Dedication...

There are always times in a student's college career when she feels that her efforts are of no particular value or consequence. This is far from the truth.

Your contributions, large or small, are interwoven with those of your classmates to form the pattern of life which is, in essence, the spirit of Woman's College.

Our school is neither more nor less than the sum total of its parts. Woman's College is what it is because of you, the individual student. Therefore, it is in tribute to YOU that we dedicate this, the 1957 edition of Pine Needles.

What Is Woman's College?

What is Woman's College to me?
A name, a school, the seal you see,
A certain word, "Democracy."
What is Woman's College to me?

The hall I live in,
A plot of earth, a street,
Dean Taylor, Chancellor Pierson,
And the people that I meet;
The students crossing campus,
The faces that I see:
All races, all religions —
That's Woman's College to me.

The place I study,
The classmate at my side,
The classroom or the ballroom
Where my friends have laughed and cried,
The "howdy" and the handshake,
The air of feeling free;
The right to speak my mind out —
That's Woman's College to me.

The things I see about me,
The big things and the small —
The "Yum-Yum" on the corner
And our spacious Elliott Hall;
The gym class and exam time,
Phones ringing in your ears:
The dream's that's been a-growin'
For sixty-four long years.

The rush to breakfast,
The eight-ten bell too soon;
The streetlights in a rainstorm,
Or the soda shop at noon,
The mobiles and the abstracts,
The million tasks I see,
But especially the people —
That's Woman's College to me.

The room I live in,
The folks across the track,
The people who just came here
And from generations back;
The men who bring the laundry,
The others that I see,
The men who built this college —
That's Woman's College to me.

The TV tower,
The statue of Charles D.,
A maze of one-way streets,
A faculty-student tea;
Peabody Park in springtime,
An empty coke machine;
A weekend midnight curfew —
That's what Woman's College means.

The words of Charles McIver,
Of Elliott and of Shaw;
Miss Grogan in house meeting
Speaks of Democratic Law:
The choir sings in Aycock,
There's a holiday at hand;
We evacuate the campus
In one exultant band.

Raincoats on Tuesday,
Bermudas on back streets;
With school of health and beauty
No others can compete;
Our source of education
A school of fancy free,
And a promise for tomorrow —
That's Woman's College to me.

The Woman's College campus houses many well-equipped buildings; however, without students the buildings would be meaningless. With the arrival of September, every part of the campus becomes vitally alive. Girls come from everywhere, bringing minds eager for learning. Soon the classrooms are invaded, rehearsals get underway in Aycock, dining halls are filled with hungry, talkative girls, the library becomes a place of research and thought, the soda shop becomes a smoke and music-filled hangout, and the dorms are noisy "homes away from home" from early morning till all hours of the night.

The staff feels that every girl is essential to the life of the college, as everyone contributes something of herself, be it large or small, towards the well-being of the student-body as a whole. Not only through club participation and class attendance do students contribute, but also through dorm life—house committees, dorm devotions, intermural teams, or house-keeping committees.

Because this book is dedicated to you, the student, we have attempted to present a week which could be taken from the life of any one of you—whether you take part in many activities or only one.

From Monday to Sunday—orientation to graduation—girls at Woman's College are never idle.

Therefore we have divided this book into the seven days of the week, including under each day the numerous activities which are offered daily on our campus.

In addition, we have emphasized the lines of students found on Woman's College campus—lines which form and reform from day to day, from year to year—registration lines, dining hall lines, CU Day lines, and payment lines . . . lines of freshmen, led by junior advisors, touring the library . . . lines of sophomores sporting new jackets . . . juniors lining up to serenade their sister class . . . and finally, lines of seniors waiting to receive their diplomas.

Woman's College is reborn every year, but every year something is left behind—a record of the year's achievements, disappointments, and future aims in order that all might know that the new people might place their trust and loyalty in the experienced hands of the administration and the accomplishments of their predecessors.

