TO OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

It is with great pleasure that we are sending to our customers this new catalogue, and beg to tender thanks to old customers who have shown their approval of the quality of our stock of roots and bulbs.

Again you will find our list contains several new varieties worthy of a trial in your garden this summer.

With the aid of irrigation, growing conditions have been very satisfactory this season and an unusually large crop of roots and bulbs are in storage.

Our prices you will find quite low this year and especially so when the quality of stock is considered.

OUR IRIS AND PEONY CATALOGUE WILL BE MAILED DURING THE EARLY SUMMER.

We grow new varieties of Gladiolus, Dahlias and Peonies from many growers in this country and Europe, from these we select for our customers choice, only those varieties that are of outstanding merit in their particular class. Varieties, for which we find more worthy successors, are discarded each year.

We extend to you a cordial invitation to visit our garden any time, our blooming season is from June 1st until frost.

Sincerely yours,

J. V. EDLUND.

Dahlias

Dahlias are easily grown, requiring no special soil or treatment to bring them to perfection. They like an open, sunny situation, but also succeed in partial afternoon shade.

Prepare the soil thoroughly by spading 12 to 18 inches deep, and if the soil is poor work in some 2-16-8 Commercial fertilizer about two weeks in advance of planting, about six or seven pounds to 100 square feet. Dig holes 3 to 4 feet apart and about 5 inches deep; drive a stout stake in each hole and lay the tuber down flat with the crown toward the stake and the eye upward, then cover with 2 or 3 inches of soil, leaving the balance of the hole to be filled up later, after the plant comes up.

Plant any time from May 15th to June 15th in this vicinity, the later date being the best for exhibition flowers.

To prevent the plant from growing too tall, they can be pinched back at the top when they have made their third set of leaves, this will make them branch and we think produce more blooms.

Allow only one plant to each stake. Tie plant securely to stake as it continues to grow. Cultivate at least once every week and after each rain, until the buds appear, rake in the soil a handful of hardwood ashes if possible and mulch the ground with well-rotted manure or lawn clippings and water thoroughly whenever the plants need it.

Disbudding the side buds, leaving only the terminal bud to develop, will bring larger blossoms.

After the plants have been killed by hard frost they should be carefully dug, allowed to dry a few hours, and stored in a dry cellar tops down and with dry soil over them to keep from shriveling. We have them stored in boxes or barrels and covered them with dry pine sawdust with excellent results.

IMPORTANT

Of recent years thrip has become so prevalent that it is necessary to spray, at weekly intervals during the growing season.

Often times the producer is blamed for poor stock when it has been the work of the thrip or aphid.

Thrips are tiny insects that enter the growing tip or shoot and chafe the newly formed leaves, injuring them so that they develop malformed and curled. These insects seem to enjoy the life blood of certain varieties on account of its flavor and do not molest the adjacent bush.

If the attack is not checked it will result in a stunted bush, we use a solution of Evergreen.

GREEN PLANTS

Our cuttings are taken from stock of healthy named varieties and grown cold, it has been our experience that cold grown plants will establish themselves more quickly than if grown under a very warm condition when they are moved to the field and they need not be protected against the warm sun.

The popularity of our green plants is growing fast, and we suggest that you give them a trial on your next order if you are buying the higher-priced varieties, as plants are about one-half of root price in most cases. Green plants when properly grown from healthy stock, give equal or better blooms than from roots.

Plants should be set a little deeper than roots, plant at least six inches deep, the lower leaves may be removed if necessary, the after-cultivation and care of plants should be the same as for roots. Our plants will be ready for shipment after May 20th.

Pompon Dahlias

This class is a miniature form of the show or ball Dahlias, having the same round, ball-like form, but much smaller in size. The plants are also smaller, or branching habit, producing the flowers in endless profusion. As they can be cut in sprays they are valuable for bouquets and particularly table decorations. They last a long time when cut.

How to Grow Gladiolus

Plant the bulbs in well-worked soil 5 to 6 inches deep. Deep planting will serve to protect the roots from the hot sun, keeping more moisture about the roots, and also serves to hold up the heavy spike after it has grown to its full height.

The Gladiolus will thrive in almost any good garden soil, but seems best results are obtained in soil that is more or less sandy. Plant in a sunny location away from trees and large shrubs. The first planting may be made in the spring as soon as the ground is warm and in good workable condition. If a succession of blooms is desired throughout the summer, new plantings may be made about 10 days after the foliage of the previous planting show through the ground and additional plantings continued until the last week in June, which is about as late as is safe to make the last planting in order to secure flowers before frost.

Cultivate often and thoroughly; the more you cultivate the better they grow. Do not allow the ground to bake around the plants. The bulbs should be dug before the plants are too ripe and before hard frosts. Dig the bulbs and cut off the tops close to the bulbs. Dry well in the open air and sunshine, then put in dry airy place for two or three weeks to cure. Be sure to protect against frost. As soon as well dried the old bulbs, bulblets and roots can easily be removed.

Put bulbs in trays not over four inches deep. Store in cellar or basement where the temperature is uniform and around 40 or 45 degrees.

MINNESOTA GROWN

Minnesota grown bulbs are conceded to be the best produced anywhere, because of the climatic conditions which tend to develop a much firmer, healthier bulb than those grown under warmer and more humid climatic conditions.

French Lilacs

In your garden you derive continual enjoyment from a planting of French lilacs. Unlike many other plants unusually beautiful, lilacs require little attention after they have been properly planted and last many years, rewarding your foresight time and again with a greater abundance of flowers.

French Lilacs can be planted in the Spring or Fall, but if planted in the Spring they should be planted very early before they start into bud.

If not convenient to plant in early Spring, the ideal time is October or early November. Our Lilacs are on their own roots.

It is well to dig around and mulch the plant in the fall with good manure, and dig it in the spring, and every few years a good coat of bone meal is beneficial.

Hybrid Delphiniums

Delphiniums are perfectly hardy, there has been a great revival of interest in them the past few years due to the wonderful improvements that have been made in them. Several famous hybridizers have been working on them and have produced new forms and types and beautiful colorings, many of them now having beautiful shades of pink, mauve and purple mingled with the various shades of blue and shades of white.

Our plants are grown from the finest seeds obtainable in England and France, which are in no comparison with the old common kinds; they can be planted in September or early spring and bloom the first year. We offer in assorted colors one year plants; each $1.00; Doz. $10.00.

We are also offering for spring delivery only, pot-grown plants of Delphiniums. These plants are the same that we will be using for our own planting. To those who have had difficulty in germinating the seed of Delphiniums, this is an opportunity to get these young unflowered plants, and thus get the initial benefit from them.

These plants will all bloom from August until frost, giving spikes from 3 to 4 feet in height and the following year they will be at their best.

Plants carefully packed and guaranteed to arrive safely $4.00 per Doz.

Mastodon Strawberries

We have grown Mastodon strawberries for the past three years and have found them to be far superior to any everbearing strawberry we have ever seen, planted early they will begin bearing about August 1st and continue until killed by heavy frost and again an early crop in the spring; plant in rows about three feet apart and one foot in the row and keep free from weeds and remove all blossoms until about July 1st, then give them a good dressing of well-rotted manure and a good mulch. Our plants are the true Mastodon ever-bearer. Doz. 50c; one hundred $3.50, postpaid.
