in touch with Dr. Fraser, who in turn knew of a young girl in Santa Rosa named Lillian Anderson, who had given birth to an illegitimate child. This girl wishes to dispose of her baby and arranged with Dr. Fraser to sell it for $50. She did not even know the name of the woman to whom the child was sold."

Mrs. Blain declared that Mrs. Slingsby burned her own babe, canceling the whole transaction from Lieut. Slingsby, her husband. Mrs. Blain admits having assisted in the crime.

Dr. Fraser confessed that he received $500 to make a false birth certificate, setting forth that the substituted child was the legitimate child of Mrs. Slingsby.

Lieut. Slingsby has been here and testified that he believes the child to be his. It is said the baby resembles Mrs. Slingsby.

Two years ago Lieut. and Mrs. Slingsby were present at an investigation into the case made by the California state board of health. At that time Mrs. Slingsby testified that the child was her own. This may open the way for an indictment for perjury against her.

The testimony of the girl who is said to have given birth to the baby now claimed by the Slingsbys, has not been secured. A year ago she married Fred Cortain, a navy man, in this city. They later established a home in Marion, Ind., and later still left that city for parts unknown.

THEATRICAL PROFESSION TO PAY INCOME TAX

Box Office to Withhold Amounts but Not in Cases of Vaudeville Performers.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—There will be consternation along the Rialto when it becomes known that the box office will have to withhold the income tax on actors on contracts exceeding $2,000 annually. This is the interpretation placed on the income tax law by treasury department officials in response to inquiries from theatrical managers.

In the case of vaudeville performers, however, the proceeding will be somewhat altered; their salaries are paid weekly by different managers, and the performers will have to make personal returns if liable for the tax.

The actor does not come within the provision of the law, which allows certain professional persons, who cannot determine their incomes for a stipulated period, and who receive their revenues from different sources in various amounts, to make personal returns.

THIRTEEN THOUSAND SHORT OF TELEPHONES

Fire Destroys Plant at Montreal Exchange That Will Take Month to Repair.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—It will take all the available mechanical staff of the Bell Telephone Company working three shifts of men continuously, more than thirty days to remedy even temporarily the damage done by the fire at the main exchange yesterday, and to give the 13,000 subscribers affected a downtown telephone service.

An examination of the wreck at the exchange has revealed the fact that the damage is much worse than anticipated. A complete equipment of new cables, comprising about fifty thousand, will have to be installed, requiring the making of about 190,000 connections.

CONTRACT FOR THOUSAND FEET BRIDGE AWARDED

Vancouver, Nov. 8.—J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle Valley railroad, announces that the contract for the sub-structure of the bridge over the Fraser river at Hope, to connect with the C. P. R. main line on the north side of the river, has been let to Armstrong, Morrison & Co., Ltd. The bridge will be a thousand feet long, with three spans and two abutments. Work will be commenced immediately. The contract for the upper structure will be let later.

LUDWIG THIRD TAKES HIS OATH OF OFFICE

Munich, Bavaria, Nov. 8.—Ludwig III, the new king of Bavaria, who replaced the mad King Otto, took the oath of office today in the throne-room of the palace.

All the princes of the House of Wittelsbach, to which the king belongs, the Bavarian ministers and deputations from the two houses of the Bavarian parliament, witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a salute of 101 guns.

CHINESE PARLIAMENT CANNOT GET QUORUM

Peking, Nov. 8.—As neither House of the Chinese parliament is able to form a quorum the leaders of the other parties are endeavoring to persuade the government to return their credentials to the less hostile members of the Democratic party. All of the 500 Democrats were expelled from parliament by presidential proclamation. The party formerly was led by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first provisional president, now in exile.

It was reliably reported to-day that the Chinese military leaders had been urging President Yuan Shi Kai for months to assume control, arguing that government with a parliament was impossible.

GREAT MEN AND THEIR WORKS.

"Bill" and "Dan" they are sometimes called by newspapers in the East which have no proper reverence for men of mark who have achieved handier to their names. Out here, where we do not know them so well, we call them Sir William and Sir Donald, after making a becoming obeisance.

BRITISH LAND POLICY AND CANADA.

Should the sweeping land reform policy of the Asquith government re-establish the agricultural industry in Britain, it undoubtedly will have an effect upon our trans-Atlantic immigration figures.

While the dominions would regret to have this source of much of their best immigration restricted, they undoubtedly sympathize with the efforts of the home government to reform a bad system and render productive millions of acres of the finest land in all the world.

country we would set up a howl and endeavor to stop the flow no matter in which direction it went.

COMING ALONG.

We are getting along nicely. If the Premier does not soon reimpose the embargo of silence on our contemporary, one of these fine days it will burst out the real reason for his trip to Europe with the most unfortunate results.

We said it was impossible to conceive of the first minister of this province going all the way to London to seek the opinion of the great financiers on his "progressive programme," in view of the fact that we have an Agent-General there who should be able to attend to matters of this kind.

THE ORIENT AND WORLD PEACE.

A Hindoo scholar contributes an interesting, if somewhat disquieting, article to the Open Court of Chicago on "The Orient and World Peace."

The writer says that the Occident is not aware of the "roaring volcano" upon which it has seated itself. Some of its people fear particularly the Mohammedan peril, others a yellow peril, others again the Asiatic peril in general.

Discussing the stern realism of the yellow peril, the writer says: "The Americans know, the Japanese know, and the world at large knows that Japan would have been fighting the United States this moment, over the present California land problem, if only she could be sure of a financial backing."

in a position to assert her rights, but what about ten years from to-day, or say twenty from to-day, when she will have her finances in a sound condition, her army and navy considerably increased and thoroughly reorganized?

He predicts that China and Japan will join hands ultimately for the enforcement of their rights upon the west. Mexico on the American continent has already welcomed the Japanese at Magdalena Bay and Colombia will shortly do the same for China in Choco Bay.

Finally, as to the Asiatic peril in general, the writer says the Oriental nations are anxiously awaiting the arrival of an opportune moment to rid themselves of the European incubus.

"The time is not far distant when the artificial Anglo-Japanese alliance and the absurd Russo-Japanese entente will be things of the past; and a grand offensive and defensive triple alliance between the republic of China, the Empire of Japan and the United States of India will be an accomplished fact.

The writer of the article may have drawn a rather forbidding picture, but there is no doubt that there is spreading all over the Orient a sentiment antagonistic to the Occident. This is not unnatural in the circumstances.

"THE BRIDGE OF SIGNS."

In one of its editorial articles this morning our contemporary rather petulantly says that when we discuss questions seriously we are absurd and in another—in an adjoining column—asks us a number of questions about the Johnson street bridge, expecting, no doubt, serious answers.

If it is the general impression that the government is responsible for the fact that nothing has been done, it is the fault of the morning paper and its official friends. On December 25, 1912, we were told that the government was to be credited with the solution of the difficulties regarding the reserve; that through the industry and public spirit of Sir Richard terminals and a station were to be established there, and a "massive bridge" built from Johnson street.

BITS OF WISDOM.

It takes a soul to move a body; it takes a high-souled man to move the masses. —Mrs. Browning.

The whole succession of mankind during the long course of centuries must be considered as that of one man forever existing and forever learning something new. —Pascal.

There never was an idea started that woke men up out of their stupid indifference, but its originator was spoken of as a crank.—Holmes.

It is as easy for the strong man to be strong as it is for the weak to be weak.—Emerson.

When a man has no good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for leaving it alone.—Walter Scott.

NAVAL CONTRACTION.

Mr. Winston Churchill's renewed suggestion to Germany that a year's suspension of ship building be agreed upon to reduce the cost of armaments is likely to run into one or two difficulties.

If Germany is building against Great Britain as the British believe, the Churchill suggestion might offer an additional reason for increased German activity. Behind the proposals of the First Lord there is the intimation that Great Britain is wearying in the endeavor to build two for one.

If the German Empire is building quite regardless of other nations for its own purpose, it is not likely to consider its plans a proper subject for international agreement; if it is building deliberately against Great Britain, it is even less likely to consent to a suspension even for a year.

A Conservative voter in East Middlesex writes to say that he cast his vote for the Liberal candidate because that gentleman "stood by those true Conservative principles brought into birth by Mr. Foster and Mr. Borden, namely, those of a Canadian navy."

Can it be that the great orb under which the province of British Columbia in recent years has lived and moved and had its being, which occasionally even has shone resplendent in imperial councils, is about to suffer a serious, possibly a total, eclipse?

Who can argue against the Muses? A correspondent, who, with true poetic shyness, is too modest to sign his name, sends us the following verse: 'Tis the rule of the land when travelers meet.

A dispatch says the high cost of living has driven so many people in the state of Illinois insane that the asylums are crowded "to the doors." It is bad enough here, but matters have hardly reached that stage yet.

EDNA AUG COMING.

Edna Aug, one of the most gifted legitimate stars of the American stage, who followed Rose Stahl in the title part of "The Chorus Lady" will be the headline attraction at the Empress theatre for the coming week in her own original offering "Folks is Folks." Miss Aug is not unknown in Europe and especially in England 's she a great favorite where she scored with her creation of "The Scrub-lad." She has selected her present act to show her versatility and in it she tells a number of stories, gives imitations, sings and dances and does everything well. Her dialect stories, especially the German ones, are said to be very good and there is more than one good laugh a minute while she is on the stage. If thrills are experienced at auto and motorcycle races on the regulation track devoted to these sports, said thrills will be multiplied, when Houghton, Morris and Houghton pull some of their spectacular and daring motorcycle and bike riding on the stage. A very delightful turn will be that of the Three Dancing Maids in an offering entitled "All for a Kiss." Leo Boers, the gentle comedian, who was last seen in Victoria about two years ago is coming back with a new planologue. A pretty and unusual gymnastic offering will be that of Adele Lowe & Co., entitled "The Cafe De L'Parisian."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

At the city council last evening Alderman Harris handed in an agreement between the corporation and J. D. Warren, on behalf of the electric street railway company, for the construction of tramways through the streets of Victoria. The agreement provides for a franchise of 50 years, during which period the company agrees to lay tracks, erect poles, string wires and run tram-cars through certain streets.

Dr. Milne returned from his trip to the eastern parts of Canada and the United States last night and is looking well and robust.

The steamer Nell arrived from Rivers Inlet with 300 barrels of salmon for Henry Saunders, J. Cunningham and J. McLaughlin were passengers. The steamer encountered boluster weather and brings no further reports from the wreck of the Cariboo Fly, which was passed during the night.

Another brilliant audience greeted the Abbott Opera Company last evening in their delightful representation of Balfe's charming opera, "Bohemian Girl."

Thomas Kennedy, second engineer of the steamer Maude, arrived in this city last evening on the steamer Yosemite. He says the Maude ran on Irving's reef at seven o'clock on Tuesday. She commenced to fill and was abandoned by officers and crew.

Exhibition Finances—At a meeting of the board of directors of the B. C. Agricultural Association to be held on Monday morning George Sangster will submit his statement on the finances of the recent show, which is expected to display a profit.

Delegate to Convention—The board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. recently appointed Miss Bradshaw, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., a delegate to the Eighth Triennial Convention of the Y. W. C. A. of Canada which is to convene in Winnipeg on November 13, and she left to-day for the prairie city.

To Organize To-morrow—Following an appeal made by Rev. J. G. Inkster last Sunday the young people of the First Presbyterian church met in the basement and formed the nucleus of a Christian Endeavor branch. To-morrow evening the society is to be thoroughly organized, the meeting being open to all the young people of the church.

Prepare for Election—A meeting of the ratepayers of Ward V., Saanich, will be held on Monday to select a candidate for the forthcoming municipal election. The gathering will be held at the Royal Oak hall. The four wards, One to Four have already held meetings and selected candidates. The fight at the last election in Ward V. was very close and another keen contest is promised, depending largely on the personality of the candidates.

Get the Prizes—The Ivy Leaf Social Club at their weekly whist drive had the largest attendance of the season, there being twenty-eight tables occupied. After an enjoyable evening the prizes were prosecuted by Mrs. A. Atkinson to Mrs. Vey, first lady; Mrs. J. Oddy, second lady; Mrs. Flotron, ladies' consolation. A. G. Peat, first gentleman; E. N. Hind, second gentleman; Walker, gentlemen's consolation. Mr. A. J. Warren was master of ceremonies. During the interval the secretary read the financial statement of the club, which showed it to be in a healthy condition. It was also announced that owing to the large number of visitors expected at the whist drive, social and dance to be held on Thursday November 13 the committee had engaged the St. John's hall, Herald street.

Good Templars Elect Officers—Victoria Lodge No. 94 I. O. G. T. last evening elected the following officers for the next term, November to January: Chief templar, J. Waterston; vice-templar, W. Spry; recording secretary, W. I. Land (re-elected), assistant secretary, C. Cumming; financial secretary, Mrs. Hawkes (re-elected); treasurer, J. Cameron (re-elected); chaplain, G. Mitchell; marshal, D. Fyvie; deputy marshal, Slater L. Hird; guard, H. Bailey; sentinel, W. R. Pargiter; organist, Sister Mrs. Hawkes; P. C. T. Frank Dick; S. J. W. Slater Mrs. Hardy. The lodge deputy, J. D. Turner, was installing officer, assisted by Sister Mrs. Pargiter and W. Gladstone, D. C. T., installing marshals. The following committees were appointed: Good of order, J. D. Turner, J. Cameron, C. Cumming and Sisters Mrs. Hawkes, L. Hird and E. Campbell. Finance, W. Spry, J. Dick and W. R. Pargiter. The visiting committee is to be appointed later. As the members intend visiting "Hearty Wellcome Lodge," Strawberry Vale, in a body next Friday evening there will be no meeting of Victoria lodge No. 94 held.

Auxiliary to Y. W. C. A.—The Young Women's Auxiliary of the Y. W. C. A. was organized yesterday afternoon, the object of the club being to brighten and strengthen the lives of those with whom the members come in contact, and to assist in various ways, the work of the Y. W. C. A. There are twelve charter members and any young woman willing to devote time or talent to this work is eligible for membership. The following officers were appointed for the year: Hon. president, Miss Bradshaw; president, Mrs. Allan Jones; vice-president, Miss F. Kennedy; secretary-treasurer, Miss E. Beard. The club meets the last Tuesday of every month at 3.30 p. m., in the library of the Y. W. C. A.

WHO'LL BE ELECTED?

This is the season when the candidates send forth their promises to the listening ear of the voter.

But aside from those seeking office, there are other candidates whose plans are just as important to your personal interests.

These are the merchants and business men who speak to you daily through the columns of live newspapers like THE TIMES.

They do not make "pie crust promises." They know that they are going to prosper just to the extent that they make good.

They want your trade by deserving it—and they present their claims to the General Court of Public Opinion through the advertising.

Advertising is a splendid index to the character of business men and a safe guide to those who use it.

Rev. J. G. Inkster Speaks of His Native Islands at Teachers' Association Meeting.

At the meeting of the Victoria Teachers' Association yesterday afternoon, over which Principal A. A. Campbell, of the South Park school, presided, an illustrated lecture on the Orkney Islands was given by Rev. J. G. Inkster. The story of this romantic group of islands in the North Sea, which played so large a part in the early history of western Europe, was delightfully told in a series of explanations of the slides. Mr. Inkster was thanked for the lecture.

Miss Hardy was appointed as the representative on the general committee of this organization pushing the movement for public swimming baths. A pianoforte solo was rendered by H. Charlesworth, for which he was encored.

THE PREMIER COMPANY.

Three outstanding facts give The Mutual Life of Canada a unique place among the old, well-established financial institutions of Canada.

(1) It earned the largest percentage of profits to premium income in 1912 of any company in Canada.

(2) It is paying the largest dividends to policyholders of any company in Canada.

(3) It is the only company in Canada that pays all profits earned to policyholders.

If you wish to be insured in a company that is not only earning the largest profits but is paying every dollar of them to its policyholders apply to The Mutual Life of Canada.

