A STICKIT MINISTER. POWER OF A RED RIBBON. KIDNAPED BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

A "stickit minister" is one who, having passed the university training and successfully survived the "trials," as they are termed, of the ecclesiastical courts, has reached the position of the "stickit minister," being men who have stuck fast on the way to the full rank of Presbyter.

Two of the fairest maidens of the Winnebago tribe of Indians went through an hour of abject terror the other afternoon, when they had their "faces pasted with white mud."

"There are not many 'stickit ministers' now in the strict sense of the term. Nearly every incensate fills some office as assistant in a parish. A very few may remain for a time, or perhaps permanently, in the pathetic position of being dependent on casual employment as preachers when a Sunday service is required, receiving a fee, usually a guinea, for their trouble.

"I drew a tooth for a wife mite of a girl the other day," said the dentist to a Washington Post reporter. "It was one of her first teeth, and it wasn't much larger than a pinhead. I dropped it, quite by accident, and then I had to go down on all fours and look for that tooth. The mother wanted it. When I'd found it and had given it to her, she asked me if there were any rat holes anywhere in the house. I told her there might be a few in the cellar, and being a trifle put off, I said, sarcastically, that if she wanted to look, she should go and look for herself."

"I wonder what he has," said the sentimental one of the two, as she peered down on him: "a lock of some woman's hair, I shouldn't wonder."

"There!" she said, "I've put Margory's first tooth into a rat hole, and now her second tooth will be sure to be white and strong as rats' teeth. Thank you so much."

ZEBRA LAW IN ENGLAND. A zebra law may not be so important to the average citizen as dog law, but it is worth knowing if you frequent menageries, says the Pall Mall Gazette.

EUROPE'S RACE OF PIGMIES. Excavations in southern Germany have established the fact that in prehistoric times Europe was inhabited by pigmies. Strangely enough, the discovery of actual and convincing testimony to that effect in southern Germany has been announced almost simultaneously with the news of similar discoveries in Switzerland and in the Pyrenees.

MICE ARE UNDER A BAN. Chatham Island Off Ecuador Where Black Cats Swarm in Thousands. Recent excavations in southern Germany have established the fact that in prehistoric times Europe was inhabited by pigmies.

Sealed His Wife Up. A Maj. Hook, of the East India company service in London, was entitled by the will of a relative to an annuity of £400 a year until his wife was buried. To fulfil the terms of this important document, after death he caused her body to be embalmed, sealed up in a glass case and placed in the upper chamber of his house, where it remained for 90 years, but no person was ever permitted to enter the room where it lay.

AN OFFICIAL PRAYER.

One That Was Prepared By Episcopal Bishops for British Soldiers in Africa. The great majority of the services held in the British army and navy, as in the American army and navy, are according to the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal church.

"Almighty Father, I have offered sinned against Thee. Oh, wash me in the precious blood of the Lamb of God, fill me with Thy Holy Spirit, that I may lead a new life. Spare me to see again those I love at home, or fit me for Thy presence in peace. Strengthen us to quit ourselves like men in our right and great cause. Keep us faithful unto death, calm in danger, patient in suffering, merciful as well as brave, true to our country and our colors. If it be Thy will, enable us to win victory for Britain; but, above all, grant us the better victory over temptation and sin, over life and death, that we may be more than conquerors through Him who loved us, and laid down His life for us, Jesus, our Saviour, the Captain of the army of God. Amen."

DEVOTION TO A DOG. Leslie Livermore, the survivor of the civil war whose devotion to his dog Kaiser had earned for him much celebrity, has decided that he will live and die a tramp and beggar, with his faithful dog as a companion, rather than pass the rest of his days in comfort without him, says the New York Times.

Precautions Against Scientists. The Lancet says, new regulations have been made with reference to persons seeking from place to place in living germs of plague. No person who is not a commissioned medical officer, a military assistant surgeon, or a medical practitioner in possession of a good qualification, shall, without special permission, take in his private possession from one place to another any cultures which he knows to contain the living germ of plague.
