MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith, for the information of the Congress, the third report of the United States Board on Geographic Names, constituted by Executive order of September 4, 1890.

The attention of the Congress is invited to the recommendations of the Board that, in addition to the number of copies of the report printed for the use of the Congress, 2,500 copies be printed for the use of the Board, and that an annual appropriation of $2,500 be asked to enable the Board to conduct the necessary correspondence, make investigations of questions submitted, and prepare, print, and promptly distribute the decisions made by the Board.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The WHITE HOUSE,
December 5, 1905.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29, 1905.

To the PRESIDENT:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the third report of the United States Board on Geographic Names, which includes all decisions made by the Board to date, and also contains an account of the origin, history, organization, methods, and principles of the Board.

The Board respectfully recommends:

First. That, in addition to the number of copies of this report printed for the use of Congress, 2,500 copies be printed for the use of the Board.

Second. That, to conduct the necessary correspondence, make investigations of questions submitted, prepare, print, and promptly distribute the decisions as made, Congress be asked for an annual appropriation of $2,500.

Respectfully submitted.

HENRY GANNETT,
Chairman.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS.

As it is desirable that uniform usage in regard to geographic nomenclature and orthography obtain throughout the Executive Departments of the Government, and particularly upon the maps and charts issued by the various Departments and bureaus, I hereby constitute a Board on Geographic Names and designate the following persons, who have heretofore co-operated for a similar purpose under the authority of the several Departments, bureaus, and institutions with which they are connected, as members of said Board:

Prof. Thomas C. Mendenhall, United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, chairman.

Andrew H. Allen, Department of State.

Capt. Henry L. Howison, Light-House Board, Treasury Department.

Capt. Thomas Turtle, Engineer Corps, War Department.

Lieut. Richardson Clover, Hydrographic Office, Navy Department.

Pierson H. Bristow, Post-Office Department.

Otis T. Mason, Smithsonian Institution.

Herbert G. Ogden, United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Henry Gannett, United States Geological Survey.

Marcus Baker, United States Geological Survey.

To this Board shall be referred all unsettled questions concerning geographic names which arise in the Departments, and the decisions of the Board are to be accepted by these Departments as the standard authority in such matters.

Department officers are instructed to afford such assistance as may be proper to carry on the work of this Board.

The members of this Board shall serve without additional compensation, and its organization shall entail no expense on the Government.

BENJ. HARRISON.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,

September 4, 1890.

It is hereby ordered that there be added to the duties of the United States Board on Geographic Names, created by Executive order, dated September 4, 1890, the duty of determining, changing, and fixing place names within the United States and insular possessions, and it is hereby directed that all names hereafter suggested for any place by any officer or employe of the Government shall be referred to said Board for its consideration and approval before publication.

In these matters, as in all cases of disputed nomenclature, the decisions of the Board are to be accepted by the Departments of Government as the standard authority.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The WHITE HOUSE,

January 23, 1906.

OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES BOARD ON GEOGRAPHIC NAMES.

Chairman, HENRY GANNETT.

Secretary, CHARLES S. SLOANE.

Executive committee, ADOLPH VON HAAKE, FRANK BOND, and CHARLES DENBY.

Maj. William D. Beach, General Staff, War Department.

Frank Bond, General Land Office, Department of the Interior.

Andrew Braid, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce and Labor.

Charles Denby, Chief Clerk, Department of State.

Henry Gannett, Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.

Adolph von Haake, Post-Office Department.

Capt. Harry M. Hodges, Hydrographic Office, Navy Department.

Arnold B. Johnson, Light-House Board, Department of Commerce and Labor.

Otis T. Mason, National Museum, Smithsonian Institution.

C. Hart Merriam, Chief Biologist, Department of Agriculture.

John S. Mills, Office of the Secretary, Treasury Department.

C. M. Robinson, Foreman of Proof Division, Government Printing Office.

Charles S. Sloane, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor.

BY-LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES BOARD ON GEOGRAPHIC NAMES.