TO PROTECT CROSSING

B. C. Electric Railway Calls for Tenders on Interlocking Control Tower.

An important public principle is involved in an advertisement which the British Columbia Electric railway has published calling for tenders to be received till noon on Monday for the construction of an interlocking control tower at the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway crossing on the Esquimalt road, near Russell station.

The crossing has always been regarded as a danger point, and one of the first acts of the present city engineer was a recommendation to the city council, which was adopted, that an application be made to the railway commissioners for an order to protect the public. He suggested gates, which, however, have not yet been installed. At present street cars on the Esquimalt line are required to come to a halt before crossing the tracks of the railway. The difficulty of a permanent improvement at this point is considerable on account of the fact that the grade at this point would make a subway practically impossible of achievement.

In connection with the Canadian Northern railway's proposed line the city council has refused to allow any grade crossing to be placed in position creating future complications.

Men's Own Class—At the Men's Own Bible class, of the first Congregational church, on Sunday afternoon, at 2.30, J. M. The address is open to the public.

YATES STREET LAND SOLD

Corner of Quadra and Yates Brings $75,000; Adjoining Lot $65,000.

An indication of a resumption of interest in Victoria real estate was given this morning when P. Finch of Finch & Finch reported that he had sold the southwest corner of Quadra and Yates streets for $75,000. The adjoining 60 feet in Yates street was also sold for $65,000. The corner property has a 90 foot frontage in Yates street and 120 feet in Quadra.

While the purchasers decline to divulge their identity or purpose the fact that the two adjoining properties have been sold indicates that a large building will be erected on the site and the probability is that it will be an apartment house so partitioned that it can easily be converted into an office block when the tide of business pursues its way up Yates street. Stores will undoubtedly occupy the ground floor, of the greater portion of it.

THE NEXT ARTIST

Ladies' Musical Club Brings de Gogorza to Victoria Theatre on November 19.

The next artist to be brought by the Ladies' Musical Club will be Emilio de Gogorza, the great baritone, who will sing at the Victoria theatre November 19.

The singer, who on each succeeding visit to the coast has deepened the interest and affection of his audience, is of Spanish lineage, having been born of noble parents, the family name being Navarrete. His birthplace was in Brooklyn, N. Y., and this in part accounts for his excellent English, although his early education was obtained in England and France. His first vocal study was with Mme. Guilla Sanchiolo, a pupil of Rossini and a celebrated contralto. Later he studied with Agrimonte and Moderati of New York, and then spent months of hard work with M. Emile Bourgeois, the singing master of the Opera Comique at Paris.

His first extended American tour was with the Mrs. Emma Barnes Concert Company, eight years ago. Since then his rise has been rapid, however, not upon fitful public

TWO SHIPS REPORT

Empress of Japan Docking Tuesday and Mexico Maru on Thursday

Radio-grams were flashed to Victoria last night by the two inbound Oriental liners, which are scheduled to berth at the outer docks next week. Capt. Kobayashi, master of the Mexico Maru, of the Osaka fleet, stated that he would bring his ship into this port on Thursday, and Capt. Hopcroft, of the C. P. R. steamship Empress of Japan, gave the position of his ship at 3 o'clock as being latitude 52.18 N., and longitude 154.13 W., about 1,350 miles from Victoria. It is expected that the white liner will steam into port about noon on Tuesday of next week. The deep-sea leviathan Niagara, Capt. Morrisby, of the Canadian-Australian line, did not report by wireless last night.

COAST LINE CHARTS WERE BADLY IN ERROR

Lillooet Makes Changes in Hecate Strait Charts; a Successful Season

In surveying the coast line of the east side of Graham Island in Hecate Strait Captain Musgrave, of the hydrographic steamer Lillooet, which has just returned from its season's work along the Pacific coast, stated this morning that many corrections in the existing charts were made during the summer, some of the points having to be altered as much as three miles. Rather better weather was encountered in the north, he said, than was experienced in the lower coast waters, fog and haze being the chief difficulties and they for the most part in Dixon entrance during July.

Owing to the bad Pacific weather the Mexico Maru was not expected to berth here until Friday, as she has been placed on her winter schedule. The Osaka liner, however, must have been successful in evading the howling storms and is coming in on the regular summer date. She has 350 tons of cargo and a small list of passengers for Victoria.

It appears that the vessel took on board three passengers a Marianne from Marianne via Rotterdam, Captain Bojanovich related a story of an exciting duel with revolvers he had had with a mad passenger, who wounded two people on board and afterwards killed himself.

That the securing of wells and the delivery of oil for use as fuel on steamships and in the furnaces of most of the big foundries and other plants on land is going to prove one of the most gigantic works the world has ever known is the candid opinion of men who have watched the remarkable development of this new business within the last few years.

ANCHORAGE HARBOR

The latter portion of May and June was devoted to a continuation of the survey of Hecate Strait and in July the Lillooet went to the outer portion of Dixon's Entrance, the main route from the Orient to Prince Rupert. Outside soundings were extended some distance and then the rest of the season was spent in Hecate Strait. During July, however, the little ship went down to Port Louis on the west coast of Graham Island and made a plan of the harbor, which should prove a most useful place for anchorage.

The white liner is also coming into port a little earlier than was expected. At first she was not looked for here until the Tuesday evening, but she will probably be in six hours earlier, unless heavy storms off the west coast of Vancouver Island assail her. She is bringing a light list of passengers and much silk.

The officers and passengers had lunch on the bridge deck one day, the weather being fine and warm, and after lunch a squabble occurred between Muratti and Madame Glavich because Muratti wanted the chair upon which the lady had seated herself.

The number of tankers being laid down in Old Country yards has increased remarkably, according to the latest issue of Lloyd's Register. The success of oil as fuel on steamships is causing all the companies to change their vessels from coal-burners. Huge oil tanks are being constructed at nearly every shipping port and in order that these great reservoirs may be kept always full, it is necessary to have a huge fleet of tankers in operation.

HARLESSEN HAS NITRATE AND MEXICAN FREIGHT

It is reported that the British steamship Harlesden, under charter to W. R. Grace & Co., is coming to Victoria with nitrate for the Victoria Chemical Works, and she is looked for here somewhere about November 17. According to a report she will pick up at San Francisco about 200 tons of Mexican freight consigned to British Columbia, which was discharged there from the British steamship's Colusa.

To-morrow afternoon about 2 o'clock the Blue Funnel liner Ixion, Capt. Reipenhausen, will arrive in port to load shipments of whale oil, canned salmon and general merchandise. She is now at Comox loading bunker coal after taking on freight at Vancouver.

Muratti became more heated than the occasion warranted, and he used such abusive language that the ladies rose to withdraw from his presence. The captain remonstrated with the irate passenger, telling him that he must behave like a gentleman. Muratti drew a revolver from his hip pocket, seized the captain by the coat and aimed at his heart. Captain Bojanovich knocked his arm up, causing the revolver to be discharged, the bullet passing harmlessly into the air.

Each year the demand for oil shows a monstrous increase, and consequently the number of carriers has to be increased. Famous old wind-jammers whose days as cargo-handlers on the world's trade routes are just about done, are being purchased by the oil companies to be converted into barges for the purpose of being towed about with their holds filled with the liquid fuel.

MUCH CEMENT FOR NORTH

Yesterday afternoon the C. P. R. steamer Princess Sophia, Capt. Campbell, proceeded from Victoria to Tod Inlet to load 400 tons of cement for Prince Rupert. She is proceeding direct from the Inlet to Vancouver, from which port she will clear late to-night. It is not known whether the huge shipment of cement will be used in the construction of the dry-dock and shipbuilding plant at Hays Cove, for the foundation of the new G. T. P. $2,000,000 hotel or for bridge work in the interior of the province.

On Tuesday morning the Osaka liner Seattle Maru, Capt. Saito, is sailing for the Orient with a full cargo of freight and some passengers.

The captain quickly obtained an automatic pistol from the chartroom and followed them. The chief officer, Mr. Hoffman, who confronted Muratti on the deck, was shot in the abdomen, and the madman chased the young lady into the saloon, where he fired at her, wounding her in the leg.

The oil business threatens to revolutionize the steamer business. In other words, the time is coming when coal trimmers and firemen will be looking for work. In an oil steamer you can turn up the wick, put a match to it, and you sit by the watch. It is a clean job, too, down below in one of these vessels.

WRECK OF MERCED SOLD

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Charles R. McCormick & Co., owners of the steamer Merced, and underwriters, have decided to sell the wreck of the vessel, as she now lies on the beach six miles south of Point Gorda. Bids for the purchase of the vessel and her fixtures will be opened here to-day. The steamer Nayo made an unsuccessful attempt to float the Merced and it is due to that failure that the vessel has been given up as lost.

TWO MORE 10,000-TON SHIPS FOR PANAMA RUN

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Announcement was made here to-day by representatives of the Luckenbach Steamship Co., of New York, that plans have been drawn for the construction of two fast steamers of 10,000 tons cargo capacity to operate between this city and New York when the Panama Canal is completed. Bids for the building of steamers will be asked for from various shipyards of the country. Three of the company's fleet of freighters have been operating between Panama and San Francisco for some months.

PRESIDENT TO REMAIN

According to information received from San Francisco the Pacific Coast Steamship Company will keep the steamship President, Capt. Paulsen, in the "Frisco-Victoria service for some time yet. The City of Puebla is still anchored in the bay, and no start has been made in overhauling her. The President is proving quite popular on the run.

INCREASING CAPITAL TO BUILD SHIPS FOR CANAL

Hamburg, Nov. 8.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company adopted a resolution at a meeting to-day to increase its capital from $37,500,000 to $45,000,000. The additional capital, it was explained, was required to build a larger fleet of freight steamers in view of the opening of the Panama Canal and the establishment of a new line to the Orient.

CROWN OF ARRAGON SAILS FROM PEDRO FOR 'FRISCO

According to advices received by the Times this morning the Harrison steamer Crown of Arragon sailed from San Pedro for San Francisco yesterday. She will put off some cargo at the Golden Gate and then steam north to Victoria. It is expected that she will berth here about the end of next week or the beginning of the following week. She has over 400 tons of freight for this port.

FOR ISLAND MOTORISTS

Stories and Figures for Those Interested in AUTOMOBILES; Whether for Pleasure or Business Purposes

STILL DISCUSSING MOTOR FUEL QUESTION

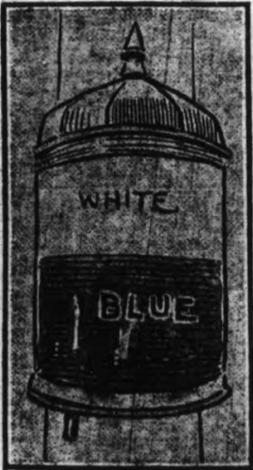

English Looking for Substitute; Latest Estimate and Suggestions

"After the papers read before the Imperial Motor Transport Conference, which explained the chances of future relief from motor fuel hardship," says the Manchester Guardian, "J. S. Critchley's presidential address before the institution of Automobile Engineers is rather a discount. So far as it is an explanation of why this hardship exists it is belated; and so far as it is advisory, it is, in some particulars, apparently based on rather uncertain data. It is likely that there will be a good deal of strong criticism of the address, but it should not be forgotten that this, should it occur, will be a compliment to the author, for presidential addresses do not usually rouse people to criticism except in a strictly dutiful way. Mr. Critchley's address is really a very enterprising paper on the fuel question."

"Mr. Critchley's way of showing the 'squeeze' which the present price of petrol is putting on the motorist is very clear. He adopts an estimated petrol consumption in Great Britain during this year of 100,000,000 gallons, and assumes that there are 110,000 motor vehicles in use. Of these the buses and taxi-cabs of London number about 10,000, and the petrol consumed is 6.75 pints per horse-power per hour, the 70,000,000 gallons imported about 10,000,000 may be, he thinks, appropriated to motor-cycles, motor-boats, and other users, leaving 70,000,000 gallons for the great bulk of ordinary motor-cars, say 100,000. Assuming, then, that the average horse-power is 20, and that the petrol consumed is 6.75 pints per horse-power per hour, the 70,000,000 gallons only permits the motor-cars of Great Britain to run 373 hours in the year, or a little over an hour a day."

"Of course, it cannot be argued that it is the price of petrol which keeps the average running time of the motor-car so low; all sorts of factors help to do that. But the motor-car is rapidly becoming a normal way of getting about. Potentially it is so already. The point is that as we approach more nearly to a full use of its possibilities, through cars getting cheaper and tires getting cheaper and better, we are to be faced not merely with a rise in the price of fuel greater than the whole of the successive rises it has already suffered, but with a dearth of fuel at any price. It needs no prophet to see that were private cars to be run as many hours a day, and as many days a year, as the average commercial vehicle, a fuel famine would follow. The only way to avoid such a conclusion is to assume that the rise in the price of petrol is due solely to the machinations of the trusts. No doubt the trusts can manipulate, and have manipulated, prices to some extent; but what they have been able to do in this way is much less than what has been done for them by the increasing demand for petrol and the decreasing use of paraffin."

"As for the way out, Mr. Critchley suggests several 'old friends' and one or two that are new in the substitution line. Anything except immediate concentration on alcohol as the substitute best worth taking seriously is the seeming burden of his observations. It is certainly healthy to have from a new quarter a cold blast of warning against alcohol just at a time when opinion—private, published, expert and even, if all one hears is true, governmental—is swinging quite headlong towards alcohol. But to be useful such a counterblast should be based on original views, and Mr. Critchley does not, in fact, bring any new material to the controversy."

MOTOR SIGNS.

"To insure safety for motorists traveling along streets in Toronto, the local Hydro Electric Commission has placed on the regular street lights, at the intersection of streets glass globes which are half blue and half white which show up very plainly."

SAVES GASOLINE

Electric Starter Has Advantage Besides Saving Cranking; Pays for Itself.

Outside of starting the car, an automobile expert says, the usefulness of the electric starter is most forcibly seen in the saving of gasoline. The price of gasoline has increased until to-day it is an item that has to be seriously considered by the automobile user, that is in purchasing a car he has to consider the mileage that the vehicle will give him per gallon, as gasoline is an item in upkeep.

The use of the electric starter has made it possible to adjust the carburetor to a nicety, which is decidedly economical over what was possible when the owner cranked the car.

It would practically be impossible to start the average automobile with a crank to-day with the carburetor adjustment. To start a car with a crank the cylinders must be fully charged with gas. This means that the carburetor must be so adjusted that it will allow of this sufficient flow. Yet, for ordinary traveling there would be no necessity of this adjustment. Some cars have auxiliary appliances to allow of this extra gas at starting, but they have seldom proved satisfactory. With the electric starter the adjustment on the carburetor can be made as economical as desired. The electric starter turns the engine over until it has been fed enough gas under normal conditions to start.

Taking a high-grade car of to-day and considering the time it will serve its owner, it can be very easily figured

TRUCKS ALLOW MORE WORK WITH LESS LOSS

Drivers of Horses Suffer Many Disadvantages in Comparison; Time Element

Volumes have been written tending to show the desirability, from the viewpoints of efficiency and economy, of the motor truck over horse and wagon systems of delivery. Truck manufacturers have spent small fortunes in having traffic and delivery experts investigate the economic features of both systems. Long tables of figures have been prepared, dealing with such items as horse cost, feed, maintenance and depreciation, as against the same items in motor truck upkeep. These investigations proved that, under nearly every condition of service, the truck is much more economical than the horse.

Speaking on the subject, an authority says that the driver of a light motor truck can do from three to four times as much work in a given time as the driver of a horse and wagon outfit.

"This interesting discovery was made in a recent investigation we conducted as to the practicability of our new delivery wagon. Most of our findings contained nothing that we did not know before—namely, that in the matter of maintenance and operation costs and economy of time, the truck was vastly superior to the horse. We did learn that this saving in time was largely due to the increased efficiency of the operator in the power vehicle, a point that we had not taken into consideration."

