For one hundred years, Meredith College has been Making the Difference. Everywhere you look, there are reminders of Meredith's productive past and her hopeful future. Meredith has succeeded in keeping with the ideals of the past, yet has kept abreast with new educational developments which makes for a promising future.

Meredith College would not be what it is without the unique combination of people that dedicate themselves to making that difference. From hard-working faculty and staff to the student body, the Meredith community has thrived. It is these individual people that give Meredith her spirit. Without these people, the Meredith community could not have succeeded.

Meredith College makes a difference in each and every student's life beginning with informational brochures, high school senior days, and 'Experience Meredith.' From Orientation to graduation to Alumnae Affairs, Meredith students grow together academically, socially, and religiously, while keeping their individuality.

There are many opportunities for involvement at Meredith. The wide variety of student organizations allow each student to define their strengths in order to contribute to both the Meredith community and surrounding Raleigh. As graduates face the working world, they have been well prepared at Meredith College.

reshmen begin their adventure under the rainbow

Everyone has memories of their Orientation Week. The Orientation crew works very hard to make it a full week. At the end of the week each and every freshman felt comfortable in their new surroundings.

The week was so full that the girls did not have any time to feel homesick. Their days were filled with meetings, activities and picnics. They got to meet the faculty and their student advisors as well as the girls in their advisory group and on their hall. Mary Francis Santmier thought the best part about the week was the fact that, "[she] met so many new and interesting people."

The majority of the meetings were about rules and regulations or handbook training. Keely Francis liked the seminars because she got a chance to hear about all the activities that Meredith offers. All in all, the week was a total success. Betsy Mazzocchi summed it up best when she stated, "It really helped us to learn what college life is all about." -by Jeanna Saggese

Great fun for the Meredith Angels

Meredith Entertainment Association sponsored its annual Luau picnic Wednesday, October 9, 1991 from 4:30-6:00 pm in the courtyard. Entertainment was provided by Rick Kelley, a one-man show with electric keyboard and several props designed to encourage audience participation. Dinner was provided by ARA, and consisted of Hawaiian dishes such as terriyaki chicken, pork ribs, corn on the cob, a fruit table, and other luau-style treats.

Rick Kelley included several old motown favorites. He choreographed dance routines to "Wait 'til the Midnight Hour," "Under the Boardwalk," and more old favorites. The Limbo contest was also a hit, with Michelle Gleason proving to be the most flexible participant and winning a bouquet of balloons for being the last person still standing.

Juniors Kate Walker and Joy Wilcher chaired the event. MEA's president Jacqui Date stated, "this year's Luau was the best yet!" -Kelly Parker, Editor of the Meredith Herald

lockbuster of the Century A Meredith Tradition

Cornhuskin' week began November 3rd with a Big Sis/Little Sis bonfire and lasted until the big night November 7th. During the week, there was a waterfight in the courtyard, there were many hall raids early in the morning and late at night, and there were many spirit chants being yelled around campus. Many students became involved in these activities and supported their class during the competition.

The Freshmen's theme was "The Few, The Proud, The Meredith Angels". The Sophomore's theme was "When the Clock Strikes Twelve". The Juniors theme was "It's A Mystery". The Seniors theme was "Oh, the Places We'll Go" taken from Dr. Suess.

The final results of Cornhuskin' were:

The Meredith Entertainment Association decided to begin another Meredith tradition. The annual winter semi-formal, which is sponsored by MEA, will no longer have varying themes. The co-chairs Sheri Neal and Sherrie Lane devised surveys which contained ideas for the dance. One important idea was to create a name for the dance which would continue and become a tradition. The survey suggested using the flower of Meredith College. The surveys were distributed to the students. After calculating the results, the dance became The White Iris Ball. The dance was held November 15 at the Raleigh Civic Center. Tickets were sold along with t-shirts the week before. The t-shirts had a fish bowl on the back saying, "We're just two lost souls swimming in a fish bowl, year after year," taken from Pink Floyd. The table decorations also had fish bowls as the center pieces. The colors, emerald green and rose pink, were displayed throughout the room with the use of balloons. The DJ was from Sounds Unlimited. Sheri Neal stated, "the dance was more collegiate, not like a prom."

