TO LEARN HOW MANY JAPANESE IN DOMINION

Immigration Officials Instructed by Ottawa to Tally up Arrivals

Reduction in Immigration to Be Achieved Through Friendly Negotiations

By Times Staff Representative
Ottawa, April 16.—Efforts by the King Government to halt the Japanese penetration in British Columbia have advanced another step with commencement of an official investigation into precise immigration conditions prevailing on the Pacific Coast. Following the appointment of a cabinet committee to consider the whole Oriental problem, immigration officials have been instructed to carry out a careful check on the number of Japanese who have arrived in the last few years.

REPORTS BELIEVED
In this way the Government will ascertain the truth about generally credited reports that immigrants have greatly exceeded the number prescribed in the "Gentlemen's Agreement." No one here doubts that limit has been exceeded, but to what extent and through whose fault are questions which the Government of Canada wants settled before opening negotiations with the Japanese Government for curtailment of the movement. By friendly negotiations, and not by legislation, the Government hopes to secure a solution of the immigration problem, it was explained authoritatively to-day. The Government believes legislation at this stage would be a mistake and that much more can be accomplished through an amicable arrangement with the Japanese authorities.

"I will endeavor," he added, "to form a ministry to-night and have it published in the Journal Officiel to-morrow."
M. Caillaux stated that if Painleve formed a cabinet he would accept the portfolio of Finance.

LIMITED PACIFIC SEALING PLAN NOW PUT FORWARD

Ottawa, April 16.—A compromise arrangement under which sealing in the North Pacific would be resumed next year, but on a limited scale, so as to protect the seal herds from annihilation, is being sought here now as result of Western representations in favor of sealing. When Premier Oliver arrives in the capital shortly Federal officials will talk over with him a plan under which only a fixed number of seals could be taken from the Bering Sea each year.

This compromise proposal has been discussed by officials and British Columbians who are anxious to protect the seals from complete destruction and at same time give the coast the advantage of big sealing revenues. Officials of the Marine and Fisheries Department, it is understood, are opposed to wide open sealing because they fear it would stop business altogether by killing off practically all the seals.

WAS REBUILT

The R-33 is fully equipped with wireless and is expected to be able to keep in touch with shore stations. Her first trial flight after being reconditioned was made two weeks ago, when the motors and all the gears are reported to have worked perfectly. She had been slow in her speed in Cardington for four years, but after nearly two years of rebuilding is considered by experts virtually as good as new.

After passing Lowestoft the airship turned more toward the north-east, rising higher as she disappeared in the distance. At that time she had regained a level keel and seemed to be moving under control.

WEST INDIAN TRADE

NOT THE LEAST IMPORTANT discovery which Mr. H. J. Logan, M.P. for Cumberland, N.S., made on his recent tour of investigation in the West Indies as a special representative of the Canadian Government was the existence everywhere of United States Consular representatives and trade agents.

Including British Guiana, the West Indies have a population of 2,064,000. Excluding Jamaica, Bermuda and the Bahamas, their annual imports average about $53,000,000, of which in 1922 about 22 per cent. came from Canada.

Mr. Logan points out that one of the reasons for the smallness of Canada's share of the trade may be traced to the fact that we are buying certain fruits from the United States which could be bought in the West Indies to better advantage.

Another cause of the slow development of Canada-West Indian trade is the inadequacy of shipping facilities. Canada had previously promised a fortnightly service; but the sailings are only every three weeks and no provision is made for cold storage.

IN NO DANGER

IF THE LONDON DAILY Telegraph has correct information, and it is in a position to tap many reliable sources, strenuous efforts are being made behind the scenes to persuade Field-Marshal von Hindenburg to drop his fight for the German presidency.

It is hardly likely that von Hindenburg will drop out of the running. Capitulation to anti-monarchical sentiment, particularly if pressure came from without, would completely ruin Nationalist hopes—such as they are.