ADOPTED NOVEMBER 4, 1890.

ARTICLE I.—Name.

This organization shall be called “The United States Board on Geographic Names.”

ARTICLE II.—Officers.

The officers shall consist of a chairman, a secretary (who shall be elected by ballot), and an executive committee of three, to be appointed by the chair with the concurrence of the Board, all of whom shall serve for one year or until their successors shall be chosen.

ARTICLE III.—Duties of officers.

SECTION 1. The chairman shall preside at the meetings and shall certify to the decisions of the Board. He shall appoint all committees not specially named by the Board. He shall have power to designate a member of the Board to act for him during his temporary absence.

SECTION 2. The secretary shall record the proceedings of the Board and shall keep a record that will show the decisions rendered, or other action of the Board upon cases submitted to it, with reference to the papers filed in each case. He shall maintain files of the original papers, or copies of them, that may be presented in each case, conveniently arranged for reference. He shall conduct the general correspondence and shall receive communications presented for the consideration of the Board, transmitting them to the executive committee as their character may require or as may be hereafter provided.

SECTION 3. The executive committee shall receive through the secretary all communications requiring decision by the Board; shall investigate the questions presented, securing information from all available sources, and shall report upon them to the Board, submitting recommendations regarding them.

ARTICLE IV.—Meetings.

The Board shall hold regular meetings on the first Wednesday^a in each month, excepting the months of July, August, and September.

^aOriginally Tuesday; changed to Wednesday, December 7, 1897.

Special meetings may be called by the chairman or by the executive committee. A majority of the Board shall constitute a quorum. The affirmative vote of a majority of all the members of the Board shall be required in the final decision in any case. All motions presented for the consideration of the Board shall be submitted in writing.

ARTICLE V.—Amendments.

These by-laws may be amended at any regular or special meeting by a majority vote of all the members of the Board, provided that the proposed amendment has been presented at least four weeks previous to the time the vote is taken.

STANDING RULE.

The hour of meeting shall be 10.30 a. m.

THIRD REPORT

OF THE

UNITED STATES BOARD ON GEOGRAPHIC NAMES.

ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF THE BOARD.

The United States Board on Geographic Names was created by an Executive order issued by President Harrison September 4, 1890. Prior to that date there was an unofficial organization, composed of ten persons, all employed in the public service, all engaged in geographic work, and all keenly sensitive to the confusion and contradictions in geographic names as used in Government publications.

Originally the Board was composed of ten members. Its present membership is thirteen, of whom two were original members. The membership, past and present, together with Departments, bureaus, offices, and institutions represented, is set forth in the following table:

	Kutz, C. W.....	Mar. 11, 1904, to Nov. 29, 1905.
	Beach, Maj. W. D.....	Nov. 29, 1905, to date.

Mr. T. C. Mendenhall was chairman from the creation of the Board in 1890 until his departure from Washington in June, 1894, since which time Mr. Gannett has filled this position, except for the period from October 1, 1902, to October 14, 1903, when Major Lusk acted as chairman. Mr. Clover served as secretary from the beginning until October 6, 1891, and Mr. Baker from that date until his death, December 12, 1903. Mr. A. H. Allen acted as secretary from January 6, 1904, to April 6, 1904, when Mr. C. S. Sloane was elected secretary.

The Board has decided 5,133 cases. It has also, after an examination of the disputed cases, approved a certain form of spelling for the names of the counties of the United States, numbering 2,876.

Shortly after the organization of the Board it was called upon to decide several hundred cases of disputed names in Alaska, where the nomenclature derived from native, Russian, Spanish, and English sources was, as it still to some extent is, in great confusion. The cases submitted were decided. It was seen, however, that nothing short of a complete revision of all the names would satisfactorily remove the existing confusion. This was made, and issued in 1901 as Bulletin 187 of the Geological Survey, entitled "Geographic Dictionary of Alaska," which is now being revised.