Meredith Students Experience Different Cultures and Religious Events

International Week was held from January 21st through the 24th. During the week, an international exhibit table was placed in the dining hall for lunch and dinner. The members of MIA sold cookbooks created by themselves, international food cooked by themselves, and raffle tickets in order to raise money for the club. The club also offered an International Street Fair in the Cate Center. For the faculty and staff, the club cooked a variety of food for lunch. A Spanish movie, "Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown," was shown in the library. On the last day, an international buffet was served in the dining hall for Meredith students. During the buffet, MIA presented a show which consisted of students performing songs originated from each continent represented here at Meredith.

February was Black Emphasis month. The first event was the Women's Sekere Ensemble held during convocation. Meredith students experienced traditional and new world singing of the Yoruba people of Nigeria and Africa. A worship service was held in the chapel. Carolyn Williams discussed the topic "Let the Children Lead Us." Later in the month, a presentation called "Flight of Culture" was held in Carswell. A choir sang uplifting hymns, Dance Visions from NCSU performed several routines, and a comedian joked around with the crowd. Religious Emphasis Week featured Kyle and Susan Matthews. The week began with convocation held in the chapel. Dinner was served in the Common Room that night. On Tuesday, the two performed a concert. The songs were inspirational. The audience became involved by singing along and by clapping their hands. This was all followed by a reception.

A Faculty and Administrative Production

Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland was presented by the Meredith College Faculty and Administration on February 6, 1992 in Jones Auditorium. The play, first performed in 1924, is traditionally presented by the faculty once in every college generation. Dr. Jean Jackson directed the Centennial Year production. It consisted of a prologue, an introduction, Act I- A Wood in Wonderland, Entr' Act A, Entr' Act B, another introduction to Act 2-The Mad Hatter's Tea Party, Entr' Act C, Entr' Act D, Act 3-Trial of the Knave of Hearts, and finally an Epilogue. After the performance, students were invited to meet the cast and to have refreshments in the Bryan Rotunda of Johnson Hall. Beckie Hines and Kara Williams commented on the production. They stated, "It was fun to see the faculty kicked back and enjoying themselves with the students."

Fun and Games Laff-a-Lympics

STUNT, sponsored by MRA, was held April 9th from 4pm until 6pm in the courtyard. Stephanie Hubbard and Tamera Seamone organized the event. Each class established co-chairs: the freshmen were Hollace Dowdy and Jennifer Hatcher, the Sophomores were Angel Duncan and Gillian Pike, the Juniors were Kate Wilson and Beth Ann Fleshman, and the Seniors were Sheri Neal and Lynette Winstead. Students participated in a three legged race, a halo chase, a waterballoon toss, tug-of-war, flower power, volleyball, lip synch, and a sponge toss. The Seniors ended up playing the faculty in the final volleyball tournament, and the faculty pulled through with a victory. The RD's, who were the judges for the lip synch contest, voted Juniors first, then Sophomores, Seniors, and Freshmen. Dean Burris, Dean Sizemore, President Weems, and Dan Shattuck allowed students to toss wet sponges at them. The overall winners were the Seniors and Sophomores, the Juniors placed second, and the Freshmen placed third.

On Friday, April 3rd, the Freshmen and Sophomore Semi-Formal was held at the Raleigh Civic Center from 9pm until 1am. The freshmen co-chairs Jill Tuttle and Missy Lefort worked hard to create "A Night Out to Sea." The theme was centered around a nautical atmosphere. The colors were yellow, navy blue, red, white, and silver. The decorations consisted of a balloon arch which hung over the stage and balloons tied to the back of the chairs. Buoy devices made from styrofoam were placed around the room. Nets were placed across the tables. The food tables were lined with blue and yellow ribbons with flags on top. A cardboard stand up of the Little Mermaid and the Prince with the faces cut out, allowed students to pose as the characters. The music was provided by the DJ Jody Jam Show. Huggers were given to the students as souvenirs. Jill Tuttle felt, "Everyone had a good time."

