

VACANT CITY LOTS

MRS. NANNO WOODS TELLS HOW PHILADELPHIA MADE $28,000 FROM UNEMPLOYED LAND

At the regular meeting of the Glendale Garden society, Friday night, the president, Mrs. Nanno Woods, read the following interesting paper:

Probably some of you have heard of the Pingree Potato Patches started in Detroit in 1893 by Mayor Pingree during a period of severe business depression. This movement provided the fundamental idea which has since been adopted, adapted and carried on with ever-increasing success by the Vacant Lots Cultivation Association of Philadelphia. Started in 1897, this association has proved by its 19 years of continued efficiency that the cultivation of idle city lots is no far-fetched or freakish idea; it has proved that it is feasible and possible and highly effective to bring together unemployed labor and unemployed land. Indeed the very mention of the names of the men under whom the movement was started, and under whose enthusiastic leadership the good work has been continued, is sufficient proof that sound business and economic principles form the very basis of the undertaking. Samuel Fels is the honored president, and Joseph Fels, until his death, was an active, zealous director. Even the most skeptical could not accuse either of these financiers of fostering any unsound or non-productive schemes.

For many years James H. Dix has been the paid superintendent and executive secretary of the association—a man with a vision, a man able to communicate that vision to others. By example and precept Mr. Dix preaches and proves his gospel of increased opportunity for self - self, and the truest relief is that which does not pauperize, and that health and wealth can be gained from gardens on idle city lands. He claims that the money applied by public spirited persons to this form of employment affords an opportunity for work given to hundreds of needy families, and that it is essentially a charity which decreases the need for charity. "Lack of proper opportunity," he says, "to maintain respectable and comfortable living conditions is the one general cause of the poverty with which cities have to deal." But is there sufficient opportunity to meet the need? And very pointedly he goes on to say that when we know there is sufficient idle land within the city limits to furnish an opportunity for the relief of every man, woman and child in the city, that question is answered.

During the year 1915 this association provided garden tracts for 671 poor families on vacant land loaned for this purpose by well-to-do men and women who saw it was better to let them be used thus than to serve for weeds or trash piles. This co-operation has proved more profitable than any other sort of charitable work. The results stand as a monument to the economic sanity of Samuel and the late Joseph Fels. The crops raised on the vacant lot gardens have returned a measure of profit which would make any business man O. K. the effort as more than sound from a financial point of view.

In presenting the synopsis of the superintendent's report in 1915 the Board of Directors writes thus: "We have again proven the old adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, by showing how much greater results can be obtained, and at smaller cost, by offering an opportunity to prevent poverty before a condition of extreme want is reached. The increased health and valuable training received by thousands of persons in this work are in themselves sufficient reason for greatly increasing the number of vacant lot gardens throughout the city."

The method of the association is described as follows, by Superintendent Dix.

"We prepare the idle land, which is loaned to us, for cultivation by plowing, harrowing, etc., then divide it into gardens about one-sixth of an acre in size and assign them to the families whose applications have been received.

"Fertilizer and sufficient good seed to insure a successful start are furnished to the gardeners. Improved methods of gardening are shown.

We charge the families nothing for the opportunity to cultivate these gardens, as the idle land is loaned to us without cost. The plowing, fertilizer, seeds, etc., which we furnish to the families cost the Association about $5.00 per garden. For these we charge $1.00 the first season.

PROVIDENCE OF GOD

DR. A. J. FROST SAYS EVEN SIN WORKS FOR GOOD FOR GOD'S PEOPLE

Dr. A. J. Frost preached at the Presbyterian Church Sunday on "The Providence of God," taking the familiar text, "All things work together for good for those who love God." The speaker emphasized the fact that work is the law of life—all things work—yes and all work together for good, even sin, for those whom God has accepted.

Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden while incapable of sin were a much lower order of being than Adam and Eve who sinned and were yet saved. Every particle of matter in the universe is at work, every experience of human life—health, sickness, poverty, riches, prosperity, adversity, light and darkness—all work together for good to them who are saved by grace.

A watch is composed of wheels, cogs, springs, pulleys, all working together in harmony for a complete whole and yet knowing not what they are doing. We are kept in darkness but at last all will be made plain according to the promise. Air is composed of nitrogen and oxygen, combined the two elements are life-giving, but separated they will burn and consume. They work together for good.