ORIGIN OF AND CHANGES IN GEOGRAPHIC NAMES.

With the exception of the names of political subdivisions, geographic names in this country have not, as a rule, been bestowed by any formal authority. The names of natural features—rivers, lakes, mountains, capes, etc.—and of unchartered bodies of population have received their names originally from explorers, surveyors, and early settlers, and these names have been perpetuated by common consent. The names of states, counties, and municipalities of all classes, on the other hand, have been applied either by legislative enactment or charter, and therefore possess some degree of formal authority.

Differences of usage exist to a large extent, not only in the names of natural features and unincorporated places, but even in those of organized bodies of population whose names have been bestowed by formal authority. These differences have originated in numerous ways.

In the unsettled parts of the country different exploring expeditions, ignoring the work of their predecessors, have given new names to features already named. As elsewhere noted this difficulty has often occurred in Alaska, which has been visited in recent years by numerous expeditions.

The transliteration of Indian names has everywhere been a fruitful source of differences in spelling, inasmuch as no two persons understand alike or render into the same English characters the obscure sounds of Indian names.

It often happens in the case of the larger geographic features, such as extended mountain ranges, rivers, etc., that different names have been applied locally in various parts and these names have become well settled in usage.

It frequently happens that railroads adopt names for their stations different from those of the towns or villages in which they are situated and thus divide usage. To a much greater extent, however, than the railroads has the Post Office Department confused the nomenclature of the smaller towns and villages by attaching names to the post offices not in accordance with those in local usage. Indeed, an examination shows that there are in this country thousands of cases where the name of the post office does not conform to the local name of the place in which it is situated. These differences are very confusing to those using the postal service, and it seems desirable to reduce their number so far as practicable, at the same time recognizing the necessity of having no post office name duplicated in a state.

By far the greater number of differences in usage, however, have their origin in carelessness or ignorance on the part of those making use of the names. Such errors appearing in print are frequently perpetuated, especially in popular works, and often supplant the original name in usage.

Originating in these diversities of spelling there is distinctly traceable a development of geographic nomenclature which is, on the whole, proceeding in a beneficial direction. Its tendency is toward the discarding of objectionable names and the adoption of pleasing ones, and toward the simplification and abbreviation of names, particularly as shown in the dropping of silent letters. The Board, recognizing this course of development, deems it to be within its power to guide it, and even to forestall it, so far as its future course may be foreseen.

The extent to which geographic names have been modified without being radically changed is scarcely appreciated. A large proportion, probably a majority, of the names of natural features have undergone alterations in spelling to a greater or less extent since they were first applied, while of the names of political divisions, although established by formal act, a considerable proportion have also changed, and such variations have, in thousands of cases, become firmly established. Therefore, the position assumed by some persons, that we should revert to the original forms of names, would, if carried out, result in changing the names of a large proportion of our natural and artificial features.

POLICY OF THE BOARD.

The Board is agreed that in general the name which is in common local use at present should be adopted. This is a broad, general principle, and summarizes the policy of the Board, with the exception of certain classes of names. It covers cases of changes or corruptions of names, except where they are considered to be unworthy of perpetuation.

The Board clearly recognizes that the importance and value of its decisions depend upon their general adoption. To change corrupted forms back to pure forms, after the corrupted form has been established, is to make a decision which will not be followed. Such decisions are not merely useless; they are positively harmful. They tend not to settle, but to unsettle usage. To restore such names as Port Townsend to Port Townshend, Pysht to Psyche, Ozan to Aux ânes, Low Freight to L'eau frais, Sitka to Shitka, Possum to Opossum, is not always possible, however desirable. The aim, therefore, of the Board is to discover and support by its decisions the forms in use in all cases, except those where specific and positive objections thereto are found to exist. That it should always succeed in this aim is obviously impossible. Changes are constantly occurring. The Board can not if it would, and would not if it could, oppose change.

The difficulties encountered in carrying out this principle are found mainly in determining what is the established usage, or the prevailing local practice where it is divided between different forms. Where it is so divided, opportunity is afforded for the selection of the more appropriate and euphonious of the names in use.