The Junior/Senior Dance was 'Unforgettable' in every way

The Junior class, headed by co-chairs Carol Newton and Christy Bates, sponsored the Junior/Senior Formal Dance which was held Saturday, April 4th, at the Raleigh Civic Center. The seniors received the honor of attending the event free. Tickets for the Juniors ran twenty dollars a couple. The black and white checkerboard invitations created by Enid Jenkins were delivered to the students a few days in advance. The decorations which consisted of black, white, and silver balloons surrounded the entrance, forming a pathway to the dance room. Black top hats and silver glitter were arranged on the table tops. Mandy Norman supplied the flower arrangement on the food table that contained mints, nuts, punch, and water with lemon and lime slices. The music was provided by a band called The Maxx. They performed many top 40 hits. The co-chairs felt the dance was a success. It was an 'Unforgettable' evening.

Meredith Performs -Theatre and Dance

The Extra Theatre company was started by the directing class, Theatre 425, in the spring semester of 1991 with a production that considered issues related to the Gulf War, styled after the "Living Newspapers" of the Federal Theatre Project (1935-39). Now sponsored by Meredith College Theatre and Alpha Psi Omega, the honorary theatre fraternity, theatre students and volunteers continue to fulfill the purpose of E.T.C. by providing an outlet for experimental, contemporary, or original production projects, as well as speakers and workshops in the performing arts. According to revised guidelines available from Meredith College Theatre, originally drafted by Valerie Bell in the fall semester of 1991, students may submit E.T.C. Project proposals for campus-wide audiences. In the fall semester of 1992, theatre teachers will begin to supervise more fully staged E.T.C. Studio productions to allow students opportunities in acting, design, and other aspects of advanced, detailed, and challenging production styles. The 1991-1992 E.T.C. season has included the following productions:

Suppressed Desires by Susan Glaspell

Spring Fling

Spring Fling topped off the weekend of the formals. On Sunday, April 5th, MEA co-chairs Wendy Ingold and Ashley Fowler organized "Meredith Beach Daze." The event which took place on the island and the surrounding field began at 1pm. A sand volleyball court was provided along with a concession stand which served soft pretzels, cotton candy, popcorn, roasted peanuts, hotdogs, and coke. The band Liquid Pleasure performed many top 40 hits. Another group, called Uptown, played during the break. The crowd which consisted of Meredith students, their boyfriends, and other friends participated in tossing frisbees, playing touch football, and dancing the routine to the 'Electric Slide.' Beth Hall and Amy Dobbs did character drawings for the crowd. Wendy Ingold expressed her delight in the success of Spring Fling. B accalaureate "Deciding for the Best"

Wednesday, April 22, 1992, at 10am, Dr. Gayle Carlton Felton, former assistant professor of religion and philosophy at Meredith, gave the 1992 Baccalaureate sermon in Jones chapel. Dr. Felton's sermon was addressed to the graduating class of 1992 who attended in cap and gown adornment. She spoke about the decisions that must be faced as the seniors strive to meet the challenges that the world will offer them upon leaving Meredith. She encouraged them to prioritize when making these decisions and reminded them that when feeling the pressures of trying to win the 'rat race,' even the winner is a rat. She concluded by advising, "You can be rich in two ways. One is to have a lot, the other is to want very little."

Class Day: The Tradition Continues

The tradition of Class Day dates back to the original Meredith College campus. This is a day in which Little Sisters from the Sophomore class honor their Big Sisters from the Senior class. Each year Class Day is held on the Saturday before Graduation Sunday. Several strict traditions must be followed. The Sophomores, dressed in white, march into the amphitheater in two lines, each carrying a chain of daisies. They hold the chains and sing while the Seniors enter. During the ceremony, the class historians highlight each year of the graduating class. At the end of the ceremony, the Sophomores carry the chains on the island and form the class numerals of their Big Sisters class. In addition to the classes wearing white, the Seniors of odd year classes wear black gloves on their left hands and give their little sisters wishbones, while even year classes wear no glove and give their little sisters sticks and stones to protect them from the Odd Spirits' bones. The Class Day exercises this year were held in the Elva Bryan McIver Amphitheater. Class Historians Elizabeth Stilwell, Amy Carter, Sloan Brawley, and Julie Hall relayed the years at Meredith to everyone. The Class of 1992 had its reunion serenade with their Big Sister Class of 1990. The Bathtub ring sang their last time together. The ceremony ended with Seniors dashing to grab their daisies.