We, the staff of the 1957 Pine Needles, sincerely hope, that in the years to come, this book will bring to your mind a vivid recollection of Woman's College life and an enduring memory of its un-failing spirit.

Monday...

Lines of faces reflecting anticipation . . . minor frustrations . . . fatigue. Lines of cars in the quadrangle . . . stuffed animals, and radios . . . handshakes; room keys and "know your dormitory" . . . Junior advisors . . . personally conducted tours for freshmen . . . Lines for payments . . . "When do I register?" . . . mass meeting today . . . new group in the "crow's nest" . . . "Oh college dear to you" . . . another look at the dining hall . . . new faces . . . same lines! Lines for books . . . roll call . . . first assignments . . . Woman's College . . . A promise of opportunity.

Orientation

September, 1956, the quadrangle was once again filled with cars bringing back blue, green, and future red-coats, and, for the first time, the class of 1960. Orientation held a different meaning to each of these groups: for the wondering freshmen . . . junior advisors, new friends, rooms, and ideas — they learned quickly, adding spark and enthusiasm to campus life; for the sophomores, the day when they marched jubilantly through the dining halls modeling red jackets with "59" on the pockets; for the juniors, guarding carefully the secret of "Fatheads Arise" until the day Aycock stage was rightfully theirs; for the seniors, the final stretch . . . the testing of their teaching abilities . . . the sad-happy time when they would file in black caps and gowns in front of the library for well earned degrees.

Freshman quadrangle on moving day.

The junior "sisters" serenaded the frosh in the quadrangle.

Orientation consists not only of the first week of school, but of all four years. First mass meetings, quadrangle sings — and learning people's names are important — but even more so are the times of experimentation and interpretation. Thus orientation as applied to each individual is but a time of growth and a time of working to learn, and to gain the experience needed throughout life.

Those first days were warm and sunny.

For Upperclassmen

Orientation continues through the year as practice teachers leave for their first day "on the job."

Part-time work in the dining hall adds to the grind, but at the same time it puts money in that "nest-egg" we all need.

 CHRIS VELONIS..... Legislature Representative
 BARBARA HARRIS..... Elliott Hall Representative
 MARIETTA PHILLIPS..... Social Chairman

At home in the Elliott Hall Town Student's lounge, Chris tunes in Mickey Mouse Club for Marietta, Sharon and Jo Ann.

Long for those homecooked meals? No curfew hour? How about a lounge of your own with TV for that "between classes" time? These are but a few of the advantages of being a Town Student. There are, unfortunately, the disadvantages of rising in the wee small hours to return that overnight reserve book or of returning from the comfort of home for those required meetings. All this and more make up the dual existence of a Town Student.

The social year of the Town Students Organization was launched with a tea for the new students last September. Other social highlights have ranged from the weekly coffee hours to a Halloween costume party.

Although living at home, the Town Students are an integral part of campus life. Their participation in Student Government, Service League, and the literary, dramatic, and musical efforts of the campus has been a vital one.

At play in the soda shop, gossip is the topic; relaxation, the issue at hand for town students.

Work, or at least debating it, Chris, Marietta, Barbara, and Jo Ann envy Sandy and her departure.

Carolyn Walke instructs a life-saving class in leveling-off techniques prior to using the cross-chest carry.

Betty Flinchum explains "cross blades, on guard" to Maxine Jarrett and Dottie Lee.

Practice and more practice makes perfect for the Tap Dance club and instructors Pat Helgeson and Nancy Morrison.

"Criss" for the last ball down, and the winner—Annie Helen Kent.

Recreation Association

The Recreation Association offers to each student a wide and varied range of activities. Among the many clubs it includes are Dolphin-Seal, Modern Dance, Coaching and Officiating and innumerable others. Saturday afternoons of fun in the gameroom and nights of dorm recreation are also a part of the vast program.

Carolyn's ahead with a strike in the third frame, but Maxine is close behind.

Boating, diving, or just sunbathing—take your pick at our new R. A. center, Piney Lake.