"Day after day, during our tests, our drivers did from three to four times as much work as could be done by men in charge of horse and wagon outfits, solely because they could save time both in travel and in making deliveries. The saving in time through the elimination of the necessity for tying the horses while the driver carried a

ISLAND IS THE BEST FOR WINTER TOURING

Western Canadian Motorist Pays Great Tribute to Attractive Characteristics

"We have been asked," says the Western Canadian Motorist, now a year old, "by several readers to suggest a suitable venue in this section of the province for winter motoring, and in reply we have, after due consideration, given our decision in favor of Vancouver Island. The reasons for this are many and varied, but first and foremost is, from the motoring point of view, the excellence and multiplicity of roads. Better surfaces with more scenic advantages would indeed be difficult to find. From the point of view of the mainland motorist, its accessibility from Vancouver via Nanaimo, or even from Victoria, is an added charm, for the various C. P. R. steamers are quite adequately fitted for conveying autos across the gulf, and from either of the points named the Island Highway is easily reached. The island roads are available all the year round, and if one is to believe the inhabitants, they certainly enjoy better weather conditions at all seasons than is experienced in and around Vancouver."

"Various pleasure resorts such as Shawnigan Lake, Nitinat and Qualicum have been opened up of late and first-class hotel accommodation, so necessary if real enjoyment of a motor trip is to be had, is easily obtainable at every point. The west coast of the island is reported to be exceptionally bracing, and with the breezes from the whole of the Pacific and frozen Arctic blowing on to that coast, it is not difficult to believe that that is so. The other sport, golf, which is seemingly adopted by almost every motorist, is also obtainable on the island, for quite a number of first-rate links

OVER A MILLION IN WEDDING PRESENTS

Magnificent Gifts Received by Prince Arthur and His Bride; a Dazzling Array

The presents received by Prince Arthur and his bride are estimated to be worth $1,250,000. The diamond tiara presented to the bride by the King and Queen consists of nearly 1,000 diamonds of all shapes and sizes. Queen Alexandra's gifts include a diamond tiara and a collar of pearls and exquisite emeralds; the pearls are the size of peas, and the emeralds, numbering twenty-five, as large as beans. The diamond collar presented by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught consists of 300 very large diamonds. A present to the bride, signed simply "From Mother," is a collar of 600 rubies, diamonds and sapphires.

The Princess Royal has given another notable present to her daughter in the shape of the family gold plate of the late Duke of Fife, one of the most valuable services extant. It consists of several hundred pieces and takes up one-half of the length of the room in which the gifts are displayed. Part of the set is a roge bowl of solid gold. But the mother has also given Princess Arthur a diamond and sapphire bracelet, a gold-mounted dressing-case, a fine old diamond brooch, a large chased gilt Montelith bowl and stand, and two smaller, four nine-light ornate candelabra, and an inlaid work-box.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught's present to the bride is a magnificent diamond collar, and to the bridegroom a piano.

Among the presents from Royalties is an ancient gold lac cabinet from the Emperor of Japan, which, it is stated, took 100 years to construct.

Duplication, of course, has been inevitable. There are twenty cigarette boxes, seventeen clocks, twelve walking-sticks, fourteen inkstands, nine paper knives, a dozen pairs of cuff-links and countless candlesticks.

Mr. Asquith's present consists of twelve volumes, the work of Charlotte Bronte, and most of the English classical authors appear in beautiful bindings. Sir Herbert Tree, Mr. Cyril Maude, and Sir G. Alexander are among the actor friends who have sent gifts.

The Star of the Garter, formerly belonging to the Duke of Cambridge, is the offering of the Marquis and Marchioness of Anglesy, the Earl and Countess of Pembroke, and Viscount and Viscountess Ingestre.

Prince Arthur's personal servants give a leather jewel case, from the servants at 15, Portman-square there is a triple mirror, and from the tenants in Braemar and employed at Mar there are a silver teapot, sugar basin, and cream jug and silver tray.

THE LIFE OF A MARTYR

Was in Agony for Years and Nothing Gave Him Relief Until He Used "Fruit-a-tives," the Famous Medicine Made From Fruit.

ALFRED FERRIS, ESQ.

PENETANGUISHENE, ONT., March 4, 1913

"I want to inform you of what your remedy 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me. For years, I was a martyr to Dyspepsia and Constipation, often having to leave work from the agonizing pains of Acute Indigestion. Doctors treated me continually, but without satisfactory results. It seemed to me that I tried every advertised medicine on the market, and got no relief."

"On one of the days that I was compelled to absent myself from work, a neighbor came to my house to whom I told of my suffering, and he said to me that all I had to do, if I had Dyspepsia, was to take 'Fruit-a-tives.' They would cure me. He had cured himself. I immediately procured a 50c box and continued taking them until cured. I suppose I took in all, about eleven boxes and I am glad to be able to say that I have been free of Indigestion for nearly two years. They cured the Constipation also. They were worth their weight in gold to me and I will be glad to have you publish this letter, along with my photo, if it will induce another dyspeptic to take the right road to a permanent cure."

Yours truly,
ALFRED FERRIS.

Don't suffer any longer. To-day—right now—get "Fruit-a-tives" and cure yourself. "Fruit-a-tives" will sweeten the stomach—strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the quantity of digestive juices, regulate Kidneys and Bowels, and make the digestion as sound as a bell. "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure every case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Belching Gas, Bloating, Feeling after eating, and all other disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels; 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

EXPERIMENT PAST.

The day of experimenting with tires by the motor car owners is rapidly passing and to-day the careful owner wants to know when he puts a set of tires on his car that they will carry him the full allotment of miles that their makers claim for them. It is the every day in-and-out of season wear that tells whether the builders of a tire have put their best materials and knowledge into their product. The best test of any tire is their actual use under conditions that call for qualities such as strength, wearing ability and road comfort.

THE WOMAN

out that the electric starter on this car will more than pay for itself in the gasoline consumption it has saved.

RIGHT USE OF TIRES

Mileage Can Be Greatly Increased by Proper Usage; Care is Needed.

One of the best sorts of service that a tire maker can give a consumer is what has been called the "cheapest thing in the world"—advice, says a tire expert. If the counsel offered to car owners is so often repeated by manufacturers of tires, it is for the reason and in the hope that what one repetition has failed to accomplish, subsequent retelling may do.

For such reasons it is frequently urged upon tire users that no small part of the satisfaction and service they may get out of the tires they buy depends upon themselves and their own actions. If they take good care to see that their tires are properly inflated; that small cuts in the tread are healed up; that reasonable care is exercised in driving the car at all times, etc., etc., they will get mileage out of their tires that they perhaps did not believe could be attained. Team work between the owner and his tires is just as important, if not more so, than team work between the car owner and the tire maker.

BRITISH TRUCKS COMING

"It is satisfactory to learn that British business motors are coming more into favor in Canada," says a Canadian representative of an English car. "The general use of commercial vehicles is spreading in a remarkable way, and manufacturing firms in the Old Country engaged in this side of the industry are not making the mistake of makers of pleasure cars in leaving the business to be captured by Americans. The geographical position of the United States is an enormous advantage, but recent developments have shown that, if the right policy is adopted, British manufacturers can obtain a good share of the trade."

package to a home or business furnished some interesting figures. We found that the truck operator could just his vehicle, select the parcel, make the delivery and return to the car in less than the time it required for the horse driver to assure himself that his vehicle would be where he left it on his return.

"In other words, where the truck driver could shut off his power and dismount almost before the truck had come to a full stop, the horse driver wasted precious minutes stopping his team, dismounting with the hitching weight or to loop a tie-strap about a hitching post, and returning again to the wagon to reach for the parcel. Often, too, he had made the selection before dismounting; the horse driver had to get the package he was after. With fifty or sixty stops a day, the loss of time charged against the horse driver reached a large total. All of this is saved by the motor wagon."

WAS FIRST IN CANADA

Self-Propelled Vehicle Built in Vancouver in 1900 Was Pioneer of Industry.

The first self-propelled vehicle for passenger purposes in Canada was built in Vancouver, being like an ordinary road wagon. It was capable of seating 12 persons. It was designed and built at the Vancouver Iron Works, then the business of Armstrong & Morrison.

The strength indicated by the engines was 50 horse power. The machine was built for passenger traffic on the Cariboo road, and when completed in the spring of 1900 made several trial trips along the main streets of the city. It developed a speed of 12 miles an hour, but as the burners were inadequate—it was an oil fuel machine—the members of the firm went east to procure a complete and modern furnace.

While the men were in the east the Vancouver Iron Works were sold by them, and the new parlor wagon was never put into commission. The six-cylinder combination engine has been utilized in a launch, while the other parts ended in a scrap heap of the well known firm.

have been established, and facilities for visitors are granted at almost every one. For those of our number who are feeling fazed or nerve-strung, there are hydropathic establishments at various points well fitted with various "water cures" so beloved of the faculty, while for those spongy in wind and limb the island is a hunter's paradise. The northern part of the island abounds in game, fish are plentiful in the brooks and streams, and the outfitting for hunting and canoeing trips can be accomplished with ease from any part of the island. Taken all round, there is probably no place on the Pacific coast with so many advantages for the pleasure-seeker, and we can confidently recommend any motorist contemplating an autumn or winter trip to consider the advisability of taking our advice and seeing the island first.

BERNIE MORRIS SIGNS UP FOR VICTORIA; MOOSE JAW FORWARD SECURED BY PATRICK

Tommy Dunderdale Also Wires Acceptance of Terms of Contract; Team Now Practically Complete

Lester Patrick has just signed up a new player for the Victoria hockey club, who bids fair to add considerably to the playing strength of the side. While the new comer may not get his chance right away to be on the regular line-up, he will be there as utility man, and if he lives up to reputation should prove a factor of great worth to Lester and his merry men.

His name is Bernie Morris, and his present habitat, Moose Jaw, where he has resided for the greater part of his life. He comes to the coast with an excellent reputation from the prairies, where his work on the Moose Jaw team was always of a high character. Consequently the recommendations that accompanied him to this city were correspondingly high.

Bernie Morris is expected in the city in a few days' time, as he is leaving his native city to-day. The lad should make good in Victoria.

Dunderdale Signs Up. Another of Patrick's troubles vanished yesterday when the local mogul received a wire from Tommy Dunderdale, the star forward of the champion Victoria hockey team, accepting the terms offered. The fair-haired Tommy evidently got just a wee bit anxious and tired of being a hold-out, a feeling common to most stagers when playing time draws near. Dunderdale is one of the highest salaried puck chasers on the Pacific coast, is a mighty clever forward and is right on the target all the time. He led the league in scoring by a large margin last season.

New unless Manager Patrick signs up more men as utilities the Victoria hockey team for the coming season is already complete—a state of affairs which surely make several eastern managers who could be named green with envy.

Men of last year's team will again form the nucleus for the season 1913-14. The following will be on hand November 15: Goal, Lindsay; cover point, Lester Patrick; point, Bob Genge, rover, Skinner; Poulin; forwards, Small and Rowe; centre, Dunderdale, utility, Dummy Ulrich and Bernie Morris.

Lester Patrick has not yet definitely decided on his line-up, and the above is therefore only provisional. Producers will not be on hand, having been disposed of to Quebec, when the Patricks were in the east last year. Lester thinks Bobby Genge is a real comer, and the big Port Arthur boy certainly showed a great deal of class and shooting ability last season, and will fit nicely on the defence in the place of the golden topped one.

Then there will be Silent Ulrich to fall back on in case of emergency.

Exhibition Game.

It is not unlikely that Victoria will see the first professional game of the season after all—an exhibition game in which the changes in the rules outlined in the Times of Thursday will be given a thorough try out. The first regular game in the season is scheduled to be held for December 12, when the Royals will oppose the champs.

HOW M'GRAW PICKS ADDITIONS TO STAFF

Only Considers Those Who Do Not "Pull Away" From the Ball

Manager John McGraw, once or twice, has remarked, "Give me a natural hitter, and I'll make him a ball player." To be a natural hitter is demanded of a man who would be a big leaguer, by the little Napoleon.

Very few good hitters have been manufactured, although there is the occasional exception, like Clyde Milan.

It is notable that the Giants rank low as hitters, but in the standing of the clubs, which is what counts, the team is generally there or thereabouts. Hitting's cardinal sin is to "pull away." Many of our youngsters go to the big league full of ambition, and perform like a Jack Glasscock in the field, after which he is given the acid test.

"Take a turn at bat," says the manager. The chances are the manager has ordered the pitcher to "shoot a fast one at his beam." If the batter steps back, or in the idiom of the game, "puts his foot in the water bucket," he signs his death warrant.

But if he stands up to the plate, or steps out to meet the ball, pulling aside only at the last moment, when he sees the ball is not going to break, he gets the O. K. of the boss and his education begins.

McGraw has made stars of many a nifty batter who handled himself like a dinosaur in the field.

MANY INTERNATIONAL SPORTS NEXT YEAR

America Will Again Make Bid for Supremacy Over Other Nations

New York, Nov. 8.—With the echoes of the most successful season of international competition in the history of American sport still faintly heard, plans are being made for a still greater series of contests in 1914. Not satisfied with the winning or retention of the tennis, polo, golf, sonder yacht, balloon and rifle trophies, the American athlete and sportsman is preparing to broaden the list before another twelve months shall have rolled around. Out of nine competitions of international character or entry the United States representatives won six, lost two and did not enter the ninth. The two defeats came in the motor boat race and the woman's golf tournament, both of which were won by English entrants.

Looking forward to 1914 the sporting calendar already contains tentative dates for another round of Davis cup tennis and international polo. Sir Thomas Lipton's fourth attempt to lift the America's cup will be a feature of the year in sport. The English amateur and professional golfers will again invade the States and American entries are assured for the English championships. The winning of the balloon race trophy assures a renewal of the air classic here next autumn. The Amateur Athletic Union will send a team of athletes to Athens for the local cycle Olympic games to be held there next spring and other minor international competitions, such as canoeing, archery and cricket, are assured.

In fact, the spirit of international competition can be said to continue without interruption, since several American teams are preparing to leave for foreign shores this month.

MONDAY'S BOUT FOR LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

Willie Ritchie and Leach Cross to Go Ten Round Route at New York

On Monday Willie Ritchie, titular light champion of the world, will meet Leach Cross in New York over the ten-round route. The fight is one of the most interesting this year and will no doubt furnish a record crowd in the American metropolis.

The contestants will weigh in at 135, a limit which Ritchie himself as champion has set as the lightweight limit which was always formerly 133.

The betting on the contestants is so varied and peculiar in the east that it is hard to tell just how each man's chances are regarded there. Ritchie is probably a slight favorite over the dentist boxer, who, however, carries about with him such a terrific punch that if once he breaks down the champion's guard the lightweight crown will automatically pass from Ritchie's head.

As the bout is a no-decision affair, Leach Cross will undoubtedly go after a knockout and Packer Macfarland at least believes that he will get it.

Freddie Welsh ought to get a chance at the victor. Freddie has been hankering round for years after a championship bout and though he has got near it several times, he has never been able to get close enough. His record ought to be sufficient guarantee of his claim to be considered a candidate at least for world honors.

Ritchie is not by any means a popular champion in the sense that Gans and Nelson were popular. His repeated refusal to fight and his walk away from Freddie Welsh have ostracized

RECORD 25 YEARS AGO IS STILL UNBEATEN

In these days of constant improvement in all forms of athletic sports a record that has stood for a quarter of a century is a decided rarity. Yet it was just twenty-five years ago to-day, November 8, 1888, that P. Cannon hung up a professional running record that still holds its place in the dope books. Cannon's memorable feat was performed at Glasgow, Scotland, where he ran four miles in nineteen minutes and twenty-five and two-fifths seconds, making new records for all distances over two miles. Cannon covered the three miles in fourteen minutes and nineteen and a half seconds. At the three and a half mile mark his time was seventeen minutes and two and one-fifth seconds.