raduation: The Class of 1992

The Commencement Exercises for the Class of 1992 were held on Sunday, May 10, 1992 at 10:00am in the Elva Bryan McIver Amphitheater. The ceremony began with President Weems extending a welcome to everyone. Scripture was read by Carolyn Covington Robinson ('50). The graduation address was given by The Honorable Martha S. Wood, A.B., Mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C. Her topic was, "What in the World Am I Doing Here?" Dr. Allen Burris presented the graduates while President Weems presented the diplomas and Margaret Weatherspoon Parker ('38) presented the Bibles. Bachelors of Science, Music, Art degrees were given out along with Master Degrees in Business Administration and Music.

ORGANIZA

TIONS

Editor: Amy Clark

Staff: Amy Blevins

The Association of Black Awareness acts as a support group for African-American students and provides programs to create a better understanding of black heritage. During the month of February, ABA sponsors a Monday morning convocation in addition to Black Emphasis Month.

The Association of Meredith Commuters, an organization for non-resident students, features guest speakers at the monthly meetings. Activities include a Christmas party and the Spring Graduation Luncheon.

The Meredith Christian Association sponsors worship unwindings, Bible studies, and Religious Emphasis Week. In addition to a mission trip, MCA promotes community service with projects such as Governor Morehead, Project HOPE, Glenwood Towers, and Outreach.

The Meredith Entertainment Association provides campus-wide entertainment with events such as picnics, the Luau, Spring Fling, Fall Fest, mixers, and the Winter White Iris Ball. MEA runs the Balloon Gallery and ticket sales to area events.

The Meredith Health Association is an organization that promotes health education awareness with an emphasis on womens' health issues. MHA sponsors blood drives and the Health Fair in the Spring.

The Meredith International Association promotes understanding and communication between different countries, cultures, and values. To reach its goals, MIA sponsors the International Chapel Service, a luncheon for the faculty and staff, and International Week in January.

The Meredith Recreation Association organizes athletic events and other recreational activities which include Stunt, Cornhuskin', Intramurals, and Christmas Caroling. All Meredith students are invited to participate in trips, Little Friends Weekend, and other MRA functions.

The Student Government Association promotes, "in cooperation with the administration, the general welfare of the student body." SGA works to encourage interest in campus affairs and uphold the high ideals of Meredith College.

College Marshalls, under the supervision of the Dean of the College, lead faculty and students through Commencement exercises and Founder's Day Convocation. They also direct students at various other meetings, banquets, and dinners.

The Elections Board promotes leadership and involvement during campaigns. After tallying election votes, the board works behind the scenes with the student leaders.

The Honor Council enforces the policies in the Student Handbook. If they have violated the Honor Code, students are to turn themselves in to the Solicitor General. All freshmen pledge to abide by the Honor Code in a ceremony during orientation week. The Review Board was established for students who feel that their punishment was too severe. After hearing the appeal, the board decides whether or not the punishment fit the crime and then acts accordingly.

The Publications Board works with the staffs of the yearbook, newspaper, and literary magazine. Members of the board offer suggestions, help solve problems and keep up communications between the staffs and the Meredith community.

Resident Assistants plan hall meetings, socials, service projects, and other activities. Her duties also include being accessible to the girls on her hall for assistance and council, as well as creating a positive environment that encourages personal growth and hall unity.

The Residence Hall Board works with the RA's to plan programs and activities for the residents. RHB is responsible for annual events such as Roomate/Suitemate pictures and the Christmas Parlor Decorating Contest.

The Senate works to update the constitutions of all the organizations on campus. In addition, the group reviews the constitutions of new clubs.

Student Advisors aid entering freshmen students with academic and social concerns. Advisors first meet their advisees in the rotunda of Johnson Hall before taking the new students to their dorm rooms. During Orientation Week, freshmen spend several hours with their Student Advisors asking questions about classes and Meredith traditions, including Cornhuskin'.

