HARRY D. JACKSON PASSES AWAY.

Harry Delmar Jackson, well-known confectioner, passed away Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held in the chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. R. I. McKee, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating, and the interment was in the Huntington Beach cemetery.

Mr. Jackson was born in Knoxville, Iowa, February 22nd, 1869, and the family moved to Council Bluffs 10 years later, where he remained until coming to Huntington Beach 4 years ago.

The funeral services were largely attended, and the business district was closed during that hour.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Huntington Beach Lodge No. 183, I. O. O. F., and there was a big delegation of members and also members of the Rebekahs present.

Rev. McKee opened the services by reading the Twenty-third and Ninth Psalms and the Fourteenth Chapter of the Gospel, according to St. John. Hymns were sung by Mrs. H. A. Bowman and Mrs. Louis A. Copeland, with Mrs. H. T. Dunning at the organ.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Harriett Jackson, 85 years of age, who resided with her son, and two brothers, Henry Jackson of San Diego, and Thomas Jackson of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

RECEIVES RING MADE FROM GERMAN SHELL.

[From Newport News.]

John McCain, the Balboa dough baron, received a ring this week from his brother, in France, which was made from the brass of a German shell. While the intrinsic value of the ring is very small, the fact that it came from the bloody battlefields of France makes its value as a souvenir almost priceless. Mr. McCain's brother, H. G. McCain, is now in the Patrol Service, called by those who know of the dangers lurking almost continually in their path, the "suicide squad." The ring is polished very smoothly on the outside, and on it is mounted a French insignia.

TWO MORE YOUNG MEN AFTER THE KAISER.

Two more patriots of this vicinity have joined the colors and are going after the Kaiser, being Emery C. Rennick, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Rennick, who left last week to join the medical corps at Fort McDowell, West Garrison, Cal., and John Courages, son of R. Courages, who left for San Francisco Wednesday to join the naval force.

Went to the city the other day and the leading wholesale house asked us 22½ cents for all gingham, but we found about 500 yards that we bought so we can sell them to you this week for 20 cents. This price will look mighty cheap to you by spring. We also succeeded in buying some gray and khaki yarns that we can sell you for $1 a skein. You know these goods are selling at a higher price. A lady said to us that such yarns were selling at $2.50 a skein in Anaheim a short time ago. We have many other bargains to offer you, but don't wait, as these prices will not last. Spot cotton is now 32 cents, and manufactured goods have only commenced to advance.

WEEKLY GREETING.

We hesitate to employ a word so much abused as patriotism, whose true sense is almost the reverse of the popular sense. We have no sympathy with that boyish egotism, hoarse from cheering for one side, for one state, for one town. The right patriotism consists in the delight which springs from contributing our peculiar and legitimate advantage to the benefit of humanity.—Emerson.

WIN THE WAR FIRST.

The following reply was addressed to L. N. Brunswig of Los Angeles, appointed by William Randolph Hearst to have charge of his ill-advised plan to have a Southern California organization undertake to rebuild one of the ruined towns of France, by R. L. Bisby of Santa Ana, one of Orange county's foremost boosters, and is further evidence that Mr. Bisby is a man endowed with constructive ideas. His argument is unanswerable, and a few days later, Mr. Brunswig declined the honor:

"Dear Sir: Your circular letter of January 5, relative to the rebuilding of one of the ruined towns of France by a Southern California organization, is before me.

"I have read it over several times and endeavored to reach the viewpoint of you and your friends, but with the picture before me of the absolute necessity of the utilization of every dollar of money, and the unification of every energy of our people, together with their finances, to bring to our allies and soldiers on the battlefields of France relief, I feel that I can not join you.

"I do not doubt your sincerity and good intentions, but I seriously question the wisdom of dividing our resources at this time. To me, the one big business, the business of the world of democracy, is to win this war and establish a government of democracy in every civilized country in the world. A government of the people, for the people, and by the people."

"The President of the United States, together with every branch of our Government, is preaching the gospel of unification, as illustrated in giving to the President of the United States practically unlimited power.

"The taking over of all the railroads and the appointing of a director-general, thus bring all under a unit control. As this seems to be the national and international policy, why should we of Southern California at this time divide our resources?"

"Let's win this war and give the people of this world the right of a free government, then I am with you in the rebuilding of France and will be pleased to go out and hustle.

"Yours for world democracy."

MISSISSIPPI FIRST STATE TO RATIFY.

The Southern states have taken the lead in the matter of ratifying the prohibition amendment to the constitution of the United States. The great honor of being the first state to take formal action on this important question goes to Mississippi, the action being taken a few minutes after a message from Governor Bilbo was placed before the state legislature. There were but 8 dissenting votes. January 10th, favorable action was taken by both branches of the legislature of Virginia, the vote in the senate being 30 to 8 in favor of banishing King Booze.