Piney Lake is the newly acquired recreation center. A lake, a basketball pavilion, and nights of singing around a blazing fire await those people who take advantage of the facility. . . . The philosophies behind R. A. are many; but it is important to realize that in addition to being a fun organization, its leaders are working to provide for the entire campus a chance for purposeful pleasure in participation.

Judicial Board

Judicial Board and its subsidiaries, Honor Board and Hall Board, combine to establish and carry out the honor policy in a manner which is both beneficial and applicable to the campus society as well as to the individual and the community.

Following a change in 1953 in the organization of Student Government, the judicial system functions independently of both the legislative and executive branches and is headed by the Judicial Chairman. The board is composed of a chairman and eight associate members, five of whom are seniors, two juniors and one sophomore. Working more toward individual character development of the student through correction than with punitive measures in mind, the Judicial Board offers understanding along with firm justice.

National Student Association

An all important organization on campus is the National Students Association council. Based on the premise that our student government, as well as all student governments, can be much improved by a culmination of many ideas, this council brings their contributions to local, national and international meetings of similar groups.

This year, an outstanding contribution to all our lives was the visit of Istvan Laszlo, a refugee from Hungary. Those who took advantage of hearing his talk realized that only through continued, honest effort can we hope that students of all countries will some day be given opportunities for study and self-growth comparable to those we enjoy.

N.S.A. is playing a vital part in national education and in advancement of world understanding.

The Executive Cabinet of S.G.A. functions in an advisory capacity to the President of the Student Government.

The annual tribute to Charles Duncan Melver serves to remind us of the heritage we have at the Woman's College. Since its founding in 1891, it has grown large, broadened its horizons, and seen its first students leave and be replaced by an ever-increasing multitude. Fine teachers have come and left their mark. New buildings have appeared and ever-progressing science has inspired many other alterations. In the midst of these outward changes, the ultimate goals of Woman's College have remained unchanged. Through Student Government, working in conjunction with faculty and the individual, we remain steadfast in our desire to learn and to serve.

Coraddi

The CORADDI publishes, quarterly, some of the best submitted student work done in writing, art, and sometimes music. The magazine, by its presentation of student work, offers the writer and the artist the opportunity of seeing her work in print; and offers, to the campus as a whole, the chance to read and appraise current student efforts.

Through panels composed of faculty members, the CORADDI gives the student the benefit of critical opinion on all material published. The CORADDI, each year, concentrates much of its effort on its annual Arts Forum Issue, which includes material from students through the country so that writers here may compare their work with the best from other schools.

High up in a corner of Elliott Hall on a Wednesday night one light on campus is still burning . . . typewriters wearily clack on . . . as red-haired editor in black toreadors points to the holes on page four and suggests that "glop-writing" begin—a suggestion that appears as an unexplainable and often riotous four inches in Tuesday's issue. Another corner is set aside for the tenth Collegium Musicium notice. Bunny and Neill crouch over a desk immortalizing a "wheel" in "campus cogs." The ruler is slapped against a page again, and make-up on the last page is done. It's one a.m., and the paper is finished. Columnists, feature-writers, and the girls counting headlines stub the last cigarette, swallow the last drop of coffee, leave the copy for the printer, and go home. Another CAROLINIAN is born.

Carolinian

The CAROLINIAN, by means of unbiased news coverage and timely comments on campus events, attempts to give the student an accurate picture of daily happenings. The paper, by the inclusion of such columns as "Sound and Fury," gives the student a chance to voice her opinion also.

Columnists expound their opinions. Feature writers dig into unheard of sources to print off-beat stories. The make-up staff, wielding rulers and writing endless headlines, keep the wheels of the paper running. The news staff checks on endless details, the freshmen members muttering the "who, when, where, what, and how" that will soon become automatic. The editorial staff gathers, and new policies are discussed. Thus the CAROLINIAN is a daily process of thought and hard work.