BANKERS HAVE NO USE FOR CREPE HANGERS

IF ALL THE MEMBERS OF the "Crepe Hangers' Union" were to be taken seriously by the great majority of the people of this country, we should indeed be a melancholy nation and deserving of all the calamities which they have for long been telling us are going to happen but appear to be farther away than ever they were.

The Bankers' Trust Company of New York recently stated that Canada is the only country where the income per capita is actually higher now than before the war. During the last ten years, according to the company's figures, this income has risen from $250 to $268.

There is very little sentiment about the modern banker, be he Canadian or be he American. His business demands that he put actual facts a long way ahead of political statements. That is the reason why such well-known authorities on Canadian finance and affairs as the two bankers quoted can command attention and respect when they write or speak on matters of national or international importance.

More Oil Wells Planned For Alberta

Calgary, April 16.—Three new wells are being planned for this summer on the McDougall-Segur property in the Turner valley, on the half section just west of Royall well No. 4. Arrangements have been completed for the drilling of one well by the company itself and two more will likely be sunk on a royalty basis by an outside concern. Negotiations for these latter are under way. This announcement was made to the Canadian Press by J. H. Charman, secretary-treasurer of the McDougall-Segur Company.

This Little Brandon Lassie Is Never "Dosed" for Colds

The Browns Now Use the "External" Treatment for Croup and Cold Troubles.

Mrs. John Brown, of 426 24th Street, Brandon, Man., is the mother of this fine little girl and one of the many Canadian mothers who now use the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, in treating the colds of all the family. After using Vicks for some time Mrs. Brown writes:
"I have eight small children—aged from one to twelve years—and can certainly say that Vicks is the only cold remedy I have in the house all winter. If the cold is in the child's head I just put a little up each nostril and it gives relief in a short time. If it is in the chest I rub Vicks well in at night and by morning the cold has almost disappeared. I also use Vicks for chilblains and for burns—in fact, I use it too for severe headaches and find relief in a very short time. I always recommend Vicks to my friends, especially those who have children."

Vicks is the external direct treatment for cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. It is the ideal treatment for children's colds. Just as good, too, for adults. (Advt.)

TO RID PARTY OF EXTREMIST SECTION

Some Observers Say That is MacDonald's Plan For British Labor

London, April 16 (Canadian Press Cable).—Ramsay MacDonald's reply to his critics at the Independent Labor Party's convention at Gloucester Monday, when he defended the course of himself and his colleagues during the Labor Government's term of office, is regarded by critics who are by no means entirely friendly to the former Premier as still another sign that Mr. MacDonald is well-nigh resolved to rid himself at all costs of his nominal followers.

The Independent Labor Party never has represented the whole Labor movement, but to a large extent it comprises the driving force behind the Labor parliamentary representation.

Mr. MacDonald's caustic speech at the convention, which withered the ideas of the extremists of the delegation as to what the Labor Ministry should have done while in office, is regarded as proof of the former Premier's intention to align himself with the moderate policy in which he might reasonably hope to secure the co-operation of the radical element in the Labor Party.

Such sprigs of aristocracy as Lord Thomas and Arnold, who held office under the Labor Ministry, it is believed, are prepared to assist Mr. MacDonald with a programme which would tacitly bar politics of the extreme Clydeside type.

PARLIAMENT

Ottawa's attention shifts from huge House to small committee on shipping inquiry starts. Britain also watches progress of Canada's challenge to transportation combine. Shipping interests jockey for position, but, being seafarers, they are clumsy on shore. Committee refuses to allow quasi-criminal trial and avoids by-paths. Propaganda against Petersen deal still comes thick and fast while investigation proceeds.

By Times Staff Representative

Ottawa, April 16.—Chief interest in Ottawa these days is not focused upon the huge and elaborate House of Commons. It is centered in a little mahogany-walled committee room downstairs, where a parliamentary committee is deep in the intricacies of the ocean freight rate problem. Not alone the interest of Ottawa is concentrated here but the interest of Great Britain as well. The other nations of the Empire, too, unquestionably are watching to see what the committee will do with the Canadian Government's bold attempt to smash the grip of the Atlantic shipping combine.