Always God is working for our good, however mysterious may be His ways. Dr. Frost then told the story related in the poem by Thomas Parnell in which the old hermit decided to leave his cave and go out into the world. He accepted as his guide a young man whom the poet represents as Providence, the latter exacting the promise that no matter what occurred the hermit should ask no questions. They fared forth into the world and every day the guide committed some act which to the hermit seemed absolutely contrary to all his ideas of right and wrong, even robbery and murder were among the things he saw. It was as much as he could do to refrain from questioning, but he did so until the very last when he indignantly demanded why such acts had been committed, the patiently and in detail Providence explained them all showing the good to result.

"I'd rather be a sinner justified by Grace than be an Archangel," exclaimed the speaker, and by many interesting anecdotes and apt illustrations he built up a very logical and interesting discourse. "What I do now I know not, but ye shall soon know."

DEATH OF MRS. H. C. BRIDGEFORD

Mrs. Henrietta C. Bridgeford, wife of W. G. Bridgeford, 511 Eagle-dale avenue, Eagle Rock, died rather suddenly, Monday afternoon. Mr. Bridgeford, who is a florist and bulb specialist, left for Los Angeles, along with his daughter, early Monday morning. At that time Mrs. Bridgeford was in her usual health and had begun a washing, which she had finished and had hung the clothes on the line. Apparently she had been taken suddenly ill after having completed her work, as when Mr. Bridgeford and Miss Bridgeford returned home about 4 p. m. they found her half sitting, half lying on her bed. It was apparent that she had been suddenly seized with stomach trouble and it is believed that this had caused a dilation of the heart. She had apparently been dead only a short time when her husband and daughter returned. Dr. Bryant was called and pronounced her dead. The body was taken to the Pulliam Undertaking parlors, Glendale. No arrangement has yet been made for the funeral.

Mrs. Bridgeford came, along with her family, to California about fifteen years ago. At that time she had been affected with heart trouble but since her residence in this climate she had completely recovered and was apparently in her usual health up to the time of her death. She was fifty-six years of age.

KITCHENER AND STAFF LOST AT SEA

BRITISH FIELD-MARSHAL PERISHES WHEN CRUISER HAMPSHIRE STRIKES MINE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, June 6.—Everywhere throughout Britain the people are mourning the loss of Lord Kitchener and his staff, who perished along with the officers and crew of the cruiser Hampshire, when it struck a mine off the coast of the Orkney islands last night. The official announcement of this tragic event was made public by the admiralty this morning. It was stated that the coast of the islands is being searched for traces of the wreck and for possible survivors. Nothing has been found except a few dead bodies and an overturned boat. There is still a faint hope, that some may have escaped and gone inland in the Orkneys. A high sea was running at the time of the accident, so it is not likely any have escaped. The Hampshire was en route to Russia, where Kitchener was to confer with the czar and his military advisers.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

PROTESTS DENIED—EIGHTH ST. AND SYCAMORE CANYON IMPROVEMENTS

The board of trustees met in regular session at the city hall at 8:00 p. m., June 5, 1916. All members present at roll call.

The minutes of the last regular meeting, including the adjourned meeting of June 1st, were read and approved.

On motion, the hearing of protests against the improvement of Pacific Avenue were ordered to be read. A petition was presented containing the names of five additional protesters representing 728 feet of frontage, making the total frontage represented on all the protest petitions, amount to 2168 feet. Mr. Adams, who had circulated the petition for the improvement of the street, explained the matter from the standpoint of those in favor of it, emphasizing the need of the work in order to protect that section from storm water. On motion of Trustee Grist seconded by Trustee Woodberry, the protests were denied.

A communication was read from the Chairman of the Preparedness Parade committee of Los Angeles, inviting the participation of the citizens of Glendale in the parade to take place June 14th next. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the communication was ordered to be filed.

A communication was read from J. W. Crawford asking permission to install a 170 gallon oil tank on the Northwest corner of Verdugo Road and Colorado street and to operate a filling station pump in connection with the same. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, action upon the application was deferred for one week.

Mr. S. P. Bakewell made a written application for a refund of a portion of the license fee paid by him February last for conducting auto bus service, stating that he discontinued the service after operating for a short time. On motion of Trustee Woodberry the matter was referred to the city manager to report on at the next regular meeting.