The dummy of the 1957 Pine Needles is no longer a blueprint on paper and in the minds of the staff. Due to the combined efforts of many wonderful individuals—their dreams, aspirations, and ideas, the book is now a reality. Within it, we hope, are the keys to many happy memories of your college career.

Looking back now, it is hard to realize the many, many long hours of tiring labor that went into this book. The last minute rush to type pages of copy, trying to make deadlines and thwarted in the effort by sleet and snow, writing copy and captions in the wee hours of the morning, covering blocks and blocks on foot and the result—one ad, debating which pictures to cut so as to stay within the budget—all this and more was a vital Service League has a two-fold purpose: that of serving the campus and the students, and that of serving less fortunate groups outside the college. These aims are accomplished by means of drives and projects.

One of Service League's biggest contributions toward the well-being of others is the sponsorship of an annual Purse Drive, the proceeds of which are divided equally among the various charity organizations soliciting financial aid.

Service League also sponsors a clean-up campaign for the Soda Shop, the Book Exchange, the Blood-mobile, and the Clothing Drive.

The league is comprised of a chairman appointed by the president of Student Government, an advisory group elected by the chairman, an elected representative from each dorm, a town student, and three faculty advisors.

Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum

"THE ELECTION: ISSUES AND PROSPECTS" provided the topic for the tenth annual Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum. A committee of faculty and students joined with leaders in education, politics and law to stimulate student interests, ideas and controversy over the 1956 presidential election. George Denny, Sam J. Ervin, Daphne Leeds, and Ruth Silva analyzed the main topics of 1956 through forums and informal discussions.

of the Arts

The whole scope of the modern arts was examined in the Fourteenth Annual Festival of the Arts, headed this year by Dr. Benjamin Townshend and Jackie Murphy. Drama, sculpture, painting, music, dance, and writing were presented in a schedule of performances, lectures, exhibits, and panels.

A panel of artists including Grace Hartigan, Peter Kahn, Ibram Lassaw, and Thomas Hess presented the newest concepts of the art world. Ernest Kanitz was especially commissioned by the music department to write a composition. Anna Sokolow, choreographer, presented the new forms of the dance through recitals and classes; and Robert Frost and Monroe Spears,

ERNEST KANITZ

Editor of Sewanee Review, were among the authors discussing the latest thinking in literature.

WUNC TV

Television at Woman's College has grown rapidly during our three years that the tall tower has stood over the campus. Under the new direction of Robert Holley, the station expanded its program of educational television, attracting more students to the newest entertainment form with courses and studio work.

Campus resources are widely used in faculty and student productions. The WC studio, in conjunction with the stations at Chapel Hill and State College, presents long-range coverage of events with little difficulty. Television at Woman's College is beginning to assume the tall proportions of its outward symbol.

Theater

A YOUTHFUL BUT VITAL PART of the student's life, the Woman's College Theater provides varied creative outlets for every interested student. From tryouts to production, the theater involves both the work and the artistic ingenuity of many people.

The year's productions have been THE GLASS MENAGERIE, THE WOMEN, HEDDA GABLER, PORTRAIT IN BLACK, and an opera, DIDO AND HENEAS, produced with Chapel Hill.

Herman Middleton and the Masqueraders have been vital in continuing the rapid growth this department has made.

Elliott Hall

Bridge lessons, Saturday night dances, coffee hours — all are part of a versatile, well-integrated program evolved by the Elliott Hall Council to meet the social needs of every girl on campus. The Council acts as the governing body of Elliott Hall. It is composed of a president, a representative elected from each residence hall, and one representative from the Town Student Association. The student activity programs are organized by five committees working in conjunction with the Council.

President

The Interfaith Council is composed of the president and one representative from each of the eleven organized religious groups, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, and the Dormitory Devotions chairman. Some of the main contributions of the Council for 1956-57 were the Interfaith Forum, the Universal Day of Prayer, and two lecture series. Miss Joan Roberts, the advisor, worked closely with the Council members in planning such activities as the Thanksgiving assembly, the spring workshop, and the bimonthly vesper services. By encouraging cooperation for a varied program, the Interfaith Council attempted to aid the denominational groups in presenting their programs to the campus and to promote an atmosphere of spiritual growth.