The shipping committee got away to a stormy passage, and unless all nautical signs fail, it has a still more stormy voyage ahead of it. Fortunately good ships are at the wheel—Andrew McMaster, the eminent Liberal parliamentarian from Brome. Mr. McMaster has handled the proceedings so far with admirable skill and a tact which will go a long way towards smoothing the troubled waters. As Mr. McMaster's contract has been with the latest redistribution and as he is said to be planning retirement after the end of the present Parliament, this may be the last important service which he will perform for the Canadian people, whom he has served with marked distinction for many years.

The opening of the fight on ocean rates—for, of course, it is going to be a fight from start to finish—was devoted to vigorous and skilful jockeying for position by the part of the shipping companies. The shipping men are leaving no stone unturned to halt the Government's subsidy contract with the Petersen interests—a rather strange comment on their assertion that the contract can have no effect on their business. The eminent legal gentleman who are representing the shipping interests, backed by a whole battery of shipping experts from Great Britain, tried at the outset to get the case before the House but Mr. McMaster, perhaps realizing that they were deep sea sailormen and didn't know much about horses anyway, kindly but firmly refused to accept any such arrangement. The companies' idea was that the Government should call in its witnesses and produce the evidence of the shipping combine existed and then the transportation interests would hasten to disprove these charges.

DO NOT WANT TRIAL. The absurdity of the arrangement suggested by the shipping men was apparent at once. They were trying to put themselves in the position of defendants in a criminal action when the present Government and preceding Conservative Governments already had investigated their case and decided to their own satisfaction that they were not as a combine and to the enormous disadvantage of Canadian trade. The Government did not refer the Petersen contract to a committee to find out whether an Atlantic combine exists or not. In the view of the Government—and the Opposition, too, for that matter—it would be as much setting out to prove that the Atlantic itself exists as that a combine exists. Canadian Governments, both Conservative and Liberal, have been so positive about the existence of a combine that no one has seriously disputed the fact.

The Government's purpose in referring the Petersen contract to a parliamentary committee, therefore, was to give Parliament an opportunity to decide whether this arrangement offered by the shipping men was a fair and equitable one. Incidentally the committee was allowed broad powers to investigate and recommend alternative methods of securing this much-desired control. Meanwhile the companies are to be given a chance to present their side of the case, and disprove if they can the conclusions reached by investigators under this Government and its two predecessors—that a combine exists. In other words the Government has no intention of conducting a quasi-criminal trial with the shipping men in the dock.

SIR HENRY'S DILEMMA. The companies, in asking that the Government proceed with its charges against the shipping men, failed to confuse Mr. McMaster and the committee. They saw the attempted jockeying for position quite clearly. But Sir Henry Drayton, leader of the Conservative representation on the committee, took just the opposite view. This would not have been hard to explain in the case of any other member of the Opposition. Sir Henry, however, is in a peculiar, a very peculiar position. A few years ago he investigated Atlantic shipping conditions for the Conservative Government and brought in a sharply-worded report denouncing the Atlantic shipping interests as the worst kind of a combine—a distinguished public service for which Sir Henry was offered payment but returned the Government's large cheque. Sir Henry is not attempting to prove now that no combine exists. He and the other Conservatives are taking the line that the Government's subsidy scheme will not remedy conditions. Why Sir Henry wanted to force the Government to prove the existence of a combine at the outset, therefore, is difficult to understand.

MORE PROPAGANDA. While Parliament is getting down to real hard work on the shipping problem the shipping interests are continuing the active propaganda which they started immediately the Petersen contract was made public. Widely-circulated reports that other British shipping firms are ready to accept a subsidy agreement with the Government on much more advantageous terms than the Petersen agreement are attributed here to the shipping interests. These reports, it is believed, are designed to discredit the Petersen contract by convincing the public that the Government could have made a much better deal than the present subsidy arrangement. The rumors, however, have not got very far.

