WAR AND TRUTH BY CITY—Gen. Henry W. Wesseler's Inspection to the Council of War in the Dark Hours of the Battle of Gettysburg.

DEVIANCE, OHIO
PUBLISHED BY THE AUTHOR
1908

There are no occult forces. There are only luminous forces. Occult force is chaos, the luminous force is God. Man [at his best] is an infinite little copy of God; this is glory enough for man. I am a man, an invisible atom, a drop in the ocean, a grain of sand on the shore. Little as I am, I feel the God in me * * *. When I go down to the grave I can say, like many others, I have finished my day's work; but I cannot say I have finished my life. My days will begin again next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight to open on the dawn.—VICTOR HUGO.

PREFAS

This buk* iz suplementari tō a buk with the sām titl publisht bi the rīter ov this in the yēr 1882 in Syracuse, New York, and Defiance, Ohio.

The subjekt-mater ov this Volūm II haz bin kâld fōrth bi the influēns ov Volūm I, and bi âl the vârid mēnz hwich prōdūst Volūm I, such az kōrespondens, personal vizits to diferent komūnitiz, and serching and rēserching rekōrds ov âl kīnds; hwich eforts hav okūpid a konsiderabl part ov the rīter's vākāshons from hiz egzakt-ing profeshon dūring the twenti-fiv yērz hwich hav elapst sins the begining ov the distribūshon ov Volūm I.

Dūring the last fū yērz thār hav bin revīval and ekstenshon ov interest in ōld rekōrds. This interest haz pervāded meni familiz, evri Stāt, and meni depozitoriz; and much ov valū regarding ōld familiz, and the erli histori ov the Kolōniz and Stāts haz bin brôt to lit, and sum ov the dātā haz bin publisht. At the kapitol ov nērli evri wun ov the ōlder Stāts trānd fōrses är at werk repāring ōld, wōrn, tōrn and utherwāz mōr ôr les bedimd rekōrds, ôr transkribing them az fuli az posibl. The rīter haz sāt to kēp infōrmd regārd-ing the progres ov this werk, bi rēding the publisht akounts, and viziting thōz engājd in it—having, just prēvius to giving hiz manu-

*It apērz tō the rīter that nō apolōji iz nesesāri fōr the speling ūzd in the ferst pārt ov this buk. Fōr meni yērz hē haz fāvōrd such chānj and woz, thār fōr, redi tō sīn the rekvest tō adopt the rekomendāshon ov the Simplifid Speling Bōrd ov Nū Yōrk, and tō dō mōr; tō fāvor the rūlz rekomended bi thē Filōlojikal Sōsietē ov Lundun, Inland, and thōz ov the Amerikan Filōlojikal Asōsiāshon. Thēz rūlz, houevar, hav not bin fuli, ôr regūlarli, obzervd in this buk; but it iz thāt that enuf simplifkāshon iz ūzd tō konvins thē averāj rēder ov the dēzīrabiliti fōr mōr; âlsō that adhērens to the sō-kâld "histōrikal ōrthografī iz ōnli ā konseshon tō the wēknes ov prejūdis." In nō korekt sens kan the prezent ūzūal speling ov Inglish bē kâld ōrthografī. Ōrthografī iz nesesārili fōnetik; and but fū adishons ov sound-indikātorz iō the alfabet är nesesāri fōr this dēzīrabl rēzult, werk fōr the kom-mūnāshon ov hwich haz bin wel-advanst bi the sōsietiz nāmd abuv.

Much ov this buk woz ritn several yērz agō in the ūzūal speling. The mōst ov it iz printed az then ritn, the dēzīr prēvāling not tō pōstpōn the printing fōr its rē-riting—and, probabli, thē lesn ov it wil best bē inkulkāted in its prezent fōrm.

Rēderz deziring tō konsult unifōrmlī simplifid speling, wud dō wel tō rēfer to the werdz in pārenthesis folōing thōz ov the ūzūal speling in the Sentūri Dikshonāri.

Ekserpts from ōld ritings är hēr givn in the speling thār found.

skript for this buk to the printer, reternd with adishonal dātā for it from anuther tör and egzamināshon ov the rekords in diferent suthern and ēstern Stāts. The end ov such werk iz not yet in sīt in Amerika; and it iz being kontinūd in Grāt Britan and uther kuntriz with rēnūd interest and vigor. Sum ov the rezults ov such werk iz found on pājez 1 tō 5 ov this buk. Undoutedli much ov bōth speshal and jeneral interest and valū wil yet be found and publisht, in adishon to the meni rēsent publikāshons ov this kārakter. Tō much shud not be ekspekted, houeever, from thōz eforts, az skant rekords, if eni, wer kept in meni plāses; and in uther plāses the rekords, both publik and privāt, kept for a tīm wer aksidentalī destroid bī fir or neglekt, az okazhonalī menshond in this buk.

Al skechez and familiz in Volūm I hwich rēkwir no revizhon, and kud not be enlārjd from dātā sins gatherd, är not menshond in this Volūm II. Desendants in sum līnz hav persisted in withholding āl rekōrds and rēpōrts. The rekōrds ov meni familiz, houeever, hav bin komplēted in this Volūm. It haz bin the ernest dezir ov the rīter, kontinūd thru a jenerāshon or longer, to māk this werk az komplēt az posibl—giving to evri person az komplēt rekōrd az the rēport, and obtānabl data, hav mād praktikabl.

The rīter ekspresez thanks to thōz in chārj ov the lārj librāriz in the ēst, Stāt and uther, also to thōz ov the librāriz in Chicāgo; and to the kustōdians ov the ārkivs ov diferent Stāts; also to thōz ov kouny and mōr lōkal rekords, for thār kertēsi shōn in fasilitating hiz egzamināshon ov thār kolekshons. Meni individuals ov familiz rekorded on suksēding pājez, wil find thārin the rīter's aknolejment ov thār praktikal interest in hiz werk.

The jeneral konfermāshon thrūout this Volūm II or Volūm I, is veri gratifiing to the rīter. Kompārison ov the tō Volūms, famili with famili, hwil hēr shōing matērial adishons in vārius wāz, wil shō kompārativli fū korekshons ov the kontents ov Volūm I.

A werk ov this kārakter pozesez, or shud pozese to evri person and partikūlarli to thōz ov and thōz alīd with the nām, several distinkt fētūrz ov interest and valū. This interest shud not be jenealojikal alōn, or alōn historikal, or sōsiolojikal, or edūkāshonal; but thār shud be interest in ēch and āl ov thēz fētūrz.

Tō thōz persons, if eni, hō mā think thār iz hērin an undezirabl mōnotōni ov nāms, dāts, okūpāshons, etc., it mā be wel to sujest that ēvn thārin egzist fētūrꝛ ov interest to uthertz—speshal interest to thōz klōsli relāted to them; to thōz statistikali inklīnd; valūabl sujeschon to thōz hō neglekt such rekord at hōm; and nuthing eskāps the nōtis ov the sōsiolojist.

A stūdent ov jenealōji and alid subjekts for meni yērz shud be prēpārd, and entitld, tō māk sujeschons ov importans regarding nāms and the nāming ov children. Thōz nāms shud be chōzn that ār not ēzili chānjd, and that redili indikāt the seks. Shōrt nāms ār preferabl. The nām shud not bē chōzn for the child alōn, but for ūs thrūout adult lif. A pet nām or nīknām shud not be permitted enihwār, at enī tīm. A nām to be ov valū, az āl nāms ōt to be, shud be such az to komand respekt, and the child, ēch member ov the famili, and uthers, shud respekt it in its regūlar form at āl tīmz. But wun nām shud be givn a child; and it shud ālwāz be ritn in ful, ōr sō that it wil redili shō hwot the ful nām iz.

Hwen konsulting the Indeksez ov thēz Volūmz and the nām dezīrd iz not redili found, it iz wel to bār in mīnd that persons krisend with tō ōr mōr nāms mā hav bin repōrted with the les komon wun, ōr in transpōzd fōrm puting them amung the Cs insted ov the Ws, etc., ōr woz reported with nīknām. Meni familiz hō fōrmerli rōt thār sernām Slocomb, or Slocumb, ār nou rīting it Slocum, and posibli sum ov thēz nāms hav bekum mikst in indeksing.

The fōrm ov arānjment and trētment ov familiz in Volūm I haz bin prēserved in this Volūm II, with the adishon ov the Pārent Number after ēch Famili Number, thus ading tō the konvēniens ov bak referens tō bōth Volūms. Famili Numberz in pārenthesis hēr rēfer ōnli tō Volūm I. After konsulting meni jenēalōjik buks with divers arānjments, it is yet bēlēvd bī thē rīter that this arānjment iz bōth thē simplest and the mōst komprehensiv.

Fōr thōz desendants from thē erlier familiz hō dēzīr to join Kolōnial sōsietez, prōf ov elijibiliti iz abundant. Referens to sōrses ov informāshon for servis in wār iz okāzhonali givn fōr the benēfit ov thōz dēzīring to join the patriotik sōsietez; but thē aplikant shud konsult publikāshons, or rekōrds, of the Stāt in hwich the sōljer enlisted.

This Volūm shōz gratifiing advans in the edūkāshonal status ov thōz ov thē nām sins the publikāshon ov Volūm I in 1882. The number ov tēcherz in thē Publik Skōlz haz bin lārj from erli tīmz; and the number in this onorabl servis haz bin inkrēsing, with advansing grāds. Thē number ov kolej prōfesōrs haz ālsō inkrēst; and tō flourishing kolejez hav for several yērz bin ābli ofiserd bī prezidents ov the nām. Thē uther lernd prōfeshons är ālsō wel reprēsentēd. But fū hav kontinūd in politiks.

The rīter regrets that mōr dētāld rēpōrts wer not jenerali rēsēvd regārding the edūkāshon ov the children in thē hōm, the skōl, and the cherch. Obzervāshons shō, hēr az elshwār pānfuli, kontinūd neglekt ov sum parents in the erli and kontinūus edūkāshon ov the children into gud habits ov thōt and akshon, necesāri tō thār fūtūr konfōrming tō thē tenets ov thār erli Amerikan fōrbārs, and to thār living trū to the prinsipls nesesāri for the advansment in sivili-zāshon. Grāt oportunitiz and achēvments awāt aktiv, ernest livs thus wel establisht.

The rīters jenēālojik werk iz finisht. Hiz rēmāning strength and tīm är komited to uther werk hwich, hē hōps, mā bē mōr prōduktiv in vārius wāz than hav hiz eforts in this lin.

It is among the foremost duties of every person not only to maintain in his, or her, life the nobility in the character of the parents, but to improve upon and add to this nobility as much as possible by the best, and persistent, efforts.

INTRODUCTORY

THE ORIJIN* OF THE SURNAME SLOCOMBE, SLOCUM, etc., iz ov local karakter, coming from the location ov an early setler at the Combe in southwestern England coverd by luxuriant growth ov the Sloe (wild plum) trees; hence John at the Slocombe, etc. This sur-name haz a wider ranj ov spelings in America than in England, twenty or mor forms having been gatherd here by the writer. COAT OV ARMS

A copy ov the Coat ov Arms ov 'Slocombe of Somersetshire' engravd in colors, waz bound in Volume I ov this jenealojik work. That ther may remain no misconception regarding this Heraldic bearing, it iz here repeted that this copy waz made by the writer from Harleian MS. No. 1385 in The British Museum Library, London, wher it waz rufly skecht with pen and ink. This MS. iz record, in part, ov the report ov the Herald's Visitation ov Somersetshire about the year 1573. The krisnd name ov the Slocombe to whom it waz granted, or to whom it belongd in 1573, haz not been detemind. While it evidently haz remaind in England without a claimant for many jenerations, and Anthony the first recorded imigrant to America waz mentiond az 'of the nobility' ther haz not been found any definit evidens that this bearing belongd to him.†

THE IMIGRATIONS OV SLOCOMBES TO AMERICA.

Nearly all ov the Slocums and Slocumbs in America ar desendants ov Anthony the first imigrant.

* No explanation iz givn why this mark* iz plast after twenty five names ov diferent familiz between 20 July, 1641, and 5 April, 1643, az recorded in the Parish Register. It might reznabli be inferd that the persons whoz nams ar thus markt died ov the plag which then prevald.

† See Volume I, footnote, Pajez 23, 24.

It appears probabl that a later family imigration waz the sors ov most ov the Slocombs.

Other imigrations folowd, az noted herewith, with referens to family number if necessary for record ov desendants.

Perhaps thoz ov the name, with interest in the great extent ov their American lineaj, should feel complimented by the adoption ov their surnam by diferent familiz from diferent kuntriz wher they wer known by other surnams.

The list ov Slocombe imigrations, with perhaps som transients, in kronolojik order is az folos, viz.:

1630-37, A. D. Anthony 'Slocum' and wife, Family 1; with sons Giles Family 2; Edward; Joseph Family 1 A; and John 1 B.

1695. George 'Slacomb' (giv broad sound to the a) Family A 789.

Josephine, b. 27 April, 1880, in Ionia; rezides 1907 in Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Slocum reports that hiz first known ansestor Slocum went from Scotland to Moscow, Russia, in the year 1642; that hiz grandfather's name waz Robert Kaspar Slocum, and hiz father's name waz Francis Kolokol Slocum, the midl nam being that ov the great broken bel in Moscow. Hiz father died in Vienna. In 1849 he waz an importer into Moscow ov silk and tea from China and, with other importers, made personal remonstrans to the Czar against the hevvy import duty. They wer banisht from Russia, and their property seizd by the government, hiz father's amounting then to about $275,000. In June, 1907, Dr. Slocum announst to the Assosiated Press that he waz expecting the Russian government to return to him this money with compound interest at four per cent.

1872. John Slocombe came from Somersetshire, England, to Bellevue, Huron County, Ohio. See Fam. (801).

1873, June 28. John H. Slocombe arrivd in the United States from Devonshire, England. See (802).

1876, about. Sidney Slocombe came from Somerset, England, to Onondaga County, New York. See 805.

1880, or before. Emanuel Sloop? a jew, arrivd in America from Holland (?) with sons Abraham, Isaac, and Moses. They chanjd their surnam to Slocum. Abraham setld in Providence, Rhode Island, wher he waz a costumer in 1880. In 1907 hiz son Edwin iz with him in the sam biznes, Myer E. Slocum is a clerk with them, and Abraham's son Myron Slocum is 'ladies tailor' also in Providence. Moses and Isaac setld in Boston. The Directory ther for 1906 shows Isaac M. Slocum az manajer, Moses D. az clerk; and David Slocum and Co. fruit dealers. No further details hav been elisited. See Vol. I (803).

1881, October. Nathaniel Slocombe (John, Vol. I, 802) waz born 8 August, 1858, in Marwood, Devonshire, England, and came to America in 1881. He returnd to England, and waz ther marid 29 Aug., 1900, in Ashburton, Devon, to Marie Blampy, eldest dau. ov Joseph and Mary, formerly ov St. Mary Church, Torquay, wher she waz born 20 Nov., 1857. They 1906 rezide in Farmington, Ct. A gardener. No children.

1890. Ther wer living in Olneyville, within the Providence Postofis limits, Rhode Island, from about 1890, perhaps befor, several children ov Samuel Slocombe and hiz wife Mary Duel who continud rezidens at Trowbridge, near Somersetshire, England. Thez brothers and sister in Olneyville wer:

 1. Martha Slocombe, widow in 1892 ov George Slocombe (blood relationship if any not determind). No children. Her nephew Frank Slocombe was living with her in 1892, he a son ov her brother William who then rezided at Trowbridge with other brothers and sisters. 2. George Slocombe, who had four children. 3. Henry Slocombe, marid Anna Doyle, but had no children in 1892. In addition to thez three children ov Samuel in England, living at Olneyville, R. I., another, Samuel Slocombe, rezided in 1892 at Girardville, Pennsylvania, marid, but without children.

1890, and earlier. Ther wer children ov William Slocombe ov southwestern England, in America as folos: Ingalls at Lynn, Massachusetts; Israel at Ayer, now within the City ov Lowell; two daughters, marid and living in Boston; one daughter, Mrs. — Weaver living at Port George, Nova Scotia, also her uncl ther, and another uncl in New Brunswick.

1903 (?) Rev. Samuel Slocombe came to San Francisco, Calif., and ther organizd the firm ov S. Slocombe & Co. for publishing the revizd edition ov hiz Gospel Manual. He waz author ov Responsive Services; Robert Mimpriess, a Memoir; and Late Editor ov the (London) Systematic Bible Teacher. He died early in 1906. Hiz son Sydney K. Slocombe reported from San Francisco 4 April, 1907, viz: "My father was born in Wales, my mother in England, two sisters and myself in England, one sister in New Zealand; and two brothers born in England died in infancy. Two of my sisters are married also myself; one sister has two boys and a girl, and I have three girls and two boys. My age is 38, my sisters are younger." He also wrote, "My father was somewhat reticent about his affairs"—the same as others 'of the blood."

The "Return of Owners of Land in England and Wales (exclusive of the Metropolis) for the year 1873" waz publisht in two quarto volumes. They contain the foloing names ov Slocombes and their realty posesions, viz:

THE SLOCUMS IN AMERICA

FAMILY 1 (1)

ANTHONY SLOCOMBE, born in England about January, 1590-91, and recorded by the clerk as Anthony Slocum from 1637 to 1662 inclusiv, in Taunton, New Plymouth, now Massachusetts, was namd as the common ancestor ov the Slocums in America in the writer's Preliminary to the Slocum Genealogy publisht October, 1880, in The New England Historical and Genealogical Register volume xxxiv, pajes 391-395; also in my First Volume ov 644 pajes octavo entitld A Short History of the Slocums, Slocumbs, and Slocombs of America, etc., publisht in 1882. The name Anthony as the head ov the American Slocum family haz been fully aksepted by genealogists and others who hav had occasion to copy from my work; which many ov them, I regret being oblijd to state, hav done without giving credit to the sors ov their information.

But litl haz been found in New England during the last twenty-five years in addition to the records ov this Anthony as givn in the First Volume ov this work; and nothing haz been found to warrant chanj in the skech ther givn, exsepting the surmizd rezon for hiz departure from Taunton and hiz loss to record in New England.

The public records ov Taunton wer destroyd by fire in the year 1838, and it iz not definitely known when the first setlment waz ther effected. If the records destroyd by fire containd the date ov such setlment and the names ov the setlers previus to 1637, Francis Baylies did not copy them into hiz Historical Memoir of the Colony of New Plymouth which waz printed in 1830.* This valuabl Memoir, and the Records of the Colony of New Plymouth, wer the sorses ov much ov the interesting record ov Anthony Slocum in the First Volume ov this work. The first item regarding him iz the list ov the forty-six 'first and ancient purchasers' A. D. 1637 ov the teritory ov Cohannet. This tract ov land waz rather romboidal in general outline, about eight miles in extent ov each ov its four sides, and comprizd about forty-one thousand akers. It waz purchast ov the Aborigine Sachem Massasoit at a price ov two shilings per aker. Deed ov it from him haz not been found. His son 'King Philip' confirmd the titl in 1663, and he was then prezentd with £16 additional payment.

* Baylies includes the account ov the journey thru the site ov Taunton in 1621 ov Edward Winslow and Stephen Hopkins, Mayflower pasenjerz on their way to visit Sachem Massasoit. He also mentions the tradition ov setlers ther az early az 1626.

The interest ov the several purchasers ov Cohannet for setlment in 1637 waz in the ratio ov six, eight, and twelv; Anthony Slocum subscribing for eight shares. The 3 March, 1639, O. S. this tract ov land, or mor particularly their villaj setlment, waz incorporated with the name Taunton; and the river by which they built their houses waz also named Taunton* in onor ov the shire town and river in Somersetsshire, southwestern England, whens this band ov liberty sekens had migrated. It iz probabl that they came in one or mor ov the ships Arbella, Mary, or John, and landed at Dorchester which iz now within the corporation ov Boston.

Anthony waz recorded in August, 1643, at Taunton among the fifty-four persons ther, between the ajez ov sixteen and sixty years, abl to bear arms for military duty;† also recorded in 1650 and 1651 as juryman.

Big iron ore waz noted in such larj quantitiz around Taunton that a stock company waz formd 21 October, 1652, for its reduction. By 'free vote of the town, permission waz givn to bild a dam for water power and to . . . "set up a Bloomery Work on the Two Mile River [tributary to the Taunton River] . . . that they shall have the woods on either side . . . to cut for their wood to make coals, and also to dig and take moine or ore at Two Mile Meadow, or in any of the commons appertaining to the town." . . . The share price in the company waz set at £20 ful share, £10 half share, and £5 a quarter share. Anthony Slocum waz enrold as a member, but the amount ov hiz holdings is not found. The iron works did not start until 1656; and not any ov the product waz shard for three years.

* Taun is Gaelic for River. Taunton iz contraction ov Taun Town, Town by the River.

† The necessity for being armd and redy at any moment for self protection in the wilderness waz evident to the Colonists from the time ov their first setlment; but ther waz no generaly prescribd cors for unity ov action until the confederation ov the Coloniz ov New England, effected at Boston 29 May, 1643. Therin the several General Courts wer advizd to attend particularly to the arms and equipments ov the citizens ov their Coloniz, their ammunition, stors, etc., and to report anyually to the Commissioners. Six anual trainings, at least, wer orderd to be givn thruout the Coloniz. The proportion ov men to be raisd in the diferent Coloniz in case ov war or imminent danjer, waz fixt by the Commissioners at the abuv date as folos: Massachusetts Bay 150; Plymouth 30; Connecticut 30; New Haven 25. Rhode Island and Providence Plantations wer not included in the confederation at this time, being alienated on account ov the diferent religius belief held therin.

According to records found later years in distant houses ther wer in the year '1659, 400 shared. 1660, a ton of iron sould to buy goods whi: were divided.' The works wer least 1 April, 1660, to thre persons who formd a new company, including Anthony Slocum; and the works wer operated profitably until King Philip's War when ther waz much destruction ov property by the savajes. This waz the first sucesful, and permanent, iron manufactory in this country. During the earlier years the company waz a veritabl bank on which every biznes man, including the yeomen, paid the minister, and for every purchas, by an order for a dezignated quantity ov iron equal to the obligation. Sucseding members ov the company enlarjd the industry until the product ov iron manufacturd, including tacks and small nails, at Taunton in 1889 amounted to $2,000,000, the ore and fuel being brought from distant plases.*

Anthony Slocum waz admitted Freeman ov Taunton 3 June, 1657. To secure this onor it waz necessary for everyone to hav the testimony ov his nabors that he waz 'of sober and peaceable conversation, and Orthodox in the Fundamentals of Religion' and he must declar under oath that he waz over one and twenty years ov aj, and that he had, a ratabl estat in the government ov at least £20. Anthony waz a member ov the Grand Jury 7 June, 1659; and at the division ov land, agreed upon 28 December, 1659, ov 'two acres to the head, two acres to the shilling, and two acres to the lot' he had a rating or tax ov nineteen shilings and four pence; with household ov six heads; and fifty-thre akers ov land.

Az one ov the two Survaors ov the Highways 3 June, 1662, iz the last time that Anthony Slocum's name haz been found recorded at Taunton. Soon after this date he dispozd ov his holdings ther to Richard Williams, and movd with Ralph Russell into the wildernes ov the southwestern part ov New Pymouth which waz incorporated in 1664 with the name Dartmouth. It has been prezumed that he setld in the southern part ov Dartmouth 'by Pascamanset River which has since been more generally known as Slocum's River' and the neck ov land to the west ov it has been known as Slocum's Neck.† Thez names have been perpetuated by the settlement thereof by his grandchildren Giles³ (5) Peleg³ (8) Mary³ (10) and Eleazer³ Slocum (11) and their descendants. Here the story of Anthony Slocum ends in New Plymouth and New England so far as determined by the writer.

It was not until the persistent and systematic search and research instituted by the writer in 1886 among the Slocums, and the old records, of North Carolina, and the culminating results among the records in February, 1907, that the story of this venerable founder of the name in America could be resumed and continued until his death in January 1689-90, O. S. at the age of ninety-eight or ninety-nine years.

The next record found regarding Anthony Slocum is in North Carolina. It is here presented as near as type can give it; and others follow, viz:

* It is inferred from this record that the petitioner, Anthony Slocum, lost his valuable English hat at sea, perhaps when on his way to settle in North Carolina; that it was picked up by the fisherman, and that the owner was necessitated to go to the court for its surrender. This record is evidence that he was among the earliest permanent settlers by the Albemarle River; the only record of previous court bearing date 15 July, 1670. These records are in the Office of the clerk of the Superior Court, Edenton, N. C.

This Patent waz issued, and the befor mentio^d Palatine Court waz held, under the noted Government formulated by the celebrated English filosofer John Locke. The orijinal paper by Locke iz now in the vault ov the ofis ov the Clerk ov the Superior Court in the prezent Chowan County, at Edenton, North Carolina. A literal copy ov this historic paper appears desirabl in this connection, az it is rarely found in print, and it iz here givn with the orijinal speling, but with the prezent time leterz and in line, viz:

Since the Quallity of Nobillity will not permit the Fundamentall Constitutions, Presently to be put in Practice, It is necessary for the Supply of that defect that some Temporary laws should in the mean time be made for the better ordering of Affairs till by a Sufficient number of inhabitants of all the Government of Carolina can be admin'tred according to the forme established in the Fundamental Constitutions, the Lords Proprietors of Carolina upon Due Consideration Agreed to these following

1. That the Pallatine shall name the Governour and each of the Lords Proprietors shall name a Deputy who with ther Governour and an equall number to be chosen by the Parliament shall Continue to be the Councillors. The Lords Proprietors shall either order a new Choice or the County see proper to be Capeable of the Government according to the fundamentall Constitutions and as there shall be Landgraves and Cassiques Created by the Lords Proprietors soe many of the Eldest in age of them that are present in Carolina as shall be equal to the number of the Lords Proprietors shall be also of the Councill. That so the Nobility have a share of the Government and the whole Administration May still come as near the forme designed as the Circumstances of the Growing plantations will permit.

2. The other Seven Proprietors shall respectively nominate these following officers. The Admirall; The Provost Marshall. The Chamberlaine; The Register of Births, Burialls & Mariages. The Chancellor; The Secretary. The Constable; The Military Officers. The Chief Justice; The Register of Wrightings. The High Steward; The Surveyor. The Treasurer; The Receiver. And upon vacancy of any of these offices the Governour and Councillors of Carolina shall substitute others till that proprietors pleasure can be known in whose Nomination it is.

3. The Governor together with the Lords Proprietors Deputys the Landgraves and Cassiques that are Councillors and the Councill Chosen by the Parliament shall be the Grand Councill and shall have all the power and Authority of the Grand Councill and other Courts till they come to be erected. The Quorum of Councill shall be the Governor and six Chancellors whereof three at least shall be Deputys of Proprietors.

4. If it hapen that any of the Lords Proprietors Deputys shall by Death or Departure out of Carolina or any otherwise cease to be Deputys before the Lords Proprietors Respectively shall have Deputed others in their Roome, that the number of Deputys may be kept full, the eldest of the Councill chosen by Parliament shall be to all intents and purposes Deputy of that Proprietor whose former Deputation is by Death or otherwise determined till the saide Proprietor his heirs or Successor shall make another Deputy and when it shall happen that one or more of the Councillors shall be Chosen by the Parliament shall by this means come to be Deputys the Proprietors new Councillors shall be chosen by the Parliament at its next sessions to fill up their places in Councill Provided always that if the Proprietor whose vacant place is thus supplied, shall make some other person Deputy, then he who by Eldership came to be his Deputy shall be Councillor as he was before and he that was chosen into the Councill by the Parliament shall cease to be Councillor if there be more of these chosen by the parliament then, there be Deputys of Proprietors.

5. The Parliament shall consist of the Governor the Deputys of the Lords Proprietors the Nobility, and twenty chosen by the freeholders, And shall have the power to make Laws to be ratified as in the fundamentall Constitutions is Provided, And shall be assembled as often and in the same manner as in the fundamentall Constitution is provided concerning Parliaments.

6. All Acts that shall be made by the Parliament before our Government of Carolina come to be administred according to our fundamentall Constitutions shall cease and determine at the ende of the first Sessions of Parliament that shall be called chosen and shall sett according [three words illegible] concerning Parliaments established in the fundamentall Constitutions.

7. Soe much of the fundamentall Constitutions as shall be Capeable of being putt in practice shall be the rule of proceeding.

The mention ov grandsons Gilbert in Anthony Slocum's Wil, here copid, brings to mind a leter writn by him to his 'brother in law

* This Wil is among many other old records in the State Capitol bilding ofis ov the Secretary ov State, Raleigh, N. C. See subsequent Wils.

William Harvey in 'Taunton' after hiz departur from New England. The fragment of this leter prezervd, reads az folos:

To the Church of Christ in Taunton and to Mr Shove [the pastor] and yourself in particular, I desire to be remembered, whose prayers I doubt not I and mine are the better for, and whose welfare I earnestly wish and pray for. Myself, wife, and sons, and daughter Gilbert who hath four sons, remember our respects and loves; and my sons are all married* . . .

The identity ov Anthony Slocum ov New England and North Carolina iz further confirmd by this leter and the naming ov hiz grandsons Gilbert in hiz Wil. The naming ov William Harvey az 'brother in law' in this leter led the writer ov History of Sutton, New Hampshire, 1890, to the statement that William Harvey ov Taunton marid second, 'Martha Slocum sister of Anthony.' This statement iz refuted in The Harvey Book (genealogy) 1899, and in Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts, 1900, by showing that this Martha waz ov the Copp Family. Ther appears no definit means at hand for determining the exact relationship between Anthony Slocum and William Harvey ov Taunton. They may hav marid sisters; or Anthony may hav marid hiz sister; or they may hav been half brothlers, az it waz then customary to call half brothers brothers-in-law. The number, and high character, ov Harveys surrounding Anthony Slocum in North Carolina, iz significant.

Considerabl serch haz been made to asertain the name ov the craft in which Anthony Slocum went to North Carolina. All vesels wer small at that time and litl if any record waz kept ov their going and coming, particularly ov the numerus privat coasters. Much ov the food ov thez early colonists waz procured from the sea, and each larj family had one or mor boats cald seaworthy.

It is suggestiv that Giles² Slocum, 2, ov Portsmouth, near Newport, Rhode Island, purchast land in East New Jersey az early az 20 May, 1667, and again in 1670; also that hiz son John, grandson of Anthony, waz a freholder, and waz admited a Freman, in East New Jersey in May, 1668.†

Anthony and hiz family may hav accompanid his grandson John (and perhaps Samuel, Family (9) paj 54 ov Vol. I) in hiz boat to New Jersey and, after a visit ther, he may hav been taken by the same boat to the Albemarle, Carolina, which waz then much talkt about

The war with the savajes that folod blighted the Colony for years and, probabli, would hav destroyed it entirely but for the prompt and jenerus action ov the peopl ov South Carolina in ansering the cal for help. Governor Spottswood ov Virginia made an eloquent speech to hiz Legislatur, appealing to its members by al the considerations ov humanity, kinship, naborhood and self-interest, to help their brethren in Albemarle; and he sukseded in geting an appropriation ov £1000 in their behalf; but the appropriation waz not expended, az the security required by Governor Spottswood for repayment waz such that the North Carolina authoritiz said they could not giv, it being a morgaj on the territory north ov the Roanoke River. South Carolina responded imediately without asking morgaj or other security for repayment ov expenditurs—voted £4000 mony, and sent troops at once.†

JOSIAS³ SLOCUM (Joseph,² *Anthony*¹) married Ann, daughter of James Blount who settled in Chowan Precinct of the old Albemarle County, North Carolina, in 1669; and whose Will was then proved 17 July, 1686. Josias is mentioned in his grandfather's Will. He moved southward; and was the first to sign, in 1706, a petition for a Court for the Neuse River region. Some of his land went into the possession of his uncle John Slocum by whom it was willed to Josias' cousin Joseph. Children, perhaps not born in the order given, viz:

i. JOHN CHARLES. Perhaps he was killed with his father in the Tuscaroro massacre of 1711 and later. See ante page 19.

JOHN³ SLOCUM (John,² *Anthony*¹). A deed at Edenton, N. C., reads that "John Slockum and wife Jane of Bath' conveyed 'by Nathaniel Chevon attorney to Thomas Wayne the Plantation heired from his father John Slocumb deceased, said tract being on Mattacomack Creek as by Patent dated May — 1684.'" He received by Will his father's 'Dawling Plantation.' The General Biennial Assembly held at Edenton November 6, 1727, passed an 'Act to confirm Orlando Champion's title to 620 acres of land in Chowan Precinct' with the following preamble, viz:

Whereas Anthony Slocumb, grandfather of John Slocumb of Neuse River in Bath County, died seized and possessed of 620 acres of land in Machecomack Creek (Chowan) known by the name of Slocumb's, and said Slocumb by his last Will and Testament did entail same on his son John Slocumb and his heirs male of his body, the said John entered and was seized in fee simple, and the said grandson sold to Francis Branch, and said Orlando Champion purchased from Francis Branch. Before the said John, the grandson, could perfect his title he died. and his son John entered upon the lands of his father in Neuse, in lieu of the tract sold to Orlando Champion," etc. . . .

John³ Slocum resevd 6 April, 1714, a Deed from Robert Turner for Lot No. 21 by Core Sound, Beaufort, N. C.*

The children ov John³ Slocum wer az folos perhaps not all born in the order givn, viz:

- i. JOHN. Mar. Mary Hancock. He resevd 26 Dec., 1730, deed to 300 akers ov land on the south side ov Neuse River at mouth ov Slocumb's Creek. Also deed 29 June, 1732, to 320 akers near that befor mentiond, from W^m Hancock ov Precinct ov Craven, County ov Bath, and then this John Slocumb waz 'of the s^d Precinct.' The 15 March, 1735, he gave deed, to hiz brother Joseph, to 500 akers ov land 'on Mill Branch and Slocumb's Creek;' and two days later he resevd from this brother, deed to 320 akers 'on the east side ov Slocumbs Creek' The 7 Nov., 1758, he waz styld 'of Duplin Co., N. JOSIAS³ SLOCUMB (John,² Anthony,¹) waz smal when hiz father died in 1722. See Wil ov his father ante page 21. He marid Elizabeth, dauter ov 'Harmonous Hullbrooke' whoz Wil, in the Secretary ov State's ofis, Raleigh, N. C., made March 6, 1783-84, mentions hiz name. Hiz children, perhaps not all born in the order here givn, wer:

- 1 F. i. SAMUEL; record ov birth, mar. or deth not found.
- 1 G. ii. JOHN CHARLES. 'The Teacher.' Movd to Georgia.
- iii. SETH; first appears in record az grante ov deed to 200 akers ov land in Duplin Co., N. C., by the 'N. E. branch of Cape Fear River.' This deed is between the dates ov 1759 and 1761, and waz witnest by hiz brothers John C. and Joseph Slocumb. The next record found ov him iz in the Secretary ov State's ofis Columbia, South Carolina, which shows that he located 112 akers ov land in Granville County, S. C., and that the Grant waz issued 12 July, 1771. The next record iz in the Secretary ov State's ofis Atlanta, Georgia, showing he waz granted 100 akers ov land in St. George's Parish, acros the Savannah River from the abov Grant, in 1771; also 100 akers in same place in 1774, and that he sold 100 akers 2 May, 1773, to Jonathan Kemp ov same Parish. St. George's Parish then included at least the preztent Burke, Jefferson, and Screven, countiz. Fire destroyd the records ov Burke County in 1852; and the records ov Beaufort wer destroyd in the Civil War. The last record found naming him shows him a rezident ov Burke Co., Ga., and loyal to the King ov England, 28 Sept., 1774.

GILES² SLOCUM' (Anthony) waz born in Somersetshire (?) England. He setld in Portsmouth Township, now in Newport County, Rhode Island, 1 March, 1638, or befor, and he ther reard a family ov nine children. He obtaind from hiz father rights in Taunton, a few miles northeast ov Portsmouth, and sold them to Nicholas White, senior, previus to 25 May, 1680. Hiz accumulations ov land in Rhode Island, and Dartmouth, now Massachusetts, wer larj, and most ov hiz children setld ther. He also accumulated land at and to the northward ov the prezent Long Branch, New Jersey, wher hiz sons John (4) and Nathaniel (7) setld.* Record ov his son Samuel (9) after hiz father's deth, haz not been found. It iz probabl that he, like many ov the later generations, waz a seafaring man; and perhaps he and children wer lost at sea, or died at some obscure port on the Atlantic coast. See Vol. 1, p. 209

JACOB³ MOTT (Jacob² and wife Joanna³ Slocum, Giles,² Anthony,¹) born 1675, marid about 1704 Rest — ov the same Township ov Portsmouth, Rhode Island. Their dauter Mary Mott, born 25 February, 1708, marid 18 February, 1739, Nathaniel Greene ov Warwick Township, now in Kent County, R. I. Their son Nathaniel Greene, born 27 May, 1742, in Potowhommet, Warwick, R. I., became the noted Revolutionary General in the American Army. Hiz ansestors, ov both lines, wer prominent members ov the Sosity ov Friends, hiz father being a leading minister; and he waz from infancy enviroind in hiz father's home by quiet unostentatious lives. He waz taught to work on hiz father's farm, at hiz anchor forj, and in hiz smal flouring mil; and here he saw much ov the scaterd rural peopl, also ov the mor adventuresom ones engajd in coasting trade about Narraganset Bay and wider waters. He waz studius and became interested in history, English and ancient; mathematics, law, and the moral and political fazes ov the time. He waz also fond ov reading books on war. When the occasion oferd he waz prepard to be a leader. He waz chozen member ov the Rhode Island Assembly in 1770, and to the great scandal ov hiz fello Quakers he waz among the first to engaj in the military considerations preparatory to rezisting the unwiz impozitions ov Great Britain, the mother country. In 1774 Nathaniel Greene enlisted az a privat soldier, and in 1775 he waz appointed to command the Rhode Island soldiers at Boston, with the rank ov Brigadier General. He fulfild every duty so wel that he waz promoted to Major General in the patriot army in 1776; and az such he distinguisht himself in the engajments with the British forses at Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine; and az Commander ov the Army ov the South. Congress prezentetd him a medal, and Georgia and the Carolinas made him valuabl grants ov land. He haz been esteemd second only to Washington az a military commander. At the clos ov the Revolutionary War he returnd to quiet life in Rhode Island, but made visits to the South. The place ov hiz deth, which occurd 19 July, 1786, and ov hiz burial, wer subjects ov inquiry by the Society ov Cincinnati and, after due serch hiz bones, debre ov his coffin, and butons ov hiz uniform, wer found in 1901 in a Savannah, Georgia, cemetery vault.

The servis ov this patriot with Slocum blood, and the services ov many ov the name Slocum in every one ov the wars ov their country, afford studiz in patriotism; also in the influens ov heredity and environment, over both ov which patriotism haz generally rizn suprem.

CAPT. EDWARD⁵ SLOCUM (Ebenezer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 10 July, 1754, in or near Tiverton Township, Newport County, Rhode Island. Notwithstanding the precepts of his parents, who were prominent members of the Society of Friends, and examples of his ancestors in both lines for generations, he enlisted in the Revolutionary Army (as did two of his brothers) and at the close of the war he became a charter member of the Society of Cincinnati as shown by the following article to which he subscribed his name, viz:

Cantonment of American Army on Hudson's River, May 10th, 1783.

The officers of the American Army having generally been taken from the citizens of America, possess high veneration for the character of that illustrious Roman Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus, and being resolved to follow his example by returning to their citizenship, they think they may with propriety denominate themselves The Society of Cincinnati.

This Society has been kept in active existence by the succeeding eldest male lineal descendants of the charter members. The hereditary seat of Captain Slocum has continued vacant since his death which occurred 2 March, 1822, in Westfield, Massachusetts. His children became scattered early, and communication between them ceased. During the summer of 1906 the secretary of this Society for Rhode Island was active in correspondence to find the heir to the vacant chair, but without success. This Society has the following record of Captain Slocum, viz:

Entered Army May 8, 1775, as first sergeant Captain William Cook's Company, Third Regiment Rhode Island Continental Infantry; was promoted to Ensign in same company June 18, 1775, and to Lieutenant June 28, 1775. He was in the Quebec Expedition of September, 1775, and at the siege of that city. He was in the second storming column in the attack in which General Montgomery was killed, and he was taken prisoner; was held in close custody until exchanged the following year. Joined his regiment on the Hudson in July, 1777. Promoted to Captain May 26, 1778. Honorably discharged November 3, 1779, while stationed with his regiment at East Greenwich, R. I.

He participated in the defense of Fort Mercer, repulse of the Hessians under Count Donop; at Whitemarsh; Valley Forge; and the Campaign under General Sullivan which terminated with the Battle of Rhode Island.

The Buro of Pensions, Department of The Interior, Weshington, D. C., contains the foloing Military History of this Captain Edward Slocum, viz:

May, 1775. Orderly Sergeant under Capt. William Cook, Col. Thomas Church.

June, 1775. Ensign, under the above namd officers.

August-September, 1775. Ensign under Capt. John Topham, Colonel Benedict Arnold.

August, 1776. Was paroled from Canada, having been taken prisoner of war at Quebec.

May, 1777. First Lieutenant under Capt. Silas Talbot, Col. Christopher Greene.

May 26, 1778. Captain under Col. Christopher Greene.

November, 1779. Honorably discharged from the Army.

April 10, 1818. Applied for Pension [which was allowed]. He was then resident of Blandford, Hampden Co., Mass.; age 64 years. [Here is a variance of six years, later, than given in Vol. I, p. 73].

1820. Soldier stated that he was a widower, and had no children living with him.

SLOCUM.—Elizabeth Slocum was born in Canaan, N. Y., June 18, 1821, and died at Omro, Wis., Dec., 10, 1884, one year and five months after the death of her husband. She was converted while quite young and united with the Baptist church, but subsequently united with the Methodist and remained with them until death. She was married to Richard Slocum, April 15, 1845, and in 1852 they settled near Picket's Station, Wis., where their home became a resting place for the itinerant, as well as for ministers of other denominations, and no pains were spared to make them comfortable and happy. At first they had to go a long distance to enjoy the public means of grace, but soon through their efforts preaching was established in their own neighborhood. In her last days she was wonderfully sustained by the grace of God, and kept cheerful and happy to the last. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."—R. S. HAYWARD.

New York. It appears that she was reared, in part at least, by a family of Friends ('Quakers' probably relatives of her mother) by the name of Talmadge, in or near Poughkeepsie. She married Isaac Cusser in 1820. They remained in Duches County until 1832 when they moved to Perrington, Monroe County, and later to Macedon, Wayne County, New York. In the fall of 1845 they started with their family, including William Slayton, son-in-law, for western Michigan, going by the New York and Erie Canal to Buffalo, thence through the Great Lakes by skoner to Milwaukee, where they experienced much difficulty in securing passage across Lake Michigan from the latitudes of the season. Finally succeeding, they were landed at Grand Haven where they were pushed up the Grand River to Grand Rapids in a small boat by a pole. After further ride of twenty-five miles, in wagon along a new trail, they arrived at their destination in Gratton Township, Kent County, Michigan. Here they settled as pioneers, and passed the remainder of their lives. Most of their children settled in this vicinity; and all are buried in a country cemetery near their first cabin home. Only once did Mrs. Cusser, with her son Richard, return to New York to visit her sisters, Mrs. Charles Hart, Mary Cornel and other relatives. Lydia died 1 May, 1860. Her husband Isaac Cusser, died 18 May, 1889. They had children:

I. The American line) of John⁹ Dyer (z; Edward⁹ and wife Mary Greene, Samuel⁹ and wife Anne Hutchinson, William⁹ and Mary (—) Dyer, who came to Boston from England in the year 1635. This Mrs. Mary Dyer was a disciple of Anne Hutchinson, and was banished from the Colony of Massachusetts Bay for heresy. She and husband went to Rhode Island, where she was converted to the tenets of The Society of Friends. In 1657 she reappeared in Boston and continuing her preaching, she was tied behind a cart and whipt on her bare back thro' the streets. This violence did not convert her to the doktrins of the establish church. Under the law of 1659 she, with Marmaduke Stephenson and William Robinson, was sentenced to death for preaching 'heresy.' She was reprieved when on the scaffold, and set at liberty on petition of her son, on condition that she leave the Colony within forty-eight days. Moved by the Spirit she again returned to warn for their salvation the peopl of 'the bloody town of Boston' in March, 1660, and she was put to death by hanging, on Boston Common 1 June, 1660.

At the age of fifteen years she was sent with school yet to Miss Shepherd's small boarding school at Quaker Springs, Saratoga Co., N. Y. She then entered the Friends' Academy at Union Springs, Cayuga Co., N. Y., and was here graduated in 1861. She continued her studies in the Howland Collegiate Institute with year then went to Yorktown as teacher to the Freedmen where she remained a year or more. Returning to Union Springs, N. Y., because of illness she was employed as teacher in Howland School where she remained teaching Political Science, even was term each year, during her attendance at lectures on law in the University of Michigan where she was graduated LL.B. in 1874, until 1876, when the Granjer-Plas School for women was opened in Canandaigua, N. Y. She was here Vice-Præs. and teacher in political and social economy. In 1883 she kindled her work in Granjer-Plas School for wider usefulness in social economy. She went to New York City to study social conditions and then taught by class lectures on civics and economy in schools, colleges, academies, and halls, working in connection with Wilson L. Child as instructor in the Patriotic League, and becoming familiar with his idea of 'The School City' which has been helpful in her later work in Watertown, N. Y., and elsewhere. She gave a course in University Extension lectures at Oak Hand Beach in 1896 made her second journey to Europe and, on her return in the fall, accepted a call to teach in Weiser, Idaho, Academy. Here she remained two years, then again travelled in Europe. Upon her return she accepted a call from Rev. E. A. Paddock, founder of Weiser Academy, to aid in the more extensive enterprise by founding the Idaho Industrial Institute at Weiser. She assumed charge of the women's department of this Institute in the year 1900, and has since been devoting her time and energies to its upbuilding. The courses of study here offered in 1906-07 were commercial, literary, and college preparatory, Miss Shesim teaching civics and economy in the third year of each course. The most useful trades are also taught and opportunity is given for pupils to work as pay for part, or all, of their expenses at the school. Miss Shesim's former pupils, principals of Howland Institute and Granjer-Plas, endowed her with a birthday gift of $1,200 which, with gift of plan and specifications from her brother Samuel Gifford Shesim, architect in New York City, materialized in a beautiful building, a home for her old age among the Institute buildings. She haz been reziding in it mor than a yer; and she rites, 'I have come here to live, and die in the work.' Being separated from meetings ov The Sosiety ov Friends, she joind the Kongregashonal Church. She iz also member ov the Am. Akad. ov Politikal and Soshal Siens; Am. Ekonomik Asn.; and Univ. ONORABLE ROBERT WILLIAM WILSON (Kapitan William Stewart Wilson, Kept. Charles Wilton and wife Hanna Stewart, John John Joseph Peleg, Giles, etc.) was born 18 February, 1855, at Kuluhi, Honolulu, Heir of Maui of the Hawaiian group. His first schooling was at Wailuku at the age of 12 yrs.* His mother died when he was ten yrs. or so, and his father moved to a ranch at Makawao, Heir of Maui. They was no English speaking school at Makawao until 1863 when the Board of Education established the Halekaiia Boys' Boarding School under Robert W. Andrews and Mrs. S. A. Thurston, wife and mother of Onwah L. A. Thurston. Young Wilson and his three brothers were here among the first pupils. He finished his studies in 1873 under Professor F. L. Clark. From 1870 to 1880 he was a teacher employed by the Board of Education at Honolulu, and he early became a leader among the young men. In 1880 he was elected to the Legislature from the District of Wailuku, Maui, as Representative. In August of the same year, 1880, he was sent by King Kalakoua, with Robert N. Boyd and James K. Booth, to Italy to study in the Military Academy; and by the influence of the King he was admitted to the Royal Military Academy at Torino in May, 1881. They were accompanied by Signor Celso Cesare Martini, he was the King's Ambassador to Europe. It was necessary for him to take preparatory kurs before entering upon the regular kurs in the Academy. His Professor of Mathematics at this time was Kapitan Luigi Gilera, a staff officer, he was later a Major General in the Italian Army. In 1882 he passed the examinations, and entered upon the regular Academy kurs. He was here graduated in 1885 with rank of Sub-Lieutenant of Artillery. The same year he entered the Royal Artillery School for Further and Artillery Officers. When in the last kors ov this skool, he waz rekald by the Hawaiian Government, just after his marij.