There is a good chance to elect a legislature in California that will favor this amendment, as most of the wet territory in the state is now confined to San Francisco and a few smaller centers of population. The dry forces are already making preparations for the big fight, with every reason to believe that they will be successful.

There are 27 dry states now on the list, and it will require but 9 more to forever extirpate the forces of John Barleycorn from the American Union.

MISSION PLAY OPENS WITH NEW PLAYERS IN CAST.

Enters Upon Sixth Season at San Gabriel.

Inspiring in the extreme is the Mission Play, by John Steven McGroarty, which has opened its sixth season in its own playhouse, ideally situated in the shadow of the old mission at San Gabriel.

The story of the play is the recalling of the olden, golden days of California, covering periods from the landing of the first Spanish adventurers on the shores of San Diego bay, through the years of the founding of the missions that extended along the King's Highway to Sonoma, in the valley of the seven moons.

Daily incidents of the life around the missions is faithfully and colorfully portrayed, with native dances and songs adding to the impelling interest of the historical facts that have been incorporated in this remarkable pageant drama.

Norval MacGregor will this year be seen in the predominating role of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the missions, while Miss Rosamonde Joyzelle triumphs in the supporting character of Senora Josefa Yorba. Matinee performances, commencing at 2:15, will be presented daily, including Sundays.

We ought to be careful with it. That's the first one we've had of her for ten years. No, it ain't in the bottom of the trunk, I just looked there. Seems to me, though, that everybody else's is there. Don't suppose it's behind the piano, do you? Well, let's see. Yes sir, by jing, here it is. I suppose somebody's knocked it over and didn't notice. Well, it's sure in sorry shape now. MUCH BEET SEED IS GROWN IN UTAH.

1,000,500 POUNDS PRODUCED THIS YEAR.

(From "Facts About Sugar.")

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 24.—A substantial increase in production over the previous year, but one less than had been hoped for, is announced by President Thomas R. Cutler, of the United States Beet Seed Company, in his report of operations for the company's second year. Unfavorable weather and labor conditions are given as the reasons why the crop of 1,000,500 pounds of seed was not considerably larger. President Cutler says:

The Year's Results.

Results from the second year's operations have not been nearly as favorable as those for which we hoped. All preparation had been made to more than double the production of the first year's crop, harvested in August, 1916, which amounted to 682,200 pounds, but due to some very unusual climatic and labor conditions, we were not able to plow any of our soils in the fall of 1916, the ground being entirely frozen up to a depth of several inches and there being no let up in that condition all winter. Then again, the late spring of the present year delayed the plowing and preparation of the soil to such an extent that conditions for planting were far from ideal. Insufficient, high priced, and inefficient labor was a great handicap to the industry and the delay occasioned in preparing the seed bed and the planting of the mother beets resulted in a much lessened yield of seed per acre. One million and five hundred pounds of seed were grown.

The weather has been very favorable, however, for fall plowing this year, and 2,127 acres have already been plowed and prepared by Holt caterpillar tractors owned by the company, and the mother beets have been laid in by pretty fair condition. Of course, the quantity of seed which we will produce next year will depend on the condition of the mothers when taken from the silos next spring to be planted.

Land Hard to Obtain.

Another condition that affects us is the difficulty which we experience in renting suitable lands at any sort of reasonable prices. The high price of every kind of food products has caused land values to enhance considerably.

At the last meeting of the directors of the Beet Seed Company held at Washington the latter part of September, it was decided that it was absolutely necessary not only to continue all operations, but at all hazards to increase the production of beet seed in this country. With that end in view our general manager is now looking up favorable places for the further production of this important element of the beet sugar industry. No reasonable expenses will be spared to obtain these results. The war has taught us that we must not in the future be dependent on foreign countries for our seed, and no effort will be spared to arrive at the desired results as quickly as possible, even when the war is at an end. It will take many years to recover from its effect and the directors of the company fully appreciate these conditions.

LIBERTY BOY WRITES FROM HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

The following interesting letter was written by Merrideth Corbett, a nephew of Geo. A. Corbett of this city, who formerly resided in Huntington Beach:

Ninth Ambulance Company, Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, Sunday, January 6th, 1918.

Dear Uncle and Aunt:
Quite a bit of interest has happened since I wrote you last, so I shall try to cover briefly the chief happenings that have occurred in that time.