The McMaster shipping committee, of course, is fully attended. The

$35,000 is Awarded To Civil Engineer

Vancouver, April 16.—Mr. Justice Morrison, in a judgment handed down yesterday afternoon, awarded $35,000 to P. N. Sinclair, formerly of Victoria, civil engineer, as remuneration for his plans which were used in the Sumas reclamation project. The judge, in finding for the plaintiff in the action, intimated that it had been proved to his satisfaction that the plans followed by the Land Settlement Board were those prepared by Mr. Sinclair.

a substantial sum of money was involved. The decision reviews the history of the negotiations between Mr. Sinclair and the Sumas Drying Commission, and later the Land Settlement Board. The judge allowed Mr. Sinclair the costs of the action.

CHURCH BURNED

New York, April 15.—Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church at Lenox Avenue and 122nd Street was destroyed by fire yesterday. The heat of the flames was so intense that clothing of persons a hundred feet distant was scorched. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

Now Dad, Aren't You Glad You Got Me a C. C. M. ?

"Do you remember last year, Dad, when you bought my C.C.M. and, afterwards, said you were sorry you didn't buy a cheaper one, like Billy Breen's?"

"You ought to see Billy's now, Dad. It looks five years' old! And it runs so hard! Billy's hardly using it at all."

"Is that so, Jack?"

"Yes. And look at my C.C.M. See how smooth and bright the enamel is. And look how the nickel sparkies. You'd think my C.C.M. was new this season. Ride up to the corner and back, Dad, and see how easy it runs. My C.C.M. cost a little more than Billy's, but you should be proud of your judgment in buying it, Dad."

"You mean your judgment, don't you, Jack? You kept telling me how much better a C.C.M. was. You were so eager to have a C.C.M. that I didn't like to disappoint you. And I'm certainly glad I got you your choice."

If your boy is urging you to get him a C.C.M., just remember that boys are "bicycle wise". They know all about the smooth-running C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger, the extra coats of lustrous enamel, the nickelling over copper, the English Seamless Tubing, the drop forged crown, the new improved Hercules Brake and the other good features of the C.C.M. that make it a better bicycle—that make it a real bicycle for a real boy.

Trust your boy's judgment. He knows. And the sooner you get a bicycle for him, the longer season he will have to enjoy it.

Prices Again Reduced

C.C.M.'s are the biggest values since pre-war days. They're selling now from $20 to $25 less than the "peak" prices. Among them there's a special curved bar model that the boy won't outgrow. Also neat, trim models for girls.

MARINE EXPERT ON WAY TO ORIENT BELIEVES FUTURE OF PACIFIC PORTS ASSURED

A. P. Macfarlane, Salvage Association Special Officer, Passing Through Here to Far East to Watch Work on Ginyo and Atai Maru; Pays High Tribute to Salvage King and Owners of Local Ship.

On his way to supervise work on the Japanese steamship Ginyo Maru, which caught fire while bound for San Francisco and was temporarily repaired there, Arch P. Macfarlane, special officer for the Salvage Association, London, and senior officer of this great branch of Lloyds, is in this city to-day.

"I am going to Yokohama and Kobe," said Mr. Macfarlane this morning, but the Ginyo Maru will be repaired at an Osaka yard, I believe. Therefore I will spend a good deal of my time there. I have also to supervise the repairing of the Atai Maru. She was a fire on Singapore, and both repair jobs are of big dimensions, calling for careful scrutiny and supervision."

LONG EXPERIENCE.

For many years now Mr. Macfarlane has been an underwriter's surveyor, and his work has taken him all over the globe. Of late he has been in the Baltic Sea, a great part of the time, and has visited every province and state that borders on that arm of water.

TRIBUTE TO CITY

A man of his wide experience and travels, Mr. Macfarlane's opinion of Victoria means the more when he says: "This is beyond doubt the most beautiful city, the choicest of residential places and one of the ports with the biggest future that I have ever visited. I am always greatly pleased when my work calls me to Victoria, and I make the most of my opportunities to visit here."