He waz marid 20 July, 1887 in Turin, Italy, to Signorina Gina Sobrero, born 20 July, 1863 in Palermo, Sicily, dauter ov Baron Lorenzo Sobrero, Kurnel ov Artillery in the Italian Army and hiz wite Prinses Vittoria Colonna di Stigliano ov Naples. In September, 1887, Lieutenant Wilcox and hiz bride left Italy for Hawaii. The remand in Honolulu until 1888, then movd to San Francisco, California. Here he waz employd in the surveying band ov the Spring Valley Water Works, and Mrs. Wilcox gav lesons in French and Italian to yung ladiz—the inkom thus obrand plasing them in bett sirkumstanses than when in Hawaii. But Mr. Wilcox felt himself az an exile from hiz nativ land; and he determind to return to Honolulu and overthrow the 'Bayoneted Konstitution and the Return Government.' Therupon Mrs. Wilcox desided to return to Italy with their dauter; hi waz born in San Francisco and she started on this jurney in mid winter ov 1888 Sq. Upon her arrival, her parents influenst Pope Leo XIII to anul her marij with Mr. Wilcox. The Suprem Kort ov Turin also granted like dekree, which waz settifed to the Roman Katholik Bishop and to the Italian Kumul at Honolulu.

Mr. Wilcox retorned to Honolulu az a determind revolutionist, as agreed upon. After what waz thot du preparashon, in the morning ov July 30, 1889 he led a body ov waz revolutionarij and sukceded in okupying the grounds ov the Iolani Palas, now the Exekutiv Blding; but the King's soljers faild to join him in the movment az it waz understood thaz wud do. King Kalakaua had chafid for mood in the night by sum wims advis, and he gav strikt order to hiz body garr not to join with Wilcox, but to hold the Palas and barracks. Mr. Wilcox desided not to take the Palas agensz the King's wil, az it wud oper az a userspashon ov the King's right. He waz besting az a Hawaiian Garibaldi. Had he desided to lead the movment az a Hawaiian Napoleon Bonaparte he kuld hav karid everithing befor him. By the evening ov the first day he bekan a prisoner, charid with hi trezon by the Government; but his kumtrymen, as jurymen, akwited him for the rezon that the King waz a takpur ov the movment. From this day his kumtrymen lokt upon him az their hero and idol.

In 1890 Mr. Wilson was elected by the Reform Party as its Representative to the Legislature. His Party having majority in the House, the Provisional Cabinet was voted out and King Kalakoua went out of power to appoint another Cabinet. The King's selection, however, did not please the people, and they were discontented. The King was also disappointed, and in 1890 he went to San Francisco, and died there broken hearted. His sister Princess Lydia Kaunakiahe became Queen Liliuokalani.

In 1892 Mr. Wilson was again elected to the Legislature in order to the Liberal Party, his Party having changed its name. This Legislature was determined against any Cabinet by the Queen's chief titles if he happened to members that the Legislature majority would confirm. In January, 1893, the Queen proposed the Legislature and attempted to proclaim a new Constitution to satisfy the often repeated demand of her people, but her Cabinet hindered her in every way and thus facilitated her dethronement, a result accomplished partly by the treachery of her Cabinet, and partly by the underhanded influence of The United States in officials aided by demonstrations of Marines of the U. S. S. Byrd.

At this time it appears Mr. Wilson did not see what to do, as it was apparent that The United States was influential in the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani. But when U. S. Consul James H. Russell came and hoisted the American Flag, Mr. Wilson became convinced that The United States Government ought to do what was right and just to the former Hawaiian Government. Accordingly he decided to continue a strong adherent of the Queen and the Hawaiian Government. In 1893 he led the 'Demand Head Brotherhood' against the Oligarchy of Hale. Altho he had no part in organizing the movement, yet like a true patriot & Grassholder, he at once joined into it and led the struggle for the country and his Queen. After two weeks of effort he was betrayed by a half-breed Hawaiian, Koro-matohala, and sent to jail. Moreover the United States Congress intervened, for which reason Mr. Wilson did not see the show his patriotic duty obligating the conscience of manhood further when to maintain the former government of his country or when, against the agents Americans, he saw fully determined upon annexation of Hawaii to the United States. President Dole demanded his arrest to thirty-five very' imprisonment at hard labour, and a payment of $25,000 fine. In January, 1896, he was given a conditional pardon, and in 1898 Presdent Dole gav him ful pardon, which waz aprovd by the Kounsil ov State.

In 1899 Mr. Wilcox waz delegated by hiz kuntrymen to Washington, D. C., to obtain unrestrikted franchiz for hiz pepl in the framing ov the Organik Akt then betor Congres. In this undertaking he waz supported by Congres; and he returnd hom with onor. November 6, 1900, he waz elektet the first Representativ ov Hawaii to the United States Congres on the Hom Rule Republikan Tiket. He resevd vot for the unexpird part ov the 56th Congres, ov 4108, agenst hiz kompetitors viz: Prins David, Demokrat, 1056; Samuel Parker, Republikan 3845. For the 57th Congres hiz majority waz larjer. On Thanksgiving day after hiz elekshon, he desded to join the Roman Catholic Church; and he waz resevd and baptizd in the Cathedral at Honolulu by Father Clement. On the 30 November, 1900, Governor Dole gav out hiz Sertifikats ov Elekshon to the 56th and 57th Congrese; and the 15 December the oth ov ons waz administered to him betor the Bar ov the Hous ov Representativs, Washington, D. C., by Speker Henderson. Foloing this he waz admird at hom az ' the first to strike for liberty, and the first to represent hiz pepl.*

Mr. Wilcox waz marid sekond at Honolulu 20 August, 1892, to Prinses Theresa Owana Kaohelahani, born ther 1 May, 1850, dauter ov Prins Gideon Kailipalaki Laanui, a direkt descendant ov Kalokoo-kamaile, brother ov Kamehameha the Great. She iz the dauter ov chietes Elizabeth Kamaikaopa, and a woman ov remarkabl ability and strength ov karakter.

After the expirashon ov hiz termz ov ofis, Mr. Wilcox kontinud in politiks. The Hom Rule Party, kompozd larjly ov the desendants ov the Aborijinez ov the Hawaiian Hlands, supported him for Governor, and tha so petishond Prezident Roosevelt—and, probably, he might hav resevd the apointment had he livd. He died 23 Oktober, 1903, in or ner Honolulu.

He had children, by first marij:

ov much ov her klothing. She stood wel in her klasez in the Publik Skools; and erly enterd The Emma Willard Seminary for yung wimen in Troy, N. Y. Here she waz graduated ner the aj ov ninten yerz. She engajd in teching; and taut in Philadelphia at the time ov the Southern Rebelyon.

During Mis Slocum's sojurnz in Troy she became an intimat frend ov her skoolmate, Mis Maria Winne, dauter ov Moses Winne. This frendship kontinud after Miss Winne's marij to Russell Sage; who waz for a time in partnership with Mis Slocum's unkl, Hiram^r Slocum (Family 237) wher she first met him. Sum length ov time after Mrs. Maria Sage's deth, Miss Slocum aksepted the atenshons ov Mr. Sage; and tha wer marid in 1809.

Russell Sage waz born 4 August, 1816, at the Hamlet ov Shenandoah, New York, while hiz parents wer on the way by their pioner konvaans from Middletown, Connecticut, with expektashon ov going to Michigan. Upon their arival in Verona Township, Oneida County, New York, tha desided not to go any further; and here in Durhamville Russell waz rerd to the aj ov twelv yerz. He waz the fifth son ov Elisha Sage and in the fifth jenerashon from David ho kame from Wales and setld in Middletown, Connecticut, in 1652. In 1828 Russell went to Troy, N. Y., az an erand boy in the grosery stor ov hiz brother, Henry Risley Sage, reseving four dolarz per month and hiz bord. From this first step into the biznes world, hiz rize waz rapid; he became klerk; and soon therafter he went into partnership with another brother also in grosery biznes. He savd his ernings, and purchast hiz brother's interest. From 1839 to 1844 he and John W. Bates kondukted a wholsale grosery in Troy, which inkrest, and extended to their kontrol ov the karying ov their goods, and ov the produkts ov the visinity to New York Sity, in their own boats, and to their ledership ov the grosery trade in Troy and Albany; also leders in the hors market from Vermont and Canadian sorses. In 1844 he purchast Mr. Bates' interest for $150,000.00, and kondukted the biznes alon until larjer biznes interests nesitated its sale. Befor the aj ov thirty yerz, he waz, probably, the welthiest man in the land outside ov New York Sity.

In politiks Mr. Sage began az a Whig. He servd sevn yerz from 1841 az alderman ov Troy, and tresurer ov Rensselaer County. He waz a Delegat to The Nashonal Whig Konvenshon in 1848, and favor the nomination of Henry Clay for President. He was elected Representative to The United States Congress two terms, 1853-57, and was an important member of the Komite on Ways and Means. He supported the Homsted Law, and the purchas of Mount Vernon. After this he would not aksept publik ohs.

He became widely interested in railroads, begining with the Troy and Schenectady line. Hiz interest in this important work rapidly extended to hiz onshul konekshon with twenty seven korporashons, embrasing mor than forty railroads, with more than five thousand miles of konstrokshon; and he served az Prezident or Vice Prezident of diferent wunz of thez korporashons. He was also interested in the Mail Steamship Kompany, and The Atlantic and Pacific Telegraf Kompany later favoring the kombinig of this Kompany with The Western Union, in takt every biznes in the United States resevd inpuls and profit from hiz sound iurment and energy.

Mr. Sage began operashons in Wall Street, New York, in 1862, and establish hiz rezidens in this sity two verz later. He was jeneraly, and fairly, suksesful in hiz spekulativ work az wel az in hiz mor jeneral biznes enterprizez. He originated the sale of 'prividejes' in 1872. Hiz principal losez in this biznes rezulted from the failur of otherz to make good. Hiz larjest los, reported at about $7,000,000, okurd in 1884 from the failur of Grant and Ward. He was redily abl to withstand this los, and kontin in biznes; but from this time he avoided 'Puts' and 'Calls.' He seldom vizited the Exchanj tho holding membership from 1874. He was a founder of The Fifth Avenue Bank, and direktor in other banks and in numeras other korporashons; and for many verz was a Truste of The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institut, the oldest skool of its kind.

Mr. Sage naroly eskapt deht in 1891 from the eksplozshun of a dynamit bomb in hiz ohs by a stranjer whoze demand for muny to the amount of $1,200,000 was refuzd. He kontrjbuted from hiz vast akumulashons to many worthy enterprizez to a grater degre than nown by the publik. Hiz kartul, judishus diskriminashon, and refuzal to forward every wun of the multiform skemz urjd upon him from every direkshon, kauzd many unjust reports of parsimoniusnes. He was az wize in restraining hiz akumulashons from the liability of doing harm, az he was in their gathering. He shrunk from plasing funds for expenditur by thoz he did not no to be tuly worthy of the trust—having observd such funds in the hands, or subjekt to the dik-tashon ov, persons inkompetent for their administrashon.

The biografy ov this remarkabl man haz not been fuly riten. Jujd in its proper light hiz ner ninty yerz ov life iz a most wholsom study in finanshal, politikal, and soshal ekonomiks. No beter exemplar than he kud be prezented for the study ov the yuth ov every land. Keen in obzervashon, thottul and karful in jujment, strikty onest and onorabl in al hiz delings (to meet the aproval ov thoz with hom he delt); methodik, konservativ, klean, and temperat in al hiz habits, hiz life shud be studid by everywun az most worthy ov komendashon and imitashon.

He waz a regular atendant ov the Presbyterian Church. The church bilding ov this denominashon ner hiz sumer hom overloking the sea at Lawrence, Long Hand, New York, waz nerly al paid for by him. He waz frank, and kompanyonabl. He iz reported az saing:

I have always endeavored to akt justly, and be perfectly honest in al my dealings with my fellowmen. . . . I was talking to a distinguished clergyman this very evening, and I said to him that if I could live the last sixty years of my life over again, I would hardly vary it at all. I might change a few little things, but the great framework would be the same. I have always tried to do my duty to my brother-man and to the community in which I lived, and this will be a great comfort to me when I depart this life. I have been guided by my Heavenly Father, and my own limited means of resource.

My aim in life has been to do my share in developing the material resources of the country. I have spent millions, tens of millions, and hundreds of millions on the railroad systems of the United States.

Russell Sage died 22 July, 1906, and waz burid in Oakwood Semetery, Troy, N. Y. A granit and marbl mausoleum in styl ov the Greek Parthenon, to kost about $30,000, will soon be bilt on the lot ov the last resting plas ov hiz body.

The fakt ov Mr. Sage leving the distribushon ov hiz lari etta;—variusly estimated from $75,000,000.00 to $100,000,000.00, ov mo;—to hiz wido shows hiz unbounded konfidens in the wizdom and ability ov hiz life's helpmate. She had been hiz most trusted advizer; and this akt waz the gratest kompliment he kud show to any person. Mrs. Sage aksepted the task bravly, and began it with diskreshon and ability. She haz been thottul and systematik in every akt, even in her tretment ov the thouzands ov letrs resevd from al sorts ov begarż, and showing the unfavorabl, weak, dezining, and other undesirable tazer ov mankind. She haz from nesesity givn but litl personal atention to so much unwholesom detail.

For many yerz she haz been a praktikal student in sosiology, and haz ritn valuabl artikls for the pres. diskusing sum ov the praktikally dezirabl and undesirable tazer ov this subjekt. Her gitts show a dezire to permanently benefit mankind rather than to kontribut to the suport ov temporary employment alone. The Akt ov Inkorporashon by the Legislativ ov the State ov New York 12 March, 1907, ov her Sage Foundation gitt ov ten million dolars, iz expland by her iz titlz:

Its intent is the improvement of social and living conditions in the United States.

The means to that end will include research, publications, education, the establishment and maintenance of charitable and beneficial activities, agencies, and institutions, and the aid of any such activities, agencies and institutions already established.

It will be within the scope of such Foundation to investigate and study the causes of adverse social conditions, including ignorance, poverty and vice, and to suggest how these conditions can be remedied or ameliorated, and to put in operation any appropriate means to that end.

It will also be within its scope to establish any new agency necessary to carry out any of its resolutions, and equally to continue in the countries of any existing agencies which are doing efficient and constructive work, just as the present General Education Fund, organized to promote higher education, is doing existing colleges and universities.

While its scope is broad, it should preferably not undertake to do within that scope what is now being done or is likely to be effectively done by other individuals or by other agencies with best resources. It will be its aim to take up the larger and more difficult problems, and to take them up so far as possible in such a manner as to secure co-operation and aid in their solution. In some instances, it may wisely initiate movements with the expectation of having them maintain themselves unaided after such being started. In other instances it may arise movements with the expectation of carrying them on itself. Income only will be used for its charitable purposes, because the Foundation is to be perpetual and its action continuous. It may, however, make investments for social betterment, which themselves produce income.

The Foundation will be National in its scope and activities.

The Trustees of this Foundation, named by Mrs. Sage to carry on this great work, are Robert W. DeForest, Chairman, Cleveland P. Dodge, Daniel C. Gilman, John H. Glenn, Mrs Helen M. Guild, Mrs William B. Roor, and Miss Louise L. Schuyler, all of whom have had wide experience in philanthropic works. The members of this Personaly, Mrs. Margaret Olivia Slocum Sage iz a litl abuv medium size, with plezing adres—a lady ov the best skool, kurteus, konsiderat, self-posed; a good konversashonalist, and taktful. She haz been a diskriminating reder; is wel-intormd regarding the jeneral kondishon ov afairs, and ov the tendensiz and needs ov the times. She iz becoming in chois and expenditur for personal aparel, and alto-gether an admirabl woman. Her hom iz furnisht richly, and in good tast.

Mrs. Sage haz been Prezident ov The Emma Willard Seminary Alumnae Asosiashon for many yerz; and she iz the oldest living graduat. The gitt several yerz ago by her huzband ov $150,000 to this Seminary for the bilding ov Sage Hall, waz by her rekwest; and it waz givn in her onor.

Mrs. Sage iz also wel-intormd regarding, and komendably proud ov, her Amerikan ansestry. She iz in the eighth jenerashon ov good Slocum lineaj. Her tather and grandtather wer good legislators in the State ov New York. Her mother's mother waz ov the Pierson family ov Sag Harbor, N. Standish daughter of David's son of Josiah's son of Alexander son of Captain Miles' Standish of the Mayflower. Mrs. Sage and her brother Col. Joseph J. Slocum, Family 448, were among the first members of the New York Society of Mayflower Descendants, but she resigned from this Society because the men persisted in smoking tobacco at the annual banquets in spite of protests against it—this being but one of the numerous and humiliating shortcomings of the depravity caused by the slavery and vice of tobacco using.

Mrs. Sage, in her own good, legal penmanship, has favored the writer at different times from 1892 with reports of data on her relatives for this book; and by her invitation the writer secured a present call at her New York home at June, 1907. She has no children.

Franses was born March —, 1773, in Warwick Township, Kent County, Rhode Island. In the yer 1774 her parents movd their family, then konsisting ov four sons and thre dauers to the site ov the prezent Skranton, Lackawanna County, Pennsylvania; and after two or thre yerz past ther tha movd down the valy and setld on the site ov the prezent Wilkes-Barre, Luzerne County. The Revolu-shonary War was rajng, and the Aborijinez had bin kept wel in hand by the British az allies tor much savaj work agenst the Kolon-ists. A fort was hastily bilt by the setlerz ner Jonathan Slocum's hous; hens hiz family and the other familiz which sukseded in geting to the fort, wer sayd from the horibl Wyoming Valy Masaker that rajd around them by the savajez in the night ov 4 July, 1778. But this kwiet Quaker family did not long remain unvizited by the prowling savaj fo. On the 2nd day ov November, 1778, thre Lenni Lenape Aborijinez, usualy kald Delawars, stelthily enterd the hous, when the fater and older sonz wer working in the field, kild Nathan Kingsley aid fitten yerz, ho had ther bin kindly shelterd, sezd litl Franses Slocum with Kingsley's vunger brother and a negro girl, servant to the family, and karid them kaptivs into the forest. This was not the ful extent ov their berevment. The 16th ov the next month (Desember) Jonathan Slocum, the fater, with Isaac Tripp, hiz fater-in-law, and William Slocum, hiz son, then nerly seventeen yerz old, while feeding their katl from a haystack in their meadow within sight ov the Fort, wer shot at by savajez. Jonathan was kild instantly; Isaac Tripp was wunded, then sperd and tomahawkt; both wer skalpt. William was wunded in heel, but eskapt further injury and kald help.

Ov the kaptivs, Kingsley soon died; and Franses Slocum remand lost to her relativs about fitty-nine yerz notwithstanding long kon-tinud and grat eforts by her relativs ho personly traverst the forest between the Susquehanna River and the Great Lakes, inkluding parts ov Canada, in serch for her.

Isaac Tripp, Jr., kozn ov Franses Slocum, was also karid into kap-tivity by the Aborijinez soon after the Wyoming Masaker, when about eighteen yerz ov aj. He met hiz kozn at Niagara and pland eskape with her from their kaptors. Tha wer diskoverd, separated, and he did not se her agen.

New York, under date of March 2, 1786, contains names of prisoners
 "Hookan child; Kingsley child, Nov. 2, 1775." The spelling "Hookan" has for that by some refers to Indian Slocum; but if the last date applies, it is earlier than her capture.

Soon after the close of the Revolutionary War, Frances' brothers
 Giles and William started Niagara, taking with them a herd of kaid information regarding her.*

In the summer of 1784, in compliance with request of the United States Government, many Aborigines gathered at Toga Point (now Abcon, Pa.) for treaty, bringing with them children that had abducted to give parents and friends opportunity to reclaim them. Mrs. Slocum then about thirty-five years of age, was selected to this treaty as her husband, suffering great illness, and unable to depart on the way.[†]

After searching for a week among the captives she gathered, she found in them the kaid recognized as her lost Frances, and she returned home in deep sorrow for the fall of her mission.

Karnel Thomas Proctor was commissioned March 10, 1791, by General Henry Knox, Secretary of War, to visit in the interest of pe-the several Aborigine "Nations inhabiting the country near Lake Erie and the Monies" [the Maumee and its tributaries, and the Miami River of the Ohio River Basin]. He proceeded, however, only to the Seneca tribe in western New York. In the journal of his march, observations, expenses, et., he made two interesting entries on this subject, viz:

 edge of precipices, over the river and other places, I had to ascend and descend from one ledge of rocks to another, some feet perpendicular, at a great height from the water, and in some places extremely dangerous. The laboriousness of such wet tow, and the inhospitable nature of being glad to converse with strangers or travelers, would hardly speak to them."—*History of Bedford

Kol. Proctor had at this date evidently forgott the importunitiz ov Franses' Slocum's brother ov thre weeks befor. This appeal for muny was not from Franses personally, but waz made by the Aborijinez who sawt every oportunity to beg. The debast kondishon ov the Aborijinez, and their tendensiz from 1791 to General Wayne's expedishon agenst them in 1794, iz portrayd in the History ov The Maume River Basin by Charles E. Slocum.

In the year 1793, a brother ov Franses atended a gathering ov Aborijinez at Buffalo in kontinud serch for her but without sukses. In 1797 four brothers started from Wyoming with another herd ov katl and a stok ov drygoods for a tour among the Aborijinez. Their rout waz thru the rejons ov the Six Nashons ov Iroquois in sentral and western New York, krosing the Niagara River at Queenstown; seling their drygoods jeneraly to the Aborijinez, and driving their katl thru Canada to Detroit, the hedkwarters ov the 'western' Aborijinez. Along this jurny a reward ov thre hundred dolars waz oferd for the delivery ov Franses to them on the jurney or at Detroit. But agen without sukses. Five hundred dolars reward for her rekovery had been ofered befor.

A woman ho had bin liberated from kaptivity, hering ot the eforts made by the Slocums to rekovar the lost member ov their family, and hoping that she might be rekognizd as the lost wun, kame to Mrs. Slocum and told her that she waz takn prizoner somwher by the Susquehanna when a child, and she waz anxius to find her kinsfolk. She did not no the names ov her parents, or her own childhood man. Mrs. Slocum saw at wuns that she waz not her Franses, but bade her welkom. 'Sta with me' she sed 'az long az the plezez; perhaps som wun els may extend the like kindnes to my der Franses.' She remand a fu months, then left, and waz not seen agen by the memberz ov this family.

When it bekame nown thru the East that the Methodist Mishon among the Wyandot Aborijinez at Upper Sandusky, Ohio, had konverted Chiefs Between-the-Logs and Mo-no-ku, and that the former had a white woman wife, Joseph Slocum and hiz netu vizited them in 1826 and found that this woman waz not hiz sister az had bin reported. Thus another dubl depreshon to their hopes waz experienst—from the disapointment, and from the fateg attending the long jurny.

Franses Slocum waz not diskoverd by her brothers until the autum ov 1837. Then she waz found at her late huzband's hom, Chief Det Man's Vilaj, hedkwarterz ov the remnant ov the Miami Aborijinez, about nine miles southest ov Peru, Indiana. George W. Ewing a prominent lisenst trader with the Aborijinez, and posing mor than ordinary observashon and intelijens, waz the only white man to diszern her high karakter and make praktikal efort to extend hiz surmizez beyond her environment for the intormashon ov her relativs; and al without pekuniary reward. While trading in her vilaj he waz atrakted by her apperans and, having red much about kaptivs among the Aborijinez, he won her konfidens, and waz korekt in rounding out her story with hiz surmizez. Imediatly upon hiz return hom from the Aborijine Rezervashon, he adrest the foloing letr to the Postmaster at Lankaster, Pennsylvania, viz:

LOGANSPOBT, INDIANA, Jan. 29, 1835.

DEAR SIR: In the hope that some good may result from it, I have taken this means of giving to your fellow citizens—say the descendants of the early settlers of the Susquehanna—the following information; and if there be any now living whose name is Slocum, to them I hope the following may be communicated through the public prints of your place:

There is now living near this place an aged white woman who a few days ago told me while I lodged in the camp one night, that she was taken away from her father's house on or near the Susquehanna River when she was very young—say from five to eight years old, as she thinks—by the Delaware Indians who were then hostile toward the whites. She says her father's name was Slocum; that he was a Quaker* rather small in stature and wore a large brimmed hat; was of sandy hair and light complexion and much freckled; that he lived about half a mile from a town where there was a fort; that they lived in a wooden house of two stories high, and had a spring near the house. She says three Delawares [Aborigines] came to the house in the day time when all were absent but herself, and perhaps two other children; her father and brothers were absent working in the field. The Indians carried her off and she was adopted into a family of Delawares who raised her and treated her as their own child. They died about forty years ago, somewhere in Ohio. She was then married to a Miami by whom she had four children; two of them are now living—they are both daughters—and she lives with them. Her husband is dead; she is old and feeble, and thinks she will not live long.

These considerations induced her to give the present history of herself, which she would never do before, fearing that her kindred would come and force her away. She has lived long and happy as an Indian and, but for her color, would not be suspected of being anything else than such. She is very respectable, and wealthy, sober and honest. Her name is without reproach. She says her father had a large family, say eight children in all, six older than herself, one younger, as well as she can recollect; and she doubts not there are yet living many of their descendants, but seems to think that all her brothers and sisters must be dead, as she is very old herself, not far from the age of eighty [her true age was then less than sixty-two years]. She thinks she was taken prisoner before the two last wars, which must mean the Revolutionary War, as Wayne's war [1794] and the late war [War of 1812-14] have been since that one. She has entirely lost her mother tongue and speaks only in Indian, which I also understand and she gave me a full history of herself.

Her own Christian name she has forgotten but says her father's name was Slocum* and he was a Quaker. She also recollects that it was upon the Susquehanna River that they lived, but don't recollect the name of the town near which they lived. I have thought that from this letter you might cause something to be inserted in the newspapers of your country that might possibly catch the eye of some of the descendants of the Slocum family who have knowledge of a girl having been carried off by the Indians some seventy years ago. This they might know from family tradition. If so, and they will come here, I will carry them where they may see the object of my letter alive and happy, though old and far advanced in life.

Ewing from the 'large brimmed hat' the Kaptiv asented to in anser to hiz kweschon. Ther ar a number ov other klever surmizes in this very interesting lettr.

* This statment agen suggests that Mr. Ewing had red sum ov the nuzpapr reports ov this woman, and that the name Slocum lingerd in hiz memory from thiz sors. Memberz ov The Sosiety ov Frennds uzd the surman only when nesary. Jeneraly the givn nam waz the only wun uzd. At her father's hom this child very seldom herd the name Slocum, but her givn nam Franses sounded in her erz many timz each day; and she had forgotn the name Franses. Agen, komunikashon betwen the Aborijinez themselves, az betwen them and others waz larjly dependant upon jesturz. In fakt fu, if any, ov them kud definitivly understand each other in the dark beyond kals ov salutashon, alarm, and posibly a fu other kode expreshonz; and miskomprehenshons wer very komon with the jesturz by firelight and even by da. This indefinitnes ov speech and understanding waz multiplied, and magnified, when the stranj and inkwisiviv white man brot konfuzhun or fateg. Kweschons wer noded asent to when not understood; and silens waz taken for asent by the kweschoner.

I can form no idea whereabouts upon the Susquehanna River this family could have lived at that early period, namely, about the time of the Revolutionary War, but perhaps you can ascertain more about it. If so, I hope you will interest yourself and, if possible, let her brothers and sisters if any be alive—if not their children—know where they may once more see a relative whose fate has been wrapped in mystery for seventy years* and for whom her bereaved and afflicted parents doubtless shed many a bitter tear. They have long since found their graves, though their last child they never found. I have been much affected with the disclosure, and hope the surviving friends may obtain, through your goodness, the information I desire for them. If I can be of any service to them, they may command me. In the meantime I hope you will excuse me for the freedom I have taken with you, a total stranger, and believe me to be, sir, with much respect,

Your obedient servant

GEO. W. EWING

This letter was adrest to The Postmaster, Lancaster, Pa. That postoffice was then in charge by Mrs. Mary Dickson, who also owned the newspaper The Lancaster Intelligencer. The letter was thrown aside, became covered and then remand with other papers until the late John W. Forney became editor of the Intelligencer. In clearing away the old papers of the office this letter came to his notice in March, 1837. It was then printed in his newspaper, and fortunately in an extra [ar] oshu kontaning temperans artikls partikularly for klerjymen. An Episkopal klerjyman, Rev. Samuel Bowman, ho had livd in Wilkes-Barre when yung, and had herd the story of the abdukshon of Frances from her relatives, resevd a kopy of this newspaper and, after reading Mr. Ewing's letter, sent the paper direkly to the kaptiv's brother, Juj Joseph⁷ Slocum. This brother red the letter with grat joy; but he had grown methodikl with aj and past experiens. He red and rered the date, then askt hiz yunger son to rite a letter for further informashon, viz:

DEAR SIR—At the suggestion of my father and other relatives, I have taken the liberty to write to you, although an entire stranger.

We have received, but a few days since, a letter written by you to a gentleman in Lancaster, of this State, upon a subject of deep and intense interest to our family. How the matter should have lain so long wrapped in obscurity we cannot conceive. An aunt of mine—sister of my father—was taken away when five years old by the Indians, and since then we have only had vague and indistinct rumors upon the subject. Your letter we deem to have entirely revealed the whole matter, and set everything at rest. The description is so perfect, and the incidents (with the exception of her age) so correct, that we feel confident.

Steps will be taken immediately to investigate the matter, and we will endeavor to do all in our power to restore a lost relative who has been sixty years in Indian bondage.

Your friend and obedient servant,

JON.[ATHAN] J. SLOCUM.

Letter in answer to the above was received in good time, for the stage coaches and poor roads of the time, viz:

LOGANSPORT, IND., Aug., 26, 1837.

JON. J. SLOCUM, ESQ., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure of acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 8th instant, and in answer can add that the female I spoke of in January, 1835, is still alive; nor can I for a moment doubt but that she is the identical relative that has been so long lost to your family.

I feel much gratified to think that I have been thus instrumental in disclosing to yourself and friends such facts in relation to her as will enable you to visit her and satisfy yourselves more fully. She recovered from the temporary illness by which she was afflicted about the time I spent the night with her in January, 1835, and which was, no doubt, the cause that induced her to speak so freely of her early captivity.

Although she is now by long habit an Indian and her manner and customs precisely theirs, yet she will doubtless be happy to see any of you, and I myself will take great pleasure in accompanying you to the house. Should you come out for that purpose, I advise you to repair directly to this place; and should it so happen that I should be absent at the time, you will find others who can take you to her. Bring with you this letter; show it to James T. Miller of Peru, Indiana, a small town not far from this place. He knows her well. He is a young man whom we have raised. He speaks the Miami tongue and will accompany you if I should not be at home. Inquire for the old white woman, mother-in-law to Brouillette, living on the Mississinewa River, about ten miles above its mouth. There you will find the long lost sister of your father and, as I before stated, you will not have to blush on her account. She is highly respectable, and her name as an Indian is without reproach. Her daughter, too, and her son-in-law Brouillette who is also a half-blood being part French, are both very respectable and interesting people—none in the Nation are more so. As Indians, they live well, and will be pleased to see you. Should you visit here this fall, I may be absent, as I purpose starting for New York in a few days and shall not be back till some time in October.

But this need not stop you; for, although I should be gratified to see you, yet it will be sufficient to learn that I have furthered your wishes in this truly interesting matter.

The very kind manner in which you have been pleased to speak of me shall be fully appreciated.

There are perhaps men who could have heard her story unmoved; but for me, I could not; and when I reflected that there was, perhaps, still lingering on this side of the grave some brother or sister of that ill-fated woman, to whom such information would be deeply interesting, I resolved on the course which I adopted, and entertained the fond hope that my letter, if ever it should go before the public, would attract the attention of some one interested. In this it seems at last, I have not been disappointed, although I have long since supposed it had failed to effect the object for which I wrote it. Like you, I regret that it should have been delayed so long, nor can I conceive how any one should neglect to publish such a letter.

As to the age of this female, I think she herself is mistaken, and that she is not so old as she imagines herself to be. Indeed, I entertain no doubt but that she is the same person that your family have mourned after for more than half a century past.

Your obedient humble servant,

GEO. W. EWING.

Meantime the tidings had bin communicated from Wilkes-Barre to the other relatives, and preparashons made for the long jurny thru the wilderness to konfirm, if possibl, the truthfulness ov the report. The older surviving brother, Major Isaac Slocum then living ner the prezent Bellevue, Ohio, waz askt to meet at Peru, Indiana, at a spesified time, the brother Joseph, with the sister Mrs. Mary Towne living ner Chillicothe, Ohio, hom Joseph wud take into hiz karij on hiz wa.

The planz wer exekuted. Isaac arrivd first and, with James T. Miller az interpreter he vizited the Miami Rezervashon wher he waz met with much koolnes; but he became konvinst that his sister Franses, the objekt ov the long serch, waz found. The other brother and sister did not arrive for several daz; and tha wer much fategd with the long, rut and tejus jurny—Mrs. Towne being about sixty-nine yerz ov aj, over four yerz older than Franses. 'I shal no her if she iz my sister' sed Mrs. Towne, 'she having lost the nail ov her left fore finger—you, brother Isaac, remember how you pounded it off in the blaksmith shop about a yer before we lost her?' 'I do wel remember it' he replied. The brotherz with interpreter, soon started on horsbak for the vilaj ov the kaptiv and, az soon az

PERU, INDIANA, September 24, 1837.

DEAR SIR:

I embrace this the first opportunity, since my departure from home, to give you a detailed account of my journey so far as I have gone, and such incidents concerning the 'object of my visit' as may prove interesting to you. In conjunction with a sister of mine, who resides in the West, and H. D., we left Ohio, taking an untrodden and unfrequented road through a dense wilderness. On the third afternoon, towards sunset, we passed an Indian encampment, where we were told the 'white woman' lived; not having an interpreter, and fearing we would be unable to make ourselves sufficiently known, we pressed on towards Peru, a small, flourishing town on the Wabash. We found here a large river, sweeping along its gentle course through verdant and newly cultivated meadows, until its waters mingle with the Father of Waters, the Mississippi. The country was rich in soil, redundant in the materials of nature, and wild flowers scattered around on every hill in plentiful masses, not yet drooping by the autumnal frosts.

I found my brother at Peru, awaiting with anxiety our arrival; he had come on a short time previous and paid his visit to his sister; had recognized her, and has been exceedingly solicitous to see us. As soon as we could arrange our matters, procure an interpreter, we started for the Indian encampment. On our way we tarried a few moments with an Indian chief, and found him quite friendly, but broken and destroyed by a habit unknown to the Indian when the white man had no communication with him—drunkenness.

Passing by a number of Indian settlements, dotting the banks of the Wabash with their low, dingy wigwams, we came to the encampment where my sister lives. We tied our horses to the trees, and immediately proceeded to her separate wigwam; and a scene occurred of such exciting nature that I found it impossible to restrain the outbursting of my feelings. I recognized her as my sister and received her children as my nieces. One of them has brown hair of fine texture; upon distributing your presents, she seemed pleased and greeted me with increased joy. The marks by which I supposed I would be able to recognize her were particularly evident; her bruised finger was strongly corroborative evidence and there remained no doubt in my mind of the exact identity. After sojourning a short time with them, and seeing all that could be seen, we returned, accompanied by the entire family, to Peru, and there ensued another scene that baffles description.

My sister, Mrs. Mary Towne, did not go with us, but had remained in the village, being old and enfeebled by the long course of years which had glided over her head. We were all together in a separate room. Two sisters and two brothers, but just dawning on one who had lived a life of a nomad of the forest, and whom it was supposed had long since been buried 'a green ground erected over her bones) but now suddenly restored to life, reanimated as it were, and the first knowledge of her condition opening to her view; the appreciation, the tender remembrance of former years but above all, the strong ties of nature and the thought of sixty years bondage—her very eventful life—the sad tale of sufferings, and her knowledge of the Indian character all seem rushing through our minds. Our joy was silent the steady, calm flow of feeling, but inexpressible. We separated, and the next morning they returned to their village.

On Sunday the two daughters came down but were not at church; it being a day of which they were utterly ignorant, and consequently they pay but little attention to its solemnities.

Capt. Brouillette an Indian half-breed, is a respectable member of the Miami tribe. His features are strong but finely formed, and he possesses an excellent character. He is quite rich and draws about him the importance of wealth.

I cannot state how long we shall remain; we are getting the interesting incidents of the Captive's history, and have tried every means in our power to induce her to remain with us, or at least the spot from which she was taken but such are her antipathies, her habits and customs, that I fear everything will prove unavailing. She is perfectly conscious of her condition and feels the penitence of her former doings.

Your obedient servant,

JUDITH SLOAN.

Another letter from the visiting party was published in The Evening Republican, viz:

PERRI, INDIANA, September 27, 1857.

We arrived here on the 17th inst. The town is new and flourishing; situated on the north side of the Wabash a mile below the mouth of the Mississauga which empties in from the north. The last twenty-five miles of our journey were through the Miami Reserve, without any white inhabitants. We found Iwan Sloan here awaiting our arrival. He had visited the woman in the Reserve mentioned in the letter of Mr. Fowling, and is perfectly satisfied that she is the same taken captive in 1778. The next day we repaired to the village with Mr. Miller, the interpreter, together with Mr. Hunt, a half-breed who was educated at Col. Johnson's school in the State of Kentucky, and another gentleman [James H. Fowler]. Forging the Wabash at this place we passed up the river to the Mississauga, and in about five miles came to an Indian town surrounded with fine grain pasturage and corn-fields interspersed with timber. Some of the natives were about their houses; others were at teams ploughed in cornfields where they were gathering corn. Their ponies standing saddled near the team. Whenever they have any work to do at even as short a distance from their houses, they pitch a tent, cook and live there until the work is done, a few only returning to their houses at night. We soon after came to the seat of Godfrey, the second war chief of the Miami consisting of five or six two-story houses within an enclosure of perhaps half an acre which we entered through a gate wide enough for a carriage to pass. Upon entering the house we were all introduced to the Chief by Mr. Miller who told him our business in the nation. He received us very courteously and proffered us all the assistance in his power. He is probably over fifty years of age, of portly and majestic appearance, being more than six feet high, well proportioned and weighing about 320 pounds. He was dressed in leggins and a blue calico shirt that came down to the knee, profusely ornamented with ruffles of the same, his hair nearly half gray and tied in a queue hanging elegantly down his back. After taking leave of the Chief, we proceeded to Deaf Man's Village, the residence of the captive woman, a distance of about four miles further up the Mississinewa, where the natives were employed in the same way as before described. At one of these fields we found the husband of the youngest daughter of the captive woman. He mounted his pony and went with us to the village where we were introduced to the captive, her two daughters, and Captain Brouillette, the husband of the elder. The girls are aged thirty-three and twenty-three. The younger has three small children, but not by this husband. The elder had two, but both are dead. Capt. Brouillette is a half-breed Indian, of elegant appearance, very straight and slim, and about six feet high. Uncle Joseph at once recognized his sister, and after conversing with them some time in the course of which we endeavored by all means in our power to gain their confidence, it was proposed to them to accompany us upon our return to Peru. Mr. Miller had to give the old lady very strong assurances that we had no intention to take her away contrary to her inclination, before she would go; and at length she consented, and accompanied by her two daughters and their husbands, she returned with us to the town where they joined us at the supper table and appeared to be perfectly at ease. They had now become satisfied that we were their relatives, and their confidence was so much strengthened that she felt justified in proffering us their friendship. This was done by one of them placing on the stand something wrapped in a white cloth, after which they spoke with the interpreter in a solemn manner, when he rose and said that they were our friends, and by way of acknowledging themselves as such they presented us with a piece of fresh venison which they wished us to receive as a token of friendship. We then rose and thanked them and received the token, Mrs. Towne taking up the ham of venison and removing the cloth, which made them satisfied. The next morning they all came to breakfast with us, and the captive gave us, in the course of the day, all the history of her life that she could recollect. Mr. Miller, to whom we are greatly indebted, and Mr. Hunt, acted as interpreters. I wrote down the narration in the words of the interpreter. There are not many striking incidents in her life, but she and her family in their native costume, their extreme simplicity of manner, the natural modesty and solemnity of their deportment, formed the most interesting group I ever beheld. They are decidedly the most respectable family in the [Miami] nation, and they are also very wealthy, having upward of a hundred horses and many cattle and hogs. Capt. Brouillette is the only Indian who cultivates corn with the plow. He has a yoke of oxen, and wagon, and frequently takes beef and other articles to market.

Mr. Miller, who has often passed the night with them, says they live well. They dress quite richly, and the old lady told me she had always had plenty and lived happily with the Indians. Her husband and two of his children were buried where she now lives, and she never can think of leaving her present abode. I cannot help thinking she is right, for the family appears to be one of the most happy I ever saw. The two daughters have returned to see us several times. They are sensible and wish to be very sociable, but labor under a great difficulty in not understanding our language. The older one presented Isaac Sherman with a pair of moccasins for his wife, as he is to leave soon. The confidence they reposed in us seems to be complete and the more I see of these children of the wilderness the more I respect their character. They have a natural politeness and good feeling that cannot be surpassed in the most polished circles; but this is not shown until they have every confidence in those around them; before that, in the presence of strangers, they are timorous and distant. They have just taken leave of us for home; it is four o'clock P. M. but they never hurry themselves. They frequently ride home nine miles, most of the way through the woods, with as much easy tread as they would in the day time.

Frances' brother Joseph, with his daughters Hanna and Harriet, visited her in September, 1839, and it is from the diary kept by their niece that many of the wondrous details of the Kaptiv's experiences, and hardships, have been preserved. Soon after her capture she was adopted with name Weller-a-wash by a Delaware chief, called Tuck Hors, and his wife, to take the place of their daughter he had then recently died. This generally treated her well.

This was during the Revolutionary War when the British tried every effort to gather the savages into marauding parties, or to their arms against the Americans. This Kaptiv was taken to Niagara, then to Detroit and back to Niagara for perhaps a year; then again to Detroit the principal western post of the British, around which this attracted all the savages possible, with their women and children. Here were organized and equipped many savage marauding parties, not only against the American settlements in Ohio, Kentucky, and western Virginia, but against every American frontier, and even into eastern Pennsylvania—many of those present at the Wyoming Massacre were equipped at this place. During the summer the aid, the women and children, moved along the water, principally of western Lake Erie and the Maumee River; living on wild fruits, fish and other game. For several years after the close of the Revolutionary War, the time of the warriors was given more to hunting and trapping of peltries; and the attention of the women was given more to the cultivation of

The savajez, however, kud not long remain in kwiet lite atter the kloz ov the Revolushonary War. The blud ov marauding and waring ansestorz for unnumberd jenerashons korst warm in their vans, laterly having been, for several jenerashons habitualy exsited by the Frenchmen's brandy and later, by the British rum. With aid ov the British, under hoz kontrol tha kontinud, tha deteted two Amerikan Armiz (ov Generals Hamar and St. Clair) and wer exultant in preparashons to driv al Amerikans bak est ov the Alegeny Mountains, or exterminat them. It waz then that General Anthony Wayne marcht thru the forest, bilt Fort Defians by the riverz Maume and Anglaiz, and swept down the Maume like a 'whirlwind' to their krushing defeat at Fallen Timber 20 August, 1794, and to the destruksion ov their krops. Late the same yer he bilt Fort Wayne at Kekionga the hed ov the Maume. During al thez yerz ov turmoil and bludshed Franes Slocum, the Kaptiv, ranjd between Detroit and the hed ov the Maumee River at Kekionga, now Fort Wayne, first with the main band ov Delaware Aborijinez, and later with the Miamis into which tribe she waz adopted.

She waz marid to a Delaware * ho soon thereafter forsook her or waz kild. She, with many Delawars, waz much in asociashon with the Miamis along the Maume River; and she marid sekond a Miami Chief, She-po-kon-ah by name. In later verz he bekaime kwit def. After this marij her nam waz chanid to the Miami, Ma-kon-a-quah. Kekionga (which nam waz chanid to Fort Wayne in November, 1794) at the hed ov the Maume River, waz their hed-kwarterz for many verz in winterz, partikularly.

* The name ov this Delaware Aborijine bekaime nown to her white relativs after her diskoveri az 'Little Turtle, which waz probably a kontuzhun with the great Miami chief ov this name, thru inability ov each to fully understand the other. She waz in Chief Little Turtle's Tribe. The Lenge Lenapes (or Delawars, so kald from the Delaware River along which tha formerly roamd; the name coming first from lord de la Warr) wer a strong tribe until humiliated by the Six Nashons in the 18th Sentury. In 1906 ther wer 1106 ov their desendants living near the Cherokees in the State ov Oklahoma. Their 'hereditary chief' ov primojeniture entail, about the last remnant ov British influens, in 1906 waz Richard C. Adams, ho possesst litl, if any, signifikans to them.

Long betor the deklarashon ov the War ov 1812, the Aborigine wariorz wer kept armd and ekwipt by the British and thru their ally Tekumseh, tha wer insited and trad for that war. About the time ov their unsuksestul sej ov Fort Wayne in 1812, the wimen and children wer for a time at Brownstown, Michigan; then along the Maume and by the Eel River west ov Fort Wayne; and later in this War tha went to the Missisnewa River. Praktikalz al ov the aktiv wariorz wer with the British, with hedkwarterz at Amherstburg, Canada, during the War.