An application was received from Mrs. W. H. Gilmour, 620 Acacia St., to sell milk in the City of Glendale, which being approved by the milk inspector was ordered to be granted. Reports were received and ordered to be filed from the city clerk, city recorder and building inspector.

The city manager recommended the transfer of funds as follows: To the General Fund from Orange Grove avenue opening and widening fund, $251.49; to the General Fund from Dog Fund, $350.00. Upon motion, the transfers were ordered to be made.

On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the city manager, health officer and manager of public service department, were appointed a committee to investigate conditions in Verdugo Canon in the neighborhood of the water source, and particularly as regards the dairy of Mr. Bullock.

Mr. Pulliam appeared before the board on behalf of the Knights Templar Commandery, requesting assistance from the board enabling that organization to properly celebrate the occasion of the triennial convocation of Knights Templar. On the suggestion of the chairman, the matter was referred to the city manager to ascertain and report as to the state of the funds.

Trustee Jackson presented a request in the name of Mr. Bright for permission to hang a banner over Broadway in front of the Chamber of Commerce. On motion the request was granted, subject to the approval of owners of the building.

The city engineer reported that as the Pacific Electric Railway company is about to lay tracks across Glendale avenue at Broadway, it will be necessary for them to construct a culvert on the east side of Glendale avenue to provide for storm water, and directed the attention of the trustees to the character of said improvement. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, it was ordered that the railroad company be permitted to put in said culverts, and that the city establish proper safe guards, such as red flags and lanterns, until such time as street shall be permanently improved.

The city engineer presented a map of Tract 2737 adjoining Glendale on the west, calling attention to the fact that the subdivision is so made as to cause a jog in one of the streets. On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that the map be returned to the county surveyor with a notation that it is not acceptable on account of not conforming to lines of existing streets.

The city engineer presented a resolution providing for the improvement of Pacific avenue. On motion, (Continued on Page 4)

ORATORICAL CONTEST

HAROLD PREEMAN REPRESENTS GLENDALE AT ANNUAL S. C. ORATORICAL EVENT

The Southern California Annual Peace Contest was held June 2 at Santa Ana. Glendale High School participated in this oratorical event by sending Harold Preeman as its representative. Pasadena High was represented by Mr. Alvear, who last year won the gold medal in the championship oratorical contest. His subject at Santa Ana was, "A Plea for Permanent Peace." The other subjects were: "Dawn of Industrial Peace," by Mr. Davis of Santa Ana; "America's Mission," by Harold Preeman of Glendale, and "International Peace," by Mr. Linn of Huntington Beach. Glendale tied for third place. All conceded first place to the brilliant speaker from Pasadena. Harold Preeman worthily represented Glendale. In fact, one of the judges later remarked that Harold's language revealed direct help from a maturer mind. This may be construed as a compliment, for the work was original.

Those teachers in the High School who have had Harold in work know that his omnivorous reading has given him a remarkably extensive vocabulary. As Harold is only in the 11B grade he has a fine opportunity of giving some of our rival schools hard contests in future oratoricals.

Others from Glendale who were present at Santa Ana were Mr. W. D. Root, Mr. F. O. Moore, Marion Lehman, Roberta Rosa, and Berna Martin.

PEACE PAGEANT WORK

Work on the Peace Pageant, which is to be held on the Pacific Avenue playground, Saturday, June 10, is progressing daily. Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. Wayland Brown and Mr. Will Richardson were active all Monday, seeking a competent orchestra for the occasion. Through the courtesy of the Egan Dramatic school they were able to obtain the services of Dawson's orchestra from Los Angeles. They also were successful in assembling various properties for the pageant.

A rehearsal of the pageant was carried out Monday afternoon, at the Pacific Avenue school, and the presentation began to take definite shape. There will be another rehearsal tonight and a dress rehearsal on Friday.

It should be observed that the prizes for the children who are engaged in ticket-selling for the pageant, are on exhibition in the window of the Glendale Book store. C. H. Munson has added a kodak to the prizes and it is expected that there will be other additions. There is still time for children anxious to compete to make headway in this competition. There are many merchants and others who have not yet been approached.