It remained for an amateur, A. Shrub, the English runner, to beat the professional record. In 1904 Shrub covered four miles in nineteen minutes and twenty-three and two-fifths seconds, beating Cannon's time by two seconds. It is noteworthy that this feat was also performed in Glasgow. Shrub's time for three and a half miles was sixteen minutes and fifty-seven and two-fifths seconds.

Another professional record that has withstood the assaults of half a century is that for the twelve-mile distance, covered in one hour, two minutes and two and a half seconds in England in 1863 by L. Bennett, better known as "Deerfoot." S. Thomas, an English amateur, did the dozen miles in one hour, two minutes and forty-three seconds in 1892.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS

1908.—Jimmy Gardner defeated Jimmy Clabby in 15 rounds at New Orleans. The two Jimmys fought again later in the same month, going 20 rounds to a draw, and in 1910 a third meeting in Milwaukee resulted in a draw decision at the end of 10 rounds. Gardner was born in County Clare, Ireland, while Clabby is a native of Connecticut, but of Irish descent. During Gardner's long career in the ring he defeated such men as Joe Walcott, Mike Memsic, Young Ernie, Harry Lewin and Frank Klaus.

1909.—Jack Britton defeated Johnny Hogan in 6 rounds at Reading.

1910.—Salor Burke defeated Bill McKinnon in 12 rounds at Boston.

SPORTING GOSSIP OF THE DAY

Frank Barreseau must seek the welter-weights now. His refusal to box Bayley at 135 ringside places him outside the lightweight limit.

Twenty Victoria ladies turned out for hockey practice on the ice at the Arena last night and performed amazingly well. Men must now look for another invasion into a realm of sport that was once sacred to themselves.

The annual meeting of the N. H. A. takes place in Montreal to-night. It promises to be somewhat lively.

The Sidney modified Marathon is being run this afternoon over a ten-mile course. A cup presented by the genial Pete Tester goes to the winner.

Kilbane has signed articles to box Eddie O'Keefe in Philadelphia on November 10.

"All that a golfer needs," says Francis Oulmet, conqueror of Vardon and Ray, "is six clubs." Some golfers have all this and yet cannot play golf.

Bobby Genge, the Victoria hockey star, is expected in town to-night from the East.

OUTSIDER WON.

London, Nov. 8.—At Liverpool the Liverpool Autumn cup, one mile and three furlongs, was won by an outsider, P. Nelke's three-year-old chestnut colt, China Cook, by Santo Highfeather. The winner started at 20 to 1. R. C. Dawson's three-year-old Oselle, the second favorite, was second, 9 to 2, and P. F. Heybourn's seven-year-old horse Moscato, 10 to 1, was third. The field numbered thirteen. The also rans, including: Subterranean, the favorite, 4 to 1; Cheerful, Santair, 10 to 1, and Scott's Saint, Bachelor's Wedding, Emillaura, Uttimus, Lady Galette, Sands O'Time and Candy Titt.

CALIFORNIANS WANT
BOXING LAW REPEALED

Sacramento, Nov. 8.—The first batch of initiative petitions providing for the repeal of the boxing law in California was filed yesterday in Secretary of State Jordan's office.

It is said to be the first of many which California ministers have in circulation throughout the state.

To place the initiative measure on the 1914 ballot, it will be necessary to file petitions containing approximately 31,000 signatures before January 1, 1914, or a new petition must be circulated.

WORLD-WIDE UNION FOR AMATEUR SPORT

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada was represented at the inaugural meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Federation held in Berlin this summer. Copies of the minutes of this important meeting have just been received by officials of the A. A. U. of C. In all sixteen countries were represented at this congress by a total of 27 delegates.

The congress drafted the following amateur definition, which will be submitted for final discussion, and adoption at the next meeting of the federation, to be held in Paris in 1914.

- (1) An amateur is one who competes only for the love of sport.
- (2) Competing for money or any other pecuniary reward in any sport makes the competitor a professional in all sports.
- (3) In track and field athletic sports one who knowingly competes with, or against, a professional, thereby becomes a professional.
- (4) In the event of an amateur competing with, or against, a professional in sports other than track and field athletics, not for money and other pecuniary reward, then the member of the federation to which the athlete belongs shall be the judge of such competitor's status according to its own rules, and its certificate as to the competitor's status shall be accepted by all other members of the federation.
- (5) One who teaches, trains, or coaches in any sport for money or other pecuniary consideration is a professional except, however, that so far as competition in his own country, and there only, is concerned, an employee or representative of the state or school or other educational institution, who teaches, trains, or coaches as an incident to his main vocation or employment, may, or may not, be a professional, as the member of the federation of the country of such a person shall decide.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Defeat of Arnat Brings Great Rowing Career to Close.
The defeat of Arnat by the Australian champion practically brings to a close a rowing career which is without parallel in sporting annals. Up to the time of his defeat by Ernest Barry on the Thames Arnat was reckoned not only the greatest sculler in the world, but one of the greatest it had ever seen. He was in many respects a novice and had only taken up serious rowing at the earnest solicitations of his friends. His style was always ungainly and it was mainly strength whereby he pulled his boat through the water at such a tremendous pace. Barry is now undisputed champion sculler of the world, and fully deserves the title. The London man is the acme of grace in a boat, and though not blessed with the strength of Arnat, so uses his legs and body in the boat that every ounce tells. It is very doubtful if any champion will be found in the next few years to beat him over his favorite course on the Thames.

Progress Made by Victoria Tennis Club.
The Victoria Tennis Club holds its annual meeting Monday, and there will in all probability be considerable food for congratulation in the reports which will be presented. The year has been a banner one for Victoria's premier tennis-organization, and would go down to history as such if it were only for the fact that three of Canada's representatives in the Davis Cup series went straight from Victoria courts to the competition acre at Wimbledon. That they did so magnificently in reaching the final is another feather in the cap of the club. But for other things the members have a perfect right to wax enthusiastic. The membership has never been so full nor the standard of competition so high. In spite of the absence of the main stars in England the tournament tennis was of a highly spectacular order and attracted large crowds each day of opening. In addition the club has added more ground to its acreage, enough for four or five more courts. Altogether the club will have a good cause to pat itself on the back on Monday.

BOXING BOUTS ARRANGED.

Sydney, N. S. W., Nov. 8.—Snowy Baker has matched Eddie McGoorty and Dave Smith to fight 20 rounds here on Boxing Day, December 28. Ray Bronson, who announced his retirement from boxing some time ago, will take over his protégé to meet Pat Brown, Mehegan and Matt Wells. Bronson also will come out of retirement and fight Johnny Summers in the Antipodes.

THINK CHANCES EVEN.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Betting on the Ritchie-Cross ten-round bout to be staged next Monday night in New York opened here at 10 to 9, with Ritchie on the long end. However, the Ritchie support was expected to lengthen the price.

There's Something Wrong.
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Will Right It.

When it seems as if you simply could not bear up any longer it is high time to look for the cause of the trouble—and the remedy. In an astonishingly large number of cases the real cause of woman's misery is found to be constipation, and the remedy that always cures is Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Neglect of the daily movement of the bowels, so necessary to health, soon poisons the whole system from the impurities retained in the body. Headaches, indigestion, biliousness and lassitude follow, and often more serious female disorders are brought on or aggravated.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only regulate the bowels, but they stimulate kidneys and skin as well to throw off waste matter and purify the blood. The result is quickly apparent in the disappearance of the headaches and biliousness, and the return of health and vigor. Thousands of women all over the world owe their present good health to Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

COAST RECORD BROKEN.

Stanford University, Calif., Nov. 8.—The Pacific Coast record for the mile run was lowered two minutes on Stanford oval to-day by James Powers, of the Boston A. A. in a paced race. Powers' time was four minutes, 13 4-5 seconds. The former record of four minutes, 20 4-5 seconds was held by Clyde of the University of Washington.

GOLFERS IN FORM.

Denver, Col., Nov. 8.—Edward Ray and Henry Vardon, the English golfers, defeated Walter Clark and Frederick Bell, Denver professionals, and Walter Fairbanks, holder of the old men's championship in the United States, here. The play was an 18-hole best ball match, which the Englishmen made in 66, or 16 under bogey.

IS STILL CHAMPION.

New York, Nov. 8.—Alfred de Oro, of Cuba, retained his title of champion at three cushion billiards by defeating Joseph Carney, of San Francisco, in the third and final block of the match, 44 to 43. The total score for the match was 150 to 143.

NO CHOICE.

"Sir," said the young man with much respect, "I know that you are a millionaire, and that I am poor. It seems presumptuous in me to aspire to the hand of your daughter. But I have thought the matter out, and with some diffidence I have resolved to make my request. Love, sir, is not bound by social considerations or by mere social convenience. I have a very real attachment for your daughter, and I pray that you will put no obstacle in the way of our early marriage."

The old man seemed interested in the young fellow, and inclined to listen. "Quite so," said he. "As you know, I am not in the habit of sticking at trifles, providing the main purpose is straight. But which of my girls do you want?" The young man breathed a sigh of relief, and courteously replied: "Oh, I'll leave that to you, sir."

BIG CRACKS ON HAND AND FINGERS

Eczema for Three Years. Broke Out on Head in Scales. Itched and Burned Badly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Lyons Brook, N. S.—"I suffered with eczema for three years. It started on my hands first in sores between my fingers and all over the palms of my hands and fingers were big cracks. Then it broke out on my head in scales. It itched and burned so badly I could not sleep. It was so itching and burning that I scratched and made sores and my hair came out awfully bad. I did not know what it was.

"I was treated for a long time and it did not do any good. I gave up my work for a month but as soon as I started doing my house-work again my hands got just as bad as ever. I used two bottles of Cuticura and it did not do any good. One day I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. I sent for a sample and I used them till I saw it stopped the itching and burning, so I got three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and that cured me." (Signed) Mrs. P. J. McKeown, May 27, 1913.

Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczema and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but no other emollients do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skin, itching, scaly scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and chapped nails, nor do it so economically. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 22-p. book, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

OFFICER 666 AT THE PRINCESS THEATRE

Officer 666, the New York success, which played here lately under the management of Cohan & Harris, will be given by the Williams Stock Company the coming week. This is positively the first time that this play has been shown at popular prices, but in spite of that fact there will be nothing lacking in stage settings or properties, and the quality of the presenting company is too well known to doubt that it will be in every way the equal of the high priced attraction. Mr. Williams has come to quite an expense in procuring the noted picture around which the story of the play centres.

BURGLARY IS CHARGED

Hans Weislein Committed for Trial, Accused of Breaking into Queen's Hotel Kitchen.

The charge of vagrancy against Hans Weislein was withdrawn in police court to-day and for it was substituted the more serious charge of burglary. As a result of inquiries made yesterday it was found that the provisions which Weislein was carrying when Detectives Turner and Scilliano arrested him on Thursday night were taken from the kitchen of the Queen's hotel. These consisted of a quantity of sliced bacon, a ham, a side of bacon and three pats of butter.

Dan Bibinski, cook in the hotel, identified the sliced bacon as some he had cut up over night to have ready the next morning, and which he left in the kitchen when he locked it up on Thursday night.

William Stones, foreman for P. Burns & Co., identified the ham and side of bacon as having come originally from that firm, and said they supplied the hotel.

John Mitchell, cutter in the employ of L. Goodacre & Sons, was able to say that the goods had not come from that firm and that the cut bacon was never cut there. The butter was of a brand not kept there.

Detective Turner told of the arrest of Weislein on Humboldt street about midnight. The prisoner had explained that he had bought the articles in Goodacre's on the Friday before and had forgotten to take them home from the I. W. W. hall, where he had left them. Mr. Turner described his visit to and examination of the premises at the Queen's hotel, where he found that a window had been forced. A shoe of Weislein's fitted exactly in the tracks found outside.

Weislein told the court that he had not told the officers where he got the stuff, being afraid that if he told the truth he would be arrested. The truth was, he said, that "I buy the stuff from a man." However, he had never seen the man before and did not know who he was. He admitted that he had not worked for a long time.

He was committed for trial by a higher court.

ARTIST'S ADVANTAGE.

Ambrose Patterson, the painter, Victoria's crafty exponent of color and movement, says the Sydney Bulletin, secured a commission once to paint a very lengthy and wealthy suburbanite. Patterson himself is a lank brush, shooting up beyond six foot one inch. He was rather priding himself on having been given this commission, bearing in mind the great pressure of artists round every possible job in Australia. Eventually, however, the sitter explained, "I was a long time looking for a suitable harist," he said. "I'm six-foot two an' a'arf, and till I struck you, I hadn't seen a painter what had enough height to do a full length of me."

MEETINGS

Y. M. C. A. Sunday Gathering.—Tomorrow at the Y. M. C. A. will be inaugurated at 9 a.m. what is to be known as the Breakfast Table Bible class, which will be under the leadership of Mr. Hillis, chairman of the dormitory committee. The Bible Study class will take place at the breakfast table following breakfast. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock Alderman Gleason will speak on "Christianity and Modern Politics," and a concert will be given by Miss Luffin, mezzo-soprano, and J. D. Sudbury, of the Fifth Regiment band, who will play the saxophone. At the evening "round up" at 9 o'clock I. W. Williamson will speak.

World's Week of Prayer.—The local Y. M. C. A. will observe the World's Week of Prayer, held annually by associations all over the world. The programme for the week is as follows: Monday, leader, George Bell; Tuesday, leader, J. E. Andrews; Wednesday, leader, G. H. Robertson; Thursday, leader, Mr. Raymond; Friday, leader, F. Burridge; Saturday, leader, H. M. Hillis. The meetings will follow luncheon, which is to be served at 12 sharp daily, by the ladies' committee of the Y. M. C. A. Prayer meeting will commence at 12.30, and will be half an hour long.

A Fine Concert.—St. Andrew's Presbyterian church choir have secured the services of Miss Jennie Taggart for the concert on November 11 at 8.15 p. m. in the church. This will give the people another chance to hear this artist, who has been touring the world giving concerts in all the leading cities. The choir have been practicing several choruses from composers such as Mendelssohn, Prout and others.

To Hold Bazaar.—The Mary and Martha Society of St. Paul's German Lutheran church intend holding their annual bazaar in the school-room, corner Princess avenue and Chambers street, on the afternoon and evening of November 20. The ladies will place on sale many pretty and useful articles. They will serve afternoon tea from 2 to 5 o'clock and supper from 6 to 8 p. m.

Asiatic Question.—A meeting of all Hindustanis of Victoria will be held at 7.30 p. m. Saturday, the 8th of November, in the First Baptist hall, corner Yates and Quadra streets, under the Khalsa Diwan Society. Lectures will be delivered in English and Hindustani free. Everybody welcome. Saund Singh, President.

Sale of Work.—The St. Agnes Guild of St. James' church are holding their annual Christmas sale of work on November 22 at the rectory, 215 Quebec street. Besides the "remembrance table," there will be several other tables, containing pretty dainty things suitable for Christmas presents.

A New Way to Regain Health and Happiness

Long ago, when we first lifted our voice of warning against drugs and patent medicines and began our first great fight in favor of electricity as a curative agent, we found nothing but smooth sailing against superstition and prejudice, but, knowing we were on the right track, we pounded away, backing our judgment with money, and we have lived to see the great change of sentiment that has now come over the public.

We have done our part in showing that this whole scheme of taking out a bottle, a vest pocket box, or to have something "rubbed on" in order to regain one's health or strength, is principally superstition. We have proven that, while the drug had a certain known direct effect, it had another after-effect or reaction, often causing other diseases, and produced complications and aggravations that require more drugs to mitigate; that the drugging habit, once entered upon, has no end this side of the grave.

The old methods are wrong, let us tell you; the whole "one poison cures another" scheme is wrong. We have proved to the world that nearly all human disorders can be cured by removing the primary cause, and if you consider that, if you will read our book, which is free for the asking, you can learn something about this subject that will interest every man and woman who is in search of health.

If you feel that your health and strength—your vital stamina—are on the wane; if your liver has got in your eyes, your heart in your boots; if you are not the man or woman physically or mentally, you should like to be, we can give you the means of getting back the strength and vigor you have lost; a process of treatment founded upon common sense; one in which the use of drugs in any form does not enter.