More than fifty tretz ar rekordid between the United States and the Miami Aboriginez. The tretz ov most impotans to this Kaptz and her desendants* iz 'A Treaty held at the Forks of the Wabash' (entrans ov Little River into the Wabash a mile and a half belo the present City ov Huntington, Indiana) 6 November, 1838, in which the Miami tribe aseld and relinkwidz to the United States their former Rezervashonz in konsiderashon ov a nu Rezervashon West ov the Mississippi River; a payment to and for them ov $335,680.00, and numeris smaler Rezervashonz within their former Indiana Rezervashonz to favor individualz, and familiz ho chuz to remain on them. Wun Sekshon (wun skwar mile, 640 akrez) ov land was givn to Frances Slocum's two dauterz for their, and her, tenens to koman (se Family 242A) thus insuring her and her children a permanent hoar. But it rekwid a joint rezolushon ov Kongres 3 March, 1845 for them to resev their annuity payments at Fort Wayne or Peru, Indiana, after the removal ov the main part ov the Miamis to their nu Rezervashon in the West in 1846 akording to tretz.¹

The Memorial or pishon ov Frances Slocum and desendants to Kongres for them to resev their annuity payments at Fort Wayne was filed January 17, 1845. paid. At the date of this treaty, 1854, the Miami remaining in Indiana numbered 302. At the date of the final payment of the $221,257.86 at Wabash in 1881, there were only 318 to receive the money. There were then skated as follows: 100 dwelt on the Godfrey Reservation by the Mississinewa River, including the descendants of Frances Slocum; sixty on the Meshingomesha Reservation in Wabash and Grant counties, Indiana; fifteen at Lafayette; twenty in Huntington County; thirty in the vicinity of Fort Wayne; one family at Napoleon; forty in Kansas and Indian Territory; and the others were skated in the States of Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota. Fully one-half of the total number were at this time minors. With this final payment by the United States, these Miami assumed all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of citizenship. All tribal authority and relations, which had for years been nearly nil, ceased with this citizenship. Previous to this date, 1881, their lands had been free from taxation, encumbrances, and sale. The farms of many, if not most, of the Miami remaining in Indiana were later mortgaged to secure debts contracted; and some of these fertile farms have been sold by the Sheriff to satisfy these debts. Intemperance use of intoxicating beverages has ruined many; but, so far as the rite now from personal observation and hearsay, such has not been the case with any of Frances Slocum's descendants. Lack of proper energy and good management has, however, characterized most of them. They have clothed themselves in the current styles of civilization; and their children have attended the Public Schools to a limited extent.

Chief She-po-kon-ah, The Det Man, died about the year 1833, at his village on the left bank of the Mississinewa River, about six miles above its outlet into the Wabash. The exact place of the burial of his remains, is not known. Frances Slocum his wife, died 9 March, 1847, of pneumonia, with less than one week's sickness. Her remains were given a Christian burial. Joseph Davis an itinerant exhorter conducted the service. The children of Frances Slocum, Ma-con-a-quah, all by her second marriage with She-po-kon-ah, were:

- i. KE-KE-NOK-ISH-WAH, Cut Finger in English, also named Nancy, b. about the year 1800. She married a Miami brave, name not known; he died leaving a daughter who died aged about 17 years. She m. 2nd Jean Baptiste Brouillette of French-Miami parentage with environment holy Miami. He was known as Kaptan, sors or title not reported. She was a mildly tempered, unassuming woman, and was overshadowed by her sister and husband. She died 13 Mar., 1847; was buried in the family ground, but her grave is undesignated. He m. 2nd Eliza Bondy of Fam. 242 A. His tombstone in the ground, reads: 'Rev. J. B. Brouillette, Converted to the Christian Religion June, 1854; Died June 17, 1867. Aged 71 Years.'
- ii. iii. Two Sons, names not known; died in their infancy.
- 242 A. iv. O-ZAH-SHIN-QUAH,* b. 1810; m. sev. times; d. 1877.

* These names have been variously pronounced, and spelled; with no people having the Confusion more than with the Miami. The pleasanter Miami form of speech was full, round, flowing; and the desire of the rite is to preserve the better Miami sound, with the best form in the United States records. Frequently one or more syllables of a name are omitted in conversation.

O ZAH-SHIN-QUAH, or Yelo Leaf in English, also kald Jane (daughter of She-po-kon-ah and wife Ma-con-a-qual or Frances' Slocum) was born about the yer 1809. She grew to be a tall and strong woman, mentally as well as fizikaly. The treaty of the United States with the Miami at the junction of Little River with the Wabash in the present Huntington County, Indiana, 6 November, 1838, placed upon her a deed of land in her name for the komsan okupansy of herself, mother and sister, the treaty paragraf designating it, reading as folow, viz:

To O-zah-shin-qual, and the wife of Brouillette, daughters of the Dead Man as tenants in common, one Section of land by the Mississinewa River, to include the improvements where they now live.*

It is here noted that Frances Slocum was again purposely kept out of sight, and rekord. The United States Patent for this 640 akers of very fertile land was sold by President Zachary Taylor 26 September, 1849, and it was rekorded 29 November, 1854, in Wabash, Indiana. After the subsequent treaty, it was again rekorded, 6 December, 1877. A Kwiklaen Deed made by Nancy Brouillette and rekorded 1 March, 1872, show that she sold her rights in this land as tenant in komsan, to her sister O-zah-shin-qual, for one hundred dollars.

O-zah-shin-qual, or Jane, was married five times: 1st to Louis Godfroy, nephew of Francis the last War Chief of the Miami. He was soon lost to her, probably killed in battle or brawl. Her second marriage was with wun Wop-shin-qual but soon met violent death. The third with Tak-konah he was soon killed by a kwarelsom 'friend.' The fourth husband, a brother of the third, named Mah-mah-mon-drah, soon died.† The fifth marriage, with Wah-pah-e-tah or Peter Bondy, was more konfidental and enduring. He was born in July, 1817, son of Antoine Bondy a French trader among the Aboriginez at Fort Wayne, and a Mahiegan or Miami mother. This Antoine was, in every respect a worthy Frenchman. He warned the Amerikanz at

* See United States Public Statutes at Large Vol. VII, pp. 569-574.

† The story of the Miami is like that of all the Aboriginez who were associated with the French and British. They peoply idolized them, and them to blasphemy and, later, when they were not engaged in marauding and shedding the blood of Amerikan ploneerz, fatal kwarels among themselves were of very frequent okurens. See History of The Maumee River Basin, by Dr. Charles E. Slocum.

Fort Wayne agens a plot by the savajez to masaker them in 1812 in interest ov the British. Peter Bondy waz rerd with entir Miami environment, but he waz wun ov the fu ho avoided the many inebriating temptashunz. He waz konverted to Kristianity by the influens ov George R. Slocum, Family 243B, netu ov Franses the Kaptiv* and bekam an exorter among and for the Baptists at Rezerv, Indiana. In personal apearans he waz dignified and komanding; standing nerly six feet in high and waing 240 pounds. Hiz kountenans waz indikativ ov mildnes and benignity; hiz intelektual powerz wer good, and he waz a plezant kompanyon, altho he kud nether read nor rite. O-zah-shin-quah willd him sixty akers ov land in fe simpl 'in lieu of his [marital] interest in my lands.' He waz namd in this wil for exekutor ov her estat, without bond. Several yerz after the deth ov this wite O-zah-shin-quah, he marid sekond, a sister ov Gabriel Godfroy. He had no children by this sekond marij. He died———.

O-zah-shin-quah, Jane, remand unabl to uz other than the Miami langwaj. Her Wil shos that she had good nolej ov the 686 akers ov land ov which she died posest. This Wil waz ritn in good form by a lawyer; waz dated to July, 1873, and admitted to probat 15 February, 1877, in the Serkit Kort in Wabash Kounty, Indiana, and ther rekorded. One halt aker ov ground for family burial purposez waz rezervd from the farm devizd to her son Judson. This and other devizings, wil be menshond in the respektiv rekords ov her children, foloing. A gravston in the family ground reads: O-SAW-SHI-QUAH | wite of | Peter Bundy | Died Jan. 25, 1877 | aged | 67 years.

The children ov O-zah-shin-quah, az gatherd by the riter prinsipaly from themselves, ar az toloz, viz: By first marij with Louis Godfroy:

- i. ELIZA GODFREY; m. 1st J. B. Brouillette. Had one child, Nancy, ho m. John Bondy and had two children, Ross and Samuel. Eliza m. 2nd Thomas Caine after Brouillette's deth.
- ii. FRANCES, Wah-pah-nah-shin-quah; m. — Wilson, se Item 5 ov her mother's Wil wherin she iz devizd 60 akers ov land. She m. 2nd William Pekonga.

* Peter Bondy and wife O-zah-shin-quah, now kald Jane, wer among the first memberz ov the Antioch Mishonary Baptist Church; and he waz, later, a trustee ov this sosiety.

By second marri, with Wiap-shing-quah:

- iii. ELIZABETH, Ke-me-zah-quah, b. 25 Sept., 1836, m. Gabriel Godfrey and had six children: Joseph, Judson, Sara Joanna, and another, he died young, and Peter and Francis yet living, 1907. Elizabeth's mother willed her sixty akers ov land. She was a favorer with her grandmother, the Kapriv, and resided largely ov her klothing, tools, and other valuables. Ov them remaining together Elliott T. Slocum, Family 612, and George Slocum Bennett, Family 244A, purchased herly ad 2 May, 1907, joining the old man Gabriel Godfrey, now in very redunt circumstances, a tabulus pris for the purpos ov placing their article where the may be seen by many interested persons, and perpetuated. Elizabeth died 29 Oct., 1879; was buried in the Godfrey Semetary, when her grave is well marked.

THE FRANCES STOCUM MONUMENT.

Informal suggestions for a Monument at the grave of Frances Stocum wer okazhonalz made* but the first movement ov a somewhat jeneral karakter for this purpos ov the river's noler, was a small sirkular sent out by Mrs. Mary Stocum Murphy, dated August 28, 1899, at Converse, Indiana, her home a 70 miles southward from the grave. This sirkular reads in part oz folowz. v:z:

A plain shaft seven feet high of Swiss granite, with a foundation three feet

* It was recently decided by the descendants, children and grandchildren of Hon. Joseph Stocum, brother of Frances, to erect a suitable monument over her grave. This will be done in the spring of 1891, and the long delayed tribute to her memory will be an accomplished fact.—Biography of Frances Stocum by John F. Meginnis, 1891. Footnot, pa) 141.

square, to cost about $140 placed in position If enough money is subscribed in answer to this circular, we will endeavor to have the unveiling of this monument in October [1899, but lid over a month after the riter's reset ov the sirkular]. Dr. Charles E. Slocum of Defiance, Ohio, who has published a History of the Slocum Family in America, has informed us that he will come at any time the monument is unveiled; and it is expected he will be prepared to deliver an address appropriate to the occasion.

The riter ov this book had sum previus korespondens on the subjekt with the riter ov the sirkular, but no definit planz had been agred upon for the work. However, he at wuns sent subskripshon, with statment that, in hiz opinion, the time menshond for the work waz to short, and the preskribd monument waz inadequate. Responses to her sirkular wer meger, and Mrs. Murphy saw the failur ov her eforts. After further korespondens she rekwested the riter to take charj ov the projekt; and therupon he sent out the foloing sirkular leter, viz:

DEFIANCE, OHIO, September 28, 1899

DEAR SIR:

Several years ago I had correspondence with Mrs. Mary Slocum Murphy of Converse, Indiana, daughter of the late George R. Slocum and granddaughter of Isaac, relative to erecting a monument at the grave of her grand-aunt Frances Slocum the Captive, which grave remains unmarked. At that time she discontinued work on this worthy project, and other matters crowded it from my mind.

A few days ago I received a circular letter from her, stating that a monument would be unveiled at this grave in October next; that contributions for its purchase were invited; and that I would deliver an address at the unveiling.

My immediate reply to this circular was, that I was yet favorable to the erection of a suitable monument, and would assist in every way desired. A draft on New York, as my contribution, was enclosed. My letter intimated that the monument prescribed in her circular might be thought inadequate, and the time announced too short in which to gather funds and finish the work this fall.

A letter was received today from Mrs. Murphy, written in despondent tone. She informs me that the money received amounts to less than fifty dollars; and she requests me to take charge of the work, write to the nearest of kin and ask for contributions.

In compliance with this request I send five letters of this copy, viz: One to George Slocum Bennett, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Joseph W. Slocum, Scranton; Levi D. Slocum, Carbondale; Frank L. Slocum, Pittsburg; and to Elliott T. Slocum, Detroit, whom I suggest to act as committee with Mrs. Murphy, for completion of the work.

It is hoped that each one addressed will take active interest in the matter, and gather contributions from others of his family and relatives, that as many persons may be interested as possible.

Suggestions are desired relative to style of monument, character of inscription, and the time and character of the exercises at its unveiling some time in the spring of 1900, when all can be present. I have already suggested that a bronze tablet, permanently attached to granite would best preserve the inscription.

I would act as secretary, or assist in any other way desired.

Please write to Mrs. Murphy, or to me, at an early date.

Very respectfully yours,

CHARLES E. SLOCUM.

Answers were soon received by the writer from those suggested committees, expressing desire for the monument, willingness to serve on the committee, and request that the writer take charge of the work. Although fully occupied, the writer laid aside other writing then in hand and, after considering the general significance of the subject, wrote a sirkular letter suggesting names for a larger committee, improvements for the cemetery, and a bronze monument with extended inscription. Also, realizing the confusion and delay that usually result without definite goal, this sirkular letter expressed the secretary's choice for chairman, of monument and inscription, style of text and other improvements, date of the unveiling, and program. Illustrations of several styles of monument and text with indicated choice, were sent with the sirkular letter to each person suggested for the enlarged committee. Answers were soon received, accepting membership, expressing desire for success of the work, and, with unanimity accepting the secretary's suggestions, and naming the secretary for the principal address.

Thereupon the following general notice was sent in brief manner, to members of the committee, to Slocums and their alliances in newspapers, historical societies, and others likely to be interested, viz:

FRANCES SLOCUM, THE CAPTIVE AMONG ABORIGINES

DEFIANCE, OHIO, December 1, 1899.

TO ALL PERSONS WHO MAY BE INTERESTED:

For many years it has been the desire of several Slocums, and their kindred, to permanently mark the grave of Frances Slocum, the Captive. Latterly this desire has taken practicable form in the organization of the following

FRANCES SLOCUM MONUMENT COMMITTEE

HON. ELLIOTT T. SLOCUM, Chairman, Detroit, Michigan.

DR. CHARLES E. SLOCUM, Secretary, Defiance, Ohio.

MRS. MARY SLOCUM MURPHY, Treasurer, Converse, Indiana.

GEORGE SLOCUM BENNETT, Esq., Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

JOSEPH SLOCUM CHAIKON, Esq., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
 MRS. ELIZABETH SLOCUM ROGERS, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
 FRANK ROBERT SLOCUM, Esq., Minneapolis, Minnesota.
 FRANK L. SLOCUM, Ph.D., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
 FRANK SLOCUM FITZENBERGER, Middletown, Indiana.
 LEVI D. SLOCUM, Carbondale, Pennsylvania.
 JOSEPH W. SLOCUM, Scranton, Pennsylvania.
 JOSEPH A. KENNY, Converse, Indiana.
 HON. JAMES F. STUBBSMAN, Peru, Indiana.

A white bronze monument 8 feet and 6 inches in height, that will endure for all time barring accidents, has been selected by the Committee, and improvements to the cemetery have been ordered. While the members of the Committee hold themselves committed to this work and ready to pay all expenses attending it, they realize that the full story of the woman whose grave they desire to mark with befitting inscription stands alone in history, and belongs to all persons alike, therefore they desire to accord all their relatives, and others, an opportunity to participate in this memorial who would deem it a pleasure so to do. Contributions may be handed to any member of the Committee, or sent direct to the Treasurer, who will send receipt for the same.

It has been decided to unveil this Monument

THURSDAY MAY 17, 1906.

at the grave near the Village of Peoria—Reserve Post Office—Miami County, Indiana. This will afford a pleasant occasion for a meeting of all Slocums, and those allied to them, and an opportunity to meet the grand children and great-grand children of the Captive, all of whom live in the vicinity and will be present. The treasured personal effects of those deceased can also be seen. The Governor of Indiana and other officials, the officers of the State Historical Society, and other prominent persons have signified their desire to attend. A cordial invitation to be present is extended to people generally.

Persons going by railway should leave trains as follows: By the Pennsylvania Lines (Columbus and Chicago, and Chicago and Eastern Indiana Divisions), at Converse; those by the Wabash Railway, at Wabash or Peru; by the Big Four Railway (Michigan Division) at Wabash; and by the Lake Erie and Western (Indianapolis and Michigan Division) at Peru. The carriage ride will be over good roads, ten miles south-east from Peru; twelve miles south-west from Wabash, and twelve miles west or north from Converse. Conveyances can readily be obtained at either place at reasonable price. The Committee recommends that all persons arrive at the end of the railway journey the evening before, or early morning, and, provided with lunch, join in a mid-day picnic around the noted spring of water at the site of the former Miami village, a short distance from the Monument.

A meeting of the Committee is called for 10:30 a. m., at the residence of Judson C. Bondy, opposite the Monument.

The formal exercises will begin at 12 o'clock, and will be as follows, viz:

Prayer, by ARTHUR GAYLORD SLOCUM, A. M., LL. D., President of Kalamazoo College.

ADDRESS BY CHARLES E. SLOCUM, M. D., PH.D., of DEERFIELD, OHIO
 Capping of the Movement by MISS VICTORIA HENRY and MYRA RAY
 BOWEN, MARRIAGE, of RHOEN, INDIANA, great-grand daughter of FREDERICK
 BENTLEY, by prominent persons, including persons who know the Captive.
 Introduction, by REV. WILLIAM T. SHERMAN, A. M., B. D., of MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.

Persons from a distance who desire to engage hotel accommodations in advance can do so by addressing Mrs. Mary Susan Murphy, Governor, Hon.
 JAMES F. SHERMAN, Pres. of the Treasury Hotel, Warsaw, Indiana.

CHARLES E. SLOCUM, Secretary. WILLIAM T. SHERMAN, Chairman.

The secretary ordered the movement, the time and improvements, personally assuming payment for all. He visited the committee twice to direct laborious and improvements. Hundreds of letters were received from all directions, from the Kansas, the unimpaired, and the year, which were quite properly accepted. Individuals, newspapers and other publications, American and foreign, desired full report of the meeting. The editors of newspapers displayed considerable interest as they were giving last year to the story of the Captive and her captivity with details of the meeting.

The rolling train on May 10, 1860, had many persons in the audience designated to attend the exercises at Henry the next day. An important meeting was held in the evening in the parlors of the Rivers Hotel, Peru, and it followed but little time for the speakers to be fully advocated, and the did not part until a late hour.

At the assembly of persons and apartments set on foot for the general gathering. In country, and towns, near and far within driving distance apparently everyone was fully active in the meeting, and some on the way thither. The vehicle interest in numbers at every hour and everywhere; and many of them to seek various places, spurred by those not inclined to rest. The sun and air were cold and dry but for the dust so constantly and rapidly stirred.

The committee were held in order by the Chairman at the set times, and the reports on the treasury and secretary were read in detail, and approved. The Komite then adjourned to meet in Peru on the return. According to arrangement, Mrs. Isidore C. Bondy then served the Komite and their companions with dinner, while the picnic lunches were being served in every available place around. The barn, the yard, the road, the grove and sun fields were filled with homes and tables. The formal exercises began at the appointed time from a house that had been constructed outside the committee. Ourselves James F. Sturgeson held the vast throng to order and, after a few remarks, introduced the Chairman, Onorabl Elliott T. Slocum, grand nephew of the Kaptiv, ho delivered a brief and apropriat adres. Arthur G. Slocum waz kald forward, and oferd an elokwent prayer. Charles E. Slocum waz introdust and deliverd the foloing adres on

THE LIFE AND CHARACTER OF FRANCIS SLOCUM, WITH HIS LESSON.

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen: It is an interesting occasion that has brought us together today. We are met to unveil to the view of those present, and to the view of all persons who may in the future come this way, a Monument recently erected to mark the burial place of a woman whose history is peculiarly without a full parallel in the annals of mankind. We are here to unveil a memorial to an historic event which occurred in the earlier and trying times of our country; an event which will ever remain in history as one of the most remarkable of captivities, and as embracing the pathetic sentiment attending a childhood and long-life perversion from civilization.

One hundred and twenty-seven years ago last March, in Warwick, on the western shore of Narraganset Bay, Rhode Island, there was born a girl, the third daughter and seventh child of thirtys parents. The family was becoming large, the farm was small, the soil thereabout was poor, and the winters were long and severe. Reports had been received from Pennsylvania that the conditions for a good home with attendant prosperity were more favorable there. This, also, was the country of William Penn, a prominent member of the Society of Friends of which church Jonathan Slocum, the father of the girl, our subject, was also a member. William Penn had purchased land from the Aborigines in eastern Pennsylvania, and his amicable relations with them had much to do in coloring the reports carried to Connecticut and Rhode Island of the desirability of this territory then being offered to white settlers. Jonathan Slocum had visited Pennsylvania and purchased land there about two years before the birth of this daughter. The year following her birth, in 1774, he removed his family thither and after two or three years occupied a house near the Susquehanna River in the noted Wyoming Valley, on the site of the present City of Wilkes-Barre.

Thus early in life was Frances Slocum, whose memory we so befittingly commemorate today, subjected to the fatigues, privations and exposures incident to a long journey along uncleared trails, beset by lurking foes, human and other—for British oppressors had already been active in inciting the Aborigines to acts of violence against the Colonists. This journey was to be but the first of many weary years of wanderings on foot, through the forests, over mountains, through valleys and swamps, along rivers and lakes. She was taken into captivity by Aborigines November 2nd, 1778, and forcibly carried into the wilderness from her father's house, never to see it again. Her first journey was in the protecting arms and close to the heart of an ever watchful and loving mother. Her subsequent wanderings were destined to begin before she was six years of age with people of another race and color, barbarous even to savagery, ever moving from place to place, and sleeping at night whenever and wherever possible from the ever-changing conditions of war with the Colonists, or with other tribes.

The kind, Christian conduct toward, and dealings with, these Aborigines by William Penn, and all other members of the Society of Friends including the parents and forebears of this child for over one hundred years availed nothing in return. Jonathan Sturges, her father, and Isaac Tripp, her maternal grandfather, were savagely killed by them from ambush within one month after her abduction.

But they did not destroy her life. She was powerless to do them harm, and she might possess of great worth to them. Regardless of her mother's anguish and entreaties they tore her away and carried her into the forest never to be seen again or heard from, by her parents. A search for the captive one began immediately by the relatives and was urged on by the kindly Society members until her death, over twenty-eight years afterward. Thereafter inquiry for her was continued by her brothers, ever with the hope that she had suffered a terrible death. This uncertainty of her fate was harder to bear than the full facts would have been; and for many years it was kept alive by the many successful military campaigns against the savages, and the restoration of many lost ones to their families.

Notwithstanding all the inquiries and rewards offered, and the sacrifices for this slave, she remained lost to her family for almost fifty-five years. Then the kind efforts of George W. Knying, a trader, and traveler thru the village in this Reservation, one hundred and a good many miles over rugged, and indirect way, gave information which led them to visit the Miami village at this place September 22nd, 1877, when she was first fully identified.

These brothers and slave, at this time well advanced in years, traveled for this visit by crude methods hundreds of miles through a largely unimproved country to continued search for the lost one. They had not with them the disappointment in all their former efforts for this purpose. What a train of reminiscences, speculation and worries were naturally witnessed during this long fatiguing and otherwise unproductive journey? Was this great effort in their old age to be another disappointment? Could they slave have survived such length of time under such unfavorable conditions as she must have been subjected to? If so, how had it happened that she had not been discovered before? What means of identification were at their command? If she were identified, how much regarding her first childhood home, and themselves, would she remember? With what tremulous eagerness, mingled with hopes and fears, did they approach this place and the home of the long lost one; and with what joy did they identify her beyond a doubt? But, with what sadness were they received? They were viewed by her at first with indifference, then with distrust, and finally, with somewhat of interest. If their joy at this meeting and recognition could not be expressed neither could the result of long years of her education lost mostly by her captives, and into a distrust of all Americans of her race, be overcome or much allayed by such an outbreak of harmless emotion. She could have had no recollection of having before witnessed such evidences of sisterly and brotherly affection—her experiences had been foreign to such emotions and she could not then, in her old age, comprehend their full significance or readily be brought into sympathy with them. There was, also, a fear lurking in her mind that there was a design at work to take her away from her home, and this fear contributed to the stolidity of her manner. After repeating to her, through an interpreter, the story of her early childhood experiences, including her abduction, and dwelling upon some accidents received before that time which resulted in scar still prominent, some of the memories of her childhood were awakened and she became somewhat communicative, and accorded her relatives hospitality; and in turn accepted their hospitality at their hotel in Peru.

It was not with altogether joyous hearts that the brothers and sister started on their return journey home. Their long lost sister had indeed been found. She was yet alive, but she was a sister only in name. In all outward respects she had become of another race and tongue, void of the culture, tastes and ways of her white relatives. That she was yet alive was to them but the gratifying knowledge that she had not suffered the pangs of a horrible death; and there was also somewhat of cheer on their way in the knowledge that she was content, and in the peaceful enjoyment of an abundance of supplies for her physical necessities, and without danger of future want.

Two years later, in September, 1839, her brother Joseph of Wilkes-Barre again visited her here. This time he was accompanied by his eldest and youngest daughters, and it is from their excellent journals that we are indebted for many of the particulars in the authentic story of this remarkable captivity. They were received with a greater degree of friendly feeling than on the former visit, but, in all material respects, with like result.

The principal facts in the history of this extraordinary case have been embodied in many publications, and have been known to many of you from your early childhood days; and some residents of this vicinity, now present, saw this 'white captive woman' during the later years of her life, and had personal knowledge of her strong and worthy characteristics as well as of the high esteem in which she was held by all her worthy neighbors of both races.

It is both interesting and profitable to consider the origin of the characteristics that could thus win and hold such general respect under most unfavorable conditions. The parentage of Frances Slocum was favorable for children of healthy bodies and sound minds; children who needed but the environment of a good home circle to develop strong and worthy members of civilized society, as her brothers and sisters grew to be. For a period of one hundred and seventeen years previous to the birth of Frances Slocum her parents and forebears were members—among the first in America—of the Society of Friends commonly known as Quakers, a Society which has always stood for uprightness of character and justice to all mankind. The good effects of the teachings of this Society have generally been evident in the children of succeeding generations even when widely separated by distance and generation from contact with the Society, and after their affiliation with other communions. This perpetuation is doubtless largely due to the direct influence of parent on child during the early educational period, or the more plastic age.

But the person our subject today, Frances Slocum, was early, and ruthlessly, own from the parental home and constantly retained until, and long after, mature age to a savage environment. The scenes and experiences in which she was from the time of her capture, and constantly, subject, were so savage and shocking as to soon obscure all memory of details of her infantile environment and brief period of parental training— even to obscure the memory of her own name, and to leave her as a foundation for a worthy future character only the influence of heredity, whatever that may have meant to her—and we think it most likely. It would have been a most interesting and profitable study in heredity and its modifications by an opposite racial environment, to have had protracted association with this woman during her mature years and to have carefully and in detail analyzed the underlying principles actuating her, in comparison with the native principles actuating average women of both races. But this opportunity is gone. Not enough of authentic detail has been preserved to make such comparisons of positive scientific value. All observations and records have been of the transient, momentary nature. And in this form the story of her life is likely to remain. Although her life was free from treatment of the conventional kind, and her favored surroundings and experiences full of stress, savage realities, yet they have from the first been mixed with a little of sentiment, and there has already begun an era of imagery which has run in the future into the realm of ideal poetry, in which the facts threads of story are not closely interwoven with the ordinary web of sentiment, and to which she may be idealized as a goddess.

However, although that is authentic in known of her life—and her severe trials and her triumphs—so numerous as that there was something in her character evidencing that she was an inheritor of possessions of her race in contribution to the power of the race of the race—more characteristic than the twenty long years of savage environment since her childhood could but substitute or radically change. The kindly disposition of her Quaker owners, the good-will to all persons, the ungenerous, unbridled, unrestrictive moral governing expressions and actions, pushing and disciplining impulse to the enhancement of reason—all, had left an indelible impress on her psychic life.

But, in what scenes and under conditions were these mixed qualities inherited from the first moments of her captivity? On the sensitive soul where grace and good-will had about been incultured, were dread alarms now harshly resounded, and her friends' life-blood and joy words were often pressed in her horrid gaze. Instead of the mother's happy lullabies that soothed and lulled the little life of her baby brothers and sisters before she was born, and had been continued to close her infant eyes in peaceful sleep during the brief period before her abduction, there were now farred marches to night through the forests, with bare feet and torn clothing, if any at all, and lacerated skin from the waste, unfriendly weeds and brush; skulkings in dismal places by day, necessary to her captors to evade the vengeance of her back-pursuing friends, whom she was instructed to abhor, even to hate as deadly enemies; subjected to great and constant exposures and fatigue, and often nearly famished for the want of palatable food, or food of any kind; for those years of war with the American Colonists were the most trying years ever experienced by the Aborigines.

She had grown to mature stature and years before these severe conditions ceased or were materially ameliorated. She had been married to a member of the tribe of her captors but did not have a peaceful home; and she was soon separated from him by the result of war. The removal westward and the rapidly changing fortunes and places of savage warfare, and the combinings of tribes, brought about her adoption into the Miami tribe.

It was not until the Treaty of Greenville, Ohio, August 3, 1795, about seventeen years after her abduction, that some cessation of hostilities came to bless the increasing Colonists as well as the rapidly declining race with which she had had a forced and tempestuous lot. Following this Treaty a brief era of some happiness opened to her. She was happily married to She-po-oo-ah, a Miami chief. But the restless nature of these people of the forests was continually fomented by the French and the British, and the hopes of peace and tranquility raised by the Treaty of Greenville were not to be fully realized for a further period of twenty years.

French people had often traveled along the Great Lakes and along the Maumee and Wabash rivers for over one hundred years previous to this Treaty and had trading posts at intervals along this route. The British, the hereditary enemies of the French, nominally succeeded the French in authority by Treaty in 1763 in this Northwest Territory. These peoples here had, on the surface, smoothed their quarrels and each was yet courtting the friendship of the Aborigines, as before from mercenary motives, both of them for the continued supply to the Aborigines of brandy, rum and the most common merchandise, in exchange for their peltries, which trade had been very profitable to the Europeans. The British, in addition, desired the alliance of the Aborigine warriors against the Colonists.

The darkest pages in the history of the French, British, and the Aborigines in America, are those describing the habituation of the latter to the use of intoxicating beverages, and their inclings to shed blood of American Colonists, by the former. The Government of the United States thus received an evil heritage, and one from which it has not yet fully recovered. These iniquitous incitings of the Aborigines to violence against the Colonists began before the Declaration of Independence; and they did not cease with the close of the Revolutionary War. They were continued in this Northwest Territory, along these river thoroughfares, until the close of the War of 1812, and until there was a sufficient force of United States troops throughout this Territory to successfully enforce peace. It was not until after the Treaty of Ghent, December 24th, 1814, closing the second war with Great Britain, that peace with the Aborigine tribes in these valleys became assured.

It was not until this time—at near the age of forty-two years, and after having passed thirty-six years in captivity—that a fixed abode and something of the arts of peace began to satisfy Frances Slocum's natural longings. Soon after this time her wanderings ceased with her removal with her husband and family to this Reservation; and, as the years passed by, with a peaceful home, the presence of children, and the accumulations of industry and thrift—bred traits—she became contented, and greatly attached to her home. Here, about the place where we are now assembled, she lived for a period of over thirty years, and here she passed the best days after her capture—a captive no longer when peace, home and family were assured to her. When discovered to her surviving relatives and visited by some of them at this place in 1837, and again in 1839, she began to realize for the first time the true conditions of her life in any fullness of contradiction to theirs, but the withering environment to which she had been subjected for a long period of years precluded the vista of view, and realization, possessed by them. However, in reply to their inquiry for her to accompany them to their home in Pennsylvania, the place of her childhood's first days, and to live with them, her judgment was clear and correct. She rightly decided to remain in the home where she had passed over thirty years of comparative happiness rather than to undertake another journey eastward to begin in her old age an uncertain life and new and strange scenes of civilization, surrounded by unfamiliar faces and addressed by a, to her, forgotten language.

The journey ground and distant tribes of Aborigines, her capture, the Lemoyne, Jane Komer at Dylamars, had years before become reduced to mere lava and poore by warings, bad habits, and absorption into other tribes, and she, after her adoption by the Miami, had known, probably without a regret of their removal by the United States Government to a reservation beyond the Mississippi River. She also understood that she and her immediate Miami friends would also have been removed to the then far West with the Miami tribe in 1841 but for the intervention of her husband who convinced the United States Congress of the futility of sending a Person to a Nation of God at this place for the permanent shade of himself and descendants. Thus she was made secure again in her own surroundings, and in these acts of her kindred the dream of her race as a whole, frustrated by her capture from her childhood, was fully stated. The only trouble and annoyance of her last years came from the influence of strong drink among her neighbors, and occasional thefts by the poorer white men in the wilderness—which sprung up around her reservation. Here she peacefully and contentedly died about the year 1832. Here she died March 24, 1847, having lived to the age of seventy-four years. Here, also, in loving her eight children, her two daughters, the younger being the mother of all her grandchildren whom we are pleased to meet to-day.

The strange history of Frank Shuman possesses phases of interest to the ethnologist and to the psychologist, as well as to the general reader. But as before to all the rights of the civilization of his time, she was deprived of those rights as far as possible by a race of people who used all the means of their savage nature in denying every product of civilization use of immediate use to them; and every person as well who was not constantly in contact with them. And herein rests somewhat of an anomaly. There were many captives taken by these Aborigines, but the captives' friends or the armies, pursued the captives so closely that, as a rule, those who did not soon meet a violent death, were restored to their friends. To give up all captives was one of the first conditions of all conquest and all treaties. The Aborigines desired to keep many, if not all, of the children taken by them; but nearly all of the white children abducted by them soon died from shock, exposure or disease. This Captive survived all dangers; and there emanated from her throughout her long life, a subtle influence which worked to the control of those of the different tribes with which she lived for her protection and care; and this influence also worked directly on her captors for her secretion by them to prevent her being discovered by those of her race, and to prevent her being surrendered to them. What was this subtle influence? Whence came it? What its source but her strong, unsmothered hereditary, psychic nature? Was her life in its savage, and later barbarous, environment governed by more hereditary influences than it would have been had she had a civilized environment not in full harmony with her heredity? Probably so, for a less pronounced environment may be stronger in its results than heredity. Those persons of her race who knew her in her later life have told us that she was revered as a queen by the members of her family and their people of the Miami tribe. Her auburn hair and fair complexion were but faint outward expressions of heredity compared with the psychic sentiment that shone through her life and manner to a deeper and more powerful and lasting control over those people. Their deference and considerative treatment of her throughout her long life is the brightest and most creditable event in all their history, and this action by them also speaks volumes for her equability, and her power over their vicissitudes of passion. Her full influence over the Miami people will never be known. But the story of her great and benign influence is sufficiently full to give us a rightful inference that this influence was successfully exerted to the mollification of their asperities, as we know them to have been mollified during the time of her adult years; and we believe her influence would have been far greater for good but for the many temptations to strong drink persistently and clandestinely held before these people by European, and American, dealers in strong drink, the enemies of civilization.

We are now assembled where we can overlook the region where those once numerous and powerful Aborigines, the Miamis, had their last actual tribal existence. When first known to Europeans they dominated an extensive domain and could even withstand the Five Nations of Iroquois of the East. When fully conquered the third time by the United States early in the nineteenth century, their conquerors settled them on a large Reservation which was later reduced to "The Residue of the Big Reserve" which embraced the region hereabout. November 28, 1840, the tribe relinquished it all excepting this and a few other tracts, for a Reservation beyond the Mississippi River.

This is a pleasant region. There is enough of height and vale; enough of precipitous cliff and of low and gently sloping banks to the Mississinewa River which flows with measurable depths at our feet, to endear this region to everyone who loves the open air. Clothed with large forest growths, well intersperst with smaller trees and vines bearing edible nuts, fruits and berries in abundance, as was this region when occupied by the Miami tribe, it was an ideal place to them; and it appears to us today an ideal place for this commemorative meeting. As the generations, and the centuries, come and go, and these valleys become densely populated throngs of people will visit this place to enjoy the quiet beauty of the landscape to read the inscriptions on this monument, and to muse over the history of the vanished race. There is and always will be from the free-as-a-bird animalistic standpoint much of pathos in the consideration of the decline, and of the extinction, of the Aborigines in the free life of their tribal relations, and particularly regarding the mode of its doing. — But the stern logic of events, the advance in civilization, decreed it, and from it there was no escape. Assembled here, as we are today, with but the shadow of the former Miami peoples, with the object of commemoration, it is befitting that we recognize something of the justice of their departure. Although they ranked well in comparison with others of their race, we feel constrained to say that there was nothing in their character tending to develop a civilization, or any permanent refinement, or improvement of character. For many hundreds, probably thousands of years they had had an existence in these valleys or in different parts of this beautiful and fertile country, and their continued warring among themselves and other tribes had kept the numbers of surviving tribes reduced. Now, under their native conditions and characteristics, could they be brought to peace and the acceptance of civilizing methods. For over a century and a-half previous to the birth of this Captive many missionaries of a Christian church had labored among several leading tribes of their race, and long among them with those rites best calculated to win them to its teachings and dogmas; but with no appreciable ultimate improvement in their status. They were hereditarily their own worst enemies, and it was necessary for their acceptance of civilization in any appreciable degree, as well as for the progress of the prairie race, their conquerors, to take them away from their former haunts and ways — to gather and to confine them in small reservations where their warring habits could be controlled, where strong drink could be more effectively be prohibited, where the youth could be gathered and subjected to the advantages of schools, and where all persons could be educated into the arts of peace and industry preparatory to the attainment of land in severalty, and to their full admission to citizenship, like the descendants we are here today.

The progress of all human races toward true civilization has always been slow and tedious, beset by many obstacles. But, the "Earth is the Lord's" and progress in the peaceful, Christian era, is the destiny of mankind. No race can for long stop this progress. In proportion as races and peoples accord with this law, so will they prosper in all of prosperity that is valuable. It is very pleasing to note that some persons of the early American race, in later years, have been measurably conforming to this law and that the prosperity of long life, good health and character, and all material good, has been attending them accordingly, or affording them equal opportunities for such prosperity. Under their new conditions, these wiser ones, have to some degree been improving in Christian knowledge, in the experimental knowledge of agriculture and the domestic arts, and have been increasing in numbers and in material wealth. They, in common with all others, are reaping untold benefits from the rising tide of that Christian civilization which their fore-fathers could not check, and which is destined to rise higher and purer, lessening the mistakes and ameliorating the rigors of both the governing and the governed.

The life of Frances Slocum, so far as we have been able to gather its history, was in consonance with the law of this civilization. So far as heredity could influence her life, it was like unto that of her ancestors—plain in outward display, free from enervating habits, peaceful within itself, patient in doing her duty according to the best of her knowledge. This Monument has been erected by a few persons to perpetuate the story of the happy triumphs of her strong hereditary nature throughout a long life and under the most unfavorable conditions. May it stand through future ages as a memento to emphasize the great value to every one of a pure and vigorous psychic and physical heritage.*

Good order was maintained by the multitud which krowded around the spekers' stand, altho many, perhaps most, kud not wel hear. * Before the Sekshon ov Anthropoloji at The Anual Meting ov The Amerikan Asosiashon for the Advancement ov Siens held in Columbia University New York City June 23 to 30, 1900, Dr. Charles E. Slocum red a paper entitled "A Civilized Heredity Stronger than a Savage Environment; Exemplified in the Life of Frances Slocum for Sixty-eight Years a Captive among the American Aborigines, for years during their most Savage State." This article stated that:

"Comparatively few opportunities have been afforded for the practical study and illustration of the effects of an extreme opposite racial environment upon heredity in perversion from civilization. The most notable case of this character is presented for our consideration in the person of Frances Slocum who was abducted by American Aborigines when she was five years and eight months of age, before any of the teachings and habits of civilized life became definitely fixt with her. She remaind lost to her kindred and race about fifty-nine years. During this time she lost her mother tongue and even remembrance of her childhood name, and acquired the milder habits of her savage environment, becoming in fact as fully like the average Aborigine woman as her heredity would permit; and so she remained to the time of her death.

The psychic life of this Captive pervert from civilization, so far as determined was very like unto that of her ancestors. She was plain and practical in outward display, while surrounded by those inclind to gaudiness; she was free from enervating habits, though in the midst of indulgenses; industrious, where idleness abounded; cleanly, while surrounded by those showing much of squalor; accumulative, among a wasteful, thriftless race; considerative, and sound of judgment, in the midst of impulsiveness; and patient in doing her duty according to the best of her knowledg.

A mor extended abstrakt ov this paper waz publisht in the annual volume ov Proceedings ov the Asosiashon.

and his daughter Hanna he visited Frances here in 1839, was introduced and spoke interestingly of his mother's diary descriptiv of her ant, her daughters, and their surroundings. He closed by announcing his desire for a memorial tablet in Wilkes Barre, his home city, to be placed at the site of the Kaptiv's childhood home.

Mrs. Lucretia King Miller of Washington, D. C., read in pleasing manner her creditable poem entitled Frances Slocum.

The venerated Gabriel Gindroy, one of the last chiefs of the Miami, was next called forward. He spoke a few minutes animatedly in the Miami tongue; then changing to fairly good English, repeated his remarks. When he was a boy he saw Frances Slocum, and he told some of her good acts. Many white men were bad to the Miami, he said; sold them whisky, and got their money. The Slocum family was always good to them; and he expressed thanks to the Miami for the many favors received by them from members of this family.

Major McFaddin of Logansport, Indiana, a redly western speaker, was then called forward. He saw Frances in her late life, and had great respect for her. He had also seen many of the Miami; and he repeated oft told stories regarding them.

Kennel Richard DeHart of LaVernie, Indiana, spoke briefly in dignified strain.

William Crane, who prepared the grave for Frances' burial, was introduced and spoke of the late ceremonies, and of the solemnity of the funeral.

Ritten remembrance of John C. Long, a successful American farmer, living in vicinity of the grave, was handed to the secretary, Mr. Long's diffidence preventing him from speaking or reading them before the audience. As he desired they are edited as follow:

I came to Indiana in March, 1843, and first stopped at Bismillette's, the son-in-law's home, where Frances, then a widow, was living. There being some work to do, I did it for her, eating at the same table and sleeping in the same house with them. After this work was done, I engaged no work for other farmers, but the associations were so amicable that I continued to make her house my headquarters. Bismillette loved the company of white men, and his French characteristics made him a good entertainer. This resulted in the ground about his house being a general gathering place every Sunday for all the white men in this part of the country. Here a part of the day was past in various diversions, horse racing being a favorite sport. My pleasant acquaintances with Frances continued until her death, 9 March, 1847, notwithstanding the fact that she could not speak any English. She could well indicate her desires by gesture. She had a large herd of ponies, a hundred or more, and she made great pets of them. She would give them salt to eat from her hands, and she went freely among them wher it wud hav bin danjerus for a stranj man to go. She did the work expected ov the Miami wimen. Her fias and hands, from the konstant exposur, wer almost az dark az thoz ov the averaj Miami woman, but when she expozd her arms for speshal work, they showd az white az thoz ov any person. She waz ov medium hight and wat; had redish brown hair strekt with gra, and britt brown evz. My wife vizited her in February, 1847, the month befor her deth, and when she waz in her uzual good helth. Womanlike she tok partikular notis ov her dres, which she yet deskribz to me az a hevvy pes ov blak and red brodkloth belted around her wast and extending to the anklz; a blu kaliko wast or shirt with pink rufts; beded derskin mokasins; and larj, hevvy, hafimon shapt bras pendants from etz. She treted Mrs. Long very hospitably.

The Miamis ov Indiana wer net al present at this meting, the number being estimated by thoz akwainted with them at net four hundred. An adres from them to the Slocum Family waz handed to the Sekretary. It waz typriten under leterhed ov The Wabash Star, Indiana, nuzpaper, and without signatur. It reads as foloz, viz.

We, the grandchildren, great grandchildren, and other relatives and Miami friends, of Frances Slocum, who live in the vicinity of her grave at the former Deaf Man's Village on the bank of the Mississinewa, hereby extend greeting to the relatives of the 'White Rose of the Miamis' who lies buried here. We desire to thank you one and all for the great interest you have taken in keeping alive the memory of Grandma Slocum, and, we assure you that the work which you have done is greatly appreciated and we, her descendants, feel that we are highly favored by the respect and love to her memory which you have shown. Without your aid and assistance we could not have so honored the memory of our dear departed ancestor. Your interest in the matter aroused a feeling among her relatives throughout the United States that has resulted in the erection to her memory of this beautiful and enduring monument, and we are justly proud of you, her relatives and friends who have taken this great interest in marking with an imperishable monument her last resting place.

We extend to you a cordial welcome and hope the memory of this day's good work may live in your minds during your earthly existence and that the fruits of your generosity may stand for ages as a monument to 'The lost child of Wyoming' to be seen and respected by coming generations. Again we thank you for your great kindness and welcome you in our midst.

Prezident Arthur G. Slocum klozd the exercises by the day with the benedikshon.

FRANCES SLOCUM

A child of English descent, was born in Warwick, Rhode Island, March —, 1773. Was carried into captivity from her father's house at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, November 2, 1778, by Delaware Indians soon after the Wyoming massacre. Her brothers gave persistent search but did not find her until September 21, 1837, when, induced by a published letter describing an aged white woman in the Miami Indian village here, two brothers and a sister visited this place and identified her. She lived near here about 32 years with the Indian name Ma-sow-a-qual. She died on this ridge March 6, 1847, and was given a Christian burial.

The left panel reads az folos:

SHI-PO-CUN-AH A Miami Indian Chief, husband of Frances Slocum—Ma-sow-a-qual—died here in 1844 (?) at an advanced age. Their adult children were:

KI-KI-SOW-SHOWAN, wife of Rev. Jean Baptiste Bissoillette, died March 13, 1847, aged 47 years, leaving no children.

OU-TAH-SOW-SHOWAN, or Jane, wife of Rev. Peter Bondy, died January 24, 1857, aged 64 years, leaving a husband and nine children.

The back panel reads:

FRANCES SLOCUM became a stranger to her mother- tongue.

She became a stranger to her brethren, and an alien to her mother's children through her captivity. See Psalm lxxix. 8.

This Monument was erected by Slocum and others who deemed it a pleasure to contribute, and was unveiled by them with public ceremonies May 17, 1888.