ENTERTAINS SORORITY

One of the most interesting of recent sorority functions was the gathering of a number of members of the Lambda Beta Kappa sorority, at the home of Miss Gertrude Braun, 900 Glendale avenue, Sunday, when twenty young ladies, mostly from Los Angeles, were guests at luncheon. The guests were members of the Greek letter sorority and their friends. The diningroom was tastefully decorated in red with red carnations and ferns, while the living-room was a dream of beauty with blue larkspur and golden broom. The guests assembled at 4:30 and spent a pleasant hour in reminiscence. Supper was served at 6 p. m. and after supper there was a most enjoyable dance. The charming hostess looked extremely attractive in a lovely gown of peach-colored taffeta.

PUBLICITY WOULD HAVE PREVENTED WAR

There is no doubt that if the masses of the people in the different countries now at war could be made aware of the actual facts in connection with the fighting now going on in Europe the war would be stopped at an early date. It is not conceivable if the people knew that the war is costing eighty-five million dollars a day or at the rate of thirty billions a year, with an annual interest burden, at 5 per cent, of one billion, five hundred million dollars and that the indirect loss is much more, that they would consent to its being prolonged.

Here is where publicity would tell. In some of the European countries newspapers are only allowed to publish what the government wishes the people to know. This is often very far from the truth. It is very seldom the whole truth and scarcely ever nothing but the truth. Those countries where a distinctive language and a strict press censorship by the government effectually prevent the people from knowing what is really being done in the field of war are still in blissful ignorance of the great facts of the struggle. They have to take as news what their shaky governments, fearful of popular uprising if the truth were known, permits them to know.

It is this which makes it possible for some of those governments to keep their people up to the war point. If, however, the people were made aware through wise publicity that, on the basis of the war being prolonged another year there will have been killed in battle, at least 5,000,000 men, death from sickness 2,500,000 and permanently crippled 5,000,000 more, they would clamor for the ending of the war. If they could see that 75 per cent of the men in the armies who survive will never fully recover, physically or morally, from the effects of their service and association; if they realized that their countries are drifting, nay, speeding into bankruptcy and must necessarily hereafter and for many years be at a decided disadvantage in the race of the nations for progress and success, they would rise as one man and throw out the rulers who are deluding them. That such will be the case there is every prospect. Publicity must ultimately filter into the most strictly censored countries and the revolt against those who have deceived them will be radical.

Publicity would make the people of Europe aware that to pay ordinary pensions to the men who have earned them in this war would cost one billion dollars a year. Those who are leading the people in Europe know these facts. In some of the countries the facts are being squarely faced; in others the people are entirely ignorant of them. Here is where publicity would be of service. By massing these facts and figures before the minds of the people, they and the very soldiers in the ranks would rise up in protest against a continuance of the conflict and would compel the men in control to find some way of bringing the war to a satisfactory conclusion and the establishment of a basis of international understanding that would prevent such wars in the future.

It is inconceivable that if the real reasons underlying this war had been made known to the people beforehand they would have consented to its initiation. It is the people who must bear the burden of the war and they, if they had only understood would have objected at the beginning to this most profitless destruction of life and property. There is nothing like publicity for putting things in their right light and publicity may yet apportion the blame and punish the originators of the struggle.

Now that the warm season is here it may be well to remind all citizens that one great source of the carrying and communicating of disease should be attacked at once and vigorously. That source is the common fly, which has been shown to be an undoubted source of disease. Whether it be the biting or stable variety or the lesser house fly, the bluebottle fly or the greater common housefly, all are equally dangerous as the means of conveying disease from one place to another. They contaminate food; they contaminate drinking water and they directly convey filth disease to the mucous membrane of individuals. It was clearly shown at the time of the Spanish American war that the housefly was the means by which typhoid fever was conveyed to the American troops in their various camps, causing the deaths of thousands. If the war on the housefly had been begun in time there would be but few of them left in the land. The war between man and his countless enemies is now reduced to the microscopical kingdom and mosquitoes, and flies of all kinds are his most deadly enemies.