Again and again we have preached "Electricity is Life," that by building up the nervous energy of the body by a constant and steady infusion of this life force, the causes of seven-tenths of the weaknesses and diseases of which human flesh is heir can be effectually overcome.

Electro-Vigor Cures

Electro-Vigor is a success. It is a remedy based on solid scientific facts. Already it is proven that it is a cure for hundreds of other ailments that drugs and other remedies have failed to cure, because it strengthens up the nerves controlling every organ.

Electro-Vigor has proved a complete and lasting cure of Indigestion (Dyspepsia), Constipation, Headache, Drowsiness, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, Weakness of the Back, Nervous Debility, General Debility, Sleeplessness (Insomnia), also Dizziness. It improves the blood circulation. It corrects every sign of mental impairment and physical breakdown in men and women. Electro-Vigor is a dry cell body battery and gives its own power without charging.

100-Page Book, Worth $1.00

Every man and woman who admires the perfection of physical strength should read our beautifully illustrated book. It tells how strength is lost and how to restore it with Electro-Vigor. We will send this book, closely sealed, free upon request. If you are not the person you should be, write to-day or call.

It acts without assistance, taste nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

CONSERVATIVE GOWNS AT AUTUMN WEDDINGS

A New Negligee Inaccurately Named the Smoking Robe; Striking Designs

New York, Nov. 1.—Much interest has recently focused upon several fashionable weddings. It has become the custom to linger later and later out of town each season, and the scene of each of these notable functions was a well-known country estate. Nature is truly at her best in early November, and the house parties attendant upon these events were in every instance voted a big success. The air had just enough snap to it to make the glowing wood fire a magnet, and to render appropriate the wearing of smart autumn toilettes.

The gowns, while extremely elegant, was on the whole marked by conservatism. It is an acknowledged fact that the well-bred woman does not, except in isolated instances, accept literally the extremes of fashion; rather, she modifies and individualizes the most pronounced features. Once in a while one encounters someone on the type of Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, perhaps, who possesses the stature and personality to wear striking gowns without being over-conspicuous; but such exceptions only prove the rule.

On the majority of women known for their good taste in dress one now sees drapery, voluminous, many times; but, owing to the softness of the material in which it is expressed, seldom bulky; tunics frequently full and a trifle flaring, but not often exaggerated; panners more times simulated by the folds of the skirt than actually an over-drapery.

A very effective black velvet toilette was worn by an attractive western woman. It is shown in the first sketch. The jacket was very short in front, but came down long in the back. Its folds were held in place for three-quarters of the circumference of the waist by a loose, drooping belt. Collar and cuffs were made by one of the prettiest novelty velvets yet seen. The ground was changeable blue and green, on which appeared splashes of gray-orange, dull green and red, so arranged as to form an indefinite plaid.

The scant, three-piece skirt of black velvet was trimmed with two wide bias bands of the plaid. With this gown was worn a very charming hat, having a soft "tam" crown and flaring side brims of tarnished silver lace. A dull green and orange feather fancy was posed at the right side-back. Quite "in the picture" was her big black velvet bag, swung by a heavy silver gulp.

Another interesting costume, less dressy in type, is shown in the second sketch. Soft putty-colored duvetyne striped with royal blue was the body fabric. It had a little black satin waistcoat and a flat collar of squirrel dyed royal blue to match the stripe in the fabric. The hat was of the duvetyne, with a band of the blue fur framing the face, and a blue and putty-colored sick-up posed jauntily at the left side. With this was worn a delicate vest of pleated net and cream-colored Valenciennes lace. The skirt was a simple four-gored affair, quite innocent of drapery, worn with a crushed girde of the black satin.

Speaking of weddings, one naturally reverts to the tulle-trousers, and this calls to mind some of the wonderfully lovely negligees brought out this season. Two distinct types are noticeable in these more intimate garments of the feminine wardrobe. First, the fairy-like robes for strictly boudoir wear, which are the ultimate of exquisite daintiness, and then the somewhat daring gowns in which midday she her tea or entertains a chance caller.

To the first-class belong sets of boudoir jackets, cap, and petticoat of gossamer muslin, embroidered in pink and blue forget-me-nots, and trimmed with exquisite Valenciennes lace. Cretonne breakfast jackets are another novelty. One seen recently showed a gay pompadour design, cut on the lines of the loose Balkan jackets of this summer. It was belted below the waist with black ribbon velvet, and had a narrow black velvet band outlining the V-shaped neck.

A pelignoir, which in its effective simplicity evidenced a stroke of genius, was cut after the fashion of a choir-boy's surplice. It was made of shimmering ivory satin, high in the neck but with sleeves, as in the surplice, coming just to the elbow. The only ornamentation was a wreath of small, many-colored, made silk-roses, with their green leaves encircling the neck. Of more formal garments for the interior wear the novelty of the season is the so-called "smoking gown," and many women, who, from motives of morals or manners frown upon the cigarette, do not hesitate to include in their wardrobes an effective toilette of this kind. The smoking gown is not unlike the bridge gown of several seasons past. Originally, it is made of some rather striking fabric of supple texture, such as printed crepe or silk brocade. An interesting model was of the former fabric showing a bold design in o'ed blue against an olive background. Over a somewhat scantily cut skirt was hung a semi-fitted jacket extending almost to the knee. It was long of sleeve, high of neck, but collarless, and untripped save for an old gold gump outlining the neck, sleeve edge, and front closing, which was fastened with gold cloth buttons and loops. A Cossack cap of the crepe, finished with a dull gilt tassel, went with the outfit.

In lingerie, too, a number of interesting innovations have appeared, all designed along the line of elimination. It really seems as though the final stage had been reached in a novelty just brought out, "the garter skirt." It is made up in its entirety of a single-pleated chiffon ruffle, sometimes with an overlay of lace and sometimes without, attached to the "common or garden variety" of round silk garter. "This, if you please, in lieu of the petticoat!"

Quite practical, however, and delightfully pretty are the new lingerie combinations. The chemi-pantalon, which consists of a single muslin garment to be worn under the corset, has a chemise-like top buttoning down the front, cut in one with which are regulated knicker-bockers buttoning about the knees. Another garment which has met with an enthusiastic reception is the envelope combination. This, too, has the chemise, top, the skirt section being brought down long at the back in a tab which buttons to the front, forming the drawers. When worn the lower part of the garment looks like a scanty little circular petticoat.

Color in underwear is a new and pretty note. In expensive goods colored crepe de chine is favored, and for less expensive lingerie there are printed cotton crepes indescribably dainty.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. Banner, 923 Maclure street, when her second daughter, Agnes Elizabeth, became the bride of Mr. Lemuel McKay, Rev. Dr. Scott performing the ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Charles Banner, and looked very pretty in a dress of cream serge with picture hat to match, trimmed with roses and carnations. Her sister, Miss Ethel Banner, acted as bridesmaid, and looked charming in white mull and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Ren McKay, a brother of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony a reception was held, when the young couple, who were the recipients of a large number of useful congratulations and good wishes of their many friends.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE A FLOURISHING BRANCH

Four Centres With Three Instructors Form Important Department of Graded Schools

The opening last evening at North Ward school, of weekly Friday night classes in cooking, to be held under the auspices of the Victoria School Board, for the use of any interested persons who wish to get the instruction in this useful branch of Domestic Science provided there, marks another step in the progress of a department of the public schools of the city which has made tremendous strides during the past two years.

The school board already has four centres where regular instruction is given in the various departments of Domestic Science, Victoria West, where the supervisor of the department, Miss Juniper, has personal charge of the classes; at George Jay, in charge of Miss M. Brown; at North Ward, recently opened on plans suggested by the supervisor, and at Central school, where Miss G. L. Preston has charge of the instruction.

The new building at Victoria West school building is 60 feet by 40 feet, and was started early during the summer to take the place of the old basement room in Victoria West school. Electric fittings have been put in, both for lighting and cooking purposes, and each of the twenty-four desks is provided with an electric ring in addition to the electric range which is in the classroom for general demonstration purposes.

At one end of the main classroom a smaller room has been partitioned off to be fitted up in the course of a few weeks as a dining-room, where the girls can be given instruction in such points as table-laying, the arrangement of centre-pieces and flowers about the room, the choice of furniture and table-linen, etc. Across the hall is a pantry, and in this will be fitted up the usual store-cupboards, all in model form so that the girls may get the training consistently throughout.

The furniture of the classroom itself consists of a quadrangle of desks, all of which are marble-topped to ensure easy cleaning, and contain drawers and cupboard with the requisite cooking-utensils such as cake-pans, sauce-pans, rolling-pins, sifters, knives, forks, spoons, etc. The girls themselves wear neat white uniforms and caps, the idea being to teach them cleanliness and neatness in their persons as in their work. A large copy-book is used for the purpose, which the girls are taught the fuelling and cleaning of by each having in turn to take charge of the entire management during a cooking lesson, is placed at the far end of the room, and the highly burnished nickel and polished surface testify to abundant energy expended in this behalf. There are two or three sinks, and the importance of cleaning and disinfecting these is well impressed on the budding housewives of all ages who pass through a course of training in the classroom. Washing-up, rinsing and draining—as they ought to be done—are but a part of the very unromantic, but practical lessons which the girls learn, and the sinks are fitted up with draining-boards so that the whole of the operation can be done here.

Sanitary cupboards, with staple groceries, form other features of the furnishing, and a small library of books and magazines containing information about foods and their values, the hygiene of the home, sanitation, laundry-work, cleaning of silver and wood, furnishing, etc., is open to the girls, who are encouraged to read these and gain as wide an outlook as possible on the subject.

The latter, however, is rather difficult of attainment unless the girls can get some sympathy and encouragement in their homes, and with the object of interesting the mothers in the study of a subject which is too often neglected in the ordinary household, mothers are invited to visit the school at least once every year, and to watch the class go through a lesson. Later they may, provided the cooking-lesson has resulted in something edible, partake of afternoon tea prepared by the pupils, who are generally very proud of the little dishes which they have learned to make almost as well as the most experienced of their parents.

The course, unfortunately, ends at present with the graded schools, and the lessons which in most instances will be of little use until after the girls pass through High school, have to be suspended during those years that the more advanced studies are taken up.

The course at the present time covers three years, the first year including ten lessons in house management, five in home nursing, and twenty in laundry-work. This makes the pupil conversant with the business of the kitchen, cleaning stoves, sinks, silver, knives, etc. The second year is for junior cooking work; the third year for senior cooking. The cooking lessons start off with liquids, tea, coffee, cocoa, etc., after which come the simpler subjects such as stewed fruits, cooking vegetables, and, gradually, more difficult subjects. Before any of these, however, comes an emphatic lesson in boiling water, and the teachers are often surprised at the difficulty which some pupils seem to find in understanding when this very fundamental process begins to take place.

In connection with the course girls are trained in the use of coal, and a chart of prices on the cost of fuel and provisions is kept before the girls so that they can work out the approximate cost of various articles of the menu in connection with the food values of the respective articles of diet.

Laundry work is an important part of the course, and the most expedient and most effective methods are demonstrated to the pupils, who learn every stage of the process of washing from the time the article goes into the laundry-bag until it returns clean and ironed and folded. On account of this big laundry-tub is fitted, while the girls are provided with regulation ironing-boards and electric irons for the last stage of the work.

North Ward has a department modelled almost exactly along the same lines as Victoria West school, and already ten pupils have joined the evening class for adults which opened there last evening. There are still, however, vacancies for ten more students, and it is hoped that the school board's movement to provide a place where young women outside the schools can get instruction in the subject will meet with sufficient encouragement to make it possible to continue the classes. These are in charge of Miss Preston, who is a capable instructor, and the small fee of three dollars for a course of 20 lessons is only nominal.

As a department of the schools there is no question as to the great good which the incorporation of such a course in the school curriculum does, and yet another branch will be added after Christmas when Lampson street school will open a Domestic Science department. At present the classes from there go over to Victoria West school for instruction in the subjects taught by the department, while South Park school also benefits by the department at the Girls' Central school.

A JOLLY DAY.

Not long ago a North Country vicar married an elderly couple at eleven o'clock in the morning. At three in the afternoon his duties took him to the neighboring cemetery, where he met the same couple seated lovingly on one of the benches.

"You see, sir," the husband explained, "my wife is a real 'un for pleasure. I wanted to go back to my work this afternoon, but th' missus sed we'd better enjoy ourselves to th' full and mak' a jolly day on't."

CANADIAN CELEBRITIES
MRS. SONIA LEATHERS

The name "Sonia" is used here advisedly. Some married women prefer to write either the names or the initials of their husbands. Mrs. Leathers for the most part does not, at least in public print, where she sometimes appears as well as upon the lecture platform. Articles from her pen are signed "Sonia Leathers." There may be a reason.

There is—a reason. In fact, there's no use beating about the bush; Mrs. Leathers is a Suffragette. Besides, she is one of the best known and certainly one of the most brilliant woman-suffragists in America.

Just how far Mrs. Leathers, who lives in Toronto, has the courage of her convictions may be judged from a little episode which happened to her a couple of winters ago. Miss Forbes-Robertson, niece of the famous actor, and a well-known platform suffragist, was invited to speak at a man's club on—Dramatic not votes for women. In company with Mrs. Leathers the lady arrived among an interesting gathering in a large club room by the light of a huge wood fire. She sat by the fire and soon became the centre of an animated group; a well-proportioned, almost masculine woman, in odd contrast to her companion, Mrs. Leathers, who is frail of build, but, as the sequel will show, exceedingly stout of heart.

For some reason or other Miss Forbes-Robertson found that she was too weary to speak that evening. It was necessary to find someone to take her place. No particular programme had been provided. The men of the club, with their wives and women friends, had come for no other reason than to hear the lady speak.

Presently one of the men suffragists of the club, who sometimes wears a button, "Votes for Women," approached the secretary.

"I say," he advised, "how would it do to ask Mrs. Leathers to say a few words? It's going to be an awful fizzle if we don't do something."

"But will she do it?" "I feel sure she will."

"What will she probably prefer to talk about?"

"All well—not drama, perhaps."

"You mean—woman suffrage?" "That is her pet subject."

"Would it be advisable?" "I don't see why not."

"Well suppose we take a chance. I don't think everybody here is anti-suffrage. At the same time it's a men's club and to ask a woman to speak here on any subject whatever, let alone votes for women, is quite unconventional."

Mrs. Leathers was approached. She consented to speak. And in justice to her devotion to the cause it must be confessed that she needed no coaxing.

The speech was clever. It was brilliant. It was paradoxical. It was highly courageous. It was in fact a spirited attack upon the whole genus and consequence of masculinity that presumes to rule the world by denying votes to women. Men fidgeted in their seats and muttered. Wives rewrestled. Mrs. Leathers talked right on. The guest of the evening rose to excuse herself in order to catch a train. Mrs. Leathers waited till the lady had gone and then went right back with a bang at the subject just where she had left off. For the best part of an hour she fustigated the anti-suffrage ranks with hot shot delivered in the most brilliant style; a thin, penetrating voice, a vocabulary of almost amazing fluency and a fund of ideas that seemed inexhaustible.

When she had said all she deemed advisable she stopped and submitted to several minutes of heckling. Perturbed? Not in the least. She quite enjoyed the anomaly of the situation much more than she ever did speaking at a meeting of the Social Science Club, of which she was the originator in Toronto.

Afterwards she was one of a small party at a studio of one of her suffragette friends, a well-known portrait-painter in Toronto. Here again she continued in the spirit.

"I'm coming home and have dinner some day," she said to a man who seemed to be unwilling to take much stock in her arguments. If you don't care to listen to me, my daughter Margaret will be glad to give you many of my ideas on woman suffrage."

Mrs. Leathers is at present in England superintending the education of Margaret, who is now twelve years old and will no doubt become as ardent a suffragist as her mother.