On the return to Peru, the officers and some other members of the Komite made detour past the home of Gabriel Godfrey for the purpose of visiting the Miami Cemetery there, and of stung as much of the Missounewa Valli az possibl. Many started homeward by first train; others remained at Peru for the morning train, which enabled them to konpar opinions in the meeting, and to extend akyaalerances. The members of the Komite at Peru, met late in the evening and pleasantly completed the biznes of the event, klozing with a kordyal vote av thanks to the Sekretary for the konplet sukses of the event, which waz without delay or unplezant tetur.

Kopy of the toloing report waz sent to each member of the Komite, viz:

Defiance, Ohio, May 22nd, 1900.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE FRANCIS SLOCUM MONUMENT COMMITTEE
Ladies and Gentlemen:

No member of the Committee who was present need be told of the happy realization of the most sanguine expectations at Reserve, Indiana, May 17.

To those Members who could not be present to share in the pleasures of this most enjoyable gathering I will report in brief, that the weather was most favorable; that the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and Illinois, were well represented in the attendance, while the good citizens of Indiana swarmed by thousands. The lowest estimate of the number of persons in attendance was 3,000; while others placed the number at 4, 5, 6, and even as high as 10,000. The expression "the attendance, the Monument, the exercises, and the beauty of the country far exceed expectations" was heard at every turn. It was unanimously voted to meet again at the call of the Committee.

Eight Members of the Committee were present. Letters expressing the regrets of three absent ones were presented by the Secretary. It was decided to continue the Committee for the purpose of protecting the cemetery and placing it in charge of the local authorities having control of burial places, and for other commemorative work that might be suggested in the future.

The receipts for the Monument Fund, which showed a deficit at the time of the adjournment of the Committee at Reserve, were brought up to a small surplus at the evening meeting in Peru. The following statement shows the receipts and expenditures in brief, taken from the report at Reserve in detail accompanied by vouchers:—

Total receipts from forty-three persons, $668.12

Total disbursements, $664.26, viz:—

Paid Manufacturers for Wrought Iron Fence, $295.00, paid Judson C. Bondy Carting Fence to Cemetery, $10.00, paid E. R. Lambert for Setting Fence, Carting and Setting Monument, $30.00; paid Contract Price for Monument, $260.00; Sundry Expenditures of Secretary, $38.16; Sundry Expenditures of James F. Stutesman, $21.10; Sundry Expenditures of Treasurer, $10.00; leaving balance in hand, $3.84.

The contract prices of Monument and Fence were very low, the agent for the former accepting no commission on the sale, and the latter was bought directly from the manufacturers, The Champion Iron Co. of Kenton, Ohio at the former low price of iron. This, and the gratuitous work of the Committee's Secretary and Treasurer, and the Committee-man at Peru, gives us an investment at Reserve of over one thousand dollars in value.

The enormous pressure from great masses of humanity hanging on the new fence Thursday, resulted in breaking one post and in making other repairs necessary. The great strength of the fence is attested by the comparatively slight damage it received by such treatment.

We owe a debt of gratitude to the newspapers everywhere for the full and pleasant manner in which they have treated the story of Frances Slocum, and the designs of this Committee from beginning to the present time. From their influence alone we may feel assured that there should be a much larger and heartier response if this Slocum Memorial Committee decides to call another reunion, be the meeting held at Reserve, Wilkes-Barre, or at the time and place of some general exposition.

Cordially yours,

CHARLES F. SLOCUM, SECRETARY.

NOTE. By notice of the Secretary, the following named members of the Komite visited the Semetery together May 3, 1907, and instituted nesessary space and improvements, viz: Elliot T. Stinson, George S. Bennett, Charles E. Stinson, Francis S. Litchberger, Levin G. Murphy, and Joseph A. Kenny*.

The desire for a memorial of Frances Stinson at the site of her last civilized home, the place of her capture, has been realized. This movement was led by George Stinson Bennett, resident there, and resulted in a well-designed bronze tablet 41 x 20 1/2 inches in size being placed a November, 1900, the 128th anniversary of her capture, on the outer wall and just to the left of the main entrance of the building of The Wyoming Historical and Geological Society, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, in invitation of this Society. The tablet reads as follows:

BY MEMBERS OF THE FRANCES STINSON MEMORIAL THE LOST SISTER OF WYOMING CAPTURED BY DELAWARE INDIANS WHEN FIVE YEARS OLD NOVEMBER 2, 1778 NEAR THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF NORTH PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE AND EAST NORTH STREET WILKES-BARRE, PA. SHE WAS THE DAUGHTER OF JOSEPHIAN AND RUTH TRAFER STINSON AND WAS DISCOVERED LIVING NEAR PERU, INDIANA BY HER RELATIVES SEPTEMBER 22, 1847. SHE DIED MARCH 6, 1848. BARRIED BY MEMBERS OF THE STINSON FAMILY, NOVEMBER 2, 1900.

The tablet also shows a diagram of the intersection of East North and Scott Streets with Pennsylvania Avenue, with a black marking the location of the Stinson residence in 1778.

Another tablet, 25 x 18 inches in size, was placed on the Public School building opposite the place of capture. It reads as follows:

FRANCES SLOCUM | MA-COS-A-QUAH | WAS CAPTURED | NEAR THIS SPOT BY |
DELAWARE INDIANS | NOVEMBER 2, 1778.

In a long notice of these tablets, and of the person they commemorate, the leading newspaper of Wilkes-Barre stated that "the stealing of the child and the search for her which lasted for half a century form the most interesting romance, and next to the Wyoming massacre the historic event, of the Wyoming Valley."

R. Nelson Bennett, member of the Council of the City of Wilkes-Barre, originated a Park Commission for this city; and to forward the movement his father sent the following communication to its members, viz:

Wilkes-Barre, April 27, 1907

Messrs. Irving A. Stearns, Anthony L. Williams, James M. Boland, William S. Goff and Daniel E. Carmody, Wilkes-Barre Park Commission

Gentlemen—

For some time I have been greatly interested in Parks and Playgrounds for my native place.

In the more thickly portions of our city there is a great need of Playgrounds for the children. I wish to do something to help this want. I stand ready to deed to the city of Wilkes-Barre, for Park and Playground purposes, the free and uninterrupted use and absolute control of the surface of the lot, now owned by me, at the northeast corner of North Pennsylvania avenue and Scott streets, in the Sixteenth ward of the said city, if the same shall meet with your approval.

The lot is about three hundred feet on Pennsylvania avenue and one hundred and thirty-seven feet on Scott street. This gift is made on condition that the said premises shall be used only for Park and Playground purposes and shall at all times hereafter be and remain open and unobstructed, and that the City of Wilkes-Barre shall continue its Park Commission and continue to make sufficient appropriations of money for the proper equipment and maintenance of the Play Ground.

As this lot came to me from the Hon. Joseph Slocum, my grandfather, and is almost the identical spot where Frances Slocum, my great-aunt, was captured by the Indians, November 2, 1778, when five years of age, and whose capture and subsequent discovery was one of the most tragic events in the early history of Wyoming Valley, I desire that this Play Ground be called the 'Frances Slocum Play Ground' as a memorial to her.

Very truly yours,

GEO. S. BENNETT

This lot of land, being situated near the business part of the city, is very valuable. It was the first Public Playground presented or obtained, and it was received with joy. It was publicly dedicated on July, 1907, in the presence of several thousand people, fully half of whom were children. These children gave exhibition drills, relay races, etc. The son, R—— Nelson Bennett, represented the generous donor, and made an interesting and pleasing address. He was followed by a representative of the Park Commission who referred thankfully to the donor, also to the son who framed the Park Ordinance making possible the proud result. The exercises concluded with a flag drill, and the singing of America.*

Caleb¹ and Elizabeth (Stillman) Wright moved in 1777 to Cambridge Tp., in the present Washington County, New York; and there he purchased a large tract of land, which he afterward sold taking pay in Continental Scrip, which soon became worthless. He and the other Wrights in this vicinity were enlisted men in the Revolutionary War; he as a sergeant was in the Battle of Bennington and, when the battle raged his company was ordered to support General Sturges. They had been a company of ammuniition, and each man had been directed to provide himself with bullets. Sergeant Wright obtained his supply by mending the lead weights of the family clock. This clock is yet keeping time for his great grandchildren, the power running from tin cans filled with sand.† After the close of the war he purchased the farm that his ever since been in the possession of his family and descendants.

WILLIAM NELL* SLOCUM (Mother: R.¹ Benjamin John,* Benjamin,* Elizabeth,* Gilbert* Anthony,*) was born 24 November, 1828, in Delphi, New York. In July, 1844, he became apprenticed to the Editor of The Madison County Eagle newspaper at Cazenovia, N. Y. After two years in this office, he finished his apprenticeship in the printing office of The Syracuse Journal. He then taught Public School one or two years, and in 1850 went to New York City where he engaged with The New York Sun, first as proof-reader, then as reporter, and assistant editor. In 1854 he became City editor of The Morning Express. In 1855 held position in the office of the Associated Press, and during the rule of the Vigilance Committee in San Francisco in 1856, he was sent to that city as agent of the association. The committee disbanded about the time of his arrival and, in 1857, several months after quiet was restored in the city he bought an interest in a placer gold mine by the Merced River in Mariposa County, California. This business not proving profitable, he returned to San Francisco and engaged in newspaper work. He was never an aspirant for office; but, at the solicitation of friends, he served two terms as Assistant Clerk of the California Assembly. Also one term during President Lincoln's administration, as Collector of Internal Revenue. Since the year 1868, most of his work has been as editor of reform journals in California. Originally an Abolitionist, he has been successively a Republican, a 'Greenbacker,' member of the Workingmen's Party, a Populist, and latterly a Socialist, changing (so he writes) as the changing times required.

He married first in 1862 widow Amanda M. Taylor of San Francisco. Married second in March, 1880, Luella Fish of Los Angeles. He sent his report for this book from Los Angeles in 1900. He wrote of the increasing pleasures of the suburbs of this city: the seashore, and of the mountain resorts, as his sight and hearing fails. Children, by first marriage: -

- i. CLARA, born 28 February, 1863; died in 1880
- ii. FREDERICK, born February, 1864; died in October, 1868.

JOHN FRANCIS⁸ SLOCUM (Benjamin T.,⁷ Abel,⁶ Samuel,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Ebenezer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 23 April, 1821, in Pawtuxet, Providence County, Rhode Island. He was educated in and near his native town, and early went to work in a cotton cloth mill. He changed from one mill to another, and was advanced until he became superintendent. After several years he resigned this position, and entered the wholesale grocery business in Providence as junior partner in the firm of Whitford and Slocum. Feeling an attraction to the west, he sold his interest in Providence and, in 1863, moved his family to Chicago, Ill. Here he entered the wholesale grocery business but soon changed to the operation of a planing mill, which was destroyed by fire about 1866. Lacking capital with which to start business again, he secured position of traveling salesman for a young and striving wholesale grocery firm, and had the pleasure of seeing the business increase to large returns. He showed marked ability as a salesman, was energetic, and punctual in meeting every engagement. He was kind hearted, always willing to do what he could to help others out of trouble, and preferred to suffer loss rather than go to law. These qualities won for him the designations of 'a grand man; one of nature's noblemen.' He was very fond of his family, and passed all possible time at home, his only social and fraternal memberships being with his home, and church. An earnest petition in his prayers was that he might be spared a lingering illness before the close of life. This petition was granted. He retired for the night as usual after passing a happy evening with his family in Chicago, apparently in good health—and his spirit past away in the early morning of 2 March, 1895, while apparently asleep.

John Francis Slocum was married 5 February, 1844, in Lonsdale, R. I., by Rev. C. C. Taylor, Episcopalian, to Almeda Bourne, who was born 22 August, 1820, in Attleboro, Mass. She was of the highly respected family of Stephen Bourne a soldier in the War of 1812, and his wife Nancy Dean. She early evinced a talent for vocal music and this talent was cultivated. She attracted a host of musical friends, some of whom were of wide fame and urged her (unsuccessfully) to enter upon concert work. Her marriage was a notable event, with many guests present. She was a good home keeper; was member of the Union Park Congregational Church, Chicago, and attended regularly until she was crippled by a fall in 1899. Although she could not recover from this accident, she did not lose her cheerfulness. She died 13 April, 1904, from another cause after a short illness at her son's home in Elizabeth, New Jersey. She was buried beside her husband in Swan Point Cemetery, Providence, R. I. Children:

- 589. i. ELLA BOURNE, b. 5 May, 1847; m. Ernest von Jeinsen.
- ii. MARY EMILY, born 29 May, 1849, at Fall River, Mass. She died 19 December, 1853, in Lonsdale, Rhode Island, and was buried in Swan Point Cemetery, Providence, R. I.
- iii. FRANCES ALMEDA, b. 26 Jan., 1852, at Fall River, Mass. She attended the Public Schools in Chicago, graduating from the High School, also the Wheaton Female Seminary at Norton, Mass. She later became proficient in instrumental music, studying many years at the Chicago Conservatory. She married John Graham, Jr., in Chicago, 21 Sept., 1886; died 24 June, 1895, in Kansas City, Mo. A child, John Francis Roy Graham, b. 8 Oct., 1888, is (1906) attending the Northwestern Military Academy at Highland Park, Ill.

JOSEPH⁸ SLOCUM (*James,*⁷ *Joseph W.,*⁶ *John,*⁵ *Joseph,*⁴ *Peleg,*³ *Giles,*² *Anthony,*¹) born 19 November, 1832, in Saratoga County, New York; married there 9 March, 1856, Harriet N. Douglas. In 1857 they moved to Iowa and settled on a farm at the present Dallas Center. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in early manhood, and remained a faithful and consistent member; an honorable, strait forward man. He gave freely of his time and means for the support of the Church and various charities; was one of the founders of the Church in Dallas Center, and contributed to founding the first mission in Korea. He was in his usual health 31 October, 1907, at Dallas Center, Iowa; and in the evening was stricken with cerebral apoplexy, and died in a few minutes. His widow survives; also his sister, Mrs. Rhoda Ann Hill (444) Minburn, Iowa; two sons, one daughter, twenty-one grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

NATHANIEL MANN, husband of Sally Frances Slocum, for sixty years one of the best-known residents of Saratoga County, New York, was born on his Milton Hill Farm December 29, 1819. He was son of Jeremiah Mann of Milton Township and Rebecca Tallmadge of Schaghticoke, Rensselaer County, New York. His education was begun in the schools of his native town, continued in those of Schaghticoke and completed at the Hotchkiss Academy at Lenox, Massachusetts. He married February 24, 1841 at the Mann home-stead Sally Frances⁹ Slocum daughter of Jeremiah Slocum and Anna Bryan.

He was a young man just nineteen years of age, when he found himself responsible for the management of a large farm. He soon became an enthusiastic farmer and took great pride in his vocation. He was alert to acquire what others knew and willing to impart what in any way he had learned. The farm of his life-long residence had been occupied by his father and grandfather. All the fruits of his labor were devoted to its improvement. He built his house of stone and walled his fields with boulders. His farm buildings were extensive and admirably arranged, and his orchard was of a thousand trees.

He had marked mechanical and engineering aptitude, and he was prompt in applying them as a progressive farmer. Agricultural machinery was largely introduced during the period of his active life. No one recognized sooner than he what it meant to the farmer. He brought the first horse-rake into the town of Milton, and the first mowing machine in Saratoga County was owned by him, and his neighbor George B. Powell and used on their farms.

He was a witness to the dawning of the two definitive factors of the last century, public transportation and transmission. As a boy he had the care of the horse that was sold off his father's farm to draw the first rail-way passenger car in New York State on its initial trip. He delivered from his father's farm ties for the construction of both the Albany and Schenectady and the Rensselaer and Saratoga railroads; the one the first link in the great trans-continental rail-way lines, and the other, the first section of the present international route that unites the St. Lawrence, the Hudson and the Susquehanna. In his young manhood, he loaded cars with his farm produce at Ballston and drew them on the rail-road to Troy with his own horses, a method of railroading now almost forgotten. From these early beginnings, he saw the enormous transportation systems develop from the mere carrying of freight to the public electric transmission of news and thought and finally of the human voice.

He was a projector of the Saratoga County Agricultural Society, for two years its President and for fifty-nine years a manager. For a long time he served as vestryman of Christ Episcopal Church, Ballston Spa, and was a member of the committee that erected the present edifice. He was Loan Commissioner of the United States deposit fund in Saratoga County for a term. He took great interest in public affairs and was a Whig or Republican all his life.

Socially, he was hospitable, of a genial and humorous temperament, fond of entertaining by graphic and apt anecdote and illustration. Mr. Mann was always fond of young people, and they delighted in his society. His attractiveness extended even to the animals that surrounded him. He ruled them by kindness, and he could approach in the field and halter even his colts without exciting any effort to escape. He was never long happy away from his home. His genial nature showed at its best in the family circle, and he exerted himself as cheerfully to be entertaining when alone with a member of his immediate family, as if his parlors were filled as they often were, with visiting relatives or friends. His happiness there was contagious. To the time of his death, which occurred on his farm August 26, 1900, the vigor of his mind and the warmth of his heart made venerable age inviting and interesting. He is buried at the ancient Cemetery at Milton Hill.

His wife Sally Frances⁹ Slocum Mann, grandniece and namesake of the celebrated Indian captive Frances Slocum, was born in the Township of Saratoga, near Schuylerville, New York, 23 February, 1819.

She passed her childhood in her pleasant country home and attended the neighborhood school. At thirteen years of age, she lost her father, and the following year her mother passed away. The home was sold, and she with her only sister Elizabeth Ann resided for a time with their brother William Ross Slocum at Fort Miller, New York. While living there, her sister, who was her senior by several years, and who had assumed a motherly care of her, was stricken with a fatal disease and died 18 February, 1836. Elizabeth's tender guidance of her young sister had been so devoted and parental that her death might almost be termed a third orphaning of Frances.

Jeremiah Mann of Milton Hill Farm, Saratoga County, having been appointed her legal guardian, she was taken into his home and became a member of his family. She had attended the 'Pioneer School' under the charge of Mr. Ballard in the town of Bennington Centre, Vermont, for two years. Later she was a pupil for one year at Miss Sheldon's Seminary at Utica, New York. In the fall of 1837 she entered the Troy Female Seminary of which Mrs. Emma Willard was still Principal. At the end of one year she was graduated from that school and thus completed her general education.

While she was yet a member of his family, her guardian died 3 January, 1839. She, however, continued to make her home with his widow and children. In the mean time, the youngest son of the family, Nathaniel Mann, had become by purchase the sole owner of the homestead property; and he soon won Sally Frances Slocum to share it with him. They were married there 24 February, 1841, by Rev. Dr. Deodatus Babcock, and she thus in very early life became mistress of a large farm with its responsibilities as well as a prominent social factor in a long-settled and cultivated neighborhood.

Mr. Mann's grandfather, Joel Mann had come to this farm from Hebron, Connecticut in 1793. The buildings on it most of which had survived the Revolution, had witnessed the ebb and flow of Patriots and Tories, and Indians raiding and pursuing the early settlers along the natural highway from Canada. They had become unsuitable. Nathaniel Mann changed the location of some and demolished and replaced others. The old Connecticut double house was taken down, and a stone residence built upon its site. The fields were re-arranged and walled with stone. In all these enterprises, his young wife encouraged and assisted him. Her share in the work was as important and exhausting as his. At that time, a considerable part of the products of the farm, which included, butter and cheese in large quantities, came under her supervision; and, while the duties of a farmer's wife were then far more exacting than now, she assumed the household care of a multitude of laborers and mechanics in addition to the regular farm hands. This transformation continued for more than ten years, and the burdens and labors of each supplemented the other with a like capacity and enthusiasm. During this same period a little family of children was gathered about them, viz:

- 449A1. i. ANNA MANN, born 17 February, 1842.
- 449A2. ii. MERCY PLUM MANN, b. 23 Dec., 1843; m. John H. Peck.
- 449A3. iii. ELIZA POWELL MANN, born 11 October, 1845.
- 449A4. iv. JEREMIAH SLOCUM MANN, b. 24 Oct., 1847; d. 31 Mch., 1906.
- 449A5. vi. MARY WILLARD MANN, born 10 Sep., 1854; d. 2 December, 1866.

Mrs. Mann, throughout these years of great exertion and responsibility, had the assistance of a remarkable colored woman known as Deyann. She had been brought to the farm a slave five years of age in 1804 purchased in a neighboring town by Mr. Mann's grandfather. Although under no restraint, she never was off the farm for a night during her life there. She was without education but naturally of strong, good sense, and commanding strength of mind. She was a large woman physically; and, though in some ways an added care, was on the whole a most efficient helper and able executive of the clear and discerning judgment of her mistress. Everyone for miles about knew and respected her. She survived Mrs. Mann ten years and died on the farm 16 January, 1877 at the age of seventy-eight years. Her long life had been spent in serving four generations of the family.

Mrs Mann's later years were more quiet and domestic. She was as unselfish and conscientious and patient and tender a mother of her children as she had always been a helpmate to her husband. Her foresight and thoughtfulness were conspicuous, especially in the illnesses and waywardness of children. Their nurture extended to their religious life and to the little suggestions and corrections that would tend to their social acceptance.. She was a member of Christ Church, Ballston Spa.

Throughout her married life even in the midst of laborious and absorbing cares, generous hospitality was the marked characteristic at the Milton Hill Farm. It was the ancestral family centre, it was the point towards which kinship drew relatives of several generations, attracted by an assured welcome. Many met there in close fellowship who had no other goal in common.

Mrs Mann's tastes and loves and life chiefly blessed her home and beyond its confines extended mostly to kindred and cultivated neighbors. She was an educated, domestic gentlewoman. She died in her forty-eighth year, 24 January, 1867, leaving a singularly enduring impress upon the memories of those who knew her best and loved her most. She is buried in the Cemetery at Milton Hill.*

* Sally Frances⁹ Slocum was 9th generation from William Almy, Colonial Commissioner at Portsmouth, R. I.; 9th from John Greene, Commissioner and Deputy, Rhode Island; 8th from Deputy Governor John Greene, Commissioner to the General Court, Atty. General, Assistant, Colonial Agent to England, Member of Governor Andros' Council, Deputy, "Major for the Main," Deputy Governor for ten years, Captain, Major, Colonel, Rhode Island; 7th generation from Joseph Peck of Hingham, Massachusetts, Deputy to the General Court in 1639, Assessor and Justice of the Peace; 6th from Samuel Peck, first Deputy from Rehoboth, Mass., to the General Court of Plymouth in 1689; 9th from Anthony Slocum, a first purchaser of Cohannet, Mass., in 1637; and Lord Deputy Proprietor of North Carolina from 1670; 7th from Ebenezer Slocum of Portsmouth, Jamestown, Rhode Island, Deputy, Speaker of the House, Minister in the Society of Friends; 5th from Hon. Joseph Slocum, Deputy from West Greenwich, R. I.; 3rd from Giles Slocum of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a soldier in the Revolution; 8th from Edward Thurston of Newport, R. I., Commissioner, Deputy and Assistant; 5th from Isaac Tripp of Wyoming Valley, Pa., Representative to Connecticut Legislature from Wyoming Valley.

ANNA MANN, eldest child of Nathaniel and Sally Frances (Slocum) Mann, was born at Milton Hill Farm 17 February, 1842. Her early education was acquired in a school only a few rods from her home, and she knew socially and quite intimately, for a child, most of the teachers employed there. In this way she learned much more than was taught. For one year, 1860-1861, she attended the famous school at Troy founded by Mrs. Emma Willard, the same from which her mother was graduated. Her fidelity to duty, her conscientious work, her exemplary conduct and her appreciation of the efforts of her teachers in her behalf won for her their approbation and admiration throughout her school life. While yet a young woman, she became a member of Christ Church, Ballston Spa. She left home in the spring of 1863 and spent one year in visiting some of the cities and larger towns of Michigan, Ohio and western New York. She has always resided in her present home. She has never acquired the city habit. The rural landscape, the farm sounds, but more than all the delicate beauty of wild and cultivated flowers are necessary parts of her ideal home. The delights of a visit in her garden or a ramble through an orchard or a grove are not surpassed to her taste by the sights from any urban sidewalk or the conventional landscape of a park. Her infrequent visits to the town afford chiefly added charm to the countryside. But she is no recluse. She is a natural housewife and hostess, so that the Mann homestead continues to be the centre of hospitality and good cheer, as in former days. Her soul, manifested in the home, will long survive her life. It is impossible to describe its ministry. It has been an impersonation of Christian faithfulness unobtrusively blessing every member of the household. Her father and mother, her sisters and brother, her nephews grown to manhood under her wise and tender counsel, have felt the stay and strength of womanly devotion. Whether for them life were receding or its ambition had just been kindled, they have all known in her the power of hope, faith and love.

MERCY PLUM MANN, second daughter of Nathaniel and Sally Frances (Slocum) Mann, was born at Milton Hill Farm 23 December, 1843. She entered the neighborhood school at the early age of three years, accompanying thither her elder sister Anna. Her attendance there during a very long period continued the most regular of that of any pupil. She remained at this school under the tutelage of very competent teachers for upwards of fifteen years. She had always evinced aptitude and ambition for teaching, and, in the spring of 1862 at the beginning of the term succeeding that in which she had concluded her course as a pupil, she was placed by the trustees at the head of the school. Most of the attendants were the same as those with whom she had been recently associated. Some of them were older than she, but her success has ever since been a tradition of the neighborhood. Later her pupils became widely scattered, some of them entering the armies of the civil war. As from time to time they have returned to re-visit the scenes of their youth, the one person always inquired for has been the former associate of the school desks, who became their most inspiring teacher. Miss Mann remained at the head of the school for only a year and a half; and then, in September 1863, she left home to pursue a course of higher education at the well-known Willard school at Troy, New York, where her mother had completed her education. She was graduated there in June 1865 after two years of most assiduous study. In the following year, on the occasion of a temporary vacancy in its corps of teachers, she was re-called and became an instructor during a brief period. The success of her work, however, was conspicuous; and at the beginning of the next school year September 1866, she became a member of the permanent faculty. This association was continued until on the retirement of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Willard in June 1872, the boarding department was temporarily suspended. The next year she taught at the well-known da Silva Bradford school in New York City. Before the expiration of this year, the trustees of the Troy Seminary engaged her on most attractive terms to return to Troy and assist Miss Emily T. Wilcox Principal in conducting a day school. From September 1873 until June 1883 this arrangement continued in connection with other teachers. Her work in the classroom was largely among the younger children, training and fitting them to advance rapidly to the honors of the school. Her conspicuous success attracted pupils to the school. She was a natural teacher, happy in her work and resourceful in securing application and awakening enthusiasm. She was just and patient and able to impress those under her care with a sense of her accuracy of information and her unfailing interest in them. She won their confidence and affection, and many of them were assiduous to show their love as well by progress in their classwork as by the childlike and devoted attentions. Her class rooms were vibrant with cheertul, studious industry. When she finally retired from the school in June 1883 full of health, enthusiasm and success, it closed a period extending back to her earliest childhood during which there had been but few weeks, when she had not day by day attended school as the great interest of her life. The work laid down had brought her many joys and triumphs.

The long summer vacations had been spent, as far as possible, in acquiring the cultivation and experience of travel. They were seldom passed entirely at home, and sometimes were occupied in making extended journeys. She had visited the Adirondack Wilderness, all the Great Lakes, many of the then western States, Canada and the St. Lawrence, and the summer of 1882 was entirely given to a trip abroad that included Great Britain and the chief cities, rivers, lakes and mountains of western Europe.

At the homestead farm in the late summer of 1883 August 7th she was married by the Rev. Dr. Walter Delafield to Hon. John Hudson Peck, LL.D., a practicing lawyer of Troy, New York. He has since continued his professional work without interruption, but has found time to administer acceptably many important trusts; notably, he was for upwards of twelve years President of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. This latter position afforded to his wife, in meeting and entertaining the students, congenial opportunity for the exercise of her experience and aptitudes.

Her most interested public efforts since her marriage have been associated with missionary and benevolent work. Her power of organization, industry and engaging enthusiasm had been trained to combine with them unusual accuracy and attention to detail. Responsible positions sought her. She has met their obligations with unvarying success and so administered them that she has won to herself the affectionate regard of a wide circle of efficient Christian people. She has been a member of St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Troy since 1866. In connection with this church she was identified with the Ministers' Aid and Parish Employment Society serving as Second Directress, Secretary and Treasurer. For seventeen years she was President of the Troy Auxiliary American McAll Association. She was a member of the State Aid Charity Board of Rensselaer County, New York, for a long time.

During twenty-seven years she has been a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and attended several of its annual meetings. Through the services of her great grandfather Giles Slocum as a soldier in the Revolutionary War, she has been admitted into the Philip Schuyler Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is an interested member of the Troy Chapter of the National Indian Association. For several years she was a Vice President of the Emma Willard Association. Mrs. Peck has contributed to the press some interesting papers on the school life at Troy Seminary and reminiscences of Mrs. Emma Willard.

Indeed, although this brief notice pictures her rather as a person of affairs engaged in absorbing activities, her strength has been in considerate gentleness, and her heart and manner still have the winning freshness of youth, no where more manifest than in the home, where she presides.

Her husband, Hon. John Hudson Peck, LL.D., of Troy, New York, counsellor-at-law was born at the city of Hudson, New York, on the 7 February, 1838. He is the eldest son of the late Hon. Darius Peck (born 1802, died 1879) a prominent and influential citizen and thorough lawyer, who was for many years County Judge of Columbia County, New York. His mother was Harriet M. Hudson (born 1813, died 1863) youngest daughter of Horace Hudson and Sarah Robinson. Mr. Peck is descended on his father's side from the early Puritan settlers of New England. William Peck, his earliest progenitor in America, emigrated to this country with his wife and son Jeremiah in the ship Hector with the company of Governor Eaton and the Rev. John Davenport, and he was one of the founders, of the colony of New Haven in 1638. John Hudson Peck's natal year, therefore, marked the completion of two full centuries since his earliest American ancestor came to this country.

Mr. Peck was prepared for college under the able instruction of Mr. Isaac F. Bragg and the Rev. Elbridge Bradbury at the Hudson Classical Institute. He was graduated from Hamilton College at Clinton, New York, of which seat of learning his father was likewise an alumnus, with class of 1859. He was member of the Chi Psi fraternity, and, on graduation was elected into the Phi Beta Kappa. He chose the law for his profession and studied at Troy, New York under the direction of the Hon. Cornelius Tracy and the Hon. Jeremiah Romeyn, and he was admitted to the bar at Albany in December 1861. Very soon afterwards he entered into a law partnership with Mr. Romeyn, which continued until April 1867. At that time he, with his former instructor, Mr. Tracy, formed the very successful law firm of Tracy and Peck, which was only terminated by the final illness of the senior member. Mr. Peck has been intrusted with the legal business of the Troy and Boston Railroad Company, the Troy Union Railroad Company, the Troy Savings Bank and with other business and financial corporations. He has also been legal adviser in the administration of many private trusts and large estates. By his fellow citizens and professional colleagues he is regarded as an able, successful lawyer, thorough in application, assiduous in caring for the interests of his clients and entirely honorable in his methods.

Outside of his profession Mr. Peck has identified himself with educational interests. He became a trustee of the Troy Female Seminary in 1883. In May 1888 he was elected President of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, the pioneer school of civil engineering as well as the most celebrated in this country. On account of increased demands upon his time in his profession, he retired from the presidency of the Institute in 1901.

In public affairs Mr. Peck has manifested an enterprising spirit. On all the views that divide men into parties his interest is large and his appreciation keen. Throughout his life he has been a convinced and consistent Democrat of the old school. He was elected a member from Rensselaer County of the Constitutional Convention of the State of New York of 1894. He served on two important committees on The Legislature and Education. He has taken an active part in the erection of many of the finest buildings in Troy. He was chairman of the commission that erected the new granite Court house for the County of Rensselaer, one of four Trustees appointed by Mrs. Howard Hart to erect a marble fire-proof building for the Troy Public Library as a memorial to her husband. He also served on committees for the erection of the Alumni Building of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Ganley Memorial Hall, Russell Sage Hall, and Anna M. Plum Memorial of the Troy Female Seminary (Emma Willard School).

Mr. Peck is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, through the services of John Peck, of the third generation in the French and Indian War. He is also a son of the Revolution through the participation of the same ancestor as a soldier in the Revolutionary War and also his great grandfather Israel Farris. He is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Troy, and a Trustee of the Diocese of Albany. He is a Trustee and Charter member of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society and also a member of the National Arts Club of New York City and the New York State Bar Association. In the City of Troy he is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Troy Club. He has written voluminously for the newspaper press and has delivered many addresses. His manner of composition is clear, conservative, instructive and logical. Moreover his writings are characterized by dignity and stamped by culture. He was orator of the Society of the Alumni of Hamilton College at the Commencement in 1889. His discourse was spoken of by the Utica Herald as one of the ablest and most carefully prepared ever delivered before the association, characterized by scholarly thought and fine rhetoric. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him on this occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Peck have no children.

ELIZA POWELL MANN, third daughter of Nathaniel and Sally Frances Slocum Mann, was born at Milton Hill Farm October 11, 1845. Her primary education was had at the Public School on Milton Hill, and, in those early days, she gave evidence of the sturdy, steady strength of character, which has marked her life. Her education was completed at the Sans Souci Seminary, conducted by the Rev. Dean Smith at the neighboring Village of Ballston Spa. After three years of conscientious work she was graduated June 1866. While a young woman she became a member of Christ Episcopal Church, Ballston Spa. Her residence continued with the family on the farm for several years.

She taught at her early school during the summers of 1872, '73 and '74. Later she spent a year and a half at the Mt. Carroll Seminary, Mt. Carroll, Illinois, founded and conducted by her mother's cousin, Mrs. Frances Wood Shimer. She availed herself of the opportunities there afforded to perfect her knowledge of modern methods in teaching and school administration. In September, 1883 she became a member of the faculty of the Troy Female Seminary, from which her mother had been graduated nearly half a century before.

At the end of four years, in response to an urgent call from home, she returned to Milton, where she has since resided. Her father survived his wife thirty-three years, and his daughters Anna and Eliza conducted his household until his decease in 1900. Eliza's natural tastes and aptitudes led her to assume those out-door duties of a farmer's house which are directed by his family. She took supervision of the poultry. She became an enthusiastic gardener. Vegetables and small fruits were perfected under her care, and she kept herself well informed of the condition and prospects of the great orchard. She was led to observe the more general operations of farming and dairying. Gradually she became conversant with the work of different seasons of the year and the rotations and methods by which the best results were obtained. She was a good listener when farming topics were discussed, and annually visited the Saratoga County Fair, serving occasionally as a judge in the domestic department. One year she received an appointment as judge in the New York State Fair in one of the domestic departments and accepted it. She also gained much information from the papers read and discussed at the meetings of the Farmer's Institute which she attended with her father for a series of years.

Unconsciously and very gradually she acquired a knowledge of agricultural pursuits that for a woman was very unusual; and, although without practical experience, she had a vast amount of practical information. On the decease of her brother Jeremiah Slocum Mann, who had worked the farm after his father's death in 1900, she with her sister Anna became the only members of the family residing on the place. To the surprise of everybody, and of no one more than herself, somehow, somewhere, business qualifications had matured. She at once in April, 1906, took efficient direction of the affairs of a large farm; and family, friends, neighbors and workmen recognized hers as the controlling judgment. It is so congenial that, while the nature of her happiness has of necessity changed, she has accepted the larger sphere with a sense of more abounding pleasure. Her grasp of routine and general operations is made effective by remarkable attention to detail. Her studious and steady efforts combined with natural caution and foresight are producing substantial and well assured results, dignifying the power and emergency made manifest.

JEREMIAH SLOCUM MANN, only son of Nathaniel and Sally Frances (Slocum) Mann, was born on Milton Hill Farm, October 24, 1847, and died there in his fifty-ninth year 31 March, 1906. His early school days were spent while he still lived at home at the school of which his father was Trustee, and over which for a long series of years, he had given most intelligent supervision. Jeremiah was yet quite young when he was sent to a select school at Ballston Spa, the nearest village, conducted by Rev. James Gilmour. In this school he enjoyed the instruction of a noted teacher Neil Gilmour brother of the Principal and afterwards Superintendent of Public Instruction in the State of New York. Later he was placed in another school in the same village under the charge of Charles D. Seely.

He acquired in his youth a very great fondness for reading, which, as years passed, constantly increased. His power of concentration of mind upon the contents of a book with which he was engaged was unusual. He had a habit of sight reading which seemed to include at a glance a large fraction of a page and had withal a memory of marvelous tenacity. Reading was his favorite and almost his only recreation. The long winters of his northern home afforded him ample leisure for gratifying his tastes. As a result, he rapidly became well informed on a great variety of subjects; and, before his death, his mind was a store house of accurate and clearly apprehended facts. Few subjects could be broached in his presence in any company of which he was not well informed. Literature, history, mechanics and applied science were favorite fields of study. He was, nevertheless, apparently unconscious that this facility and accuracy were in any way remarkable. If nothing occurred to call forth his powers in company, he never obtruded them. His conversation was never pedantic, but always informing. After he left school, he resided for more than six years in the City of New York, and all his business hours were engaged in acquiring mercantile methods and experience. The same exactness of recollection of the business New Yorker of those days was ever after as vivid as of his reading, and one might think, after a casual conversation that he was only an acute observer of city sights and men; that he was a man of anecdote instead of broad and almost limitless information. The two phases of mind are nearly allied and yet are seldom found in the same person. Fond of social intercourse, he was a most companionable man and, after his return to the farm, a general favorite throughout a large section of his county. He was recognized in the community as a just, dutiful diligent man of high ideals, broad intelligence and unusual capacity. With a singular freedom from personal aggressiveness, he won his way to a position of influence by quiet and sympathetic helpfulness. Masculine in every impulse, he was peculiarly sensitive to the trials and sorrows of others. The thought of suffering whether of man or beast distressed him, but he stood ready with great resources to aid those whose pain he partly shared. He was public spirited and, without rancor or bitterness, took a brave and patriotic part in political contests. From the time of his father's death in 1900 he was an official of the Agricultural Society of his county, and he grudged neither work nor any effort in its behalf. He loved the land and was devoted to country life. He was fond of animals, and they loved him. He revelled in rural landscape and knew every fine view within a day's journey from his home.

Responding, not very reluctantly, to a call to stand by his father's side during his declining years, he returned to the farm in the spring of 1872 influenced doubtless in some degree by his prevailing love of rural life. Year by year gathered experience taught him that he had made a pecuniary sacrifice but those who knew him best always doubted whether at heart he regretted the step. To his latest day he was enthusiastic in his expressions of the dignity and wholesomeness of life on the land. From the death of his father in August, 1900, he became the fourth in successive generations during more than a hundred years to work the Milton Hill Farm; and death found him there. He is buried in the Milton Hill Cemetery.

At Milton Center, Saratoga County, New York, 5 June, 1877, he was married to Dorcas Ella Riggs, born 31 December, 1850, daughter of George Belden Riggs and Mary Antoinette Conklin. They were married by Rev. Dr. Walter Delafield, rector of Christ Church, Ballston Spa. Mrs. Mann with her two sons, survive, viz:*

MARY WILLARD MANN, youthful in years, was far more than a child in personality. She was born at Milton Hill Farm, 10 September, 1854, youngest child of Nathaniel and Sally Frances (Slocum) Mann and died there in her thirteenth year, 2 December, 1866. During her infancy, her mother was not in good health; and, when one year of age the care of Mary Willard was committed to her eldest sister Anna. Thus was developed between them an absorbing love, which combined maternal, filial and sisterly qualities. In early youth, following in the footsteps of her sisters and brother, she attended the neighboring school. She was an apt pupil, was very diligent and at once gave evidence of marked ability. At the time of her early death, she ranked as a pupil with those two years her senior. She presented herself for membership by baptism in the Episcopal Church at Ballston Spa several years before her death.

She was always an engaging child and at once interested every one who met her. A child among children, she attracted them and joined playfully in their sports. Those of mature years also found her companionable, and she could successfully entertain them. The animals of the farm, the largest as much or more than the least of them were her friends; and, among her most delightful hours were those she spent where they were. Her fondness for spirited horses and her fearlessness and skill in handling them early excited the pride and admiration of her father. He was a noted horseman and owned fine horses, and he would at any time during several years before her death trust this child alone with the best of them. She was allowed to drive young horses for miles without company on public roads where he would have permitted few men to take them. At such times she had no trouble, and always received an obedience that was incredible to one who had not observed it. She became a frequent companion of her father on his long drives as well as when he was occupied about the farm buildings or working in his farm shop. But it was her brother Jeremiah, seven years her senior who was her comrade. The relation between them was a partnership in devotion.

Harrison of Branford, Ct., who represented the town in Colonial Legislature for thirteen years. He was eighth generation from Thomas Nash, an early settler of New Haven. He was sixth generation from James Tallmadge of New Haven, one of the original projectors of the Grammar School, Captain of Cavalry and a member of the Connecticut Legislature for twenty years.

They were each other's servants, heroes and defenders with a mutual unquestioning faith. The greatest grief of her short life was when he left the farm to take up mercantile pursuits in New York City. As his vacations approached each day was counted. Her traits so described may some of them seem boyish to a stranger but they were all included in a nature that was preeminently domestic and feminine. There was nothing assertive, aggressive or arrogant in her character. Her power on the farm was the power of gentleness, that no man could yield. Her courage was fearlessness and her own trustfulness bred confidence. These same qualities made her a womanly confidante and counsellor in the household and she was efficient too at much of its work. She could relieve on occasions her mother or any of her sisters detained from their own duties. This capable, conscientious, unselfish, versatile child was always contented and happy. Her considerate sunny nature, mellowing the elements of her forcefulness, easily won for her ardent love and admiration in the home. With rare assurance, one may call her, this little girl, the just pride of every member of a large household.

While this joy of living was at its height, the central life suddenly failed. Mary Willard passed away. During her last summer and early autumn, she had been accustomed to take her mother, who was already in failing health, on frequent drives about the country. It was her death that made the separation, but it was not for long. Her mother followed her in a few weeks, and the old homestead was doubly desolate. They were both laid in the Cemetery at Milton Hill, where the family dead during more than a hundred years lie buried.

NATHANIEL MANN, Jr., elder son of Jeremiah Slocum Mann and Dorcas Ella Riggs, was born at Milton Hill Farm, March 28, 1878 and was of the fifth generation of the family to reside there. His grandfather, Nathaniel Mann was yet living, thus three generations were making their home on the farm. This was the second time that a grandfather, a son and a grandson of this family had dwelt at Milton Hill Farm. During childhood Nathaniel attended the same school near home where his father and mother had obtained their early education. He later went to the Ballston High School where he was graduated in June 1896. In September of the same year, he entered the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, New York, where his education was completed. He had already become a member of the Episcopal church and shortly after entering the Institute, he joined the Delta Phi College Fraternity.

He began his professional work as civil engineer with the Chicago, North-Western Railway Company. He continued in that employment in the middle west for three years, engaged in railway construction and improvement in many States, including Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska. He thus gained much valuable experience and laid a foundation of practical facility in the field. His next work, in which he is yet engaged, is with the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. His duties have again been in the line of construction and his success has been evidenced by a considerable promotion. He resided at Newark, New Jersey, during the early part of his employment with this company, but his home now (1906) is at East Orange, New Jersey, 34 Linwood Place.

CONKLIN MANN, second son of Jeremiah Slocum Mann and Dorcas Ella (Riggs) Mann was born at Milton Hill Farm December 20, 1884. His education was begun at the neighboring school. Before he was thirteen years old he entered the Ballston High School where he was graduated in June, 1901. He took an active part in Athletics while attending this school. Later he became a student at Hamilton College, Clinton, New York; and he was graduated there in June, 1906. He was prominent in Athletics during his college course and was full back on the football team and the low hurdler of the track team. Before entering college he joined the Episcopal Church at Ballston Spa. At Hamilton College he became a member of the Chi Psi Fraternity.

He was married at Syracuse, New York, May 9, 1906, to Maud Artemesia Thomson of Utica, New York, daughter of Charles I. Thomson and Anna Reed of Utica. Mrs. Conklin Mann was born at Holland Patent, New York, 24 June, 1885.

Soon after his graduation Conklin entered on July 1, 1906, the employment of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. He has recently been promoted to the position of Evening Manager for the Telephone Company in the Oranges. He resides at 34 Linwood Place, East Orange, New Jersey.

JAMES SCOVEL⁹ SLOCUM (Laton,⁸ William,⁷ Jonathan,⁶ Joseph,⁵ Giles,⁴ Samuel,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) born 12 July, 1827, on a farm in Exeter Township, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. His mother, Gratie (Scovel) Slocum, died 5 September, 1829, and his father died 16 January, 1833. On account of this early bereavement, he lived many years with his uncle, Charles Fuller, who lived near the line of Exeter and Kingston Township until 1854, then moved into Scranton, the site of which was early known as Slocum Hollow from its early owner and developer, Ebenezer Slocum (241) granduncle of James. Here the subject of this sketch became prominent in business and political circles. His business prospered, and he acquired a rounded competence. He went with one of the emergency companies against the Southern Rebellion, beside engaging two substitutes. He was nominated as State Senator on the Republican ticket before Luzerne County was divided, and the majority was against him. He was one of the founders of the Lackawanna Hospital at Scranton, and much credit was given him for his efforts in securing financial aid for it at a critical period in its history. In 1869 he was appointed Postmaster of Scranton by President Grant, and was re-appointed to a second term. After having served in this office five years he resigned and returned to his father's homestead in Exeter, to reside with his brother, William Slocum (605). Here he was active in securing the incorporation of Exeter Borough from a portion of old Exeter Township. He was chosen the first Burgess of the Borough, also there served several years as Justice of the Peace, and School Director. He was a man of marked individuality. While 'eccentric' was the most common expression regarding him, the few considerate persons admitted to his confidence spoke of him as a cyclopedia of information and a genial conversationalist. The local, and some distant, politicians consulted him as an authority on controverted questions. In religion he deferred to the belief of his fathers—members of the Society of Friends. He built numerous tenement houses near his home, which are known as 'Slocums Settlement.' He also built here a handsome chapel at a cost of $7,000 or more. This was placed under control of the Presbyterian Church of West Pittston, of which his brother was at that time an official, with the understanding that the building might be used for Christian worship by members of other denominations. He remained unmarried.

He met instant and horrible death 19 April, 1897, by being run over at 7.45 in the evening by a backing locomotive and several loaded coal cars on the track through the rock cut near his home of the West Pittston branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Being quite deaf, he did not hear the approaching train. He was buried in Hollenback Cemetery with Masonic rites.

He was prepared for college in the Public Schools of this city, and entered the Department of Literature, Science and the Arts, University of Michigan, in 1881. He here became a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. His course of study was interrupted at the close of his third year in college; and he returned home to take up the business (real estate) in which his father was engaged at the time of his death 29 January, 1864. He resides with his mother, unmarried, 1906.