With the drowning of Lord Kitchener, who went down with the officers and crew of the British cruiser Hampshire, that struck a mine off the coast of the Orkney islands, when on its way to Russia last night, there passes out of the public view one of the most noted characters in the British empire. Kitchener would probably have chosen to have left this life in such a manner if he could not have gone down mid the rushing charge of squadrons and the thunder of the fight. He was essentially a soldier and he died a soldier's death when on his way to take up an important mission in Russia. Kitchener was an Irishman, one of the many wonderful fighters that island has given to the British empire. He was noted for his methodical preparation for any campaign on which he might enter. He recovered the Soudan from the Mahdi after eleven years of careful preparing and railway building. He fenced in the Transvaal with a thousand miles of barbed wire and finally corralled and captured the last of the valiant fighting Boers. He was head of the British war office until very recently.

For a few days the voice of the politician will startle the air on this side of the Atlantic and Chicago will rival Europe in the noise it will make. All eyes will be directed on Chicago the next few days.

SPEAKERS AT BIBLE CONFERENCE TELL OF SECOND ADVENT OF CHRIST

God's people of olden times looked for the Messiah who was to come. God's people of this age look for the King who is to come.

At the evening session of the Bible Conference in Glendale Presbyterian church, Saturday, June 3, Mrs. G. A. Neth of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles brought a message of the plan of the return of the King, who went into a far country and left his kingdom in the hands of his stewards until he should return.

His Father long ago divided the times of his kingdom into unequal ages or dispensations, some have passed, some are yet to come. In the age of innocence God placed Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. There Satan brought death to the body and separation of the soul from God, and death reigns because man chose to disobey God.

By the fall man obtained the knowledge of good and evil without obtaining the power to do the good and eschew the evil. All the thoughts of the human heart were continually evil and all men were swept into the judgment of the flood except Noah and his family. After the flood human government comes in where men banded together to build and to leave God out of their plans. Then came the judgment of varied languages and the dispersion.

God now calls out a man to make him a chosen nation, out of which was to come the Savior. To this nation was given the law which they could not keep. God then sent his son made under the law, who kept the law to save those who could not save themselves. Even God's chosen people would not accept his son, rejected and crucified him, bringing upon themselves the judgment of the loss of a country, a government and a flag. They became a byword and a hissing among the nations. On the cross Jesus Christ, the only begotten son of God, cried, "It is finished." In proof of it God raised him from the dead and ushered in this age of grace where all is given for nothing. It enables the believer to go free from sin because God judged his sin on the cross, in the shed blood of his son. In this age to be gathered into the church, his body, bound by unbreakable bonds by the Holy Spirit to Jesus Christ the head. As long as this body is left upon the earth, in earthen vessels, there will be sin in it.

Jesus Christ has promised that he will return at the end of this age for his body, the church, to sit with him upon the throne of his father David. "The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this." This is the hope of the church, "where comfort yourselves together."

In the afternoon of Sunday, Dr. F. W. Farr brought the message on "The Reason Why We Should Love the Second Advent." A crown of righteousness is laid up for those who love the appearing of the Lord. This Lord has come and he will come again in fulfillment of the Scripture.

If we are his we must love his appearing because the Bible is full of it, it is given the place of importance. It makes for a high standard of Christian living, it purifies our lives. It is the greatest safeguard against false doctrines. No cult believes nor teaches it. It bears the seal of God's approval. It is unpopular with the world, the flesh and the devil.

Only when he comes again will his servants of all ages receive their reward, "for without us they cannot be made perfect." When he comes the curse will be lifted from all creation.

In the day that Jesus comes again he will take his place upon the throne of his father David. He shall unite forever all the loved ones separated for a time. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

The closing message of the Conference was given by Dr. John Hunter, secretary of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, on "How We Got Our English Bible," illustrated by stereopticon slides. Beginning with the American Standard Revision he carried his audience through the preceding translations of the centuries past.

Pictures of the translators such as Abf Parker, John Knox, John Calvin, Coverdale, Lyndall and others, as well as plates of their versions, were shown on the screen.

The address was most comprehensive, covering the ground back to the Greek Old Testament. This was a most fitting close of a conference for the study of the blessed Book.

MOTHERS' STUDY CIRCLE

Quite a large number of members attended the meeting of the Pacific Avenue Mothers' Study circle, which met Monday afternoon in the Pacific Avenue school. The circle began the reading and study of Elizabeth Harrison's "Misunderstood Children." Three new members were admitted—Mrs. Barrold, Mrs. Hilbert and Mrs. A. A. Ward. The circle will meet again Monday, June 12. Those who have not yet written their reviews of the last book studied, "A Study in Child Nature," are requested to do so at once that they may be forwarded to Washington.