The Board considers it desirable to depart from local usage in certain cases in order to effect reforms in nomenclature. Among these departures approved by the Board are the following:

- (a) The avoidance, so far as seems practicable, of the possessive form of names.
- (b) The dropping of the final "h" in the termination "burgh."
- (c) The abbreviation of "borough" to "boro."

(d) The spelling of the word "center" as here given.

(e) The discontinuance of the use of hyphens in connecting parts of names.

(f) The omission, wherever practicable, of the letters "C. H." (Court-House) after the names of county seats.

(g) The simplification of names consisting of more than one word by their combination into one word.

(h) The avoidance of the use of diacritic characters.

(i) The dropping of the words "city" and "town" as parts of names.

All of these changes are warranted by the direction of development. The possessive form of name is rapidly disappearing, except in rare cases where good reason exists for its retention. In most cases this is effected by dropping the apostrophe and the final "s." In certain cases, however, usage or euphony appears to require the retention of the final "s," when the apostrophe only is dropped.

Concerning the termination "burg" or "burgh," as Pittsburg, an extensive correspondence has developed the fact that in more than three-fourths of the places having this termination the final "h" is not in local use. The case of the termination "boro" or "borough," as Attleboro, is very similar. The present tendency is strongly toward the substitution of the abbreviated form. The Board, therefore, deems it advisable to induce uniformity in this matter in the manner indicated.

In the case of the word "center" as part of a name, as Mansfield Center, Center Rutland, usage appears to be about equally divided between "center" and "centre," and the Board has adopted the first of the above forms of the word.

Hyphens in connecting parts of names appear to be useless, while they add to the complexity of the spelling.

The practice of adding the letters "C. H.," meaning Court-House, to the name of a county seat is prevalent, especially in the Southern states. Frequently the place has two names, one being its charter name, the other the name of the county with "C. H." appended; thus the county seat of Raleigh county, W. Va., is known as Beckley and as Raleigh C. H.

The tendency toward simplification is in no way shown more decidedly than in the combination of the several words forming a name. Thus "La Fayette" has become well nigh universally "Lafayette," and "El Dorado" has become "Eldorado." The Board approves this tendency and will further it so far as possible without forestalling usage too greatly.

The use of diacritic characters in geographic names in the United States, such as the German umlaut and the Spanish tilde, is rapidly disappearing. It would be impossible, even were it desirable, to oppose this change.

The practice of adding the word "city" or "town," as Boise City, Drummondtown, as a part of the name is a useless complication, growing in most cases out of an optimistic spirit on the part of the promoters of the place. It is often misleading and almost invariably unnecessary.

There are in Alaska a good many names of Russian origin ending in OBB, which terminating syllable has been variously rendered of, off, ow, and ov. The Board uniformly uses of. Examples: Baranof, Chichagof, Popof, and Shelikof.

Outside of the United States, where the Department of State and United States Hydrographic Office are chiefly interested, the work of the Board is directed to the harmonization of American usage in geographic nomenclature with the usage of the great map making nations—England, Germany, and France. The Department of State, by reason of its diplomatic and consular functions, is intimately concerned with the present style, change of names, transfers of territorial jurisdiction, cession and acquisition of territory by various governments abroad, and the proper forms of the titular political nomenclature of foreign states and nations. The interest of the Hydrographic Office is involved by reason of its publication of charts and sailing directions of all foreign waters, to the effective use of which uniformity of geographic nomenclature is obviously indispensable. The forms of foreign names recommended for adoption are determined on consultation of established usage, the best authorities upon ethnological and political history and derivation, and current geographic and political information from authentic sources.

Many names in foreign civilized countries present a peculiar difficulty and appear to require that a further exception be made to the general principle of following local usage. This lies in the fact that many foreign names have been anglicized, and the anglicized form, often quite different from the local form (meaning by local form that in use by the best authorities in the country having jurisdiction), is well established in usage in this country.