In fact it seems likely that Mrs. Leathers herself inherited some of her views. She is a Russian lady. She knows a good deal about the repression of Russia and the protest of the people. She has that undertone of melancholy which she manages to conceal underneath the brilliance of her versatility and her ability to speak several languages. It was while she was studying medicine on the continent that she met Dr. Leathers, who was pursuing his studies in physiology and fell in love in a most traditional feminine way. Common aims in life threw these two together. The Russian student of medicine married the English physiologist. They came to Canada about five years ago. Dr. Leathers, F. R. S., is now professor of physiology in the University of Toronto. He has never been able to find a microscope strong enough to detect any flaws in the suffragist arguments of Mrs. Leathers, who since her arrival in this country has done more to popularize the study of social science on a suffrage basis than any other woman in Canada.

Mrs. Leathers may not be a militant suffragette. But she has never declared herself as radically opposed to any radical method of getting votes for women. She has the gift of clear thinking and forceful expression. She knows how to deal with delicate subjects in a scientific way. Her studies in science and her husband's work with the microscope has given her a fine poise between moral convictions and science. No doubt she regards the whole problem of votes for women as a study in science. In her case it very largely is. Her arguments are of the comprehensive kind that make it difficult for any mere man who has

How Many Women
Keep Young

"A woman may be old at 18 and young at 80," says Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates, prominent Chicago clubwoman. "Years don't matter. Didn't Ninon de L'Enclos have a proposal at 90?"

The youth of our women is more lasting than it was a generation ago, because we are becoming acquainted with simple physiological laws. When the first "aging" marks appear—wrinkles, baggy cheeks, neck and chin—we realize that the cause is a loosening of the skin and softening of the tissue underneath. We know the cause must be removed. Instead of laying on pastes we send to the drug store for an ounce of saxolite and a half pint of witch hazel, mix them and bathe face, neck and hands in the solution. We know this tightens the skin, solidifies the tissue, induces a healthy circulation. We treat ourselves rather than affecting. We use reason and stay young.

BOWSERISM IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

By WALTER W. BAER.

The name "Bowser" is all but a household word in British Columbia. Since the year 1907, in which year the wearer of the name succeeded in forcing his way into the arena of provincial politics, it has been spelled in larger capitals each year until it requires to-day the largest letters of any name in the category of provincial Conservative notables. The name and the man who wears it are striking modern examples of the manner in which "tall oaks from little acorns grow." The word and the notoriety attaching to it are illustrative of the results that may be achieved by personal ambition, dogged persistence, undaunted, self-centred fearlessness, and not too much scruple, when political chaos in a new country furnish the time, the place and the man. Without the accidents of circumstance and the peculiar ability to seize upon them the combinations resulting from these in the political history of British Columbia would never have resulted in the conditions which obtain now in the political prominence which the name "Bowser" represents.

It is a far cry back to the year 1892, when the little city of Vancouver, then a prosperous and promising town of some 20,000 inhabitants, welcomed to its professional circles a budding Nova Scotian lawyer, graduate of Dalhousie University and potential dictator of the inchoate Conservative party of that day in Vancouver, fraternal societies and even religious associations, particularly young people's societies, welcomed the young barrister who was good enough to entertain them at open meetings with "recitations" and readings, in fact, anything but songs and the original productions of embryonic literary genius. The name of "Bowser" was soon in everybody's mouth, friendly greetings and not infrequent chats were commonplace in the not too busy life of the young Napoleon. For even then the likeness of diminutive, but ambitious, ambition occasionally remarked by casual acquaintances was not displeasing to the subject of this narrative. Perhaps these things helped to fire ambition; who can tell?

First Political Experiments.
Within four years from the date of his arrival in Vancouver Bowser was a candidate for a federal seat, conducting his campaign with an abandon that amused or politicians but failed to induce success. The ambitious barrister was snubbed under but undaunted. Two years later, being refused another nomination by his party he ran for Vancouver as an independent and was again so badly trimmed that, for a time, he was lost to political sight, though, perhaps, to memory fear.

In 1903 Mr. Bowser took his political kite out of its musty garret, trimmed a good deal of the ballast off its tail and held the string carefully to discover whether the "breeze" that he had been negotiating by the cultivation of a friendly hand-shake, the "grip" and several other subtly unsuspected methods of tying his friends to himself had developed sufficient current to lift him to a more modest political goal than the Ottawa parliament. He tried, again in Vancouver, for a seat in the provincial legislature; and won. Still cultivating connections, he was re-elected in 1907 at the head of the poll, thus becoming "senior member for Vancouver." Six months later he became Attorney-General and his kite was pulling hard.

So much of the early history of this dominating personality it is necessary to write for the information of those who have but during recent years become residents of British Columbia. They are written to evince what was written at the beginning of this article. Subsequent events have revealed, in the political methods of this manipulator, much more than was suspected in the early days of his budding ambition, and disclose, perhaps, some of the inner workings of a mind capable of quickly estimating its constituency, making quick decision as to how an unorganized, scattered and politically unamalgamated citizenship might be controlled for political ends. Without confidantes, close friends or advisors, "Bowser" at that time began to be the real power behind the throne in the then McBride government. McBride's acrobatic agility in balancing a rolling barrel was already deteriorating, and it is confidently asserted, the bargain was then made between the two who have since become twin-antagonists that Bowser was to apply himself to the construction of a political machine, warranted to stand the stress of any weather, that the two should manage the political affairs of the province, that Richard McBride was to remain premier so long as he chose to stay, and that when the "heavy chariot" should be ready to translate him, "Bowser" was to find his mantle somewhere along the path of the blazing flight.

Damon and Pythias.
Since that time Bowser has been the champion of the government, while Richard McBride (now Sir Richard) has been the poseur. Bowser has faced recalcitrant and rebellious constituents with defiant and unyielding commandments, while Sir Richard has played the suave part of wheedler, plausible promiser of all good things; "the personification of good fellowship," firmness necessary in dealing with a delegation? "See Bowser," says Sir Richard, "is a promise or gratuity necessary to keep some hungry party expectant in line?" "See Sir Richard," says Bowser, "Right well have they studied their parts, and the Damon and Pythias, they are 'sever on the job.'" Sometimes it is imperative that both of the autocrat should meet delegations. Then it is necessary only to wait and see who is to make reply and the delegation already knows its fate. If hot air and promise to "take the matter under serious consideration" is to be the end of the chapter, Sir Richard blandly administers the ether. If a sharp reprimand or studied insult is to be their portion, it is Bowser who rises to the occasion. Each knows his part, and a wink from one to the other conveys the mind of the one who winks the wink.

What Bowserism Stands For.
Bowserism is now a fixed and definite term in the political phraseology of the province. In every department of administration and in every revolution of the wheels of the political machine "Bowserism" is distinct from every other lam. Its every little movement has a meaning all its own. No one attempts to regulate the machinery, or adjust the bearings, or cool a hot box excepting the master builder. The meddling of unpracticed hands, even Sir Richard's hands, until he learned to let Bowser's machine alone, has often led to threatened calamity. When a cog gives out it is not often the cog that is replaced. More usually it is the whole wheel. Sometimes a carefully constructed apparatus, failing to do what its designer intended it to accomplish, is replaced, after being unceremoniously laid aside, by more modern and adaptable machinery. But it is Bowser who fits the parts together, gives instructions in operating and stands jealously by to see the initial tests. If a bearing needs adjustment or a screw tightening it is Bowser who wields the wrench. Keeping the cups filled with lubricant, while probably performed under Bowser's directions, is the work of less important people. Only the big things interest Bowser. Yet he knows better than anyone when a splinter or chunk of frozen gravel crunches in the wheels.

In matters of administration the word Bowser spells "brains." It is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance that Bowser is the brains of the government. This is not because his brain is either bigger or heavier or composed of grey matter superior to the grey matter of other members of the government. It is because of two quite different reasons. Bowser applies his brains, and he takes care of his brains. Some will say the order of these qualifications should be reversed but the truth is that the first application of brains by Bowser is to the care of his brains. He feeds regularly, he seldom touches intoxicants, he does not keep late hours, and he does not prostitute his time by spending it in joy rides or other recreations in which the fair sex occupy a large sphere. He knows that well groomed brains will stand a lot of hard work. He grooms his brains well; expects them to yield results, and they do. His activities are tireless, his energies unflagging. No nervous breakdowns for Bowser. His plans, plots, commands, accusations, denials, works, talks or keeps silence; he hoards and guards his treasure that he may squander it all upon one person. Guess whom.

Ramifications of Power.
In politics Bowser is Caesar. There is no appeal beyond Bowser. Not openly, but through a delicately constructed and sensitively responsive segment of his political machinery all policemen in the employ of the provincial government know what is expected of them. They are all, in a sense, political camera lenses; the tentacles of a political detective department which spies on the movements of every suspected citizen and reports every movement of any character that appears suspicious to their jaundiced imaginations. If any favoritism are shown it may be safely assumed that such favoritism are shown, because of instructions from higher up. Away, high up. If the letter of the law is violated in one case and the violation allowed to go unnoticed the spirit of the law is invoked in another case in order to secure conviction. It all works out under the "system," and it works out about the way in which Bowser desires it to work out. It is more than surprising how many apparently injudicious acts on the part of police officers in many remote parts of the province turn out to be perfectly laudable, even commendable, performances of duty. What a well schooled and well disciplined force they are, and how seldom does any member of the "force" fall under official displeasure. The licensing commissioners are, save in the case of the chairman of the boards, appointive. To dictate the candidacy of mayors and Reeves of municipalities, to remove from office the unfaithful and to manipulate the appointment of those who are not directly his own appointees is the work that lies nearest, and perhaps nearest, to Bowser's heart. No detail of the operations of this part of his plant escapes him. Where the fear of law is in the hearts of licensees it is not in the police, nor the license commissioners that are mentioned with bated breath. It is Bowser. It is not the law they fear nor the violation of the law. That goes on all the time, excepting among those who of themselves and because of their character respect the law. What the politically suspected fear is Bowser, lest he should get some catch on them and because of their political alienation, not because of their violation of law, their licenses should be suspended or cancelled.

Greater Than Law.
Judges and magistrates as a rule do their duty according to the dictates of conscience and judgment. They sentence to such penalties as the circumstances warrant. But that is no sign that their sentences will be carried into effect. Gaolers may refuse commitments and turn prisoners loose upon the public. Bowser openly declares that these acts under his instructions. Where Bowser cannot square laws to bring them into harmony with his own convictions he allows them to be de-ted, and the established authority of courts is held in light esteem. Ye old-time emperors had no greater authority than this. Public sentiment is negligible when it crosses swords with Bowser's sentiments and laws which have been the evolution of decades are trampled under foot as though nothing more than kindergarten productions of Puritanical minds.

How Evolution Evolves.
It must not be supposed that Bowser has reached this high-mightiness at one bound or leap. He has been ten years in climbing to the pinnacle of the present eminence which he occupies to-day. He has been experimenting with public sentiment for a decade. Deep down in his innerness he has been studying the people to discover how much they will stand. He is the defiant, dominant, unyielding, tyrannical dictator that he is to-day because the people of British Columbia have allowed him to become what he is. He has been preparing the people of this province all the while, for the time when the mantle of Sir Richard is to fall upon his shoulders. He has been testing his strength, not by tilting at windmills, but by tilting at real and live prejudices, convictions, and sentiments in the minds of those over whom he rules. He has been "getting ready" so that when Sir Richard steps off the stage—a time which cannot now be long delayed—he (Bowser) will exhibit the people of this province to themselves and to the world just as they are. All their easy tolerances, all their partisan loyalty, all their indifference to the political conditions under which they live, will then be flaunted and flouted, and the real Bowser will appear.

The methods by which Bowser has sounded the depths of public intelligence, conscience, credulity and forbearance, and by which he has made himself what he is to-day may well be worthy of further study.

SIBULOUS.

A Massachusetts minister was making his first visit to Kentucky several years ago. He had to spend the night in a small mountain town. (says the Argonaut) where feuds and moonshine still abounded. Engaging in conversation with one of the natives, he said: "My friend, this is a very bibulous state, I hear." "Lord!" replied the man, "there hasn't twenty-five Bibles in all Kentucky."

THE SEA

You have taken you mounds of your molten gold,
To furnish you vessels of mammoth mould;
You've shouted to Heaven with purse-full pride
That my winds and waves you had now defied.
You boasted your ships had the last word said,
But the wall of the widow'd you mourn their dead.
Says the last word is with me,
The cruel, cold, unscrupulous Sea.

Do you think I value your craze for speed,
That I care a jot if you should succeed
Or falter in keeping your time? You keep
The pace that I set when you sail my deep.
Small thought do you give by day or by night
To danger. You reckon you're watertight;
And then you reckon with me,
The reckless, feckless, fathomless Sea.

You, if on my bosom you'd safely ride,
Must be Hydra-headed and Argus-eyed.
Should you for a moment your watchful relax
Tis there and then that I levy my tax.
I am lying in wait. My ice-riest lips
The sides of your safe, unshrinkable ship,
And you pay your toll to me,
The vain, insane, insensible Sea.

I show no mercy, no pity have I;
To me 'tis the same if you live or die:
If you drown at once, whether young or old,
Or struggle for hours in the icy cold;
Whether pauper born or of noble birth,
Sorrow I know not; I know not of mirth;
All things are the same to me,
The Sea.
The fearful, tearful, terrible Sea.

I reck not of money; your millionaire
Is no more to me than an infant bare.
I garner more wealth in my depths below,
Than ever you knew or ever can know.
I reck not of virtue or vice. Your best,
Your worst, I engulf them all with the rest.
For all are alike to me,
The Sea.
The desolate, desperate darkness Sea.

I laugh when my old and co-arch friend Fire,
Converts him a ship to a fun'ral pyre;
I make no effort his rage to tame
As he laps-up lives with his tongues of flame.
I roar and roar with a ghoul's glee
As his victims leap from the deck to me.
For they give their choice to me,
The Sea.
The dank, the deep, diabolical Sea.

You may burrow deep in the old Earth's hide;
You may tunnel deep in the mountain side;
You may seek you further more distant lands,
And bind them together with iron bands.
You may circle the globe with "wireless" calls,
And harness the power of its waterfalls;
But you shall not harness me,
The Sea.
The wild, the weird, the wonderful Sea.

No school in the universe equals mine.
I teach no "isms" or "ologies" fine;
But I turn out men of a gallant breed,
Professing a simple, a noble creed;
Who steadfast to duty while they draw breath,
Are undismayed by the terrors of death.
That is what they learn from me,
The Sea.
The cryptic, mystic, masterful Sea.

FIRST THINGS

The first demonstration of the remarkable discovery popularly known as the "X-ray," was made by Dr. William Conrad Rontgen, a Dutch physicist, eighteen years ago to-day, November 8, 1895. The discoverer did not announce his method of "photographing the unseen" until the following December, and the first full description was given to the world through the Berlin Physical Society early in 1896. The discovery of "X-rays" appealed to the popular imagination as no other scientific attainment had done for years, and the press of the world devoted much space to the possible uses of the Rontgen rays. The Emperor of Germany called the discoverer to demonstrate the rays before him, and permitted a "shadowgraph" of the imperial arm to be taken. Rontgen's discovery has been of great assistance to surgeons, and German and English

Below will be found six sets of mixed or jumbled letters. Can you arrange these six sets of letters in such order that each set will spell the name of a well known vegetable. It is not easy to do, but by patience can be accomplished. Try! By sending a proper arrangement you have an opportunity of winning a cash prize. Many have done this as will be shown by the names and addresses published below. Write these six words plainly and neatly on a slip of paper, as in case of ties, both writing and neatness will be considered factors in this contest.
This may take up a little of your time, but as there is TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash and one hundred premiums given away it is worth your time to take a little trouble over this matter.