DR. JOHN RILEY, born 30 September, 1818, in New York City, was the son of George Riley, a soldier in the War of 1812, and his wife, Elizabeth Rhodes. The father died in 1824, soon after which bereavement John went to that part of Montgomery County, N. Y., which was organized a few years later as Fulton County. Here he worked on a farm summers and attended the Public Schools several winters, then taught school several terms. He took up the study of medicine, then attended the Castleton Medical College, Vermont, and was there graduated M. D. in 1843. Opening office soon thereafter in Edinburg, Saratoga Co., N. Y., his practice extended into Fulton County. Here, near Northville, 28 September, 1843, he married Abigail Elizabeth⁹ Slocum (Caleb W.,⁸ 481, Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) who was born 17 July, 1822. She died 17 December, 1843. He married second 24 December, 1844, Abigail Burnett, born 17 December, 1825, cousin of his first wife, daughter of Isaac Burnet and wife, Azubah⁸ Slocum (Joseph,⁷ etc., as above). They moved to Illinois in 1846, stopping in Knox County, and in 1849 moved into Henry County, near Andover. He met with good success in his profession, but inducements led him to Spring Hill, Whiteside County, Illinois, and he moved thither in 1853, as a pioneer settler and physician, and by his medical knowledge and skill in its practice, he won the confidence and esteem of the community. His practice became extensive and lucrative. He purchased land and built a good homestead. Later he engaged in mercantile business and was also successful in its conduct. He and his good wife lived to advanced ages, he dying at Spring Hill 17 June, 1903, she 12 January, 1907. Their bodies rest in Sharon Cemetery. She was member of the Methodist Episcopal Church sixty-five years. Possessing a remarkably good mind she continued interested in the progress of events to the end of her long life. WILLIAM RILEY (John, George, etc.) was born 25 December, 1853, in Portland, Illinois. He early inclined to the study of law. Was admitted to the Bar, and established himself in the practice at Reinbeck, Grundy County, Iowa, previous to 1881. He died in this place 19 March, 1888, of pneumonia, after a brief illness. He was the leading attorney there; at the same time served as Principal of the Public Schools, President of the School Board, and City Clerk. "He left his impress on the students as few men do, revealing to them their own latent and undeveloped powers. His mental energy far exceeded his physical ability." He married Elosia Ellen Sheets, daughter of George W. and Debora (Maholm) Sheets. She was born 14 September, 1858, and died 10 February, 1901. Children:

- i. MERLIN RILEY, b. 24 June, 1884; d. 21 Nov., 1887, Reinbeck.
- ii. WILLIFRED RILEY, b. 1 Nov., 1888, Belle Plaine, Iowa. She is now (1906) attending school in Madison, Wisconsin, and is a very promising student.

DR. BRUCE RILEY, son of Dr. John Riley and wife Abigail Burnet, daughter of Azubah^s Slocum, as above, was born 28 April, 1859. He inclined to study and mastered the courses in the Public Schools. He fitted himself for teaching school, and followed this avocation in Illinois and Nebraska. He began the study of medicine, entered this Department of the University of Iowa, and was there graduated M. D. in the Class of 1887. He then entered upon the successful practice of this profession in Wisner, Nebraska. After two years failing health necessitated a change, and he traveled through the mountains of Idaho and Washington; and in 1891 settled in Goldfield, Wright County, Iowa, where he established a thriving business in shoes and groceries. Dr. Riley is a man of intellectual capacity above the average, calm of judgment and keen of insight in business affairs. He loves to read and, being a man of sterling Christian character, the Bible receives a good share of his attention. Like his father, he is a staunch prohibitionist, not only of strong drinks but of tobacco as well. He was married 30 September, 1896, to Amy B. Draper, born 11 January, 1872, in Fremont Township, Buchanan County, Iowa, daughter of C——— C——— and Elizabeth (Pren-tiss) Draper. She was graduated at the Iowa State Normal School in 1896; is an accomplished writer, and contributed materially to the reports of the Riley family. They have no children.

HENRY CLAY RILEY (Dr. John Riley and Abigail Burnet, daughter of Azubah⁸ Slocum Burnet) was born 21 June, 1861, at Spring Hill, Illinois. Like the other members of the family, he inclined to education and, after preparation, past some years in teaching in Illinois and Nebraska. He was married 8 April, 1886, to Matilda Mary Peterson, born 12 July, 1865, at Clearwater, Antelope County, Nebraska. She is eldest daughter of Laurence and Hedwig Peterson; was born in New York soon after their arrival from Germany.

Henry returned to the parental home farm at Spring Hill, Illinois, and remained with his parents in their declining years. He, like his brothers, is a man of sterling characteristics, and unyielding principles; is a member of the Evangelical Church, a thorough prohibitionist of the great evils of the times, and is rearing an excellent family of children, viz.:

- i. DORA ETHEL RILEY, b. 23 Feb., 1887, Clearwater, Nebr. Was teaching school in Whiteside Co., Ill., in 1907.
- ii. MABEL RILEY, born 5 December, 1889. Was teaching in Henry Co., Ill., in 1907.

DR. LINCOLN RILEY (son of Dr. John Riley and wife Abigail Burnet, daughter of Isaac Burnet and wife Azubah⁸ Slocum, Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹ was born at Spring Hill, Whiteside County, Illinois, the seventh brother and youngest of this noteworthy family. Inspired by the success of his brothers in addition to that of his father, he applied himself to his studies with commendable spirit. He chose the practice of medicine as his life work, and in due time entered the Medical Department of the University of Iowa, where he was graduated M. D. in the

Ch. Mrs. Davenport

W. H. Davenport

Class of 1888, having previously married, 26 August, 1886, Martina Guthrie who was born 9 May, 1870. In October, 1888, he entered into partnership with his brother, Dr. Bruce Riley, at Wisner, Nebraska, succeeded him when he retired the next year, and has since continued to occupy this field of work. He is an enthusiastic student of the science and art of medicine and surgery, and possesses the faculty of readily applying his knowledge to the relief of his patients, literally enjoying a large practice. Like all well-informed physicians, he has been a student in history and the natural sciences and an observer as well. He has served Cuming County four years as Coroner, and the Village of Wisner several years as member of the Board of Education, being at present (1906) its moderator. Their children are as follows, viz.:

- i. CHARLES LEWIS RILEY, born 21 May, 1888. He was graduated at the Wisner High School in May, 1906.

AZUBAH MINERVA⁹ BURNETT (Isaac Burnett and Azubah⁸ Slocum, Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 14 September, 1829, near the present Village of Northville, Fulton County, New York. She was there married 20 May, 1852, to Rev. William Whitney Davenport, born 3 June, 1820, in the adjoining Township of Edinburg, Saratoga County. She inherited from her mother, a saintly woman, good qualities of mind and heart. She made the best use of her educational advantages in the Public Schools, and attended the State Normal School at Albany. She also had experience as a teacher, all of which, with her good judgment, made her a valuable helpmate.

Mr. Davenport, like this wife, was of sterling English blood, son of Thomas and his wife, Miss Higley, who moved from Colerain, Massachusetts, or Vermont, and were pioneer settlers near the Fulton-Saratoga line. His New England lineage is not before the writer. William W. first married Abigail Noyes, and moved to Tracy Creek, Broome County, New York. To them were born six children, only two of whom survived infancy, viz.: Delos Thomas Davenport, now, 1907, of Los Angeles, California, and Sophronia Eliza Moulton, of Union, Broome Co., N. Y. William was a typical American Pioneer; ready and resourceful to clear the land and cultivate it, he could also readily adapt his large fund of ingenuity to the building of a house, to the repairing of harness for his horses, or the shoes for his family; could mend, or even make any farm implement, run a sawing mill, graft fruit trees, extract teeth for his neighbors, and so on through and for all of the varied pioneer wants and lack of supplies, or money for their purchase. As was then often the case, he became possessed of a copy of Materia Medica and Family Physician, and the numbered compounds of herbs, prepared by Samuel Thomson, the originator of the 'Thomsonian System of Medicine,' which was some years later succeeded by 'Electicisim.' His active spirit could not rest here. He became a Pillar of 'The Reformed Methodist Church.' He would preach and continue his manual labor during the week. He was for some time a Visiting Elder, an office similar to that of Presiding Elder in the M. E. Church at present. He was once, or more, Chairman of the Annual Conference of The Reformed Methodist Church, and leader in the Ordaining of new ministers.

In all of the labor necessary for the sustenance of themselves and children during these years, and in the labor of service for the spiritual betterment of their neighbors near and far, he found ready and material help in his wife, Azubah. She was the principal factor in the rearing and education of their children, and she yet (1907) survives at Union, New York, to bless them with her presence and counsels. They passed the winter of 1891 in Paris, France, with their son, Dr. Isaac B. Davenport.

William W. Davenport died at Union, 20 March, 1899, of general decline consequent upon years of hard labor and age. Their children are:

- 482C1. i. ISAAC B. DAVENPORT, m. Josephine V. Coutin.
 ii. IDALETTE AZUBAH DAVENPORT, b. Sept., 1856; m. James E. Davis. They reside at Sidney, N. Y., where he is a hardware merchant. No children.
 iii. ELLA DAVENPORT, b. 7 July, 1859; d. 22 Dec., 1859.
 iv. LEVI CALEB DAVENPORT, b. 12 June, 1862; m. 23 Feb., 1887, Eunice B. Johnson. They reside in Binghamton, N. Y., where he is a coal merchant. Children: 1. Alene, b. 29 Oct., 1894. 2. Clyde Arthur, b. 18 April, 1898.
 v. NANCY HELEN DAVENPORT, b. 17 April, 1865; m. 23 Oct., 1884, Jasper H. Castleman. They reside with her mother at Union, N. Y., but 1906 she is visiting her brothers in Europe. A child, Letha Davenport, was b. 18 Dec., 1892.

- vi. WILLIAM SLOCUM DAVENPORT, b. 5 Apr., 1868. He took up the study of dentistry, and was graduated D. D. S. at The University of Pennsylvania, in class of 1890; is practicing this profession with his brother, Dr. Isaac B., in Paris. He mar. 10 Jan., 1895, Noneta Saunders, in London, Eng. Children: 1. William Slocum, b. 6 Dec., 1897. 2. Norma Saunders, b. 9 Feb., 1901.
- vii. KIRK ADDISON DAVENPORT, b. 18 Nov., 1869. He, also, studied dentistry; was graduated D. D. S. at the University of Pennsylvania, Class of 1890; and in 1891 received the degree of Master of Dental Surgery (M. D. S.) from The New York State Dental Society. He visited Europe and returned to Harvard Univ. (where he had previously past a year) and there received the degree of D. M. D. He was mar. 15 Aug., 1900, to Lou Belle Mercereau, of Union, N. Y., dau. of Cornelius Mercereau. He is 1907 practicing his profession in London, Eng. Has recently been elected President of the American Dental Society of Europe. Children: 1. Kenneth Mercereau, b. 4 June, 1901. 2. Dorothy Lou, b. 9 May, 1905; both in London.

DR. ISAAC BURNETT¹⁰ DAVENPORT (son of William W. Davenport and wife Azubah M. Burnett, daughter of Isaac Burnett and wife Azubah⁸ Slocum, Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 12 May, 1854, at Tracy Creek, Vestal Township, Broome County, New York, and was reared on the farm where born. The short terms of Public School were valuably supplemented by his mother's experience and aid. He also attended the Normal Class in the Binghamton, New York, High School, which enabled him to obtain license to teach; and he taught one term of four months when nineteen years of age. This was a great event in his life, including the twenty-five dollars a month pay. It was in a country district, a very severe winter, with much snow even to four feet in depth—and he 'boarded around,' spending a week or two with each family according to the number of children sent, not shunning the untidy.

The following autumn, 1874, he entered the dental office of Dr. A. F. Davenport, his father's cousin, at North Adams, Massachusetts. At the same time he began courses of reading under the direction of physicians George Lawrence, of North Adams, and Samuel Duncan of Williamstown. Feeling the need of a knowledge of Latin, he made arrangements with Frank Sprague, then a pupil in the High School, for an exchange of services, he to attend to Sprague's teeth and receive as payment Sprague's tutorage in Latin. This kind of management in young people indicates a spirit of commendable thrift, and later success. This Frank Sprague has become a great Patron of Industry; the Inventor of the Sprague Traction System, and builder of the first electric trolley railway, etc. Continuing his dental studies, our subject past the examination of the Board of Censors of The Dental Society of the State of New York in 1887, and received the degree of Master of Dental Surgery (M. D. S.).

Also continuing his studies in medicine at The College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, Columbia University, he was there graduated Medical Doctor (M. D.), Class of 1879. This summer was past in the hospitals and dispensaries of New York as assistant, and he began to specialize on the eye and ear to make such practice his life work. But here necessity became the mentor, and changed his course along the lines of easier, and probably surer and greater success. His funds were exhausted and he 'was forced' to give up New York; and decision to return to dentistry was made.

He returned to Williamstown, Mass., where as a student he had done some work and was somewhat acquainted; and here his success began. His acquaintance extended; he became Member of the Medical Society of Northern Berkshire; of The American Dental Association; of The Connecticut Valley Dental Society, and soon one of its officers. He read papers before these societies, including a paper in 1881 before The American Dental Association on A Study of the Etiology of Chemical Abrasion of the Cutting Edges of the Front Teeth.

Some extensive dental work done for a summer visitor to Williamstown from New York, attracted the favorable attention of a New York dentist, and it resulted in Dr. Davenport going to Paris in 1883. Here he has built up one of the largest dental practices of Europe. It has also enabled him to render most efficient aid in establishing his brothers, Doctors William S. and Kirk A. Davenport, in the dental profession in Paris and London. He was in partnership with Drs. Bogue, Moffatt, Cook, and Daboll, the first few years of his practice in Paris, but has been in independent office since 1887, at the prominent 30 Avenue de l'Opera.

Doctor Davenport's contributions to dental science have been material. The most important of the many papers presented to the profession by reading before societies, and publication, are 'The Significance of the Natural Form and Arrangement of Dental Arches of Man,' in 1887; and in 1892 a continuation of this subject at the Heidelberg meeting of The American Dental Society of Europe. These papers had an important influence in discontinuing the pernicious practice of filing and extracting of teeth, particularly against extraction of the first permanent molars. Their influence was also prominent in establishing all dental operations upon a scientific basis; even to the originating of orthodontia.

Doctor Davenport has been honored by societies of his profession: Is Honorary Member of The Odontological Society of New York; Associate Member of The Institute of Stomatology of New York; Associate Fellow of The American Academy of Dental Science, of Boston; Member of The National Dental Association of The U. S. A.; Member of the Société de Stomatologie de Paris (composed of medical men); Member of The American Dental Society of Europe. He has held official positions in this society, but declined the presidency after his election; Member de Société Française pour l'Avancement des Sciences; once a Member of the Committee (of three) for France, of the Foreign Relations Committee of the National Association of Dental Faculties, which position he resigned; Member of the Congress of Organization of several International Dental Congresses; was chairman of Section of Pathology and Bacteriology of the Third International Dental Congress held in Paris, 1900; Member of the Committee of Organization of the first Congrès Français de Stomatologie held in Paris in August, 1907. In 1898 he received from the reigning Prince Luitpold of Bavaria the decoration of Chevalier le l'Ordre Royal de St. Michel de Bavière, for services rendered the Royal Family of Bavaria, especially after the fatal fire in Paris of the Bazar de la Charité. For identification of many of the burned victims, it was necessary for Dr. Davenport to examine the teeth of nearly forty; and, after rejecting a body already accepted by the family upon supposed evidence, he was finally enabled to identify from his work on the teeth a head and trunk with only one arm attached, as the remains of the Duchesse d'Alençon, daughter of the King of Bavaria, sister of the late Empress of Austria, sister of the Queen of Naples, etc. By aid of his Record Charts of all his operations, he was enabled to establish the identity beyond all question, first to the official medical experts, second police experts, third to the full satisfaction of the family of the victim. Other mistaken identifications were thus corrected. Many questions in jurisprudence are involved in such cases, and the identification must be beyond question. Amoëda's noted Traité de l'Art Dentaire in Médecine Légale is a result of the general deep impression of the importance and accuracy of the methods employed in these cases. March 1, 1907, Dr. Davenport received from the French authorities a decoration as Officier de l'Académie Française, which shows in his portrait given herewith.

Doctor Isaac Burnett Davenport married in Paris 4 December, 1884, Josephine Victorine Coutin, who was born 8 June, 1854, at St. Jorioz, Haute-Savoie, France, daughter of Michel and Louise (Chapet) Coutin. When a young lady she past two years in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in the family of her sister, the wife of Joshua Bailey, an American, and personal friend of Horace Greeley, William Lloyd Garrison, and like notables. Later she accompanied them to the United States; and attended school at the Convent of the Sacred Heart Ermost, Providence, Rhode Island. This marriage has been blest with children, viz.:

- i. NELLIE BURNETT DAVENPORT, born 30 August, 1885, at Bois de Colombe, near Paris, France.
- ii. MINNIE MAY DAVENPORT, b. 5 May, 1887, Neuilly, Paris.
- iii. RALPH SLOCUM DAVENPORT, born 12 April, 1891, at 30 Avenue de l'Opera, Paris.
- iv. FRED LINCOLN DAVENPORT, born 24 January, 1894, at Le Vésinet, Seine et Oise, France; died 16 January, 1908. His remains were deposited in the Vault of The American Church, Rue de Berri, No. 21 in which Church the funeral was held.

The daughters are graduates of the Lycée Racine, Paris, and possess decided literary tastes. Nellie's poetry has already attracted very favorable attention, even from so great a poetess as the Comtesse de Noailles. Ralph is 1907 at school in the Lycée Condorcet, Paris. It is in the minds of the family that, after he obtains the baccalaureate, he be sent to the United States for a dental education, with the hope of his becoming his father's successor in this profession. The Doctor retains for himself and children American citizenship.

Doctor Davenport's 'hobbies' he writes, are bacteriology and histology. He has followed complete courses of the former in both the Ecole de Médecine, and the Institut Pasteur, Paris, under Metchnikoff and Roux, and private courses in the latter. Other 'hobbies' are amateur photography including photo-micrography; gardening; and automobiling, in all of which his family can participate. His time, however, is mostly passed in hard work and, when opportunity presents, at his beautiful country home embracing one and a half acres at Le Vésinet, twelve miles from Paris, which he has named le Bercaïl (The Sheepfold).

NANCY MATILDA SNOW (daughter of Samuel Snow and wife Azubah⁸ Slocum, daughter of Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 2 July, 1839, near Batchellerville, Saratoga County, New York, and was reared there on a farm. She completed the courses taught in the Public Schools, studied in the New York State Normal School, Albany, and taught Public School several terms in her native county. She was married 30 January, 1867, by Rev. George C. Simmons, M. E., to Philo Lyon Colson, born 8 July, 1838, in Day Tp., Saratoga County, N. Y., son of Heman and Hanna (Vandenburg) Colson. They settled on a farm in his native township, with Postoffice West Day; and here she died 7 December, 1903, after many years of suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, being unable to attend to her household for five years before her demise. Hers was a noble, womanly, Christian character, possessed of the modest, pervading, finer qualities of mind and heart of her saintly mother—qualities that inspired to a broader, deeper regard for mankind, and to the best of aspirations. They had children, viz.:

JULIA ELIZABETH⁹ SLOCUM (Humphrey,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 23 December, 1844, near the Village of Northville, Fulton County, New York. She was studious, ambitious and persisting, and early completed the course of study in the Public Schools. Obtaining license to teach, she followed this profession several years near her father's home.

Julia E. Plouffe Lewis

The 5 January, 1871, she married James P. Lewis, who was born in her native township (Northampton) 14 February, 1845, son of Hiram and Margaret (Doig) Lewis. Soon after their marriage they moved to the Village of Beaver Falls, Lewis County, New York, where they have since resided.

From his energy, good ideals and aspirations, Mr. Lewis made friends rapidly, and was soon elected to the office of Justice of the Peace, in which office he served several years. He soon became interested in the manufacture of wood pulp for paper, later carrying on the process to its completion to paper for various uses, including pressed plates. Improved machinery has been added from time to time until the product has materially improved, both in quantity and quality. He was largely interested in building the Lowville and Beaver Railroad, and he was chosen its President, which office he now holds (1906). He was also instrumental in the organization of the National Pulp Board Company, composed of fifty paper manufactures; and he was chosen First Vice-President, and Chairman of the Executive Committee for six years during the existence of the organization. His paper manufacturing interests have multiplied and now exist in The J. P. Lewis Co., Lewis and Slocum, 619, Lewis, Slocum and Le Fevre, and The Lewis Manufacturing Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are ardent Methodists. They were untiring in their efforts for the new building of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Beaver Falls. He has continued Superintendent of its Sunday School nearly thirty years. He was Delegate from the Northern New York Conference to the General Conference held in Chicago in the year 1900. For many years he has been a Trustee of Cazenovia Seminary. He has also been closely connected with the management of Thousand Island Park, St. Lawrence River; is its First Vice-President, and Chairman of the Executive Committee. Their summer home in this Park has been open to their friends, and it is charmingly presided over by his accomplished wife and daughter. They have had children, viz.:

- i. CAROLINE LEONORA LEWIS, born 3 Dec., 1871; d. 25 April, 1872.
- ii. GRACE EDNA LEWIS, born 20 May, 1877, at Beaver Falls, N. Y. She was educated in the Public Schools, and prepared for college at Cazenovia Seminary, Cazenovia, N. Y. Entering Wellesley College she was there graduated in June, 1902. She is living with her parents (1906) unmarried.
- iii. HARRY SLOCUM LEWIS, born 5 August, 1882. Was educated in the Public Schools, and by tutor. He is associated with his father in the manufacture of paper, and is also one of the firm The Beaver Manufacturing Co., Buffalo, N. Y. He was married 5 June, 1907, to Mary Pitcher, born 24 May, 1881, at Cedar Falls, Wisconsin, daughter of Franklin W. Pitcher and wife Mary F. Stevens, both born in Maine, but now residing in Easthampton, Mass.

HON. HUMPHREY ELIAS⁹ SLOCUM (Humphrey,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 11 February, 1849, near Northville, Fulton County, New York. Was educated in the Public Schools there, and in select school. In the year 1867 he went into the employ of his brother John N. Slocum, 619, as clerk in dry goods, Niagara Falls, N. Y. In this business he was admitted partner after a few years, with the firm name J. N. Slocum and Brother.

He was married at Niagara Falls 24 June, 1874, in St. Peter's Church, Episcopal, to Frances Marion, daughter of Jeremiah and Christiana Binkley.

With the desire to increase business, this dry goods firm moved to Geneva, Ontario Co., N. Y., in 1875. The business was here successful also; but, after consideration, the firm was dissolved in 1888, and Humphrey E. removed his family to Niagara Falls. Here he purchased a half interest in the dry goods business of the late Hon. Thomas V. Welsh. This business was conducted four years with the firm name H. E. Slocum and Company.

In 1892 Humphrey E. sold his interest to his partner, and retired from the dry goods trade. He moved to Beaver Falls, N. Y., where he yet (1907) resides, engaged in the manufacture of wood pulp paper board, under the firm name of The J. P. Lewis Company (Incorporated).

In politics he has been a Republican and interested in the success of the party. Although not an active politician he was nominated Assemblyman (lower House of the New York State Legislature) in his close district, and was elected in 1903 with 822 majority. For this term he was appointed on the Committees of Affairs of Villages, Public Lands and Forestry, and Agriculture. In 1905 he was re-elected by a largely increased majority, and was appointed on the Committees on Banks, Agriculture, Public Lands and Forestry. Mr.

Humphrey E. Stoumen

H. S. Brown.

J. H. Hoover

Slocum is a modest man, but he has taken good care of the interests of his district.

He is a Director of the Lewis County Agricultural Society, and a Trustee of the Beaver Falls Public Schools. Fraternally he is an A. F. and A. M., Lodge No. 134, Lowville, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Slocum are justly proud of their children, viz.:

483B1. i. JEREMIAH FREDERICK, born 25 March, 1876; m. Alice F. Young, 1904.

ii. HARRY SPENCER SLOCUM, born 13 March, 1878, in Geneva, N. Y. He was educated in the Public Schools there, at Niagara Falls, and Beaver Falls; also attended Cazenovia Seminary, and took special course in Architecture and Civil Engineering. He is (1906) employed as Civil Engineer by the Niagara Falls Power Company, and the Canadian Power Company, with residence at Niagara Falls, N. Y. In 1907 he is in the employ of the Consulting Engineers, Vielé, Cooper and Blackwell, at Oroville, California. Unmarried.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL WILLARD⁸ SLOCUM (Elias,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 8 April, 1820, on a farm near the present City of Ashland, Ohio. He was educated in the Public Schools and in Kenyon College; and he taught Public Schools several terms. He also early became prominent in local affairs, including politics, and so remained to the close of a long and busy life. He studied law in the same office with John Sherman, brother of the General, and was admitted to its practice at the same time, in the early 1840s. He soon attained, and retained a leading position in his profession. At the first call for troops against the Southern Rebellion he became active in recruiting for a number of organizations, and his labors in this direction were valuable to the State and Country. He was chosen officer of some of these recruits, but the Governor, and Commanders of Camps, desired to keep him at this work. Later, he insisted on going to the front, and he marched away with the 120th Regiment of Ohio Volunteer Infantry, as its Adjutant. He was commissioned Major 18 March, 1863, and Lieutenant-Colonel the 8th September; and he took command of the Regiment on account of the severe wounding of Colonel Spiegle in February, 1864. He was with General Banks in his Red River Expedition, when Colonel Spiegle was among the first killed, and the escape of the Regiment was bloody and narrow. He was brevetted Brigadier-General 13 March, 1865, 'for meritorious service in the field.' For more details of service see Volume I.

Early in the 1880s he became interested at O'Neill, Nebraska, and passed eight or ten years there; but as infirmities deepened, he returned to his home at Ashland. He here died 23 September, 1894, after a lingering illness. His funeral was very largely attended by old soldiers and by all classes.

His widow, Caroline Augusta Carr, died 7 December, 1901, aged over seventy-two years, at the home of her son, Morton, in Chicago, Illinois, where she was visiting. She was buried in Ashland, beside her husband, to whom she had been a veritable helpmate. She was possessed of many admirable native endowments, and was well cultured in the Ashland Academy, the Seminary at Canton, and The Putnam Academy, Zanesville. The family were Congregationalists.

Record of the children of General Willard Slocum, additional to that published in Volume I, is as follows:

- ii. RODNEY VERNON, b. 29 May, 1850. Had position with Caswel and Hazard, druggists, New York City; with the National Iron Works, of New Brunswick, N. J., at the Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia, and until the firm closed business, with the A. T. and Santa Fe Ry., as T. P. Agent. He was mar. 6 Oct., 1881, to Francis Finney, of Groton, N. Y., then soloist in the Scoville Avenue M. E. Church, Cleveland, an accomplished lady in art as well as music. In 1883 he resigned his position with the Railroad and went into cattle and real estate business at O'Neill, Nebraska. In 1893 he sold his cattle and land there and went into the pharmaceutical business in Chicago, where he 1907 resides. No children.
- iv. LIDA SWAN, b. 2 Apr., 1854. In 1889 she was a charter member of the 1st Congregational Church at Ashland, O., and took active part in its organization. She held various offices in the Women's work, including delegate to other congregations. She remained at her parents home, and was of great comfort to them as their shadows of life deepened. She was with her mother at the time of her death in Chicago. After this second great bereavement she took up residence in Chicago, and started the business of Ladies' Shopping Agent. She remains unmarried.
- v. WILLARD MCKENAN, b. 15 July, 1858. Educated in the Public Schools, Ashland, O. Was traveling salesman several years from Mansfield, O. In 1884 he went to O'Neill, Nebr., with his father. He there married 10 Nov., 1886, Elizabeth Crone, of that place. He had studied law with his father, and was here admitted to its practice in 1887. This year he was chosen Town Clerk and was re-elected in 1888. In the spring of 1892 he closed his successful business at O'Neill and engaged as traveling salesman from Chicago, Ill., where he has since resided. Children: 1. Charles Howard, b. 29 Sept., 1887. He won the Foster Diploma at the Lowell School, Chicago, for Scholarship, Attendance and Deportment; also The Chicago American's prize of free visit to the 2nd Inauguration of Pres. McKinley, on educational test. He became clerk in The First National Bank of Chicago, but was obliged 10 May, 1906, to resign the position on account of failing health.

WALTER LESLIE⁹ SLOCUM (Benjamin F.,⁸ Oliver W.,⁷ Jonah,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 15 November, 1861, at Manchester, near Erie, Pennsylvania. In 1862 or '63 his parents moved into Erie; and about 1870 they moved their family into the Petroleum region of Pennsylvania, first to Tarr Farm, and in 1875 to Rynn Farm, one mile south; in 1876 to Bradford; in 1877 back to Erie, and in the spring of 1878 back into the oil region of Allegany, New York; and in 1882 to Olean, N. Y. The occupation of the father during these years was that of 'Torpedo Agent' in control of the high explosives to be lowered into the deep Petroleum Wells and exploded at or near the bottom to fracture the rock and facilitate the flow of Petroleum into and up the well. In this work Walter assisted as he became old enough, attending the Public School as opportunity presented. In the summer of 1882 his parents moved to Indian River, Cheboygan County, Michigan, and Walter followed in January. The father homesteaded eighty acres of land, and they entered upon its improvement and cultivation. In the spring of 1885 Walter entered homestead claim of eighty acres of land by the upper Black River, in Cheboygan County, and during the next three years when not on this land he followed various occupations—lumberman, hotel clerk, guide for guests of summer resort hotel, and machine repairing.

In the spring of 1888 he went to Grand Rapids, Michigan, and regularly took up his trade of locksmith and light machine repairer, which he yet (1907) continues in this place.

He was married by Rev. R. M. Thompson, 11 July, 1889, at Mullet Lake, Mich., to Phebe R., daughter of Louis and Phebe S. (Blanchard) Recolly, formerly of Cheboygan, where she was born 29 August, 1866. They have had children, viz.:

- i. MEREDITH LESLIE, b. 18 April, 1891, at Grand Rapids, Mich.
- ii. VOYLE ERMAN M., b. at Grand Rapids, 2 August, 1892.

- iii. A DAUGHTER, b. 3 Sept., 1895; d. 12 Feb., 1896, unnamed.
- iv. DEWEY FRANKLIN, b. 25 April, 1898, at Grand Rapids.
- v. LOUIS ROOSEVELT, b. at Grand Rapids, 22 Sept., 1899.
- vi. WILLIAM ORVILLE, b. 19 Jan., 1902, at Grand Rapids.
- vii. LAWRENCE HERBERT, twin, b. Grand Rapids, 9 Dec., 1903.
- viii. CLARENCE CHARLES, twin, b. 10 Dec., 1903, at Grand Rapids.
- ix. WALTER ANTHONY, b. 1 Oct., 1906, Grand Rapids.

The twins are varied—one is brunette and the other is blond. They are the first known in line of either parent.

REV. HENRY WILLIAM⁸ SLOCUM (William,⁷ died in 1893, Restcome,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) born in Pawling Tp., Dutchess Co., New York, 22 June, 1836, and was reared from the age of five years at Fish House Village, Northampton Tp., Fulton Co., N. Y. He was educated in the Public Schools, at Amsterdam Academy, and took the full course of study at The Claverick Institute, Columbia County, N. Y.

Here he met Alice S. Quinby, whom he married 27 April, 1858. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of twenty-one years from the preaching of his aunt, Sara Thompson, a woman of great spiritual power and of large influence over his life for good. He soon answered the call to the ministry, was accepted, and joined the Troy Conference in 1868. He began his work in Edinburg, Saratoga Co., adjoining his home in Northampton. During the first year of his labors there were two hundred additions to the Church, many being aged men. He served other appointments; at Brunswick, Nassau and Brainard, Bennington, Vt., Levings, Troy, Ballston Spa, Valley Falls, Malta Ridge. During these ministrations he led movements for the building of new Church Houses, parsonages, and for repairing the old. He also left his congregations largely increased in numbers and efficiency.

The lowering of his physical powers from overwork and exposure, led to an attack of diphtheria which resulted in paralysis of the vocal organs, and necessitated his taking the supernumerary relation in 1884. His many friends felt this affliction a great loss to themselves and to the Church. He suffered on, but the later years were marked with an increasing and abiding faith. He died at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., 28 November, 1906. He had three children, sons; the deaths of two are given in Volume I. Of the other:

- ii. HARRY FITZGERALD, b. 27 June, 1867. He early became estranged from his parents, and so remained. He engaged in newspaper work and, in the winter of 1906-07, he did good work for The Leader, the strong Republican daily newspaper of Cleveland, Ohio, in exposing alleged shortcomings of an aspiring combination in that city. He also is President of The Slocum Card Company, and President of The Motor Vehicle Publishing Company.

GEORGE ENGS⁸ SLOCUM (Matthew B.,⁷ Benjamin,⁶ John,⁵ Benjamin,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 20 June, 1824, in Delphi, Onondaga County, New York. He learned the tinner's trade and in 1841 went by canal to Rochester, where he worked at this trade eight years. He returned to Onondaga County in 1848 to marry Lydia Ann Fort, and at once returned to Monroe County with her. In 1849 they settled at Scottsville, this county, where he engaged in the hardware business. He was conservative, industrious and successful.

An active Republican in political belief, he was not an office seeker; but he served several years as assessor of his Township, and as school district clerk. His diversion was largely in local history, and of this he gathered a great stock of valuable data which made him the best informed citizen in the history of his community. At the Centennial Celebration of his Township, Wheatland, he delivered the historical address. In 1871 he was one of the founders of the Scottsville Literary Society, which has continued an active factor in the social and literary life of the Village. He read articles, and delivered addresses before this Society; and two publications by the Society were prepared by him.

He was of kindly heart; avoided the antagonisms of life as much as possible, and sought to enjoy with his friends and neighbors the amenities of life. Upon the organization of Grace Church in Scottsville, 1885, he identified himself with it, became member of the vestry, and was its clerk. He was member of the Rochester Historical Society.

They died in Scottsville, N. Y., she 22 April, 1904, he 13 November, 1906, and were there buried in Oatka Cemetery.

During the last year of his life he manifested great interest in the writer's work on this book; and he tried to get full report from each one of his immediate relatives, often lamenting their apparent want of interest, and dilatoriness after promise.

He prepared a MS. History of the Town of Wheatland, Monroe County, New York. This is 1907 being edited for publication by his friend Rear Admiral Franklin Hanford, U.S.N. (retired).

MORS OSTRANDER⁹ SLOCUM (George E.,⁸ Matthew B.,⁷ Benjamin,⁶ John,⁵ Benjamin,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 24 December, 1866, in Scottsville, Monroe County, New York. He was graduated at the University of Rochester, and in engineering at the Stevens Institute of Technology. He then engaged with the Western Electric Company, with which corporation he is yet, 1907, employed, this being the eighteenth year with them. Five years of this time were passed in New York City. In 1894 he was transferred to the Chicago office, where he yet remains; and since 1899 has been connected with telephone sales department.

He takes an interest in public affairs, although he has never held office, or sought to do so. In the sixth ward, Chicago, where he resides, he has been active in politics, having been one of the leaders in the general movement which elected Charles S. Deneen Governor of Illinois in 1905. He is president of the 31st precinct of his ward. He joined the Hamilton Club in 1901 and is a regular noon-day attendant. In college he was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He also belongs to the Royal Arcanum; is a director of the Hyde Park Protective Association, and for several years has been a trustee of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

He was married 27 December, 1894, in Rochester, New York, to Gertrude Goodwill Glass, born 9 March, 1867, there, daughter of Heman and Lucy Ann (Goodwill) Glass.

Like his father he took great interest in this book, and supplemented his father's efforts to have his immediate relatives well represented.

MAJOR-GENERAL HENRY WARNER⁸ SLOCUM (Matthew B.,⁷ Benjamin,⁶ John,⁵ Benjamin,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 24 September, 1826, in Delphi, Onondaga County, New York. He died of pneumonia at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., 14 April, 1894. His wife, Clara Rice Slocum, died in March, 1898. See Volume I.

The Legislature of the State of New York enacted a Bill 30 March, 1896, to erect a statue on the Battlefield of Gettysburg in honor of this eminent soldier; and this Act became a law by approval of Gov. Levi P. Morton 4 April, 1896. A heroic size equestrian statue in bronze was settled upon by The Monuments Commission, and it was erected on Culp's Hill. It was dedicated 10 September, 1903, in the presence of the family of the deceased, the Governors of several States, and many other prominent men, civil and military, including over one thousand soldiers and ex-soldiers of General Slocum's former commands.* The bronze letter tablets on the sides of the granite pedestal are each four feet nine and three-quarter inches wide by three feet ten and one-eighth inches high. They read as follows, beginning on the westerly side, viz.:

Major General Henry Warner Slocum, U. S. V. 1826-1894. In command of Right Wing of The Army of The Potomac at The Battle of Gettysburg July 1, 2, 3, 1863. "Stay and Fight it Out" Gen. Slocum at Council of War, July 2, 1863. Erected by State of New York, 1902.

*Edward C Potter is the artist of this statue. It was cast in bronze by the Gorham Manufacturing Company of Providence, R. I. The features of the General were acceptable to his family; and Gov. Franklin Murphy, of New Jersey, one of the speakers at the Dedication, and a soldier in Gen. Slocum's command, said in part of his address: . . . "If you will look at his face—and I never saw a more speaking face in bronze than that face yonder—you will understand how it was that General Slocum easily won and always held the confidence and affection of his soldiers."

The general dimensions of the granite pedestal are twenty-one feet eight inches long, fifteen feet ten inches wide, and sixteen feet three and one-half inches high, divided into ten courses. The bronze statue, including plinth, is fifteen feet six inches to the top of the head of the rider (entire monument 31 ft. 9 1-2 inches from ground); the plinth measuring eleven feet nine and three-quarter inches long by four feet wide.

The Legislative appropriation for this admirable monument was $30,000. The cost of it was $29,941.57.

Major General Henry Warner Slocum, U. S. Vols.

Cadet U. S. Military Academy July 1, 1848; 2nd Lieut. First Artillery July 1, 1852; 1st Lieut. March 3, 1855. Resigned October 31, 1856.

Col. 27th N. Y. Infantry May 21, 1861. Severely wounded Bull Run July 21, 1861. Brig. Gen'l of Volunteers August 9, 1861. Assigned to command of 2nd Brigade, Franklin's Division, Army of the Potomac, September 4, 1861, and to command of 1st Division, 6th Corps, May 18, 1862.

Maj. Gen'l U. S. Vols. July 4, 1862. Assumed command of 12th Corps October 20, 1862. Temporarily commanded the Right Wing of the Army of the Potomac, consisting of the 5th, 11th and 12th Corps, April 28-30, 1863. In command of the Right Wing of the Union Army, composed of the 5th and 12th Corps, at Gettysburg, July 1, 2, 3, 1863.

Relinquished command of the 12th Corps April 18, 1864, and on April 27, 1864, assumed command of the Military District of Vicksburg, which he held until August 14, 1864.

Assumed command of the 20th Corps August 27, 1864; and of the Left Wing of Sherman's Army, known as the Army of Georgia, November 11, 1864.

Assigned in orders dated June 27, 1865, to the Command of the Department of the Mississippi, Headquarters at Vicksburg, which he held until relieved September 18, 1865; and on September 28, 1865, Gen'l Slocum resigned from the Army and was Honorably discharged.

Maj.-Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, U. S. A., Chairman New York Monuments Commission for the Battlefield of Gettysburg, presented the Monument to Governor Odell. He said in part:

. . . These people are here to-day to dedicate this statue of their beloved commander . . . erected by a grateful Commonwealth to commemorate his heroic services on this Battlefield. This Battlefield has become hallowed ground for the people whose kindred have contended here for the life of the Nation. More than a million of our citizens have come to Gettysburg since July, 1863. . . . No battlefield on earth is so consecrated by loving tokens of remembrance. . . . New York may well be satisfied with her part in the Battle of Gettysburg. . . . The day before Hooker was relieved from command it was arranged that Slocum should intrench his Army Corps, reinforced by 10,000 men to be withdrawn from Harper's Ferry, on Lee's line of communication, a position from which Slocum could not have been driven. If Hooker had not been superseded Slocum would have been at Williamsport on the Potomac with 20,000 men intrenched, and Lee would never have returned to Virginia with his army.

On the night of July 2, 1863, after a bloody battle, fought on the afternoon of that day on our left flank, a council of war was convened by the commanding general, to consider our situation, and advise him what to do. The Corps commanders present expressed their views in order of their rank respectively. Slocum being the ranking officer in the council, was the last to reply. He said "Stay and fight it out." That speech settled the matter. . . . It was Spartan eloquence, and won the assent of the council. "Stay and fight it out" was the advice given by the council to General Meade, who was not satisfied with his position at Gettysburg. The Army of the Potomac did "stay and fight it out." The victory gained is the best comment that can be made on Slocum's judgment. "Stay and fight it out" would be a good motto for Slocum's descendants. "Stay and fight it out" would be a good motto for all our American youth. We have inscribed it there on the pedestal of this statue, where for centuries to come American soldiers will read Slocum's inspiring speech: "Stay and fight it out." . . .

I am thankful to have been spared to come here to-day to assist in the dedication of this Monument to my comrade and friend, the foremost soldier New York sent to the field during the Civil War. . . . He never failed. He never lost a color or a gun. Although his voice will never again be heard by his beloved comrades, this heroic figure will stand for ages to come as a type of an American Commander, modest, resolute, sagacious, brave. . . .

Governor Odell followed in a brief address, as follows, in part:

Gettysburg will always occupy a place in history as the decisive battle of the Southern Rebellion, and perhaps to a greater extent than any other this field will be the Mecca of those who in years to come desire to pay tribute to the memory of the brave men who sacrificed their lives in defense of our Nation's honor. . . .

What might have happened if the tide of battle upon this field had turned against the North cannot be conceived. . . .

New York has a pride in this field, because here, perhaps, to a greater extent than in any other battle, she showed her devotion by furnishing a greater number of men. In the patriotic General, whose Monument we dedicate to-day, was found one of those sturdy men who knew not only duty but who gave to its performance an intelligence which insured to him the respect and confidence of his associates and those whom he led. He and the brave men of New York and other States of the Union need no monument to perpetuate their glory. Monuments may be erected as the Nation's tribute, but our Country and this Battlefield stand as the monument of their devotion, their patriotism and their heroism. . . .

Then followed an Oration by Gen. James C. Rogers, of the Twelfth Army Corps, which was long and eulogistic. Excerpts are here given:

It was my good fortune to have been associated with General Slocum during a large part of his brilliant military career, and because I knew him and loved him with the enthusiastic ardor that a young soldier feels for the Chief in whom he trusts and believes. And General Slocum had that in him, both as officer and man, to inspire confidence, admiration and love. . . .

And now, after all this time has passed, with the impressions of all those early days strengthened by the judgment of maturer years, I can truthfully say that in the combination of high soldierly qualities with the purest patriotism, in decision of character and the power of quick adaptation of means to the end to be accomplished, in coolness and courage, Henry W. Slocum was the peer of all. . . .

General Slocum, although a West Point graduate and regular army officer, had resigned from the army before the breaking out of the war, and his mind had been broadened and humanized, as it were, by daily contact with all kinds of men in civil life. He knew and recognized better than most officers who had remained in the service and whose duties had run in the narrow channels of army life in time of peace, that the young officers and men of the volunteer regiments of those days were not of the kind who had been in the habit of enlisting before the war, but were of the best blood of the land and could be moulded and made effective as soldiers more by kindness and by the inspiration of duty than by rough handling and the compulsion of fear. And during the months that followed, both in the Valley and at Stafford Court House, he brought the Twelfth Corps, whose emblem was the Star, into such a state of discipline and effectiveness that it compared favorably with even the gallant corps of our Chairman [Gen. Sickles] and what higher praise could I give it than that . . . Of course, it is mere speculation now; but one cannot help thinking of what would have been the result if, after Lee's army had been defeated here [at Gettysburg] and promptly followed up, a cool, determined fighter like General Slocum, with twenty thousand men, had been at the fords of the upper Potomac to head it off [as Gen. Hooker had planned before he resigned]. In that event, how much of that army and its immense baggage train would have recrossed the river, into Virginia? . . . I remember as though it were but yesterday, that long, dry and dusty march on July 1, 1863. The men had tramped many miles through heat and dust, under a burning sky, and were ready to drop with fatigue, when late in the afternoon, General Slocum came riding by us towards the head of the column. As he passed he said in his cheery, pleasant way, as I have no doubt he said to the regiments behind us, "Press on men, as rapidly as you can! there is fighting in front of us. Press on and follow me!" And at once that tired and drooping column straightened up as if a thrill of new life and strength and energy had been put into it, and hurrying on came upon the field of battle [Gettysburg] too late for that day's conflict, but ready for the fighting of the days that followed. Such was General Slocum's power over his troops.

Look at his record, briefly summed up . . . distinguishing himself at the Battle of Gaines' Mill and other battles of the Peninsular Campaign, and afterwards at Crampton's Pass and Antietam; then promoted to the command of the Twelfth Army Corps, he made it the magnificent fighting machine whose prowess at Chancellorsville and Gettysburg has given it a conspicuous place in history; and in the west, as the trusted lieutenant of the dauntless Sherman, in his marvelous marches and campaigns, he ends the fighting in that department with his victory at Bentonville. Not one mistake, not one event in those long years of active leadership which we would wish to blot out. And then when the war is over and that for which he fought is won, he sheathes his sword and returns to the peaceful avocations of the citizen. Oh, life is worth living when it can furnish such a record as this! Is it any wonder that the officers and men whom he commanded trusted and believed in him and loved him? Is it any wonder that the great State of New York erects this magnificent statue to his memory on this historic Battlefield. . . .

Col. Archie E. Baxter then delivered an Oration on the 20th Army Corps. This effort was long, eloquent, poetic, and is here sketched, viz.:

Nearly forty years ago! And yet in the midst of these impressive surroundings, how thrillingly come thronging back memories of the old times.

Our purpose here naturally recalls recollections of the illustrious soldier who, at a crisis in this great struggle, averted irretrievable disaster and made possible the victory that marked the beginning of the end of the Confederacy, brought fresh renown to our arms and a luster to our flag that will never fade. As boys we loved, trusted and were proud of this great captain, and confidently followed wherever he led. To-day, as men, many of us grown old beyond our years, we are reverently gathered to honor his memory. Patriotic New York has been generous with monuments and statues in honor of her sons, but never has she erected one more deserved than is this in commemoration of the inestimable services to State and Nation of her greatest soldier, Major-General Henry Warner Slocum. . . . Genial, warm-hearted and familiar, but through his innate dignity restraining excesses and exacting the respect due him and his exalted station. We see him in the heat of battle, cool, deliberate and self-poised amid the wild excitement, the awful crash and roar—but mark the change when he discovers that ‘some one has blundered;’ the whole man seems transfigured; there is a terrible intensity in the compressed lips, the blazing eyes. It is not the joy of conflict, the lust of battle, but rather the outward mark of a relentless will, of a determination to save what the blunder has endangered, to triumph for his flag and country. Let the battle roar, the lines surge and waver, he never loses his soldierly grasp of the situation. No sudden reverse discourages or dismays. . . .