Such cases wherein English speaking nations use names differing from those locally accepted are not numerous, but they are among those most in use and represent the most prominent features of the earth; for instance, we call Deutschland Germany, España Spain, Livorno Leghorn. In many cases we translate the foreign name, if it is capable of translation, into English words. Other countries, in turn, treat the names of this country in a similar manner. Indeed, most non-English speaking people translate the name of this country into their own tongue, forgetting that geographic names, like personal names, should not be translated.

It is unquestionably desirable and proper that local usage should be followed in these cases as well as in others, i. e., that the home names should be the ones universally used; but in most of these cases it is obviously impracticable to introduce this reform, at least at present. The people of the United States can not be induced to change from Germany to Deutschland, or even from Italy to Italia, or The Hague to 's Gravenhage. It is a reform, however, to which we may look forward and work toward and which may be attained in the future.

It is understood by the Board that our charts of the coasts of foreign countries using Roman characters, made for the use of our Navy and merchant marine, generally require the use of the local forms of these names, while on the other hand popular usage in this country, especially in our atlases and text-books, requires the anglicized form. The Board practically leaves this matter on the same footing as heretofore, approving the use of local spelling of foreign names upon our charts and the anglicized forms upon maps designed for use in this country. It hopes, however, that the way may be open in the near future to the adoption throughout, of the local and the rejection of the anglicized forms. In such specific cases as have been brought to its attention it has decided uniformly in favor of the local method.

Most of the nations of Europe, either through national boards or geographic societies, are engaged in the regulation of the orthography of geographic names. Their attention has been particularly directed toward producing uniformity in the transliteration of aboriginal names written in characters other than Roman. These nations have practically agreed upon a system of transliteration, which, with one or two exceptions, has been adopted by this Board, thus coming into practical agreement in this matter with the rest of the civilized world.

SCOPE OF ITS FUNCTIONS.

From the wording of the Executive order creating the Board it has uniformly maintained that its function is limited to the consideration of names as to which there is diverse usage. Under the Executive order of January 23, 1906, there was added to the duties of the Board, the duty of determining, changing, and fixing place names within the United States and insular possessions. It does not give names to features, though frequently called upon to do so. It does not, though frequently appealed to, deal with the question of pronunciation. It does not determine the generic character of the feature whose name is in dispute. It does not determine whether a stream is a creek or river; whether a body of water is a lake or pond; whether an elevated tract is a hill or mountain.

The Board does not attempt wholesale reformation of corrupted names nor seek to restore original forms or pure forms, nor does it attach much importance to priority. It would be idle to attempt to now introduce New Amsterdam for New York, Lake Frontenac for Lake Ontario, Cat Lake for Lake Erie, Ouisconsin for Wisconsin, Ojibway for Chippewa, Konza for Kansas, or Ke-kan-ma-suk-sepe for Kalamazoo. Whatever diverse usage may be found in print, whatever departures from or corruptions of old forms are involved in such names, any attempt to restore first forms would not contribute to establishing uniform usage. These old names are of interest to the antiquarian and scholar, but a stumbling block in the path of the man of affairs who wants to know the name now and how it should be spelled. As a rule, names are dealt with individually. If it appears that present practice is fairly consistent or established as to any name, that form is, in general, adopted.

All the foregoing are things which the Board does not do. What it actually does is to consider, one by one, names brought to its attention as disputed. This dispute or discrepant use may exist in print or in speech, or in both. The Board, collecting all the facts deemed pertinent in each case, sifts them, weighs them, and decides what the name is and how the Executive Departments are to spell it. Under authority of the Executive order of January 23, 1906, the Board will control the place names of the country as far as Government usage is concerned. It will discard such as are objectionable, replacing them with appropriate names. It will publish and promulgate principles for the guidance of explorers and surveyors in the selection of suitable names. It will examine and decide upon names proposed for newly-discovered and unnamed features, and accept or reject those proposed. Its decisions are the "standard authority" for these Departments. If they are followed by the newspapers, the schools, the publishers, dictionary makers, and private map makers, a long step has been taken toward securing the uniformity so much to be desired.