On the 15th of December, the entire Company, excepting one cook and three ambulance drivers, went to the Island of Hawaii and visited the active volcano of Kilauea, on the slopes of Mauna Loa. We each paid $7.00 to cover the expenses of the round trip, and, as we were considered as being on duty, the government fed us while away. The $7.00 covered transportation. We started on the morning of the 15th, going to Honolulu in the ambulances. We went aboard the S. S. Mauna Kea and sailed, or rather steamed, at 3:00 p. m. At 7:00 a. m. of the 16th we docked at Hilo, the capital and principal seaport of Hawaii. It is situated on the southeastern end of the island, 192 miles from Honolulu. Although the boat was small and the sea choppy, I was lucky in not becoming sea-sick, either coming or going.

From Hilo, a railroad runs out to the foot of Mauna Loa, where it terminates at a place called Glenwood, 21 miles from Hilo, and 35 miles from the peak of Mauna Loa. This part of forests, some of the fern trees growing thirty feet or more in height, and the vegetation is so dense that sunlight reaches but very few spots on the ground. All this jungle is continually dripping with moisture, and is a very undesirable place to get lost in.

We took the train to Glenwood and from there we hiked. The crater of Kilauea is 10 miles up the slope from Glenwood, and a good road has been built through the fern forests to it. At the crater the government has built two large wooden barracks for the use of the organizations visiting the volcano, and we reached these about 4 p. m. Here the altitude is 4000 feet and it gets very cold at night. Mauna Kea, about 50 miles north of Mauna Loa, is 13,865 feet high, and is always capped with snow. It is the highest peak anywhere in the Pacific.

The main crater of Kilauea is 3 miles in length and a mile and a half wide, and is surrounded by cliffs two and three hundred feet high. The floor of the crater is lava, cooled and seamed and thrown around in every conceivable position. The entire crater, excepting a small pit in the southern end, is dead, not having been active since the '90s.

The active fire pit, Halemaumau, is about 70 feet deep and 1000 feet in diameter. The bottom, 70 feet below the level of the main crater floor, is a lake of molten, boiling lava, red hot. It is irregular in form, and is continually rising and falling, often six or eight feet in a day. Gases, rising through its soft liquid mass, form bubblings or fountains here and there over its surface. Every once in a while the surface will cool, forming a crust of scum of cooled lava, sometimes inches thick. Then the pressure of the gases increases and great cracks rend the crust, fountains break through in places, throwing fragments of the red hot liquid stuff several feet into the air, after which big slabs of the cooled crust will break off and slide below the surface, until the entire surface is one red hot, seething, boiling cauldron again.

It is because of this constant change that makes it so interesting, and it is most beautiful at night. While we were there we would go in parties nearly every night and sit on the brink with our faces scorching and our backs freezing. Then about 10 or 11 o'clock we would start back for camp. It was a four-mile walk over the rough lava floor and a hard climb up the sides of the cliffs, but it was well worth the sight we had come to see.

We had ferns for mattresses and they were very comfortable. For our fires we burned Koa wood, a species of mahogany, used extensively in ship building and in making furniture.

After spending several days there, we returned, arriving here Christmas morning. There was lots of mail, and I had two boxes of good things to eat from the folks.

I also had another surprise in the form of a promotion to the grade of Private, 1st Class, which pays $3.00 more per month. I am paying for a Liberty Bond now, and am allotting $10.00 more per month to Harold to save for me until I am discharged. After the bond is paid for, I intend to increase my allotment.

Well, I've written quite a while now, so guess I'll finish about here. Lots of love to you both, and don't forget to write to

Your loving nephew,
MERRIDETH.

"WOMANHOOD" NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

"Souls In Pawn" For Saturday Evening.

"MRS. BELFAME" ON THE SCREEN SUNDAY NIGHT.

Seats are now on sale for "Womanhood" at Obarr's Drug Store. Reserve your favorite seat way in advance. Be safe, do not miss the greatest attraction that ever visited Huntington Beach. You see a wonderful story and the most remarkable action in a supposedly invasion of our dear land by a foreign army; our cities destroyed; our army and navy practically eliminated. Why? Because we were not ready.

Practically every death-dealing machine now in use in France is reproduced in this photodrama.

First show at 7:30 sharp. All seats for first show reserved. Buy the seat you prefer, then you do not have to stand and wait. Price, 25 cents, plus war tax of 3 cents, to all.

This is my first effort to give you something out of the ordinary. If you do not see the greatest photoplay ever thrown upon a screen, tell me, and I promise never to offend again.

"Souls in Pawn," on the screen Saturday evening, is a story based on international intrigue. The operation of an enemy spy system in a foreign capital. How a woman of beauty and social position became the pawn of a hostile spy-in-chief on his promise to reveal the name of her husband's murderer. Then she finds herself in love with him. Starring Gail Kane. A very strong plot and play. A Ford weekly and "Jerry's Triple Alliance" complete the bill.