BIRDHOUSE OFFERED AS PRIZE

Which school will win the prize offered by Mrs. Nanno Woods? The prize will be a birdhouse to be erected in the schoolgrounds of the winning school. The competition is simple, easy and very pleasant. Children are invited to put out bird-baths in their front or back yards. A shallow pan filled every day with fresh water is all that is necessary. Make the birdbath as pretty as you can. Put growing plants around it, or arrange a little rockery, or elevate the bath on a pedestal of some kind, an old drain pipe would do nicely.

The school having the greatest number of children who put out birdbaths this week, who will also promise to keep the baths in good order all summer, will be awarded the prize. As school closes June 16, the prizes must be given to the winning school on June 15. So we must know by Tuesday, June 13, just how many pupils have put out birdbaths.

On the morning of June 13, Mrs. Woods will phone the principal of each school and ask how many names have been given her by children who have attended to the needs of our birds. Now remember this, it is not up to the school principal to find out the names (unless the principal chooses to do so). It is up to the children themselves. The children should either let Mrs. Woods know as soon as possible, by phoning to Glendale 1357, or calling at 1111 W. Broadway, or by leaving their name on a slip of paper with their school principal.

On Monday, June 15, Mrs. Woods will visit the winning school and present to it the birdhouse. Any school may compete. Now which school will win?

The birdhouse will be exhibited in Mrs. Nanno Woods' office, 1111 W. Broadway, on Wednesday and throughout the week. It may be viewed there by all who wish to see it.

BIRTHDAY LUNCHEON

Mrs. Howard Oswald, 1439 Oak street, entertained at luncheon, Monday, in honor of Mrs. J. E. McKeever, of Brand boulevard. The occasion was Mrs. McKeever's birthday, and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The house was beautifully decorated. The diningroom was adorned with pink and white sweet peas and the place cards were most artistic hand-painted productions. The music room was decorated with pink and white carnations. The luncheon was a very elaborate affair. Twelve were present as follows: Mrs. A. C. Gage, Mrs. W. McFarland, Mrs. D. E. McDaniel, Mrs. A. C. Muff, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. George Rice, Mrs. Frank Bradley, Mrs. Margaret Gross, Mrs. Joseph Cave, Mrs. D. F. Cook, Mrs. J. E. McKeever and the hostess, Mrs. Howard Oswald.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Strong of Lomita avenue spent yesterday in Los Angeles on business.

Dr. Wood Comstock of Glendale Sanitarium is at present in Madison, Wis., attending the convention of Sanitarium officials.

C. E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium, left Thursday last week for Madison, Wis., where he is attending the General Convention of Sanitarium officials. After the convention closes Mr. Kimlin will go on to Battle Creek, Mich., the institution of which he was at one time an official and where he has many old friends.

W. J. Clendenin, of 246 Orange street, who left for the East some time ago and has been seriously ill in Baltimore, ever since his arrival there, writes to Sam P. Stoddard, his neighbor, that he expects to arrive in Glendale Saturday, June 10. Mr. Clendenin says he will be glad to return to the genial climate of Glendale and hopes to regain his health here.

BIG NIGHT TONIGHT

If you have not heard about it, then here is some news for you. The Orpheus Four, the finest male quartette on the Pacific Coast, is to furnish a program of high class and humorous four-part songs. If you happen to be one of the few that have never heard this great quartette, then take a tip and get here early if you want to get even inside the hall. For real solid entertainment, a concert by The Orpheus Four cannot be surpassed, their regular numbers are sung with a finish worthy of the club's name, and their humorous encores and readings are full of laughs.

By special request Mr. Campbell will sing the song, "Daddy," which was so much appreciated at the last appearance of the quartette. Those who know say this is worth the price of admission alone. We want this quartette to come back here in the near future so let us show them we appreciate a good thing. Parents, invest twenty-five cents and send your children to hear this quartette. You cannot start too soon to educate them to appreciate good music, and we are certain they will never get better value for their money in the way of entertainment than that furnished by The Orpheus Four at Butler Hall, tonight, 8:15 p. m. Admission 25 cents. This will be the last appearance of the quartet in Glendale before fall.