MISS JOAN ROBERTS
Coordinator

Interfaith Forum

With the theme, "The Impact of Religion on the Fields of Knowledge," the speakers discussed the subject with regard to their respective fields, that is, the humanities, the social sciences, the natural sciences, and theology. The Forum, led by Chairman Ann McIntosh and advised by Mrs. Ruth A. Clarke, was the cooperative effort of all the religious organizations. Beginning with a joint supper, the program included panels, seminars with the individual speakers, and dorm discussions. In the informal talks, students met with the speakers and local ministers to explore the question of how religious faith influences a student's approach to academic studies.

THE ALMA MATER

We raise our voices, let them swell
In a chorus loud and strong
The rolling hills send back the sound
Of our triumphant song:
For in one great unbroken band
With loyal hearts and true
Your daughters stand and hand and hand
Sing college dear to you.

Our college days run swiftly by
And all too soon we part
But in the years that are to come
Deep graven on each heart
Our motto service will remain
And service we will do:
And as we serve our hearts will turn
O' college, dear to you.

Dear Alma Mater strong and great
We never shall forget
The gratitude we owe to you
A never ending debt
All honor to your name we give
And love we pledge anew
Unfailing loyalty we bring
O' college, dear to you.

"Our college days run swiftly by, and all too soon we part . . ." As June draws near an air of nostalgia surrounds all of us. Black gowns will replace the beloved "blue jackets." Graduation time is here again.

The final goal for this phase of life—Graduation.

THRONGS OF PROUD PARENTS and faculty stand in respect . . . strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" . . . the class of '57 appears. Well-known faces reflecting an air of serenity . . . faces radiating an eagerness to meet all challenges . . . four years ago they came to W. C. as eager freshmen, full of anticipation. Three years ago they were sophomores, and the blue jackets appeared at mass meetings. Last year . . . class rings . . . Junior Show . . . "What Is Woman's College?" . . . and now . . . they leave to become the leaders of tomorrow. "May God build for you a harmony . . ."

Junior members of the "daisy chain" make a final salute to the Seniors.

The last, and perhaps the best, in a long series of lines.

Student Body Faculty Administration ... 1957

THESE THREE ELEMENTS, working in close conjunction, are representative of a spirit of understanding and cooperation that prevails on the Woman's College campus.

The student may be assured of the administration's insight and concern for her, for every administrator has been, at one time, a part of the student-body. The faculty, too, has the interest of the student in mind, as is shown by its willingness to guide through the medium of thorough instruction as well as by advice and time given outside the classroom. The student body has, in turn, demonstrated its eagerness to join forces with the faculty and the administration in order that policies, expressing the views of the majority, may be formulated.

Without this close cooperation we might still be just a college; however, by working together, we have that intangible unity which makes us the Woman's College.

"WE RAISE OUR PAWS AND WHISKERS" . . . with these words freshmen became the class of 1960. They came from everywhere, inexperienced in the ways of college life but quickly organizing themselves into a spirited progressive body. First dorm cheers sounded from the crow's nest; then came the day when the student body heard for the first time the freshmen class song. Soon they became an integral part of the campus organizations. Student Government, Elliott Hall committees and many other groups were enriched with the addition of their fresh enthusiasm. Their willingness to work for and support all campus-wide projects brought recognition and praise. From this year of orientation they have gained a better understanding of themselves as individuals and have begun to realize the responsibilities which they must assume as students of the Woman's College. This year is their foundation for the future.

But they said the laundry draws them up!

THE COMMERCIALS OF 1957 set a precedent by being the first class to leave their quarters in Kirkland and Hinshaw and move in with the Freshmen and upperclassmen, perhaps getting a greater taste of college life now than they ever had before.