As General Slocum’s command was the first to enter Atlanta, so was it the first, in the person of the gallant Gen. Henry A. Barnum and his men, to scale the Confederate works and enter the city of Savannah.

His mid-winter march with heavy wagon-trains and artillery through the flooded swamps and across the swollen and bridgeless rivers of the Carolinas, was one of General Slocum’s great achievements. At Averasboro he won a handsome victory over General Hardee. Near Bentonville, Gen. Joe Johnston, discovering that our two wings were moving by divergent lines, massed his whole force and entrenched in General Slocum’s front, intending to surprise him and crush his army. But General Slocum was alert and rapidly deployed in line of battle. While his men were hurriedly gathering fence rails for barricades, using their tin plates and cups for shovels, the shock of battle broke upon them. Out of the woods in front burst the gallant gray lines. Their flags were waving gayly in the sunlight; sabres flashed and bayonets gleamed. To our waiting lines fronting the onset it was a thrilling sight. On, though ploughed and torn by our artillery, with the steadiness of veterans confident of success, they came. Midway across the field they broke into a run and, with the old Confederate yell, came sweeping towards us. Suddenly from our ranks leaped sheets of living flame. Volley after volley ran flashing, rattling and hissing down our lines. Thinned and staggered by the withering fire they wavered, broke and went reeling back across the field. Again and again with desperate courage they recklessly charged, and though men of the blue and of the gray fell side by side, six times were they driven back over a field thickly strewn with their wounded and dead. Then, as the sun broke through the smoke of battle and bathed our flag in a flood of glory, from our triumphant lines the old Union cheer burst from the lips of veterans who, in grim silence, had fought like heroes and splendidly won the last material battle of the Southern Rebellion.

Bentonville was known as Slocum's battle. Here practically ended his military career. The war was over, the Union saved and liberty proclaimed throughout the land, his heart turned longingly towards the pursuits of peace, and he gladly sheathed his sword forever. . . .

He had proved equal to every trust committed to him. His heart had been untouched by intrigue, quarreling, rivalry, envy or disappointed ambition. Unmindful of personal advancement he sought only his country's safety and glory.

As a citizen, though crowned with the lustre of great achievements, he bore himself so meekly there was no reminder of the days when his words were potent upon fields of mighty conflict. Successful, esteemed and loved, he might, had he but consented to "stoop to conquer," have held the highest places within the gift of his countrymen. Amid the cares and responsibilities of an active life, he took pleasure in guarding with watchful care the welfare of the helpless veterans at the State Soldiers' Home, and in advancing the educational interests of the children of the city of his adoption. Time had already whitened the honored head, but had left throbbing within the old soldier's breast a great, tender, loving heart. When the 'taps' sounded and his light went out forever, his City lost her most illustrious citizen, his State her greatest soldier.

The dedicatory exercises of New York's Equestrian Statue of General Slocum on the Gettysburg field closed here with a benediction.

Long before his decease General Slocum chose Colonel William F. Fox as Historian of his Twelfth Army Corps. Colonel Fox served under General Slocum, at times in both the Twelfth and Twentieth Corps; and The New York Monuments Commission printed his Life of General Slocum, and his Slocum and His Men, following their Report to the State regarding the Monument and its Dedication, from which Report the foregoing has been excerpted. Included in the Commission's large volume* are Colonel Fox's History of the General and his men, with some of the General's correspondence, and letters received from General Sherman, other officers, and citizens in high authority, which were placed in the Colonel's hands by the General's family. The following are excerpts from Colonel Fox's writings:

To obtain the higher education which he keenly desired, Henry Warner Slocum engaged in business ventures of a minor character which were successful, and at sixteen he secured a position as teacher in a country school. He entered the seminary at Cazenovia, N. Y., and afterward studied at the State Normal School in Albany. He then returned to Cazenovia where he resumed teaching, this time in one of the Public Schools of that town.

General Howard, in his reminiscences of Slocum's life at the Military Academy, says: "It was my good fortune, my second year, during Cadet Slocum's first class-year, to room on the floor just below him. Of course, there was class separation, and I was three years his junior; but he treated me with kindness and attention. His individuality especially impressed itself upon me. He expressed himself openly, when it cost so much to do so, as an opponent of human slavery. The pro-slavery sentiment at West Point was so great at that time that it derogated from one's popularity to express, or even be suspected of, abolition sentiments. In spite of the opposition thus awakened, and his known attitude against prevailing opinion, Cadet Slocum was, nevertheless, highly esteemed by all thoughtful fellow cadets, resulting in a lasting respect, which was only deepened by his subsequent life."†

Although many of Slocum's classmates entered the Academy with the advantage of a collegiate education he maintained a high standing in his scholastic work and graduated seventh in a class of forty-three.

With the firing of the first gun on Sumter his former military ambition revived. . . . He went to Albany, called upon the Governor and tendered his services to the State. He did not ask for a commission as brigadier-general or a colonelcy, although he was far better qualified to fill either position than most of the men to whom these appointments were given. He merely asked for authority to recruit a battery of light artillery. But the Governor, imbued with the optimistic spirit of the hour, gravely informed him that the South would be subdued without the use of artillery, and the modest application was denied.* . . .

He accepted commission as Colonel of the 27th Regiment, New York Infantry, 21 May, 1861. . . . At the Battle of First Bull Run his regiment distinguished itself by its efficiency in action and its steadiness under a severe fire amid scenes of confusion and panic. Colonel Slocum attracted favorable attention by the conspicuous gallantry with which he handled his regiment in the battle until he was carried off the field, suffering from a severe wound. . . . In this battle the Twenty-seventh sustained a loss of 230 killed, wounded and missing. . . .

The marked efficiency of the regiment in this, the first general engagement of the war, furnished ample evidence of the skillful training bestowed upon it by its accomplished Colonel. The Government quickly recognized the military ability of the man whose services at Bull Run contrasted so strongly with the incapacity and ignorance displayed there by many favorites from whom great things had been expected; and before Slocum had recovered from his wound he was cheered and gratified by the announcement of his promotion to the rank of brigadier.†

At the start his brigade received some wholesome lessons from the disciplinarian who commanded them. For instance, in a letter written home from Alexandria, Va., October 11, 1861, Slocum says: "I have been very fortunate in securing control of my brigade. One day last week eighteen officers of the Sixteenth [New York Regiment] addressed a communication to me relative to one of my orders on the subject of depredations on private property. They thought it very severe, and 'respectfully demanded' its modification. I at once placed every one of them in arrest, and confined them to their tents. Within a day or two the most humble apologies commenced pouring in, and finally every one was released. But it had a wonderful effect."

. . . . At West Point or Eltham's Landing, May 7, 1862, Franklin's Division engaged the enemy, an action in which the conduct of General Slocum 'was admirable' as described in the official report of his superior. Upon the assignment of General Franklin to the command of the newly organized Sixth Corps, Slocum succeeded him as General of the division—First Division, Sixth Corps. An old story this—the fortunes of war. In 1861 Slocum was vainly importuning the Governor of his State for a commission as captain of artillery. A year later he rode at the head of one of the finest divisions in the Army of the Potomac.

For conspicuous services rendered by him at Gaines' Mill and in the movement to the James, he was promoted to Major-General.

But it was in the Maryland campaign, which soon followed, that Slocum achieved his greatest success as a division general.

General Franklin finding that he could not use artillery with advantage determined to carry the position by an infantry assault. For this purpose he selected Slocum's Division, the Second Division—Smith's—being held in reserve. Franklin says in his report that the advance of General Slocum was made with admirable steadiness through a well-delivered fire from the batteries on the [South] Mountain. The line of battle formed, a charge was ordered. The men swept forward with a cheer, over the stone wall, dislodging the enemy and pursuing him up the mountain side to the crest of the hill and down the opposite slope. This single charge, sustained as it was over a great distance and up a rough ascent of unusual steepness, was decisive. The Confederates were driven in the utmost confusion, and allowed no opportunity to rally until the pass was cleared. Slocum was a conspicuous figure in the charge, his soldierly bearing and fearless exposure of his person to the enemy's fire winning enthusiastic praise from the troops who fought by his side.

At the Battle of Chancellorsville, as on other fields, Slocum displayed military genius of a high order, and his troops made another record as a steady, hard fighting corps.

An incident at this time came under the writer's [Colonel William F. Fox's] observation which was characteristic of the General's methods in handling troops on the field. When Williams' Division was ordered out of its breastworks to the support of General Sickles during the reconnoissance made by the latter on the second day, a regiment of Ruger's Brigade was delayed at the passage of a small stream. Owing to this hindrance it fell considerably behind the rest of the brigade, and its colonel, anxious to close up, gave the order to double-quick. The regiment moved forward at a rapid pace, the accoutrements and cooking utensils carried by the men keeping up a rattling, jingling accompaniment. Suddenly the rapid hoofbeats of a horse under the spur were heard, and the rider wheeled short in front of the column. It was Slocum, and his eyes shone with anger or excitement. "Colonel, halt your regiment!" he shouted. Then leaning over the side of his saddle he said, in low, earnest tones: "Colonel, you must not take your regiment into action on the run. I don't want these men to go into the fight tired and out of breath. Let them walk. There is no need of all this hurry." With a severe look he regarded the breathless soldiers for a moment, wheeled his horse suddenly and was gone. A trifling incident, perhaps; but it illustrates the personal attention which Slocum gave to details when putting his troops in action.

At Gettysburg, the greatest battle of the war, General Slocum occupied a prominent position by reason of the important duties assigned him by the General commanding. As the senior General in the Army of the Potomac he was in command of the Right Wing.

In one of the earlier histories of this battle a writer says that Slocum was dilatory in coming on the field. The gross misrepresentation of certain facts and evident ignorance of other important ones would require no mention here were it not that this untruth, at one time, was accepted and repeated to some extent.

General Meade arrived on the battlefield before daybreak on the morning of July second, the second day of the battle. Addressing himself immediately to the situation he planned an attack, to be made by his right wing against the enemy's left. For this purpose he placed the Fifth and Twelfth Corps under command of General Slocum, with the Sixth Corps as a supporting column. The latter was expected to arrive at Gettysburg in time for the proposed movement. But General Slocum, however much he might have been pleased by such recognition of his military ability, did not allow any feeling of pride in this flattering selection of himself to interfere with his judgment in the matter. After carefully reconnoitering the position of the enemy in his front and the topographical difficulties presented by the intervening ground, he reported to General Meade that the proposed attack was not practicable. General Warren, chief engineer of Meade's staff, concurred in this opinion. The attack was abandoned, and these troops were saved from what, in all probability, would have been a defeat, with a terrible loss of life. The plan afforded Slocum a tempting opportunity to distinguish himself, but he possessed moral as well as physical courage.

When Slocum received the order to abandon Culp's Hill he informed Meade that he had just received word from both Williams and Geary, his division generals, that the enemy was in their front in strong force. He urgently requested that a division be left to guard the line held by the Twelfth Corps, but General Meade would consent to leave but a brigade to defend the position* [Although Meade had more troops massed on his left than he could put into action].

Slocum's insistence that some troops should be left to hold Culp's Hill was extremely fortunate. Had he not done so Meade's army would soon have been overwhelmed in an irretrievable disaster.

[Confederate General Johnson advanced, drove back the meagre force left at Culp's Hill and, had they advanced a short distance further that evening they could have seized Meade's headquarters also]. Johnson was heavily reinforced during the night, but when morning came his opportunity was gone. At midnight the Twelfth Corps returned and, finding their breastworks occupied [by the enemy], went into position covering the line of the Baltimore Pike. Slocum gave orders to attack at daybreak, and in a few hours, after some of the most brilliant fighting in the war, the Twelfth Corps recaptured their works and drove Johnson's forces across Rock Creek. The Union right was secure again.* . . .

[At the close of the fighting of this day came the council of war, and General Slocum's terse "Stay and Fight it Out" advice which, being accepted, again settled favorably the fate of Gettysburg].†

In April, 1864, General Slocum was assigned to the command of the District of Vicksburg. . . . The position thus assigned was befitting his rank and record. As a military command it was an important one, for it embraced bodies of troops outnumbering those of an ordinary army corps. Furthermore, as it included a territory wrested from the enemy, it imposed duties of a grave responsibility in the management of a dissatisfied people and the adjustment of the various civil questions incident to such a condition. The Government had selected him for this trying position, relying on his superior judgment and administrative ability which, as well as his brilliant record in the field, had won for him the confidence of the War Department.

But, in the exercise of his authority, Slocum had to contend with complications and annoyances that were extremely distasteful to him as a soldier. There were other generals at this time on the Mississippi who held territorial commands, and Slocum was annoyed repeatedly by orders from these officers, all of them juniors in rank, instructing him to detach large bodies of troops for purposes regarding which he had little or no knowledge. But he stood stoutly on his rights and refused these requests, especially as they would have crippled his own command and prevented him from sending the expeditions into the enemy's country which he had been commanded to make.

General Sherman, also, misled by false information, wrote Slocum in regard to a certain matter, notifying him that if it was not attended to "you need not expect military favors from General Grant or myself!" But Slocum was the last man to shape his line of action by expected favors, and in his answer to Sherman said: "Without any particular desire to secure favors from yourself or any other person, I shall continue faithful in the discharge of my duty which, I think, you readily perceive a very disagreeable and difficult one when you compare the different orders issued to me by General Canby with those issued by yourself." Sherman, finding that his source of information "the Atlanta paper of the 25th" was not to be relied on wrote Slocum an explanatory and somewhat apologetic letter which closed the incident.*

Slocum's resolute insistence upon leaving General Greene and his brigade, when General Meade directed that the whole Twelfth Corps be sent to his left,—this insistence followed by Greene's marvelous night battle, and Slocum's organized work and engagement of the ensuing early morning, in my judgment, saved the Battle of Gettysburg. . . .

But Slocum was needed at the front again. He was appointed to the command of the Twentieth Corps, then on the Atlanta Campaign; turned over his duties at Vicksburg August 14, 1864, closed his affairs there, and hastened to join Sherman's army.

Slocum arrived at the camps of the Twentieth Corps August 27th, his appearance being greeted with enthusiastic cheers. The Gettysburg and Chancellorsville veterans were especially prominent in this demonstration, as they rejoiced greatly at the prospect of serving under their old commander again.

General Slocum was the first to enter and take possession of Atlanta. Here he remained over two months, being occupied with provost duties and in organizing expeditions into the country for gathering supplies for his command. Preparations were made for the movement through Georgia to Savannah. For this purpose the army was divided into two separate commands, designated respectively the Right and Left Wing. The former, composed of the Army of the Tennessee, was placed under General Howard; the latter, made up of two Corps from the Army of the Cumberland—Fourteenth and Twentieth—was assigned to General Slocum.

The March to the Sea began November 15th. One week before, he wrote a letter to his family describing some of the scenes of preparation and other, closing as follows: "I wish for humanity's sake that this sad war could be brought to a close. While laboring to make it successful, I shall do all in my power to mitigate its horrors."

General Slocum held now the highest command in his military career, that of a separate army [The Army of Georgia]. The able manner in which he conducted his forces justified his selection for this responsible position.

At Savannah, Hardee had one avenue of escape—across the Savannah River to the North. As the left of Slocum's Army rested on the river, he made a demonstration against this one line by which the enemy might retreat, and had he secured his desired permission he would have placed a strong body of troops across it. But Sherman had a different arrangement in mind, and went to Beaufort to secure the co-operation of some troops for his purpose. During his absence Hardee, alarmed by the threatening movement of one of Slocum's brigades towards his rear, evacuated the city, and withdrew his forces in safety. Crossing the river, he reached a causeway through a swamp, his one and only way of escape. Had Slocum's suggestion been adopted, the entire garrison would have been compelled to surrender within a short time. Upon the evacuation a division of Slocum's Twentieth Corps was the first to enter the City, and to these troops was accorded the privilege of remaining there on Provost duty, as at Atlanta, while the army lay outside the town.

In January, 1865, Sherman's two armies started northward on the campaign of the Carolinas, with the ultimate intention of joining the Army of the Potomac at Petersburg, or co-operating with it. This campaign was the most remarkable one in the history of the War for its duration, the number of miles marched, and the hardships encountered by the soldiers. It was undertaken at the most inclement season of the year in that climate.

Though the pontoon trains were sufficient for bridging any stream on the line of march, they were useless in the wide areas of flooded lowlands. The soldiers were obliged to wade repeatedly through long stretches of deep and chilling water, often exposed to the gun fire of the enemy.

In passing through North Carolina, Slocum, yet in command of the Left Wing, encountered Hardee's forces near Averasborough. An engagement, one of the minor battles of the War, ensued, in which Slocum defeated Hardee handsomely and drove him from the field. Three days later, Gen. Jos. E. Johnston, having united and intrenched his scattered forces, attacked Slocum at Bentonville. The Confederate leader, having over 20,000 veterans under his command, hoped that by a sudden dash upon the Left Wing he could defeat that Army before it could receive assistance from the Right Wing, then many miles distant. But Slocum, wary and cautious, quickly divined the intention of his antagonist. Recalling his advance and bringing forward his divisions in the rear, he drew his forces into position quickly and repulsed Johnston's fierce onslaught. When night came he was still in possession of the field. The next day he was reinforced by troops sent to his support by General Howard. There was some desultory fighting, and then Johnston retreated to Raleigh. Another victory was added to Slocum's record.

The careful, methodical action which always characterized Slocum's movements when about to encounter the enemy in force was well displayed at Bentonville. When the General found that a battle was imminent he halted until he could bring up all his available forces, and in the meantime ascertain the position of the enemy. General Kilpatrick, who was in command of the cavalry, urged Slocum strongly to make a bold dash and clear the Confederates out of the way as he (Slocum) had done at Averasborough. Had he done so he would have invited a serious disaster. But rejecting the advice thus offered he said, significantly: "General Kilpatrick, I don't propose to advance farther until I know just what is on my flanks." The doughty cavalryman looked thoughtful for a moment, and then hurried away to obtain this highly important information.

Hon. Joseph B. Foraker, United States Senator from Ohio, who was a member of Slocum's staff on this Campaign, says that Major Moseley, also of the staff, suggested to Slocum that he should order the advance division to charge the enemy and clear the road; that there could not possibly be a very strong force in front; that if the General waited for his other forces to come up a whole day would be lost, and that if it should turn out that there was nothing in front to justify such caution it would injure the prestige of the Left Wing. Slocum replied earnestly: "I can afford to be charged with being dilatory or over cautious, but I cannot afford the responsibility of a Ball's Bluff affair."*

Also see The Atlantic Monthly, September, 1882, pages 389-400, wherein Gen. Alexander C. McClurg, who was in Gen. Slocum's command, under the heading 'The Last Chance of the Confederacy' ably wrote of the Battle of Bentonville, and the Union forces which there fought the last significant battle of the war and won a signal victory. It reads in part as follows:

The inhospitable rains of the South had poured down incessantly and unfriendly mud had met us in every road. Layer after layer of corduroy had disappeared in the ooze, as each hundred of our heavy wagons passed over them. The streams, faithful to their States, had risen into torrents, and swept away our pontoon bridges. Supplies were few, and shoes and hats and coats had been worn out and lost. The pride and pomp and circumstance of glorious war had disappeared, and the whole command was ragged and tattered. Here a Confederate coat and there a Confederate hat did duty on a Federal back and head, while many a valiant Union warrior went hatless and shoeless. But a hardier and knottier lot of men never carried musket or helped a wagon out of the mire. Years of hardship and exposure and fighting had sifted out the weak and the sickly, and nothing but the toughest material was left. The deeper the mud and the harder the march, the jollier they were; and a heavier rain pouring down on them as they went into camp, or a wetter swamp than usual to lie down in, only brought out a louder volley of jokes. An army of military Mark Tapleys [See Dickens' 'Martin Chuzzlewit'], they strode onward, uncomplaining and jolly under the most difficult circumstances possible.

General Sherman supposed 'all danger was over' [See his Memoirs].

For once General Sherman had reckoned without his host, and that host was Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, whose hospitalities Gen. Sherman had known and respected the year before, in all the long campaign from Chattanooga to Atlanta. The Confederate president had but recently recalled Gen. Johnston from undeserved retirement and placed him in command of all the Confederate troops in that region, with instructions to "concentrate all available forces, and drive back Sherman." The event proved that when Gen. Sherman supposed 'all danger over' these forces had been, unknown to him, well concentrated on his left flank and front, and within striking distance. Once more these two foemen, well worthy of each other's steel, were to try conclusions; and this time with the odds largely in favor of the Confederate chieftain.

General Sherman's army [two armies, called Right and Left Wing] consisted of between fifty-seven and fifty-eight thousand men, not seventy thousand as Gen. Johnston states in his narrative. On the morning of 19 March, this force was situated as follows: two divisions of the Fourteenth Army Corps, mustering a little over eight thousand men, and constituting the advance of the Left Wing, were near Bentonville on the direct road from Averasboro to Goldsboro. Two divisions of the Twentieth Corps, also about eight thousand men, had encamped eight miles in the rear of the advance divisions on the same road—a terrible stretch of almost impassable mire lying

To General Slocum's credit, it should be said that he did what he could to maintain a proper state of discipline in his own command. Major William G. Tracy, of his staff, states that "during the March to the Sea, and northward, so far as was in his power, General Slocum endeavored to restrain unnece-

between the two commands. The two remaining divisions of these Corps were escorting and guarding the supply trains, some miles further to the south and rear. The Right Wing was similarly scattered on roads lying five to ten miles south of the road on which the Left Wing was advancing.

Gen. Sherman had been marching for several days with the Left and exposed Wing, and on the night of the 18th [March, 1865] his headquarters, as well as those of Gen. Slocum, who commanded the Left Wing, had been pitched within the lines of the Fourteenth Army Corps. On the morning of the 19th he had determined to ride southward to the Right Wing composed of the Fifteenth and Seventeenth Corps, and push them on rapidly in advance to Goldsboro. He did not leave, however, until after the leading division had moved out and at perhaps half past seven o'clock he and Gen. Slocum, with Gen. Jefferson C. Davis commanding the Fourteenth Corps, sat together upon their horses at the cross-roads, listening to the signs of opposition which already came up from the front. Something impressed the soldierly instinct of Gen. Davis with the belief that he was likely to encounter more than the usual cavalry opposition, and he said as much to Gen. Sherman. The latter, after listening attentively a moment or two, replied in his usual brisk, nervous, and positive way: "No, Jeff; there is nothing there but Dibbrell's cavalry. Brush them out of the way. Good morning. I'll meet you to-morrow morning at Cox's Bridge." And away he rode, with his slender staff, to join Howard and the Right Wing. It proved that three days yet lay between us and Cox's Bridge.

. . . also that two divisions and a brigade, with a battery of artillery—in all, less than ten thousand men of Gen. Sherman's Army—were face to face with an overwhelming force of the enemy (somewhere between twenty-five and forty thousand men) who had chosen their own ground, strengthened it with field-works, and placed their artillery in position. Confident and prepared (to crush the Union army a division at a time) they awaited the order to advance, while we were deceived and surprised.

. . . Their cavalry in front were stubborn. . . Even the organized parties of foragers, the historical 'bummers' of Sherman's army, men who generally made short work of getting through a thin curtain of cavalry, when chickens and pigs and corn and sweet potatoes were on the other side—even these renowned troopers fell back, dispirited, behind our skirmishers, and lined the roadsides.

. . . but General Slocum went energetically to work to prepare for the most vigorous defensive fighting possible. Every precaution was taken and the men all along our line were in the act of throwing up hasty field-works when the attack came upon us like a whirlwind.

. . . Attack after attack was gallantly met and repulsed. . . North Carolina and Virginia colors were captured . . . our troops fought behind and in front of their hastily built and frail breastworks. . . there were not men enough to support them on the left. . . they were there attacked in the rear . . . wheeled and fought both ways . . . and held their ground . . . and the golden opportunity of the enemy upon our left was lost.

Considering the great disaster which was imminent, and which was averted, it is not too much to claim for the Battle of Bentonville by Gen. Slocum's command, that it was one of the most decisive of the lesser battles of the war.

sary pillage and injury to the inhabitants of the country, but never received the credit due for such efforts, for he had but scant sympathy in that regard from his superior officer."*

General Slocum's Army was disbanded and most of its regiments mustered out of service at the close of the Civil War. His farewell to his men who had so nobly answered to his commands, is embraced in his General Orders, No. 15, dated at Washington, D. C., June 6, 1865. In his Life of General Slocum Colonel Fox continues:

After a brief leave of absence he returned to Vicksburg where he assumed command of the military Department of the Mississippi. Here he exercised his administrative ability in alleviating so far as possible the unhappy conditions incidental to a long and terrible war, the effects of which had been especially disastrous to the people in that district. Under his able guidance a peaceful condition of affairs was soon restored and business was resumed in all its various branches.

But the position and its duties were in too strong a contrast with his four years of active life in the field. The routine at Vicksburg became irksome and burdensome in the extreme. An intense longing for home and the attractions of civil life possessed him. He had defended his country well in its time of trial, and now that there was no further need of his services he felt at liberty to resign his commission [He resigned September 28, 1865].

A position in the Regular Army suitable to his previous rank and record was tendered by the Government, but he declined the honor, expressing his high appreciation of this further recognition of his services. After a brief stay at Syracuse, N. Y., his former home, he moved to the City of Brooklyn, where Never before, in all the long struggle, had fortune and circumstance so united to favor the Confederate Gen. Johnston, and never before had hope shone so brightly with him . . . but, as the sun went down that night, it undoubtedly carried with it, in the mind of Gen. Johnston at least, the last hopes of the Southern Confederacy.

In the battle of the first day, out of ten thousand men actually engaged on our side, we lost during the afternoon 1,200; and Gen. Johnston, in his narrative, admits a loss on his side of 1,915. In all the fighting of the next two days, we lost in our whole army a little over 400 men; and Johnston states his loss at 428. These figures easily show when the severe fighting was done. . . . It is due to the gallant troops who so heroically did their duty in that deadly breach, and to the commanding officers—to Henry W. Slocum, to Jefferson C. Davis, to Morgan and Carlin, and their brigade commanders—whose cool judgment and quick intelligence aided to conduct the fight to so fortunate an end, that the truth about the Battle of Bentonville, as about all other battles, should be told; as it has not been told heretofore about the former.

he soon became connected with business enterprises of an extensive character.

Although he had no aspirations for a political life and made no efforts to promote his interests in this direction, political honors were conferred upon him. In 1868 his name was placed on the State ticket as a Presidential Elector; and the next year he was sent to the U. S. Congress from a Brooklyn district. He was re-elected in 1870; and in 1883 was elected Congressman-at-Large from the State of New York by a flattering majority. In the discharge of his duties at the National Capitol he paid little attention to the details of petty legislation, but was always prominently identified with measures relating to the army, the welfare of the veterans, and the various questions arising from conditions engendered by the Civil War. He took active part in securing the passage of the bill granting a second court of inquiry in the case of Gen. Fitz John Porter, which resulted in the reinstatement of that officer in the Regular Army with his former rank and position. In this generous action he had the concurrence of General Grant and, also, the approval of every thoughtful student of history.

General Slocum served three terms in Congress and then, finding that his private business required his entire time and attention, he declined renomination.

In every enterprise entrusted to his management he displayed an administrative ability which won the confidence and respect of the entire business community within which he operated. His success as an executive officer was demonstrated in the development of the 'Crosstown' surface railroad system which, under his management became the most profitable line in the city. He was a large stockholder in other lines, and was President of the Brooklyn and Coney Island Railroad Company.

Among other investments which occupied his attention, he was Director in the People's Trust Company, The Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company, the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Company, and the Coombs, Crosby and Eddy Company.

He served also until his death as a member of the New York State Monuments Commission for the Battlefield of Gettysburg. He was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, and held for one term the highest office in the Commandery of New York. Also took prominent interest in the Brooklyn Club.

He served on the Brooklyn Board of Education, and said to his friends "a man can do more good in helping the children to be taught well than he can in commanding an army."

[He remembered the children in his will; directing that $5,000 be paid to the Children's Aid Society of Brooklyn, and $5,000 to the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children].

[He was one of the Trustees of the first New York and Brooklyn Bridge, and active in other local and general enterprises].

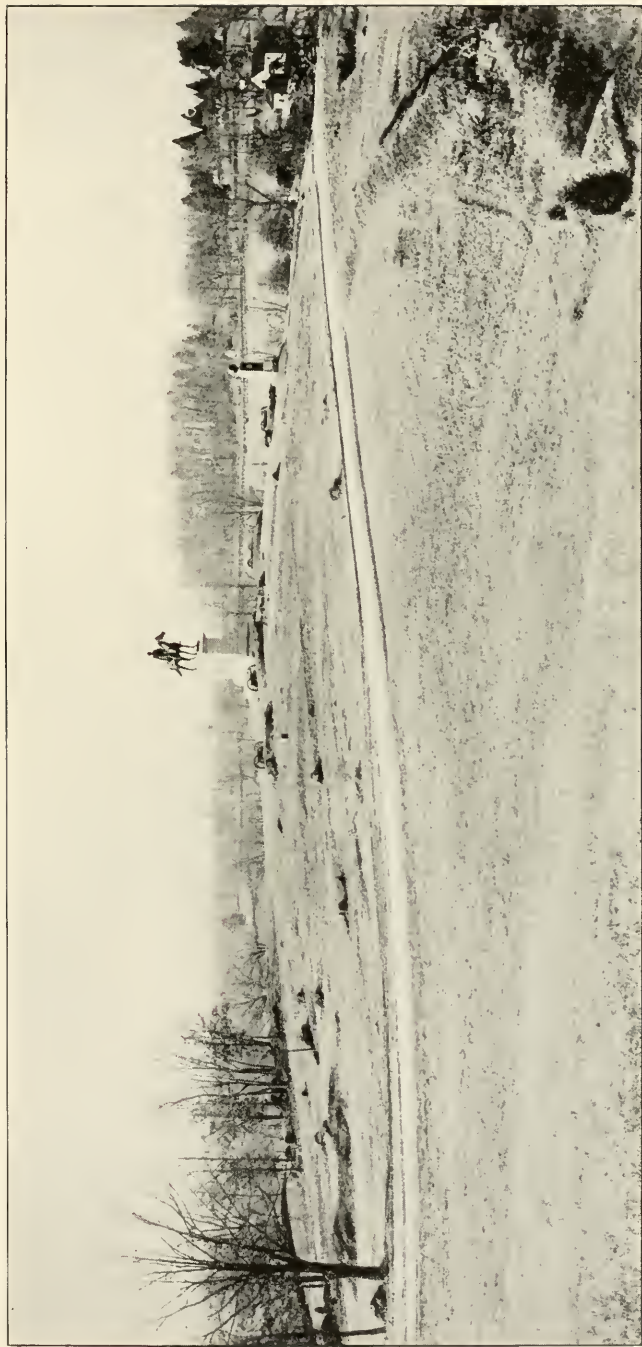

Upon the news of his death the House of Representatives at Washington passed resolutions expressing profound regret, and an acknowledgment of the loss which the Nation had sustained. Both the Senate and Assembly at Albany passed similar resolutions, and adjourned as a token of respect, the lower house having appointed a committee to attend the funeral. The Common Council of the City of Brooklyn took appropriate action, and ordered that business in the public buildings be suspended on the day of the funeral. The Military Order of the Loyal Legion issued an obituary pamphlet, and many Posts in the Grand Army of the Republic—some of them in other States—passed resolutions testifying to the loss which the veterans of the war had sustained in the death of their friend and advocate.

The funeral was held at the Church of the Messiah, where the exercises were conducted in accordance with the solemn ritual of the Episcopal service. On the conclusion of the ceremonies in the Church, the remains were placed on a gun-carriage and, covered by the flag he so well defended, were escorted to Greenwood Cemetery by a large body of troops from the Regular Army and National Guard, under command of Col. Loomis L. Langdon, First United States Artillery. The imposing military pageant, with the funereal music of the bands, made a deep impression on the silent throngs of citizens who lined the route along which the procession moved. At the Cemetery four volleys were fired by a battery of artillery, a bugle sounded 'Taps' and the hero was at rest.

Shortly after the death of Gen. Henry Warner Slocum a movement was started to erect a monument to his memory in Brooklyn. Several meetings were held and were attended by many leading citizens. It was decided to have the memorial consist of a massive bronze statue, its location to be chosen by the city authorities. It was at first intended to raise the funds by popular subscription, but this idea was abandoned, and the entire matter was taken in charge by the municipality. A law was enacted in 1895 authorizing an issue of bonds to erect the statue at a cost not to exceed thirty thousand dollars. Frederick MacMonnies, the sculptor, born in Brooklyn and having a studio in Paris, was commissioned to mold and supervise the casting of an equestrian statue. It was completed and shipped from France late in 1902; and for some time was stored on the East Side Lands pending the construction of the pedestal. This work was much delayed. The site of this Monument was located by the Department of Parks of the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, City of New York, at the intersection of Eastern Parkway and Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn; and its pedestal was there built of Maine granite, nineteen feet long and eight feet wide. Its height raises the tip of the General's sword twenty-five feet above the pavement. Bronze chains, artistically wrought, encircle the foundation

Presentation of Statue, Commissioner Michael J. Kennedy. Unveiling of Statue by Gertrude Slocum, granddaughter less than six years of age. Acceptance of Statue in Behalf of the City, by George B. McClellan, Mayor. Address, by Theodore Roosevelt, President. Benediction, by Rt. Rev. Bishop Charles E. McDonnell.

The family of General Henry Warner Slocum, after his death, published for private distribution some of the many tributes to his memory, in an octavo volume of 126 pages. It includes addresses by Rev. R. S. Storrs, D. D., Maj.-Gen. O. O. Howard, U. S. A., Major W. G. Tracy, of his army staff, and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford; Editorials of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, The Brooklyn Standard-Union, and The Brooklyn Citizen; Resolutions of the U. S. Congress; of The Legislature of The State of New York, both Houses; of The Common Council of the City of Brooklyn; of the Board of Supervisors of Kings County, New York; of the various companies, orders and institutions of which he had been a member; also resolutions of various Posts of The Grand Army of The Republic, Military Associations, etc., of New York and other States.

It has been the custom for many years, but probably to a greater degree latterly than formerly, to give the name of a prominent man to children and to objects, either in honor of the man whose name is so used or to honor the person or object so named. This has been the case with the name of General Slocum. Probably the most enduring object named in his honor, is Fort Slocum, a strong fortification on an island at the western part of Long Island Sound, southward from New Rochelle, New York, and guarding the approach to New York City by the eastern end of East River or Strait. A large and elegant pleasure excursion steambōat named General Slocum was very popular about the harbor of New York City for several years, then was accidentally burned near North Brother Island, East River, with great loss of life 15 June, 1904. A Free Kindergarten was established in Brooklyn in 1894 and named the Slocum Kindergarten in honor of the man who did so much for the children. A large United States ship for transporting soldiers and army supplies during the Spanish War and since bears the name Slocum. Also the large, strong United States Army

Tug Slocum did good service 18 April, 1906, in taking the battalion of the 22nd Infantry, U. S. A., from Fort McDowell, Angel Island, to San Francisco to support the civil authorities and aid the earthquake sufferers; also in policing the wharf line. The 23 November, 1906, this U. S. A. Tug Slocum brought the disabled U. S. Transport Sheridan into San Francisco Harbor from the rocks of Barber's Point, Hawaiian Islands—which service brings to mind the saving of the youth Sheridan for his brilliant career in the U. S. Army during the Civil War, by the youth Slocum aiding him to make his necessary grade while they were both cadets at West Point.

The children of Gen. Henry Warner and Clara (Rice) Slocum, are:

Admitted to the Bar 1871, and practiced with his father in Boston. Was married to Annie Augusta Pulsifer. She died 20

April, 1899, at their home in Newtonville; was buried in the Newton Cemetery. He married second in Boston 27 March, 1901, Sara Maria Barry, born there 17 March, 1851, daughter of John Lincoln and Elizabeth (Eagus) Barry.

Mr. Slocum has arisen to distinction in his profession. Has served a number of years as City Solicitor in Newton; also as Republican Representative in the Massachusetts Legislature, where he took leading position. He served on several important committees, including Chairman of the Committee on Cities, where his special qualifications on municipal law were of advantage in drafting charters for a half dozen or more new cities. He has often been called to discuss political questions, and to deliver addresses on various occasions. He has declined to accept other nominations for office, including State Senator, when nomination was equivalent to election. He resides at Newtonville, Mass. Children, all by first marriage:

REV. WILLIAM FREDERICK⁹ SLOCUM (William F.⁸ Oliver E.⁷ Eleazer,⁶ David,⁵ Ebenezer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 29 July, 1851, in Grafton, Massachusetts. Was educated in the Public Schools; Amherst College where he was graduated A. B. in 1874; in Germany; and in Andover Theological Seminary where he was graduated B. D. in 1878. See Volume I.

He married in 1880 Mary Goodale Montgomery, daughter of William and Sara Temple (Goodale) Montgomery. She has written creditable poetry; including a poem on Peterborough Cathedral, in New Hampshire, in the Outlook magazine of September 10, 1904; and 'Workers' in Outlook of March 17, 1904.

He was pastor of the Union Congregational Church at Salisbury, Mass., until January, 1883, when he accepted call to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church, Baltimore, Maryland. Here he had a wider field for usefulness in religious, social and literary activities; and he here continued his studies in philosophy and political economy at the Johns Hopkins University.

In 1888 he was unanimously elected President of Colorado College, and was inaugurated 28 March, 1889. Under his guidance this college has prospered; in large increase of endowment, in number of buildings, in increase of students, and in the range and quality of requirements. In addition to the arduous work of the presidency in this development, he has given instruction in ethics, psychology and general philosophy.

From Colorado Springs President Slocum also did good work for the State of Colorado, serving five years as President and Organizer of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, for which work his sociological studies well fitted him. He took active interest in the labor question. At the time of the miners' strike at Cripple Creek he visited the scene of the difficulty and, as a result of his personal appeal to the leaders, they opened negotiations with the mine owners and arbitration was finally secured. He also served on the Colorado State Board of Pardons. He declined candidacy for Governor on the Republican ticket when election was sure.

In 1893 Amherst College conferred on him the degree of LL. D., as did the University of Nebraska in 1894.

The 21 June, 1897, the Trustees of Oberlin College unanimously offered him the Presidency of that old and strong institution; but he felt impelled to continue his work so well advanced at Colorado College, and he declined the tempting offer.

At the International Congress of Arts and Science, St. Louis, September 19-25, 1904, in the Department of Education, he was Chairman of the Section on the College.

Early in 1906 he was chosen member of the Board of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, in succession to the late President Harper of Chicago University.

The prominent newspapers have commended and published many of his sermons delivered in the pulpit; also his lectures and writings on educational subjects. Also his various articles on educational, sociological and ethical themes, have been published in different leading periodicals.

It is said of President Slocum, that "in all moral questions his loyalty to truth is uncompromising, while his Quaker heritage is plainly discernible in his calmness and evenness of mind and in his cheerful, kindly nature." The following is excerpted from his inaugural address at Colorado College:

Nothing is of more far-reaching importance than the training of the soul; the unfolding under healthful discipline of the latent powers which the Creator has implanted within it. . . . True education must ever seek to produce the perfect man by processes which the eternal wisdom has shown to be wise; it must seek to fit the individual for his place in life, whatever that may be, to rightly equip, with heart and mind turned steadfastly toward the true and the good. . . . All education worthy of the name, must ever seek to so broaden the mental horizon that narrow prejudice and weak conceptions of right are driven from the soul, while it also produces that accuracy of mental habit which secures trustworthiness of judgment and feeling. . . . The American college should be a mental and moral gymnasium; the place where well prepared students gain intellectual and ethical vigor; where they apply themselves to a wholesome and rigid course of mental training. Strong, sound, vigorous training makes strong, sound vigorous men and women. To secure this end there must be thorough courses of study. . . . The shallow and superficial course of study makes shallow and superficial character. . . . To learn that "whosoever disbelieves in science disbelieves in God;" that the indisputable discoveries of modern investigation have only broadened our religious position and strengthened it; that only the reverent soul knows the deepest truths of philosophy—this may and ought to be accomplished in the College. . . . The Christian College ought to have the liberty and persistence . . . to so guide and unfold the young soul that neither the fallacies of a false philosophy, the important discoveries in science, nor the broadening interpretations of religious truth shall in after years drive the student from the peace and usefulness of a deep religious faith.

President Slocum is member of the University Club, Denver, and of the Tavern Club, Boston, Mass. He gives close attention to his duties as President of Colorado College, 'the Yale of the West' at Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he resides in 1907. No children reported.

ELLA BOURNE⁹ SLOCUM (John F.,⁸ Benjamin T.,⁷ Abel,⁶ Samuel,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Ebenezer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 5 May, 1847, at Fall River, Massachusetts, and was reared from the age of sixteen years in Chicago, Ill. She was educated in the Public Schools and in a New England boarding school. She inherited a remarkably good singing voice, and it was cultivated in the United States, Germany and France, latterly with Adelina Patti's teacher. Managers of opera made offers for her engagement but, deferring to the advice of her immediate friends, they were declined.

She was married 18 June, 1867, in Chicago to George Mason of Scotland. This marriage was unfortunate, and it became necessary for her to procure a divorce.

She married second in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 21 September, 1880, the Baron Ernest von Jeinsen, of Hanover, Germany. This union was a happy one. While their home was at the Baron's estate in Germany, they traveled extensively. He died at Mamaroneck, New York, 17 March, 1889.

She was married third 8 June, 1892, to Sir Franklin Simmons, of Leicester, Maine, a noted sculptor residing in Rome, Italy, where he had a studio many years. Some of his marbles are in the Capitol at Washington; in Providence, R. I.; Portland, Me.; Detroit, Mich., and other public galleries; also in private collections here and abroad. His equestrian statue of General John A. Logan, in Hancock Circle, Washington, is not only the largest bronze, but many think it his best work.

He was knighted Chevalier by the King of Italy. He is Dean of the American Colony in Rome, and their regular social sessions, and dinners, were looked forward to with much pleasurable anticipation by their many friends, American and European.

Mrs. Simmons was not only highly accomplished in music, but in art, painting, and language, being fluently versed in several tongues.

She died 22 December, 1905, at their home in Rome. This was a severe shock to her family and numerous friends, conversant with her high attainments and admirable character. Her remains were laid at rest in Rome, and a statue entitled The Guardian Angel, is assuming beautiful form under the skilful touch of her husband, to adorn and guard the place. Child, by first marriage:

- i. CARLISLE MASON, b. 25 Sept., 1868, in Chicago; m. 31 Aug., 1898, Margaret Conway, of Virginia City, Montana. She d. 4 April, 1901, in Butte, Mont. He mar. 2nd 23 July, 1902, in New York City, Sophia Ringold Machonache of San Francisco, Calif.

EDWARD RANDOLPH⁹ SLOCUM (John W.,⁸ Webley,⁷ Samuel,⁶ Samuel,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) born 8 May, 1834, in New York City. Married 19 April, 1863, Mary Jane Woolley, born 3 December, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. They settled on a farm near Long Branch, New Jersey, the home of his grandfather. Here all their children were born. In 1883 he became associated with Thomas R. Woolley in the business of retail and wholesale dealers in anthracite coal. He died 10 September, 1901. Of their children (see Volume I):

- iv. JOHN WEBLEY, b. 23 April, 1867; was admitted as Counselor at Law in June, 1888. Was married 23 Dec., 1891, to Ada, dau. of Richard V. and Sara E. Breece, of Long Branch, where she was born 27 Dec., 1871, and where they (1906) reside. He was Police Justice 1889-94, and City Solicitor 1895-1900, when he resigned to give more attention to his lucrative practice of law.
- v. EDWARD RANDOLPH, b. 1 Feb., 1869; m. 28 Sept., 1892, to Lillian A. Morris, dau. of Jacob W. and Elizabeth L. Morris. Since 1886 he has been associated with the First National Bank at Long Branch, N. J., and (1906) is its Assistant Cashier.
- vi. THOMAS LESTER, b. 6 May, 1871; m. Emma J. Newman, of Belmar, N. J., 26 Dec., 1892. He succeeded his father in the coal business at Long Branch, N. J., where they reside in 1906.

GILES BRYAN⁹ SLOCUM (Jeremiah,⁸ Giles,⁷ Jonathan,⁶ Joseph,⁵ Giles,⁴ Samuel,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 11 July, 1808, in Saratoga Tp., Saratoga Co., New York. He went to northwestern Ohio in 1831, and found much to do, in wharf building and in trade, at the new settlement of Vistula on the site of the present Toledo. He was called home by the death of his father in 1832; but, as soon as practicable the next year he returned to the western shores of Lake Erie where he had discovered so many opportunities for his energy. He soon became engaged in the working up of the great growths of timber, dealing in supplies and in buying land. See Volume I.

But few years past before he was a large land and sheep owner; with other profitable enterprises ever awaiting time that was not fully taken with the work and business in hand. His methods of business from the first were most commendable; always to keep whatever he undertook well in hand and never to permit anything to suffer for want of due attention. The leading principle of his business life was to do his business exclusively on his own capital. He never gave a mortgage, never gave a note; what he could not do with his own means was left undone; and furthermore, complaint was never made that he dealt unjustly by any man.

He took active interest in politics, but did not want office. Was a member of the first Republican State Convention held in Jackson, Michigan, in 1854. He was active and influential in the construction of railroads, and every other enterprise for the development of his State and Nation.

In 1838 he married Sophia Maria Brigham Truax, who (1906) survives. See Volume I. Mr. Slocum died 27 January, 1884, at his home on Slocum Island, Detroit River, near Trenton, Michigan. Was buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Detroit. The newspapers, in extended obituaries, wrote of him as the most widely and favorably known man in the State; and they might have added, one of the wealthiest. Children:

642. i. ELLIOTT TRUAX, b. 15 May, 1839; m. Charlotte G. Wood.
 ii. ALICE TRUAX, b. 11 January, 1842; died 18 Sept., 1865.

JAMES⁹ SLOCUM (Giles,⁸ Giles,⁷ Jonathan,⁶ Joseph,⁵ Giles,⁴ Samuel,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) born 7 November, 1811, in Claverack, Columbia County, New York. Died 15 March, 1891, in Brownsville, Pennsylvania, where he had resided forty-five years, nearly forty of which he was engaged in active business as a hardware merchant.

Perhaps no citizen of this borough was better known and more generally respected than James Slocum . . . he was pleased when he could have an argument with a young man of his liking. This was a peculiar trait of his character. He was a great reader, a deep thinker, and had an excellent memory. No man in this vicinity gave closer attention to historical reminiscences, and he possessed an excellent library of this class of works. . . . His whole aim in life was to be at the best of everything. . . . He was reared as a Quaker and like those people, ever had a fondness for plainness; was of reserved disposition, and in a public way declined to allow his name to be used conspicuously. . . . In politics he was an ardent Republican. . . . a strong abolitionist. . . . Was always ready and willing to enter into any enterprise that would prove beneficial to his town. He was one of the original stockowners in the Second National Bank, and in the Redstone Cemetery, where his remains were laid. . . .