FINANCES OF PLAY

While the receipts of the performance of "The Voice of Conscience," given Friday, June 2, in the Palace-Grand theater, will enable the committee to pay the bills incurred in the first production of the play, there will be but a small surplus. This surplus will come from the money that is yet to be received for tickets sold but not paid for. The committee is anxious that these amounts should be remitted as soon as possible. While there was a good attendance at Friday night's performance many seats in all the sections were vacant, showing that it was not the price that kept the house from being filled.

The following committee is auditing the accounts, which were faithfully and accurately kept by Miss Eula Richardson: Donald Packer, Fred Nichols, Lawrence Lawson, Gladys Justema, Owen Emery, Owen Rhodes and Leta McCoy. The committee met Monday night and will report Wednesday.

ACKNOWLEDGES PRESENTS

son, $2.00 the second season and so on, so that such families who continue to cultivate the garden the fifth season, pay about the full cost of that which the Association furnishes to them.

"The families spread the fertilizer, plant the seeds, cultivate the growing crops and gather the matured produce. After supplying their family needs, they sell any surplus that remains.

"While acquiring health and happiness, and receiving valuable training and experience, the men, women and children join in increasing their material supplies. As their own work produces the results, they are not pauperized, but encouraged to be more industrious and self-dependent, and acquire greater ability and self-respect."

In 1913 the total aggregate of the crops raised on the gardens was $28,000. To obtain this result the sum of $8000 was expended. Thus the expenditure of $8,000 yielded $28,000 worth of benefit in the shape of products alone—a large result not duplicated I believe by any other philanthropic organization. Indeed, the average expenditure of moneys received by the most highly recommended charities show 60 per cent for overhead and executive expenses, and 40 per cent actually given as relief to those in need. Applying the same principle to $8,000, about $5,000 go for overhead and executive expenses, and $3,000 would be received by those in need. But by using vacant lots as gardens, the $8,000 becomes 328,000, every penny of which or the equivalent thereof benefits the individual. But not only can the benefit be stated in so much worth of food products, one must also take into account the improvement in physical and mental health, and the added self-respect which comes of work well done and well earned.

Among the people to whom gardens are allotted, are many who have already reached the point of extreme need. In such cases the work, while furnishing the much-needed supplies, also gives hope and promotes a better mental and physical condition of the workers. The other gardeners are largely those whose small or uncertain income places the maintaining of healthful and decent living somewhat beyond their grasp and forces the question of existence constantly upon them. Of this latter class, we have many such families right here in Glendale. To such persons the gardens prove a valuable help in solving their problem.

The various occupations represented during a season show that the work does not appeal solely to any particular class. The following general division of the gardeners gives an idea of their environment and present or former occupations; 317 common laborers, 93 mill workers, 68 building trades workers, 63 railway hands, 21 store or office clerks, 12 widows, 97 miscellaneous cases, among which were a number of aged persons, some past 80 years of age.

The great value of vacant lot gardening lies in its simplicity. Its underlying principle is contained in the appreciation of the opportunity afforded by the idle land of the city, and the fact that persons or families themselves are the best judges of their need for further opportunity.

The case of one Irish laborer, who has now cultivated a garden 3 successive seasons, will give a fair idea of what can be done by these people with the opportunity given them. This man has a wife and 6 children. His wages are $1.52 per day, therefore he has but $9.12 per week to shelter, clothe and feed each member of his family, even though he be so fortunate as to have employment every week day in the year. But in his spare time in the past season, he produced from his little quarter acre garden about $100 worth of produce, thus adding nearly 25 per cent to his income. This is a fortune to this humble home, and every bit of it earned by honest effort on land which otherwise was lying in waste. Every cent's worth of his produce carries with it a portion of health and joy.

A widow with six small children applied for a garden. Her husband, a laborer averaging $7 to $8 per week, had died leaving his little family unprepared to face the struggle for existence. The children were all too young to work, and the opportunity for the mother to get any work and care for the children at the same time was very limited. This widow was assigned a Vacant Lot Garden, and her older children gave valuable assistance in working it. With the garden as the mainstay to provide food for the 6 little ones she was able to bridge over the crisis and keep her little family together.