There are three counties in the United States bearing the Indian name Pottawatomie, one each in Kansas and Oklahoma written Pottawatomie, and one in Iowa spelled Pottawattamie. The Board deems it desirable that the spelling of these names should be uniform, but it finds here "no unsettled question concerning geographic names" to be considered.

Similarly, five counties, a large city, a river, a mountain range, and various minor features bear the name Allegany. The word is spelled in three ways, each well established and thus not coming within the scope of the Board's functions. New York and Maryland each has an Allegany county; North Carolina and Virginia an Alleghany county, and Pennsylvania an Allegheny county. As to these respective counties the Board finds no diversity of usage and accepts the forms it finds. In the case of the river and mountains it finds diverse usage, and for these has adopted the form Allegheny.

Three counties and ten post offices in the United States bear the name Vermilion. The Board in this case spells the name Vermilion, irrespective of local usage, which is in some cases Vermillion, deeming the change so trifling and the gain in uniformity so great as to warrant this course.

The dropping of the "h" at the end of the termination "burg" has been uniformly followed by the Board, even where, as in some cases, this decision has conflicted with local usage. Thus it writes Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Orangeburg, Spartanburg, Vanderburg, and Williamsburg as the names of counties in Virginia, Indiana, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

Puerto Rico, meaning rich port, is the Spanish name of one of the West Indies acquired by the United States in 1898. In 1891 the Board adopted this form, conforming to the invariable local usage of that time and also to the practice of the country having jurisdiction. An act of Congress approved April 12, 1900, has established the form Porto Rico as the name of the island.

HOW DECISIONS ARE MADE.

Cases brought to the Board for decision are at once referred to the executive committee for examination and report. This committee examines each case, consulting printed authorities, such as mother maps, gazetteers, local historians, atlases, etc. Especially does it seek after, and it generally obtains, the local usage, to which it attaches great importance. Local usage is usually obtained by correspondence with county clerks, postmasters, and residents who are conversant with local conditions. This information derived from correspondence is often supplemented by the oral testimony of individuals having personal knowledge of the name under consideration. The information needful for deciding may be obtained quickly, within a day or two, or it may take months. When the executive committee is satisfied, it tabulates the results on cards, which are printed blanks whereon spaces are left for entering various items of information. When all the data are tabulated the members of the executive committee record their preferences, signing their initials. Thus there is a record vote of the executive committee. The cards so prepared are submitted to the Board at its regular monthly meetings, and considered one by one. Usually the executive committee agrees on its recommendations. Not infrequently, however, there is a divided report. The case being submitted to the Board, a vote is taken, and a majority, not of those present, but of the whole Board, is necessary to decide. The decision so reached is written at the top of the card, which is thereupon stamped Approved, with the date of the approval. Usually, from one to several cases at each meeting, are by the Board sent back to the committee for additional investigation. A facsimile of one of these cards is printed herewith:

Such is the present practice of the Board, gradually developed as the outcome of experience. The principles which govern decisions were at the outset considered and formulated with great painstaking and care. They were the subjects of many and earnest discussions, and it is a matter on which the Board congratulates itself that these principles so elaborated and adopted have so well stood the test of usage. While experience has improved practice in the Board's operations, it has contributed practically nothing in the way of principles.

PRINCIPLES FOR SPECIAL APPLICATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

It must be understood that these are not designed as rules, but as guiding principles, from which the Board reserves liberty to depart whenever, in its judgment, it deems it advisable to do so.

Euphonious and suitable names of Indian, Spanish, or French origin should be retained.

Names suggested by peculiarities of the topographic features designated—such as their form, vegetation, or animal life—are generally acceptable, but duplication of names, especially within one state, should be avoided. The names "Elk," "Beaver," "Cottonwood," and "Bald" are altogether too numerous.

