- 648 Statuette. Seated figure, one leg hanging and one foot on level with seat; knee near chin, one arm thrown along leg, the other hand resting on arm. Very graceful position. Statue is badly in need of a head and back, but the fragment is truly artistic.  $4 \times 2\frac{1}{4}$  in.

BRONZES.

Part of same Collection consigned from Syria; all guaranteed as described—all bronze.

- 649 Statuette of some female god, with her arms folded on her breast, her garments knotted about her waist. Dark green patina, partly cleaned off. Very fine and ex. rare. 5 in
- 650 Cherub bearing a cup; he is apparently suspended in the air, probably Ganymede; one foot gone. Still very fine and rare.  $3\frac{1}{4}$ -in.
- 651 Figure of a Gladiator; over one arm is thrown the skin of some animal (his only shield), and in the other hand he has a knife (which is absent), on the feet are spikes, it having been used as the handle for the cover of one of the large bronze urns. Fine, rare. 5 in.
- 652 Small Statuette of Osiris. Very good. 3 in.
- 653 Portion of the trappings of a chariot, representing a serpent's crest, on the apex of which is standing, all four feet together, some animal, probably a griffon. Very good; rare. Curved; brown patina. 4 in.
- 654 — Another. Smaller and more perfect. Without the animal on top. Black and green patina. Rare. 4 in.
- 655 Curious statuette of a leopard: Very crude in form. Rare. Well patinated.  $3\frac{1}{2}$  in.
- 656 Still more curious animal, standing much higher on its fore than its hind feet on base, its tail curving down and joining its legs forms a sort of handle. Very rare. 2 in.
- 657 Top-boot; it looks like a boot, but is probably a leg and foot. Very rare, 2 in.
- 658 Double serpent forming a letter S, beautifully engraved. Rare.  $1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
- 659 Small statuette of a priest or noble in toga. Fine.  $1\frac{3}{4}$  in.