Sunday night, the well-known legitimate actress, Nance O'Neil, will appear in "Mrs. Belfame." This great performer has consented to appear in only two photoplays thus far, and "Pop" feels fortunate in securing this one. A Billy Rhodes comedy and the Mutual weekly will be plenty—thank you.

"POP" ENDICOTT.

SENATOR NELSON SAYS NORWAY BADLY TREATED.

The following communication from United States Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, which appeared in the Hewitt (Minn.) Banner, is printed at the request of H. W. Sharp of Huntington Beach, who has known and admired Senator Nelson for more than 40 years.

The letter follows:

Fergus Falls, Minn., Dec. 19.—A short time ago, Gunder Bartelson, chairman of the Public Safety committee of the city council of this city, wrote to United States Senator Knute Nelson in regard to certain war matters.

Today Mr. Bartelson received a reply from the senator, in which the latter declared Norway had suffered as much from Germany as sea as Belgium has on land. The following is Senator Nelson's reply:

"I am heartily in favor of the war and want to back up the government in all necessary war measures. We are doing and shall continue to do all we can do to rid the country of German spies in their work. We have, as you know, a lot of people in our midst who are not exactly unpatriotic or disloyal, but who do not seem to understand the nature meaning and importance of this war.

"It has been perfectly clear to me from the beginning that if Germany should win we would be her next victim. Therefore, it is better for us to take a hand now than to fight Germany alone.

"I will send you a printed official account of the barbarity and cruelties perpetrated by the German army in Belgium. As you know, Germany has been nearly as cruel and barbarous to Norway on the sea as she has been to Belgium on the land. Over 700 Norwegian ships have been torpedoed and over 800 Norwegian sailors have been killed—many of them shelled and killed by the Germans after the poor fellows had got into the lifeboats.

"It makes my blood boil when I think of it. I cannot see how any person with Norwegian blood in his veins can fail to abhor the conduct of the Germans, and fail to realize it is his duty to rally around the Stars and Stripes in this emergency.

"With my best wishes, I remain,

"Yours very truly,

"KNUTE NELSON."

If you are an American, you should see "Womanhood," the glory of the nation, at the Princess Theatre, Wednesday night, January 23rd.

HIGH SCHOOL HOROSCOPE.

The Manual Training and Mechanical Drawing work is being taken up this week by C. H. Stearns. His home is in Santa Ana, but he and his wife and little son will soon make their home here. Mr. Stearns' preparation includes work at Teachers' College of Columbia University, Harvard and Berkeley. He has had a wide experience teaching.

Miss Davenport of the Grammar school is taking charge of the Free-hand Drawing.

Mrs. Edmiston's sewing class is making dresses and coats for Armenian children. If there are those who will contribute cloth, more garments can be made. Each member of the class will fit out at least one child.

The honor list for the month is larger than last. It began with 6, increased to 18 for the second month, and this month numbers 24. Margaret Cole has headed the list each month. Through an error in computation, she was not announced as holding first place the second month. The present list by classes is printed here:

Seniors—Margaret Cole, Ina Clemens, Emma Warner. Juniors—Izetta Cobb, Ethel Graham, Hattie Schonle, Eunice Stockton, Jennie Ufford, Hazelle Horn. Sophomores—Marguerite Ames, Loretta Armitage, Myrtle Brown, Carmel Grana, Fae Harris, Carrie Mallett, Orla Reno, Viola Walton. Freshmen—John Adair, Velda Barnes, Neal Bradbury, Arthur Burns, Adele Johnston, Margaret Wright. Special—Gladys Barnes.

An afternoon class has been organized in dress making, to be conducted by Mrs. Edmiston. The class will meet at 2:20 Mondays and Thursdays, to hold for an hour. The bus will run, leaving the bank building at two o'clock, coming up Ocean avenue and Seventeenth street. The class will meet first, Monday, the 21st. Tell your neighbors about it.

Miss Dorothy Helm of the Oxnard High school has entered the Sophomore class.

Night classes in Manual Training and Mechanical Drawing will open again Monday, 7 to 9 o'clock.

Basketball.

January 4. The Huntington Beach basketball team journeyed to Santa Ana and played one of the most exciting games of basketball this year. When the final whistle blew the Huntington Beach boys led by a narrow margin of one point, 25-26.

January 9. The Sailor Boys from the submarine base at San-Pedro defeated the Huntington Beach boys by a score of 17-23. Ralph Mallett, a former Huntington Beach High school player, starred for the winners.

January 11. The Huntington Beach team was defeated by Orange, at Orange, with a score of 42-27. At the close of the first half the score stood 21-21. But in the last half the Orange-men proved too much for the Huntington Beach boys. The result of this game gives Huntington Beach third in the county league.