Student Foundation sponsors several annual events such as the lighting of the luminaries at Christmas and exam Cheer-bags. The group also organizes activities to raise money for Meredith College.

The Student Life Committee reviews club constitutions to bring them up-to-date. The group benefits the student body by focusing on the needs and requests of the students.

TAKE IT TO THE

Meredith's Volleyball Team combined hard work, dedication, and talent into a season full of improvements. Defense -- a key in volleyball -- especially improved, as well as hitting. As the season progressed, the team found a chemistry that worked both on and off the court. Team members were very supportive of one another and got along well, proving that fun and hard work can be a successful combination. Meredith can expect more good results from this young team.

The Meredith College Basketball team provided its spectators with many exciting games this year - including some wins over scholarship schools. The team's 14-10 record shows the hard work that its members put into the season. Losing Jennifer Norris for the season was a big blow to the team. Coach Hatchell notes, "It took some time for us to make the adjustment, and then we began to play good basketball." As a result of dedicated team members and the coaching staff, Meredith basketball continues to "hang" with the best!

We made tremendous improvements overall, and this can only help us next year.

Meredith College is very proud of its Aqua Angels. The beauty of their talent is a joy to watch. Being an Aqua Angel takes a lot of hard work and dedication. Not only must an Aqua Angel be able to move gracefully, she must also be strong and agile. It is no wonder that the Aqua Angels are making such a splash at Meredith!

Biology

From frogs to freezing points; from energy to earthworms; and from organs to oxygen. If these sound interesting, the Biology and Chemistry departments are the areas to explore. You can find your niche in a career in biology, chemistry, or physical science.

In the field of biology, you can check out the cells of your cheek or dissect and explore each system in a frog. In the more advanced classes, you can determine the genetic makeup of your family or learn the parts in detail of the human anatomy. The biology major enables students to prepare for studies in fields such as physical sciences and home economics as well as the area of biological sciences.

In the field of chemistry, students can learn the chemical structure of many compounds and the characteristics of energy. The advanced classes allow students to examine the study of Polymer or organic chemistry. The chemistry major prepares students for occupations in the chemical industry, teaching, dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, or veterinary science.

Business

What is the economic situation in our nation like today? What's the difference in a sole proprietorship and a corporation? What does inflation do to the economy? If a student would like to learn the answers to these and other questions about business or economics, the major of Business Administration is available.

The Business Administration major allows a student to choose from four concentrations--Accounting, Management, Marketing and Economics.

The Accounting concentration allows students to prepare for the Certified Public Accountant exam or for a career in public or private accounting.

The concentration of Management allows the student to explore the aspects of leadership and decision-making roles. Students are also prepared for operational and staff positions in production, marketing, finance, and other business fields.

The Marketing concentration examines the areas of marketing such as advertising, selling, and marketing research and planning. It prepares students for careers in these areas or other marketing positions.

Economics gives students an opportunity to look at the economy of our country as well as other countries. In addition, the student studies economic theories. The application of economics in research, planning, and business roles is also studied.

Education

Something we've invested a lot of time in—education. Therefore, the Education major at Meredith gives time for the student to look at learning skills necessary for human growth and development. The major also allows students to examine school systems and methods of teaching in our society.

As well as the Teaching Fellows Program at Meredith, the SNCEA club allows an outlet for students to center their focus around education.

Meredith offers undergraduate programs which can help in the achievement of the initial North Carolina teaching certificate. The Master of Education degree is in elementary education and can lead to the NC graduate certificate in elementary education.

Social consciousness and an understanding of people—these are the things a student will learn under the sociology or the social work major. The focus is on people as a whole as well as the individual.

Field projects, community internships, volunteer work, and cooperative education placements provide students with experience that can allow them to go on in such fields as sociology, social work, and other related fields.

Foreign

Hola, Bonjour, GutenTag. Sound like a foreign language? Well, they are, and a Meredith student can become fluent in the languages of Spanish, French, German, Latin, and Italian at Meredith.

The department offers a major in French and in Spanish as well as a two-year program in Latin and a three-year program in German. Students can acquire a knowledge of speaking, reading, and writing of any of these languages. They can also examine the aspects of foreign civilization, literature, and culture.