Names of living persons should be applied very rarely, and only those of great eminence should be thus honored. No personal names should be attached because of relationship, friendship, or personal interest, nor should names of obscure persons be given. Names of eminent men now dead may be thus perpetuated, particularly those of early explorers, naturalists, geologists, topographers, etc.

Long and clumsily constructed names and names composed of two or more words should be avoided. It is a foregone conclusion that such names will not be adopted by the public. If the name selected consists of more than one word the words should be combined if practicable.

The multiplication of names for different parts of the same feature, such as a river or mountain range, should be avoided. Only one name should be applied to a stream or mountain range throughout its entire length; in the case of a river the name should follow up its longest branch.

The naming of forks, prongs, branches, etc., as "East Fork" or "North Prong" of a river, should be avoided unless there is a special reason for it. In most cases, independent names should be given to a river's branches.

That spelling and pronunciation which is sanctioned by local usage should, in general, be adopted.

Where names have been changed or corrupted, and such changes or corruptions have become established by local usage, it is not usually advisable to attempt to restore the original form.

In cases where what was evidently originally the same word appears with various spellings sanctioned by local usage, when applied to various features, these various spellings should be regarded as in effect different names, and, as a rule, it is inadvisable to attempt to produce uniformity.

Where a choice is offered between two or more names for the same place or locality, all sanctioned by local usage, that which is most appropriate and euphonious should be adopted.

The possessive form should be avoided whenever it can be done without destroying the euphony of the name or changing its descriptive application.

In names ending in "burgh" the final "h" should be dropped.

Names ending in "borough" should be abbreviated to "boro."

The word "center," as a part of a name, should be spelled as above, and not "centre."

The use of hyphens in connecting parts of names should be discontinued.

The letters "C. H." (Court-House) appended to the names of county seats should be omitted.

In the case of names consisting of more than one word it is sometimes desirable to combine them into one word.

It is desirable to avoid the use of diacritic characters.

It is desirable to avoid the use of the words city and town as parts of names.

PRINCIPLES FOR SPECIAL APPLICATION IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

(1) Geographic names in countries that use Roman characters should be rendered in the form adopted by the country having jurisdiction, except where there are English equivalents already fixed by usage. In cases where the English equivalent is so different from the local form that the identity of the latter with the former might not be recognized, the English form should be adopted, but both forms may be given.

(2) The spelling of geographic names that require transliteration into Roman characters should represent the principal sounds of the word as pronounced in the native tongue, in accordance with the sounds of the letters in the following system.

An approximation only to the true sound is aimed at in this system. The vowels are to be pronounced as in Italian and on the Continent of Europe generally, and the consonants as in English:

a has the sound of a in father. Examples: Java, Banana, Somali, Bari.

e has the sound of e in men. Examples: Tel el Kebir, Medina, Peru.

i has the sound of i in ravine, or the sound of ee in beet. Examples: Fiji, Hindi.

o has the sound of o in mote.

u has the sound of oo in boot. Examples: Umnak, Unga.

ai has the sound of i in ice. Example: Shanghai.

au has the sound of ow in how. Example: Hankow.

ao is slightly different from above. Example: Nanao.

ei has the sound of the two Italian vowels, but is frequently slurred over, when it is scarcely distinguishable from ey in the English they. Examples: Beirut, Beilul.

c is always soft, and has nearly the sound of s; hard c is given by k. Example: Celebes.

ch is always soft, as in church. Example: Chingchin.

f as in English; ph should not be used for this sound. Thus, not Haiphong, but Haifong.

g is always hard (soft g is given by j). Example: Galapagos.

h is always pronounced when inserted.

j as in English; dj should never be put for this sound. Examples: Japan, Jinchuen.

k as in English. It should always be used for the hard c. Thus, not Corea, but Korea.

kh has the sound of the oriental guttural. Example: Khan.

gh is another guttural, as in the Turkish: Dagh, Ghazi.

ng has two slightly different sounds, as in finger, singer.

q should never be employed; qu is given by kw. Example: Kwangtung.

b, d, l, m, n, p, r, s, t, v,
w, x,
and z

as in English.

y is always a consonant, as in yard, and should not be used for the vowel i. Thus, not Mikindany, but Mikindani.