His attachment to the church, of which he was a liberal supporter, and his strong convictions of the Scriptural basis of the Prebsyterian faith, were well known. His forty years of business life in Brownsville, and his eighty years of residence on earth, have been a tower of strength for all that which is good and noble in society—a bulwark of defense against that which made for evil. . . .

There has not been in this neighborhood any one life superior for good, if indeed equal in influence to that of James Slocum.—From obituaries in Brownsville, Pa., newspapers. See, also, Volume I, pages 458-9.

LYDIA¹⁰ PIERCE (Ephraim H. Pierce and Clarissa⁹ Slocum, Caleb W.,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 15 December, 1847, on a farm near Osborn Bridge, Northampton Township, Fulton County, New York. She was reared in that county, receiving her education in the Public Schools. She was married 20 March, 1867, to Henry Clay Bigelow, son of Alfred and Eliza Ann (Benedict) Bigelow of North Broadalbin, Fulton Co., N. Y., where he was born 5 April, 1843. They moved in 1867 to Buda, Bureau County, Illinois, where he conducted a clothing and banking business until 1874, when they moved to a large farm three miles southwest of Belvidere, Thayer County, Nebraska. Here he took up the business of farming and dealing in live stock, in which he was successful. He was elected treasurer of Thayer County and they took residence in Hebron, the seat of government. In August, 1889, health considerations induced their removal to Ogden, Utah, where they have enjoyed better health, with continued prosperity. Mr. Bigelow organized the Ogden State Bank, and in 1890 took interest in The Reed Hotel, a large modern building, in one of the business rooms of which he has conducted the bank as its president. The deposits in this bank 4 September, 1906, were $1,269,002.73, a good index of the confidence of the community in its management. The profits were gratifying. Mrs. Bigelow is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and is justly proud of her family. Children:

- i. ARCHIBALD PIERCE BIGELOW, b. 21 Jan., 1868, in Buda, Ill. Was educated in the Public Schools of Nebraska and at the University of Wisconsin. Was married 17 April, 1888, to Leota Hendershot, of his then home town, Hebron, Nebr. Her parents formerly resided in Ohio, but 1906 reside in Ogden, Utah. Archibald P. is cashier of the Ogden State Bank, also a director. Residence Ogden, Utah. A child, Dorothy, was b. 20 Aug., 1892.
- ii. JESSIE FLORENCE BIGELOW, b. 21 Apr., 1871, in Buda, Ill. She was educated in the Public Schools of Nebraska; the University of Nebraska where she was graduated in 1895; with special language courses in the Chicago University; and in the Chicago Conservatory of Music. She was mar. 28 Feb., 1899, at the home of her parents, to Everett Lewis⁹ Van Meter, b. 4 Feb., 1860, near Lexington, Ky., whose American lineage runs back as follows: Benjamin F.,⁸ Isaac,⁷ Jacob,⁶ Isaac,⁵ Garret,⁴ Isaac,³ Kryn Jansen,² Jans Gysbertstin¹ van Meteren, who came from Holland in 1662.* Everett L. was educated at Central University, Richmond, Ky., and the University of Virginia. He is a commission salesman at the Chicago Stock Yards. They passed the summer of 1907 in Europe, going as far as Greece and Constantinople, and returned to their residence in Chicago the latter part of September. Mrs. Van Meter is a member of the Presbyterian Church. She states the characteristics of Mrs. Bigelow, her mother, as follows: "It has ever been her heart's desire to encourage and further every worthy ambition of her children. Her filial devotion and early maternal duties narrowed her own sphere, and deprived a wider circle of the inspiration of a rare personality. Owing to this circumstance, perhaps, or to the eager craving of her mind for the highest standards of excellence, she embraced every opportunity to secure for me the advantages of a university education, supplemented by music and by travel to Europe and the Orient. To those nearest to her her life is an epic of fine striving and fine achievement. It embodies all that is best; that is most worth while. Her children may in fact call her 'blessed . . . who openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness.'"

DR. JOHN CALEB⁹ SLOCUM (Caleb W.,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹). "At 10 P. M. Thursday, 11 November, 1897, at the family residence below Orlando, Florida, after a long illness which wrecked both mind and body, Dr. John C. Slocum died of exhaustion resulting from general debility. . . . The deceased leaves a wife and many friends, but no children, to mourn his death.

"Doctor Slocum came to Orlando about 1883 from Shelbyville, Indiana, and settled south of the city, where he and his wife built a good lakeside home and where they have lived quietly ever since save the four years of President Harrison's administration, 1889-93, during which he was United States Surveyor General of Florida, when they lived in Tallahassee.

"The deceased was a gentleman of the old school, highly educated, prepossessing in appearance and manner, polished, courteous and kind, and one who won friends from every walk of life. For many years he was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, in which faith he lived and died." Orange County Reporter, Orlando, Florida.

His widow, Jennie (Dodds) Slocum, died 9 November, 1907, unexpectedly, at the home of her niece in Riverside, Illinois.

JOSEPH W.⁹ SLOCUM (Caleb W.,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹). "Died on Sunday, November 18, 1883, at 11 A. M., at his late residence half way between El Paso and Kappa, Illinois, Joseph W* Slocum, in the 52nd year of his age. He was born in Fulton County, New York, and in 1857 moved to the vicinity of Brimfield, Illinois, where he lived a quiet, unassuming life as a farmer, respected and liked by all his neighbors and friends, until the breaking out of the Southern Rebellion, when, loyal, brave and obedient to his country's call, he enlisted and for three years served as a common soldier in the 77th Regiment of Illinois Volunteers. In 1876 he moved to his late residence, two and a half miles south of El Paso. . . .

*This W was used in later life to distinguish him from his uncle Joseph Slocum. It not being the initial of a name, a period should not be used. He died of pleurisy, empyema, with secondary pneumonia, with sickness of three and a half months duration.

John C. Slovic.

"In his everyday relations with his neighbors, Mr. Slocum was singularly quiet and unobtrusive, yet his whole life was an example of well-directed energy, force and decision, and by his mildness and quietness, his morality and good works, he accomplished more of good for the world, for mankind generally, and for his family, than the man of great professions could ever do. His life was like a deep river which flows strongly yet quietly along.

"Although far from three score and ten years his life was fairly rounded out, and having done his duty as he saw it, he was ready when the summons came to join the innumerable caravan." . . .

The El Paso Journal. See also Volume I of this work.

His widow, Elma (Hooegeboom) Slocum moved to Peoria, Ill., with her daughter, and there died 17 February, 1903. Children:

- i. GEORGE WASHINGTON, b. 25 Oct., 1858; d. 6 Oct., 1862.
- ii. CHARLES ELIHU, b. 26 Jan., 1862. Was educated in the Public Schools and at The Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Ill. After some experience in teaching he studied medicine, attended this Dept. of the University of Michigan two years, 1884-86, and Columbia University, New York City, where he was graduated M. D. in 1887; then in post graduate work in the University of Pennsylvania, and hospitals of Philadelphia, and there received honors in June, 1888. He has practiced his profession at El Paso and Peoria, Ill., at Beatrice, Nebr., and now (1906) resides in Bentonville, Arkansas. He married in May, 1894, Harriet Ishmael, of Peoria. CHARLOTTE MAY¹⁰ SLOCUM (*Eleazer,*⁹ *Caleb W.,*⁸ *Joseph,*⁷ *Eleazer,*⁶ *John,*⁵ *Eleazer,*⁴ *Eleazer,*³ *Giles,*² *Anthony,*¹) born at Grand Rapids, Michigan. Her education began with her mother, an experienced school teacher, and was continued in the Public Schools of Illinois, completing the higher courses offered at Brimfield. At the age of sixteen years she entered the State Normal University, at Normal, Ill., and after an interrupted course, due to one year of teaching and another year of ill health, was there graduated 19 June, 1894. She had prepared herself specially as a primary teacher, the most important in the school work, and during the next five years she ably taught primary classes in the Public Schools of Evanston, Ill. During one of these summer vacations she accompanied her uncle, Dr. Charles Elihu Slocum (with whom she resided during much of her illness, and who had been much interested in her education) to Niagara Falls, the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence, down this river to Montreal and Quebec, thence to the White Mountains and Boston, where they attended the Fiftieth Anniversary Meeting of The American Association for the Advancement of Science, with excursions in and about Boston from Salem and Concord to Plymouth; returning home by way of New York, Philadelphia, Washington, etc.

In September, 1899, she was called, to the regret of the Evanston Board of Education, to the Eastern Illinois State Normal School (the buildings of which were then just completed at Charleston) as Primary Critic in the Training School. This position she held six years. In the summer vacation of 1901 she again visited New York with her uncle, Doctor Slocum, and attended the Annual Meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in the new buildings of Columbia University. During the following summer she was employed as teacher in the Summer Schools of the State Normal, and as instructor in County Teachers' Institutes, thus teaching ten weeks some summers; in the summer of 1902 attending the Summer School of Harvard University instead.

During these years she attained high repute throughout the State as an educator; was chosen to various offices in The Northern, The Eastern, and Illinois State Teachers' Associations, and in the Primary Section of the State Association. She was also member of The National Teachers' Association; and retains membership in the State Boards of the Illinois Congress of Mothers, in which organizations she has done much work among mothers which should show for good to the children of succeeding generations. She has also done good work as member of The Methodist Episcopal Church, and of The Young Women's Christian Association.

Resigning her proud position with the State, she was married 12 September, 1905, at the home of her mother, and grandfather, William Cowley, near Brimfield, by Rev. Snedeker, to George Cromwell Ashman, born 19 August, 1869, near Frankfort, Indiana, son of George and Mary Ellen (Leslie) Ashman, farmers. He attended the Public Schools and, when older, worked on the farm summers. In September, 1886, he entered Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind. After two years study here he taught three terms in the country schools near his home. In 1892 he returned to Wabash College, and was here graduated B. S. in June, 1895. The next school year he also passed here as assistant in chemistry, and doing graduate work. In September, 1896, he took a position as teacher of chemistry and physics in The Frankfort, Indiana, High School, continuing in this place until December, 1901, when he became Principal of the Department of Chemistry in The Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill., in affiliation with The University of Chicago, which position he now (1907) holds. He has pursued advanced work in The University of Chicago during his summer vacations from teaching, and was there graduated M. S. in 1905. Wabash College conferred the degree of A. M. on him in 1906. His graduate course at the University of Chicago for the Doctorate of Philosophy is nearly completed (1907). He is member of The Indiana Academy of Science, The Indiana Association of Science Teachers, The Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers and The American Chemical Society.

Prof. and Mrs. Ashman reside in Peoria, Ill.

DR. CHARLES ELIHU⁹ SLOCUM (Caleb W.,⁸ Joseph,⁷ Eleazer,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) waz* born 30 December, 1841, by the mills at Northville, Fulton County, New York, and waz rerd on a farm about a mile from this vilaj. He waz the yungest ov a family ov eleven children, and he began life rather porly endowd fizikaly, inkluding eyesight, and waz thus, and pekuniarily, much handikapt in obtaning an edukashon. He began teching Publik Skool in kuntry distrikt, Hamilton County, New York, befor sixteen yertz ov aj, at the pris ov twelv dolarz and fifty sents a month and bord, the bord to be obtand by staing with the patrons ov the skool about wun week in a family. He kontinud teching winters for several yertz in Fulton and Saratoga kountys, and in higher grades and privat skools in the Schuylkil Valy, Pennsylvania, and in Albion, Michigan, with inkresing resets, which wer mostly expended in atending skool; se Volume I.

He began the study of medisin under a preseptor, while teching in kolej in Albion, Michigan; and he saw much ov praktikal medisin and surjery befor being graduated M. D. at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, in 1869.

Notwithstanding hiz por helth, in July, 1871, he setld in the then vilaj ov Defiance, Ohio, which plas haz sins bin hiz hom. From the first it waz hiz ambishon to hav hiz ofis wel ekwipt for the praktis ov medisin and surgery. His pashents kam in larj number, and wer wel plezd with the relief aforded them; and the rekurens ov hiz former por helth waz probably a blessing to him by interrupting hiz to klos aplikashon to night and day work—with long drives without an improvd road and often thru deep, hevvy mud, and severe malaria—and inklining him to return diferent yertz to the medikal senters ov Nu York, Filadelfia, and in Europe, for studiz in the speshaltiz ov hiz profeschon.

Thez chanjez in work wer rekreativ in the tru sens; tha brot improvment in helth and nolej that hav sins bin ov servis to many frends. Thez studiz also brot him the onors ov Jefferson Kolej, Filadelfia, ov the University ov Pennsylvania, and later ov Defiance Kolej which in sentiment iz the most prizd az koming from hiz nabors ov many yertz ov klos asosiashon.

*Se the Prefas ov this buk for authoritiz for this speling.

Doktor Slocum's entire life haz bin a partikularly aktiv wun, and wun in which the most praktikal methods hav bin konsulted. Al ov hiz mental and pekuniary inkum, and the onors that hav kum to him, hav bin the lejimat result ov hiz luv ov persistent efort; and hiz varid eforts hav bin direktd by the nesesity for divershon and rekreashon. Thez revivifying ajensez hav bin obtand in okashonal chanjez in work and sene, always with helthful mental exersize, such az studiz and praktikal obzervashons in the open air in natural siens—jeology, and the fauna and flora ov the plas wherever he might be—and studiz in the history ov the rejon. Thez litl jurneys hav givn elasticity to the body and the mind while extending hiz fund ov nolej and hiz kolekshons ov fizikal spesimens, which ar now insiting others to such rekreativ studiz, and thus blesing the lives, the bodiz and spirits, ov many frends, old and yung.

Hiz only liberal expenditurs in the erlier yerz ov profeshonal work wer for hiz ofis inkluding buks. Hiz pekuniary akumulashons wer also set at work; first invested litl by litl in stock ov The Defiance National Bank. In January, 1874, he waz elektet a Direktor in this bank, and in 1892 when its charter waz renewd with name ov The First National Bank, he waz chozn Direktor, and Vice-Prezident. He also investet in The Defiance Savings Bank which waz charterd in 1881 az The Merchants National Bank, when he waz chozn a Direktor, and later Vice-Prezident and akting Prezident. He haz also bin a stokoner in several ov the larjest manufaktORIZ in Defiance, and Direktor and Prezident ov sum ov them. Thez holdings wer in later yerz konvertet into edukashonal benefakshons which hav for several yerz bin at work for the uplifting ov yung pepl, and thru their gud work benefiting mankind.

The groing and develop'ng Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, being in grat need ov a library bilding, Doktor Slocum furnisht the fund in 1894 for such bilding. He also gav much time and thot to the making ov this bilding modern and model in every respekt. The main part iz 63 to 67x128 feet in ground plan, with a wing about 50 feet skwar, al with uniform hight; the main part iz thre hi storiz and the wing for bukstak iz divided into five storiz. A basment under the main part servz for heting, ventilating fan, and other uses. The entire outer wals ar ov Bedford, Indiana, buf limeston, lind with holo brik, and the partishons and florz ar ov struktural tile supported by steel work and koverd with sement, thus making al parts fireprof.

The first flor iz divided into klas, lekture, buk-unpaking and koat romz; the sekond flor into romz for the librarian, kataloging, and the jeneral reding rom which is 60x100 feet flor spas, with hi seling, and thoroly lited by thirty-five large windoz on the sides and rer end, a glas partishon at front, and a skylit 20x69 feet over the senter. The third flor iz divided into ten seminar romz for departmental librariz and for university work proper.

The buk kapasity ov this bilding haz bin komputed az hi az 300,000 volums. It waz dedikated befor a larj audiens 20 June, 1898, and givn the donor's ful nam.

Doktor Slocum haz valued buks ov solid karakter—the repozi-toriz ov the akumulated nolej ov sivilizashon—and five thousand or mor volums wer gatherd in hiz privat library nothwithstanding the suplying ov sum frends from hiz shelvz. Sum fakts regarding this privat library ar permitted reported only az a posibl enkurajment to buk-luving pepl ho may read this skech, by ilustrating what kan be akomplisht with moderat, kontinuus outlay—the owner ov this kolekshon beleving it best to own the obtanibl buks nesenary for mental expanshon rather than be dependant upon the naborz or a publik library. Hiz library kontanz somthing relating to every subjekt—buks, jeneral and speshal on the diferent fazez ov anthropolojy, langwaj, history, siens, literatur, filosofy, politiks, relijons, and edukashon. Buks ov siens, history and literatur other than fikshon, predominat. Very litl spas haz bin givn to fikshon on akount ov its demoralizing influens on mind and time.

The medikal and surjikal sienses ar wel portrayd by several speshal and resent tretises on each subjekt. Speshal tretises on the diferent fazez ov biolojy and sikolojy ar also in this department, az wel az in that ov the edukashonal, and mor than fifty volums ov the publikashons ov the Amerikan Medikal Asosiashon, and mor than thirty volums ov the Ohio State Medikal Asosiashon, the owner having bin mor than thirty yerz a member ov thez bodiz. Long time membership in other sosietiz haz aded ov their publikashons; among which ar The Amerikan Mikroskopikal Society, a charter member, thirty volums; The New England Historic Genealogical Society, a life member, about thirty volums; Amerikan Akademy ov Politikal and Soshal Siens, twenty-seven; Amerikan Asosiashon for the Advansment ov Siens, twenty-five; Nashonal Jeografik Society, fifteen; The Ohio State Arkeolojikal and Historikal Society, a life member, twenty, etc. A number ov other buks and periodikals relating to speshal siens hav bin regularly resevd.

Being at grat distans from larj librariz, it waz nesenary to purchas the buks neded; and being in sympathy with the beter methods ov modern bukmaking, and ov siens, he haz endevord to gather the best buks ilustrativ ov such methods. Litl if any atenshon haz bin givn to vagary or hoby in the selekshon ov buks. A fu hand-sum bindings ar posest, but jeneraly a gud kloth binding haz bin preferd to any other kind for its beter withstanding atmosferik, parasitik and other deleterius efekts.

This privat library haz bin frely open to the publik, and many persons hav konsulted it, the owner having bin plezd to giv hiz aid in selekting buks for eny line ov referens or study. The buks wer aranjd in four romz konekting with hiz ofis under Masonik Hal in the biznes part ov Defiance; and thez romz hav bin frely open, not alone to rederz, but az a meting plas for the Fort Defiance Siens Klub which waz organizd and fosterd by Doktor Slocum, and ov other organizashons, and individuals, who desird to konfer regarding kweshons ov publik utility, or on subjekts literary, sientifik, muzikal, etc.

Realizing that many ov thez buks had servd their purpos to him, and that tha might hav a wider usefulnes elswher, their oner began their distribushon in the yer 1905. Sum went to personal frends ho wud mak gud use ov them; others wer sent to Defiance Kolej; others to the Charles Elihu Slocum Library ov The Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio; others to The Orrington Lunt Library ov The Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois; and yet mor to the nu bilding ov The Defiance Publik Library, Defiance, Ohio.

The trustez ov the last namd institushon, in konstrukting the nu Carnegie Library Bilding, adapted a larj part for Doktor Slocum's sole okupansy with what tha wer plezd to designat The Charles Elihu Slocum Referens Library, and Sientifik and Historikal Kolekshons. This Referens Library iz at prezent komposd ov about thre thousand volums; the sientifik kolekshons konsist ov hundreds ov natural siens objekts for the study ov zoolojy, vertebrat and invertibrat, and oology; sekshons ov the diferent strata ov the earth's krust, with their fosils; objekts ov fenomenal jeolojy; and ov minerals, inkluding jems, lapidarid and other. The historikal kolekshon embrases many hundreds ov arkeolojik artikls, vases, implements, wepons, etc., larjly ov Amerikan Aborijinez, firemaking artikls, pioner artikls ov utility, several stajez in the development ov firearms, and many other artikls ov interest and value. Al ar systematikaly aranjd and labeld by Doktor Slocum for their konvenient study by the publik, the pupils ov the Hi Skool, and the students ov Defiance Kolej.

In erlier yerz Doktor Slocum deklind oferz ov profesorship in Fort Wayne and Chicago Medikal Skools; but in 1896 he aksepted an importunat kal to The Cleveland College of Physicians and Surgeons, Cleveland, Ohio, az Profesor ov Sikoloji and Ethiks. Upon thez subjekts, in their medikal relashons and barings, he lekturd ther four yerz, prinsipaly to the senior klasez, and then positively deklind to kontinue work so far from hiz home.

He erly anserd a similar importunat kal from hiz hom literary institushon, and for several yerz haz bin chief ov the departments ov Biology and Jeolojy in the yung and prosperus Defiance College, from loyalty to hiz hom sity. The old luv ov teching iz renewd, and each yer he haz dun this work with even grater zest than in hiz erly teching yerz. He endevoz to keep wel within sight ov the progres in thez siensez and ov the others pertaining to hiz profeshon.

In adishon to the sosietez elswher namd, the subjekt ov this skech iz a member—in diferent wuns a charter member or life member—ov The Old Colony Historikal Sosiety, Taunton, Mass.; The local medikal sosietiz; The Ohio State Akademy ov Siens; Philadelphia Akademy ov Natural Siensez; Wisconsin Natural History Sosiety, also ov this State Arkeolojik Society; The Ohio Society for the Prevenshon of Tuberkulosis; The Ohio Society ov the Sons ov the Revolushon, from his grandfather Joseph⁷ Slocum, and hiz grat grandfathers Eleazer⁶ Slocum and Caleb Wright; member ov The Biolojik Society ov Washington, D. C.; Internashonal Medikal Kongres; Internashonal Kongres ov Amerikanists; Pan-Amerikan Medikal Kongres; Internashonal Geographik Kongres, 1904; Internashonal Kongres ov Arts and Siensez, 1904; The Amerikan Anthropolojik Asosiashon; life member of The Amerikan Museum of Natural History, New York City; Amerikan Forestry Assosiashon, etc. It haz bin imposibl for him to atend the metings ov thez sosietiz regularly; but it haz bin a plezhur and a part ov hiz rekreashon to atend okashonaly, and to kontribut to their suport; and their publikashons ar examind with interest and profit. The only fraternal sosietiz ov which he iz a member, ar the A. F. and A. Masonik bodiz thru the 32°, and the Methodist Episcopal Church (ther being no meting ov the Sosiety ov Friends ner).

Hiz pen haz bin aktiv at times during the yerz past, on lokal, and sum jeneral kweschons. Hiz larjest buk, resently publisht, is a larj oktavo ov 666 pajez, fuly ilustrated, entitled, History ov The Maumee River Basin, which haz bin very favorably revewd by historikal jurnals. Several other works ar wel under wa.

During Doktor Slocum's pulmonary and throat weknes, he held konsienshus skrupls agenst marij; and this prinsipl, and akshon, hav bin komended by hiz later jujment. He lived a bachelor until 5 April, 1900, when he marid, at her venerabl mother's hom in Toledo, Ohio, Mis Sophia Isabel Craver, M. D., ho waz born 4 May, 1850, in Lebanon, Warren County, Ohio, and waz rerd in Williams County, adjoining Defiance County, Ohio. She is the sixth ov eight children and the third ov five dauterz ov David and Eliza (Christopher) Craver, desest, the former from Maryland and ov Swiss descent, and the latter born in New Jersey. Doktres Craver Slocum waz edukated in the Publik Skools and in Bryan Akademy. She taut Publik Skools in Williams Kounty eight yerz, in Bryan two yerz, and in the Toledo Industrial Skool thre yerz. She began the study ov medisn in Toledo, Ohio, in 1878; and pursued the korsez ov The Wimen's Medikal Kolej ov The Northwestern University, Chicago, and waz ther graduated M. D. in 1882. She began the praktis ov medisn in Defiance, Ohio, wher she remand wun yer and a haf, then praktist in Bryan about nine yerz. She waz then chozn fizishan in the Wimen's Department ov The Toledo State Hospital for wun yer; then she opend ofis in Toledo. Tha have no children.

HON. ELLIOTT TRUAX¹⁰ SLOCUM (Giles B.,⁹ Jeremiah,⁸ Giles,⁷ Jonathan,⁶ Joseph,⁵ Giles,⁴ Samuel,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 15 May, 1839, near the Village of Trenton, Wayne County, Michigan, and was there reared. He was prepared for college at the Rev. Moses H. Hunter's School for Boys on Grosse Isle, Detroit River, near his home.* He entered Union College, Schenectady, New York, and

*Rev. Moses Hoge Hunter held diplomas from Yale and Princeton. He was an Episcopal minister in charge of the chapel on Grosse Isle, but his duties there gave him time for teaching a select school for boys. This school was patronized by wealthy residents of Detroit, Adrian, Toledo, Cleveland, etc. The teacher was a good disciplinarian and succeeded in getting the respect and good will of his pupils. The Detroit Free Press of July 29, 1906, printed a long article regarding this teacher and the boys in attendance in 1855, and the compact signed by fourteen of them to meet there again after twenty years. This meeting was so enjoyable they resolved to meet again after ten years. Rev. Hunter went in 1861 to the Civil War as chaplain of the Third Pennsylvania Cavalry. He returned to Grosse Isle and was in charge of the chapel there at the first reunion of these 'boys' now men, in 1875. In this year he accepted a call to St. Mary's, Maryland, but his former pupils of the compact brought him back for their reunion in 1885. Other reunions were held after the master was unable to attend; and the attendance was there graduated A. B. in 1862. In 1869 he received the degree of Master of Arts from the University of Michigan.

After leaving college he assisted his father in looking after their large land, lumber and farming interests, which they enlarged and extended until they became widely extended and valuable. Meantime, with his father, he was active in raising men and money for their equipment against the Southern Rebellion.

Since the death of his father in 1884, Mr. Slocum has continued these landed interests. He has large tracts of timber and other lands in Wayne, Muskegon, Oceana, Newaygo and Kent Counties, Michigan, and is the owner of large tracts of valuable timbered lands in upper Michigan and Wisconsin.

In 1887 he platted the Village of Slocum's Grove, now Slocum Postoffice, which is situated by Crockery Creek in the midst of one of his large tracts of timber in Muskegon County. A large lumber mill, also a planing mill, and charcoal kilns, are (1907) in operation there.

His first vote was cast for Abraham Lincoln, and he has since been a staunch Republican. Has served as delegate to many State Conventions. In 1869 he was elected State Senator from the Third District, which was strongly Democratic; and he has taken active part in many other Senatorial contests for his party.

He was married 30 July, 1872, to Charlotte Gross Wood, daughter of the late Ransom E. Wood, an old resident and capitalist of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Mrs. Slocum's name appears as the founder of the Slocum Lectures in the University of Michigan, 1894. Those by Robert Afton Holland on The Commonwealth of Man, were published by the Putnams in 1905. Mrs. Slocum died 6 June, 1891, of cancer, in Dresden, Saxony, where she found no relief from her affliction.

In 1884 Mr. Slocum succeeded his father as trustee of the Saratoga Monument Association, New York, and with George William Curtis, S. S. Cox, John H. Starin, and others, took active part in the erection of one of the most artistic monuments in existence, on grew less and less in 1890, and 1900. A meeting was called for 1905 but the enfeebled health of the members at a distance prevented; and in 1906 the death of A. M. Wilcox, on Catalina Island, Calif., left Mr. Slocum the only survivor. Much was done by Mr. Slocum, and a few other members of the compact, to relieve the wants of their old master, also of the matron, Mrs. White, in charge of their lodgings on Grosse Isle while pupils, in their declining years.

the Battlefield of the British Army's surrender by General Burgoyne in 1777. This is at Schuylerville, Saratoga County, New York, near the home of Mr. Slocum's grandfather's family.

Elliott T. Slocum was one of the first Directors of The Chicago and Canada Southern Railroad, now part of the Michigan Central system, and he did much to secure a right of way for it. He was one of the organizers, and vice president of The First National Bank of Whitehall, Michigan, at which place he yet has large interests. In 1886 he was appointed Park Commissioner of Detroit, and was in turn Commissioner, Vice-President and President of the Board for several years, doing much for Detroit's beautiful Belle Isle, and other parks. In 1896 he was appointed by Governor Rich, Inspector of the Michigan Military Academy of Orchard Lake.

He is a stockholder in several of the leading banks, and other corporations in Michigan, and in 1907 a Director in the Union Trust Company, of Detroit. Is member of the Detroit Club, Michigan Club, Country Club, Fellowcraft Club, Bankers' Club, Church Club, Comedy Club, University Club, etc.; member of The American Historical Association; Sons of The American Revolution; Society of Colonial Wars, and of the University of Michigan Association.

Mr. Slocum has two homes; one in Detroit, and the other on Slocum Island in the Detroit River, about sixteen miles below the city. He has no children.

JAMES SLOCUM ROGERS (*Talbot Mercer Rogers and wife, Jane Elizabeth*¹⁰ *Slocum, James,*⁹ *Giles,*⁸ *Giles,*⁷ *Jonathan,*⁶ *Joseph,*⁵ *Giles,*⁴ *Samuel,*³ *Giles,*² *Anthony,*¹) was born 21 November, 1871, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in the Hamilton School, Philadelphia; Princeton University, A. B. 1893; and University of Pennsylvania, LL. B., 1896, being noted as a good scholar thruout his courses of study.

He held the office of Magistrate of Court No. 1, Philadelphia, from 4 April, 1898, to 4 April, 1903. Is a member of the Walnut Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia; the University Club; Princeton Club; City Club; Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and of the Society of Colonial Wars.

He was married in Philadelphia 26 April, 1904, to Agnes G. Klem, born there 16 December, 1875, daughter of J. George and Maria (Eastwick) Klem. They reside (1907) in Haverford, Delaware County, Pa., but he continues his office as Attorney at Law in the Real Estate Trust Building, Philadelphia. They have one child, viz.:

STEPHEN⁵ SLOCUMB (Joseph,⁴ Josias,³ Joseph,² Anthony,¹) was born 10 November, 1760, place not named. The first time his name is seen in other record is 18 February, 1794, as witness in conveyance of negro girl by David Slocumb to John Beck. He received deed to 512 acres of land 21 August, 1797, from James Spiller. Stephen was then of 'Sampson County' and this land is situated near Clinton. This land was conveyed to his son, John Charles Slocumb, who conveyed it to his sons, the late John Charles Slocumb of Clinton who sent the writer this record, and his brother William R. K. Slocumb. Stephen received deed for four negroes from Mildred Stephens 10 April, 1798. This deed was witnessed by Samuel and David Slocumb. Stephen witnessed similar deed from David Slocumb to Mildred Stephens 9 January, 1798. He received Sheriff's deed to one negro bought at public auction 5 September, 1828. At this date he gave each of his children a negro, the two being 'mechanical blacksmiths,' and made a will apportioning his land to them. He married, 30 June, 1799, Isabel King, who died 21 September, 1827. Stephen died 16 June, 1829. The children of Stephen and Isabel (King) Slocumb, were:

- i. MARGARET J., born 25 April, 1800; married Needham Bryan. She died 22 November, 1878. No children reported.
- ii. ELIZABETH A., b. 30 Oct., 1801; married William Ashford; d. 13 Aug., 1877.
- iii. MARY B., born 20 January, 1804; m. Benjamin Elliot. No further report.
- iv. SIBYL, born 28 May, 1805; married Jones Peterson.
- 644A1.v. JOHN CHARLES, b. 3 March, 1807; died 6 February, 1866.
- vi. WILLIAM KING, b. 14 Nov., 1809. In 1828 he received from his father a deed for a negro man, and soon after this received his portion of his father's estate. He was industrious and economical. He studied law, was admitted to the Bar, and gained many clients.* He died unmarried, 3 May, 1854, possessed of "lands, horses, mules, cattle, hogs, road wagons, buggy, sulky," etc., and eleven negroes, nearly all being left in trust for the needy.
- vii. STEPHEN, b. 3 July, 1811. He 'went South'. No further report of him.
- viii. ISABEL, b. 18 Sept., 1813; m. Thomas Ashford. "From this union sprung all the younger Ashfords in Sampson County." They had seven daughters and two sons, of which the following have been reported: Thomas, Jr., lived in Kingston, N. C. Mary m. — Oates and lived in Dunn, N. C. Katherin m. — Hobbs. John Ashford, b. 1836, the 2nd oldest child and first son, m. Elizabeth F. Hines, of New Hanover Co., N. C., and settled at Clinton. He served in the Confederate Army in the Civil War of 1861-65, and rose to the rank of colonel and, at the close of the war was in the list of those soon to be commissioned general. He was a member of Clinton Baptist Church and superintendent of the Sunday School. Served Sampson Co. as Deputy Sheriff, and Chairman of the Board of Commissioners several years. His general occupation was that of farming and milling. He had ten children, of whom the two oldest died in infancy; two sons, aged 18 and 16 years, were killed by the sawing-mill boiler explosion 3 Jan., 1889, and he, the father, was so injured by it that he died three days later, aged 52 years. This report was received from his daughter, Mamie, at Clinton, 18 March, 1892, who further stated that there were then living four daughters and two sons of this John Ashford.

*It is reported of this lawyer William King Slocumb that, when he was defending a man who was unduly accused, and the public interest was considerably aroused regarding the case, he became so annoyed by the loud and severe statements of the State's Attorney against his client in the closing address to the jury, that he hurried from the Court Room and, seeing a large fierce-looking bull hitched in front, he loosed the chain holding him, jumped on his back and guided him into the hall of the Court House where the animal bellowed fiercely, raising his voice far above that of the State's Attorney. Everyone present at the trial, including the judge, court officers and jury, alarmed, rushed to the stairs and at once discovering the situation, became so convulsed with laughter and good humor that a verdict of 'not guilty' was declared by the jury as soon as sufficient quiet could be restored. The story of this trial is yet told by the old men of the vicinity in Sampson County, North Carolina.

- ix. MILDRED EVELINE, born 17 April, 1818; died 24 Aug., 1823.
 x. DOROTHY DENIS, born 3 June, 1822; married Thomas King.

JOHN CHARLES⁶ SLOCUMB (Stephen,⁵ Joseph,⁴ Josias,³ Joseph,² Anthony,¹) was born 3 March, 1807. He was executor of his father's estate in 1828. The place of his birth has not been reported; but he became an extensive "planter, owned seventy-five slaves, and had the reputation of being a solid man," near Clinton, Sampson County, North Carolina. "He past much time in travel, and associated much with his uncle [U. S. Senator, etc.] William Rufus King in Alabama. He had a broad store of knowledge, was a graceful speaker, but was not astute," wrote his elder son in June, 1891. He married 22 September, 1859, Martha Ann Peterson, who was born 3 January, 1824. They were members of the Episcopal Church. He died 6 February, 1866. Children, born and reared near Clinton, N. C., and attended the University of North Carolina:

- i. JOHN CHARLES, b. 31 Aug., 1860. He studied law and chemistry. The latter part of his life was passed as conductor of railway train. Mar. Amy Laura Giddens, of Clinton. He died 11 May, 1903. CAPT. CHARLES GUILFORD⁵ SLOCUMB (Alfred B.,⁷ Rev. Samuel,⁶ Rev. John C.,⁵ Joseph,⁴ Josias,³ Joseph,² Anthony,¹) was born 1 January, 1843, at Albany, Illinois, and was there reared. Like most of the residents of Albany and other small towns along the Mississippi, he early began work on the lumber boats. He was advanced to Clerk, Pilot, and Captain on boat conveying product of Wisconsin logging camps. He enlisted late in the Civil War and, in Co. B, 147th Ill. Vols., served until 20 January, 1866. Returning home, he aspired to do business on his own account; bought several boats, including the Champion, Iowa City, and others, all noted boats on the Mississippi at that time, but fate was against him. Two of the boats sunk in one season, and another was wrecked in a storm. In 1872 he again started in the lumber business for himself at Old Huron, Louisa County, Iowa. He was married 20 March, 1875, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, by Bishop Edward R. Andrews, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to Eliza Maria Stephens of Mount Vernon, Iowa, daughter of Clark Kendrick and Orsella (Strong) Stephens, formerly of Delaware and Crawford Counties, Ohio. They settled in Kejthsburg, Illinois, where he established another lumber yard. He so won the confidence of the people that, in 1881, he was chosen Secretary and Treasurer of the Keithsburg Lumber Company, a firm doing a large wholesale business. He held this position until his death, which occurred 18 July, 1899. He was an active member and a Trustee of the M. E. Church; President of the Board of Education, and connected with many other business and social organizations. Children:

- i. EDWARD CLYDE SLOCUMB, b. 18 Dec., 1877, at Mt. Vernon, Ia. He was educated in the Keithsburg Public Schools, being graduated at the High School in 1895. He then studied at Hedding College, Abingdon, Ill. Entering Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Ia., in 1896, he there past two years in Civil Engineering. In 1898 he taught school in the western part of Mercer County several months. In the fall of 1899 he entered the Engineering Department, University of Illinois, and was there graduated B. S. 12 June, 1901. During the summers of this course, he was employed as Rodman by the Illinois Central Railroad Company on construction work in Mississippi, and on double tracking in Illinois. After graduation his rise in engineering was rapid, being first employed by the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company as Instrument man on bridge work at Clinton, Iowa, and on the Merville Extension near Sioux City, Iowa. When work on the line to the Rosebud Aborigine Reservation in Nebraska and South Dakota was started, he was made Resident Engineer in charge of about sixteen miles of heavy construction work. He remained with this company until January, 1903, when he was employed as Assistant Engineer on Track Elevation and Terminals by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway Co., at Chicago, in which work he was engaged until March, 1904. He was then made Division Engineer with headquarters at Beardstown, Ill. He here has charge of the Grade Reduction and Line Improvement work between Rio, Ill., and East St. Louis; also on the line between Concord and Centralia; both being more than 330 miles of track. In the fall of 1906 the line to Herrin, Ill., was added to this Division.

He was married 13 May, 1902, in Galesburg, Ill., by Rev. C. H. Vincent, Congregational, to Adelaide Williamson, born 6 May, 1878, at Wataga, Ill., daughter of Moses O. and Mary (Driggs). Fraternally he is a Royal Arch Mason, a M. W. of A. and member of the Western Society of Engineers, and other organizations. A child, Mary Guilford, was born 1 January, 1904, in Chicago. They 1907 reside in Beardstown, Ill.

- ii. MAUD STEPHENS SLOCUMB, b. 14 Feb., 1881, in Keithsburg, Ill. Was educated in the Public Schools there, graduating from the High School in 1898. In the fall of 1899 she moved with her mother to Urbana, and entered the University of Illinois medical course. After two years here she moved with her mother to Chicago, where she continued her studies in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Department of The University of Illinois. Here she was graduated M. D. in June, 1905, with honors. In July, 1905, she was elected Interne in the New England Hospital for Women and Children, Boston, and here took advance work in medicine and surgery. In August, 1906, she opened office in Minneapolis, Minn., for the practice of medicine.

CAPT. THOMAS WRIGHT⁸ SLOCUMB (John C.,⁷ Jesse,⁶ Ezekiel,⁵ Joseph,⁴ Josias,³ Joseph,² Anthony,¹) born 5 May, 1842, four miles south of Goldsboro, Wayne County, North Carolina; married there Mary Davis. See extended sketch of Confederate Army service, etc., in Volume I, pages 497, 498. He has been in railway service at Goldsboro. He is a ready writer—when he gets at it; has contributed the data regarding his father's family, but has not been interested in the history of the name, even in his State. He wrote:

"I am the oldest one of the name in this County [Wayne] and only know of my grandfather, Jesse, and my great-grandfather, Ezekiel . . . I have nothing but tradition for the statement that our ancestors immigrated from England somewhere in 1680 or 1690, and as I said in a previous letter, settled near Newbern on a creek which flows into Neuse River, and still bears their name."

The tradition has lost with time, and now applies only to the migration from the Albemarle to the Neuse River region; and the writer's letters to him mentioning the great success attending his searches, calls forth no response! See ante Families I, IA and onward. The changes in Thomas W.'s family since the publication of Volume I, are additions, viz.:

- v. JOHN CHARLES, born 25 February, 1881, in Goldsboro, North Carolina.
- vi. MARY DEVEY, born in Goldsboro, 16 February, 1883.
- vii. REBECCA HARRISS, born 18 November, 1885, Goldsboro.

THE SLOCOMBS IN AMERICA

666 (666)

CAPT. SIMON SLOCOMBE was married 28 August, 1701, in Boston, Massachusetts, by 'Mr. Benjamin Coleman' to Abigail 'Wheetly,' who was born 9 June, 1677. She died there in 1707. He was married 2nd in Boston, 11 November, 1708, by 'Mr. Benjamin Wadsworth' to Eliza Casheer.*

His name was spelled in these records first as Slocom, and second Slocome; and 'Slocum' in record of 'Intention' to marry.

He was a coasting mariner; his sloop Success arrived in Boston Harbor 7 July, 1716, from a voyage to Maryland.

The letters of Colonel Thomas Westbrook and others† show that the sloop Sea Flower, of about sixty tons register, and carrying four guns, was a Transport in the service of Great Britain northeastward from Boston, and was under command of Capt. Simon Slocum, Master and Pilot in 1723, 1724, 1725 and perhaps for a longer period.

Captain Slocum and wives had the following children, all born in Boston and recorded there with the spelling 'Slocum.' By first marriage:

A Report of the Record Commissioners of the City of Boston, Containing the Boston Marriages from 1700 to 1751.* Boston, 1898.

†Massachusetts Archives, 91: 98, 99, 146. The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol. 48, p. 439, Vol. 49, p. 185, etc.

667. i. SIMON, born 26 July, 1705; married Abigail Metcalf.
 (668) ii. ABIGAIL, b. 14 Jan., 1707; m. Baruch Pond, 1728.

Children by second marriage:

- iii. JOHN, born 22 September, 1709; died young.
 iv. ELIZABETH, born 4 August, 1711; married William Kindrick, 27 October, 1738, in Boston.
 v. MARY, born 19 May, 1714. No further record found.
 vi. SARA, born 7 October, 1716; was mar. 3 May, 1737, to Obadiah Odell, in Boston, by Rev. Elisha Callender.
 vii. GEORGE, born 11 October, 1719. No further record of him found.
 (669)viii. JOHN, b. 28 Oct., 1722; m. Experience Healy; d. 1817.

667 666 (667)

CAPT. SIMON² SLOCOMB (Simon,¹) was born 26 July, 1705, in Boston, Massachusetts. He married in old Wrentham Township, that part now Franklin Township, Abigail⁴ Metcalf, born 18 January, 1713, daughter of Eleazer³ (Eleazer,² Michael,¹) a husbandman who,

In consideration of that parental love and affection that I bear toward my well-beloved son-in-law, Simon Slocumb of Wrentham, clothier, and for their more comfortable subsistence, freely give unto said Simon Slocumb and Abigail, his wife, to be accounted to them as £80 as part of their portion of my estate after my decease, twenty-six acres of land in Wrentham.

He was commissioned "Ensign of the first foot Company in the town of Wrentham, Baruch Pond [his brother-in-law] Captain, in the first Regiment of Militia" . . . 2 July, 1744, by William Shirley, Governor, etc.* In the expedition against the French in Canada, 25 May, 1757, he commanded a company of soldiers. This company served until 26 June, 1760. He memorialized Lieut.-Gov. Thomas Hutchinson, 18 January, 1760, also the General Court at Boston, in behalf of his soldiers who were enlisted in the Province of Massachusetts Bay for the relief of the garrison of Fort Cumberland, Nova Scotia, they being there held overtime and, having farms of their own and families at home, were uneasy and discontented. They were discharged as above.†

*His name in this commission is spelled 'Simon Slocumb Gent.' that is, a gentleman, a man of quality or class.

This commission was in the possession of the venerable David Everett Phillips, Columbus, Ohio, in 1907.

† For further account of Capt. Simon Slocumb's military service, see A Report of Service in Fort Cumberland, Nova Scotia, 1759-1760. The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 54, January, 1900, page 73. Also The Massachusetts Archives.

A Captain Simon Slocumb was a member of the House of Assembly, Province of Nova Scotia, Canada, 4 December, 1759. If Captain Simon,¹ Family 666, was living at this date, he was probably eighty years or more of age, and the writer sees no objection to identifying Capt. Simon² as this Assemblyman. In later years Simon² was a farmer. Late in life he went to live with his son Achilles in Templeton, where he died, 12 March, 1790. His estate was administered by his son Samuel. See Volume I, page 500. Children, all recorded in old Wrentham, Mass., with surname Slocum, viz.:

- i. LOIS, born 13 April, 1732; died 30 November, 1736.
- ii. ESTHER, b. 17 Nov., 1733; m. 23 Apr., 1761, Lieut. John⁴ Hall, b. 21 Oct., 1735 (Josiah,³ Benjamin,² Edward¹). They d.; she 15 Sept., 1769, he in 1812, with 2nd wife, Sara —, in Wrentham. One child, Susanna, by Esther.
- iii. ABIGAIL, born 14 April, 1736; died 5 March, 1737, in Wrentham.
- (670) iv. SAMUEL, b. 24 June, 1738; m. Miriam Richardson; died at the age of 95 years.
- v. CHLOE, 12 Feb., 1741; died 12 December, 1741, in Wrentham, Mass.
- vi. SUSANNA, born 23 June, 1745; m. —, had children: Benjamin, Silas, Oliver, Susan, Lois, Hepziba, Peggy, Nabby.
- vii. ELEAZER, b. 23 Nov., 1747. A Revolutionary soldier. See Vol. I, p. 501. He died 25 Sept., 1820, without children.
- viii. BENJAMIN METCALF, b. 15 Nov., 1751. An Ensign in the Revolutionary War. He left no children.
- ix. JEREMIAH, b. 10 Jan., 1754. Was a soldier in the Revolutionary War.* He was married 20 Feb., 1809, to Sara Whitcomb, in Templeton, Mass., by Thomas Fisher, J. P. He died without children.
- 667A. x. ACHILLES, b. 10 June, 1756; m. Debora Coleman.

LIEUT. APELLES³ SLOCUM† (Simon,² Simon,¹) was born 10 June, 1756, in old Wrentham, Massachusetts. He was a soldier

*See The Revolutionary War Rolls of Massachusetts for account of this and other soldiers.