TRADE WILL BUILD IT

"The trans-Pacific trade which will be bound to come to this coast will assist in the building up of this city," said Mr. Macfarlane. "Victoria will grow with the rest of the coast ports. But Victoria will be a great and important port."

In the Pacific Mr. Macfarlane sees the future lanes of commerce of the world. In the Pacific ports he sees the future centres of shipping of the world. Victoria will rank amongst these places and her growth will be rapid in the next few years, he believes.

A WONDERFUL CRAFT

Mr. Macfarlane was present at the trial trips of the steamship Salvage King, and represented the Salvage Association there. "I do not believe there is another ship afloat that is as efficient in her line of work as is the Salvage King," he stated. "She is a vessel of immense power and her steaming radius is wonderful. She is one of the first salvage ships of the world, and her owners' equipment is the finest of any salvage company in existence to-day. We think a great deal of them in London, for it is possible to depend upon them always and in every way. Their new ship can tow anything and is perfect for any kind of salvage work."

Mr. Macfarlane leaves for the Orient aboard the Empress of Canada on Friday night. He knows the Orient well, having floated the Empress of China from Shitahama Island, just outside the Gulf of Tokio, many years ago, in 1907.

PREDICTS GREAT TOURIST SEASON ON COAST THIS SUMMER

J. E. Dalrymple Was Visitor to Victoria and Impressed With Prospects

Winnipeg, April 16.—The biggest tourist year for the Pacific Coast has ever known is promised for 1925, according to J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, who returned yesterday from a tour which took him to the Pacific Coast offices of the company.

The holding of a number of conventions on the Pacific Coast, chief among which are the Shriners, Knights Templar, and Elks organizations, insures a large traffic to that part of Canada, and in a number of cases special trains are being operated to carry convention delegates over the Canadian National Railways to Winnipeg and Eastern points. In most cases stopovers at Winnipeg are being arranged, and the provision of new facilities at Jasper Park Lodge, such as the golf course, nine holes, and the swimming pool, is attracting even more attention this year to Jasper National Park, which Mr. Dalrymple anticipates will have by far the greatest season in its history.

COPYRIGHT LAW IS ROUNDLY SCORED

H. A. Kennedy Tells Commons Committee Publishers Too Much Favored

Ottawa, April 16.—"Legalized piracy," "immoral" and "thievish" were the terms used by Howard A. Kennedy of the Montreal branch of the Canadian Authors' Association in voicing his opinion of the present compulsory licensing clause of the special copyright committee of the House of Commons this morning. Mr. Kennedy asked for repeal of the existing right of printers and publishers to print the work of a Canadian author previously unpublished in this country.

"I can not understand how any honest printer can take that position," stated Mr. Kennedy, "or how a government or Parliament can abet a printer in taking possession of what I produce, in spite of my will or wishes. I call that legalized piracy, and it is the present piracy that the statute books permit."

The nature of the entertainment having been kept secret, the 350 members and friends present experienced a real surprise.

With such well-known artists as Bros. Frank Tupman, (Boss) Teddy Blair, Ernie Impet (end men) ably supported by Bros. Sam Hill, Andy Jones, Ted Stanley, Art Southall, Buster Brown and Ben Jacklin, with Cyril Foster at the piano, there should be a general demand for further performances by such a clever troupe of entertainers.

With the audience forgetting the passage of time, the curtain was drawn, and dainty refreshments served. Dancing enthusiasts then cleared the floor and the Lodge orchestra-assisted in winding up an enjoyable evening.

A young woman of Kansas found herself the bridge partner of a woman who can play the game expertly, and she became confused. "From what did you play?" the elder woman had occasion to ask after the game began. "From—fright," candidly replied the beginner.