There are many activities that the foreign language students can participate in at Meredith. Students can participate in and enjoy the singing, dancing, and skits of French, Spanish, and German students at the annual talent show. Also available are the Spanish Club, La Tertulia, and the French Club, Le Cercle Francais. These clubs allow students with a common ground in another language to group together to enjoy the fellowship and fun. Both clubs allow students to listen to speakers, both native and non-native, who have some knowledge about the culture and civilization of the language. The International House also allows students with an interest in foreign languages to join together and actually live and experience more in their language. Even more—Meredith offers study abroad. It offers a semester in France or a semester in Spain as well as others that are available to Meredith students.

Working on the computer is only a part of the curriculum in the foreign language department.

Faculty meetings can be fun as shown here by these foreign language professors.

History & Politics

Did you ever want to be president of the US? How about work in archives or local history? Then the majors of history and politics are for you. The department offers majors in history, American civilization, international studies, and political studies. Students can explore historical research, synthetic thinking, and evaluation of sources. They will be able to form opinions on today's society and its problems and be able to try to find solutions.

The department offers special career tracks and internships that will eventually help in leading them to careers of teaching, law, international studies, journalism, and many other occupations.

What's a hypotenuse? What's the probability of picking a red marble? What's the angle of the shadow from the pole? If these questions interest you, then the math department is the place to be. The math department at Meredith offers programs for a BS in mathematics, a BA in mathematics, and a BS in mathematics/computer science. There are also minors available in mathematics, computer science, and mathematics and computer applications.

Students can participate in mathematical competitions such as the freshman-sophomore competition, the William Lowell Putnam Mathematical Competition, and the competition in Mathematical Modeling. The Canady Math Club is available for students as is Pi Mu Epsilon, a national honor society in math. Students can prepare for careers in math, computing, business, teaching, as well as general living.

Home

Nutritional information, color analysis, interior design—these are just a few of the many things a student can gain from the Home Economics department at Meredith. Students can earn majors in interior design, child development, clothing and fashion merchandising, and foods and nutrition. They can also earn a second major in general home economics.

Child development prepares a student for careers in nursery schools, day care centers, and teaching. The focus is placed on the development physically, socially, emotionally, and intellectually of preschool children.

The clothing and fashion merchandising major prepares students for careers in fashion retailing, apparel design, and consumer services.

The foods and nutrition major gives students two options for a concentration: food service management and nutrition. Food service management allows students to explore ideas in careers such as restaurants, hotels, country clubs, and nursing homes. The nutrition concentration is available for those interested in clinical dietetics.

Students interested in residential, commercial, institutional, and visual design can major in interior design. Students are prepared for careers in homes, offices, hotels, restaurants, educational institutions, and stores.

A quick smile is all the time this student has to take from her nutrition studies.

English

Those inside and outside of the Meredith campus know the reputation of the English department. And that's a good thing. The English department prides itself on preparing students to think for themselves, to speak and write skillfully, and to appreciate the language.

Students can join with other students with the same interest in English in the Colton English Club. This, as well as the major in English, prepares a student for careers in teaching, journalism, editing, counseling, business, and free-lance writing. It also prepares students for graduate work in other related fields and can be a preparatory field for careers such as business, law, or medicine.

Music , Speech

Shakespeare, Mozart, Lincoln—a famous playwright, composer, and speech-maker. If you want your name added to the list, this department is for you.

The department offers different majors and concentrations in the field: BA in music, speech/theatre, or theatre or a Bachelor of Music in applied music with concentrations available in instrument, voice, or piano pedagogy. There is also a Bachelor of Music in music education. An added attraction is the availability of minors—in music, speech, theatre, or music theatre.

Students can prepare for careers in teaching, performing, acting, directing, business, or music.

There are many performances throughout the year for students to enjoy. Performances include the Chorale, chorus, acting majors, and voice majors.

Music major Michele Daughtry studies her theory work before a hard day of music.

Physical Education

Through physical education, health, and dance, a student can become physically active as well as gain some knowledge about the field. From folk and square dance to first aid and from ice-skating to golf, the department offers a wide range of classes for Meredith students. For the more advanced students, there are intercollegiate programs, the dance theatre, and the synchronized swim team, the Aqua Angels.