† Here is an interesting illustration of change in name. Christened 'Achilles' from the Greek legendary warrior, in old Wrentham, a later record clerk understood the pronunciation A-pe-les, or Apelles, the name of a famous Greek painter, and the last was from this time his designation, throughout life—or, rather, its abbreviation, Pelles; Pel. for common use. His niece, Mrs. Sara E. Eaton, with loving memory and tenacity, wrote to the writer of him as Uncle Pel.' The name of his son, Apelles, became changed to Apollos, probably by a Bible reader who thought the form Apelles an error.

in the Revolutionary War, and was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant. He married Debora Coleman. They resided on a farm in Templeton, Massachusetts, where the births of six of their children are recorded; then they moved northwestward, and probably died in Vermont, in or near Woodstock (?) A carpenter and joiner. His surname was spelled Slocum, and this form has prevailed among his descendants. Children, the last five perhaps not born in the order given, viz.:

- 667B. i. SIMON, b. 10 Oct., 1775; m. Mary⁶ Cleveland.
 ii. ABIGAIL, born 22 February, 1777; m. — Boardman (?).
 iii. APELLES, born 15 September, 1779; m. —. They resided in Sharon, Vt. Had seven children 'who all went West' is the report from Vermont, and 'who settled in Dyberry, Wayne Co., Pa.,' reads the report from this region, where he was known as Apollos.*
 iv. JEROME, born 17 October, 1780; died in his infancy
 v. ALANSON, b. 15 June, 1782; m. — and dwelt in Sharon, Vt., where two of his four children died. Names not reported.
- 667C. vi. REBECCA, b. 27 June, 1784; m. Benjamin Cleveland.
- 667D. vii. OTIS, b. —; m. Sara Switzer; m. 2nd widow Roberts.
- 667E. viii. NELSON, born —; married —; died —.
 ix. MARY, born —; married — Burnet (?).
 x. MARGARET, born —; remained unmarried in Woodstock, Vt.
 xi. JEREMIAH. xii. DAUGHTER, died in her infancy.

SIMON⁴ SLOCUM (Apelles,³ Simon,² Simon.¹) was born 10 October, 1775, in Templeton, Massachusetts, and was reared there and in Vermont. Here he married in 1805, Mary⁶ Cleveland, daughter of Edward⁵ Moses⁴. They moved to Pennsylvania, and there dwelt a year or two in Brooklyn and Ararat, then settled, in 1819, on a farm near the crest of a hill since then known as Slocum Hill, in the eastern part of Jackson Township, Susquehanna County, Pa. The settlement there and about, was for many years thereafter known as the Vermont Settlement. He was a carpenter and joiner in earlier life and later a farmer. They died near Jackson, he 31 January, 1851, she 16 June, 1859, aged 71 years, 9 months and 17 days according to gravestone in the Slocum Hill Cemetery. Their farm remained in possession of their descendants two generations, then went to another owner. Was owned by Fletcher Brown in 1892. Children:

ARNOLD⁴ SLOCOMB (Joshua,³ John,² Simon,¹) was born 17 November, 1798, in Sutton, Massachusetts. Married 4 September, 1820, Eliza Wildes in Cummington. He became a successful shoe manufacturer in Manchester; but something, not now apparent, deflected him to Hartford, Connecticut, as proprietor of the Hartford Hotel. In 1838 he became proprietor of the hotel, Mechanics Hall, Troy, New York, also of all the stage lines at Troy. Here he became a wealthy man for that time but, unfortunately, he became involved in real estate speculations, and lost all his holdings. He then moved his family to Ogdensburg, N. Y., and started in fruit and oyster trade. Being possessed of great energy, he soon worked into good financial condition but, not satisfied with his business, and surroundings, he moved in 1852 to Buffalo, N. Y., and there became proprietor of Huffs Hotel and The Merchants Hotel, two good houses. His last move was to a large farm that he owned near Whitewater, Wisconsin, where his active life ended 4 April, 1863. Children:

For many of his later years he was proprietor of the Star Island House at St. Clair Flats, Michigan. This hostelry under his management became very popular, particularly for those who loved boating, fishing and duck hunting, not only at Detroit and other nearby cities, but with others from great distance. This man wrote his surname Slocum. He had a winter residence in Detroit, but his Star Island House was opened in early spring, and closed in late fall, to accommodate hunters. He was there seized with 'neuralgia of the heart,' at once returned to his city home where he soon died, 3 May, 1900. Children: 1. Adeline, b. 31 July, 1861; d. 10 Feb., 1873. 2. MARIA ROXANA⁵ SLOCOMB (Horatio,⁴ William,³ John,² Simon,¹) born 25 October, 1824, in Sutton, Massachusetts; married 10 May, 1848, William Terry, M. D., born 8 June, 1822, in Enfield, Connecticut. See Volume I pages 538, 539. He continued the practice of medicine at Ansonia, Conn., until 1892, when failure of sight and hearing, from his army service in the Civil War, compelled retirement. In 1894 these afflictions had become total, and since that time his family have been obliged to communicate with him by means of a touch alphabet of his invention. His mind remains (1907) clear and bright, and he is able to keep informed of current events from the raised-letter prints for the blind in either the Moon, the New York Point, or the American Braille, the system last mentioned being his favorite.

The writer has pleasant remembrance of Mrs. Terry's carefully and patiently prepared communications of family history for his first volume. She died 7 December, 1901. A daughter writes of her noble, unselfish characteristics, and of her devotion to her family, which made her sudden passing away an inexpressible loss. Their children, in 1906, are:

- i. WILLIAM DANIEL TERRY, b. 16 Apr., 1850; d. 28 May, 1850.
- ii. ANNIE MARIA TERRY, b. 17 July, 1851, in Sutton, Mass. She was educated in the Public Schools, in Mount Holyoke College, 1870-1, and part of the next year in the Normal School, New Britain, Ct. She remains with her father, unmarried, Ansonia, Ct.
- iii. ALBERT SLOCOMB TERRY, b. 15 Sept., 1853, Sutton, Mass. Moved with his parents in 1860 to Ansonia, New Haven Co., Ct., which was his home until 1892. He was in the Middle Class at Phillips Exeter Academy, year 1871-2, then accepted position with the Ansonia Brass and Copper Company, with which he remained nearly twenty years, resigning there the position of Assistant Treasurer in Feb., 1892, to accept the position of Treasurer of The Sunbeam Incandescent Lamp Co., of Chicago, Ill. In Nov., 1897, he opened an Eastern Sales Dept. for this Co. in New York City, where he, 1907, resides as Treasurer and Manager. He married 23 Dec., 1875, Emma Augusta Bradley, dau. of Burwell A. and Emma (North). No children.
- iv. MARY JOSEPHINE TERRY, b. 4 May, 1857, in Sutton, Mass., and was reared at Ansonia, Ct., which is, 1906, her home. She attended the Bradford, Mass., Academy, junior course, 1874-5; married 27 Sept., 1877, William Jared Clark, b. 20 July, 1854, Derby, Ct., son of Merritt and Mary Ann (Hodge). He is Manager of the Foreign Dept. of the Gen. Electric Co., and is also interested in a number of smaller enterprises. Children:

1. William Merritt Clark, b. 9 Mar., 1880, in Derby, Ct. He graduated from Hillhouse High School, New Haven, June, 1898; from Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University, 1901, specializing in Chemistry. In 1901-2 he studied electro-chemistry in the Mass. Inst. of Technology, and in 1902-3, continued this course in the Universities of Zürich and Berlin. He, 1906, resides in New York City in employ of the Gen. Electric Co.

MARY⁵ SLOCOMB (Silas,⁴ William,³ John,² Simon,¹) born 1 June, 1836, in Marietta, Ohio; was there married 23 November, 1861, to David Barnes Cotton, M. D. Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, 1856. They settled in Portsmouth, Ohio, where all their children were born, and where Dr. Cotton became prominent in his profession, and in influence for the betterment of the community.

Mrs. Cotton was also active, not only in properly rearing her children, but for the good of others. She started a magazine club in 1867, and served as its secretary nearly forty years. She founded in 1873-74 The Children's Home Association of Portsmouth, Ohio, and served as its president. Her address, in form of a report from February, 1874 to August, 1877, shows that she had been a close student of the necessity for towns, cities and counties, giving close surveillance over the forming of habits, and control of children, particularly of those who had no home, or were not properly cared for at home. This organization was turned over to Scioto County in 1877.

She was the first Chapter Regent in Portsmouth of The Daughters of the American Revolution; the chapter being named in honor of Gen. Joseph Spencer, her great-great-grandfather. Five of her ancestors served in the Colonial Wars, and five in the Revolutionary War. She is also a Mayflower desc'dt. Children, all born in Portsmouth, Ohio:

REV. HENRY TRUMAN⁶ SLOCUM (Joel,⁵ Joshua U.,⁴ John,³ John,² Simon,¹) born 20 December, 1853, on a farm at Mount Hanley, Nova Scotia, was educated there in the district school, and in the Provincial Normal School in Truro, N. S. He received from the Council of Public Instruction a license, and taught Public Schools several years.

Having decided to enter the Christian ministry, he took the course of preparation at The Newton (Mass.) Theological Institute, finishing it in 1892, and accepted a call as pastor of the Petersham, Mass., Baptist Church. Here he was ordained 7 September, 1892. His labors in this field were shortened by a fire which destroyed the church edifice.

After doing missionary work for some months in Maine, he was married 24 May, 1894, in Plymouth, Mass., by Rev. Silas S. Morse, to Annie Warren Ellis, who was there born 5 February, 1865, daughter of George Francis, son of Bartlett Ellis, and Ann Maria, daughter of Granville Gardner. He then accepted call to Charlotte, Vermont, where they remained five years; then to Chester, New Hampshire, for one year; then to Royalston and Warwick, Mass., for five years; then to Packerville, Connecticut, in the spring of 1906, where they (1907) reside. Rev. Slocum has the reputation of an able preacher and a good pastor. Children:

- i. ALVA HOVEY, born 5 April, 1895, in Charlotte, Vt.
- ii. IRENE BELLE, born 25 May, 1896; died 31 May, 1896.

REV. JOEL BYRON⁶ SLOCUM (Joel,⁵ Joshua U.,⁴ John,³ John,² Simon,¹) was born 1 February, 1868, on a farm near Mount Hanley, Nova Scotia, Canada. When quite young he went to Boston, Massachusetts, and was employed as a clerk in a large publishing house. He brought a church letter from home, and with it joined The Tremont Temple Church, Boston.

He saved his earnings; entered The Worcester, Mass., Academy for one year, and completed his college preparatory work in the Boston School of Languages. He was graduated at Colby College, Waterville, Maine, in 1893; was chaplain of his college class, class historian, and commencement speaker. He entered Newton Theological Institute in 1893, and was there graduated in 1896.

He was ordained as a Christian minister by a Council called by The Tremont Temple Baptist Church, 19 June, 1896. He filled a pulpit in Westbrook, Maine, for some months. Was married in Brookline, Mass., 3 February, 1897, to Jean Irene Bergland, born 16 October, 1865, in Galesburg, Illinois, daughter of Lewis and Hanna (Ericson). She was graduated at Knox College, Galesburg, and the Chicago and Boston Schools of Oratory. She became a public humorous and dramatic reader, and traveled extensively as such before her marriage.

In June, 1897, Colby College gave him the degree of A. M. This year he accepted the pastorate of The First Baptist Church, Laconia, New Hampshire. In 1898 he was called to The First Baptist Church, Concord, N. H., as successor of Dr. Cephas B. Crane. During this pastorate he was chosen Chaplain of the New Hampshire Legislature. He also occupied important positions in the Baptist work in this State. In the summer of 1899 Mr. and Mrs. Slocum went abroad, making a special visit to Japan as correspondent of the Boston Traveler newspaper. Returning to his pulpit in Concord, he gave some attention to lecturing in connection with his regular work; also made addresses at religious conventions both in and out of the State.

Rev. Slocum read his resignation at Concord 27 September, 1903, to accept call to The First Baptist Church, Columbus, Ohio, the first of November. Here he remained until the spring of 1907, resigning to accept call to one of the leading Baptist Churches in Brooklyn, New York, The Greenwood, with 700 members, and a Sunday School of 775. During his pastorate in Columbus, there was a substantial increase in membership, and he left the church in good healthy condition. One of the leading newspapers of Columbus at this time reads in part as follows:

The loss of a minister of the gospel so forceful, so energetic and untiring in his efforts to help every member of his congregation, will be deeply felt by every member of his flock and, in fact, by every church worker in the city. During his stay in Columbus, Rev. Mr. Slocum won a multitude of friends. In all his endeavors here he was ably seconded by the efforts of his wife, who was a leader in the missionary and other church work of the Baptist circles of the city.

Reverend and Mrs. Joel B. Slocum have children, viz.:

- i. LORIMER BERGLAND, b. 24 Apr., 1898, in Laconia, New Hampshire.
- ii. JAMESON SADLER, b. 3 May, 1900, in Concord, N. H.

CAPT. JOSHUA⁶ SLOCUM (John,⁵ Joshua U.,⁴ John,³ John,² Simon,¹) was born in Wilmot Township, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, Canada, 20 February, 1844. A seafaring man from early life. See Volume I, page 551. He married Virginia Walker in Sidney, New South Wales, Australia, in January, 1871. She died in 1885, at Buenos Ayres Roads, Brazil; was buried there in the English Cemetery. Was married second in 1886, Boston, Mass., to Henrietta M. Elliot, daughter of Charles and Ruth, of Port George, Nova Scotia.

His first command on the high seas was along the coast of California in 1869; sailed for thirteen years from San Francisco to China, Australia, the Spice Islands and Japan. During these years he was a close student of nautical astronomy and marine architecture.*

*In 1881 he was Master and part owner of the good ship, Northern Light, (see Volume I) and, in Oceanica 10 December, 1882, he picked up five natives of the Gilbert Islands who had been drifting about in a small frail craft before the Monsoon forty days, barely subsisting on a scant supply of dried fruit and the little rainwater they could catch. Seven of the twelve who Possessing a good degree of natural ingenuity, he readily put his studies and observations to practical use, and built some superior boats, among which were a steamer of 90 tons register at Olongapo, Subig Bay, Luzon, Philippine Islands, in 1874; the Liberdade; and the Spray of nine tons register which has made him famous as a daring and successful navigator, even 'The King of Many Waters.' He built the Spray at Fairhaven, Massachusetts, in 1892; and he completed a voyage around the world in it alone in 1898, wholly with sails.

Captain Slocum is a pleasing and forceful writer, and as his descriptions of his voyages are very entertaining and instructive, they have been widely read. They are published as follows, viz: The Voyage of the Liberdade from Brazil to New York, 1891; Voyage of the Destroyer, 1894. This was a Brazilian war vessel which he commanded from New York to Brazil. His book Sailing Alone Around the World, New York, 1900, first published in The Century Magazine, 1899, 1900, won for the brave Captain high honors at home and abroad. Among the high commendations, the writer cannot refrain from quoting the following from a personal letter to Captain Slocum from Edwin Arnold, dated London, January 7, 1901, which reads in part, viz.:

. . . . I admire beyond measure the heroism and splendid self reliance of your unparalleled feat, and have put you not only in my gallery of heroes, but in my heart as a man I love for showing what men can do. Never will your achievement be surpassed until we all sail together across those wider and even more wonderful seas that separate planet from planet, and star from star. . . .

Captain Slocum has an article in the Outing magazine of March, 1906, entitled 'Bully Hayes, the Last Buccaneer.' A sketch of him with portrait appeared in Outing October, 1902, written by C. Johnson.

He has also won high commendations as a lecturer. In 'Twelfth Night Revels' written for the Twentieth Century Club, New York, January 7, 1901, appears the following tribute to him:

had started for a neighboring island had perished 'from thirst' (?). Captain Slocum and his good wife nursed them back to health, clothed them, and finally succeeded in getting them back to their island, Apamana. Captain Slocum, in transmitting the photograph from which the accompanying engraving is made, quotes from Sindbad the Sailor the expression of such humane acts "for the sake of God, whose Name be Exalted."

Remember all the questions of the day
 We've heard discussed in such a trenchant way,
 By men who with such knowing wisdom wrought,
 As made us masters of the things they taught.
 Ah, yes! who will may summon at their ease
 A host of fascinating memories!
 And two there are—which I confess for me
 Stand to the fore—the sunny memory
 Of Captain Slocum, whose naive surprise
 At his own Yankee wit, danced in his eyes
 And lighted up his genial, kindly face,
 The while he told with such delightful grace
 The tale of his lone voyage around the world.
 The other, that of Edward Everett Hale—
 Who'll e'er forget that wondrous inner light
 That seemed to shine in look and mien, that night
 He spoke to us with such rare eloquence?

The Captain is, withal, a modest man. His last communication to the writer, transmitting the record of his family, shows this, and that he retains his love for the excellent sailing qualities of his favorite and widely famed sloop, viz.:

On board the Spray, Block Island, R. I., Nov. 15th, 1906.

DOCTOR CHARLES E. SLOCUM, Defiance, Ohio.

Dear Doctor Slocum.—My mails have not reached me on time of late, hence the delay in my reply to your circular.

Your first book, which came to me at Yokohama, Japan, years ago, was a work to be proud of. I regret that I have not been able to be, myself, a better subject among my kin—to have added an interesting line.

Very sincerely,

JOSHUA SLOCUM.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR⁹ GAYLORD SLOCUM (Henry,⁸ John,⁷ John,⁶ John,⁵ Eleazer,⁴ Eleazer,³ Giles,² Anthony,¹) was born 10 October, 1847, on a farm in Steuben Township, Oneida County, New York. He was educated in the Public Schools, and prepared for college in Whitestown, N. Y., Seminary. Entering the University of Rochester, he was there graduated in the class of 1874. He married 14 July, 1875, Mary Malnia Calvert of Cortland, N. Y., daughter of James A. and Olive A. Calvert. President Slocum is an energetic and constant worker naturally, and from the habit formed in his youth. He won his way through college not only by hard study but by working between times for the necessary money to support him there. His alma mater has continued to recognize his worth by conferring on him the degrees of A. M., LL. D. After graduation he began teaching; was Principal of private schools two years; then Superintendent of Public Schools, and Principal of the Free Academy, Corning, N. Y., from 1876 to 1892. In 1892 the Trustees of Kalamazoo College called him to the Presidency of this old and creditable institution of the Baptist Church in Michigan. His energy and his practical work have been very apparent each year in the increase of students, in strengthening and extending the courses of study, in the accumulation of new building fund and endowment.

The Detroit Journal has styled him 'one of the brightest men in the church.' Mrs. Slocum's pen has also been active for the church periodicals. They reside in the beautiful city of Kalamazoo, Michigan; have two children, viz.:

THOMAS⁵ SLOCUM (John,⁴ John,³ Robert,² Robert,¹) was born 14 July, 1830, in Boone County, Indiana, and was there reared on a farm and educated in the Public Schools. He there married 7 September, 1854, Martha Ann Rose, daughter of Abram and Lydia (Butt) Rose. In the year 1856 they moved to Knox County, Missouri, and settled on the farm near Greensburg, where they reared their children and where he died 24 February, 1904. He united with the 'Christian Church' in early life; donated ground for the Pleasant Ridge Church Building and Graveyard which bears his name, and in every way was one of its chief supports. He also encouraged all other laudable enterprises. He was Republican in politics; a member of the Home Guards during the Civil War of 1861-65, and did good service for the Union in Missouri. Children:

- i. BRUCE, born 14 Sept., 1855; resides, 1907, at Baring, Knox Co., Missouri.

GEORGE¹ SLOCOMBE, with surname spelled Slacum (give broad sound to the a) and several other ways, has been found by the writer earliest recorded in the Archives of Maryland, viz.:

1695, October 3-19, Assembly Proceedings. George Slacum; his account examined for bringing the Cage Whipping post pillory and Stone from London Towne to Annapolis referred to the County for his pay being the proper goods of the County.

1697 (?) A Bill for the Naturalization of Stephen Francis and George Slacombe read the first time.

1697, June 2. The above bill read the second tyme and passed.

1697, June 11, An Act for the Naturalizacon of Stephen Francis an Italian & George Slaycombe a German borne* read and assented

It is inferred that this George Slocombe became Master at Arms of the Maryland Assembly, as the record reads in volume xxvi of the Archives in part as follows:

1705, May 25. . . . It is further Remarqd that the Hon; ble Mr Tench Col Addison Mr Brooks Mr Cheseldyn and Mr Coursey are not allowed for their Attendance in Councill this or the last Session of Assembly neither is there allowed for the Great Seale as usuall for the two Several Prorogations between Septr & December nor any thing for your Copy of the Laws. . . . & fifty two shill paid to George Slacomb to put a stopp to the Members coming to the Assembly. . . .

1700, March 20. George Slacum sold his house and lot, No. 40, in Annapolis, Md., to Amos Garrett.

He was granted land in Dorchester County, Md., as follows:

1713, Nov. 24. In tract called "Priviledge, manor of Nanticoke, 174 acres."

*This question of naturalization of these two men is repeated several times in different parts of the records, and was apparently agreed to different times. The question was finally settled in the affirmative at the session of April 26 to May 9, 1700. The exceptions made from time to time are not definitely stated; but their foreign birth—outside the realm of Great Britain—is the inferred cause. Many English children were born in foreign ports, on shipboard and in cities. The names in question are both English, and the parentage English, on the father's side at least, but these men may not have had ready proof of British citizenship.

1714, Sep. 1. Tract called "Little Slycome near Black River, 50 acres;" also 50 acres near source of Raccoon Creek.

"George Sleicome's Will," on record at Annapolis, Maryland, is a short document, made 11 October, 1725. It names sons George and Job as heirs to his lands, and . . . "my wife is supposed to be with child which, if a son after my decease, gets remainder;" if a daughter, land goes to son George. His wife Sarah is named sole executrix. This will was proved 26 November, 1825. Children:

- B789. i. GEORGE, born —; married —; died —.
 C789. ii. JOB, born —; married —; died —.
 iii. A DAUGHTER, born after the death of her father.

B789 A789

GEORGE² SLOCOMBE (George,¹) surname often written Slocum, was born about the beginning of the 18th century, in Maryland. He received grants of land in old Dorchester County as follows: in 1740, 1747, when he went before the court and "set forth that his father, George Slacum, 10 Sep., 1716, received Grant for parcel of land called Priviledge, 174 acres under New Rent, and by his Will" . . . George² received further grants in 1759, 1764, 1765, the last being for 422 acres of the tract called 'Slacombs Cow Pasture.' He deeded land in old Dorchester County, 14 January, 1785, for the consideration of £246 10s gold 'or silver money of equal value.' No account of his death has been found. Perhaps he followed his sons to Pennsylvania, after the sale of his land mentioned above. Children, perhaps not all born in the order given, viz.:

- i. AMOS. Went to Pennsylvania in early life. Was there granted 400 acres of land 5 November, 1792.
 (789). ii. ISAAC. Went early to Pennsylvania. Was there granted 400 acres of land 8 January, 1793. For record of his descendants, see Vol. I, pp. 575-577.
 (793). iii. GABRIEL. Was Prizemaster of the American Privateer, Sturdy Beggar, of Maryland. He was captured by the British, and committed to Forton Prison, England, in 1778. He escaped the same year. See Vol. I.

C789 A789

JOB² SLOCOMBE (George,¹) was born in Maryland early in the 18th century, and was reared on a farm in Dorchester County. He there received several grants of land, in part as follows: in 1751, three tracts or parcels, two being Little Slycamp (in another place spelled Sleicome) granted to his father 16 April, 1715, and 'Slacom's Lott' originally granted 8 February, 1738 to Job's brother George. Further grants were received in 1754, 104 acres; 1766, 403 acres. No further account of him has been found. Children:

- i. JOB. July 12, 1776, the committee of observation of the Maryland Council of Safety during the Revolutionary War, reported in part that: . . . "It is said Clarkson bears a very ill character as to holding a communication with & carrying men in his boat to the Tenders. And we have just now been informed that one Job Slacom Jr of this County [Dorchester] will prove that Clarkson endeavored to persuade him & some others to go with him on board the Tenders and join Lord Dunmore, but as the guard was setting off with the Prisoners we could not delay them until we sent a summons for Slacom. There were several other persons apprehended in this County on suspicion of being unfriendly and having a communication with the enemy, but upon our enquiring into their conduct, we could fix nothing criminal on them & therefore discharged them." . . . —Archives of Maryland.

Job Slocum, Jr., was granted land in Dorchester Co. in 1790 and 1792. 'Job Slocumb and Anne Slocumb' gave Deed 13 Oct., 1819, to John Williams, to tracts of land in Worcester Co., Md., called Addition to Handy's Security, Handy's Frolic, and Low Meadows. Whether this is the above Job or his son, is not known to the writer.

D789. ii. MARCELLUS, born —; married Sara —; died in 1807.

D789 C789

MARCELLUS³ SLOCOMB (Job,² George,¹) of Dorchester County, Maryland, received deed to land there 30 May, 1800. "Sarah Slocum, Administratrix and widow of Marcellus Slocumb of Dorchester County, and Baizillai Slocum Guardian" of his children, gave deed 17 November, 1807, to tracts of land known as Penn Ridge, Handy's Security, and Poor Mans. Children, in the order named in the guardianship:

- i. JOHN. ii. BARZILLAI. iii. MARCELLUS. iv. NELLY.

E789. v. GABRIEL, born and resided in Dorchester Co., Md.

E789 D789

GABRIEL⁴ SLOCOMB (Marcellus,³ Job,² George,¹) was born and resided in Dorchester County, Maryland. The burning of the records in Cambridge, that County in 1852, obliterated many items that would probably be interesting in this writing. As in many other counties, the younger people went to the cities. "If any Slocums or Slocombs lived in our County for the last thirty years, I have never heard of them" wrote the Register of Wills for Dorchester County in September, 1892. The children named below were all born in Dorchester, but went to Baltimore, viz.:

- i. GABRIEL 'SLOCUM', b. 1835. He was one year in the U. S. Army. Married in Baltimore 1872, Matilda Hersey, b. 1855 in Kent Co. Md.
- ii. JOHN HENRY, b. 1837. iii. THOMAS, b. 1839. iv. VALERIA, b. 1841.
- v. WILLIAM D., b. 1843. vi. MARTHA, b. 1845. vii. JOSEPH, b. 1847.

Those residing in Baltimore in 1906, 1907, have not answered the letters sent them.

ROBERT C.¹ SLOCOMBE, the surname spelled Slocum, Slockum, etc., is found recorded in the Accomac County Records, Accomac, Virginia; first in an assignment of land by him to James 'Macoame,' 2 February, 1708; also before the Court again 25 July, and 6 September, 1710. His Will was made 6 March, 1718. His 'loving brother Thomas Ryley' was named as sole executor. He died in the year 1724, his estate being inventoried 5 August, 1724. It is presumed that he married a sister of the above named Thomas Ryley. Children:

- B794. i. THOMAS, b. —; m. Susanna —; d. 1784.
- C794. ii. ROBERT, b. —; m. —; died 1789.
- iii. REBECCA; brought suit in chancery against her brother, Robert, between 1753-63.
- iv. SARA. "I do desire that Richard Grindals shall keep her to maturity of sixteen years."—Her father's Will.
- v. BENNETT. Was "left to the care of Francis Young until he arrives at the age of one and twenty years of age he the said Francis Young obliging him and his heirs to give him good sufficient learning as reading writing and cyphering."
- vi. RYLEY. By his father's Will he received his land. Feb. 29, 1743, he and his brother Thomas gave to William Andrews Deed to "Plantation where Robert Slocomb (Elder) lately lived, near head of Messongo Branch, 100 acres, in Accomac Co., Va." Before Court, about 1743, he acknowledged his Indenture to Nathaniel Shad. William Andrews gave Deed 26 March, 1744, to the above-named plantation, to Riley Slocomb, planter; and Riley deeded this land to Nathaniel Shay 26 May, 1747. Riley died intestate, and his estate was administered 4 April, 1749, in Worcester Co., Md.

THOMAS² SLOCOMB (*Robert C.*¹) probably born about the beginning of the 18th century in Accomac County, Virginia. He died in 1784. His Will was proved by oath of his son William. The Will named his wife Susanna and his friend Charles West as sole executors. The estate was appraised 5 February, 1785, in Accomac County, Virginia. The heirs named in the Will are the children, viz.:

- i. WILLIAM. Of his father's personal effects named in his Will, William was to receive a silver watch.
- ii. SARA; received by her father's Will his gold brooch and gold ring. Perhaps this family latterly resided in the adjoining Worcester Co., Md.

C794 A794

ROBERT² SLOCOMB (*Robert C.*¹) surname spelled variously, was born early in the 18th century, probably in Accomac County, Virginia. Suit was there brought against him in chancery about the year 1754 by his sister, Rebecca Slocomb. He was also in court at this time in Accomac as plaintiff, the case being dismissed. He received deed to land in the adjoining County of Worcester, Maryland, 16 November, 1779, being parts of tracts known as Convenience, and Peep Branch. This land was deeded 22 July, 1791, by his son Thomas to his (Thomas⁷) brother William. His son Thomas gave, 22 July, 1791, Bill of Sale to his brother William for "all goods devised by his father, Robert Slocomb of Somerset Co., Md., April 5th, 1789" from which it is inferred that Robert died at this date. Children, perhaps not born in order given, viz.:

- D794. i. SINAH, of Worcester County, Md. Died in May, 1806.
- ii. ROBERT; gave Deed 5 Nov., 1790, in Worcester Co., Md., to Eliakim Johnson, conveying part of tract called Reed's Contrivance.
- iii. RILEY; gave Bill of Sale 10 June, 1786, in Worcester Co., Md., to John Kellam; consideration £17.
794. iv. WILLIAM, born —; married twice; died in 1817.
- (795). v. THOMAS; married twice; died near the Manoking River, Somerset Co., Md. For his descendants, through his son, James, and grandsons, Thomas Bagwell, Addison Locke, William Henry and Austin Seward, in Indiana, etc., see volume I of this genealogic work, pages 578-581.

D794 C794

SINAH³ SLOCOMB (Robert,² Robert C.,¹) born about 1730-35; resided in the present Worcester County, Maryland. His Will, dated 13 April, 1806, and probated 27 May, 1806, is on record at Snow Hill. His grandson, John Riley Slocomb was named executor, and his grandson William Riley Slocomb among the beneficiaries. Children:

- E794. i. JOHN RILEY, born —; married Mary —.
 ii. HULDA; married — Purnel; died —.
 iii. MARY; married — Melvin; died —.
 iv. SARA, born —. v. RACHEL, born —.

E794 D794

JOHN RILEY⁴ SLOCOMB (Sinah,³ Robert,² Robert C.,¹) and Mary his wife gave deeds to land in Dorchester County, Maryland, 19 November, 1796; 18 January, 1806, part of tract called Strife, where they then lived; 23 October, 1807, part of tract called Strife, in Pitts Creek Hundred; 23 December, 1809, tracts called Partnership, and Slim Chance. He was Administrator of the estate of William Henderson, Sr., 29 May, 1806, under bond of $2,000. He received deed to 130 acres of land called Strife, where he lived and adjoining Pitts Creek. He gave deed 14 November, 1807, manumitting and setting free "in consideration of divers good causes and ten pounds current money, negro woman Milly, negro girl Alice and negro boy Noah, children of said Milly." His widow, Mary, was appointed Administratrix of his estate, without Will, 26 November, 1813. She and James Melvin, perhaps her father or brother, manumitted a negro named Harry, in 1822. The following named persons united 23 September, 1848, in signing deed to tracts of land called Strife, and Ambition against Strife, as heirs at law of their father, John R. Slocomb, viz.:

- i. JOHN R. SLOCOMB and wife. He was named Executor of his grandfather Slocomb's estate, D794.
- ii. ELIJAH PILCHARD and wife, of Texas. Had sons Alford and William.
- iii. RILEY W. SLOCOMB and wife. He was usually known as White Slocomb; was a superintendent in the U. S. Mint, San Francisco, about 1858-1861.
- iv. JAMES SLOCOMB and wife, of Philadelphia.
- v. WILLIAM; by Will 9 Jan., 1822, he bequeathed to his mother, Mary, a negro man named Henry 'to do with as she shall see proper.' This is, probably, the man she manumitted the same year; see above.

794 C794 (794)

WILLIAM³ SLOCOMB (Robert,² Robert C.,¹) surname spelled variously, was born either in Accomac County, Virginia, or in the adjoining Worcester County in Maryland, about the year 1735. He gave to his cousin Thomas 5 November, 1799, deed to lands in Matapony Hundred with grist mill, mill stones, etc., in Worcester Co., Md. Also a bond to Hezekiah Johnson of same place to indemnify him against any loss by damming of water above this mill. He also gave to William Payne 5 November, 1799, deed to land by the road leading from Snow Hill, Md., to Stevens' Ferry; consideration £101. There were other land purchases, and sales, by him.

The next other record found regarding him is in Accomac, Va., showing his removal to this County, and the efforts then adopted to prevent foreign slave trade.* William was twice married, first to Ann —; and second to Lavinia, widow and executrix of William Silverthorn, deceased.

William Slocumb's Will, dated 8 April, 1817, was executed by his widow Lavinia and eldest son Samuel B. The Will of this widow Lavinia was made 24 December, 1842. William had children, by first marriage:

794A. i. SAMUEL BANNISTER, b. 1795; m. Cora A. Cox; d. 1835.

By second marriage:

ii. CHARLOTTE, b. 1802; died previous to 24 December, 1842.

794B. iii. WALTER, born 1804; m. Rebecca —.

794C. iv. WILLIAM C., b. 25 Dec., 1806; m. Susan Aydelotte; d. 1871.

794D. v. ANN MARIA, b. 1808; m. Matthias N. Lindsey; d. 1868.

794E. vi. THOMAS, born 1 March, 1812; m. Sara E. Marshal.

*Before me John Sheperd Ker, Justice of the Peace for the County of Accomac, personally appeared William Slocumb late of the County of Worcester of the State of Maryland, who removed into this County on the 20th day of December last past (1799) and took the following oath:

I, William Slocum, do swear that my removal into the State of Virginia was with no intent of evading the laws for preventing the further importation of slaves nor have I brought with me any Slaves with an intent of selling them, nor have any of the slaves which I have brought with me been imported from Africa or any of the West India Islands since the first day of November, 1778, so help me God.

[signed] WILLIAM SLOCOM.

Sworn to Jan. 5, 1800.

CAPT. CUTHBERT HARRISON⁵ SLOCOMB (Samuel B.,⁴ William,³ Robert,² Robert C.,¹) was born in New Orleans, Louisiana. He married Miss A— Day, who was there born —.

He enlisted in the Confederate Army for the Civil War, going out in 1862 in charge of the Fifth Company, Battalion of the Washington Artillery, New Orleans, through Tennessee; defense of New Orleans, etc. Their last stand was at Spanish Fort near Mobile, where his command was given charge of a Columbiad, cast in the Confederate foundry at Selma, Alabama, in 1863. The Federal forces captured the Confederate forces here in April, 1865.*

*The later interest taken in the columbiad cannon, of Capt. Slocomb's command, inclines the writer to sketch its history. The cannon is ten feet long, two feet in diameter at the breech, has a bore of eight inches, and is forty inches in circumference at the muzzle. It was well mounted, with three embrasures to fire to the front, left and right. Capt. Slocomb's command was very proud of the handsome cannon and, in honor of their captain's wife, they named it Lady Slocomb, which name is yet in use. This gun was fired 144 charges; consumed 1,440 pounds of powder, and threw 7,592 pounds of iron, and it was without molecular expansion or depreciation when her mountings were disabled—and along the entire two miles of Confederate batteries "there was no gun which did near so much execution as did 'Lady Slocomb'." Three Federal shot disabled her: one struck the carriage, one broke the trunnion, and one broke the elevating screw. Fifteen men were killed and wounded, of the command of this gun, during this siege. The remaining members of Captain Slocomb's command, when it was disabled, rolled the gun off the embankment into a 'slush hole' and covered it, that it might not fall into Federal hands.

'LADY SLOCOMB' THE HISTORIC GUN OF SPANISH FORT

Deep in the grass that greener grew,
That once it was stained a crimson hue,
The old gun lay 'neath the sun and the dew,
Like a warrior in his mail;
Prone on the field where war's high-tide
Had stranded it, yet with voiceless pride
It guarded the spot where men had died,
Who had rather die than fail.

It guarded the trenches which scarred the hill,
Like furrows of tears, and saw them fill
With waves of jessamine flowers, until
The frown of the field was gone;
And it watched 'till the men who clinched in the fray,
The brothers in Blue and the brothers in Gray,
Clasped hands o'er the Gun which had thundered that day.
True Sentry—your vigil is done.

M. C., in The Mobile Register, 1891.

The sentiment regarding this interesting relic increased. It was moved from its seclusion in late years and carried to Mobile, seven miles west across the Bay, where it was purchased by Henry Badger, a prominent Confederate of that place, who had served through the war, and knew of the excellence

Captain Slocomb was a dealer in improved live stock, particularly horses, and he built a race course at New Orleans. He there died about 1880. Mrs. Slocomb has passed some summers at Groton, Connecticut. They had one child, viz.:

CORA ANN SLOCOMB, born — in New Orleans, Louisiana. She married Count di Brazza-Savorgnan, of Italy. They attended The World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893, together, where he represented his country, Italy, in the Agricultural Congress, and she lectured on Life of the Italian Women in the Country, and served as President of The Committee of Italian Ladies Formed for the Exhibition of Italian Laces. Their exhibition, given in the Women's Building, was large, interesting and valuable in different senses. There were fifty-seven exhibitors, who received thirty-three medals, and the Countess Cora Slocomb di Brazza received medal for the collection of antique lace, and another for her book especially written for the occasion entitled, Old and New Lace in Italy, 'a learned treatise on textile art.' She is a pleasing, forceful writer. She published in 1896 a 12mo volume of 244 pages entitled An American Idyll, Boston, The Arena Publishing Company.

In 1897 she was one of the prime movers in the International Peace Arbitration Movement, lecturing in Chicago in its interest. Its offices are in Washington, D. C., and Bern, Switzerland.

Count di Brazza was President of The International Postal Union in 1897.

CUTHBERT SEWELL⁵ SLOCOMB (William C.,⁴ William,³ Robert,² Robert C.,¹) was born 12 May, 1852, on a farm in Accomac County, 'The East Shore' (shore of Chesapeake Bay) Virginia, of well-educated-in-the-schools and intelligent stock.

of the gun, and of the sentiment surrounding it. It soon came into possession of The Blue and Gray Veterans' Union of Mobile, Alabama, which Union was happily organized 4 July 1890, on the Battlefield of Spanish Fort and Blakely for the following purposes, viz.:

"To aid and foster fraternal feelings between those opposed to each other during the Civil War; to discourage everything that shall tend to arouse the animosities of the past; to keep green the memories of our heroic dead; to meet in reunion annually, and to take measures to effect the erection of a monument commemorative of the valor of American soldiers, and the last battle of the war—Spanish Fort and Blakely—to be known as the Peace Monument, and erected in Mobile, Ala."

Upon learning of the action of The Blue and Gray Veterans' Union of Mobile, The Veterans of Slocomb's Battery, "Fifth Company, Battalion of Washington Artillery, New Orleans," wrote to the Secretary of The United States Treasury, Washington, D. C., setting forth their sentimental claim to, and petitioning the right to purchase 'The Lady Slocomb,' which, at official headquarters, Washington, had become registered as Derelict, R. S. 3755. The Veterans' Union also presented their sentimental claim, and right to the cannon by purchase. After much correspondence and evidence, it was decided that 'The Lady Slocomb' be given into possession of The Battalion of Washington Artillery, New Orleans.

When Cuthbert was ten years of age, his father's negroes left him, from President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation; then an accidental fire destroyed his dwelling, all of which necessitated active work of the members of the family and less educational advantages.

Starting out for himself, he went to Hannibal, Mo., in March, 1881; and to Texas in March, 1882. He remained here, and in Indian Territory, until 1892, when he returned to Virginia and engaged in mercantile business in Onancock. This business he sold, and established himself in Pocomoke City, Va., as bricklayer and contractor. Here he m. 25 Dec., 1895, Mary Irene Schoolfield, b. here 22 May, 1873. In May, 1905, they moved to Norfolk, Va., where they 1907 reside.

The writer had a pleasant visit with this interesting family in May, 1907; and from Mr. Slocomb, who is pleasant company, learned much regarding the later Slocomb residents on the East Shore of Virginia. Mr. Slocomb is an A. F. and A. Mason, and member of The M. E. Church, South, in which he has held office. Their children are:

- i. JESSIE BARNES, born 12 December, 1900, in Onancock, Virginia.
- ii. A SON, born 21 June, 1903; died at the age of five days.
- iii. SUSAN BRITANN (Britania?), born 22 June, 1904.

 MY DEAR NEPHEW, EDWIN M. SLOCOMBE:—I was pleased to hear from you, although I fear I cannot help you much—but my aunt Mary Reed told me that she visited her grandmother, who lived in Crenkern, Somerset, whose first husband was the father of Henry Slocombe my grandfather. She (Mrs. Slocombe) was a sister of one Colonel Murray, who figured largely in Parliament, and who is still much admired by the Scotch. He is mentioned in history (I forgot where I read it) and the Edinburgh School Board use a book of history in which he is mentioned. The Murrays were illegitimate children of [King] James. One or two of that clan are dukes. So, now, we have Mary Murray. I think my great-grandfather was Henry Slocombe, who died, and Mrs. Slocombe married a second time to a Mr. Potter, of Crenkern. I cannot find out more than this now. If I can I will do so. Enclosed is our crest or coat of arms, etc., etc. Your aunt,

MARY DOBSON.

MICHAEL SLOHEN, OR SLOANE (Michael), was born in the year 1812 at Drumraney, County Westmeath, Ireland. Like many other energetic Irishmen who desired freedom of their native land from the restraints of Great Britain, he committed some overt act politically, and came to America a political refugee 'with a price on his head' about the year 1835. He arrived at Quebec by the sailing ship Hebrew, and soon started southward, finally arriving at Hartford, Connecticut, where he changed his name to Slocum. Here he was married in May, 1843, by Rev. John Brady, Roman Catholic, to Jane McCormick, born 1 May, 1815, at Moate, Co. Westmeath, Ireland, daughter of Michael and Anna (Perry) McCormick. She came to Hartford in 1837. They resided in Hartford until 1849, then moved to Winsted, Ct. Children, all known by the surname Slocum:

- i. THOMAS, b. —, in Hartford, Ct.; died in Oct., 1887, in Bridgeport. He was many years with the Barnum and Bailey Circus; and at the time of his death with Forepaugh, as head canvasser. He left a wife, but no children.

- ii. JOHN, b. —, in Hartford; m. —; d. in July, 1881, in Winsted. No children. He enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1867, and served three years in Co. E, 17th U. S. Inf., against the Ku Klux Klan in Texas and other parts of the South, and later against the Sitting Bull hostile Aborigines to the northwest. He was a printer, but upon his return from the army he gave up this work to become Deputy Sheriff at Winsted, Ct., which position he held at the time of his death.
- iii. MICHAEL, b. —. He learned the cutler trade, but left it in 1867, enlisted in the U. S. Army and served three years in Co. I, 13th Inf., against the hostile Comanche and Apache Aborigines in Arizona and New Mexico, and later against the Sioux to the northward. At the death of his brother John, he succeeded him as Deputy Sheriff at Winsted, Ct., in which office he continued until his death in 1892. He left a widow, two sons, John and William, in Winsted, 1906, and a dau., Angelita, 1906 teaching Public School in East Portchester, Ct.

RT. REV. MGR. WILLIAM JOSEPH² SLOCUM (Michael,¹ Michael,) was born 6 February, 1851, in Winsted, Litchfield County, Connecticut.

His primary education was received in the Public and Parochial Schools there, and his Collegiate and Seminary courses were received in St. Bonaventures College and Seminary, Allegany, Cattaraugus Co., New York. Here he was ordained Priest 22 June, 1876, by Rt. Rev. Stephen V. Ryan, Bishop of Buffalo. Was appointed 1 July, 1876, Curate at St. Peter's Church, Hartford, Ct., by Bishop Galberry, Curate at St. Patrick's, New Haven, 10 Aug., 1876; Curate at the Cathedral, Hartford, by Bishop McMahan, March, 1882; Rector of St. Mary's, Norwalk, Ct., 1 May, 1883; permanent Rector at Norwalk, 1886. Was transferred as permanent Rector of The Immaculate Conception Church, Waterbury, Ct., 1 Sep., 1895, by Bishop Tierney, where he (1907) remains.

He here received 14 Nov., 1906, the honor of being created Domestic Prelate of the Papal Household, with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor, by authority of Pope Pius X, in presence of a large congregation and of priests from many parishes. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Slocum is a ready, accurate and courteous writer, and undoubtedly deserves the success that has attended his labors.

In the winter of 1906-07 he past some weeks at White Springs, Florida; and an Associated Press despatch 2 Oct., 1907, told of a sudden and severe seizure of illness at his home in Waterbury, Ct.

SIDNEY SLOCOMBE (Samuel.) born 18 December, 1856, in Westbury, County Somerset, England; came to America about the year 1876. He married 17 October, 1878, in Mottville, Onondaga Co., New York. Urana Nettleton, born 4 December, 1854, in Renfrew, Canada, daughter of Samuel Stafford and Elizabeth (Burns) Nettleton. In 1892 Sidney resided in Marcellus, Onondaga Co., N. Y., a tinsmith and dealer in stoves and house furnishings. In 1906 he was residing in Syracuse, N. Y.

His father was the youngest of twenty-one children, all of whom "were obliged to shift for themselves at a very early age, with no education whatever. This accounts for the fact that they did not know what became of each other after leaving their native village." Sidney's father was "an honest, hardworking man;" had but five children, two of whom died in infancy. Of those remaining in 1892, Caroline lived in London, Eng., and Sidney's younger brother lived in Camillus, N. Y., unmarried.

Job Slocombe, who came to East Syracuse, N. Y., about 1828, see ante page 6, was Sidney's uncle, one of the twenty-one in the family mentioned above.

Sidney's children in 1892, born in Marcellus, N. Y., were:

- i. CHESTER A. SLOCOMBE, born 28 March, 1880.
- ii. BLANCHE SLOCOMBE, born 23 December, 1881.
- iii. FREDERICK S. SLOCOMBE, born 2 June, 1887.
- iv. MARY E. SLOCOMBE, born 22 February, 1889.

Evidence regarding the wisdom of General Henry W. Slocum's General Order against the organization of Mississippi State Troops during his command of the Department of the Mississippi (see page 392) is given in McClure's Magazine, pages 44 to 49, for May, 1908, article entitled First Days of the Reconstruction, by Carl Schurz.

An Historical Monument of White Bronze, hight over sixteen feet, was erected in 1908 by Charles E. Slocum, Family 618, on a plat in the new Hill Cemetery, Northville, New York, which embraces the remains of four generations of Slocums, who in their lives contributed to the clearing of the land and to the development of the beautiful village which has been a summer resort of city people. The entire American lineage is given on the Monument, with sketch of each family from Anthony¹, and children of each family, through Eleazer⁶, Family 117, the first of the four generations there buried, with and from which Family more of detail is given, through his son Joseph⁷, Family 249, and grandson Caleb W.⁸, Family 481, with his eleven children. Mention is made of the principal events in the life of each of the nine generations, including those deceased of Family 481.

A lifesize figure of Hope caps the Monument, all parts of which are proportionate with artistic design.

The inscriptions are very plain, throughout their great extent. The Monument is immediately surrounded with a cement walk, and like walks lead from the edges of the plat to each of the four faces, affording convenient approaches and pleasant standing places for the numerous visitors who desire to observe every detail—each visitor going away with report of a Monument with new and great significance.