VANITY, NOT ART, IS STAGE LURE, GILDA CONFESSES

Hollywood, April 16.—Vanity! That's the lure of the stage and screen. That is the magnet that draws hundreds to form a line for a chance to "show themselves off." That is the fascination that holds the successful ones to their profession long after they have become rich enough to buy an island for their own and live in peace and luxury.

Gilda Gray, "shimmy queen," talks straight from the shoulders despite the fact that they are usually twitching in nervous motion.

"We are on the stage and screen for only one purpose—to try to appease our vanity," she declared here to-day, scoffing at the "all for art" theory, before which the majority in the film colony bow in daily worship.

"Art became a corpse long ago. Poor old Art! We, who are on the stage or screen are merely members of the vast Army of Vanity."

"I could talk about Art, too, just as these Hollywood stars do. There's more in 'shimmying' than there is in some of the weepy dramatics they pull on their so-called silver screen. "But, you know, I have to live with myself, so why should I kid myself that way?"

Gilda Gray, attired in her famous "sea-weed-coat," was reclining on a chintz-covered lounge in the dressing-room of the theatre where, nightly, she is "strutting her stuff." She rubbed a spattering of rouge on her cheeks and continued:

"Athletes are vain. Vanity is the thing that drives them on. The orator is vain, industrial giants are vain, even scavengers are vain. The whole world is vain.

"But vanity isn't anything new. The only new thing about it is that I admit being very vain and others won't."

"And the fact of the matter is, the actors and actresses are more vain than all others in the world."

FRIENDLY NEGOTIATIONS IN JAPANESE PROBLEM FAVORED BY CANADIAN LEGISLATORS

Government's Policy of Preserving Good Spirit Between Two Countries Meets With Approval; Neill Drafts Scheme of Immigration Control Designed to Avoid Results of United States, Blunt Exclusion Law.

Ottawa, April 16.—The determination of the Canadian Government to preserve the most friendly relations with Japan in negotiating an agreement for the curtailment of Japanese immigration seems to meet with favor from all reasonable-minded Members of Parliament here.

At the Government's suggestion Mr. Neill has submitted a number of proposals by which, he believes, Japanese immigration could be controlled without effect on Canada's present harmonious relations with Japan and upon the heavy trade growing up between the two countries.

Under one of these proposals, made public by Mr. Neill in the House recently Japanese immigration would be effectively halted by a new passport system.

"Any Japanese coming to Canada," Mr. Neill explained, "has to have a passport signed by a Japanese official in Japan. All that is needed, therefore, is a small addition, one more regulation by agreement with the Japanese government to the effect that when a Japanese arrives in British Columbia he must produce a passport not only signed by the Japanese official in Japan but also by the Canadian consul here as well, with the understanding—a latent understanding if you like—that the Canadian official is never to put his visa on it."

"This arrangement would have the advantage of not requiring legislation. It would save the face of the Chinese, and it could not be called offensive; the Japanese could agree to it in an informal manner and there would be no use of the strong terms employed by the United States, which gave so much offence to the Japanese. If something of that kind was passed I believe it would absolutely meet the case."

URGES REGISTRATION Mr. Neill also proposed the registration of all Japanese in the country along the lines of the recent Chinese registration. The registration, Chinese, according to Mr. Neill, revealed the presence in Canada of twenty-five per cent. more Chinese than should have been here under the existing immigration regulations.

The West Coast Member added, however, that he did not propose this registration with the idea of ousting or otherwise interfering with the Japanese already here. These people, he said, should be left alone, but the registration system would help to prevent the smuggling of Japanese into the country.

Mr. Neill, although an unremitting foe of Oriental penetration, warned the commonsense to allow Canadian public opinion to get heated over the Japanese problem with results like the United States' blunt and provocative exclusion law. "It is wise to wait until there is a flaring up of public opinion, like there was in the United States, and then to pass, in a moment of perhaps, some drastic measure of exclusion which the Japanese would consider of an insulting character," Mr. Neill said.