Traditionally known as the class to corner the market on pins, diamonds and knitted argyles, the Commercials of '57 were no exception. Coordinating a year of typing, accounting, shorthand, and all the other mechanics of the business world with bridge games and a wide social life, the Commercials crowded four years of class spirit and hard work into a short nine months.

Living the life of freshmen with all the restrictions and regulations that complicate the life of first-year students and then gaining in their second semester an upperclassman's aplomb, the college days of a Commercial indeed run swiftly and joyously by.

What would we do without this?

Hard working Commercials take a much needed relaxation period.

Senior house presidents are the unsung heroines of our campus. To this hardworking group fall the innumerable tasks that are involved in leading a smooth functioning dorm. Never too involved with their senior duties, they give freely of themselves to inspire the "togetherness" that is such an essential part of dorm life.

"The redcoats are here" . . . the jubilant cry of the class of 1959. A feeling of belonging overwhelmed every sophomore. With renewed vigor and dedication they faced a year which was filled to the brim with unforgettable happenings. October thirty-first they flocked to the gameroom, then left, guarding carefully their bright red secrets until the hour of five p.m. when red clad figures swarmed through the dining halls singing "To W. C. our song we raise . . ." Laughing at the idea of becoming the "forgotten class" they soon became the dreaded "sophomore cats." "On your knees rats" . . . "air raid" . . . "flood" . . . all passed in great fun, and a friendship between the class of 1959 and '60 was begun. Now, as the year ends, comes the realization that campus leadership is just around the corner; and the desire to be worthy of this responsibility is strong and foremost in the minds of every sophomore.

"Fatheads. Arise" . . . white gloves and green jackets . . . the junior show. After months of planning and weeks of secretive rehearsals the talented class of 1958 presented its long-awaited junior show — one of the year's highlights. Responsible members of the class became house presidents. To them fell the responsibility of transmitting the standards and ideals of Woman's College to the freshmen. Quadrangle serenades welcomed the sister class. Sister Day strengthened the bonds of mutual loyalty. Class jackets became a little worn, and class rings took an honored place on juniors' hands. Thus the rising senior class contributed invaluable to the year 1957 at Woman's College. Their outstanding three year record is an assurance that they are ready to assume positions of leadership in all phases of student activity, and that they are well qualified to bear the most respected name of Our Campus Seniors.

Judy, Jean and Pat don't seem to find K.P. duty so had.

Sandy Walker and Ellen Spielman, co-chairmen of the junior show, watch intently as the final rehearsal of "Fatheads, Arise" draws to a close.

BEN NITA BLACK
Cheerleader

It was the year when the last curtain fell on a thousand scenes of joy and heartbreak, immaturity and growth, female foolishness and acquired wisdom. It was the year when everything was final — the last class meeting, the last weary house meeting, the last class in Curry, the last line in South, the last Aycock play, the last game to officiate, the last paper to turn in, the final school song to sing. It was the year when trips to advisors and to the placement office became established habits; the year when there was more time spent on applications to graduate school, more on Russian history and coordinating. Blue jackets with their worn look of "character" became past fashion, and the black robes became high style. The seniors, in a haze of memories, grins and sometimes tears, have gone to join the Alumnae — to join the world.

It takes time and skill to find your books in the dining hall.

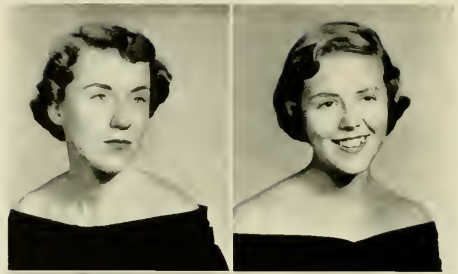

Hard working seniors?

May our merit and our loyalty
bring you pride, oh, college dear;
That the classes of the future years
your honor will revere.

Administration . . .

The administration of Woman's College is a many-faceted organization. Administrative offices are found not only in the administration building but are housed in buildings everywhere on our campus.