A man with wife and small children who, through illness, was forced to give up his job, applied for a garden when he was a convalescent. He could not go back to his usual work for some time, but he was not only able to produce a considerable amount for the support of his family during this period, but was greatly aided in regaining his health by the excellent outdoor work.

It is quite possible, some folks may say—in Glendale we have not hundreds of people out of work, there are not hundreds or even dozens of families unable to make ends meet—therefore this subject is of no interest to us.

Well, I am not so sure about Glendale being free of persons needing 242t3 MRS. H. M. MERRILL.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; continued warm; northerly winds.

I know the eight schools through their P. T. A. organizations, are kept fairly busy helping poor families. I know the principal of Columbus Avenue School tells me she can dispose of all the warm clothing she can get. I know the churches, eight or nine in number, give continually to the poor of Glendale; I know of many cases where the church has paid grocery bills and collected household goods and food supplies from far and near for needy families.

I know the Elks give in charity anywhere from $90 to $150 per month; and the Masons who raised $300 lately at a charity dance have none of that $300 left now. Oh, yes, there are poor people right amongst us, people down and out, we have widows with small children, elderly folks barely able to eke out a living, underpaid men with families, and always a certain percentage of unemployed unskilled labor, who are never sure from week to week how their grocery bill can be met.

We in Glendale are also face to face with the problem of awakening the minds of many improvident families who need to be taught to use their own back yard and to turn it to a profitable account. Mr. Dix tells us of one man who one season raised produce to the value of $154 from his one-sixth of an acre, and the next year did even better, producing value to $160. It should be one of the missions of the Glendale Garden society to convince people that it pays to raise garden truck, that it pays to spend the time otherwise of no value in sowing vegetable seeds and planting their potatoes, tomatoes, etc. It pays to be thrifty, to make the most of one's opportunities. One hour a day spent in the garden will richly reward the average working man or the clerk of small means.

The problem of unemployed labor and unemployed land is occupying a place in the minds of thoughtful people of many cities. Los Angeles is trying to effect something in its vacant lot campaign. As people of intelligence, interested in philanthropic and civic questions, it seems particularly fitting that members of a Garden society should individually and collectively consider this subject. We should all know as much as possible; we should read the current magazine articles and bulletins dealing with these questions; we should find out what other cities are doing and planning.

We should be up-to-date in our knowledge, ready not only to be of service to our own Glendale whenever the opportunity presents itself, but to be of service to our country in the broadest sense of the word—ready to listen and read with sympathy, to discuss and advise with intelligence, ready to perform our share in present and future quests for a safe, sane and wholesome solution of the problem of unemployed labor and unemployed land.

The city engineer reported having had a conference with the engineer of the Pacific Electric Railway company in regard to the crossings on Brand boulevard at First street and Doran street; the company making the suggestion that it be allowed to install crossings of a different type from the work called for in the specifications. AN EPISODE IN VIRGINIA SOCIETY

In the delightful journal of William Byrd of Virginia, written about 1740, we find this bit of social life: "Here I arrived about three o'clock and found only Mrs. Spotswood at home, who received her old acquaintance with many a gracious smile. I was carried into a room elegantly set off with pier glasses, the largest of which soon came to an odd misfortune. Among other favorite animals that cheered this lady's solitude, a brace of tame deer ran familiarly about the house and one of them came in to stare at me as a stranger. But spying his own figure in the glass, he made a spring over the table that stood under it, and shattered the glass to pieces, and falling back made a terrible fracas among the china. This exploit was so sudden, and accompanied with such a noise that it surprised me. But it was worth all the damage to shew the moderation and good humor with which she bore the occurrence."

A HAPPY DEBTOR
How many do I owe
What money cannot pay;
These I must pay in kind—
There is no other way.

Kind words and generous deeds,
And gifts of love divine,—
Ah! these are precious debts;
I glory they are mine.

How sweet are debts like these,
With record in my heart;
And, though I pay them all,
From no dear one I part.

CONCENTRATE YOUR ENERGIES
"The young man or the young woman who dabbles a little in this and a little in that, and flatters himself or herself on being able to do so many things, is simply dissipating energy here and there that ought to be concentrated on some one thing. If God has seen fit to limit your ability so that you are unable to do anything great, then do your best in the humble occupation you must choose, remembering that God's way of measuring success is not man's way, and that the principle of duty is the same in the small as in the great things of life."