When Mr. Hall was painting his picture of the wedding of the Duke of Connaught Queen Victoria gave him a sitting at Balmoral. Her Majesty was most gracious, and appeared to take great interest in the work, but, unfortunately, after the artist had been at work for a little while she fell asleep. "I am afraid," said Mr. Hall, "that that sitting was not altogether a success, and I had to do the best I could, more or less from recollection. Add to this that I felt rather awkward because two young Princesses, Princess Beatrice and Princess Irene of Hesse, were looking over my shoulder all the time, so interested were they in the painting. The picture, together with those which I did of the wedding of the Princess Louise and of the Duke of Fife and the Princess Royal, is now at Buckingham Palace.

fellows through the rooms, even when, as sometimes happened, they would swoop down to the bed and scuttle across it.

In the Yellowstone With John Burroughs.

One April I went to Yellowstone park, when the snow was still very deep, and I took John Burroughs with me. I wished to show him the big game of the park, the wild creatures that have become so astonishingly tame and tolerant of human presence.

The Bear-hunter's Dinner.

When wolf-hunting in Texas, and when bear-hunting in Louisiana and Mississippi, I was not only enthralled by the sport, but also by the strange and wonderful creatures, and the trees and flowers I had not known before.

The Flowers About Sagamore Hill.

The Sound is always lovely. In the summer months, when the edge of the Sound is blue, and the lights of the tall Fall River boats as they steam steadily by.

Long Island is not as rich in flowers as the valley of the Hudson.

Most of the birds in our neighborhood are the ordinary home friends of the house and the barn, the woodcock and the quail, the blue jay and the crow, the species make queer shifts. The cheery quail, alas! are rarely found near us now; and we no longer hear the whippoorwill at night.

Our Bird Neighbors.

When I was president we owned a little house in western Virginia; a delightful home, to us at least, although only a shell of rough boards.

Our Flying Squirrels.

AVIATION IN ENGLAND

The picture shows three prominent cabinet ministers at the Cromarty aviation station in England. Mr. Asquith, the prime minister; Colonel Seely, minister for war; and Mr. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, all show their keen interest in aviation.

those which we had heard sing. There were forty-one of the former and twenty-three of the latter, as follows:

- *Thrush, *blackbird, *lark, *yellow-hammer, *robin, *wren, *golden-crested wren, *goldfinch, *chaffinch, *greenfinch, *pled wagtail, *sparrow, *duncock (edge accentor), *mistle thrush, *starling, *rook, *jackdaw, *blackcap, *garden warbler, *willow warbler, *schiffel, *wood warbler, *treecreeper, *reed bunting, *edge warbler, *coot, *water hen, *little grebe (dabchick), *tufted duck, *wood pigeon, *stock dove, *turtle dove, *peewit, *tit (coal tit), *cuckoo, *nightjar, *swallow, *martin, *swift, *pheasant, *partridge.

Keep, Not Kill.

The valley of the Itchen is typically the England that we know from novel and story and essay. It is very beautiful in every way, with a rich cultivated, fertile beauty—the rapid brook twisting among its reed beds, the rich green of trees and grass, the stately woods, the gardens and fields, the exceedingly picturesque cottages, the great handsome houses standing in their parks.

The Leader of the Chorus.

The bird that most impressed me on my walk was the blackbird. I had already heard nightingales in abundance near Lake Como, and had also listened to larks, but I had never heard either the blackbird, the song thrush, or the blackcap warbler; and while I knew that all three were good singers, I did not know what really beautiful singers they were.

Like most Americans interested in birds and books, I know a good deal about English birds as they appear in books. I know the lark of Shakespeare and Shelley and the Ettrick Shepherd; I know the nightingale of Milton and Keats; I know Wordsworth's cuckoo; I know mavis and merle singing in the merry green wood of the old ballads; I know Jenny Wren and Cock Robin of the nursery books.

NEW BOOKS

Bell & Cockburn, publishers, Toronto, announce a new library of Canadian books, of which the initial volumes are now ready. In their prospectus they say: "Thousands of Canadians appreciated the value of the makers of Canada series and now own sets of these useful biographies of the great men of the country."

etc., will form a library of Canadiana that will be a delight for any man to own. Of this series the following have been received, and may be obtained through any bookseller:

"The Story of the Counties of Ontario," by Emily P. Weaver, giving an entertaining and accurate account of the early life of the province; "In the Wake of the Eighteen-Twelvers," by C. H. J. Snider, giving in the form of romance, the story of the naval engagements of 1812.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC FREIGHT AND PASSENGER DIVISION. OFFICIAL G.T.P. TOWN. SMITHERS

Prosperity Follows in the Wake of New Railways

Nowhere is this so true as in the Canadian West. Big cities, big towns, big business, big industry, big wealth, big population, big progress, big prosperity, big civilization, big culture, big refinement, big civilization, big culture, big refinement, big civilization, big culture, big refinement.

In all Canada's West British Columbia possesses more natural wealth and variety of resources than any other Province. It is the only Province on the Pacific. It has millions of acres of agricultural land, equable climate, insatiable mines, 20 billion feet of merchantable timber, vast fisheries, inexhaustible water power and an unequalled position as a trade mart of the world.

Up to now British Columbia, with all its wealth, has only had one railway, the Canadian Pacific, and that only in the extreme southern end of the Province.

It is for that reason that fully three-quarters of British Columbia's population is within one hundred miles of this one railway line.

Yet with this one railway British Columbia increased its population by 120 per cent. in ten years, and last year produced over $200 for every man, woman, and child within her boundaries.

Only now in British Columbia, as a whole, coming into its own. The vast, rich territory of Central British Columbia is being opened to development and settlement by the Grand Trunk Pacific, a transcontinental line that stretches from Halifax, on the Atlantic, to Prince Rupert, on the Pacific.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Will Spend $300,000 at Smithers

Over $300,000 will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific at Smithers for terminal improvements and division facilities. Over 200 men will be employed there by the railway company.

A large amount of money has already been expended in improvements in Smithers, such as clearing the site, grading of streets, building of sidewalks, drainage system, etc.

Smithers—hardly three months old—is a thriving, permanent community to-day. It has over 450 people, a bank, two newspapers, a sawmill, stores, business houses and homes. Seventy-five new permanent buildings are under construction. Every train brings new settlers and new construction.

Grasp the Opportunity Offered You By the Railway Company

The Grand Trunk Pacific has created this opportunity for you, an opportunity to share in the prosperity that is bound to come with the development of the rich territory being opened by its line. You know what Prince Rupert did. You know the confidence the public has in Prince George. Both these are Grand Trunk Pacific towns. You can buy a lot in Smithers to-day at a very low price—the first price—and on very easy terms.

WASHOUT ON FLUME FROM JORDAN RIVER

Accident on Power Line is Met by Use of Auxiliary Plants; Repairing

The effect of a washout on Wednesday at Jordan River has caused some inconvenience to the British Columbia Electric Railway in its power operation and has justified the progressive policy of having supplementary plants available in case of such emergency.

Fortunately arrangements have been reached with the Esquimalt Waterworks Company regarding the Goldstream supply, but it has been found necessary to have recourse to the steam plants at Store street and at Brentwood Bay.

On account of the accident to the flume Acting Manager G. M. Tripp said this morning that it had been necessary to suggest to some of the larger industrial plants the curtailment of the amount of current used, which is very great now that the darkness sets in early.

With the approach of the Christmas season the demand from ordinary consumers for current is enormous and the company is anxious to be in a position to meet that call.

That the accident has entailed so little inconvenience to the public is proof of the better position in which the company is of recent months through its policy of expansion.

Solicitor Asks Witness for Record of Sewer Expenditure in City; Arbitration Proceeds.

When former City Solicitor McDiarmid this morning asked Assistant Engineer Foreman, a witness in the sewer expropriation, arbitration case now proceeding, for a return on the cost of the sewers in Victoria and that of the Northeast sewer, Mr. Foreman smiled.

The arbitrators, H. M. Fullerton, Hugh Kennedy and R. S. Day (umpire) were called upon to decide the value of an easement for the continuation of the Northeast sewer through the property of C. W. Potts, for which he claimed $1,000 as the value of the land.

A very interesting point developed from Mr. Foreman's examination, that the whole of the northeast portion of the city could have been drained, so far as levels are concerned, into the Cook street sewer, which empties at Clover point, had it been built large enough for that additional sewerage.

This should, he said, be done as humanely as possible, instead of which it was often accompanied by unnecessary cruelty.

A DESPERATE CHARACTER

Man Wanted in Vancouver Eludes Capture Here and is Still at Large Near the City.

In charge of Sergeant McLeod, of the Vancouver police force, Charles Leicester, alias Goff, was taken back to that city this morning to stand trial for the theft of a quantity of clothing from a store and a second-hand store there on Halloween.

boat took fire among the islands. They scuttled it and made their way to land with the goods they had with them. At one of the Salt Spring Island culls they took passage on the Joan and got here on Wednesday night. Leicester was picked up by the detectives as he was trying to dispose of some of the stolen property. He had been staying at the Western hotel, Store street, and after locking him up the detectives went to his room and there recovered a lot more goods in a couple of suitcases. As they left the hotel they noticed Holland, who is well-known to the police here, and recognizing him as the other man wanted, they gave chase. Holland, however, had evidently been expecting this and made off as soon as he saw that he was observed, and being a fleet of foot as a deer he got off in the Rock Bay district. Holland is supposed to have sent out Leicester, who is not known in town, to dispose of the property, and of course when he did not return his suspicions were aroused and he was on the watch for the police. He is a native of Victoria and has a long and bad record. He has served time in this province and in Walla Walla, one of the Oregon penitentiaries. What the authorities cannot understand is how a man with his record, and committed to the latter penal institution for a ten-year term, should be released at the completion of two years of his sentence. He is a desperate character, who, according to Leicester, is carrying two automatic revolvers and often boasted to him that he would never be taken alive. A close watch is being kept here on all the exits and the police of other cities have been notified to be on the look-out for him. If he is arrested he will be detained until a Vancouver officer is sent for him, unless in the interval he commits any more serious offence within this jurisdiction.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

It was on November 3, 1775, that Benedict Arnold with his half-starved troops arrived at Lewis to co-operate with General Montgomery in an attack on Quebec. His little army had had a strenuous six weeks' march through the wilderness—up the Kennebec and its tributary, the Dead river, thence down the St. Lawrence, a little above Point Lewis. The hardships suffered had been so great that about a third of the invading force had turned back long before their destination was in sight. The rest, except those who fell by the wayside, had pressed forward, though lack of competent guides, floods on the Dead river, and shortage of provisions had rendered the journey terrible. To fight off starvation the men had eaten their dogs, their moccasins, their shot-pouches, and when at last the few hundreds who had struggled through paraded near Point Lewis, they made a pitiable spectacle—so gaunt were they with untrimmed hair and beards, their clothes hanging in tatters on their emaciated forms; hats lost; shoes gone! Yet as soon as he could obtain means to cross the icy river, Arnold—daring almost to impudence—again paraded this feeble force before the walls of Quebec.

The "Trent affair," which was largely responsible for the abrogation by the United States of its reciprocity treaty with Canada, and which doubtless hastened Canadian confederation, had its beginning fifty-two years ago to-day, when Mason and Slidell, Confederate commissioners, were taken from the British steamer Trent, en route from Havana to England, by Capt. Wilkes, of the United States war steamer San Jacinto. This action was bitterly resented by Britain, and for a time declaration of war seemed imminent. Secretary Seward, however, perceiving that the act was unwarranted, released the prisoners, who sailed for England the first of the following year. The Trent affair resulted in adding fuel to the flames of the intense anti-British sentiment which then prevailed in the United States, based on the supposed sympathy of Canada and England with the Confederate cause. This spirit made the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty inevitable, even though it was a case of "cutting off the nose to spite the face." In Canada the hostility of the Trent affair, caused considerable alarm for the future, and, to the far-seeing minds of the fathers of confederation, it appeared that the adoption of a federal form of government had become imperative. There were many causes which forced the confederation movement to a head, but the Trent affair was not the least of them.

dates from the year 1189, and the first incumbent was Henry Fitzalwyn, who held the job for 24 years. In 1214 a new charter directed that the mayor be chosen annually, which has ever since been done. Sir David Burnett, who was elected in 1912, was the 70th lord mayor of London. In ancient times the lord mayor was entitled to a tithe of all the fruit brought into the city for sale, and an annual tribute of fruit is still paid.

The lord mayor's banquet is one of the lavish and costly features of the installation programme. Many mayors have spent their entire year's salary on this one "feed," and it is recorded that in 1814 the Guildhall feast, which was graced by the presence of the prince regent, afterward, George IV, and the Emperor of Russia and the King of Prussia, cost the incumbent $125,000. In return for this lavish hospitality the prince made the mayor a baronet on the spot.

Mr. Pepps in his diary tells of one lord mayor's banquet where "there were ten good dishes to a mess, and plenty of wine of all sorts; but we had no napkins, no change of trenchers, and drank out of earthen pitchers or wooden dishes."

So long as he stays in "the city" proper the lord mayor has a rank next to that of the King, and even the monarch can't enter the city without his consent. Technically the lord mayor takes precedence of the Queen Consort, and in "the city" such dignitaries as the prime minister, the lord chancellor and the archbishop of Canterbury are inferior in rank to his worship the lord mayor.

If the suggestion of the World's Purity Federation meets with favor, the office of lord mayor of London

IF HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS, 'CASCARETS'

Clean your liver and waste-clogged bowels to-night! Feel bully!

Get a 10-cent box now. You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never give or sicken.

to-morrow will be observed as "Purity Sunday" by clergymen of all denominations the world over. The ministers of religion are requested to preach sermons dealing with the suppression of the "white slave" traffic, the encouragement of a single and high standard of morality for both sexes and social and moral betterment generally. "Purity Sunday" comes at a time when "the icy barrier of the great taboo" has apparently broken down, and pulpits, press and stage have engaged in open warfare on one of the world's most ancient evils.

COMOX EXTENSION OPENS NEXT SUMMER

Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Officials Optimistic; Steel Bridges Being Installed

As soon as the bridge work is finished on the Little Qualicum river, carrying the extension of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway into the Comox valley, which will be about Tuesday next, the bridge gang will move to Cowichan Lake to install a steel bridge. This structure is replacing the trestle about a mile east of the depot, which is the terminus of the branch line. The steel has been ready at the site for some time, but as considerable work had to be done in the Cowichan river, preparing the abutments, it is only now possible to complete the undertaking.

When the Little Qualicum river bridge is finished, the track layers will have another eight miles of grade to the Big Qualicum river available for steel, and this will be laid while the bridge men are at Cowichan Lake, whence they will return to construct the new bridge over the Big Qualicum. Should there be no delay in the arrival of material officials of the railway company look for the opening of the Comox extension by July 1 next. The grade is well advanced and while the bridges across the rivers are considerable undertakings there should be trains running into that fertile district in clear weather by next summer, opening to the southern end of the island one of the richest agricultural areas awaiting for a quarter of a century for rail transportation. The Arbutus canyon has yet to be crossed by a steel trestle in connection with the policy of changing the bridges to steel structures, but passengers over the Malahat for some time have had an opportunity of observing the preparations which are being made to meet the situation, and this will be one of the earliest works to be undertaken. The steel on the main line to Wellington has been gradually altered to heavier metal, 65-lb. steel now being laid over the 89-mile stretch.

HEAVIER FINES FOR SUNDAY INFRACCTIONS

Thirty-One Were in Court Today for Breaches of Lord's Day Act

There were some forty infractions of the Lord's Day Act reported by the police last Sunday, and a list of these were sent on to the attorney-general in the ordinary course. His list was received yesterday, and the summonses were got out and served. This morning thirty-one defendants appeared in court, all pleading guilty and all being fined. The distinction that the first law office of the crown in this province seems to make is that if a person breaks the law in a stand that is open to the street or that is approached through an open door he is an offender, but if he has a stand within the walls of a hotel he is no more an offender than if it was a week-day, with the exception of the C. P. R. news stand at the wharf. The idea seems to be that the travelling public are to be considered, but as anyone can purchase in the places that are being allowed to sell merchants argue that they are being discriminated against.