Acting Chancellor Pierson . . . logical, level-headed . . . axis around which administration revolves . . . Dean Taylor . . . patience and understanding personified . . . Dean Mossman . . . advice and guidance with a smile . . . class chairmen . . . interest in the individual . . . the registrar . . . efficiency in handling of courses and cuts . . . the cashier's office . . . payment cards and checks . . . Miss Hawkins . . . tireless effort to provide for those in need . . . secretaries . . . typewriters and friendliness . . . the dining hall . . . dietitians planning and directing . . . the infirmary . . . Dr. Collings and Dr. Curtis . . . always ready to give help and medical advice for physical and mental needs . . . nurses . . . working long hours and giving freely of their time. . . . These and many other spokes on which the complicated wheel of administration revolves are the generally unseen supports which allow our daily college living to continue. The endless hours of diplomacy, tact, finance, and decision that go into the progress of the college and into the maintenance of academic and physical standards are originated in the minds and efforts of the Woman's College Administrators.

The annual appearance of the Chancellor in Assembly, the tall figure of Dean Taylor often seen in the library or occasionally speaking quietly and firmly in house meeting, class chairmen putting forth a super-human daily effort to give the best of their advice to combat the tears and problems of the students, Dean Mossman best remembered on the stage of Aycock on Founder's Day—these and others, endlessly aiding the machinery of the college, taking a hundred problems off our shoulders, and when necessary adding a few, are always here when we need them, are always here to serve us, the Woman's College.

Your President...

William Friday

President of the Consolidated University of North Carolina

We, the students of Woman's College, wish to extend a welcome to William Friday, new president of the Consolidated University. We know that his expert ability and able leadership will be of great benefit to all three branches of the Consolidated University throughout the years to come.

President Friday, a graduate of the Textile School of State College and the University Law School at Chapel Hill, is indeed an asset to our college, bringing with him a capacity for greater cooperation and understanding.

Luther H. Hodges
Governor of North Carolina

The students of Woman's College recognize the excellent guidance of Governor Luther H. Hodges in furthering the development of our college. His wisdom and devotion have been a powerful working force for the advancement of our welfare.

To the Class of '59 . . .

We Dedicate Our

CLASS SPIRIT—INTERESTS—INDIVIDUALITY
DESIRES—ACCOMPLISHMENTS . . .

We hope that our past memories will Become part of your present dreams and
That you, too—have Entered to learn and will leave to serve . . .
Your community
Your nation
Your God . . .

THE CLASS OF '57

To the trudge around the campus that unforgettable week
To the "mess" of registration that swept you off your feet—
To "lights out" on the dot at eleven,
To weekends . . . (Carolina heaven!)
To initiation with ears and tails
From history 101 you hailed
Those exams . . .
Oh, yes—we once felt that way too—
But wait!—a jacket, a ring in view
And Sisters dear, as only to you
A welcome—three years blest anew—
In the halls of Upperclassmen.

YOUR SISTER CLASS OF '58

We pay tribute to the members of a class:

*who have given of their time and talents,
both individually and as a group;*

*who have inspired, guided, encouraged,
and have readily acknowledged our endeavors;*

who have moulded our class spirit and left us the desire to diligently seek, willingly serve, and to excel as did the class of '57.

*Your sister class,
the class of '59*

Dear Class of Nineteen Fifty-Eight,

You wear your green jacket. Your class ring bears the insignia of '58. High you hold your head and with reason. You work with quiet assurance, you walk with dignity. You are proud to say you go to W.C. It is your home and you love it. For you it is not only a group of buildings, classrooms, corridors, and steps, but it is people from all over the country mingling and living together as one. Yes, you are proud to belong to W.C.

The sailing has been rough many times for you, but somehow you always seemed to pull through. Yesterday you were the child, awkward and unassured, away from home for the first time.

We, the class of 1960, wish you all the success and good luck on your journey.