All vowels are shortened in sound by doubling the following consonant. Examples: Yarra, Tanna, Jidda, Bonni.

Doubling a vowel is only necessary where there is a distinct repetition of the single sound. Example: Nuulua.

Accents should not, generally, be used; but where there is a very decided emphatic syllable or stress which affects the sound of the word it should be marked by an acute accent. Examples: Tongatábu, Galápagos, Paláwan, Saráwak.

In order to secure uniformity in so far as possible in the matter of transliteration of Chinese place names and in order that the system adopted may conform to what is apparently to be the standard in American publications, it is recommended that the following rules be adopted for observance, viz:

(1) The spelling generally shall follow the Wade system, but no attempt shall be made to modify established foreign local usage, and the English form of a name as printed in the Imperial Maritime Customs Trade Reports shall be conclusive as to local usage.

(2) The diacritical marks used in the Wade system shall be omitted.

(3) Names shall be printed as single words.

(4) Forms sanctioned by long usage in standard publications in the English language shall be retained.

CONCLUSION.

The Board again respectfully calls attention to the fact that it is without means for carrying on its work, save by the courtesy of the bureaus, offices, and institutions represented in its membership. It is without direct means for printing or distributing its decisions. It is without means for meeting the calls that are made upon it for publications, for information, and for decisions. Its progress has, therefore, been slow, and might, indeed, have ceased altogether had not the calls made upon it—unceasingly made—attested a real need for some such agency or institution. To facilitate its work in the future it has adopted the resolutions contained in the letter of transmittal on page 5 of this report.

Disappointment; cape at mouth of Columbia river, Wash.

NOTE.—On the 6th of July, 1778, Meares, in the ship Nootka, arrived off the cape and found that a "prodigious easterly swell rolled on the shore," and he had soundings in 16 fathoms over a hard, sandy bottom. "After we had rounded the promontory, a large bay, as we had imagined, opened to our view, that bore a very promising appearance and into which we steered, with every encouraging expectation. As we steered into the bay the water shoaled to 9, 8, and 7 fathoms, where breakers were seen right ahead, and from the masthead they were observed to extend across the bay. We therefore hauled out." The name Cape Disappointment was given to the promontory. It was called Cape Hancock by Gray, in 1792. He changed this name to Cape Disappointment upon hearing that Meares had so named it. Cape Disappointment retained by Vancouver, by Belcher in 1839, and by Ex. Ex. in 1841. Duflot de Mofras, 1844, calls it Cape San Roque or Disappointment. It was called Cape Hancock or Disappointment at the first examination of the entrance to the river, in 1850, and the name Hancock, subsequently, in a secondary manner in the Light-House List, but the name Disappointment is that used on the official charts and by all navigators.—Pacific Coast Pilot, 1889, p. 456.

Haiti; island, West Indies.

NOTE.—Haiti was the native name of the island when Columbus landed, on December 6, 1492, and called it Espagnola, which was latinized into Hispaniola. The French colony which gained control of a part of the island was called Saint Domingue, and in 1795, when France acquired title to the entire island by treaty with Spain, it was called Saint Domingue; but when the French were driven out and independence declared, in 1804, the aboriginal name Haiti was revived by the negroes. Shortly after this the Spaniards reestablished themselves in the eastern part of the island, retaining the French name modified to Santo Domingo, but in 1821 lost control, and from 1822 to 1843 the whole island was under one government as the Republic of Haiti. In 1844 the eastern portion of the island again asserted its independence of Haiti and established the Dominican Republic, which remains to the present day.

Thus to-day the island of Haiti, which seems to be the proper name, consists of two countries, Haiti on the west end and Santo Domingo on the east end.