"It should be explained, however, quietly and determinedly that if they will not agree to some measure of effective restriction of this character, then they must expect that sooner or later we will follow in the footsteps of the United States. Other nations are tightening up in the matter of Oriental immigration. I have been in communication with other dominions and other countries and I find that increasingly the case."

P.T.A. CONSIDERED MANY RESOLUTIONS Reports Presented to Provincial Session; Domestic Science Again Featured Vancouver, April 16.—Reports of resolutions presented to the educational survey commission last autumn were given at yesterday's session of the Provincial Parent-Teachers' Federation Convention in King Edward high school auditorium.

Alfred Carmichael and F. B. Pemberton expressed the view that Oak Bay was well protected in the agreement which in their opinion was a wise solution of a delicate problem. This view was also taken by a fair proportion of those who spoke, though some speakers urged further legal opinion on certain questions in respect to road title and other matters.

Brigade-General J. S. Dunbar, Andrew Wright, C. E. Wilson, E. S. Hasall, K. R. Streetfield, S. B. Newton, G. Phillips, W. Barron, and many others took part in the discussion. As the meeting was one called by the council to explain the plan to the ratepayers no action was taken.

Liquors Bequeathed By Late New Yorker New York, April 16.—His stock of wines and liquors, bought before the present prohibition law for medicinal purposes, is bequeathed to hospitals and Protestant churches and scholarship funds for the benefit of two Southern negro schools by the will of Charles William Troughton of New York, filed today. U.S. GENERAL TO WAR ON RUM-RUNNERS

To Stop Flood of Liquor Into Country From Canada and Mexico, His Job

Washington, April 16.—A two-fisted soldier has been entrusted with the gigantic task of enforcing the prohibition law. General Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, is especially in charge of the job of drying up the country.

Andrews is a West Pointer, who spent most of his army life as a cavalryman and served as deputy provost marshal general at American C.H.Q. in France.

He knows police work and has proved himself a capable executive through his connections as head of the New York Transit Commission and receiver of the New York and Queen's County Railroad.

He has an amiable disposition and is the typically lean, elderly cavalryman, with a firm jaw and piercing eyes, molded into a countenance that spells self-assurance.

Andrews carries the air of a leader, who turns aside all barriers to reach his object. Under President Coolidge's latest policy the new assistant secretary will be relieved of the task of chasing bootleggers.

His job is to stop the supply of liquor at its source. If retailers do manage to obtain any, they may peddle it to their hearts' content, so far as the federal government is concerned.

Arresting bootleggers will have to be attended to by local authorities, the President says—federal agents can not be expected to carry on petty police work.

Weapons placed at General Andrews' disposal are the coastguard, the customs service and the prohibition units. With the coastguard the general will endeavor to stop the landing of liquor on the shores of the United States.

Custom service officials will try to prevent smuggling across the Canadian and Mexican borders. Prohibition units will seek to break up moonshining and illicit withdrawals from liquor warehouses.

Prohibition can't be enforced by General Andrews, it can't be enforced by anybody—at least that is the opinion prevailing in official Washington.

PEOPLE ASKED TO UNDERSTAND FACTS

Glace Bay Committee Says Destitution of Idle Miners' Families Misrepresented

Glace Bay, N.S., April 16.—The Glace Bay Relief Committee last night issued the following statement, signed by Rev. A. M. Macadam, parish priest, and A. M. Macleod:

The publicity committee is using considerable time referring misrepresentation of the situation in Glace Bay. In more quarters than one prejudice exists, preventing the people from sharing in the relief work.

The simple fact is that if no relief committee had been formed and assistance been given there would have been starvation. Let the blame fall where it will, this fact remains and it is with facts we are dealing.

It is hunger and want we are fighting here. Canadian citizens are living in destitution and the spirit of brotherhood is awakened. When one sees a mother nursing a three-week-old baby sitting down to an evening meal of salt pork and beans alone, it moves one to sympathetic action.

Our people are not being fed. They are being rationed. They are eagerly awaiting news of a settlement. Work and a fair wage are their desire.