"I would say this to the defendants with reference to the act," said Magistrate Jay to-day, "that I think it is obvious that in the case of proprietors the fine should be heavier than in the case of salesmen. I would like to point out that under the act every employer who authorizes a violation of the statute or allows his shop to be kept open is liable to a heavier penalty than those charged under the section which affects personal sales. Heretofore I have imposed what might be considered very nominal fines, thinking it might have the effect of stopping Sunday sales. Apparently it has not had that effect."

The following proprietors were fined $20 each: J. C. McKillop, of the "Two Jacks," package of chewing gum. Jessa Evans, package of cigarettes. Samuel Campbell, package of chewing gum. Richard Nelson, package of cigarettes. Nicholas Pappas, package of chewing gum. W. Smith, of the Seattle Times. D. V. Vasilatos, bag of peanuts. The following employees were each fined $10 for making a sale: E. H. Walford, J. J. Wachter, tin of tobacco. James Boyd, Boyd & Brooks, package of cigarettes. C. Watkins, H. Murray, package of chewing gum. N. Vasilatos, A. Vasilatos, package of cigarettes. Mrs. Amelia Borden, employee of her husband, package of smoking tobacco. A. D. Pajlos, M. Sedilla, package of chewing gum. Alfred Robson, A. H. Hartley, tin of tobacco. E. Percival, Samuel Greenhalgh, plug of tobacco. J. E. Mayland, Frank LeRoy, one cigar. James Falconer, package of chewing gum. James Thompson, who was relieving for a friend while the latter was at lunch, package of chewing gum. George Antipas, V. Antipas, two bars of chocolate.

Mrs. Vasilatos, employee of her husband, ten cents' worth of grapes. H. H. Rose, employee of his wife, package of chewing gum. John Coombe, package of chewing gum. Cost Charhos, package of chewing gum. LeRoy Wachter, package of chewing gum. W. R. Cadman, plug-of-tobacco. V. Paul, plug of tobacco. F. P. Polson, Clark & Curtis, package of chewing gum. A. Dorman, A. H. Hartley, package of chewing gum. A. H. Nicklin, package of chewing gum. Tung, employee of an unidentified Chinese who has "gone to China, and may not come back," five cents' worth of chocolate. C. Stamadiah, package of chewing gum.

UNSEEMLY PRESSURE DEVELOPED IN LIST GAVE GOOD MOVEMENT

Lower Level of Prices Gave Unsatisfactory Tone for Week-End

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, Nov. 8.—The Mexican situation developed a critical aspect and the list accordingly came in for unseemly pressure largely for outside account.
The condition of the market for the past few days has suggested a hating attitude dependent almost entirely on how Mexican affairs matured, so the unsatisfactory phase developing this morning easily promoted irregular selling.
The lower level of prices gave an unsatisfactory tone to feeling for the end of the week and sentiment generally is more disparaged than for some time.

Well-Distributed Buoyancy in List and Issues Quiet Are Few

There was every indication of well-sustained strength on the local stock exchange this morning and an interest attached to prices of an order to induce good movement.
The Portland miners were fractionally off but inquiry is not in any way dampened, neither are there any signs of pressure apparent. The activity in these shares first awakened here has found sympathetic action on the Vancouver stock exchange, moderate sales in Portland Canal and Red Cliff having been effected there the past day or so.
The week closes with a distributed buoyancy in the list and quietness prevails in but few of the issues.

EL-RADO

is the deplorable you suffer to use, and there are thousands of women who would be glad to tell you so.

THERE'S NO REASON why you should hesitate to consult about a good depilatory any more than you would about a brand of toilet cream. To have a brand of toilet cream, but to leave it there is a crime.

FOR DISFIGURING GROWTHS of hair on the face, neck or arms, there is nothing like EL-RADO. It is a scientifically prepared, thoroughly tested and absolutely safe remedy for

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

EL-RADO not only acts instantly when applied, but leaves the skin soft, clear, and free from any irritation. It is guaranteed by reliable makers, is endorsed by the most reputable dealers, and recommended by satisfied users. The superiority of EL-RADO can be demonstrated with a single application.

SAFETY OF LIFE AT SEA CONFERENCE IN LONDON

London, Nov. 8.—In connection with the international conference on the Safety of Life at Sea, which, as already announced, will meet in London on November 12, the Board of Trade announces that the following countries have already accepted the invitation of his Majesty's government to be represented: Belgium, The Netherlands, Russia, Denmark, Germany, Norway, Spain, United States of America, besides which the United Kingdom, Canada and New Zealand will be represented; and it is expected that some further acceptances will be received from foreign countries.
It will be the object of the conference to endeavor to bring about an agreement among the participating nations necessary for safety to be laid down in the case of passenger steamships, and with reference to other measures in the interests of the safety of maritime passenger traffic. The safety regulations affecting passenger steamships which will be considered by the conference will include those relating to boats and life-saving appliances, bulkheads, and watertight compartments, fire-extinguishing appliances, manning of boats, boat drill, fire drill and bulkhead drill, wireless telegraphy assistance to ships in distress, lee warnings, ocean steamship routes, etc.
There will probably be nine delegates representing his Majesty's government, together with a certain number of experts, who will act as assessors.
The question of load-line will be considered by a separate conference, which will meet next year.

JAPANESE SHIP LOADED WITH COAL GOES ASHORE

London, Nov. 8.—The Japanese steamer Mandusan Maru, ashore off Cape Trafalgar, was until recently the Pembrokehire, a vessel of 4,550 tons registered in 1911. She is now owned by the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha Company, of Tokyo, and is insured on a value of £36,000. She is bound on a voyage from Cardiff to Port Said with coal, and yesterday 60 guineas was offered against the risk of total loss. It was very close to Cape Trafalgar that the Clan Mackenzie stranded last December, when bound to Calcutta from the Clyde and Liverpool. Although much of the cargo was saved, operations to save the hull were unsuccessful, and underwriters paid a total loss.
The Mandusan Maru was on this coast last year, taking a cargo out to the Orient from Portland, Ore.

FREIGHT MARKETS

Liverpool, Nov. 8.—Steam, outward—Outward coals have a brisk trade from Bristol Channel ports to the Mediterranean, whilst Plate has a tendency towards lower figures. East coast ports rule quiet and inclined to be easy all round. Port Said paid 16s. salt to Singapore, and Torrevieja to Calcutta 15s. 6d. paid for salt also. Time rates steady: 5s. 7 1/2d. paid Mediterranean round trip from Wales.
Steam, homeward—Australia quiet for wheat, but 31s. down ore to Antwerp. Rice ports busier, and 25s. paying from Burman for season, and same figure November from Kohlschlag. East Indies dull. Bombay 15s. Karachi 15s. Hlaek Sea a dull market and tending easier. America books grain tonnage more change. Cotton and rates are without change. Round trip to Norfolk home. Sugar from India made 14s. to Mersey or Clyde, and 9s. to Northern States. River Plate moving for new crop at 16s. to 16s. 3d.
Sail—Dull; nothing of moment doing.

MARKET STIFFENS JUST BEFORE CLOSING TIME

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—A purely professional market today, with a tendency to stiffen just before closing time. The market was weak at the opening, but stiffened at the close. Oats opening, but stiffened at the close. There is a good cash demand for all lines except Northern. Receipts average 1,275 cars; inspected and 1,245 in field.
American receipts: Minneapolis, 210 cars; Duluth, 542 cars; and Chicago, 2 cars.
Wheat—Open. Close.

LIFE'S STRUGGLE WITH ILLNESS

Mrs. Stewart Tells How She Suffered from 16 to 45 years old—How Finally Cured.

Euphemia, Ohio.—"Because of total ignorance of how to care for myself when verging into womanhood, and from taking cold when going to school, and each month I had severe pains and nausea which always meant a lay-off from work for two to four days from the time I was 16 years old.
"I went to Kansas to live with my sister and while there a doctor told me of the Pinkham remedies but I did not use them then as my faith in patent medicines was limited. After my sister died I came home to Ohio to live and that has been my home for the last 18 years.
"The Change of Life came when I was 47 years old and about this time I saw my physical condition plainly described in one of your advertisements. Then I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot tell you or anyone else the relief it gave me in the first three months. It put me right where I need not lay off every month and during the last 18 years I have not paid out two dollars to a doctor, and have been blessed with excellent health for a woman of my age and I can thank Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it.
"Since the Change of Life is over I have been a maternity nurse and being wholly self-supporting I cannot over-estimate the value of good health. I have now earned a comfortable little home just by sewing and nursing since I was 52 years old. I have recommended the Compound to many with good results, as it is excellent to take before and after childbirth."
—Miss EVELYN ADELIA STEWART, Euphemia, Ohio.

DAMAGES CLAIMED FOR LIVES LOST ON STEAMER

Vancouver, Nov. 8.—Arising out of the capsizing of the steamer Cheslakee in Van Ania harbor on January 7, of this year, two actions have been commenced in the Supreme court in which damages are being claimed for the loss of life of passengers.
One is brought by J. H. V. Simpson, the husband of Mrs. Minnie E. Simpson, of Nanaimo, and the other by John M. Johnson, the son and administrator of Mads Johnson, a logger. In both cases the amount claimed is unstated.
In the pleadings filed with the court, Mr. Simpson bases his claim partly on the fact that his wife was a school teacher earning $800 per annum, and the late Mads Johnson, a logger, 57 years of age, earning $2.75 per day.
Shortly after the proceedings commenced the owners of the Cheslakee gave notice of their intention to proceed under the merchant shipping act to ask for an order limiting their liability to the per tonnage liability, which is estimated at about $20,000. Following the dismissal of the two suits for damages brought by shippers against the company, the company has

IMPORTANT AUCTION SALE OF TOWN LOTS

Fort Fraser Townsite to be Offered at Auction in the Near Future

One of the most important announcements yet made in Western Canada regarding any of its principal trade centres is the announcement of both government and private corporations, regarding the sale of the townsite to be held during the coming month. Mr. Miller has been instructed by the principal owners of the new town on the Grand Trunk, in the interior of British Columbia, to sell by public auction all of the unsold town property, including business locations, manufacturing sites and residence property of Fort Fraser, B. C. The primary reasons for this sale, so it has been determined at one of the local offices, is to give the public in general an equal chance to secure some of the choice locations at a figure which is bound to make money for the buyers, to secure funds to develop the town and surrounding territory and the further development of improvements which have already been started. The owners of Fort Fraser, while owning practically all of the territory within a radius of twenty miles, have contented themselves by subdividing it into very small portions, thus concentrating the business interests and causing values in this favored spot to have a real and intrinsic value, which has, and will increase rapidly. The funds received from this sale will be largely used for the further development of Fort Fraser and its immediate vicinity, in which lands are owned by the owners of the original townsite of Fort Fraser. The owners of the Fort Fraser townsite having such large interests in the district are compelled to secure additional funds in order to develop the many interests and to improve and enhance the value of all the property of the district generally. So much improvement has been going on and so much demand has been made upon the large interests, that the owners have taken this means of securing sufficient funds by allowing the public in general to secure an investment after all the chances of an early investment have been eliminated, and where success has already been attained.

This is not a sale in which the owners are seeking to avoid any responsibility, but, on the other hand, it is a pure business proposition and method in which to raise sufficient funds to carry out one of the most gigantic schemes of modern development ever attempted in British Columbia or the entire West. Already more than $800,000 has been invested by the principal land owners of the Fort Fraser district in laying the foundation of a modern trade centre and controlling the immense areas of fine agricultural lands that are found radiating from this point. One hundred dollars invested there now will be worth thousands in the very near future, and fortunes such as have not been made since the early development of the other large trade centres of Canada will be made as a consequence of this sale.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.
 Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all a matter of what they eat. It's not the quantity of the food, it's the quality of the food. It's not the quantity of the food, it's the quality of the food. DOUKHOBOR QUESTION AGAIN INVESTIGATED

Blakemore Report Not Borne Out by Further Inquiry; Complaints Made Found Correct

The people of Grand Forks and the whole region in the neighborhood of the Doukhobor colonies in this province have never been satisfied with the Blakemore report, and however the findings of that royal commissioner may have suited the government which appointed him, they have not proved at all acceptable to the people among whom the Vargin colonists live.

This fact has been impressed upon the attorney-general by the people of Grand Forks, and has resulted in the sending of an official of his department to the scene to study the situation and make a report. That the Blakemore report did not correctly represent the conditions would seem to be the inference from what he has to say.

J. V. Pineo is the official in question. He went to Grand Forks last week and made an inquiry on his own account into the manner in which the Doukhobors observe—or fail to observe—the laws of the land that has given them a refuge from persecution. He also met the executive of the board of trade of that city to discuss the matter. The temper of the board plainly indicated that the people of the district want the question settled right or else have another government put in power which will carry out the law without favor and give heed to the wishes of the people.

Mr. Pineo gave the board the idea that he would have no easy task in convincing the attorney-general of the actual conditions existing in the Doukhobor colonies, when he had to run counter to the Blakemore report in what he would have to say, and if he failed to do so it would be advisable for the citizens to send a delegation to Victoria to press upon the government the necessity for immediate steps being taken to bring the Doukhobors under proper control and compel them to observe the laws.

"I am anxious," Mr. Pineo told the board, "to set at the true status of the trouble in an unbiased manner, but I am candid enough to admit that I was inclined to sympathize with the Doukhobor side of the controversy before my arrival here."
 Mr. Pineo explained that it would have been difficult for anyone not acquainted with the facts to have formed any other opinion in the face of such a document as the "Blakemore report," from which he quoted several paragraphs to the meeting.
 "I have reason now, however," he continued, "to change my views on this question, and from knowledge I have gained since coming here, I cannot do otherwise than concur with the people of Grand Forks that some action must be taken immediately by the government to settle the question once and for all as far as the province is concerned. Whatever form it will take, whether it will be the enforcement of the existing laws, or the enactment of new legislation to govern for four years, is five miles long."

the particular needs of the community, it will be of such a nature that it will bring the Doukhobor colony into strict compliance with the laws of this province.

"I feel convinced that there are no marriages solemnized in the Doukhobor community here. They are not married by a minister or priest of any sect, and do not even appear before a registrar, and therefore, in my opinion, it is a difficult matter to find out who are the parents or guardians of the children, so that it is impossible for the school trustees at the present time to enforce the school act and compel the children of the colony to attend school. The refusal of the Doukhobors to register their births makes the matter doubly difficult."

The unsanitary condition in which the members of the colony live came in for a great deal of discussion. "I am of the opinion," said Mr. Pineo, "that the board of health should enforce the laws in that respect."
 In the opinion of those attending the meeting it would be useless to attempt to enforce the health regulations or any others of a physical nature unless backed up by a sufficient force of men, as an interference with the colony would certainly be the signal for trouble which might require a strong force to deal with.

the church members and pointing out the need of the work.

The idea from which the organized scheme has grown was first suggested at the district Sunday school convention last year, although it has always been part of the policy of the British Columbia Sunday School Association, which includes members from all the churches in the community except the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches. The committee who worked on the promotion of the present scheme waited on both of these latter, however, Bishop Roper and Bishop Macdonald both heartily endorsing the idea and promising their co-operation. At last night's meeting a letter was read from the Dean of Columbia expressing his regret at being unable to attend the conference, and asking for further particulars.

Another general meeting will take place on November 21, when the various districts will report on the number of volunteers they can provide to take part in the canvass, and it is hoped that something in the neighborhood of 800 workers will be found in order to make the census as accurate as possible.

Rev. I. W. Williamson, who is head organizer for the work, is making his headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. Twelve thousand cards are to be issued to canvassers, and these will be presented to the various heads of families in the districts operated in. Spaces to be filled in a.k for the names and surnames of the various members of the household; the nationality; ages under 21; faith or denomination; the local church, synagogue, or pastor favored; unplaced church letters; number in the family who attend Sunday school; and whether person named is a boarder, an employee, or member of the family. Further spaces are provided in order that the canvasser may record when the residents were not at home, when they declined information, and when houses visited were found vacant.