Students are offered a major or minor in dance and a minor in physical education. However, if students want to take a different course, they can consult with the department head and can take courses through CRC.

Psychology

A telephone break is just what this student needs from her studies in psychology.

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs, the human ego, the brain, dreams--these are only a few of the things that a Meredith student can learn in the psychology department. This department seeks to broaden the horizons of the student with a better understanding of herself as well as the principles, experiments, and methods of psychology.

The department offers a major or a minor in psychology. Either of these can lead a student to various careers in psychology or other careers such as education or social work.

Exploring the heritage of our culture through religion and philosophy is the goal of this department. It seeks to help students gain an understanding of different religious happenings and philosophical aspects. Students study literature, thought processes, practice, and interpretations that can help them learn more about others as well as themselves. Students are encouraged to learn and come to a deeper sense of appreciation to the Judeo-Christian heritage through the emphasis on biblical studies and western religious ideas.

The department offers a major in religion and minors in religion and philosophy. This major/minor study assists students in various careers, church-related or not, or can help students on the road to graduate school.

Art

Art history, art education, painting, drawing, and photography are the areas that the art department specializes in here at Meredith. Students are encouraged to think creatively and to learn an appreciation of art and its history.

There are programs that can help a student add to her curriculum. The Special Studies Program gives the student more experience and contract majors in art history, art management, and others are available to those who want a more specialized field of study.

The department offers a BA in art or a minor, both which offer several concentrations in the field.

These are some of the typical things that many art students at Meredith are seen carrying to and from class.

Students like this try "not to forget" their artistic abilities while they work for their other classes and clubs.

IT'S A MYSTERY!

The week of November 3-7 was one full of spirit chants, hall raids, "positive attitudes", Meredith wake-up music, and an unsolved mystery that was solved on November 7th when the Gold-n-Onyx was found by our class super sleuths. We showed the entire student body and faculty that the Juniors weren't just a PICTURE OF THE PAST, but rather a class that was full of enthusiasm and energy. We all worked hard for weeks to prepare for our big night and it finally paid off.

Needless to say, as your class Cornhuskin' Chair, I have never been so proud of our class for a job well done. Cornhuskin' this year was a blast and we made many memories to "cherish" forever.

Thanks, Class of 1993, for making our magnificent and mystifying mystery more than a FANTASY!

"NOW WE HAVE PULLED TOGETHER AND OUR SPIRIT WILL LAST, HAND IN HAND WE STAND BOUND AND DETERMINED; UNIFIED, MOTIVATED BECAUSE OUR TIME'S PASSING FAST, WE ARE BUILDING AN IMAGE TO LAST. . ."

Rebecca Jean Murray

Rebecca J. Murray lived a life filled with laughter, with delight in learning and teaching, with friendships with her colleagues and especially with her students. Dr. Murray, Class of 1958, died at her home on June 6, 1992. Those of us fortunate to have known her feel deeply her absence. We look for her dashing around the halls of Joyner, eyes twinkling and inquisitive about our lives, hopes, and dreams.

Dr. Murray, as many of her friends will testify, brought incredible energy to all of her work -- teaching teachers, encouraging them and challenging them; writing about Meredith's first graduating class, "The Immortal Ten," and taking their story to alumnae chapter meetings, the first Alumnae College, other gatherings of people who love Meredith, and even to the Raleigh Community through Cable Access Television; researching and writing about the first 1000 books in the Meredith Library in This Essential Part, a book published during the fiftieth anniversary of Friends of the Library and the Centennial of the College.

Dr. Murray lived and died in the house in which she was born on Wake Forest Road. Her roots ran deep in the community of Raleigh--her service included being Chairman of the Raleigh Transit Authority and being a member of the Board of Directors of Halifax Court. Her roots ran equally deep here at her Alma Mater. In addition to being a student and professor, Dr. Murray was Chairman of the Education Department from 1977-1982, President of the Friends of the Library, and Vice-President for Programs of the Alumnae Association.

We will miss her loving presence; we will continue to be guided by her spirit.
